Two Posses Searching For Bank Robbers Battle Each Other For Hours

Home Town Talk

By B. D. D.

Whether nomination on the Republican state ticket will be anything more than an empty honor will depend somewhat on whom the Democrats nominate.

Under the law the Republicans are required to hold a statewide primary this year and at a meeting in Dallas Saturday a list of candidates for all the state offices was selected to be voted on in the primary.

The list includes two Wichita Falls citizens. Pollard M. Gaines who is a candidate for the nomination for governor and Walen H. Sanford, whose name will go on the ticket as a candidate for attorney general.

The names of two other former Wichitans will be on the ballot. Harwood Stacy, now of Austin will be a candidate for railroad commissioner and Mrs. P. A. Welty, now of Natalie will be a candidate for state comptroller. Mr. Stacy is also being urged for appointment as postmaster at Austin. Of course, if Mr. Stacy is appointed postmaster there, his name will be withdrawn as a candidate for railroad commissioner.

In 1899 the average American wore 57 yards of cotton cloth. In 1927 this average American had increased his clothing to 71 yards. Leavelle McCampbell, vice president of the association of cotton textile merchants of New York, says that overproduction in the textile industry has run its course and that stabilization in that industry is near. He says that deterioration and demolition of available equipment have been proceeding more rapidly than new building.

Mr. McCampbell points out that the decrease in equipment has been more than made up by the day and night operation of many mills. He decries this practice as being against the stabilization of the industry and as against the interests of the workers. He believes the practice will be gradually discontinued.

Everybody will be glad to see the textile industry moving toward better conditions. It ought to mean better conditions of employment for the textile workers who are an important group of consumers of all kinds of goods.

The national road commission of the Republic of Mexico announces that the new highway from Neuvo Laredo on the Rio Grande, to Mexico City will be opened to travel sometime next fall. This highway, it is said, will be one of the finest in the world and will draw thousands of American tourists southward through Texas.

Someone was speaking the other day about the number of smallpox cases in the United States as compared with Germany. Talker has just run across the figures of the United States health service report for the week ending May 10, showing there were 1,259 cases of smallpox reported during that week in 46 states. It may be assumed, of course, that there were many cases not reported. Other cases of diseases reported during that week included: Diphtheria 1,051, measles 18,850, meninitis 218, scarlet fever 3,920, typhoid fever, 203.

Federal Prohibition Commissioner Doran has issued a statement in which he calls upon state and local officers to co-operate with the federal government in the enforcement of the national prohibition laws. He points out that the concurrent clause of the eighteenth amendment gives such officers full authority to act against violators of the prohibition laws and that whereas there are only 2,000 prohibition agents and 166 federal judges there are more than 200,000 policemen, marshals, constables and sheriffs and 3,100 state, county and municipal judges having concurrent jurisdiction in liquor cases. "The legal machinery has been set up," he concludes. "It is ready for use. Whether it is used or not depends in the last analysis on public opinion."

This thing of concurrent jurisdiction looks good on paper and in theory but it isn't working out and is not likely to do so. Put two sets of people at work to do anything and it will likely wind up in a mess. We are afraid we are going to have to concentrate responsibility and authority in prohibition enforcement in either the state or the federal officials before we will have anything like adequate enforcement. Manifestly the job is too big for the federal government with its 166 federal judges and 2,000 prohibition agents. Turn prohibition enforcement in Texas over to the state government and give it the responsibility and the authority and within a year the bootleggers will be out of business between Red river and the Rio Grande.

BANK LOSES $3,000

Hundreds of Farmers Join In Widespread Hunt For Fugitives

BELLAIRE, Mich., June 2. (AP)—Seeking four men who held up the Antrim County State Savings bank at Mancelona and escaped with $3,000 this morning, posses of Antrim county engaged in a prolonged gun fight between themselves this afternoon.

The four robbers entered the bank at Mancelona shortly after 9 a. m., seized the money from the tellers' cages, and made off in an automobile. Herbert Sullivan of Mancelona, who with a companion, sought to overtake the robbers, was wounded by a shotgun charge fired by one of them.

Posses of nearly 1,000 men were assembled and began searching highways along which the fugitives were believed to have passed.

Two divisions of the posse encountered each other here this afternoon and, believing themselves confronted by the robbers, opened fire. Dr. J. H. R. Gerver, posseman, was seriously wounded. He lay in a farmhouse for nearly two hours while the farmers besieged the house in the belief the fugitives were hiding there. One member of the besieging posse finally managed to enter the farmhouse and recognition followed.

The robbers were lost sight of several miles beyond Mancelona.

The hundreds of farmers were reinforced by state police details from Traverse City and from Lan-

Pink L. Parish Drafted For Gubernatorial Race By Crosby County Group

LUBBOCK, Texas, June 2. (AP)—Senator Pink L. Parish of Lubbock was drafted for the governor's race today when 40 Crosby county citizens signed a petition and mailed the necessary check to the chairman of the state Democratic executive committee. Parish formerly lived in Crosby county. His home now is in Lubbock.

Parish, attending the international Shrine convention in Toronto, knew nothing of his friends' action. Mrs. James H. Goodman, member of the state Democratic executive committee, wired him tonight.

11 NAMES FILED IN GOVERNOR'S RACE

DALLAS, June 2. (UP)—The names of 11 persons, including the present state executive and a former governor, had been filed with the Texas Democratic executive committee tonight as candidates for the gubernatorial nomination in the July primaries. The deadline for filing was midnight.

Although almost a score of persons had announced that they would make the race, only 11 names were filed with Albert S. Johnson, committee secretary.

Gov. Dan Moody, drafted as a third-term candidate by a group of East Texans, still maintained his silence tonight, refusing to state whether or not he will make the race. Political observers predicted, however, that the announcement of Ross Sterling, Houston, chairman of the state highway commission, probably precluded possibility that Moody would run.

Sterling's application was received by Johnson this afternoon. His fellow Houstonian, Lynch Davidson, former lieutenant governor, whose name was filed by a delegation of Hunt county citizens, also refused to state whether or not he will accept the invitation to run.

Miriam A. (Ma) Ferguson, former governor, will take to the stump at Belton June 7, scene of her school days, to launch her campaign for re-election to the governor's chair.

A plea for support of Texas "Hoovercrats" will be made by Thomas B. Love, of Dallas, whose name first was barred from the state Democratic ballot because he supported Herbert Hoover instead of Gov. Alfred E. Smith in the 1928 presidential election. Love carried his fight to the supreme court and was granted a mandamus writ compelling the committee to accept him as a candidate.

Other candidates who have filed are: Earle B. Mayfield, Austin; Dr. C. D. Walker, Grapevine; Frank Putnam, Houston; Barry Miller, Dallas, and James Young, of Kaufman.

The Democratic committee will meet June 9 to certify candidates. The group already has asked the supreme court to rehear its decision in granting Love the right to run. The court probably will act on the committee's plea late this week.

PROUD-EYED

Doomed Gambler Asks For Gas Mask in Lethal Cell

CARSON CITY, June 2. (US)—Remorseless, invisible fingers of death choked the life out of R. H. (Bob) White at the penitentiary here today in the state's third execution by lethal gas.

Just before entering the little gas chamber to pay the penalty for murdering a fellow gambler, White, who was 41, announced that if the warden would grant him a last request he would ask for a gas mask.

Fifty-three witnesses, two of them women, peered through a heavy pate glass window at the doomed man as he sat smiling on a chair in the cell. Death gave a warning in a sudden, pungent scent, like almond trees a-bloom, as the gas generated by sulphuric acid and cyanide of potassium was released.

GRAF DEPARTS FOR GERMANY

Eckener Promises Regular Service by Late in '31

LAKEHURST, N. J., June 2. (UP)—The Graf Zeppelin, giant aerial voyager, set sail tonight across the North Atlantic with the promise of its commander that regular transoceanic dirigible service would be in operation by September, 1931.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, master, announced the prospective establishment of such a service just before he ordered the departure of the Graf on its 7,050-mile flight to Seville and the home port of Friedrichshafen.

The Zeppelin slid away on the last lap of a journey to three continents at 9:12 p. m., E.S.T.

From the glare of spotlights at the air station the dirigible ascended slowly into the moonlit sky, aided by a gentle south wind, and soon headed almost due north so that it could pass over New York City before heading for the sea.

The Graf carried a maximum load of 22 passengers, including Sir Hubert and Lady Wilkins, who announced this was their belated honeymoon voyage. They were married before Sir Hubert's latest exploring trip but this was their first opportunity for a journey.

In addition to the human cargo the dirigible bore on its fifth trip across the North Atlantic 700 pounds of freight, including such diverse commodities as drinking cups, automobile tires for the motor car of the King of Spain and calculating machines.

Using a Ford car, Ross Robot, the Mechanical Man, will sart a tour of Wichita Falls from the Majestic theater Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. His route will be announced Wednesday morning.

Girls who have balked at the bonds of matrimony because of the "obey" clause in the marriage contract will have opportunity Wednesday of seeing an example of the perfect man for their requirements. Simply by pressing a particular button Mr. Mechanical Man will wash the dishes while the housewife attends the theater or calls on some neighbor. Press other buttons and he will cook a perfect meal, serve it and then drive the car under her directions. In other words, a perfect husband.

LAUNDRYMAN IN RACE SERIOUSLY

FORT WORTH, June 2. (AP)—The newest hat in the ring for governor of Texas is off the modest head of C. C. Moody, who has piloted a laundry delivery wagon in Fort Worth for the past 15 years.

His campaign promises to be a thoroughly unique one. His platform is for strict economy, "better schools instead of castles for convicts," and vindication "for the family name."

Moody interrupted his deliveries today long enough to drop in at a barber shop and set up campaign headquarters. It was the first and last time he intends to use any of his working hours on promoting his candidacy. He'll pass out his cards along with bundles of clean linen, of course, right up to election day but he won't spend much time talking about them.

"You know," there's a bare possibility that I might not be elected governor," he explained, "and I can't afford to find myself one of these days without a job."

100 HOODLUMS HELD

Detectives Promise to Jail 200 Racketeers Before Ending Work

CHICAGO, June 2. (AP)—Stirred by the slaying of eight persons and the wounding of four others in gang war outbreaks over the week-end, Chicago police tonight began one of the most energetic gangster roundups in the history of the city. More than 100 alleged gangsters were in cells within a few hours, including three known as "big shots"—Jack McGurn, Frankie Foser and Izzy Alderman, all said to be Capone henchmen.

Foser and Alderman were seized as they cruised in their automobiles bent, police declared, on obtaining vengeance for the Fox Lake slayings of Sunday.

Deadly War Feared

Police admitted fear that the "little massacre" at Fox Lake would lead to a deadly war between factions striving for supremacy in liquor traffic. They declared that by dawn tomorrow 200 gangsters would be in cells.

Police also thought another gangland death not yet revealed would be discovered, after they were informed that Leo Mongoven, Moran gunman, had been missing since Saturday night. Mongoven's friends said they believed he was taken for a ride.

The police roundup was being directed particularly at Sicilians in several sections of the city. There have been eight shootings among Sicilians here in the last three days, police said; adding that in Detroit there had been seven Sicilian shootings and in Boston five.

Stege Seeks Cause

"I am determined to learn the reason for this Sicilian outbreak," announced Commissioner of Detectives Stege.

Stege and other police and city officials were of the opinion that the basic cause of the assasinations is the rich field offered by the chain of lakes region for beer and slot machines in the summer season.

Davis-Brown Ticket Cost G. O. P. Backers $358,178 In Pennsylvania Primary

WASHINGTON, June 2. (AP)—Expenditures of $358,178 for the ticket headed by Secretary Davis in the recent Pennsylvania Republican primary were reported to the senate campaign funds investigation committee today, bringing the total cost of the three-cornered primary to $897,387.

Expressing surprise at the cost of his campaign, Secretary Davis reappeared before the senate investigators to tell them he believed most of the money was spent in behalf of Francis Shunk Brown, defeated gubernatorial candidate who ran on his ticket.

Inquiry Closes

The reports of treasurers for four Davis-Brown organizatiions closed the committee's investigation of the Pennsylvania primary in which Secretary Davis won the senatorial nomination. Chairman Nye of the committee withheld comment aside from an observation that they were less than was spent in a similar Pennsylvania battle four years ago.

William S. Vare was denied a seat by the senate because of his expenditure of $785,000 by his ticket in 1926. A total of $2,500,000 was spent in the three-cornered contest.

Everything Listed

Davis told the committee that so far as he knew the $358,000 accounted for everything that was spent in behalf of the Davis-Brown organization. He added "it is more money than I thought was spent, but I think you will find very little of it was spent for me."

The reports of campaign expenditures showed the Mellon machine enlisted, financially, at least, behind the Davis-Brown ticket. Secretary Mellon, R. B. Mellon and W. L. Mellon were enrolled for $5,000 each among the Davis-Brown contributors.

Secretary Davis interrupted the committee hearing to "explain" that the Mellons each gave their checks to Francis Shunk Brown "to be used exclusively for himself." However, Samuel Vauclain, treasurer of the state Davis-Brown committee, told the committee that Brown placed no restrictions upon the use of the Mellon checks in turning them over to him.

Checks Made to Brown

Nye remarked that it was generally believed the Mellons were supporting another candidate, presumably Senator Grundy. Vauclain said the Mellon checks were made out to Brown, who was defeated for the gubernatorial nomination by Gifford Pinchot.

Senator Grundy informed the committee that $338,650 was collected for his senatorial campaign. Francis H. Bohlen, wet Republican senatorial candidate, reported that the ticket on which he ran, spent $200,000.

Grundy placed his personal expenditures at $291,000 while Secretary Davis reported a contribution from his own purse of $10,941. Bohlen said he spent only time and work.

Walter A. Bonitz, Pittsburgh manufacturer, was the largest contributor to the Davis-Brown campaign, having made three payments totaling $86,750.

YANCEY STORY GOES TO JAIL

Bandit Refused Admission To State Prison

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, June 2. (AP)—Yancey Storey, Denton county, whose bonds on a charge of bank robbery were forfeited when he failed to appear in court, was arrested here today after having been refused admission to the state penitentiary.

Storey was arrested by Ranger Captain Tom Hickman in the office of the warden this afternoon, and Hickman, with another ranger, immediately left for Denton.

Storey came to the penitentiary this morning, the warden said, and asked to be admitted. It was explained that commitment papers were necessary, and Warden Harrell told him to wire for the papers and to return in the afternoon.

Meantime Harrell notified Hickman who came to Huntsville for the fugitive. They could not locate him in Huntsville, so they waited at the warden's office. When Storey came in this afternoon to keep his appointment, they handcuffed him, Harrell said.

Bonds totalling $33,000 on 25 felony cases were forfeited April 14 in Dallas when Storey failed to appear for trial. Storey had agreed to withdraw appeal in the five-year conviction for the Krum bank robbery case if several other pending cases were dismissed, but this agreement was defaulted.

The cases against him included five burglary charges, five of theft of over $50; one arson charge; four receiving and concealing stolen property; three robbery with firearms; one accessory to murder; three assault to murder; three assault in disguise.

Officers had sought him intermittently since April 14 and it was variously reported that he was in Denton all the time and that he had hidden in the territory surrounding Denton.

ALLOTMENTS RAISED

Senate Disregards Last-Minute Move for Compromise

WASHINGTON, June 2. (AP)—By two overwhelming votes, congress today enacted the measure liberalizing pensions for Spanish war veterans over the veto of President Hoover.

With few preliminaries, the senate voted 61 to 18 to override the first veto message of Mr. Hoover to be acted upon. Within an hour, administration leaders in the house were trampled down as they sought to defer a roll call until Thursday and the house at once proceeded to vote 298 to 14 in favor of enactment of the bill.

Democrats Solid

The roll calls showed the most solid lineup against a presidential veto in recent years, only a handful of republican regulars in each branch standing by the president.

The Democrats in the senate and house voted solidly against the veto.

The measure originally went through congress with the support of administration leaders and without any intimation of presidential displeasure. It provides a more liberal basis for pensions to Spanish war veterans and involves an estimated outlay of $11,500,000.

Objections Voiced

In vetoing the legislation, President Hoover voiced three objections. He complained it would allow pensions to veterans whose disabilities arise from "vicious habits," that it lowered the period for nonservice connected disability pensioners, and that there should be requirement of need as well as disability for granting pensions.

Chairman Knutson of the house pension committee brought back word from the White House today that Mr. Hoover was ready to approve a modified measure, but it was too late to stop the senate, where an agreement previously had been entered itno calling for a vote on the veto at 3 o'clock.

Connally Leads Fight

Knutson's motion to postpone a vote in the house was rejected 233 to 65.

Senator Connally, Democrat, Texas, led the move in the senate against the veto. He was joined in debate by speakers on both sides of the chamber. Senator Bingham, Republican, Connecticut, sought to refer the veto message to committee for consideration, but his motion was held out of order.

POSSES FIGHT EACH OTHER

Tragic Error Breaks Into Bandit Chase

sing. When the news spread that the men were cornered in a farmhouse the state police at Lansing sent several officers north in an airplane equipped with tear gas bombs. Other airplanes are searching the countryside, which is wild and offers many opportunities for hiding places.

Automobile Found

An automobile believed to have been abandoned by the bandits was discovered early tonight six miles north of Mancelona.

Sheriff Glen Bagley of Antrim county, hurriedly gathered a posse of 150 men. The posse, reinforced by state troopers, surrounded a swamp near the spot where the auto was found, in the belief that the bandits were hiding somewhere in the woods. A state police airplane is aiding in the search.

Ten minutes after the robbers had sped out of town, the posse was being organized. Within an hour, more than 1,000 men and boys had joined in the chase.

Dr. Gerver had his son and another youth, Henry Lindmere in his car with him. At a point near Lindmere's home, they encountered an automobile loaded with possemen.

The physician's automobile was mistaken for the bandit car and the possemen opened fire. One of the bullets struck Doctor Gerver in the neck. The physician and his two companions thought they had been attacked by the bandits.

Physician Falls

They leaped from their car and ran toward the Lindmere house—a small residence which sets some distance back from the road.

Doctor Gerver was so severely wounded, however, that he fell before reaching the house. The two boys were so frightened they did not stop to pick the doctor up.

Meantime, the possemen gathered, certain they had cornered the robbers. The house was surrounded. The two boys, still believing they had been trapped by the bandits, fired on the possemen and the possemen, in turn, riddled the clapboard sides of the house with shot.

For two hours the shooting continued and hurry calls were sent to Bellaire and to Mancelona for more men, more guns and more ammunition. All this while, apparently, the real bandits were putting more and more miles between themselves and the scene of their crime.

Finally, early this afternoon one member of the posse took a daring chance and crept up close to the house. He recognized young Gerver and Lindmere. Subsequently it was discovered the two boys were the only occupants of the house and the shooting ceased.

The possemen knew Gerver and Lindmere were in the house, but they supposed the youths were being held as hostages by the bandits.

GORE OPENS RACE AT ALTUS

Former Senator Places 'If' In Announcement

ALTUS, Okla., June 2. (UP)—If Former Senator Thomas P. Gore enters the Democratic senatorial race, he said that his talk here this afternoon may be considered the opening of his campaign.

The blind statesman said that he is awaiting a visit later this week to eastern Oklahoma before deciding definitely whether or not he will enter the race.

He opened his race for the senate here April 1, 1907 and the same city is selected in case he enters the race this year.

Gore will issue a written statement concerning his stand on economic issues and prohibition if he enters the race but does not care to announce his stand otherwise.

"I see no difference whatever in Republican prosperity and a Democratic panic," he said before a large crowd that heard him at the monthly trades day here this afternoon.

Labor, unemployment, banking and general business were discussed by Gore. He showed the increase in failures since Hoover became president.

Gore said Democrats who voted for Hoover are thrice welcome to return and "if Democrats fail to celebrate their return by killing the fatted calf they will know it is because we have no fatted calf under the Hoover administration," he said.

Gore visited his brother, E. E. Gore, Altus city attorney, today. He left tonight for Oklahoma City and later will go to eastern parts of the state.

BROTHERS END LONG SEARCH

Pair United in Dalhart After 34 Years

Special to The Record News

DALHART, Texas, June 2.—Two brothers, Harry Buck of Dalhart, and H. W. Littlefield, of Buffalo, N. Y., met in this city this week after a separation of 34 years. The difference in names is accounted for in a series of unusual circumstances.

Buck and Littleford were separated at the ages of 4 and 3 years respectively, immediately following the death of their father, H. W. Littleford, bandmaster in the Fifth U. S. cavalry at San Antonio. Two sons, William O., the eldest and H. W., were taken to Toronto, Canada, the former by his grandfather and the latter by an uncle. They retained the family name. Harry, the youngest of the three, was adopted by Eugene Buck, of Carrizo Springs, Texas, and his name changed to Buck. He has lived in and near Dalhart for 13 years.

Some three years ago Buck started what is called a search letter from the postoffice here which finally reached his brother, Hartley W., in Buffalo, through an aunt, after seven months' traveling.

The father of the boys came to the U. S. from Toronto and married a Texas girl who preceded him in death about two years. The boys have a picture of her but know nothing of her or her people. "We will be glad if any persons who read this story and know about our mother or her people will communicate with us," the brothers said. Their addresses are H. W. Littleford, 455 Verhees, Buffalo, N. Y., and Harry Buck, Dalhart, Texas.

HAS THE LAXATIVE IN YOUR HOME A DOCTOR'S APPROVAL?

Some things people do to help the bowels whenever any bad breath, feverishness, biliousness, or a lack of appetite warn of constipation, really weaken these organs. Only a doctor knows what will cleanse the system without harm. That is why the laxative in your home should have the approval of a family doctor.

The wonderful product, known to millions as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a family doctor's prescription for sluggish bowels. It never varies from the original prescription which Dr. Caldwell wrote thousands of times in many years of practice, and proved safe and reliable for men, women and children. It is made from herbs and other pure ingredients, so it is pleasant-tasting, and can form no habit. You can buy this popular laxative from all drug stores.—Adv.

YOU CAN'T HIDE FAT CLUMSY ANKLES

When tempted to over-indulge

"Reach for a Lucky instead"

Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. Avoid that future shadow* by avoiding over-indulgence, if you would maintain that modern, ever-youthful figure. "Reach for a Lucky instead."

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Lucky Strike has an extra, secret heating process. Everyone knows that heat purifies and so 20,679 physicians say that Luckies are less irritating to your throat.

*"No special dietary, but moderation in eating and drinking and not more than three meals daily," is Dr. F. McKelvey Bell's advice in the New York Medical Journal to all men and women who want to keep a proper figure. We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky instead," you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

Clear, sunny weather and cool mornings and evenings are a special feature in Wichita Falls just now, seeming to have been ordered for the delectation of those just returning home. And so many of the gay young people of the city are just coming from school.

◇ ◇ ◇

Elizabeth Langford will be here Thursday. She has been in Ward Belmont, Nashville, Tenn., where she majored in music. She will come by air from Dallas and there's many a welcome waiting her smiling face. Helen Cline will return with her, and probably Elizabeth Gilbert. Vacation is taking many a loved person away, but it is bringing so many home to take their places.

◇ ◇ ◇

Miss Eloise Hawkins, who has just completed her studies at Ward Belmont, is on a trip through Kentucky and Virginia with her mother and sister who went to the closing exercises. They will visit Sweetbrier and Randolph Macon colleges while in Virginia.

◇ ◇ ◇

The usual migration turns westward. Dorothy Greathouse and her party leave Tuesday morning for California. And already, the J. Alvin Gardners with their singing daughter, Nell, and Mrs. B. J. Shaw and Roberta have turned their faces to the western coast.

◇ ◇ ◇

There's more than just a tinge of regret in many Wichita hearts over Mrs. G. B. Smedley's departure for Fort Worth to make her home there. Her friends keep hoping she will return and the fact that the Smedleys have kept their home here, aids that hope. Betty Smedley, with her demure, darkeyed face has done more good than people realize in this city. And it is safe to say that the forum would miss no member more.

◇ ◇ ◇

That the Greathouse party will be in Los Angeles and in Hollywood makes one think of a very small young lady who went there last summer. Little Sue Allyn Stripling, the four and one-half year old daughter of the Nocona Striplings, took three tests in Hollywood last summer. A knot on the vocal cords was all that kept her from staying there and if it is removed or absorbed, she has an offer as new sweetheart of the "Our Gang" group.

◇ ◇ ◇

From the youthful person to an older is not far when one meets so charming a character as Mrs. P. S. Sams of Benjamin, the mother of Mrs. W. M. Moore, No. 4, Crestway. She has the same pretty vivacity she had when she was 16 years old and came south with her soldier lover.

◇ ◇ ◇

People are as much fun as places. There are vacations in brilliant minds and those people are fortunate who journey far through another's experience.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Jones and daughter, Evella Marie, accompanied by Mesdames J. E. Parks and J. G. Gray, spent the week-end in Dallas. Miss Evella Marie Jones will remain for several weeks visit with friends.

◇

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Raub leave Wednesday morning for New York where Mr. Raub will take a six weeks post graduate course with Louis J. Bostelmann of the Institute of Musical Art. Mrs. Raub will study voice while in New York.

◇

Mrs. R. A. Lincoln and children left Saturday for a month's visit in Dallas, Austin, Beaumont, Houston and other southern points and on their return, will go to Pampa where they will spend the remainder of the summer with Mr. Lincoln.

◇

W. B. Ward, city purchasing agent, is reported to be ill at his home.

◇

Mrs. Maud Bartholomew and son will leave Wednesday for Denver, Colo., where they will make their home. Mrs. Bartholomew has been connected with the Camp Fire group here for some time.

◇

Mrs. Armine Gaunt has returned to her home in Wichita Falls after a visit with her father and mother in Brownwood. Her two sisters, Misses Annetta and Celia Sawyer, who are KGKB entertainers in Brownwood are her guests in this city.

Scotland Society Has Bible Study

Members of the W. M. S. of the Scotland Methodist church met at the church Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock for Bible study. Mrs. J. B. Scarbrough read the devotional and Mrs. J. T. Richey gave a prayer.

Those present includes Mesdames H. C. Prichard, W. P. Prichard, F. E. Johnson, W. R. Coker, J. B. Scarbrough, J. T. Richey, W. M. Brooks, M. C. Nelson and A. V. Crumpton.

Lewis-Dameron Nuptial Announcement Is Made

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Thelma Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lewis, to J. L. Dameron, which took place at Frederick, Okla., Saturday evening. The young couple were accompanied by Miss Louise Griffin and R. L. Whitehead of Wichita Falls. Mr. and Mrs. Dameron will be at home at the Alberts' Funeral home with which Mr. Dameron is associated.

Greathouse Party Will Summer in California

Miss Dorothy Greathouse, with a number of her voice pupils, leave Tuesday morning for California, where Miss Greathouse has been accepted as an artist-student by Lazar S. Samoiloff, who is recognized as the outstanding voice teacher of the world today. A number of well known artists, including Raisa and Mary Garden, have been his pupils, securing their vocal and operatic training under him.

Miss Greathouse is to coach or review her operatic roles under his direction. Mr. Samoiloff usually spends his summers in Europe, but he has been brought to Los Angeles by the Metro-Goldwyn Studios to select and to train for them the most promising young voices.

Those who are in Miss Greathouse's party are: Mrs. Paul Hines, Ed Reeder, Misses Charlene Kinder and Thelma Adams. They will continue their voice lessons with her throughout the summer. Other students who are making the trip to California in order that they may study with her are Miss Roberta Shaw, who left with members of her family last Saturday, and Nell Gardner, who is leaving with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Alvin Gardner, on Wednesday morning.

All will be located in Los Angeles or in Hollywood. They will return early in August and Miss Greathouse will open the fall term of the Conservatory Sept. 2.

Unusual Lesson Features Floral Heights Meeting

One of the most interesting phases of the all-day meeting Monday of Floral Heights Methodist Woman's Missionary society was the fifth study of the text book, "What Next in Home Missions?" The chapter, "Undergirding Democracy," was introduced when Mrs. T. R. Boone asked the group to look from the side of a canyon in Arizona, upon a great dam in the process of building and consider its meaning for an ancient civilization. From such a vantage point, she urged they note how faith, science and love are joining hands in home missions today.

In this study new social aims of home missions were considered and were found to carry one from youth to old age. There is an increasing purpose to identify religion with every concern of human life. The morning devotional was inspiring and in keeping with the study. After sentence prayers, Mrs. R. E. Bridges read Scripture references, naming interesting methods for teaching and right living.

The introduction of the Mission Study chapter was related in an instructive manner by Mrs. E. Ratcliff when the main theme of her talk was a history of Indian settlements in California. A description of the negroes of the South and educational institutions of this race were summarized by Mrs. Rhea Howard who further discussed the progress home missions has made in the mountaineer sections of the South.

The story of a mountaineer girl of North Carolina was vividly related by Mrs. Henry Milliken, bringing out the necessity of bearing and sharing responsibilities. Mrs. Milliken gave particular reference to the Brevard institute which is a connectional school in North Carolina.

"Social Education," was discussed by Mrs. Val Land who prefaced her remarks with the announcement that this meeting celebrated her ninth anniversary in Missionary society work. The home mission interests in Denver, Colo., were itemized in this topic. Mrs. Austin Leach read "A Journey to Africa," which was exceptionally interesting and inspirational. She gave reference to a leper colony to which the local group sent a free will offering last year.

Mrs. Milton Johnson told the group of an interesting letter from Miss Dora Armstrong, who is head resident of a leper colony in Africa. This missionary is being partially supported by the B. O. P. class of Floral Heights church. The concluding number for the morning session was a solo by Mrs. George Thorburn, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. R. A. Sanders. Mrs. Boone gave the closing prayer and it was announced that circle three led in attendance.

Members of circle six were hostesses at luncheon at the noon hour when the tables were attractively decorated with baskets of spring flowers. The afternoon business session was presided over by Mrs. Austin Leach and Mrs. Val Land directed the song service with Mrs. Lester Jones at the piano. The Lord's prayer was given in unison. The devotional was conducted by Mrs. R. J. Claypool. She discussed items concerning our "Missions as Christian Women." Mrs. G. Wayne Barker gave the devotional solo, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Donald Stults and on the violin by Miss Viola Grace Doern. Mrs. Leach gave the prayer of consecration.

The principal speaker of the afternoon session was Mrs. A. O. Basham, newly elected secretary of Wichita Falls district of Methodist Woman's Missionary societies, when she had as her subject, "Stewardship." This message directed the right use of our time and talents. Mrs. Rhea Howard read the minutes for the preceding meeting which were approved and Mrs. J. W. Stuckler gave the treasurer's report in the absence of Mrs. M. E. Faulk. Reports of the prayer league in each circle were given by Mesdames M. T. Clements, W. J. Stuckler, Charles Crowell, C. E. Waller, R. J. Claypool, P. B. Cox and Mrs. E. O. Malone.

Other reports were given by Mesdames Leach, J. A. Curtis, T. R. Boone, Paul Harding, M. J. Michaelias, C. G. Crump, P. B. Cox, Lester Jones, Herbert Gray, F. H. Corbin, R. G. Cocanower, Grover C. Johnson and Milton Johnson. Mesdames Curtis, Leach and Law were appointed to buy a gift for Mrs. Cecil Putty who is leaving the conference. The society expressed deep appreciation for the work Mrs. Putty has done in junior church work and also voted to give a donation to the milk and ice fund. It was voted to close the work for the group on the first Monday in July. Notes of thanks were read from Mesdames T. J. Waggoner and Leon Deaton after which the meeting closed with a prayer.

Those present were Mesdames A. F. Leach, R. E. Bridges, George Ferguson, J. B. Norris, M. T. Clements, Edgar Ratcliff, C. M. Goodwin, W. H. Roper, T. R. Boone, W. H. Costley, Carlisle Norwood, W. J. FRECKLES

Magic Treatment Fades Away Unsightly Freckles

It is surprisingly easy now to remove those rusty little spots that blemish your skin. No time-taking frills, no long-drawn-out treatments. In only a few days you can banish your freckles and restore the natural dazzling whiteness of your skin.

Simply get a jar of Othine double strength and put a little of the dainty white cream on your freckles at night before you go to bed. Then look for results in two or three days. Almost before you realize it, your freckles will be gone!

It is always the exquisite skin that freckles, remember. If you remove those ugly little brown spots, you reveal a skin so enchantingly fair, every woman you meet will envy it.

All drug and department stores sell Othine, but be sure to ask for the double strength as this is sold with a positive guarantee of money back if it does not remove even the worst freckles and give a beautiful complexion.—Adv.

Interesting Talks Feature First Methodist Program

Members of the First Methodist Woman's Missionary society met Monday morning at the church in the first day of the spring course of mission study, which is held twice a year by the society. Mrs. Q. B. Lee, superintendent of mission study, was in charge of the meeting.

Mrs. W. W. Cook led the devotional lesson, telling of the life of Jesus in the cities, towns, synagogues and streets. A pretty vocal solo was given by Miss Elta Rose Franklin with Miss Laurette Erwin at the piano.

Mrs. Lee gave the introduction to the study program and discussed the purpose of the book which is to interpret the city in terms of personality rather than industrially and commercially. Mrs. E. F. Bohmfalk read the interesting "Definition of a City," by Charles H. Sears and Mrs. C. R. Hartsook, in "The City Mind," the second chapter of the study book, interpreted the collective behavior that levels character and discussed the psychology of the community mind.

Mrs. Wayne Somerville used charts and maps and illustrated with pictures the progress in transportation during the last 100 years. She also compared with charts, the churches of the country and the city and made an apt talk on the growth of each.

"Social work in the City," was the subject handled in an interesting fashion by Miss Myrle Neeley who told of work done in St. Marks, New Orleans and described the "Church of All Nations," in New York City. Miss Neeley emphasized the fact that gathering up and trying to patch and mend the broken and wrecked bits is not enough; material relief has been found by the thinkers of the world to be insufficient and service work must deal with heart and mind. In a history of social service, she spoke of the neighborly habit taught by real contact and spoke of the real contribution foreigners can make. Though the homeless age was once that of the real aged, Miss Neeley stated that at the present time, it is men from 20 to 29 who ask aid. In closing her splendid talk, she stressed the fact that as standards of living change for the better, there must be a rising tide in relief work.

Announcement was made that the mission services will continue through Friday and members and guests were invited to be present at 9:45 Tuesday morning to continue the chapters of the interesting book.

Mrs. L. H. Gilbreath of Sibley-Taylor Methodist church, who was a visitor Monday morning, closed the session with prayer. Those present included Mesdames W. W. Cook, E. L. Gerhardt, S. S. McKenney, J. C. Hanks, L. H. Gilbreath, C. B. Haynie, A. W. Karrenbrock, T. A. Baggett, C. W. Gilliland, R. F. Ligon, Jason Walker, C. R. Hartsook, Miss Myrle Neeley, Mrs. W. E. Silk, Mrs. E. F. Detroit Population To Total Over 1,500,000

DETROIT, June 2. (INS)—A population of 1,500,000 in Detroit proper and of 2,000,000; in the metropolitan area is expected to be shown when final census figures are tabulated.

Ten years ago there were 1,088,000 persons in the metropolitan area and 1,205,000 in the three counties of Wayne, Oakland and Macomb. A definite trend to the suburbs is shown in districts where the count has already been affirmed.

"Fussy" About Coffee?
Then Try Mountain Coffees from Central America

Twice the richness... twice the flavor ...never "thin"... or "flat"...

MOUNTAIN Coffee from Central America! To people who know and appreciate good coffee we do not attempt to tell how good it is. We simply say, drink it 3 times and then if you are willing to go back to ordinary coffee, we will pay the cost.

Its flavor comes from coffees grown in the fertile volcanic soil of Central America. A region that experts agree produces the tangiest flavor and the richest body of probably any known coffees today.

A Remarkable Difference

Ordinarily you note little difference in taste when you change from one brand of coffee to another. That is because 70% of all coffee sold in the United States today (regardless of brand names) is of one common type grown in one general region. No wonder it all tastes practically alike!

It is a different type of coffee that makes the flavor of Folger's Coffee what it is. The rare mountain coffees from the West Coast of Central America. That's why the flavor is unlike any you ever tried before.

You will note this difference the instant you break the seal of the vacuum can. There is a rush of rich fragrance from the full-flavored mountain coffee. In making this coffee you don't have to "coax" the flavor out. It makes a clear amber cup that's rich beyond comparison—never "thin" or tasteless.

An Interesting Test

Get a pound of Folger's Coffee from your grocer today. Drink it tomorrow morning. The next morning drink the coffee you have been using. The third morning drink Folger's again. Then decide which you like best. If, for any reason, you do not choose Folger's your grocer will gladly refund the full purchase price. We will pay him. That's fair, isn't it? You risk nothing—so why not order Folger's now for the test?

Lady Astor's Mistake
She Fears Cheap Beer
A Record Flight
Ford, the Indomitable

By EMILE GAUVREAU

Perspective does not enhance prohibition which is even more of a joke to our neighbors than it is to us. Lady Astor, an American woman following a parliamentary career, opposes a reduction in the tax on beer fearing that cheaper beer will mean more drinking. Mr. Winston Churchill, pointing to American prohibition replies to her with some words she will not forget.

"Even if it were true," says Mr. Churchill, "that remission of the beer tax would put the profits in the brewers' pockets, it would be far preferable that they should gain the profit than that it should be reaped, as it is in another country, by bootleggers."

Those few words epitomize American prohibition, a law which, like a rotten apple in a barrel, ruins all the good fruit in it. It has transformed a social custom into a crime, made millionaires out of thieves and murderers, raised the underworld to the level of an invisible government and robbed the nation of millions in legitimate revenue. It is the curse of the United States today.

Eighteen hours, 42 minutes and 54 seconds to cross the American continent. A record for an East to West flight established by Lieut. Col. Roscoe Turner. That is flying and the man who did it knows what it means. He sees as practicable, the inauguration of fast transcontinental air mail service with three stops between coasts. This will soon be followed by fast passenger express planes which you will board after brbeakfast, taking luncheon while half way across the country and having an early dinner in Los Angeles.

You will understand how Mr. Ford made his success by studying how his mind works. He never looked back. What ever he says about business is important because he breaks old systems. In the middle of a depressive period in business he preaches quantity production in agriculture and manufacture. "What we call waste," he says, "is only surplus, and surplus is always the starting point of new uses."

"We used to think corn was nothing but food until we produced too much of it," he points out. "Now we use more corn industrially than we ever did for food. Everything that is produced from the soil can be used for some purpose."

That comes from the imaginative brain which has revolutionized transportation in America.

Mr. Raymond Duncan, disciple of simplicity, who says he has been preaching that salvation comes from going back to hard spinning, goes down to the battery to make salt, which he will send to Mr. Gandhi as a sympathetic gesture. In his flowing robes he attracts many photographers who put his pictures in the papers. This will interest him more than what his pail of salt will do for India.

England again is shocked by a bulletin announcing that King George is ill this time of rheumatism. This keeps him away from the courts where he would have had to bow constantly before a long line of debutantes. The active Prince of Wales under the same circumstances would prefer the rheumatism.

Man, the Wanton Killer

IS MAN only a carniverous killer, whom all nature does well to fear and to despise?

Some such question must have flashed through the mind of Dick McCarthy, editor of the Albany News, when he found a mocking bird which had nested and sung in his yard season after season, dying with its eye shot out.

But let Mr. McCarthy tell the story as he told it in the Albany News:

"Some bad, mischievious kid, or else some durn scatter gun fool killed our mocking bird. Mother found it out on the grassy lawn with one eye shot out; she brought the little wounded bird in the house and tried to relieve it, but the little birdie died, and we guess that it went to bird heaven. Every year for many years, that same mocking bird has come back from its sojourn down in the southland where the birds spend the cold winter months. It builds its nest in a mulberry tree every year, hatches out its young birdlets, and then in the fall time, away it goes down South. You know birds are just like folks, they mate off, male and female. And some one said in a book, that the male bird comes first and picks out the domicile, then the mother birds come on afterwards. And then they get busy building their nest, and while the mother bird lays the egg and does the hatching act, the daddy bird scouts around and brings in the bugs and the worms. And Oh golleys, how that daddy bird can sing. Away along in the night time the other night we waked up, and that daddy bird was sitting on the big brick chimney at the east end of our home, and of all the singing that we ever heard he did it. It was grand opera out in the big open. Mocking bird, did you say? He mocked everything that wears wings, the crow, the whipporwill, the wren, blackbird and the bluebird and the redbird. It just seemed to us like he would burst his throat. Grand opera up there at Hill-Road place o'nite time. Singing for his mate, keeping her company while she warmed the eggs. Nature's hatchery in a mulberry tree. And as we said, birds are just like folks, they have homing instincts; that mulberry tree for years has been their home—and the space around it is his commons where he forages for his daily rations. Then another thing about birds, why they are like folks. Each day they take their daily bath, and to that end, we have had a bird bath put in near that mulberry tree, and its indeed a show to watch those birds take their daily bath. And now some doggone fellow has come along and killed the little mother bird, its nest is vacated, and the daddy bird just sits around and gropes, has quit singing. Just like folks again, mourning for its dead mate. Man is a cruel animal, a vandal; just goes around killing things, human beings, other animals and birds. The preservation of bird life, it ought to be taught in our public schools. Just at our window, where our desk and typewriter sits, there is a peach tree, and we watch the birds in that tree, the mocking bird, the redbird and the sparrows, foraging for pest and other mite that destroys the trees and the fruit. Yes, taking care of that tree, cleaning it up—nature scavengers. Then some durn fellow comes along and kills our mocking bird. The destruction of bird life is one of the problems of this present age. Killing all of our birds, then the federal and state government has to step in and spend millions to destroy crop pests. I say we ought to have a department in public schools, teaching the boy and the girl, especially the boy, the importance of the preservation of bird life. Yes, these scatter gun fellows go out and slay our song birds, kill our quails and felarks and doves, man's best friends. It ought not to be, folks. Let's wake up to the fact, the bugs and the worms will get us.

Since the Moon Shines Only by the Sun's Light

THOUGHT PROVOKING suggestions, penetrating to depths of fact in human life far below those often sounded by trite aphorisms, were delivered by Dr. Gaines B. Hall, pastor of the First Southern Presbyterian church, in a sermon Sunday morning, as a brief reference to society's multiple charities.

Observations upon the innumerable aids programmed by various organizations in the country were occasioned by consideration of purely curative humanitarianism. Every community has recognized groups and orders, both local and national, who adopt as a regular part of the announced program of work the relief of those who are in need. Financial aid which is of necessity spasmodic are very limited; direct provision of physical supplies for the maintenance of life; and individual or committee visitations in cases of illness comprise the charitable activities of such organizations, all done in the name of humanitarianism.

To recognize that such curative methods are not sufficient to the need is not to discount the temporary benefits which they render, nor the sincerity of those who are instruments of such ministrations. Dr. Hall went to a greater depth to raise a pertinent question: Could these social maladjustments which amount to a constant plague be prevented by more persistent effort to cultivate a higher, more idealized—more thoroughly Christianized—type of humanitarianism? A collective devotion to the individual's fullest enjoyment of life which starts out by providing a social and economic soil in which it best can grow, rather than attempting in midseason to correct stunted, warped or misdirected growth?

His declaration that more of the effort and funds which go into corrective charities probably should be devoted to promoting a finer, more spiritualized attitude of helpfulness designed for maximum prevention of human ills appears to be saturated with truth. Certainly the demands upon our current charitable organizations have shown little tendency to decrease.

To My Successor

She made a choice and I was counted out,
And that is part and parcel of the game,
Small use for any lad to storm about—
I know too well, that love's a fitful flame;
You wear the ermine cloak that marks the king,
And I must go the way that losers take,
And bear as best I can the bitter sting
Of heartbreaks, far too deep to ever shake.

So, spend the gay enchanted months with her,
And revel in the prize that you have won,
But, if a wistful waltz she hears, may stir
Old longings that she thought were spent and done:
Remember, even though you are a king—
That memory will go on whispering!

The Retort Grand

Leonard Liebling, the N. Y. American's musical oracle, is telling it. When the great pianist, Paderewski, was premier of Poland, he met the late Clemenceau at the Versailles peace conference.

"You are Paderewski, the great pianist?" asked Clem.

"Oui, monsieur," said the artist, as he bowed.

"And now you are a statesman?"

"Duo," ouid Paderewski as he stole the second bow.

"Heavens!" chirped the old Clemenceau-and-so, "what a comedown!"

"Always Belittlin'"

"Dear Walter," passionately writes Robert L. Ripley, "believe it or not, one of the things you never knew till now, is that we both get a break by going on the air at almost the same time each Monday evening. We don't have to listen to each other!!!"

Not New, but Clean

Kate Smith, one of the better entertainers in "Flying High," has her favorite gag. It's the one about the man who was felled by a hit-and-run driver at 46th St. and Broadway. A traffic cop hastened to his aid.

"Would you know the man who struck you if you saw him again?" asked the officer.

"No," replied the victim, "but I'd recognize his laugh anywhere!"

Squelch

Bill Doudna, of the Madison, Wis., State Journal, writes that there's a sign backstage at the Palace Theater, Chicago, which throttles actors in a sentence. It reads: "If you think you're good, try Madison, Wis.!"

Add Merciless Truths

The current Saturday Evening Post offers among other interesting articles a story by James J. Walker, the town mayor. Speaking of boxing, His Honor says: "I like boxing . . . It is the one game in all the world in which a man is thrown out of the ring if he hits below the belt. You have to fight one fellow at a time, and he is always in front of you. You do not have to worry about anybody behind you. I wish as much could be said about activities removed from the field of sport."

Novelette

A column or two or ten ago it was mentioned here that many illustrators are finding the going so tough that they will paint your barn. A Park Rowgue writes: "Well, then, you know how tough it is. I saw your comment last week. Jack C——, who draws pictures or advertisements, has a sad one to unfold about the situation. Jack has met with financial reverses and cannot afford to drive his $4,000 Marmon, which he is peddling to a pal for $100. That's how he and his pretty wife are fixed.

"The other day he got a job to design a theatrical poster, the sort of thing he wouldn't have considered twice a little while ago. He went to see the show with his wife to get familiar with the plot and then do the poster. The play was about a commercial artist, who lived in Greenwich Village, and who, after many struggles, gets a contract to paint a beautiful lady with much exposed legs for a hosiery firm.

"The model sits in a crescent moon, draped in nothing much, her hair flying, her hands over one swell knee. It was obviously The Blue Stocking girl, made a brunette for the occasion. The guy in the show clicks with this picture and goes for a world-tour on the coin.

"Jack himself painted the 'Blue Moon Girl!' Many years ago! And at the time he thought it was such a lousy job he didn't even sign it!"

O, Mr. Wilstach!

"Dear Peck's Blab Boy," writes "One of the 69th," "your very sad paragraph recently about the neglect of a much-medalled man who was overseas with the 69th Infantry may create a wrong impression. This tailor-made hero avoids the 69th Infantry, where they know him best, because they know him best. And the regiment is always willing to help a deserving man whose name is upon its rolls. Father Duffy won't help him. Neither will Colonel Donovan. There must be a reason. And there must be a reason why 'our hero' has never attended an annual reunion of the Rainbow Division!"

"SHEILA"

Love and Mystery Humor and Tragedy

A Story of Wichita Falls

By GORDON TURNER

"Why, look who's here—our own little Andy!" Mercy exclaimed.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Mazie Brown writes this story for practice in a story-writing correspondence school course, never intending it to be published. She intersperses it with notes to her instructor. She is a confidential secretary of Frank Sheridan, wealthy young lawyer whose hobby is the solving of crime mysteries. Sheridan is called in by Joseph Hedley, assistant prosecuting attorney, to assist in finding a burglar who robbed a safe at the Speedway home of William Oliver Wilber. Hedley is engaged to marry Wilber's daughter, Sheila, whose cousin, Andrew Masters, is a frequent visitor at the Wilber home. Wilber tells Hedley and Sheridan a cashbox containing a diary of his wife, now dead, was stolen from the safe. The diary holds a secret of Sheila's birth, and, unknown to her, it must be recovered to shield her. Sheridan gives Mazie Brown a want ad, for insertion in The Record News. It offers $500 reward for return of the diary. Sheridan, called out of town, asks his friend Hedley to meet his sister, Mrs. Pauline Murchison, when she arrives for a visit, and escort her to the Kemp hotel. Andy Masters awakens after a wild party in his Seymour road bachelor home. His valet, Ike Sellers, recalls to him some of the scenes of the party, including an incident in which Mercedes Riverton, one of the guests, had tied her stocking around the neck of a statuette. Andy suddenly remembers he has an engagement to take Edna Rogers, chum of Sheila Wilber, to dinner at the Kemp.

Now Go On With The Story
CHAPTER VI

Sid Deems' dance orchestra and Chef de Cuisine Pierre's palate-tickling specialties were the double lure that held scores of gay, animated groups lingering over a late dinnen in the lower room of the Kemp hotel.

Andy Masters and Edna Rogers were seated at a table just under the edge of the overhanging mezzanine, giving them a clear view of the entire room and of the entrance from the lobby. On the polished dance floor two professional dancers in costume were giving an exhibition of terpsichorean gymnastics to the strains of a syncopated Hungarian gypsy melody.

"Look, Andy!" Edna exclaimed, "over there—one, two, three, four, five tables to the left. No, wait a minute, they're looking this way. Now!"

Andy's eyes popped out. "Joe Hedley, by all that's holy!" he ejaculated, "and pipe the classy he's got with him! Oh, wouldn't this turn Sheila green!"

Edna's eyes flashed angrily and her lips drew into a hard, straight line. "Sheila certainly ought to know about it," she said. "Anyone can see that woman's a vamp. Why, if no man were around she'd take down the 'no parking' sign and make love to a fire-plug."

"Meow, kitty, cat!" jerred Andy.

"I don't care," Edna snapped. "Sheila's my best briend, and Joe Hedley hasn't any right running 'round with other women less than two weeks after he's given her an engagement ring." She fixed a venomous eye on the distant couple. "Who is she?" she asked.

"I don't know," Andy answered, "and yet it seems to me I've seen that red-head before. Anyway she looks interesting. Let's go over and butt in on their tete-a-tete."

"Don't you dare!" challenged Edna. "I don't want anything to do with them."

Hedley, unaware of the interest he and his companion were creating, was thoroly enjoying himself. He had fulfilled his promise to Frank Sheridan, meeting Pauline Murchinson at the train and escorting her to the hotel. She had been too polite to show her disappointment in Sheridan's absence and had accepted graciously Hedley's self-introduction as her brother's closest friend.

"Frank ofter has written of you in his letters, and I recall you from by schooldays here, so I feel that I know you very well," she said.

Facing a lonely evening in her room, she did not hesitate to accept Hedley's invitation to take dinner with him. They had left the taxi and were just entering the hotel lobby. Hedley had not expected acceptance; his invitation had been merely a courtesy gesture.

"I must unpack and change first," she said. "If you will call about eight . . . will that be all right?"

Hedley agreed, saw her safely in the care of a bellboy, leaped into another cab and was driven to his rooms at the William-Mary. Before changing clothes he took up the telephone receiver and called the Wilber residence.

"That you, Sheila darling," he said. "I am very, very sorry., but I cannot come out tonight as promised. An important business development has arisen that I must attend to."

He snapped the receiver in place and exclaimed vehemently, "Damn Frank Sheridan, see what he's let me into!"

Hedley's wrath at his absent friend had cooled before he long had been in the company of Sheridan's pretty sister, now seated opposite him in the hotel dining room. He looked into a pair of cool, gray eyes set in a piquant face. Close-clustered curls of flaming red rioted on a small, beautifully-modeled head which rose from gleaming white shoulders.

This striking picture was given added effect by a Nile green frock with corsage cut daringly low. A loop of pearls encircled the slender throat. Pauline Murchison was arrayed for conquest, and Hedley basked in the glow of her vivid personality. For the time being, Sheila Wilber was out of mind and memory.

The orchestra struck up a lively foxtrot. Several couples were swaying to the music on the dance floor. Hedley leaned across the table.

"Would you care to dance?" he asked.

"Please excuse me," Pauline replied, shaking her head. "I don't want to be recognized. You see, I have so little time to spend in Wichita Falls, and if my friends here find me out they will insist upon entertaining me. It would not do to see some and slight the others. I left things at odds and ends at home and I must stopp off in New York for some shopping. I would be leaving tomorrow if Frank were home."

"Oh, that isn't fair," Hedley complained, "you must stay over for a few days and let us all see more of you."

"That's kind of you," she replied, smiling into his eyes, "but it can't be." She glanced around the room. When she turned back a mischievous smile lurked in her eyes.

"A girl on over there on the other side of the room is looking daggers at me," she said quietly. "Is it possible I have stirred the demon of jealousy in some feminine breast?"

Hedley turned quickly. "By the gods, Edna Rogers!" he exclaimed under his breath, "now the fat's in the fire!"

Conversation languished between Andy and Edna. The latter could not keep her mind off the fickle-hearted Hedley and his fair companion. She stole frequent glances in their direction; they seemed absorbed in each other and oblivious of their surroundings.

Andy, whose mercurial temperament demanded action, was becoming bored. Edna had refused to dance, and Andy craved a drink. Hip flasks are frowned upon at the Kemp.

A couple, flushed with dancing, threaded their way through the crowded tables. The man was tall, sallow-faced, with a wisp of black mustache on a thin, selfish lip; the girl, small, but shapely, the pert pony balle type of the old stage days; a mop of bleached hair contrasted strangely with black-penciled eyebrows, mascaraded lashes and rouged cheeks.

Home Menton and Mercedes Riverton had been in the party of revelers at Andy Masters' apartment the preceding night. Mention was one of those wolves of the law who specialize in criminal practice and prey upon the fears and necessities of their clients, the dregs of the underworld.

Cruel and rapacious, a blackmailer at heart and in practice, Menton masked all his real character behind an affectation of geniality and goodfellowship. He moved in a fast set which hung upon the fringes of respectable society. His assumption of a sophisticated, man-of-the-world manner won for him a leadership among easily gullible, wealthy young idlers of Masters' type.

Menton cultivated such friendships carefully and used them for his own purposes. He was able to cement their allegiance by whispering in the ears of certain judges, thus gaining them immunity in minor infractions of the law. Andy, who continually was running afoul of traffic regulations and speed officers, had profited frequently in this way. He looked upon Menton as a pal and adviser.

Mercedes Riverton was Menton's stenographer and office assistant, a light-hearted, but shrewd, little "gold-digger," pretty in her way and not hampered by any dictates of conscience.

"Mercy" loved above all what she called a "good time" and Andy Masters had been the temporary object and financial stimulant of her affections.

As she and Menton worked their way across the crowded room, Mercedes glimpsed Andy, whose eyes were bent morosely on his plate. Clutching her escort's sleeve, she piloted him to the table. Ignoring Edna, she tapped Andy on the shoulder and exclaimed:

"Why, look who's here, our own, little Andy, alive and sober, too! Gosh, Andy, you were a scream last night. You oughta seen yourself, laid out on the bed and the gang making whoopee over the corpse. I liketa died!" Then apparently seeing Edna for the first time, she asked abruptly, "Who's your girl friend?"

The startled, embarrassed Andy struggled to his feet. Red in the face, he leaned heavily upon the back of his chair.

"Er-ah-er—" he stuttered and choked at a loss for words. Edna saved the situation.

"Mr. Masters," she said frostily, rising from her chair, "we really must be going. I promised mother we would not be late." She took Andy's arm and quickly led him away.

Menton had been a silent spectator at this feminine skirmish. A sardonic grin twisted his lips. As Andy and Edna passed out of sight, he whistled softly a bar of that old Spanish-American war song, "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight."

MANGUM PLANS SINGERS MEET

Texas-Oklahoma Group to Gather in October

Special to The Record News

MANGUM, Okla., June 2.—Mangum has had a state Elks convention, regional basket ball tournaments and many other meetings of the kind, but it has a new experience in store for this fall. Over 4,000 people are expected to be here for the annual convention of the Texas-Oklahoma district singers on Oct. 11 and 12.

President Wesley J. Mangum of Memphis, Texas, was here this week-end making preliminary arrangements for the meet.

In its year and a half of existence the association has shown remarkable growth. It was organized at Hollis in January, 1929, and held its first convention at Memphis with over 2,000 present.

The district includes Greer, Harmon, Jackson, Beckham counties in Oklahoma, and Hall, Childress, Wilbarger and Wichita counties in Texas. Mr. Mangum expects to have 20 counties in the association before the convention here in October. The meetings are always held on Saturday and Sunday. The first day features comedy as a prominent part of the program, but on Sunday only a religious program is given, with all the churches dismissing for the event.

Auto Collision With Mule Brings Suit for $8,085

Owner's Answer Demands $100 for Death of His Animal

Damages aggregating $8,085 are asked in three separate suits filed Monday against D. W. Wiley on behalf of Lee Miks, Frieda Miks and Clara Krajca as a result of injuries alleged to have been sustained by the three in an accident on the Henrietta highway in which the car they occupied crashed into a mule owned by Mr. Wiley.

It is claimed the car went into the ditch after striking the mule and that Mr. Wiley was negligent in allowing the mule to run out on the public highway in violation of the stock law in force in Clay county. Lee Miks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Miks, driver of the car, claims damages of $5,060 for alleged injuries to his face and jaw. Mrs. Frieda Miks, wife of Ira Miks, claims $2,108 damages as a result of alleged permanent disfiguration of her face and Clara Krajca asks $1,007 damages on a like allegation.

In Mr. Wiley's answers and exceptions to the three suits, he denies the allegations and claims $100 damages for the death of his mule, pointing out trespassers had opened his gate without his consent and motorists in turning the cars around have run into his gate, allowing an opening for the mule to get out. He also claims Lee Miks was operating the car at an excessive rate of speed.

The suits will involve the legality of the state law prohibiting stock owners from allowing their animals to run at large on the public highways, so far as its enforcement in Clay county is concerned. Mr. Wiley takes exception in his answers to the suits to the allegation that the "stock law" is in force in Clay county, pointing out that in 1918 the county commissioners court ordered the law enforced after an election covering two separate statutes prohibiting owners from allowing stock on the highways. Attorneys for Mr. Wiley contend the commissioners court erred in failing to order two separate elections on the two separate statutes, one of which covers hogs and other small stock and the other covers mules, jacks and similar animals.

The Mark of Quality

Leadership

Firestone brought out for automobile use:

—The first straight-side tire.

—The first rubber non-skid tread.

—The first commercial demountable rim.

—The first patented Gum-Dipping process.

—The first balloon tire.

Performance

Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires;

—hold all world's records on road and track for safety, mileage, speed and endurance.

—for ten consecutive years have won the 500 mile Indianapolis Endurance Race.

—were on winning cars in Pike's Peak Race—where a slip meant death.

—were on the Studebaker car which on a board track at Atlantic City in 1928 went 30,000 miles in 26,326 minutes.

—ran 71,351 miles on a Detroit taxicab, before the first tire was replaced.

—were on the G. M. C. truck carrying a two-ton load that hung up the Coast-to-Coast endurance record.

—for 10 years have been sold on a mileage cost basis to taxicab and bus lines in greater volume than any other tires, and now equip the world's largest taxicab fleet and the world's longest bus line.

FOR ten consecutive years all the winning cars in that classic of automobile racing, the Indianapolis 500 Mile Endurance race, flashed across the finish line on Firestone Tires.

IN FACT every famous driver in these races used Firestone Tires. Every one of them for years has refused to use any other and the reasons behind their choice tell a story of Firestone Leadership.

THE Indianapolis Race requires the most expert driving in the world. It is won or lost on the turns. The man who can make the turns at the highest speed is the man who wins. The track is of rough brick and bumpy. As the race progresses, it becomes soaked with oil and very slippery.

DOWN the straightaways the cars pound at sometimes 150 miles an hour, but as the turn comes the driver must judge how much speed he can preserve and how much skid he can take and still stay in the land of the living. This judgment must stay with him through 500 miles—with changing track conditions, with nerves gone, with hands and body numb and with eyes blinded.

THESE men flirt with death, but there is one chance they will not take. They will not take a chance with tires.

THESE drivers buy Firestone Tires. Their tires are not given to them by Firestone, much less are they paid to use them. And herein is the story.

MANY years ago, Firestone did pay drivers to race. The most famous of these drivers was Barney Oldfield and he painted on his car: "Firestone Tires Are My Only Life Insurance."

IN THE course of time Firestone withdrew from racing and the making of racing tires. Then the trouble began. The leading drivers of the country said that it was Mr. Firestone's business whether or not he paid them to use his tires, but it was their business to judge the risks they would take. They would race on Firestone Tires, no matter what they cost, or they would not race at all. And so Firestone had again to make racing tires.

THE difference between a Firestone racing tire and the Firestone Tire you can buy from your dealer lies only in the tread. The heat generated in a tire during a race is terrific. It is heat that causes most tires to fail. The ordinary road tread will burn up on a track, and so for it Firestone substitutes a harder, lighter tread which would be exceedingly uncomfortable on the road but which perfectly answers the track requirements.

THAT, however, is only a detail. The reason why Firestone Tires stand up in any race is to be found in their construction—the same construction that you get in any Firestone Tire.

IN ALL tires other than Firestone, the cotton cords which go to make up the carcass of the tire are merely imbedded in rubber. In the complex twisting and pulling of these cords in a tire in action, the fibers in the cords rub against one another. The friction generates heat and when the heat reaches a certain point the tire collapses.

IN THE Firestone Tire, each of the millions of fine cotton fibers going to make up a cord is thoroughly insulated with rubber in the famous, patented Gum-Dipping process which is exclusive with Firestone. This reduces the friction in the cords and therefore reduces the heat and enables the Firestone Tire to perform normally under conditions where any other tire would collapse.

NO racing car can be better than its tires. Neither can any other car. The racing drivers trust life and victory to Firestone Leadership. That same leadership is available to you at all Firestone Dealers.

Scarlet Fever

Scarlet fever or scarletina is so called because of the brilliant scarlet-red rash about the shade of a boiled lobster which occurs on the skin in this disease.

Scarlet fever has been called a disease of the neighborly, since neighbors often transfer it from one household to another by visiting back and forth. The disease is very infectious, and patients with it should be kept away from others for from three to six weeks, or as long as the skin continues to peel.

The beginning of this disease in children often resembles a common head cold. The tonsils are frequently the starting point, and the throat is sore, with some fever and sometimes vomiting. The child complains that swallowing is painful and he may refuse to take orange juice because it hurts his throat. The fever may range from 103 to 104 degrees or be so low as to be unnoticed. Some cases are quite mild and do not leave complications. The disease is self-limiting, that is, it runs a course and comes to an end.

The period of incubation before the child develops the disease after exposure is very short, from two to six days. A slight rash appears on the chest in from two to six hours after the sore throat. From there it spreads over the rest of the body, being thickest on the chest, abdomen and back. The strawberry tongue is very characteristic of this disease. As the fever begins to subside, the rash begins to fade and the throat is less sore. The rash frequently fades by the sixth to ninth day after its appearance. The skin begins to peel off near the end of the first week and the whole body will usually have scaled off by the third week.

One attack of this disease confers immunity. It usually attacks those of from 5 to 16 years of age, although older or younger people are sometimes the victims. When uncomplicated, the complete recovery usually follows quickly. The ordinary complications are ear trouble, rheumatism or nephritis. Sometimes the glands in the neck remain swollen.

In treating scarlet fever keep the patient away from others. Put him in bed in a darkened room, and immediately begin either a straight water fast or an orange juice fast. If the orange juice seems to bite the tongue and inflamed tonsils, use straight water for one or two days until the juice can be taken. This restricted diet should be continued until the skin stops peeling. Give sponge baths of cool water to reduce the fever to below 102.5 degrees, and see that patient gets plenty of fresh air. Bowels must be kept open with enemas, using at least two every day during the fever. If thiese simple instructions are followed to the letter there will be no danger of bad after effects.

The symptoms need not be complicated as long as the child is kept on a fast during the fever and given a non-starchy diet for a few days after he feels like eating again. Patients cared for in this way usually show a quick recovery.

Questions and Answers

Question—Mrs. M. L. P. asks: "Is there an absolute cure for ulcerated stomach without undergoing an operation? Is it possible for one to go on seven years with one, and not vomit? Also, does an ulcer cause a large amount of gas?"

Answer—It is certainly possible to cure most cases of stomach ulcers without an operation. It is doubtful if an ulcer will continue to exist in an aggravated form for as long as seven years. Severe ulcers usually produce vomiting, but sometimes the patient is only nauseated and cannot vomit. There is generally a large amount of stomach and intestinal gas in a case of stomach ulcer, but this is also true with gastritis which is so commonly mistaken for ulcer.

Have Cow Tested

Question—Mrs. H. G. writes: "Please tell me if drinking the milk from a cow that has been coughing a year could be the cause of me getting thinner since last fall. I am 50 years of age, always rather a thin person, but healthy enough. I am feeling well now, but am losing in weight every day.

Answer—If the cow has tuberculosis you should not use the milk as there is danger of contracting this disease in this way. I suggest that you have a careful examination to see what is causing your thinness. It would also be a good plan to have the cow tested.

Mascara

Question—C. S. writes: "I use mascara on my eyelashes. I always wash it off at night. Please tell me whether the use of mascara is harmful to the eyes."

Answer—Mascara is not harmful to the eyes if you are careful not to allow any of it to get under the eyelids.

Bank Robbed of Million to Reopen

ST. LOUIS, June 2. (INS)—President Ed Mays, of the Grand National bank which was the victim of a million-dollar safe deposit robbery a little over a week ago, today announced plans to reorganize the bank.

"Our institution is in a sound condition and its capital and surplus are unimpaired," President Mays said. "We plan to keep that capital and surplus intact so that we will have something to draw on, if necessary, if suits should be filed against the Grand National.

"We plan to take the business of the Grand National into a new institution to be known as the Continental National bank which is to be organized with entirely new capital and surplus."

The "run" which started on the bank Saturday morning and which resulted in the withdrawal of $739,000 from the bank was apparently at an end today as only a few customers were at the bank this morning in contrast to the lines which formed before the paying tellers' windows Saturday.

The reinstatement of Cashier Gifford J. Herbert who had resigned and Vault Custodian William A. Brittin, who had been discharged, was announced today.

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, June 2.—Announcement has been made that actual construction work on the Travis school building will begin June 16. Crews of men are now razing the old building and it will require two weeks more time to get the site clear for the contractors.

Tearing down the Reagan building will begin immediately, and contractors will erect the new building on this site also as soon as the debris is cleared away.

These two buildings will cost about $90,000 of the $120,000 bond issue recently voted, balance to be expended for construction of negro school and equipment of all buildings.

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED D. THOMPSON

Irving Burns, fire-eating first sacker of the Spudder machine, stood in the moonlight in front of the Church of the Sacred Heart. It was early Sunday evening, 8 o'clock to be exact. Beside him stood a companion. Inside the church his friends were gathered, waiting for the happy event. The ceremony should have been going on. For First Sacker Burns was scheduled to middle-aisle it with Miss Margaret Gutro of Boston, exactly, on the dot, precisely, etc. at 8 p. m. Everybody, including the priest, was there—except the bride.

Irving Burns and his companion continued to stand in the glare of an ironic moon. The stars twinkled merrily, but their good cheer failed to cheer the churning heart of First Sacker Irving Burns. First Sacker Burns, in fact, was more nervous than if every pew in the church were a base occupied by a runner and Babe Ruth were standing at bat.

Two women approached. "Is the wedding over?" asked one.

"No," replied Mr. Burns in so many words, "Not by any means."

"Oh," the woman said, "then it hasn't started yet?"

"No," replied Mr. Burns, "I'm afraid not."

"Well, is everybody here," the woman continued. "Come on," she addressed her companion, "Let's see if the principals are here."

"Here is one of them," Mr. Burns interjected, in so many words, and he told the two women he was no less than the bridegroom, but that his bride had failed to show up.

"Oh!" the first woman said.

And "Oh," said the second woman, less heatedly.

And then the two women remained silent and so did Mr. Burns and his companion, but whereas the thoughts of the two women could not easily be perceived, those of Mr. Burns were all but written on the skies, the same being, in so many words, "Where can she be, where can she be."

Well, now, don't get excited because this story is not going to have an unhappy ending. Yes, you guessed it, the bride did appear, finally. At 8:15 o'clock she tripped lightly up the steps. She was only 15 minutes late, and this should have been expected. But bridegrooms have a habit of being eager, you know, and somewhat nervous, and in fact, derned anxious that the thing be over with.

Well, the rites were carried out in a beautiful ceremony, with Father Patrick O'Beirne asking First Sacker Burns if he would carry out his end of the bargain, and asking Miss Gutro if she would put up with Mr. Burns; and both parties apparently being willing the speech making ceased and the newlyweds began thinking of ways and means to dode the traditional rice barrage.

If the spectacular work of bridegrooms Sunday and Monday, both on the amateur and professional lots, are indications of what always happens when a baseball player takes unto himself the role of head of a household, then every player in these parts should be considering matrimony.

Irving Burns celebrated his marriage Monday by socking a home run in the third inning of the Wichita Falls-Fort Worth game. And Sunday, Red Nichols, hurler of the Mity Nice Bakery nine of the Major City league, celebrated his first day of wedded life by striking out 20 men in 11 innings in a game with the Sullivan's grocery team.

Security Bankers Tie With Foes Fourth Time

For the fourth time this year the Security National bank baseball team finished in a deadlock when they held McClurkans company nine to a 7 to 7 tie Monday afternoon on Wilson field. The tie left the Merchants league race at a standstill when the P. B. M. and Southwestern game was postponed until today. The bank has tied the Furniture Dealers twice, P. B. M. once and McClurkans once.

The game was a free hitting affair from the start with Meyers and Mundy leading the attack for the clothiers as Bob Mathis led the attack for the Bankers. Each of these collected two hits, both of Mathis' going for doubles. Berry and Gordon hit home runs for the Bankers. The heated battle for league base stealing honors between Morrell McGregor of P. B. M., and Posies Reed, of the Bank, grew a little closer as Reed stole one sack Monday. The late official count of stolen bases is 14 to 13 in favor of McGregor. Score:

FINAL CLOUT SPOILS SHUTOUT

Bonowitz Hits Homer in Ninth

BY FRED D. THOMPSON

Milt Steengrafe will never forgive Joe Bonowitz for what he did down at Athletic park Monday afternoon. Milt had traveled far down the shutout highway. In fact, he was about ready to park his jitney and call it a day when Joe slammed a home run over the left center field palisades in the ninth inning and blasted Milt's hope of getting two shutouts in as many starts, the tall veteran having pitched a no-run game in his last period of mound duty against the Dallas Steers. But if Steengrafe was bereft of shutout honors he made up for it in pitching a spendid game against the invaders from Fort Worth, letting them down with four hits and paving the way for a clean-cut victory for the Spudders in the last game of the series of four. The Williamsmen knocked Hardaway and Whitworth for a grand total of 17 hits, including two home runs and several other whams good for extra bases, and the outcome of this one-sided slugging match found the Cats on the little end of a 10 to 1 score.

The victory gave the Spudders clear title to the series by the wide margin of three games to one. In addition it gave the club a jump on the remaining teams in the league, all of which remained idle Monday.

Exporters Here Today

The Beaumont Exporters will furnish the next opposition, the first game of a series of four being scheduled to get under way at 4 p. m. today. A double-header Wednesday will make up for a game postponed from the last series, club officials announced.

Monday's game was an errorless affair for both sides, with Levy going far towards making up for his series of bungles in Sunday's encounters. In addition, Euller, Storti and Burns figured in some hard chances, and the outfielders nearly always managed to be under the descending pill.

The hitting barrage of the Spudders was led by Levey and Burns, both of whom hit home runs, Levey's coming in the first inning and Burns' in the third. Levey opened the tilt for the Spudders with his high one over the left field boards, and Storti strolled and was driven in by Burns' single to give the locals an early two-run lead. Burns' homer in the third was the next tally, and then came two more runs in the fourth. Levey caught a pitched ball in the left arm and took first. He then stole second and went to third on Storti's single past third. Fitzgerald singled through the box, scoring Levey and advancing Storti to third. Whitworth then relieved Hardaway and was greeted by Kloza's mighty double to center that scored Storti. Fitzgerald attempted to come home on the throw in but was tagged out at the plate, center to second to catcher. Burns flied out to center and Bettencourt lined out to short to close the inning.

Packed the Paths

The Spudders loaded the bases in the sixth, but Whitworth disposed of Bradbury via the strikeout route to end the threat and the sluggers had to wait until the seventh for more runs. Euller opened it tamely enough by grounding out, third to first. Steengrafe lined out to first. Levey singled through the box. Storti singled to left, a hit ordinarily good for one base for the average base runner, but Levey took it upon himself to reach third. Fitzgerald then doubled to right, and both Levey and Storti scored. Kloza strolled, but Burns grounded out, second to first, closing the frame.

The eighth proved the biggest inning, so far as runs were concerned. Bettencourt singled past second to open it. Bradbury grounded out, pitcher to first, Bettencourt taking second. Euller grounded out, short to first, Bettencourt taking third. Steengrafe drove in Bettencourt with a single to short. Levey singled past first, sending Steengrafe to second. Storti banged out the only triple of the day, scoring Steengrafe and Levey. Fitzgerald fouled out to third.

Joe Bonowitz, Steengrafe's bad news, accounted for two of the Cats' four hits, his homer being one and his double in the first inning accounting for the second. O'Connell strode into the hall of fame by getting the third, a single in the fifth; and Kelly got the fourth, a double to center in the seventh.

Kelly Cheered

Kelly made a hero of himself in the first inning when he speared Euller's tough line drive to first when a bust would have cost at least two runs. The bases were loaded at the time and Euller's out was the third. The Panther first sacker was roundly cheered from the stands.

Bombing of Theater Brings Investigation

Although the time bomb tore a great hole in the roof of the building, shows were being run on schedule.

Police were inclined to believe that labor trouble may have been behind the bombing.

Hagen Elated Over Bobby Jones' Victory

TOKYO, June 2. (AP)—Walter Hagen, winner of more British golf championships than any other American, said he was "highly elated" at Bobby Jones' victory in the British amateur championship at St. Andrews, Scotland.

"I am tremendously pleased that Bobby finally crashed through and rounded out a collection of crowns such as no other golfer has ever acquired," he said.

"The victory is no surprise. He undoubtedly is the greatest golfer in the field. It was his previous failures to win the British amateur that makes it more surprising."

Change in Attire Suggested as Foul Detector in Title Bout

By DAMON RUNYON

NEW YORK, June 2.—I note in the public prints that James A. Farley, chairman of the New York State Athletic commission, has in mind a suggestion designed as a partial safeguard against fouling in the Schmeling-Sharkey fight that is worthy of serious consideration.

According to Mr. Murray Lewin, of the Daily Mirror, Mr. Farley would have both Schmeling and Sharkey wear white trunks with narrow black belts, instead of the black and red, and purple and blue, which are the standard colors of the commission at this time.

There is common sense in Mr. Farley's idea. Never a more perfect camouflage for a foul punch from the red fighting gloves used in New York, could have been conceived than the colors now insisted upon by the commission for the fighting gear of the leather shovers in these parts. A fast thrown glove dropped a little low blends perfectly into the black and red, and the purple and blue, and is lost to the eyes of the referee and the judges.

Against a white background, with a sharp dividing line of black, the red gloves would show clearly. I do not say that the white trunks would prevent a foul, but they would make it easier for the officials and the clients to tell when a punch is foul. Mr. James J. Tunney, formerly Gene, realized this when he wore his white trunks in fighting the manassa mauler, suspecting foulish designs on the part of his opponent.

In principle, the standard fighting gear required by the New York commission, is sound enough. It used to be the custom of the gladiators to appear for battle in all manner of strange garments, some of them in aged panties that were often quite in tatters, and harassed the artistic sensibilities of even the hardened sports scribes, who rarely, if ever, blush at anything.

A fighter would start out early in life wearing a certain set of trunks in his battles. Perhaps it would be some fig leaf lovingly woven by a sweetheart, or a doting mommer, or any sort of material, and of all colors. Plush panties were made fashionable for a spell by Mr. Ace Hudkins, the former wildcat. They were most ornate, and much sentiment attached to them in the mind of the Wildcat.

Other gladiators wore more elaborate silks and satins, with insignia of different kinds embroidered on them. Still others, made of sterner stuff, went in for tight fitting woolen breeks. The manassa man mauler, Mr. Dempsey, liked those kind for a long time, until he acquired a more fancy taste, and in his later battles wore beautiful white silks, made especially for him by a lady in Chicago.

Not until he ran into the New York rule in his fight with Sharkey, in fact, did Dempsey discard the silken shorts. He was a bit superstitious about them, just as he used to be superstitious about an old red sweater, that he finally chucked aside for a fluffy white one.

All this ragbag apparel produced by the fighters looked bad, and that was the main reason why the New York commission decided to standardize the gladiatorial garb and dress the boys up whether they liked it or not. I thought that was a good idea at first, but they picked the wrong colors, unless they had at the same time insisted on the lads wearing the white fighting gloves that are in vogue in some spots.

The reason white for trunks was tabooed by the commission was also sound enough, in principle. White trunks show blood too clearly, which is also one objection to white gloves. But it is the only color that furnishes a proper contrast with the dark red gloves used in New York state.

It may sound a trifle melo-dramatic, but the eyes of the European world of sport are on this particular fight, and the spirit of American fair play is more or less on trial. In England, they refuse to believe that a foreigner can get a square rattle in the ring over here, after the strange experience of old Phil, the fainter, in Miami. They think Sharkey is apt to be permitted to "get away with murder" against Herr Max, and Germany, too, is a trifle nervous.

It therefore behooves the New York commission to use every precaution against the possibility of a foul. There is no doubt that Sharkey loses his noodle when he gets excited, and chucks his punches around without due regard to the point of landing. It would be a bad thing if he got away with a low punch in this battle.

Schmeling is almost entirely a head puncher, and rarely tries a smack to the body. Sharkey relies mainly on that left hook to the stomach. In a fight of this importance, a referee dislikes calling fouls, and often lets low punches pass unnoticed, if they do not seem to disable a gladiator. Or sometimes he dismisses the low punches with a warning. All of which I have always claimed is wrong, because a foul is a foul, regardless of the consequences, and warning a man doesn't lessen the damage of the punch he has delivered.

Sharkey was warned all right enough at Miami, but the warning didn't help Phil, the fainter. I believe the effect of Mr. Farley's suggestion would be to make Sharkey careful, anyway. And it would also make Schmeling careful, too. I am informed that Mr. Farley will perhaps offer his suggestion at the commission meeting Tuesday, and its adoption would at least be notice to Germany that her favorite fistic son is going to get as much protection as the New York commission can give him.

PHILLIES BEAT CARDS, 9 TO 6

Closing Inning Rally Brings Victory

PHILADELPHIA, June 2. (AP)—Rallying in the closing innings, the Phillies defeated the Cardinals, 9 to 6, today in the only game played in either of the major leagues.

The Cardinals were away to a four-run lead in the first inning, but the Phillies kept after Hallahan, driving him from the mound in the seventh, following the scoring of two runs in the fourth, a like number in the fifth and three in the seventh to grab the lead. Bell pitched the eighth and was nicked for another two runs.

Collins started for the Phillies, but was relieved in the seventh by Elliott, who held the Cards in check and received credit for the victory. It was the Cardinals' seventh straight defeat. Whitney led the Phillies' attack with two doubles and two singles in five trips to the plate. Hafey drove out a home run for the Cards in the first inning, scoring three runs. Score:

Sharkey Training For Third Round Finish

ORANGEBURG, N. Y., June 2. (US)—If one is to judge by Jack Sharkey's procedure of training here during the past week the Lith plans to feel Max Schmeling out in the first two rounds at the Yankee stadium on June 12 and then shoot the fireworks in the third session.

Sharkey has predicted a five-round knockout for himself over the German and his style of training here is indicative that he is working toward that end each day before the bout. It has been seen that Sharkey usually boxes carefully in the first two rounds with his spar mates and in the third unleashes a savage attack upon the face and body of our Mr. Johnny Grosso who has unfortunately drawn that position of sparring each afternoon.

Reds Bow to Yanks In Exhibition Contest

CINCINNATI, June 2. (AP)—With home runs by Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and Ben Chapman playing an important role the New York Yankees defeated the Cincinnati Reds 8 to 5 in an exhibition game today. Each of the home runs came with a man on base.

The Reds jumped into an early lead scoring once in the first and second innings, but the Yanks came back with a fur-run attack in the fourth that put the American leaguer out in front. Ruth and Chapman scored all of the runs with their two circuit clouts. Gehrig added his in the fifth.

East Texas League May Be Disbanded

LONGVIEW, Texas, June 2. (AP)—The East Texas Baseball league, composed of Longview, Atlanta, Carthage and Marshall, was on the verge of disbandment today. Carthage notified James Griffin, league president, that it would withdraw from the circuit unless the constitution was amended to permit the home club to retain all the gate receipts. It was doubted the other member cities would agree.

DALLAS, June 2. (AP)—Purchase of Leo Cotter, first baseman, from Minneapolis of the American association, was announced today by Bob Tarleton, vice president of the Dallas club. Cotter hit .293 for the Millers last year and ranked third among the league's first basemen in fielding. He hit 27 homers.

Von Porat Seeks Ring Opponent

CHICAGO, June 2.—Otto von Porat, Chicago's heavy hitting Norwegian contender for the heavyweight championship, will appear in the feature number of the Chicago stadium's next show, provided a suitable opponent can be signed to meet him, Matchmaker Nate Lewis announced today.

Von Porat's manager, Ed Stevenson, has agreed to meet any opponent Lewis is able to get for his man. Johnny Risko, Paulino Uzcudun, Young Stribling, Tommy Loughran and Primo Carnera are all being considered by the matchmaker.

The big fellows apparently are not any too anxious to expose their chins to Otto's heavy fire, however. Offers for a Von Porat match have been dispatched to all of the above named warriors, according to Lewis, but all of them demand prohibitive guarantees.

The stadium has been allotted June 12 as its next date by the commission. An application will be made to the boxing board, however, to have the date set back to Monday, June 16, so that the show will not conflict with the Jack Sharkey-Max Schmeling heavyweight championship battle, which to dodge the traditional rice barrage.

State Health Inspector Visits Quanah Dairies

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, June 2.—Inspector Hargis of the state health department has been in Quanah during the past week inspecting and checking up on the dairies. State sanitary laws are being observed in every instance, Mr. Hargis stated.

Every effort is being made to get federal inspection for local dairymen and compensation for any cows which might have to be killed when found diseased, Hargis advised. This change will be made soon in his opinion.

A second inspector is to be in Quanah in about 10 days to give rigid inspection to all cafes and confectionaries and dispensers of food or drink, and strict adherance to all laws will be demanded or penalties assessed, according to Mr. Hargis.

ENRAGED BEAR KILLS KEEPER

One Blow of Brute's Paw Proves Fatal

WATERTOWN, N. Y., June 2. (INS)—An enraged female bear, separated from its mate, killed its keeper here today when the man opened the cage door at the city zoo to feed it.

Loping up to the door when Emerson E. Joyce, 45, opened it to give the bear its first meal of the day, the animal struck the keeper in the head and dragged him into the cage.

The first blow is believed to have broken his neck.

Joyce's cry brought Grover Brenon, superintendent of the zoo.

By this time the bear was tossing the keeper around the cage.

Two patrolmen succeeded in forcing the bear into a corner of the cage with long poles and carried Joyce from the enclosure.

He was taken to the Mercy hospital but doctors said that the first blow from the bear was fatal.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, June 2. (AP)—Reports of favorable weather for crop progress over the Memorial day adjournment and relatively easy Liverpool cables were reflected by declines in cotton here today. July sold off to 15.99 and closed at 16.01, while the new October contract closed at 14.62, with the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 15 to 30 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 11 to 19 points. The market sold about 17 to 25 points net lower during the early trading. It then steadied and rallies of a few points on covering occurred during the middle of the day, but prices eased again later and the close was within a point or two of the lowest.

A private report was issued placing the end-May condition of the crop at 68.7 against 69.7 at the same time last year which appeared to be without much effect upon the immediate market. Port receipts today 4,624. U. S. port stocks 1,742,050. Exports today 3,929, making 6,467,753 so far this season.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, June 2. (AP)—Cotton was quiet today with narrow price fluctuations after an opening drop due to poor cables and favorable weather in the belt over the week-end.

The market ruled quiet for the rest of the morning and during most of the period after mid-session prices remaining within the early range and near the lows.

There was a dropping off in late trading and December made a new low at 14.72 or 16 points net lower for the day. July closed at 15.73, 3 points above the lows but 12 points net lower for the day. October closed at its low 14.66, or 14 points net lower.

Market Holds Firm Undertone Against Renewed Pressure and Dull Trading

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, June 2. (US)—Faced with renewed pressure on the farm equipment stocks, the market today made little headway but the under-current continued firm. Trading declined to a volume reminiscent of last January and public interest was of equal proportion. Price changes in the main body of the market were without significance, although a few more aggressive groups actively sponsored their particular favorites. Money continued freely offered despite the beginning of the month period. Outside developments were of a standoff character, the Montgomery Ward 26 per cent increases in sales last month being offset by additional dividend reductions, including Kennecott's cut to $3 from a $5 basis previously prevailing. The leading stocks generally remained in a narrow range, as if the big interests were still undecided as to their course of action. Wheat and other grains were lower, while foreign exchanges likewise yielded.

Montgomery Ward was an outstanding point of strength, attaining a new high on disclosure of the sharp gain in its business. While the gain was explained as being principally due to the large number of new stores opened since last year, the fact that the company's management has been able to gain so large a volume of new business was attributed to increased buying demand on the part of the public. The figures stimulated the entire merchandising group. The retail organizations naturally will be among the first to benefit from a revival of buying. Increased interest was evident in Park & Tilford, which rates as a merchandising unit as well as a manufacturer. Buying of this stock has also been stimulated by the recent agitation for repeal or modification of the prohibition statute, a development which would create enormous profit possibilities for Park & Tilford.

Air Reduction continued a feature, advancing to a new high price for the year. Short covering played an important role in its strength. Case Threshing Machine suffered a further sharp decline to a new low on its present reaction and International Harvester was also in supply. Apparently the important factors in the industry have not reached an agreement as to prices. Nevertheless banking buying continued in Case, whose record has been one of continuous expansion in earnings year after year. Stocks representing manufacturers of pipe were in demand on additional large scale orders placed in connection with the huge pipe line programs in the natural gas industry. Radio met considerable profit-taking, but Grigsby-Grunow's sponsors were successful in marking up their favorite to a new high for the year. Gigsby is making a tremendous effort to lead the radio show this year. Incidentally, General Motors' Radio is understood to be attracting widespread public interest. Colgate Palmolive remained unchanged although announcement was made that a banking group had placed a block of the stock privately. Utility stocks were unusually quiet.

Specialties furnished the greatest activity, Vanadium in particular being turned over in large amount but with only fractional change in price. Worthington yielded slightly although its sponsors anticipate receipt of a large order in the near future which will, they assert, be equivalent to addition of several dollars per share to earnings. Fairbanks-Morse has been steadily taken lately by interests anticipating early announcement of a new aeroplane Diesel motor and other developments of similar nature. The $3 dividend rate on the stock, affording a liberal yield, has also attracted buying, while the Diesel developments emphasize its speculative possibilities.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, June 2. (AP)—Arrival of the first car of 1930 wheat in Fort Worth last Saturday was being used in world markets today to hammer the price of that grain down, unsettling both cash and futures markets all over the country. While mills have been taking old crop wheat very sparingly at prices well above the current position on the Chicago market, they practically shut off their purchases today and little wheat was sold except at marked price recessions. This sporadic buying created a very irregular and unsatisfactory market condition at all terminals and commission men had little cheerful news to send their customers. The large supply of old crop wheat still on hand and the nearness of the new crop promises to continue the dominating influence with poor demand for all wheat the rule. Mills were nominally bidding $1.11@1.13 for ordinary No. 1 hard Monday but none was buying except to meet immediate needs.

Bids and offers on coarse grains ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered freight paid to Texas common points:

Corn—No. 2 mixed 95@96c; No. 2 white 99c@$1.00; No. 2 yellow 98½@99½c.

Oats—No. 2 red 43@54c.

Barley—No. 2 nominally 68@69c.

Sorghums—No. 2 milo per 100 pounds $2.07@2.08; No. 2 kaffir $1.75@1.77.

Dealers also quoted, basis delivery Texas group one—No. 2 mixed corn 92@93c; No. 2 white 97½@98½c; No. 2 yellow 97@98c; No. 3 white oats 51@52½c, to which add 1 cent for delivery Texas group three.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 2. (AP)—Reported ideal conditions for the new wheat harvest in Texas and for ripening the Oklahoma crop did much today to slide the wheat market downgrade.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled at nearly the day's bottom level and 1⅛@⅜c lower than Saturday's finish. Corn closed ⅜@⅝c advanced, oats ¼@½c up and provisions 5@12c off.

Corn and oats showed an upward price trend all day. Corn receipts were small compared with what was expected, and country offerings were for the most part held at above current prices. Oats crop reports were less favorable than of late, rains being needed.

Provisions declined, responsive to setbacks in the value of hogs.

Closing indemnities—Wheat, July $1.05¾@1.06, $1.08¾; September $1.08¾@1.09, $1.11¾@1.11½; December $1.13¾@1.13⅝, $1.15¾@1.15⅞. Corn, July 80⅜@80¼c, 88⅛c; Sept. 81⅝@81⅛c, 82⅝@83c; December 76¼@76⅝, 77½@77⅝.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, June 2. (US)—Many longs went out of wheat today for no other reason than the poor tone of the market during the latter part of the session. Commission houses continued to favor purchases on the setbacks in the belief that the fundamental position of the market is strong.

Country offerings of corn were firmly held at ½@1c over the market. With the sharp falling off in receipts, there was more friendliness to the buying side of futures.

A wire from Minneapolis contained an estimate of northwest country elevator stocks of all grains of 40,060,000 bushels. There are rumors current there that the farm board agencies will get around 14,-000,000 bushels of cash wheat July 1 on maturing loans.

The Canadian national railway report said that generally speaking the conditions at all points through the western sections of the wheat area were less favorable than at the time of the previous report owing to frosts, winds, dry weather and some insect pests, but that with a few good rains in early June accompanied by warm weather the setback would be only temporary.

General rains fell throughout the wheat districts of Australia over the week-end, Broomhall says, adding that the subsoil moisture reserve is still below average. Farmers are selling only sparingly and there is no pressure of any consequence.

Oats—No. 2 white 41½c.

CHICAGO, June 2. (AP)—Wheat—No. 3 red $1.09⅜@1.11. No. 1 hard $1.08¼.

SPOT COTTON PRICES

NEW ORLEANS, June 2. (AP)—Spot cotton closed quiet 12 points down. Sales none; low middling 13.83; middling 15.33; good middling 15.98; receipts 28; stock 432,433.

Chicago Cotton Futures

CHICAGO, June 2. (AP)—Cotton futures closed: July 15.82; Oct. 14.75; Dec. 14.85.

DRY GOODS MARKET

NEW YORK, June 2. (AP)—Cotton goods opened the week quiet on easing of raw cotton tending to slow up bidders. Finished cotton is in moderate demand for prompt shipment. Raw silk opened the week unchanged. Silk goods are moving best in cutting channels. In the wool goods division more attention is being given to duplicates for fall. Burlaps opened unchanged with reports that curtailment of production will begin July 1 at Calcutta.

CHICAGO COTTON

CHICAGO, June 2. (AP)—Cotton was listless and closed at or near the bottom for the day, 3 to 15 points net lower.

The market opened 3 to 10 points off on disappointing cables and early private reports of favorable weather over the week-end and again this morning. Prices worked as much as 15 points down during the morning and then rallied.

Bruce Gives Humorous Talk on 'Current Events'

Current topics, including the gubernatorial campaign, business depression, and prohibition "nonenforcement" were discussed facetiously by H. J. Bruce in the feature number of the program given before the Kiwanis club membership Monday noon.

Referring to business conditions, Mr. Bruce deplored the habit of making prosperity speeches as being quite as reprehensible as talking hard times incessantly. Business difficulties, he declared, have resulted from the public's acquired habit of obtaining luxuries at any cost under the illusion that they are necessities. The dollar-down plan was charged with having done much toward destroying habits of thrift.

Political affairs were described as highly entertaining, with "17 Democrats and Tom Love in the race for nomination as governor."

Musical entertainment was furnished Monday by Johnnie Reed and Walter Barnard. Mr. Bruce was introduced by Wylie S. Brown, and Paul Pearson introduced guests.

Blakley. Members who have their equipment will begin work on the construction of their model plane immediately which will be completed in two weeks, when a contest will be held.

Bunah Allen demonstrated a plane he constructed from handmade materials and C. C. Bunnenberg announced that he will present the winner of the first contest with a plane constructed by Don Ross. Plans were made for a meeting to be held in the auditorium on Monday, June 9.

European Editors Feted in Houston

HOUSTON, June 2. (AP)—Fifteen European journalists, sent on a tour of the United States by the Carnegie endowment fund to promote world peace arrived in Houston today and were guests of the chamber of commerce for their one-day stay. The group arrived from New Orleans and left late today for Galveston.

"The impressions the members of the party have received regarding the American newspapers are favorable," commented G. A. Officials Accuse Each Other as Aftermath to Chickasha Lynching

CHICKASHA, Okla., June 2. (UP)—Charges and counter-charges were made here today involving county officials and national guard officers attempting to quell rioters who Friday night and Saturday stormed the county jail here, killing a negro prisoner charged with assaulting a white woman.

Capt. R. E. Smith of the Oklahoma National guard, reported to Adj. Gen. C. F. Barrett of Oklahoma City, that Sheriff Matt Sankey was "indifferent" and failed to cooperate with guardsmen. Captain Smith also criticised local officials and said deputy sheriffs did not co-operate with his men.

Sheriff Sanky replied the strain of work during the rioting may have created the impression he was "indifferent" and denied he failed to aid the guardsmen in maintaining order.

Meanwhile investigation of the rioting which led to the death of Henry Argo, negro, charged with assaulting Mrs. George Skinner, lowland farmer's wife, continued. Three agencies including county officials, state and government authorities, were prepared to take part in the coroner's inquest to open here tomorrow.

County Attorney B. F. Holding said charges of assault with a deadly weapon would be filed against George Skinner, husband of the woman Argo was believed to have attacked. Skinner stabbed the negro after the mob had shot him during rioting in the Grady county jail.

BLANTON FINDS NEW TROUBLES

Campaign Publicity Made Center of Attack

WASHINGTON, June 2. (AP)—Fiery "Tom" Blanton, veteran of many congressional disputes, came back to his old seat in the house today to find new troubles awaiting him.

The Texas Democrat took the oath after a week's delay to receive his election credentials, but immediately after his induction, a resolution was offered calling for an investigation of charges he had made in political advertising in his campaign.

The resolution, offered by Representative Clancy, Republican, Michigan, was referred to an election committee. Clancy presented the measure after he had sought unsuccessfully to prevent the Texan from taking the oath.

A point of order was raised against the measure, but Speaker Longworth overruled it after deciding the advertisement "attacked the integrity of the house." He read extracts from the advertisement that that "bad bills of every kind pass without reading" in the closing days of a session, and that Blanton "knows how to stop and kill steals."

The Texan later replied to the Michigan member. He insisted his criticism of the closing days of congress was justified but said that by "steals" he meant "not the steals that congressmen were making, but steals that men outside congress were making." Both parties, he added, have found it necessary to designate several members to watch for bad legislation.

Jefferson Davis Honored Today

under President Pierce as secretary of war and later returned to the senate. His first efforts were against secession when the war between the states loomed on the horizon, but on Feb. 9, 1861 he accepted the presidency of the Confederacy and made heroic efforts to reconcile all elements in the South in the losing struggle which followed.

He was made a prisoner by the Union army at Irwinsville, Ga., on May 10, 1865 and was held prisoner in Fort Monroe until May 17, 1867 when he was released on bail signed by some of his bitterest opponents. He died in New Orleans in 1889. His body lies buried in Richmond, Va.

Floyd County Relives Old Days In Annual Pioneers Reunion

Special to The Record News

FLOYDADA, Texas, June 2.—Forty years ago the first vote was cast in Floyd county to decide the location of a county seat for Floyd county. There was nothing here but a few citizens, wide open space and an invitation to vote for Floyd City, as it was then known, for county seat.

That marked the beginning of one of the finest counties in the state, declared R. E. L. Muncy, vice president of the Floyd County Old Pioneers association in the welcome address opening their annual celebration held on the courthouse lawn in Floydada. This event marked the 40th anniversary of the founding of Floyd county, the records show that there were 327 registered during the day, the largest attendance ever recorded at the celebration. Taking advantage of perfect weather, cloudy skies, and a pleasant atmosphere, the pioneer settlers of Floyd county came from many neighboring communities and distant cities to enjoy the companionship of former days in a real, old-fashioned re-union.

An impromptu program was enjoyed. Many of the old timers, their wives, and their childres addressed the large crowds gathered on the courthouse lawn telling of the hardships and the pleasures that were enjoyed during those pioneer days. Old time string music was furnished throughout the day by old time musicians playing old time numbers.

The visitors enjoyed a basket lunch which was spread on the lawn at the noon hour. The afternoon program was taken up with the introduction of the various pioneers of this section, after which the election of officers and directors for another year was held. An old-fashioned square dance on the pavement on the north side of the courthouse was held where many of the guests showed the younger generation how they enjoyed the popular dance steps of 40 years years ago.

Representatives here from other sections are as follows: Amarillo, El Paso, Lubbock, Wichita Falls, Plainview, Lockney, Post, Dickens, Ralls, Roaring Springs, Matador, Silverton, Brownfield, Spur and several other points.

The following officers and directors were elected to serve for another year, J. J. Day, president; R. E. L. Muncy, vice president; Glad Snodgrass, Mrs. E. C. Henry, H. C. Randolph, Mrs. W. M. McGehee, George Fawver, directors, and Tom W. Deen, secretary-treasurer. It was voted to hold the celebration each year at Floydada on the courthouse lawn on May 28.

NEW YORK, June 2. (UP)—The National Society of Penal Information in a report today blamed overcrowding of the Ohio penitentiary at the time of the disastrous fire onto either "stupidity" or "negligence" by officials.

Lobby Group Prepared to Compel Answers

WASHINGTON, June 2. (US)—The senate lobby committee today met the challenge of Bishop James Cannon Jr., of Virginia, by announcing he will be questioned tomorrow about his management of the anti-Smith campaign in 1928.

If Cannon follows out his implied threat and declines to answer, the issue of compelling him to testify will be placed squarely up to the committee.

Because of pressure of other business only Senators Walsh, Democrat, of Montana, and Blaine, Republican, of Wisconsin, will be on hand when Bishop Cannon takes the witness stand.

Borah and Robinson Busy

Senators Borah, of Idaho, and Robinson, of Indiana, will be busy with the foreign relations committee while Chairman Caraway is in Arkansas.

If Cannon challenges the committee's authority when he takes the stand, the hearing may have to be delayed temporarily until a third member is secured to make a quorum.

So far as Senators Walsh and Blaine are concerned, however, the witness will be directed to answer.

An indication of his probable course was given yesterday when the bishop issued a public statement saying the committee had no authority to question him about "political expenditures."

Walsh Unimpressed

He referred in particular to the $65,300 which E. C. Jameson of New York contributed to the campaign against Al Smith in 1928, $48,300 of which was never reported to congress.

Cannon's plea failed to impress Senator Walsh who is known as an outstanding authority on congressional procedure. Walsh pointed out that since its inception, the committee has never hesitated to ask about the political expenditures of persons or organizations which have been engaged in lobbying.

The Montana senator said the two are so closely linked that it is impossible to inquire into lobbying activities without considering political expenditures.

Council Refuses Permit for Shop On Brook Avenue

Because of vigorous protests from adjoining property owners, the city council Monday night in a public hearing refused to issue a permit to R. A. Covington for construction of a delicatessen shop at 2226 Brook avenue. The application was made last Monday night and the hearing called for this week's council meeting. Five protests were made. The application of T. E. Hill for a permit to build a filling station on the lot directly across Eighth street from the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital, now occupied by sign boards, was received by the aldermen. It was voted to advertise the application and call a public hearing for the next meeting. Other matters considered were of routine nature, including transfer of departmental funds for recording in the city's books. Mayor Walter Nelson Jr., was absent, having gone to Dallas Monday to attend a session of the Texas and Oklahoma Free Bridge association, of which he is president. Alderman R. O. Harvey was also absent, having left for Virginia to accompany home his son, Ralph, a student in Washington-Lee university.

Vernon Chapter of Walton League To Build New Rearing Pond at Kemp

Oneal Receives 10-Year Easement on Property for Wichita Falls Ponds From Waggoner Estate

A new rearing pond for bass fry is being constructed at Lake Kemp by the Vernon chapter of the Izaak Walton league, according to word received here Monday from members of the Vernon chapter by Ben G. Oneal, president of the Wichita Falls chapter.

Mr. Oneal assisted in the reorganization of the Vernon chapter about a month ago, and Monday was told that the membership had been increased to 52 within a period of three weeks. The Vernon pond, which will be used to bring bass fry to the fingerling stage before releasing them in Lake Kemp, will be located below the dam at Lake Kemp near the spillway, Mr. Oneal was informed. Members of the Vernon chapter expect the work on the pond to be completed in about two weeks, it was said.

Mr. Oneal also announced Monday that the Wichita Falls league had received an easement on the property around its rearing pond at Lake Kemp from the Waggoner estate. This pond was the first constructed in this area, and has been followed by a rearing pond at Lake Wichita and the second pond at Lake Kemp by the Vernon chapter. Assurances were given by Bob More, manager of the Waggoner properties, that the estate will provide the Walton league with easements on additional property as the space devoted to rearing ponds for fish is increased. The easement allowed by the Waggoner estate is for a period of 10 years, Mr. Oneal said.

CRASH SUIT SEEKS $50,000

Widow of Oil Field Worker Files Claim

The L. G. Bradstreet company was named defendant in a suit filed Monday in the 30th district court on behalf of Mrs. Elsie Spears on a claim to $50,817.60 damages growing out of the death of her husband, Mike Spears, in an automobile collision on the Archer City highway last April 23, in which one of the cars was driven by A. G. Holmes, Wichita Falls representative of the oil company.

The petition alleges Mr. Holmes was driving toward Wichita Falls on the left side of the road when the crash occurred. Mr. Spears, 42, was instantly killed. He is survived by the widow and a 20-year-old daughter. He had been a tool dresser in the oil fields. The crash also claimed the life of Hollis Jewel, the other occupant of Spears' machine.

5 POUNDS IN 20 DAYS
Arkansas Woman Greatly Pleased With Her New Figure

Read how Mrs. Willa Pugsley of Arkansas gained nearly 5 pounds in less than 20 days:

"McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets have worked wonders for me. Have nearly finished the second box, feeling better in every way and have taken on nearly five pounds of flesh, much to my delight I can recommend McCoy's to do all they claim."

A New Jersey boy gained 10 pounds in 21 days; a New York mother and daughter gained 7 pounds. And in fact men, women and children everywhere are gaining new weight, strength, vitality and energy from McCoy's.

The reason is that McCoy's have the same marvelous flesh-forming vitamins as liquid cod liver oil; and in this respect are hundreds of times richer than even milk, butter, eggs or cream. The vitamins are directly extracted from Norwegian cod liver oil and sealed under a pleasant sugar coat.

Read Renfro Drug company's remarkable MONEY BACK offer—McCoy's are guaranteed to give any man, woman or child the increased weight desired or purchase price refunded. Just ask for McCoy's—60 tablets 60 cents.—Adv.

Gall Bladder and Stomach Troubles
Give Early Warning of Many Serious Conditions That Follow

Gallstone and gall-bladder sufferers have had early warning through some slight derangement of the stomach. Many of the very worst cases of high blood pressure are due to liver troubles and intestinal toxemia.

Fatal heart failure is often heart black, caused by intestinal and stomach poisons.

Muco-colitis has its early history of catarrhal stomach, and nearly all cases of rectal troubles are accompanied by constipation and intestinal diseases. Many great scientists believe that cancer is caused by an intestinal ferment.

The low blood pressure of tuberculosis and catarrhal conditions has an early history of hyper acidity and so on through a long list of diseases.

The Health Service Doctors are affiliated with three large health institutes of the East and Southeast, at Newark, N. J., Atlanta, Ga., and Birmingham, Ala., which insures everyone who calls on them the latest methods for relief of deep-seated chronic conditions.

With their enlarged quarters they offer every modern facility for the treatment of stomach and intestinal troubles, disease of the blood, nerves, rheumatism, diabetes, high or low blood pressure, diseases of the rectum and special diseases of men and women.

Wasserman blood tests are only $3. Consultation is free. The Health Service Institute is permanently located in Wichita Falls. Office hours daily 9 to 5; Wednesday and Saturday evenings 7 to 8; Sundays 10 to 12 only.
