Mrs. J. Greene Speaks To Altrurian Daughters Club On 'Peace Corps'

"I wonder if there are people in the Snyder area who would like to volunteer for the Peace Corps," Mrs. J. W. Greene said as she spoke to the Altrurian Daughters Study Club at its most recent meeting. Mrs. Lee Stinson was hostess for the occasion at the Ann Women's Club.

Mrs. Greene took the information for her program largely from material published by the Congress of the United States and sent to her by Congressman Omar Burleson. She plans to make this material available to any interested persons either directly from her or through one of the local libraries, churches or the High School Library. Included in the material were application blanks which might be used.

Following is a portion of Mrs. Greene's speech before the Club:

"One of the newest agencies of the government is the Peace Corps. It started when President Kennedy issued an Executive Order March 1, 1961 with a three-month pilot program financed by a small amount of foreign aid funds. The order was based upon a comprehensive report prepared by Sargent Shriver Jr., former President of the Chicago School Board of Education, who had undertaken a study of the Peace Corps proposal at the request of the President.

"On May 31, 1961, the President sent to Congress the Administration's bill to provide for a Peace Corps to help the peoples of interested countries and areas in meeting their needs for skilled man power". On the following day the proposed Peace Corps Act was introduced by Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minn. and into the House of Representatives by Congressman Thomas E. Moran of Penn. The bill was passed, and the Peace Corps is an agency within the State Dept.

"Last year after the bill was passed, President Kennedy asked for $40,000,000 for the fiscal year of operation starting July 1, 1961. He only received $30,000,000. The President has asked for $63,750,000 for the coming year, but Congress has not yet acted on this legislation.

"The Peace Corps idea is not a new one, but it is an ambitious one that has demonstrated a strong appeal to the idealism of Americans. It has raised hopes among the people of many lands, and may give them a chance to learn to help themselves, which would be of far greater value than merely handing out foreign aid. Too teaching other people a better way of life is a method of fighting Communism.

"Any American citizen over 18 years of age, may apply to be a volunteer. There is no upper age limit. Married couples without dependent children may be accepted if both can do a needed job. Older or retired people can be accepted if they can meet other Peace Corps standards, and if they have skills needed for Peace Corps projects. The oldest member so far is Jeanne Dumas of Reno, Nevada who is serving in East Pakistan. She is 62 years young. Many of these older people may serve as instructors at training centers, or as overseas supervisors. It is not necessary to be a college graduate to get into the Peace Corps. Many crafts, of the kind learned on the farm, in FFA and 4H work and in apprenticeship courses, will be needed. All that is required is to have a working knowledge in one chosen field. Those who have more education or skill may be made Volunteer Teachers and receive a little more allowance.

"After a volunteer applies and passes both mental and physical tests, he is selected by a board set up for each program. He or she is then ready to begin his training. There will be two parts to this training. The first part is conducted in the United States, usually at a college or university in a boot camp and lasts about three months. Its curriculum covers the culture, people and policies of the host country; U.S. History, institutions and values; international relations; some language training; physical conditioning; health instruction and refresher courses in skills required for the project.

"After a brief home leave the volunteer leaves for the host country and starts the second phase of instruction, which may last from two weeks to three months. Its purpose is to give the volunteer a solid on-the-spot introduction to traditions and culture of the people with whom they will work.

"When ready to go to work the volunteers will usually serve in teams. In most cases, small groups will live together even though their daily tasks may take them apart. However, in some situations, a volunteer may have to live and work alone.

"Each one in the Corps will serve for at least two years which includes the training period. During the training period, all travel, food, medical care and incidentals will be provided for by the Peace Corps. While doing overseas service, volunteers will be paid an allowance which will enable them to live at a level comparable to that of the people in the host country, yet sufficient to maintain health and working effectiveness, plus a small amount of pocket money. The living allowance will vary, of course, from country to country. After completing their Peace Corps service, volunteers will receive a readjustment allowance—equal to $75 for each month of satisfactory service.

"Volunteers will receive many benefits. There will be about 30 days leave a year with allowances, and a small amount more will be allowed if they travel away from their station. Each one is allowed a reasonable amount of time off from work in connection with illness, including travel time and from medical facilities. A $10,000 life insurance coverage will be available during Peace Corps service. Each one will be covered by Social Security. Both the Peace Corps, and the individual will contribute to this based upon the readjustment allowance.

"Besides offering a unique opportunity to serve the Nation, in the cause of peace, the Peace Corps offers American workers opportunities for self-development. They will return with knowledge of other languages, knowledge of customs and traditions of the people who speak those languages and knowledge of the economy, political organization and geography of the countries in which they serve. In other words, Peace Corps Volunteers will be better able to participate in and meet the demands of today's world. It would be a very rewarding service.

"In a recent report to Congress, Sargent Shriver said that there had been more than 20,000 volunteers in the first year of the Peace Corps operation, and 2,000 more applications are coming in a month at the present time. Requests from developing countries throughout the world are many times the amount we have agreed to supply. He noted that each of the 12 countries where volunteers now serve have ask for more workers.

"Some of these countries are Chile, Colombia, Philippines, Ghana, Pakistan, Nigeria, St. Lucia, India, South Africa, and others. Volunteers in these countries will serve in fields of education, agriculture, medicine, engineering, health, community development, sanitation and many others that will help these countries develop and become more self-sufficient.

"The goals of the Peace Corps Program will not be reached swiftly or easily; there are many pitfalls and problems. But, the potential rewards, outweigh the risks of failure, and the Peace Corps offers our citizens a chance to take an active part in what President Kennedy called "a long twilight struggle—a struggle against the common enemies of man—tyranny, poverty, disease and war itself." One student expressed the feelings of many young people of all nations like this, "We want to fight problems, not people."

Age Levels Changed In Girl Scouts

Names for four age levels within the Girl Scout program, to replace the three-level structure that the organization has used since 1958, were announced today by Mrs. Charles U. Culmer, President, Girl Scouts of the U.S.A.

"Beginning in September 1963, age groupings for the 2,685,000 girls in Girl Scouting will be as follows: Brownie Girl Scouts, aged 7 and 8 years; Junior Girl Scouts, aged 9, 10, and 11 years; Cadette Girl Scouts, aged 12, 13, and 14 years; and Senior Girl Scouts, aged 15, 16, and 17 years. All girls in the program will continue in the present pattern of Brownie-Scouts aged 7 through 9, Intermediate Girl Scouts aged 10 through 13, and Senior Girl Scouts aged 14 through 17.

The sequence of names, according to Mrs. Culmer, has been selected to give a feeling of progression through the entire Girl Scout program. "Brownies" is the popular name for the youngest members of the Girl Guide-Girl Scout movement around the world. "Junior" indicates that the girls just beyond "Brownies" is an adaptation of the word "cadet", used in its historic sense to describe a younger son of a great family. The Cadette Girl Scout as the second oldest daughter or sister in the Girl-Scout family is training herself for her future. "Senior" clearly identifies the status of the high school age group as the oldest girl members in Scouting.

The background for program change was supplied in part by two studies conducted for the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. by the Survey Research Center, University of Michigan, 1955-1958. The first study dealt with needs and interests of adolescent girls, both with-

Kid Paret Loses Battle For Life

NEW YORK (AP)— Benny (Kid) Paret died today—10 days after his head was battered 26 times or more as he hung helpless in the ropes in his world welterweight boxing title fight.

He never came out of a coma after being pounded senseless by Emilio Griffith in the 12th round of their nationally televised title fight at Madison Square Garden March 24.

Doctors had held little hope from the start that he ever would recover from the brain damage he suffered in the battering that led to numerous criticisms of the fight and of professional boxing in general.

Paret's wife, Lucy, 23, who is expecting a second child, was called to Roosevelt Hospital when the Cuban-born fighter died at 1:55 a.m.

"I've lost my man," she cried. "I want to go with him. Take me along."

Paret's mother, Mrs. Maximo Crepo, said tearfully that she wanted to take her son's body back to his native Cuba for burial in the family plot.

Paret, 27, had developed pneumonia Monday.

His wife brought their son, Benny Jr., 2, here with her from their home in Miami, Fla., the day after the fight. Paret's mother and his brother, Antonio, 26, came from Cuba later.

Antonio and Paret's manager, Manuel Alfaro, were with Paret when he died. Alfaro said Paret's condition took a sudden turn for the worse an hour before he died.

An autopsy was ordered at Bellevue Hospital.

Brother Antonio, weeping, said 16' newsmen several times, "I can't understand why he was so mauled."

Alfaro—asked where he placed the blame—said, "Circumstances."

Previously, Alfaro had criticized referee Ruby Goldstein for not stopping the fight sooner than he did—in two minutes and nine seconds of the 12th round, after Paret had taken a pounding on the head without retaliating.

The State Athletic Commission, which supervises boxing, has cleared Goldstein and the ringside doctors after an investigation.

The severe injuries suffered by Paret led the New York Legislature to name a special committee to determine whether the state needs new laws to regulate boxing, or whether the sport should be outlawed.

As soon as Paret's death was announced, New York City police began a formal investigation, which is routine in all such cases. An informal police investigation had been going on since the fight.

Early on the morning after the televised Saturday night fight, Paret underwent a three-hour brain operation to relieve the pressure of two blood clots. Doctors said then that "all that can be done has been done."

Paret's wife, who had urged him to give up fighting after he was knocked out by Griffith in their first meeting a year ago, watched the fatal fight on television.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York ordered a full investigation of the fight by the State Athletic Commission.

Paret's manager blasted Goldstein for allowing the action to continue as Griffith pounded away at the defenseless Paret.

Goldstein, an ex-boxer himself and one of the nation's foremost referees, was distressed at the fight but defended his officiating.

"My first thought is always the welfare of the fighter," he said. "I never thought there was a possibility of Paret being hurt when I looked at him. He had been known as a courageous fighter, one who could lose a round and come back and win the next. I had only seconds to act. I still believe I did the right thing."

There had been bitter feelings between Paret and Griffith for some time, chiefly because of remarks the Cuban had made about Griffith's masculinity.

Griffith, a 2-year-old native of the Virgin Islands, was in a vengeful mood before and during the fight. He went for the knockout from the start.

"I didn't mean him any harm," said Griffith after the fight in his high-pitched, clipped tones. "My manager told me to keep hitting him when I had him hurt and that's what I did. He called me bad names at the weigh-in and during the fight. I was burning mad."

Paret won the welterweight title the first time, with a 15-round decision over Don Jordan at Las Vegas on May 27, 1960, made one successful defense against Federico Thompson of Argentina in New York on Dec. 10, 1960, then lost the title to Griffith on a knockout in the 12th round at Miami last April 1.

Paret recaptured the championship from Griffith on Sept. 30 in a controversial 15-round split decision. But he was severely beaten by Gene Fullmer on Dec. 9 in a bout for Fullmer's National Boxing Association middleweight title.

Between You And Me

By Jerry Jackson

Saturday's District 3-AAA Track Meet followed the script all the way.

Snyder won the meet—as expected—with comparative ease, the sixth championship in a row for the Black and Gold. The manner in which the Tigers won it was also played according to Hoyle.

With their overwhelming strength down the ladder being the factor.

So how do things shake up for the regional meet in Odessa April 14?

Since only the top two placers in each event gain access to Odessa's hallowed ground, a quick look at the comparative manpower—each of the four top teams will field reveals the closest balance in years—possibly ever in the history of the district.

Snyder placed one relay team and seven individuals, as against Lamesa's two relay quartets and six individuals, so that in fact remains that second-place Lamesa (which tallied only 106 points to Snyder's 169's) will be sending a greater number of performers to regional than will champion Snyder.

It doesn't stop there, though. This 1-1 place Colowaco City trailed behind its trio of Randolph Cppp, Kenneth North-cut and Freddy Fox to nab one relay slot and six individual placers. Lake View rounded things out with five individual placers, in that Sweetwater failed to qualify any.

Theoretically, then, runnerup Lamesa will be sending 14 boys to regional compared to Snyder's 21. Colowaco City's 15 and Lake View's five. It doesn't actually tally out that way, of course, when you consider that several qualifiers have more than one qualification and double up in the running of the relays. But it still acts as a fair yardstick of each representative team's scoring potential.

The flickle hand of fate dealt Snyder fortunes one blow in particular, when Dan Will Aldridge tied for first in the pole vault with two others at 18.3 feet, and he lost the regional trip when a coin flip went against him.

From the times registered in the running events (all three new records set and the one that was tied were marked up in the track events), it looks as though 3-AAA will field its usual strong delegation in Odessa.

By the way, as of this writing the Tigers have no meet lined up for themselves this weekend and may take a rest from the track and field before taking part in the "big one" a week hence in Odessa.

Lamesa Wins Playoff Spot

BIG SPRING—Lamesa's Queens crowned a regional playoff berth here Monday on the strength of a 23-23 volleyball triumph over District 3-AAA co-champ Snyder.

The Snyder girls won easily over the Queens in the final regularly-scheduled game of the season to earn co-championship status, as teams finished their campaigns with 5-1 records.

Monday's loss was due in a large part to ineffectiveness at the serving line, as the Tigerettes missed 10 serves during the evening.

In a serving capacity, Lynda Williams was tops for Snyder with nine.

Lamesa led at the half, 23-8.

DISTRICT BASEBALL OPENER IN SIGHT

Snyder's baseballers have been taking their lungs recently, as their foes have been feeding off their pitchers to an uncomfortable extent, and the team as a whole has yet to find its batting eye.

Following Saturday's Monterey doubleheader (Snyder dropped both, falling to 1-2 in the nightcap) the team's batting average dropped to .192. Also, the last two .300 hitters on the club fell below that mark, when Keith Moreland plummeted from .333 to .282 and Steve Frepp dropped from .317 to .288.

Only four other Tigers are managing to hit .300 or better—Jerry Franks at .275, Spicer Dyer at .260, injured Eddy Kirby at .233 and Freddy Miller at .200.

HOW THE OL' BALL BOUNCES

Ever shoot a birdie on a hole and still get beat on that hole? Change are slim that you had, but such was the experience Saturday in the case of Dub Holt.

He and Speedy Moffitt, both teachers in the local system, were touring the Snyder Country Club layout when the oddity occurred on the eighth hole, a five-par dogleg to the right.

Hitting a wood, his second shot, Moffitt drove the green. His ball came to rest approximately three feet from the cup. Holt was short in two. Ben approached for a 10-foot putt and sank it for his bird.

Refusing to yield under the pressure, Moffitt stepped up and tapped his in for an eagle three.

And A Parting Note... Just like Eddie had said all

MORELAND DESERVED BETTER

Moreland deserved better in the aforementioned second game of the Monterey twin bill. He was touched for only five hits in losing 1-0, which on almost any other day would have been more than adequate for victory.

It's been a tough non-district haul for the local diamondmen, who have only two more games with Brownfield this Friday and next before their scheduled district opener April 17 against Colorado City. Their record is now 3-12, and they've had a real "baptism by fire" in encountering the cream of the West Texas AA crop.

The experience should prove valuable in the conference chase, even though the won-loss record is not nearly so bright as in previous years.

Spring Vacation Spree Good Adult Delinquency Example

BY INEZ ROBB

A big, fat gold medal is long overdue the sage who first said, "There are no juvenile delinquents—only adult delinquents."

In Florida the greedy adults who run the city of Daytona Beach are doing their best to win the title and prove the truth of that statement.

With the lure of free beer, free jazz, all-night dances and anything-goes latitude, the city fathers of Daytona Beach have set out to entice from Fort Lauderdale the annual infestation of uninhibited and unchaperoned high school and college students whose spring vacation antics at the latter city have not only set a national pattern but have become a national scandal.

Daytona Beach wants a big cut of the $3,000,000 tab that the notorious, disorderly and amoral crowd of students reportedly spent a year ago in Fort Lauderdale, where beer riots by as many as 5,000 students kept the city in a turmoil for hours in '61. Daytona officials hope to avoid riots by liberal distribution of free suds.

"Everybody here is as friendly as can be," Clyde Earls, a Junior at Georgia Tech who is spring at Daytona Beach, told a reporter. "Last night one city official came over and handed us a key to the yacht club and told us a bunch of girls would be there."

They wrote the reporter for The New York Times, which publishes "All the News that's Fit to Print." "With his bloodshot eyes lighting up, he drawled, 'We had a time.'"

There is, indeed, a unique instant of hospitality. But, as Jack McDevitt of the Daytona Beach Chamber of Commerce is quoted as saying, "If we get through this year without an incident, next year we could have a gold mine."

However, there must be a great many Americans around the nation who believe it would take a strong stomach to enjoy gold from such a mine. Still, there is one thing to be said for commercial interests of Daytona Beach: While they may be bucking for the All-American Adult Delinquency Award of 1962, they surely have built and prospered on adult delinquency that began in the home.

The mass migration of unchaperoned high school and college students to resorts on both the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts for lost week ends or lost vacations of sand, sex and suds, did not begin with adult delinquency in Fort Lauderdale, or Newport, or Laguna Beach. It began and it continues with adult delinquency in the homes of students who are spinelessly supplied with parental-permission and parental fund for such excursions.

A few years ago, a novel, subsequently made into a movie, plainly documented for parents what newspapers had recorded for a long period. Now it is obvious that book and movie, "Where the Boys Are," had no more effect on delinquent parents than newspaper reports of youth riots, drunkenness and promiscuity.

Nor is it to be hoped that a long, carefully documented report on this situation in the April issue of McCall's Magazine, a docket that ought to curl parental hair, will have any more effect on adult delinquents than past disclosures.

The article by Samuel Grafton, a highly-respected journalist, is called, "When Youth Runs Wild, and says, in part, 'At this Easter season, not all young people are gathering in church. Crowds of men are converging on the popular resorts in every region of this country, for try-an-anything frolics and often end in the vulgarity and viciousness of youth riots—a phenomenon of our times. Surprisingly, they will be boys and girls you know. Isn't it time we stopped saying, 'Kids will be kids?'"

The easy answer to that question is: "YES". But there is no easy answer when the adult delinquents who are the parents of these kids bear the real guilt for having abdicated their responsibility as parents. And when adult delinquents of a community like Daytona Beach decide to exploit the situation for a fast buck.

Just Living Complicated For Holden

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—"Living today is like trying to commit the perfect crime," remarked William Holden. "Everything has to be considered."

The globe has become a series of commuter stops—for Holden, and airplane schedules his favorite reading matter.

One of the world's busiest as well as highest-paid actors, Bill in the last decade has hopped-scotched the continents to make his films. A couple of years ago he had a backlog of a dozen movie commitments now he has none to July five.

This haphazard schedule keeps Holden in a state of almost chronic anxiety, a situation he both likes and deplores.

"I'm too often worried about a lot of little things, ridiculous things like whether I'm going to be two minutes late to an appointment," he said.

"But, on the other hand, I think that if you don't consider the small things as important, you aren't likely to get the big things done."

"The trouble with most people is that they think big, but—" he left the sentence unfinished.

Holden, whose next film will be made in Paris, was here for a breather after completing his last two pictures, one in Germany, Denmark and Sweden; and one filmed in Africa.

A warm spring sun shone invitingly outside, but Bill preferred to relax in his hotel room in a pair of slippers and a blue silk robe from Hong Kong.

"I just feel like resting," he said, but jumped up every few minutes to take a long distance business call from Hollywood or Europe.

Bill has two retreats from the worldly clamor for his talents—his home in Switzerland and the Mt. Kenya Safari Club in Africa, which he and two partners bought after a hunting trip in 1959.

Critics have pointed out that living in Switzerland has given the actor certain tax advantages unavailable to most Americans.

"I can commute there from any studio in Europe and spend weekends with my family," he said, "and our children get certain educational advantages. They have become trilingual during our three years there."

The millionaire actor likes the pace of his life. He lives by the creed of the old Chinese philosopher, Lao-tzu: "To do is to be."

"When I am 'gone,'" said Holden, "I don't want them to say—'Well, after all, he had enough.' I want them to say, 'He had more than enough.'"

And chances are they will.

East Germany Keeps Vigil On Diplomats

BERLIN (AP)—Being a diplomat for Communist East Germany is no easy job, says an unofficial West Berlin intelligence agency.

Information Bureau West said a member of the East German trade mission in Cairo decided he couldn't take it any more and defected.

He reported that members of East German missions in capitalist or neutral countries must send and receive all private mail through the office where superiors can check the letters.

They must surrender passports and air line tickets to the office.

Anyone who wants to spend more than two hours outside his home after 8 p.m. must notify the mission chief.

Junior Editors Quiz on ATHLETICS

QUESTION: When and where did the Olympic Games originate?

ANSWER: The Olympic Games began in ancient Greece. They were part of a festival honoring Zeus, the chief Greek god, who lived, the Greeks believed, on Mount Olympus. Every four years from sometime before 776 B.C. Greeks competed for the high honor of winning an Olympic competition. Winners were given a branch of wild olive and were national heroes.

The ancient games began just as one foot race, the length of the stadium. Later everything from broad jumps to chariot racing was added. A Roman emperor abolished the games in 394 A.D. At the end of the last century, Baron Pierre de Coubertin decided to campaign for a revival of the games. Part of the glory of ancient Greece, he believed, was its emphasis on sport. Greeks considered a good, strong body as important as a good, strong mind. It could do no harm, the Baron said, and possibly might do much good if the nations of the world could forget their differences just once every four years and meet together to compete in international sports. He was successful. The first games of the new series were held in Athens in 1896. They have taken place every four years since that time in various countries, except during the World War years. The next games will be in Tokyo in 1964.

FOR YOU TO DO: Set up an Olympic Games of your own. List the different meets you want to include, in categories such as gymnastics, track, boxing, cycling. You can divide into three or more teams or each person can compete individually in all of the matches.

(Ken Stegall of Fort Mill, S. C. wins $10 for this question. Send your questions on a postcard to Junior Editors, in care of this newspaper.)

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

MEXICO CITY—There are many curious accounts of incidents which take place in the backwoods of Mexico. And one of these events, a story which would make even Mr. Alfred Hitchcock, the Hollywood mystery man, sit up and take notice was made known to me by Mr. Jamie Cabrera.

Mr. Cabrera, being an old newspaper editor, is hep on leg-ends of the backwoods. And I would not doubt the veracity of his accounts for a single moment. Well, it seems there was this village in the peaceful wilds of southern Mexico, where folks were law-abiding and serene, was almost monotonous. Until along came the annual spreading an epidemic of confusion.

For the uninformed, a nahual is a half-man half-animal creature who inhabits jungles and dedicates himself to such interesting things as the pursuit of young maidens. Now the presence of this nahual was made known one day, by a comely maiden who happened to lose a foot race to him by a small but significant margin. Mr. Cabrera heard it first hand.

The ensuing chaos was frightful and it assumed cataclysmic proportions a few days later when a second maiden announced likewise.

This resulted in a howling clamor for justice by the same citizens who strongly disapprove of their ladies losing foot races of this type to anyone.

Unfortunately, the paths of justice were blocked by a lack of description of the culprit. It was not known, for instance, which half was man or which half was animal. The nahual having been seen only by those who were victimized and the experience was too distressing to even speak of.

Every place except home was put off limits for all females, regardless of age or civil status. But those familiar with the speed and wiles of a nahual will not be shocked to know that a couple of years later, the village was filled with outrun ladies and the population had nearly doubled.

At an emergency meeting (all male) one evening, it was decided after much discussion that things were frankly in a bad way. And the mayor drafted all able-bodied men into service as vigilantes. This corps was composed of the ex-justice of the peace, who had turned barber after the marriage business went on the rocks; the local Don Juan; the village half-wit known as El Loco since he was no mental firecracker although husky enough; the three storekeepers and two gentlemen who were great herbers by trade.

The Mayor led his army on a couple of fruitless nocturnal expeditions. Complete disasters. The barber got lost and the storekeepers spent several hours looking for him. The Don Juan walked into a tree and his colleagues had to carry him to the river at midnight to revive him. They found El Loco sitting on the bank fishing. And all he had caught was a cold.

So a new system was organized and intelligence agents were hidden along all trails leading out of the village. They described the night traffic of ladies as unusual.

By congregating a little further down the trails every evening (nobody but a nahual could outdistance these gals), the agents managed to discover the center of nahual activities. A grove of mango trees where all trails converged.

And on the night of the Great Action, the grove was well ambushed by gentlemen armed with clubs, stones and considerable malice.

And into the grove slipped this maiden who quietly walked to the nahual, leaning against a tree minding his own business in such a fashion that no one had noticed him.

It is said that the ensuing melee resulted in great chunks of real estate being torn up and considerable mauling of all involved. But when the last club was splintered and the nahual sat in a dazed heap, someone struck a match and a great match and great gasp went up.

"My sainted mother—it is El Loco!" the mayor exploded. Thinking that maybe this boy was not such a halfwit after all.

At any rate, he was kept under close guard in the mayor's barn and the ladies and gentlemen of the village were engaged in a civic duel that threatened social dissolution. Even today, many of the men are said to still be doing their own cooking and sewing.

The law, however, is the law and justice was done.

They tied the Loco with heavy ropes and departed him by oxcart to the other side of the state. Where Mr. Cabrera reports the residents are having a terrible problem with a nahual now running loose in the jungle.

Efforts To End Strike To Continue

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Government efforts to settle the West Coast maritime strike resume in San Francisco Thursday. A session in Washington Monday produced no outward sign of progress.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg appealed personally to both sides for a quick end to the wage and fringe benefits dispute now in its third week.

The strike of three unions has tied 65 ships in mainland and Hawaii ports, has hit the West Coast economy and has posed a food shortage threat for Hawaii.

After hearing the secretary in the morning, union and shipper representatives spent the rest of Monday in sessions with Labor Department officials, but made no announcement.

Goldberg then named a special panel to meet with both sides in San Francisco Thursday.

He said he acted with the approval of President Kennedy.

Gov. William F. Quinn of Hawaii has appealed to Kennedy, and Sen. Hiram L. Fong of the island state had asked Labor Department officials several times for assistance in settling the dispute.

On the panel will be W. Willard Wertz, undersecretary of labor, who will serve as chairman; Robert H. Moore, deputy director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service; and James J. Buckley, a Harvard University professor and maritime labor expert.

Attending the Washington talks were J. Paul St. Sure, president of the Pacific Maritime Association; and Morris Weisbecker, secretary of the Sailors' Union of the World.

Negotiations are on a contract to follow one that expired Sept. 30. The strike began March 16 after talks broke down on what ship owners said was their final offer, an 11.8 per cent increase in wages and fringe benefits over three years. The unions want a 17 per cent hike.

In Honolulu, food began disappearing from market shelves for lack of replacement. The state's construction industry and small businesses were hit because of dwindling inventories and high operating costs.

Violence Flares In Dominican Republic

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—A policeman was shot dead in Santo Domingo Monday and at least one other person was reported killed in the third straight day of violence in this troubled republic.

Unknown gunmen firing from a speeding automobile killed the policeman and wounded two others. One man was reported killed and several wounded in street clashes in San Cristobal, 18 miles from Santo Domingo.

Initial Test Of Centaur Rocket Set

By HOWARD BENEDICT
 CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—After months of frustrating delays, the initial test flight of the high-energy Centaur space rocket is set for Friday.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced the two-stage rocket will be launched on an extended ballistic test flight in mid-May. The vehicle should reach an altitude of 300 miles before plunging back into the Atlantic Ocean, 1,173 miles from the starting point. No payload will be carried.

The test will provide the first flight data on how powerful liquid hydrogen will behave in space. The supercold fuel, which must be kept at a temperature of 423 degrees below zero, provides 40 per cent better performance than chemical fuels employed in present U.S. rocket engines.

Two liquid hydrogen engines with total thrust of 30,000 pounds drive the second stage of the 107-foot Centaur. The first stage is a modified Atlas missile with 37,000 pounds of thrust. This combination is capable of placing 3,300-pound satellites into earth orbit, landing 2,300 pounds on the moon, or hurling 1,300 pounds to Mars or Venus.

These weights are considerably greater than the capability of this nation's biggest present space booster, the Atlas-Agena B. Centaur is expected to fill a gap between Agena B and the more powerful Saturn class of boosters being developed.

Problems encountered in developing liquid hydrogen as a propellant delayed the launching nearly a year. NASA feels the troubles have been licked, but officials do not expect a perfect flight on the first try.

Ignition of the second stage is not a primary objective. Officials are more interested in how liquid hydrogen operates in the weightless environment of space.

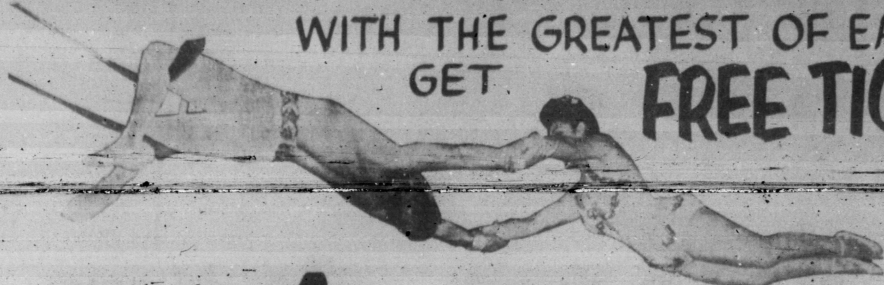

A television camera, designed to snap a picture every two seconds, has been mounted on the forward bulkhead of the hydrogen tank to observe what happens to the hydrogen—whether it curls up in a ball, sticks to the side of the tank or becomes gas. More than 500 channels of information will be radiated during flight.

The findings will set the pattern for future Centaur research flights, at least seven of which are planned before useful payloads are attached. Liquid hydrogen also will be used on upper stages of Saturn and later Nova space rockets.

Attempt For Record Fails

KERMIT (AP)—An attempt at a cross-country distance record ended in a crash landing of a Navy helicopter Monday night.

Its three crewmen escaped injury as the craft set down hard in sagebrush-dotted sand 10 miles west of Kermit in far West Texas.

Lt. Comdr. Robert Schock, the pilot, reported his instruments signaled fire in one of the two engines while the Sikorsky HSS-2 was flying at 6,000 feet.

"We had a lot of fuel on board," he said, "so we secured the engine and made a forced landing."

Rotor blades sliced off the tail and the impact smashed the landing gear.

The craft, from the Navy's Patuxent River, Md., air center, took off from San Diego, Calif., en route to Jacksonville, Fla. Its crew hoped to erase the world record of 1,217.1 miles for a helicopter flying in a straight line. Schock's home is at California, Md.

With him were Lt. (jg) Thomas Toia Jr. of Lexington Park, Md., and Av. 1, C. Joe McKeller of Patuxent River.

Another Navy helicopter flew the three men to Wink Based at San Diego, the rescue craft was at Webb Air Force Base outside Big Spring for the night.

Booklet Is Being Pulled

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government booklet on radioactive fallout and how to survive soon will no longer be available in post offices.

Officials said Monday night surplus copies of the booklet now in various post offices will be sent to a civil defense center at Battle Creek, Mich.

It will still be available through civil defense offices.

A Post Office spokesman said it was arranged when the booklet was first put out in January that it would remain in the post offices for three months.

Some 25 million copies of the 48-page booklet were printed. There was no immediate word on how many had been distributed through the post offices.

"They weren't included as part of regular mail deliveries, but they were there at the post offices."

Estes Case Echo Stirs Campaign

By The Associated Press
More echoes from the Billie Sol Estes case rang out in gubernatorial campaign Tuesday.

Candidate spokesmen about affairs of the West Texas financier while Estes was winning his release under $100,000 bond Monday on charges of conspiring to send fraudulent mortgages out of state.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson taped a 30-minute program for Tuesday night on 23 television stations. Aides said he would make a "point-by-point" analysis of the case.

Wilson flew to El Paso to confer with federal authorities investigating Estes. He planned to campaign at Tyler Tuesday.

Marshall Formby, another of the six Democrats opposing Gov. Price Daniel's reelection bid, called on the governor and Wilson to probe whether any state officials were involved in the Estes transactions.

Formby set out from Dallas on a handshaking tour across East Texas. Stops on his schedule Tuesday included Longview, Gladewater, Gilmer, Doeringfield and Mount Pleasant.

John Connally said in Hillsboro that as governor he proposed to appoint women to various state boards and commissions. At a news conference as he stumped from Fort Worth southward, Connally said the way to draw new industry was "first, get Texas out of the red."

On Connally's itinerary Tuesday were Beaumont, Orange and Port Arthur.

Daniel asserted Texas has the nation's most economical state government. Talking at a Temple reception, he added that only Tennessee spends less per capita on government operations.

Other appearances by the governor Monday were at Waco and Mexia. He is scheduled to attend a Junior Chamber of Commerce awards dinner Wednesday at Nacogdoches.

Edwin Walker, the former general, issued a statement predicting voters will watch with interest his testimony before a Senate committee Wednesday in Washington.

"Actions at Ft. Polk recently have brought further light on the deficiencies in our Army indoctrination programs, which have Billie J. Lloyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond D. Lloyd, is receiving advanced individual infantry training with the 100 Division at Fort Chaffee, Ark. He is due to complete the eight-week course on April 13.

Annual Musical Revue Scheduled

The music department of Snyder High School has set its Annual Musical Revue for Tuesday night, April 10, in the high school auditorium. Curtain time will be 8 o'clock.

Featured on the program will be the Black and Gold Concert Band under the direction of Melvin Montgomery and assistant director, Charles Shaw. Also featured on the revue will be the A Capella Choir under the direction of Roger Gee. Rounding out the evening of music will be the high school orchestra.

At 8 o'clock, from classic to jazz and popular music will be presented on the program. Tickets priced at $1 for adults and 50 cents for students and children are now on sale by members of the choir and band. Proceeds from the concert will be used to help defray expenses of the band in the Tri-State Music Festival at Enid, Okla. and the choir to the Baccaneer Music Festival at Corpus Christi.

Twist Is Banned By Town's Selectmen

ACUSHNET, Mass. (AP) — The town has banned here because of new wrinkles.

The three-member Board of Selectmen outlawed the Twist Monday night because of variations in the dance, which Selectman Clement St. Amant termed "the most vulgar I've seen in my life."

St. Amant said if people can't do the Twist properly "they shouldn't be allowed to do it at all."

Being to the decree, officials of the Acushnet Junior High School Parent-Teachers Association agreed to discontinue weekly record hops.

Man's Occupation Is Burning Money

By RICHARD H. HOENIG
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Lots of people figuratively burn up money, Russell W. Goble makes an occupation out of it.

For him it's just part of a day's work to set fire to securities valued at $10 million, $20 million or even $30 million. Of course, they have all been canceled and carefully checked before the torch is applied.

For two years the 30-year-old Goble has done the crematorium work for the Chase Manhattan Bank. And he never has lost a night's sleep over the thought of paper once worth so much going up in flames.

What's his reaction?

"Well, it gets pretty hot up there when you're burning," he said. "Anyhow it's a detail, a job to be done and I guess I'm over-see of it at this end."

Banks are careful about destroying canceled securities because if they fall into unauthorized hands they could cause the issuing party untold administrative troubles.

Just about every week a collection of the carefully checked, canceled securities is loaded into padded steel trunks and taken to the Chase Manhattan's new head office building in the financial district. They are whisked non-stop to the 61st floor by elevator.

Electric shredding machines chop the securities into bits and hurl the pieces into a special furnace.

Before all this, a triple check has been completed by the bank's accounting and services division of which Goble is assistant supervisor.

Formal cremation certificates have been made out for each security in triplicate or even in four copies.

The bank files one copy forever. The others are returned to the issuing corporation which had given its approval for the cremation up to a year previously.

When the furnace is full Goble, a veteran of 34 years service with the bank, calmly sets fire to a whole bond-face, value $100,000, perhaps—and tosses it into the

Plans Made For Easter

A preliminary report on plans for the Easter Sunrise Service sponsored by the Ministerial Alliance and the Junior Chamber of Commerce was given to the ministers of the alliance at their regular monthly meeting at noon Monday.

The meeting was held at Sallie's Dining Room under the chairmanship of the Rev. Curtis Fletcher, who presided in the absence of President Jimmie Nelson. The invocation was offered by the Rev. D. W. Copeland of Knapp Baptist Church, while Rev. Yeats of Hermligh gave the benediction.

Engine Goes To Museum

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The New York Central Railroad's famed steam engine "999" is headed for Chicago's National Museum of Science and Industry.

No. 999 was the first steam-driven machine to exceed 100 miles an hour, while pulling a passenger train.

On May 10, 1933, the engine was clocked at 112 m.p.h. west of Batavia, on a run from Rochester to Buffalo with the Empire State Express. Charlie Hogan was the engineer.

The engine has been out of service for 30 years, stored in a shop in De Witt, near Syracuse.

To men of the steam engine era, the trip to Chicago is something less than glamorous. Old "999" will be towed backwards by a diesel engine. It will arrive in Chicago Saturday.

Crude Flow Up Slightly

TULSA (AP) — U.S. oil production increased less than one percent—60,000 barrels per day—during the first quarter of 1962, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

The magazine said average daily output of crude oil and lease condensate in the first quarter was 7,586,000 barrels per day, compared with 7,526,000 in 1961.

Production last week was down an average of 2,270 barrels a day, to 7,337,085, the Journal said, and most areas showed only minor changes.

Figures for last week, with the previous week's production in parentheses, included Arkansas (6,000 (119,600)); Louisiana, 1,333,000 (1,333,000); Oklahoma, 383,900 (589,300); and Texas, 2,502,520 (2,502,520).

A DAILY VIEW From me to you

Rev. R. Charles Spivey

"But you have come to Mount Zion and to the City of the living God. . . And to Jesus, the mediator of a new covenant, and the sprinkled blood that speaks more graciously than the blood of Abel."

Hebrews 12:22-24 (read verses 28-29)

In the fourth chapter of the book of Genesis we find the story of Cain and Abel. Cain murders his brother Abel in the field and when God comes walking through the field, Abel's blood cries out from the ground. It is then that God questions Cain about Abel. Abel's blood has spoken eloquently, crying out for justice, and God hears and metes out justice.

Contrast this with the blood of Jesus, "shed for many unto the remission of sin." We are all like Cain. We all have sinned; we have been apart of the mocking crowd standing at the foot of the Cross. We have been the soldiers hammering the nails into the hands of Jesus to keep them from healing and helping; we have been the indifferent crowd watching through glazed and uncompassioned eyes at the Christ dragging his cross to Calvary. But His blood shed there does not cry out for justice. It cries, "Father, forgive them for they know not what they do." God hears that eloquent plea and forgives you and me. In the face of this forgiveness and great love, I give my life to Him.
