Roosevelt - Wallace Tickets Will Sweep the Solid South

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

HENRY A. WALLACE

More than 40,000,000 voters are expected to go to the polls Tuesday, November 5, to chose a President and Vice President for the coming four years. President Franklin Delano Roosevelt is opposed for a third term by Republican Wendell Lewis Wilkie. Their running mates are Henry Agard Wallace, Democratic candidate for the vice-presidency, and Charles Linza McNary, Republican. It appears certain that the Democratic candidates will sweep the solid South. Unless President Roosevelt's last minute entry into active campaigning stems the apparent swing to Wilkie in large eastern states, predictions are for a loss race.

Merchants Asked Display Red Cross

Mrs. F. B. Sumpter, roll call chairman of the Ochiltree Chapter of the American Red Cross, is asking every merchant in Perryton to assist in the coming Roll Call by using available window space for a Red Cross display. In these times of uncertainty the Red Cross must be ready to meet any eventualities in the year to come and each individual can do his part by becoming a member and assisting in the work of the organization.

Dan Archer is chairman of the window display program and he will be glad to assist you in planning your window. Posters and stickers may be obtained from Mrs. Sumpter or Mr. Archer. Honorable mention will be given to the five best displays. Please try to have your windows decorated by Saturday, November 9.

Perryton People Slightly Injured

An automobile crash that badly damaged two cars and sent several people to the Perryton Hospital for treatment occurred late Wednesday evening six miles south of Perryton. A coupe driver by Elmer Rupperecht, accompanied by his wife and three children, and brother, Eldon, rammed the back of a pickup in which Pood and Clifford Herndon were riding. Occupants of both cars suffered bruises and cuts.

The wreck happened during a light rain that blurred vision of the driver of the Rupperecht car when they met an oncoming car from the north and failed to see the Herndon pickup.

The Rupperechts were returning from Oklahoma City where Eldon has been confined to a hospital since Monday.

Playing Ranger-Lynx Game Here Friday

The third conference game for the Perryton Rangers originally scheduled to be played at Spearman will be played on Ranger Field instead Friday night, it was disclosed here by C. Wedgeworth, Perryton superintendent.

The decision was made following a meeting of officials from both schools here Monday. The Spearman field does not meet regulation requirements of being sodded. It was decided that Perryton would accept the tilt as a home game and give a cash guarantee to the Lynx as is the custom on all regular home games.

The Amarillo Uniform Co. has notified school authorities that uniforms for the Perryton Drum and Bugle Corps have been shipped and are expected to reach here in time for the Spearman-Ranger classic.

Churches Plan Citywide Census in Future

The ministers of the churches of Perryton met in the Study of the Methodist Church last Friday morning to perfect plans for taking a religious census of the city. Nine persons from each of the six churches in Perryton will be selected by the minister to make the canvass.

It was stated that this group of 54 persons along with the ministers of the churches will meet in the auditorium of the Methodist Church Sunday afternoon, November 3, to complete plans. A definite date will be decided on for the canvass.

Every person in the city is asked to cooperate in making this worthwhile gesture complete. The information gained from the census will enable the churches to better serve this community, it was said.

Churches participating in the census are the Baptist, Church of Christ, Christian, Nazarene, Full Gospel and Methodist. Further announcements will be made next week concerning the matter.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hickman, Liberal, Kans., are happy over the arrival of a son born October 30. Mrs. Hickman is the former Miss Billie Keim, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Keim. Mr. Hickman is employed with the Ideal Food stores.

According to Dr. Manse Wood, chairman of the local chapter, a goal of 421 members has been set for this county's share in strengthening the services of the organization locally and nationally.

Appealing for greater membership, Dr. Wood declared the success of the national enrollment of members will hinge upon the individual success of chapters in attaining their membership goals. He urged every person who can to become a Red Cross member to insure the Ochiltree chapter meeting its share.

The membership drive will open November 11 and continue until Thanksgiving Day. Funds raised by the Roll Call are used to support the national and local Red Cross organizations in their domestic operations and will not be used for war relief.

During the past eighteen months a total of $369.46 has been spent by this chapter in relief and disaster work in the county. This included funds spent for food, fuel, typhoid and diphtheria serums, and medical assistance; representing 382 local persons assisted.

The annual dues per member are $1.00. One-half of this amount is sent to Red Cross headquarters and one-half retained for local use. Only individuals can be members. All amounts given in the name of a firm are considered donations and do not add to the number of members.

Any person asked by a member of the roll call committee to be a solicitor for members should consider it his patriotic duty to give a ready response and do all in his power to aid the chapter in reaching its goal.

A list of workers will be published in next week's paper.

Perryton merchants have been solicited for small premiums of merchandise or cash as awards for the winners.

Give Serum to 70 School Children

Seventy school children of Ochiltree County were vaccinated for smallpox and diphtheria Wednesday afternoon, October 30, at the office of C. Wedgeworth, superintendent of Perryton schools. Nine of these children were from the rural schools, the remainder from Perryton. Thirty-one took both serums, 65 smallpox and 46 diphtheria.

This clinic, sponsored by the County Council of the Parent Teacher Association, was made available to the children through the cooperation of Dr. G. L. Kengle and his staff and Dr. H. M. Sanford. The serums were administered by Dr. H. M. Sanford and Miss Charlene McLarty, R. N., Perryton hospital.

Arrangements for this annual health clinic was made by Mrs. Wm. Jennrich, Health Chairman, County Council PTA. The majority of children were in the lower grades.

Ochiltree County Democrats Endorse "Scratch McDonald, Write-in Bill Corry" Campaign

The Ochiltree County Democratic Executive Committee, by a unanimous vote at a special called meeting held in Perryton Wednesday afternoon, passed resolutions endorsing a write-in campaign for Agriculture J. E. McDonald who is the Democratic party's nominee for a sixth term, and asking the Democrats of Ochiltree county to scratch his name at the polls on Tuesday, November 5, and write-in the name of Bill Corry, dirt farmer from Tarrant county, who was runner-up against McDonald in the primary in July.

The action of the local Democratic organization was taken following the state-wide meeting of staunch Democrats in Waco last Thursday for the purpose of selecting a loyal Democrat as a write-in candidate to defeat J. E. McDonald, who has announced his support of the Republican candidate, Wendell L. Wilkie, and is actively engaged in the Republican campaign.

Bill Corry was chosen as the candidate at this meeting. Bill Corry was also named as the write-in candidate in a resolution condemning McDonald passed by the Texas County Judges Association at their convention Friday.

Following is the resolution passed by the local Democratic organization.

Navy Day Topic At Lions Club

Twenty-seven members of the local branch of Lions International met in the banquet room of the Hotel Perryton Tuesday noon to hear a program commemorating Navy Day. The meeting was presided over by Howard A. Finch, Lion president. Guests were R. L. Duke, principal Perryton grade school, Lester B. Rickman, evangelist and L. H. Robertson.

The program under the direction of Lion E. D. Kelly was devoted to talks on the United States Navy by A. P. Spicer and L. H. Robertson.

Robertson, former city police officer, has spent some time in the Navy and has seen action in China, Philippines, Japan and Siberia. He spoke briefly on experiences while in the service and pointed out that the Navy is the United States' first line of defense and would play an important part in future world events. He came out in his talk as a strong advocate of a two-ocean navy.

Plans are still in progress for the entertainment of this Zone by the local Lions Club. Delegates from six towns other than Perryton will be represented at the meeting Tuesday night, November 12.

Only 19 persons had voted an absentee ballot Wednesday afternoon, October 30. Saturday is the last day for casting an absentee ballot in the general election, which is Tuesday, November 5. If absentee voting is indicative of total votes in an election, Tuesday's vote in this county would be light.

Any person, expecting to be absent from the county on election day, may obtain an absentee ballot from Irvin Buchanan, County Clerk.

Undulant Fever From Impure Milk

Two Texas cities, Dalhart and Memphis, report sickness and disease caused by impure milk. Disease among children has appeared in Dalhart, with cases of undulant fever reported in Memphis.

The Dalhart Texan states that "several causes of a baffling disease among children has brought attention to the situation in Dalhart. Children have been running high fevers and having stomach trouble for several weeks. In one particular case the patient was taken to Amarillo where one doctor immediately requested an analysis of the milk supply. When this was made it indicated that the milk was 'unfit for human consumption.' Amarillo physicians have written Dalhart doctors about the situation and they in turn have taken the matter up with city officials."

Undulant fever is spreading in Memphis, Texas, and in attempting to check it City Health Officer Dr. O. R. Goodall has put out this warning:

"Undulant fever is caught mainly from milk or butter from cows infested with Bangs Disease. The fever is sometimes fatal and has a mortality rate of three per cent."

"Only rarely is the disease communicable from one human being to another, but it is comparatively easy to catch from cows, either through use of the milk or butter, or by contact with the cows."

"Pasteurized milk is safe," said Dr. Goodall, "and so is milk from any cow which has been tested and found free from Bangs Disease. People should buy pasteurized milk, or boil it, or be sure the herd from which it comes has been tested."

The New 1941 Chevrolet Receives Stamp Of Approval from Perryton Motorists

Chevrolet, which led the industry in sales again in 1940, makes its bid for continued pre-eminence, in 1941, with two series of new cars, in which modern streamline styling and larger, roomier bodies, combine with numerous mechanical improvements to produce the finest Chevrolets ever built. The Perryton Motor Co., local Chevrolet dealers, report that the new models have met with an enthusiastic buying response.

The famous Chevrolet vacuum power shift, which created a sensation when introduced in 1939, is standard on all models of both series, at no extra cost. Bodies are longer, wider, and much more massive looking. Their appearance mass is concentrated near the ground by changes in body and fender contour, as well as by judicious use of decoration and trim. Windshields, rear windows, and upper portion of sides of body are increased in slope, and the tops of side windows are one inch lower than in 1940.

The cars' sleek appearance is heightened by the omission of running boards, as well as by the use of concealed hinges on all doors and trunks, the sole exception being the rear deck door hinges of the coupes and cabriolet. Sides of the body extend outward and downward, noticeably farther than last year, and the skirt of each door conceals a convenient rubber-ribbed safety step to facilitate entrance and egress. The safety and convenience provided by a running board are thus retained, while the less desirable features are eliminated. Dirt, water, snow and ice cannot accumulate upon the step, because it is effectively sheltered under the flare of the door's lower edge. This not only makes the car easier to keep clean, but assures a firm, dry footing to persons getting in and out.

New and more massive-appearing die-cast radiator grille frame surrounding horizontal bars; new hood, and front fenders from which the valley is entirely eliminated, dress the front end of the car. Sealed beam headlights, integral with front fenders, are relocated for better appearance, separate parking lamps of flush type being set in the fenders just beneath.

The grille refinements are especially noteworthy. Replacement of stampings with die-castings has made it possible to gain more pleasing detail of design and shape, as well as to lighten the durability of this unit. And as the lowering of the body crease line and body belt moulding tend to accentuate the car's lowness as viewed from the side, so do the heavier horizontal bars of the radiator grille emphasize lowness and width as it is viewed from the front. The new grouping of lamps, and the new, wider bumper, also contribute to this effect.

Interiors are roomier as well as more luxurious. They embody numerous refinements, whose aggregate effect is to make these cars the equals, in riding comfort, driving ease, and safety, of cars of far higher price. Their restful, roomy case is apparent the moment the door is opened. Rear seats are lower, a change which not only makes for comfort, but also—by bringing passenger weight nearer the ground—contributes to stability and safety. There is greater room across the seat cushions, and also at elbow and shoulder levels. Footroom is more than ample, as before. Front seats are substantially wider, and are adjustable, and those in two-door models have convenient divided-type backs.

Headlining and body inside lining are identical in both series, but upholstery material differs between the Special Deluxe and Master Deluxe. On the former, it is a two-tone striped canvas cloth, with tan Bedford cord as an option, while in the latter it is attractive canvas cloth in a tasteful herringbone weave.

Treatment of the instrument panel is especially pleasing. On the Special Deluxe, the basic color is beige with a contrast of wood-grain design, and this is set off attractively by means of bright metal trim. The instrument cluster, including oil gauge, gasoline gauge, ammeter, and engine heat indicator, is at the extreme left. The large circular speedometer dial is adjacent, directly in front of the driver. The center space on the dash is fitted with a grille for radio installation, and above, on the Special Deluxe, is an ash receiver; and below, is an electric cigar lighter. Next to the grille toward the right, and balancing the speedometer, is a clock, and finally at the extreme right, the roomy glove compartment with locking knob and interior light. The grouping on the Master Deluxe is similar, but the basic color is tan, the clock, lighter, ash receiver and some decorative trim are omitted, and the glove compartment is not lighted. The indirect illumination of the instrument panel in both series may be dimmed or turned off entirely by rotating the headlamp control knob.

Attention to appearance extends to the floors and foot-room. Openings around pedals and steering column are neatly sealed, and durable floor-coverings are provided. On the Master Deluxe, these are heavy ribbed rubber, while on the Special Deluxe they are rubber with attractive carpet inserts. The area along the bottoms of the seats and doors, in the Special Deluxe series, is trimmed with imitation leather to prevent soiling and scuffing, and etched aluminum door sill plates add a further pleasing touch.

Rear compartments are designed for maximum comfort in both series, and in the Special Deluxe, they are equipped with robe cords across the rear of front seats in four-door models. The Special Deluxe has, in addition, combination assist straps and coat hooks, rear compartment ash receiver, and sliding rear-quarter windows. Two of the new sliding type sun visors, adjustable to give full protection against glare, are furnished in the Special Deluxe series, and one in the Master Deluxe.

An innovation common to both series is the provision of a lock on the front door at either side of every model, so as to facilitate entrance from whichever side is more convenient, in crowded parking lots or elsewhere. The lock is removed from the door handle, to a position just below, where it is flush with the side panel. A cover excludes moisture and dust. The new lock is unaffected by breakage of the door handle, and hence is more resistant to theft.

Doors of 4-door models are all hinged at their forward edges, a refinement which makes for safety and convenience as well. If the door is accidentally unlatched while the car is in motion, wind pressure has a tendency to close it rather than to jerk it suddenly open. And the new hinge enables passengers to get in or out of both compartments at the same time without interference. The new doors, if opened wide, will stay in that position, without slamming shut—an arrangement which is especially convenient when articles are being lifted into or out of the car.

The dome light control on the Special Deluxe is another innovation. The light may be turned on or off by means of the switch on the right-hand door pillar. It is also controlled automatically by a switch on the right-hand door pillar. It is also controlled automatically by a switch in the left-hand front door, so as to go on when that door is opened and off when it is closed.

Besides the Turret Top bodies, which are described above, Chevrolet also offers a Special Deluxe Station Wagon, having a style motif similar to the other passenger cars. Its equipment and features are necessarily different in some respects because of the Station Wagon design.

Numerous mechanical changes have been made in the new Chevrolet, many of them in the interests of performance, riding comfort, or long life, and others to adapt the chassis to the new 1941 style treatment. Engine output has been stepped up to a full 90 horsepower, largely through raising the compression ratio and by changes in combustion chamber shape. Even with the car larger, with a longer wheelbase, than in 1941, performance characteristics remain exceptionally high.

One innovation of interest is the provision of a reversing switch, which at each operation of the starter reverses the direction of the current through the ignition breaker points. This tends to equalize the deposition of metal from one breaker point on the other, and so prolongs the life and high efficiency of this vital unit of the car.

Bore, stroke and piston displacement are the same as in 1940, but the new 1941 piston, of cast alloy iron with slipper skirt, has a flat-type top instead of a crowned top, and the cylinder head is revised to gain more effective combustion. Better water jacketing is provided in the area around the exhaust valves and their seats, and the permanently sealed and lubricated ball-bearing water pump has two outlets to the cylinder block instead of one, for more uniform cooling of both sides of the block.

The specialized lubrication system, in which oil is delivered under positive pressure to the valve mechanism and the crankshaft and camshaft bearings, while the connecting rod bearings are oiled by pressure stream, is retained for 1941, with refinements which assure ample lubrication at lowest engine speeds and during so-called "cold starts." Valve stem lubrication is improved to prevent excess oil from running down their stems and being vaporized by heat. Smoothness, silence and durability are heightened by the use of a new steel alloy for valve rocker arms. Rocker arm shafts are hardened, and rocker arms are grinded after boring to prevent scuffing of the bearing surface.

The electrical system is largely new. A higher voltage ignition coil, waterproof and moisture proof, new heavy-duty high-compression spark plugs, higher-capacity condenser, and battery with non-overflow cap, are some of its features. The breaker side of the distributor cam lobe is made steeper to increase coil output at low speeds and during operation of the distributor.

The 1941 Chevrolet in two series, Master Deluxe and Special Deluxe, is designed to give you the most complete and refined passenger sedan, coupe, or station wagon available in both series. An improved drive shaft with vacuum-actuated station wagon, and commercial types, and sedan delivery, are the Master Deluxe.

OCHILTREE COUNTY HERALD'S Northeast Panhandle SPORTS

WHITE DEER SWAMPS RANGERS HERE FRIDAY

Gridsters Go Down 27-0 In Friday Game

Spearman Will Play Here Friday in Last Minute Revision

The black shirted White Deer Bucks hung plenty of crepe here last Friday night when they defeated the Perryton Rangers in a conference game 27-0. Despite all indications of the score a jam-up game was enjoyed with Perryton besting the Bucks on first downs and yards gained in scrimmage. The Rangers totaled 149 yards in scrimmage as compared with 125 for the bucks. First downs were 12 and five.

An uneventful first quarter was registered with neither side showing a distinct advantage.

In the second quarter the Bucks opened the scoring with Jimmie Russell intercepting a forward pass on the 50-yard line. Successive plays brought the ball to the 29-yard stripe and "Jake" Weaver scored a few minutes later. A conversion was made successfully.

The second touchdown came in the third quarter after Wayne Tomlin, Buck center, intercepted a Ranger pass and scampered to the 11-yard line. Russell went over and Hourigan converted. Later in the third quarter Russell intercepted another Ranger pass and made a 30-yard dash for the goal line. The kick failed.

In the fourth quarter with Perryton fighting every inch of the way, the Bucks got another lucky break when Russell got into the clear on a line plunge and raced 25-yards to pay dirt. On the conversion the kick was blocked and recovered by Hourigan who ran through the lines for the extra point.

All eleven of the Perryton Rangers played an aggressive brand of football throughout the game and piled up a formidable array of penetrations. An evenly matched White Deer eleven took advantage of every opportunity to score on four plays that were not necessarily spectacular, but good for the victory.

In the Perryton lineup Lilly, left half stood out well with some nice passing and was hard to stop on the ground plays. In the line Allen, Calhoun, Davis, Reimer, Werneburg and Lawrence turned in some excellent support. Luthi, Williams and Dunlavy made their presence known in the defensive line.

The Rangers will meet the Spearman Lynx in the third conference game of the season here on Friday night. The change in the schedule was made in order that the game could be played under lights. This tilt was to have been played in Spearman.

Harold Hudson Joins "Rustlers" at Texas

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 21—Orange, not black shirts are in fashion at the University of Texas campus where they are worn by the University's newest pep organization, the Rustlers, organized on the campus last year.

Banded together for the purpose of fostering Texas spirit, Rustlers march with the Longhorn Band, carry orange-and-white paddles and cowbells. With pep and service as their aim, they plan a year-around program rather than one limited to stunts and yells on the football field. Chief Rustler M. C. Lewis, Jr., of Hot Springs, Ark., explained.

Members of Rustlers include Harold Hudson of Perryton, John Hubbard and Keith Manroe of Sweetwater.

Spearman Will Come Here Fri.

Age-old football rivals will clash here Friday night on Ranger Field when the Spearman Lynx will invade Perryton with high hopes of taking home a victory, a possibility that seems to be based more on fact this year than ever before. While the Perryton record thus far in the season is far above Spearman's tally of all losses so far, advance reports of Lynx enthusiasm and expectations may prove a stumbling block to the Rangers.

Coaches Boyd Payne and George Philbrick have predicted that the two evenly matched teams will turn in a clash that spells high entertainment to fans despite previous losses to opponents.

The game will be the third conference game for Perryton with two previous losses, when they met Canadian and White Deer. The remainder of the Perryton schedule will include Phillips and Panhandle, two high ranking teams in the Plains area among the high schools.

The change in schedule of the Perryton-Spearman game was decided by officials due to Spearman lacking a sodded field for the match as called for in regulations. The game will start promptly at eight o'clock.

Most of the above branches of service are open at this time but the best such as Air Corps, Coast Artillery and Signal are selected by the first men but there still is always a good selection to choose from at any of these stations, it was said.

Shaughnessy and Waldorf Both Are Surprise Coaches of 1940 Season

BY ART BRONSON

IT'S still too early to make any definite nominations for the football coach of the year, but it isn't too early to point out some of the better jobs being done by some of the mentors who weren't supposed to get very far—if anywhere.

Among the most notable in this group are Clark Shaughnessy of Stanford, Lynn Waldorf of Northwestern, Eddie Anderson of Iowa, and Charley Bowser of Pittsburgh.

Many Stanford alumni were greatly chagrined when Tiny Thornhill was replaced by Shaughnessy, who had had such a miserable time of it at Chicago.

They realized, of course, that Shaughnessy just didn't have the material to work with on the Midway, but it was discouraging to bring in a losing coach and expect him to snap your own losing streak.

SHAUGHNESSY has demonstrated what he can do with decent material. His first three victories over San Francisco, Oregon and Santa Clara indicated that a new tactician of note must be reckoned with on the coast.

The Indians may not wind up in the Rose Bowl, but they're certainly headed for a successful year.

Waldorf had an entire line graduate on him and looked forward to one of the leanest years, but he took last year's reserves, tossed in a couple of sophomores for their replacements and whipped together a forward wall that shoved mighty Ohio State all over the field.

EDDIE ANDERSON lost the great Nile Kinnick, both regular ends, and other linemen, but the Hawkeyes continue to surprise the Midwest with their potency.

Pittsburgh football was so de-emphasized, so it was claimed, that Charley Bowser was destined to drop five or six games this year, but a perusal of the record shows that the Panthers still have a snarl or two left in their system.

Sometimes the personal hold a coach has on the little material he has is enough to offset a deficiency of tackles, halfbacks and what have you.

Salary Carried Over for Club

The Community Service Club found it necessary to carry over the salary due its president here last week when two members forfeited salaries for non-payment of dues. Elizabeth Moore was named president but was ineligible to receive the $50. At a second ballot taken for a possible salary of $25, V. W. Richardson also forfeited.

It has been announced that a ballot will be taken next Saturday for $75. In the event the person selected has not paid the ten cent dues for the week another ballot will be taken for $25.

The Community Service Club is strictly an organization conducted for charity work with all profits turned into those channels. The club is sponsored by the Pierce Johnson Post of the American Legion.

Willkie Pours Forth Charges with Utter Indifference as to Accuracy

It is obvious from his speeches that Wendell Willkie doesn't care what he says. If he was concerned about either truth or facts he would not make such reckless and unfounded charges as this in one of his Chicago speeches: "He (President Roosevelt) never said, because he could not say it, 'I have produced a job in private industry.' He did not mention it because he could not claim that he ever made it possible for one more man to work in the United States in American private enterprise."

There is not a private citizen of the country who does not know from his own experience that that statement is false. Every person with eyes to see and ears to hear knows of people being put to work in private enterprise by the business recovery which began under the Roosevelt administration and has continued under it. But cold statistics also prove the allegation false. These show that total non-agricultural employment is now 9,000,000 greater than it was seven years ago; that weekly factory payrolls are $113,000,000 greater than they were seven years ago; that construction work of all kinds, which is bound to put men to work, had a value of $9,900,000,000 in 1939 against a value of only $4,000,000,000 in 1932.

In his Coffeyville speech Mr. Willkie said: "Mr. Roosevelt . . . launched a political attack against our enterprises; he kept our economic system in turmoil; he made our depression permanent."

Borrowing this last expression from the hapless and ineffectual Hoover, the utilities' candidate again enters the field of imagination and untruth. The steady climb of the national income from a low of around $40 billion in 1932 to approximately $70 billion in 1939 alone disproves the assertion. But going into the corporation world whence Mr. Willkie's strength comes and from which his candidacy sprang, the evidence there confutes his statement. A report of the National City Bank, which even Mr. Willkie with his unconcern for facts would not call a New Deal source, showed that net profits of American business as represented by 2,400 companies, amounted in 1939 to $3,456,000,000, whereas most of them had losses or only slim profits before the Roosevelt administration came into power. This was a gain of 63 per cent over 1932, the report stated.

According to the same source the net profits of the first 250 corporations to report for the first quarter in 1940 were 50 per cent greater than for 1939, also a good business year as the figures show. Mr. Willkie's own Commonwealth and Southern shared in this gain.

In addition to this evidence of the falsity of Mr. Willkie's allegations, the financial pages of Willkie's newspapers contradict virtually everything he says about economic subjects which they print on their front pages. For example take the Philadelphia Inquirer, Moe Annenberg's paper, which is an ardent supporter of Mr. Willkie for President. On Tuesday, September 17, it splashed Mr. Willkie's Coffeyville speech, in which he made the charge already quoted, on its front page. But back on the financial pages of the same issue we find these headlines:

"Steel Operations Rise to 92.9 Per Cent Scoring New High." "Auto Production of 475,000 Units Seen For October Trade Publication Eyes All-time Record for Month." "Westinghouse Bonus 10 Per Cent." "Business Loans Jump $91,000,000."

"Baldwin Gets $400,000 Order." "Caterpillar Profit Rose in August." "Building Activity at 10-Year High."

These facts reveal one of three things about Mr. Willkie, the candidate of Wall Street and Big Business for President: Either he is totally unacquainted with what is going on about him in the economic world, in which case he is unfit to be even a business man's president; or he deliberately makes public statements which he knows to be untrue, in which case he is unfit to hold any public office or to claim association with decent people; or he considers the American voter so ignorant or debased that he is unable to recognize falsehood and fakers, in which case he is likely to receive a great surprise in November.

Tenmarq Wins In State Test

AMARILLO, Texas, Sept. 23.—Through the cooperation of the Texas Wheat Improvement Association, the officials of the Tri-State Fair at Amarillo, Texas, sponsored a special wheat milling and baking contest for the first time in the history of the fair held from September 16-21.

Lending aid to the move in Texas to encourage the production of only high quality wheat varieties, the Tri-State Fair adopted the type of quality contest first used a year ago at the Oklahoma State Wheat Exposition in Enid. The contest (based upon 75 per cent of the score for milling and baking value and 25 per cent for external appearance) was so designed as to give emphasis to variety. Variety classifications used were: (1) Turkey; (2) Tenmarq; (3) Blackball; and (4) Miscellaneous. The samples within each class were placed on external appearances by Mr. J. B. Wallace, Licensed Grain Inspector, Plainview, Texas. The two top samples on external appearances of each variety classification were then milled and baked by two different Texas quality testing laboratories. All testing, judging, etc. was done under the blind entry number.

Combining the external appearance score and the milling and baking score of each of the eight samples milled and baked, the judges awarded the two Tenmarq samples the first and second prizes. The two Turkey samples were awarded the fifth and sixth prizes. The two samples of the miscellaneous class, which were Chiefkan samples, were poorest in quality and received the last two places in the contest.

The two Tenmarq samples in order of placing were grown by Mr. J. D. Wilbanks of Spearman, Texas, and Mr. J. R. Colvard of Spearman, Texas. The next ranking Turkey samples in order of placing were grown by Mr. George Stewart of Spearman, Texas, and W. T. Womble of Stinnett, Texas.

Also held at the Tri-State Fair was the regular wheat show in which all samples of wheat were judged on external appearance. In this contest, the lowest ranking sample in the milling and baking contest was awarded first prize. These two wheat shows proved to be of a highly educational nature in that heat producers were able to visually picture the true story of wheat quality.

Wheat producers expressed their keen interest in the new type contest and many commented "all that glitters is not gold."

"Everlasting Punishment" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 3.
The Golden Text is: "Righteousness keepeth him that is upright in the way; but wickedness overthroweth the sinner" (Proverbs 13:6).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "The Lord is known by the judgment which he executeth: the wicked is snared in the work of his own hands" (Psalms 9:16).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Remove error from thought, and it will not appear in effect" (page 40).

Willkie is "All Things to All Men"

If the facts of Wendell Willkie's personality and character known at the beginning of his campaign were not sufficient to make an accurate appraisal of the candidate, the countless speeches he has delivered in his tour of the country have by now given the true measure of the man.

At the outset the given qualities were: Complete lack of experience in political affairs, a record as a fixer and lobbyist for public utility corporations, and publicity expressed views in opposition to progressive measures put into effect by the Roosevelt administration such as the power developments and legislation favorable to labor. And while these were not regarded by thoughtful persons as impressive qualifications for the Presidency of the United States, they were at least supposed to indicate a personality who held definite convictions within his limited sphere and who could be relied upon to defend them with vigor and without evasion or equivocation.

But, instead of that, the behavior and utterances of Mr. Willkie on the stump have presented a wholly different picture. The Willkie of record, the champion of the power trust, the apologist for its corrupt practices, the eulogist of Tom Girdler, the labor baiter, the sturdy, gallant defender of big business—this Willkie, who became the darling of the privileged reactionaries because of these performances, has disappeared and in his place there has arisen a wobbly Willkie, a Willkie who is all things to all men, whose opinions take on the color of the particular locality in which he happens to lift up his voice.

No intelligent person supposes of course that the change is permanent or that when the campaign is over, whatever be its outcome, the real, original Willkie will not emerge. But the question presented to conscientious voters for their decision is whether they wish to entrust the direction of their country's affairs to a man of such demonstrated intellectual and moral instability.

Do they in this critical state of the world dare to contribute to place at the head of the Government a man not only without training for the position and with no knowledge or comprehension of its duties, but a man so destitute of fixed purpose that there is no declared conviction he will not renounce, no promise so preposterous that he will not make it, and no accusation so reckless and unfounded that he will not utter it, in order to win to his side the handful of votes it is expected to attract?

These are not times to indulge the caprices of political mountebanks. They demand men of training and experience and high resolve. They require the stability and character to command the confidence of the nation and the respect of the world. Only by the return of the existing Democratic administration can these results be secured. In this way only can national unity and harmonious, coordinated effort be attained, for the Republican party and the Republican candidate are destitute of either fixed purpose or positive program. They are even in sharp conflict with each other. The undecided voter who casts his lot with them embarks upon a rudderless ship with an incompetent, irresponsible captain and a mutinous crew.

He goes aboard at his own, and his country's peril!

The program consists of fun for all Saturday and on Sunday the business sessions will be held. In these times of wars and rumors of war, it is the duty of every Legionnaire and his wife to attend. An outline of the program which will start at 1:00 p. m., Saturday, Nov. 2: Arrival of Wm. Ehler, State Auxiliary president, Fred Army, Grand Chief de Gare of the 40 & 8, and A. C. Jackson, Department Detachment Commander, Sons of the American Legion. There will be a Stag party and floor show for the men and a Doe party for Ladies only. Carlton Scales orchestra will play mellow music for the convention dance.

On the Sunday program, November 3, is a Post officers breakfast, an Auxiliary breakfast honoring the State president, Post service officers and S. A. L. chairmen schools. The business sessions will be presided over by J. M. Johnson, 18th District Commander and Mrs. Hupp Clark, 18th district president.

Wm. George Gilles, National Chaplain, will deliver the sermon at the morning church service and Ed Riedel, Department Commander will give the principal address in the afternoon.

Flowers Culled From Utterances of Willkie

Given below are expressions used in public interviews or speeches by Wendell L. Willkie who aspires to be President of the United States and as such represent American culture before the world:

"I want to meet the champ."—In frequent interviews before his nomination.

"Is this Cicero? Well, then, to hell with Chicago. We're outside of Chicago."—Speech at Cicero, Illinois.

"I have worked as hard as any guy in this crowd, and if you give me a month's training, I will do as good work with my hands as any damned one of you."—Speech at Chicago Stockyards.

"Is there any one here who is so damned dumb as to think that that can go on for four years more."—Speech at Chicago Stockyards.

"I'm a different kind of egg than the ones ever dealt with."—Quoted by Time magazine from interview.

"This fellow."—Speech at Peoria referring to the President of the United States.

"I know the President thinks he can 'high-hat' me."—Speech at Joliet.

"During the course of his campaign he (President Roosevelt) can pull a Grotto on me, but he won't get away with it."—Speech at Joliet.

Dispelling the Fog

By CHARLES MICHELSON
Director of Publicity, Democratic National Committee

We are near enough to the finish of this political campaign to survey it in retrospect.

It is doubtful if any national election ever produced so gross a total of misstatements, contradictory statements and plain inventions as the Willkie candidacy has brought forth. It may be that the candidate new to rules of national politics, simply took what was handed to him and promulgated it in good faith. Evidently knowing nothing about it, for example, he came out with an explicit charge that because of governmental inefficiency, men conscripted by the draft, would for lack of shelter in the winter months be periled "from sickness and influenza." The object of such a declaration was obvious—it was to alarm the mothers and wives of the boys going into service, with the hope that it would prejudice them against the Democratic candidate. But the next day the Republican Secretary of War explained that barracks building was ahead of the enrollment and so no drafted man would be exposed to the imaginary hardships and dangers Mr. Willkie set forth.

The minority party candidate never corrected his statement. His policy has been right along to stick to his statements.

Once he proclaimed with variations that employment insurance was a delusion and a snare. "Your social security does you no good," he told his audience at Pittsburgh, "if you are paying into a government that will not, at the rate it is spending, be able to pay you back."

Confronted with the figures showing that already three billion dollars had been paid out by the Government in employment insurance, old-age pensions, etc., he made no correction or explanation.

That Sale "Down the River"

He specifically charged President Roosevelt with having telephoned the totalitarian chiefs, and as a result of these conversations had sold Czechoslovakia down the river. Somebody must have told him that there had been no such telephoning so he permitted his press-agents to say that he had "mis-spoken." Nevertheless, he repeated the absurd charge in slightly varied forms in subsequent speeches.

In New England he blamed the New Deal for the moving of industrial plants from that section to the South, forgetting doubtless the Alabama speech in which he said: "I can tell you why we maintain an office in New York. It is solely because of two reasons: first, to have a convenient and advantageous point from which we can work with the Alabama Power Co. and other companies to secure the removal of Northern industries to this area. How successfully we have done this, perhaps you can judge by the fact that in the past decade the new industries division of the Alabama Power Co. aided directly or indirectly in the location of 245 industries in 129 different communities in your state."

Mr. Willkie may be deficient in knowledge about the preparedness program, and the social security acts, and so have been misinformed on these subjects, but certainly he knows all about the mechanism that took mills and businesses away from New York and New England to where his own outfit could have them as customers.

Everything Will Go to Smash

Of course, the Republican candidate sees nothing ahead but bankruptcy, chaos, and the wreck of the whole American system if Roosevelt is reelected. He is as dire in his prophecies as was Herbert Hoover when he was telling us that if he was removed from the White House and the evil Democrats tampered with the sacred Smoot-Hawley tariff, grass would grow in our city streets. That was eight years ago and it hasn't yet been necessary to erect keep-off-the-grass signs in Wall Street, or the corresponding thoroughfares in other great cities.

Mr. Willkie sees even worse ahead. If President Roosevelt continues in the presidency, the future offers "restriction and limitation to the clergy and to the preachments of individual religions, and offers little hope for the freedom of the press and of expression." And he added: "It is an inevitable if you continue to go down that road, as that the sun will rise in Springfield tomorrow morning."

Isn't that a marvelous picture of what will ensue if our church-going, humanitarian President continues in office? Up to date perhaps no modern President has been subjected for years to such a barrage of attacks—personal and political—from the Republican press as he has had directed at him and his policies, and, strangely enough, he hasn't tried to suppress any newspaper—as Mr. Willkie did so successfully when the Chattanooga News fought for public ownership of public utilities.

However, it will all be over in a few days and then Mr. Willkie can revert to type and put away the role of defender of the American nation against the perils of the third-term and get back to his regular utility

Call this Texas Farm Family The Most Typically American

MEET the D. E. Leathers family of Clarendon, Texas, chosen the most typically American family.

There are just four of them—Mr. and Mrs. Deverdie Eugene Leathers and their two children, Johnny, 19, and Margaret Jean, 16. They live on a 200-acre farm six miles from Clarendon, Donley County, Texas. Leathers, who is 39, was born in Donley County and has tilled his present farm for 19 years.

The "most typically American" designation came to the Leathers family on their first trip to New York City together. First named Texas's most typical family, they went to New York to compete with other families from all over the country. They came out on top.

THE farm which is their home has a cream-colored stucco house adorned with flowers and potted plants, well built barns and corrals.

Young Johnny is financially independent, having started to raise pigs and calves in a 4-H club project about six years ago. He is a sophomore at Clarendon College, expects to enter Texas A. & M. next year. He will specialize in agriculture and animal husbandry.

Margaret Jean, a pretty brunette, is musically inclined. She has written one copyrighted song, "Ivory Lee." She's a senior at Clarendon High School.

TO Mr. and Mrs. Leathers, the honor of being America's most typical family is a serious honor, one of which they "feel unworthy."

But they're happy about the whole thing because, in addition to the honor, they will receive a new home completely furnished, a cash award, a trip to 44 states, and a chance for movie, radio and stage tests. They will visit each of the 43 other families who contested for the honor they won.

That the prize was fairly awarded is attested by the attitude of their neighbors, all of whom believe the Leathers family deserves the title.

Dr. and Mrs. G. L. Kengle left Wednesday evening on a four day vacation which they will spend in Dallas and points near. Dr. H. M. Sanford is in charge at the Perryton Hospital during their absence.

Mrs. Bob Rogers and son and Miss Nora Eads, Dallas, and Mrs. H. L. Wilbanks and children, Spearman, are spending this week in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Eads.

Food Stamp Plan For Donley Co.

Donley County will have a food stamp plan in the near future if plans formulated here recently are approved by the state office at Austin.

Should the food stamp plan be approved it will affect approximately 1,725 Donley County citizens, or out of every five persons.

The move is designed to bring about a greater purchasing power, pouring additional money into the tills of Donley County grocers.

The food stamp plan is a new way of distributing surplus foods instead of giving surplus commodities to states and counties to be distributed to people receiving public assistance. The Federal Government gives food order stamps. These stamps can be redeemed in grocery stores for surplus foods as additions to the present family food supply.

Those now receiving surplus commodities here will be eligible to participate in the stamp plan. In addition, people working on WPA projects, those receiving old age assistance, ex-service men, and farm security clients, can secure the stamps.

Should the food stamp plan be approved for this county, the commodity depot here would be eliminated.

The Food Stamp plan was instituted in Amarillo this week, and began operation in Memphis and Hall county on January 15, 1940.

The object of the plan is to help the farmer get rid of surplus commodities, to raise the standard of living of families on federal relief or receiving federal aid, and to help bolster business in general, mainly by eliminating the commodities depots which are in competition to local grocers.

The experience with the plan in Hall County has been checked by local representatives and found to be very satisfactory.—The Clarendon News.

Scarlet Fever on Increase Over Texas

AUSTIN, Texas—Prevalence of scarlet fever in Texas during October has increased 93.9 per cent over September's total cases, according to reports reaching the Texas State Department of Health.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, points out that this is a characteristic seasonal rise in prevalence, as the number of scarlet fever cases increases simultaneously with the opening of school and remains more or less constant during the school year, and recedes in marked fashion during the summer vacation.

"Scarlet fever continues to be a menace to children," Dr. Cox said. "Many cases are slight, but they may infect others who will become seriously ill. Even the mild cases may be dangerous, as post-disease complications may be severe."

"Children between the ages of five and ten years are most susceptible to scarlet fever—cases are more virulent and more deaths occur in this age group than in any other. Therefore, the younger the child is, the more dangerous are the complications and the greater the likelihood that the disease will run a severe course."

"The incubation period (time between exposure to the germs and manifestation of the first symptoms) may be from one to seven days, usually from two to four. The first symptoms are headache, sore throat, vomiting, fever. With very young children, the attack may begin with convulsions and a sudden high fever. Twenty-four to forty-eight hours after the original symptoms the rash begins to appear and in two more days increases in brightness until it becomes a vivid scarlet, and covers the entire body. Symptoms which may indicate scarlet fever demand immediate medical attention and quarantine to prevent the spread of the disease. Appearance of scarlet fever in the home should be followed immediately by a rigid quarantine for at least three weeks."

"The public should be warned against exposing young children to those exhibiting acute catarrhal symptoms of any kind. Take no chances, for scarlet fever is spread by the transfer of the infection in discharges of nose and throat, ears or abscesses of persons ill with the disease and those who are carriers of the infection."

Simple things that add beauty and color to my home are a pleasure to make, stated Mrs. E. W. Witt, program leader, to the members of the Missouri Avenue club when they met Friday, October 25, 2 o'clock, in the home of Mrs. Fred Huston.

A quilt of blended colors is both pretty and useful, continued Mrs. Witt. Mrs. Hazel Martin, county agent, and Mrs. Dave Shanks demonstrated ways of making fluff and rag rugs. An attractive ornament for the home is a basket of autumn leaves, soaked in one part glycerine to nine parts water then pressed with a medium hot iron to preserve the color, combined with buck brush berries, acorns, China berries or sassafras vine with its bright berries twined around the basket handle.

The club welcomed Mrs. Shanks as a new member. Waka Club

"Would you like to avoid that last minute rush in Christmas shopping? If so, now is the time to start handcraft articles to be used later as Christmas gifts," was the statement that received much consideration at the meeting of the Waka Home Demonstration Club which met in the home of Mrs. W. O. Groves on October 21. Many unique ideas were exchanged at the meeting on the subject.

Christmas gifts can be made at home with little expense. The making does take some time and patience but it is so pleasant and worthwhile that it more than repays.

One member displayed a lovely cake or rocky jar which had been made from a glass cigar jar, using a Mexican transfer and red enamel on the lid. Several of these may be used as a canister set.

Another had an ash tray or pin jar made by rolling narrow strips of colored paper to form a flat disc then shaping as desired and using two coats of clear varnish to hold the disk in shape.

A clever lapel ornament was shown by one member. It had been made from very small pine cones covered with shellac. Small screw eyes put into the top and two or three placed together to form a bunch.

A handy makeup box was shown. It was constructed of pasteboard and washable paper and oil cloth on the inside and bottom of the compartments. It is quite practical for anyone taking a trip and would make a lovely gift for school girl or business women.

Other members showed croquet work, painting and rug making. Mrs. Hazel Martin, home demonstration agent, demonstrated a new method of making rag rugs on a burlap base. These ideas and many made the meeting one of the most interesting for the year.

During the business meeting the following officers were elected: Mrs. Marvin Groves, president; Mrs. Norman Crum, vice president; Mrs. G. A. Burger, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. Van Earl Steed, council delegate; Mrs. Pete Wermake, alternate; Mrs. Dan Manning, scrapbook and photography.

OLD FAITHFUL

As almost everyone knows, at chapel Friday, the student body chose "Old Faithful" as the school song. Since the song is a well-known group it was thought that "Old Faithful" should be our Alma Mater song.

An interpretation of this song Mr. Truax gave us, makes it very applicable. Old Faithful is Perryton High School. "The ranges we have roamed" are the campus and locality thereabout. We have roamed them in every kind of days. When it is all over, then the students are turned out into life.

Hurry up P. H. S. it's time you were making a more glorious name for yourself. This is the highlight of the interpretation.

The words are the same as the popular tune. We are asking everyone to respect our Alma Mater song by standing when it is played or sung, and by singing.

New Uniforms for Band, Bugle Corps

The Drum and Bugle Corps have already been measured for uniforms and the uniforms have been ordered and were expected last Friday, but due to the difficulty in getting the color desired, they did not get here.

The band has a sample of its uniform, but has not yet decided on the type.

When we get these new uniforms our band and drum and bugle corps will be quite a show. These two organizations are something not only the school, but the entire city of Perryton can be proud of. The band has made several good showings already this season, but with new uniforms these will be even better.

Second Graders Nature Study Trip

Seventy-two members of the two second grades went on a Nature Trip Monday, October 21, to study the fall and autumn habits of prairie dogs, insects and reptiles. The children and their teachers, Miss Nellie Wingen and Mrs. Duke left the school house at noon in busses furnished by Pinkney Dear and V. O. Olmstead.

After arriving at Jines Springs they ate their lunches. Following their lunch period they visited a prairie dog town. They collected many insects and reptiles which will be studied in their nature classes. The buses returned at 2:30 o'clock. All children attending report a grand time.

This and That

I am curious as to the identity of this person called "Courage Ann?"

Mary Frances Calhoun, what were those pictures you were drawing in second period study hall?

From that frown, I'd say that Jackie Adams must have been concentrating very strongly on that library book.

Holly just couldn't seem to make Grace understand about that newspaper article.

Wilbert what were you trying to do? Hide your face so that the study hall teacher couldn't see you chewing gum?

Mr. Henry should be very pleased with the way Mildred and Polly study shorthand the second period.

This picture drawing is quite a fad isn't it Lucille J.?

I hear that the fourth period Civics class is a perfect one? ? ? Bonnie, was that a "hen" party you and O'Betra held in the second period study hall?

Some one told me that there is a hair pulling contest that goes on in the eighth period English class.

Elton, I'm going to blackmail you if you don't pass around the gum in the study hall.

Can any one tell me why Dick Thomas enjoys typing so much the seventh period?

F. F. A. Officers

The F. F. A. I class during the 5th and 6th periods elected the following officers: George Hohmann, president; Gordon Lewis, vice president; Dwight Trooper, treasurer; Tommie Bishop, reporter; Ennis Riemer, watch dog; Alva Vermilion, parliamentarian.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Allen, Guymon, Okla., spent the night Tuesday in the home of his son, Claud Allen and family.

Mrs. A. J. Kelly and Mrs. H. I. Hudson were Amarillo visitors Monday.

'Miss America' Of the Henyard

This Rhode Island Red, owned by E. B. Parmenter, of Franklin, Mass., was adjudged the "hen of the year" at annual convention of the Northeastern Poultry Producers Council in Atlantic City, N. J. She laid 340 eggs during past year.

Campus Clothes

As for colors and brightness, take a quick look at Margaret Jean's coat. It is green wool, with red, black, white, yellow stripes in it, around the waist.

Teachers as well as students have a taste for clothes. There are many ways to look at new clothes, but all you have to do this time is go to the band room and look at Mr. Truax's suit, which matches with his personality very well.

Mr. Henry should be very pleased with the way Mildred and Polly study shorthand the second period.

Red and blue seem to be making a hit with girls this year. Billie and Dorothy aren't twins but their dresses sure do favor each other. They are red and blue corduroy with hoods and pockets on them.

Well, Billie Jo surely is patriotic. Her red skirt and blue, red, and white sweater help keep her in the colors.

Ruth Ann has a very smart brown pleated skirt, with a brown velvet top to match. It is trimmed in gold thread with gold buttons.

Eulene Wade wears brown very nicely. A snappy jacket of cloth, with a saddle stitch of dark brown around collar is quite becoming.

A. J. Kelly and Frank McKillips left Tuesday on a business trip to Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. Creed Walker will leave next week for South Texas where they will spend the winter at various points.

'Austin in a Nut Shell'

By O'RUCKER

Webster defines a lobby as "part of a hall of legislation not appropriated to the official use of the legislature, or to influence them by person who frequents such a place to transact business with the legislature," or to influence them by personal agency to favor particular measures.

A modern definition of a lobbyist could be, "an ex-legislator who has built for himself a certain clientele during his official years, and now devotes his time to grinding out bills at the rate of three or sometimes four a day, to present to the next session of the legislature." These bills are not for the benefit of the general public, but are for the benefit of those corporations and associations that have the money to hire the services of these have-been law-makers. On account of their past experience, they know the ropes, and the fastest and quickest means of getting their pet projects introduced in each house and usually have a well trained crew to fish information from the "green members" as well as to entertain them and sell them upon the idea of voting their way on a particular bill that is for the benefit of their best clients, and not for the benefit of "YOU."

The next time that you read of a bill that is being hotly contested here in Austin, take the time to study the measure and then drop your representative and senator a card telling him how you want him to vote. Don't wait until it is all over and then say "That little man doesn't have a chance." You may not have the money, but you have the voting power, and that is ever important to a man that will probably be asking you to vote for him two years hence.

Last week the following paragraph appeared in this column: "Remember, that bills not only can be but have been passed, that were a practical violation of the constitution of the United States. They were held to be constitutional by the State courts, because they were passed in the name of Public Welfare, although they deprived certain groups of their freedom of speech, and their freedom of the press. One ex-legislator has questioned the veracity of that statement and would like to see a concrete example of it."

The most glaring example will be found in the Legislative records of the 45th legislature, Article 752b, which is an amendatory act to the Dental laws of the State of Texas, which reads: Unprofessional conduct defined:

It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation to engage in or be guilty of any unprofessional conduct in the practice of dentistry, directly or indirectly. Any "unprofessional conduct" as used herein means and includes any one or more of the following acts, to-wit:

(g) Advertising prices for professional services in the practice of dentistry, or comparative values thereof;

(q) Advertising to the public any commercial dental laboratory or dental clinic.

This bill was sponsored by a group of dentists that did not care to advertise that they could produce a set of teeth at a certain price, and still make a good profit upon them. But should they be allowed to prevent some other dentist to advertise to the public that he could make a satisfactory plate for a sum as low as $25 and depend upon the volume of business to make his profit? To a man without teeth, and practically without funds a ten dollar set of teeth will sometimes mean more to him than a hundred dollar plate will to a man that has plenty of money. In other words, is the man without money supposed to do without teeth the rest of his life because he doesn't know that he can get them at a price that he can afford to pay? Isn't that depriving those dentists that would like to advertise "their freedom of the press," as well as depriving some people of the proper dental work because they cannot afford to pay more?

This bill in itself may be very unimportant, but if a well organized group can make a bill like that stand up in the courts to protect their price structure, what is to prevent a group of merchants that handle only high priced clothing, depriving a merchant from advertising to the public that he sells overalls for 98 cents? What is to prevent a group of grocers from stopping their competitors from advertising 15 cents a pound steak? The fifteen cent steak might be a little tough, and the ninety-eight cent overalls might be of light weight quality, but to a man that is hungry and clothesless and has only a limited amount of money, they are better than nothing. And that is that.

Over to the Comptrollers department and Bob Calvert, who is chief auditor for that department. If every state official were as nice and accommodating as that man is, the State Capitol would be a pleasant place to spend your time. He has at his finger tips the information relating to every dime that was collected by the State of Texas, and just how and where that dime was spent. The fiscal year ended on August 31, 1940, but the new figures will not be ready for another ten days, upon the total revenue of the Austin in a Nutshell Galley TWO

State with its expenditures. It might interest some of you to know that in 1939 the State had a total revenue of exactly $175,216,238.99.

It spent $164,323,499.81. Mr. Calvert neglected to say what happened to $10,892,739.18 that was left over. It is probably in the treasury of some of the departments and is unavailable to the general fund to pay the old age pensions with, since the use of a certain portion of certain taxes is controlled by the State constitution and the legislators do not have the power to take it from its designated place and use it for different purposes. It is generally conceded that the school fund usually has a surplus of funds and the question is consistently asked as to why that money is not re-allocated by the legislators and used to pay current operating costs of departments that are in debt. That happens to be the department whose operating costs are provided for in the State constitution, and their revenue cannot be changed without a constitutional amendment.

ONLY A FREE PRESS CAN PREVENT

Every elected official who does our work, whether in Washington, the state capital, the county seat or our city hall, is a public servant. He exists to carry out the people's orders. He will remain a public servant only as long as his every public word and deed is under the constant scrutiny of the people who elected him.

That is why the newspaper's principal duty is to tell you what is going on in your seats of government. For the moment the vigilance of the people relaxes, the instant they cease to be informed, abuses and excesses begin . . . inevitably.

That is why the first thing every dictator does upon gaining power by constitutional means is systematically to throttle the newspapers. He cannot afford to let people read, think and say what they please. He must mold public opinion. And the press must be made to do his bidding.

Every thinking American knows this, of course. Every American knows that the rights and liberties he enjoys here are possible only because he would instantly know of any abuse of public trust through the columns of his local newspaper.

Few of our public officials are perfect. They are only human. But most of them work conscientiously in the public welfare. Some of them might like to be rascals or even tyrants but, like the small boy who'd rob the fruit stand if only the cop wasn't standing on the corner, they seldom get the chance as long as a free press is on the job. And then never for long.

Bill Corry, Dirt Farmer from Tarrant County Opposes Willkie Supporter for State Office

AUSTIN, Oct. 29.—Bill Corry of Keller, Tarrant County, today appealed for the support of true Democrats in his write-in campaign for Texas commissioner of agriculture, in which he is opposing J. E. McDonald, avowed booster of the Republican Willkie-McNary ticket.

Roosevelt Democrats and friends of Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel voiced their approval of Corry's candidacy. It was pointed out that the Republican party in Texas has designated a nominee for every state office except that of commissioner of agriculture. Roosevelt backers said there could be no doubt that the state's Republicans are active in behalf of McDonald.

Corry, son of a tenant farmer who was a circuit-riding preacher in North Texas, is a former member of the legislature, where he served as an O'Daniel leader and later as an O'Daniel appointee as temporary assistant chairman of the relief commission. He was runner-up against McDonald for agricultural commissioner in the July primary.

"Vote for every Democrat on the ticket," was the appeal of Corry's friends. "Vote for every man the party has nominated except J. E. McDonald, who has shown by his endorsement of Willkie that he is no longer a Democrat. Scratch out the name of J. E. McDonald and write in the name of Bill Corry."

"I am not asking Texas Democrats to bolt their party as McDonald has done in urging support of Willkie against Roosevelt," Corry declared. "I am asking them to repudiate a man who kept his intentions to support the Republican party well concealed until he had secured the Democratic nomination for his own office."

Corry charged that McDonald has "turned against the Democrats who have fed him for eight years," and added that "he will never be in a position to work effectively with either the Democratic legislature, Democratic farmers and ranchers, or the state Democratic administration and Gov. O'Daniel's industrial program, to say nothing of harmony which should exist with the national administration after Roosevelt is re-elected."

McDonald has duped the 850,000 Texas voters who, according to reliable surveys, are in accord with the candidacy of President Roosevelt, Corry stated.

"The question is," he continued, "whether Texas Democrats will allow themselves to be double-crossed by a nominee whom they named in good faith, or whether they will stand up on their hind legs and fight for Roosevelt and against the man who hid his love for Willkie until he had obtained the Democrats' nomination and thought it was too late for them to do anything but accept his double-cross."

Corry was drafted by a statewide meeting of Roosevelt Democrats at Waco last Friday. On the following day at Waco, the County Judges and Commissioners association of Texas passed a resolution condemning Willkie and requested Texas Democrats to vote for Bill Corry.

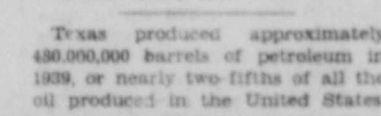

Corry said his platform is one of full cooperation with the Roosevelt and O'Daniel administrations. "The write-in campaign is the only remedy Texans have at this late hour to repudiate McDonald as the Democrat who failed to reveal his love for Wendell Willkie until he thought it was too late for Texas Democrats to do anything about it," said Judge C. C. Hurdle of Waxahatchie, Corry's campaign manager.

Corry announced plans for a state-wide appeal to all true Democrats, including farm and livestock organizations, labor groups and Roosevelt supporters as well as O'Daniel supporters. He said he would appeal to every county and precinct. Democratic chairman to carry his campaign into every part of Texas.

"We have not had a Republican in a major state office since carpet bag days, and Texas does not need one now," Corry said.

Texas produced approximately 480,000,000 barrels of petroleum in 1939, or nearly two-fifths of all the oil produced in the United States.

W. N. (BILL) CORRY

Drafted by a statewide mass meeting of Texas Democrats to run as a "Roosevelt Democrat" write-in candidate to oppose the re-election of Agr. Commr. J. E. McDonald, who despite his nomination as a Democrat, last week endorsed the candidacy of Wendell Willkie, Bill Corry of Tarrant county, is putting on a whirlwind campaign. He has the endorsement of Texas county judges and leading farm and ranch organizations and democratic leaders throughout the state. The Waco meeting in a resolution declared McDonald had forfeited any right to democratic party support and named Corry as the "instrument of Texas democracy to remove 'Willkie-craft' from Texas politics. Corry was runner-up against McDonald in the July primary and refused to be a candidate until drafted by the Waco meeting. Judge C. C. Hurdle of Ellis county was named as Corry's campaign manager.

New Fixtures at Plainview Hardware

One of the most extensive jobs of remodeling ever undertaken by a Perryton store has been started by the Plainview Hardware Co. The interior of the store will be completely changed from front to back to conform with Hubbard, Spencer, Bartlett Eight Point True Value Merchandising Service plans.

This brings to Perryton a modern service offering all the advantages of a chain-operated store, yet retaining the advantages of a home-owned and home-operated establishment. The tie up is designed to provide a combination of price and quality.

The store will be streamlined throughout with new "bright-as-day" lighting fixtures, open display counters and shelving, with plain prices on every item in the store.

The work is being done under the direction of Edward J. Marston, merchandising engineer with Hubbard, Spencer, Bartlett & Co. Over 600 stores have been similarly remodeled under the company's standardized plans.

The system of display used in each department is one worked out on a basis of experience. Each is set up from elaborate photographs and specifications and will be changed from time to time as monthly bulletins are issued.

The new store will have separate departments for sporting goods, plumbing supplies, tools, gifts, farm machines and repairs, paints, stoves and refrigerators and many other lines.

County Courthouse, at once. The draft board must notify state headquarters of volunteers not later than November 4, stated Mr. Scott Amend, clerk of the Ochiltree County Board.

Such volunteers will be among the first persons to be sent questionnaires, regardless of order number, and will be classified in the same manner as men already registered. It is the opinion of state headquarters that Texas will have sufficient volunteers to complete the first call quota. This means that no conscripts would be drawn in the first call.

Attention is also called to the fact that men from 18 to 21 years of age may volunteer at Local Boards and be classified as if he were a registrant.

PTA Is Held Monday Nite

The Parent Teacher Association met Monday night, October 28, in the High School Auditorium for the regular monthly meeting with the president, Mrs. R. H. Holland, presiding.

Mrs. Arvie Hale, membership chairman, reported 188 members and the membership campaign still in progress. Superintendent Wedgeworth said the playground equipment had arrived and was being erected, soon the playground would be in first class condition.

It was decided to sponsor the building of tennis courts for the high school. The Board of Education will assist the PTA in this work. W. H. Lance, R. L. Duke and H. C. Brillhart were appointed on the committee to look into the matter. Mrs. Holland and Mrs. K. H. Crisp were chosen as delegates to attend the State Parent Teacher Convention, which will be held in Dallas November 6-8.

Mrs. Crisp gave the president's message in commemoration of the thirty-first birthday of the Texas Parent Teacher organization. A birthday offering was taken and a birthday prayer offered by Rev. S. R. McClung.

Mrs. A. J. Kelly gave a very interesting talk on "It's a Very Small World." She said, "It is clear that we must both as parents and teachers, train ourselves quickly and well to take a sharp look at this modern world of ours, interpret it to our children and make use of the modern conveniences of cars, radios, planes, trains, movies and magazines to widen and deepen the learning of our children so that they will be able to handle the world better than we have known how to do."

Everyone present enjoyed the moving pictures of Old Mexico shown by Carl Ellis. To add to the enjoyment and understanding, A. P. Spicer, who has spent much time in Mexico, gave a brief explanation of the pictures as they were being shown.

When the vote was taken, the second grade won the attendance record. After the meeting was dismissed, a social was held in the Home Economics department and coffee and doughnuts were served.

The next meeting will be Monday evening, November 24.

Amarillo Youths Held for Theft

Six Amarillo youths are being held in the city jail pending action of the Betty Anne Bakery Company, Woodward, in which they are charged with having taken a quantity of bread and pastries from a truck at Booker Wednesday. The young men gave their names as Marion Robert Guinn, Malvin P. Dawson, Evert V. McDowell, Carl Ash, Robert Post and Clyde Post.

Deputy Fred Huston made the arrest. Following a complaint of several Booker citizens who followed the men from Booker after observing the theft, R. H. Miers, driver of the truck, was inside a Booker store when the raid on the wagon was made.

Officers said that if charges were pressed the culprits would be returned to Lipscomb county for action.

One of a series of regional grass-land conferences sponsored by Land Grant Colleges, state experiment stations, state extension services, and various agencies of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, will be held in Amarillo in September.

PERRYTON, TEXAS

JUST HERE and THERE

Voters of Texas will have four amendments to the state constitution on the ballot next Tuesday. Every voter should make a study of these amendments in order to make an intelligent decision.

One of these amendments, No. 1 on the ballot, should be defeated. If approved by the voters, it would give to the Commissioners' Court of Red River county the power to levy an additional 25c tax levy over and above the limit prescribed by the constitution.

This means that if this amendment is enacted, a principle of government has been written into our constitution, which will, in effect, nullify our constitutional limitations of tax rates.

It will result in encouraging waste and extravagance by enabling counties to make legal the illegal issuing of warrants for expenditures unauthorized by election or by the local budgets.

It will open the door to all political subdivisions to violating constitutional debt limits. If this amendment is written into the constitution for Red River county, surely the Legislature and the voters will have no reason for denying the same privilege to every county, city and school district.

The present need is for reduced public expenditures and for better financial planning, control and budget making. This amendment violates these principles and will greatly increase public expenditures and local taxation, and will also write into the constitution a local matter which may be extended as a State policy.

Max Boyer of Perryton, state representative from the 124th district, fought this amendment on the floor of the house and did everything possible to prevent it from coming before the people for a vote. He saw its dangers. He introduced and was successful in having passed an amendment to the resolution on the Red River amendment, a provision whereby Red River county was required to deposit with the state treasurer the sum of $5,000 to defray the cost of publishing this proposed constitutional amendment.

We ask you to consider this amendment carefully before you vote and if you do, we believe you will vote against Amendment No. 1.

Amendment No. 2 provides for the appointment of Notaries Public by the Secretary of State. This will provide for a much more convenient procedure in naming of notaries public. Amendment No. 2 should be passed.

Amendment No. 3 provides that the tenure of office of civil service employees of municipalities shall not be limited to the two year limit as provided for in Article 16, Section 30 of the constitution. This is an excellent amendment and should receive the approval of the voters. In cities under civil service regulations, it will make for better and more efficient employees and will remove same from politics.

Amendment No. 4 provides that appeals from trial courts involving constitutionality of certain laws and orders shall be made direct to the Supreme Court of Texas. At present appeals can be made to lower courts, eventually reaching the Supreme Court. It seems to us that this amendment should be passed.

Workers Are Needed Today

Through the courtesy of Superintendent C. Wedgeworth and the Perryton School system a room has been designated for Red Cross headquarters in the school building. This room is located on the second floor of the center building and can easily be found by the Red Cross sticker on the door.

Mrs. J. F. Cox, chairman of the production committee, and other workers are busy this week getting the room in readiness for the large supply of cloth and yarn which is expected daily from National Red Cross headquarters. If you have a discarded chair or any article of furniture which will be a help in making this a store and work room, please telephone Mrs. Cox today or bring it to the headquarters any time Friday or Saturday afternoon between the hours of 1 to 5 o'clock.

Volunteer workers are needed to help in arranging shelves and in marking and cutting materials. The storeroom will be open on each Monday, Wednesday and Saturday afternoon from 1 to 5 o'clock and Mrs. Cox and other helpers will be on hand to give out yarns and materials for making the relief and hospital garments.

If you cannot knit, here is your chance to learn free. Mrs. Henry Richardson, who is in charge of the knitting, will be glad to give instructions or assist anyone who will knit a Red Cross sweater. Classes can be held in the store room or any other place which may be arranged.

Your Red Cross today is meeting the greatest demand in its history. Won't you fall in line and give some of your time in helping carry on this humane work?

NO. 2 CONTINUED FROM FRONT PAGE

WHEREAS, at this meeting of the Democratic Executive Committee of Ochiltree County held in Perryton, Texas, on October 30, 1940, called for the purpose of considering what action was available to give expression to the resentment of the Democrats of Ochiltree County to the conduct of the nominee of the party, J. E. McDonald, for Commissioner of Agriculture, for the State of Texas, in making his public announcement that he expected to support Wendell Willkie, the Republican nominee for President, and would not support Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Democratic nominee for President; and

WHEREAS, it is the viewpoint of this meeting that said McDonald thereby secured his nomination by deception and fraud, for the reason that the election at which he was nominated was held after the nomination of Willkie and Roosevelt, and in ample time for him to have announced before the holding of said primary election that he did not intend to support the Democratic nominee for President; and

WHEREAS, it is the unanimous belief of the Democrats assembled in this meeting that had he made such an announcement, that he would not have received the nomination by the vote of any county in Texas, and that therefore, having received such nomination by reason of his failure to state his alignment with the Republican Party, that said nomination is of no binding effect on the Democrats of Ochiltree County and should be repudiated at the polls on November 5th.

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED: That in order to give opportunity for such repudiation, this body of Democrats unanimously endorse the Honorable Bill Corry, a dirt farmer of Tarrant County, Texas, for the office of Commissioner of Agriculture, and call upon all loyal Democrats of Ochiltree County to SCRATCH the name of J. E. McDonald for such office and WRITE IN the name of Honorable Bill Corry.

Carnival Is Set Tonight

This evening starting at 6:00 o'clock goblins and ghosts will run rampant through Perryton with a parade headed by the high school band inaugurating the Halloween Carnival being staged by the school to raise funds for equipment and uniforms for the 60-piece Drum and Bugle Corps. Following the parade an evening of hilarious entertainment will be available at the Perryton schools.

A contest of gaily colored costumes will be open to the public during the early part of the evening with prizes being awarded for the best costumes.

Highlighting the gala affair will be the crowning of the carnival Queen. Candidates elected by the three divisions of the school are Kathleen Allen, senior high; Anna Evans, junior high; Shirley Ann Hearn, elementary. Glen Truax will direct the formal coronation with the Queen's court having two attendants from each class.

The candidate having the most votes when the contest closes at 7 will be crowned Queen of the carnival. Votes will be one cent each.

Superintendent Wedgeworth, chairman of the stunt committee, has invited all rural schools to participate with their own stunts, and announces that in addition a complete line of spook shows will be available for pleasure seekers.

The Parrot Teacher Association is sponsoring a chicken dinner at the school cafeteria starting at 5:30 o'clock. Tickets for this portion of the program are 35 cents.

The public is invited to attend, not only for the wholesome entertainment they will derive from the carnival, but to aid a good cause.
