Annual Dodson Singing Set For June 21 And 22

Plans are rapidly nearing completion for the ninth annual Dodson Singing Convention, to be held Saturday night and Sunday, June 21 and 22. This will be a joint meeting with the Four County Singing Convention, which was scheduled to meet June 29 in Wellington. These two conventions combined are expected to bring to this county one of the largest crowds to attend such an event in several years.

As in the past, the Sunday's program will last throughout the day, with dinner spread on the ground at the noon hour.

The event will be held in the Dodson Nazarene tabernacle.

Outstanding quartets from a radius of several hundred miles will attend, as well as individual singers from throughout this section.

The annual Dodson singing has become one of the most widely known summer events for singers in this part of the Panhandle. The 4-County Singing Association is made up of singers from Collingsworth and Wheeler counties in Texas, and Harmon and Beckham counties in Oklahoma. The group meets quarterly, each county being host one time during the year. Hundreds of persons from these four counties, and many additional visitors, attend each session. Since the two events were scheduled only one week apart, it was agreed to combine the two this year.

"Several thousand people will be in Dodson, especially on Sunday, and because of this, and the amount of effort being put out in behalf of the singing, we expect this to be the best convention ever held here. There will be plenty of ice water and plenty of room for those who bring lunch to spread their tables," those in charge of arrangements said.

Details of the program will be announced next week.

Members of the program committee are B. A. Ricketts of Hollis, E. G. Claunch of Quail, Mid Lewis of Dodson, E. L. Hively of Vinson, and Sam C. Davis of Mayfield, Okla.

Drs. Jones Move Office Monday

Dr. E. W. Jones and Dr. Chas. B. Jones Monday moved their offices from their location over the Parsons Drug Store, to a building located just south of the telephone office.

This building, which was formerly the Boy Scout Hall, has been completely remodeled, and is now one of the most modern offices of its type in this section of the Panhandle.

Six rooms are included in the building, a reception room, an office for each of the doctors, a business office, laboratory room, and heat therapy room.

Both walls and woodwork of the building are finished in white, which harmonizes with the furnishings of the offices. Air conditioning has been installed, to make the building comfortable during the summer months.

Both doctors expressed their pleasure at being in their new location, pointing out that not only was it more convenient for them,

Robert Wilder Is Engineer For Phillips Company

Robert Wilder, who received his degree from Texas Technological College in Lubbock June 2, has accepted an engineering position with the Phillips Petroleum Company, and will be stationed at Great Bend, Kansas.

Wilder received the first degree in petroleum engineering ever granted by Texas Tech.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wilder of the Seal community, and is a graduate of Wellington High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilder arrived here last week from Lubbock to visit with his parents. He left a few days later for Great Bend, while Mrs. Wilder remained for a longer visit.

B. W. Beaird Is Chosen County Superintendent

a teacher in this county for the last 14 years, was named county superintendent by the Commissioner's Court Monday. He succeeds Logan Cummings, and will take office July 1.

B. W. Beaird, a teacher in the rural schools of Collingsworth County for the last 14 years, Monday was selected by the Commissioner's Court to fill the unexpired term of Logan Cummings, who at the same time presented his formal resignation to the court.

Mr. Cummings resigned to accept a place as superintendent of schools at Patton Springs in Dickens County.

Mr. Beaird will take office on July 1, at which time Mr. and Mrs. Cummings are leaving Wellington.

"I have always wanted to round out thirty years of teaching by serving as county superintendent of my county," the newly elected school head told friends recently.

This ambition is realized, as Mr. Beaird has been teaching for 30 years.

During the fourteen years he has taught in Collingsworth County, he has served only two schools, Fresno and Midway. Before coming here, he taught for two years in Canada.

Since coming to Collingsworth County, he has been active in all affairs of the communities in which he taught, organizing Parent-Teacher Associations, aiding community welfare projects, and assisting in community Sunday Schools.

During recent years, despite loss of a scholastic population, Mr. Beaird has helped to make the Midway school one of the outstanding rural schools in this entire area.

In addition to his school activities, Mr. Beaird has actively supervised the working of his farms near Wellington.

MRS. JIMMIE KELSO
passed the examinations before the state licensing board, in San Antonio recently, and is now a licensed funeral director. Mrs. Kelso is associated with her husband in the Kelso Funeral Home.

R. W. Duke, Pioneer Co-op Worker, Dies

R. W. Duke, beloved retired farmer, and one of the outstanding workers for the farm co-operative movement in Collingsworth County, died Thursday, June 5, at 5:55 a. m. at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Dave Gilley, in Amarillo. He and Mrs. Duke had gone there to visit only a few days before. Mr. Duke had suffered an attack of flu in February, from which he never fully recovered.

He came here with his family in 1906, and for the first few years rented land. Later he bought his own land. Four years ago he and Mrs. Duke moved from the Midway community to Wellington, and have continued to make this their home since.

Funeral rites were conducted Friday at 3 o'clock from the Methodist Church. Rev. J. Edmnd Kirby, pastor, was in charge, assisted by Rev. Hadley Hall, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene.

Pall bearers were Bill Adams,

Absentee Voting Now Under Way

Absentee voting in the United States Senatorial election opened Sunday, June 8, but through Tuesday night, no absentee ballots had been cast here, Miss Margaret Shields, county clerk, reported.

"All supplies are in my office, and any person who will be out of town on election day, June 28, or who will otherwise be unable to go to the polls, should vote before the deadline, set for June 25," Miss Shields said.

Thirty-one candidates for this office are now listed on the official ballots, however, since the ballots were mailed out to the counties, two candidates have withdrawn, Dr. John R. Brinkley of the Democratic party and Enoch Fletcher of the Republican party.

The candidates now seeking the place of senator, left vacant by the death of Morris Sheppard, in the order named on the ballots are:

Plans Laid For Abra Rodeo

By MRS. JOHN GROVES

Already plans are being made for the Abra Rodeo and Community Picnic, one of the largest annual Fourth of July affairs in this immediate area.

Members of the rodeo committee met with J. C. Breeding Sunday afternoon to work out these plans.

One of the largest crowds in the history of this event is expected to attend.

Rain Monday Damages Bridges And Roads

Heavy rains falling over the county early Monday morning, June 9, sent the total moisture for this year far above the 20-inch mark, and resulted in the greatest damage to roads and bridges reported to date during this spring's rains.

Almost two inches of rain fell in Wellington Monday, J. M. Strong reported, bringing the total to 24.27 inches. Other parts of the county reported heavier rain at this time. In addition, the entire southeast section of the county received a four-inch downpour, which followed a severe hailstorm Sunday evening, June 8.

The approach to the railroad on the M-K-T road on Salt Fork between Wellington and Dodson went out Monday night, S. G. Henry, agent here, reported. Train service was due to be resumed Wednesday, although the train was not scheduled until about 5 o'clock. Two other M-K-T bridges washed

Gerald Mann Speaks Here Tuesday, June 17

Gerald C. Mann, Attorney General of Texas, will bring his campaign for United States Senator to Wellington and Collingsworth County at 8 p. m. Tuesday, June 17, in an address on the court house lawn, according to an announcement here this week.

Mann, candidate for the seat left vacant by the death of Senator Morris Sheppard, is expected to discuss all leading issues of the Senatorial campaign in his address here. Mann's swing through this section Tuesday will also include stops at Memphis, Childress, Paducah, Crowell, and Quanah.

Mann, who was shown to be the leading senatorial candidate in last Sunday's newspaper poll, has described national defense as "the most compelling problem in American life today." In a recent address, he declared his belief in the ideals of President Roosevelt, "that we cannot debate while robber nations plunder." He added that "our army must be so impregnable that all the powers on earth combined could never produce an American Dunkerque."

An excerpt from Mann's opening speech makes known his position on other leading issues. He said: "We cannot be strong if our people and our needy are hungry; we cannot be impregnable if industry and labor are torn by strife. We can never have adequate national defense if our farmers are not taken into consideration."

The 34-year-old attorney-general has many friends in this section, and when he speaks here Tuesday night, several of his college classmates at Southern Methodist University will be in the audience.

A native Texan, he has made an

Norwood Building Work To Start

Work on construction projects at Samnorwood School is scheduled to begin next week, E. G. Sanders, superintendent, announced early this week.

These buildings are being constructed by the school district in co-operation with the National Youth Administration. Approval of $10,000 in bonds was approved by the patrons of the school recently, making possible the releasing of approximately $25,000 in local and federal funds for the erection of buildings and ground improvements.

At the same time, Mr. Sanders urged all boys from the ages of 16 to 24, inclusive, who wish to gain employment through the NYA

Clinton McBroome Chief Clerk In Office Of CCC

Clinton McBroome, who graduated from Lamesa High School this spring, is now working as chief clerk in the district educational director's office of region A of the western division of the CCC Co. 3811, in addition to carrying a full school course. He took top honors in his class and was voted the outstanding senior boy. He also won first prize in the FFA debate tournament and the county debate contests.

He plans to take up the study of law this fall.

McBroome formerly attended Quail High School, where he was active in Future Farm work.

Wheat Harvest Due To Begin Early Next Week

TWO POUND BABY LIVES IN INCUBATOR
One of the smallest babies, if not the smallest, in this county to be born here and survive is Jerry Theo Wilkerson, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Wilkerson. Born May 21, the child weighed 2 pounds and 10 ounces. Later his weight fell to 2 pounds, 4 ounces. It rose, then fell again, and now he weighs 2 pounds, 12 ounces. He is active, and his condition is reported as good. He is shown above in his incubator at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Despite all damage from worms, rain and hail, Collingsworth County's wheat crop gives promise of the best seen here since 1937, while approximately 5,000 acres of barley is the best seen here in years, and a small rye acreage is reported unusually good.

Wheat cutting on some farms in the south part of the county will begin as soon as the ground is dry enough for combines to enter the fields, while most of the wheat in the northern part of the county will not be ready to cut for about two weeks.

Much of the barley is ready for harvesting, and the rye will be cut in a short time.

Around 10,000 acres of wheat will be cut in this county, it is estimated by the AAA office. The county as a whole will average 15 bushels of wheat per acre, it is believed, although in certain sections of the county estimates of as high as 30 bushels have been made.

From 30 to 40 bushels of barley per acre and in some places as high as 50 bushels is expected.

Severest damage to wheat in this county came Sunday, June 8, when hail swept across a narrow strip in the extreme south part of Collingsworth County and the north part of Childress County. In several fields, an almost 100 per cent loss was reported. This hail was followed immediately by a 4-inch rain, which knocked down some of the wheat in that section.

Although most of the wheat growers south of Salt Fork report that a part of their wheat is on the ground, a majority expressed the belief that if no more rain falls they can, by slow combining and cutting low, save the largest part of the crop.

All worm damage is apparently stopped south of the river.

Reports on all other crops for the county show that while these are later than usual, and while in most communities some replanting must be done, that those crops now up are in good condition.

Farmers in the county may continue to plant cotton until around

Deskins Wells County Chairman Of U.S.O.

Deskins Wells, editor of The Wellington Leader, has been nominated chairman to direct the activities of United Service Organizations for National Defense, Inc., in Collingsworth County.

United Service Organizations is quasi-governmental. It has the wholehearted endorsement of government officials from the President down to the lowest ranking officers in the defense forces. Its primary aim is to provide high-class and intelligently directed recreational activities, and to care for the religious, and educational needs of the young men in the armed forces of the United States.

The federal government is constructing recreational buildings in towns and cities adjoining training camps, but it is up to the people of the nation to supply the funds with which to equip and maintain these activities. To the U.S.O. has been assigned this task.

The U. S. O. is made up of six organizations already known for their outstanding work—the Salvation Army, the Jewish Welfare Association, the Y.M.C.A., the

Bill Protects Wild Game Here

Wild deer, turkey and antelope in Collingsworth County will be protected for a two-year period, due to a bill passed by the Texas Legislature, and effective as of June 5, 1941.

The bill, listed as House Bill 1015, reads:

"Section 1. That from and after the effective date hereof, and for a period of two (2) years, it shall be unlawful to hunt, kill, or pursue any wild deer, turkey or antelope in Collingsworth County, Texas."

These animals, it was pointed out by Bill Pierce, district game warden, were placed in the northwestern section of the county earlier in the year by the state game

Three County Teachers Named

Three more county teachers were named this week by County School Superintendent Logan Cummings.

Mrs. Lewis Morris, who formerly taught at Lillie and Rolla, will be the teacher at Cottonwood School for the term of 1941-42. For the past year, Mrs. Morris has been attending West Texas State College at Canyon from where she will receive her degree at the end of the summer session.

Mrs. W. L. White is the new teacher for the Midway School. Mrs. White is well known in this county, and is the daughter of W.

Marketing Group Seeks To Raise Egg Quality

Poultry raisers of this area will not only receive a higher price for their eggs in the future, but local egg buyers will get higher quality eggs, if the proposed local Egg Marketing Association plans are carried out.

Egg Marketing Associations, sponsored by the extension service of the A. and M. College, and locally by the home demonstration clubs of the county, are already organized in four counties of the Panhandle, and outstanding results are being obtained from them, Miss Rose Erisman, county demonstration agent, said Tuesday.

"While the Egg Marketing Association is sponsored by the demonstration club women, membership in it is open to every person in the county who sells eggs for the market, and whose eggs meet the standards set up by the association," Miss Erisman emphasized.

Organization plans are not yet completed, and officers will be elected in a meeting Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in Miss Erisman's office in the court house.

Standards of egg production required by the association were explained before a group of home demonstration club women Wednesday, June 4, when Miss Myrtle Murry, marketing specialist from A. and M. College was in Wellington.

"Both poultry raisers and consumers will profit from this plan," Miss Erisman explained. "While a premium on the eggs may not prevail at first, higher prices do in time result. Housewives, on the other hand, will receive better eggs, and the experience in other associations has been that they are more than willing to pay extra for these eggs that they know are the

Dr. J. M. Wattam Locates Here

Dr. J. M. Wattam arrived in Wellington late last week from Brady, and Monday opened his offices here. He is both a physician and surgeon. Mrs. Wattam accompanied him here.

Dr. Wattam is located over the Palace Drug Store, in the offices formerly occupied by Dr. John G. Cecil. He comes here widely experienced, having begun practicing in 1923. He was located at Gainesville for a number of years, and for the last four and one-half years he has been at Brady.

Mrs. Wattam was reared near Wellington, but for a number of years she had made her home at Brady. She will be remembered as Miss Jewel Black, the daughter of J. M. Black and the sister of Mrs. W. A. Morrow and Elmer Black. She has many friends throughout this entire section.

While at Brady, Dr. Wattam was a member of the Lion's Club.

Dr. Wattam expressed his pleasure at having located in Wellington and added that he is eager to get better acquainted with this section of the country.

June 15 Deadline On Future Citizen Annual Encampment

June 15 is the deadline for Future Citizens of Collingsworth County to make their decision on going to Craterville Park, Okla., on the annual outing of that group, Miss Rose Erisman, county home demonstration agent, said Tuesday morning.

The encampment is set for Friday and Saturday, June 20 and 21.

Any boy or girl who is a member of the Future Citizens is eligible to make the trip. This group is made up of all 4-H Clubs, Future Farmer and Future Homemakers chapters of the county. Sponsors are the vocational agriculture and homemaking teachers,

Threshed Grain May Be Stored In Trench Silo

Although Collingsworth county feed crops are as yet only partially planted, farmers of the section were reminded early this week by W. K. Cottingame, county agent, that it is already time to start thinking of trench silos. "Especially is this true since a big grain crop is already anticipated, and the Secretary of Agriculture has requested that we speed up livestock and milk production, thereby requiring more feed," he said.

"It looks as if there's going to be a storage problem this year, and especially so since farmers are being urged to save every bit of their feed crop," Mr. Cottingame continued.

"The storage of threshed grains —including sorghum or grain sorghum heads, threshed oats, wheat and barley,—can be safely stored in a trench silo if the grain is to be fed to stock."

This method will not do for storing grain to be used for seed, it was pointed out.

"The county agent's office heartily recommends that farmers of this county use the trench silo method this fall more extensively than at any time previously, and we are expecting the construction of any number of new silos between now and this fall," Mr. Cottingame said.

In view of the new silos expected, Mr. Cottingame this week gave a few pointers on silo construction and filling.

Be sure the trench silo has drainage, it was stated. Either dig the trench silo so the water can run out at the end or in soil that will permit the water to pass out through the soil at the bottoms and sides.

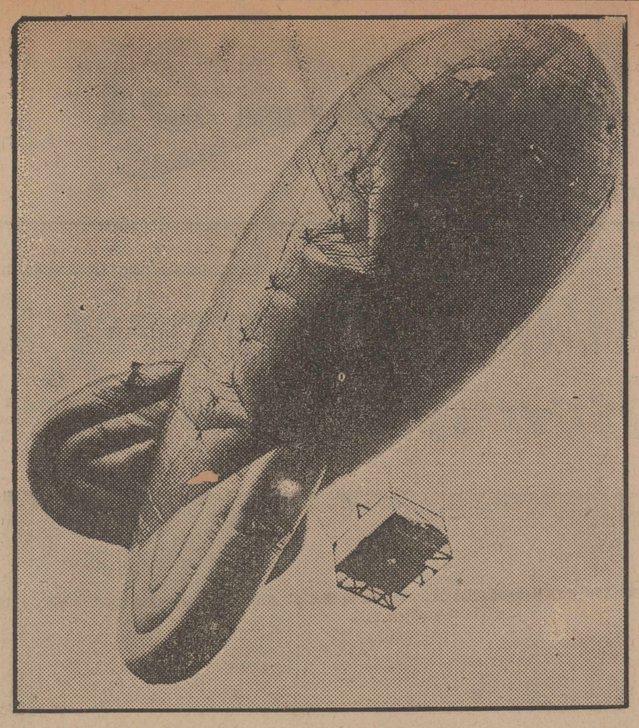

If the ground is level and clay soil, build two parallel levees of dirt on top of the ground; put gravel or rock on the ground between the levees of dirt so there will be no mud. Fill in between the levees with the grain of other silage crops. Cover over with at least 12 inches of dirt. This is what some people call a trench silo upside down.

When filling a trench silo with threshed grain, packing is not necessary. Wet the grain about like a heavy dew would wet it. Fill the trench full enough so that the grain in the center will be higher than the level of the ground or walls.

The grain may be covered with paper or sacks before covering with dirt. However, this is not necessary. If it is covered with clay dirt, it will be best to first cover with about six inches of dirt, then wet this dirt thoroughly; then cover with six inches of dry dirt.

"The Secretary of Agriculture has requested that we speed up livestock and milk production. It takes feed to do this. Therefore, we should save all this year's feed crop. It can all be saved with trench silos," Cottingame emphasized.

Mr, and Mrs. J. P. Robertson and daughter, Linda, of Abilene, and Mrs. Yukie Abernethy and son of Fairfax, Okla., are guests this week of Mr. Robertson's and Mrs. Abernethy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. P. Robertson.

Continental Oil Company Opens Ad Campaign

Continental Oil Company started last week one of the largest newspaper campaigns in its history to introduce the company's newest product, Conoco Nth Motor Oil.

According to Will A. Morgan, advertising manager, newspapers throughout the most of the United States, including The Wellington Leader, will receive the major portion of Continental's advertising budget to present Conoco Nth Motor Oil to the public. More than a million dollars will spent by the company in newspapers alone during the next six months.

Continental's claims for its new oil includes low motor wear, Oil-plating, more miles between quarts, and a decided improvement in the reduction of lacquer and sludge, accomplished by the discovery in Continental laboratories of a new synthetic, Thialkene Inhibitor.

Proof of these claims was dramatically illustrated by a daring destruction test carried out in Death Valley, where the hottest temperatures in the United States have registrated. Five identical stock cars, each lubricated with five quarts of a different well-known motor oil, and a sixth car, identical with the others and filled with five quarts of Conoco Nth, were all run over a course in Death Valley until each of the six engines was wrecked. The test was run under the impartial supervision of Prof. H. M. Jackline, who during the academic year is Professor of Automotive Engineering at Purdue University.

At the end of the test, the car lubricated with Conoco Nth had run 13,398.8 miles on one crankcase full of Nth oil—73.67 per cent more miles than the closest competitor—161.17 per cent more miles than the first car to fail—and 111.29 per cent more miles than the average of all the other five cars.

The entire story of the Death Valley test will be told, with many illustrations, in the series of advertisements which will appear in this newspaper.

Sister Of Dozier Residents Dies At Hess, Okla.

Mrs. Ella McGee, the sister of Will Bradstreet and Mrs. Della Clay of Dozier, died Thursday, May 29, at her home in Hess, Oklahoma, after a brief illness.

Mrs. McGee was 63 years of age.

Funeral services were conducted from the Church of Christ at Hess Friday, May 30, and the body was brought to Wheeler, a former home of the family, for burial.

Thirteen Births Listed In May

Thirteen births were recorded in the office of W. G. Hite, justice of the peace during May, the records of that office reveal. Of this group eight were boys and five were girls. One was a colored child.

The group included: Daniel Edward Catherall, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Rasco Catherall, May 5; Grover Royce Graham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Monroe Graham, May 10; Aubrey E. Yarbrough, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Yarbrough, May 12; J. D. Dorsey, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Dorsey, May 16;

Clarence Wayne Knowles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Dalton Knowles, May 17; Rudolph Hedger, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Hedger, May 23; Wanda Nell Lester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hampton Lester of McIntosh, N. Impartial test in Death Valley Desert. 279 ft. Below sea level.

U. S. Patent No. 2,218,132 tells exactly what is new about the new Conoco motor oil named

CONOCO Nth MOTOR OIL

5 quarts of this same new Conoco Nth oil that you can buy today, lasted 13,398.8 miles in a stock coupe—under lock and under scrutiny every minute.

13,398 miles up and down Death Valley. Sand and sagebrush. Lowest land and highest extremes of heat in our U. S. A.

5 other well known oils got the same chance as new Conoco Nth oil. 6 identical new cars were used. Tune-ups, tire pressures, speeds, and all other factors were the same for all—impartially. Engines were under lock. Qualified authorities eyed everything.

The test was simple and stern... Each car got its 5-quart fill of some one competing oil and was run at a 57-mile speed, without added oil, till the engine smashed up. New Conoco Nth motor oil went 13,398 miles. Certified. Not another oil came within 5,683 miles of that and one was outlasted 8,268 miles by new Conoco Nth oil. Certified.

The reasons are straight and simple... New patented Conoco Nth motor oil contains Thialkene inhibitor, a new synthetic... man-made by Conoco.

Now an inhibition is something that restrains you—checks you. Thialkene inhibitor checks the effect of poisons formed in normal engine operation. Instead of "festering," weakening, and passing out, this oil is scientifically prepared to keep its health, so that the engine can do the same—a good way to keep up the oil-level.

OIL-PLATING, too! Long the keystone of Conoco success, OIL-PLATING comes from another Conoco synthetic... (U.S. Patent 1,944,941). Magnet-like action bonds OIL-PLATING to engine parts, so it can't all drain down—not even overnight. While you use Conoco Nth oil, this OIL-PLATING stays on guard against wear in advance! By OIL-PLATING the engine and inhibiting the worst effect of oil pollution, one fill of new Conoco Nth lasted 13,398 miles. Certified.

You'll not put your car through such a third-degree—any more than you keep starting in high gear just because you could. You'll certainly never want to exceed the recommended distance between crankcase drains. But knowing that new Conoco Nth oil lasted 74% to 161% longer than other oils tested, see how seldom you add a quart. At Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station today change to your correct Summer grade of popular-priced new Conoco Nth oil. Continental Oil Co.—Pioneers in Bettering America's oil with Synthetics

Birds Increase Along County Shelter Belts

Shelterbelts are increasing the numbers of quail, doves and other birds in Collingsworth County, reports W. J. Grigg, Department of Agriculture's Forest Officer for the Wellington sub-district.

"During a recent inspection," the official stated, "every shelterbelt examined that had two or more years of growth contained several quail, doves, and large numbers of other insect-eating birds. Several species of game and song birds that were rarely seen prior to the planting of shelterbelts are now present in fairly large numbers. For example, on the Wells and Brantley shelterbelt a random count showed 8 quail, 28 doves, 4 kingbirds, 19 field sparrows, and 2 bluejays; on the B. W. Boarman shelterbelt 4 quail, 12 doves and 11 field sparrows; on the Barton and Somerville shelterbelt 4 quail, 18 doves and 12 field sparrows.

The prize bird sanctuary was the J. Doneghy shelterbelt located 2½ miles northwest of Wellington, which was planted in 1936 and contains several rows of trees that are over thirty feet tall. On this one-half mile of shelterbelt 12 quail, 57 doves, 6 kingbirds, 4 bluejays, 2 bluebirds, 4 scissortails and 29 field sparrows were counted.

"This increase in wild life is not accidental," the forester continued. "Birds as well as other forms of wild life must mave an environment that provides food, cover and water so located as to be available without undue exposure to the elements and predatory animals. Of these, cover is undoubtedly the most important since without it wild life cannot use the water and food supplies that are present. Shelterbelts, with their closely spaced variety of trees and shrubs, provide abundant food and cover, consequently it is not surprising that wild life is quick to take advantage of the "safe" feeding areas along the edge of the trees. Since many farms have adjoining shelterbelts, wild life can travel from one farm to another in safety thus restocking areas formerly devoid of wild game and birds.

"Many people fail to appreciate the value of birds," Grigg remarked. "Since there are a few species of birds, usually migratory, that damage crops many farmers condemn all birds as destructive. They entirely overlook the fact that the useful birds far outnumber the destructive birds and that even the destructive birds greatly offset the crop damage they do by the large number of insects they destroy each year. These farmers also forget that without the aid of birds, control of insect pests would be extremely costly and very difficult.

"The expense of controlling recent local outbreaks of army worms, cutworms and grasshoppers is a clear indication that the farmers of Collingsworth County can use more birds than there are at present and that they should do all in their power to encourage birds in this area," Grigg said in conclusion.

Mrs. Jimmie Kelso Made Licensed Funeral Director

Utility Company Urges Canning Of Vegetables

The canning and preservation of fruits and vegetables as a part of the nation's home defense program will be actively promoted this summer by United Gas Corporation, G. L. Taylor, district manager of the company, announced today.

The recent establishment by the president of a committee for civil defense, with Mayor La Guardia of New York at its head, has called attention to the emergency situation in America, Mr. Taylor said. One of the first requirements will be for increasing quantities of foodstuffs, owing to the great demands of armed forces on American food production.

"The fine old American tradition, 'canning time,' which has largely gone out of practice in later years, is certain to be revived in this national emergency," said Mr. Taylor. "Our government has already indicated that home gardening, cannini, and preserving will be stimulated as much as possible as a part of the home defense program.

"The management of our company recognizes this need for added food production and preservation," he continued. "Since our business is the furnishing of natural gas for household use, we feel an obligation to co-operate with the national defense program by arousing the interest of our customers in putting up fruits and vegetables this summer as never before."

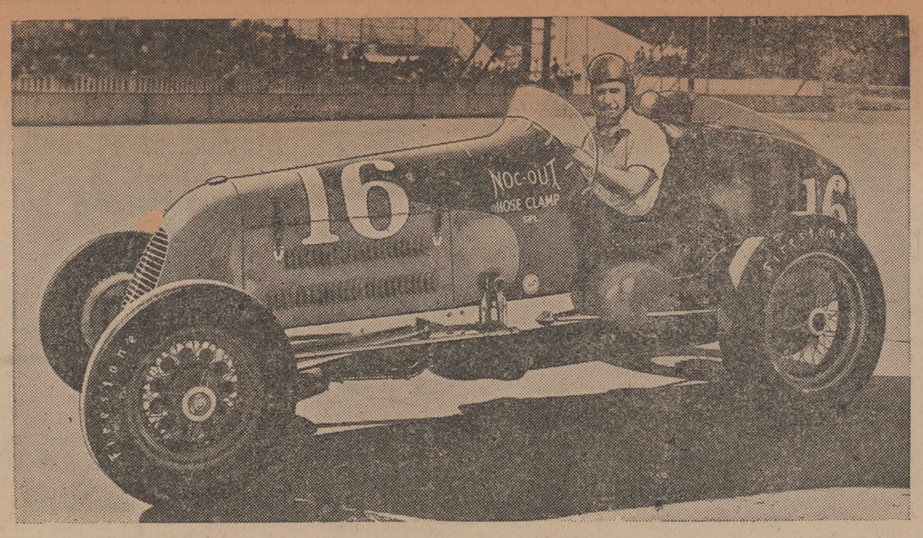

Earlier this year, representatives of United Gas Corporation offered their co-operation with newspapers in the territory served to promote the planting of home gardens. This promotion, it was said, was the first step in the company's self-initiated plan to cause the public to can and preserve more foods.

"In this program," said Mr. Taylor, "we feel that our customers should protect themselves now against possible shortage of foods in the future. There is plenty of natural gas for all the canning and preserving that our customers wish to do. There will continue to be an abundance of natural gas, available at low cost. The factor that may change is the food itself.

"Every loyal American householder and housewife will be ready and willing to co-operate with our defense l eaders, hardware and other suuply stores will have the equipment available, and grocery stores will stand by to provide at low summer prices the vegetables and fruits that home gardens have not been able to produce. The chief beneficiary, in the long run, will be the citizen and his family, who will have a continued supply of food at low cost, irrespective of what future food prices may be."

The company will promote the canning and preserving program through window and floor displays made available to dealers, food stores, canning supply stores and others, as well as in its own offices, through special home demonstration programs, the furnishing of free recipes, and the like. The public has been invited to call on the gas company for information and free recipes, Mr. Taylor said.

Mrs. T. H. Baker and Misses Fay and Edna Pettit were in Alanreed Sunday to attend an Old Settlers' Reunion being held there. Accompanying them to McLean was Miss Jenn Word, who visited with her sister, Mrs. Tom Bridge.

SPEEDY WINNERS

Storm Hits Eight Plains Cities, Killing Four And Wreaking Havoc

The work of clearing the debris went forward Tuesday, June 10, in the communities stricken by a tornado that bounded across the Panhandle from Littlefield northeast to Woodward, Oklahoma.

Although the twister dipped into or near at least eight towns, the most extensive damage was suffered by Kress, Clarendon and Woodward. The total property loss is expected to be near the million-dollar mark, with Clarendon reporting the heaviest damage.

Wind Storm Insurance

The Damage Is Done

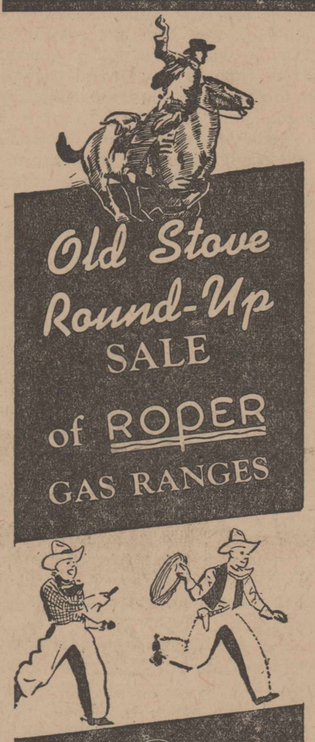

The windstorm has done its damage and now we are hearing the old questions about tornado insurance; asking what it is, what it can do and how much it costs.

The time to find out is NOW—before the next storm. Remember that a policy carried year after year is an investment in security. When allowed to lapse and renewed "now and then" it is little different than gambling. The rates are reasonable; the protection sure.

Call today—let this agency prove the value of its service.

Issue Wheat Market Cards Next Week

All wheat growers in Collingsworth County who expect to sell either this year's crop, or wheat formerly produced, must have a marketing quota card, R. E. Byrom, AAA administrative officer here, said Tuesday.

These marketing quota cards are required due to the approval of the marketing quotas by farmers of the nation Saturday, May 31.

Cards may be secured from the local AAA office in the same manner as the cotton marketing cards, Mr. Byrom said, and issuance of these will begin early next week.

"Those farmers who try to sell their wheat without a marketing card will be penalized," Mr. Byrom pointed out.

At the same time, the AAA officer warned all wheat buyers, elevator operators, or warehousemen of the county that they have been given certain responsibilities under the marketing quota law.

Representatives of the Department of Agriculture in Washington will be in Amarillo at 1:00 p. m. Monday, June 16, at the Herring Hotel, and all buyers and elevator operators in this section who possibly can are urged to attend this meeting, when all phases of their responsibilities under the wheat marketing quota law will be explained.

Cyclone Victims Known In County

A cyclone which swept through a narrow section of Clarendon early Monday morning left one dead and approximately half a dozen others injured, including one former Wellington resident, the wife of one county resident and the sister-in-law of another.

Mrs. O. L. Fink, who with her family lived here approximately 20 years ago, received cuts and bruises about the face and arms. Mrs. Fink was hurrying to the cellar at the time the cyclone struck, and later she told friends that she remembered opening the cellar door before she was struck by something. When she regained consciousness, she was lying on the cellar floor. Wellington friends tried throughout Monday to telephone Mrs. Fink to learn if she was in the path of the storm, but no connections could be made.

Mrs. Fink's home was wrecked.

Mrs. T. W. Welch received a broken leg when her home was demolished. Mrs. Welch is the wife of T. W. Welch, who is stationed in Wellington as operator of the local Western Union Telegraph office. Immediately after learning of the cyclone, Mr. Welch left for Clarendon. Mrs. Welch has visited here many times, and is known by a number of local residents.

Mrs. Frank Bourland, the sister-in-law of Mack Bourland of Quail, was reported injured when her home was destroyed. The roof of the house was torn from the walls and set down half a block away. In the wrecked dining room, a china closet was left standing undamaged, and none of the china was cracked or broken.

Mrs. R. E. Drennan, wife of the dean of Clarendon College, died in an Amarillo hospital several hours after she was injured. Dean Drennan and their 18-year-old daughter were also injured.

This same cyclone earlier dipped near Littlefield, where two negroes were killed, and at Kress, where one man was killed and several other persons were seriously injured.

Property and crop damage around Clarendon was estimated at about $500,000.

Insurance Proves Of Benefit To County Couple

Whatever insurance may mean to other people, it means a lot to Mrs. Mish Dukeminier of Wellington.

Hail Sunday destroyed two fields of wheat in the Arlie community for Mr. and Mrs. Dukeminier. On the following day, Wells and Wells, who care for the insurance, notified an adjuster in Amarillo, and in Tuesday he arrived to go over the wheat.

"There was a 95 percent loss approved on one field, and 75 percent loss on the other. Everything was done in such an efficient and fair manner, that we're mighty well pleased with the results of our insurance," Mrs. Dukeminier said.

J. W. Noel and Miss Martha Sue Noel, both of Hedley, were here Sunday as guests of their daughter and sister, Mrs. Frank Anderson, and family.

Private Carl "Shorty" Shotwell, of Westfield, N. J., had to eat 77 bananas to make the 110-pound minimum weight requirement of the Army Air Corps. Now his best pal is Private Pete Bearden, of Madison, Ga., who scales 230 pounds. Both are at Fort Benning, Ga.

Who's New In Collingsworth

Jerry Glenn, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Loriance of Route 2, Wellington, was born in St. Joseph's Hospital Tuesday, June 10. The baby weighed 8 pounds and 7 ounces.

Tank Swafford 7th Wreck Victim

Tank Swafford of Dalhart, who was born and reared in Wellington, became the seventh victim of a car wreck near Shamrock Sunday night, June 1. He died at 10:30 Wednesday night, June 4.

Mrs. Duke Morgan, a sister of Mr. Swafford, died a short time after the wreck and Mr. Morgan was seriously injured.

Mr. Swafford and Mrs. Morgan were the son and daughter of Mrs. A. F. Swafford of Amarillo, and the late A. F. Swafford. Both were born at Wellington. The elder Mr. Swafford was one of the earliest residents of this county, and owned property in Wellington immediately after the town site was laid out. He was second sheriff of the county, serving from 1892 to 1898, and later he was president of the First National Bank.

The family was prominent in many affairs of this town during its early days, and was widely known throughout this entire area.

Funeral services for Mrs. Morgan were conducted in Shamrock Thursday. She is survived by her husband. Although they lived in Wheeler County, Mr. and Mrs. Morgan owned property in Collingsworth County, and were business visitors in Wellington often.

Rites for Mr. Swafford were held in Dalhart Saturday, June 7, and burial was in the Dalhart Cemetery. Mr. Swafford was a livestock dealer in that town.

He is survived by his wife and two children, A. F. and Joan; his mother, Mrs. A. F. Swafford of Amarillo; and these brothers and sisters, Dick Swafford of Gallup, N. M.; T. D. Swafford of Amarillo; Ray Swafford of Columbia, South Carolina; Bob Swafford of Denver; Leonard Swafford of Castle Rock, Colo.; Lawrence Swafford of near Shamrock; Van Swafford of Tahoka; Bob Swafford of Amarillo; Mrs. J. C. Crawford of DeLand, Fla.; Mrs. H. A. Covey of Yuma, Arizona; Miss Mamie Swafford of Amarillo; and Mrs. Eddie Watkins of Walters, Oklahoma.

Vinson Cowboys Winners In Floydada Rodeo

Porter Jones, Vinson, Oklahoma, cowboy, won the cowboy's saddle offered at the Floydada Rodeo recently for having the best average in calf roping and ribbon roping in the men's contests.

J. W. Kromer, also of Vinson placed second in the first day's steer wrestling.

Mrs. Allie Brickey, who has been confined for some time in the Collingsworth Hospital where she was receiving treatment for asthma, was returned to her home the first part of the week. She is reported to be improving slowly.

CANNING SURPLUS VEGETABLES

The family with a garden full of vegetables is indeed fortunate. During the summer, the garden will provide all the fresh vegetables the family wants—plump red tomatoes, full ripe ears of corn, tender young snap beans, and many others.

But the homemaker must also look ahead to the winter months, and plan to save such of the surplus as may be required to meet the family's needs. By canning, preserving, and pickling the surplus from her garden, she can have a well filled storage room from which she can round out her winter meals.

The aim in canning is to heat foods sufficiently to kill the bacteria that cause spoilage, and then seal airtight to keep out bacteria. The simplest method is to place the cans or jars of food in a bath of boiling water and process until the food itself is heated to a temperature of 212 degrees F. This water-bath method of canning is recommended only for acid foods such as fruits, tomatoes, and pickled beets.

Certain bacteria found on non-acid vegetables go into a "spore" form during part of their life cycle; and these spores are very difficult to kill.

Scientific studies have shown that these spore forms of bacteria will be killed when heated to 240 or 250 degrees F. for a reasonable length of time. To get these higher temperatures, homemakers must use a steam pressure cooker.

Another problem in canning vegetables is to get them heated through to the center of the container, in the time alloted for processing. This is especially true of some vegetables such as lima beans and cream style corn, partly because they pack so solidly.

In addition to facts about time and temperatures used, there are some important general rules that apply to the canning of all vegetables.

The first rule is to use care in the selection and handling of the vegetables. Get your vegetables fresh from the garden and can them as quickly as possible. The vegetables lose flavor and goodness when they are held over for any length of time. Also be sure to use good quality vegetables, because a bit of decay may spoil an entire batch.

Divide the vegetables up into small lots that you can handle easily.

Precook your vegetables and have them hot when you put them into the cans. Precooking shortens the time of processing the food and saves the bother of "exhausting" the cans to get out the air before sealing them.

Precook only the amount required to fill the number of cans you are able to process at one time. If the cans of warm vegetables are allowed to stand before processing, the bacteria in them will multiply very rapidly.

Be sure to keep complete records of each batch; the kind of food, the date canned, and the method of processing. Put all this information on the label of each can or jar. Then if anything should go wrong, you can trace back and find the cause of spoilage.

Don't guess at the time or temperature for processing. You'll find a complete time table and exact directions in Farmers' Bulletin 1762—"Home Canning of Fruits, Vegetables, and Meats." This bulletin is available free through the United States Department of Agriculture, in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Annie Bird returned Tuesday from a few weeks' visit in Little Silver, N. J., where she was a guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Pickering. Atlantic City, Philadelphia, Pa., Asbury Park, N. J., and historic Fort Monmouth in New Jersey were points of interest visited by Mrs. Bird while she was gone.

Mrs. Sadie Crane of San Antonio left Saturday for her home after visiting here with Mrs. Mellie Foster.

Mrs. W. J. Neeley of Quail is in the Collingsworth Hospital this week to receive medical treatment.

FOR BRITISH VEGETABLE GARDENS

Nine tons of vegetable seeds have been sent to England by American farm women, as part of a shipment totaling 250 tons. R. S. Hudson, left, minister of agriculture, and B. de N. Cruger, British representative of the British War Relief Society of America, inspect the seeds.

Poison Bamboo Is Defense Weapon In Far East

BATAVIA, Netherlands East Indies. — One of the oldest defenses in war, poisoned bamboo, is ready in the Netherlands East Indies for the parachute troops of any attacker.

Bamboo spears, shaved to a needle point, have been set in the fields and thickets around most of the bases, airports and military depots. The tips are saturated with a deadly vegetable poison. From time to time it is renewed so it always will be fresh and virulent.

Tests have shown that a scratch, just enough to insert the toxin into the bloodstream, is worse than a rattlesnake bite.

It's an ancient and fearful jungle weapon.

Dutch troops met it several centuries ago. The knowledge was expensively bought with human lives. Ploughing through the underbrush, a soldier would scratch himself on a pointed piece of bamboo, or find a sharp sliver sticking in his flesh. In a few moments, swelling and discoloration would appear. In a few more moments, the man was dead.

The natives had mined the jungle.

Military men claim the device is more dangerous, on two counts, than barbed wire or iron spikes that were planted in shell holes during the World War.

For one thing, it is practically invisible, the green bamboo melting into the green of the underbrush, and fixed so cleverly that only a close look will disclose it at all.

Hymns included "The Old Rugged Cross," "Farther Along," and "Rock of Ages," by the choir. Interment was in the Wellington cemetery with the Kelso Funeral Home in charge.

A native of Durham, North Carolina, Robert William Duke was born July 24, 1867, and at the time of his death he was 73 years, 10 months, and 11 days of age. He was the son of James M. and Susan Mangum Duke, both natives of North Carolina.

He was brought by his parents to Tennessee in 1870, and there he grew to manhood. On January 16, 1894, he was married to Miss Dora Dickert at Brownsville, Tennessee. In 1900, they came to Texas, settling in Delta County. Six years later they came to Collingsworth County, living first on the Charley Glenn farm and later on land owned by Henry Wells.

Mr. Duke was one of those men who helped to organize the Farmers' Co-operative Society No. 1 in Wellington, and he served as a member of the board of directors from the organization of the society until the last regular meeting, when he requested that he not be re-elected on account of his health.

One of the most loyal members that body had, he loaned money to the society when the Co-op Gin was in destitute circumstances several years ago. Until the last meeting, he had never been absent from a meeting of the board of directors.

Mr. Duke was a great-nephew of Washington Duke, the founder of the American Tobacco Company, and for whom Duke University in Durham, North Carolina, was named. He was a second cousin of Buck and B. J. Duke, who fifteen years ago donated approximately $40,000,000 to that educational institution.

He had been a member of the Methodist Church in Wellington since 1907, when he transferred his membership here from Lake Creek in Delta County. Vitally interested in school affairs, he served as a trustee of the old Bowen school from 1907 to 1913.

Modest and unassuming, Mr. Duke counted his true friends by the hundreds, and his acquaintances were still many more. His love for the land was evidenced in the care which he took of his farms and his desire that the community in which he lived might be of the highest type was shown by the effort which he put forth to make this section a better place in which to live. The deep respect of those he loved and admired counted more with him than did popular acclaim.

Mr. Duke is survived by his widow and seven children: W. T. Duke of Wellington, R. E. Duke of Dimmitt, Aubrey M. Duke of Amarillo, Mrs. C. E. Stull of Amarillo, Mrs. Lawrence Gillespie of Wellington, Mrs. Luther McPherson of Wellington, and Mrs. Dave Gilley of Amarillo. Nineteen grandchildren and four great grandchildren also survive, along with two brothers and a sister, J. A. Duke of May, Texas, Harvey Duke and Mrs. Ritchie McClish of Brownsville, Tenn.

Those from out-of-town who were here to attend the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Lee of Depew, Okla., J. M. Gilley, Miss Lucille Gilley and Miss Mary Gilley of Olustee, Okla., Loleet Stinson of Fort Cobb, Okla., Mrs. Macie Nance and Mrs. Olene Wright of Tulia, J. A. Duke of May, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gillespie of Quitaque.

Now is the time to buy that home. I have some real bargains in farms and city property.

Pictures Help To Improve Tech Sheep Herds

By ROY WILKES

LUBBOCK. — Sheep breeders may improve their flocks by keeping picture records of individual sheep, experience of the Texas Tech animal husbandry department shows. One of the most informative set of flock records in the nation is kept on the Tech flock, revealing ancestry; birth date; weight at birth, 10 days, 30 days, and 60 days; pictures at two years of age before and after shearing; type rating; lambs produced and raised; amount and quality of fleece produced; and samples of fleeces.

The picture record was started in 1936 by two agricultural students, George M. Tate of Lockney and Steve Brock of Brownfield, both 1937 graduates. They painted horizontal and vertical white lines two inches apart on a blackboard, then photographed each animal in front of this background when it had reached two years of age, before and just after shearing. This forms a permanent record of its type, size and form.

Quality of fleece is shown by samples taken from the shoulder, side, and thigh, which have been fastened to the picture record. Each ewe is checked every season on lambs produced and raised amount and quality of fleece shorn, and type rating.

Rate of gain in weight and nursing quality of the ewe is revealed by weight records.

"Thus, for a small cost, the Ray C. Mowery says, "and can accurately determine its value. He from those that have actually and can select his breeding stock proven their merits."

represented by each animal," Prof breeder knows the profit or loss can cull out the less desirable ones

Bob Glenn To Be Honored At Lake Opening

Government officials, members of the Panhandle Water Conservation Authority and other dignitaries responsible for the lakes program in the Panhandle will be paid tribute at Buffalo Lake Sunday on the opening day program. There will also be a well-known Panhandle speaker discussing National Defense at the official event.

John McCarty, president of the PWCA and Amarillo publisher, will serve as master of ceremonies, it was announced by A. W. Fanning, Assistant Regional Conservator, speaking on behalf of the government,

Members of the Panhandle Authority, who are invited to be special honored guests for the celebration day, include other than Mr. McCarty the following honorable members: Bob Glenn, Wellington; Carl Hinton, Amarillo; Don L. Adams, Wayside; M. G. Miller, Muleshoe; W. Coffee, Jr., Silverton; J. C. Jackson, Panhandle; J. E. Turner, Dimmitt; John Honts, Dalhart; J. M. Willson, Floydada; C. H. Walker, Pampa; Frank R. Other than the official opening program, visitors will be busy all day Sunday watching the many entertaining celebration events that include at least eight major races, an All-Girl Diving Revue, fishing rodeo, swimming, fast speedboat rides and a host of other events all free. There will be dancing both Saturday and Sunday night.

Everyone wishing to enter the race events, fishing rodeo and other contests may do so without any charge of fees whatsoever. There will be both cash and merchandise awards as well as medals and trophies. Any girl 16 years of age or older may enter the diving revue.

Scores of extra employees have been hired to accomodate the crowds, the lake management has announced.

HACKBERRY

By MRS. KIRK WILKINSON

Mrs. Lewis Bledsoe is in Shamrock this week attending a revival meeting at the First Baptist Church.

Mrs. Millard Willingham visited Mrs. Bryant Johnston Monday afternoon. While there, she cooked Mrs. Johnston a kettle of lye soap. Mrs. Johnston is still confined to her bed after having had food poisoning some time ago.

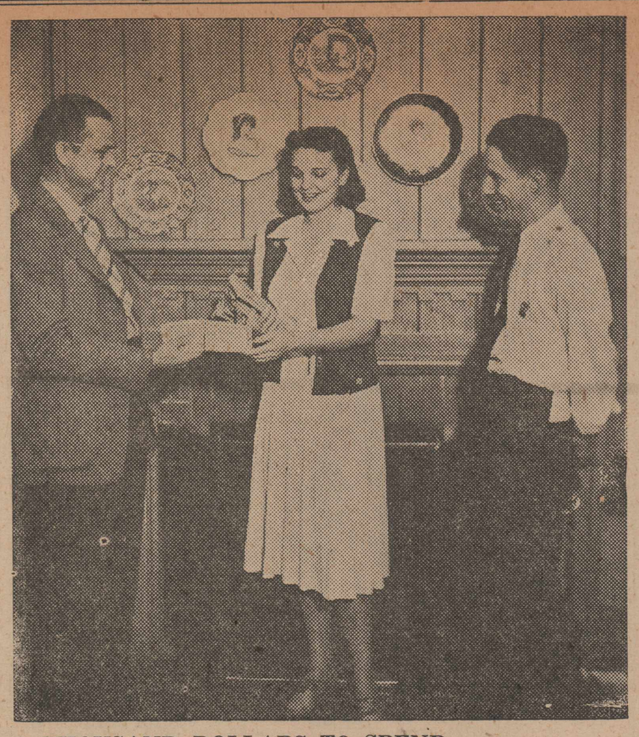

Friends of Duke Morgan will be glad to know that his condition is reported to be better, although he is still in the hospital. Mr. Morgan was injured in the car wreck, which took the lives of his wife and six other persons on Sunday, June 1.

Mrs. E. B. Dickerson and daughter LeEllen, Mrs. Fred Keeton and son, Freddie Mack, and Neal Enlow of Hollis, Okla., were visitors in the Bryant Johnston home on Wednesday of last week.

The three small children of Pete Willingham of Magic City are spending the week with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Willingham.

Mrs. Betty Burt, who makes her home with her daughter, Mrs. Lizzie Gargis, is staying with her granddaughter, Mrs. Howard Franklin, during the 5-week period in which Mrs. Gargis is attending school at Canyon.

Mrs. J. A. Lowe and daughter, Miss Hughetta Lowe, returned Saturday from a visit in Graham and Rockwall. While in Graham, they were guests of their son and brother, Olan Lowe, and their sister and aunt, Mrs. E. C. Campsey. In Rockwall, they were guests of their daughter and sister, Mrs. W. A. Squyres, and family.

WE OWE IT TO THE BOYS WHO ARE CALLED OUT

I just wonder why we have not thought of it before now—when our boys are called to service, and forced to go, leaving home and loved ones—why don't the church people of our town and county come together for one united service, honoring those whom we all love, giving them the assurance that they shall always be remembered in our prayers; and, too, why don't we create a fund out of which money may be taken and with which some one may purchase a well-bound, red-lettered, vest pocket-size New Testament, present each with this additional and God given equipment, that he may read same and keep himself well fitted both in life and for the journey "through the dark valley of the shadow of death," through which they and we who are left behind must soon pass? Prestidge Rites In Shamrock Wed.

Funeral services for Louis Wilson Prestidge, 25, Shamrock, were conducted Wednesday afternoon, June 4, from the First Baptist Church. Mr. Prestidge was the son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Gulley of Wellington, and he was widely known in this county.

His death occurred in an automobile wreck near Shamrock late Sunday, June 1, which took the lives of seven persons and injured five more.

Rev. Vernie Pipes conducted the funeral, while Mrs. Jack Lowry and Mrs. Rufus Sweat of Lutie sang.

Mr. Prestidge is survived by his wife, the former Miss Iris Gulley; a small daughter, Cinda Kay; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Prestidge of Shamrock, three sisters, and a brother.

A number of Wellington and Collingsworth County persons attended the funeral rites.

SHINNERY

By NOMA LEE HIVELY

The county singing convention met here Sunday afternoon, but was dismissed when the rain began and everyone wanted to get home before the roads got slick.

Those who have had measles the past week are Bobby Nipper and Freddie Don Nipper.

Miss Helen Adkins is up going again after having had mumps recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Yarbrough and daughters and Junior Hughey, J. K. Porter, Elbert Bettis, Helen Adkins, R. L. Porter, Albert Adkins, Valarie White, Ellen Adkins, Nelda Nipper and Geraldine White were Sunday dinner guests in the Edd Hively home.

Miss Anita Hughey left Tuesday for Lubbock where she will attend school this summer.

There was rain here Sunday afternoon, and also Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Lacy of Rolla were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Drury Lacy Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edd Hively went to Wichita Falls Monday to take their daughter, Audie, there. She will attend Draughon's Business College. Miss Reda Jane Hughey, who has been visiting her aunt there, returned Monday night with the Hivelys.

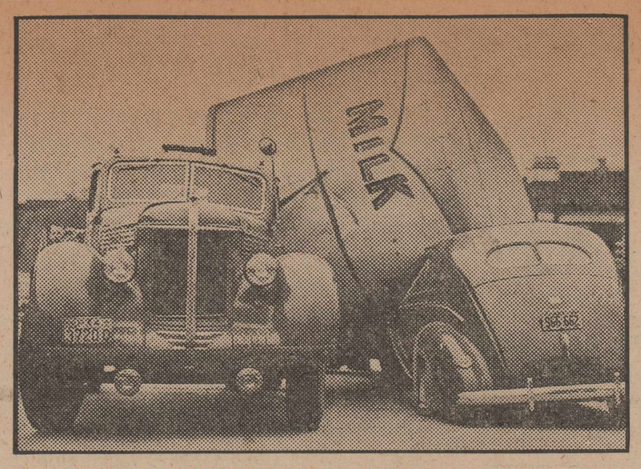

Beard Works Toward Doctor's Degree At Austin

J. L. Beard, superintendent of Wellington Schools, left Wednesday, June 4, for Austin, where he will spend this summer working toward his Ph. D. degree at the University of Texas.

Mr. Beard is devoting his entire summer's work to studies in the field of education.

Mrs. Beard and their children are remaining in Wellington.

Dr. and Mrs. John W. Harper returned recently from a visit with relatives in Rio Vista and Dallas. In Rio Vista, they were guests of Mrs. Harper's mother, Mrs. M. A. Herron, and in Dallas they visited with Mr. and Mrs. Bob Forsythe and Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Herron. They also visited in Cleburne.

on this project, see him at the Samnorwood school between 9:00 a. m. and 4:00 p. m. during the week.

"We are anxious to have boys sign applications for this work. All necessary supplies are already here, and we can give out the information they need in order to apply," Mr. Sanders said.

The project will provide employment for approximately 60 Collingsworth and Wheeler County boys for at least twelve months, it was learned today.

Under the project proposed the work will consist of demolishing the Aberdeen school in the Samnorwood district and erecting a vocational shop building and an addition to the present primary building. The extension of the primary building will make the structure approximately four times its present size.

Salvage materials of the demolished building will greatly reduce the sponsor's cost of constructing the two units.

out in Oklahoma, and this too, will affect the service here.

One other bridge in the county was definitely known to be out—a 40-foot structure over Dozier Creek west of Samnorwood. Several other smaller bridges were also reported destroyed. From all parts of the county, however, reports were received here of dirt abutments to bridges being washed out, making these bridges impassable.

In the extreme northern part of the county, several outbuildings were destroyed by a windstorm which accompanied the rain early Monday. One farm house just over in Wheeler county was completely reversed on its foundation, and a mule was reported killed by lightning on the N. O. Lynch farm west of Hackberry.

Defense Class Builds Pulpit Stand For Church

A recent project of the boys' defense class in woodcraft at Samnorwood was the building of a pulpit stand in the First Baptist Church at that place. The work was done under the direction of Earl Breeding, vocational agriculture teacher.

The stand was taken from the shop to the church by Cecil Brown.

All members of the congregation have agreed that this adds much to the appearance of the church.

Editorial

Are we on the verge of becoming a race of prematuredly tired men and women? Educators and authorities in physical training, physicians and scientists who have been studying the effects of stressful modern life on the individual believe this situation constitutes an important national and world problem.

They say that the average individual, unable to adapt himself to the rapid changes and heavy pressure of the machine age, is slowly but surely deteriorating. Overwork, worry, lack of proper rest and recreation, excesses and unsound living habits all lead to a condition of chronic fatigue, which threatens health and well being.

The medical profession has determined that prolonged fatigue develops a chronic fatigue poisoning, the result of an accumulation of waste products in the body, which the system cannot throw off unaided. It manifests itself in an inability of the affected individual to secure physical relaxation or mental repose.

Overwork, faulty respiration or any condition which interferes with the carrying of oxygen to the body tissues, underfeeding, improper feeding, indigestion and lack of assimilation are among the important causes ascribed as responsible for fatigue poisoning.

—o—

Looking back only a comparatively few years, we may remember or have called to mind many things which were taken seriously then, but which cause a smile today.

Such a smile may be evoked by an advertisement appearing in the Review of Reviews in 1899.

Properly displayed and accompanied with an illustration that looks very much like an ordinary rubber-tired runabout buggy without a tongue, the advertisement said, in part:

"The latest and best Horseless Carriage. Combines all requirements for an ideal and practical pleasure or business vehicle. No better will be made. Time cannot improve it. $600. Delivery in sixty days. Send for illustrated catalogue and interesting reading matter about self-propelled vehicles."

The fellow who wrote that advertisement took in quite a lot of territory. "No better will be made. Time cannot improve it." Think of that—42 years ago.

Here's an announcement the consumers have longed to hear! The City Council has decided to let everyone in Munday use all the water they want . . . and just for the minimum charge.

Heavy rains have caused the underground water level to rise, and water has come up over one of the motors at the pumping plant. The council wants everyone to use all the water they can on their lawns and gardens in an effort to lower this water level again.—Aaron Edgar in The Munday Times.

• Hitler Would Not Attack—Directly

The impression seems to prevail in the minds of some that Hitler when he gets ready to deal with the United States will attempt a direct attack. It will not be done this way. Hitler is too smart for that. He would not need to take that risk. He can cripple us more effectively by destroying our foreign trade and withholding from us the vital raw materials without which no war can be fought and for which there is no substitute. Without foreign trade, unemployment would increase, the standard of living would be lowered and many sections of the country would become fertile soil for the infiltration of Communism and Naziism. We could fight a direct attack much better than we could this.—Emerson Edwards in The Tyler Journal.

• Local Defense Work

The day may not be far distant when operators of different machine shops in Vernon and its vicinity may equip their shops and qualify to turn out defense material for Uncle Sam. This thought was discussed at a recent meeting of local machine shop operators. Some few of the men present told of having received questionaires from the government regarding their equipment and their capacity for turning out work. In the event operators of Vernon shops and elsewhere should sign up for Defense work, it would all be done under the head of Defense Contract Service—Charles P. Ross in The Vernon Times.

• On The Political Sidelines

An off year in politics apparently has caught more than a thousand potential Floyd County voters short on a bull market for ballots, and as a result they will stand wistfully on the side lines while some 2200 of their neighbors do the voting in Floyd County for United States Senator from Texas on June 28.—Floyd County Hesperian.

The Stars And Stripes Forever

That Reminds Me - - -

By RALPH HERBERT

If all goes well, according to plans of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, 55,000,000 acres of land will be planted with wheat for the year 1942 in the United States. In other words, this will be the formal wheat acreage allotment and will be a decrease of 7,000,000 acres from the preceeding year.

The reason for the smaller acreage is that the government estimates the country will have a carry-over of 500,000,000 bushels of wheat. The 1942 allotment has, therefore, been cut to the minimum allowed by the laws governing the subject. It is believed this will take care of all normal home consumption, all exports that are in prospect and a 30 per cent reserve for national defense and other needs.

In making the 1942 allotment, the Department of Agriculture estimated the 1941-42 supply of wheat at 1,236,000,000 bushels. It is figured that 675,000,000 bushels will suffice domestic consumption needs. The remaining 561,000,000 bushels will be sufficient for all demands for export and for carry-over. Owing to the war exports are not expected to increase over the past year. Therefore the July 1, 1942, carry-over will probably be the biggest in the nation's history. It is expected to be something over half a billion bushels.

In making the 1942 allotments, the basis has been each state's wheat acreage during the past 10 years.

No figures have been given for a number of states, indicating that the acreage of wheat there was either nil or so small as to be negligible. Of those states to which allotments figures were assigned, Kansas topped all with the enormous sum of 11,371,809 acres of one-fifth that of the entire nation. The smallest allotment was to potato producing Maine, which is given 3977 acres.

Outside of Kansas, the biggest acreages were as follows: North Dakota, 7,982,425 acres; Oklahoma, 4,004,445; Texas, 3,748,141; Montana, 3,346,343; Nebraska, 3,146,579; South Dakota, 2,886,655; Illinois, 1,676,214; Missouri, 1,658,305; Washington, 1,656,687; Ohio, 1,636,308; Minnesota, 1,488,887; Indiana, 1,411,459; and Colorado, 1,303,162.

To the layman not familiar with the subject, some of the figures are surprising. For instance, Texas, pre-eminent as the state that raises the most cotton, beef, cattle, sheep and mules, also is shown as quite a big wheat producer.

The same is true of Montana, commonly looked upon as a copper and other mineral producing state and as a prime furnisher of timber. Nevertheless it ranks among the states whose acreage is over 3,000,000. Its average wheat crop for the years 1927-1936 was 42 million bushels and in 1938 it produced 72 million bushels.

Some more rain, some more weeds and grass that the farmers do not need have appeared.

There was a nice crowd out for Sunday school and preaching. Rev. Vernon Jones delivered a fine sermon which was enjoyed very much.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Pierce visited Thursday and Friday with their son, Noal, and family at Muleshoe.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Z. Bartlett visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ross Gladney.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pearson, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Pierce, Byron DePauw, and Joe Bartlett spent a while Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Cherry and H. Melton.

Rev. Vernon Jones and family were visitors with J. H. Winegeart and family Sunday.

Mr. Turner of Wellington visited a few days this week with his daughter, Mrs. B. Ogletree, and family.

We are sorry to hear of Mrs. Bradshaw falling and hurting her knee. As yet, she is not able to walk, but we hope that she has a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Gladney and children and Mrs. O. Z. Bartlett spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Gladney of Cottonwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Gilbreath and family visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John Russell, also John, Jr., and wife of Abilene and Otto Russell and family of Wellington. We are glad to know that Mr. Russell is still improving after his serious illness.

Clyde Gilbreth and Gene Farmer of Morton spent the week end with relatives. Mr. Gilbreth came for Mrs. Gilbreth, who has been teaching at Quail school. They have moved to their farm near Morton. They will be greatly missed from our community, but we wish them good luck at their new home.

Forty Quail girls, students in homemaking, will work just as hard during the summer as they have during the school term, completing regular projects.

Of all the summer projects offered, food preparation, food preservation, gardening and poultry raising are the most popular among the girls, Miss Velma Sweat, homemaking teacher, discovered after the group had picked their projects for the summer.

But other girls showed interest in clothing and home improvement—kitchen improvement, bedroom improvement, clothing storage, renovation of garments, yard improvement and home recreation.

Each girl will spend at least 120 hours on her summer homemaking work, and one-half credit will be allowed toward her graduation. Students as well as teachers will evaluate the work of each girl this summer.

Enrolled in this summer class are Ruby Fae Dollar, Irene Gray, Emma Jean Gray, Omelee Hill, Naomi Neely, Grace Aaron, Mary K. Stephens, Willie Jo Minyard, Marie White, Rexie Duggins, Opal Peggram, Evelyn Jo Farmer, Adah Allred, Jane McMinn, Lola Jean Doster, Alene Amerson, Jewel Ivey, Lurlene Wilson, Johnnie Blevins, Bernice Oatman, Adderiene Clay, Trudie Ogletree, Mabel Peggram, Iris Blevins, Eva Creed, Modena Spier, Oletha Morris, Ila Mae Robinson, Ila Lee Reeves, Barbara Bartlett, Edith Gosnell, Rougene Duggins, Alpha Neely, Opal Gibbons, Ina Mae Winegeart, Helen De Bord, Louise Moss, Glenda Davis, Eunice Robinson.

Former Resident Says

Puerto Rico Fortified

(The following letter was written by Mrs. W. A. Leach of Borinquen Field, Puerto Rico, to her mother, Mrs. Ed Ward of Wellington, describing a recent trip from her home to San Juan, the capital of the island. Mr. Leach is now a construction foreman at Borinquen Field, the large air base which the government is building on the northwest tip of the island. Both Mr. and Mrs. Leach were reared in Wellington. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Leach. She will be remembered here as Miss Oletha Vaughan.)

Borinquen Field, Puerto Rico
c|o McClaskey Company
June 5, 1941

Dearest Mother and Ed,

We have really been on the go this week.

Sunday we got up at 6 o'clock and started to San Juan. The drive was beautiful and we got a lot of good movies. All of the "Flamboyant" trees are in bloom. They are the most beautiful things you ever saw. Both sides of the road are thick with these trees and they form a perfect arch over the road. They are covered in flaming red flowers that are so thick you can not see any leaves on the trees. We are sending Ed some of the pictures of the different things we saw.

Maybe you think you have seen heavy rains, but you should be in the tropics during the rainy season. Sunday we ran into a rain that was so hard we could not see the trees on the side of the road, and the roads here are about one-third as wide as Texas highways. There was no wind with the rain and everyone who was on the road had sense enough to stop but us. We made it fine after dodging several big limbs that fell and the mangoes were falling on the car so fast we decided the natives were after us. These natives go wild over mangoes and instead of climbing the trees to get them, they stand on the ground and throw rocks at them to knock them off the trees. I have not seen a native in a tree since I have been here. They need some Texas boys to show them how to climb.

San Juan is so interesting. Everything is so different from the states that you break your neck looking and still don't see it all. After we ate lunch we went down to the old walls which once surrounded the city of San Juan. They still have the original doors which were used to lock the city. These were built in 1568. Then we went to the governor's palace or La Fortaleza. This was first occupied by Spanish governors in 1639 and is situated on top of the old wall which once surrounded San Juan. It is the only palace under the American flag. We saw everything except the mirror room, and that was not open on Sunday.

We went over to Morro Castle, however we could not get near. This is a gigantic fortification which stands at the entrance of San Juan harbor and the government is really guarding everything now. They are really making sure that the Germans don't get in here. We are not allowed to give out much information but everything is really being guarded.

We went through the cathedral in which Ponce de Leon is buried. It is really beautiful. One chapel is of gold and I have never seen anything like it. There is so much I could tell, but I will just make notes in my diary and tell it all when we come home.

So far we have not decided where we will go this Sunday. Before I got here I thought this island was very small, but I have decided it is large. There is so much to see and by the time you see everything on the top of the mountains and in the valleys it really takes a long time. We have not seen one-third of the interesting places and we go most every week. I don't know what we would do without the car. We enjoy it more here than we did in the states.

I have been reading Marian Wells' article about her trip to Cuba. Wish she could have come on over here. We are only a short distance from Cuba. When Andrea and I came, we saw Cuba but did not stop there.

Lots of love,
Oletha.

A FEW QUESTIONS FOR YOU

1. Is there anything wrong with your eyes, ears, nose or throat? If you have suffered defects of vision or hearing, have lost voice entirely, don't give up hope, but investigate Chiropractic.

2. Have you so-called Rheumatism, Pleurisy, Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, Tonsilitis, Goiter, Paralysis, Epilepsy, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Piles, Insanity, Appendicitis or a Constant Headache? Chiropractic will adjust the cause and permit nature to bring about a cure.

3. Have you stomach, lung, heart, liver, kidney, bowel or bladder trouble?

4. Have you Sciatica, Gallstones or Diabetes? The results are wonderful. Try Chiropractic.

5. Perhaps you have stiffness in the joints in the arms or legs. This system is most effective.

6. Our methods not only stimulate, but eliminate the cause, thus permitting nature to perform her work. Health is the greatest blessing we can have.

We extend you a cordial invitation to visit our office and clinic at 809 Bowie St.

Houston Bright And Miss Usery Marry Thursday

Miss Frances Usery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan K. Usery of Canyon, was married to Houston Bright of Canyon, son of the Rev. and Mrs. J. R. Bright of Muleshoe, former Collingsworth County residents, on Thursday, June 5.

The ceremony was performed in the home of the bride's parents before an improvised altar of greenery and floor baskets of white gladioli. The Rev. Bright officiated.

The bride attended Canyon public schools, and is a graduate of W.T.S.C. She is a teacher of piano in the music department of the college. While still in college, she was a member of Pi Omega.

The groom is a graduate of W.T.S.C., and since his graduation has been a member of the college faculty. In addition he has been director of the choir of the Methodist Church for several months, and has done outstanding work with other musical groups of Canyon. He is well known in and near Wellington, having visited many times with his parents during the Rev. Bright's two-year pastorate at Dodson.

The bride wore a tailored dress of linen in shades of sea foam and white. Her corsage was of white gladioli.

After a brief reception which was attended by relatives, intimate friends and wedding guests, the couple left for California where they will do graduate work this summer at the University of Southern California in Los Angeles.

Miller-Wells Vows Spoken In Austin Thursday At All Saints Chapel

Miss Emily Maverick Miller, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Edmund Thornton Miller, of Austin, and Marshall Wells, of Wellington, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Wells, of Wellington, were married in an impressive ceremony at the All Saint's Episcopal Chapel in Austin on Thursday, June 5, at 8:00 in the evening.

The Rev. James P. Clements officiated at the ceremony, which took place in a lovely bridal setting of candlelight, greenery and white flowers. Arrangements at the altar of white gladioli, stock and carnations, interspersed with palms and fern, were backed with white tapers in tall candelabra. The chancel rail was garlanded with wreaths of ivy, and white flowers tied with satin ribbon marked the family pews.

Miss Emma Virginia Decherd, at the organ, played a program of wedding music as the guests arrived, and she accompanied Miss Bonnie Ruth Taylor, who sang the Bach Gounod Ave Maria. She also played the traditional wedding marches.

Mr. Wells' groomsmen were Messrs. Leon Payne, of Houston; Arch Ross, of Austin; Frank Harwood, of Taft; Edward Hayward, of Amarillo; Henry Sullivan, of Wellington, and Edmund Hollis Miller, of Austin, brother of the bride. Mr. J. W. Wells of Wellington, brother of the groom, was the best man.

The bridesmaids, gowned in pale jonquil yellow, were Misses Christine Stone of Fort Worth, Ann Roberdeau, Stella Prude, and Winifred Small, all of Austin, and Dorothy Minor of Houston. Mrs. J. W. Wells of Wellington was matron of honor, in aquamarine blue, and Miss Mary Miller of Austin, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor, in palest primrose pink. Their frocks were made alike of marquisette, with bishop sleeves, and wide full skirts of marquisette over net. The bodice, of marquisette over Chantilly lace, was shirred to the high round neckline, and made with a midriff of pleated folds of the marquisette, and the under layer of the skirts was trimmed with a wide band of the lace on net. Their headdresses were pompoms of pleated net, matching their frocks, with circular veils of illusion, and they carried bouquets of shaded Picardy gladioli.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an exquisite wedding dress of pure white marquisette and lace, made with bishop sleeves, and a sweetheart neckline. The bodice was made with unpressed pleats, and gathered into the wide midriff of Chantilly lace. The wide full skirts were fashioned with panels of lace down the front, and panels of the lace extending down the back into the long, filmy circular train. Her headdress was a coronet of shirred illusion, the scalloped edges of tiny orange blossoms. To this was gathered her veil, a cascading tier, falling over the long train veil of pure white illusion. She wore a strand of pearls, and carried a cascading bouquet of white Alba orchids and gardenias.

After the wedding, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The home was beautifully appointed with spring flowers, and the gardens softly illumined by Japanese lanterns.

Mrs. Miller wore a gown of black chiffon fashioned with heart shaped neckline, and short draped sleeves. Her hat was a black and white flower toque, and she wore long white gloves. She wore a corsage of white carnations. At the reception the receiving line consisted of the bride's parents and the bridal party.

Assisting with receiving the guests were the bride's aunts, Mesdames E. A. Harris, Sally Maverick Gray, and Edward Sammons, and her cousin, Mrs. Townsend Woodhull, all of San Antonio, and Mrs. Jack Gibson of Wellington, sister of the groom.

The bride's table was in the patio, and had as a centerpiece an arrangement of white gladioli and carnations. The wedding cake was frosted in white, and adorned with pale pink sugar spun roses. Frozen punch was also served in the garden.

For going away, the bride wore a blue Izod of London original model suit, and a white sharkskin blouse. Her hat was a blue and white Padre, and her accessories were blue and white. She wore a corsage of white orchids.

Upon their return from their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Wells will be at home at 503 West 17th Street, Austin.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gibson, Mr. James Sullivan, and Miss Hattie D. Wells and Miss Patricia Sullivan, and Joe Horn of Wellington.

Mildred Rogers And Robert Belew Wed In Hollis

Miss Mildred Rogers of Hollis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Rogers of Hollis, and Robert Belew of Loco, son of Mrs. Fannie Belew, were married in Hollis, Friday afternoon, June 6.

Their only attendants were the bride's father, J. V. Rogers and the groom's sister-in-law, Mrs. Herman Belew.

The bride wore a white ensemble with blue trim.

Mrs. Belew graduated in the spring class from the Hollis High School. She was an active member of the class and has many friends in Hollis.

Mr. Belew graduated from Wellington High School in the class of 1941, where he was an outstanding football player for two years.

Mr. and Mrs. Belew will be at home at Loco.

Reception

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The table was laid with a lace cloth and centered with a beautiful wedding cake. Mrs. Lloyd Harwell presided at the punch bowl.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. Tom Harwell and daughter, Mildred of Wellington.

Smart high school girls are accenting their summer sportswear with mercerized cotton stockings, Styled in links, cables, and ribbed creations, these novel over-knee stockings are done in pastel shades to match cotton frocks. The National Cotton Council predicts that this current summer vogue will lead to winter use of knee-length cotton hose by girls in both grammar and high schools. The Council has medical support for its claim that there "is no clothing that makes less sense than a school girl trudging through cold and snow with bare legs from ankle to knees."

Velma Tennison Marries Leslie Aaron In Sunday Rites, June 8

A wedding of interest of the past week was that of Miss Velma Tennison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Tennison, and Leslie P. Aaron of Artesia, N. M. son of Mrs. L. Parkhill of Artesia. The wedding was solemnized in the home of the bride's parents, Sunday, June 8, at 8 o'clock with the Rev. R. C. Tennison, brother of the bride, reading the ring ceremony.

The bride wore a white dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations. Mrs. Lee McEachern of Pasadena, California, twin sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a blue and white bemberg sheer redingote. Her flowers were sweet peas.

Roy Hefley, brother-in-law of the bride, served as best man.

The bride's family came to this county about twenty-five years ago and have been active in the community for many years. They are active members of the Baptist Church. The bride's father is commissioner of precinct one. Mrs. Aaron attended the Wellington schools.

The groom is connected with the Price Creamery in Artesia, where the couple will make their home. They will be at home at 706 Texas St.

Reunion

All the members of the N. C. Tennison family were present for the wedding and a reunion was held at the Tennison home Sunday. For the first time in seven years the six daughters and three sons were all at home at the same time. Following a dinner at the noon hour the family spent the afternoon visiting and faking both moving pictures and kodak pictures.

Those who were present for the reunion and wedding were: Mrs. Arvezene Winter and sons, James, Keith and Kenneth, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Bumpas and daughters, Jo Ann and Margaret, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. EASTERN FARM IN WORST DROUGHT SINCE 1905

Every eastern state with the exception of Florida has been gripped by the worst drought since 1905. Cows on a farm near Poughkeepsie, N. Y., upper left, gather around a farm truck which has just arrived with a supply of water in milk cans. Russell Worrell, right, Medford, N. J., farmer, looks heavenward for rain as he holds some of his dust-dry soil in his hands. What the frost and drought left of the $1,000,000 onion crop in the vicinity of Florida, N. Y., was swept away by high winds which raised this cloud of dust, bottom left.

Campbell Goes To Galveston Paper

Lester Campbell, former Wellington resident, has accepted a place as reporter on the Galveston News, that city's only daily newspaper. He began work June 2.

For the last two years he has worked as news editor of The Memphis Democrat. He did outstanding work on that paper in connection with a special edition issued last year, while only a few weeks ago the paper received honorable mention by the National Editorial Association for its excellence.

Mr. Campbell is the son of Mrs. Laura Campbell of Turkey. He graduated from Wellington High School and from the University of Texas, where he majored in journalism.

Fort Bliss, Texas
June 6, 1941

Mr. Deskins Wells,
Wellington, Texas,
Dear Deck:

I thought I would write you and tell you how much I want to thank you for The Wellington Leader. I just got a copy of The Leader this afternoon and it sure is good to get the home town news. I haven't heard from home in quite some time, but I enjoy The Leader a lot.

I see that Collingsworth County is well represented in this post. Almost every day I see someone from home and maybe one doesn't think it helps to see someone that he knows. The other night I was over in Juarez in a cafe eating supper and some one hollered at me and it was Wallace O'Rear. I also saw H. E. Singley, Jr., formerly of Wellington over there. It was the first time I had seen him since we were little kids and were neighbors up on the north side of town. He is in the 12th Cavalry. Corporal Ed Roberts, formerly of Wellington, is in the same Troop with me. He has been in the army about four years.

My outfit went to Fort Ringgold about two weeks ago to Convoy the 56th Cavalry Brigade to Fort Bliss, for their manuevers. I think Joe McWilliams is in that outfit. I intend to look him up one of these days.

The First Cavalry Division is on Manuevers at the present up in the Sacramento Mountains in New Mexico and our outfit hauls forage to them every day, and I mean it sure keeps us busy. You would be surprised just how much a bunch of horses can eat, especially if you have to haul their forage 50 miles or more.

My job is pretty soft, but I have to work most of the time. I have to keep up the Troop Fund and Collection sheet and take care of all the Troop correspondence. It sure is a headache at times.

Well, it is almost time for Taps, so I had better hunt my bunk and get ready for a big day tomorrow.

Sincerely yours,
Frazier Savage,
Pvt. (1st class)

There comes times when individuals and institutions must think of things other than their own selves and their own lives. This is such a time. And the people of this Panhandle country, where we find the American way of life at its truest and freest, have responded to this national emergency in just the way that true Americans have responded since Bunker Hill and Brandywine.

There is something strong and impressive in the way we are turning to aid our country. You will not find it in words, perhaps, not even in deeds; but it is something vital that we feel and know in our hearts; something that will continue as long as our free land continues.

Dr. J. A. Hill Speaks Before Norwood Seniors

Describing graphically the responsibilities of youth in the present day set-up, Dr. J. A. Hill, president of West Texas State College at Canyon, addressed members of the graduating class of Samnorwood at their commencement exercises Friday night, June 6. Twenty-one boys and girls made up this year's class, one of the largest in the history of the school.

This was the first address that Dr. Hill has given since a recent illness.

Miss Mary Katherine Hutcherson of Wellington sang "Memories," while Mrs. Larsen of Amarillo gave selections on her vibraharp. Juanita Decker gave the valedictory address and Virginia Turner the salutatory address.

Accompanying Dr. Hill to Samnorwood were Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Tommie Montford, a member of the college faculty.

Those receiving diplomas at this time were: Eugene Carreker, Carmen Marchant, Juanita Decker, Berbie Peeples, Virginia Turner, Fred Goodwin, Chester Furgerson, Roberta Johnson, Waunetta Johnson, Belva Johnson, Modena Shaw, M. V. Tenison, Estelle Clement Bockman, Harvey Jones, Howard Jones, Willie Belle Guyton, Billie Joe Whitfield, Robert Neece, Phillip Wynn, Pauline Rudy and Theone Parker.

Seventh grade graduates received certificates Thursday night, June 5. Logan Cummings was speaker on this occasion. High ranking student was Joy Ammons, while Nell Porter was second high. Thirty-one boys and girls received diplomas.

"We will leave Wellington at 1:00 p. m., Friday, June 20, and return the following afternoon about 7:00 p. m.," Miss Erisman said. "There will be free swimming, but you must bring your own bathing suit unless you want to pay to rent one. The boys and girls are to bring a picnic lunch for supper the first night and bacon and eggs for breakfast. There will be a fee of one dollar for transportation on the bus, meals, bed, and use of camp equipment," she added.

"It is necessary for us to know whether or not you are going so that we will know how many reservations to make at the camp, and how many buses to get in order to accommodate all of the boys and girls, so be sure to let either W. K. Cottingame, county agent, or myself know by June 15," Miss Erisman warned.

More Red Cross Yarn Received

Yarn for Collingsworth County's new quota of Red Cross sweaters has been received, and women of the county who are anxious to begin work on new garments may secure it either from Mrs. J. W. Harper, who is in charge of the work, or from Miss Katherine Boverie in the county library.

"We have had a great many inquiries from women over the county as to when the yarn would be here. From all indications, there is much interest in this new quota," Mrs. Harper said.

All garments made under these quotas are sent to England for war relief.

best in quality."

Local grocery stores and markets are cooperating in the move.

"Every egg sold by members of the association will be infertile, of standard color, standard weight, guaranteed, clean, fresh, and the hen producing it will have been fed a standard egg producing feed. Every egg will be stamped with the name of the association and the name of the individual member selling it.

"The whole purpose of the association, briefly, is to raise the quality of eggs and bring more money for the producers," Miss Erisman continued.

Membership fee in the association is one dollar, and this is to be paid only once, regardless of how many years the person may remain a member. In addition, each member will buy his own egg stamp and scales for weighing the eggs. Egg cartons carrying the name of the association will be secured.

"We haven't tried anything like this here before, and the extension service, and all of us who are working with the plan are most anxious that each of you know about it in detail. Every person interested is cordially invited to come by this office at any time in the near future to learn more of the association plans," Miss Erisman said.

Wheat -

June 25, W. K. Cottingame, county agent, said Wednesday, while feed planting will continue on into July.

From the Samnorwood area, Tom Cunningham reports that less than one-fourth of the cotton and feed is now up, and that some damage resulted from the rain early Monday. Wheat is almost ready to harvest, and no serious damage has resulted either from heavy rain, hail, or worms. An average of around 15 bushels per acre is expected. Barley, although some has been damaged by wind, is expected to yield around 50 bushels per acre.

Wheat harvesting around Lone Mound will begin in about two weeks, Cortez Barnett said Wednesday. A 20 bushel yield on wheat and 50 bushels on rye is expected. Cotton and feed are about the same as around Samnorwood.

U. E. Kelley, Rolla farmer, said that while very little cotton and feed were left from the late plantings, that planted earlier was in good condition.

Crops around Lillie and Salt Fork are spotted, with crops on some farms up to a good stand, while others have been damaged. Altogether, farmers there believe that as little damage has resulted in this section as anywhere in the county, Clyde Brown reports.

Many Dodson farms have suffered severely from rain and hail, W. S. Brewer of Wellington reports, and considerable replanting will be necessary in various spots southeast of Wellington. Wheat not damaged by hail, is reported partially down, but if no more rain falls, a good yield is expected.

Wheat around Fresno is considered fairly good, according to Ike Emmert, and most of the farmers in that section are expecting to cut between 15 and 20 bushels per acre. Barley is in good shape.

Considerable rain damage to crops around Hackberry, in the extreme northern part of the county was reported by J. E. Schoonover, although those crops left standing look good. Wheat here will average around 20 bushels per acre, it is believed. Only a small amount of worm damage has been reported, and the wheat has not fallen. Barley through this section is not good.

George Groves of Abra stated that farmers in that vicinity were expecting as high as 25 bushels per acre from their wheat—the best yield in several years. Barley is also good in this section, as is rye. No damage was reported to other crops from the rain Monday.

Homer Ingram of Midway said that although only a small percentage of the crops are now up, that part looks fairly good. A small amount of rye planted in this community is good.

Reporting for the northeastern part of the county, Wayne Johnson stated that wheat throughout that area looks good, better than in several years, and rye is fine. No damage resulted from the rain Monday, and some farmers in this area are more than half through their planting. Ranges in this part of the county are reported in the best condition in years.

Harry Patterson of Kelley said Wednesday morning, that though some hail fell in that area Sunday, it did not prove destructive, although four and one-half inches of rain followed this. Approximately 50 per cent of the crops are up, and those look good. Wheat through that community is believed to be making around 30 bushels, and harvesting will start as soon as the ground dries.

Through the Quail, Buck Creek, Marella, and Pleasant Hill communities, damage Sunday resulted not from rain, but from sand, which blew a part of the afternoon, according to County Commissioner Bert Weaver.

A part of the crops are up, but some replanting is due. No wheat is raised in this section of the county.
