Deadline Wednesday For Filing For School Trustee

At a meeting earlier this month, Board of Trustees of the Schleicher County Independent School District set April 3rd, a Saturday, as date for Trustee Election.

Terms of W. C. Lester and Fred Case are expiring, and this coming Wednesday, March 3rd, is the deadline for candidates to file.

At press time this week, it was indefinite whether or not the incumbents would file for re-election, and if they did so, whether they would have any opposition candidates to file with them.

Under present law, candidates for trustee must file at least 30 days before the date of the election. Ballots are printed 20 days prior to the election to allow for absentee voting.

Candidates file in the office of the County Judge. Candidates

Public School Week To Be Observed Here March 1st Through March 5th

Although Schleicher County parents and patrons are urged to attend the public schools at any time during the year, a special effort has been put forth this year in urging parents and patrons to visit during Public School Week and become acquainted with the work which the local school system is doing, stated Supt. A. M. Whitis.

In order for the schools to have enough seats to accommodate the visitors, certain days have been

In other business this month, the school board voted new contracts for the two school principals: Guy Whitaker, high school principal, and Curtis Humphries, elementary principal.

Board members also signed a statement required by the Federal government of all schools receiving any kind of federal money. It states that the school will not discriminate against anyone because of race and is required by the Civil Rights Bill of 1964.

Failure to comply with Federal antidiscrimination measures would result in the loss of all Federal financial assistance by the District.

Integration started in the high school this past fall, and the signing of the "compliance order" will pave the way for integration throughout the school to take place this coming September.

The school trustees will also take under consideration the disposition of the present buildings in eastern Eldorado which have housed the colored school in recent years.

No New Candidates For City Offices

As of this week, no new candidates had filed for mayor or city aldermen other than those announced a week ago.

Eldon Calk has filed for re-election as mayor, and Granvil Hext has filed for alderman.

Deadline is March 5 for candidates to file for a place on the ballot for the April 6 City Election.

Post Script

We salute the almost three and three-quarter million members of Girl Scouts of U.S.A. as they prepare to mark the 53rd anniversary of their organization during Girl Scout Week, March 7-13. The theme of this special week is, "Girl Scouting—A Promise in Action."

Since the day in 1912 when Juliette Low founded the first troop in the U.S.A., more than 20 million girls and adults have made the Girl Scout Promise and have made it a way of life. The Promise states:

On my honor, I will try:
To do my duty to God and my country,
To help other people at all times,
To obey the Girl Scout Laws.

To 61 girls from seven through 17 in Schleicher county, Girl Scouting brings a continuing program of activities.

In the Success of March 4th, we will run pictures, articles, etc., all carrying out the theme of Girl Scout Week.

Currently, a fund drive is being conducted locally for the Girl Scout council.

Building going on:
Cement tile walls were going up Monday on the new four-unit addition to Shaw's Motel. Knight-Susen Lumber Co. is contractor.

Excavating started Monday morning for the new telephone building. Commercial Contracting Co. of San Antonio is general contractor for the job.

A family room with fireplace is being added to the living quarters at the rear of McCormick's Drive-In Grocery and Station. Lawrence Newport is helping with the work.

Preliminary plans have been drawn up for an addition to the west end of the educational building of the Methodist church. The plans are in the hands of Jo Ed Hill and Lawrence Steen and they will be submitted to contractors before long.

With our subscribers:
A new subscriber is Mrs. G. M. Skornicki whose address is 3204 Schley Ave., Bronx, N.Y. 10465. Mrs. Skornicki is one of the Parent girls.

T. K. Jones has entered a new subscription for Jonny Ohlenburg, box 364, Matador, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Brooks report that they are back home in San Angelo after spending several weeks in San Antonio, where Mr. Brooks underwent medical treatment.

People moving:
Bert Bruton moved this week from the McDonald house in the south part of town, out into the county.

New in Eldorado is Charles Blair, who has rented a Gus Love house.

The two Cities Service houses, which have been located east of town for some years, are to be moved into town before long.

We have printed hundreds of wedding invitations and announcements during the 19 years we have been in Eldorado.

Occasionally a customer insists on an ENGRAVED invitation—a type of work which is only done in large cities (not even Angelo).

We recently made arrangements to represent an engraving house in San Antonio and we have been provided with a new sample book showing styles, sizes and prices of this type of work.

The sample book is here for inspection of those interested. Customers should allow about two weeks for delivery.

This coming Monday through Friday, March 1 through 5, our Schleicher county public schools are joining others over the state of Texas in observing Public Schools Week.

The schedule of visitation days for the various classes is given elsewhere in this Success issue.

The need for the public school never changes, but times and conditions may change or require to be changed methods and practices of public education. This is inherent with anything that grows, for growth is the result of change. Our Texas public schools were

Girls To Go Tonight For 3rd Straight Championship

Tonight (Thursday) this group of Eaglettes of Coach Jack Bell will meet the Iraan Bravettes for the championship of District 8-A. The game will be played at Eldorado's Eagle Gym at 7:30.

Iraan won the West Zone title but they had to beat Sanderson in a play-off to do so. They defeated Sanderson 39-38 in an overtime. At the same time Eldorado won the East Zone with a 4-0 record. The Eldorado girls are 22-5 for the year and Iraan has been their victim twice already. However, previous wins and losses don't mean much in a district championship game where excitement is high. A district championship trophy is incentive enough for either team.

Susie Smithson and Dixie Garland spear the Iraan offense and Rusty Garland leads the defense.

Eldorado will feature Christy Moore, Karen Griffin, and Marsha Mund as offensive starters. Christy is hitting a 32-point per game clip, Karen 12 and Marsha 8 per contest. Ready to give able assistance will be Libby Preston, Susan Hill, Rita Rozean, and Susan Mobley. The Eldorado defense is equally strong with such stalwarts as Frankie Blaylock, Chris Edmiston, Jane Cain and Paula Mace. Other help will come from Beth McCalla, Mickey Phelps, Sherry Yates and Shirley Hubble.

If the Eldorado group can win tonight they will meet Canutillo for the third year in Bi-District. This game will be played either Monday or Tuesday, March 1 or 2. Date, time, and place will be worked out between the two schools.

Operation Teenager Program Today At 11

C of C Is Having A Promotional Map Printed

Mrs. John Murr, secretary of the Schleicher County Chamber of Commerce, and a woman representative of Empire Producing Co., were at work in the business district this week selling spaces on a promotional map of Eldorado which will be printed by Empire and made available here for distribution.

Need of such a map or folder has been felt for some time. The sheet will have a city map printed on one side, with pictures and descriptions on the other side telling about Eldorado and Schleicher county.

The initial order of 3,000 maps is to be printed within 6 to 8 weeks and will be available for mailing, will be given out in local cafes and motels, and otherwise distributed to interested persons who write to the C of C secretary, or visit here and want to know more about the area.

created 111 years ago. In 1854 the first law was passed establishing the public school.

It is a healthy thing in our democratic way of life to have intelligent understanding of the important functions of our basic institutions. This is especially true of the schools. The initiative and resourcefulness and the wisdom and leadership that our schools are inculcating in the youth of today are the answer of the problems of citizenship in the years ahead.

Yes, "bring me men to match my mountains." That is the need of our times and must come from the public schools—schools that are strong in virtues required for building strong men and women.

"Operation Teenager" is the name of a program which will be presented Thursday, today, at 11:00 a.m. in the high school auditorium.

The program is sponsored by local law enforcement agencies and the Texas Department of Corrections through the cooperation of local school authorities.

The program will be given by four convicts from the State Prison at Huntsville. They are normally masked to protect their identities. The four men will outline their lives and tell what they believe led to their becoming criminals.

Sheriff Orval Edmiston, as well as school authorities, termed the program as one of the most effective they have seen. It will give graphic illustrations of a life of crime and punishment, with the information furnished by men who have participated, both outside and inside the walls.

The sheriff urged that every child, young person and adult in this county see this program.

Guy Whitaker, high school principal, reported that grades 6 thru 12 will attend the program.

This will also be the February P-TA meeting. All P-TA members, as well as any other interested adults of the county, have been invited and urged to attend.

P-TA Is Meeting This Morning At 10:30

The Eldorado P-TA will have their February meeting this Thursday morning (today) Feb. 25 at 10:30 in the High School Auditorium. A business meeting will be held preceding the program.

The P-TA will join other civic organizations and the high school student body in seeing the program "Operation Teenager." It is felt this program should be of great interest to all parents or interested adults in our community, and you are urged to attend.

Cold Spell Hits

A dry bone-chilling norther which hit here about noon Tuesday sent temperatures down to a frigid 13 degrees by early Wednesday morning.

A few flakes of dry snow had fallen during the night which was drifted and still unmelted in bar-ditches by mid-morning yesterday.

The cold winds Tuesday carried high-riding dirt clouds from the upper plains but by yesterday morning the air was again clear and no clouds in sight. Temperatures rose slowly during the day.

Promoters In Austin On Water District

A notice in this issue of the Success serves as the first step in planning to set up a county water district for Schleicher county. The notice was ordered by Mort Mertz, co-chairman of the committee working on the project. During the past week committee members have been taking voluntary pledges from property owners in order to get funds for the legal work in preparing a bill to be presented to the legislature.

A delegation headed by Mr. Mertz was in Austin yesterday seeking further information on the necessary steps to be taken. He was accompanied by Jimmy Powell, Bob Bradley, Ford Oglesby, and County Judge W. R. Bearce. They returned last night.

Over 50 Animals Were Vaccinated Saturday

This past Saturday, between the hours of 9:00 and 2:00, there were 45 dogs and 5 cats vaccinated against rabies at the drug store and feed store. The Lions club sponsored this day as a safeguard against rabies in this county.

A few more animals were vaccinated later in the day, but no total count was available.

Members of the Lions club helped at both places. A. G. McCormack was chairman of the club committee which had charge of arrangements for this.

Balmorhea Bests Eaglettes In Game Sat.

Last Saturday night the Eldorado girls basketball team with about 25 faithful fans met a powerful bunch of Balmorhea Bearettes in Rankin for a warm-up game. The final score read 63-59 as both teams were red hot but the Bearettes were better than the charity line by the winning four point margin. The half-time score stood 34-30 again in favor of Balmorhea but in the third quarter Christy Moore fouled out. She had already hit 28 points and was shooting 52% from the floor. Libby Preston came in during the fourth quarter as the Eaglettes trailed 49-44 and tossed in 5 points to tie the score. She, Marsha Mund and Karen Griffin kept the score tied. Marsha missed a lay-up with about a minute to play that would have tied the score 61-all and a foul added the 63 count. Marsha had 6 points but pulled in 17 rebounds. Karen contributed 20 points. The guards experienced one of their poorer nights over-all with Frankie Blaylock getting 6 rebounds, and Jane Cain and Paula Mace had 5 each. A few mistakes here and there nearly always turned into two points for the opposition.

The game was fast, exciting, and showed good scoring. This was excellent preparation for Eldorado as the road ahead is paved only with good teams. Only the best efforts will be good enough from now on.

The Eaglettes are 22-5.

Myrl Sudduth, engineer in the Distribution Department of West Texas Utilities Company, assumed his new duties February 22 as district distribution superintendent of the company's San Angelo District. Attend Funeral in Ozona For Robin Jones, 19

A number of Eldorado people attended funeral services in Ozona Tuesday afternoon for Robin Jones, 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dempster Jones. The Jones family were well known here.

Miss Jones died Sunday in a San Angelo hospital where she had been since suffering head injuries in an automobile mishap on Feb. 19th. She was a student at Southwest Texas State College at San Marcos and was injured when the car she was driving plunged off an embankment in a road construction area on Interstate 10 between San Marcos and Seguin.

She was born in San Angelo May 6, 1945, and graduated in '63 from Ozona high school.

In addition to her parents of Ozona, she is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Earl Acton of Toyah and Shelley Jones of Ozona; grandmother, Mrs. Joe Pierce Jr. of Ozona; and an aunt in San Angelo, Mrs. Jack Ransom Jr.

Should the U. S. continue foreign aid to a country even when that nation insults our country and tells us to go drink sea water—Egyptian slang for "go to hell"?

The Congress faced that issue recently, and the majority in Congress decided to "drink sea water."

The beneficiary of our generosity in this instance was President Nasser and the United Arab Republic. The issue arose in this way: Our food-for-peace program (Public Law 480) was enacted in 1954. Under it we have delivered to Nasser food commodities which cost us more than $1.1 billion. This was paid for in Egyptian pounds, a nonconvertible currency, with most of the proceeds then being returned to Nasser in the form of foreign aid and loans.

Relations with Nasser worsened when a Cairo mob, apparently with Nasser approval, burned the Kennedy USIS library in Cairo, followed by the shooting down of a plane flown by an American pilot, on a peaceful oil business mission in Egypt. The pilot and co-pilot were killed.

Nasser defiantly announced he would continue to ship arms to the pro-Communist rebels in the Congo who have been killing Americans and other white hostages.

Then when the U. S. was so bold as to suggest that perhaps Nasser should thereafter pay for future deliveries of food under P. L. 480—in hard currency, the Egyptian dictator blew his top, and said if the United States did not like Egypt's terms for payment for additional wheat—in Egyptian pounds rather than hard currencies—the U. S. "can go drink sea water."

At that point the Congress was asked to appropriate additional funds, including money to finance such deliveries as the wheat to Nasser. And the House rebelled—temporarily. But the Senate renegeed on the House action, and then the House reversed itself, and approved continued delivery of this foreign aid to Nasser on the latter's terms.

It was contended by some that the matter of whether the hand-out to Nasser should be continued should be determined by the President—not by Congress.

This was, of course, a phony contention. It was the Congress—not the President—which enacted P. L. 480. And it is, of course, the responsibility of the Congress to appropriate funds to carry out the law, and determine the conditions under which it is to be spent.

The CIVIL WAR CENTENNIAL

By Dayton Kelley
Mary Hardin-Baylor College
Belton, Texas

(Ed. Note: Who were the outstanding Confederate heroes of Texas? That question was recently asked in this space and readers invited to submit their nominations for the top 10 Texans who saw service in the Confederate States armed forces or contributed to the War effort in other ways. Here is the first biography of one of the 10 Confederate Heroes of Texas. Others will follow in this space in succeeding weeks.)

Ask almost any Texan familiar with the Civil War to name the 10 most outstanding Texas Confederate Heroes and more than likely he will name first Gen. Albert Sidney Johnston, the soldier statesman who served three republics—Texas, the United States, and the Confederacy.

Although Johnston was killed mid-way in the War and before he really had an opportunity to prove himself, the passage of time only adds luster to his brief career as a general officer in the Confederate Army. However, his qualifications for military command continue to be a source of controversy among historians and strategists and his contribution to the cause of the Confederacy has been minimized by many writers.

One historian pointed out that "strictly on the basis of performance it cannot be said that he made any monumental contribution to the Confederate cause; and his death occurred after many of the initial advantages enjoyed by the South in the area west of the mountains had been yielded."

But, on the other hand, Johnston's official biographer is of the opinion that, had the four star general survived the mortal wound he received at Shiloh, "he may have become one of the great generals of the Confederacy."

Johnston was born in Washington, Kentucky, on Feb. 2, 1803, educated at Transylvania University and later at West Point, graduating with the class of 1826. He remained in the army until 1834, during which time he saw action in the Black Hawk War and in 1836, he came to Texas where he enlisted as a private in the Texian Army.

Promotions came fast for Johnston and he was appointed as chief commander of the Texian Army within a year to replace Felix Huston. As a result of the appointment, a duel between the two left Johnston wounded and unable to accept the command. He was later secretary of war of the Republic of Texas and following the annexation of Texas to the Union served as a colonel in command of a regiment of Texas volunteers in the Mexican War.

In 1849, he was reappointed to the U. S. Army and saw service on the Texas frontier. In 1855, he was named to command the crack Second Cavalry Regiment, being organized at Fort Riley, Kansas, for service in Texas. The Second Cavalry was perhaps the finest unit in the entire U. S. Army at the time and came to be known as "Jeff Davis' Own" because so many of the officers were hand-picked by Jefferson Davis, then U. S. Secretary of War. Many of the officers later resigned and cast their lot with the Confederacy, including Robert E. Lee who was the lieutenant colonel of the regiment.

Johnston commanded the U. S. forces in the Mormon expedition of 1857, became commander of the Department of Utah, and when Texas seceded from the Union in 1861, he was in command of the Department of the Pacific. He immediately resigned his position and offered his services to the Confederacy. He was appointed a full general in the Regular Army of the Confederacy and placed in command of the Confederate troops and installations west of the Alleghenies.

Less than a year after his appointment, Johnston was mortally wounded in the Battle of Shiloh. His opponent in that battle, one of the bloodiest of the entire war, was Ulysses S. Grant.

Recommended Reading for This Week: Gen. Albert Sidney Johnston's "official biographer, mentioned above, is Dr. Charles P. Roland, professor of history at Tulane University, whose "Albert Sidney Johnston, Soldier of Three Republics" was only recently published by the University of Texas Press. Considered the definitive biography of the Texas Confederate Hero, the book is based on papers of General Johnston which Dr. Roland discovered in the archives at Tulane and which had been placed there by the first president of that school, William Preston Johnston, the son of the great general.

Eagles Lose Play-Off

The Eagles, with an uphill battle all the way this year, ended the season after being downed 57-44 by Sonora in an East Zone Play-Off in Ozona.

Sonora took a first quarter lead 11-7 and were never behind although the hustling Eagles came within 5 points at half-time.

Richard Preston was well covered all night but still managed 23 points and 18 rebounds. Freshman Gary Derrick has done an excellent job all year and was the night's second scorer with 6 and 7 rebounds.

Sophomore Chris McCravey came through with 4 points and Bob Halbert, a Senior, also added 4. There were two point contributions by Scott McGregor, Pat Childers, Monty Montgomery, and 1 for Mike McCravey.

The Eagles' shooting was much like the weather—cold. The Eagles drew 11 fouls the first half and the group didn't miss many free throws to give them a good lead.

Eldorado's outside men couldn't find the range which put even pressure on Preston. The team hit only 31% of their shots but did hit 62% on free throws. The fans were rewarded with a fast-moving and exciting game. The boys, as in every past game, hustled down to the last second. Seniors Richard Preston, Bobby Halbert, Mike McCravey, and Monty Montgomery were playing their last game.

Check With S.S. Office When Family Man Dies

If a worker in your family dies, some member of the family should inquire at the social security office to see if survivors benefits are payable, Floyd B. Ellington, social security district manager in San Angelo advises.

Death in the family, especially where there are young children, can mean the shattering of dreams and hopes for the children's future. Social security benefits can mean the difference between the shattered dreams and the security of a continuing income and a happy home life.

According to Mr. Ellington, 9 out of every 10 young children and their mothers can count on the survivors' benefits to keep the family together. Survivors benefits may be payable to young children when the mother, who has been working, dies, even though the father is the family's primary source of support.

Nearly 4 1/2 million survivors of deceased workers are receiving monthly benefits. The average benefit paid to a widowed mother with two children is about $190 per month.

Visit, write or telephone your social security office at 3000 West Harris, San Angelo, Texas, telephone number 949-4808. The people there will be glad to give you any information or assistance you need.

Texas Auto Thefts To Reach All-Time High

Dallas.—The theft of 20,000 automobiles in Texas during 1965 coupled with widespread "stripping" of automobile parts and accessories will add up to a record $10 million economic loss, according to C. C. Benson, manager, of Texas Division, National Automobile Theft Bureau.

Speaking at the 16th Annual Meeting of the Texas Insurance Fieldmen's Association in Austin this week, Mr. Benson also forecast that the continued theft of late model cars, which would later be sold with false serial numbers and titles, would continue to be a major law enforcement problem. Of equal importance, he said, would be the theft of high performance motors, transmissions and other expensive parts from sports type automobiles.

Teens Are Top Criminals
"If some way could be devised to keep youngsters out of stolen vehicles, the car theft problem could be cut by two-thirds in Texas. Statistics show that 60 to 65% of all persons arrested in stolen vehicles are under 18 years of age," Mr. Benson said.

Questioning the effectiveness of present methods of handling auto thefts involving teen-agers, Mr. Benson suggested that persons who have been convicted of auto theft be required to make full financial restitution for all damages resulting from the theft.

"The dollar is king in the time in which we live and it speaks a language that the youth of our land understands very well. I am convinced that a uniformly administered policy of providing restitution through the probation authorities of the juvenile courts and through the civil courts against parents would prove a very healthy deterrent to auto theft," Mr. Benson stated.

The National Automobile Theft Bureau is a 50-year-old organization that is maintained by 360 insurance companies. Its objectives include the prevention of auto theft and the recovery of stolen automobiles as well as automobile parts and accessories.

Lions Given Program By Choral Group

In the business session, Joe Gault, chairman of the fund drive for the Girl Scouts, reported that 22 envelopes had been turned in and that the total collected as of that time was $332.50.

The district convention will be held late in April at Sweetwater and the club is considering entering a local high school girl in the queen's contest again this year. The local club has done this the past two years. Lion C. A. Wimer heads the committee to work out arrangements.

Mrs. Ramsay Reminisces W. Club Highlights

Mrs. W. N. Ramsay, historian of the Eldorado Woman's Club, recalled some very interesting and amusing incidents in the history of the club, at a meeting of the club on Tuesday afternoon.

She remembered that the club was organized in 1920. She and Mrs. V. G. Tisdale are the only present members who have been members since that time.

Although the club has only had a historian since 1944 when the late Mrs. D. C. Hill was elected to that post, Mrs. Ramsay remembered that the public library was started with a few books being circulated, and that it occupied a small space in the court house about 1935.

In addition to sponsoring the library she recounted several things the club had accomplished through the years that were beneficial to the community.

During the business session presided over by Mrs. Arch Mittel, president, the club voted to donate $25 to the library for new books. They voted to contribute to the "Four Quarters For Headquarters" fund also. Plans were made to hold a Tasting Tea in March with the social committee to be in charge.

Mrs. Jess Blaylock was leader for the day and brought the inspirational thought.

Mrs. Arch Mittel and Mrs. Bascom Hartgraves were hostesses and served cherry pie topped with whipped cream to 8 members and Mrs. Clyde Keeney, a guest.

The Irish Take Tea

IT'S NO SECRET that the Irish are partial to their tea. They drink it day and night, all year 'round — on special occasions like St. Patrick's Day and on ordinary blue Mondays. And they like it on the hefty side — strong and full of flavor. To make sure it turns out this way, they follow these time-tested rules for brewing tea: They use a teapot — to keep the tea hot while brewing. They use one teaspoonful of tea per cup. They bring fresh, cold tap water to a full boil. They pour the boiling water over the tea in the teapot. And they let the tea brew for a full 3 to 5 minutes.

To go with their favorite beverage, the Irish like slices of soda bread, rich with currants and raisins. Served warm from the oven, spread with butter and jam, it's a Treat with a capital T.

IRISH SODA BREAD (Makes 6 servings)

- 2 cups flour
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 3 tablespoons butter or shortening
- 1/4 cup raisins
- 1/4 cup currants
- 1 tablespoon caraway seeds
- 1 cup sour milk or buttermilk

Sift together first five ingredients. Work in shortening. Add raisins, currants, caraway seeds and milk. Mix thoroughly. Turn into greased 9-inch pie pan. Bake in 350° F. oven for 30 minutes or until golden brown. Serve hot in wedges or slices.

To Participate In Calf Scramble

The Houston show's calf scramble will again qualify as the "world's greatest" when the first of a series of 19 contests takes place in the Sam Houston Coliseum on February 24.

F.H.A. SWEETHEART DANCE

The annual Future Homemakers Sweetheart Dance was held in the Memorial Building, Monday, Feb. 15. Some 80 high school students participated in the 2½-hour program which was highlighted by Mr. Eddie Pace's stageband, a select group of students.

Monty Montgomery, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Montgomery, was announced this year's FHA beau by Sharon Nyquist, president of the local chapter. He was presented an identification bracelet.

Mary Lynn McGinness was in charge of refreshments. The Valentine motif was carried out.

VISIT IN SAN ANTONIO

Mr. and Mrs. Palmer West spent the week end in San Antonio with their daughter, Mrs. Gene Eubank and family, the occasion being Dale's 26th birthday.

Also while there they took in the San Antonio Fat Stock show. Among other things they saw the engraved silver tray which had been presented to the Jackson family in honor of the late Edwin Jackson, who had been an officer and booster of the Stock Show for many years.

The program was on "Foods with a foreign flavor." It was interesting and good.

The next program will be March 9th at Mrs. Cecil Williams'. —Reporter.

Airman Alton Roy Mitchell was at home over the week end visiting here with his father, Jerome Mitchell, and sister Maudie.

W.M.U. Meeting

The women of the First Baptist church met Monday afternoon at the church for the regular monthly business meeting and mission program. Mrs. Allen Kuykendall gave the Call to Prayer.

Refreshments of cherry pie and coffee were served by the Maurice Doyle circle during the social hour to the 21 members present.

Mrs. Kreklow Guest Speaker As D.A.R. Meets

The spacious ranch home of Mrs. Mary Davis Coupe was the scene of the meeting of the Daughters of the American Revolution on Feb. 18th. This home is known for its wealth of lovely furnishings, paintings by great artists, priceless silver and fine china, much of which was painted by the charming hostess.

The reception rooms were decorated with cut flowers, carrying out the patriotic theme. The speaker's table was covered with a cut-work cloth and centered with an arrangement of red carnations, white stock and blue iris flanked by American flags. The tea table decorations carried out the same theme.

Miss Ruth Baker was leader of the program. Miss John Alexander, chaplain, read from Psalm 46 and led the Lord's prayer which was repeated in unison. She asked that members display the flag on Washington's birthday. The group sang the National Anthem and saluted the Flag.

Mrs. L. M. Hoover, chairman of the D.A.R. Good Citizen Committee, was commended for services rendered. She explained the requirements for entering the contest and introduced the winners and their mothers. The girls responded warmly and were presented certificates and red, white and blue corsages. The DAR pins will be presented by the school superintendent later.

Mrs. Joe Kreklow, Home Demonstration agent, was guest speaker. She named the qualities necessary for becoming a D.A.R. Good Citizen: 1. dependability; 2. service; 3. leadership; and 4. patriotism, which are practiced unconsciously, as being the same required to be a good world citizen later in life. She quoted from a speech she heard Secretary of State Dean Rusk deliver while she was in Washington, when he said that our aim in relation to world affairs is simple and we must strive to keep it simple, and honest, because world affairs are as close to our lives as the nearest neighbor boy in uniform. That our foreign relations are a gigantic complex of affairs like an iceberg, about 1/8 showing up, the other 7/8 is buried from sight. She quoted him as saying American business has 60 billion dollars invested in other countries; we export $25 billions of goods each year; we are bound to 113 countries with more than 4,000 existing treaties; that our prime job is dealing with other people's troubles and whatever we do is never enough.

She quoted further that the Cuban situation is still explosive; no settlement has been made about Germany and the Far East situation grows worse today. She said that his office receives an average of 1300 cables each day and that they send out more than a thousand plus 600 stacks of mail. Another quote:

"The U.S. has the challenge of trying to continue a conversation that has been going on for more than 2,000 years. We are trying to lay the hand of reason on the mind of man that we may survive. We are committed. There is no going back. We must be clear about our simple purpose."

The out-going regent, Mrs. Ernest Goens and the newly elected regent, Mrs. Luke Thompson, poured the tea. Others assisting as hostesses were Mrs. Jess Koy and Mrs. V. G. Tisdale.

Honor guests were Linda Kelley, and her mother, Mrs. Bob Kelley, and sponsor, Mrs. Frank Rembold of Junction; Janie Holt and mother, Mrs. John Holt, Big Lake; Wanda Sawyer and mother, Mrs. Sawyer, Mertzon; Paula Mace and mother, Mrs. J. H. Mace, Eldorado. The D.A.R. Good Citizen from Rocksprings was absent.

Others attending besides the above mentioned were Mmes. C. R. Keeney, Josh Ewing, Henry Speck Sr., J. E. Hill, Mable Parker, T. R. Spence, W. N. Ramsay, Elizabeth Powell, Sam Hodges, and J. B. Montgomery; all of whom were served a sandwich and sweet plate.

On The Screen . . .

Murky Menace By Alfred Hitchcock

Marnie is an office girl of spectacular competence, son-and-heir catching good looks, light fingers and soft shoes. Her greatest gift is lifting all the cash from the premises where she works. She makes quick get-aways, changes the color and shape of her hair-do for the next job with the ease of a television addict.

Her weakness is a stock farm of blooded horses and this leads to her detection. Marnie is quarried by the ruggedly manful Sean Conery. He gets the goods on her, also the worldly goods to make her his wife and to attempt her psychiatric deliverance.

This is the setup for Alfred Hitchcock's "Marnie" which is in color, and which will come to the Bronco Drive-In Theatre screen in Sonora on Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday nights.

Diane Baker and Martin Gabel also have key roles in "Marnie," but local interest in the supporting cast will center around Louise Latham, native Texan, who is making her motion picture debut as Marnie's mother.

Portraying Marnie's mother for Hitchcock was not an easy role. Miss Latham starts the story as an aged, haggard woman and, through flashback, appears as the mother when Marnie is five, then 20 and so on.

Miss Latham still has youth and figure to hide behind sluttish makeup and is capable of much more than even the exacting demands of a typical Hitchcock role. As an acting job, hers is the strongest in "Marnie."

Mark Rutland.....Sean Conery
Lil Mainwaring.....Diane Baker
Bernice Edgar.....Louise Latham
Mr. Rutland.....Alan Napier
Sidney Strutt.....Martin Gabel

Chocolate Makes This Pound Cake!

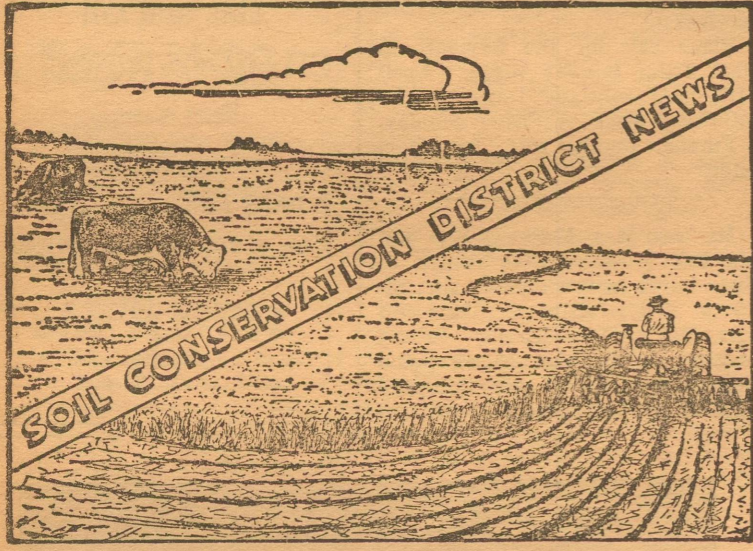

THE FINE, EVEN GRAIN OF CHOCOLATE POUND CAKE has made this a favorite for years — and cake flour plays an important part in making this so. You'll find this recipe an excellent one; serve it with whipped cream into which has been folded either packaged grated coconut or flaked coconut. It's a perfect tea-time or coffee-time accompaniment as well as a wonderful dessert.

CHOCOLATE POUND CAKE

2-3/4 cups sifted Swans Down Cake Flour	1 teaspoon vanilla
1-1/2 teaspoons cream of tartar	3 eggs
3/4 teaspoon baking soda	1 egg yolk
1-1/2 teaspoons salt	3 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
1-3/4 cups sugar	Packaged grated coconut or flaked coconut
1 cup shortening* (at room temperature)	Whipped cream or ice cream
Milk*

*With butter or margarine, use 3/4 cup milk. With vegetable shortening, use 1 cup milk.

Sift flour with cream of tartar, soda, salt, and sugar. Stir shortening just to soften. Add flour mixture, milk, and vanilla and mix until all flour is dampened. Then beat 2 minutes at a low speed of electric mixer or 300 vigorous strokes by hand. Add eggs, egg yolk, and chocolate and beat 1 minute longer. Pour batter into two 8x4-inch loaf pans, which have been lined on bottoms with paper. Bake at 350° for 60 to 65 minutes, or until cake springs back when pressed lightly with finger. Or pour batter into 9-inch tube pan, which has been lined on bottom with paper. Bake for 65 to 70 minutes. Blend coconut into whipped cream; serve over cake slices.

The prospects of good crops for 1965 continue to improve with rain received in the Eldorado-Divide Soil Conservation District. At this same time last year, most parts of the district had received less rainfall, and was not in as good a condition from a moisture standpoint. The good moisture condition at present is due partly to the good rains received last September. The final outcome of crop production for this year, is still dependent on all factors affecting crop yields.

What the crop year 1966 will be is still a bigger guess than what yields will be for 1965. However, it is only the 2nd month of 1965 and probably no thought should be given to the crop year 1966. Which should it be, wait till the beginning of each crop year to begin preparation for that year's crop, or plan and apply the needed practices a year or more before crops are to be grown? There can be only one answer to this question, things that are done several years in advance of each crop year affect, to some degree, crop yields. Therefore, if all the needed soil, water, and plant conservation practices have not been applied and maintained, along with all good farming practices, the maximum potential yield can not be attained. This is a true fact regardless of how much or when it rains. With these things in mind it is nothing but good sound judgment to do things during the crop year 1965 that will help the crop yields in 1966.

Each farmer in the Eldorado-Divide S.C.D., along with all farmers throughout all America, should take a good inventory to see what has already happened to their land, and what is happening to it now. Some of the questions that should be answered are: (1) is the soil as fertile as it was when first put in cropland, (2) is the most efficient use made of moisture received, (3) is the land being treated according to all its needs for protection and improvement?

An affirmative answer to these questions would indicate that more is being done to affect crop yields than just being dependent on good rainfall.

Farmers throughout the district are already making decisions pertaining to this year's crops. How much land should be put in this year's feed grain program is one question now confronting most farmers in the district. How the land is used that is put in the feed grain program, is just as important as whether or not it is put in the program. Again farmers throughout all America will have an opportunity to plant crops for soil protection and improvement and still receive a cash income from their land. How this land is used will affect its yield in future years. However, this is a practice that should be included in a Conservation Cropping System and applied year by year as needed to meet the needs of the soil.

Moisture available for crop use (not moisture received) will surely affect the crop yield of 1965. The yields will also be affected by the application and maintenance of a conservation cropping system. Needless to say, "the longer a good conservation cropping system has been used on the land the greater the benefits will be." Conservation cropping system is growing crops in combination with needed cultural and management measures. Cropping systems include the use of rotations that contain grasses and legumes, as well as sequences in which the desired benefits are achieved without the use of such crops.

The purpose of a conservation cropping system is (1) To meet the needs of the soil for improvement or maintenance of good physical condition. (2) To protect the soil during critical periods when erosion usually occurs. (3) To aid in the control of weeds, insects and diseases. (4) To fulfill the needs of the farmer for an economic return.

Productive land is essential to the well-being of those who operate the land. Also, the well-being of any nation and the people living in the nation is dependent on productive land. Most nations do not have enough good land now; they have wasted too much of it in the past. We are more fortunate in the United States; but, even here, we do not have any to spare. What has already been done prior to 1965 and what is done from now on, to conserve soil, water, and plants in this nation, will govern whether or not we continue to have ample productive land.

Good moisture alone can not produce the maximum potential yield on any land. Neither will a good conservation cropping system alone take care of the needs of the soil. Proper land use and maximum return from the land can only be attained by applying and maintaining all the needed soil, water and plant conservation practices.

PREACHERS — Should preach only one sermon a year . . . we are all against sin anyway, so why harp on it?

TRAFFIC LIGHTS — Should be turned off at dangerous intersections to save electricity. Everybody knows it's a dangerous spot; that should be sufficient.

TEACHERS — No need to review lessons. Tell the children only once and they'll never forget.

HIGHWAY PATROLMEN — Should stop driving up and down; there is no need to caution drivers for they know the law and should obey.

MAIL ORDER FIRMS — That send catalogues are wasting their money. Since everyone knows what is sold at stores in town, of course they'll shop at home.
