Eight Amendments Running Far Behind

Child Killed, Two Hurt In Area Mishaps

THE South Plains' grim parade of traffic fatalities continued with one person killed, at least two injured and others remaining in critical condition from previous accidents Tuesday.

Two-year-old Marie del Cormer Mancha, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guadalupe Mancha, was instantly killed about 9:30 a.m. Tuesday when she was run over by a truck near Shallowater, county officials were informed early Tuesday afternoon.

Truck Runs Over Child

E. R. Merrell of Shallowater went to the sheriff's office and made the report. He said the truck, driven by Manuel Garza, passed over the child's body and the left side of her head.

Rix Funeral home, where the body was taken, said the parents had taken the body for burial, probably sometime this morning. The family came to Shallowater from Mexico for this season's cotton harvest. The child was born in Pharr in November, 1947, while the family was working in the harvest there.

The child's death brought the South Plains traffic death toll to 15 persons killed within the past 10 days, and to 72 for the year. More than 600 have suffered injuries in auto mishaps during the year.

The incident, Merrell said, happened on the E. R. Merrell farm four miles northeast of Shallowater.

C. E. Lynn, justice of peace and coroner, went with sheriff's deputies, to the E. V. Leslie farm four miles northwest of Shallowater to conduct an inquest.

He returned a verdict of death by unavoidable accident.

TWO WOMEN REMAIN IN CRITICAL CONDITION

Two women injured in South Plains traffic mishaps on Sunday remained in critical condition Tuesday night, victims of accidents that took the lives of seven persons and injured 16 others.

Mrs. O. C. Campbell, 34, remained in an extremely critical condition at Prohl clinic in Tahoka, attendants said. She receiv-

Czechs Release U. S. Official

(By The Associated Press)

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Nov. 8—Samuel Meryn of the U. S. embassy, imprisoned nearly three weeks on charges of heading a spy ring, was released by the government today. He left Czechoslovakia at once.

The release of Meryn, 39-year-old Czech-born naturalized American, followed a straight-talking speech by the new U. S. ambassador, Ellis O. Briggs, to Communist President Klement Gottwald.

The development apparently meant no let-up in Communist efforts to crack down on alleged spy networks, however.

The government announced tonight the arrest of 32 more Czechoslovaks, including two former members of parliament, who were alleged to have been in league with "a western imperialist power" in Germany. Presumably this meant the United States.

A third member of parliament,

Little Hope Held For Two Men Buried Alive In Tunnel Cave-In

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 8. (INS)—Despairing crews worked into the dark tonight seeking two men buried alive in a tunnel cave-in on the University of Washington campus.

Little hope was held that the two were still alive, although it was believed possible that they were held in an air pocket in the sand. No part of either man's body had been uncovered after several hours of digging.

The men were trapped 60 feet underground when timbers shoring up the tunnel collapsed. Dr. Charels A. Kruse, who was lowered into the pit by ropes, said:

"It seems every time you take a breath the sand caves in some more."

The trapped pair was identified as James McNabb, about 35, of Estil, Wash., and Ed I. Olson of Seattle. Both were employes of the Rumsey Construction company, which was building the tunnel.

Final Settlement Seen In Steel Dispute

Government Acts To Break Coal Deadlock

BY HAROLD W. WARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8. — Convinced that the steel strike war is nearly over, government mediators turned to the soft coal deadlock today, calling John L. Lewis and operators to a meeting here Thursday.

The fact that three major steel companies have now reached agreements with Philip Murray's CIO steel workers was regarded by government officials as a sign of a quick end to the 39-day-old steel walkout.

Meeting Is Called

The coal strike, which has now lasted 51 days, was not so easily writen off. But Conciliation Director Cyrus S. Ching tackled the problem. In a telegram to the contending parties he noted that collective bargaining "has failed to result in an agreement," and asked spokesmen for each side to a mediation meeting.

When Ching issued his invitation to the conference, Lewis was in Chicago where he had called a meeting of his 200-man UMW policy committee for this afternoon, only to postpone it until tomorrow.

Meanwhile Indiana and Illinois mine operators, with whom he hoped apparently to negotiate a separate peace, left for Washing-

CAA Taking Over Control Of Flying On Federal System

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov .8.—The Civil Aeronautics authority announced tonight that at 12:10 a. m. (EST) Wednesday it will take "control of all flying, both civil and military, under all weather conditions on the federal airways system."

The move was taken, CAA said, "to achieve maximum flying safety over the entire United States."

The move came as an Eastern Air Line pilot reported that his transport carrying 49 passengers was almost hit today by a B-25 bomber south of National airport, scene last week of the nation's worst airplane accident.

Joint Meeting Held

The CAA stated that tonight's decision came as the result of a series of meetings over the past weeks among representatives of the U. S. Air Force, the U. S. Navy and the CAA. The CAA said that the action came as the result of a suggestion made by the Air Force representative. It added:

"Immediate steps to be taken will be assumption by CAA of control of all flying, both civil and military, under all weather conditions on the fed-

Bonus Proposal In Pennslyvania Leads

Pennsylvania voters in early returns Tuesday gave four to one approval of a $500,000,000 World War II veterans' bonus, while in nearby new Jersey a similar proposal was trailing badly.

The Pennslyvania bonus which would be the highest in the nation, took the lead on the basis of returns from nearly one-third of the state.

The New Jersey referendum to provide $105,000,000 for veterans was being rejected. Returns from about half the state showed 270,825 votes for the bonus and 293,917 against.

City Group Studies Changes In Apartment Construction Rules

STUDY of several suggested changes in city regulations which affect the construction of apartment buildings was started at a meeting of an official group in the city hall Tuesday afternoon.

The meeting found the participants apparently unanimous that no apartment construction should be authorized unless the plans make provision for off-street parking by the tenants.

But some sympathy was indicated for the contention that the present code affecting the erection of apartment buildings of the efficiency type should be liberalized. Participants in the meeting, however, deferred any recommendations as to this or any other matter pending further studies, which are to be resumed Monday afternoon.

Attending the conference were James Atcheson and W. Roy Faubion, representing the city board of adjustment; Homer D. Grant and J. H. Murdough, of the city planning commission; City Manager Steve Matthews, Director of Public Works R. L. Oldham, and City Building Inspector Lloyd Ross.

The authority of the group in the matters under consideration will be limited to recommenda-

Demos Hail Lehman Vote In New York

(By The Associated Press)

DEMOCRAT Herbert H. Lehman won election to the U. S. Senate from New York state Tuesday night, and President Truman hailed the victory as a big boost for his "Fair Deal" program.

Lehman four-time governor of his state, piled up a big lead over his Republican opponent, Senator John Foster Dulles.

Returns from 6,828 of the state's 9,565 election districts gave: Lehman 1,941,558; Dulles 1,623,782.

In the bitter pre-election campaign, Dulles sharply attacked the domestic program of the Truman administration. He argued those policies were the way to "statism" and would curb individual freedom.

Lehman Backs "Fair Deal"

Lehman backed the President's program down the line and in turn got a plug from Mr. Truman.

The Democrats also came out on top in New York City where Mayor William O'Dwyer was re-elected by a large margin. He defeated Newbold Morris, Republican-Liberal-Fusion candidate, and Communist-backed Vito Marcantonio, American Labor party.

Returns from 3,425 of 3,889 election districts gave: O'Dwyer 1,113,068; Morris 834,611; Marcantonio 314,467.

The Lehman-Dulles contest was the high spot of yesterday's elections scattered across the country.

Another struggle that attracted wide attention resulted in James Michael Curley — last of the old time political bosses still in power — being tossed out of the mayor's chair in old Boston.

Curley Bows Out

Bidding for a fifth term, the 74-year-old Curley bowed to a comparative newcomer, City Clerk John B. Hynes. The later had the backing of Secretary of Labor Tobin, himself a vote-getter of note in Boston.

HST Sees Demo Sweep In 1950

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (INS)—President Truman tonight hailed a Democratic victory in New York as a portent of a new sweep for his party in the 1950 congressional election.

The Chief Executive jubilantly told a Woman's National Democratic club dinner tonight that he is "exceedingly happy" over today's election outcome.

Mr. Truman expressed confidence that the second session of the Democratic majority 81st Congress will take heed of the signs of the times when they reconvene in January.

Congress Praised

He praised the present Congress for the work accomplished in the session which recently ended. He told some 400 ladies and their escorts, who assembled in the fashionable Mayflower hotel ballroom for their annual dinner:

"The first session of the 81st Congress did a remarkable job—and the second session is going to do a better job."

Mr. Truman said that the Democratic victory in New York "will have a decided effect on the 1950 election."

He declared that the verdict of the voters last year, and now, has placed a "tremendous responsibility" on the Democratic party to carry out a program for the "welfare of the people" and to attain world peace.

A few minutes before he arose to make his off-the-cuff speech, the President twice had taken the

Dawson County Voters Turn Down Airport Bond Proposal

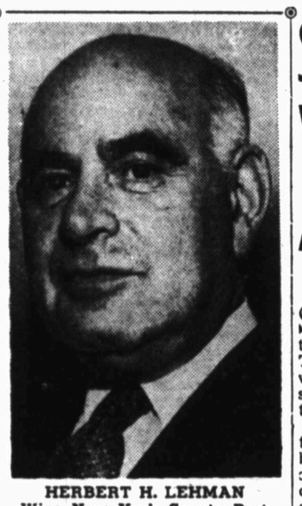

LAMESA, Nov. 8 (Special)—Dawson county voters today vetoed a bond election calling for approximately $105,000 for a proposed Dawson county-Lamesa airport here.

An overwhelming rejection of the proposal was indicated here tonight by complete returns from four of the county's largest voting boxes. In those four boxes, total was 136 for and 428 against.

Fourteen rural boxes representing less than 50 per cent of the Dawson county voting potential were not in late tonight.

Boulter Holds Slight Lead

By ROGER SOUTHALL
Avalanche Staff Writer

THE outcome of the race between E. H. Boulter of Lubbock and J. M. Rankin of Ralls for the seat from the 19th Congressional district to the newly-created State Board of Education remained highly indefinite early this morning.

The two candidates, in fact, were running so close together that voting returns from almost any one of the 12 counties in this district as yet not heard from could easily change the picture one way or another.

Boulter Holds Slight Lead

Early this morning, returns from 13 counties—most of which were in this immediate area—gave Boulter 2,630 votes and Rankin 2,411.

However, no complete tabulation of the vote was reported from any of the counties.

Thirty-one of Lubbock county's 33 boxes had made complete reports last night. Garza county's total was virtually complete, with only one box outstanding.

Most of the remaining 11 counties reported half or more of their boxes complete. The other counties reporting were Yoakum, Dawson, Terry, Hockley, Lamb, Bailey, Floyd, Hale, Crosby, Gaines and Howard.

Yet to be heard from are Lynn, Dickens, Cochran, Borden, Andrews, Mitchell, Scurry, Haskell, Kent, King, Stonewall, and Martin counties. Efforts to reach officials in most of these counties by telephone last night were to no avail.

Boulter received his largest

Kansas Senator Dies After Fall At Home

PARSONS, Kas., Nov. 8. (AP).—Senator Clyde M. Reed, (R-Kas), was killed tonight in a fall downstairs at his home. He was 78.

The senator, who returned to his home from a hospital only last week after an attack of influenza, apparently died instantly. Dr. Guy Cramer said the cause of death was not immediately determined.

Mrs. Reed was the only other person in the house at the time. She was in an upstairs bedroom and did not witness the accident.

Reed returned early to his home here from the last session of the United States Congress. There had been widespread speculation as to whether he would run again for the Senate in view of his advanced age. His term was due to expire Jan. 3, 1951.

South Plains Voters Reject All Proposals

By C. W. RATLIFF
Avalanche Staff Writer

SOUTH PLAINS voters didn't like all the "gimmicks" in the ten proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution and therefore went to the polls Tuesday in small numbers to register a protest against them.

With the total vote running thousands of votes behind normal balloting, every amendment was defeated in the 15 South Plains counties on the basis of unofficial and incomplete returns.

No returns were received from three counties, Dickens, Cochran and Lynn counties, and only two boxes were reported from Gaines county, but the trend was well established in the voting and there was no indication of any changes in the late returns.

Two Proposals Heavily Beaten

Heaviest margins against were polled in the voting on the amendments to set up a pensions system for county employes and the proposal raising legislators' pay and creating annual sessions.

Election officials over the entire area reported interest in the voting at a low ebb throughout the day and in several boxes only a handful of votes were recorded.

The vote was so light that scores of election judges didn't bother to turn in reports to county clerks last night. Reports were expected to come in this morning and during the day.

Totals Are Given

Total vote by amendments in Lubbock, Bailey, Crosby, Dawson, Gaines, Garza, Hale, Hockley, Lamb, Motley, Terry and Yoakum counties, with an estimated 60 to 70 per cent of the ballots counted was as follows:

No. 1—County civil service: for 2,825; against 3,948.

No. 2—Legislative sessions and pay: for 1,262; against 5,380.

No. 3—Hospital districts: for 2,681; against 4,040.

No. 4—Poll tax repeal: for 2,297; against 4,607.

LaFont Leads In Legislative Test

By TOM DAVIS
Avalanche Staff Writer

Harold M. LaFont of Plainview held a heavy lead over his two opponents in the race for state representative in District 120, unofficial returns from 58 of 100 boxes showed late last night.

Incomplete returns from the eight counties in the district gave LaFont 1,691 votes; Tom W. Deen of Floydada 935; and Joe W. Jennings of Plainview 924.

Includes Larger Boxes

The unofficial returns compiled by The Morning Avalanche came mainly from larger city and town boxes, and only a major upset of the trend by unreported rural boxes could keep LaFont out of the Legislature.

The post sought by the three men was that of Rep. I. B. Holt of Olton, who resigned to accept the postmastership at Olton.

LaFont, practicing attorney and former 64th district attorney, piled up his heaviest vote margin in Plainview, where seven out of 12 boxes gave him 769 compared to 207 for Deen and 327 for Jennings.

Deen's greatest strength showed in Floyd county, where 13 of 22 boxes gave him 396 while Jennings got 195 and LaFont 170.

Rural Fire Proposal, Court Plan Leading

Repeal Of Poll Tax, Jury Service For Women Trailing; State Vote Light

(By The Associated Press)

TEXANS apparently swamped eight of ten proposed constitutional amendments with negative votes Tuesday.

Probably sunk beyond hope were amendments to repeal the poll tax, to allow women to serve on juries and to raise the pay of Texas legislators and to hold annual sessions of the legislature.

Squeaking by were amendments to give the legislature more latitude in passing laws regulating district court terms and sessions and to provide rural fire prevention districts.

Light Vote Indicated

Reports from over the state indicated a very light vote as Texans cast their ballots on the 10 constitutional amendments, elected members to a new state board of education and had their say on a number of local issues.

Returns issued by the Texas Election bureau, an unofficial vote-tabulating agency, showed Texans were turning thumbs down on amendments to provide for trials without jury in lunacy cases; to set up city-county health units; to provide a statewide system for retirement and disability pensions for appointive county officials and employes; to set up hospital districts and to allow the legislature to provide civil service in counties on a vote of people in those counties.

Returns to the Texas Election Bureau at 1 a.m. from 208 of 254 counties in the state, including 21 complete, show the following totals in Tuesday's special election:

1. County civil service—Approval 95,322; against 108,770.
2. Legislative sessions and pay — Approval 51,147; against 152,722.
3. Hospital districts—Approval 91,131; against 112,023.
4. Poll tax repeal—Approval 92,784; against 115,424.
5. City-County health units—Approval 84,268; against 120,735.
6. County pensions—Approval 66,382; against 136,696.
7. District court proceedings—Approval 114,295; against 87,945.
8. Rural fire prevention—Approval 109,067; against 94,906.
9. Lunacy trials—Approved 101,585; against 104,160.
10. Women jurors—Approval 97,794; against 112,083.

Six Counties Okay Raises

Shortly before Tuesday midnight, the Texas Election bureau said that so far only six Texas counties had favored pay raises for Texas legislators. These were Brooks, Jim Hogg, Sutton, Upshur, Webb and Zapata.

Lubbock Voters Approve Boulter, Three Amendments

By BILL CLARK
Avalanche Staff Writer

FEWER than one-fifth of Lubbock county's qualified voters went to the polls Tuesday. They approved three proposed constitutional amendments, turned down seven, and named E. H. Boulter of Lubbock as their choice for the state board of education.

Thirty-one of the county's 33 voting boxes had reported late Tuesday night. The other two will report today. The 31 reporting boxes represented 2,310 votes out of a possible electorate this year of 12,000 in the county.

Two Boxes Unreported

Not reporting were boxes at Chris Harwell school, of which J. B. Durham was judge, and at Estacado, where Charlie Fox was judge.

Approved were constitutional amendments numbered 1, 3 and 8 on the ballot: authorizing civil service in counties upon vote of the people therein; authorizing the legislature to provide for hospital districts; and authorizing the legislature to provide for creation of rural fire prevention districts.

E. H. Boulter was a heavy favorite over J. N. Rankin of Ralls for the state board of education from the 19th Congressional district. Boulter, of Lubbock, polled 924 votes against Rankin's 571.

Roscoe Wilson Vote Heavy

The heaviest balloting in Lubbock county was at Roscoe Wilson school, where 278

At a late hour, George Nokes of Corsicana led Phil Willis by more than 500 votes in the race for state senator from the sixth district. Nokes and Willis waged a hot campaign to succeed James E. Taylor of Kerens who resigned. Both Nokes and Willis resigned posts as state representatives to run. The count was 5,557 to 4,999 in favor of Nokes.

Nokes 58th district seat in the House of Representatives was filled today by a Navy veteran, blinded in action. James Sewell, senior law student at the University of Texas, received 1,308 votes, according to a final unofficial county report from Corsicana. His nearest opponent was Roark Montgomery, retired Navy captain, who received 1,223 votes.

Meredith Takes Lead

Fred Meredith, Terrell attorney, apparently had defeated Maples Cate of Terrell in their race for state representative from the 52nd district, succeeding Willis. The count, with 31 out of 39 boxes complete was 1,721 for Meredith to 907 for Maples. Meredith is former Kaufman county attorney.

Harold M. LaFont of Plainview held a heavy lead in his race for state representative in District 120. The unofficial vote for six of eight counties, none complete, was LaFont, 1691; Tom W. Deen of Floydada, 935 and Joe Jennings of Plainview, 924.

In southwest Texas Nueces county voters overwhelmingly rejected countywide prohibition. Corpus Christi is the county seat. Returns from 36 of 62 boxes in the county gave the following totals: Wet, 9,536; Dry, 3,912.

At El Paso, Woodrow Bean was unopposed for the state representative's post in the 89th district. He polled 1,397 votes in Tuesday's election.

In West Texas, Jones county wolves were faring better in Tuesday's election than their neighbors to the northeast Montague county. Both counties voted on the question of employing wolf trappers. In Jones county, the measure was

Big Three May Permit West Germany To Set Up Consular Offices, Commercial Missions Abroad

BY CARTER L. DAVIDSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Nov. 8. — The U. S., Britain and France may permit the West German republic to establish consular offices and commercial missions abroad, it was reliably reported today.

This report, on the eve of tomorrow's Big Three foreign ministers' conference, was accompanied by a prediction from sources close to the ministers that they would give up attempts to make West Germany pay part of the staggering cost of World War II through surrender of her key industries.

As part of the price of ending dismantling of factories, the Bonn government was said to be willing to promise it would gear its industries to Allied wishes. This proposal was reported already in the hands of the three high commissioners.

Informants who revealed the plan to give the republic consular representation stressed that these offices would not have diplomatic status. Foreign policy would continue to be directed by the occupation powers.

The whole German problem will be thrashed out at tomorrow's meeting of the Big Three foreign ministers.

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson arrived in Paris from Washington today and was immediately closeted with his German and European experts.

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin similarly conferred with foreign office technicians while France's Robert Schuman wound up the flurry of preparations by going before the French parliament's foreign affairs committee for a full dress review of French policy towards Germany.

AUTO MAKER DENOUNCES ACTION

Arkansas Solon Urges RFC To Hold Up Loan To Kaiser Firm

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8. (AP) — The Reconstruction Finance corporation today turned down a request from Senator Fulbright (D-Ark) that it hold up a proposed $44,400,000 loan to the Kaiser-Frazer Auto corporation.

Fulbright asked yesterday that the RFC withhold final action on the loan. He said there was a question in his mind whether it was in accord with the RFC law.

PROBE TO BE ASKED

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 8. (AP)—Senator Fulbright (D-Ark) said tonight he will seek a full-scale congressional investigation of the Reconstruction Finance corporation's lending policies. He told a reporter he will recommend an investigation when Congress reconvenes in January. Fulbright, chairman of a Senate Banking subcommittee, reached his decision after the RFC today turned down his request that a $44,000,000 loan to the Kaiser-Frazer automobile corporation be delayed.

Board Okays Loan

Today, RFC Chairman Harley Hise telegraphed Fulbright at Little Rock that the RFC "cannot comply with your request" because its board of directors "already has finally approved the loan."

The directors set certain conditions on the loan, among them that K-F must give a lien on its plant as collateral.

There has been no announcement that the money has yet been made available to the K-F company.

Kaiser-Frazer sought the loan in order to build and finance distribution of its proposed new car in the low price field.

KAISER SCORES ATTEMPTS TO BLOCK RFC LOAN

HOUSTON, Nov. 8. (INS)—Henry J. Kaiser today charged Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.), and the auto industry's "big three" with trying to wreck his attempt to produce a low-cost car.

Kaiser, in Houston, for business conferences with Kaiser-Frazer automobile dealers, made the charge in an angry reply to Fulbright's demand that the U. S. hold up $44,400,000 in loans to Kaiser.

Fulbright had demanded that the loans first be investigated by Congress before the money is turned over to the Kaiser industrial empire.

The big three in the auto industry are General Motors, Chrysler and Ford.

Kaiser said that "a plot to stop Kaiser-Frazer from producing low-priced cars for which Americans have been clamoring for years is at last out in the open." The industrialist declared:

"But the stool pigeons or unwitting stooges for the interests that want to stop the Kaiser-Frazer challenge to the big three's lowest-priced cars won't stop us."

Kaiser accused Fulbright of making a "low-down move" in demanding stoppage of loans to him and his company by the RFC.

The manufacturer said that the move was timed to affect the value of securities put up by his company as collateral on loans by the government.

HALE CENTER, Nov. 8. (Special)—The right leg of William Martin Sizemore, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Sizemore, of near here, was amputated in a mechanical cotton boll pulling machine late Monday.

The boy was rushed to Hale Center hospital, where doctors said the leg was cut off about seven inches above the knee.

Attendants said Tuesday night that Sizemore was in an improved condition and recovering rapidly.

The accident happened on the farm of E. M. Adams eight miles west of Hale Center near the farm home of the boy's parents.

Initial Opening Of West Texas Museum Is Slated Dec. 9

Initial opening of the West Texas Museum, now in final stages of construction on the campus of Texas Technological college, will be held Dec. 9 with a special dinner for invited guests on the structure's second floor, Dr. W. C. Holden, curator revealed Tuesday.

Formal public opening of the museum will not be staged until some time next year, probably in October, Dr. Holden declared, although its doors will be open at least by January 1. Official ceremonies with many of the top men in museum work present will be held in conjunction with the college's Silver anniversary celebrations next year, he said.

200 Persons May Attend

The dinner next month will be attended by some 150-200 persons who have been especially interested in the establisment of a large museum in this section, the curator declared. Time for the dinner will be 7 p.m.

Outlining the purposes of the historical collection, Dr. Holden asserted that the museum will not be merely a glorified repository for antiques and other historical objects. Instead, he said, a definite theme which will attempt to tell a story of progress will be presented before appropriate backgrounds and lighting.

In this way we hope to give those who visit the museum some visual concrete knowledge of the development of West Texas," he declared.

The new two-story structure culminates years of work by Dr. Holden and others for the establishment of a permanent building to house historital objects in their collection. The building will contain besides the central museum, two classrooms and offices for the curator and most of the history staff.

It will be the first building on the Tech campus to be fully air-conditioned and one of the most beautiful, according to the curator. Displays will be used for class study as well as for the benefit of visitors to the museum, he said.

Completion of the building is not expected before late December.

Prison Escapes Decline In State

HUNTSVILLE, Nov. 8. (AP) — Improved living conditions and a strict disciplinary program today were credited with decreasing escapes and mutilations within the Texas prison system.

Prison Board Member T. R. Havins, Brownwood, released these figures:

Prison population totaled 5,933 on Oct. 31, compared to 4,896 the same date in 1947.

Escapes this year have totaled 38, compared to 117 in 1947.

Mutilations in the 10-month period totaled 28, compared to 75 in the same 1947 period.

Havins made his report before the prison board at a meeting here yesterday.

Warren S. Bellows, Houston, chairman of the board's construction program committee, said the first unit of a $200,000 shop building here will be in operation within 60 days if steel sash material continues available.

He said the first 200 units of a 600 cell, $1 million cell block here should be ready for occupancy by late spring.

French Robertson, Abilene, and H. H. Coffield, Rockdale, co-chairman of the board's prison rodeo committee, said the eighteenth annual rodeo last month has a gross income of $127,270, about $2,000 above last year.

Expenses were placed at $56,330; about the same as last year.

Board Chairman W. C. Windsor, Tyler, said inmates again will be permitted to receive Christmas packages this year.

The packages, he said, may contain cooked foods, cakes and meats but no processed foods or candies. Gifts also may include house slippers, socks, gloves or white T shirts.

Prison General Manager O. B. Ellis said storms and inclement weather this year has cost the system close to $1 million in crop losses, mostly to cotton.

Dr. Bill Davis introduced the following guests: Joe Montgomery of Dallas, W. A. Hart of Ruidoso, S. R. Langson, Dr. J. O. Haymes, Jimmy Kopf and Warrant Officer Bill Reno.

Orland Bonaguidi, president of the Ruidoso Lions club, presented Groves Denman, president of the local club, an undersize hat.

The visiting president said "Denman lost his hat when he last visited our city so we are returning him one—however, his head seems to have grown larger since we last saw him."

Sheriff Continues Probe Of Shooting Fatal To Hunter

FORT WORTH, Nov. 8. (AP).—Sheriff Tom Gray of Jeff Davis county today was continuing his investigation of the fatal shooting 45 miles north of Fort Davis yesterday of Clyde Burns, Fort Worth auto dealer.

Burns was found dead, a bullet in his body, while he was on a hunting trip in the Davis mountains. His body was discovered by Ace Turk, of Melvin, also a hunter.

Sheriff Gray told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram this morning that Burns was riding a horse and had just reached the top of a mountain when he was shot in the back at the waist.

Mrs. Burns, a CAP pilot, who flew to Pecos yesterday after being informed of the shooting, today returned to Fort Worth. Burns' body was en route here for services and burial.

Sheriff Gray said that while Justice of the Peace Berry Scrobie will withhold an inquest verdict until the investigation of the shooting is complete, the preliminary investigation indicates it was accidental.

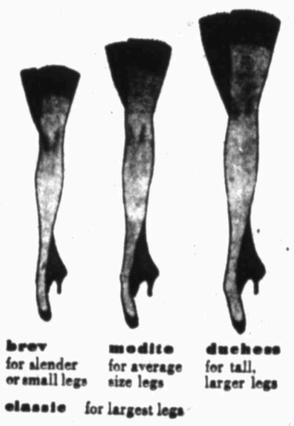

The sheriff reported there were from 12 to 15 hunters in the area where Burns' body was found. Tuesday, the peace officer said he had not determined whose shot slayed Burns.

STATE CONTINUES OIL FIGHT

Texas Denial Of U. S. Tidelands Claim Sent To Supreme Court

AUSTIN, Nov. 8. (U.P.)— The state government of Texas today firmly denied that the federal government had any right to the state's oil-rich tidelands.

The denial, framed by State Atty. Gen. Price Daniel, was scheduled to be received today in Washington by the U. S. Supreme court.

It was in answer to the Department of interior's suit filed with the high tribunal, claiming federal ownership.

Denial Lists Exceptions

The only exceptions listed in the Texas denial were "such specifically described tracts or parcels . . . as acquired . . . by deeds of conveyance or condemnation."

The answer carried on Texas' longtime avowal that it is the sole owner of its tidelands.

The state also planned to file a motion with the Supreme court asking that a special master be appointed to hear the tidelands case.

It stated that "because of the importance of this case, defendant would prefer that the full court . . . pass upon the evidence, but if that procedure is not adopted, the appointment of a special master is the proper alternative."

Companies Bring Suit

Almost simultaneous with Daniel's announcement yesterday of the state's views, four oil companies brought suit in Austin to hold up rentals on tideland area leases involved in the federal government action.

The companies — Ohio, Humble, Stanolind and Melben — contended that their state leases constituted an obligation which should be suspended while the federal suit is pending.

Named as defendants in the 53rd district court suit were Gov. Allan Shivers, Atty. Gen. Daniel, Land Commissioner Bascom Giles and members of the State School Land board.

Airplanes May Oust Tractors On Farms, School Official Says

DALLAS, Nov. 8. (AP).— The tractor may join the mule on the sidelines as farming becomes more progressive.

Gibb Gilchrist, chancellor of the Texas A&M college system, said yesterday that farmers may soon be using airplanes instead of tractors to plant their crops.

He said A&M is experimenting with designs for an agricultural airplane.

It is working toward a light plane that will be used particularly for dusting and seeding.

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 8 (AP) — When the Democrats published an election advertisement they had no intention of pleasing Republican Mayor Bert Baker, who is seeking reelection.

But Baker was so tickled he sent the Democrats $25.

The newspaper ad was headed "Baker's record as mayor." The sace beneath was blank.

"It was such a nice advertisement for me, stressing my clean and spotless record," Baker explained last night.

Special Dinner Held For Maytag Dealers

More then 75 Maytag dealers and employes from 14 South Plains counties were present for a special dinner and program at the Lubbock hotel Tuesday night.

They were guests of Paul Sherrod and Roy Heath, Lubbock Maytag dealers, hosts for the event.

The dealers were introduced to a new line of Maytag ranges now being brought out on the market. B. B. Turner, range division sales manager from the Maytag main office in Newton, Ia., demonstrated six new types of ranges being added to stocks in this area.

Dallas Man Attends

Turner was accompanied by Walter Rogers, president of the Maytag Southwestern company at Dallas. Turner and Rogers are making a tour of ten Texas cities introducing the new ranges.

Turner explained that the new ranges are designed to cook with retained heat instead of direct heat, a principle of cooking that allows the new ranges to cook food thoroughly without destroying the flavor or any of the food value.

Lubbock Man Presides

Lou Marks, manager of the Lubbock region, presided at the meeting, and introduced guests and visitors. Carl Shafer, manager for the Amarillo district, also was present.

Dealers were represented from Idalou, Ralls, Lorenzo, Crosbyton, Floydada, Roaring Springs, Spur, Slaton, Wilson, Post, Tahoka, O'Donnell, Denver City, Brownfield, Sundown, Levelland, Morton, Anton, Littlefield, Muleshoe, Abernathy, Plainview, and Monahans, Snyder, Sweetwater, Haskell, Munday, Paducah, Kermit, Shamrock, and others.

Broadway Producer May Sign Up With Paramount For Work On Major Picture

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 8 — Is Leland Hayward going to Paramount in an important production job, that's the talk in New York.

Hayward, who is the producer of "South Pacific," "Mister Roberts" and other top Broadway hits, has been conferring with Barney Balaban practically every day.

The only thing, 'tis said, that stands in the way now is the usual discussion in any big business deal—money.

Turner To Start Work

Lana Turner starts work within a month on "Life of Her Own" that isn't if, but, or maybe. She'll get George Cukor as her director, and, let me say, there isn't any better woman's director in our town than George, who will do right by MGM's top glamor girl.

Now that a director has been lined up, the next thing is to get a leading man. Lana, who has been waiting for months and months for story changes, is delighted with the rewrite and even more delighted that by Christmas she'll be in the midst of production. She has waited for over a year for a picture, and both she and her fans are getting mighty impatient.

Good Performance Cited

Put down "Dancing in the Dark" as a picture you'll want to see. I don't know when I have enjoyed a musical more. William Powell is even better than he was in "Life With Father." He's the Bill we all know and love. I was crazy about him.

Betsy Drake, who has always been afraid that her career might be hampered because people would think she got her acting chances through Cary Grant, proves Cary isn't necessary to her success. She sings, she dances, and she acts. You'll like her.

Congratulations to George Jessel and 20th Century-Fox!

Battle Upsets Actress

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Jean Wallace has gone to Omaha to pick up a car. She was pretty upset after her battle with Franchot Tone, which was the reason she left his house. Although they are divorced, she has been living there with the children.

Everything is okey-doke with Ann Miller and William O'Connor again. They were at a table for two at the Bantam Cock. So were Jane Wyman and Clark Hardwicke.

Ann Rutherford and Bob Hutton, who seem to be getting around together quite a lot, ran smack into David May at the Mocambo. He was with Beverly Tyler, his current girl friend. Although Ann and David have been separated for two years they have never divorced.

Couple Seen At Club

Saw Feliza Vanderbilt at La Rue with Frank Ryan, who, at one time, was devoted to Anita Colby. If I'm not mistaken it was Frank with Feliza at "Carmen."

Ginger Rogers wearing some sort of a pink affair on her head was also at La Rue—of course with Greg Bautzer. That is still Hollywood's most constant twosome.

Same place — our popular man-about-town, Otto Preminger, was having dinner with attractive Gertrude Lawrence.

Irene Dunne at "Carmen" with Frank Griffin, went backstage with Margaret Ettinger and myself to meet Dorothy Warenskjold. The little Warenskjold girl, who sang "Micaela," was the hit of the opera. She was better than either Carmen or Escamillo. Irene is always so gracious and it was such a nice gesture to go way back stage at the Shrine auditorium to congratulate Dorothy.

Called on Dorothy Lamour and saw her new baby. While I was there Bill Howard telephoned her from Baltimore. He went back there on business. Dorothy is making a very good thing out of that dress business of hers.

If Warners can get 50 bagpipe players they will be a part of the premiere of "Hasty Heart," but so far the idea doesn't look too promising.

1. "BUT WHAT ABOUT THE LAYOFFS?" Late in 1947 Ford Engineering Vice-President Harold Youngren gave "clay model X-2900" the last of many approvals. After fourteen months of work, this top-secret car, with some slight modifications, was ready for production as the 1949 Ford. The next problem was: how to keep men employed while machines stopped for one of the greatest model changes in Ford history. Usually, in the automobile industry, most workers were laid off while machines and assembly lines were changed over for new models. It was a big problem—one that had never been solved. But Ford was determined to try—started planning and working to keep Ford employees on the job.

2. PLANNING FOR THE FUTURE. Months before change-over, engineers made an extended plant survey, studying every operation, figuring how to keep men working. They worked out a detailed schedule for the vast change-over, keeping as many operations going as possible. Result: in all Ford, Mercury and Lincoln assembly plants across the U. S., layoff figures were the lowest in Ford history.

3. STOCK PILE. At "The Rouge" foundry, men and machines were kept busy manufacturing and storing sixty thousand cylinder blocks, shown above stacked nine high along entire south end of building. Foundry worked three weeks out of five during the change-over. It was one of many ways Ford planning avoided layoffs—and brought steadier employment and more wages to Ford workers.

MEN WORKING TO KEEP MEN WORKING

Ford is trying to lick a major problem— big layoffs for model change-over

4. MEN AT WORK. Tons of glass were made and stored during retooling. Steel operations, too, continued at top speed. Parts production was stepped up. All these were unprecedented moves—some said revolutionary—planned ahead by the men who planned the new and improved Fords, Mercurys and Lincolns. They're planning now for even better results with future change-overs.

FOR many months now, Ford Motor Company has been making a determined effort to solve one of the great human problems involved in making automobiles—the large-scale layoffs which usually come with retooling for a model change.

Ford's major attack on this big problem developed from a desire to provide workers with the kind of security they want—the chance to work continuously at good wages.

Results of Ford's first efforts were encouraging. Of the 60,000 workers at the River Rouge factory, only about a quarter—16,200 to be exact—were laid off for any time at all during conversion to 1949 models. All plants set similar records.

The Ford people say they are far from satisfied with the gains made to date. But they can report definite progress. And they're working and planning for future conversions. They hope to do even better with future change-overs. Certainly Ford has made a real advance toward steadier employment in what has always been regarded as a seasonal industry.

It's part of the Ford way of doing business—making the best possible products in the best possible way—to benefit employee, employer, and the nation as a whole.

5. NO LAYOFF. During the change-over, Joe Lucas, with Ford since 1928, was transferred from the final assembly line to Plant Maintenance, under Foreman A. F. Zulewski. He was one of many thousands kept employed by such planned moves. Ford believes such planning pays off—with steadier employment and more security for Ford employees, more efficient operation for the company, and better economic health for the whole nation. That's the Ford way.

6. VACATION WITH PAY. That's Ed Aldrich, Motor Mechanic at the Lincoln Plant, with Alice his wife and Alice his daughter. He went to Miami to visit his father during the change-over—one of many employees who elected to take their paid vacations during the idle period. That was part of the plan to keep men on the payroll. Such careful planning for the future is part of the Ford way of doing business—to benefit employee, employer, and the nation.

CENTENARIAN

A FORMER Lubbock woman, Mrs. Maude M. Charles Seaton, who now lives in a flower bedecked home in Amarillo, has this bit of advice as she approaches the seventh month past the 100 mark:

"Do not carry your worries to bed with you; eat simple foods and obey the Golden Rule. How wonderful the world would be if everyone obeyed the Golden Rule," she adds.

The centenarian makes her home with her son, Schuyler, and daughter, Lulu. They lived on Tenth street during their residence here.

BORN in Mansfield, O., April 23, 1849, Mrs. Seaton was an orphan at the age of seven and made her home with relatives. After her graduation from Baldwin university at Berea, near Cleveland, O., she married a teacher and went with him to live on a farm that later became a show place. After her husband died she moved near Slaton with her small children. Her brothers had returned from a trip West which left them in high praise of the flat country.

She has always been extremely active. Her dream was to become a musician and she hoped this ambition would be followed by her daughter, but the latter chose art. A number of Miss Seaton's paintings are in Lubbock homes. Schuyler Seaton, in addition to managing the Seaton estate, operates a large wheat farm that adjoins the Cactus Ordnance plant, not far from the town of Etter in Sherman county. He is following a scientific system of wheat farming used by his father and his experiments have increased the wheat development from 32 to between 39 and 45 bushels per acre.

BUT this story is of Mrs. Seaton. To reach 100 years in good physical condition; to be able to hear, to see, to recount experiences from a long and eventful life and to retain a sweet disposition offers an unusual lesson in longevity. Her son and daughter bought a wheel chair in order that their mother could go from room to room. They were afraid she might trip and suffer one of those falls so disabling to one of her years. But whenever she catches them off guard, she gets out of the chair and walks.

"You can't make me young again," she tells them, "and I am getting tired."

Mrs. J. P. Boyd, route 6, who incidentally, is a wonderful individual herself, recently had an enjoyable visit in the Seaton home.

IN THE MAIL

DEAR Margaret Turner:

Recently I rented a small apartment to a soldier from Barksdale field and his French war bride. She is a lovely person, 22 years old, and has been in the states nine months now. She speaks English well.

I am wondering if perhaps there might be someone in Lubbock who is a former resident of France who might be interested in meeting her. They could visit and keep up their French.

If there is such a person she could telephone my home, 2-1333 and Christine probably would answer as I am away all day as I work.

Sincerely,
Mrs. H. M. Z.

OFFICIAL TO REMAIN ON DUTY

Navy Capt. Crommelin Given Reprimand Instead Of Trial

BY ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov.8—Navy Capt. John G. Crommelin got off with a severe reprimand instead of a court martial today for his action in blowing the lid off the bitter row over national defense policies.

Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, chief of naval operations, stiffly rebuked the 48-year-old Navy erusader on three counts:

1. Insubordination.
2. Violation of naval secrecy regulations.
3. "Deliberat" circumvention of an order expressly forbidding Crommelin to take part in the inter-service controversy.

Crommelin Scored

In a letter entitled "Subject: Reprimand," Sherman told Crommelin he had "deliberately ignored" his responsibilities to his naval superiors, and declared:

"You brought into question your fitness to exercise command or to occupy a position of trust and confidence under those superiors or elsewhere within the naval service."

Then, after the cold phrase "you are hereby reprimanded," Sherman notified Crommelin that his suspension was lifted and that he was restored to duty.

Sherman's office said Crommelin will be assigned as aviation officer on the staff of Vice Admiral George D. Murray, commander of the Western Sea Frontier, with headquarters in San Francisco.

An aviation hero of World War II and former skipper of the aircraft carrier Saipan, Crommelin was suspended and placed under house arrest on Oct. 6. The action followed his disclosure that three days earlier he had slipped to newsmen a series of confidential Navy documents criticizing the unified defense setup.

Crommelin himself had frankly said he expected to be court-martialed for "what may have been a technical violation" of regulations, but he said "it had to be done in the interests of national security."

Today, after receiving Sherman's reprimand, the Navy's stormy pétrel told newsmen he has no intention of resigning. He had previously said wryly that he believed his naval career was "finished."

It was Crommelin's release of the so-called "confidential" navy documents—letters from three top admirals addressed to Navy Secretary Matthews—that touched off the angry hearings before the House Armed Services committee last month.

Oklahoma Group To Seek Negro Entry Into White Schools

OKMULGEE, Okla., Nov. 8. (U.P.) — Oklahoma's anti-segregation leaders will meet this week to plan a campaign to put negroes in all-white high schools, it was learned today.

First attempt to enroll in traditionally white schools will probably come at the beginning of the second semester in January.

This and other phases of the campaign will be discussed at the state convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored people, scheduled here Thursday and Friday.

University Doors Opened

The drive will be similar to the one NAACP spearheaded in Oklahoma's higher education institutions, particularly at the state university at Norman. That effort, though it has not eliminated segregation, has succeeded in opening the doors there to negroes seeking courses not offered at the state negro university at Langston.

Roscoe Dunjee, NAACP leader and editor of the Black Dispatch, negro newspaper, said at Oklahoma City today the campaign for equal education in high schools will be the state group's "main objective for the year." However, he added, the association will not drop its fight for equality in higher schools.

Only yesterday the U. S. Supreme court agreed to review the case of G. W. McLaurin, the University of Oklahoma's first negro student, who is challenging his present segregation.

Dunjee said negro youths will apply at white high schools for courses not obtainable in separate schools.

"We want courses now available only to white students opened to negroes, too," he said.

Odessa Primes For Battle

Bronchos Set For All-Out Fight

ODESSA, Nov. 8. (Special)—Although twice-beaten and once-tied, Odessa's always dangerous Bronchos will seek to turn their 1949 football season into a successful climax when they meet Lubbock here Friday afternoon at 2:30 p. m., in Broncho stadium.

The Westerners and Bronchs will get together here before a sellout of more than 22,000 fans—the largest crowd ever to watch a football game in Odessa.

Billed in pre-season dope as the sure-fire contenders for the state Class AA championship billing, the Bronchs thus far have failed to reach the heights expected of them. Definitely in-and-outers, the Broncs' only hope Friday lie in the possibility of their being "right" from start to finish. Many of their backers think they will be.

Have Five Won Mark

Facing the toughest schedule in the history of the school, Odessa thus far in the season has won five games, lost two and tied one. The Bronchos have averaged 25.9 points per game on 207 points, while allowing the combined opposition 140 points for an average of 17.5—still an impressive record.

Odessa's victories have come at the expense of San Angelo (27-6), Sweetwater (20-6), and Amerillo (34-21) in non-district play and over Midland (55-7) and Lamesa (32-14) in district encounters.

The losses were suffered at the hands of Port Arthur (13-27) in the season opener, and to Abilene (6-39). Both were non-district games. The tie came at Fort Worth, where defending City conference champion Arlington Heights held the Bronchs to a 20-20 deadlock.

Team Stresses Running

Odessa stresses its running game, and the attack is carried by three complete backfield units of almost equal ability, but all lacking a real breakaway running threat.

Quarterback chores are handled by Charles Clover, Mac Tyler and Carl Beard. Clover, 155-pound senior, is the best ball handler of the trio, while Tyler, 150-pound junior, is the squad's top passer. Beard, 178-pound junior, is a capable replacement at both quarterback and halfback.

Dye Top Gainer

Howard Dye, 161-pound junior fullback, is the top Broncho ground gainer with 360 net yards gained on 76 carries. Running behind Dye at fullbacks is 155-pound sophomore Joe Childress and 145-pound junior Bobby White.

Starting halfback posts are manned by Joe Howell, a 157-pound senior and the squad's hardest runner, and Co-Captain Dawton Hughes, a senior and the biggest back at 173 pounds. They are backed by seniors T. W. Harvey, 153, and Tommy Salmon, 131, and by juniors Bobby Jackson, 155, and John Ed Giles, 140.

The starting offensive line, which has undergone a slight shuffle this week, will probably have Dick Rice, 155, and Co-Captain Paul Erwin, 170, at the ends; Briscoe Cassity, 181, and Herb Miller, 167, at tackles; Bobby Alread, 170, and Roy Heard, 178, at guards; and Melvin (Tiny) Etheredge, 215, at center.

Etheredge is a sophomore, Cassity and Miller juniors and the others seniors.

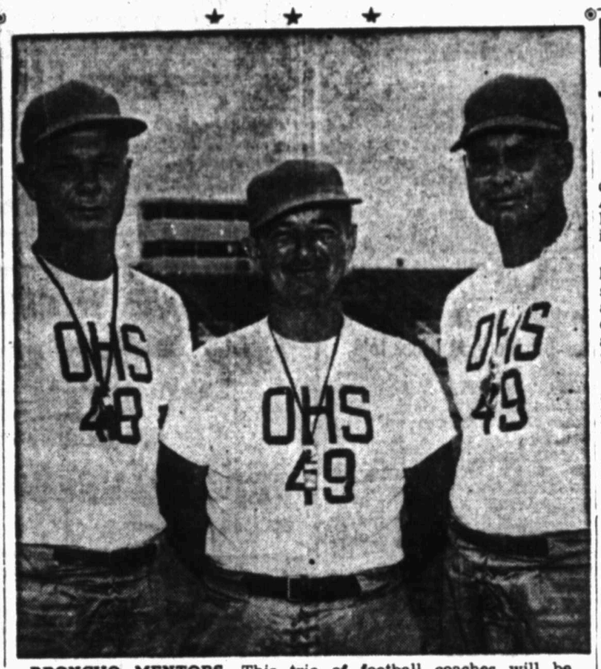

This week's switch in the line saw Coach Joe Coleman move Heard from tackle to guard and call Miller from a defensive linebackers spot to the vacant tackle post.

Erwin is the leading pass-catcher on the squad, with 19 catches good for 334 yards and two touchdowns. His closest competitor, Childress, has snagged four for 102 yards and one score.

Dye leads the punting department with 41.2 yard average on 10 boots, while Tyler has tried 12 times for a 31.4 yard average. Hughes, who can boot 'em long and true, handles the kickoff and point after touchdown chores.

GOLF TOURNEY SLATED

The West Texas Pro-Amateur Golf tournament will be held Thursday at the Municipal course in Big Spring. Anyone may enter.

BRONCHO MENTORS—This trio of football coaches will be planning strategy to try to stop the Westerners when the Lubbock squad invades Odessa at 2:30 p.m. Friday for the game which will probably decide the District 3-AA race. Although the Broncs have lost two games and tied one this season, while Lubbock has gone undefeated, Odessa leads the district chase with two victories to only one for Lubbock. Shown above, left to right, are Julius Johnson, line coach; Joe Coleman, head coach; and Gail Smith, assistant coach.

Local Brush Up On Fundamentals

Reeves, Wright Will Captain Westerners

The honor of captaining the Westerners in the District 3-AA clash Friday with Odessa will be shared by Ends Garnet Reeves and Billy Wright, the two regular wingmen on the Lubbock squad.

Both boys have played well on offense and defense this season, with Reeves leading in pass receiving through the first seven games. Wright's defensive ability has been noteworthy in every contest.

Tuesday at Chapman Field the squad started working out late. Following calisthenics led by Reeves and Wright, the team settled down to practice in some of the fundamentals of the game.

Place kicking and punting received a thorough going over, with kickoffs, conversions and field goals being tried. Punting was for distance, but the final drills were out-of-bounds kicks.

Blocking was next on the agenda, with the guards and tackles under Bill Floyd and the ends under Fred Taylor. Head Coach Pat Pattison sent the backs through their play practices.

The latter part of the practice was concerned with offensive and defensive drills.

Pass patterns were run, with Bobby Brown, Morris Turner, Billy Pressley and Jack Weldon tossing the ball. Reserve Bobby Day was catching the passes with ease, as was Reeves.

Leading the ground offensive in dummy scrimmage were the trio of Charlie Williams, Malcolm Young and Wayne Stroud. All three squads alternated on offense, with the second and third strings getting defensive drills against Odessa plays.

Tackling practice and wind sprints climaxed the workout.

Boys Club Independent Cage Squad Defeats Barber College

Play opened in the Boys club basketball program Tuesday, and Boys club Independents defeated Barber College, 56-24.

Eleven players saw action for the winners, and 10 of these scored at least 10 points. Jackie Cook was high with 12 and Mackie Lawrence chipped in 10 markers. For the Barbers, Doug Galey scored 10.

Pee Wees and Midgets will organize Wednesday and play Thursday, and Thomas Tinkers will play the Independents. A total of 82 boys have signed up in the four leagues, and that many more are needed.

Lubbock Cowhands Want Game With Class A Team This Week

Lubbock High school's Cowhands have another off date this week and would like a game with a good Class A team, Coach Pat Farris said Tuesday.

A game scheduled with Midland has been cancelled by the Midland school, leaving the Cowhands with their second open date in as many weeks.

A team wanting a game Saturday afternoon or night may contact Coach Farris, Freddy Brown or Pat Pattison at the high school.

Kasaboski, Parks Tangle Tonight

One of the top matches in recent weeks will be seen at Sled Allen's arena tonight when Alex Kasaboski and Herb Parks tangle in the headliner at the arena.

The Russian Lion, Kasaboski, has been living up to his name since returning to the territory and should meet with plenty of competition from Parks. Both are well-equipped to dish out punishment.

Parks is one of the most versatile wrestlers in the game and is smart and capable of adjusting his style to that of his opponent.

Two semi-finals will be fought for two of three falls with a 45-minute limit. The former Amarillo gridder, George Overhull, will have his hands full when he takes on the Grey Mask in the second bout.

Overhull wrestled to a draw in the opener last week with Salvador Flores, a speedy Mexican grappler, and this week advanced a notch to fight the Mask.

Both men are fast and have mastered the science of the game. The Mask has been handled rather heavily since coming to the territory and will be out to teach Overhull a thing or two about wrestling.

Appearing in the first event are Flores and Charley Carr. This pair met two weeks ago in the preliminary event and wrestled to a draw. Both felt that the time was not long enough and asked to be matched again with a longer limit.

Flores is very popular with the Mexican fans and is a tough opponent for anyone his weight. Carr is the more experienced of the two.

Lamar Contender For Little Rose Bowl

BEAUMONT, Nov. 8. (AP).—Lamar college's undefeated, untied Cardinals were reported strong contenders today for a spot in the Little Rose Bowl in California.

Officials at Lamar, leading team in the Southwestern Junior College Conference, would not comment on the report but it was said by authoritative sources that Little Rock, Ark., Kilgore, Tex., Boise, Idaho, and Georgia Military were the teams in the running for the bid.

Coach Standard Lambert of Lamar when asked about the report said: "We, of course, would be delighted to play at Pasadena and would welcome such an invitation."

Lamar has won eight games, scoring 245 points to 53 for the opposition. Last week the Cardinals downed Kilgore college 14-7. Kilgore had been reported the leading contender from the Southwestern Junior College Conference for the Little Rose Bowl bid up to that time.

McAdoo Scores Triple Cage Victory Over Dickens Fives

McADOO, Nov. 8 (Special) — McAdoo scored a triple basketball victory over Dickens here tonight, winning lopsided victories with senior boys and girls teams and junior girls.

Dickens fell before the boys team by a 34-6 count, with Armstrong setting the pace with 15 points for McAdoo. Elliot scored four for the losers.

The senior girls allowed Dickens 12 points while scoring 53, with Anita Morton meshing the hoop for 24 points for the winners and McBride getting five for the losing sextet.

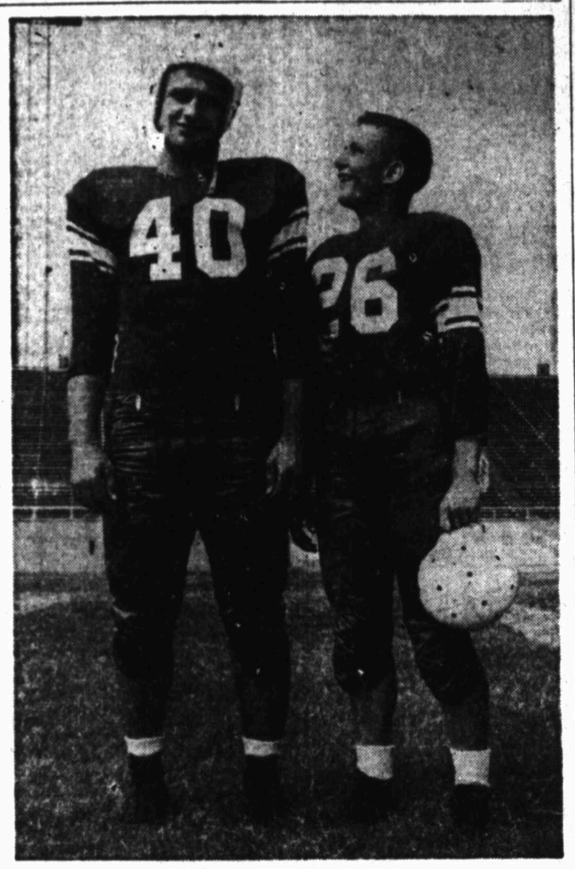

M. Allen paced the junior girls with 26 points as McAdoo won this game, 45-6. Whatley and Mobley scored two points each for the Dickens team.

Frenship School Racks Up 40-13 Cage Win Over Petersburg Five

PETERSBURG, Nov. 8. (Special) — Surnderd led Friendship school of Wofforth to a 40-13 basketball win over Petersburg here tonight in a boys match, scoring 13 points. High for the home team were Kenneth Kirkpatrick and Paul Mains with four each

Both Peterburg girls teams won, the senior winning, 18-17, as Mary Blassingame hit the bucket for seven points, with Gibson leading for Friendship.

In the junior match Petersburg won, 13-8, largely on the efforts of Bobbye McDaniels. Dalton was high for the losers with five markers.

Henderson-Olivas Boxing Card Ducats Being Sold By Tech FFA

Tickets for the Nov. 17 Bill Henderson-Tony Olivas fight card at Sled Allen's arena went on sale Tuesday.

Ducats, priced at $3, $2.25 and $1.25, will be sold by members of the Texas Tech chapter of Future Farmers of America until the date of the fight. Also, they will be on sale in the lobby of the Hilton hotel all day Nov. 16-17.

Mail orders for tickets are being accepted by the FFA chapter, Texas Tech, Lubbock, Texas. All orders should be accompanied by check or money order for the total cost of tickets purchased.

Profits Go To FFA

All profits from the venture will go to the local collegiate FFA organization for establishment of a scholarship fund. In addition, Henderson, Gene James and Leonard Duncan are contributing their entire purses to the fund.

Henderson, beaten only twice in nearly two years of professional fighting, will meet Tony Olivas, El Paso, in the 10-round main event. Olivas, a clever young lightweight whose speed is his main asset, has made two good showings in earlier South Plains appearances. He met Henderson early this year in El Paso, giving the Levelland Larruper a good battle before Henderson tagged him for a fourth-round knockout.

In an eight-round semifinal that is expected to create considerable interest here, Lubbock's Gene James goes against Eddie Lamarr, Oklahoma City product who formerly held the Texas heavyweight title. James, unbeaten in 13 pro starts, stopped Lamarr recently at Carlsbad, N. M., and the Oklahoman has been seeking a rematch ever since.

Duncan Faces Gray

Leonard Duncan, the rugged Hale Center middleweight whose fights here always have produced ample action, faces Art Gray, El Paso collegian, in a six-round feature bout. Duncan now has a 7-1 record as a pro. Gray, said to be a hard hitter, had 35 amateur fights on the West Coast, and has scored two straight knockout wins since turning professional a few weeks ago.

A four round preliminary, participants in which have not been announced, will open the card.

Girl Football Team Tackle Suffers Loss Of Front Tooth

HOLLIS, Okla., Nov. 8. (U.P.)—The Seniors of Hollis High school suffered a terrific defeat last night in a girls' football game here.

It wasn't so much that their team, the "Red Devils," lost to the "Bloomer Girls' of the junior class. It wasn't even the score, 20-14, that hurt.

The real blow fell when Nan Claiborne, the seniors' shapely right tackle, lost a tooth right out of the front of her smile.

EARLIER RESULTS NOT EFFECTIVE

Abernathy's Wayne Wolf Is Declared Eligible To Play

FLOYDADA, Nov. 8. (Special)—Wayne Wolf, Abernathy High school football player who earlier this season was declared ineligible, today again was declared eligible—effective at once—by vote of the district 3-A executvie committee.

Today's decision regarding Wolf's eligibility will not affect Abernathy's current record of one victory and six defeats in district play. It means only that the Antelope player is eligible for future athletic competition during his high school career.

Because of an earlier ruling that Wolf's parents were not bona fide residents of the Abernathy school district, the Antelopes forfeited three victories gained in 3-A play. In addition, the Abernathy team dropped three games—one while Wolf was playing, and two during his absence from the squad—on the playing field.

Will Play Against Tulia

As a result of today's executive committee decision, the 170-pound fullback-tackle is expected to play against Tulia this week in Abernathy's final game. Outcome of this tilt will have no bearing on the 3-A championship race, in which Spur and Floydada currently are tied for the lead.

Also, there now is a possibility that Wolf will compete in track and field, as a weight thrower, for the Antelopes next spring.

The executive committee ruling, announced by District Chairman I. T. Graves, Floydada superintendent, stated, "The District 3-A executive committee, in a meeting Nov. 8, 1949, at Floydada, unanimously voted that Wayne Wolf, of Abernathy, is now eligible. The committee ruled that since the parents of Wayne Wolf are now bona fide residents of the Abernathy school district, the boy becomes eligible immediately. In a previous meeting, the committee ruled that Wayne Wolf was ineligible in earlier games because his parents were not bona fide residents of the Abernathy school district."

Under rules of the University of Texas Interscholastic league, the executive committee has final authority on all matters pertaining to player eligibility arising within the district.

At today's meeting, the committee also voted to hold the District 3-A literary and track and field events March 31-April 1 at Floydada, and to select the 1949 all-district football team at a meeting to be held the night of Nov. 21 at Floydada.

Longhorns Face Frogs Saturday

(By The United Press)

Coach Blair Cherry let it be known today that his Texas Longhonrs would be in excellent physical condition for their Southwest Conference football clash Saturday against Texas Christian's Horned Frogs.

The Longhorns emerged from their record-spoiling defeat of Baylor at Austin last Saturday without any major mishaps. Joe Arnold, who was hurt in the Baylor game, practiced briefly yesterday.

Cherry said his team would rely "heavily" on the bruising running game of Fulbock Ray Borneman, who has recovered from a knee injury that slowed him down earlier in the season.

At Waco, a collection of battered Baylor Bears got ready to work out for Saturday's game with the visiting Wyoming Cowboys.

The 20-0 pasting the Bears took from Texas Saturday not only knocked them from the dwindling list of undefeated teams, but also took a heavy casualty toll.

At least four players were almost certain to be out of the lineup against Wyoming, including Halfback Buddy Parker and defensive Linebacker Harold Attaway.

Texas A&M boss Harry Stiteler said that Linebacker Dick Callendar, who hurt a kne in last Saturday's upset 27-27 tie with Southern Methodist, was on crutches and would not play against Rice next Saturday.

Also sidelined with injuries were safetymen John Christensen and Charley McDonald. Christensen "might" be ready for the game at Houston, Stiteler said.

SMU's Mustangs scheduled their first practice session today since their prestige-shattering 27-27 tie with the Aggies.

Coach Matty Bell gave the Ponies a rest yesterday before starting work outs for Saturday's game here with Arkansas.

MAYS RITES SET THURSDAY

GLENDALE, Calif., Nov. 8. (AP). Final rites for Rex Mays, one of the nation's top race drivers killed in a racing crash Sunday, will be held Thursday at Forest Lawn Memorial Park. Mays was killed on the 13th lap of the final 100-mile AAA championship race of the season when his car upended and he was thrown to the track.

Eleven Undefeated, Untied Teams Remain In Class A Gridiron Race

Spur And Floydada Lead In 3-A Chase

(By The Associated Press)

Class A schoolboy football rolls toward the end of regular season play with eleven undefeated, untied teams and five with unbeaten but tied records.

The list of perfect clubs is due to be whittled before the Nov. 19 deadline for certifying district champions. Some have to play each other.

New Braunfels, which has already cinched the 24-A title, paces the perfect teams. The Unicorns have roled up 397 points to 52 for eight opponents.

Kaufman, Mexia, French of Beaumont, Uvalde, Lefors, Alvin, Nederland, Del Rio, Edna, and Ballinger also are undefeated and untied.

Leverett's Chapel, Dalhart, Bowie Irving, and Arlington are unbeaten but tied.

Two teams in the select list tumbled last week. Mount Vernon fell in a stunning, 13-7 upset by Minola. Columbia knockd off El Campo, 28-14.

Four other teams beside New Braunfels have already sewed up district titles. Several others are due to be decided Friday, but most of the 32 district championships hinge on next week's final games.

Grand Saline, La Vega Brenham, and Lefors can start worrying about first round playoff opponents now.

John Thomas Laroe passed Merlin Hurphey of New Braunfels in the individual scoring race. He counted 18 points in Kaufman's 39-6 win over Athens for a season total of 138. Murphey scored one touchdown to boost his total to 132.

Joel Combs of Lefors, 160 pound halfback in Lefor's Notre Dame box formation, has counted 121 points to lead Plains scorers.

The Class A race shapes up right now like this by districts:

1—Dalhart leads, can win title by beating Dumas and Canyon.

2—Lefors, the winner.

3—Spur and Floydada lead.

4—Littlefield leads in north zone, faces one more foe-Levelland; Post and Slaton settle south leadership this week.

5—Wink leads, Kermit and Andrews contending; Wink plays Kermit Friday.

6—Rotan can win west zone by beating Hamlin Friday; Haskell big favorite to win east zone.

7—Ballinger can just about cinch title by beating Coleman Friday.

8—Ranger and Eastland settle title Friday.

9—Burkburnett and Holliday game Nov. 18 to probably decide winner.

10—Bowie favored, Nocona only team rated capable of upsetting Rabbits.

11—Arlington and Birdville to decide title Nov. 18.

12—Irving Garland tied for lead.

13—Honey Grove and Clarksville play for championship Nov. 18.

14—Atlanta upset Dekalb, 47-6 last week to take lead.

15—Mineola leads.

16—Leverett's Chapel can win crown with tie for victory over Carlisle Nov. 18.

17—Kaufman, Terrell settle championship Nov. 18.

18—Grand Saline cinch winner.

20—Huntsville and Mexia decide championship Nov. 18.

21—Rosebud leads, plays big foe Cameron this week.

22—Lampasas leads.

23—Brenham, cinch winner.

24—New Braunfels, cinch winner.

25—Alvin leads.

26—French of Beaumont, Nederland tied for lead. Both undefeated, untied.

27—Bay City leads.

28—Edna, Karnes City tied for lead, play Friday.

29—30—Titles still long way from being decided.

31—Hot Wells and Edison decide it Nov. 18.

32—Del Rio paces the pack.

BY CHOC HUTCHESON

If you like fancy grid dishes, this weekend's South Plains schoolboy menu is right down your alley.

Without question, Nov. 11 is the big date on the 1949 football calendar for this area. In five of the region's seven circuits, championships probably will be decided this week. In fact, you can't turn around without stumbling over a first-rate game.

Topping the list is the Lubbock-Odessa scrap at Odessa. Some 22,000 fans are expected to sit in on this one to see what Joe Coleman's Bronchos can do about stopping Pat Pattison's well-drilled Lubbock crew.

District 4-A offers a "double feature." In the afternoon, Slaton and Post Scrap it out at Post for top honors in the south zone. Friday night, the scene shifts to Littlefield where the Wildcats will be seeking the north zone crown when they go against Levelland.

In 3-A, both leaders (Floydada and Spur) face tough tests. Floydada plays host to Crosbyton, while Spur entertains Ralls.

Wink and Kermit, two of the top three teams in 5-A, tangle at Kermit.

Less important activity is scheduled in Districts 3-B and 4-B. Olton, with the 3-B crown safely stored away, plays at Hale Center. Meadow, the 4-B pacesetter, draws a "breather" in outclassed Frenship.

A flock of ex-South Plains schoolboy stars are sparking the undefeated Hardin-Simmons freshman football team this fall. Jack Pritchard, the Denver City speedster, was the club's top ball carrier in last week's 41-7 triumph over West Texas State college Yearlings. He helped in four touchdown drives, and personally scored one on a 91-yard gallop. Charley McGuire (Post) and Art Bizzell (Lamesa) are sharing quarterback duties, while Junior Malouf (Post) and Ralph Jones (Seminole) have been doing well at their halfback positions. End Richard Stanfield (Seminole) and Guards Weldon Boggus and Pat Tone (both of Monahans) are bulwarks of a line which held WTSC to a net rushing gain of 62 yards last week . . . Bobby Jackson, who will be at halfback for Odessa against Lubbock, is the son of Gib Jackson, who used to be with the Lubbock baseball Hubbers when the team was a semi-pro outfit . . . Lubbock's Cowhands would like to play some area Class A team this Saturday, afternoon or night. A scheduled game with Midland (which Lubbock drubbed by 59-12 earlier) has been called off. Anyone interested in playing the Cowhands should contact Coach Pat Farris through the Lubbock High athletic department . . . Notre Dame's current string of 34 games without a defeat is a modern collegiate record . . . Benny Eggleston, ex-Lamesa High gridder, is a starting tackle for the University of Wyoming freshman team. Wyoming's varsity crew, incidentally, is one of the nation's few undefeated, untied elevens. The Cowpokes, who gained 815 yards from scrimmage as they swamped Colorado State, 103-0, last week, are expected to fall from the select ranks Saturday when they meet Baylor at Waco.

Although Andrews at present is third in District 5-A, don't count the Mustangs out of title contention. Glenn Ivy, former Texas Tech tennistar now teaching at Andrews, points out that the Mustangs beat Wink (the current leader) and tied Kermit (the current runnerup), so should Kermit upset Wink this week there is a good chance that Andrews will wind up with the championship—providing they can get by McCamey and rapidly-improving Seminole. . . Jake Broyles and Joe Wheatley leave today to represent Texas Tech in the Southwestern Open tennis tournament at Tucson. Nell Quattlebaum, ex-Amarillo High net ace, will carry the local college's colors in the women's division of the Tucson tourney. . . Curtis Barrett, L. L. Judd and J. R. Callahan have been appointed to draw up plans for organization of a South Plains Basketball Officials association, to be patterned after the present football officials group.

Charles Einstein, the INS sports scribe, comes up with one of the best Notre Dame stories to hit this desk. It goes like this:

"When you play Notre Dame these days, you lose not one game but two—the game with Notre Dame, and the game you play next week.

"Sometimes it works beyond that. Purdue, with a truly great team lost a 28-27 screamer to Notre Dame in the season's opener last year—and, having been picked for the Big Ten title, won three out of nine games.

"'When I last talked to my boys,' Purdue Coach Stu Holcomb said mournfully the next-to-last week of the season, 'they were still on Notre Dame's four-yard line.'"

Jocko Collins, National Basketball Association referee, also is a scout for the Philadelphia Phillies and discovered Del Ennis, the fine young outfielder.

Commercial Angle Involved In Irish-Tarheel Game In New York

By PAT ROBINSON
INS Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 — There is a strictly commercial football game coming up in New York this Saturday and the parties of the first and second parts are not professionals.

That will be the meeting of Notre Dame and North Carolina.

Here are two teams situated hundreds of miles from New York playing in a professional ball park.

It is sure to be an interesting game and Notre Dame probably will win it without too much trouble. But no national or even sectional title hinges on the result.

Therefore, why is the game being played in New York?

The answer is strictly commercial.

Now, we have nothing to say against any college making all the dough possible from its football. But if a college must play for a big gate, why not play a natural rival?

In other words, why shouldn't Notre Dame play another Catholic college and one which has a large following right here in New York?

In a word, why shouldn't Notre Dame play Fordham?

Strangely enough, Notre Dame rarely, if ever, plays another Catholic college. It may be said that no other college is in its class as a football power.

But this argument doesn't hold water for there have been years when Fordham could have held its own with Notre Dame's best.

Fordham once was a football power. It rated on a par with the great teams of Jack Sutherland at Pitt. In those years it could give Army, Notre Dame or any other college an even battle.

And surely it rates at least as high as Notre Dame scholastically. Fordham has no trick courses for football players.

We are in position to say—and please remember, that we are not a Fordham old grad—that Fordham seriously would consider a game with the Irish.

So why not? Football schedules are formed two to three years in advance and on that ground Notre Dame could say we can't take on Fordham at this time because of previous commitments.

Fair enough. But what's to prevent scheduling a series of home and home games starting, say, in 1952?

By that time Fordham, after its war-time drop, will have climbed to its normal heights.

Fordham is just as big—or bigger—certainly has as many followers in New York, and in a year or two will have one of the best football teams in the land.

Therefore, a sell-out would be assured. So why not Fordham vs. Notre Dame?

Dick Wakefield of the Detroit Tigers was the last major league rookie to get 200 hits in his first season—he got them in 1943.

Neely Lauds Joe Watson

HOUSTON, Nov. 8 (AP) — Jess Neely is a talkative person when the subject is big Joe Watson.

The Rice Institute coach, a man not given to undue praise, believes Watson, a 232-pound center and linebacker, is the man responsible for the Owls' holding a stranglehold on first place in Southwest Conference standings.

Without Watson, Neely says, Rice would have lost to both Southern Methodist and Texas.

Watson's play is not as spectacular as that of the great Owl end, James (Froggie) Williams. Froggie gets most of the headlines.

But conservative Jess puts it this way:

"Watson is the backbone of the team."

Rice entered the SMU and Texas games as underdog. The Owls trailed SMU at one time by 14 to 0, Texas by 15 to 0.

Neely credits Watson with turning the tide both times. Watson played 54 minutes against the Mustangs, a full 60 minutes against Texas.

Rice trailed Southern Methodist 6 to 14 at the half, but cut the deficit to one point by turning the third period opening kickoff into a touchdown march.

Neely says credit for this strategy belong entirely to Joe.

The ball struck an SMU player and Watson recovered on the Mustang 46. The Owls scored and did not trail again while winning 41 to 27.

Said Mustang Coach Matty Bell: "That short kick and recovery by Watson was the turning point."

He also intercepted a third period pass which Texas coach Blair Cherry says was the turning point for Rice went on to win, 17 to 15.

Watson is 24, stands six-two, and was All-Southwest Conference team center the past two years. In 1947 he won the Associated Press Lineman-of-the-week rating with his fine play against Texas A. and M.

MUSICAL POPPA AGAIN

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 8. (AP)— Stan Musial, slugging outfielder of the St. Louis Cardinals, was passing out cigars today for the third time. A six-pound, nine-ounce baby girl was born to Mrs. Musial at St. Louis Maternity Hospital yesterday. Mother and child were reported well. The Musials have two other children, a boy and a girl.

Hank Schenz Sold To Pittsburgh

Shotton Will Pilot Dodgers Next Year

By PAT ROBINSON
INS Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Burt Shotton will manage the Brooklyn Dodgers again next year.

Branch Rickey made this certain today when he said that he and Shotton had reached "a satisfactory agreement."

Shotton, who came from Florida to attend the Rickey news conference, then revealed that he and Rickey have had only one contract in all the years they've worked together.

"And that," Burt explained, "was the one Ford Frick made me sign when I came back to manage the Dodgers in 1947. Branch and I never need more than a gentleman's agreement."

Shotton managed the Dodgers to National League pennants in 1947 and this year but lost the World Series each time to the New York Yankees.

Brooks Sell Schenz

Rickey then lightly tossed off the information that he had sold Infielder Hank Schenz to the Pirates for an undisclosed cash consideration. The Dodgers got Schenz from the Cubs last May 16. He spent the season in St. Paul where he hit .345 and led the American Association in stolen bases with 30.

Next Shotton and Rickey went into the customary hot stove duet as follows:

Shotton: "I think we can win the pennant again with the same club and I also think we will win the next World Series."

Rickey: "But we'll be definitely improved next year."

R. and S. in chorus: "What we need most is an experienced pitcher. An old one. We've got great young ones now."

Rickey soloing again: "Our pitchers will improve for the next five years. Eventually it will be a truly great staff."

Rickey: "We've added a third catcher—Steve Lembo from Montreal. I'm not trying to trade a catcher but I may have to trade one to ge what I need to fill another spot." (He meant Bruce Edwards for that pitcher he wants.)

"I'm now in a position for the first time in four years to make a claim in the draft. I'm after a sleeper in that draft whom I won't name and I hope the 15 other clubs which get a choice in the draft before me don't grab the man I want."

Shotton: "Our whole club will be better and more seasoned next year. I hope they'll start off the way they played the last 40 games."

Rickey: (Giving a hint that he may trade one of his numerous outfielders.) "Carl Furillo and Duke Snider will be much better next year. About the third man? Well, I think Cal Abrams whom we are bringing up again is the most underrated player in baseball. He's a tremendous natural hitter. And Bob Morgan from Montreal is a grand third baseman."

The University of Arizona football team ranked eighth nationally in pass interceptions in 1948.

Lions Club Minstrel Attracts Full House

The Lions club Jubilee Minstrel played to "Standing Room Only," and not much of that Tuesday night, as more than 2,000 persons packed Lubbock Senior High auditorium for the first public performance of this year's minstrel.

A sellout crowd was expected again tonight, as the curtain for the final performance goes up at 8 oclock!

The show, the fourth annual Lions club Jubilee Minstrel, put on exclusively by the local club for the benefit of the Girl Scout camp at Buffalo Lakes, came up with numerous old-time favorites expertly entwined in a refreshing number of new routines.

Featured in the show are George Dale in a solo part and an actet of Lions. Richard G. Richards is directing the music, arranged by Ted Crager.

Seats are available at the Hilton hotel or from any Lion for from 60 cents to $1.50.

The show played to Texas Tech students and RAFB personnel Monday night. Last night's performance was the first open to the public.

About 60 reserve officers and enlisted reservists met at 8 p. m. Tuesday in the Naval Reserve armory, Texas Tech campus, for a joint meeting of the 4226th Signal company and the 4038th Infantry division.

A two-man signal demonstration team from Fourth Army headquarters, San Antonio, displayed the latest Signal corps equipment at the meeting. Capt. R. M. Wood and Sgt./1st Class John D. McCoy were in charge of the program.

A film was shown depicting the role of the corps in the last war and the part it will play in the future. Slides illustrating the development of the corps' equipment through the years were shown.

The 4226th Signal company is commanded by Maj. L. B. Blackwell and the 4038th Infantry division is commanded by Col. Louis B. Reed

Theft Of Clothing Is Reported Here

Theft of clothing from two parked automobiles was reported to police here Tuesday.

Bob Mitchell, of 2709 Fortieth, said a woman's coat valued at $50 had been taken from his car, parked at Thirty-fourth and Adams, as he attended church.

The other theft, from a car parked in 1400 block Texas Ave. was reported by D. P. Pinkston, KSEL employe. The missing apparel was described as a woman's gabardine suit valued at $80.

Claude Day, 24, of 1825 Ave. F, was fined $25 in Corporation court Tuesday on a charge that he failed to appear on a traffic ticket. Day was defended by E. A. Blair.

Garza County Sheriff E. M. Bass Tuesday accompanied Homer L. Smith, of Post, to Lubbock where Smith took possession of a ton-and-a-half truck stolen from him at Post Saturday. The vehicle, which carried a welding rig, was found abandoned in the Queen City residential section of the city.

Man Dies Of Injuries After Flomot Beating

MATADOR, Nov. 8. (Special)—Pearl Panner, 60-year-old Flomot bachelor, died here Tuesday in Stanley clinic of severe head wounds suffered when he was beaten by an unknown assailant as he slept at his home Sunday.

McDonald Funeral home here, where the body was taken, said late Tuesday that definite funeral arrangements had not been set.

Motley County Deputy Sheriff Jinks Wilson, meanwhile, said officials still had not discovered a motive for the beating and had no leads as to the assailant's identity. A search revealed that nothing had been taken from Panner's house.

Panner was moved to the clinic from his Flomot home after a neighbor discovered the man lying unconscious in his bed about 8 a.m. Sunday. Hospital attendants said he had suffered a fractured skull.

Quirino Holds Lead In Philippines Election

MANILA, Nov. 9 (Wednesday) (INS)—Incumbent President Elpidio Quirino maintained an early lead today in the counting in the violent Philippines election that brought reports of a massacre of 78 opposition party members and death to 25 others.

The Manila Times reported that 78 Nacionalista party supporters of Candidate Jose Laurel were slain on Mindanao. The Times said the 78 Filipino Mohammedans were "mowed down by civilian guards" when they refused to return to their homes after being barred from a polling place. The massacre reportedly occurred in the Bulas district of Lanao province on Mindanao island.

Other sources did not give immediate confirmation of the massacre.

Morton Voters Okay Gas System Proposal

MORTON, Nov. 8. (Special) — Morton voters today approved a $225,000 bond issue to finance a municipal natural gas system. The vote was 104 for and 75 against.

Plans call for the town to purchase gas on a wholesale basis from El Paso Natural Gas company for distribution over the system financed by the bonds.

Voting was held in conjunction with balloting on ten proposed amendments to the state constitution and on candidates for the state board of education.

City Group Studies

tions. Only the city commission has authority to make changes in building and zoning regulations, but that group almost invariably follows recommendations of the zoning commission and the board of adjustment in such matters.

Precipitating the new studies was application of Russell C. Ray for a permit to erect a two-story building containing 34 efficiency apartments on Sixteenth street a short distance east of Avenue Q.

Officials said Ray's plans conflict with existing regulations in several ways. The building would contain 16 more apartments than now are allowed on property of the area of the proposed site. The front of structure would extend 7½ feet beyond the present building line and the back would be flush with the alley. The plans make no provision for off-street parking of the cars of tenants.

The city commission and other official agencies already have declared they will not approve Ray's plans in their present form.

But the commission asked the planning and adjustment boards for an opinion on whether present regulations should be liberalized so as to permit more apartments of the efficiency type to be erected on property of any given area than is allowed under present codes.

Members argued that such liberalization might stimulate building of that type and contribute toward an easing of the Lubbock housing shortage.

The indications were that recommendations of the group which met Tuesday may be ready for submission to the semi-monthly meeting of the city commission on Nov. 23 or Dec. 8, provided they are approved by the adjustment and planning boards.

Women Jurors Are Approved By Voters In Kenedy County

(By The Associated Press)

Kenedy county wants those women jurors.

It flatly turned down nine proposed constitutional amendments.

But the tenth — to allow women to serve on juries — it approved by a vote of 52 to nine.

alleged head of the ring, was declared still at liberty in western Germany. He was identified as Dr. Michal Zibrin.

The two former deputies arrested were Karel Folta and Jan Bendik. All three deputies are former members of the now-outlawed Slovak Democratic party. The announcement accused them of bribing Czech refugees in German camps with American cigarets to spy.

"Pardon" Reported

A government broadcast said Meryn had been released in response to his request for a "pardon." It added he had been given three days to get out of the country.

Meryn, a clerk in the military attache's office, was arrested Oct. 21. On the same day Isaac Patch, attache in the embassy's political section, was ordered to leave the country in 24 hours on charges he had been operating an underground railway for fugitives from the Czechoslovak regime. Four days later the government ordered John G. Heyn Patch's assistant, deported on grounds that he was trying to ferret out secret industrial information. But he had already gone.

Others Ousted

Subsequently, the government ousted two French diplomats and arrested a third on charges they were trying to get information about Czechoslovakia's uranium mining operations and had slipped samples of the ore out of the country. Premier Antonin Zapotocky admitted for the first time yesterday that Czechoslovakia is mining this ore with Russian aid for Russian atomic production.

The United States State department protested that the charges against its employes were "trumped up." It threatened to take further measures to bring home to the Prague government the seriousness of the American position.

More Than 108,000 Bolt In Union Fight

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 8 (AP) — A national survey today showed more than 108,000 members have bolted the United Electrical workers in the fight over right-left policies.

The UE was expelled from the CIO last week for leftwingism. Those deserting the union intend to string along with the rightwing union of electrical worders set up by the CIO.

The survey disclosed 69,000 deciding to stick by the parent organization. UE membership is estimated at 400,000 to 450,000 and tests of strength have indicated half is left wing, half right.

Left wing leaders have tried to halt right wing balloting and meetings advocating secession by tying up union funds with court orders. In four cases courts have ruled rightists are entitled to use of the funds.

In New York, UE President Albert Fitzgerald said reports on the number leaving the union were "wishful thinking rather than fact."

John T. McWilliams, 63, Of Slaton, Dies

He operated a second-hand store in Slaton. Only survivors are three sons, Oran of Slaton, Aaron of Los Angeles, and W. A., of Oklahoma City.

Williams Funeral home said the body would be sent to Tipton on Wednesday.

Democrats Win

9:44 p.m., (CST). In a telegram to Lehman, the defeated Republican said:

"The people of the state of New York have decided the election. I congratulate you and wish you well in this position of high responsibility."

When he had read the text of the telegram at his Hotel Roosevelt headquarters, Dulles commented that "this is the first round, not the last round," and he added:

"I believe with absolute conviction that the principles for which we fought will prevail."

Dewey Backs Dulles

Dulles, an architect of the bipartisan foreign policy, was appointed to the Senate last July by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, who campaigned for him in the race against Lehman. Dulles succeeded Robert F. Wagner, Democrat, who resigned because of illness.

Mr. Truman got the returns on the New York senatorial and mayoral races at a dinner given in his honor in Washington by the city's Women's National Democratic club.

The Lehman victory gives the Democrats 53 Senate seats and the Republicans 43. The Democrats expect to pick up another next month when the resignation of Senator Baldwin (R-Conn) becomes effective. Baldwin is leaving to take a Connecticut Supreme court post, and Democratic Gov. Bowles is being counted on to name a party member to the Senate.

Democrats Rejoice

Altogether, the Democrats found several causes for rejoicing. They captured a number of mayoral chairs from the Republicans in upstate New York, including Syracuse, Binghamton and Geneva. And they took several city offices in Philadelphia.

Such consolation as the Republicans were able to muster out of the elections was concentrated largely in New Jersey where Governor Alfred E. Driscoll was apparently successful in his bid for re-election.

Driscoll, who has been mentioned as GOP presidential timber in 1952, took an early lead over his Democratic opponent, State Senator Elmer H. Wene, and kept on increasing it.

Returns from 1,510 of the state's 3,718 election districts gave Driscoll 383,535 and Wene, 318,192.

Hague Goes Down

Driscoll's success was doubly sweet for New Jersey Republicans as it marked another milestone in the downward trend of the political fortunes of Frank Hague, Democratic political boss in New Jersey. Hague was backing Wene and the Republicans made the most of it during the campaign. Wene, a former U.S. representative and a nationally known chicken raiser, didn't repudiate Hague, but told the voters that he was "not beholden to any man."

In the only other gubernatorial race, Democratic State Senator John S. Battle won handily in Virginia over his Republican opponent, Walter Johnson. The outcome merely confirmed the primary results because a Democrat is always elected in the Old Dominion state.

But Virginia voters buried a battle-backed proposal to repeal the state's $1.50 poll tax as a prerequisite for voting and give the general assembly broad powers to substitute new balloting requirements. Many foes of the poll tax assailed the repeal proposal as giving too much power to the legislature.

Brooklyn Elects Demo

Another expected Democratic victory took place in New York state's 10th district (Brooklyn). There Mrs. Edna F. Kelly defeated two male opponents and will serve the remainder of the U. S. House term of the late Democratic Rep. Andrew L. Somers. She was opposed by Republican George H. Fankuchen and Jules Cohen, Liberal.

In New York state, Democrats captured the mayorships in eight cities traditionally Republican, while in Pittsburgh, Mayor David L. Lawrence, a national Democratic committeeman, built up a nearly two-to-one edge in his bid for re-election for a four-year term.

Socialist Jasper McLevy was elected to his ninth consecutive term as mayor of Bridgeport, Conn.

In Detroit, Albert E. Cobo held a substantial lead over George Edwards, who had CIO backing for the mayor's job.

Republicans took a beating in Philadelphia where Democrats wrested four city offices from GOP control. The Democratic slate was headed by Richardson Dilworth, candidate for treasurer.

DEMOCRAT FORGES AHEAD IN CALIFORNIA DISTRICT

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8 (INS) —Democrat John F. Shelley forged into a strong lead tonight in returns from the special election for congressman from the Fifth California district (San Francisco).

Shelley, president of the AFL State Federation of Labor and a former state senator, held a 3 to 2 margin over Lloyd J. Cosgrove, Republican. Charles R. Garry, independent and a supporter of Henry Wallace in the last presidential election, was trailing badly.

Returns from 150 precincts out of 642 in the district gave:

Shelley, 10,326; Cosgrove, 6,262; Garry, 1,341.

Shivers Says Special Session To Be Called

SINTON, Nov. 8. (AP)—Gov. Allan Shivers said here tonight that he will call a special session of the legislature next January if the amendment providing annual sessions of that body failed to carry in the election today.

He will ask the legislature to consider appropriation of funds for improvement of state hospitals and special schools for the deaf, dumb and blind, he said at a Kiwanis club dinner.

'Appreciation' Pep Rally For Raiders Scheduled Nov. 17

Plans for an "appreciation" pep rally to be held at the Texas Tech stadium Nov. 17 in honor of this year's Red Raider football squad were announced Tuesday by Curtis Sterling, president of the Tech student council.

Set to precede the Tech-New Mexico university football game Nov. 19, the pep rally will be the last of the year since Tech's only remaining game will be played during the Thanksgiving holidays.

Sterling said the entire football squad will be on hand for the yells and that they will probably run a few offensive plays while Coach Dell Morgan explains to students what each man is supposed to do on that particular play.

Scheduled for 5:15 p.m., the pep sessions are in charge of Jimmy Carter, head boy cheerleader. Letters are being sent to all campus organizations, Sterling said, asking their members and pledges to be present.

Lubbock Voters

votes were cast during the day. The lightest appeared to be at McClung, where only 16 votes were cast.

The vote on the amendments in detail in Lubbock county was as follows:

1. Providing civil service in counties, 1,182 for, 1,029 against.

2. Providing annual sessions of the legislature and raising compensation of its members, 404 for, 1,803 against.

3. Authorizing establishment of hospital districts, 1,162 for, 1,033 against.

4. Eliminating the poll tax and providing for a general registration law, 695 for, 1,555 against.

5. Providing for city-county health units, 1,118 for, 1,127 against.

6. Providing retirement and disability pensions for appointive county officials and employes, 449 for, 1,784 against.

7. Providing that the district court shall conduct proceedings at the county seat of the county where the case is pending, 955 for, 1,249 against.

8. Providing for the creation of rural fire prevention districts, 1,309 for, 912 against.

9. Providing that the legislature may provide for trials without jury in lunacy cases, 745 for, 1,495 against.

10. Qualifying women as jurors, 808 for, 1,440 against.

The close nature of the amendment providing for city-county health units was indicated by the fact that the first 30 reporting boxes indicated it carried.

Only when the Shallowater box was reported did the amendment appear to be defeated in the county. However, it was defeated by such a narrow margin that the two boxes which will report today might possibly change the picture in the county.

Records at the office of County Clerk Louie F. Moore show that 10,144 Lubbock county citizens paid their poll taxes this year. Another 2,000 are exempt, raising the possible voting strength to 12,144.

Assuming that the two unreported boxes will raise the total ballot in the special election to 2,400, less than 20 percent of the qualified voters turned out to vote.

Democrats Are Conceded Wins In Two Contests In Kentucky

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 8—(AP) —The Republican organization tonight conceded the reelection of Democratic Mayor Charles Farnsley over his Republican opponent, Sheriff Rees Dickson.

Edward C. Black, third Congressional district Republican chairman and party spokesman, also conceded the election of Democratic B. L. Shamburger, candidate for Jefferson county judge, over Republican Miles Thacker.

Big Three Meeting

by-bit tearing down of German war potential factories would come to an end was given by a British foreign office spokesman. He said Britain was willing to reconsider its opposition to halting the program if the right kind of guarantees were obtained from Germany that she will not again go back to producing goods which could be used in war.

France's attitude remains the question mark. So far, she has steadfastly insisted that dismantling continue.

One British source pointed out that the end of dismantling would mean the end of reparations since Britain would not approve of getting war damages back through confiscation of goods Germany currently is producing.

If the Allies refuse, as Britain indicated, to exact reparations from current production, this would upset a reported German scheme to allow France to buy up to 40 per cent of the stock in certain German factories. This would be a guarantee against resumption of war production.

Proposals Made

A French foreign office source said West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer had sent the French government an analysis of proposals his government had made to the Allied high commissioners. These reportedly included the 40 per cent plan as well as a suggestion for a new Franco-German commercial agreement.

Schuman told the parliament's foreign affairs committee he had received a letter from Adenauer saying the factories now being dismangled were old and could be of little service to France. The chancellor referred to "possible compensations" Schuman said.

Members of the committee were of the opinion that if a formal proposal to this effect were received, the French government would be willing to consider it.

Red Practice Rapped

The Allies have condemned Russia's practice of taking out reparations from current production in the eastern zone.

The question of Germany's membership in the Council of Europe also is likely to be on the agenda in tomorrow's talks.

From Bonn, seat of the West German government, an official spokesman expressed the hope that one result of the Big Three meeting will be an end to the state of war.

He said that West Germany already was a member of the Organization of European Economic Co-operation (OEEC) and hoped soon to be an associate member of the Council of Europe.

WEST GERMAN STEEL OUTPUT IS SLASHED

FRANKFURT, Germany, Nov. 8 (AP)—Western Allied officials revealed today that West Germany's steel production is being slashed drastically even while American senators and German steel tycoons are demanding that it be increased.

Steel output skidded in October for the third straight month, they said. It is now 17 percent below August production.

Allied authorities said that this year's output will fall far below the target set by occupation officials.

Even so the clamor to remove the ceiling on German steel production is growing. It comes from German industrial and political leaders—and from Americans.

Boost Is Asked

German steel men called on the Allies less than a month ago to raise the ceiling to 14,800,000 tons. The limit now is 11,100,000.

The government turned them down.

Last week a party of U.S. senators went farther than the Germans on this issue. They indicated that they favored unlimited steel production in the Ruhr.

Allied officials here say that the slash in German steel production stems from three main causes:

1. The big steel consumers, such as the Reichsbahn (state-owned railways) and the coal mines, are woefully short of funds.

2. German exporters are meeting stiff competition abroad. When they can't sell their goods, they cut down on the steel that they buy to put into the goods.

3. Eastern Europe, predominantly agrarian and a large buyer of German steel before the war, is cut off from normal trade relations with West Germany.

floor to announce that returns brought to him showed a strong Democratic lead not only in the New York state and city elections, but elsewhere.

Mr. Truman then discussed the United States role in world peace and his "point four" proposal to aid the undeveloped areas of the world.

He said of point four, that it can be a potent instrument for achieving world peace. He added:

"What we want more now than anything else is peace in the world.

"We are going to get that peace. I'm as sure of it as I stand here now.

"We are approaching that goal closer every year and the Democratic party is the backbone of that effort."

He said that most wars "are fought for economic reasons."

He said that he hopes that a 'white light will break on the world" and bring a sure peace.

Settlements Announced

Republic Steel and Jones and Laughlin steel companies announced settlements within a few hours of each other today. The Bethlehem company signed up in Cleveland on Oct. 31.

On top of those fast moving developments, U. S. Steel corporation — biggest of them all — was reported to be getting ready an offer on pensions and insurance for Murray late this week or early next week.

Federal officials said the steel settlements point up the desirability of an old-age security system that would take care of aging workers uniformly.

Hodge-Podge Expected

The company-by-company negotiations which have taken place in this year's labor-management relations wil produce a hodge-podge of pension and insurance plans, federal experts say.

In order to benefit from these separate company plans, it now will be necessary for hundreds of thousands of workers to remain frozen in their jobs, or at least to refrain from hopping from one plant to another.

In addition to the agreements already reached in the steel industry, and the prospect that "big steel" would follow soon, there were moves toward contract making by Inland Steel, Youngstown Sheet and tube, Wheeling Steel, Allegheny Ludlum, Great Lakes, Colorado Fuel and Iron, and other steel companies.

The settlements already made by Murray call for pension plans financed entirely by the companies. Murray yielded on the insurance programs, however, agreeing to continue some contribution where the employes previously had been kicking in from their pay checks.

Board Proposes Payment

The fact finding board appointed by President Truman in an effort to settle the steel dispute this summer recommended that the companies should finance both insurance and pensions. The board proposed that the companies put up at least 6 cents on hour for pensions and 4 cents for the insurance programs which would include disability and accident benefits.

The developments in coal were being closely watched by President Truman and his White House advisers, but there still was no indication that the President intended to rush into the coal strike with a club to get the miners back to work.

Should presidential intervention become necessary — and this week should tell whether that will be needed — most government labor advisers believe that Mr. Truman will invoke the Taft-Hartley act's emergency provisions.

Also in critical condition at Lubbock Memorial hospital was Mrs. James D. Fair, 42, a Post resident recently from Denison. She received a broken jaw, two broken arms and three fractured ribs in a wreck that killed her husband near Post Sunday night when his car collided with a gasoline tank truck.

Mrs. Campbell has not been told of the death of her son, Clifford Murphy, 3, Monday of injuries received in the same wreck, hospital authorities said.

Lubbock Memorial hospital attendants reported rapid improvement in the condition of Wanda Reynolds, 12, of Abilene, whose mother, father, sister and brother were killed in a mishap near Justiceburg. She received a broken leg, a concussion, cuts and bruises.

Funeral services for her family were conducted Tuesday at Abilene.

Services for James D. Fair, 42, will be conducted at 3 p.m. Wednesday in the Sanders Funeral chapel here by Rev. M. H. Duncan. Burial will take place in Lubbock cemetery under direction of the Sanders and Mason & Company Funeral homes.

Fair came to Post three weeks ago from Denison and was working for the Postex Cotton mill there.

Two Lubbock Girls Slightly Injured In Traffic Accidents

Two young Lubbock residents, Miss Betty Jo Peterson, 16, of 1925 Twenty-seventh, and David Sarten, 17, of 708 Third, were slightly hurt in two traffic mishaps here Tuesday.

Miss Peterson was treated at West Texas hospital for a bruised nose after a car in which she was riding, driven by Samuel David Garner, 19, of 611 Ave. N, was in collision with another vehicle at Thirty-fourth and Ave. L shortly after 7 p.m. The car struck the rear of a 1949 Chevrolet driven by Raymond E. Franklin, of Lubbock route 5, as Franklin was attempting a turn from Thirty-fourth on to Ave. L, police said.

Garner was given tickets for negligent collision, speeding, and having no operator's license on his person.

Young Sarten was treated at West Texas hospital for lacerations about the left knee shortly after a collision of his motor-scooter and an automobile at 12:50 p.m. in 400-block Ave. H.

Sarten, while passing another vehicle, struck a car driven by C. G. Owens of 510 Ave. G, police reports showed. Both drivers were given tickets charging no operator's license.

Paid German Army Is Urged By Texas Solon

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8. (AP)—Maintenance of a mercenary German army as a bulwark against Russia is advocated by Rep. Poage, (D-Tex).

Outlining his views in a newly issued appendix to the Congressional Record, the Texan said such a step would be "the most practical and most hopeful method" of preventing war.

"America should immediately arm and equip a strong modern army in western Europe and a similar force in eastern Asia," he said.

"Our one combat division in Germany" would be able only to delay the enemy in case of attack from the Communist area of Europe.

"I do not propose we draft Amercan boys to go to Germany," he continued.

"I do propose that we divert some of the funds that we are now putting into equipment in the United States to equip troops at a point where it will be most helpful and useful.

"I do propose that we divert some of the dollars that we are pouring into Germany to give them dollar buying power into the pay of say 25 divisions of German nationals."

He suggested that such forces of German troops have Americans as their senior officers and that all supplies of ammunition be kept in American hands.

Formation Of RAFB Planes To Fly Over Lubbock On Friday

A formation of 18 B-25 airplanes from Reese Air Force base will fly over Lubbock and other South Plains towns on Friday in connection with Armistice Day festivities of the Air Force, it was announced Tuesday.

RAFB officers said the formation will fly over Lubbock at approximately 11:37 a.m.

The planes are scheduled to be over Plainview at 10:30 a.m. Friday to form air cover for an Armistice Day parade there. In addition, the formation will make a complete circle of all the towns within the vicinity of Lubbock.

Adding to the celebration, schools and most businesses will close for the day. Breakfasts are planned by the American Legion, the Legion auxiliary and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. The Legion will sponsor a dance Friday night in the Hilton hotel.

X-Ray Exam Total Increased By 681

Approximately 681 persons received X-ray examinations for tuberculosis Wednesday at the American Legion hall, technicians from the State Department of Health reported. This brings the total number of those X-rayed since the mobile unit opened its downtown headquarters a week ago to 36,871.

More than 300 employees of the Veterans Administration regional office will report today for examinations. A special appeal has been sent out by the health department technicians asking all those in Lubbock county that are in general contact with the public such as food handlers, barbers and beauticians, to report for examinations.

The Hub City Kiwanis club at its regular weekly luncheon meeting Tuesday made plans for a final drive to get Lubbockites to take X-ray examinations. The mobile unit was sponsored by the club.

The unit will remain at the Legion hall through Saturday.

Rokossovsky's Appointment Is Regarded As Russian War Move

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

Appointment of Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky to head the Polish army gives the Russian bloc in effect a single military command in central Europe totaling more than 600,000 men.

Many observers were inclined to wait to see whether it happened again—in some other Russian satellite—before attempting to discern the full pattern of Russian intentions.

Some took it as a direct preparation for war.

Heretofore Rokossovsky, controlling some 300,000 Russian troops in Germany and an estimated 120,000 more in Poland, has maintained his headquarters in Ignacia, formerly known as Lignitz, in Southwest Poland. He showed himself in Warsaw only on state occasions. His police force acted as a reserve for the German occupation force and also provided what amounted to guards, scattered all over the country, whose chief duties have seemed to be to check all East-West telegraph and other communications.

First reports said he had relinquished his duties with the Russian army, but there were later indications that he was merely in effect adding on the Polish army which is reliably reported to have been increased from 166,000 to 200,000 men in the last two years.

German Withdrawal Possible

First speculation regarding the appointment of a marshal of Russia to the Polish defense ministry centered around the possibility that Russia was preparing to end her occupation of the new East German puppet state. It was argued that in such case Russia would need a quickly available force if the German army she will leave behind proved unreliable. It was also pointed out that the occupation army would need a Russian-organized military area into which to withdraw.

The more alarmed observers took the news as emphasizing reports which have been coming out of central and southeastern Europe that Russia is preparing for a military adventure which may come much earlier than most western experts have anticipated. Many central Europeans are reported to be expecting war by 1952, when U. S. elections and the end of the Marshall plan in Europe are expected by the Bolshevists to create disunity and economic chaos.

Pasadena Expansion Moves Are Attacked

HOUSTON, Nov. 8—(U.P.)—Shell Oil company waded into the Houston-Pasadena expansion battle today, asking a court injunction to void the Pasadena city council's scramble for land.

Shell specifically asked the 113th District court to either throw out all Pasadena annexation ordinances passed within the last year or to void the ordinance that annexed the area where the Shell refinery and chemical plant are located.

The action took the form of quo warranto proceedings after Shell obtained permission from District Attorney A. C. Winborn and Judge William Holland to file in the name of the State of Texas.

The Pasadena ordinances are attacked as "unconstitutional," Shell claiming that the only reason the entire annexation program was adopted was to prevent encirclement of the city by Houston.

Pasadena Mayor Sam Hoover directed Pasadena city council passage of the land-grab statutes early this year, at a time when Houston also took in new territory that embraced most of Harris county and all but surrounded highly industrial Pasadena.

Houston city officials believed successful court action by Shell would remove the plants from Pasadena's jurisdiction, and would give Houston legal priority to a 400-foot wide strip of land east of Pasadena. It would, for all practical purposes, complete the encirclement.

The 400-foot strip stretches south from Boggy bayou to Spencer road, and is connected at both ends with territory already within the Houston stronghold.

Cotton Pulling Prices Reduced In Area

Costs Threaten Farmers' Profit

Faced with rising costs and declining prices, farmers from over a wide area of the South Plains have begun to unite in a movement to reduce the price of cotton pulling to a figure more in line with returns, it was indicated Tuesday after a series of farmer meetings over the area.

In at least three communities, Shallowater, in Lubbock county; Cone and Farmer in Crosby county, farmers have held meetings and agreed to cut back the price of pulling to $1.75. The Shallowater group said that would be the price in the field starting next Monday. The Farmer and Cone groups announced that $1.75 would be the price delivered to the gin and that it would be effective Wednesday.

Must Reduce Costs

Approximately 200 farmers of the Shallowater community attended a meeting on the situation Monday night.

"It was the concensus of opinion of farmers assembled at Shallowater that all area farmers will have to reduce the costs or limber up their machines," Geo. C. Leftwich, spokesman for the group, said here today.

"It has come to the painful attention of may farmers that the grades of cotton harvested by hand since frost have dropped to the point that an occasional bale is worth only 13 to 15 cents in the government loan or cash market, the average having dropped at least $25 a bale from the opening prices," Leftwich said.

Can Be Badly Hurt

"Inasmuch as it may take two weeks to get grade cards back from the classing office, many farmers are beginning to realize that they can be badly hurt if they pay $2.25 for cotton delivered at the gin," Leftwich and G. L. Catlett, another spokesman for the Shallowater group pointed out.

"If the majority of the grades drop to Low Middling Spot cotton, which is worth in the loan only 14.14 cents for 13/16-inch and 14.19 for seven-eights, they simply can't come out even. The seed at best, will barely pay for the ginning at present prices.

"In the case of a tenant who pays rent out of 15-cent cotton ($75 per bale) the landlord gets $18.75, the pullers $40.50 (1,800 pounds of seed cotton at $2.25), thus leaving the producer a gross after harvest and rent of $16.25 to compensate for his growing costs — this year the highest in history," Leftwich continued.

"On a county average of one-half bale per acre dry land and three-fourths bale irrigated cotton, the farmers are about convinced now that they will still be looking for the profit at the end of the

Photographer Speaks At Tech

By JIMMIE HENLEY
Avalanche Staff Writer

"India is halfway to freedom," Miss Margaret Bourke-White told some 250 Texas Tech students and townspeople in her talk on the Tech recreation lecture series Tuesday night.

She had recently completed her book, "Halfway to Freedom" and explained to the Tech group that India is on its way to democracy and freedom, although there is still much to be achieved.

One of her last assignments as a photographer for Life Magazine was a six months survey of India which ended only the day before the assassination of Mahatma Gandhi. It was only by chance that she was still in India at the time to cover Gandhi's funeral for Life, she told the college students.

Gandhi Called 'Great'

Although he was quite hard to understand at times, Gandhi is "one of the greatest men of all times," Miss Bourke-White told the audience, "and it was through the courage with which he went into the religious wars that peace was brought to India."

It is through the efforts of Gandhi and his successor Pandit Nehru that freedom is being brought to the natives of India who for long have been oppressed under the caste system. "The caste system still exists in India today," Miss Bourke-White said, although it is unconstitutional in both India and Pakistan.

Nehru Plans Projects

Nehru is now planning enormous projects in agriculture and industry, Miss White pointed out in contrasting the outlook of Gandhi and Nehru. Gandhi had been opposed to scientific agriculture on the basis that it would raise the Untouchables to a living standard that would encourage sin. Gandhi at the same time believed in elevating the Untouchables to a place of equality.

This inconsistancy was one of many that Miss Bourke-White said she did not understand about Gandhi. Another was the way that he and Nehru worked together, when Nehru's outlook seemed so different from that of Gandhi on many subjects.

The big question in India today is the land question, she told the Tech group, for two-thirds of the natives are landless. Most of the State's Crop Output Set At 5,600,000 Bales

Texas' Cotton Estimate Given

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 — The Agriculture department today estimated a 1949 Texas cotton crop of 5,600,000 bales—a little more than a third of the national crop.

For the nation the estimate was 15,524,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight—largest since 1937 and seventh largest on record.

Compared to a month ago production was up 100,000 bales in Texas, 60,000 in Oklahoma, 15,000 in Arizona, 10,000 in Mississippi, and 20,000 each in Missouri and Tennessee.

But these increases were partly offset by decreases of 20,000 in North Carolina, 35,000 in Georgia, 20,000 in Alabama, 40,000 in Arkansas, 25,000 in New Mexico, and 5,000 in Louisiana.

The national estimate was 78,000 bales more than the 15,446,000 forecast a month ago.

Last year the national crop was 14,868,000 bales, and the 10-year (1937-47) average was 11,306,000.

Texas produced 3,150,000 bales in 1948. It's all time record is 5,628,000 bales in 1926. In three other years it has exceeded 5,000,000.

Up to Nov. 1 Texas had ginned 3,204,048 bales. That compared with 2,382,870 bales ginned in the same time last year. Nationally, 9,543,686 bales had been ginned to Nov. 1, compared to 10,436,740 ginned to the same date last year.

The Department of Agriculture has proposed rigid marketing quotas for 1950 because the indicated 1949 crop is larger than expected market demands. It would limit production to about 12,000,000 bales.

Growers will vote on the quota proposal in a referendum Dec. 15. At least two thirds of them must approve it before it can be put into effect.

Production of American-Egyptian cotton was estimated at 4,900 bales compared with 3,600 last year and the 10-year average of 29,500.

Indicated Yields Given

The indicated yield per acre and production, respectively, by cotton producing states included:

Missouri 430 pounds per acre and production 480,000 bales; Virginia 300 and 20,000; North Caroline 266 and 450,000; South Carolina 219 and 550,000; Georgia 196 and 595,000; Florida 185 and 17,000; Tennessee 388 and 650,000; Alabama 231 and 845,000; Mississippi 259 and 1,470,000; Arkansas 328 and 1,630,000; Louisiana 289 and 625,000; Oklahoma 224 and 540,000; Texas 261 and 5,600,000; New Mexico 402 and 261,000; Arizona 608 and 475,000; California 652 and 1,300,000; other states 406 and 16,000.

Ginnings of bales by states to Nov. 1 this year and last, respectively, included:

Ginnings Listed

FRIEND REVEALS HIS IDENTITY

Man Gives Fortune Totaling $350,000 To Make Others Happy

(By International News Service)

AURORA, Ill., Nov. 8.—An old man who sat alone in his Aurora hotel room and penned anonymous checks totaling $350,000 to "give happiness to others" was identified today despite his efforts to remain unknown.

James Powell, 74, the mysterious benefactor who is giving away his fortune of $500,000 to friends and institutions, was identified through a misunderstanding by his closest friend, K. O. Waldo, superintendent of the East Aurora school district.

Powell gave the district $50,000 yesterday to be applied to construction or purchase of new equipment. He told Waldo that he wished to remain anonymous but "it's out now."

Waldo inadvertently revealed Powell's name.

So far, Powell has given away $350,000 of the $500,000 he made as a real estate and insurance man. He has been a resident of Aurora all his life.

Powell has admitted being the benefactor.

There has been no change in plans. The old man said firmly:

"I'm going to give away the rest of my money too."

Asked why he was doing it, he answered:

Happy People Wanted

"Well, I want to give happiness to people who were good to me and my wife and my two sisters. My wife and my sisters are dead now and I'm alone.

"I want to see my money give happiness to others. That will mean everything to me when I finish my life."

Today he gave $70,000 to East Aurora High school from which he graduated in 1894; and $25,000 to the City of Aurora toward the building of a public auditorium.

The friends whom he has given money, he refused to identify. But he said the checks to them ranged from $100 to $10,000.

All the money was distributed in the same manner, checks delivered by the Northern Trust company of Chicago or his personal representative in Aurora, John Hucko, a bond broker.

Stalin Sure To Fail In Brewing Yugoslav War, Tito Aides Claim

By PIERRE J. HUSS
INS Staff Correspondent

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Nov. 8. Marshal Tito's top aides at the United Nations, not so long ago guerrilla leaders against the Nazis, declare that Stalin will come a cropper if he attempts to foment a civil war against their government.

They all take pride in their World War II records and are fond of telling how they fought the Germans to the death from mountain hideouts.

Number one on the Tito team at the U.N. assembly is Edvard Kardelj, vice president of Yugoslavia and foreign minister. Then there is Milovan Djilas, minister without portfolio. He is reportedly Tito's hand-picked man to succeed him. The Nazis had a heavy price on his head.

Guns Notched Often

Others who have plenty of notches on their guns are the fiery-tongued Ales Bebler, deputy foreign minister; Tito's U.N. representative Joza Vilfan, and six-foot Vladimir Dedijer, director of the government's information office.

I asked each of them whether Stalin can knock out Yugoslavia—specifically his arch foe, Tito—by using a fifth column of guerrillas and Cominform fighters. Their answers added up to one general reply:

"Please remember that we are the best guerrillas in the Balkans, since we learned the hard way. We have no fear that a guerrilla war can break us down."

I asked them why they think so. Kardelj answered:

Popular Support Needed

"You cannot conduct a successful guerilla war in any land unless the people themselves are entirely with you. The guerrilla lives and fights as the local champion."

In the opinion of the Tito men, the percentage of Cominform supporters among the Yugoslavs is of no strength sufficient to launch them as a fifth column spearhead against Tito. Strange to say, the main strength of the Cominform Communists is found to be at present in Trieste, where anti-Tito Yugoslavs and Italian Communists form a majority on Yugoslavia's doorstep. There are no indications that they are forming armed bands. Instead they concentrate on propaganda activity.

To support his stand, Vilfan told me of his personal experiences in the woods and villages of Venezia Julio. That is the area bordering on Austria, Yugoslavia and Italy. Vilfan said:

Surprise Element Vital

"The guerrilla and his band must always be in a position to strike at the enemy at unexpected points and against his supply line. That means he has to live among the people, be one of them, and watch every move the enemy makes.

"I had a price on my head, yet I lived in the village where the Germans had their command post and walked past them in broad daylight. Any villager could have pointed me out or tipped them to my hiding place. My partisan group operated wholly with local recruits. But of course we were a part of hundreds of similar partisan units, each fighting in its own locality, operating under Marshal Tito's orders just like a regular army."

None is convinced that Stalin will risk an open war by attacking Yugoslavia with full-scale land and air operations. The best preventive, they think, is Tito's complete preparedness to deal with any form of armed action inside or outside the borders.

Judge Upholds Ruling Granting $17,000 Suit To Texas Couple

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8 (AP)—U.S. District Judge James P. McGranery today upheld a $17,000 verdict against a Lancaster county couple awaiting trial on charges of using the mails to defraud turkey egg farmers.

The verdict was returned last February by a federal court jury against Mr. and Mrs. John C. Faust, who operated the Ephrata hatcheries in Ephrata, Pa.

The suit was brought by Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Garrett, operators of the Garrett turkey ranch in Richland township, Tex.

The Garretts sued the Fausts for $36,000 damages. They charged that Faust made an agreement in 1945 to purchase the entire output of turkey eggs of the Garrett farm at prices based on market conditions.

Gold Fever Grips Hopeful Residents Of California Town

CASTAIC, Calif., Nov. 8. —(INS)—Gold fever today gripped the little whistle stop of Castaic near the site of an 1849 gold rush.

All that a full scale gold rush was waiting for, apparently, was the report of assayers on the yellow metal found in a well behind the restaurant of Charles V. Allen.

Allen found the shiny substance at the bottom of an old well he was enlarging. Most of the metal was in shiny yellow flakes, but one nugget weighed 2½ ounces.

Allen, who operates a restaurant that is a favorite of truckers and motorists driving the Ridge Route highway, said that he tested the metal and he was "pretty sure it is gold."

Allen and eight of Castaic's 300 citizenry immediately filed gold claims in anticipation of the report of an assay office in Bakersfield.

Allen said that he "scooped around" at the bottom of the well with tin cups, pots and pans. He claimed that there was enough metal in each bucket of muck to fill a glass a quarter of an inch.

One hundred years ago at Palomas canyon, near Allen's restaurant, gold was mined in one of California's earliest bonanzas.

Customs Officers Clamp Down On Game Imports From Mexico

LAREDO, Nov. 8. (U.P.)— Border customs officers today started stricter enforcement of laws governing importation of wild game from Mexico.

Assistant Collector of Customs A. R. Kahn announced the crackdown for his district, extending from Del Rio to Brownsville.

Kahn said the law requires the importer to obtain a certificate from the American consul at the port of entry saying the game was taken lawfully and is not being imported into the United States in violation of Mexican laws.

Additionally, if the game is a mammal the hunter must obtain an import permit from a Mexican game warden. In the list of mammals often hunted in Mexico are such animals as antelopes, mountain sheep, deer, bears, javalinas and hares.

One Killed, Five Hurt In Milwaukee Blast

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 8—(INS)—One person was killed and five others injured in an explosion that demolished part of a Milwaukee north side tire patch company today.

Killed in the blast at the J. W. Speaker Corp., was Dorothy M. Gruber, 29. The injured are:

William Riefel, 54; Mrs. Cora Schultz, 56; Harland Collins, 34; Fred Herauf, 36, and Miss Loretta Nietzwicki, 21.

About 800 were in the plant when the explosion occurred in a story and a half concrete section of the factory housing a tool shop and an impregnating room.

The blast tore off the roof of the section and leveled the west wall of the impregnating room, 45 feet long and 20 feet high. The concrete block wall between that room and the tool room was buckled.

Fire broke out after the explosion but it was quickly extinguished when a two alarm call brought out six engines, three trucks and a rescue squad.

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 8. (AP).— Mrs. David E. Fullmer, Salt Lake City, and Mrs. Arnold Fullmer, Woods Cross, are sharing room 501 at the Latter-Day Saints hospital.

It's more than a coincident of names.

Late Sunday and early yesterday both Mrs. Fullmers gave birth to seven and a half pound daughters.

Both have husbands in the furniture business.

Both women already have one child.

Both are 29 years old.

Both expect to check out of the hospital on Saturday.

Hospital attendants said the two tiny girls look like identical twins.

Old friends, the Fullmers? No. Mrs. David and Mrs. Arnold, who are no relation, met for the first time when they checked into room 501.

Two Killed, 17 Injured In Edinburg Fire, Truck Crash

EDINBURG, Nov. 8—(U.P.)—Two persons died violently last night and in a single traffic accident, 18 persons were hospitalized.

Two trucks collided on highway 83 at the city limits of Weslaco, scattering debris, citrus fruit and truck passengers for 150 feet. Eighteen of the truck riders were injured, one fatally.

Miguel Torees, 28, San Benito, became the valley's 66th traffic victim of the year. Of the 18 injured, 11 remained in a Weslaco hospital today.

At La Feria last night, the body of Albert Herman Hochspring was pulled from a burning car in a flaming garage. He was an employe at the residence of C. E. Detert where the garage caught fire.

ROBOT UNTOUCHED BY NAVY FIRE

Radio-Controlled Flying Bomb Is Launched By U.S. Submarine

ABOARD THE USS SPANGLER, Nov 8. (U.P.)—A 15,000-pound radio-controlled flying bomb was launched from the deck of a submarine yesterday and roared untouched through a screen of anti-aircraft fire from 75 U. S. warships, it was disclosed today.

Another bomb was tipped by the wind and landed in the water less than 300 yards from the launching submarine.

The tests took place off Molokai in the Hawaiian islands.

The Navy demonstration was designed to prove American submarines could enter enemy harbors and hit targets 200 miles away.

First Falls Into Sea

The first of the two 30-foot long projectiles roared like a locomotive and sprang from the deck of the submarine Tusk but as suddenly tipped by the wind and dropped into the water.

The second was fired from the submarine Carbonero and rose to 4,000 feet altitude through intermittent rain clouds. It speed along at 350 miles an hour to a point 80 miles away as the entire first task fleet unsuccessfully threw up anti-aircraft shells in an effort to bring it down.

The Navy said the missiles were fired under adverse weather conditions, causing the failure of the first to complete its flight.

It said the second bomb fell into the sea when the launching submarine cut the radio impulse controlling its flight.

CASH DRAWER SNAPS BACK

GRAND MARAIS, Minn. (U.P.) — Mrs. Mary Sloan didn't pull her hand away in time as she made change in the cash register of her rural store. The drawer snapped. It was three hours before amateur rescuers gave up and called in a mechanic, who cut her free with an acetylene torch.

Plague Blamed In New Mexico Death

SANTA FE, N.M., Nov. 8. (AP).—Bubonic plague was reported today to have caused a death in southern New Mexico. The disease is the flea-borne black death that swept Europe in the middle ages.

The State Health department said the victim was Samuel G. Romero, 7, of San Patricio, village 50 miles west of Roswell. He died at the Fort Stanton Marine hospital where the disease was diagnosed.

Specimens have been sent for confirmation by the U. S. Public Health service plague laboratory at San Francisco.

Murder Charge Against Couple In Beaumont Dropped In Court

BEAUMONT, Nov. 8. (AP).—Murder charges filed against Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Hardin of Beaumont in the death of Hardin's brother, Aaron Hardin, 50, of Crane, were dismissed today.

Justice of the Peace Horace Blades ordered the charges dropped at an examining trial.

Dr. W. A. Newton, county health officer who performed an autopsy, testified Aaron Hardin had an enlarged heart.

Blades returned a verdict of death from heart failure yesterday and said death was not caused by blows Aaron Hardin received in a scuffle with his brother.

Judge Reprimands Seamen For Singing 'We Love Joe Stalin'

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 8. (AP). Three seamen of a Norwegian tanker were reprimanded today by a municipal court judge for singing "We Love Joe Stalin."

Each of the trio was fined $10 and given one year's probation on 30-day jail sentences on drunken disturbance charges.

The seamen allegedly did their singing as they entered a hotel last night. They are Joslein Varhaug, 17, and Reider Radmag, 18, both of Stavanger Norway, and Saul Geller, 20, of Toronto, Can.

"As long as you're heard under our flag we expect you to respect it," Judge Edmund P. Mahoney told the seamen.

"We do not tolerate anyone singing 'we love Joe Stalin' or singing any other songs which are not patriotic to us."

Varhaug and Radmag pleaded guilty to the disturbance charges. Geller pleaded no contest but was found guilty.

Better Teachers, Higher Pay Urged

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—The educational policies commission said teaching standards and salaries must be raised.

"It is especially urgent that standards and salaries for elementary-school teaching be as high as for secondary-school teaching," the commission said in a statement.

"This is necessary to enlist more recruits and to retain more of the present personnel."

The commission was appointed by the National Education association and the American Association of School administrators. Among its 20 members are President Dwight D. Eisenhower of Columbia university and President James B. Connant of Harvard.

The commission said elementary school attendance, already record-breaking will increase annually for another decade.

It added that secondary-school enrollments will start climbing about 1951 and continue to rise at least until 1960.

"When the children born between 1942 and 1949 are nearly all in school—as they will be by the fall of 1955—the total enrollment of the nation's elementary and secondary schools will exceed present enrollments by more than 6 million, the commission said.

DRUGS, HARMONES ARE UNPROVEN

Surgery, Radiation Remain As Basic Types Of Cancer Cures

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Ira T. Nathanson, recognized as one of the Pioneers in the investigation of the use of chemotherapy and hormones in Cancer treatment, says surgery and radiation are still the basic types of cancer cures. In the following article written for International News Service, Dr. Nathanson, who is attending the southeastern cancer seminar, tells how "wonder drugs" cannot at this point cure cancer.)

By DR. IRA T. NATHANSON
(Written Expressly For INS)

MIAMI BEACH, FLA., Nov. 8.—The demand by the public for an over-all cancer cure is, in my opinion, caused by the refusal to believe the disease can be cured by surgery and radiation.

Absolute evidence to verify this statement comes from throughout the world.

Surgery, Radiation Standbys

Although a number of notable advances have been made in the use of the so-called "wonder drugs" and in the use of hormones, doctors still rely primarily on surgery and radiation in treating cancer.

Only in cases where an invasion of parts of the body removed from the original location of the cancerous growth has taken place and where this growth is not ordinarily susceptible to effective surgical or radiation therapy do we resort to the use of chemotherapy and hormones.

I want to emphasize that at present these new techniques have not brought about a cure of cancer. The use of drugs or hormones has been followed in relatively few selected cases by a temporary halting of the growth of the cancerous cells.

But we can not conclude that these cases were brought under complete control.

Drugs Of Some Value

On the other hand, the use of drugs and hormones has been of some value in relieving the symptoms of the generalized and more advanced stages of the disease.

One of the most important aspects of the development of these new methods is that they provide new tools to study further the basic causes of cancer.

The hormones, which are similar to, if not identical with, those manufactured in our bodies and which at times have a temporary beneficial effect when administered are the most important of these.

The action of these homornes is an important lead to the study of the mechanism of cell growth of which cancer is an example.

The other agents being used include drugs such as the nitrogen-mustards, nurethane and those antagonistic to a certain member of the vitamin B family (aminopterim which is antagonistic to folic acid is an example of the group.)

Ideal Not Realized

The effect of these agents, in contrast to the hormones, is in their direct attack on the cancer without damaging normal body tissues to a great extent. Unfortunately, this ideal has not been realized.

All of these methods provide tools for the study of the mechanism connected with cancer growth. Through this means we may be able to arrive at more effective techniques in the future.

The patient's own action in getting an immediate examination when cancer symptoms are discovered is still one of the most important factors in the fight against cancer.

Those persons who have symptoms which usually indicate cancer may be surprised to learn that they only show the presence of some harmless disease.

Those who do have cancer have the advantage of immediate treatment, which is the most important factor in obtaining a cure.

67 Airmen Restricted, Civilians Fined After Wichita Falls Fight

WICHITA FALLS, Nov. 8. (AP)—Sixty-seven airmen were restricted to Sheppard Air Force base and 17 civilians were fined $14 each today following a fight in Iowa park, Texas, last night.

The airmen were returned to the base by air police after the fight was broken up by Sheriff Hammett Vance of Wichita Falls.

When he arrived in the community about midnight, Deputy Henry Jones and several Iowa park youths were backed against the wall of a building.

Airmen scattered before the red emergency lights on the sheriff's car. Vance fired two shots into the air, and all but one of the fleeing cars stopped. Vance lined up 67 airmen and held them for air police.

No one was seriously injured in the free-for-all.

Red Cross Grants Award To Man For Saving Own Life

PIERRE, S. D., Nov. 8 (AP) — Steven J. Hoy, 39 year old forestry service foreman at Custer, has been awarded the Red Cross certificate of merit for saving his own life.

Don Cornish, state relations officer for the Red Cross, said Hoy suffered two deep gashes on the right side of his head when a cable snapped while he was pulling down a snag near Hot Springs last Aug. 24.

A hot Springs physician said Hoy would have bled to death if he had not used his Red Cross first aid training to apply pressure on the severed facial artery.

Certificates of merit usually are given only to persons who use their Red Cross training in attempts to save the lives of others.

Major Uranium Find Reported In Utah

DURANGO, Colo., Nov. 8—(AP)—One of the nation's major uranium discoveries is believed to have been uncovered in southern Utah, it was reported today.

The group of claims is located near Fishlake National forest, just outside the small community of Marysvale, some 220 miles south of Salt Lake City.

More Than $5 Million In Bonds Sold By Wichita Falls Council

WICHITA FALLS, Nov. 8 (AP)—The city sold $5,108,000 in municipal bonds subject to an election the city council expects to call Dec. 13.

Action was taken by the council last night in accepting the pre-election bid. It was said to carry the lowest interest ever offered in the city.

Oklahoma College Student Is Burned To Death In Water Fight

STILLWATER, Okla., Nov. 8—(U.P.)—Bernard Freeburg, 21, Oklahoma A&M college senior, died today of burns received in a playful water-fight with another student.

Freeburg, whose home is at Lordsburg, N.M., died in Stillwater municipal hospital a few hours after a scuffle with Edgar Huxley, Blackwell, Okla., at their roominghouse here.

Huxley told police Freeburg had gone into the bathroom and was throwing water at him. He said he picked up what he thought was a jar of water and tossed it at Freeburg. But instead of water it contained turpentine, and the New Mexico youth burst into flames from a gas heater nearby.

Huxley wrapped a blanket around him, but doctors at the hospital said three-fourths of his body already was covered with second and third degree burns.

Huxley also was burned on the left leg, face and wrist, but not seriously.

AN UNHOLY MESS

Waste In Cottonseed

THE government's handling of the cottonseed support price program rapidly is degenerating into a horrible example of bungling, fumbling, mismanagement and waste.

Thousands of tons of the seed are being stored on the ground wholly without protection from wind, weather, fire or other hazards. Much of it is sure to be ruined. Yet this is a practice which the government has approved and which the farmer must follow unless he is willing to take a loss of several dollars on every ton of seed he raises.

The cottonseed situation is one of many confused ramifications which concerns every American because waste now is likely to mean shortages next year of products used to fatten livestock and the oils used in cooking fats, margarines and many other commodities. Heavy losses of seeds during this winter are likely to mean higher prices for meat and many other foods next Spring, Summer and Fall.

This whole travesty had its beginning last Summer when the Department of Agriculture announced a support price of $49.50 a ton for 1949 cottonseed. But, to obtain that price, farmers had to provide indoor storage for the seed until April 1, 1950. Few had storage facilities and it was neither economical, nor practical, to build them. So they had to sell their seed for whatever they could get, which invariably was substantially less than the support figure.

THIS caused so many complaints the government came up with another plan. It authorized ginners to pay $46.50 a ton for seed, provided the ginners would sign a complicated contract with the government. Ginners, with few exceptions, have refused to sign it. They say that if they did sign, they would be at the mercy of the government in the operation of their plants. Among other things, they say, they would be required to sign away to the government authority to tell the ginner whom he might employ in his plant and the wages paid. This plan failed to work and the farmer still had to sell his seed at whatever the market offered, which was several dollars under the support figure.

The government then came up with the scheme now being used. The farmer is getting his $46.50 a ton and has been told, in effect, to store the seed where he pleases. That is why thousands of tons of seed are going upon the ground where much of it is sure to rot this Winter. The government will absorb any losses resulting.

The risk is inexcusable. Ginners have declared they are ready to buy the seed at the support price under contract which does not put their entire plant at the mercy of bureaucrats. The oil mill operators have said they are prepared to take the seed from the ginner and assume responsibility for storing it in a safe place.

Under their proposal, the farmer would get the support price for seed at the gin, instead of having to haul it back to his farm. The cost to the government would be no larger than at present—actually, it probably would make economies possible—and the seed would be safe.

But the government has refused to accept these terms. It has refused to use the gins as buying agents except under terms which, ginners charge, are impossible to accept without risk of bankruptcy. The governmental attitude suggests that official Washington is less anxious to pay support prices for cottonseed than to get control of the ginning industry.

BUT cotton farmers help elect more than 150 representatives and about 30 U. S. senators. So the government is trying to keep the farmers happy by making it possible for them to collect the support price for their seed—and, if there are supports, they should be collected. But to collect it, the farmer often has to pile seed where he knows it may be ruined. Naturally, he wants the additional money represented by support prices. But, if cotton farmers of the South Plains are typical, they resent such waste, even though they personally benefit from it.

This is a matter in which the farmer, the ginner, or the oil mill operator cannot be blamed. The sole responsibility for the whole scheme, and its consequences, rests upon the bungling administration which has insisted upon a wasteful program in the face of vigorous opposition of practically every responsible segment of the cotton industry.

Don't Worry About The Brakes, There Aren't Any

Someone To Love

XXXIII

JENNY was working at the big flat-topped desk in her office when Nina came in. Nina hung up her coat. "Guess who I ran into during my lunch hour," she said.

"Who?" Jenny glanced from the advertising layout she was checking.

"Tod."

Jenny seemed to freeze. She bent her head over the papers.

"I talked to him for a few minutes."

Jenny looked up again, her face quite controlled. Funny wasn't it, she though, that his name always made her heart start beating fast. You could discipline your mind, but there wasn't anything you could do about your heart. "How'd he look?"

"Dapper as ever," Nina said brightly. She took a cigaret out of a box on her side of the desk, lit it and sat down.

"What did he have to say?"

"Not much. I did most of the talking. I told him about you and Rick. And I was glad to have the chance to tell him. It gave me pleasure to let that heel know that you'd gotten over him completely."

"Did he say anything about—"

"About Liz?"

Jenny nodded.

"I didn't give him a chance to say much of anything, hon," she lied glibly. "I was too busy impressing him with the fact that you're happy now and looking forward to your marriage with Rick."

"He didn't ask about the children either?"

"Not a word."

Jenny pushed her work aside. She was glad when Nina left her desk to go out into the shop. She wished all at once that she was going to marry Rick immediately. She was tired of the shop; tired of trying to appear bright and cheerful day after day; tired of going home to the emptiness of the house on Riverdale Road. And it did seem empty, even though the twins filled it with noise and laughter. She was horribly tired, bodily and mentally.

A day or two later she thought she saw Tod, though she couldn't be sure. Her heart had turned over as she caught a glimpse of a tall broad-shouldered man on the opposite corner from the shop. He had been standing there when she came out, but then he had gone into the drug store before she could take a second look. Of course it wouldn't have been Tod, she thought.

BUT it had been. Several times lately Tod had allowed himself the dubious luxury of spending half his noon hour at the corner opposite the shop, watching for Jenny to come out on her way to lunch. He didn't know why he wanted to do such a thing but something inside wouldn't let him have any peace until he had seen her.

Even Ma was concerned about him. "I know I'm a bother to you, Tod. But you're all I've got," she said one evening over the meager supper she'd prepared for the two of them.

"You're no bother, Ma. I'm glad I've got you to come home to."

"You know, Tod," she said hesitantly, "while I was in that nursing home, flat on my back thinkin' maybe I wasn't goin' to pull through, I did an awful lot of worryin' over a lot of different things."

"Yeah, I suppose so."

"I thought about the mistakes I'd made, raisin' Joe and Harriet, and why they turned out had like they did. And I—well, I thought about Jenny too, and the way I treated her."

"I wouldn't worry about that, Ma," Tod said. He got up to pour their coffee. "It's my fault the way things turned out."

"Well, I don't know," Ma mused as Tod sat down. "When you brought her home, right when you was first married, if me and Harriet had been decent, like we really should have been—"

"No use cryin' over spilt milk, Ma."

He remembered that night, Jenny, her brown eyes eager as she went toward Ma, then the look of hurt surprise on her face. Later in the bedroom she had cried and said they couldn't stay there when they weren't wanted. She had loved him then. It made him feel sick inside thinking about it.

MA was still talking while she ate. "We all got lessons to learn, son. Some of us learn 'em early, and some late—too late. I always thought havin' a lot of money was the beginnin' an' end of bein' happy. I reckon it was because we always had such a tough row after Pa died. But now I know better. Havin' someone to love you and care what happens to you, that's the best of livin'. Yes sir, if you've got that, you can do without the fancy stuff."

Tod stood up suddenly, shoving his plate away. "For goodness sake, Ma!" he cried, "Can't you see I don't want to talk about Jenny!"

"But I wasn't sayin' anything about her."

"All I want is peace. A little peace!" He got his hat and went out of the apartment, downstairs

Another speed record is broken, reads the dispatch just over the wire:

"An airplane, carrying forty passengers landed at Willow Run Airport, just 40 minutes and 27 seconds after leaving Chicago.

"The flight normally takes an hour and ten minutes."

Colossal! Marvelous! Ain't Man wonderful?

Seventeen hundred and seventythree seconds saved on the trip from Chicago to Detroit.

Who knows, maybe next year they'll cut another 27s eponds off that record and you'll have all that extra time to spend in Detroit.

I wish I had been in Detroit when that record-breaking plane arrived.

I would have liked to interview everyone of those forty passengers and asked just what they were going to do with those precious 1,773 seconds they saved.

We talk so much about time saving these days that we ought to look into that word "savings."

The dictionary definittion that applies here is this one "to keep from being spent, wasted or lost; as to save one's time or strength."

So where did those forty record - breakers "save" anything?

Did they put those 1,773 seconds to better advantage? Did they improve their minds, their pockekbooks, their health?

I, myself, would have been so nervous with all that speed that I would have been useless for at least 24 hours by saving those 1,773 seconds. (I know, because I was once on a record-breaking flight from Pittsburgh to New York. We have a half hour and I lost two days and several other things.)

WHOA!," I say.

What do they mean by "time-saving," anyway?

OVER DENFELD OUSTER

Navy Morale Suffers

By RAY TUCKER
ESpecial Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The summary scrapping of Admiral Louis E. Denfeld has damaged the morale and ambition of rank-and-file personnel among the fleet and shore establishments far more seriously than the scrapping of the super-carrier United States, for the disposed chief of Naval Operations was known as "the sailor's friend" during his tenure as head of the Bureau of Personnel.

TUCKER

Such distinguished and salty figures as "Bull" Halsey, Nimitz, and Spruance, the fightingest men of World War II, are only names to the men behind the guns and the submarine tubes. Their achievements are respected and glorified, but Louis Denfeld was their helper and adviser. During his service in Personnel he improved their lot at sea and at shore in many ways.

CORE: And, as any Navy man will tell you, it is not the top officers in the bureaus at Washington who compose the hard core of the service. They could be removed tomorrow, and their replacements from lower echelons could perform quite as creditably.

The backbone of the Navy consists of the captains, commanders, lieutenant commanders, ensigns and warrant officers, and it is among them that a feeling of discouragement and disilliusionment will prevail.

Few of them knew of the merits of the Air-Navy constroversy, but they did know that the man who was shoved around because of his truthfulness and courage was their friend.

"QUALIFICATIONS": In denying that Admiral Denfeld was disciplined as retaliation for his criticism of overall national defense policy, President Truman and Secretary Johnson intimate that they had found him lacking in "qualifications" for C. N. O. and Staff membership. They brand him as "non-cooperative" and "inflexible" in his attitude toward unification difficulties.

The plain fact is that Admiral Denfeld was elevated to Chief of Personnel because of his broad-mindedness and spirit of tolerance. He was forced to accept that assignment over his protest—he wanted sea duty—because his predecessor, Admiral Randall Jacobs, was too stubborn and stiff-necked in many matters, especially in his prejudice toward naval reservists.

ADVANCED: The central figure in his behind-the-scene incident was Lewis L. Strauss, a partner of Kuhn, Lieb & Co., the New York banking house. When he was activated as a commande rafter Pearl Harbor, he turned out to be one of the most brilliant performers around the Pentagon building as an advisor to the late Secretary Forrestal.

He soon rose to a captaincy, but his ability and other considerations convinced Mr. Forrestal and Admiral Ernest J. King, then C. N. O., that he should be advanced to an admiralcy. Personnel Boss Jacobs refused to make the shift on the grounds that no reservist should hold higher rank than a captaincy.

He was quickly exiled to the Bremerton Navy Yard, Wash., and Admiral Denfeld supplanted him. Mr. Strauss became an admiral immediately, and gave distinguished service.

It was in part at least, this affair which led Secretaries Johnson and Matthews ,only two months ago, to name Denfeld as C. N. O. There is a suspicion that they thought he would be "soft." As a submariner, it was expected that he would side with the Brandley-Vandenberg faction against large surface ships and supercarriers.

BITTERNESS: Indeed, the ousted officer bent so far backward in his argument with General Omar N. Bradley of the Army and General Hoyt S. Vandenberg of the Air Force that the younger aviation group in the Navy grew restless. It was because of his persistent and prolonged efforts to effect a reconciliation of clashing viewpoints that Admiral Radford and Captain Crommelin decided to touch off the explosive fuse on their own.

Even his friends concede that, if any fault attaches to Admiral Denfeld's role in the row, it rests on his failure to keep air-minded hotspurs under control with assurance that difficulties would eventually be settled without discrimination or prejudice against any branch of the armed forces.

In view of this background, which is known to every naval officer above the rank of ensign, everybody has the utmost sympathy for Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, Denfeld's successor. He will, of course, receive outward loyalty, but there will naturally be cold, though suppressed, bitterness toward any man who succeeds the "sailors' friend" under these circumstances.

TOPS: The walking-the-plank act will not make friends for the National Defense establishment, especially Secretary Johnson, on Capitol Hill. For Admiral Denfeld was one of the most popular and effective naval operators before Congressional committees in modern times.

"I am strong for economy," said Representative John Tabore, GOP groucho on this question, "but when Denfeld asks for anything involving money, I am inclined to believe him. Admiral Hughes, back in Coolidge days, was the toughest man ever to come before Appropriations. Admiral Pratt was the most brilliant. King was solid, but an icicle.

"But Denfeld was tops with our committee, both Democrats and Republicans."

Representative Carl Vinson of Georgia, Armed Services Committee chairman and "father of our modern navy," shares Mr. Taber's sentiments.

Simile: As unlike as the different stories told by two eye witnesses.

MAJOR U.S. CITIES PROTECTED

Anti-Aircraft Defenses Set Up

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—America now has an extremely efficient anti-aircraft gun network protecting all kay industrial cities and defense areas.

Its creation has been one of the most secret and successfully-executed postwar defense plans. Only a few key local officials in the cities and areas protected have realized what was being done in the last few years. It involved a complete shift of men and guns from one section of the U. S. to another, to match the drastic change in interior defense requirements which occurred after World War II.

Although details are top secret it is generally known that the danger of air attack from the East and South lessened after the war, while danger of attack from the North and Northwest has increased—with Russia becoming the only likely possible enemy.

Have New Type Weapons

Probably the most important part of the program has been the development of new types of guns. Most of the batteries protecting key cities have guns far superior to the best that any country had at the end of the war. They can shoot accurately and hit extremely high targets. The high-speed, high-altitude planes developed since the war have not outrun the progress in anti-aircraft gun development, contrary to popular notion. And progress in development of rocket-type shells and guided missiles has been good.

One of the most encouraging aspects of the whole operation has been the excellent co-operation on it by Navy, Air Force and Army. All three services have had vital roles in drawing the blueprint, under the direction of Army's Maj.-Gen. Wm. R. Schmidt. In spite of controversial problems arising during the planning, all parties have stuck to the agreements during the unification feud. This is surprising because some of the decisions have a direct bearing on the B-36 controversy and Navy's gripes against unification.

ARMY'S experts have done the bulk of the spadework. But in case of actual attack the Air Force immediately assumes command of the whole organization. This includes command of anti-aircraft guns aboard the Navy's ships which happen to be in the defense zone affected.

The newly-developed guns are almost completely automatic. They find their targets with radar, stay on them with the same radar, and fire at extremely high speeds automatically. One of the new types is described as having "very high altitude capabilities." Another new gun, called the "skysweeper," fires a .75-mm. shell and is described as firing to "comfortably high altitudes." Its rate of fire and accuracy are amazing, it is said.

Being so completely automatic the new weapons lend themselves very well to civilian defense. General Schmidt reveals that a few officers and a few trained technicians, with the help of numbers of civilians, could effectively man many batteries.

Details Are Secret

Security regulations permit only the most general description of the new rocket for anti-aircraft use. General Schmidt says: "The rocket shell has an extremely high velocity and costs just about the same as an ordinary anti-aircraft shell." He reveals, "large numbers of them are fired at the same time by radar control."

On the guided missile he says, "The indication is that they will eventually have very great value and have greater range than any other previously developed anti-aircraft gun or missile."

In anticipation of the greater use of rockets and missiles, extensive training programs have been started to teach groups how to fire them. National Guard units are included in the program.

GENERAL Schmidt also reveals that for the first time in the history of anti-aircraft gun development, future planning is geared to expected advances in aircraft. Researchers in the field are now confident that when the supersonic airplane comes into operational use, an anti-aircraft gun capable of shooting it out of the air will be ready at the same time.

He doesn't claim that the present plan is perfect or completed. But he feels that "there has been satisfactory progress in making it effective." Inasmuch as the government can not afford to put guns around every town in the U. S., General Schmidt explains, they've had to start by building defenses around the most important places first.

Motorcycle-Riding Couple Have Angora Cat As Extra Passenger

HALE CENTER, Nov. 8—(Special)—A young couple enroute from Los Angeles, Calif., to Clarion, Pa., on a motorcycle with a side-car, paused briefly here for a meal at a local cafe—and startled local residents with their "extra" passenger. Accompanying them was a year-old Angora cat, named "Snooks," which the couple, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Austin, said enjoyed riding on a motorcycle as much as he did drinking a saucer of milk.

Famed Life Photographer Speaks At Tech On Freedom For India

land is held by a few land owners. When she asked one great land holder how many acres of land he had, he answered that it was not a question of acres but of villages, and consulting his record found that he held 527 villages. Another fabulously wealthy group is that of the spiritual leaders, such as the Aga Kahn, she said.

Point Of View Changes

In pointing out that the country was halfway to freedom she cited the new broadmindedness of the university students in India today toward the caste system. One of her translators, a Brahman college student, had realized that the Untouchables were not Untouchables in a jail cell, where he had been forced to take food from the untouchables or starve. Other members of the upper caste had learned in like manner, after being jailed for participating in enforcing boycotts before independence.

There is still much of the feudal system that India must throw off before she can have complete freedom, Miss Bourke-White said, but the country is progressing speedily. At present loans are being sought from the United States to finance agricultural and industrial improvements.

War Service Seen

Besides touring in India, Miss Bourke-White served during the war as Life photographer in Europe and North Africa. After much effort she was allowed to go on a bombing mission, probably the only woman ever to go on such a mission.

Dean James G. Allen introduced Dr. Frank Junell who in turn introduced the "distinguished reporter, author and photographer." After the talk, Dr. Junell presided as the audience asked Miss Bourke-White questions.

Miss Bourke-White is a graduate of Cornell university and is author of several books. Working in Russia in the early part of the war caused her to write "Shooting the Russian War." Other books which came out of her war experiences are "They Called It Purple Heart Valley" and "Dear Fatherland, Rest Quietly."

rainbow, when the crop is in," Leftwich said. "Therefore the Shallowater community farmers have decided to do something about it. Next Monday the price of pulling will be $1.75 in the field and $2 at the gin.

The farmers at the meeting agreed the investment risk, the cost of housing, trailers and other conveniences provided for at the producers' expense have added to the harvest cost at least an additional 75 cents per hundred.

"Every farmer present agreed that bats may roost in some of his houses next year and the cotton trailers will be a drug on the market," Leftwich added.

Machines Are Installed

"The farmers know that the migratory laborers realize that stripping machines can harvest the cotton for about 12½ per cent of the cost of hand pulling, which greatly reduces the jolt of the lower grades," Leftwich said.

These strippig machines are being installed at a furious pace all over the South Plains area because of the cost of harvesting and the critical labor shortage.

In the meeting at Cone Monday night, the uniform price of $1.75 at the gin was agreed upon for the farmers of the two Crosby county communities.

Another meeting is scheduled at the Farmer school house tonight and all farmers of Crosby county are urged to attend.

Someone To Love

to the small bar, and sat there for a while with a drink in front of him. He knew he shouldn't treat Ma that way. She was right. Having someone to love was all that did matter. But why did she have to harp on it? It was too late now.

All the time he had thought he was in love with Liz. But it hadn't been love at all. Just infatuation. Funny he couldn't have seen that. But then, he wasn't good enough for Jenny anyway. He was a bum. And he had used to think he was class. Those days when he was a football hero, the big shot of the State University campus and head man on sports pages all across the country, seemed like a dream.

He sat at the bar all evening, watching the television and drinking. It was better than listening to Ma's talk. It kept him from thinking. As long as he could keep from thinking, he was all right.

In the Carolinas, Georgia and Alabama and the three far western cotton states, October weather was favorable for a rapid harvest. In California, about 800 mechanical harvesters were reported in operation in late October.

In Texas and central cotton belt states, the harvest was slowed by heavy rainfall, especially in Arkansas. Harvesting operations were rushed in this area during the week of good weather which generally prevailed in mid-October and on other days, when weather permitted.

No estimate of cotton seed production will be made until final ginnings for the season are reported. But if the ratio of line cotton to cotton seed is the same as the average for the past five years, production would be 6,267,000 tons compared with 5,941,000 last year and the 10-year overage ofg 4,631,000.

The national yield of cotton to the acre was estimated at an average of 287.6 pounds, compared with 313.1 last year and 254 for the 10-year average.

Scurry County Deep Test Flows Oil

Gaines Wildcat Gets Show Of Production

Mid-Continent Petroleum corporation No. 1 L. R. Nichols, central-west Gaines county wildcat has shown for the possible discovery of petroleum production from the Clear Fork lime of the Permian.

This prospector, located 23 miles west of Seminole, only a short distance east of the Lea county, New Mexico line, and 660 feet from north and west lines of section 7, block A-10, psl survey, had the show in a drillstem test at 6,390-6,446 feet.

The tool was open three hours. Gas showed at the surface in 35 minutes. No fluid flowed out at the top during the investigation.

Recovery was 870 feet of clean 34.6 gravity oil and 480 feet of heavily gas cut and slightly oil cut drilling mud. There was no signs of water.

The venture is making more hole and had reached 6,620 feet at the last report. Top of the Clear Fork was picked up at 6,270 feet. Elevation is 3,584 feet.

That is said to make the venture high to nearby dry holes. The project is slated to drill to at least 8,000 feet to explore into the lower Permian.

SULPHUR WATER DEVELOPED BY GAINES COUNTY WELL

After drilling through 90 feet of Ellenbruger which has shown for possible commercial production, Samedan Oil corporation and Anderson Brothers of Midland No. 1-E-A Andrews, central-South Gaines county wildcat developed salty, sulphur water.

The prospective discovery is to set pipe and start making production tests of the Ellengburger zone above the water, which was found in a drillstem test at 11,980-12,080 feet.

The tool was open three hours. No water blanket was used. There was a fair blow of air through the period. Recovery was 3,562 feet of fluid.

That included 180 feet of slightly gas cut drilling fluid; 900 feet of thin, slightly muddy water and 2,482 feet of black, salty, sulphur water.

An Electric log survey is being run and casing will then be cemented on bottom.

The section between the top of the Ellenburger at 11,895 feet and 11,975 feet, through perforations. That zone developed considerable free oil in drillstem test.

The interval at 10,062-090 feet in the Devonian showed for a possible production of 40 barrels per hour. Water was developed below 10.090 feet in that formation.

This possible two-pay discovery is 15 miles south and slightly west of Seminole, and 660 feet from north and west lines of the northeast quarter of section 19, block A-24, psl survey.

It is in the northwest part of the Robertson field which produces from the Glorieta and from the upper Clear Fork.

No. 1-E-A Andrews showed some signs of production, in the two zones of the Clear Fork.

DEEP TEST REPORTS PRODUCTION POSSIBILITIES

Olson Drilling company No. 1 Green, central Scurry county deep wildcat, two miles north of the town of Snyder has encountered posibilities of oil and gas production in the Ellenbruger—the first indications of petroleum so far found in the venture.

The shows came in a drillstem test of a soft section in the Ellenburger at 8,075-8,137 feet. The tool was open one and one half hours. Gas showed at the top in 50 minutes and there was a good blow of gas for the remainder of the period.

Recovery was 10 stands, or 900 feet of oil and gas cut drilling

DR. ROBERT G. LEE CONDUCTS REVIVAL HERE

Southern Baptist President Declares Gospel Is Answer To Many Perplexing Problems Of Nation

"We live in a country where millions of people translate 'freedom of worship' to mean freedom from worship," Dr. Robert G. Lee, president of the 6,500,000-member Southern Baptist convention, said Tuesday morning.

The dynamic minister, who arrived in Lubbock Monday to fill an engagement made about two years ago, said, "I think it is indecent for people to live in a community and have nothing to do with the church.

"You take out churches and what they stand for and it's like taking melody out of music, facts out of history, numbers out of mathematics and brains out of the skull."

Widely sought throughout the country, Dr. Lee came to Lubbock to preach in the fall revival meeting at First Baptist church.

Approximately 1,500 persons—the largest crowd ever to attend a Monday night service at First Baptist church—heard the first sermon he delivered in the revival. He will preach at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. daily the remainder of this week and will preach in both services Sunday, concluding day of the revival.

Since Dr. Lee arrived, Dr. J. Ralph Grant, pastor of the First Baptist church, has been bombarded with requests to ask Dr. Lee to speak before various South Plains groups.

Engagements scheduled, in addition to the sermons in the revival twice daily, are: Draughon's Business College 8:30 a.m. today; Senior High school all-student assembly, 11:30 a.m. today; Wayland college assembly, 8 a.m. Thursday; Lubbock Kiwanis club, Thursday noon, when he will speak on "Achievements and Limitations of Science;" Baptist Student center at 2401 Thirteenth, at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, when he will speak on "Are You In Love With Love?"

His topic in the sermon at 7:30 o'clock last night was "Is Hell a Myth?"

Dr. Lee also spoke to the First Baptist Brotherhood meeting Tuesday night.

His weekly broadcast over the American Broadcasting company network will originate from Radio Station KFYO at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

While in Lubbock, he will deliver the sermon, "Pay-Day—Some Day," for the 367th time. The famous sermon has been filmed and is being shown in two southern states this week. Service at which he will deliver the sermon in Lubbock will be announced later.

Commenting shortly before the morning service Tuesday on conditions in the United States, he said, "We have all the evils that have made all the other nations go to doom—evils that would cause us to hand down our blood-bequeathed legacies reduced in quality and in quantity.

Will Cure Ills

"But," he said, "we have the gospel that will cure all those ills and the Christ who is an answer to our every perplexing problem and question in every realm known to human—political realm, educational realm, scientific realm, national and international realm."

The solution, he said, must lie in putting into practice God's commands—in making hands and feet and minds "do what our ears have heard."

It's not lack of preaching; it's lack of practice, he said.

If a genuine revival such as America has had every century takes place, the spiritual trend would be upward and not downward, he said. "I believe it's going to come," he added.

Moral, Spiritual Crisis

"Our real crisis is not political and not economical; it's moral and spiritual.

"I believe that our country has been a thought in the mind of God Almighty from all eternity for the welfare of this entire world today and I believe that if God's people will stand by the Bible and do God's will, God will send America needs most—a spiritual revival."

If America will do the right thing, it will be in a great position to aid the whole world, but, "If we do not accept our responsibility and our opportunity, I believe God will take our light away."

First To Visit City

Dr. Lee once preached for a revival at Beaumont while Dr. Grant was pastor there. He promised Dr. Grant two years ago to come to Lubbock to preach in a revival.

He is the first president of the Southern Baptist convention ever to visit Lubbock during his term as president. Almost 27,000 Baptist churches are affiliated with the Southern Baptist convention.

The record Dr. Lee has established with the church of which he is pastor, Bellevue Baptist church in Memphis, has been heralded widely. The church has grown from membership of 1,430 to membership around 8,000 in the 22 years he has been pastor. During that time, number of additions to the church has averaged 13 for each Sunday.

Dr. Lee is author of 16 books already published and two more are in process of being published.

His biography, "Robert G. Lee, A Chosen Vessel," written by Dr. E. Schuyler English, has been published.

During the revival here, Euell Porter, head of the voice department at Hardin-Simmons university and choir-master of the First Baptist church in Abilene, is leading singing.

The night services have been scheduled at 7:30 rather than later so that children may attend, said Dr. Grant. "Bring the family" has been stressed.

Japan's Desire For Peace Pact Stressed

TOKYO, Nov. 8. (INS)— Japan's "fervent wish" for early negotiation of a peace treaty with the Allies was stressed today by Premier Shigeru Yoshida.

The prime minister told the new session of the diet (parliament) in his "state of the nation" address:

"The most fervent wish of our nation is the conclusion of a peace treaty at the earliest possible date."

Yoshida added that Japan, to attain this wish, must "demonstrate to the world that we are a truly civilized people worthy of a place of honor in the community of nations."

Yoshida deplored the presence in Japan of "certain terroristic and destructive minority elements" but added hopefully:

"Even those who harbor extremist notions will, I believe, be restored to patriotic national consciousness as economic conditions improve, wholesome thoughts prevail and the international atmosphere clears."

Yoshida expressed his government's opposition to suggestions that the yen be devalued.

Bugs Baer, Humorist-Writer, To Be Honored At Banshee Dinner

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—A rare and gifted member of our lodge, Arthur Baer, called Bugs, reaches another milestone in his remarkable career Thursday at the Waldorf when a thousand of his top-flight New York neighbors gather to do him honor at the Banshee luncheon.

Bugs will be presented with "The Lady," a silver statuette designed by Willy Pogany, for his contributions to the nation's sense of humor through the past 40 years of daily work.

Writer Called Genius

It is impossible to write, in this short space permitted, a very comprehensive piece about the man. The word genius has become cheapened through the years, but Bugs is an authentic member of that most exclusive organization.

He is the humorist that great ones like Fred Allen, Bob Hope, Joe E. Lewis, Peter Lind Hayes, Peter Donald, Harry Hirschfield and a dozen others look up to with awe and wonder, awe of the calibre of his work and wonder at the fantastic consistency of it.

"I have been accused of writing over the heads of people," he said not long ago. "If that is true, it's an indictment against the grammar school system of Philadelphia."

Started As Copy Boy

Bugs was born in 1886, the seventh of 14 children. He had to leave school at 14, went to work as a lace designer, and finally hooked on as a copy boy with the old Philadelphia Ledger.

He moved to Washington as an intinerant sports cartoonist in 1911, Mike Flynn, long-time editor of the Washington Times-Herald, took Bugs under his wing. Mike was then covering the White House, and Bugs needed a place to sleep that first night. So Mike marched him into the executive mansion, picked him out a divan, and Bugs and William Howard Taft spent a restful night.

It had been a busy day, that first one in Washington. In the first place, Bugs voted . . . for national committeeman (the only kind of voting we still permit the people of Washington to have.) Then he heard that a vain bartender at the old Ebbets hotel was good for a drink if you drew a picture of him. Bugs rushed there, drew a picture, handed it to the big guy and the gorilla said, "Who's this supposed to be?"

"You," said Bugs, proudly.

Luck Improved Later

The guy swung. Bugs' luck in Engel's saloon, next to the Washington Post, was better in the months and years to come.

Old man Engel's boy Joe, pronounced Choe, was a rookie pitcher with the Washington Senators. He was so scatter-armed that he once knocked a reporter out of the press box with a wild pitch.

Bugs would get advance information whenever the great Walter Johnson was slated to pitch. He'd rush to Engle's, where the old man kept a blackboard scoreboard, and tell the old fellow that Choe was pitching. And as inning after inning went by, marked by goose-eggs for the opposition, the old man would set up round after round.

Bugs didn't know he was a writer until the writer with whom he was sent to the Senator's training camp at Charlottesville, Va., came down with a 10-day drunk. Bugs ghosted his pieces for him, took care of all telegraphed queries and requests—while doing his own cartoons on the side. Then he opened a wire addressed to the guy and it read, "Your stuff has been wondeful lately. Hundred bonus being deposited your account. Tell Baer if his cartoons don't improve we'll have to let him go."

Foremost Commentator

Bugs has been writing ever since, and if you could get the stuff together and lay it end to end you'd have the history of the world since 1914 in a nutshell. In 1919, when we began helping the Germans, he wrote, "we're fattening up the wolf." He has been, in many ways, our foremost commentator on international affairs, as well as the greatest simile-maker and metaphor-molder since Shakespeare.

He wrote lines that became cliches around the world, but which were fresh and bouyant when coined.

To describe a tough town he said its canaries sang bass. To describe the strong drink his father enjoyed he said that the only man his father ever killed was his faithful old Indian servant Tonto. The old man caught the servant diluting his whisky with alcohol.

Had Run-in With Ty Cobb

Ty Cobb once tried to get in the press box at Bugs, for writing that Ty had stopped on the way to the park to have his spikes honed. But Ty forgave Bugs when Bugs, writing of a rival base-stealer, said the man's heart was filled with larceny and his feet filled with lead.

Men, including some very famous ones, built their reputations and fortunes on material stolen from Bugs—without credit. But what no one has ever stolen from him, or ever will, is the great gift which enables him to face each day's sun with the zest of an inveterate theater-goer awaiting the rise of the curtain. Bugs' will and wit and ability to understand the frailties of mankind are equally unquenchable. He never wrote a line that hurt a man.

Bugs was one of the best handball players and amateur wrestlers in the country. The late Bob Ripley and he once wrestled the main event on a card whose semi-windup featured Strangler Lewis and one of the Zbyszkos.

To keep in shape, Bugs circles the reservoir or works like an industrious hired hand around his place near Stamford, Conn. But he likes the city best of all, the city which has seen him grow into an immortal. Bugs paid New York the neatest compliment of its life: "Once you go through the Holland tube, it's all Bridgeport."

With American tin consumption running behind, Malaya sees poor chances of increasing its sales here this year.

MARKET Reports

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (AP) — Cotton futures were easy in moderately active trading today. Evening up operations were extensive, prior to issuance of the government cotton crop report which brought only a small flurry of selling in the futures market.

The Dept. of Agriculture in its November forecast estimated the 1949 crop at 15,524,000 bale against its October estimate of 15,446,000. Traders had looked for a moderate decline in today's report. Mill buying and short covering were readily absorbed by scattered hedging and liquidation.

Futures closed 5 to 15 cents a bale lower than the previous close.

Estranged Husband Of Actress Bergman Becomes U.S. Citizen

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 8. (INS) — Dr. Peter Lindstrom, estranged husband of Ingrid Bergman, became a citizen of the United States today, while the status of the glamorous actress remained unclear.

The doctor and his actress-wife, who were both born in Sweden, applied for naturalization at the same time.

Dr. Lindstrom remained in the United States while Ingrid sailed away to Stromboli last year to make a picture and fall in love with her Italian director, Roberto Rossellini.

Permits to re-enter the United States are issued only by the immigration service in Washington and are good for six months. It is not known whether the actress renewed her permit, which would make her eligible to re-enter the country up to March, 1950.

When she announced that she was divorcing her mate of 12 years to marry the Italian director, Ingrid said that she was giving up films and would remain in Europe with Rossellini.

In taking the oath of citizenship to the United States, Dr. Lindstrom revealed in his affidavit that he was born in Stode, Sweden, in March, 1907. He stated that his wife was born in Stockholm on Aug. 28, 1915, and that they entered the United States from Mexico in August, 1943.

Robert M. McKinley, 70, TEC Representative, Dies In Austin

AUSTIN, Nov. 8. (AP).— Robert M. McKinley, 70, employe representative of the Texas Employment commission, died at his home here today. He had been in poor health a long time and had been ill several weeks.

Funeral services will be held at 4 p.m. tomorrow at the Cook Funeral chapel and burial will be in the Austin Memorial Park cemetery.

Survivors are his wife, a son, Robert J. McKinley, Austin; a brother, Joe McKinley, Bryan and two sisters, Mrs. C. I. Mitchell, Temple; and Mrs. Ruby Dotson, Austin.

McKinley was associated with labor recruiting work from 1918 until his death. He was known to TEC employes and many of his friends throughout Texas as "Uncle Bob."

He was appointed by former Gov. Coke Stevenson in 1941 to fill an unexpired term on the TEC — then known as the Texas unemployment Compensation commission. Stevenson reappointed him in November, 1944, to a full term that would have expired next year.

McKinley was born in Thomaston, Ga., and came to Temple with his family when he was 13.

Suspect Held In 1946 Kidnap, Slaying Of California Child

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 8. (INS).—The 1946 kidnap-slaying of little six-year-old Rochelle Gluskoter was reported near solution today with the booking of a 40-year-old pool hall operator on suspicion of her death.

Jailed and described by police as "hottest suspect yet" was Nicholas W. Meyers, owner of a Central avenue pool hall.

Special investigators, who have been checking Meyers for the past three months, said that hairs found in Meyers' automobile were identical with those of the murdered child.

A crumpled toy also believed to be little Rochelle's was found in der the seat of Meyers' car.

Rochelle, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abe Gluskoter, vanished from a neighbor's yard on Feb. 15, 1946.

Witnesses said that the child spoke to a swarthy "man of about 35" who coaxed her into his car and drove away with her.

Catholic Group Denies Flat Ban On Granting Of Divorces

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—The National Catholic Welfare conference says Pope Pius XII did not intend, in remarks he made Sunday, to place a flat ban on the granting of divorces by Catholic judges.

The group pointed out, however, that a prominent Catholic theologian has held that a Catholic jurist is "bound" to avoid, if possible, granting a divorce "which will probably be the occasion for an invalid remarriage."

S. B. Roberts, of Abilene, and associates No. 1 B. H. Lewis, central-west Scurry county wildcat is credited with flowing approximately 70 barrels of oil in seven hours from the Canyon lime section at 6,841-68 feet. That flow was through an 18-64th inch tubing choke after the pay section had been treated with 3,000 gallons of acid.

No formation water has developed. Operators were continuing to flow the well to clean it and try to complete as a commercial oil well and a new discovery from the reef.

Top of the reef was at 6,836 feet. Elevation is 2,438 feet. Location is 467 feet from south and west lines of the southwest quarter of section 246, block 97, H&TC survey.

It is two and three quarter miles northwest of the Kelley field and one and one half miles northeast of the northeast side of the Diamond M pool — both of which produce from the Canyon reef section.

DISCOVERY NEAR SNYDER FLOWS FROM 7,314 FEET

R. W. Baxter, (formerly C. L. Norsworthy, jr.) and associates, No. 1 Feldman, central-east Scurry county discovery from the Ellenburger, ten miles east of Snyder, and 660 feet from north and east lines of section 63, block 3, H&TC survey, was swabbing and flowing about 11 barrels of fluid per hour, natural, from perforated section in the Ellenburger at 7,314-26 feet.

The fluid was mostly new oil. There was a little cut of drilling mud and drilling water. Operators probably will treat the perforated zone with a small shot of mud acid in the near future.

The pay section in this well below the casing at 7,340-57 feet, which has shown some oil on previous tests is shut off from the perforated zone with a packer.

STANDARD OIL STAKES LOCATION IN SCURRY

Standard Oil company has staked location and is to begin drilling immediately on its No. 7-7 J. W. Brown in the North Snyder field of north central Scurry county.

Contracted depth of the operation is 7,000 feet, to test the Canyon lime reef. Rotary tools will be used.

The drillsite will be located 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 439, block 97, H&TC survey. That puts it ten miles north of Snyder.

SCURRY TEST RECOVERS WATER; AWAITING ORDERS

Stanolind Oil & Gas company No. 1 Whatley, central-north Scurry county wildcat two miles north of the Snyder field, was bottomed at 8,340 feet in the Ellenburger and was waiting on orders after recovering sulphur water in a drillstem test.

The test was from 8,305 feet to 8,340 feet. The tool was open 90 minutes. Recovery was 2,800 feet of sulphur water.

The project has developed no signs of commercial production in any horizon it drilled through.

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of the southeast quarter of section 548, block 97, H&TC survey.

Former Nazi Rejected For Role Of Christ In Famed Passion Play

OBERAMMERGAU, Germany, Nov. 8. (AP)—The little village of Oberammergau turned down a former Nazi today for the role of Christ in next year's performance of the world-famed passion play.

The judges, consisting of the village council, a committee of residents and the parish priest rejected Alois Lang, 56-year-old former Nazi sympathizer, for the part.

Instead they selected Anton Preisinger, a 37-year-old innkeeper, to play Christ.

Lang, who played the role of Christ in the last performance of the passion play in 1934, went before a denazification court last year where he was classified in the least-dangerous class of Nazi.

Lang was chosen by the committee to read the prologue to each eight-hour performance. The play tells the story of Christ's life from his entry in Jerusalem until the ascension.

The committee chose Annemi Mayr, pretty 20-year-old daughter of a village building contractor, to play the role of the virgin Mary.

The Oberammergau passion play has been performed every ten years since 1634 with interruptions during World Wars I and II.

The play, which attracts thousands of Christians, is the result of an ancient pledge of the villagers after the black plague swept the Alpine village in 1633.

An open-air movie theatre to hold 3,700 is being built on Margaret Island, on the Danube at Budapest, Hungary.

Winners, Losers Given Safety Advice

Red Cross Provides Rules For Election Day Hazards

NEW YORK, Nov. 8. (U.P.)— The Red Cross told excitable Brooklyn voters to take it easy today, and passed along a set of rules for the rest of nation on how to have an election without getting hurt.

The Brooklyn Red Cross safety services department said that "exuberance and excitement" usually cause those on the winning side to celebrate themselves into ambulances.

On the other hand, "the sadness of defeat frequently dulls the senses and clouds the mind," and makes the Weeping Willie type of voter a sure target for telephone poles and low doorways.

Eleven Rules Issued

The department issued six rules for winners and five for losers. They are:

Winners:

"1. Do not start bonfires.

"2. Restrain the physical attributes of jubilation. Waving of arms, slapping one's neighbor on the back at the wrong time (like when he's eating or drinking), jumping up and down on chairs or tables are all potential sources of injury (especially if the neighbor hits back or the table collapses.)

"3. If you've got high blood pressure, heart trouble of a nervous condition, don't wait up for the results. Go to bed early.

"4. Avoid crows if possible . . . keep track of exits in case of fire . . . keep away from fights or arguments . . . leave the children at home.

Bigger Man Possible

"5. Hold your temper. The other guy may be bigger.

"6. Be moderate in all phases of your celebration, especially liquid."

Losers:

"1. Follow the above rules wherever applicable.

"2. Don't drown your sorrows, especially if you are driving a car.

"3. Wait until the gloom passes before travelling, so your mind will be alert.

"4. If the other guy is gloating, take it in good grace. There'll be another time.

"5. Don't get upset. Just relax and take it easy. Eat and drink in moderation and don't jitter while doing so. You don't want indigestion, much less ulcers."
