

Elk City Goes To Top Notch In O-T League

Mangum and Wellington Now Tied For Second Place in Race

Talk Of Tourney

Club May Enter Tournament To Be Held At Amarillo

Elk City is now riding in the upper berth of the percentage standings for the Oklahoma-Texas league for the last half of the season, winning two with no losses to give them a percentage of .1000. Wellington and Mangum are tied for second place, each standing at .500 while Cordell has been pushed into the cellar with no wins and no percentage.

Wellington will play at Cordell Wednesday, July 17.

There is a possibility that Wellington will enter the Amarillo tournament, and if all arrangements are perfected whereby the locals can make this trip, Wellington will not play in the O-T circuit of this week and if not eliminated at Amarillo, the locals will be in the Panhandle city all of next week, causing them to miss games scheduled for next Wednesday, July 24 and Sunday, July 28. If the team does participate in the Amarillo tournament, this will necessitate three make-up games which can be taken care of by playing double headers. In all probability the team will compete at Amarillo.

Last Wednesday, July 10, Mangum defeated the locals 6-4 on the local diamond. Bunte pitched the first five innings for Wellington with McDuffey relieving. Sullivan caught the game. Two hits each were made by Sullivan and Bellah, while singles went to McKenna, Livingston, Brown, Andres and Newman.

Sunday at Mangum, Wellington won 10-1, with McKnight pitching for the locals and Schmidt catching. The remainder of the line-up for Wellington was: Newman 1b, Andrew 2b, McMahon ss, Francis 3b, Wilson lf, Livingston cf, and Brown rf. Bill Morgan pitched for Mangum with Nicholson catching.

University Obtains Material Relating To Texas History

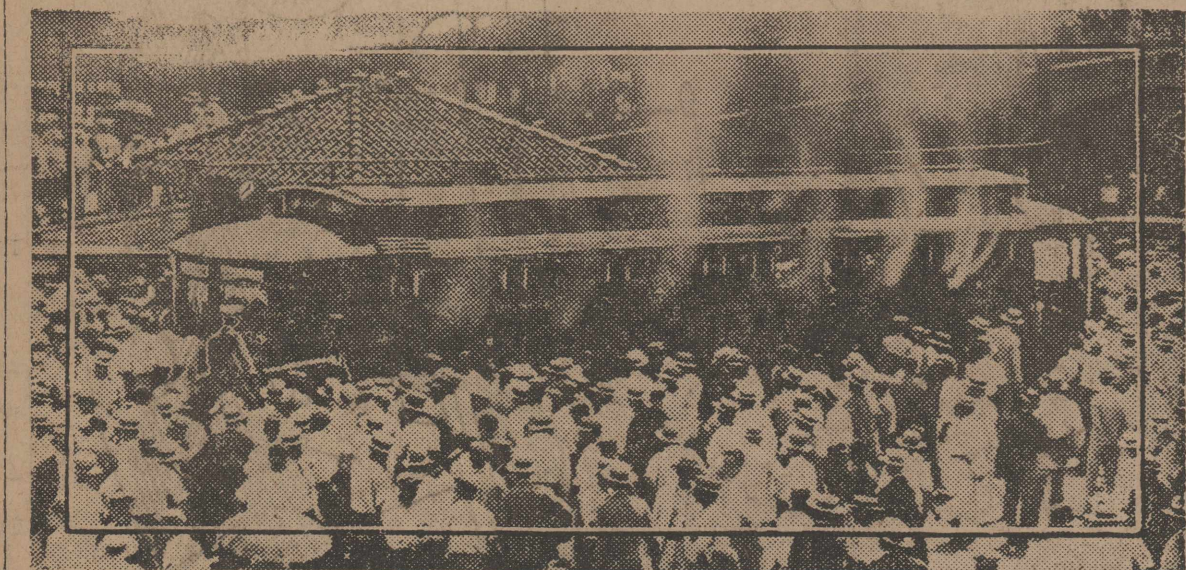

AUSTIN, Texas, July 17.—Very valuable material relating to early Texas is found in the collection of letters and papers belonging to Nathaniel Townsend, Texas pioneer merchant, which has recently been given to the University of Texas, according to Mrs. M. J. Hatcher, archivist. A few pieces of these papers were given to the university several years ago by Mrs. Paul Culberson, but there are thousands of items in the six large boxes which were obtained from the descendants of W. A. Blackburn, whose wife, Anna Blackburn, was a daughter of Nathaniel Townsend.

Mrs. W. E. Brackeen of Cooper, Texas, has been visiting in Wellington for the past several days in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Beulah Helm. Mrs. Brackeen returned to her home at Cooper Tuesday afternoon.

Seven Oil Trucks Violating Traffic Laws Are Held in City Last Week

Seven large oil trucks owned by Vagnon Brothers of Duncan, Oklahoma, were detained in Wellington last Friday by a state highway officer due to the fact they were operating over Texas highways without carrying a Texas license. According to W. H. Stuart, deputy sheriff, these trucks had been previously warned at Lamesa that it would be necessary to buy the Texas licenses, and when the highway officer caught them at Wellington he held them here until Texas licenses were bought. The fees for licenses for all trucks in

New Orleans Strikers Burn Street Cars

Riot demonstrations predominated during the first few days of the strike of street car workers in New Orleans. Pictured here are hundreds of strikers and sympathizers burning a street car which the company attempted to operate with non-union men. The crowd stoned the strike-breakers before burning the car.

Interest Grows In Whippet Race Sponsored Here

Other Merchants Enroll And Additional Candidates Enter

Increased interest is being shown in the Whippet contest sponsored by merchants of Wellington, Quail and Dodsonville. Three new merchants have recently become affiliated with the contest, bringing the total number up to 26 at this time, and new candidates for the free Whippet sport roadster are entering almost every day, according to the contest manager.

Those who are now leading in the campaign are: Burl Haynie of Quail, June Mairian Alley, Kathleen Holley, Clyde Plemons, Harold Boston, LaVerne Hayhurst, L. B. Smith, Lester Campbell, Lee Moore, Marie Berryman, Genevieve Strickland, Firman Goforth, Christine McQueen, Ila Sasser and D. M. Blanton.

The contest manager points out that any people between the ages of 10 and 21 who still wish to enter the contest are at liberty to do so, and that only a little extra effort and work on their part will enable them to overcome any lead which may be held at this time since the final totals will run well into millions when the contest ends September 7.

On another page in this edition of The Leader appears the complete standings of the contestants, as well as a list of all contest stores and the complete contest rules.

Grocery Store Is In New Location

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Golightly, proprietors of the Golden Rule grocery, have moved their business establishment from the former location on the east side of the square and are now located on the south side, in the building formerly occupied by the Thomas and McInnis funeral chapel.

Fred Buntill of Clarendon purchased the undertaking business from Thomas and McInnis, and has moved it to Clarendon where he has been engaged in this line of business for a number of years.

Chief Handley's Efforts Miss This Edition

THE LEADER owes apologies to its readers in general and to Fire Chief Bura Handley in particular. Last week Bura brought THE LEADER an article on fire prevention, but his article was misplaced and we were unable to uncover it until this edition was just ready to go on the press and we did not have sufficient space for it at that time. Consequently, readers of this newspaper will have to wait until next week for Bura's literary efforts.

County Council To Give Benefit

Benefit Performance Will Be Held Next Week at Ritz Theatre

Collingsworth county's demonstration club council will hold a benefit show next week, it has been announced by Miss Veda Swafford, home demonstration agent. The benefit is being arranged in order to prevent the collection of private donations in order to send three girls and one lady to the farmers' short course at A. & M. college. The club council hope, in this manner, to be able to finance the trips to the short course as well as to defray expenses for printing the club year books, Miss Swafford states.

Members of the demonstration clubs over the county will sell tickets to "High Voltage" which will be shown at the Ritz theatre July 25 and 26.

Mrs. Word Buried Friday Afternoon

Mrs. Catherine Jane Word, better known in Wellington as Grandmother Word, died at her home here early last Thursday morning from injuries sustained in an automobile accident near Plymouth the preceding Tuesday when a car in which she was riding ran into a ditch. Although the car was not overturned, Mrs. Word received a broken arm, a broken shoulder and collar bone, and severe cuts and bruises over her head and body.

Although she was so seriously wounded, she was conscious practically all of the time from her accident to her death.

Burial was held at Windom in Fannin county last Friday.

Grandmother Word was 85 years of age, having been born February 9, 1844. She was well known to many people of Wellington where she made her home with her daughter, Miss Jenn Word. News of the deplorable accident was received with deepest regret by all of her friends and acquaintances in this city.

Three sons and three daughters survive. They are H. B. Word of Bonham, C. M. Word of Dodge City, Mrs. W. J. Bridge of McLean, W. A. Word of Wellington, Miss Jenn Word of Wellington and Mrs. E. M. Clement of Wellington.

Pleasant Point Voted Winner at Plant's Opening

Member of Club Will Get Free Trip to Farmers' Short Course

Pleasant Point's girls club received the most votes at the formal opening of the new Coca-Cola bottling plant in Wellington last Saturday, and as a result is entitled to send one of their members to the farmers' short course at A. & M. college with expenses paid by the local Coca-Cola company.

Fully 300 people visited the new bottling plant on the day of its formal opening. W. Y. Burdette, proprietor, states. Mr. Burdette says that practically 2100 visitors registered and cast votes for the girls club, and that almost another thousand people passed through the building who did not care to register. Approximately 250 cases of Coca-Cola were served to the visitors during the day.

Following is the tabulation of votes as they were cast for the girls home demonstration clubs: Pleasant Point, 761; S. O. S., 503; Buck Creek, 248; Cross Roads, 261; Plymouth, 115; Lillie, 62; Lutie, 60; Aberdeen, 30; Salt Fork, 20; Quail, 18; Bowen, 7 and Ring, 2.

Since Pleasant Point received such a strong lead, that club will be fortunate enough to send a representative to the short course, and in order to select the girl who will represent the club, complete exhibits from the Pleasant Point organization will be arranged in the office of Miss Veda Swafford, county home demonstration agent, Saturday, July 20, where they will be judged.

Buck Creek Club Holds Meeting

Members of the Buck Creek home demonstration club met at the home of Mrs. H. Lack on Friday, July 12, with a large attendance among the membership and with three visitors present. Miss Swafford gave a demonstration on mitered corners.

All members are urged to attend the next meeting which will be held at the home of Mrs. Ed C. Smith, president of the club, according to the club reporter.

Wayward Editor Reaches Austin On Mexico Trip

Deck Wells, editor of THE LEADER who left last week with a group from this city bound for Old Mexico, has gone as far as Austin, we know. We received a communication from him post-marked at this city. Editor Wells wrote his employes the following message. "Drove here in one day, and will enter Mexico tomorrow. If we fail to return in three weeks, organize printers into army, close shop and come down for big rescue."

Buildings Being Improved Here In Business District

Three New Fronts Being Erected On South Side Of Square

Improves Square

Other Improvements Enhance Appearance of District

Wellington's business district is being greatly improved in appearance now that new fronts are being erected for three of the business houses on the south side of the square. The three buildings owned by Mrs. Cleo Templeton, which are now occupied by the City Bakery, the Gem theatre and the Richards bowling alley and cafe, are undergoing extensive improvements. The entire fronts of these buildings are being torn away, and will be replaced by a brick of one color which will give them a uniform and neater appearance. The bakery, the bowling alley and the cafe will remain in two of these buildings, but the building occupied by the Gem theatre is being entirely remodeled to accommodate a dry goods business. The name of the company which will occupy this building is not being given to the public at this time by Mrs. Templeton.

Other improvements being made in the business district consist of the remodeling of the building formerly occupied by Misfit Store and which will contain Kraft's Mint Store. The entire building has been refinished, with complete new display windows, etc. The remodeling of the Leader Store's windows, which was completed only recently, also added to the general attractiveness of the business district.

Wellington's business area is not only expanding, but numerous alterations to the various establishments which have been taking place in recent months. Wellington is staying well in line with other cities of West Texas in modernizing its downtown portion, and is being recognized as one of the most attractive and progressive cities in this portion of the Panhandle.

Special Shows at Texas State Fair

DALLAS, Texas, July 17.—Many special shows will feature the 1929 State Fair of Texas, it has been announced here by Roy Ruppard, secretary of the exposition. Among these special features will be the feeder beef show, the horse show and style revue, a radio show, a citrus show, the automobile show, the Southwestern Aviation Exposition, the cotton show, dairy show, rabbit and pigeon show and many other "trade" exhibitions.

Indian Mounds Are Being Explored By Texas University

AUSTIN, Texas, July 17.—Indian mounds around Blockhouse Spring on the Judge A. S. Walker estate, about three miles west of Cedar Park, Texas, are being explored by J. E. Pearce, professor of anthropology at the University of Texas. Blockhouse Spring received its name from its proximity to an old Texas fort erected for defense against Indians. It became a rendezvous of the Comanche Indians, and an abundance of kitchen utensils were left there.

Additional evidences of the presence of the Indians are being unearthed daily by Professor Pearce and his crew of workers.

Professor Pearce is still conducting his explorations of the Cedar Park mound. This is the largest source of archaeological material he has yet located. It is seven feet deep in its central portions and covers an acre and a half of ground space. Evidences of the presence of a cannibal tribe have been plentiful in the specimens that have been turned up.

Biggest Hit of All Talkies Is Coming Soon

"The Broadway Melody," acclaimed by critics all over as being the biggest talking production yet filmed, will be shown in Wellington Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Ritz Theatre. This picture is said to be nothing short of a talking, singing, and dancing sensation. It stars Bessie Love, Anita Page, Kenneth Thompson and Charles King and is unreservedly recommended to theatre patrons who like spicy entertainment.

Benefit of Rail Line Is Voiced In Meeting Here

Say All of State Would Be Helped By Denver Branch

Officials Speak

Officials of Denver Line Address Wellington Citizens

Stressing the point the building of the proposed branch line of the Fort Worth and Denver railway from Childress to Pampa would be for the benefit of the entire state, speakers at the meeting of the citizens of Wellington and the Denver road officials on Monday night of this week were enthusiastic over the prospects for the project. The object of the meeting was explained when J. H. Barwiss, general attorney of the Denver lines, spoke. Judge Barwiss explained what the proponents of the Denver road would have to do to secure the building permit from the Interstate Commerce Commission. He said the building of the road would be of great benefit to Wichita Falls, Fort Worth, and Dallas, as well as the portions it would serve.

"We came to your city primarily to make friends with your citizens here. Whether we secure the right to serve the people of this section or not with our newly proposed line, we want to be on friendly terms with your citizenry," Judge Barwiss stated. "The road would give the people of the north and east plains a direct and short route to Wichita Falls, Fort Worth and Dallas, where the business men of this section want to trade," he said.

Denver road officials present were F. E. Clarity, vice president and general manager; J. H. Barwiss, general attorney; A. E. Drake, traveling freight agent; W. D. McCoy, right-of-way agent; M. A. Stainer, system engineer; L. M. Hogsett, general freight agent, and A. P. Briggs, location engineer. John Lubin of Dallas was present as a guest of F. E. Clarity. Committees from Childress and Pampa were present, signifying their good will toward the Denver road. Jerry W. Dabonport, manager of Childress board of city development, voiced the favorable sentiment of his city toward the new line.

S. R. Pinkston, president of the Wellington chamber of commerce, acted as chairman of the meeting which was held in the district court room. Short talks were also made by R. H. Templeton, George Richards and S. P. Buster.

The Interstate Commerce Commission will grant a hearing to the Rock Island and the Denver lines at a meeting to be held at Fort Worth July 29, at the Texas hotel. Representatives from all points along the proposed lines of the Rock Island and the Denver will attend this meeting. The I. C. C. will grant the right to one of the lines as soon after this meeting as possible.

Chester Franks of Canadian spent last week-end in Wellington visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Combs. Mr. Franks is an electrical engineer and employed by the City of Canadian in the municipal light plant there.

Directory For Baptist Church Now Off Press

Is First Church Directory To Be Published In Wellington

Featuring the church roll, arranged in alphabetic order, and an authentic history of the church, the first church directory to be published in Wellington will be presented to the members of the First Baptist church Sunday, July 21, through the efforts of the B. W. M. U., local missionary union. The aim of such a directory is to create a spirit of more pronounced brotherhood through closer contact with the members. "Unity and convenience are the results we expect," the ladies said. "The fact that many of the members live in the country and only a small percentage have telephones, eliminates their names from both the telephone directory and city directory, and for this reason the church directory is practical and becomes a necessity for better co-operation."

Other portions included in the directory are: the church covenant, a list of the church officers, and pictures of the church and pastor. The list of officers is composed of the deacons, trustees, and heads of various departments and organizations. Published by James Gillentine, student of Southern Methodist university at Dallas, who is spending his vacation in Wellington with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Gillentine.

Business Conditions Better Than Average Of Past Six Months

AUSTIN, Texas, July 17.—Business conditions in Texas over the past six months have been satisfactory, it is indicated by the relatively small number of bankruptcies reported during that time, according to Bervard Nichols, editor of the Texas Business Review, issued monthly by the Bureau of business Research at the University of Texas.

A total of 266 bankrupt companies having liabilities of $4,734,000 were reported, compared with 313 failures with liabilities involving $8,052,000 for the same period of 1928. Mr. Nichols pointed out. Failures during June were the fewest for any June in more than ten years.

All School Children in County To Be Admitted Free to Fair 2nd Day

All school children of Collingsworth county will be allowed to enter the Fair grounds free of charge on the second day of the Fair, it has been announced by W. H. Goforth, manager of the Fair association. A program suitable for school children is being arranged for that day and it is believed that attendance on the second day of the Fair will be practically as large as on the first. This has not been the case in former years, and for that reason the association has voted to admit all school children free of charge on that one day.

Fair executives are still busy with plans for the opening parade, which they contend will surpass any parade ever staged in West Texas. Every community in the county and every organization in the county will be represented in this parade, Mr. Goforth stated Tuesday.

The race track is being put in condition, as the program this year will be one of speed, featuring automobile and motorcycle races. There will be no horse racing, but several automobile races will take place each afternoon. Dates of the Fair are September 12, 13 and 14.

$2.00 A YEAR INSIDE OF TRADE TERRITORY $3.50 A YEAR OUTSIDE OF TRADE TERRITORY

A CONTRAST BETWEEN VOTERS

A well-known American recently returned to his home from a trip to England. He had been in that country during the recent election campaign, and the contrast between what he saw there and what he has seen in American elections depressed him considerably.

"I only heard about one-hundredth as much oratory over there as I would have heard in the same time in an American campaign," he said, "but I heard about one hundred times as much good, sound argument.

"The voters over there use their brains. They understand the real issues and discuss them. A speaker has got to hand out something besides platitudes in a British campaign."

Other Americans visiting England have made the same comment. It seems to be generally agreed that the British voter makes a genuine effort to understand exactly what is at stake in each election. He demands that the candidates discuss these issues intelligently. He is not, ordinarily, easily led astray by meaningless slogans or catch phrases.

You don't need to be told that that is not the way we do things. In most national elections a bare half of our qualified voters go to the polls. During a campaign these generally seem to be a concerted effort by all candidates to avoid the real issues and deal in harmless generalities. We don't take our politics seriously! The British do.

There's a reason for it, of course. Due to our still inexhausted natural resources and our great industrial development, our country moves along pretty well whether it is well governed or not. The average man will have his job just the same, even if things are poorly handled at Washington.

England is an older country. It's industrial and commercial machine is more easily thrown out of gear. If the government is run badly, business suffers—and the average man quickly finds that it pays to have intelligent rules.

Some day we'll reach that point. Then we, too, will use our brains at election time.—Altus Times-Democrat.

THE EXPERIMENT BEGINS

Explaining the operation of the farm relief bill as it will affect wheat, Senator Capper of Kansas, who ought to be an authority in the matter, says that, after the organization, composed of farm co-operatives, as a central sales agency for handling wheat, this agency will borrow $100,000,000, perhaps, through the Farm Board. If the price of wheat in the opinion of the managers of the corporation, is unduly depressed, they will announce their intention of buying wheat. If the announcement has no effect, the wheat will be actually bought and sold at home or abroad, loss being borne by the revolving fund.

With this promise held out, the wheat market, it might have been anticipated, would have shown inclination to respond. But admitting it will take time to create the machinery of stabilization, it is not without significance that the same factors that were relied upon prior to enactment of the farm relief bill to determine wheat prices are still controlling its price. There factors are economic conditions, crop prospects, and supply and demand. With every desire to see the experiment successful, now that it has been embarked upon, it remains to be seen how the Government's participation in the business will change conditions.

It seems too much to expect that the Government can prevent overproduction in case the price is raised to a height that will satisfy the farmer, or that the Government's purchase of one hundred or two hundred million bushels of wheat will permanently maintain prices in the face of world capacity to produce the grain in far greater supply than can be consumed. But skepticism of this sort is not incompatible with an earnest desire to see the experiment succeed. If, by using the "revolving fund" in such manner that it is totally wiped out each year, thus setting up an actual cost of one of two hundred million dollars a year, we can raise the economic status of the millions of people dependent upon wheat, we shall have gained thereby.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram

TEXAS & TEXANS

By Will H. Mayes

Willie County Irrigation

Texas is accustomed to doing big things, but the people of Willie county are surprising the rest of the state with the magnitude of the irrigation project on which work has been started. With a bond issue of $7,500,000, a $6,000,000 contract has been let to a Dallas construction company for building reservoirs to cover 6,000 acres of land and irrigation canals and lateral ditches extending for more than 625 miles through Willacy and Hidalgo counties. From these, 130,000 acres of rich lands will be irrigated from the flood waters of the Rio Grande river. This immense acreage will be planted largely to the tropical fruits and vegetables that are making the Lower Rio Grande Valley world-famed for its products.

Midland's Oil Memorial

Pictures in the papers of the 16-story Petroleum building recently completed at Midland show a structure of which the largest cities of the country might well be proud. It was erected by a citizen who has made a fortune from oil, and it intended to typify the magnitude of the oil industry of that section, and to be the means of concentrating the oil interests of that section at Midland. The entire surrounding county joined with Midland in a two-days Independence holiday and celebration of the opening of the magnificent structure.

Fredericksburg's Growth

That the heretofore conservative town of Fredericksburg is expecting and preparing for rapid territorial expansion is shown in the recent purchase of an 80 acre tract some six miles from the town's center to be used for future suburban development. Acreage property in the neighborhood is selling at prices ranging from $500.00 to $1,000.00 an acre. But Fredericksburg denies that any efforts are being made to create a "boom" in development.

Wheat Crop Moving

Despite the fact that the railroads are moving about 1,500 cars of wheat a day from Texas and adjacent Oklahoma counties, great piles of the threshed wheat are on the ground awaiting shipment. Crop estimates of the section are placed at from 35,000,000 to 40,000,000 bushels, the acreage yield being a surprise to both the growers and the railroads. The extensive use of combines has expedited the harvesting of the crop, placing it on the market earlier and at less expense than heretofore.

Automobiles Sold by Mail

The rapid extension of chain and mail order stores in Texas is one of the most surprising of the recent developments of the state. From the cities these huge stores are extending their activities to the small towns, and the towns that do not have stores are being supplied with merchandise without additional delivery charges. Some of these stores have been selling automobile accessories for several years and are now considering adding light automobiles to their lines of merchandise. This shows that the automobile is no longer considered a luxury, but a staple article of trade to be sold at the closest margin of profit.

Growing Fall Tomatoes

Carrizo Springs farmers have held a meeting to formulate plans for growing 200 acres of fall tomatoes, that acreage being regarded as necessary to attract buyers enough to make buying competitive. Renters are being encouraged through liberal contracts offered by landowners to put lands into tomatoes for the fall market. Some growers on the irrigated lands of the country have made as much as $600.00 an acre from tomatoes.

Legislative Record

The Texas Legislature is making a record in at least one matter and that is the speed and unanimity with which it adjourns from day to day or from time to time. A suggestion has been made that perhaps the Governor and the legislative body are conducting an endurance contest.

Texas Horses at Show

Arrangements are being made to send some fine Texas horses from Camy Waldemar, near Kerville, to the New York Horse Show. It is believed by horsemen that Texas has the finest climate and the best pasturage in the entire country for the development of the best horses that can be grown, and this state may be expected in the near future to participate in many of the important exhibitions of horses throughout the country as well as in the leading horse races.

Brady Races Draw Crowds

Horse racing still appears to be popular in Texas despite the restrictions thrown around betting on races. The Brady three day Independence day celebration, at which horse races were the leading events, drew crowds estimated at 30,000 people, as many as 15,000 having been present July 4. Horse races are not as rapid as auto and airplane speed contests, but there is something spectacular about them that attracts and pleases the crowds. It is being freely predicted that this will soon again become the best drawing sporting event of the country, despite all the counter attractions.

Texas Tennis Winners

The victory of Wilmer Allison in the Wimbledon, England, tennis tournament and the accomplishments of other Texans in other tennis events are doing much to direct attention to this state. There is something in the climate of Texas that develops the physique and endurance required in physical contests of every kind. In this instance, however, much credit is due to Prof. D. A. Penick, of the University of Texas, whose hobby for many years, while teaching Greek, has been the training of tennis players. Prof. Penick loves the game, but even more than that he loves to develop tennis prize winners.

OH MAN, it isn't often THAT THIS news force GETS A real vacation BUT SURE enough that is JUST WHAT we are having. NOW THAT the boss and HIS BOSS are many miles away IN A foreign country, WE NEVER knew before JUST HOW much fun WE MIGHT have AT A time like this, FOR ALL we have to do IS SWEEP the floors AND READ the exchanges AND WRITE our own checks SO IF any of us SHOULD DECIDE we need a raise IT WILL be any easy matter FOR US to attend to THAT LITTLE item AT A time like this. WE WILL of course MAKE A small effort TO PRINT this paper ONCE A week while he is gone, FILLING THIS column AS WELL as the other columns WITH STUFF like this, BUT WHO can blame us IF THE paper deteriorates AT A time like this? OF COURSE the boss LEFT MORE instructions THAN ALL of us could do IF WE tried for a year, BUT WE can't see THAT IT is necessary FOR US to worry and fret AND MAYBE lose sleep BECAUSE THE paper is late AT A time like this. OF COURSE we know THAT WHEN Deck returns HE WILL tear his hair AND FILL the atmosphere WITH CAUSTIC words that were NEVER MEANT for rightous ears AND WILL have the privilege AND PERHAPS the pleasure TO SERVE notice on all of us AND THEN we'll start LOOKING AROUND for other jobs BUT WE still believe THAT IT will be worth it FOR THE fun we've had AT A time like this. SO JUST remember that WE HAVE warned the public NOT TO expect too much UNTIL DECK gets tired OF THAT foreign soil AND RETURNS to see THAT WE give you A DECENT newspaper even AT A time like this.

Wichita Citizen Discusses Ills

Every Sign of Indigestion Is Gone After Taking Orgatone

The remarkable experience of C. N. Ritter, residing at 2102 Kemp Blvd., is another striking evidence of the extra ordinary merits of Orgatone. In speaking of his long time of suffering from indigestion and head aches and subsequent relief, Mr. Ritter said:

"I am telling all my friends about Orgatone and all of my family are taking it after seeing what it had done for me.

"My trouble had been growing worse instead of better, all the time," he continued. "It was almost impossible for me to eat a meal without suffering from gas and sour stomach afterwards. I began losing weight and had fallen off until I only weighed one hundred pounds, a way below my weight, and could not find any thing to relieve my pain or build me up.

"After I had suffered a month without getting any better, someone gave a statement on Orgatone that convinced me and I started taking it. As I have said before, I have gained in health and strength and I haven't felt a sign of the old indigestion trouble since. I have taken Orgatone only a few weeks so far, but from the way I have improved already, I am glad to recommend it to everybody."

Genuine Orgatone may be obtained in Wellington at the Palace Drug company. (advertisement)

Farm Storage of Wheat Considered To Be Profitable

Will Distribute Marketing Through Season; Prevent Gluts

A nation-wide program in which wheat growers are being urged to increase their facilities for storing grain in order to distribute marketings throughout the season to prevent gluts and to secure the premiums for high protein content is being launched by the Bureau of Agriculture Economics, United States Department of Agriculture.

Recent surveys by the bureau in the hard red winter and hard red spring wheat areas have shown that a larger proportion of the crop each year is being marketed during the early months of the new crop. The result is that the facilities of the country elevators and railroads are taxed to the limit, and it becomes physically impossible during this rush period to handle the wheat according to its protein content.

Farm storage for grain, declare bureau officials, will make possible a system of more orderly marketing, reduce car shortage and embargoes, make it possible to handle the crop with less hired help, make it possible to clean grain on the farm and at country elevators, prevent the need of piling the newly threshed grain on the ground, make it possible to condition damp grain before selling it on the market, and enable farmers to sell wheat on a protein basis.

Farm storage is especially advantageous, it is pointed out, in years of large crops in which there is also a large carry-over of grain from previous crops in store in elevators, in preventing market gluts which may cause price declines, giving farmers an opportunity to study and demand conditions, and enabling them to sell their grain on what they consider to be the most favorable market.

To prevent car shortages or embargoes at terminal markets, farmers are urged to place at least a part of each new crop in properly constructed farm storage bins so as to enable the railroads and the country and terminal elevator operators to better handle and move the marketed grain. It is pointed out that on farms located at some distance from local markets less help will be required to move the grain from the combine or threshing machine to the farm bin than is required to haul direct to market. Grain placed in storage on farms at threshing time can be hauled later to local markets by farmers themselves.

Farm storage in areas in which grain contains high percentages of dockage or other foreign material permits the cleaning of grain on the farm; the clean grain brings a better price, and the dockage is used for feed. Storing part of each new crop on the farm lengthens the marketing period and gives the country elevator operator an opportunity to clean any grain that is received from farmers in an uncleaned condition. This saves freight on the dockage.

The bureau's survey has shown that when the country elevators and the railroads, sometimes the terminal elevators, can not handle and move grain as fast as it is received from farms, farmers who are not equipped with farm storage facilities are compelled to pile their threshed grain on the ground. This grain often becomes spoiled by rain and trash is mixed with it, with the result that the grain must be sold at a lower grade and for a lower price on account of high moisture content or the excess of foreign material.

Damp grain can usually be avoided, it is pointed out, by delaying to harvest with the combine or thresh until the grain is dry, and immediately removing any

Renew Your Health By Purification

Any physician will tell you that "Perfect Purification of the System is Nature's Foundation of Perfect Health." Why not rid yourself of chronic ailments that are undermining your vitality? damp weed seeds or other foreign matter that may be present in the threshed grain. In some cases it is not possible to delay "combining" or threshing until the grain is thoroughly dry, and if farm storage equipped with grain elevator machinery is available, the damp grain can be dried to a considerable extent by frequently transferring the grain from one bin to another during dry weather. Grain that contains only a slight excess of moisture can be dried in the bins by the use of ventilators.

Discussing protein premiums, economists of the Department of Agriculture declare that the payment of premiums for hard wheats of high protein content has become a common practice at many of the interior terminal markets. Protein premiums are now also being paid direct to farmers at many country elevators in the hard red winter and hard red spring wheat areas. During the harvesting period in any grain area, however, country elevator operators often have difficulty handling grain on a protein basis and usually must bin the wheat without reference to its protein content. This situation may be overcome by putting a part of the wheat into farm storage at time of threshing, testing for protein content and marketing at a later date.

Grain storages recommended by the department may be portable or stationary, and of either temporary or permanent construction. Complete working drawings for the structures may be obtained from the Bureau of Public Roads, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

The making of cottage cheese a very simple process and ordinary household equipment will suffice, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. It is desirable, however, to use a floating dairy thermometer in order to obtain uniform results. If the cheese is made without a curdling agent, hold fresh, clean milk at a temperature of 75 degrees F. until curdled. Cut the curd into small pieces, stir, and heat to 100 degrees F. in half an hour. Put it on a cheese cloth, drain for about 25 minutes, and salt. If the curdling agent such as rennet is used, warm the milk to 75 degrees F. and add the rennet (first diluting it in cold water) at the rate of 10 drops to 30 pounds of milk.

WHAT YOU GET
Is Even More Important Than What You Pay

Motor car value isn't determined by what you pay for your car... it's what you get in return for your money that's important.

That's why thousands of motorists are turning to Oldsmobile from all price groups—both above and below Oldsmobile's price range.

Those who have owned lower-priced cars gain, in Oldsmobile, performance, luxury, and riding qualities which far outweigh the slight additional cost.

Those who have been accustomed to more expensive cars find that Oldsmobile gives them all the fine car advantages they demand—and at decided savings in both original cost and operating expense.

Those who have been driving cars in Oldsmobile's price field discover that the same amount of money invested in Oldsmobile buys a far more satisfactory automobile—from the standpoint of day-in-and-day-out dependability as well as in beauty, comfort, and performance. Oldsmobile is powered by a big 62-horsepower high-compression engine which delivers speed to fulfill every desire, remarkably swift acceleration, and power to carry out the heaviest assignment. In addition to fine performance, Oldsmobile provides the style and comfort advantages of Bodies by Fisher, with spacious interiors, deep-cushioned seats, and luxurious upholstery and appointments. Further, Oldsmobile's standard equipment includes such items as four Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers, full-length vertical radiator shutters, and gasoline and temperature gauges on the dash.

Investigate Oldsmobile yourself—remembering that what you get is even more important than what you pay. Drive an Oldsmobile Six and compare it, point by point, with cars of all prices. Judged by dollar-for-dollar value, you won't find a more profitable investment than Oldsmobile—the fine car of low price.

Kiwanis President Outlines Purposes Of Organization

All Members Should study Purposes and Principles of Kiwanis

MILWAUKEE, July 17—Horace W. McDavid, of Decatur, Illinois, was elected president of Kiwanis International at the close of the 13th annual convention here. He is a lawyer by profession and a former state legislator. He was governor of the Illinois-Eastern Iowa Kiwanis district in 1925 and for a number of years has been a member of the International board of trustees.

For vice presidents the delegates elected: William C. Green of St. Paul and Dr. C. C. Tatum, of Edmonton, Alberta, Canada. Raymond M. Crossman, of Omaha, was re-elected treasurer.

Seven members elected to the board of trustees were: Howard T. Hill, of Manhattan, Kansas; William O. Harris, of San Bernardino, California; T. Harry Gowman, of Seattle, Washington; Carl Endicott, of Huntington, Indiana; E. C. Van Diest, of Colorado Springs, Colorado; Albert Snedeker, of Wheeling, West Virginia; and Herbert Moore of Du Bois, Pennsylvania.

Atlantic City was chosen as the 1930 convention city.

"The only solid claim on perpetuity for any organization must rest on usefulness," Mr. McDavid declared to the delegates and visitors, after his election. "While we are proud of the accomplishments of Kiwanis along various lines of endeavor, we should not indulge in self praise but rather give our energy and best thought to the things which add strength and give new impulse to the great field of work to which we have dedicated ourselves.

"Every Kiwanian should study the underlying purposes and principles of his organization. We should all study our objectives. They cover a great field of laudable human endeavor. They are broad enough in their scope so that no club need go outside of them to find a splendid program of community activity.

"One of the greatest needs of our organization is a deeper appreciation of the responsibilities on the part of the individual Kiwanian. We ought, as a service organization, always to look ourselves squarely in the face. The greatest indictment against service clubs today is the failure on the part of the individual member, in a greater or lesser degree, to appreciate his own responsibility.

"Every member should prize his membership with the kind of pride that prompts him to do some work. My opinion is that no man is big enough to belong to a service organization unless he is willing to give some time and energy and some of his heart to it," he said.

"Apathy has no place in a Kiwanis club. The greatest menace to the welfare of our country, the greatest danger we have as citizens today is that of apathy—indifference. Kiwanis demands men who have a zeal for the public good, who have a true appreciation of community welfare.

"We must be practical, words can mean little unless we do have performance. We do not realize the great power that exists in us. In our thinking we must not forget the vital and dynamic power of the influence that comes in carrying a program in which 103,000 men in the 1810 clubs in the United States and Canada are engaging.

"Kiwanis has justified its existence. It has come to stay. The splendid work accomplished by our clubs forms a bright page on the history of our country. It is a great spiritual movement, built on fellowship and mutual endeavor for something outside ourselves. Let us see to it that we make the most of our opportunities. They come as a challenge to our membership, which can only be answered by every man giving the best of himself in organizing the manpower of his club into useful endeavor."

Engineers From State University Readily Employed

AUSTI, Texas, July 17.—Graduates of the University of Texas college of Engineering are in great demand in the various engineering fields, according to Dean T. U. Taylor. Every member of the 1929 graduating class has already secured a position either for the summer or for next year. There were 63 who received the various bachelor's and master's degrees in that college in June.

Graveyard Stuff

BY BUDGE

Not much is happening in or around Wellington at this time, and there is even less to write about. This, as you may have judged long ago, is the time I always pick to write this column.

There is nothing on my mind right now except that I have just come back from Bill Goforth's office where, of course, I did not find Mr. Goforth. A reward will be given to any man, woman or child, regardless of age, color or creed, who can at any time, day or night, either before, after or during office hours, find Mr. Goforth stationed in his office.

It seems to me that he is wasting the money he pays out for office rent.

Things are just going from bad to worse. Now my brother and dad have moved their drug store almost two blocks farther away from this office than is used to be, and I have to walk the extra distance for free cigarettes.

One day last week I was complaining to Claude Savage about how hard it was to successfully manipulate the combinations on the boxes at the post office, where Claude explained that lots of people were complaining but that he felt that most of the complaint was unjustified, since two one-armed men in Wellington and one blind man have no difficulty whatever in opening their boxes. He said since they had found no room to complain he saw no reason for anyone else aching.

All of which is well and good, but I'd like to know what that blind man does with his mail after he opens the box.

Be that as it may, I still think the old combinations at the old postoffice were hard to beat. A person never had to repeat the alphabet a halfdozen times during the old postoffice regime.

SATURDAY IN WELLINGTON
The sun beat down on a sweltering hamlet, to leave the asphalt soft and pliable, while hundreds of people from the forks of the creeks tramped Wellington streets until far into the night; with Jim Cook sitting on the court house steps, an alert eye open for any who would dare to speed; with E. L. Winn, W. H. Lynn, Bill Goforth, Lee O'Neil, Clark Anderson, S. P. Buster and several others holding a gabfest on the postoffice corner; with Jack Knight walking past with a stern expression and a cigar held tightly between sat lips; with Doctor Jno. W. Harper wearing a hat of azure blue which cost in the neighborhood of 60 cents; with Jimmie Gillentine working faithfully on his church directories; with Mrs. O. D. Hill up from Dodsonville to attend the theatre; with W. V. Whitley enumerating the disadvantages of vacationing in Mexico; with Jack Deahl home from a fishing trip, looking tired and worn; with C. C. Bell munching a cookie while leaning on a counter in his bakery; with Bud Manzer and A. Y. Bell having their usual dissensions and discussing them while several listen; with Ben Moseley wearing a new set of striped suspenders; with Sooner Edwards making the streets look familiar again because of his presence; with Sandy Parsons playing records at Goodson's music store; with Lester Benge going to the bank for his daily deposit and daily chat with John D. Glenn; with the Miller Twins wearing dresses that were not alike, with Steamboat Graham and Lowell Wilks sitting on the curb, apparently unmindful of the heat; with W. W. Joyner and "Walker" dozing in the shade of the courthouse; with Ralph Lewis stopping in momentarily as he journeyed to the Western Union office; with Claude McKinney in his 7th heaven as he rode a horse about the square; with Milus Little drinking a bottled coca-cola in Jitney-Jungle; with Jess Hancock taking several phonograph records from his store to hear them played on Goodson's machine; with Roy Horn coming in to buy six sheets of pink paper but remaining a few minutes to discuss the weather, the national political situation and the gasoline tax; with fully a score of people phoning to inquire if the editor had really gone to Mexico and with the hands at the office working only occasionally since the editor really has gone to Mexico.

Spearman dealers recently received 15 Chevrolet trucks to supply the demand of farmers who desire to haul their wheat crop to town. A sufficient number of railroad cars to carry the grain to markets has been assured. From 1790 to 1910 women obtained patents on some 11,000 devices.

Mangum to Have Office Building Valued at $60,000

Will Be Four-Story Fire-proof Structure for Store and Offices

Contract was awarded Tuesday night for the construction of one of the largest and finest store and office buildings in Southwest Oklahoma to be located on the site of one of the buildings which were destroyed by fire on May 3.

The building is to be constructed by J. W. Lovett for occupancy by Lovett Furniture company, with the fourth floor divided into suites of offices. The contract was awarded to McMillen and Shelton, Enid, contractors on the Hotel Franklin. Construction is to be started about July 25 and the building is expected to be completed about December 1. Cost of the building is to be approximately $60,000.

The building is to be fifty by one hundred feet in size, of modern fireproof construction in every detail. Steel joist construction is to be used and the floors will be concrete. The specifications call for all material to be of the very best quality.

The front and west side of the building are to be of face brick, trimmed with ornamental stone.

Plans and specifications for the building were prepared by the Butler Company, Oklahoma City and Lubbock, Texas. Forrest L. Butler, manager of the Oklahoma City, office and Hugh Dryer, architect employed by the company were in Mangum Tuesday to supervise awarding of the contract. Mr. Dryer came in the Ryan monoplane of the Standard Roofing company and returned to Oklahoma City in the plane Wednesday morning.

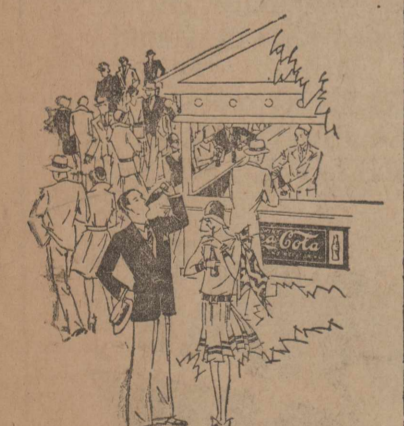

The basement is to be the full size of the building and will be used as an economy basement for the display of second hand rebuilt and cheaper grades of merchandise. A large stairway to the basement will be located at the center of the first floor.

The first floor will be used for the display of merchandise and the offices of the furniture company. The second floor will be partitioned for the display of rooms of furniture, enabling the customer to see just how a suite of furniture will look in the home.

Double show windows at the front and the north fifty feet on the west side will give a view of both the first and mezzanine floors. Pedestrians will see through the show windows only on the first floor but passing automobilists can see both first and mezzanine floors. The ladies rest room and photograph room will be located on the mezzanine floor.

The third floor will be used for the display of furniture.

The fourth floor will be divided into five law suites or offices and three office rooms, according to present plans, although it will be possible to provide nine or ten good sized suites of offices. Tentative leases have been made on several of the suites, according to Claude E. Robertson, who is agent for the offices. The main entrance to the store will be at the north front, where there will be large double doors and a large vestibule. Entrance to the passenger and freight elevators and stairway will be located at the middle of the west side. Elevator service will be operated on all floors including the mezzanine floor.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the City of Wellington, Texas, at its regular meeting in August, same being the 5th day of said month, will receive bids for the custody of the City Funds from any Banking corporation, Association or Individual banker doing business within the City Limits that may desire to be selected as the depository of the Funds of the City. ### Brougham Added To Oakland Line

PONTIAC, Mich., July 17.—Addition of a new body type, the Brougham or close coupled 4-door sedan, to the current line of Oakland All-American Sixes, is announced today by W. R. Tracy, vice president in charge of sales of the Oakland Motor Car company.

Production on the new type began late in June, and the car is now being shown at many dealer points throughout the country.

Priced at $1195 f. o. b. Pontiac, the Brougham lists at $50 less than the standard 4-door sedan in the Oakland line, and brings the number of Oakland body types now on the market to nine. Colors on the new model are the latest Duco combinations.

While the wide front and rear seats offer ample room for five passengers, the Brougham provides the cozy intimacy possible only with this new type of body. The four door construction provides for a one-piece, full width front seat, rather than the bucket type of individual seat as used in 2-door sedan models. This allows for ready access to the rear compartment without disturbing front seat passengers.

Equipment is similar to that on the other Fisher-Oakland bodies, and includes a driver's seat adjustable to any position even while driving; mohair upholstery; arm rests; roller shade on rear window; smoking set; colored garnish rails; crank type window regulators; nickel plated robe rest and foot rail; side cowl ventilators; automatic windshield cleaner; non-glare rear view mirror, and many other features. The new type is particularly adapted to trunk equipment, which is supplied by Oakland-Pontiac dealers as optional equipment at slight extra cost.

The human eye averages about 100 movements to the minute.

Marquette

$965 to $1035

"A Great Performer" the Marquette is being hailed, the nation over. Never before in a car of moderate price have there been such acceleration, speed, control, handling ease, roadability, flexibility, balance! Only Buick could offer such performance. In Marquette you get an engine of remarkably large displacement. You get speed that holds an honest 68 or 70 miles an hour with unequalled ease, steadiness and security. You get acceleration of from 10 to 60 miles an hour in high gear in 31 seconds.

And this great new car introduces many more unusual features: Beautiful Fisher bodies. Exclusive new upholstery proofed against water, dust and wear. Dustproof tilt-ray headlights. An exclusive new sloping non-glare windshield. Four Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers. Easy-acting, completely enclosed brakes. The Marquette is easy to own on the liberal G.M.A.C. terms. Come in and see this complete car. Take the wheel and learn the thrill of Marquette performance.
