Record Enrollments In All City Schools Indicated Today

Lubbock city schools started their 1938-39 sessions this morning to a crescendo of broken records.

While the tabulations of figures had not been completed, W. B. Irvin, city superintendent, expressed the belief that enrollments in all schools will exceed those of last year, which holds the record to date.

He expressed the belief, however, that no half-day sessions will be necessary, although that is not entirely assured.

"We shall do everything we can to keep from doubling up in class work," Irvin said. "If necessary, we shall permit considerable overcrowding. I don't believe half-day classes will be necessary. But as yet, we cannot be certain."

Actual attendance at Senior High school this morning was 1,089, which was described as being larger than the enrollment there in October, 1937, after the term had been in operation a month.

Increases Elsewhere

A corresponding increase was in prospect for Junior High school, although a final report was not available.

FDR's Power To Face Ballot Tests

(By The Associated Press)

The Tydings-Lewis primary in Maryland edged today into the limelight usually reserved for Maine's state election, forerunner of the general November balloting.

Voting in the two states inaugurated a busy political week, which will go far in determining the success or failure of President Roosevelt's efforts to defeat congressmen opposed to his program.

Senator Millard E. Tydings of Maryland, one of those on the president's blacklist, was up for Democratic renomination against Rep. David J. Lewis, which Mr. Roosevelt lauded as a social security pioneer. Georgia will settle a similar contest Wednesday.

POLITICS AT A GLANCE
(By The Associated Press)

Today:
Maine elects three house members, governor, and other state officers. Maryland nominates candidates for senator, governor, and six house seats.

Tomorrow:
Arizona, Colorado, New Hampshire, Vermont, Michigan, Louisiana, Utah, and Washington hold primaries. Connecticut Democrats start convention. South Carolina Democrats choose candidate for governor in run-off primary.

Wednesday:
Georgia nominates candidates for senator, governor and house. Delaware Republicans select house candidate in convention.

Thursday:
Connecticut Republicans nominate ticket in convention.

There was no senate seat at stake in Maine, one of the two states lost by the Roosevelt-Garner ticket in 1936, but Democrats were trying to defeat a Republican governor and three Republican house members.

The traditional but sometimes erroneous theory that the Maine election indicates national sentiment brought both Democratic Chairman James A. Farley and Republican Chairman John Hamilton into the state campaign.

Would Be Talking Point

It would be a talking point for Democrats elsewhere if they could win one or more of the Maine offices on today's ballot.

Gov. Lewis O. Barrows, Republican, was opposed by Louis Brann, his Democratic predecessor who lost a senatorial race two years ago.

The Townsend old age pension program has been one of the principal issues in the congressional contests, for the three Republican incumbents received the endorsement of Townsend groups.

Mr. Roosevelt did not take part in the Maine campaign, but he went into Maryland a week ago to speak in behalf of Lewis.

Tydings Seeks Third Term

The 69-year old representative, who rose from coal miner to lawyer and legislator, contends that Tydings has voted more as a Republican than as a Democrat. The senator, who at 66 is seeking a third term, has argued that his opponent would be merely a rubber stamp.

The outcome of their battle, one of the most intense Maryland has witnessed in recent years, is complicated by an unusual vote counting system. Each county has from three to seven unit votes, depending on its legislative representation. The candidate getting a popular majority in a county wins its unit votes.

Nice Seeks Renomination

The Democratic victor will oppose either Oscar Leser, former Baltimore judge, or Galen Tait, for 22 years Republican state chairman. Harry Nice, one of the nation's few Republican governors, sought renomination against Harry T. Phoen-

Druggists In Clinic Here

More than 125 West Texas druggists had registered before noon for the first of a series of four 2-day merchandising clinics for Texas, sponsored by the Drug Travelers association at the Hilton hotel this morning. Officials said that many more were expected during the afternoon.

Wilford Harrison, chairman of the committee of arrangements, opened the session shortly after 9 o'clock. Speakers were introduced. Ralph A. Beegle, of the University of Oklahoma, Norman, and director, presided.

Speakers Are Heard

Speakers for the morning included: Dr. W. J. Danford, Fort Worth, secretary of the Texas Pharmaceutical association; Don B. Clement, supervisor of sales agents, Coty, Inc.; James De Pree, sales manager, DePree Co.,

Afternoon speakers were to be: R. A. Whidden, president Bauer & Black Co.; Joseph F. Huber, sales manager, Pro-phy-lac-tic Brush Co.; Charles Knight, Bastian-Blessing Co.; Walter Quinlan, sales manager International Cellucotton Products Co. At night Prof. Beegle, who is associate professor of commercial pharmacy, University of Oklahoma, will speak.

Questions on papers will feature the two-day program, time being provided for questions after each talk. A second session opens Tuesday in Dallas; Wednesday in Houston and Thursday in San Antonio.

Bullet-Pierced Skeleton Found Near Graham Is Identified

GRAHAM, Sept. 12 (AP) — A bullet-pierced skeleton found in a canyon near here has been identified as that of Bill Umphress, one of four men who escaped the Sherman jail on July 26.

Sheriff Henry C. Williams, jr., of Graham, said identification was established through a ring found on a finger bone.

Williams said officers believed Umphress was shot to death. Charred portions of the skeleton indicated an attempt had been made to burn the remains.

An automobile used by four men who kidnaped E. E. Hughes, of Burkburnett, at Bridgeport on July 29 was found near the scene. Three other jail fugitives were apprehended after the kidnaping.

Scattered Rainfall Reported In Texas

(By The Associated Press)

Ranges and roses perked up Monday after several days of scattered showers in Texas.

Wichita Falls, where the mercury frequently had climbed above 100 during six weeks of dry weather, had a quarter inch of rainfall. Olney, Fort Worth and Llano were among other West Texas points reporting cooling showers.

Tyler, preparing for a rose festival Sept. 30, received .69 inch precipitation, enough to give rose gardens their fall sendoff.

In Central Texas, around Austin, Giddings, Taylor and Temple, cotton picking was delayed by rainfall ranging up to 2 inches, but the moisture was beneficial for other crops.

Farmer Lubbock Starts Work Of Harvesting Feed Crop Today

City Farmer Lubbock started harvesting his feed crop this morning.

The crop ain't what you would call good and it ain't what you would call bad—just sort of a poor middling.

The city has 150 acres in hegari and 47 acres in maize and guesses are both will run about a ton to the acre of headed feeded. Stalks are to be left in the field for pasturage.

The heading is to be done by workers employed at $1.25 per acre. The feed will be stored and sold later. The field then will be leased for pasturage, according to information given at the city hall.

Short, Simple Platform Is Expectation

Several Thousand Delegates Mill Around In Lobbies Of City's Hotels Today

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL
Associated Press Staff Writer

BEAUMONT, Sept. 12.—Sources close to W. Lee O'Daniel indicated today the platform to be adopted by the state Democratic convention tomorrow would be short and simple.

Several thousand delegates milled about flag-bedecked hotel lobbies and city streets while the party executive committee met to canvass results of the second Democratic primary August 27 and set the convention machinery in motion.

DENUNCIATION IS KEYNOTE

BEAUMONT, Sept. 12 (AP) — One of many rumors circulating here today in regard to tomorrow's state Democratic convention, was that keynote speech would contain denunciation of horse race gambling and sale of liquor by the drink.

V. A. Collins, veteran prohibitionist from Livingston, is slated to be keynoter. He would not say what his address would contain in event he is chosen for the honor.

Governor-Nominate W. Lee O'Daniel, who will be in control of tomorrow's conclave, said several weeks ago he had an open mind on return of horse racing. He received support in campaign from both friends and foes of racing.

Business Of Delegates

The Democratic gubernatorial nominee, who arrived in Beaumont last night for the first political convention of his life, himself asserted he regarded the platform writing as the business of the delegates, but in other quarters the intimation was strong nothing elaborate was probable.

One report was the platform would be confined, if wishes of O'Daniel's friends prevailed, to subjects which the Fort Worth flour merchant discussed in his sensational campaign, and controversial matters would be sternly excluded.

To accomplish this end hotel lobby talk was a resolution would be

Tech Faculty Meets Today

Reunited after a summer filled with various activities taking them to numerous states and foreign countries, the faculty of Texas Technological college met this morning to make plans for opening of the fall semester.

Before the doors of the college can open next week to the record number of new students expected, divisional and departmental staffs and numerous committees will meet to make plans for the semester.

In New Library Building

Dr. James M. Gordon, chairman of the executive committee, presided at this morning's meeting, conducted in the new library building.

Dr. Gordon pointed out that this is the first time in its history the college is opening a long session without a president.

Spencer A. Wells, Lubbock member of the board of directors, spoke briefly. He commended the faculty, saying, "The job you are doing with limited facilities out here is truly remarkable".

New Members Introduced

New staff members were introduced. Those introduced were W. L. Bradshaw, Raymond Hendry Williams, Harold Lyman Kipp, Harold P. Pratt, Joe Dennis, Dr. Douglas W. Alden, L. C. Reithmeyer, W. M. Pearce, Joseph B. Cowan, Car-

Liquor Control Board Cracks Down On Improper Practices

AUSTIN, Sept. 12 (AP)—Liquor Administrator Bert Ford today ordered 28-day suspensions of beer licenses held by Sylvester Montalbano of Houston and R. W. Jones who operates an establishment near Mineola.

Ford said the suspensions brought to four the number ordered since last week in keeping with a liquor board policy to "crack down" on establishments where altercations or improper practices occur.

Clayton Reed Killed Sunday

A truck-automobile collision five miles west of Midland on the road to Odessa Sunday morning took the life of Clayton Reed, 29, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Reed of 2311 Thirteenth street and a popular former student of Texas Technological college.

The truck struck the side of the car Reed was driving. He was crushed to death. The accident happened about 2 o'clock.

Graduated In 1932

Reed was graduated from Texas Tech in 1932. He was a member of Silver Key club, men's social organization.

He was an employe in Odessa of the Sunshine Iron Works.

Funeral services will be conducted in Memphis, where the Reeds formerly lived, this afternoon. The young man was a member of the Methodist church here.

Survivors, other than his parents, include two brothers, Howard Reed of Los Angeles, who was to come by airplane for funeral services, and Sumner Cole Reed of Levelland.

Two Girls Are Killed Sunday In Mishap Near Ozona

(By The Associated Press)

OZONA, Sept. 12—Athleen Dudley, 19, of this city and Phyllis McLeod of El Paso, about the same age, roommates last year at CIA at Denton, were killed near here last night when their car hurtling off the highway after a tire blowout, turned over several times.

Death apparently for both was instantaneous from blows on the head. Miss Dudley's body was found in a field about 100 feet from the car.

Miss Dudley will be buried here late today. Funeral arangements had not been made this morning for Miss McLeod, who had come here for a visit. The girls had planned to leave next Friday for school.

Miss Dudley is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Dudley, and a brother and sister. Miss McLeod had been residing with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Seward, at El Paso.

King Cotton's Fleece Is Being Trimmed In Mississippi Delta

(By The Associated Press)

GREENWOOD, Miss., Sept. 12.—Cotton is still the supreme monarch of the Mississippi delta but the king's fleece is being trimmed.

More and more as the irrigated lands of the west have been turned to the growth of long staple cotton, the planters of the delta have been shortening their staple. Where forty per cent of the delta was planted to long staple cotton as recently as six years ago, less than ten per cent of its acreage will grow a staple longer than one and one-eighth inches this year.

Many mills that once used long staple from the delta now spin California cotton. They say they get about the same results so far as the breaking strength of the threads is concerned. And that is what determines how long a garment will wear.

Not the least factor in their change from delta to California cotton is that the California fleece sells for about five dollars a bale cheaper than delta. Delta cotton men say that many mills

THUS IT WAS IN 1914—

It's A 400-To-1 Bet That You Can't Change The Constitution

Only Nine 'Real' Amendments Have Taken Hold In Past 150 Years Of Nation's History

The signing of the Constitution, September 17, 1787, as painted by J. B. Stearns.

The Constitution was signed in 1787 and officially launched in 1788. The anniversaries of both events fall within Constitution Week, September 11-17. This story tells what happened 150 years ago and describes some of the efforts made since then to change the Constitution.

BY ALEXANDER R. GEORGE
Associated Press Feature Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Nobody knows how many million words, plain and fancy, have been spoken and written about the United States Constitution but it took only 67 plain ones to launch it officially 150 years ago.

On September 12, 1788, the Continental Congress gave the "go ahead" signal for the famous charter of American government thus:

"Resolved, that the first Wednesday in January next be the day for appointing electors in the several states; that the first Wednesday in February next be the day for the electors to assemble in their states and vote for President, and that the first Wednesday in March next be the time and the present seat of Congress the place (New York) for commencing the proceedings under the said Constitution."

Since the spring of 1789 when some estimable gentlemen with powdered hair and knee breeches met in stage-coach New York city and started the aforesaid proceedings, about 4,000 proposed amendments to the Constitution have been introduced in congress.

They Keep On Trying

And you can expect some members of the 6th congress, which convenes next January, to propose some more. But, on past performances, the odds are about 400 to 1 against adoption of their proposals.

Only nine simon-pure amendments have taken hold out of the 4,000 proposals in the last century and a half. Of the 21 listed amendments, the first 10 comprise the Bill of Rights, which is regarded more as a rounding out of the original charter. The 18th amendment (prohibition) was repealed by the 21st.

But congressmen keep on making extraordinary proposals to increase by constitutional authority power of Uncle Sam to promote the welfare—and improve the morals—of John and Mary American.

Five Votes To A Man

These have included prohibition of war and abolition of the army and navy, election of Supreme Court

First Fair Trip To Be Tuesday

Personal invitations to the citizens of 11 towns southeast, south and southwest of Lubbock to attend the greatest of all Panhandle-South Plains fairs next Sept. 26 through Oct. 1 will be extended Tuesday.

The emissaries of good will are to be approximately 30 representatives of business firms who will make the first of four trips to publicize the fair.

Band To Go Along

With them will be 25 selected members of Senior High school band who will travel in a bus of their own. Hugh Anderson, their director, plans to accompany them.

Rulers, free tickets to the fair on school day and other souvenirs are to be distributed. Programs are to be presented at the schools at various of the stops.

Ray Farmer, trip chairman, reported that practically all of those making the journey will wear the official costume—featuring cowboy hats and loud shirts.

Firms With Reservations

Firms for which reservations have been made were announced as being: Levine's; Goodrich Silvertown Tires, West Texas Gas company, Mark Halsey drug No. 2, Dalby Motor Freight, Hub Clothiers, J. H.

Ground Broken For New Tech Building

Work on a men's dormitory made possible by a $350,909 PWA loan and grant was begun with the breaking of ground this morning on Texas Technological college campus.

The dormitory will be located at the corner of College avenue and the Broadway entrance to the campus, in line with the men's dormitory already on the campus.

W. H. Southland of Fort Worth, superintendent of construction, said this morning the structure is to be completed in time for use in the long session opening in September of next year.

He said with the exception of two other men coming from Fort Worth, local men will be employed in the construction. Charley Roupe will come here to serve as foreman and Joe Carr, to serve as time keeper and clerk. As many as 120 to 125 men will be employed at times during construction.

R. F. Ball Construction company of Fort Worth has the general contract for the construction. Plumbing, heating and ventilation, and wiring contractors are to be here Wednesday morning.

Digging will be started about Thursday morning, said the construction superintendent. The first shipment of material is to arrive the latter part of this week.

President Cheered Today By Operation's Apparent Success

ROCHESTER, Minn., Sept. 12. (AP) —President Roosevelt was cheered today by the apparent success of a serious stomach operation on his eldest son, James.

Stephen Early, the president's press secretary, said physicians reported James' condition "entirely satisfactory."

Secretary Early reported that Mr. Roosevelt, Mrs. Roosevelt and James' wife, Betsy, "were greatly relieved" when they found James' ulcer was a benign rather than a malignant one.

Malignant ulcers are those which involved cancer. Benign ulcers do not.

Long-Awaited Speech Given World Today

Bolshevism Is Linked With Democracies Against Nazi Germany, Fuehrer Says

(By The Associated Press)

NURNBERG, Sept. 12. — Adolf Hotler told his cheering followers tonight that "we see domocracy and bolshevism arrayed in a solid front' 'against Nazi Germany.

The Fuehrer, opening the speech for which the world was waiting, spoke at length of what he called "the sufferings" of Nazi adherents in Austria before the annexation.

Recalls Party's Fight

The first portion of his pronouncement before the climatic Smeeting of the tenth annual Nazi party congress was devoted entirely to recalling the party's fight for supreme power in Germany.

Then he turned to his attack against the democracies and bolshevism, asserting that they were united agains nazism under "the slogan of liberty, equality, fraternity."

"Bloody Mockery" Of History

"It is a bloody mockery of history," the Fuehrer continued, "that the democracies are allied with the most brutal dictatorship in the world.

"It was they which attempted to hinder Italy's action in Ethiopia."

Hammering home the point that the Nazis had built Germany into a mighty nation again, Hitler turned to Czechoslovakia.

"Scorn is being heaped on us today, but thank God we are in a position to prevent any rape of Germany," he declared.

"I am speaking about Czechoslovakia. This state was founded according to democratic principles.

"As these democratic principles

Parallel Seen To Days Prior To Great War

Preparedness Activities Of European Powers Similar To Activities Of 1914

By ANDRUE BERDING
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—A striking parallel to the tragic weeks preceding the World war arises in the minds of informed observers here who watch the military movements in Europe.

Germany partly mobilizes for maneuvers; then comes French and Czechoslovakia partial mobilization

WARNING IS SOUNDED

GENEVA, Sept. 12 (AP) — William J. Jordan of New Zealand opened the 19th session of the League of Nations assembly today with a warning that "even those countries that may appear to be most remote" may not be neutral in the next war.

The warning of the New Zealand delegate, president of the league council, came in the midst of the Czechoslovak-German crisis.

Before the assembly met, the league's battle of sanctions was brought to an end when the Scandinavian countries, the Netherlands and Belgium decided against attempting to alter materially the league's punitive machinery, leaving it a potent weapon in the event of a general European war.

Jordan did not name specific countries he warned might be involved in the next war, but many in league circles expressed belief he meant the United States as well as British dominions.

orders. As France pours men into the Maginot line along the German border, Germany sends men into her Siegfried line just opposite.

Fleet Is Concentrated

On the sea, Great Britain concentrates her fleet off North Scotland in position to blockade Germany. France cancels leaves of naval men and places Marseille under military law. Italy stands by ready for action.

Persons close to the state department still believe conflict can be averted if civil governments and diplomats make the decisions. But, they fear the part the European military element might play in the negotiations.

Cobb Fails To Set New Speed Record

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, Sept. 12 (AP)—John R. Cobb of London, the big man with the little car, made a courageous attempt to shatter the world's automobile speed record here today, but fell short by less than three miles per hour.

The wealthy Englishman, piloting a 7,000 pound shark-shaped racer, was clocked at 342.53 miles per hour on two flashing drives through the measured mile, but his gallant bid was not enough.

Captain George E. T. Eyston's mark of 345.49 miles per hour, made here Aug. 29, thus stood an assault which far exceeded the retired army officer's original average last year of 311.295.

Cobb, sitting in the nose of his four-foot high "Railton," which is new to the flats, was timed officially at 343.8 on the south run and at 341.6 on the backward jaunt.

Eyston's averages for the two runs were 343.51 on the southward sprint and 347.49 on the return.

Cobb, obviously disappointed, said he would run again as soon as minor mechanical repairs are made. He declared it might be before the week-end.

Federal Man Coming Here

In line with his investigation seeking a site for the southern regional government agricultural laboratory to be established with a million dollars a year for operation, D. F. J. Lynch of Washington, D. C., will visit Lubbock and Texas Technological college campus Thursday.

That announcement was made this morning by M. E. Heard, head professor of textile engineering at the college, who is a member of the campus committee that has been working with representatives from other colleges and numerous other agencies in Texas to secure location of the laboratory in this state.

Lynch has charge of investigation relative to the laboratory in the Southern producing area.

Data To Be Presented

Data on the campus, on Lubbock, the South Plains, and West Texas will be presented to Investigator Lynch by officials of the college and members of a downtown committee.

Other members of the campus committee are A. H. Leidigh, dean of agriculture; Dr. R. C. Goodwin, chairman of the graduate division; and O. V. Adams, dean of engineering.

Youth Rescued After 8 Days In Canyon

JASPER, Ark., Sept. 12. (AP) - Hartsell McCain, 20-year-old farm worker, was reported near death today following his rescue from the bottom of a canyon where he lay paralyzed for eight days without food and only the water which fell in his face during frequent mountain showers.

Morland Dodson, a woodsman, came upon McCain at the foot of a 30-foot cliff while hunting strayed hogs 28 miles south of here in one of the most outlying and sparsely [illegible] sections of northwest Arkansas. He took the youth to a farmhouse and summoned a physician.

Dr. J. W. Sexton, expressing doubt that McCain would recover, said the paralysis resulted from a back injury suffered in the fall. He reported ants had eaten the hair off the farm youth's head, some skin from his side and a part of his clothing.

Lubbock's Drivers Are "Child Conscious" Today, Officer Says

Lubbock motorists were "child conscious" this morning.

This was the observation of Lewis Kittrell, police traffic sergeant.

Practically all drivers, he said, apparently were so aware that the day marked the opening of school that they leaned backward in their observance of traffic regulations.

"We can't say, of course, that there will be no accidents before the day is over," Kittrell remarked. "We merely can hope for the best.

But even if there should be tragedy, it won't be the fault of the 'typical motorist.' He has been giving sure evidence of co-operation."

Police Chief Don [illegible] said that all police who [illegible] be released from other [illegible] are assigned to points of [illegible] congestion during [illegible] hours. Only in occasional instances was it necessary, he reported, to "whistle down" any of the drivers. Police reported also there was an "almost 100 per cent" regard for stop signs, especially those approaching school buildings.

Femininity, Variety And Versatility Are Main Angles For Fall Fashions

Slender Waist Is Essential

BY ADELAIDE KERR
AP Fashion Editor

Femininity, variety and versatility are three big news points in 1938 fall frocks.

This year's dresses are "soft" in design. They show variation in cut, color and fabric and many may be transformed in appearance by a sleight-of-hand change of accessories.

All Slender-Waisted

A slender little waist is a characteristic of them all. Skirts are still short. The newest are wider—either flared or designed with gathered front fullness—although some slim straight skirts are seen too. Many bodices are slender and fitted, while others are softly draped and a few are bloused.

Sleeves are important. The 1938 editions include the wide armholed angel, the bishop and the sleeve with the full top and tight forearm. Necklines are generally high, though vee and square necks are seen too.

From them hangs a tale of infinite variety, glamor and sparkle in accessories. A high round neckline may be set off with a Javanese necklace sparkling with colorful stones one day and with big twin gold clips set with a hunk of topaz the next.

Frothy Little Scarfs

Three-strand necklaces made of silver disks, golden Hindu bells or East Indian charms; antique lockets, redwood horsehead clips with silver bridles and multicolored gem-studded flower clips are other baubles made to trim and transform necklines of the new fall frocks. Frothy little scarfs of Valenciennes lace add another frivolous note in a season when accessories promise to be exceedingly important.

The new day frocks are designed of soft wools and crepes with surface interest in such colors as purply-plum, wine, bluegreen, gray, brown and black.

A suave black crepe 1938 frock spells simplicity when worn with this white pique collar caught with a gold clip and a black suede hat with a bright green bow.

Levelland Hospital Opened On Sunday

LEVELLAND, Sept. 12.—The recently completed Phillips-Dupre hospital here was formally opened Sunday afternoon with an "open house."

The structure has 32 rooms and is equipped with the latest in medical and surgical devices. It is owned by Drs. C. M. Phillips and John D. Dupre, both former Lubbock residents who were educated in the Lubbock schools.

Dr. Phillips has resided here four and a half years. He is a University of Texas medical school graduate at Galveston and did interne work at City Hospital, St. Louis.

Dr. Dupre attended both Austin and the Galveston school and did his interne work at Lubbock sanitarium. He has been here six months and is associated with Dr. Phillips. He also served in the army, spending a year at Walter Reed hospital, Washington, D. C. and was at Port

Dr. and Mrs. James D. Wilson, 2310 Main street, entertained Saturday night with a buffet supper in their home as a courtesy to Miss Margaret Kern on her birthday.

Guests served their plates from a lace-covered table adorned with a profusion of old-fashioned flowers. Tall green tapers in silver holders accentuated the green and white color scheme carried out in table appointments.

False teeth wearers are worst breath offenders!
"Need More Than a Mouth Wash" say Authorities ... Recommend POLIDENT
Plates and bridges soak up odors and impurities like a sponge! A thin dark scum collects on them. This scum holds germs and decay bacteria. It is so tough that ordinary brushing seldom removes it. And it gets into every tiny crevice where brushing can't even reach. Almost always it results in "denture breath"—probably the most offensive of all breath odors.
Yet there's a perfect way to clean and purify false teeth without brushing, acid or danger. It is Polident, the powder that dissolves away all scum, stains, tarnish and odor. Makes breath sweeter—and plates or bridges look better and feel better. Tens of thousands call Polident a blessing for comfort, convenience and hygiene. Long-lasting can costs only 30¢ at any drug store. Approved by Good Housekeeping Bureau and by leading dentists everywhere.
Cleans, Purifies Like Magic
Put plate or bridge in ½ glass of water. Add a little Polident powder. Leave in 10 to 15 minutes—rinse—and it's sweet and purified—ready to use!

Cotton Bagging Is Being Used

COLLEGE STATION, Sept. 12—Cotton bagging, long considered by industry in its search for new uses for the fiber, has replaced jute bagging at at least two gins serving Texas one-variety cotton community associations, according to C. E. Bowles, organization specialist, and E. A. Miller, agronomist, both of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, who have just completed a tour of one-variety communities. The communities using cotton bagging are Bonnie View in Refugio county and Lone Tree in Victoria county.

It has been pointed out that a normal crop of cotton in the United States would require about 75 million yards of material or the equivalent of about 135,000 bales of cotton a year. An additional advantage, it is said, would be an expected preference of spinners for bales covered with cotton material. The jute now used mixes with the cotton fiber and requires extra time and labor in the cleaning operation.

Tried Out Last Year

Cotton bagging was tried out in a small way last year in the southeastern states and about 16,000 bale coverings were supplied. Bonnie View is believed to be the first Texas association to use the cotton patterns, according to Bowles and Miller.

The ginning season is almost over at Bonnie View, but as soon as it was learned that cotton bagging was available, the association, through L. A. Weiss, jr., Refugio county agricultural agent, secured 100 patterns to handle the remainder of the crop. A few days later the Lone Tree association also ordered 100 patterns in a trial program.

The use of the cotton bagging results in a very attractive bale, the Extension workers said. The bagging does not stretch or give to strain, as when the cotton is handled with hooks, but this was considered a fault by press workers who experienced difficulty in covering the bale when the cotton material was first used. Since the cotton pattern weighs about 7 1-2 pounds less than the jute bagging, buyers are allowing an additional 15 points, or 75 cents, to compensate for the difference in tare.

Volume Must Be High

The cotton bagging bought by the Bonnie View association cost 45 cents a pattern of six yards but not including the ties. Manufacturers say this price would not be possible with a small volume of sale but that they are receiving an indemnity from the AAA as part of that agency's program for diversion of cotton into new uses.

The AAA has recently announced acceptance of an offer made by the Lane Cotton Mills Company of New Orleans, the low bidder, for the manufacture of one million patterns of cotton bagging. This company offered to supply enough cotton bagging to cover a million bales at an indemnity payment of 28 cents a pattern, plus a selling price of 45 cents a pattern, f. o. b. the mill.

'Making The Band' Will Be Task This Year At Senior High; Anderson Attends School

"Making the band" will be no small undertaking for aspiring musicians at Senior High school this year.

This was the warning timed with the opening of School this morning by Hugh A. Anderson, band director.

Anderson returned late last week from the University of Kansas where he spent 10 weeks in summer school preparing for the new term's work. Daily rehearsals of the musicians are scheduled at 11 a. m., he added, until the personnel of the concert and B bands is determined.

Indications are that both bands will be strengthened this year, Anderson announced. Approximately 25 members of last year's organization were lost by graduation, but he has 25 or 30 new musicians who show promise, he said.

The concert band, he said, will be increased to a numerical strength of approximately 90 members, which is as large as is desired. Other bandsmen will be in the B organization.

Anderson learned following his return here, he reported, that territory of districts of the Texas High School Band and Orchestra association has been sharply revised during the summer.

One result of the change has been that Lubbock will be in the district with Amarillo. However, it will not compete with the Abilene band, regarded as one of the best in the southwest, which has been removed to another district.

Be It Ever So Mobile, Man's Trailer Is His Home, Judge In Knoxville, Tenn., Rules

KNOXVILLE, Sept. 12. (AP)—Be it ever so mobile a trailer is home, City Judge R. A. Mynatt ruled in the case of a trailer dweller charged with firing his revolver when a policeman flashed a light in the trailer window.

The trailer owner said he shot to frighten a possible intruder. The officer said he flashed his light during routine inspection.

"This man's trailer is his domocile and he has a right to protect it," ruled the judge. He warned the trailer owner not to be "so quick on the trigger," and dismissed the case.

Lamesa Wins Polo Tourney

Lamesa's hardriding White's put the finishing touches on the West Texas Polo association championship tournament Sunday afternoon defeating their hometown rivals, the Blacks, 9 to 8.

El Rojo club of Plainview defeated the Smith brothers of Lubbock, 8 to 4, for consolation honors.

Championship Game Fastest

Championship game was the fastest of the three-day tourney, many shots being missed through speed at which the players put their mounts. A. C. Woodward of the Whites was leading scorer. Gus White played his usual sparkling game.

Spencer Barron was victim of only spill of the day. He ran into a back swing which landed below his helmet and catapulted him to the ground. He continued to play, however.

Show Marked Improvement

A clean game resulted in the consolation. It was slower than the championship fray and was free of fouling. The Smith brothers showed marked improvement.

Championship cup was presented to the Whites at the field by George W. Dupree. El Rojo received the consolation trophy. Gus White was awarded a pair of white polo trousers for high score in a single game. For second honors Lynn Parkinson of the Blacks received a bridle head stall.

Horace Robbins of El Ranchito club, Wichita Falls, and Hub Burrows of Pampa were referees.

Sons Of Legion To Be Busy Wednesday

Wednesday afternoon will be busy for Lubbock squadron of Sons of the American Legion, according to announcement this morning by E. Kelley Nail, chairman of the sons' sponsoring committee for Allen Bros. post of the Legion.

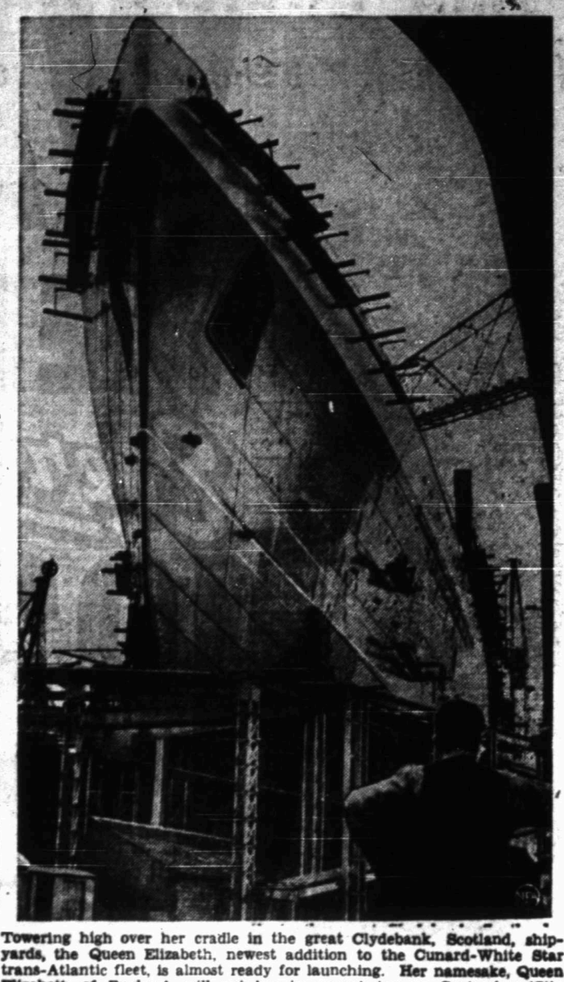

The drum and bugle corps is to pose for a photograph, then will lead a parade and, at night, the members will discuss the first annual membership campaign of the new squadron.

Members of the drum and bugle corps were instructed by Nail and Travis Calvin, director, to be at the Legion hall in uniform to be in formation for their photograph at 4:30 p. m. They then will lead the Knights of Pythias parade. The meeting at which the membership campaign is to be discussed will begin at 8 p. m.

The squadron has a present charter membership of 126. Efforts will be made to increase that number, Nail said.

The farm security administration reports that in 1930 73 per cent of cotton farms were tenant operated while only 21 per cent of dairy products farms were.

New Boeing Clipper Performs 'Admirably' On Test Flight

SEATTLE, Sept. 12. (AP)—The Boeing Clipper, first of six giant flying boats being built for Pan American Airways' trans-Atlantic service, performed "admirably," engineers reported, in her first extended flight above northwestern Washington Saturday.

She carried what the Boeing Aircraft company said was a new American record load—water and lead ballast added to make the weight of plane and cargo 77,500 gross pounds—and will be laden to her rated capacity of 82,500 pounds gross load, on future flights.

Dairying And Poultry Raising Increases In Oklahoma And Texas

Farming Trend Cited In Study

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12—The Works Progress administration, in a study on agricultural trends, reports the increased production of dairy and poultry products marked the farming activity in the western cotton states—Oklahoma and Texas—in the last quarter century.

Between 1909 and 1936, years covered in the study, cotton increased its dominance as the leading crop of the two states combined. On the other hand, there was a marked decrease in acreage devoted exclusively to corn production. Corn was displaced partly by increased planting of wheat and grain sorghums.

Cotton Acreage Dropped

Making no distinction between the two states, the report showed that in the entire area acreage devoted to cotton rose from 11,900,000 acres in 1909 to 22,600,000 in 1925, then dropped gradually to 12,700,000 acres in 1934. In 1935 it rose to 13,000,000 acres and in 1936 to 14,100,000.

Corn was planted on 11,100,000 acres in 1909. The acreage dropped steadily each year, with few exceptions, until 1936 when only 6,100,000 acres were devoted to the crop.

While these changes were occuring in the production of the two major crops of the area, the number of milk cows reported in the two states increased from 1,200,000 in 1909 to 2,000,000 in 1936. Beef cattle, almost four times as numerous as milk cows, ended the twenty-seven year period at about the same level as at the beginning.

In the interval two wave-like movements occurred in the beef cattle industry, with the high point at 8,800,000 head and the low at 6,300,000.

Chickens Are Doubled

Chickens increased from 20,000,000 in 1909 to 42,000,000 in 1928. Egg production rose in about the same proportion, from 1,200,000,000 to 2,900,000,000.

A large increase in sheep production, largely in the south-central part of Texas, was noted. In 1909 there were 2,300,000 stock sheep. By 1933, the number rose to 7,900,000.

Hogs declined in relative importance during the period, and the number of sows and gilts in 1936 was about half of that in 1909. Production of hogs underwent a much smaller reduction because of changes and improvements in methods of raising them.

Because the area was found especially suitable to the use of mechanical equipment, the number of horses and mules declined during the period by a greater degree than in the rest of the cotton producing states, between 1920 and 1936 the number declined one-third.

Above is an architect's drawing of Motley county's proposed courthouse for which an $80,000 bond issue was voted Saturday. The picture is shown in the Evening Journal through courtesy of the Matador Tribune. An application to the Public Works administration for a $65,000 grant is pending. The new building, to replace the present structure erected in 1904, will cost approximately $125,000 to $145,000, authorities said.

Texas Patrolman Ready To Tackle Football Season And Keep Traffic Safe For Fans

AUSTIN, Sept. 12. (AP)—State police are ready to tackle football season motorists who adopt line smashing and broken field driving tactics in the big game traffic jams.

The approaching gridiron season with prospective heavy travel and a threat of a higher accident rate will be met by a larger highway patrol than last year.

Patrol All Highways

Drinking drivers and those who weave in and out of traffic lanes will be the principal objectives of the police who, besides aiding local officers control stadium traffic flow, will patrol all highways leading to stadia on game days.

Working in pairs, patrolmen will police roads up to 50 miles from stadia before and after games. Some will stay on duty until morning hours—eyes peeled for the late homeward-bound cars whose drivers might not have celebrated wisely.

To Improve Record

Texas traffic fatalities this year are running about 14 per cent under those of last year and the highway patrol wants to improve or at least maintain that record. Last year traffic accidents increased slightly in October and fatalities actually decreased but November, the month of crucial games and peak fan interest, brought 493 more accidents and 65 more deaths than October. Many of these mishaps—all avoidable—were traced to post- and pre-game traffic.

Chief Fred Hickman of the patrol notes a tendency for many football followers to leave cars at home and travel by train or bus excursions, thus avoiding fatigue and heightening enjoyment of the game.

Suggestions Given

For those who insist on driving he makes these suggestions:

Don't drink.

Leave home early so that fast driving will be unnecessary.

Watch sharply for pedestrians. Statistics show one out of five foot travelers injured in traffic accidents die.

Avoid too many post-game celebrations (or commiserations) which might leave drivers fatigued for the homeward drive.

Don't talk too much football. Drivers who become enthusiastic might illustrate arguments with hand and arm movements, leaving the steering wheel unattended.

Don't weave in and out of traffic lanes. The driver who does might not get back in line and thus face a head-on collision.

To expedite parking, follow the traffic officers' directions.

Natural Sink And Not Meteor Caused Hole Near Menard

AUSTIN, Sept. 12. (AP) — Mother Nature and not a celestial visitor caused a gaping hole in the earth near Menard, a cavity thought by some to be a meteor crater, Dr. E. H. Sellards declared.

The director of the University of Texas' bureau of economic geology reported after an inspection at the sight the hole was a natuarl sink formed by solution of underlying rock.

He reported there was no rim around the cavity and no material thrown out of, common indications of a meteor's dive into the earth's surface.

The Lens on the Right is RIGHT for Your Eyes

It's a TILLYER LENS

BEFORE you get your new glasses—there's a very important difference between lenses that you should know. Ordinary lenses—like the one shown above on left — are corrected only in the center. That means that when you look to the right — left — up — and down, little errors creep in, which your eyes are quick to discover.

YOUR eye muscles have to make allowances for all these errors, and the result is headaches, that tired feeling, and eyestrain. Corrected lenses — like the Tillyer lens shown on the right — are corrected so that no matter where your eyes look, you see exactly as you should. There are no distorted images — no fuzzy edges to tire your eyes. That's why more and more people are saying —"Be sure that my glasses are fitted with genuine Tillyer lenses."

Consult your oculist about the care of your eyes at least once a year.

The Pennant's Won, So--

By Collier Parris

WELL, THERE SHE IS, boys—the old baseball pennant. And let's have a cheer from you and you and you.

It isn't every town that can re-open professional baseball after a ten-year lapse and win a championship the first year. It isn't every town that can attract a team like the one made up of the Hubbers.

The South Plains in general, Lubbock and its individuals in particular, should be very, very proud of the ball club and its pennant. This scribe, for one, is most highly elated and gratified. It was like a dream come true to have professional ball in Lubbock; the dream was sweetened no end by having a championship team in Lubbock.

You can show your appreciation in a real manner Tuesday night by turning out for the final ball game in the Lubbock park this season. The Hubbers are going to play a strong opponent. The game starts at 8:15 o'clock. Do not plan anything else for Tuesday night.

Every dime, over and above actual game expenses, will go into the Hubber pennant fund. The players themselves, who are the ones to thank, will receive the entire benefit of Tuesday night's game. In addition to gate receipts, they will get all that comes of the cushion concession.

So come to the ball game; don't ask for a pass—and buy a cushion.

The boys who have brought a baseball pennant to Lubbock have been working and playing all season for the lowest salaries offered in organized baseball. There may be a lower limit in Class E, but the Hubbers have been playing for very meager returns. Their salaries average about $75 per month. Of course, they are serving an apprenticeship, and hope to go up higher and get bigger salaries.

But they deserve something extra for their work here this year. They are not allowed to receive bonuses from the club, nor no more salary than the Class D law allows. They did not get one cent extra for playing in the Shaughnessy series. Only their salaries were continued for the extra days. This is baseball law, too.

So be out there Tuesday night, and if you can't come out Tuesday, remember that pennant fund that is being subscribed by loyal fans. There are several dollars in the pot, but not enough yet to really pay the boys. You may contribute to the pennant fund, which is being instigated by friends of the club and NOT by club officials, by calling on, or sending in to, the sports department of the Avalanche-Journal, or to Sam Rosenthal's Hub Clothiers.

Tech Raiders On Parade Tonight

FOR TONIGHT, it is a different attraction.

The Texas Tech Raiders are going on dress parade, at 7:30 o'clock or a bit later, at the stadium, and you are all invited to attend.

You should see the Raiders in their new suits, and as they line up for the 1938 campaign. They'll be clicking off their plays tonight, for your benefit. You'll meet them personally, and you'll see them in spirited action.

The "benefit" baseball game for the Hubbers is being postponed from tonight until Tuesday night in order that you may see the Red Raiders tonight, and the Hubbers tomorrow night.

There is no charge for tonight's show at the stadium.

Hubbers Capture West Texas-New Mexico Flag

Clovis Is Beaten Sunday, 13-4 In Final Game Of Playoff Series

BY COLLIER PARRIS
Journal Sports Editor

CLOVIS, N. M., Sept. 12 — From the top of the flagpole in deep center field at the Lubbock baseball park today there whips in the breeze the golden pennant of the 1938 West Texas-New Mexico Baseball League.

You need not drive by to see it flapping there today, because it is a figurative statement, to date qualified only by the league scorebook records.

But it's there, and it should have an extra long "tail" to it, because the Lubbock Hubbers not only walked away with the Shaughnessy play-off, but took the straight-through title as well, finishing the regular season (the official standings aren't in yet) by nine or ten games.

Clout Three Pitchers

The delightful, delectable Hubbers satcheled up the old pennant here Sunday afternoon with a typical display of base hits and snappy fielding, defeating the Clovis Pioneers, 13 to 4, in the final game of the final series of the play-off campaign.

Whereas the Hubbers, a little too anxious to scatter to their respective winter homes, resembled Brooklyn Dodgers after a bad night in the penultimate game here Saturday night, losing a 15-5 game, they reverted to form Sunday afternoon and wore out the old pelota against the three best pitchers Clovis had to offer in this, the all-important game.

Thus, in the mere space of eight games, the Hubbers added the Shaughnessy title to the championship they had won by finishing far ahead of Clovis, the second place team, at the end of the regular season. In the play-off, they defeated Wink, the fourth place team, three in a row; then, in the final play-off, they took three straight from Clovis, dropped one, then took the fifth game to end a possible seven-game series.

Miller Is Sold

Manager James Eldridge "Hack" Miller, the hustling, fighting field skipper of the Hubbers, was notified shortly before Sunday's game that he had been purchased outright by the Dallas club of the Texas League, and ordered to report for spring training with the Steers next year. The transaction, on fire for several days, was announced to General Manager Harry Faulkner of the Hubbers in a long distance telephone call instigated by Bob Tarleton, general manager of the Steers, and head man of the Chicago White Sox farm system, of which Lubbock is a member.

Miller played left field for eight and two-thirds innings here Sunday, making nary a bobble fielding, and batting out a single and a double while driving in a couple of runs. He will report to Dallas as a catcher, and is practically certain of remaining with the club during the season.

To Play "Benefit" Game

The Hubbers will remain in town for another couple of days, at least through Tuesday, because on Tuesday night they will participate in a "benefit" game for themselves.

A strong semi-pro or professional club, probably Hamlin, will be brought to Lubbock Tuesday night. Fans will catch their last glimpse of the pennant winners, in action and intact, and will be contributing to the pennant fund.

Gedzius Starts It

But let's get down to a few details concerning the final and championship game, played here at Bell Park, before a crowd of about 1,500, here Sunday afternoon.

It was a long game, lasting two and a half hours, but nobody left, despite the fact the Hubbers got ahead early and stayed ahead all the way after the first inning.

Joe Gedzius, the larrupin' shortstop, opened the game by hitting the third pitch over the deep left-center field wall for a home run. The first man up in the game, he jumped on Luke Coburn's "cripple" and sent it a far piece. It was one of the longest home runs in the Clovis park.

Lubbock Goes Two Ahead

Coburn fanned Boyd Watkins, and Johnny Taylor grounded out to Harrison at third. Hack Miller sent a sizzling single past shortstop, advanced to second when Boyce in left sort of fumbled the ball. Stevens hit a hot one to Beals at second which he overthrew, and Miller scored. Carr flied to right.

That put Lubbock two ahead, but Clovis got three runs in their half of the first. Boyce and Watson led off with singles, and Harrison walked to fill the sacks, just like that. And it seemed the old Clovis jinx would pursue.

Tommy Fleming was pitching for Lubbock, and he was a bit wild, although normally an ace moundsman. He struck out Dick Ratliff then, but hit Tex Stuart, forcing in a run. Shorty Beals hit a long fly to center, which Watkins caught, but Watson scored on the play. Red Wyss, Clovis centerfielder and property of the Hubbers, singled to center, scoring Harrison. Fleming fielded Gotter's grounder and tossed him out at first, ending the frame.

The Hubbers kept going, however, knocked Coburn out in the second inning, and went to work on Jake Christie, the young righthanded star of the club.

Coburn Goes Out

Four runs came in for Lubbock in the second. Coburn walked Pete Melito — it was the first of three consecutive walks he received — and Bob Mosel, the Hubber first sacker and hitting star of the ball game, with two doubles and a single in five trips, clouted his first double, a long drive to right. It scored Melito. Fleming walked, and Coburn was relieved.

Christie walked Gedzius, then Boyd Watkins singled sharply to right, scoring Mosel and Fleming. Watkins was caught stealing, as Gedzius went to third, and he scored from there on Taylor's fly to left. Miller fanned.

The Hubbers pecked away at Christie for runs in every inning, and he went out in the fifth, with the bases loaded and one out, in favor of Ernie Nelson, lefthander and only pitcher in the league to win 20 games during the regular season. Nelson struck out Taylor and Miller to retire the side with only one run.

Gramly Blanks 'Em

Nelson held the Hubbers well in check from the seventh on, giving up three runs in the sixth when Stevens singled, Melito doubled, Mosel hit his second two-bagger, and Gedzius singled. One more came in the seventh when Taylor walked, went to third on Miller's double, scored on Melito's grounder.

Clovis' fourth run came in the sixth when Nelson hit a hot one to Fleming, who deflected it with his pitching hand. Gedzius fumbled the ball at short and Nelson was safe. Fleming was hurt, lost all use of his right thumb. He gave up three balls to Boyce, then hit him, and retired in favor of Marvin Gramly, ace righthander of the Lubbock team, who pitched four innings of hitless, runless baseball.

The cost of equipping an office which employs 100 persons with machines has been estimated at $36,400.

Frankie Frisch Is Out As Card Pilot

(By The Associated Press)

Frankie Frisch couldn't get the St. Louis Cardinals into the close National league race this season, even though they have been playing at least as well as any of the contenders during recent weeks, and as a result he's looking for a new job and the cards for a new manager.

And, by coincidence, the man who might have made Frankie a hero again this year, Paul Dean, picked the day Frisch was released to make his successful comeback on the mound. Paul defeated Pittsburgh's league-leading Pirates, 6-4, yesterday.

Gonzales To Handle Club

Frisch, Cardinal manager since the middle of the 1933 campaign, was handed his release before yesterday's game because, President Sam Greadon explained, "a change in managers of the club is necessary for 1939." Coach Mike Gonzales will handle the club the rest of the season. Frankie later explained he and Breadon couldn't agree on a 1939 salary.

Right afterward, the younger of the famous Dean brothers, who has been recovering from a sore arm by pitching a lot of games in the Texas league, returned to hurl his way out of a couple of tight spots and win from Pittsburgh. He gave 12 hits, got into trouble in the first inning when Johnny Rizzo hit a homer, but showed a lot of his old-time form after Johnny Mize's circuit clout put the Cards into the lead.

Pirates' Lead Cut

While the Cards couldn't move into sixth place, the defeat reduced Pittsburgh's lead to 3 1-2 games over the Chicago Cubs, who broke a second-place deadlock with Cincinnati by beating the Reds, 2-0, behind Bill Lee's four-hit flinging. The New York Giants also were whitewashed, 3-0, getting only seven hits off Brooklyn's Luke Hamlin.

Here's how the race stood today:

| Club | W. | L. | Pct. | Games To Be-hind | Play |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Pittsburgh | 74 | 54 | .588 | .... | 23 |
| Chicago | 75 | 59 | .560 | 3 1-2 | 20 |
| Cincinnati | 74 | 60 | .552 | 4 1-2 | 20 |
| New York | 73 | 61 | .545 | 5 1-2 | 20 |

Hank Greenberg again eclipsed the pennant "race" in the American league as he belted his 48th and 49th home runs while Detroit's Tigers took a doubleheader from Chicago, 10-1 and 5-3. These two clouts left him one behind the pace Babe Ruth set when he made his record total of 60 in 1927. Rudy York smacked his 33rd to win the second game.

Senators Defeat Yanks

These blows overshadowed the New York Yankees' 6-3 defeat by Washington as young Joe Krakauskas finally combined control with his speed and limited the champions to seven hits. Boston's Red Sox hammered out 19 hits and a 12-7 victory over the Athletics and took second place, 15 games behind the Yanks. New York still needs seven games to clinch the pennant.

Cleveland skidded into third place by splitting a doubleheader with St. Louis, winning the opener, 6-2, when Bob Feller pitched a five-hitter for his 15th win of the year, then losing, 4-3, as Russ Van Atta bested Mel Harder. The Phillies and Boston Bees divided yesterday's other twin bill, Philadelphia winning the first game, 11-2, and Boston the second, 3-2.

Firing Starts Today In Rain In National Amateur Tourney

OAKMONT COUNTRY CLUB, Oakmont, Pa., Sept. 12. (AP) — A steady drizzle of rain added to the notorious hazards of Oakmont's famous 6,981-yard stretch today as 165 competitors, led by John Goodman of Omaha, sallied forth on the first of two 18-hole qualifying rounds in the National Amateur golf tournament.

The only benefit of the rain was the slowing up of the lightning fast greens that took such a heavy toll of shot in the National Open here three years ago.

The general prediction was that a pair of 80's would be good enough to land among the 64 qualifiers, and that 145—one over par for 36 holes would be a cinch for the medal. That figure won the medal for Roland MacKenzie here in 1925.

Tyler Trojans And Henderson Meet In Fourth Game Tonight

TYLER, Sept. 12. (AP)—Bill Lanning and Phil Margavio were billed as opposing pitchers here tonight as the Tyler Trojans and the Henderson Oilers tangled in the fourth game of the East Texas league championship series.

Lanning and his Tyler mates are one game down in the series. Last night's scheduled game was postponed on account of rain. Both Lanning and Margavio are right-handers.

Manager Red Rollings said harmony had been restored in the Trojan fold following a threatened strike by a group of players Friday night.

Red Raiders Will Be On Parade Tonight

The Red Raiders go on parade tonight!

First public appearance of the Texas Tech footballers for 1938 is fabbed for 7:30 o'clock tonight at Tech Stadium—and Tech's athletic department is hoping there'll be a grandstand full.

There is no charge; everybody is invited, and everybody is welcome.

The occasion is Texas Tech's annual "coming out" football party, at which time the "debutantes" as well as the oldsters of college football will be informally introduced to local and South Pains fans.

To Be In Full Dress

Coaches Pete Cawthon, Dutchy Smith, Berl Huffman and Ed McKeever will have their squad of about 50 varsity candidates in full dress—and such dress! You'll gasp when you see the new uniforms the Techs will wear this season. They're the beau brummels of football, in dress at least, of the country. This year they're sporting scarlet silk suits, with colorful trimmings. You'll want to see them tonight—and again Saturday night.

Because on Saturday night, the Red Raiders open one of their roughest schedules in history by meeting the Montana State Bobcats of Bozeman, Mont. The Bobcats left Bozeman nearly a week ago, and are taking the trip in easy laps so as to be in shape when they arrive.

Fans Not To Be Disappointed

But for tonight, the Red Raiders are gracious hosts to a host of fans who won't go away disappointed.

Members of the Matador Club are especially invited to attend the ceremonies tonight.

The Raiders started practice Saturday, and indulged in their third official workout this morning. They're postponing the afternoon drill until tonight, and it's a public affair.

Car Turns Flip In Junk Car Race; No One Hurt Seriously

An extra thrill the folks had been waiting for came along yesterday afternoon in the junk car derby.

Bert Houston won the main event, bringing in his Bullfrog a full lap ahead of Otto Flynn, a former winner, who finished second.

But the complete flip executed by Herman Bush, driving the No. 13 entry, provided the big thrill of the afternoon. Bush, accompanied by Mechanic J. W. Martin, the car owner, was a little hasty at a hairpin curve, and his car turned completely over and landed back on its four wheels, or what was left of them. Both occupants stayed in the car during the flip-flop. Neither was hurt seriously, although they suffered several scratches and bruises, and one dislocated shoulder.

More Thrills Furnished

Houston and Dave Childers led off in the main event and furnished the crowd with more thrills and excitement than any previous race has provided. They were fairly evenly matched, and driving good races.

L. B. Gaither finished behind Flynn for third place, after taking first place in a consolation event. Jim Clark was the only other driver still going at the end of the 35-lap race.

None of the out-of-town entries qualified for the main race, but all of them indicated they would reenter for next Sunday's derby. Prize money has been raised for next Sunday's race. Entries should be posted at Bowen's Drug store.

Univ. Of Southern California Well Supplied With Material

(This is another series of 1938 college football prospects).

By ROBERT MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 12. — For five weary years football hopes at University of Southern California have soared with the sun in the summer and dropped with the leaves in the fall, but 1938 may be a different story for the men of Troy.

Twenty-six lettermen — two for each position on the team except left tackle and right end—are eligible for warfare, and included are cracker-jack backfield men like Ambrose Schindler, Bob Hoffman, Grenville Lansdell, and stalwart linemen like Harry Smith and Capt. Don McNeil.

Hard Ones On Schedule

Alabama, Ohio State, Stanford, California, Washington, Notre Dame —those are some of the foes sprinkled on Southern California's path this fall. Howard Jones, the head man of S. C. football, seemed justified when he observed:

"Our schedule is a killer. In the face of it, I wouldn't predict a championship if I had the best 11 men of all time."

"But," he added "we'll be considerably better than last year and we'll give anybody a ball game."

Has Too Much Material

Today the usual army of talent was on the Trojan practice field. Some say that Jones has too much material, that he lets many a diamond stay in the rough because he doesn't know its value.

This was true of Harry Smith, a burly, 217-or-more pounder, who tried at standing guard last year and sat unnoticed on the bench until late in the season. Suddenly he bloomed as one-man wrecking crew against Notre Dame and U. C. L. A.

His "discovery" is important because he has been shifted to running guard, a most vital position in the Jones system of offense. If Smith can handle the job, part of Jones' worries may be relieved.

Texas League Ends Its Season Sunday

The Texas league season came to a prosaic close Sunday night as attention was focused on the Shaughnessy series beginning Tuesday.

In the windup, Tulsa beat Dallas 10-1; Oklahoma City won over Fort Worth, 9-3; San Antonio took a couple games from Shreveport 3-0 and 1-0, and the scheduled Houston-Beaumont doubleheader was rained out.

Beaumont, league leader by eight games, braced for the hoodoo that has dogged seasonal winners. In three out of five seasons in which the league has used the Shaughnessy plan, clubs that did not lead won the playoff.

The fourth-place Tulsa club, first to tackle Beaumont in the playoff, will play at Beaumont Tuesday afternoon while the third-place Oklahoma City team engages the second-place San Antonio Missions at San Antonio that night. Wednesday game sites will be the same. Thursday will be used for traveling, and play will be resumed at Tulsa and Oklahoma City Friday.

Sports Roundup

BY SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—If Cholly Grimm and his banjo don't land with the Cardinals, the grapevine's wrong . . . And it might be a good parlay to pick Frankie Frisch for a connection with the Giants or Brooklyn . . . Tony Galento, back from the Poconos, scales a mere 240 —36 pounds heavier than when he left the hospital . . . He stuck to training rules pretty regularly down there, but one scout reports he spotted Tony digging into hot dogs and tomatoes at 2 a. m. Sunday . . . The Pirates are so anxious to take the pennant they've won exactly three of their last nine games . . . Tom Baker, who cost the Giants 20 G's and Freddy Fitzsimmons last year, lost 22 games for Jersey City this season . . . Are ya lis'nin' Mistah Terry? . . .

Has anyone heard from Dizzy since Daffy came back with a bang . . . Jesse Owens (remember?) is 25 today—and definitely will not celebrate by racing a race horse . . . Baltimore may have to bid against Minneapolis for Rogers Hornsby . . . Mike Kelly, the Millers' owner, is a pal of the Rajah's, and could try to land him for Donie Bush's job . . . Whizzer White will give up football for keeps when he finishes the pro season . . . He's going to take the Oxford course, then be a lawyer.

Wouldn't it be something if the Pirates and Reds beat each other's ears off in those seven games they still have to play—and the Cubs sneak in through the back door? . . Or would it? . . . Notre Dame's trip to Southern California in December has South Bend so hepped up already that some of the boys are planning a ten-day party through Louisiana, Texas, New Mexico and points north for everybody who wants to come . . . Joe DiMaggio polled 61 per cent of the votes to win the center field spot on that cereal company's popularity team.

Frankie Frisch says the real reason he left the Cards was because he and Sam Breadon couldn't agree on next year's pay . . . Incidentally, this department wouldn't be at all surprised if Onkel Frankie wasn't just a leetle bit glad to leave the Gas Housers behind . . . Dutch Meyer figures poor punting cost his Texas Christians a couple of games last year—so this season's kickers will really have to boot 'em.

JACKSON, Wyo., Sept. 9 (By Air Mail) — There are no cowboys shooting out the lights—or shooting up the town in general—but if there ever can be in this advanced day and age a "typical frontier outpost; this is it.

Located in the center of that half-moon of country which is the United States' best big game area, Jackson is as interesting and as appealing "wide place in the road" as you ever saw.

Believe it or not, but most of its handful of structures are built from native logs and the complexion of the community as a whole fits in with the average fellow's idea of the Wild and Wooly West.

Jackson has only 533 permanent residents but it is better known the nation over than many towns 10 and 20 times its size.

The reason, of course, is because to this interesting settlement annually come throngs of wealthy sportsmen who seek in the surrounding Jackson Hole country such game as mountain sheep, moose, elk, bear, antelope and whatever else they may happen to stumble upon.

Jackson is in the throes of getting ready for its big business period of the year.

Antelope season opened September 1. The season on the other game gets under way on September 15.

And the folks are even more in a dither than usual this time of year because the word has come out that Ty Cobb, greatest of all baseball players who is now living a life of ease on his well carred-for diamond earnings, is coming in with a party of huntsmen this week.

Jackson folks are used to big names — names powerful in finance, in commerce and in the professions.

But Ty Cobb is Ty Cobb—and every man, woman and child is getting set to see him—and give him a rousing Wyoming welcome—when he arrives.

OUR informants among the natives tell us that big game is as thick in and around Jackson this year as flies around a molasses barrel.

"Why," said one of them, "if you got time, I can run you up in your car, eight miles, and show you plenty of mountain sheep right now. They're grazing up on that mountain slope." And he indicated one of a dozen such slopes that rise from the settlement's fringe.

We remarked that since the game is protected in Teton National park on one rim of the Jackson Hole country — beautifully visible from Jackson's "main drag" — that hunting in the unprotected areas ought to be pretty easy.

But we didn't know our game.

"Mister, you'd be surprised," said another native, joining in the conversation. "There's lots of game here and with the right kind of guides and equipment, any hunter who can hit the side of a barn can get his share. But them animals is smart. They know they're protected over there and they can get back across Crystal creek quicker'n you can say 'Jack Robi'son' if you don't know how to head 'em off and get up within range."

Crystal creek, as you may have surmised, divides the open hunting territory from the protected areas south of Yellowstone park.

YOUR touring correspondent came out of Yellowstone by way of South Gate and through the beautiful Teton National forest.

We heard from Halbert Irvin Riefer, of the Avalanche-Journal staff and who was up here with the Boy Sprouts a few weeks ago, that the Teton range country had Yellowstone beat to death for scenery.

We heard the same thing in Denver, in Cheyenne and in Cody — until finally we began to think that maybe there was something to the rumor.

So instead of leaving by West Gate, and proceding to Salt Lake City via Pocatello and Idaho Falls, we took the south exit and peeked at the Teton forest and its accompanying mountain range.

And while the going is slow, the road narrow and made up of a succession of hairpin curves, we're sure glad we came this way.

We are really seeing scenery as is scenery.

Some unnamed writer is quoted as saying of Teton park's astounding massings of mountain spires: "They look as mountains should look," and he sure hit the nail on the thumb.

Especially as they are viewed as background to the deep blue of passive Jackson lake, the Tetons are marvelous and, as Mr. Conoco says in his guide book, "present a barbaric contrast to Yellowstone scenery."

The whole picture of the lake with the snow-capped, ragged-rocked mountains rearing up over 10,000 feet in the background looks like the pictures you've seen of the Swiss Alps and their accompanying blue water.

When you make the Yellowstone trip, be sure and either go in or come out through the Tetons.

JUST north of here 33 miles is a little place with only a handful of residents called Moran.

Its small cluster of log houses faces Jackson lake and a supreme view of the Teton range, with Wildcat and Huckleberry peaks almost hulking over it.

As we halted there and grudgingly paid 27 cents per gallon for as little gas as we could buy to get us further down the line, it occurred to The Plainsman that here would be a swell place to recover from a nervous breakdown — or, if no excuse were needed —to just "set down fer awhile" on a real, sure enough restful vacation.

A couple or three weeks in Moran would be sure to do one of two things to a fellow.

It either would relax him good and proper—or it would drive him plumb crazy for lack of contact with the bustling world.

Our last razoo around Yellowstone today was probably the most delightful part of the trip thus far from a standpoint of weather.

We started today's gawking in a temperature of 50 degrees about 7:30 this morning, but the funny think about it, it wasn't cold.

There was scarcely any breeze and the altitude of around 7,000 to 8,262 — at Craig Pass where we crossed to the Pacific side of the International Divide — was as invigorating as it could be.

We didn't see any more moose, bears or buffalo, but we sure did get a kick out of just breathing and watching the early morning sun filter through the lofty Douglas firs.

WE ARE pushing on from here, through the balance of the mountains and then across the vast and rolling grazing lands of western Wyoming, to Salt Lake City, where we aim to soak up some information about the miraculous trek of the Mormon pioneers and how they wrested a great and prosperous territory from what, less than a century ago, was a foreboding desert.

The Plainsman is looking forward to Salt Lake City and to Utah, in general, because of the intriguing history behind the Mormon settlement and its particular brand of culture.

Although knowing little of the theology adhered to by the Church of the Latter Day Saints, the writer has long had a deep and abiding respect for its people — and especially for its early day leaders whose courage and foresight added to our country a magnificent and valuable empire.

CAST OF CHARACTERS

KINKAID PARKER—hero. Handsome, jobless, he has just inherited half-interest in a vacant Connecticut home.

SALLY PENNINGTON — heroine. Blond, pretty, she has inherited the other half of the home. Together they turn it into a "Restatorium."

Yesterday: Not everyone is haywire at the Restatorium. Kinks observes as a well-dressed gentleman appears after the Griffin - Cheese feud.

CHAPTER XVI

Mr. C. K. Titus was a quiet man with grave, kindly eyes and a pleasant manner. He arrived at noon the next day after the Great Pierre had returned and, with many "Mon Dieus" and "Parbleus," reincarcerated his snakes. It is a matter of conjecture whether or not Mr. Titus would have remained at a house that permitted reptiles to wander at large. Since he seemed entirely sane, the probabilities are against it. But, happily, he came when all traces of the previous night's disorder had been cleared away. Without ceremony, he engaged the last room that Sally had to let.

The advent of Mr. Titus appeared to bring a great wave of peace to the Restatorium. The days that followed were uneventful. Mr. Titus himself kept his own company, spending long hours in the grounds and rowing on the river. The other members of the household settled down to their usual pursuits.

Much to the surprise of Sally and Kinks, the team of Griffin and Spaldini remained at the Restatorium even though the Little Cheese was no longer gurning for them. Bull explained this phenomenon in that the organization dominated his inimitable fashion. It appeared by the Little Cheese was large and widespread. Its members were under orders to give the works to Mr. Griffin on sight. Wherefore he had deemed it advisable to remain where he was until the Little Cheese had had time to round up his cohorts and announce that the feud had been called off. Otherwise, said Bull, some wandering member of the Cheese's gang, unaware of the renewal of the beautiful friendship, might inadvertently "plug him in da head."

To add to the general serenity that now prevailed, Wilton Ames had been in and out and making himself most agreeable. And to Sally, Wilton was more than agreeable. He was downright apologetic. Not only had the shares of the Great Divide Copper company failed to go up; they had cravenly turned tail and slid toward the market's nadir. As day succeeded day they had continued to slide. With the due date for the payment of the mortgage interest and amortization impending alarmingly, Sally found that the stock was worth precisely 25 cents a share.

Off and on in these last few days she had been tackling Wilton about it. And Wilton never failed to be charmingly contrite. He couldn't understand it. His tip had come straight from the horse's mouth, as it were. He had always found the judgment of Brown, Sherlock, Inc., his brokers, well-nigh infallible. He added that he had not been unaware of the stock's decline. He had been in touch with the brokers. They were still firm in assuring him that the promised rise would come.

"But what good will that do me?" said Sally distractedly. "If the rise comes after we've lost this place, it just isn't any use. Oh, I know it's not your fault, Wilton. You meant well. But I wish I'd hung on to my money."

"I'm terribly sorry," said Wilton. "I—I wish I could get Dad to extend the time for payment. But I've talked myself blue in the face and he simply says dogmatically that it can't be done."

Then one day Kinks brought up the general subject of finances.

"How's the exchequer getting along?" he asked.

"There is," Sally informed him, "just about $400 in the exchequer. Bull Griffin paid for another week in advance and I've hoarded everything and stalled off the tradesmen. In other words, Mr. Parker, we need $200 and we need it in a hurry. You may have forgotten it, but the deadline is 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon."

Kinks wrinkled his brow. "I hadn't forgotten. I've been beating my brain to think of a way to raise some dough. But, honestly, I'm stymied. Isn't there anybody we could borrow from?"

"Not a soul that I know of," said Sally. "And I don't see how we could approach any of our guests for a loan. We'd have to put up some—some collateral, wouldn't we? And we've nothing but a property already mortgaged." Suddenly she bit her lip. "The—the pitiful part is that if I hadn't been a darn fool, we might have almost made it."

"What do you mean?" said Kinks quickly.

Sally was in the mood for true confessions. Yielding to an impulse she told Kinks everything.

He heard her out. At the end of the recital he stared at her perplexedly.

"But, good heavens, girl," he exclaimed. "Didn't you know that the Great Divide Copper Company has been on the rocks for months?"

"Now how on earth would I know that?" retorted Sally irritably. "If it comes to that, how do you know it?"

"You forget, little one, that I was in the bond and stock business before I became half a hotel proprietor or the proprietor of half a hotel. It's a well-known fact. Our firm laid off Great Divide like poison."

For a moment Sally was silent. "Then you think . . ." She did not finish it.

"It does not become me to speak ill of my greatest rival," said Kinks. "But it looks as if friend Wilton, for reasons of his own, has slipped over a fast one. I simply can't picture a good house like Brown, Sherlock recommending Great Divide."

Sally pondered.

"I don't believe Wilton would do such a thing," she said, at last.

"Well," said Kinks, "there's one way to find out. If you went in and called Brown, Sherlock on the phone, you might get the real low-down. You've just been going on what Wilton's been telling you."

Sally stood silent for another moment. Then, suddenly, she turned on her heel. Presently Kinks heard her slam the screen door.

He waited 10 minutes. When Sally came back her face was white and set.

"When I get my hands on Wilton Ames," she said bitterly, "I'm going to tear him into little pieces. Those brokers not only didn't recommend Great Divide. They told me distinctly that for a year they've been advising their customers against buying it." Her blue eyes misted suddenly. "Oh, I never heard of such a dirty trick. When he knew darn well how much I want to keep this place."

Kinks patted her shoulder gently. "If you don't decide to marry those little pieces of Wilton," he said, "you might remember that Parker is still around. And Parker is willin'."

"Oh, go away," said Sally.

That evening Sally went to her room after dinner. Kinks mooned vacantly about, wrestling with the problem of how to raise $200. He finally found Mr. C. K. Titus sitting alone. In a sudden burst of confidence, he told him about their predicament.

The quiet gentleman listened attentively.

"Well, he said, when Kinks was finished. "it's a grand place. Too bad you're going to have to lose it. I'm very sorry, young man. Very sorry. But now . . . well. I'll just say good night."

Kinks stared after him.

"Huh?" he muttered. "That guy can sure toss other people's troubles over his shoulder. Oh, gee, this is a mess. Dispossessed at 3 tomorrow. And Sally is going to be heartbroken."

He spent a restless, futile night. When he came down next morning two people occupied the dining-room. One was Mrs. Clipstack who stood with arms folded, her habitual expression of severity on her face. The other was the Great Pierre. And the Great Pierre was idly passing his hands over a saltcellar, making it disappear and reappear in a most disconcerting fashion.

Kinks watched him for a second. Then, suddenly, he started. Inspiration, like a great white light, had flooded his brain.

REMOVAL TO BE DIFFICULT

Many citizens will agree with President Roosevelt's contention that poll taxes should be abolished, though probably not for the same reason.

The fact that his assertion came so soon after several Roosevelt-supported candidates had suffered decisive election defeats justifies the supposition that the President may have been irritated. He doubtless reasoned—correctly—that many of those who did not pay poll taxes are on relief rolls of various kinds and, with the privilege of voting, would have supported Administration candidates. Perhaps he believed the numbers would have been sufficient to change the result of some of the elections.

The poll tax problem, however, is not as bad as some may imagine. Most states levy no such tax. Most of those that do are in the South where they were adopted after Reconstruction days as a necessary protection against the liberated, but still ignorant, blacks. It is only fair to say that this condition no longer justifies a poll tax.

Probably the time will come when poll taxes will be abolished in all states because it does not seem consistent with democracy that a citizen should have to pay for the exercise of the right to vote. But that time probably is distant. The poll tax has become so firmly entrenched as a revenue measure—in Texas as much as in any state—that its removal will be extremely difficult.

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 12.—An interview with the screen's leading baby:

Q.—Your name is Paul Clark, jr., age 9 months? And isn't that Marie Wilson's lap you're sitting on?

A.—Yes, we've been good friends since we each got our big break in "Boy Meets Girl." She's aiding my career a great deal now by coaching me in dialog. Say something to the nice man, Marie.

Reply of Miss Wilson: Oo-o-o-o! —wussums nicums mans?

A.—You see how she talks; helps me in character. Of course I don't think I'm really any more childish than lots of other people in this business. No wonder it's called "the infant industry"!

Q.—Surely you don't mean there are too many children.

A. — No, I mean "childish" as adults use the term. Did you ever see a movie queen, at a wardrobe fitting, rip a dress to shreds because it didn't have a certain kind of doodad on it? Did you ever hear a great lover bawl out a scared waitress for not serving him ahead of a couple of minor players who came in first? Did you—

Q.—Pardon me, Mr. Clark — are you interviewing me?

Don't Interrupt! He's Got To Get It Said

A.—Never mind; I'm telling you. Did you ever see a big executive take a little executive's dolls away from him and break up his nice, shiny romances?

Interruption by Miss Wilson: Naughty-naughty, baddy-waddy!

A.—And tattle-tales! Imagine a big lummox like You-Know-Who running to the boss and hollering, "I won't play with that girl! She bites!"

And movie people brag just as extravagantly as children are supposed to. One man says, "I bet I'm gonta make the biggest, grandest picture that ever was!" Another man says no, he's gonta make a bigger one, on account of his bankers will let him do anything he wants to.

So the first one says HIS bankers probably will give him an allowance of two million dollars to spend, and the second man says pooh!—he's gonta spend three million dollars. Pretty soon they're both broke, and smarting from the spanking they've had in the box office, and for awhile they sit around agreeing that bankers are very unreasonable people and that the public doesn't appreciate art in the cinema.

Q.—That sounds very profound, Mr. Clark. Don't you think so, Miss Wilson?

Opinion from Miss Wilson: Yes um wuzzum SUCH a smart boykins!

Q. — What have you observed about temperament in Hollywood?

A.—Just tantrums — that's all temperament is. Some of the babyfaces have learned that if they lie down on the job and kick and scream, somebody will say, "Never mind, darling, we'll fire the nasty old director and change the story, and you can have that extra thousand a week for candy, and the little red Rolls-Royce, if you'll be a good girl."

I don't think I'm tempermental. Wouldn't any actor holler if he was sitting on a pin? Wouldn't Robert Taylor or Tyrone Power or anybody squirm around and complain if he needed to have his—ah—

Q. — Yes, yes of course. You babies have special problems.

Remark from Miss Wilson: Um does! Of tourse um does!

It's A Wonder They Live Through It

A.—Another handicap is the rules they've got for us. A baby isn't allowed to work until he's 10 days old. Then he can be in the studio only two hours a day, work a total of only 20 minutes, and be under the lights only three seconds at a time. Could Barrymore or Garbo get into the spirit of a scene in that time? Imagine Luise Rainer or Paul Muni trying to work up to a fine emotional pitch in three seconds!

After a kid is 6 months old he can work a total of two hours and be under the lights a little longer. But just as I get to going good, a nurse with a stopwatch takes me out. Then, when I yell bloody murder, people say, "Ah, a touch of temperament."

Q.—Do you expect to continue in the movies, Mr. Clark?

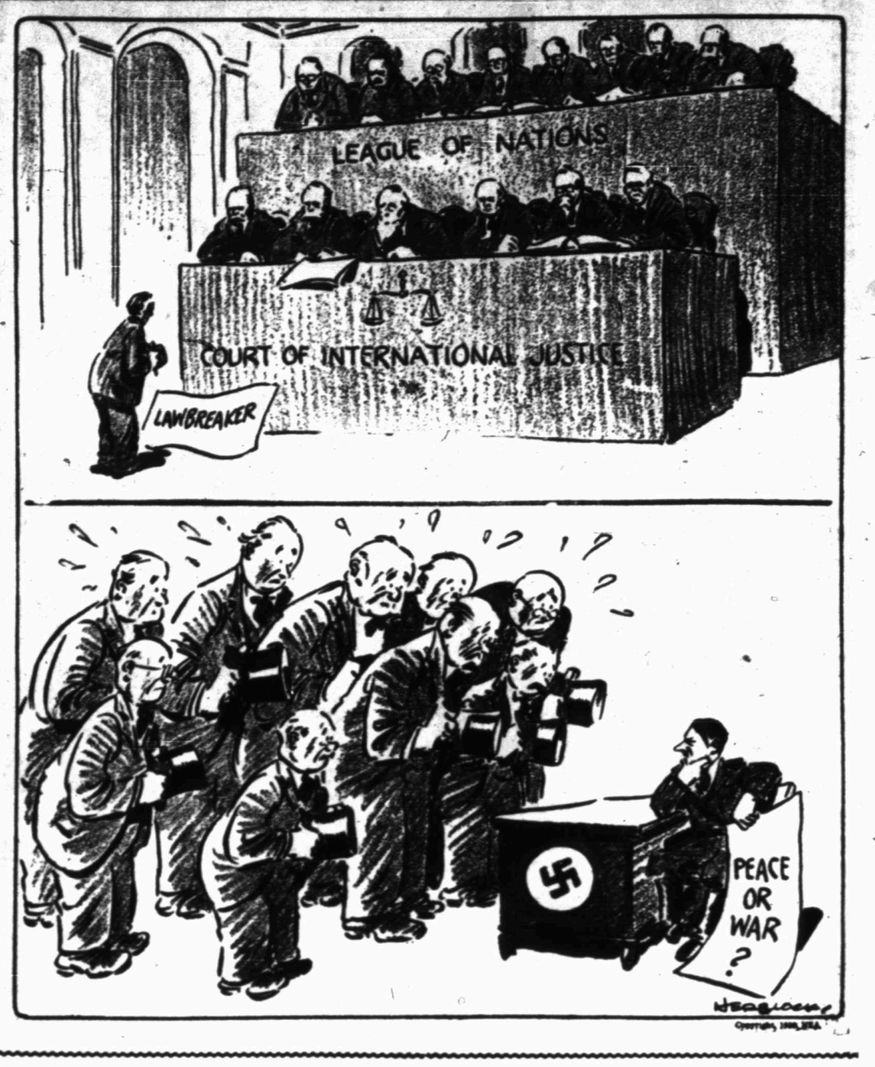

A.—Well, I'm luckier than most, on account of a good picture and getting lots of fan mail. I might even last as long as Baby LeRoy, who quit at 30 months. I've got a sister, though, Kathleen, who was washed up at 12 months.

The average screen baby's career is only three weeks. And it's typical of Hollywood that the older he gets and the more he knows, the less he earns. New babies get $5 a day; after one month they get $50 a day, and after three months, $25. After six months they're only paid $11, unless they're lucky enough to have a contract.

Imagine!—a measly $11, while $5000-a-week stars are unwilling to work with 'em because the kids steal all the scenes!

Comment from Miss Wilson: Poor little oosums-woosums!

There's More Than Headlines Tell Behind Scenes Of Senate Investigation Hearings

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Behind the scenes of a senate investigation far more goes on than is apparent in full dress public hearings.

Only occasionally is a committee surprised by testimony. Usually there has been a long period of painstaking investigation, careful preparation of documentary evidence and pertinent questions, and other stage-setting.

Dutcher

Best current illustration is the LaFollette civil liberties committee. In method, in its great care to establish a factual, incontrovertible record, its work compares with the Pecora stock market investigation, the job Senator Nye and Stephen Raushenbush did with the munitions industry and the work of Senator Wheeler and Max Lowenthal in the railroad finance inquiry.

Nearly every such committee is out to prove something, usually with remedial legislation in view. Senator LaFollette and his colleague Senator Thomas of Utah set out to prove the extent to which corporations' detective agencies had operated illegally or questionably in labor disputes.

LaFollette staged preliminary hearings to advertise need for the inquiry. Union men told sensational tales of anti-labor violence and anti-union spying. Then, with an initial $15,000 appropriation and since grown to $150,000, a staff was picked—attorneys, investigators, accountants, statisticians, clerks, stenographers, economists and a chartmaker. At peak about 100 paid employes, volunteers and men lent from federal agencies were working. All were working. All were found in Washington, where they were known. "Stool-pigeons" representing groups investigated always try to get on committee staffs.

Starting out to show extent and methods of labor espionage, investigators promptly went after the detective agencies with subpoenas for records. About all they got was torn-up waste paper, through quick demands on office-building managers. Pieced together the scraps proved sensational evidence against at least one agency.

Investigators naturally visited people who said their civil liberties had been violated. Sometimes evidence seemed reliable, sometimes not.

Banks nearly always cooperate, thus helping expose public officials whose bank accounts swell strangely.

Unexpected volunteers pop up, as did the garage man in Elwood, Ind., who found important evidence in a Republic Steel police captain's discarded automobile. Others offer "sell-out" information for cash, which is never paid. Investigators work 10 to 18 hours a day in the field, as they must have many interviews at night.

Finally comes a period of hearings. Investigators and lawyers work beyond midnight preparing cases. Lawyers prepare "briefs"—sequences of questions to be asked witnesses by the chairman. LaFollette and Thomas ask their own questions as well as those prepared. In some investigations a chief investigator or counsel interrogates, as brilliant Ferdinand Pecora did.

On the chairman's left sits the committee secretary, who knows the past record and has transcripts of previous testimony at his side. On the right is the chief counsel or lawyer who prepared the case, and next to him the investigator who dug up the evidence.

Sometimes a witness tells more than the committee knows. He's at a disadvantage because the committee always has certain documentary evidence and he can't tell how much. Testimony often is changed when documents indicating the contrary are produced. Copies of documents and exhibits often bulk as large in the record as the transcript itself. Walls of hearing rooms usually are decorated with charts or maps of corporate set-ups and connections, areas of violence and photographs.

In sharp contrast with Chairman Martin Dies of the House "Un-

American" committee, LaFollette insists on high standards of evidence such as would stand up in a law court. Lately he has sought never to draw from a witness charges against another person unless the other person is on hand to reply. Committee investigators possessed of affidavits from men claiming to have been paid by agencies to explode dynamite or stink bombs so that strikers would be blamed have been disappointed to learn LaFollette wouldn't accept evidence offered by scoundrels.

While the average executive does not throw his mail on the floor, as has the portly gentleman with the big cigar, the picture does bring home a serious fact which no letter writer can afford to ignore. Competition is great. Your letter will probably be one of many the reader gets in his morning mail. To get "undivided attention" your letter must be attractive—different! And your letterhead is a most important factor. The Baker Company always has the most modern type faces—add the skill of our master compositor, and you have a letterhead with a real "punch". ### Two Are Injured In Crash At Plainview Saturday

PLAINVIEW, Sept. 12, (Special)—Mrs. H. A. Walker, 53, and Ellen Walker, 14, both of Plainview, were injured when an automobile driven by John Henry Walker, 22, was in collision at intersection of Seventh and Ash streets Saturday, said a report filed this morning with the highway patrol district headquarters in Lubbock.

Kent Jackson, 24, was driver of the other car, said reports.

SHERIFF INVESTIGATING

Sheriff Jim Williams of Crosby county this morning was investigating a wreck that caused no injuries near Ralls Sunday, said the highway patrol office in Lubbock.

No further details had been learned here late this morning.

Emergency Treatment Is Given Two After Collision Sunday

An automobile collision Sunday in the canyon east of Lubbock's city limits caused two persons to receive emergency attention in hospitals of Lubbock, said the highway patol office.

Driver of one car was sought after it assertedly had struck the rear of a car in which were "Doc" Moss and J. L. Tucker, both of Lubbock, said the patrol office, and the two injured men and another, all in the "back car," were assessed fines for drunkenness, said officials.

The driver of the rear car was quoted by officials as having jumped out after the impact and asked Moss and Tucker to remain at the wreck scene so as to have officials check into damage. But he got into another car and disappeared, said witnesses.

Authorities said they knew who he was.

have been using the threat of western competition to hammer down the premiums paid for delta staple.

The planters have found that they can grow about a hundred pounds more lint to the acre by planting seeds of a little shorter staple. In that way they get an extra bale of cotton off of every five acres. That more than balances the higher price they would get for the longer staple.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP) — Cotton futures opened unchanged to 3 higher on steady Liverpool cables and good trade buying of near months. Oct. 7.92; Dec. 7.93; Jan. 7.93; March 7.88; May 7.88; July 7.85.

Pressure was limited with near month liquidation absorbed by spot houses while southern hedge selling in late positions was taken by moderate foreign buying.

Dec. sold up from 7.92 to 7.96 leaving prices at net advances of 3 to 5 points late in the first hour.

August domestic cotton consumption was estimated by the N. Y. Cotton exchange service at 565,000 bales against 449,000 in July and 604,000 in August a year ago.

The market held steady later in the morning on continued buying by the trade and scattered domestic and foreign sources. Local buying was attracted by a steadier tone in the stock market.

At midday Dec. sold at 7.98 and the list was 5 to 7 points net higher.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 12 (AP) — Cotton prices showed little net change on opening transactions here today. Foreign markets were better than expected but buying support was lacking.

Initial trades were unchanged to three points lower with Oct. contracts 8.00, Dec. at 8.02, Jan. at 8.01, March at 7.98, May at 7.93, July at 7.92 and Oct. (new) at 7.82 bid.

Unfavorable weather in the belt bolstered the undertone later in the morning and the market continued to fluctuate narrowly because of tense conditions aboard.

Near mid-session Oct. contracts sold at 8.03, Dec. at 8.07, March at 8.03, May at 7.96 and July at 7.94, or unchanged to four points higher compared with the previous close.

The weather map showed rain measuring in excess of one inch in parts of the western belt and operators feared that the excessive moisture would damage young cotton and result in increased weevil activity.

The turnover Saturday was 28,250 bales and open commitments 399,900 bales, an increase of 4,200 bales from the previous market day.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Sept. 12 — Despite uneasiness over the European political crisis, Chicago wheat values had a downward slant today from start to finish.

An increase of 3,963,000 bushels in the United States wheat visible supply total was noted. Little or no export interest developed regarding wheat from this country.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were ⅛-⅜ lower compared with Saturday's finish, Sept. 61⅞, Dec. 62¾-⅞, corn ⅛-⅜ down, Sept. ¾, Dec. 49½-⅝, and oats unchanged to ⅝ off.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Ending one of the most crucial days in European history since the World war, the stock market today had shown ability to take the crisis in stride and prices, after early irregularity, showed a number of gains running to 1 to 3 points.

Steels and motors began the late morning improvement which carried through the day and was around the day's best levels at the close.

The session was conspicuous for timid pace of dealings, as traders awaited the fateful speech of Chancellor Adolf Hitler which might cast the die for peace or war in Europe. However, coming as it did nearly at the finish of business, the news was too late to materially affect prices. Transfers approximated 600,000 shares.

Constitution

justices by popular vote, limitation of an individual's wealth, the granting of five votes apiece to "best citizens" and a ban on absolute divorce with the right to remarry.

The plural voting amendment was offered in 1917 by Representative "Alfalfa Bill" Murray of Oklahoma, who wanted to make the home a greater unit of political strength. He proposed that every citizen over 21 be entitled to one vote, with an extra vote for each of the following "merits":

Being married, being the head of a family with at least two minor dependent children, having mastered a certain curriculum to be uniform throughout the United States, and having served in the army or navy against a foreign foe.

In 1914, Senator Ransdell of Louisiana was alarmed by a rising tide of divorce. He proposed to let congress prohibit remarriage after absolute divorce, and to provide for passage of uniform marriage laws.

A Sweeping Idea

In 1910, Representative Madden of Illinois proposed one of the most sweeping amendments. It would have authorized Congress to punish pandering, bigamy, kidnaping and conspiracy in restraint of trade; to provide for adjustment of controversies between capital and labor and to regulate marriage, divorce and alimony. It also would have allowed the states to retain Federal income taxes except in the event of war or great emergency.

More than 200 proposed amendments have been designed to limit the number of years in office and the terms of a President. Since a third term for President Roosevelt is one of the big political question marks, you can look for more suggested amendments along that line at the 1939-1940 sessions of Congress.

are applied, millions of people are being manhandled and suppressed. The great democracies want to convince the world that Czechoslovakia has a special political and military mission to fulfill.

"Three and a half million Germans in Czechoslovakia are being systematically ruined and doomed to slow extinction."

"The depriving of these human beings of all rights must come to an end," the Fuehrer thundered.

Olive Branch To France

But again the German chancellor held out an olive branch to France.

"Strausbourg means much, but we have surrendered it in the interest of peace to settle for once and for all the eternal strife with France," he said, referring to the cession of Alsace-Loraine after the World war.

"On other frontiers too we have made sacrifices. We have acted more than loyally."

Man's Arm Is Lost In Crash

The left arm of Terrell Weeks, 22, of Lorenzo was cut off above the elbow when two cars were in collision about 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning between Lorenzo and Idalou.

The arm was clipped off when the car driven by Weeks and one driven by Winston Watson of Lubbock and Haskell scraped sides. Weeks' left arm apparently was resting on the door of the car.

Car Overturned

The impact of the collision overturned the Watson car, which rolled over "two or three times," said L. B. Watson, father of the driver and who was riding in the car.

J. E. Walling of Haskell suffered a sprained wrist and Mrs. Walling suffered minor cuts. They received emergency treatment at Lubbock sanitarium. Mr. and Mrs. Walling, Miss Jean Conner, and Miss Mary Lou Johnson of Haskell were riding in the Watson car, besides the father and son. Watson recently established a home at 2117 Thirteenth street and members of his family now are living here. He and his son, Winston Watson, will remain in Haskell a few months before coming to Lubbock to stay, however.

Brought To Lubbock

A car that arrived at the scene of the accident "about five minutes" after the collision brought the victims to Lubbock.

Weeks was weak from loss of blood when he entered Lubbock sanitarium, it was said this morning at the sanitarium. The stump of the arm was amputated near the shoulder. It was said this morning he spent a "fairly good night" and his condition was not considered serious. He is an employe of a Lorenzo service station.

Watson said the Weeks' car had turned out, apparently to pass another car, then had turned back to the right side of the road when its driver saw the Watson car approaching.

The portion of arm that had been clipped off was picked up from the highway by Watson.

Two other persons were riding in the automobile with Weeks. Their names were not available this morning from investigators.

Parallel Seen

after the assassination June 28 of Archduke Franz Ferdinand, heir to the Austrian throne, and his wife, by a young Serb. After diplomatic exchanges and an ultimatum, Austria invaded Serbia.

Then, another curious parallel with the present occurred. Britain suggested as a compromise that Austria be content with the occupation of Belgrade until indemnification was paid for the assassination. The London Times, although disavowed by the British foreign office, has proposed that Germany be permitted to occupy the Sudeten portion of Czechoslovakia and be content with that.

On the ground that Austria also had mobilized troops in Galicia, facing Russia, Czar Nicholas issued pre-mobilization orders July 26 and later full mobilization decrees. Austria mobilized July 30.

Order Is Recalled

Germany came into the military picture July 31 with an imperial order declaring "a state of threatening danger of war." She mobilized August 1, following ultimata to Russia and France.

General mobilization had just been decreed in France. On July 30, the French government ordered its troops to stay six miles back of the frontier to avoid incidents with German troops.

Belgium placed her army on a "reinforced peace footing" July 30. General mobilization followed the next day.

So diplomats gave way to generals and admirals when decisions had to be made. Germany's declarations of war against Russia and France came August 3.

bus, while the Democrats had a four-way gubernatorial contest.

There will be senatorial primaries tomorrow in Arizona, Colorado, New Hampshire, Vermont, Utah, and Washington, but in most of these states the incumbents have little or no intra-party opposition.

Other Votes Slated

Louisiana also will have a primary, but Democrats there already have declared Senator John H. Overton renominated. Michigan, which has no senatorship at stake this year, will decide other contests in a primary.

In Georgia Wednesday the primary will be between Senator Walter George, whom the president wants defeated; Lawrence Camp, White House choice; former Governor Eugene Talmadge, and William G. McRae.

Texas Democrats

introduced early in the convention instructing the committee on platform and resolutions to consider only the issues raised by O'Daniel.

Should this course be followed potential bombs of controversy such as legalization of horse race betting and liquor sale by the drink, which some delegates had threatened to toss in the convention windows, possibly would not appear.

Matters May Be Considered

Among matters which O'Daniel favored during his successful quest of the governorship and which therefore might be mentioned in the platform were payment of the full amount of old age pensions allowed by the law to everyone over 65 years of age and abolition of the poll tax as a prerequisite to voting.

Soon after O'Daniel's arrival and enthusiastic greeting by several thousand persons congregated at the railroad station—he had journeyed by special train from his home in Fort Worth—he said it looked as if the convention would be "a love feast."

En route, the nominee, was accompanied by Mrs. O'Daniel, his sons, Pat and Mike, and his daughter, Molly, made several rear platform appearances to talk to and shake hands with members of large crowds. In Houston he was entertained at a dinner.

Mann Is Far From Being Lost In The Shuffle At Session

BEAUMONT, Sept. 12, (AP)—Gerald C. Mann, Texas' next attorney general, was playing second fiddle to Governor-Nominate W. Lee O'Daniel at the state Democratic parley here today but was far from being lost in the shuffle.

The "red arrow" of Southern Methodist university football fame was showered with congratulations on his smashing triumph in the attorney generals race despite O'Daniel's active opposition.

Honored In Dinner

After being honored at a dinner last night attended by several state officials, Mann held open house today at one of the hotels.

The young Dallas attorney said he would take no active part in state convention delibreations and certainly had no intention of causing friction.

The former All-Southwest conference gridster was left off the official Dallas county delegates' list. He said, however, that his old home county of Hopkins and "about 50 other counties came to my rescue and offered to place me on their delegations."

Among party leaders at the Mann dinner were: State Comptroller George H. Sheppard, State Auditor Tom King, Tax Commissioner Albert K. Daniel, District Judge Ralph W. Yarborough of Austin and Everett Looney, state Democratic executive committeeman from Austin.

Speculation On Garner Boom Increased At Beaumont

BEAUMONT, Sept. 12. (AP) — Speculation increased here today on what action, if any, the Texas Democratic convention would take tomorrow to further the boom for Vice President John N. Garner as the presidential nominee in 1940.

Some sources believed delegates would praise the Roosevelt administration and at the same time put forward the conservative Garner as Texas Democracy's choice for the presidency two years hence.

Might Be Slap At FDR

Others felt the matter might not be touched upon due to the desire of the convention leaders to avoid everything with any possibility of causing a controversy. They said indorsement of Garner might be considered in some quarters as a slap at President Roosevelt, especially in view of the Roosevelt third term talk.

Several county Democratic conventions in Texas this summer went on record in favor of Garner for president. Texas and California supported him for that position in 1932.

Besides Garner, Jesse H. Jones of Houston, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, has been mentioned as a possible Texas "favorite son" in the 1940 Democratic presidential nominating convention.

merce committee working on the project are Spencer A. Wells, R. C. Hopping, George Simmons, and A. B. Davis.

Tech Joined In Drive

Soon after the 1938 farm bill was passed providing for establishment of the four regional laboratories, representatives of Texas Tech joined in an intensive drive to secure the laboratory for Texas. The statewide cotton committee has led in the drive.

Heard is one of the seven delegates designated to represent Texas in a conference in Birmingham, Ala., Monday and Tuesday. At the conference, a program of work for the southern laboratory will be discussed.

The southern regional laboratory, to be devoted in its initial stages principally to research on cotton, peanuts, and sweet potatoes, is to be located somewhere in the area including Texas, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

On the floor of the house of representatives last spring, Rep. George Mahon said he thought the campus of Texas Tech the appropriate location for such a laboratory in the South. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce passed a resolution recommending the Lubbock college as site for the laboratory.

Deputy Returns — Cap Moore, deputy sheriff, Mrs. Moore and their sons returned this morning from a week's vacation in several Texas towns ranging to as far south as Smithville. Mrs. C. H. Partlow, mother of Mrs. Moore, returned with the Moores from Winters.

Pythians Will Meet In City

Grand officials of the Knights of Pythias, here to attend the regional district meet Tuesday, and a group from the Lubbock lodge were to leave early this afternoon for Paducah to participate in a district meeting there in which a Pythian Sister temple will be organized.

They will return tonight for tomorrow's meeting for which Lubbock lodge No. 486 will be host. Russell Hardin is chancellor commander.

Girls' mandolin orchestra from the Pythian home in Weatherford was presented in a concert at the First Methodist church in services Sunday night. The orchestra, with the boys' harmonica band, was accompanied here by Earl Maisel, superintendent of the home, and Mrs. Maisel, matron and the musical director.

Registration of guests for the regional district meet will open at 5:30 Tuesday afternoon, followed by a banquet at Lubbock hotel ballroom at 6 o'clock. Banquet will honor Weylon C. Frasier of Waco, grand chancellor, and Mrs. Jeanette Hensley of Santa Anna, grand chief of the Pythian Sisters organization. Music will be presented by the harmonica band and mandolin orchestra.

To Confer Ranks

A team from Tom Green lodge of San Angelo will confer the rank of page on a class to be named for Grand Chancellor Frasier, in a closed Pythian meeting at 8 o'clock Tuesday night.

Visiting Pythian sisters will be entertained by members from the Lubbock temple in the junior ballroom that night. Groups from the home will furnish music.

Wednesday's program will include a regional district meeting of Pythian Sisters and the fall ceremonial of the Dokey organization of the Lubbock temple.

Officials Arrive Sunday

Grand officials who arrived Sunday for the meeting here were: Grand Chancellor Frasier; Theo Yarbrough of Weatherford, grand keeper of records and seal; and Frank E. Smith of Abilene, grand vice chancellor, of Knights of Pythias.

Grand Chief Hensley; Mrs. Lula Johnson of Santa Anna, past grand chief and now a member of the advisory board of the Pythian home; Mrs. Mittie Phillips of Tyler, grand senior; Mrs. Frances Redies of Abilene, grand junior; and Mrs. Polly Gage of Houston, grand mistress of records and correspondence, of the Pythian Sisters.

Tech Faculty Meets

roll Parker Brady, and Miss Ruth Spalding. W. W. Condray and J. I. Kilpatrick, who are special instructors in the economics and business administration department, also were introduced.

A reception for students to be given by administrative officials was scheduled for the night of Sept. 23. An arrangements committee comprised of J. H. Murdough, W. L. Stangel, Miss Jonnie McCrery, and the Drs. W. G. Gates was appointed by Dr. Gordon.

Other Meetings Scheduled

Faculty meetings by divisions were scheduled for 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon; staff meetings by departments, for Wednesday.

The calendar for the opening of the college year was discussed. Entrance examinations will be conducted Wednesday through Friday. Members of the entrance examinations committee are Dr. Albert Barnett, W. M. Slagle, Ernest Wallace, Miss Geraldine Clewell, T. L. Leach, Truman W. Camp, Dr. R. S. Underwood, and Registrar W. P. Clement. The dormitories will open Saturday. Registration will be conducted Monday and Tuesday and classes will open Wednesday morning.

A brief meeting of the faculty was tentatively scheduled for 9 o'clock Saturday morning.

Players To Register Saturday

Stangel, chairman of the athletic council, made announcements concerning the football schedule and tickets for the season. Football players will register Saturday morning, since the first game Saturday night will be played before official registration days.

Registrar Clement told the outlook concerning enrollment. He said more than 1,500 transcripts of credits have been received in his office. That, however, cannot be taken as an indication that many new students will enroll, he pointed out. Some of those students are applying for National Youth administration student jobs and some will not enroll unless they find jobs. The registrar said merchants had informed him they were receiving more applications for jobs from students planning to enroll than ever before. He said he anticipated an 8 to 10 per cent increase over last year's total of 3,154.

Dr. Harry L. Kent, member of the executive committee, announced the information bureau had been moved from Cecil Horne's office to the registrar's office. He also announced that although several changes in offices will be made, some cannot become effective until after remodeling after opening of the semester.

Elementay pupils were in class only a portion of the forenoon Tuesday, however, usual schedules will begin.

The only elementary school from which an enrollment indication was received was Dupre, where more than 600 children reported. The number is larger than last year's peak, preliminary reports said.

New Television Receiver Looks Like Phone

LONDON—A television set manufacturer has borrowed the principle of the French telephone and produced what is called a monocle receiver. The outfit, shown in use above, permits one person to enjoy a televised program in a room with others without disturbing the company. It weighs two pounds. The listener holds the ear-piece end to an ear and before his eyes in an inch-square television screen. It's said to reproduce British television broadcasts in complete detail.

DON'T LET TENSION "GET" YOUR NERVES!

Collie

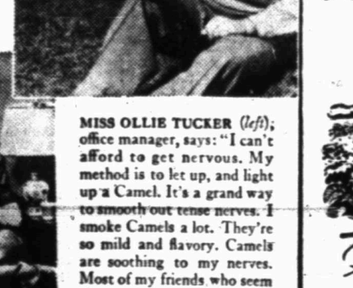

Rough-coated Collie's ancestry is as old as sheep-herding itself. Name from Anglo-Saxon "col" meaning black. Scotch called them "colley dogs" after the black-faced "colley" sheep they tended. Noted for acute hearing, extraordinary homing sense, devotion to duty.

He's giving his nerves a rest... and so is he

THIS Collie dog has a nervous system that is remarkably similar to yours. Like yours it is delicate, complicated. But here is where a big difference comes in: The dog can spring into flashing action — and then relax. While man's nature makes him unkind to his nerves. All too often, we work too hard, worry too much, are fatigued or sleepless from strain. Nerves cry for rest, but we do not hear. Don't let tension "get" your nerves. Give your nerves a frequent rest—a soothing breathing spell—take time for a Camel. Camels help you to remember that you need a brief bit of leisure, for they are mild and mellow, a supremely enjoyable cigarette, made from costlier tobaccos. Smokers find that "Let up — light up a Camel" puts more joy into living, and that Camel's costlier tobaccos are mild and soothing to their nerves.

There's more joy in living when you "Let up—light up a Camel"

RALPH GULDAHL (right), golf champion, reveals an "inside" story. "I've learned to ease up now and again—to take time for a Camel. It's the little breaks in daily nerve tension that help to keep a fellow on top. Smoking a Camel gives me a feeling of well-being. Here is a cigarette that is soothing to my nerves!"

MISS OLLIE TUCKER (left), office manager, says: "I can't afford to get nervous. My method is to let up, and light up a Camel. It's a grand way to smooth out tense nerves. I smoke Camels a lot. They're so mild and flavory. Camels are soothing to my nerves. Most of my friends who seem always at ease prefer Camels."

DID YOU KNOW:

That there are 26 different types of American-grown tobacco, by U. S. government standards? That Camel buyers study soil conditions, weather, local curing methods? They know where the choice grades are. It is a recognized fact in the tobacco trade that
