Guam Talks To Stress Dedication To Peace

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson embarks tonight on his second trans-Pacific journey in five months — striving once more to emphasize his dedication to the works of peace in Vietnam.

High administration officials insisted they expect no major military decisions to emerge from Johnson's two days of talks in Guam — about 8,250 miles from Washington.

They said the big question instead would be how to advance the political, social and economic development of sections of South Vietnam wrested from Communist control.

There has been considerable speculation that Johnson might use the occasion of his Guam visit to elevate Gen. William C. Westmoreland to full commander of all American forces in Southeast Asia. But officials said they do not expect such a development.

They also said they don't think Westmoreland would choose this occasion to ask for more troops. But they said that was a matter for the general to decide.

The White House said Johnson hoped to take off on his 18-hour, one-stop flight to Guam around midnight after spending all day and evening courting the nation's governors.

Perhaps for security reasons, there was no word on whether Johnson's big jet would make a refueling stop in Alaska or Hawaii. Moreover, nothing was being said here about where Johnson would be quartered on Guam, which is little more than an American military bastion.

The President will meet with top American civilian and military leaders based in Vietnam and with Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and many of the other generals making up the military junta that holds power in Saigon. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara also will be on hand.

Any policy decisions announced after the session, officials here indicated, likely would deal with changes in the Vietnam "pacification" effort — the attempt to claim ground from the Communists and make a start toward enlisting the interest of the inhabitants in elemental democracy.

One official said the Guam meeting has taken on special importance because of the impending replacement of Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge by Ellsworth Bunker, 72-year old diplomatic trouble-shooter.

The top civilian leadership in Saigon on the American side will be reshuffled in the weeks ahead and, one top official said, a central point of the Guam talks would be to have "the old team and the new take stock together."

HEAVY DAMAGE — Fire swept through the golf shop at the Snyder Country Club Saturday morning, causing heavy damage to the interior of the building. Several golf clubs and other equipment were destroyed in the blaze.

Blaze Rakes Country Club Golf Shop

Fire which began in the office at the Snyder Country Club golf shop about 9:15 a.m. Saturday spread throughout the building, causing extensive damage to the interior.

Lost in the blaze were several sets of golf clubs, balls and other equipment, a television set, furniture, filing cabinets and records.

City Firemen reached the scene in time to save the building, but the interior of the office was a total loss and there was considerable smoke damage in the concession room.

The alarm was turned in by Joyce Schmoker, who said she saw smoke billowing from under the office door after she opened the shop to begin work Saturday morning.

Charlie Bruce, Club pro, said the building was covered by insurance, but that golf equipment left in the building by several individuals probably is not covered.

The blaze occurred on the morning of a day when a "mens foursome" golf tournament was scheduled.

Decides To Forego Early-Morning Dip

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) — Arnold Lovick seldom misses his early-morning swim in his backyard pool.

However, he had to forego it Friday.

Lovick said he found a large deer frolicking in the water.

He called the Humane Society for assistance, then went back to see if his guest was still swimming.

Lovick watched in amazement as the young buck clambered out, shook himself like a dog and plunged in again. But before the animal-catcher arrived, the deer left the pool, walked casually through the neighborhood and back into the nearby foothills.

TUNIS (AP) — President Habib Bourguiba continues to make the best possible progress following a localized coronary thrombosis he suffered Tuesday, a medical bulletin said today.

Bourguiba is regarded as out of immediate danger, but has been ordered to take a complete rest for several weeks.

Mao Seizes More Area

By ORREST EDWARDS

HONG KONG (AP) — Mainland broadcasts claimed today the Red Chinese army has taken over farms and factories in three more southeastern provinces. If true, it means that Mao Tse- tung has established control of production at gunpoint over a vast area of southern China.

The reports reinforced the conviction among observers of China's bitter internal struggle that the 2.5 million-man army had become the principal instrument of Communist party Chairman Mao's "Great Proletarian Cultural Revolution," a purge of so- called reactionary elements in Chinese life.

It meant, too, that the army was achieving at least some success through force where Mao's militant civilian Red Guards and revolutionary rebels had failed, through political agitation, propagandizing and appeals for faithful adherence to Mao's thought, to win popular support for the purge.

The latest provinces in which Maoist troops were reported to have seized control of agricultural and industrial production are Anhwei and Kiangsi, which border coastal provinces, and Hupeh, further inland.

The use of the army is a recent development in the purge, which began last August. Mao originally had counted on the teen-aged Red Guards and older supporters to carry it out, but they encountered widespread opposition.

Further evidence of Mao's turn to the military was the call Thursday for the 200-million-man militia to become more deeply involved in the purge. A Peking broadcast reporting the appeal said the cultural revolution was in a "critical stage."

Reports reaching Hong Kong from travelers from China said the army, at least in Kwangtung Province, was doing little work in the factories and on the farms but that the troops were acting mainly as bosses.

The army was reported meeting resistance, both open and underground, from the workers and peasants. The Hong Kong New Life Evening Post quoted one arrival from Canton as saying that in Kwangtung Province "many workers and farmers were working at the point of a gun."

TUNE OF $1 BILLION

Slow Economy To Get Boost

By JOSEPH R. COYNE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration plans to pour more than $1 billion into a sluggish national economy but officials deny a pump-priming operation is underway.

"To say this is pump-priming would present an alarmist image," one key government analyst said today.

He and other government economists said the economy now is able to absorb the added federal spending. Later in the year, such spending might contribute to an anticipated buildup of inflationary pressure, they added.

President Johnson's economic report to Congress in January envisioned some federal stimulation of the economy during the first half of this year, the source said.

Some members of Congress contend the administration's January projections of the economy should be revised. But government experts are sticking by their forecast of a sluggish first half with a later upswing.

Despite denials of pump-priming the timing of the administration's announcements has coincided closely with reports confirming economic sluggishness.

President Johnson announced Friday, for instance, that because inflationary pressure had subsided the government would make available another $791 million in deferred funds, including $350 million for highways and $250 million for mortgage aid.

This followed by just one day a Federal Reserve Board report of the second substantial drop in industrial output in as many months.

Johnson asked Congress last week to reinstate the 7 per cent investment tax credit suspended last October as an antiinflationary tool. This came only one day after a government report projected the first drop in business spending for plants and equipment in four years.

Ship Hit By Red Battery

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. destroyer Stoddard was hit by a North Vietnamese shore battery and took a hole in her side above the waterline but there were no casualties, U.S. military headquarters reported today.

A spokesman said the ship was hit Friday while patrolling along the southern end of North Vietnam 25 miles northwest of Dong Hoi. He said the Stoddard returned the gunfire and silenced the Communist coastal battery. The hole on her starboard side, 10 inches by 18 inches, was plugged and the ship continued "fully operational," the U.S. Command said.

The Stoddard was the third ship of the U.S. 7th Fleet to be damaged in recent weeks from North Vietnamese coastal guns. Previously the cruiser Canberra and the destroyer Keppler were hit.

Auto Tag Sales Brisk

March 31 is the deadline for purchasing new license tags without a penalty.

Sales of the tags were brisk at the County tax office Friday, according to Don Adams, tax assessor - collector, but he said many people still could avoid the "last-minute rush" by purshasing the plates next week.

He reminded area residents that they need their registration papers and car title when they purchase the tags. The price is based on the type and weight of the vehicle.

Birch's Will Leaves Estate To Widow

DALLAS (AP) — An application to probate the will of A. Otis Birch was filed only hours after the one-time California millionaire's body was entombed Friday.

Birch, 95, died Wednesday in Dallas but the death did not become known to the public until three days later. A spokesman for the funeral home which conducted the services said Birch died of natural causes.

An autopsy was requested by his widow, Mrs. Pearl Choate Birch, his former nurse who with him Oct. 26, 1966, to get married at Altus, Okla. The results of the post mortem were not at first known.

Mrs. Birch is a 59-year-old former Texas convict once imprisoned for murder.

Birch at one time reportedly amassed a near fortune in oil and citrus holdings in California.

Mrs. Birch's attorney, Edwin L. Davis of Dallas, said a hearing on the application to probate had been set for April 3.

Davis said Birch's hand-written will specifies that the widow is to receive the Birch estate except for one dollar each to two nieces.

He said the 1½-page-long will was written May 14, 1966.

Birch's first wife, Estelle, 93, died Oct. 7, 1966, at Breckenridge, Tex., which is the home town of Mrs. Pearl Choate Birch. Davis said the will says that the estate was to go to Mrs. Estelle Birch if he should die before her; otherwise, the estate is going to Mrs. Pearl Choate Birch, the lawyer said.

He said the will does not specify the value of the estate.

Distant relatives of Birch brought various suits in California and Texas seeking to secure legal custody of the elderly man. But courts consistently held that Birch had indicated that he wished to remain with the Texas woman.

The former Pearl Choate became a nurse to Mr. and Mrs. Birch in Pasadena, Calif., several years ago. She brought them to Texas last year after winding travels by automobile through Mexico and the Southwest.

Snyderite Is Learning To Get Along Without Sight

Mrs. E. C. (Daurice) Duff, 906 Twenty-fifth Street, maintains a pleasant attitude despite the fact that she's been partially blind since Novenber of 1964.

She has gradually been losing her sight in both eyes due to diabetes.

Last Friday, she received a Braille watch from the West Texas Lighthouse of the Blind at San Angelo. It was presented to her by Nolan Underwood, who represents the Lighthouse as well as the State Commission for the Blind.

Underwood, who also lost his sight in a chemical explosion while a high school student in 1951, has been giving Mrs. Duff instruction in how to read in Braille.

He said the system is so complicated that only about one of every five persons who enroll in the course complete it. However, he praised the progress that Mrs. Duff is making.

"Th Braille system is based on a series of six dots," explained her husband, "and you can tell the letters from the position and combination of the dots. The dots also are used for numbers, punctuation and abbreviations."

"It's kind of like a paper with measles," laughed Underwood.

Underwood explained that he has regained his sight and lost it again seve.al times since the accident.

"I used to could see a blonde 100 yards away," he said, "but now I can't spot them more than 60 steps away." A native of the Brady area, he has been working out of San Angelo since July. His work often brings him through Snyder, where he also keeps in touch with Marion Floyd, 2003 Avenue Z, a retired schoolteacher, who also has a sight problem.

Underwood and Duff are both pleased with Mrs. Duff's spirit. The fact that she is willing to cross the street only with the aid of a cane indicates that she is making a good adjustment to the loss of her sight.

"I can get records of books free from the Library of Congress," exclaimed Mrs. Duff.

These have the complete text of many books and novels on a variety of subjects. The Library of Congress maintains 38 branchs, and the books sent to Mrs. Duff come from the branch in Austin.

The Duffs have one son, 15-year-old Paul, a student at Snyder High School.

Last Hurdle Is Near For City Project

A downtown improvement project, under study for over 1½ years, will be up for its final big hurdle Monday night when the city council meets for a public hearing.

Official notices of proposed assessments have been published and also mailed to property owners. Purpose of the hearing will be to establish that the proposed improvements will be worth the amount of assessment in each case.

The proposed assessments amount to $12.36 per foot for sidewalk, which is the exact contract price. Other improvements in the downtown area would be financed by the city, utility companies and the county.

As the final plans developed the city has assumed responsibility of slightly over 40 per cent of the projected improvements. Moreover, the city will take care of additional expenses for a new traffic signal system, improved lighting system and some improvements to utilities over and above that being done by the utility companies.

The hearing will begin at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the council room at the city hall.

Protect Pets, Beware Of Skunks

A rabid skunk bit a local woman last week, according to City officials who warned area residents to be on the lookout for rabid animals.

The woman had to be treated with a series of injections to prevent rabies.

Several skunks have been seen in the City limits, according to the officials, who asked the cooperation of the public in controlling rabies.

They reminded local citizens that a City ordinance requires dog owners to license their animals annually by Jan. 1 of each year. Pet owners should have a veterinarian to immunize their animals with anti-rabies vaccine when they are at least six months of age, it was pointed out.

Another City ordinance makes it unlawful to permit dogs to run at large within the City limits.

"Call your phsyician if you are bitten by a rabid animal," suggested the officials, "and call the animal warden so that he can pick up the animal."

Rabid dogs or dogs bitten by rabid skunks should be penned up or quarantined for at least 10 days. A dog suspected of having rabies should be kept under observation for six months.

"We're not alarmed about the situation," officials said, "But we would like for everyone to help us take every precaution in preventing an outbreak of rabies here."

One of the most effective methods of control, city officials emphasized, is to impound stray animals. "Don't hesitate to call the animal warden if you see a rapid skunk or dog or any stray animals," they suggested.

Health officials pointed out that, contrary to popular belief, rabies occurs in all seasons and in all sections of the country.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What is wrong with me? I have been happily married for 15 years and we have three lovely children. Every night I dream about a certain man who is a good friend of my husband and mine. He is also married and has a nice family. Abby, I am so ashamed of myself I don't know what to do.

In these dreams he is kissing me and loving me, and we are carrying on something fierce. I don't know if we are married in these dreams or not, all I know is we just go right ahead like there was no right or wrong.

Every time I see this man and his wife I feel so guilty I could die. His wife is such a nice person, and so is he, and my hand to God, he has never even looked sideways at me. What worries me is I seem to be enjoying these dreams. Please help me.

CAN'T WAIT TO RETIRE

DEAR CAN'T: You need not feel guilty for what you do in your dreams. As long as you don't try to make your dreams come true (in this instance) there's nothing to be ashamed of.

DEAR ABBY: Recently my sister got married. At the reception her husband cornered me and kissed me. Only it wasn't the kind of kiss a bridegroom usually gives his new sister-in-law.

I haven't said anything to anybody, of course, but now when I see him he acts like it never happened, but I can't look him in the eye. What should I do?

PASSIONATELY KISSED

DEAR KISSED: Forget it. He probably has.

DEAR ABBY: A lady signed GRANDMA wrote, complaining because she had grandsons in the service, but a fat, lazy, 22-year-old slob of a neighbor kid sat around doing nothing. He bragged that his hobbies were draft - dodging, eating, and sleeping, and said he keeps his blood pressure up on purpose so he can't pass the physical.

She said she wanted to know why fellows like this should be allowed to get away with this:

You said there was probably a lot more wrong with the slob than he admitted, and he was probably covering up with his braggadocio talk, that if he were fit material for the service, they'd have a uniform on him faster than he could say "Viet Nam."

Abby, I left the service a year ago, and I have this to say to Grandma: How safe would your grandsons be if they depended on this slob to sound the alarm in case of an attack? Would you want your grandsons to ride in an aircraft this fellow just repaired? No, Grandma, leave those irresponsible kids at home where they hurt no one but themselves. They don't belong in the military with decent, responsible men like your grandsons.

Dear Abby: Will you please advise me as to the correct way to acknowledge appreciation to a pastor under these circumstances: The pastor gave much aid and comfort to the family of one who recently passed away. The deceased one had no connection with this pastor or his congregation, but he perfored the burial services anyway. Thank you.

DEAR KNOWS NOT: Offer the pastor a gift of money. (Pastors have bills to pay.) If he clines, ask him if you may make a contribution to one of the many "causes" related to his church.

rabies. Dogs infected with the "furious" type usually are moody and want to be left alone or they are exceptionally friendly and seek comfort. Then follows a period of wandering and biting other dogs, snapping at sticks or people. Next comes paralysis, convulsions, coma and death — usually within ten days.

In "dumb" rabies, early drowsiness and paralysis of the lower jaw is exhibited, and progressive paralysis sets in early and death soon follows.

A veterinarian should be consulted immediately when any of these signs are first noted.

If bitten by an animal, act on the assumption that it is rabid and follow these five steps recommended by health officers:

1. Identify the animal — by kind, size, color and place. Caution children to seek the help of a policeman, school guard or other adult.

2. Cleanse the wound thoroughly without further delay — washing with soap and warm water for fifteen minutes. This lessens the chance of contracting rabies and decreases the severity of exposure by removing or inactivating some of the rabies virus already in the injured tissues.

3. See a doctor immediately after washing the wound. The physician will decide on the need for treatment to avoid contracting rabies. The first anti-rabies treatment, consisting of 14-18 injections, was developed by Louis Pasteur, a French bacteriologist and chemist. Present-day treatment usually consists of 14 daily injections.

4. Report incident — to local health officer and dog warden.

5. If possible, have the biting animal quarantined. If it is alive and normal after ten days, the animal was not infected with rabies. An exception to this is the bat, which may shed virus for many months. This will help the doctor determine whether the anti-rabies treatment is necessary.

Italy Suffers Thefts Of Rare Art

By JAMES M. LONG

ROME (AP) — Statues of ancient Romans have been losing their marble heads and experts think it may be the work of specialists trying to fill orders from collectors abroad.

The Superintendency of Antiquities and Fine Arts said nine ancient statues have been decapitated in the past two years. Department experts doubted that it was the work of vandals or souvenir-hunting tourists. They said it seemed to be done by specialists filling specific orders.

Besides these specialized thefts, Italy suffers a steady drain of millions of dollars worth of other art and archaeological treasures taken from churches, museums and private collections.

Museum guards have been increased and safety systems — including closed circuit television — have been installed in some art centers, but the problem of keeping heads on the statues presents unusual difficulties.

Some of the statues are in guarded museums, but many decorate parks and city squares, government buildings and private villas.

The wave of head snatching began in April 1965 when statues of Hermes, a toga-draped Roman and one of the philosopher Humanacos lost their heads in Rome's Villa Borghese Park. Its miles of winding roads are difficult to guard at night. Another Roman statue lost his head in the same park last April.

Unless the missing parts are recovered, the statues remain headless, but they do not look unusually out of place.

Museums, parks and collections throughout Italy have hundreds of statues as armless as Venus de Milo and as headless as the winged Victory of Samothrace. Time and earlier vandalisms left them that way.

Chicago Swindler Found Slain

CHICAGO (AP)—A convicted swindler was found handcuffed and slain Friday night in his expensive leased car while federal authorities reportedly sought him for questioning about a stock-rigging scheme.

Robert Roseberg, 36, a 6-foot-5 man who weighed 325 pounds, was shot in the head. The car was parked in front of a synagogue on Chicago's Northwest Side.

Rosenberg was free under an appeal bond while awaiting a review of his 5-year federal sentence in connection with a conspiracy of mail fraud. He was also waiting trial in another fraud case.

He was the 1,003rd victim of gangland lynching in Chicago since 1919. Police said he was an associate of Joseph Polito, 33, slain by unknown thugs 10 days ago. Polito was convicted in connection with fixing of basketball games.

He was also reported to have been an intimate of Felix (Milwaukee Phil) Alderisio, a mobster involved in several alleged extortion and fraud cases.

Rosenberg and two others were to have appeared in U.S. District Court in Chicago April 18 on charges of swindling New York jewel importers of more than $250,000 in 1963 through manipulation of a Chicago gem firm.

Police issued a nation-wide missing persons report Friday on Rosenberg after his wife, Judith, reported she had not seen him since he left their home in suburban Skokie Thursday.

Plea Impresses Judge Sarah Hughes

DALLAS (AP) — Archie Dickson Stuart made such an impassioned plea that U. S. Judge Sarah Hughes placed him on probation.

"Send me anywhere in the United States, Russia or anywhere else except El Reno, Okla.," said Stuart. Asked why, he said, "I'm 30 years old and most of the people in the reformatory there are 16 or 17." He said he was angered by the way they talked. He was confined there during a pre-sentence investigation after he pleaded guilty to interstate transportation of a solen vehicle.

Wyoming Ceremony Unites K. Hoffman, Mr. Shifflett

The Methodist Church of Wheatland, Wyoming was the setting for the marriage of Miss Kay Darlene Hoffman of Wheatland, and Mr. David Earl Shifflett of Snyder, Tex. on March 11, at 1:30 p.m.

Rev. Henry Hartberg, pastor officiated at the double ring service. Branched candelabras, large baskets of white gladiolus, greenery and blue ribbon were used in the church decor.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Hoffman of Wheatland, Wyoming, and Mr. and Mrs. E. Ernest Shifflett of Route 3, Snyder, Tex.

Traditional wedding music was presented by Mrs. John Bohmont at the organ. A trio comprised of Nelda Norris, Sandra Barry and Lorene Curtis sang "Because."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white crepe two-piece suit trimmed with white lace, white hat and veil, and white accessories. She carried a white cascade bouquet of gladiolus with touches of blue ribbon.

Janet Hoffman attended her sister as maid of honor. She wore a blue dress with white accessories and a white corsage.

Mr. Charles (Ernie) Shifflett of Big Spring, attended his brother as best man.

A reception was held in fellowship hall. The bride's table was laid with a white cloth, crystal punch bowl, and silver coffee service. The three-tiered bridal cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom and adorned with blue birds and white wedding bells. Sharon Irvine served punch and Joyce Edwards poured coffee.

The groom's table was decorated identical to the bride's, and Susan Thomas served cake.

Brenda Jordan and Nancy Blow had charge of the gift table. Mrs. Ron Withrow, aunt of the bride, registered guests.

For her trip to points in Colorado and New Mexico the bride chose a two - piece red and black suit with black accessories, and wore the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The bride graduated as salutorian of her class at Wheatland, Wyoming in 1966, attended college at University of Wyoming at Laramie, and was on the Dean's Honor roll. The groom graduated from Snyder High School in 1966, graduated March 3 from Wyoming Technical Institute in Laramie, Wyoming with an A average and Doctor of Motors degree.

Out-of-town guests were the groom's parents from Snyder and his brother from Big Spring.

Old-fashioned recipes involved with deep - fat frying, usually directed cooks to drain the fried food on "unglazed" paper. That direction meant that heavy brown paper with a dull surface could be used — the kind of paper used for wrapping packages and from which grocery bags are usually made. If you use a grocery bag, just split it and open out so the paper lies wide and flat.

Maybe it's due to the Carnaby Street infuence but more and more bakery counters are displaying the English muffin whose best friend has always been . . . .butter. Split them, toast them, butter them generously and serve them piping hot, for breakfast, afternoon tea or evening snacks along with a refreshing glass of milk. You'll understand why the British have always enjoyed their hot, buttered muffins. Using real butter does make the flavor difference.

Molded Orange Jelly

Heat the remaining 1 cup of orange juice until very hot; pour over gelatin mixture; add sugar; stir to dissolve gelatin and sugar. Turn into 5 one-half cup molds. Chill until set. Unmold. Peel orange so no white membrane remains; cut away ends and then cut into 5 round slices; use as garnish for orange jelly. Makes 5 servings.

Utilitarian Tile Is Also Fine Art Medium

Ceramic tile's practical virtues -- it's easy to clean and lasts a lifetime -- may sometimes obscure its excellence as an art medium.

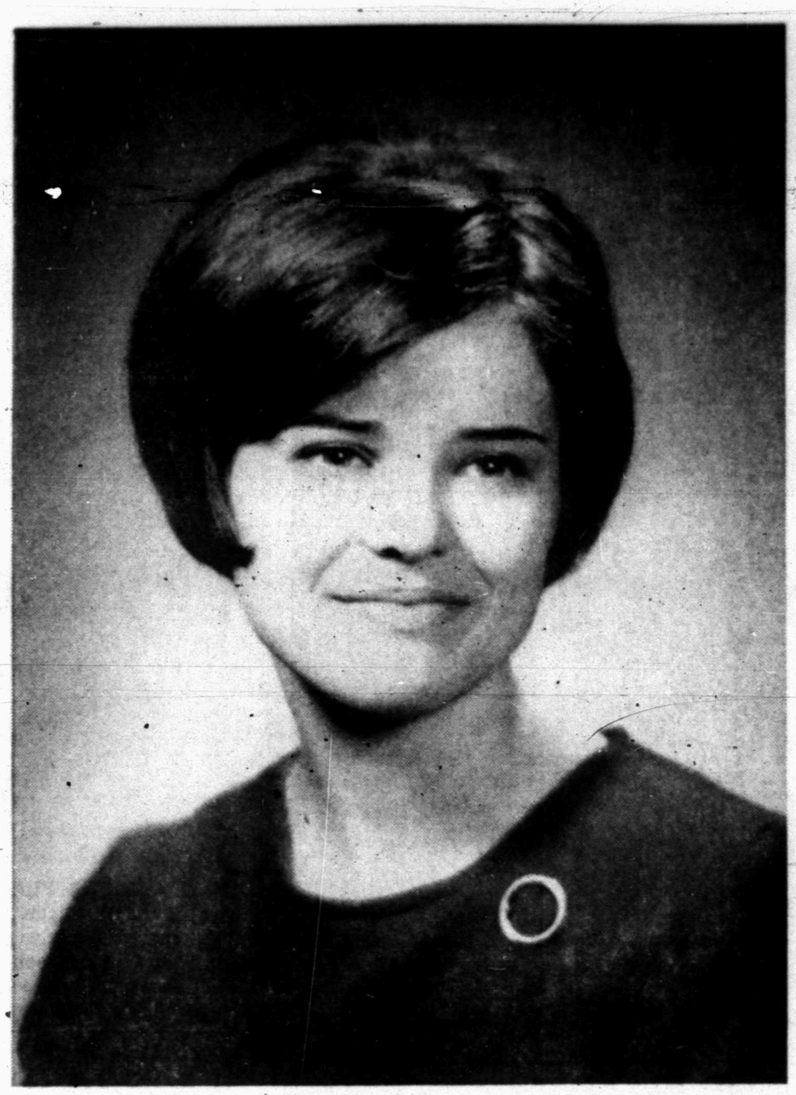

Actually, until the modern era, ceramic tile was probably more often thought of as a means of artistic expression than as a surfacing product of great utility. The earliest uses of tile yet discovered, 7,000 years ago in Egypt, seem to have been primarily decorative.

Modern methods of manufacture, which have made tile so ideal a product for the bath and other wet areas, have not neglected the artistic side, and today tile's adaptability to artistic use is greater than ever before.

The variety of decorativ tiles increases constantly. Sculptured tiles -- with surfaces in relief -- new patterns, shapes and sizes keep adding to tile's flexibility of expression. But it is probably in the ceramic tile mural that tile reaches its highest artistic level.

Tile murals can be made of all types of tile -- through the artistic arrangement of different colors in the small ceramic mosaics, or by painting in glazes on the surface of wall tile or the larger quarries.

Most tile companies have their own design departments to help create murals. From some, small ceramic mosaic murals are available on order. In every case the result is the continuation of an artistic tradition that stretches over 70 centuries.

JUNE WEDDING PLANS — Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. Priddy of Jacksonville, Tex. announce the engagement of their daughter, Charla Ann Priddy, to Carroll Loy Marsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Loy Marsh of Snyder. The couple will exchange wedding vows on June 3, at 7 p.m. in the home of the bride-elect's parents.

"Seek the highest ideals of character, conduct, patriotism, service. Find fulfillment in the arts, the home, the world outside. Dare to do the improbable and dream the impossible." This was the challenge that Juliette Gordon Low, founder of Girl Scouting in the United States, gave to her original band of twelve girls fifty - five years ago.

None of this could be accomplished without LEADERS. We would like for you to meet Snyder's Girl Scout leaders and their assistants: Brownie Troop 72 (22 girls) — Mrs. Billie Mathis, Miss Gayle Beckham (from Senior Troop 325) and Miss Lynn Maxwell. Brownie Troop 239 (21 girls) — Mrs. Gerald Hicks and Mrs. John Gordon; Brownie Troop 219 (21 girls) — Mrs. Jack Chastain and Mrs. Marshall Burrus; Brownie Troop 248 (16 girls) — Mrs. Edwin Neves and Mrs. G. Red Chinese Purge Faces Critical Moment Of Truth

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

After a year of political convulsion and seven months of what the outside world saw as incredible mass madness, Communist China faces its moment of truth.

Mao Tse-tung's regime appears to have made at least a tactical retreat. It has paused for breath in the Great Proletarian Cultural Revolution. But it warns that the next 60 days will be the most critical of all in the "struggle to seize power from the handful of people in authority in the Communist party who have taken to the capitalist road."

By the Chinese own accounts, hardly one of the 23 provinces and five so-called autonomous regions has escaped damage. Domestic broadcasts from major cities reflect continuing confusion, civil strife and official desperation. They warn constantly that "counterrevolutionaries" are plotting counterattacks.

Someone in authority — perhaps Premier Chou En-lai with the support of Mao himself — is cautiously trying to apply brakes. There are signs that Mao's forces, having established at least tenuous authority in many provinces, now seek some sort of compromise which might minimize serious dangers to agriculture and a threat of starvation for millions.

Mao's cultural revolution, with roots reaching back at least nine years to a time of opposition to his internal and external policies, began in earnest last May with the purge of Peng Chen, then No. 7 man in the Politburo and the powerful mayor of Peking.

The movement became violent in August, when an order of the Communist party Central Committee sent teen-age Red Guards, millions strong, into city streets. They were told to destroy "the four olds" — old customs, ideas, habits and culture.

Freed from school and from studying anything but "Mao Tse-tung's thoughts," the Red Guards were given a license for unbridled cruelty to suspected enemies of their leader Mao.

Mao's cultural revolution was an attempt to impose the chairman's austere ideology.

Behind Mao were those who saw constant revolution in austerity as essential for a distant dream of communism. Opposing him were entrenched bureaucrats, provincial and city party leaders, for whom constant revolution was a threat. They sought nation- building and perhaps a more rational approach to realizing China's nationalist dreams of world power.

The bureaucracy was built by men like Peng Chen, architect and boss of the Young Communist League; Liu Shao-chi, president of the country who shaped and commanded the trade union organization; Teng Hsiao-ping, the party general secretary responsible for the functioning of a farflung apparatus.

These — along with some army officers who resented nonprofessional interference by politicians — made up a tough opposition.

Slowly, now the Maoist forces seem moving in, re-establishing power where it was challenged in the provinces.

Admittedly the information is one-sided. It all comes from domestic broadcasts from Peking and the provinces. Evidently all access to information and propaganda is in Maoist hands and the opposition lacks a public voice.

But if even part of what the broadcasts say is true, China is in trouble. Here is the picture given by the domestic transmissions:

Where Maoists succeed in "seizing power," enormous mass rallies still interfere with orderly government and production. A vast new "rectification campaign" has been ordered to re-educate those who opposed Mao. Rallies produce florid pledges to Mao.

One example from a Kiangsi Province rally:

"Chairman Mao, our dearest, dearest, dearest great leader, the reddest, reddest, reddest sun in our hearts, great leader, teacher, commander and helmsman, our dearest, dearest red commander in chief: we loyally wish you eternal life."

Mao's children — the Hung Wei Ping (Red Guards) and Tsaofan (Revolutionary Rebels) — still rampage against the "handful of people in authority."

The cultural revolution remains a picture of utter confusion compounded. Some organizations supposed to have been pro-Mao proved to be anti-Mao. Many were "suppressed" and broken up by army action. When "culprits were "unmasked" in areas under Maoist control, they were beaten and paraded in the streets.

In troubled Manchuria, broadcasts speak of a "great January revolution" and 100 days of "arduous battle", in which the enemy was routed. "Class enemies" included "the Red Flag Army, the Combat Preparedness Army. . . and other vermin"

In Tsinghai Province, the "18 Aug. Red Guard fight detachment" turned out to be "counterrevolutionary, along with all its branches." The Sining army garrison moved in but broadcasts said the chief culprits remained at large, still putting up posters to confuse issues, still ploting counterattack.

There have been all manner of pro-Mao and anti-Mao organizations.

Some of the pro-Mao: the Mao Tse-tung's Thought Red Workers Combat Regiment; the Tiger and Leopard Chasing Combat Detachment for Defending Mao Tse- tung's Thought; the Revolutionary Rebels Dare-to-Die Column.

Some anti-Mao: the Red Flag (Army Shantung); the Army of Demoralized Soldiers; ,the Aug. 1 Army Sinkiang); the All-China Organization of Rebel Armies for the Destruction of Capitalism."

To Maoists, all anti-Maoists have "dog's heads." All "dog's heads must be bashed in." Often, the "handful" in the party are called "filthy swine" who plot to undermine Mao.

In one province, "the handful of swine" was accused of undermining hog production. Others undertook "black measures of increasing wages and welfare benefits." That is "economism," which means bribing workers and peasants with better pay and condutions.

The cultural revolution has wrecked the former party structure at province and city levels.

It also has raised the specter of agricultural crisis. Officials warn of famine in some areas. Hohan, Mao's native province and the nation's breadbasket, has been in uproar and production has been damaged. Shensi Province is warned of a famine threat, Hupeh of the danger of drought.

Junior Editors Quiz on JOEYS

QUESTION: If a baby cow is a calf and a baby horse a colt, what is a baby kangaroo?

• • •

ANSWER: Our picture answers this question, but we want to tell you something about these little animal babies called joeys. A kangaroo is a marsupial. It belongs to the group of animals which have pouches in which they carry their young. A newly-born joey is a tiny thing not more than an inch long, but it has a strong instinct to climb into the snug pouch the mother kangaroo carries in front. Here the joey can nurse and grow in safety. It may remain in its mother's pouch for a long time, perhaps for 6 months. As it grows, a joey will begin to get a little tired of its mother's milk. There will come a day when some patch of bright green grass will look too tempting to resist, and the joey will hop out and begin to nibble at the kind of food which will satisfy it for the rest of its life. But if it hears something, or sees something which it doesn't understand, the joey will suddenly panic and make a wild leap for the safety of its mother's pouch again. Then comes the day when the joey can take care of itself; it has beceme a kangaroo.

London Saves Marx Library

LONDON (AP) — London's Karl Marx Memorial Library is to be preserved as a historical monument despite objections from citizens groups.

The run - down, 230-year-old building at Clerkenwell Green has been saved through a preservation order confirmed by the Ministry of Housing and Local Government.

Local groups felt the building was an eyesore that could be torn down and the site turned into a park and playground.

Marx worked in the building that houses many of his original writings. Lenin worked there for a time. The building also has been used as headquarters of radical political groups.

The Greater London Council, which overrode local objections, is to see that the library's trustees renovate the building and make it more attractive.

This shoreline city has many secluded coves and the cost of patroling them is estimated at $42,000 a year.

Police Chief Harry Labrow said Friday that closed-circuit TV cameras would enable one man at the station to keep tabs on what's going on.

Two manufacturers are making a cost study, the chief said.

Many Interested In Conservation

State and local interests contributed $5 million in funds and services to soil and water conservation districts in Texas last year, according to H. N. Smith, Soil Conservation Service State Conservationist, Temple.

"Cities, counties, state governments, special districts, individuals and private groups are supporting conservation districts more than ever before," Smith noted.

In the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District, contributions amounted to some over $5,000. This included $3,000 in time for conservation practice design and layout contributed by landowners and contractors; $1,000 contributed to the district in time and funds for information and education by private individuals, district directors, private contractors, commercial institutions and other organizations; $300 unpaid time for Upper Colorado S&WCD directors and others contributed to district program planning and coordination.

Smith said this indicates public approval of the way conservation districts are fulfilling their vital and changing responsibilities. These include protecting water supplies, reducing pollution to streams and lakes by sediment, helping solve land use problems in rural and rural-urban fringe areas, reducing erosion of farmlands, nonfarmlands, roadsides and improving recreational and wildlife opportunities.

Non-federal contributions in Texas last year included $2.6 million to speed up watershed work, half a million to help layout and install conservation measures, a million for informational, educational and other local activities, and $53,000 for making soil surveys for urban use.

Texas was second only to California in the amount of non-federal conservation assistance.

Dave Rubinoff To Present Some Well-Loved Numbers

When Dave Rubinoff appears in popular concert here Thursday night he will perform as violin solos the full scores of Chopin's Polonaise, the Warsaw Concerto, and Rhapsody in Blue.

The American public has grown to love these numbers arranged for piano and orchestra, but Rubinoff feels they lend themselves to the violin equally as well.

Rubinoff will appear in the Snyder High School Auditorium on Thursday night, under sponsorship of the Snyder Lions Club. Tickets are priced at $2 for adults and $1 for students.

A graduate of the Royal Conservatory in Warsaw, Poland, Rubinoff knew as a child the martial feeling inspired by the immortal Polonaise. Even with freedom today confronted with tyranny and treachery as Chopin knew it, the opus is appropriate as a current theme of the times. The Polonaise was written by Chopin with a burning spirit of national sympathy and has been likened to "Cannons Buried in Flowers.'

He was more fortunate in preparing the soul-stirring Warsaw Concerto as the composer, Richard Addinsell, worked with him on the transcribed violin version. Addinsell felt after hearing Rubinoff play the concerto that it was a new revelation in depth of feeling as only the violin could express it.

Confer Over Ruby's Will

DALLAS (AP) — Lawyers representing parties named in three separate wills allegedly written by Jack Ruby met in secret Friday with Probate Court Judge Ted Robertson.

The conference was described by two of the attorneys as "simply a pre-trial hearing." The judge refused to comment on what was discussed.

At least one member of the Ruby family, Mrs. Eva Grant of Dallas, a sister of the one-time night club operator, attended the conference.

Ruby, who died of cancer Jan. 3, was sentenced to death for killing Lee Harvey Oswald in 1963 but the conviction was overturned.

Oswald was named by the Warren Commission as the assassin of President John F. Kennedy in Dallas Nov. 22, 1963.

Baylor Figures Told

Blind Boy Wears Sonar Eyeglasses

By PHIL BROWN

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Bobby Moses is blind, but if he puts on his glasses he can avoid trees, utility poles and holes in the sidewalk.

The glasses have a sonar-like device in the frame that sends out sound waves, too high-pitched for humans to hear. If the waves strike an object, they bounce back to a receiver which turns them into a beep, beep, beep sound that Bobby, 13, can hear.

Each object gives off its own peculiar sound so that Bobby can tell the difference between grass and cement, and between a man and a tree.

It taks a bit of practice.

Bobby, a student at the Michigan School For The Blind, and Marshall Dean, 20, a student in electronic engineering at Lansing Community College, who developed the device, demonstrated the glasses this week at the Michigan State Library's Divson for th Blnd.

Dr. Leslie Kay of London, England, came up with the idea of a sonar-like device to help the blind. His system uses a set of earphones and a device that looks like a flashlight, which the blind person waves around to get soundings.

Dean put the device into glasses frames "because a person uses his head as his directional scanning device anyway. And, this way, his hands are not encumbered with any device."

Guidebook To Eating On Stands

By HARVEY HUDSON

PARIS (AP) — "Good food is expensive, alas."

The comment comes from one who knows, an inspector for the "Guide Michelin", France's gastronomic bible. Michelin inspectors — there are less than 20 of them — spend their days eating, and appraising the output of the country's restaurants.

The appearance, of a new edition of the red-backed tourist guide is the surest sign of spring in France.

It rates the top restaurants with stars. Three stars means "one of the best tables in France, well worth the journey." Two stars mark restaurants with "excellent cuisine, worth a detour." One star calls attention to "a good restaurant in its class."

As in recent years, 12 restaurants in France this year are considered worthy of three stars. Five are in Paris, and the rest in the provinces.

One restaurant, the Hotel De la Poste in Avallon, lost its third star, but the Auberge de L'Ill at Illhaeusern gained a star to join the prized top category.

Le Petit Bedon, a stylish and expensive restaurant in Paris, had two stars last year. This time it isn't even mentioned in the guide. "I can't tell you why but we think it was a very good reason," said a Michelin spokesman.

Ponies Surprise Cards, Houston Upsets Kansas

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Charles Beasley tipped the ball half the length of the court to Denny Holman for a layup with four seconds left to give Southern Methodist an amazing 83-81 victory over Louisville.

It was the upset of upsets in the NCAA national championship college basketball tournament Friday night.

In addition to the stunning defeat of Louisville's nationally second - ranked Cardinals, hot Houston upset third-ranked Kansas 66-53; Dayton surprised eighth-ranked Tennessee 53-52; ninth-ranked Boston College upset St. John's of New York 63-62; University of Pacific surprised No. 10 Texas Western; the defending NCAA champion, 72-6; fourth-ranked North Carolina had to go overtime to beat fifth-ranked Princeton 78-70 and Virginia Tech upset Indiana 79-70.

Only the unbeaten UCLA Bruins, the country's No. 1 team, had an easy time as the NCAA field was cut to eight quarter-finalists. The Bruins made it 27 in a row by crushing Wyoming 109-60.

Lew Alcindor, the Player of the Year, led UCLA with 29 points although playing only part of the game.

The results set up these four regional finals tonight to determine the teams which will go to Louisville, Ky., next weekend for the championship windup of the tourney:

East at College Park, Md. — North Carolina, 25-4, vs. Boston College, 21-2. Mideast at Evanston, Ill. — Dayton 23-5, vs. Virginia Tech, 20-6. Midwest at Lawrence, Kan. — Houston, 25-3, vs. Southern Methodist, 20-5. Far West at Corvallis, Ore. — UCLA, 27-0, vs. Pacific, 24-3.

Princeton, 24-3, plays St. John's, 23-4; Tennessee, 21-6, meets Indiana, 17-8; Louisville, 23-4, tangles with Kansas, 22-4; and Texas Western, 21-6, battles Wyoming, 15-13, in the four regional consolations.

Beasley's tap to Holman capped a Southern Methodist rally that wiped out an eight-point Louisville lead in the closing minutes. With the score tied at 81-81 a jump ball was called near the Louisville goal between the 6-foot-5 Beasley and 6-foot-3 Fred Holden of the Cardinals.

Beasley got the jump for his long tap and Holman went in for the layup that spoiled the Cardinals' dream of meeting UCLA in the championship final.

The winning basket gave Holman high scoring honors with 30 points. In addition he made five steals and handed out several assists. Holden topped Louisville with 23 points.

Don Chaney, with 20 points, and Elvin Hayes, with 19, combined for 39 points for Houston, but a bank shot by Gary Grider for his only basket of the game was the key play in the Cougars' upset of Kansas. The two-pointer gave Houston a 57-51 lead with five minutes left.

Jo Jo White paced Kansas with 18 points, including three straight baskets that cut Houston's lead to 55-51 before Grider's key goal.

Tennessee erased a 13-point Dayton lead, by the Flyers rallied to upset the Vols on free throws by Bob Hooper, Dan Sadler and Glinder Torain in the last 24 seconds to break a 50-50 tie. Ron Widby, high scorer of the game with 20 points, got a Tennessee basket unmolested in the last second.

Glen Coms' 29 points paced Virginia Tech over Indiana including five baskets in a 12-point spurt that gave the Gobblers a 68-57 lead with less than five minutes left.

Helped by the loss to St. John's of Sonny Dove on personal fouls, Boston College wiped out a nine-point deficit to upset the Redmen. Willie Wolters put the Eagles ahead at 61-60 with a free throw with 55 seconds left, and two more foul shots by Billy Evans with eight seconds to go sewed it up for the New Englanders.

Princeton erased an eight-point deficit in the last five minutes to tie North Carolina 63-63 on Joe Heiser's basket with 17 seconds left in regulation time.

The Tar Heels pulled away in the overtime, led by Bob Lewis' seven points as they avenged an early season defeat by the Tigers. Three Princeton starters fouled out, but Coach Bill van Breda Kolff said "we shot only 35 per cent. That was the difference."

Pacific won its 21st straight by defeating Texas Western. Bob Krulish, with 24 points, and Keith Swagerty, with 19, led the Stockton Tigers.

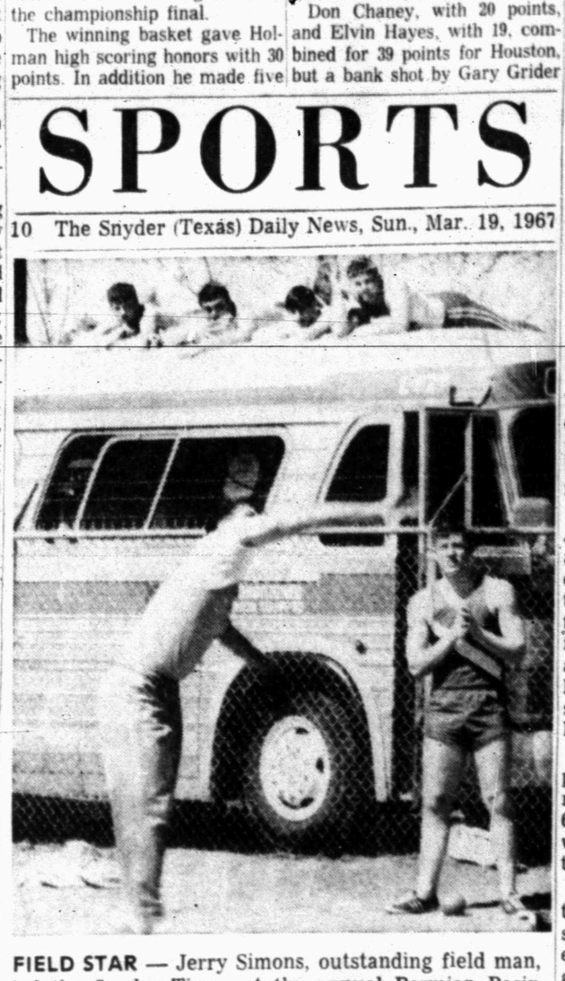

The Winston-Salem, N.C. State Rams won the NCAA small college national championship by defeating Southwest Missouri State 77-74 in the final at Evansville, Ind.

Earl Monroe tossed in 40 points for the Rams and was voted the outstanding player of the tourney. Kentucky Wesleyan routed Illinois State 112-73 for third place.

Oklahoma Baptist, the defending champion, beat Central Washington 78-68 and St. Benedict's of Kansas edged Morris Harvey of West Virginia 73-70 in the semifinals of the NAIA tourney at Kansas City.

Oklahoma Baptist and St. Benedicts play tonight for the championship.

Foresees More Free Grid Agents

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The day is near when more and more professional football players will complete their two year options and become free agents.

This was the startling contention of a top financial counselor for football players, who dropped a small bombshell Friday in the lap of the football business world to back it up.

James R. (Jim) Dawson, president of Athletic Business Consultants, predicted an increase in players acting as their own agents and rookies taking the advice of professional counselors.

Dawson told a news conference his firm's newest client is All-American halfback Mel Farr of UCLA, recently drafted by the Detroit Lions of the National Football League.

His next move was to casually announce a $1 million price tag on Farr and another client, Don Shy of San Diego State, a draft choice of the NFL Pittsburgh Steelers.

Then he included Dave Wiliams of Washington, an NFL St. Louis Cardinals draftee in the same category.

Dawson, a former UCLA star as a football lineman and captain of the late Coach Red Sanders' 1957 and final team, knows his business.

He was personnel director for the Oakland Raiders of the American Football League until 1963.

He says he quit the job with Oakland, after signing numerous athletes, then he decided clubs were signing naive athletes with unjust contracts.

"Under the right circumstances $1 million is not unrealistic," said Dawson, adding that the funds would cover an as yet undetermined period of time.

Reaction to the controversial announcement was swift.

Detroit business manager Lyall Smith said the figure was ridiculous.

He added, "We know Farr is a fine back. We haven't talked money. . .but it won't be $1 million.

"No one ever got a million dollars, even while the recruiting war was on between the NFL and the AFL," he said.

San Jacinto Raps Ranger

HUTCHINSON, Kans. (AP)— San Jacinto of Pasadena, Tex., tries for the national junior college basketball championship tonight and it will have to unseat the defending titlist, Moberly, Mo., to do it.

San Jacinto beat another Texas team, Ranger, 89-85 Friday night to reach the finals, with Percy Anderson flipping in 27 points and Oliver Taylor 23. Urich Cobb was high for Ranger with 26.

Ranger was 11 points back with 2:25 remaining but closed to within a point in the final seconds.

Moberly beat Cameron of Oklahoma 72-65 to attain the finals for a second straight year. Cameron held the lead several times in the last six minutes but Moberly pulled ahead on free throws when fouls were called in very rough action.

Texas To Defend Golf Championship

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas opens its bid for its third Southwest Conference golf championship in four years Monday with a match against Arkansas, runnersup in 1966, at Texarkana.

Texas won in 1964 and 1965 and was third last year, one point behind champion Baylor and ½ points behind Arkansas.

Texas' traveling squad is composed of Mason Adkins, last year's individual champion; sophomore Rik Massengale, Buddy Hamilton and Earl Steward, and Jerry Andrews, a junior college transfer.

Medley Star Sets Record

CITY OF COMMERCE, Calif. (AP)—Versatile Harry Baugher of Catholic University successfully defended his 400 individual medley relay title Friday night and set a new meet record in NCAA college division swimming and diving championships.

Baugher splashed the distance in 4:26.7, completely obliterating the mark of 4:29.1, which he established last year.

One other record was set in the second session of the three night championships.

Dick Nesbit of Arlington State, Tex., stroked 100-yard breaststroke in 1:00.3.

Sikes Has Sights On Home Crown

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Hometowner Dan Sikes was charging after his first tournament title in two years going into today's third round of the Jacksonville Open. Bob Goalby was wishing for a bicycle and Arnold Palmer wasn't even in the running.

Palmer tied for 74th after two rounds of the $100,000 tournament and that wasn't good enough to keep 1967's leading money winner in contention.

The four-time Masters champion, who needs only $252 to become the first winner of $800,000 at golf, missed the qualifying cut for the final 36 holes by one stroke and blamed a balky putter for his 75-73—148 on the first two rounds at the Deerwood Club course.

The disastrous two rounds ended a hot streak for the famed Latrobe, Pa., belter who had won two tournaments this year, tied for second in two others and had officially won $45,298 on the tour.

Palmer flew out in his jet after missing the cut and Sikes took the favorite's role after his second straight sub-par round.

Declining to gamble on the long, tree-lined course to which he belongs, Sikes carefully scored a 69 for a 136-stroke total, eight under par and two strokes in front of challenging Gay Brewer Jr.

Goalby was three strokes out of the lead — and also out of a new car despite his hole-in-one on the 210-yard 15th which he aced with a three-iron.

Don January had claimed the sports car given for the first hole-in-one when he aced the eighth hole on Thursday.

January was still in the running at 140 after his second straight 70, which left him one stroke back of Goalby, Bert Yancey and Jack McGowan. Goalby's ace helped him to a 69, McGowan turned in a 68 and Yancey shot a 66.

Jack Nicklaus, whose iron play turned sour to add to his putting troubles, was far off the pace at 146 after his 74, and South African Gary Player and defending champion Doug Sanders weren't much better off.

Player, fighting a fever, shot his second 72 to tie at 144 with Sanders, who turned in a 71.

Bulls Clinch Playoff Berth

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chicago has just about Bulled its way into the National Basketball Association playoffs.

The Bulls, born out of NBA expansion last summer, clinched a tie for fourth place in the Western Division and a playoff berth Friday night with a 120-117 victory over San Francisco.

In the only other game played Friday night, Los Angeles beat Baltimore 135-133.

Chicago's victory gave the Bulls a 1½ game lead over fifth place Detroit. The Pistons have two games remaining and the Bulls one. Should Detroit win both its games and Chicago lose, the teams would play off for the berth.

Rookie Erwin Mueller led Chicago with 27 points including three clutch baskets in a fourth quarter drive. Rick Barry had 27 for the Western champion Warriors.

Chicago's Guy Rodgers had 18 assists and established an NBA season record with 901. The old mark was 899 set by Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson in 1961-62.

Elgin Baylor scored 25 points and Archie Clark 24 in leading Los Angeles past Baltimore. Baylor hit two key free throws and Clark one in the final 40 seconds, sewing up the victory.

Ray Scott's 25 points topped Baltimore.

The NBA also announced its playoff dates Friday, two days before the regular season ends.

Semifinal playoffs pitting Cincinnati against Philadelphia and New York against Boston in the East and San Francisco against Los Angeles and St. Louis against Chicago or Detroit in the West open Tuesday. All semifinals are best-of-5 series.

Rice beat Texas A&M 5-1 and Southern Methodist strapped Texas 5-3 Friday and it put leadership in the Southwest Conference baseball race on the line when Texas Christian meets Baylor today.

Texas Christian is the last undefeated team but a loss to Baylor could create a big jumble at the top.

The Horned Frogs have a 2-0 record while Rice and Southern Methodist are 2-1 and Baylor is 1-1.

Texas Christian plays Baylor at Waco, while Southern Methodist is at Houston to clash with Rice.

Left-hander Ronnie Henson held Texas A&M to four hits as Rice stayed thickly in the conference race. Ronnie's two-run double and Billy Costa's similar clout furnished everything Rice needed to trim Texas A&M.

Southern Methodist virtually eliminated Texas from the race when it trimmed the Longhorns on their home field Friday. Against it was top pitching that turned the tide with Mike Livingston holding Texas to five hits. Chris Najork hit a homer and scored three runs as big man in the Methodist offense.

"Texas, a co-champion last year, now is 1-2. Texas A&M, in last place, is 0-3.

Wildcats Favored At West Texas Relays

By MIKE COCHRAN

ODESSA, Tex. (AP)— Braced by wild card Riley Dunn, Abilene Christian ruled the favorite today in the University division of the 24th West Texas Relays.

The ace senior quartermiler was scheduled to run in four events, including three relays, the power phase of the Christian's track squad.

The Wildcats swept all five relay events in a meet last week at Houston.

Dunn was set to anchor the 440-relay, lead off the 880, go third in the mile, and run the 100-yard dash.

The University of Texas, with Mark King a potential record threat in the pole vault, loomed as a major challenge to ACC's bid for a third straight title here.

King has cleared 16 feet, well above the 15-7½ relays record.

Other divisional entries were Baylor, Houston, North Texas State, Southern Methodist and Texas Tech.

A number of records appeared in danger in the college division where one of the featured sprinters was East Texas State freshman John Carlos. He flashed to a slightly wind-aided 9.2 in the 100-yard dash last week.

The record here is 9.4.

East Texas had another threat in miler Roger Kirkwood, who has done 4:19.9, more than seven seconds below the relays standard.

Kirkwood faced a severe test from Al Lee of Howard Payne, who has a mile time of 4:16.8.

The College field included Texas A&I, Hardin-Simmons, McMurry, Sul Ross, Texas Western and Eastern New Mexico.

San Angelo responded Friday to its advance billing by sweeping qualifying victories in the four relays and was considered a heavy favorite in the big high school division.

Amarillo Tascosa took the early lead, scoring 19 points in the field events Friday, 11 better than San Angelo. But the Bobcats, who also qualified four individuals, had a 40-point potential with its relay teams.

McCamey, also qualified four relays teams, dropped behind the leaders in points but remained the favorite to repeat in the smaller high school ranks.

Crane led after Friday's action with 16 points, followed by Jal, N.M., 14, and Denver City 13.

McCamey had only six points.

Gary Nolan Leads Reds Past Boston

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sure, and wouldn't you know that a fine broth of an Irish lad would be at his very best on St. Patrick's Day.

Gary Nolan, who has a kiss of the old country in his blood and a Cincinnati bonus in his pocket celebrated the big day Friday with three shutout innings in the Reds' 7-5 victory over Boston.

And don't hand Nolan that blarney about leprechauns helping him on the mound. The Reds' top choice in last summer's free agent draft, the 18-year-old right-hander has a world of confidence in his own ability.

"Sure I expect to stick with the big club," says the youngster, who was pitching for Oloville, Calif. High School at this time last year.

After signing with the Reds last June, Nolan had a 7-3 record with a 1.82 earned run average at Sioux Falls, S.C. The big eye-opener was 163 strikeouts and only 30 bases on balls in 104 innings pitched.

Nolan allowed only one hit and struck out six of the 11 Bosthas allowed just three singles, ton batters he faced Friday. He has allowed just three singles, struck out nine and walked one in six innings pitched this spring.

"He has a wealth of natural stuff," marvels Dave Bristol, the Reds' manager. "And he's imperturbable."

And Irish too.

In Friday's other games, St. Louis defeated Pittsburgh 10-5, San Francisco whipped California 7-2, Philadelphia downed Houston 5-2, Washington shaded Atlanta 3-2, the Chicago Cubs ripped Cleveland 9-3, Detroit topped the White Sox 7-3, the New York Mets topped Baltimore 5-3, Los Angeles downed the Yankees 4-2 and Minnesota nipped Kansas City 4-3.

Lee May, another Cincinnati rookie, smacked three hits including a two-run game-winning homer in the ninth inning that gave the Reds their victory over the Red Sox. Nolan was the winner.

John Romano, who isn't Irish, tripled and singled, driving in three runs for the Cardinals against Pittsburgh Mike Shannon, who is, had three hits for St. Louis. Donn Clendenon homered for the Pirates.

Gaylord Perry worked five shutout innings for the Giants, allowing just three hits against California. Jim Hart snapped out of a slump with his first two hits of the spring, driving in four runs with a home run and a double.

Johnny Callison and Johnny Briggs each tagged two run homers as the Phillies whipped the Astros.

Big Frank Howard lumbered in from third on a slow grounder to short in the sixth inning, giving the Senators the winning run against Atlanta. An error by Deis Menke set the stage for Washington's winning rally.

The streaking Cubs won their sixth straight game but lost Ron Santo for at least a week. Santo was spiked on the left kneecap in a home plae collision with Cleveland catcher Duke Sims and took six stitches.

Jim Northrup and Ray Oyler tagged Gary Peters for home runs as the Tigers tripped the White Sox. Detroit ripped Peters for eight hits and six runs.

Ed Kranepool's bases loaded single in the eighth inning drove in the tie breaking runs as the Mets topped the Orioles. Brooks Robinson homered for Baltimore.

Claude Osteen, Phil Regan and Ron Perranowski limited the Yankees to three hits as the Dodgers won. John Kennedy's eighth inning single broke a 2-2 tie.

Earl Battey drove in Minnesota's winning run in the bottom of the ninth against the Athletics at Caracas, Venezuela.

I Ain't Got No Quarrel With The Viet Congs—Clay

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Cassius Clay now says he expects to be around for another three fights in the next four months despite an order to report for induction in the Army April 11.

The heavyweight champion's attorneys are seeking an injunction to prevent Clay, who contends he is a minister for the Black Muslims, from being inducted.

Clay, or Muhammad Ali, as he prefers, has implied he would go to jail "for what I believe" rather than go into military service.

Madison Square Garden officials, who were scared that the champ's legal battle against the draft would hurt the gate for his Wednesday night defense with Zora Folley, were amazed to discover they had a booming boxoffice.

Also amazing has been the reaction of the fans to Clay in his free, public workouts in the Garden basement. Standing room crowds cheer every move by the 25-year-old unbeaten champion, even his rope skipping.

It's been more than a year since Clay uttered his remark: "I ain't got no quarrel with the Viet Congs." His fight with Ernie Terrell was chased out of the country and later dropped. Clay fought Canadian champion George Chuvalo in Toronto instead.

It was after his four-round workout with sparmate James Ellis Friday that Clay said he heard he'll be able to fight four months more. He said he expected to have three fights — maybe all out of the country in that time — including a May 27 defense against Argentina's Oscar Bonavena in Tokyo.

He wouldn't elaborate on the other possible foreign fight sites. He must receive permission from his draft board to leave the country.

Asked if he ever thought of leaving the United States to live in another country, Clay replied:

"Never. Everyone is trying to get to America. Why should I want to leave?"

When told of Clay's plans for three more fights, Folley, the quiet challenger, commented: "He won't be making three more title defenses because he's going to be an ex-champ when he gets out of the ring."

Clay is a 5-1 favorite to retain his title.

Cokes Sets Bout With Frenchman

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Curtis Cokes, the tall, skinny world's welterweight champion with dynamite in a counter-punch, pursues the big money here May 21 when he fights under a new promotion by putting his title on the line against Frenchman Francois Pavilla.

The Greater Dallas Sports Association, headed by a former detective, is posting $35,000 to make it Cokes' biggest payday yet. The Dallas all Sports Association, which promoted Cokes' title defense against Jean Josselin here in February—with Cokes getting $16,000—said it couldn't match that pile of cash.

Norm Levinson, who did the All Sports Associaton's promoting, muttered "All I can say is good luck. I don't blame Cokes for taking the money."

He added that he had a commitment from Doug Lord, Cokes' manager, for a title fight here in August, provided Cokes beats Pavilla.

Pavilla, rated No. 4 by Ring Magazine and No. 9 by the World Boxing Association, will receive $7,500 plus travel expenses.

Pavilla fought Cokes to a draw in Paris in January but champion said he not only won but that he was fighting under the handicap of a cold and fever blisters.

Josselin, who lost a decision to Cokes here, later fought Pavilla and beat him on a split decision.

Lord said Pavilla and Josselin had similar styles but "Pavilla is a tougher, stronger boy."

Kenneth K. Hayles, former Dallas city detective, heads the Greater Dallas Sports Association making its first venture into boxing. Tom Bullock, a Dallas detective assigned to desk duty in the juvenile department, and A. V. Bamford, executive of a San Antonio radio station specializing in country and western music, are Hayles' associates.

Pat O'Brien of McNeese was runner-up with 219. Don Olson and Johnnie Barlow of Lamar Tech tied for third with cards of 222, followed by defending champion Howard Underwood of Houston with 223.

Louisiana State was second in the team standings with 919, followed by Oklahoma 930, Lamar Tech 932, Northeast Louisiana 949, Southwestern Louisiana 951, Northwestern Louisiana 963 and Stephen F. Industrial Arts Teachers On Schools' TV Program

Six Industrial Arts teachers connected with Snyder secondary schools will appear on the schools' closed - circuit television program Monday. Various phases of this school program will be explained.

"Know Your Schools" may be tuned in on Channel 2, SCAT, at 7 p.m. This weekly 30-minute television program is planned to give viewers a better understanding of the many instructional programs offered by the local public schools.

Instructors to appear on Monday's closed - circuit television program and the subject areas they teach and schools represented are Ronald L. Foy, drafting and electricity, and Joe Harding, woodworking, metal working and power mechanics, high school; Don Elrod, general shop, and Ed Raborn, general crafts, Lamar Junior High School and Bob Bowden, general shop, and Charles Hodges, general crafts, Travis Junior High. Each teacher will discuss his own school program.

Industrial Arts classes are open to all students in the three secondary schools. Girls as well as boys may enroll in these classes. Girls are especially encouraged to enter Arts and Crafts and drafting classes. Classes in Industrial Arts are not intended to be vocational courses but are general education courses.

Courses in secondary schools are designed to help the individual student explore the many different areas peculiar to an industrial society. Instruction is planned to benefit both the technically oriented as well as the terminal student. Classes are taught on an individual basis so that each student's needs are met, Foy points out.

Instructional programs are so designed that students planning to further their education beyond high school will have ascertained, through their high school experience, whether or not any of the many areas are to their personal liking and if their aptitudes are such that further pursuit in their college work would be advisable in some phase of Industrial Arts. In this highly industrialized age, it is necessary to specialize if a person intends to make a career of a certain area in the broad industrial field, educators have learned from present day trends.

Educators believe that those who may not plan to further their training and knowledge beyond high school may find these courses practical in many ways. first, these courses will have acquainted them with operations of many industries, and make them more knowledge able of products; give them a basis for judging quality of products on the market, and better equip them to cope with an industrialized society. Also, many who will seek employment after completing high school may find that knowledge gained through Industrial Arts courses will be helpful on jobs they undertake, even though this high school training will not qualify them as skilled technicians.

Whether or not students find it desirable to use their high school knowledge to further careers, they will have had sufficient training to pursue some area as a life's hobby, instructors aver. Educators believe that each person, to be completely happy throughout life, needs some special activity to pursue for mere pleasure.

In secondary school programs today, Industrial Arts students gain actual experience by making useful articles. Present programs offer students related technical information as well as exploring the nature of many industries.

Areas offered in crafts include leather, ceramics, art metals, jewelry making and the use of plastics. Students work with materials as well as study the peculiarities of each.

Leatherworking includes the study of selected leather industries, types of leather, processing of leather, and leather products. Students learn to sew and construct leather garments; are taught skills in leather carving, tooling and dyeing.

Ceramics is the study of various materials, processes, and products used in the ceramics industries. Students gain skills in pottery work through fabrication method. Jewelry making is taught through the use of papiermache as well as the use of metals and stones.

Woodworking and metalworking classes incorporate principles in welding, sheet metal work, machine shop procedures and safety education. Studies are involved with woods from forest to use of machinery in the finished products. Study of metals begin with raw ore, and include foundry, and the use of shop equipment. Students make articles of both woods and metals in the local schools.

Drafting offers instruction in mechanical drawing, sheet metal layout and architectural blueprinting. "Drafting offers experiences most challenging to the academically talented student, especially in the field of pre-engineering drafting," Foy emphasizes.

Power mechanics gives the student, not only knowledge of machine operation, but teaches component parts. Automobile repair is a part of this training.

Study of electricity in the local schools covers from power generators to distribution. Home appliances receive special attention in this course along with facts involved in component manufacturing.

Basic electronics gives students an understanding of the electron theory. This course incorporates the study of basic electronic circuits and selected devices which utilize thermionic tubes and semiconductors.

In all subject areas of Industrial Arts, students first study the arts of the various trades. After a basic understanding of the separate areas, students later assemble individual projects through proper and safe use of equipment necessary to a particular work area.

Manual Arts of the early 20's is a forerunner of today's Industrial Arts programs in public schools. The early courses were centered around woods, metals and drafting.

Snyder Industrial Arts departments have fared well in competition with other schools of the area and over the state. Both Lamar Junior High school and Snyder High School placed as first runner-up in their divisions in state meets last year. Lamar was second runner - up in state-wide competition in 1964-65.

Industrial Arts departments in public schools hold district, regional and state meets each year. This year these competitive events will be held with Abilene hosting the district meet; the regional meet will be held in Odessa, and the state competition will be held at College Station, Bryan.

Instructors in departments in the local secondary schools are associated with the Texas Industrial Arts association, the American Industrial Arts association, and the West Texas Industrial Arts association. Students participating in local programs are affiliated with the Texas Industrial Arts association and the American Industrial Arts Student association.

"Know Your Schools" will not be on cable Monday, March 27, since schools will be dismissed for the Easter Holiday period. On Monday, April 3, Mrs. Margaret Dell Pilcher will present a group of North Elementary school second graders in a story of the "Ugly Duckling" to be related by narration and song.

SHIRLEY MACLAINE is an American dancer in a Hong Konk honkey-tonk who becomes involved in a sinister plot devised by Micheal Caine in "Gambit," which is coming to the Ritz Theater here Sunday, March, 26.

Sukarno Said Ailing

By T. JEFF WILLIAMS

JAKARTA (AP) — Stripped of his power and reported ailing, Indonesia's former President Sukarno prepared today to leave his Jakarta palace for the health resort of Bagor.

Information Minister B.M. Diah denied reports that Sukarno was under house arrest but said Sukarno must get permission from the acting president, Gen. Suharto, to travel inside or outside the country.

The sudent newspaper Kami said authorities refused to let Sukarno wear his military uniform.

Sukarno was expected to stay at his palace in Bogor, 40 miles from the capital, and at his retirement home nearby. The area is noted for its botanical gardens and summer homes of wealthy Indonesians.

A spokesman said the minister of health visited the Jakarta palace in connection with Sukarno's health. Palace guards said the 65-year-old former president appeared in excellent condition and spent some time paying with five of his eight children.

Suharto, named acting president a week ago when Congress removed Sukarno's title and the last remnants of his power, has said Sukarno's health is worsening but has not indicated the nature of the ailment.

Glue Sniffers Find New Way

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hippiedippies who sniff airplane glue for kicks can't do it anymore in Miami.

City commissioners passed an ordinance Friday banning the sale to persons under 18 of model glue that gives off toxic vapors.

Model kits may contain only enough glue for construction of the model.

But Commissioner M. Athalie Range, who proposed the ordinance, said the teen-boppers already have a new way of getting high — inhaling vapors from cigarette lighters.
