Charges filed in woman's death

Charges of first degree murder were filed Saturday with Precinct One Justice of the Peace Wilbur Davis against Billy Joe Taylor, of Oklahoma City, in connection with the death of Dorothy Williamson Anderson, 48, of Coleman.

A body, thought to be that of the Mrs. Anderson, was found in a pasture about six miles west of Ballinger last Tuesday afternoon. Sheriff Bill Baird said that the tentative identification was made through clothing and body characteristics.

The sheriff said that the preliminary report from the Bexar County Medical Examiner's office placed the time of death of the woman to be about March 1.

The sheriff would not comment on cause of death or where the murder might have occurred.

The suspect, Billy Joe Taylor, 34, was arrested Monday by officers in Barstow, California on the murder charge and also on charges of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. Bonds on the two felony charges totaled $270,000.

Officers said that evidence found with the body, as well as information from friends of Taylor and the dead woman, led officers to file murder charges against Taylor. Sheriff Baird said that a car belonging to the dead woman was thought to be stolen and taken to Oklahoma by Taylor.

Officers said that the dead woman and Taylor were known to be friends and the woman was attending a truck driving school in San Angelo while Taylor was said to be a truck driver.

Mrs. Anderson was last seen alive on February 28, and said to have been reported missing by her daughter in Coleman on March 4.

Sheriff Baird said his department was almost positive that the body found was that of the missing woman but that all information concerning the body was being taken to the FBI to verify the identity of the body.

Graveside funeral services were held for Dorothy Williamson Anderson on Tuesday at the Coleman City Cemetery under the direction of Walker Funeral Home of Coleman.

Wait a minute... By Kerry Craig

There must be some kind of circuit, an object or somebody that through which the things that columnists write get around.

Kind of like gossip or, maybe, a grape-vine.

If you recall, about three years ago we related a story about a little bitty snake that caused a big bit of uproar after it was found in a pot plant.

I received that item from someone who found the item in somebody else's column.

This morning I received a letter from a reader in New Mexico. There was a note saying "Hi" and photo copies of somebody's column in a newspaper from somewhere else.

The first item discussed by that writer was, you guessed it, the story about that same little snake. A bit modified and some of the facts were changed around, but essentially the same story.

Also was a poem that was reportedly written by Old Man Anonymous. The newspaper was also not identified. I wish it had been so I could give them credit for the following.

The little ditty is about how much fun it is to be a councilman for the city. I am sure some of our councilmembers, as well as other elected representatives have first-hand knowledge of the thoughts contained in this. Here goes—

Come now ye troubled, one and all
And gather at the City Hall.

Here sits that high and mighty body—
Strictly first-class—nothing shoddy

Ready to hear your tales of woe, each of which takes an hour or so.

Would you like a new street light?

To guide your way when you are tight?

Is your garbage hauling slow?
Does your street have too much snow?

Is there bad taste in your water?

Does it cost more than it ought'er?

Does sewage pollute your river?

Do high taxes make you shiver?

Didn't we promptly put out your fire?

Do our cops arouse your ire?
Are the streets too full of speeders?

Don't you like our meter readers?

Didn't you get that promised sidewalk?

Then right here's the place to squawk.

We're for service at your behest.

And we will always do our best

To solve your problem with agility

To the very best of our ability...

Oh, taxpayer, please don't misunderstand.

We think you're the finest in this fair land.

We hope you are satisfied, but if you ain't

Remember, please, no one is a saint.

And if at the next election you beat us,

There is really no nicer way you could treat us...

(See Wait Page 12)

Lots of fun and prizes

A large number of youngsters wait for another pinata to be hoisted Friday during the Winters Spring Fling. The pinatas were filled with candy and prized donated by Winters merchants.

Fewer people than expected attended the Good Friday festival which enjoyed clear skies and a cool wind.

Hamburgers and fajitas were served, along with peach cobbler and cold drinks to benefit the Winters Food Pantry. A number of local musical groups provided entertainment during the day.

City-wide Clean-Up Week set for April 18-23

The Winters City Council has officially declared the week of April 18 through 23 as Winters Clean-Up week. Mayor Randy Commodities to be distributed Central Texas Opportunities, Inc. will distribute USDA commodities at the Winters Multi-Purpose Center, 601 W. Pierce, Winters, Texas, from 3 to 5 p.m. on Thursday, April 14, 1988. All eligible persons will receive emergency food assistance without regard to race, sex, political beliefs, age, national origin or handicap. Shut-ins are encouraged to designate an authorized representative to pick up for them. Commodities are distributed on a first come-first serve basis. Volunteers are greatly needed and appreciated to help with this much needed program. Call the Center for more information, 754-4443.

Girl's Golf Team wins Ballinger Invitational

The Winters Blizzard Girl's Golf Team did an outstanding job at the Ballinger Invitational Golf Tournament on March 30. The team outdistanced its nearest competitor by 26 strokes. The field consisted of teams from Ballinger, Merkel, Coahoma, Paint Rock, Bronte, Robert Lee and Winters.

The team was led by Denise Smith's 101 followed by Stephanie Powers 105, Tami Belew 106, Kim Slaughter 109, and Lynda Billups 112. The team score of 421 is the second best they have ever shot. This is perhaps the first time a Winters girl's team has ever placed 1st in a tournament and we are extremely proud of them. This should help our team as we prepare for the district meet on Friday, April 8, in San Saba. We are looking to shoot well and gain a repeat trip to the regionals. Another highlight of the Ballinger tournament was our 2nd team. This group tied for 4th place with Ballinger. They include Barbie Bradley Marie Pritchard, LaTricia Palmer, Mindy Andrae, Brandi Fry and Kati Harrison.

Springer and the Council, along with the Winters Area Chamber of Commerce and Winters Lions Club, are urging all citizens of Winters to help clean up the city. The city Street Department will assist in this effort by hauling junk, limbs, brush and trash to the city landfill free of charge during the special Clean-Up Week.

The city will haul old appliances, tree limb and brush tied with twine, grass and weeds which have been boxed or sacked if these items are placed by

V.F.W. to hold elections

Winters Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 9193 will have election of officers for 1988-1989 at their regular meeting Tuesday, April 12, 1988 at 7:30 P.M. in the Post Home. All members are requested to be present.

Our boys team travels to Ballinger Wednesday for a meet in preparation for their district meet which will be in Brady on April 11.

We started the golf season with 16 girls and 33 boys. This number of kids is about unheard of for a school our size. Some dropped out along the way and at the present time we still have 33 left on our teams and only three of these are seniors, so we look good for the future.

Our school authorities and administration have bent over backwards in helping us with this many kids. They have allowed them to be able to compete and this is of the utmost importance for their improvement. Without their support many of these kids would not get to experience tournament competition.

Also special thanks needs to be given to the Winters Country Club and its membership. Our kids (all 33 of them) take to the course everyday to either play or practice. This pretty well takes up a lot of the course and the members are extremely patient and we wish to thank them.

the street or in the alley.

Any senior citizen that need help moving such items to the alley or street should call City Hall at 754-4424, or the Chamber of Commerce at 754-5210 for assistance.

The list of people needing this assistance will be kept, and on April 23, help will be available to move items to the street or alley for pick up.

The City Council said that city crews will pick the trash or debris on the following schedule: Using Dale and Main Streets as the dividing lines on Tuesday, April 19, the Northwest Quarter of town; on Wednesday, April 20, the Northeast Quarter; on Thursday, April 21, the Southwest Quarter of town; and on Friday, April 22, the Southeast Quarter of town.

On Saturday, April 23, the big push to Clean-Up Winters will be made by the Lions Club, Boy Scouts, City and County.

Everyone is urged to take pride in the appearance of their property and the city as a whole and put forth an effort in this project.

Dog saves family in Monday fire

Don and Maxie Trowbridge credit their dog with saving their lives when their home burned to the ground late Monday evening.

Ballinger fireman Bobby Jones said firemen were called just after 11 p.m. Monday evening to the Trowbridge home, located near Elm Creek on F. M. 2647, about 10-12 miles North of Ballinger.

Jones said that Mr. Trowbridge told fire fighters that he had been watching television and had fallen asleep in his chair and was awakened by the family dog. He told firemen that the house was "burning everywhere."

Ballinger Fire Chief Odell Denton said, "They were lucky to get out of the house alive. He (Trowbridge) said that he ran out the front door thinking his wife was behind him. When he found she wasn't there he ran around to a bedroom window, kicked out the window and carried his wife out of the house."

Denton said that Mrs. Trowbridge was taken to Ballinger Memorial Hospital where she was treated for smoke in-

1988-89 Pre-Registration scheduled

Pre-registration for 1988-89 Pre-Kindergarten and Kindergarten students has been scheduled for Thursday, April 7 at 7 p.m. in the Elementary Library. Parents of children who will be four or five, (for Pre-Kindergarten or Kindergarten) on or before September 1, 1988 should bring a birth certificate, and immunization records. Those students not enrolled in Kindergarten and who will be six (6) on or before September 1, 1988, should also register for this first grade.

halation and held overnight for observation.

Denton said that the fire that completely destroyed the frame home was visible from Ballinger and that the house was totally destroyed by the time the first fire truck arrived.

Fire Chief Denton said that he was sure that the family was going to need some things, that they managed to save only some jewelry and a clock. Denton said that Mrs. Trowbridge only had the gown she was wearing and that Mr. Trowbridge only had the pants he was wearing.

Denton said that persons wishing to help the Trowbridge family should contact the family or the Ballinger Fire Department. He said persons with donations should contact the fire department before bringing items to the department, that firemen would make sure that donations would get to the family.

The fire chief also said that the Trowbridge family had lost all their belongings in another fire, a number of years ago, before moving to the Ballinger area.

Pre-Kindergarten—A four (4) year old child shall be eligible for Pre-Kindergarten if he/she is unable to comprehend the English language or is from a family whose income is at or below subsistence level. Pre-Kindergarten classes shall be offered for one-half day.

It is very important that all students should be registered. The school needs to determine the number of Pre-Kindergarten, Kindergarten and First Grade teachers that will be needed for 1988-89 school year.

Magician at work

Gene Bernal was working his magic at the mesquite grill cooking fajitas and hamburgers and was assisted by Mac Sayles at the Spring Fling.

During the noon hour Friday, long lines of hungry folks were waiting while Gene and Mac performed their culinary magic.

By the time our tour group reached the commissary on the Ranching Heritage Tour our guide had us under his thumb. We were calling him "Phil" as he suggested. The only trouble was he wouldn't let us talk.

This commissary was a storehouse for food and supplies on the Waggoner Ranch near Electra and had many objects of use as early ranchers displayed. Marvin Gerhart pointed out a sausage stuffer to an inquirer and Phil scolded, "when you get through jumping to conclusions, I'll tell you what it is." When all were quiet he said, "it's a lard press."

No one said anything, we didn't dare, but one could tell that Phil didn't grow up on a ranch or farm. Anyway, this structure was built in 1870 near a crossing from Texas into Oklahoma. Block salt and water were kept here for the cattle.

Phil is not around to set me straight, but I believe it was at the J. A. Milk and Meat House where we saw the sausage stuffer. It was built to preserve food before refrigeration was common. In this ingenious structure crocks containing milk, eggs, water, were cooled by the evaporation from wet cloths draped over the containers. The meat room was constructed to take advantage of the prevailing breezes in the preservation process. The J. A. Ranch was headquartered in Armstrong County.

The Long S Whiteface Camp, 1890, an unusual structure, shows the progression in the development of ranch dwellings—a link between the early dugouts and later the homes built above ground, mostly of lumber. When there was no slope for the dugout, the rancher scooped a hole out of the level land, furnishing protection from the elements. This building served as the headquarters for Col. C. C. Slaughter's Silver Lake Ranch in Hockley County and later as a line camp—a welcome shelter to cowboys riding for the Long S.

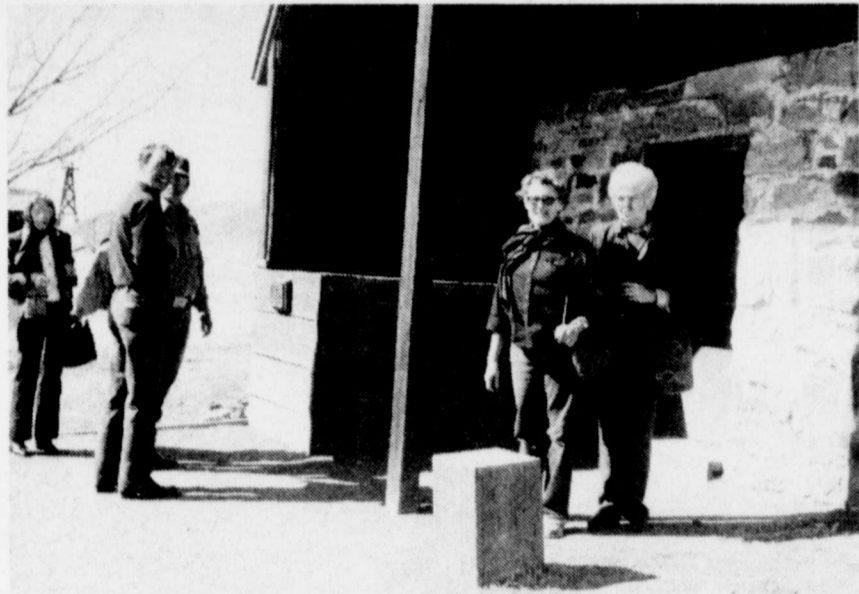

The box and strip house (1903-04), usually painted white, represents a method of construction which became typical on the Plains. Because the walls were built without studs it was economical and offered the maximum amount of interior space for the least amount of material. This type dwelling was built in Martin County.

Harrell House, 1883-1917, is a fascinating example of the growth of a ranch dwelling. As the rancher's family grew and his fortunes increased, so the house grew and was improved. The original structure consisted of a single stone room built near present day Snyder. The box and strip construction was added until it held three families.

Among other buildings of ranch life is a Cowchip House built in 1907 on the Blankenship Ranch west of Ropes. It was used to store chowchips for winter fuel. The Blankenships built a new house in Lubbock, and in 1919 moved the cowchip house into town to be used for the same purpose. Cowchips were hauled by wagon from the ranch to Lubbock in order to keep the building filled.

Las Escarbas, 1856, was one of seven division headquarters for the 3,050,000 acre XIT Ranch, at one time the largest ranch under fence. The state awarded the land to the original investors in exchange for the construction of the Texas State Capitol in Austin. This headquarters was originally located in Western Deaf Smith County. It has an office, quarters for two foremen and four cowboys.

The Eclipse Windmills were the most popular windmills used on the High Plains, for example, the XIT Ranch alone had more than five hundred scattered across its vast ranges.

Time was running out, another tour group was hot on our heels and Phil was getting testy, besides he didn't like the house we wanted to see, it was too modern. However, he relented and led us in through the back door.

Barton House, (1909) represents this lifestyle of a prosperous rancher

The Victorian style Barton House represents the lifestyle of a prosperous rancher. Built in 1909, near Abernathy, the house provided running water, spacious closets and space for two bathrooms, comforts not usually found in ranch homes of the period. Materials were brought 100 miles by wagon from Amarillo.

By this time Phil had enough of us and turned us loose to see the other sights by ourselves. But one man had left his coat in the Barton House—would he ever be able to retrieve it. A little psychology helped—it went something like this—"Mr. Nickels"—and the answer, "I told you to call me Phil."

"Good, now that we are friends on a first name basis, could I ask a favor of you?"

I didn't hear the answer but later I saw the coat on the owners arm.

We saw a landmark barn with 6666 painted on the side. But since our trip ends with a visit to this ranch at Gurthrie, it will be discussed later.

Great Walk to be restored

Today, March 28, The Capitol Committee announced plans to begin construction in late May on the restoration of the Great Walk leading to the entrance of the Texas State Capitol.

Years of continued use and weather deteriorated the Capitol's walkways. The Great Walk will be restored using 28 inch concrete diamond-shaped pavers upon which will be etched the name of each contributor to the project. Texans from all walks of life have participated in this historic restoration project making it a true representation of our rich history. These contributions will not only restore this magnificent approach to our Capitol, but also will help fund the first phase of the restoration of the building and surrounding grounds.

Lowell Lebermann, President of the Capitol Committee, Inc., stated that "Of the 1780 pavers making up the walkway, a very few remain available. Pavers can be inscribed with the names of individuals, families, associations, clubs, and businesses. All participants will be honored at special events during the May 7, 1988 statewide Capitol Centennial Celebration in Austin."

Anyone interested in participating in the Great Walk should contact The Capitol Committee, 1507 West Sixth, Austin, Texas 78703, 512-477-6485.

Senior Citizens News

Easter is behind us now and spring is on the way. We had a great Easter party Friday. The kindergarten class from First Baptist Church came and had an Easter egg hunt. They were a lot of fun to watch and we even had a few residents to venture out in the cool air to enjoy them up close. We want to thank their teachers and parents for bringing them and helping us out. A special thanks to Pat Johnson for being our Easter Bunny.

Richard Watkins was here the 28th of March and we had a nice time listening to his music. Judy Lanning conducted her Bible study the 30th and we enjoyed her lesson. As always we want to thank John Haley and Jo Miller for the time spent with us.

We are sorry to say the Lillie McKinney has passed away. She lived a very long and full life but that doesn't make up for the loss we feel at her death.

We have four birthdays to celebrate this month at our party the twenty-first. They are Reba Norris, Arlie West, Fannie Freeman, and Maxine Rose. We ask you all to join us that day and help us to give these folks a great party.

The string band from Ballinger will be here Friday to play and sing. Richard Watkins will be here Monday to play his organ. Everyone join us!

The bluebonnets are here!

The waiting is over, the bluebonnets are here! The little blooms along the roads are a promise that this year's Highland Lakes Bluebonnet Trail will be great. The Trail dates and community festivals are planned for the peak blooming period, April 9-10 and 16-17.

The Highland Lakes area is filled with the beautiful sights of fields, lakes, hills and wildflowers. The Highland Lakes Bluebonnet Trail will guide you to the best flower fields, arts and crafts fairs, and community festivals. The Trail takes you through Burnet, Lampasas, Llano, Kingsland, Lake Buchanan, Marble Falls, and Canyon Lake. The artists of each community have put together their best works for the seven different arts and crafts shows.

Join Lampasas, Kingsland, and Burnet as they celebrate with a festival on the weekend of April 9th. Lake Travis will fest it up on the weekend of the 16th. Marble Falls Cultural Evening will feature Earl Thomas Conley on Saturday, the 16th.

For the latest information on the best blooms, call the recording at the Wildflower Center Hotline at (512) 929-3607. For a detailed map of the Bluebonnet Trail, times and dates of the arts fairs and community festivals, and information on bus tours, call the Highland Lakes Tourist Association at (512) 478-9085.

Disabled should not wait to apply

Workers suffering from a physical or mental impairment which prevents them from working should consider applying for Social Security disability benefits when it appears the condition will last 12 months or more, Franklin H. Upp, Social Security manager in San Angelo, said recently.

Social Security disability benefits can be paid to workers under 65, disabled widows and widowers 50-60, and to unmarried adult children who become disabled before reaching 22.

Under Social Security, a person is considered disabled if he or she has a condition which prevents him or her from doing any substantial gainful work and which has lasted or is expected to last at least 12 months or result in death.

While no payments can be made to a disabled worker, widow, or widower for the first five full months of disability, applications should not be delayed. Before a person applies for disability benefits, it will be helpful if he or she gathers certain information. This will help speed the application process. All it takes is a telephone call to start the process.

This includes:
—The person's Social Security number
—Date person became sick or injured —Names, addresses, and telephone numbers of doctors, hospitals, or clinics that provided treatment for the condition and dates of treatment.
—Military service serial number or VA claim number if available.
—List of kinds of jobs performed in previous 15 years.
—Names, Social Security numbers, and dates of birth of spouse and children.
—Workers' compensation or other public disability benefit number, if any.
A person should not delay applying if all this

Dear Bob Bullock:
I rent, sell and lease plants and I'm not sure when I should be collecting sales tax, and what items. Maybe you can clarify this for me?
G.P.
Fort Worth

Dear G.P.:
You bet I can clear it up for you. You need to collect tax when you sell, lease, rent or take care of plants. The collection of tax used to depend on who was responsible for the plant, but this changed when the new tax law went into effect on October 1 of this year. You can issue resale certificates for plants you buy and sell and for plant food, soil and other items that you transfer with the plant to your customer. Landscaping services are now taxable, except for mowing right-of-ways, trimming trees for power lines, and some services performed on farm or forest land when the plants and trees are grown for selling purposes.

VA Questions and Answers

Q. When I was discharged from the Army I converted my Servicemen's Group Life Insurance to Veteran Group Life Insurance. I was recently notified that I've been awarded compensation for a service-connected disability and that I can apply for special insurance for disabled veterans. Can I have coverage under the two different policies?

A. Yes. In addition to your right to purchase VGLI protection, you may be eligible to buy up to $10,000 of Service-Disabled Veterans Insurance from the VA. You must apply for this coverage within one year from the date that VA notifies you your service-connection has been granted.

RRC Commission votes to appoint executive director for agency

On a motion by Kent Hance, the Railroad Commission voted unanimously late Monday, March 28, to appoint an executive director. Commissioner John Sharp, who has been pushing for an executive director since his RRC campaign, joined the motion as did Chairman James E. (Jim) Nugent.

The executive director will have the responsibility of recommending hiring of key division directors, and will determine employment of all other agency personnel. The executive director will also coordinate all staff functions of the agency and coordinate newly-reorganized divisions.

Commissioner Hance said, "This is a step in the right direction to bring better business policies to this agency. Commissioner Sharp is to be congratulated for his work on this reorganization. He had made this a priority since his election. Chairman Nugent helped work out the details for the job description for the executive director and was most helpful in this regard."

"Finding the best possible blend of people and resources to accomplish our regulatory responsibilities is critical to the Commission as it struggles with a bare-bones budget," said Chairman Nugent. "The time is right to see if an executive director can accelerate our movement toward that goal."

"In 1986, I campaigned on a platform of efficiency in government and pledged to reorganize the Railroad Commission under an executive director," said Commissioner Sharp. "Most of the reorganization and streamlining I proposed was adopted last year. Today, the naming of an executive director to oversee the reorganized agency fulfills a great deal of the commitments in the campaign, and it will result in much greater efficiency for the Railroad Commission. The people of Texas will be the beneficiaries of this action taken today."

USDA sets beef referendum date

The U.S. Department of Agriculture will hold the beef checkoff referendum vote on May 10.

The vote, by eligible cattle producers and importers of beef or beef products, is to decide whether to continue the beef checkoff program, says Allen Turner, county Extension agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. Producers are being assessed $1 a head on all cattle they sell. Funds from the checkoff are presently financing the Beef Promotion and Research Program.

Eligible voters are producers who owned cattle between October 1, 1986 and March 31, 1988 or persons who imported cattle or beef products during the same period, Turner says.

Voting will be by secret ballot in the local Extension office of the county where a producer or importer resides.

Persons who need to cast an absentee ballot must request one between April 1-29. Eligible Texas voters may request absentee ballots from Dr. Milo Shult, Associate Director, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, System 105-A, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843.

"Mark the absentee ballot and return it by May 3 to the Extension office in the county of your residence," he says.

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service will count ballots, determine the eligibility of challenged voters and ballots, and report Referendum results.

FTB asks for repeal of a provision in 1986 Tax Reform Act

Texas Farm Bureau has asked the Texas delegation in Congress to work for the repeal of a provision in the 1986 Tax Reform Act which "adversely affects livestock producers."

In a letter to all Texas members of the U.S. House of Representatives, TFB President S. M. True pointed out that prior to the 1986 tax changes, producers could expense the cost of raising the animal in the year the expense was incurred.

"This new requirement has caused a nightmare because of the definition of pre-productive period and the allocation of costs of raising livestock," True told congressmen.

Pat Smith, TFB national affairs director, in an action-requested letter to county Farm Bureaus, said the capitalization requirements under the tax changes affects livestock producers who raise breeding, draft, and sporting animals with pre-productive period of two years or longer.

TFB policy calls for annual expensing of pre-productive expenditures. The state's largest general farm organization supports H.R. 3907 by Reps. Byron Dorgan of North Dakota and Hal Daub of Nebraska that would repeal the capitalization rules and permit the old method of expensing costs.

Archie Ross Austin named to Dean's List

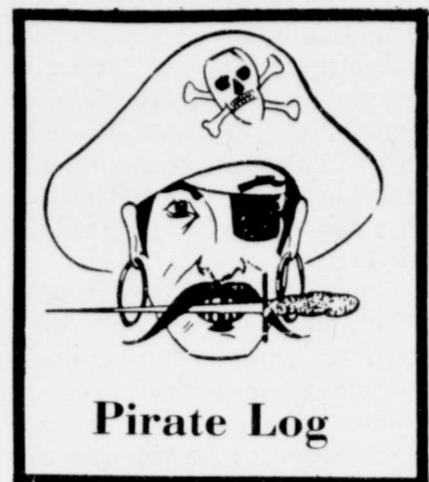

A student from Winters has made the 1988 Winter Quarter Dean's List at The University of Tennessee at Martin. Archie Ross Austin, was among the full-time students who achieved at least a 3.2 (B) grade point average based on a 4.0 (A) scale. Only undergraduates are eligible for the academic honor.

"The students on the Winter Quarter Dean's List at UTM have proven themselves academically capable of excellence in their field of study," said Dr. Milton Simmons, acting vice chancellor for academic affairs. "They have, in addition, maintained top grades in their classes and inclusion on the Dean's List is just one way of saying that they have done their work exceptionally well."

Workers' Compensation: Widely Misunderstood

Dear Commissioner Nabers: I have an employee who has been out on Workers Compensation for two months. I know that under the law I cannot fire this person but I really need to fill that position. How long do I have to keep a job open for someone on Workers' Comp? Also, if I hire someone else, what happens when this employee comes back to work? I can't afford and don't need, two people.

S. W. Albany, Texas

Dear S. W.: First of all, you are mistaken about what the law requires.

You are NOT required to hold an individual's job open when he is out on Workers' Compensation. Nor are you required to put that person back to work if you have no job available upon his release from the doctor. And you certainly do not have to fire a replacement to make room for the ex-employee.

The law prohibits an employee from firing someone in retaliation for that person's having filed a Workers' Compensation claim. The burden of proving retaliatory motive is upon the employee.

The simplest advice I can give you is to have a clearly stated sick leave policy and apply it equally to all of your employees. Any employee who exceeds the stated time allocation for sick leave should be advised that the job will not be held open and they will have to reapply for employment if and when they are able to work.

Dear Commissioner Nabers: Our industry is on again, off again as far as available work is concerned. Our people make good money when there is work. The problem is that they file claims for unemployment when we don't have work and then they don't want to come back. They just refuse to come and keep on drawing their unemployment. Why does the Texas Employment Commission allow this?

R. J. Beaumont, Texas

Dear R. J.: Probably because the Texas Employment Commission does not know about it. You must report offers of work which are refused to you local TEC office. You must do this in writing and give the following information: Claimant's name and social security number, the date of the job offer, the type of job offered and the pay, and the reason for the refusal if the claimant gave you one.

I suggest you request that a determination under Section 5(c) of the law be made and a copy sent to you.

Ms. Nabers represents 336,000 employers throughout Texas, if you have any questions you want answered, please write Commissioner Nabers at: Texas Business Today, 614 Texas Employment Commission Building, 15th and Congress, Austin, Texas 78778.

A major change in hunting regulations would extend the white-tailed deer season by one week. Across most of the state, the season would open on the first Saturday in November (Nov. 5), which is one week earlier than in the past, and close on the first Sunday in January (Jan. 1). In South Texas, the proposal would add one week to the end of the season. Proposed dates are Nov. 12-Jan. 8.

Horace Gore, white-tailed deer program leader, told the commission the longer seasons are being proposed to offer more hunting opportunity. Also, the earlier opening is designed to coincide with deer rutting activity in the Edwards Plateau and East Texas. The extension in South Texas would do the same, Gore said, because the deer in that region traditionally rut from mid-December into January.

In another major proposal, the staff recommended adding 62 East Texas counties to the either-sex bag limit regulation. This would bring the total to 142 counties where landowner-issued antlerless deer hunting permits are not are not required. Hunters taking antlerless deer with landowners' permission in those counties would be required only to use the appropriate tags from their hunting license to tag deer.

Another proposal would add 17 counties to the late antlerless-only whitetail season in South Texas. This would provide the late season for 26 counties to increase antlerless harvest where an adequate harvest has not been achieved in the past. If adopted, the late antlerless-only season would be in effect in Kinney, Uvalde, Medina, Atascosa, Live Oak, Bee and San Patricio Counties and all counties to the south and west of that late. The late season would be Jan. 14-29.

The department staff also proposed to add Walker County to the five East Texas counties having the special early antlerless-only whitetail season. Proposed dates for the early season are Oct. 22 - Nov. 4.

The staff also proposes to close the whitetail season in Hartley, Moore, Oldham and Potter Counties where deer populations are minimal or nonexistent. Hunting deer with dogs would be allowed from Dec. 4 through Jan. 1 in 10 East Texas counties, similar to last year's regulation.

The staff also recommended that antlerless deer permits continue to be required for taking deer on national forest lands in 12 East Texas counties where public access is unrestricted.

In an effort to increase hunting opportunity and better utilization of the herd, the staff recommended lengthening the mule deer season in both the Trans-

Pecos and Panhandle regions of the state. Under the proposal, the season would increase from the present nine days to 16. If adopted, both seasons would open as in the past, with the extra days added to the end of the season. Proposed dates are Nov. 19 - Dec. 4 in the Panhandle and Nov. 26 - Dec. 11 in the Trans-Pecos.

Several minor changes are proposed for turkey hunting. As in the past, the fall season for Rio Grande turkeys would run concurrently with the white-tailed deer season. The spring 1989 season would be basically unchanged, April 1-23 or April 1-16 for East Texas counties.

The staff proposed to provide the standard fall turkey season for McLennan County, with a bag limit of two turkey gobblers or bearded hens. They proposed to change the bag limit in Brown, Eastland, Mason, Mills and San Saba Counties from two gobblers or bearded hens to two turkeys either sex.

In other upland game proposals, the bag limit on pheasants would be increased from two cocks a day to three, with a increase in the possession limit from four to six, statewide. The 16-day Panhandle pheasant season would remain the same while the coastal pheasant season would be the length of the quail season.

Quail bag limits, which in the past have been set during August after summer counts are completed, would be set at 15 birds per day, 45 in possession statewide under another proposal. The season would begin on the Saturday nearest Nov. 1 and end the last Sunday in February.

To increase hunter participation, the chachalaca season is proposed to be lengthened. The proposed dates are Oct. 29-Feb. 26, the same length as the quail season.

Longer deer seasons, other changes proposed

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials have proposed lengthening the hunting seasons for both white-tailed and mule deer in 1988-89.

This and other proposals were announced in a meeting of the Parks and Wildlife Commission last week in Austin. The proposed changes will be aired in public hearings across the state during April. After reviewing testimony from the hearings, the commission will consider adoption of the changes at its May 12 public hearing in Austin. Dates and locations of the hearings will be announced later. Adopted changes would go into effect Sept. 1, 1988.

Cholesterol and You

"Good" and "Bad" Cholesterol

Surprisingly, not all cholesterol can harm health. Cholesterol is used by the body to build cells and make hormones. We also get cholesterol in foods such as eggs, fatty meats, butter and whole milk.

Cholesterol travels in the blood in "packages" of fat called lipoproteins. High density lipoproteins appear to clear excess cholesterol from the arteries while low density lipoproteins, the "bad" cholesterol can lead to cholesterol build-up in artery walls. Your doctor can determine your LDL and HDL levels and help you get them in proper balance.

You can get a free copy of a booklet on cholesterol and your health from a citizens group with grant support from pharmaceutical manufacturer Merck Sharp & Dohme. Write: the Citizens for Public Action on Cholesterol, 1101 17th St., NW, Suite 608, Washington, D.C. 20036.

369 College scholarships open to top Texas students

The U.S. Department of Education has awarded $591,175 to fund 369 Robert Byrd Scholarships in Texas, U.S. Senator Phil Gramm has announced.

The funding will be provided to the Texas State Education Agency, he said.

"This is a program under which individual states can provide college scholarships to promote student excellence and achievement," Gramm said.

"The Byrd scholarships recognize exceptionally able students who can demonstrate high promise."

The Byrd scholarship program, named after Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd, will be administered in the state by Texas Education Commissioner W. N. Kirby.

Students seeking further information about the program should contact their school guidance counselor or the Texas Education Agency, 1701 North Congress Avenue, Austin, Texas 78701-1494.

From A Goldfish Bowl

By Pastor Steve Byrne

When I was growing up in Andrews I remember going to church on Sunday evenings. Dad was a pumper in the oil field. Most of the time I remember him working 7 six-hour days a week. So he didn't get off for church on Sunday mornings. Later on when he did get a day off each week, it rotated and it was seldom that he had Sunday off.

So mom, my sister, Susan, and I would all go to Sunday School and Church at the Methodist Church on Sunday mornings. Then we would go as a whole family to the services on Sunday evenings.

It was quite a sacrifice for an eleven-year-old boy to make. Not so much the going to church twice in one day. The hard part was that you had to stop playing right in the middle of the afternoon to get cleaned up to go to church. Sunday afternoons. We are talking prime playing time. Just because we did it every Sunday didn't make it any less of a sacrifice the next time.

Yet I cannot recall a time that I wasn't glad that I had made the sacrifice once I was there. At that time of day, the sun was going down and its soft light filtered through the large stained-glass window behind the altar. Sometimes I would come in and sit down, not quite wound down from the energetic level that I had been up to that afternoon. I would look at the window, the colors vivid and velvety looking. And a certain sense of peace and calm would engulf my whole being, preparing for worship.

The service itself was far less formal than the morning worship. The Methodist Hymnal was left in the pew racks as we opted to sing hymns from the Cokesbury Hymnal. This little hymnal is chock full of the old favorites. The kind of hymns they teach you in seminary that you aren't supposed to like since most of them are of the "me and Jesus" variety. We didn't sing many hymns on Sunday evenings about Christian activism or songs of praise to God for God just being who He is.

I know that I'm not supposed to like them. But I guess I am coming out of the closet. I do like them. I liked them then and I like them now. They are fun to sing, easy to sing, and I always felt like I had worshipped after singing a half dozen of them or so.

The services were simple. The preacher would preach a little while and pray. He seemed more relaxed in the evenings than he did on Sunday mornings. The words tended to be less pointed and more comforting. More Gospel and less law.

The inconvenience of having to stop playing in the middle of the day and get cleaned up for church didn't seem so great in the midst of the benefits I received from those services. I was relating to God in a way that I usually didn't on Sunday mornings. It provided a balance in my worship life.

Since then, there have been many times that I have been inconvenienced to do something that I hadn't planned on. Only to find the treasure of blessings that God sent my way as a result of being inconvenienced.

Somebody once said that LIFE is what happens when you had something else planned. Sacrifice and inconvenience can often be the doors to very pleasant surprises. I thank God that even when things aren't going my way, at least he makes sure that I have enough surprises to keep life from becoming boring.

A lawn mower and various other household items were also taken. The value of the items taken in this series of burglaries is well over $1,500. If you have any information concerning these burglaries please call Runnels County Crimestoppers at 365-2111 or contact your nearest law enforcement agency. You do not have to give your name. If your information leads to the arrest of any of the persons involved in these burglaries or if you have information that will lead to the recovery of any of the stolen items in these burglaries, you will receive a cash reward of up to $1,000. S. M. True says stop diesel fuel tax

S. M. True, president of the Texas Farm Bureau, has asked the Reagan Administration to stop the new diesel fuel tax collection procedures that took effect April 1.

In a telegram to Treasury Secretary James A. Baker, the farm leader said it would be "counterproductive" to implement the procedures at this time.

"Congress, under the leadership of Texas Senators Lloyd Bentsen and Phil Gramm and 23 of the 27 Texas members of the House, is moving to resolve the problem created by last year's Budget Reconciliation Act," True said.

The collection of taxes on diesel fuel will increase producer's fuel costs "at a time when Texas agriculture is just beginning to show positive signs of economic strength," True said.

If the collection procedures are not stopped, farmers will be forced to pay the 15.1 cents per gallon tax and then apply for a refund. Prior to the message of the Budget Reconciliation Act, diesel fuel used off-road was exempt from taxes.

Golden Saber 15 exercise scheduled

Golden Saber 15 is a complex exercise that will take place over 14 central Texas counties and involve more than 10,000 soldiers and 3,000 vehicles. It's an opportunity for III Corps to practice and refine war-fighting skills on a scale that can't be duplicated anywhere else.

But while this is a tremendous opportunity for III Corps soldiers, all the soldiers involved know that this exercise will take place on other people's land. That's why protecting the property we use has been given such a high priority.

Lt. Gen. Grosbie E. Saint, commanding general of III Corps and Fort Hood, said, "As we strive for tactical and logistical success during the exercise, we must remember the importance of our reputation and standing in the civilian community. Failure to correct problems or repair maneuver damage will cause us to lose respect and support."

To emphasize that point, maneuver damage control officers (MDCO's) had to attend classes in March. These officers, and their maneuver damage teams, were given very specific assignments and instructions on what they're supposed to do in the event damage occurs. Here's how the system works:

Each maneuver unit in the exercise will have an MDCO and a maneuver damage team. All units will strictly adhere to the conditions established in the Right of Entry Permit. The MDCO will promptly report all damage caused or observed to the Civil Military Operations Center at the National Guard Armory in Brady. The unit on a given site will repair all damage within that unit's capabilities.

If those repairs aren't effective, the Corps Damage Repair Team will be dispatched to fix the site. This team is made up of soldiers from the 62nd Engineer Battalion who have the required skills and equipment to fix most damage to roads and real estate. Lastly, if the engineers aren't successful, a member of the Field Claims Team will be sent to the site to resolve the potential claim.

The last unit using a site will have its MDCO notify the Exercise Claims Officers when it's ready to leave. A Clearance Team representative will check the site. If it's in satisfactory condition, the MDCO and the unit will be allowed to leave. If not, the system just described is called into effect.

Training is important and necessary, but not at the cost of our reputation and commitments to the citizens of central Texas. Every effort will be made to complete our training mission with as little disruption in people's lives as possible.

Goat's milk is used more widely around the world than cow's milk.

Gramm announces clear water grants

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has awarded a grant of $237,081 to the Texas Water Commission for the underground injection control program. U.S. Senator Phil Gramm of Texas announced.

This grant is part of a continuous funding which will total $327,409 for enforcing the requirements of the Safe Drinking Water Act.

Specifically, this funding will provide for the monitoring of old wells used for waste disposal so that there are no contaminated leaks into the aquifer.

The EPA's mission is to control and abate pollution in the areas of air, water, solid waste, pesticides, radiation, and toxic substances. EPA's water quality activities represent a coordinated effort to restore the Nation's waters.

Sorghum Yield Contest plans set

The National Grain Sorghum Producers Association (NGSPA) has announced a change in the way its national sorghum yield contest will be scored.

The National Sorghum Yield and Management Contest was initiated by the NGSPA in 1985 to recognize the nation's outstanding sorghum producers and determine management practices which contribute to maximum yields.

A high priority of the contest has been to adapt it to all sorghum producing regions of the country. With that purpose in mind, the contest committee has modified the procedure for scoring the contest. Beginning in 1988, contestant's scores will be the amount produced above the county average.

For example, if a contestant produces 115 bushels in a county with a county average of 45, his score will be 70. If another contestant produces 160 bushels in a county with an average of 90, he too, will have a score of 70.

Based on a computer analysis of yields and scores of all contestants in the past three years, this method had the best distribution throughout the country. Another important feature of the contest is the publication of management practices of all entries. The Results and Data handbooks have been recognized as one source of information for sorghum producers as they make their management decisions. It is significant that producers have kept back issues of the handbook and refer to all three ('85, '86, and '87). Some have noted trends in tillage practices and chemical use in certain areas. All of this information is in the NGSPA computer databank and will become more significant with each additional entry.

The 1987 National Grain Sorghum Yield and Management Contest was officially concluded with an awards banquet in San Antonio, Texas on February 15. Even then, entries were being recorded for the '88 contest. Interest and enthusiasm for the contest has developed much earlier than in previous years.

Prospects excellent for spring turkey season

Turkey hunters have reason to be optimistic as the 1988 spring season approaches, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials said.

They will have the advantage of an expanded season, April 2-24, and high turkey populations across most of the state's turkey range.

Don Wilson, upland game program leader, said 1987 was a very good turkey production year because of ample rainfall. "Turkey populations remain fairly high, and the good nesting season in 1987 means there will be quite a few 'jakes' or yearling gobblers in the field," Wilson said, adding that the young gobblers are usually easy for hunters to call.

The Parks and Wildlife Commission authorized the expanded season, which is a week longer than the 1987 season, in order to help hunters get into the field during peak gobbling activity. Wilson said gobbling activity is difficult to predict, usually beginning in late February or early March and continuing into April.

Gobbling indicates that the male birds are actively seeking hens, and they respond to hunter's calls best during that period, Wilson noted.

Hunters are allowed to take gobblers only during the spring season. Turkey bag limits are indicated by tags on the hunting license. A hunter may take two turkeys during the fall season and one during the spring, or vice versa. He may take only gobblers during the spring season, but hens may be taken in some areas during the fall season.

Sportsmen also should be aware that hunting is allowed during a spring season for eastern turkeys in portions of East Texas. In those areas, the spring 1988 season is April 2-17. To determine boundaries of the eastern turkey hunting areas, consult the department's 1987-88 Hunting Regulations Guide, available at department offices and hunting license outlets across the state.

Police kept busy with joy-riding 9-year old

Police Chief Ted Galloway said Tuesday that his officers contacted the same nine-year old youth three times in the past week in connection with as many incidents of joy riding as well as shoplifting and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

The youth was first apprehended for shoplifting at the Winn's store and later released to his parent's custody.

Police said that later the youth, and a friend, were caught joyriding in a pickup belonging to Randall Conner and the youths were turned over to their parents.

Officers were then called after it was discovered that the youth and a friend were joyriding in an electric golf cart. Police said that they did not know who the golf cart belonged to, that they had tried to determine ownership but had been unable to do so.

The cart, meanwhile, has been impounded by the police department until the owner can be located. Anyone missing a golf cart should contact the police department.

Chief Galloway said that the latest incident involving the nine-year old occurred over the week end when the youth apparently pried a door open at Dry Manufacturing's plant building on West Dale Street, and drove a fork-lift out of the building and later got the tow motor stuck.

Although the youth was released to the custody of his parents, Chief Galloway said that information on the child was being forwarded to juvenile authorities.

Under state law, a child must be at least ten years of age before he can be detained in a juvenile facility. The chief said, however, that the youth's parents could be liable held responsible for damages caused by their child.

Letter to the Editor

As I was driving through Winters one afternoon recently, I noticed a fine addition to our city made by the West Texas Utilities Company. A tree had been added to the downtown area. With its seemingly determined and fledging spirit, it reminded me of the old movie made from the best-selling novel, "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn."

This old movie will pose a generation gap for some of you however, others will remember the story of the tree in Brooklyn that stood as a symbol of beauty and faith.

Today, a new tree grows in Winters, joining the other two live oaks on Main Street. It too, like the tree in Brooklyn, stands as an expression of beauty and a sign of faith in our community. Its message seems to be that if our city does not grow larger, than let it grow prettier! Thank you Gary and WTU.

Billie Alderman

Wait —

Somewhere in that little ditty, I think, is a message. One that could well apply to any councilman anywhere.

They have a tough job to do, we elected them to oversee our interests in our community and to wisely use our dollars. Too many times these folks are not given the credit and respect they deserve. Our thanks are about all they (should) get.

Oh, before I go. Here is one other little goodie from that same guy's column.

It is about a good old boy that was having his first session with a shrink (psychiatrist).

The doc put a check mark on the black board and asked, "What do you think of that?"

"It makes me think of sex," the fellow answered.

The doctor then drew a circle on the board and asked, "What do you think of when you see that?"

"Sex," the patient said.

The wise doctor then drew two squares and asked the same question, to which he received the same answer, "Sex."

"You are sex sick," the psychiatrist announced. "You're sex obsessed."

"ME, obsessed?" the patient demanded. "You are the one drawing the dirty pictures!"

Now wait a minute...

Traffic tickets kept police busy last month

Increased efforts by Winters Police Officers in traffic enforcement was reflected in an increase in the number of tickets issued during the month.

A total of 71 calls were answered by officers during the month with seven arrests made, the issuance of 46 traffic citations and 24 warning tickets according to the monthly summary provided by Police Chief Ted Galloway.

Police were called 24 times to assist citizens during the Month of march and responded to a total of 14 disturbance calls. Officers assisted other agencies 13 times in March.

Officers filed one case of possession of marijuana, one case of DWI and charged one person with public intoxication.

During the month of March officers handled at least two calls for criminal mischief, minor accidents, recovery of property, two juvenile cases, and warrant arrests.

A total of 11 burglary or intrusion alarms were answered by officers all of which were false alarms.

Four persons were taken into custody by police for misdemeanor offenses.

Officers made one felony arrest, and handled one each of the following calls, assault, aggravated assault, burglary of a business, burglary of a motor vehicle, criminal trespass, theft, and vandalism.

Police also investigated two incidents of criminal mischief and one suspicious person.

Also named were John Gibson of Abilene for the Fall of 1988 and James Stathatos of Springtown for the Summer of 1989. Susan Garaway of Abilene and Sherron Cribbs of Hawley were selected as alternates. The students were chosen from among 21 applicants from throughout the 17th Congressional District.

Stenholm reports

Congressman Charles W. Stenholm voted to sustain the veto of the "Civil Rights Bill" calling the legislation a bad bill with a good name.

Despite his vote against the measure the first time, and his subsequent vote to sustain President Regan's veto, the controversial bill became law, both the Senate and the House of Representatives voted to override the veto on Tuesday, March 22.

"I'm not against civil rights," Congressman Stenholm said, "but I am against bad bills and this is one of them. I support the basic rights which are so precious and fundamental to our democracy, but while championing some valid rights, some folks are opening the door and ushering in unnecessary and burdensome federal intervention and interference. We're pushing these regulations into the lives of people trying to quietly and independently be productive members of our society."

The bill is a sweeping package which overturns a Supreme Court ruling defining the reach of civil rights laws. The bill requires that any entity receiving federal funds must follow stringent rules regarding antidiscrimination practices. The bill, which passed without the normal hearing procedure through House subcommittees, was called the Gay Rights Bill by many in the religious community, who also opposed it.
