Vicious Weather Hits Texas

The SDN Column

If you didn't move up your watch, or clock, last night, you are now one hour behind time.

Daylight Saving Time began at 2 a.m. today. Last year at this time, some people missed church services because they forgot to change their time pieces the night before.

That hour you lost over night will be restored on the fourth Sunday in October.

Daylight Saving Time still is controversial here. It has its fans and its foes. Apparently, golfers and fishermen like it, because DST offers more time after business hours and before darkness sets in. Those who like the sun well in the sky before they arise in the mornings are against it. And then there are others of course who don't care one way or another.

Anyway, there has not been any opportunity to get Texas off of DST during the past year. A state now goes on DST automatically unless its legislature votes specifically to take it off, and the Texas legislature has not met this year.

The local Boy Scout District has hung up a "Help Wanted" sign. It is seeking men and women interested in a career that offers no salary, no retirement benefits, no holiday, but is loaded with fringe benefits, such as helping develop the personalities of young Americans. . .fulfilling work with the youth of the country, fun in the great outdoors and public service to your community.

Also, it offers opportunity for service to your church, pride in yourself, a longer, happier life. You merely need to be 21 years old and an American citizen to qualify. If you are interested in such a career, call Jerry Rottler at 573-3778, or Ronald Foy at 573-5570. They can make you a volunteer leader in the Boy Scouts of America.

Speaking of careers, some unsung philosophers were referred to the other night at a meeting of the Snyder School Board. While oral reports were being made on the school system's CV-AE program, Lacy Turner, who teaches the High School CV-AE group English, presented some examples of compositions by his pupils.

One, which got the attention of the entire group of board members and visitors, concluded something like this:

"Work is a dreadful ting to think about, but without it there would be no money." There is a lesson there.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Sunday, April 26, the 116th day of 1970. There are 249 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1607 Captain John Smith landed at Cape Henry, Va., with the first group of colonists who would establish a permanent English settlement in America.

On this date:

In 1783, 7,000 Tories sailed from New York for Nova Scotia.

In 1785, the American naturalist and artist, John James Audubon, was born in Haiti.

In 1865, Abraham Lincoln's assassin, John Wilkes Booth, was captured on a farm near Port Royal, Va.

In 1925, Paul von Hindenberg was elected president of Germany.

In 1945, Bremen, Germany, fell to British forces during World War II.

In 1954, a nationwide test of Salk antipolio vaccine began in the United States with 900,000 children scheduled to receive injections.

Ten years ago — The National Assembly in South Korea adopted a resolution demanding the resignation of President Syngman Rhee.

Five years ago — U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said that more and more North Vietnamese troops and arms were moving into South Vietnam despite air strikes against the Communist supply routes.

One year ago — Additional British troops were airlifted into Northern Ireland, where there were bitter disputes between Roman Catholics and Protestants.

Ching-Kuo Sas Narrow Escape

NEW YORK (AP) — Nationalist Chinese Vice Premier Chiang Ching-kuo, son and heir apparent to his aging father, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, has narrowly escaped assassination in midtown Manhattan. A single pistol shot missed when a security guard deflected the aim of a 32-year-old college researcher from Taiwan, police said.

Police subdued the gunman on the steps of the Plaza Hotel Friday as Chiang went inside to a luncheon. The gunman, identified by police as Peter Huang, a researcher at Cornell University in Ithaca, was charged with attempted murder and resisting arrest. He was held without bail.

Police inspector William Averill said Huang had been demonstrating with a group of 30 members of the World United Formosans for Independence before he rushed at Chiang.

The gunman shouted, "Long live Taiwan! Down with Chiang Kai-shek!" as police subdued him.

The World United Formosans for Independence, which is dedicated to overthrowing the Chiang regime that has ruled Formosa, or Taiwan, since 1949, later issued a statement saying the group "deplores acts of violence ... and was in no way associated with the act that took place at the Plaza Hotel."

The demonstrators carried placards saying, "We represent the silenced majority" and "Taiwan is neither free nor China." Last Monday members of the same group picketed the White House in Washington shortly before the younger Chiang visited President Nixon.

Police also arrested a second man outside the hotel, booked him on the same charges and held him without bail. They identified him as Tzu-Tsai Cheng, 33, an architect, and said he was "acting in concert" in the assassination attempt.

At the luncheon, sponsored by the Far East-America Council of Commerce and Industry, Chiang spoke with two security men beside him on the dais, but he appeared unperturbed and made no mention of the shooting attempt during his speech.

He said Nationalist China's role in the Far East is to serve "not only an obstacle to Communist aggression but also an alternative to Chinese Communism itself and to the Peking regime's possession of the Chinese mainland."

His schedule for today calls for a flight to Denver, Colo., for a visit to the Air Force Academy.

SECONDS BEFORE THE SHOT — Chiang Ching-Kuo, Vice Premier of Nationalist China, is shown as he arrived on the steps outside the Hotel Plaza in New York Friday, just seconds before a shot rang out and hit the revolving door as he was passing through. Communist China Launches Satellite

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China announced today that it had launched a satellite into orbit around the earth.

The official New China News Agency said the 381 pound satellite completes one revolution around the earth each 114 minutes and broadcasts the music of "Tung Fang Hung"—The East Is Red—at a frequency of 20.009 megacycles.

The North American Air Defense Command headquarters in Colorado Springs, Colo., confirmed the launch and said the satellite is flying regularly over the United States.

The satellite was launched Friday, the agency said.

The agency said the satellite's orbit ranges from 273 miles to 1,480 miles above the earth at an angle to the equator of 68.5 degrees.

"The successful launching of the satellite marks a good beginning in the development of China's space technology," the agency added. "It is a great victory for Mao Tse-tung thought, ... and another fruitful result of the great proletarian cultural revolution."

The announcement began: "Our great leader, Chairman Mao, has stated: We too should produce manmade satellites. In the midst of the triumphant march of the people throughout the country to hail the great 1970, we are happy to announce that this great call issued by Chairman Mao has come true! China successfully launched its first manmade earth satellite on April 24, 1970."

It gave no further technical details, nor did it say where the satellite was launched or with what type rocketry.

The launching, if confirmed, is likely to add to worries in the West over Communist China's already known capability to produce nuclear weapons. The question for some time has been how the Chinese would deliver them to a target.

The announcement said China achieved its success "by holding high the banner of unity and victory of the ninth party congress, adhering to the principle of independence and self-reliance, faithfully carrying out the general line of going all out, aiming high and achieving greater, faster, better and more economical results in building socialism, and by grasping revolution, promoting production and other work and preparedness against war with concrete action."

Bombs Detected In Routine Check

SEATTLE (AP) — Two bombs, one addressed to the White House and the other to national Selective Service headquarters, were intercepted and deactivated in Washington, D.C., after being mailed from here, federal officials say.

The packages contained caplike explosive devices trainmen call torpedoes and use to signal an oncoming train it must make an emergency stop, U.S. Atty. Stan Pitkin disclosed Friday.

Officials said the first bomb was detected about two weeks ago in routine fluoroscopic checks of all packages addressed to the White House. This prompted an alert at Selective Service headquarters, they said, and led to detection of the second several days later.

Elmer Moore, head of the Seattle office of the Secret Service, confirmed the matter but said he could not comment further because it was under investigation by his office.

Pitkin, like Moore, declined comment on what person or group might be involved, saying investigation continued.

Paris Area In Tornado Path

Crackling thunderstorms marched through the Snyder area early Saturday as turbulent weather prevailed over most of the northern half of Texas.

By dawn, the storm areas had been extended into Northeast Texas where tornado funnels dipped down at several points, causing damage to property and several injuries.

Snyder got 1.25 inches of rain as thunder boomed and brilliant flashes of lightning accompanied the thunderstorms through this area after midnight but well before dawn Saturday morning. At the time, the area from Midland to Abilene was under a "tornado watch" by the U. S. Weather Bureau. The watch expired at 4:30 a.m. Saturday.

Some light hail was mixed with the rainfall as it moved into Snyder. The rainfall in the city apparently was considerably heavier than it was to the west. Lake J. B. Thomas had half an inch at the Snyder pump station at the dam, and areas west of town had less than an inch.

A tornado moved through the edge of Paris near the Red River as the storm system shifted into Northeast Texas.

The twister missed by feet the quarters of 160 patients in the Pleasant Grove Nursing Home—so close it damaged portions of the administrative section.

One person was very severely injured when cut by flying glass at a service station near the nursing home. An employe of the nursing home was cut by glass.

The tornado was part of a vicious siege of weather striking North Central and Northeast Texas shortly before dawn.

Damage occurred in many cities in the highly populated area including Dallas, Bonham, Irving and Terrell. Some injuries occurred.

Ambulances and nurses converged on the Pleasant Grove Nursing Home voluntarily as soon as the tornado struck. Bill Thompson, managing editor of the Paris News, said, "For awhile we feared we had a major disaster."

What officers and others described as tornadoes injured two persons at Irving in a trailer park and slightly injured two other persons in a trailer home at Terrell.

What was described as a tornado hit Sulphur Springs, and high winds or a tornado damaged parts of Mineola.

Marble-sized hail covered the ground at Haskell, far to the west.

The Paris tornado caused dozens of freak incidents.

It missed by only 30 to 100 yards the Paris Junior College buildings; the plant of UARCO, Inc., a major printing firm; and, the lamp division of Westinghouse Electric. It leaped two apartment complexes.

The tornado generally followed the route of U. S. 271.

Thompson said when all the damage is computed, total automobile losses may be the largest.

Paris has a population of 25,000.

"In just driving around," said Thompson, "I saw three dozen cars in various stages of damage. At the nursing home, the rear of one car was curled up like a tin can."

Most seriously injured at Paris was William Bell, 30, operator of a service station near the nursing home. Part of another nearby service station was ripped loose and struck the nursing home.

Mrs. Ivon Crawford, a nursing home employe, was cut by flying glass and was taken to a hospital.

The tornado apparently leaped over a section of 75 to 100 trailer homes, causing no damage.

The tornado lifted three large, elderly oak trees and deposited them atop a residence which also is the office of the trailer park. Two of the trees measure three feet through the trunk.

Ralph Holland, administrator of the nursing home, said of the patients, "They were remarkably quiet and composed."

On the east side of Paris, several feed storage tanks of the Big Tex Feed Mill were uprooted and some blown into a barn.

Litter of all sorts, particularly tree limbs, was scattered everywhere in Paris—wiping out a month's work of citizens who were to wind up Operation Sparkle today. Operation Sparkle concentrated on cleaning the city of debris.

Deadlines For Voters Near

Persons who have moved from one voting precinct to another one since the last election were reminded that Monday is the last day to register their change of address and thus qualify to vote in the primary election May 2.

Don Adams, Scurry County tax assessor-collector, said his office will be open until 5 p.m. Monday for persons who have moved into the county or moved to another precinct within the county and who wish to change registration addresses.

Meanwhile Mrs. Beverly Ainsworth, county clerk of Scurry County, reminded voters that Tuesday is the deadline for casting absentee ballots in the May 2 primary.

"I understand that several people are planning to be out of town for the music festival in Corpus Christi," she said, adding that it falls on the same Saturday that the primary will be held.

"If you plan to be away May 2, then your last chance to vote absentee will be Tuesday," she pointed out. The absentee booth at the Courthouse will remain open until 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Fighting Rages In Cambodia

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Hand-to-hand fighting raged around the important highway town of Angtassom south of Phnom Penh today and a military spokesman said an enemy attack was repulsed.

Two trucks were seen leaving the town 42 miles south of Phnom Penh and Cambodian soldiers there said 10 of their number were killed and eight wounded.

The enemy units are between the paratroopers and the town, while a reinforced Cambodian battalion is trapped inside Angtassom.

Meanwhile, Cambodian navy landing boats began towing scores of houseboats down the Bassac River southeast of Phnom Penh with the Vietnamese aboard.

Vietnamese who live in the simple bamboo houses built on boats said navy troops arrived without warning in the morning. There was no sign of violence during the operation.

The landing craft, aided by Chinese-made gunboats, moved the houseboats into the middle of the river and began towing them southward to where the Bassac joins the Mekong River just below Phnom Penh.

A Cambodian sailor said only that the houseboats were being taken downstream. He did not say where.

More than two hundred Vietnamese houseboats are docked along the banks of the Bassac River just north of Phnom Penh.

Hundreds of Vietnamese civilians have been slain in Cambodia since the ouster of Prince Norodom Sihanouk on March 18. The Cambodians have claimed that victims were caught in crossfires, but observers who saw bodies have reported that the Vietnamese were victims of massacres. There has long been hostility between the Cambodian and Vietnamese people.

Thirty-six miles south of Phnom Penh, Viet Cong and Cambodian forces fought in an around the contested town of Angtassom today for the third straight day.

The thump of mortars and the coughing of machine guns could be heard some distance from the town.

Takeo, the provincial capital seven miles to the west, was also believed under attack. Cambodian military sources said it has been cut off from Phnom Penh.

Angtassom and Takeo straddle the two principal highways that connect Phnom Penh with Cambodia's ports on the Gulf of Siam.

Cambodian peasants outside Angtassom told newsmen that Viet Cong soldiers today attacked and destroyed a white car carrying three persons as it approached the town. There was concern that foreign journalists might have been in the car.

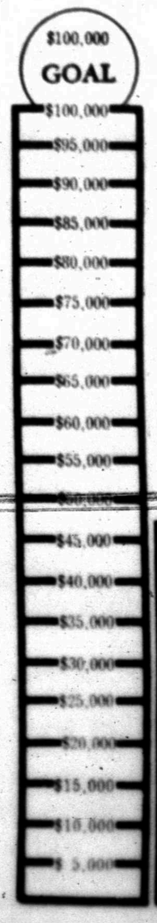
Mutiny In Haiti Is Controlled

MIAMI (AP) — President Francois Duvalier claimed today that a mutiny in the Haitian coast guard was "completely under control" but he kept the airport closed in the island nation's capital city and refused telephone calls from the United States.

The airport was closed and telephone communications shut down Friday after mutineers fired on the capital from three coast guard vessels.

Raul Hammond, station manager of Air France in Miami, said his airline's morning flight from San Juan, Puerto Rico, to Miami via Port au Prince, Haiti, took on Haiti passengers but then the flight passed over the country. He said an afternoon flight to Port au Prince, the Haitian capital, would not land in the island nation.

Industrial Drive Edges Forward



The scurry County Industrial Foundation's fund drive had edged forward again by the end of the week, although the pace had slowed considerably.

Latest contributions increased the total to $47,135.

Meanwhile, the foundation board met and made plans to pay off some debts. Funds available now will just about keep the industry-seeking organization current, but will not leave any funds for further work on industrial development at this time, said H. F. Clark, president. Consequently, the board indicated that no other projects would be pursued immediately, although one promising prospect had been referred to the board.

The board had hoped to raise $100,000 in the current drive and leaders in the drive have not given up yet. However, it has become apparent that the drive must continue over a long period of time if the objective is reached.

Rector Challenged

KESSINGLAND, England (AP) — An Anglican rector who was criticized for delivering poor sermons has challenged his congregation of 300 to take the pulpit and see if they can do better. "If you feel you have something valuable to say, then the pulpit is yours," says the Rev. Bernard Morgan, 37-year-old rector of Kessingland's 15th century St. Edmund's church.

Perot Not Worried Over Loss

By JIM BRIGANCE
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP) — The head of Electronic Data Systems, whose own stock in the computer firm lost $455 million in paper value this week, says he is not worried.

"What happens in Wall Street is not relative to EDS," H. Ross Perote said Friday in an interview.

"Something obviously has happened which is very unique and abnormal on the market," Perot said.

"It we had to go to the market for cash, then we might be in trouble," he added. "But I have lots of cash and so does EDS, so we don't have to worry. Business is moving along fine and the company is growing."

EDS stock sold Tuesday for about $150 a share on the over the counter market. This made Perot's holdings worth about $1.3 billion.

The stock was quoted at $100 a share Thursday, and the drop trimmed nearly half a billion dollars from the value of Perot's shares.

Perot, 39, a Naval Academy graduate from Texarkana, created EDS in 1962. Stock was offered publicly in 1968 at an initial $34 a share.

In a nine-month company report issued last week, EDS sales were up to $13.8 million from $10.3 million in the same period a year ago. Profits were up to $4.9 million, compared with $2 million in 1969.

An analyst for the New York brokerage firm of Treves & Co. said the EDS decline was due to "panic selling by the public."

"People are afraid the market is going down, down, down. It has nothing to do with the company at all," he said.

Perot has spent vast sums in efforts to learn the whereabouts and identities of American prisoners of war in Vietnam.

"I want everyone, especially the wives of our prisoners of war, to know that my efforts to deal with the North Vietnamese will in no way be impaired," Perot said. "I use my personal cash, and I have a great deal of it, to fund that program and I just don't want anyone to worry about it."

Capitol Hill Welcomes Crew

By HARRY F. Rosenthal
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although their spacecraft failed them on their mission to explore the moon, two of the Apollo 13 astronauts were received like heroes on Capitol Hill by congressmen happy just to have them back.

And NASA officials indicated at a hearing before the Senate space committee that something as small as a bit of insulation or aluminum might have sparked the explosion that crippled the Apollo 13 service module enroute to the moon.

"We are essentially people who test equipment," James A. Lovell Jr., told the Senate hearing. "In this business you can't expect successes all the time."

Lovell and John L. Swigert Jr. spent most of two hours retelling the story of the trouble-plagued flight and their recovery, then lunched in a House dining room and spent an hour being photographed with congressmen and their staff members.

The third astronaut, Fred W. Haise Jr., remained behind in Houston nursing a urinary track infection. Marilyn Lovell, Jim's wife, said "he is pretty sick, with 104 degree temperature and taking a lot of medication."

Dr. Rocco A. Petrone, the Apollo program director, told newsmen after the hearing that some material reacting in one of the super-cold oxygen tanks might have provided "the energy source" that caused the explosion.

"We greatly suspect an energy source inside the tank," he said. "Wire insulation can be an energy source. Aluminum wire can be an energy source.

"The energy increase (that burst the tank) was probably caused by oxidation in the tank."

There are two oxygen tanks aboard the service module, made of a nickel-steel alloy called Inconel. Each is 25 inches in diameter and holds 326 pounds of oxygen in a semiliquid, semigas state. Pressures in the tank normally between 870 and 930 pounds per square inch—psi.

At the time of the explosion, pressure in the number two tank rose to 1,008 psi. There also was an indication—"an ampere spike"—that something was demanding current.

Dr. Thomas O. Paine, the space agency administrator, said the oxygen tank was a simple component and that corrective action should not prove difficult.

"If this turns out to be the case," he said, "we should be able to ... proceed with Apollo 14 and subsequent flights" on schedule. Apollo 14 is being readied for an October launch.

It has not been decided whether Apollo 14 will be targeted like Apollo 13 for Fra Mauro—an ancient and scientifically interesting highland area—or whether it will try for Littrow Rim as scheduled.

Damage to the 1965 Model Oldsmobile of Ellen W. Bond, 3749 Avondale, was placed at $25, and damage to the 1967 Model Chevrolet of Hazel M. Berry, 601 Twenty-ninth Street, was set at $20.

Rebels Hand In Weapons

By WILLIAM F. NICHOLSON
Associated Press Writer

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (AP) — Rebel troops in the army began handing over their weapons today under terms of an agreement reached with the government of Trinidad-Tobago, police officials announced.

The dissident soldiers who mutinied during rioting over Black Power demands on this island off Venezuela are now under the authority of Col. Joffre Serrette, 54, the new commander of the 720-man army.

The acting police commissioner said the mutiny had nothing to do with the Black Power movement. He said it was caused by dissatisfaction with conditions in the army.

On Friday night, the government named a new military commander to replace Col. Stanley Johnson, who resigned reportedly under government pressure. At the same time, the government asked that foreign ships standing by off Trinidad leave the area. It said the situation was "well under control."

The communique announcing that foreign ships had been asked to leave mentioned no nationalities. But six U.S. Navy vessels have been standing by off the coast in case it became necessary to remove American citizens. The communique said foreign ships would not be permitted to send assistance to protect their nationals.

The United States flew a planeload of light arms to the Trinidad-Tobago government Wednesday night, but the State Department said there were no plans to send any more. Venezuela sent a small plane with a consignment of weapons for the government.

Pope Attacks Italian Newspapers

By PATRICK O'KEEFE
Associated Press Writer

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI accused Italian newspapers today of turning the story of his visit to Sardinia Friday "upside down" by stressing a violent demonstration by anarchists instead of his generally "very cordial" reception.

Speaking to several thousand persons at a general audience in St. Peter's, the pontiff denounced Italian dailies as "no longer papers of information but deformation."

Sardinians gave the Pope a tumultuous welcome in the course of his 10-hour visit, but scuffling broke out between police and anarchists who insisted that an impoverished quarter of the island's capital needed a telephone and a pharmacy more than a papal tour.

All Italian papers played up the disturbance—the first to mar a major visit by Pope Paul VI. The Pope today insisted his visit to Cagliari was "very cordial, very beautiful."

At the Congress of Vienna in 1814-15, six sovereigns, more than 700 diplomats and their retainers gathered in Vienna to determine the future of Europe after the defeat of Napoleon. The housing shortage they created affected even the royal family. To accommodate some of his more illustrious guests, the Austrian Emperor Franz I vacated the Hofburg Palace and moved to his summer residence.

Abortion Law Favored By Egeberg

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Dr. Roger O. Egeberg, the nation's top health officer, says he favors laws permitting abortions anywhere in the United States.

Abortion legislation "is absolutely necessary if we are going to slow down population growth and deal successfully with the problems of the quality of life," Egeberg told a news conference Friday.

Egeberg, assistant secretary for health and scientific affairs in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, added: "The pill and other forms of contraception are the ideal way to get the population stabilized, but if that way fails, I think abortion should be available to women as a backstop."

Egeberg said he had not examined details of an abortion bill introduced thursday by Sen. Robert W. Packwood, R-Ore. The measure would permit a woman to have an abortion anywhere in the United States if a licensed doctor performed the operation.

"It would be a very good thing if Packwood's bill paralleled a New York law enacted earlier this month," Egeberg said.

The New York statute will allow abortions anytime within the first six months of pregnancy.

Egeberg, a father of four, said the Nixon administration has taken no stand on the issue.

"But things change so fast, nobody can predict what will happen in three or four months," he added.

Oral Surgery Was Pretty Hairy Job

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two experts in oral surgery say it was a pretty hairy job, but they think the patient will be able to eat with considerably more comfort now.

The surgery was performed Friday on a television star—Charlie the chimpanzee.

The doctors were dentist Sidney Garfield of Beverly Hills and veterinarian Martin Dinnes.

They were summoned when an infection developed after two molars were pulled.

Said Dinnes: "We took out the infection and reconstructed his whole gumline."

ABWA Pays Tribute To All Bosses At Banquet

The American Business Women's Association, taking recognition of the many community achievements during the past couple of years, refused to give out a single award at its annual Boss of the Year Banquet, held Thursday night at the Scurry County Coliseum, but paid tribute to all local bosses for the part they had in attracting new industry and a new junior college.

Mary Ellen Meador, toastmistress for the club, called attention to some of the more recent accomplishments by the community— winning the Sparkle City contest, winning the All-America City award, and attracting the American Magnesium and the Ritz-Craft industries — and, she said that since so many persons contributed to the community's progress the Boss of the Year award would be shared by 11 bosses. Certificates of appreciation were presented to Verna Foree, Irene Brooks, Darrell Allred, Gene Thompson, Lucille Bynum, Don Wooten, Hershel Hinshaw, Neva Mitchell, Wayland Holt, Stanley Noah and Clayton Brooks. All of these persons are bosses or former bosses.

In addition, certificates of appreciation were presented to KSNY Radio Station and to the Snyder Daily News. Roy Meador and Buck Sitton accepted these awards respectively on behalf of their employers.

Don Wooten, chief executive officer and chairman of the board of the Roscoe, Snyder & Pacific Railway Co., was the featured speaker. A past president of the Texas Mental Health Foundation, Wooten pointed out that the month of May has been designated Mental Health Month in Texas. He spoke on the subject, "Know Thyself."

Man can be defined by his ability to know that truth. . .as he understands it, Wooten stated, adding that knowledge in all fields is in relation to an absolute. Thus man can know or judge himself from the things that play the most importance in his life. In order to know yourself you must determine what your absolute is.

"Who are you?"

Wooten said he understands applicants for astronaut training are asked that question and requested to answer it according to priorities or what they consider to be the most important thing first.

"You can tell what kind of a man a person is by the way he answers the question," Wooten concluded.

Wooten said many definitions have been advanced for man, but that he doesn't personally accept the one that describes man as an animal who simply responds to stimuli.

"Man is more than an animal," Wooten declared. "Sometimes he gives his life for other men." Also, the Railway Co. executive observed that man loves.

Wooten concluded his remarks by reading a quotation from Romans in the Bible about God's love for man.

"If you love God, then you will love your fellow man," he said.

The program included invocation by Roy Meador, the welcome by Mary Starnes, the president of ABWA; the response by Wayland Holt; introductions by Mrs. Meador; a history and growth of ABWA by Ora Wells; a vocational talk by Clara Mae Noah; and benediction by Stanley Noah. Mrs. Meador introduced guests, and Mrs. Foree introduced the main speaker.

Women's Comments

Some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"That was the most beautiful sight I've ever seen."—Mary Haise, wife of Apollo 13 astronaut Fred Haise Jr., after watching the spacecraft splashdown in the Pacific.

"I think it's the most mature yearbook we've ever had. It's too mature for this campus, I now realize. My opinion hasn't changed. I like it."—Robyn Moses, editor of a controversial Jacksonville University student yearbook which included six pages of peace symbols, a caricature of President President Nixon and a picture of two plump nude girls.

"I've never really taken proper care of Harry. I know that I could do a much better job. That'll be No. 1."—Mrs. Harry Blackmun after her husband was nominated as justice of the U.S. Supreme Court.

"I am really quite sad to see how little regard people have for Mother Earth."—Frances Vandervoort, organizer of an Earth Day teach-in at a Chicago school, who rides a bicycle four miles to her job to help cut down on air pollution.

"All this emancipation business is ruining the world. A woman is a woman; a man is a man ... I don't know why people want to change nature."—Actress Ingrid Pitt in an interview.

Stoltz-Young Wedding Vows Pledged In Church Rites

Double ring wedding vows were exchanged between Miss Linda Lorene Stoltz and Sgt. Ronnie Louis Young, Saturday, April 18, at 8 p.. at the First Baptist Church. The Rev. Jack Riley of Avenue D Baptist Church officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Stoltz of Perryton, formerly of Snyder. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon L. Young, 211 Thirty-sixth Street, Snyder.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown fashioned of a slender line of white crepe accented with Venise lace outlining the crescent waistline and the wedding ring neckline. The Venise lace was graduated the length of the mantel Chapel-length train. Pearls and crystals trimmed the peau de soie flowers holding her fingertip veil which was fashioned by her mother. Her jewelry included diamond earrings, a gift of the bride groom. Her bouquet of white feathered mums and English ivy sat atop a white Testament which was given the bride at her birth.

The bride wore the traditional "something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue and for luck, a penny in her shoe." Pinned to her blue garter, was a pendant belonging to her maternal great-grandmother. This pendant was worn by the bride's mother as well as her grandmother in their weddings.

Miss Doris Everts, served as maid of honor. Miss Teresa Young, sister of the bridegroom, was the bridesmaid. Their street length gowns were of yellow antique satin. A large satin bow with streamers accented the back. Satin bows and streamers held their three tiered head-pieces. They carried nosegays of white mums and English ivy.

Miss Caroline Stansell registered the guests as they entered the church.

Mark Young, brother of the bridegroom, was ringbearer. He carried the rings on the couple's open family Bible which was also used by Rev. Riley during the ceremony.

John Thomas served as best man with Johnny von Roeder of Ft. Worth serving as groomsman. Jimmy Davis and Steve Ray served as ushers.

Mrs. Wendell Rehm, organist, presented music including "More" as the couple's grandparents were seated and "The Love Theme from Romeo and Juliet" as the mothers of the couple were seated. Miss Belinda Britteon of Abilene sang "We'll Walk With God," preceding the ceremony, and, "The Wedding Prayer" as the couple knelt for the closing prayer.

The reception was held after the ceremony in the Church parlor. Directing the houseparty was Mrs. Ronald Stoltz, sister-in-law of the bride. Other members of the houseparty were Anita Buchannan and Janey Orms of Snyder, Janet and Margaret Wagner of Victoria, Velinda and Beverly Cowden, cousins of the bride from Pampa, and Mrs. Johnny von Roeder of Ft. Worth.

For a wedding trip to San Antonio, the bride wore a yellow crepe dress, similar to those worn by her attendants, and topped with a plaid cape. This ensemble was fashioned by her mother. She wore her mother's corsage, a yellow orchid.

A dinner at the Steakhouse was hosted by the bridegroom's parents following the rehearsal on Friday night.

The bride is a 1968 graduate of Snyder High School. She attended the Victoria College and Baylor University. She is a graduate of Commercial College of Abilene with a certificate in Senior Accounting and IBM.

The bridegroom is a 1967 graduate of Snyder High School. He attended Commercial College of Ft. Worth. He is presently serving with the United States Army having just returned from one year of duty in Vietnam. While in Vietnam he received the Army Commendation medal and was promoted to the rank of Sergeant.

Out-of-town guests for the ceremony were from Victoria, Pampa, Abilene, Greenville, and Commerce.

Girl Scout Leaders To Meet Here On April 30

The West Texas Girl Scout Council's Association V which includes towns in Scurry, Borden and Dawson, will be holding their spring meeting for all troop leaders, assistant leaders, service team members, and other registered adults, April 30 at 11:30 a.m., at the Scout House, Snyder.

The purpose of the meeting is to discuss ACTION '70 — "A personal commitment, a nationwide effort to become more aware of prejudices, and to ask action to build better relationships among persons of all ages, religions, races, and nationalities."

The Action 70 project is a nationwide Girl Scout involvment in community problems and needs which Senior Scouts across the country brought to light during the fall 1968 Senior Girl Scout Speakouts.

At these discussions, Seniors discarded the 'generation gap' myth as a 'dodging of the real issue' — which they felt was adult indifference and unwillingness to involve themselves personally in the concerns of youth and in youth's efforts to make society better for everyone.

What the girls are saying is, "We can do a lot, we feel— but we can't do it alone. We need more adult involvement to help and guide us. Please get into the action with us!"

Thus, Action 70 is the actual process of carrying out the national G. S. triennium theme of "Action— Awareness" which was mentioned in conjunction with Girl Scout Week This theme was launched at the National G. S. Convention held this past fall in Seattle.

Each council across the nation will be "doing its own thing." This means girls and adults, as members of the West Texas Girl Scout Council, will identify our area's needs and problems and then determine how to solve them and what goals we want to reach.

This Association Meeting, then will be a problem identifying and solution finding session for the registered adult G. S. members within this country.

Through this discussion and others held by each association within the council, for both girls and adults, one of the Action 70 goals will be partially achieved — that of building better relationships among people of widely different ages.

Piano Guild Auditions Are Set Here April 28-May 2

Twenty-two local piano students will compete in the auditions of the National Guild of Piano Teachers in Snyder April 29 through May 2. The auditions begin at 9 a.m. Tuesday at the First Baptist Church and continue through the following Saturday.

The national guild of piano teachers was organized in Abilene at Hardin - Simmons University in 1929. National headquarters still are in Texas, but have been moved to Austin.

Over 60,000 piano students from over the country will participate in the annual national auditions at 600 music centers, including Snyder. Following the auditions, the contestants will be certified, given a gold or bronze embossed pin, a year's membership in the National Fraternity of Student Musicians and Piano Hobbyists of the World.

Each year, the local students compete for local, district, state and national honors. Their rating is determined by the number of standard classis, romantic and modern pieces chosen from the masters of pianoforte literature that each student can creditably perform in front of an examiner.

The examiner for the national auditions here this year is Mrs. S. W. Lipscombe of Waco. She is immediate past president of the Waco Music Teachers Association and has been active in the National Guild of Piano Teachers since 1951. Her more recent workshops have been Adelle Marcus, Aspen, Colo., and Dr. Robert Dunn, Tucson, Ariz.

Mrs. Lipscombe began her formal music study at the age of five in her home town of Wharton. She attended Sullins College in Bristol, Va. on a scholarship where she studied piano under Dr. Clifford Loomis. Other teachers and coaches have been Mrs. Bessie Susong, Dallas; Dr. Herbert Colvin, Baylor University; Miss Isabel Hutcheson, Dallas; and Dr. E. Clyde Whitlock, Fort Worth.

Married, and the mother of four children, Mrs. Lipscombe and her husband enjoy fishing as a hobby.

RONALD CLINTON

Coterie To Sponsor Recital

Ronald Clinton, 16-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Clinton, will be guest artist in a piano recital sponsored by the Snyder Musical Coterie Club at 2 p.m. Sunday, April 26, at the Martha Ann Woman's Club.

The recital is the second in a series of two concerts sponsored by the local Federated Music Club in recognition of promising young artists. In October Miss Laura Catougno, 15-year-old pianist from Lubbock, was presented.

Young Clinton, a student at Lanier High School in Austin, has studied with Mrs. Lynn Bethel of Snyder and Mrs. Dorothy Ericson of Austin. He is currently studying with Dr. William Rice, professor of music and head of the Piano Department at the University of Texas in Austin.

Ronald has participated in the National Piano Guild Audition for nine years and has been on the critics list seven of those years. He won the Young Artists Competition in Austin and played with the Austin Symphony in the spring of 1969. Clinton was one of five finalists this year in the Midland-Odessa Young Artists Competition.

The public is invited to attend the concert, it has been announced by Mrs. Ben Brock, Coterie Club president.

Concert selections will be from Sonata Op.53 (Waldstein, by Beethoven; Rhapsody No. 1 in B minor, by Brahms; Suite Op. 14, by Bartok; and Ballade, Op. 38, F major, by Chopin.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

The Junior Join-In at Towle Park Barn on April 18 was quite successful. This is the first time a council-wide event has been held for Juniors. We expect the next one to be even better!

Many thanks to Snyder leaders who spent their Saturday helping with this, to girls in Cadette Troop 268 who helped in many ways, to Snyder folk who showed hobbies, and to the Park personnel.

We do appreciate your co-operation.

All Snyder leaders and registered adults are urged to attend the Association V meeting of the West Texas Girl Scout Council. This will be a salad luncheon on April 30, at the Girl Scout Hut, from 11:30 a.m. until 2 p.

Mrs. Kenneth Smith, Association V president, has announced that Mr. J. M. Kayser, director of the Child Development Center in Snyder, will be the guest speaker.

Service Unit leaders from the western end of the Girl Scout Council will meet for a luncheon at Little Mexico on Wednesday, April 29.

Miss Sally Sue Whitten, Council Adviser from Kansas City, will speak to this group.

Junior Troop 168 (Mrs. Jean Campbell, Mrs. Linda Kubena, and Mrs. Paulene Wimmer) met April 10 after school. We went on hikes, sang songs, and had a campfire at Camp Ila Ru. We had a swell time.

The Junior Join-In was held at the Barn on Saturday. Troop 168 set up two booths, one with a campfire. We cooked squaw bread and gave it to the guests. The other booth was a display of badge work of all the girls.

We ate lunch, then learned new games and songs. There were also Junior Join-In patches for sale.

Girls from Troop 168 were Dianne Cox, Cynthia Wylie, Susan Meynig, Debra Littlepage, Karen Sue Jones, Lynn Wimmer, Ginger Chester, Darlene Chastain, Cheryl Smith, Linda Wallace, Clinta McCowen, and Sheila Thompson.

We had a nice time and the other displays were nice, too.

Snyderites Are Initiated

LUBBOCK — Marelin E. Ainsworth and Fred H. Wiman of Snyder were among approximately 280 Texas Tech students initiated into the Phi Kappa Phi national honorary society at the annual banquet Friday in the Tech Student Union.

Miss Ainsworth and Wiman are both seniors in the College of Arts and Sciences.

Phi Kappa Phi is a national inter-disciplinary honorary fraternity with only students from all colleges and schools at Texas Tech University selected for membership in the Tech chapter.

The principal speaker was Dr. L. S. (Bill) Pope, associate dean of agriculture for administrative affairs at Texas A&M University.

"I was so appalled at what I discovered that I decided to go into politics and try to do something about it."—Helen Suzman, sole parliamentary protagonist for the Progressive party in South Africa, which bases its policy on racial integration and a multiracial voting pattern.

Snyder Student Is Named To Offices

DENTON — Donna Hendrix of Snyder has been elected to serve as second vice president of the Association of Women Students, and as project chairman of Tri-Service, a women's service organization, for the 1970 school year at North Texas State University.

Miss Hendrix, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvis Hendrix, Route 3, is a sophomore speech and drama major.

Story Of Beresford Flo Recalled

LORD BERESFORD AND LADY FLO, By Eugene O. Porter. Texas Western Press, El Paso. Cloth, $5.

The story of Lord Beresford and Lady Flo is one of those strange bits of western history that may have faded with time but which once were very much a part of the national news.

Lord Delaval James Beresford was an Irish lord apparently kicked out by the family and sent to America to live on expatriate checks—a convenient way in those days of getting rid of a scandalous son.

But Lord Delaval fooled them all by becoming a wealthy rancher in New Mexico, Mexico and Canada, using El Paso, Tex., as his second headquarters.

What set tongues rattling was that he took up with Flora, or Florida Wolfe, a Negro woman whose antecedents still are uncertain. She probably was born in Illinois.

There is no question that they lived as man and wife, mostly on the main ranch headquarters in Mexico. Beresford was a noted aficianado of the bottle and some thinking is that Flo managed his properties and made him rich—or at least preserved his wealth.

The rancher died in a train wreck in 1906. His family in Ireland was quick to claim his estate.

The rancher had left Flo about $10,000 in his will, and she had a herd of valuable cattle with her brand on the ranches.

She tried to claim most of the estate as Lord Delaval's common law wife, but the legal entanglements prevented success in such a move. She finally received another $5,000 for signing away all rights to the estate.

The author, Eugene O. Porter, is a noted historian of El Paso and is emeritus professor of history at the University of Texas-El Paso.—The AP.

TRYING TO GET CROPS PLANTED

Farmers Battling Elements

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Texas farmers still battle the elements in efforts to get crops planted and other work done. The most violent weather of the spring hit widespread sections of Panhandle and South Plains over the weekend leaving behind death and destruction.

Rains were fairly general, said Director John Hutchison of the Texas Agricultura Extension Service, in other areas and in many sections they were welcome. The overall moisture situation was good. Only spotted areas need rain, he said.

Ranges improved and livestock are responding to better grazing and putting on weight, the director said. Grains made good progress with prospects were excellent in many areas.

Planting moved northward and westward, Hutchison said, but cold soil temperatures are a hindrance. Cool temperatures, especially at night, are also slowing crops already up, he noted.

District agents reported:

Moisture in the Panhandle improved further with only nine of the 23 counties needing rain. Wheat growth was good but rain would help. Some insects are reported. Livestock conditions are good. Fertilizing and preplant irrigation were major activities.

South Plains (Lubbock) farmers are getting ready to plant major crops. Corn planting is well along and grain sorghum planting will increase with better weather. Potatoes and carrots are coming to a stand in most producing areas. Onion progress was good. Grains are booting and are making good progress. Ranges improved with the warmer weather.

Moisture over the Rolling Plains (Vernon) was adequate in 15 counties and short in seven. Grains are heading and making excellent growth. Sorghum planting is increasing and watermelons and cantaloups are being planted in Knox County. Land preparation and herbicide application are active.

North Central Texas conditions are bright. Grains are heading and prospects are excellent. Up to 80 per cent of the cotton has been planted in the south counties but little to none in the north. Sorghum planting ranges from 50 to 100 per cent complete. Early sorghum is off to a good start. Peaches are developing rapidly but leaf curl is showing up. Livestock and ranges improved and calves and lambs are doing real good.

Rain left adequate soil moisture over Northeast Texas. Most corn has been planted and gardening and tomato planting are continuing. Crimson clover is blooming and pastures and livestock are improving. Pecans are leafing out. Labor is scarce.

Livestock in Far West Texas are above average and good calf and lamb crops are on the ground. Sheep shearing is active. Grain growth was good but cold soil delayed planting of cotton and sorghum. Labor is short.

Scattered showers have kept moisture generally adequate in West Central Texas except in the northwest. Grain was excellent but rain is needed. Sorghum planting is active and some fields are up to a good stand. Pecans are leafing out. Leaf curl is showing around Kerrville and Fredericksburg. Rain would be welcome by most ranchers though ranges are in good condition. Livestock are above average.

Moisture in Central Texas is adequate for crop growth in most counties. Moisture is short around Stephenville, Baird and Comanche. Oats are heading and look good and wheat is in the boot stage. Cotton planting varies from less than 25 per cent in some counties to 90 per cent in Williamson (Taylor). Pecans are blooming; sheep shearing is increasing; and livestock are in good condition.

Grains are heading in East Texas and grazing from oats is good. Hay fields are being fertilized and some early cutting is reported. Limited acreages of corn and cotton are up as planting goes on. Vegetables look good and peach prospects are bright. Ranges are providing more grazing and livestock look good. Milk production is up. Labor is short.

Moisture in Southeast Texas is adequate. Rains slowed field work. Cotton, corn, sorghum, rice and peanuts are still being planted. Watermelons are up. Hay fields are making good growth and ranges are up to average. Livestock are putting on weight and marketing is about normal. Pecans are blooming and a good set of peaches is general.

Moisture in South Central Texas is fully adequate to surplus. Corn, sorghum and rice planting is nearly complete and corn root and cut worms are showing up. Pecan and garden prospects were good. Ranges are average to above and livestock are in fine shape.

Moisture in South Texas ranges from short to adequate in the Winter Garden and Valley to adequate in the Coastal Bend. Some potatoes, ohions, cabbage and carrots are being harvested.

Eclipse Eye Damage Was Minor

By BRIAN SULLIVAN
AP Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The major eclipse of the sun last March 7 failed to produce the epidemic of eye damage the experts had feared, according to a survey by the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

But the survey turned up a relatively large and unexplained number of cases in California, where the eclipse was only partially visible. Most states had two to four cases but California had 18.

The nationwide survey of eye specialists and hospital emergency rooms found 95 cases of eye damage from looking at the sun, not all permanent. This compares to the 247 cases found after a 1963 eclipse in a far less comprehensive survey.

A spokesman for the society said the relatively low number of cases this time appeared to be the result of widespread publication of warnings of the dangers.

Here is the breakdown of eye damage cases reported: Arizona 4; California 18; Colorado 3; Florida 4; Illinois 4; Indiana 5; Iowa 3; Kentucky 3; Maine 1; Nevada 2; New Hampshire 1; New Jersey 3; New Mexico 1; Connecticut 4; New York 4; North Dakota 1; Ohio 1; Rhode Island 64 Texas 2; Utah 3; Virginia 3; Wisconsin 5; Puerto Rico 2.

Texas Construction Shows Gain

AUSTIN (AP) — Construction in Texas rose 13 per cent from February to March, the first "significant improvement" since Mid-1969, a University of Texas business researcher said Saturday.

Construction, including additions, alterations and repairs, totaled $205 million in March, said Dr. Robert Williamson, a finance professor.

"The largest part of the increase was attributable to a seasonally adjusted gain of nearly one third in the nonresidential category, but probably of greater importance for this year's trend in Texas building was a modest but continuing improvement in residential authorizations," Williamson wrote in the Texas Business Review.

Residential building permits rose 3 per cent in March from February and was the third straight monthly increase, but authorizations for the first three months of 1970 lagged 12 per cent behind the first quarter of 1969.

"Prospects for further recovery in Texas and national homebuilding during the remainder of the year appear to be fairly good because of a strong pent-up demand for housing and indications of an easing in general credit conditions," Williamson said.

Average rates to buy new homes in big city areas now total 9 per cent, he said, more than 1 per cent higher than a year ago.

"The prospects for nonresidential building trends in Texas and the nation for the rest of the year are shrouded by considerable uncertainty," Williamson said.

Building dollars per capita in Texas cities in 1970, excluding federal contracts and public housing:

Austin $125.69, Dallas $124.79, El Paso $96.26, Fort Worth $55.91, Houston $103.59 and San Antonio $41.50.

Junior Editors Quiz on METEORS

QUESTION: If a star falls, will it damage the earth?

ANSWER: The sun, and the heavenly bodies outside our solar system, are what we call stars. None of these bodies falls toward our earth. Inside our solar system, the sun, the planets, the comets, the moon, keep to themselves, even if some are attracted by the earth's gravitation. There is only one kind of heavenly body which actually does sometimes fall on the earth's surface: the shooting star or meteor. When it enters the earth's atmosphere, (A) a meteor is so heated by friction that it turns white hot (B). Its trail as it hurtles down is what you see (C). Most meteors are small and are burned out when they reach the earth (D). But some meteors are large enough for fragments of them to reach the earth; these fragments are called meteorites. In 1908, a large meteorite weighing several hundred tons crashed down in Siberia, scorching the earth and flattening the forests near the point at which it had struck. But most meteors are really very small and do very little damage even if they strike the earth. Please don't lie awake at night worrying about them.

Job Finding For Mature Women

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain

what job would you like to see explored in this column?

Dear Joyce: Where are the best places for older women to look for work? I am in my middle 40s and find this a handicap in securing a job. Two years of college before marriage and 20 years of rearing a family seem to count for nothing. How does a woman get back in the working world after a long absence? -- M.M., PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Dear Joyce: I am a married woman who has raised a family and would like to return to the business world. I was a secretary in an office before I married but now find that I lack the confidence and courage to seek employment. I am sure that I am not alone in this feeling and am certain many housewives would appreciate your advice on this matter.

E.L.S., COLUMBUS, OHIO

Dear Joyce: At age 55, I would very much like to return to a paid job but find my scant office skills more than a bit rusty. I may be too old to try but am very healthy and don't want to go around twiddling my thumbs.

M.F., HAYWARD, CAL.

Dear Joyce: Spending 22 years raising a family and suddenly cast into the labor market has created some problems. I had business training, one year at a university, and have taken numerous courses at technical colleges.

Because of my age, employment counselors try to tell me that my education isn't a valid qualification for employment.

V.H., MADISON, WISC.

And the beat goes on.

Cold statistics showing that last year 11½ million women aged 45 and over were either employed or looking for work take on greater meaning after reading thousands of letters like those above. More than half of all women 45-54 were in the labor force in 1969, as were more than two-fifths of those aged 55-64, Mrs. Elizabeth Duncan Koontz, Director of the Women's Bureau, U.S. Department of Labor, has pointed out.

If you're one of these mature women who need or want to go to work, I have a main point to make before suggesting resources which will give you detailed guidance:

BE A GOOD MARKETER OF YOURSELF. Remember that the object of resumes and letters of application have a single end purpose: to get you invited for a job interview. Don't emphasize your inadequacies through such statements as, "Although I have not worked for 20 years, I feel . . ." Nor is it good salesmanship to put an over-40 age on a resume; this can be inferred from your year of graduation or departure from school. After you have drafted your resume, pick it apart for weak spots and deficiencies. Ask yourself, "How can I underplay the negative and more strongly state the positive?"

RESOURCES

"Jobfinding Techniques for Mature Women," is a brand new 40-page booklet published by the Women's Bureau, which contains much helpful information, including sources of training. For a copy, send 30 cents and a return mailing label to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D.C. 20402.

"Secrets of Finding your First Job," is a collection of six columns reprinted in pamphlet form. Although I wrote them for young jobseekers primarily, the material has considerable application for mature women as well. For a copy, send 40 cents and a long, white stamped self-addressed envelope. You MUST include return envelope or reprint cannot be sent.

"Age Law," a free eight-page Labor Department booklet explaining the age discrimination law and how it protects you. For a copy, send me a postcard at this newspaper. (Do not combine requests; publications are mailed from different places and confusion results.)

ON IMPORTED OBSCENE BOOKS

Government Asks High Court Help

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has turned to the Supreme Court for help in stemming the tide of imported obscene books, magazines and photographs.

In an appeal filed late Friday, the Justice Department asked the court to affirm the constitutionality of a law that permits customs officers to go through travelers' luggage and to seize "obscene or immoral" articles.

What may stand in the government's way is the court's ruling last April in a Georgia case that possession of obscene films or printed matter in the privacy of a man's home cannot be made a crime.

Last January, a federal court in California cited the ruling in declaring the federal law an invalid restriction on freedom of speech and the press.

The three-judge federal panel also noted a Supreme Court decision in 1965 that "the right to receive publications ... is a fundamental right."

The case directly involves Milton Luros, a Los Angeles dealer who sued to recover 37 photographs seized by customs officials as he returned from Europe last October.

Luros planned to incorporate some or all of the photos in a hard cover edition of The Kama Sutra of Vatsayana, a book that describes candidly a large number of sexual positions.

The court in California said the fact that Luros planned to make commercial use of photographs does not mean he cannot invoke the high court's ban on interference with enjoyment of obscenity at home.

The Justice Department's appeal, signed by Solicitor General Erwin N. Griswold and by Will Wilson, assistant attorney general in charge of the criminal division, said:

"A customs inspection at the borders of the country is a very different matter from a police search through a private library or office. There is no right of privacy regarding the contents of one's trunks at the borders; books and papers may be examined without probable cause, if for nothing else than to see what may be concealed between their leaves."

The court will decide by June whether to hold a hearing into the government's appeal.

Huey Newton Denied Parole

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. (AP) — Huey P. Newton, cofounder of the Black Panther party, has been denied parole for the second time, the California Adult Authority reports.

Newton, 28, is serving a 2-to-15-year sentence at the Los Padres Men's Colony here on a manslaughter conviction involving the 1967 shooting death of an Oakland policeman, John Frey.

The parole board heard his case last week and the rejection was announced Wednesday. The first parole rejection was a year ago.

Newton will not be eligible for parole again until April 1971.

Prison officials told the parole board Newton has refused to perform routine tasks assigned to prisoners and his privileges are restricted.

Hickel Discusses Pipelines

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel told the Alaskan Legislature Friday he could not be absolutely certain an 800-mile long oil pipeline across the state would do no damage.

In a question-and-answer session with the state's lawmakers, Hickel said, "No man on earth can guarantee 100 per cent of anything."

But he said the pipeline "can be built for safety above ground."

Hickel answered questions instead of delivering a speech prepared for his first appearance before the legislature since he served as Alaska's governor.

Hickel's prepared speech said he would issue the pipeline construction permit "only after a thorough engineering and design analysis."

The speech said he would not approve a design based on the "old and faulty concept of 'build now, repair later.'"

Several conservation groups have been skeptical of Hickel's contention that the pipeline would not damage the ecology of the Alaskan tundra. The line would carry heated oil, and some fear the warmth would unbalance the Arctic environment.

Hickel said "lack of knowledge" about Alaska has caused many persons to be fearful of damage that might be done by the pipeline from Prodhoe Bay on the North Slope to Valdez in southcentral Alaska.

Campaign Tactics Bring Word Duel

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Angry words over campaign tactics flew Friday between Sen. Ralph Yarborough and Lloyd Bentsen, the fellow Democrat running against Yarborough in their party's May 2 primary.

On the surface, at least, the duelling between Rep. George Bush and Robert Morris over the Republican nomination for Yarborough's Senate seat was considerably less stormy.

Yarborough, in Dallas, spoke up sharply about the latest allegation by his opponent that federal employes are being used in the senator's campaign, and about television commercials in behalf of Bentsen.

Bentsen, touring the Panhandle-Plains section, replied in kind and made public a long telegram dispatched to Yarborough.

"My opponent continues to falsify about the record to the people of Texas," Yarborough asserted in reference to statements by Bentsen that Ty Fain was working in campaign offices of the senator while drawing pay as a member of the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee staff.

The senator again said, as he did the day before, that Fain has left the committee job and is one of his personal employes.

Yarborough once more called for a public apology from Bentsen for radio and television advertisements which he said imply that the senator sympathizes with violence in political and antiwar demonstrations.

"I have never marched in any of these moratoriums and I've never countenanced violence in any form," Yarborough said. Regarding violence at the last Democratic national convention, he added at another point that he "had nothing to do with the people in government who supported Sen. (Eugene) McCarthy" for president.

Bentsen, who stumped the area from Perryton and Dumas to Lubbock, said his broadcast commercial is based on facts.

His telegram in reply to one from Yarborough stated in part, "You have repeatedly assailed me as an insurance promoter bent on defrauding policyholders, as a tax dodger, as a war monger and a war profiteer, each is which is an umitigated falsehood....

"Every issue I have raised in this campaign pertains to your service and your voting record. I shall continue to conduct this type of campaign despite the vicious personal accusations you have made against the entire Bentsen family....

"The issue that you were the only senator to endorse Gene McCarthy is an undisputed fact. The issue that your candidate for president fanned the emotions of demonstrators during the explosive Chicago convention is an undisputed fact.

"The issue that you endorsed the Vietnam moratorium last fall is an undisputed fact. The issue that these demonstrations erupted into violence in Washington is an undisputed fact ....

Bush, speaking in Pampa—also one of the day's stops for Bentsen, said, "The old answers of the past just won't do. In the past, the reactionary answer has been to double the appropriation and just spend more money.

"I think Texans are tired of this approach now. I think they want a senator who will restore fiscal sanity, rather than one who follows a spend-at-any-cost approach."

Bush said he endorses the idea of revenue sharing as a means of returning some federal tax revenue to the states.

Morris, in a talk to the Republican Men's Club of Dallas County, predicted he'll defeat Bush handily if he receives as many as 30,000 of the 600,000 votes cast in Texas for George Wallace as a presidential candidate in 1968.

He again took Bush to task for what Morris described as an effort to "radicalize" Congress by junking the seniority basis in picking committee chairmen, and for support of President Nixon's welfare reorganization program.

Bush's support of such objectives isn't apt to swing the votes of Wallace's American Party followers into the Republican column, Morris said.

Mrs. Jones Mother Of The Year

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Edgar F. Jones Jr. of Galveston, mother of two physicians and a graduate student in microbiology, has been selected as Texas Mother of 1970.

Mrs. Jones was picked by a committee of former state mothers and "other women outstanding in their fields of activity," the Texas Mothers Committee said Saturday.

The Texas Mothers Committee is affiliated with the American Mothers Committee, Inc., of New York. Mrs. Jones will attend the annual mother's week in New York May 4-9, during which the American Mother of the Year will be selected.

Mrs. Jones was nominated by E. S. Levy & Co., a Galveston apparel store that sponsors the annual Galveston County Mother of the Year contest.

The state committee said Mrs. Jones is "the example by which her friends pattern their lives. They describe her as exemplifying all the true beauty along with the requisite capacity of motherhood."

Her sons are Drs. Edgar F. Jones III and Gary R. Jones, and Kenneth Jones, graduate student at the University of Texas.

All three are married. There are eight grandchildren.

The state committee said Mrs. Ylysses Smith of Fort Worth was named "Merit Mother of 1970," and will be presented with a certificate and the Merit Mother's pendant.

VISITS HERE — Seaman Marvin H. Sander, USN, former resident of Snyder who attended school here, is visiting his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Jessie B. White, 2811 Avenue Y. Seaman Sander, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Sander of Austin, is stationed aboard the repair ship, USS Klondike, whose home port is San Diego, Calif. He has just completed seven months of duty in Southeast Asia, visiting Japan, Taiwan, Hong Kong, the Philippines, Hawaii and Vietnam. He will leave soon for a second tour of duty in Vietnam and Japan.

Ulcer Increase Noted In Children

NEW YORK (AP) — Ulcers may be becoming an increasingly common childhood disease, particularly among children of upper socio-economic backgrounds, a Buffalo, N.Y., researcher says.

Dr. Harry A. Sultz describes the development in the current issue of the American Journal of Public Health. He based his findings on a survey covering 22 upstate New York hospitals from 1946 through 1961.

The average annual incidence of ulcers in youth increased from 0.5 per 100,000 in the period from 1947 to 1949, to 3.5 per 100,000 in the period from 1959 through 1961, Dr. Sultz reported.

The sharpest increases in incidence were found among 15-year-old boys from the highest socio-economic class.

The researcher said interviews with mothers of some of the afflicted children suggested that, as in adults, ulcers in children may be rooted in emotional stress.

Four Wells Drilled In Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — The Corpus Christi area was the major scene of oil and gas wildcat drilling during the past week, the Railroad Commission reported Saturday.

The commission said four wildcat oil wells were drilled, including two in the Corpus Christi district. The others were in the Abilene and Midland districts.

A total of 127 wildcat oil wells have been drilled this year, 33 more than a year ago. Nine wildcat gas wells were drilled the past week, raising the total for the year to 190, or 37 fewer than a year ago.

Of the nine new gas wildcats, six were in the Corpus Christi district and one each were in the Houston, Abilene and San Antonio No. 1 districts.

The commission reported 81 oil wells and 20 gas wells were completed during the week, raising the total of oil well completions this year to 1,677, or 119 more than last year. A total of 615 gas wells have been completed this year, 271 fewer than a year ago.

The commission said 129 wells were plugged during the week, including 42 dry holes.

Bible Presented To President Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Bible Society has presented President Nixon with the symbolic 1-billionth copy of Scriptures distributed by the society since its founding in 1817. The book was a specially bound edition of the New Testament in Today's English Version, called "Good News for Modern Man."

Junior High Student Running For Mayor

MULLENS, W. Va. (AP) — Jack Staton, a 15-year-old junior high school student in this southern West Virginia coal mining town, says he's worried about local pollution and is turning to politics for the solutions.

He's running for mayor.

"I'm waging an intensive campaign on a promise to rid the area of air pollution and litter," Staton says. "A vote for me is a vote for antipollution."

Staton's campaign forces waited until Earth Day Wednesday to announce his write-in candidacy. The campaign committee includes nearly every student at Staton's school.

West Virginia law requires candidates to be 21, and a Mullens ordinance requires local candidates to have voted in the town's last election, but Staton says he still hopes people will vote for him.

Rotarians Hear History Of Radio

A history of radio, with tapes and recordings of early-day radio show themes and commercials, was present on the program at the Thursday's meeting of the Snyder Rotary Club.

The program was presented by Frank Taylor, who was introduced by Dr. Robert Hargrove.

Guests at the luncheon meeting included Tom Saltsgiver, assistant General Manager of Ritz-Craft plant here, guest of H. F. Clark; Dr. Robert Clinton, President of Western Texas College, guest of Shelby Coker; W. S. Goodlett, guest of Von Kliebrink; and Ben Brock, a former member of the club.

Charlcie Roberson Issues Statement To Voters . . .

(Note: Charlcie Roberson, Candidate for County Treasurer in the May 2, Democratic Primary election, issued the following statement of her candidacy to the Snyder Daily News this week.)

I have been a resident of Scurry County for most of the past fifty years.

In 1953, I was Credit Manager of the local Montgomery Ward Catalogue Store, being promoted to Manager in 1956. In June of 1957, I went to work for Geral G. Greene in the County Tax Office. I worked for him during his two elected terms and continued to work for the present Tax Collector, Don Adams, until I started this campaign, the last of Jan. 1970. During this time, I worked for the betterment of the tax office and for the accomodation of the people to the best of my ability.

I received my education in Scurry County and two years in Draughns Business College in Abilene.

In 1945, I married I. B. Roberson of Callahan County. Our family consists of three sons, Billy Clyde of Muleshoe, Iky and Jim Bob of the home. We lived on a farm, eleven miles northwest of Snyder until the death of I. B. At that time, the boys and I moved to 2107 40th. Street where we have lived since. Iky has been in college for 2½ years and Jim Bob has been this past year.

If I am elected to the office of County Treasurer, I pledge myself to the duties of this office as wholeheartedly a humanly possible. I will strive to maintain the monies and records as well as they have been kept in the past, and work toward pleasing each of you voters as best I can.

I have diligently tried to contact each of you voters and if I have failed to see you or leave my card on your door, I ask you to please consider this as my personal contact in asking you for your vote on May 2.

YOUR VOTE AND INFLUENCE WILL BE GREATLY APPRECIATED.

SPORTS

Antipollution Pays Off

PORT CREDIT, Ont. (AP) — The trout season opens today on the Credit River, and fishermen along the bank will say thanks to an antipollution project which made good.

Ten years ago the Credit was a filthy, choked stream, neglected and abused for more than a century. Now it breaks clean across its rapids on the way to Lake Ontario.

Money and dedicated men brought the Credit back to life and provided a haven for trout and Kokanee salmon. Part of the $3.5 million expended since 1963 came from communities in the Credit watershed; more came from the Ontario government.

More than $1 million built a dam to provide a constant flow of water. Other money went for land acquisitions along the banks, to provide protection against future ravages. The Credit Valley Conservation Authority Foundation has taken control of 3,000 acres through purchase or gifts. At the same time, the provincial Water Resources Commission saw to it that no urban effluents reached the river.

Robert Turnbull, a Toronto Globe and Mail writer who pinpointed the Credit's troubles in a 1963 series, says: "There is no room for complacency...One moment of relaxed vigilance and the Credit could slide back into degradation."

Mysterious Miller Is Half-Millionaire

DENISON, Tex. (AP) — He's got a back swing that a bone transplant couldn't help.

He's built like a World War II German tank commander.

He's harder to find after a round of golf than a Jack Nicklaus ball.

His caddy has to help him read the greens.

But for all that, mighty, Mysterious Mister X, pro golf's Miller Barber of Sherman-Denison, Tex., is among the hcttest golf commodities currently on the pro circuit.

His $25,000 pay check for taking the playoff at New Orleans shot him into third place among the 1970 money winners with $65,341 in the bank. It It boosted his life time earnings to near the half a million dollar mark.

As a "half-a-millionaire" Barber also holds the disctinction of being golf's only half champion. He won the rain-shortened Kaiser International last year that was washed out with Barber in front after two rounds. Thus Baber, like baseball's Roger Maris, will forever after an asterisk after his name. He has won 5½ PGA championships, and even a Palmer or Nicklaus or Player can't claim that honor.

Barber's half-championship in the Kaiser didn't get him a retur invite to the Tournament of Champions.

"They wouldn't even invite me to play the first 36 holes, Barber said. But his playoff victory Monday in the last event before the Las Vegas tourney not only gave him a ticket to the championship affair, but put him in front of the qualifiers for the rich Alcan tourney that moves back to Scotland this year.

The rotuned Mister X just missed out at Greensboro when Player canned a shot from a bunker for an eagle and ran in a 40 foot putt for another eagle en route to a final round 65 that edged Barber, who finished with a 68. For consolation, Barber collected $20,500.

At Augusta the next week, Barber played real well the first two rounds, but didn't score too well.

"I was hitting the ball beautifully but I just used the wrong club. I was either over the green or short," he said. "And on top of it, my putting that was sour at Greensboro, went to pot at Augusta."

So Barber hunted out George Lowe, considered by most of the top pros as the world's finest putting instructor.

"He changed my method of putting completely," said Barber. "At Greensboro, the two putts I missed for birdies on 17 and 18 that could have won the tournament never had a chance.

"But at New Orleans Sunday, each of the putts on the last four holes went right for the cup and just lipped out or slid by. Then Monday, there was never any doubt about the birdie putt that won it."

If Barber, who has picked up $47,750 the first three weeks in April, should win at Las Vegas, he'd set a one-month tour record and would be right under the $100,000 mark for the year. And it would be slightly ironical that he missed winning the Master's, which is one of the four major golf titles.

Barber's partner at Woodlawn Country Club, Read Omohundro, recently graduated from the PGA school at Los Angeles. One of his instructors was the great Olin Dutra.

Dutra was explaining to the future club pros about teaching.

"Don't try and give all of your students a picture swing. Look at Miller Barber. His back swing looks like a whooping crane neck.. But when he brings that club around he meets the ball perfectly. That's what you want to get over."

Barber said earlier this spring his game had never been better. It was his putting that was off. But now after revamping his style thanks to George Lowe, Barber said frankly "I just don't believe I'll ever three putt again."

The 'Thing' Visits Texas

RENO, Tex. (AP) — There must be something about Northeast Texas that brings out the mysterious and weird. Now it is something residents have named "the Critter."

Residents of this area just east of Paris have seen it—only at night—and their descriptions are enough to make anyone quake.

Those who have reported seeing it says it stands seven feet tall and has long, white hair over its body.

Bob Allison, 17, has seen it twice and fired two shotgun blasts in the critter's direction.

James Rogers of Paris, who runs more than 20 head of cattle on a small ranch east of Reno, has had to round them up twice because something stampeded them through the fence.

One of his cows turned up without ears—both had been literally chewed off—with large, deep gashes down her back. Only the head of the calf was found. The rest had been devoured.

"A pack of dogs, maybe. Or wolves," Rogers reasons cautiously, "but those slashes down the top of her back?"

His ranch is near where Wildcat Creek joins Cuthand Creek, east of the Allison home where the critter was seen on two successive nights.

The Allison youth kept noticing that the dogs and livestock were literally raising the roof night after night. He kept watch and spotted the thing. The first time, it fled quickly.

The nest night, Allison got within 30 feet and fired twice. "I think I may have hit it once," he says. It sure left in a hurry."

Deputy Sheriff Arthur Fuqua checked and found nothing. Curiosity seekers have followed in droves.

His eyesight is so myopic that

DILIGENT WORK PAYS OFF FOR TRAPSHOOTER

HILLSBORO, Ore (AP) — How does a kid from a small town in Oregon grow up to become an Olympic trapshooting silver medalist?

Ask Tom Garrigus. Having the coordination of a born athlete isn't enough. Even being exposed to shooting as a family activity since he was no taller than his dad's shotgun didn't do it.

"You have to want something badly enough to be willing to work at it diligently," said the personable 23-year-old who is the mid-west representative for Krieghoff skeet and trap shooting guns.

"No matter how much natural talent an athlete may possess, he has to train by practicing constantly so that his reflexes respond quickly. When I was on the Air Force trap team, we used to shoot two or three hours every day. My right shoulder is about three-eighths of an inch larger than my left."

When he entered the Air Force in November, 1965, Tom already had enough awards to mark him a top-notch shooter. While attending high school in his hometown of Hillsboro, he had won the 1962 junior singles championship at the Oregon State Pacific International meet. In 1964, he repeated and also won the junior handicap and doubles championships, the preliminary handicap and the champion of champions.

So where did the Air Force assign this skilled marksman? With the logic that escapes all but the big brass in the Pentagon, they sent him to a radio school in Biloxi.

After completing the Mississippi stint, Garrigus had 39 days leave before reporting to San Francisco as a radio operator. He had learned, that the Air Force trap team would be competing in Reno during this time.

He went to Reno that spring of '66, entered the Golden West Grand trap shoot, and soon after began the remaining three and a half years of his Air Force duty as part of the team.

"I love to compete," said the handsome, six-foot, 175 pounder who enjoys hunting, fishing and football. He even played semi-pro baseball one season before going into service. "But I had decided that trapshooting was where I wanted to concentrate my efforts. The sport is growing tremendously.

"I'm usually pretty calm in competition, but while awaiting the shoot in the 1968 Olympics in Mexico City, that was the most nervous I've ever been in my life. It's what you've always waited for. Suddenly it's there, all the beans in one bag. Fortunately, the nervousness left me after I started the first round."

Out of 200 targets, Englishman John Braithewaite won the gold medal with 198. Garrigus scored 196, but so did a Russian and an East German. The three entered a shoot-off. Tom tied with the German, both breaking 25 x 25, but in the second shoot-off Tom's 25 x 25 won the silver medal. "I guess that had to be the greatest thrill I've ever experienced."

Garrigus, who turned pro last December, hopes to get another thrill this summer. His goal is to win the high overall at the Grand American trapshoot in Ohio.

Blues Beat Grays 31-10

HOUSTON (AP) — The Rice Owls wound up spring football training Friday night with the first team Blues beating the reserve Grays 31-10.

Fewer than 1,000 fans paid to see the game, the last the Owls will play at home on grass. When they open next fall against VMI, Rice Stadium will be covered with artificial turf.

It was for the most part a defensive battle. Stahle Vincent, a converted quarterback, fled 32 yards to the Gray 28 in the second period for the longest run from scrimmage.

There were a few stirring moments. Bucky Allshouse, senior tri-captain and defensive back, picked off two interceptions and returned one 40 yards for a touchdown.

The Blues scored in every period and led 17-3 at halftime.

Vincent was the leading ground gainer, running 12 times for 71 yards.

Little, Farm League Rosters Told

Practice Begins Monday

Sixteen Little League and Farm League baseball teams will begin practice Monday in preparation for the coming summer season.

There will be a meeting of all Farm League and Little League mothers at 7 p.m. Tuesday, April 28, at the Snyder Savings and Loan community room. All mothers who have boys in either of these leagues is urged to attend.

Any boy of ages nine and ten who tried out and did not make a Little League or Farm League team can play ball this summer in the PeeWee League. This league will be organized when school is out. Further plans of the PeeWee League will be announced later.

The leagues have a new coordinator this year with Rex Robinson replacing Dr. Robert H. Hargrove. President of the National League is John Jarrell while Bill Sikes is president of the American League.

There are four Little League and four Farm League teams in each of the two loops — National and American.

SWC May Probe KO

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A rhubarb during a recent Texas-Baylor baseball game in which Baylor Coach Dutch Schroeder was knocked unconscious may be discussed May 1-2 when Southwest Conference representatives meet in Houston.

The Baylor Faculty Athletic Council issued a statement Thursday urging the conference to "make a full inquiry of this matter and take action against the guilty parties."

Howard Grubbs, SWC executive secretary, said the incident was not on the agenda for the meeting because the agenda was planned before the rhubarb occurred.

Grubbs said the matter could be discussed however, if the representatives wanted to bring it up.

"We made some routine inquiries like we always do in cases of this nature and we'll have the information there if they (SWC representatives) want to go into it," Grubbs said.

The incident occurred when Schroeder ran toward home plate umpire Neal Ballard to protest a squeeze play by Texas during a SWC doubleheader at Austin April 17. Along the way, Schroeder collided with Texas pitcher James Street and was knocked unconscious.

A LITTLE UPSET — Minnesota Twins' second baseman Minnie Mendoza hangs onto ball as he falls backwards over Chicago White Sox Carlos May who broke up double play in third inning of American League game Thursday in the Twin Cities. May went to second and hit Mendoza on grounder by Bill Melton who was safe at first on the play. (AP Wirephoto).

SPORTS

AT REGIONAL

Golf Team Loses 3-Stroke Lead

ANDREWS — Snyder High School's golf team blew a 3-stroke lead in the second and final round of the regional golf tournament here Friday and let Monahans escape with the championship and the right to represent the region at the state tournament.

Monahans, trailed 303- to 300 after the first round of play, carded a 302 team total Friday while Snyder soared to a 321. Thus the Lobos won by 16 strokes. They finished with a 605 total, compared with a 621 total for Snyder.

Sweetwater finished in third place with a 622, just one stroke behind Snyder, while Hereford posted a 624 and Andrews a 627. Canyon trailed the pack with a 630. Scores of the second round by team: Monahans 302, Snyder 321, Sweetwater 313, Hereford 315, Andrews 316, Canyon 312. Ron Huckabee of Monahans copped medalist honors with a 71-71-142. Geln Rambin of Snyder and Randal Burton of Canyon tied for runnerup honors with identical scores of 75-74-149. However, the Tigers won on the first playoff hole.

Scores of other Tigers: Phil Ator 75-75-150, Ronald Ward 69-89-158, Sammy Baker 81-83-164, and Art Kidd 82-83-165.

The low total score of each contestant was counted towards the final team standings.

The Snyder team set a school record with a 300 during the opening round Thursday. Coach J. P. Ward's Bengals were runnersup at state last year, and they won district three out of the last four years.

Dispute Settled At East Texas?

COMMERCE, Tex. (AP)—The president of East Texas State University said Thursday that a dispute over the resignation of four of the school's Negro track team members has not been settled.

After a conference with the athletes and several black students, Dr. D. Whitney Halladay said the matter is "still under advisement."

The meeting was called after 80 students presented a petition Wednesday asking for the dismissal of the athletic director, Dr. Jesse Hawthorne, and track team coach Delmer Brown.

The four who resigned—Dennis Dyce, Al Taylor, Ira Gordon and Weldon Elbert—said they had been treated improperly on a recent trip to Kansas.

They said they were forced to ride over 300 miles in their wet track uniforms and were not permitted to stop to eat on the return trip.

Rotz Sees Victory For Silent Screen

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

"I could feel him flatten out at the quarter pole and I said, 'Well, this is it.' But he surprised me by running the last quarter mile on courage alone. He's still my Derby horse."

This was jockey John L. Rotz in the dressing room 10 minutes after Sonny Werblin's Silent Screen had finished third, beaten by one length for all the money in the one-mile Gotham at Aqueduct.

"Silent Screen needed that race," Rotz added. "The more I think about him the more I like him. He missed eight days of training in March after being cut on three legs in the Flamingo, the only time he finished out of the money."

The Kentucky Derby will be run at Churchill Downs in Louisville on May 2 and Rotz is not the kind of a jockey who will fly there just for the sake of riding in the first race of the triple crown for 3-year-old colts.

Rotz has been in four Derby races and only in 1960, when he got 40-to-1 Spring Broker eighth in a race won by Venetian Way, has he ridden a dark horse. Since then he has had good Derby mounts. There was Globemaster, 6-to-1, in the 1961 race won by Carry Back.

Then in 1963 he had No Robbery, a real speed horse at 3-to-1. But Chateaugay won the race. In 1965, his last Derby mount, he rode 6-to-1 Native Charger home fourth in the race won by Lucky Debonair.

Rotz has been high on Silent Screen ever since last August at Saratoga when the New York-bred son of Prince John-Prayer Bell, by Better Self won by 14 lengths while breaking his maiden.

Silent Screen, a $39,000 yearling purchase, went on to earn $397,966 and the 2-year title in 1969. With Rotz aboard the fine looking chestnut colt won the Arlington-Washington Futurity by eight lengths. Then he won the Cowdin and Champagne at Belmont and the Garden State Trial. You would have to lasso Rotz to get him off Silent Screen.

The recent Gotham mile was Silent Screen's first trip over the Aqueduct course and snapped his record of having won over every track on which he set his feet.

"He runs so fast," says Sonny Werblin, the man with the magic touch, "that he often nicks his front feet with his rear feet. He's always worn rundown bandages on his hind legs."

In the Derby you might see trainer Bowes Bond tape Silent Screen's front legs to prevent a nick. The horse is insured for $2 million.

If anything goes wrong with Silent Screen, Rotz has a highly regarded Derby colt in Her-Jac Stable's Naskra, owned by Harry Gordon, Peter Jacobs and Richard Hersch of New York. Naskra was bought by trainer Phil Johnson for $35,000 last October out of the late Robert Lehman's dispersal sale.

However, Naskra is somewhat skittish. He came up with a fever just before the Flamingo and again before the Florida Derby.

Rotz may not be in Willie Shoemaker's class financially but he's a standout student when it comes to picking the right horses to ride. He's also the regular rider for Werblin's Process Shot, Gallant Bloom and the sprinter Ta Wee, three standout fillies.

What else is in the Derby?

"My Dad George (Flamingo and Florida Derby winner) is a real nice colt and so is Corn Off the Cob, a close second to George in both Florida stakes.

"Then, of course, there's Shoemaker's horse, Terlago, winner of the Santa Anita Derby, and Native Royalty, who came from way back to win the Gotham."

Terlago was the Kentucky Derby future book favorite four weeks before the Louisville race. He cost S. J. Agnew of Tenino, Wash., $220,000 at last year's Belmont Park horses-in-training sale. The Santa Anita victory ran his earnings to $96,400. He's a stretch running colt and may be tough to beat in the big three—Derby, Preakness and Belmont.

There could be a big field in the Derby. If so, Silent Screen, with his early foot, might be able to get free and clear passing the stands for the first time.

There are some racing students who say Silent Screen may not go the mile and a quarter on Derby Day. But John L. Rotz won't buy that.

Stamps In The News

AP Newsfeatures

Since 1970 marks the European Year for Nature Conservation, Norway has produced a special issue of four postage stamps honoring the occasion. The designs stem from Norwegian animal life, flowers and sceneries of the country.

The 40 ore shows the wolf which is almost extinct now in Scandinavia. The 60 ore features the Mogup plant, a most common flower in Norway symbolizing the poetry and delight of the mountainside. The 70 ore depicts the Voringsfossen Waterfall, a national symbol for conservation in Norway. The 100 ore pictures the Sea Eagle which has found its last place of refuge on the Norwegian coast.

Norwegian artist Hans Normann Dahl designed the beautiful multicolored set of stamps printed in Oslo.

The U.S. Post Office Department's perennial best seller "Postage Stamps of the United States" is being updated and issued in a new form—a loose leaf edition—reports Postmaster General Winton M. Blount. Date of publication will be announced later.

The edition will include reproductions and descriptive material of all U.S. postage stamps from 1847 through 1969. The book contains a wealth of information on stamps—dates and places of issuance, plates used, designers, etc.

For further information contact Ed Bell, 6715 Kenilworth Ave., Riverdale, Maryland 20840.

The American Topical Association which caters to collectors who specialize in topics rather than countries, has just issued its check-list handbook on "Sports & Recreation." It contains stamps for adult competitive sports, Olympic issues and active recreation. The illustrated booklet sells for $1. Write directly to William S. Craig, 7420 West Garfield Ave., Wauwatosa, Wisconsin 53213.

The Federal Republic of Germany (West Germany) will commemorate two occasions with new stamps, according to the World Wide Philatelic Agency. One honors EUROPA, the ideal of a united Europe. The other hails SABRIA '70, the national stamp exhibition.

This year's design which all EUROPA commemoratives will use features a basic illustration showing 12 vertical and horizontal strands laced together, thus indicating the common unity of the European countries.

The 30 pfennig stamp for SABRIA '70 depicts the 1 mark value from the definitive set of Saarland issued in 1947 showing the Saar River near Mettlach. The stamp exhibition will take place in the Saarland Hall and Congress Hall in Saarbrucken and will have a special show entitled "50 Years of Saar Stamps."

The stamps will be available at your local dealer or stamp department.

Are there any postal stationery collectors in the state of Wyoming? That's the question officers of the United Postal Stationery Society are asking. With active membership nearing the 1,000 mark, the UPSS has members in all states except Wyoming. The Society which is devoted to the advancement of world postal stationery collecting also has members in 30 foreign countries.

Tech Honors Ira Students

LUBBOCK — Texas Tech University's Department of Agricultural Economics Friday night honored five top students at its annual Steak Fry in McKenzie State Park in Lubbock.

Richard Sterling of Ira, a senior, won the Wall Street Journal Award for high academic achievement.

Others honored were Joanna Rae Weis of Higgins, outstanding sophomore, William Edgar Craig of Hamilton, outstanding junior, and Ronald Thuett of Post as outstanding senior student.

Miss Weis is one of three women majoring in agricultural economics at Texas Tech.

Churches Due Building Changes

NEW YORK (AP) — "By the middle of the '70s almost no one will be building single-use building spaces for individual congregations," says the Rev. Dr. Edward S. Frey, head of an architecture commission of the Luthern Church in America.

Most future church "building and remodeling and salvage will be carried out by clusters of congregations under consolidated denominational boards," he said, with separate denominational agencies left to concentrate on planning, education and ministries rather than buildings.

African Nationalists Lose Nine Seats

JOHANNESBURG, Sough Africa (AP) — South Africa's ruling nationalist party lost nine parliamentary seats to its major opposition, but got back the four seats held by ultra-rightists who bolted the government party, final figures from Wednesday's general election showed today.

Prime Minister John Vorster's Nationalists won 117 seats, the slightly more liberal United party got 47, and Albert Hertzog's Reconstituted Nationalists got none. The Progressive party, the only party that opposes racial segregationist policies, returned its only representative in the house, Mrs. Helen Suzman.

Stanford Hit By Firebombs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The entire life's work of a sociologist has been destroyed by firebombs at Stanford University. Elsewhere, student unrest troubled many campuses from Yale to Hawaii.

The firebombs caused an estimated $100,000 damage Friday to a Stanford research center in Stanford, Calif. Earlier, police had evicted a group of anti-ROTC demonstrators from another campus building, arresting 22.

School officials said the most tragic loss was destruction of a lifetime of research data by M.S. Srinivas, a sociologist from the University of Delhi, India. The work of nine other visiting scholars was damaged or destroyed. Windows valued at $40,000 were smashed in three other buildings.

At the University of Hawaii in Honolulu, demonstrators seized two ROTC buildings and burned what were believed to be court orders to face trespassing charges.

University President Harlan Cleveland said speeches on the campus by radicals Jerry Rubin and David Dellinger led to the sit-ins. The demonstrators said they would stay until forcibly removed.

At Yale University in New Haven, Conn., organizers of a "Free the Panthers" rally set for May 1 announced they planned a massive demonstration to protest the coming trial of national Black Panther chairman Bobby Seale and other Panthers accused of murder and kidnaping.

Pretrial hearings are set for May 5 in a courtroom two blocks from Yale.

A student strike in support of the Panthers began Wednesday. Yale has relieved all teachers and students of academic responsibility until after the rally.

At Hunter College in Manhattan, demonstrators protesting proposed fee hikes forced their way into the office of College President Jacqueline G. Wexler, demanded goods in the bookstore and ravaged the food supplies in the cafeteria. Police cleared the building and classes were suspended.

Hunter College is part of the City University of New York. Students strikes protesting the increases continued at Bernard M. Baruch, Herbert H. Lehman and City colleges, all part of the City University.

Fine photographic books are beautiful things—physically, visually and emotionaly. There's great gratification in hefting a well-bound volume, feeling fine paper and finding spiritual stimulation in the revealed images, beautifully reproduced.

This week, two such examples of fine bookmaking came my way. First is "Mirrors Messages Manifestations" by Minor White, noted photographer, teacher and editor Secondly, quite different in content and technique, is "Masterpieces of the Frick Collection," with text by Edgar Munhall, curator of the collection.

The large, heavy, Minor White book, with 226 of his photographs, is published by Aperture, Inc., ($35), an organization specializing in scholarly publications for serious photographers.

Presently a professor of photography at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, White is an influential teacher of a specialized area of the visual medium. His is a metaphorical approach to photography, a blending of poetry and philosophy that combines sight and insight. His influence spreads through many workshops held throughout the country and the students he has inspired at M.I.T., the Rochester Institute of Technology and the California School of Fine Arts.

White, 62, did his first photography in 1938 for the Works Progress Administration (WPA) in Portland, Ore. His first one-man exhibition was in the Portland Art Museum three years later. Since then he has had more than 40 one-man exhibitions and is represented in major museums and among private collectors.

In 1945 and 1946, after Army war service, Minor White gave thought to his future direction in photography. He sought out for consultation and guidance such authorities as Beaumont and Nancy Newhall, then at the Museum of Modern Art, pioneers Alfred Stieglitz, Edward Weston and Edward Steichen, art historian Meyer Schapiro at Columbia University and Ansel Adams in California.

As White's stature in the area of teaching expanded, he favored grouping of images in what he called "Sequences." These are graphic pictures tied together not by story content but by visual or emotional response. First designed primarily for wall exhibitions, he later prepared them for portfolios or hand-crafted presentations.

"Mirrors Messages Manifestation" is not a book to skim through. The photographs, poetry and notes by White take serious study by thoughtful students. For many, some of his photos may be enigmatic or obscure at first view but the reward of a searching look can be an inner revelation.

"Masterpieces of the Frick Collection," printed in Switzerland in rich gravure and with two dozen color pages, is distributed by Viking Press, ($14.95). Through the art of photography, it brings to readers the treasures of a noted private art collector in the atmosphere of one of the world's smallest but finest museums. The gallery was the original Manhattan residence of Henry Clay Frick, designed to house his growing collection. He made provision for its establishment as a public museum after his death in 1919.

Evolution Dismissed As Mumbo Jumbo

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Taking time off from a campaign against miniskirted churchgoers, a local Anglican rector dismissed the theory of evolution as "mere mumbo jumbo."

Writing in his parish magazine, the Rev. Arthur Sexby of St. Michael and St. George's Church criticized "doctors, bishops, clergymen, lecturers and schoolteachers who are more concerned to be with-it than to witness the scientific facts. They are but a lot of intellectual chisellers."

Recently, Sexby caused an uproar in his congregation when he banned miniskirts from the church.

'Junk saver' worries family

By Abigail Van Buren

[© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.]

DEAR ABBY: I am turning to you with a situation which has gone on for years, but now it's become unbearable.

My mother's hobby is "junking." For years she's haunted thrift shops, stores where sales are going on, and also antique shops. She has found some items which she has restored and resold, which is fine, as it kept her busy and she's even made it pay.

Now the problem is this. She keeps bringing me stuff I cannot use and do not want. For instance, partial sets of dishes, beat up pots and pans, and today she brought me a hideous orange knit dress which was apparently somebody's first attempt at knitting.

My father tells me that she now goes to the grocery stores where sales are advertised and she lugs home large quantities of groceries. He says their basement is lined with 20-pound sacks of sugar. What would you do? Thanks.

EXHAUSTED

DEAR EXHAUSTED: I would get her to a doctor for a complete examination, after having alerted the doctor to what you've told me. Her behavior is symptomatic of a mental disturbance. And hurry, before her collection starts to collect rodents.

DEAR ABBY: Parents complain because their kids are bull-headed, won't listen, and refuse to profit from somebody else's experience. Well, here's a switcheroo for you. One of the parents died after a long and happy marriage, and the remaining parent is now getting himself into a mess like you wouldn't believe. It's sickening to watch. And nobody can tell him anything either. Kids at least have the excuse that they are young. But what's the parents' excuse? DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: Second childhood, maybe? Or the same excuse the kids have—lack of experience.

DEAR ABBY: I am 49 and Henry [made up name] is 52. We've been married for 33 years.

A year ago Wilma, a friend and fellow worker of Henry's, lost her husband, so Henry has been driving a mile out of his way each morning and evening to take her to and from work. Wilma doesn't drive. She is well-groomed, attractive, always smiling and very friendly.

For some time now I have had the feeling that Henry has been enjoying Wilma's company too much. On his day off he seems restless and bored, and is constantly thinking up excuses to go to her house. [She has the same day off.]

When I ask him if there is anything between them he denies it, but he looks guilty.

She is 65, but looks much younger. How can I get him to forget her? Should I ignore it, or try to get to the bottom of it? JEALOUS

DEAR JEALOUS: Ignore it. If she's 65, she should be retiring soon and the rides to and from work will cease. Out of sight. Out of mind.

DEAR ABBY: The envy of every woman today are the women who have saved their dainty shoes of long ago. In summer, like bootleggers, we pass the word along when we find a store with a supply of toeless, sling pumps and slim, graceful heels.

There was a day when I drooled over all the pretty shoes to buy and my closet floors were wall to wall with them. No more. I merely "nail" my one pair of "horse shoes" to the wall until the next day. JANE IN CHEYENNE What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Reeves County Gets Head Start Grant

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith has approved a U.S. Office of Child Development grant of $13,314 to community council of Reeves county, Pecos, for a full year Head Start program which began March 1, 1970.

Operation of the program has been delegated to Balmorhea Independent School District. One class will be conducted in one center serving 20 five-and six-year-old children five days a week, six hours a day.

Beeline From Airport To Piano

NEW YORK (AP) — A television special about pianist Arthur Rubinstein is being repeated April 26 in the late afternoon.

On the special, Rubinstein says that when he arrives in a city in which he is to give a concert, he goes directly from the airport to the concert hall, to check on the piano. "A good piano," he says, "is more important than a good bed."

Rubinstein says, "I like the piano to have a heavy touch, but hold the sound long. Every player wants it different."

Four Killed, Six Injured In Collision

DALLAS (AP) — Four persons died and six suffered injuries Friday night in a collision of a station wagon and a pickup truck which police said was involved in a high-speed chase.

All of the dead and two of the injured were occupants of the station wagon, from which four were hurled by the impact.

Police Sgt. R. L. Studebaker said the crash at a Southeast Dallas intersection killed Jimmie Ruth Davis, 31; Judy Davis, 15; Karen Schmidt, 15, and David Schmidt, 7.

Hospital attendants reported two of the injured were in critical condition—Daniel Schmidt, 4, and Shirley Reindollar, 17.

Investigators said Mrs. Darrell Schmidt, 35, driver of the station wagon, escaped with minor injuries, as did Bill McNutt, 25, at the wheel of the pickup, and a companion.

They lodged charges of murder against McNutt.

Patrolman J. E. Gross said a white sedan hurtled from a gas station driveway as he passed and its driver shouted to him, "They're chasing me!"

A pickup truck pursued the sedan at high speed, the officer said, and he wheeled his prowl car around to follow.

As Gross reached an intersection, he said he found the wrecked pickup in the middle of the street and the Schmidt station wagon smashing against a utility pole after being struck broadside.

Screwworm Case Is Confirmed

MISSION, Tex. (AP) — Discovery of the first confirmed screwworm case in Texas in 1970 was announced Friday by officials at the Southwest Screwworm Eradication Laboratory.

Dr. M. E. Meadows, veterinarian in charge of the laboratory, said the case was found on the Palomas ranch near Falfurrias in Brooks County.

Screwworm flies, long considered dangerous livestock pests in the Southwest, are beginning to migrate northward from Mexico, Dr. Meadows said.

The Brooks County case was the first such confirmation in Texas since a case was found in Comal County near New Braunfels Dec. 15, 1969. The latest case confirmed in the United States was found April 22 in Imperial County, Calif.

Dr. Meadows urged ranchers in South Texas and along the entire length of the Rio Grande to check their herds for possible signs of the damaging screwworms. He said sterile fly treatment, involving the dropping of sterile flies from the air, has started in the Falfurrias area.

Students Want Door Open To Men

ROCK HILL, S.C. (AP) — The Student Committee for Coeducation at Winthrop College, the state college for women, says it has begun collecting money to bring a federal court suit to open the doors to men.

This year's legislature refused to allow the school to admit men to programs leading to degrees. Winthrop has had a few men among its 3,700 students under a trial coeducational program that the legislature adopted last year, but they later must go elsewhere for degrees.

Candidates File Expense Reports

AUSTIN (AP) — Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., still owes $35,930 out of campaign expenses totaling $118,466 in his bid for re-election, according to records in the secretary of state's office.

The secretary of state had not received the spending report of Yarborough's opponent, Lloyd Bentsen, by the close of business Friday. Campaign expenses had to be in the mail by midnight Friday.

Yarborough's expense report, dated April 22, showed he had received $94,269 in donations.

Rep. George Bush, R-Tex., also a candidate for the Senate, filed a report showing donations of $126,290 and expenses of $124,888. He said he had no debts.

Still out was the campaign expense report of Bush's opponent in the GOP primary, Robert Morris.

Yarborough's report showed 28 persons have donated $1,000 or more each. Thirty-two persons have given at least $1,000 each to Bush.

Some of the major contributors to Yarborough's campaign are J. Parten of Houston $5,000, Mrs. J. Parten of Madisonville $5,000, B. Goldberg of Houston $5,000, W. Hall of League City $5,000, Texas Political and Legislative Committee $5,000 and Democratic Senatorial campaign Committee $5,000.

J. L. Hamon, R. Mosbacher and W. S. Farish III, all of Houston, each have given $5,000 to Bush's campaign. Other major contributors include D. M. Underwood of Houston $2,500, E. W. Brown of Orange $2,500 and J. R. Butler of Houston $2,000.

Paul Eggers, Republican candidate for governor against political unknown Roger Martin, reported gifts of $29,470, payments of $58,681 and debts of $40,000.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, unopposed for re-election in the Democratic primary, reported gifts of $9,545, payments of $9,966 and debts of $4,740.

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler, who has two opponents in the Democratic primary, said in his expense report he has received donations totaling $1,691, paid $2,931 in expenses and has debts of $8,200.

Church Newspaper Sales Are Down

LONDON (AP) — Statistics compiled by the Church of England Newspaper show that the circulation of Britain's 22 official religious papers has fallen by 60,000 over the past year. Total sales are now below one million.

Turkey Prepares For Beatniks

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — Preparing for the summer invasion of tourists, police have posted notices headed: "Warning about all narcotics, notice for the tourists, beatniks, hippies."

Possession, use or sale of any narcotics is a serious crime punishable by a minimum three-year jail sentence, the notices warn.

The maximum penalty is listed in the English version as "eternal imprisonment." It means life sentence.

Muzaffer Caglar, director of security in Istanbul, says a 250-man police squad will deal with unkempt tourists prone to use narcotics.

Istanbul, in particular the heap hotels around the Great Blue Mosque, has become a favorite stop for hippie travelers.

Ballet Paraphernalia Heading For Japan

TORONTO (AP) — Fifty-thousand pounds of sets, props and costumes needed for the National Ballet of Canada's performances at Expo '70 are now making the 10,000-mile sea voyage to Japan.

The company will perform in Osaka in May.

Dancers, still in Canada, are rehearsing "Giselle" with guest choreographer Peter Wright, who is restaging the ballet for the company. Wright has restaged "Giselle" for the Stuttgart Ballet, the British Royal Ballet and the Cologne Ballet. Leading roles will be shared by Lynn Seymour and Egon Madsen of the Stuttgart Ballet and by National Ballet principal dancers Angelica Bornhansen, Veronica Tennant and Hazaros Surmejan.

Before going to Japan, the company dances a season in April in O'Keefe Centre, Toronto.
