WTCC Leader Asks West Texas To Aid Tech In Campaign

Letters calling attention to Texas Technological college participation in the Cotton bowl football game in Dallas Jan. 2 have been addressed to all directors of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce by W. S. Hilburn of Plainview, president, according to notification received by the local chamber today.

"Let's get further recognition for West Texas by getting Texas Tech into the Southwest conference," is one suggestion contained in the letter from Hilburn, who is publisher of the Plainview Daily Herald.

The letter follows:

"The West Texas Chamber of Commerce, as an organization, isn't particularly football conscious, but most West Texans are and most of our members personally follow the game with interest. There has happened, however, a noteworthy event in Texas football circles that greatly concerns West Texas. It is the recognition given our own Texas Technological college football team of 1938 in its invitation to play in the Cotton bowl game at Dallas.

"The thrill of two great teams from our area—T.C.U. Horned Frogs at the Sugar bowl and Tech Red Raiders at the Cotton bowl—reminded me of a long-entertained belief that Texas Tech should have the first available berth in the Southwest conference.

"Being highly sectional-conscious, I felt the honor Tech has brought to West Texas deserves our recognition and cooperation. Let's get further recognition for West Texas by getting Texas Tech in the Southwest conference.

"Timely letters to your individual connections in Fort Worth, Dallas and other influential centers might be very helpful in gaining Tech's Red Raiders admission to the con-

Dallas Judge Lets It Be Known He Doesn't Like Rangers In His Courtroom To Protect Negroes

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Dec. 13 -- District Judge Claude McCallum has let it be known that he doesn't like the idea of Texas Rangers coming into his court to stand guard during another outbreak of the negro juror problem at the Dallas county courthouse.

Five Texas Rangers stood guard over three negroes in a jury room yesterday and when Judge McCallum heard about it he criticized the person responsible for asking for them.

"I've Got More Authority"

"Rangers have no business in this court, whether Governor Allred sends them or not," Judge McCallum said. "I've got more authority than Allred, the adjutant in charge of Rangers or anyone else inside this court room. If I'd known they were here, I would have ordered them out too."

The Rangers took up positions around the jury room after the negroes, G. A. Gallaway, Ed Bryant and P. T. Simmons, refused to leave the room.

Ordered To Leave

Two of them—Bryant and Gallaway — accepted $3 as payment for one day's services after being ordered to leave by Judge McCallum when they appeared on a panel

Several Texas Eleemosynary Buildings Are 'Fire Traps,' Allred Says In Message

BY RAY NEUMANN
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Dec. 13 — Governor James V. Allred today asserted several state eleemosynary institution buildings were "fire traps" and declared it was "nothing short of criminal" to confine unfortunate people in the structures.

The statement was made in the second part of an address to be delivered before the legislature prior to the inauguration of Governor-Elect W. Lee O'Daniel on Jan. 17. In the first part, made public two days ago, Allred urged the lawmakers, among other things, to provide $2,000,000 a year more for old age pensions and reviewed the accomplishments of his administration.

Request Is Made

Besides asking that eleemosynary buildings be fire-proofed the governor requested the legislators to:

Provide aid for the needy blind and the dependent children;

Obtain matching money for a teachers' retirement fund;

Expand the state's eleemosynary institution system, and,

Make Texas a member of the council of state governments.

Pointing out the federal government would augment state contributions, Allred estimated $300,000 annually would be needed for aid to the needy blind and $1,500,000 for dependent children. He recalled the people had authorized the legislature to provide for these social security measures by voting a constitutional amendment in 1937.

Said Legislature's Duty

The governor said it was "the duty of this legislature" to furnish matching funds to the teachers contributions for the retirement plan voted by amendment two years ago.

He said the state auditor had re-

Edens Visiting U. S. Capital

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13. — Anthony Eden, smilingly denying that he had any official mission in Washington, began a two-day visit in the capital today with the assertion he expected to see "numerous officials informally."

These officials included President Roosevelt. His talks were expected to include what he had earlier described as a hope to learn "something of the American outlook on foreign affairs."

CONFERS WITH ROOSEVELT
WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP) — Anthony Eden, Britain's former foreign minister, and President Roosevelt sat down together in the White House today for an exchange of views.

The dapper ex-secretary for British foreign affairs refused to discuss reports that he might soon reenter the British cabinet.

Eden's plans for the day called for a visit to the state department to meet Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, who will take him to the White House. His noon appointment was an off-the-record address at the National Press club. Next came a trip to Mount Vernon to see the home and tomb of George Washington, who led the Revolution which ended British rule in this country, and the tomb of his great-great-grandfather, Sir Robert Eden, the last governor of colonial Maryland.

After another visit, at the Lin-

Hidden Taxes In Sales Cited In Report

Total Of $97,207 Will Go For Levies, Consumers Tax Report Reveals

A $635,340 Christmas was forecast this year for Lubbock retailers by the National Consumers Tax Commission in a survey indicating nation-wide Yule sales approaching two billion dollars.

The "holiday business" estimate was based not only on reports from department and specialty stores, but on figures from all retail lines, including drug, food, furniture, hardware, household furnishings, jewelry, automotive, dry goods, novelty and variety stores, the report said.

Christmas shoppers in this city's stores will pay, most of them unknowingly, $97,207 in hidden taxes, according to the report released today at NCTC headquarters in Chicago by Mrs. Kenneth C. Frazier, president.

Average Of $8.38

An average of $8.38 apiece will be paid in indirect levies by families in this state, whose Christmas expenditures are expected to equal $54.78, the study showed. It explained that while most families will spend less than this estimate, expenditures of those in the upper income group will bring the average to that figure.

Mrs. Volney W. Taylor of Brownsville is NCTC national committee member in Texas.

Add To Price

In releasing the survey, Mrs. Frazier declared, "hidden taxes not only add to the price of Christmas purchases, but to the price of food, clothing and other year-round necessities as well."

There are more than 1800 commission units from coast to coast, Mrs. Frazier said. She described the NCTC as a "non-partisan women's organization designed to analyze as taxes, and combat those that penalize the consumer."

Five Sentenced By U. S. Judge

Five persons, who plead guilty to charges of using the U. S. mails to defraud in connection with a so-called eye specialist racket, were sentenced this morning by Judge T. Whitfield Davidson.

Passing of sentence came following a lengthy detail of circumstances involved in the case by Capt. C. W. Long, Dallas, veteran postoffice inspector, who worked up the evidence for the federal government.

Immediately after the close of the criminal case, Judge Davidson took up civil matters, hearing arguments on motions.

Given Three Years

Sentenced were:

FARM ACT PRAISED

Farm Bureau's Leader Says AAA Sound

Edward A. O'Neal Declares Criticism Directed At Act On Prices Is Unfair

(By The Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 13 —Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, said in his annual address today that the Agricultural Adjustment act of 1938, "coupled with the soil conservation act, the marketing agreements act and allied legislation, gives us the best all-around farm program we have ever had."

Farmers from throughout the nation assembled for the opening of the federation's annual meeting after attending sectional discussions yesterday.

"Severe criticism has been directed at the farm program, principally on the ground that cotton and wheat prices are distressingly low," O'Neal said.

Law Passed Too Late

"Such criticism is unfair, because everybody knows that the law was passed too late for wheat growers to comply on their 1938 crop; and everybody knows too that the cotton surplus that hords the price down was not produced in 1938 — it was produced in 1937, when there was no control program in force.

"I ask you where cotton and corn and butterfat prices would be today if there had been no program this year. Compare the farm income this year with the 1932 figure, and then say candidly whether or not our programs have helped the farmer.

O'Neal defended the acreage reduction features of the farm program, and warned farmers not to be misled by talk about plans for unlimited production with an

Faulty Flue Is Blamed In Fire Which Snuffs Out Three Lives

GRAND COULEE, Wash., Dec. 13. (AP) — Investigating officers blamed a faulty flue today for a fire which snuffed out the lives of three children in a log cabin about five miles north of this Grand Coulee dam site last night.

The victims were Bernice Norton, 12, her brother, Glen, 6, and Geneva Picard, 5. They were children of Mrs. Lydia Norton, a widow, and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Picard of Nespelem.

Their charred bodies were found together in a corner after the flames, which flared up while their mothers were at a neighbor's for the evening, had subsided. State Patrolman William Kellogg said the youngsters apparently had tried vainly to reach a window.

Plans Made For Friday's Game

All Lubbock city schools will start early and close early Friday for the Lubbock - Masonic Home football game, according to announcement this morning by W. B. Irvin, city superintendent.

The same plan was followed last Friday when the Westerners moved into the semi-finals of the state interscholastic league championships by defeating Breckenridge.

Classes Start at 8 A. M.

Classes will start at 8 o'clock and schools will close at noon, Irvin said. Buses will be operated to conform to that schedule.

Indications in the meanwhile are, the superintendent said, that more out-of-town students may see the game than any other which has been played on the South Plains. A number have asked for tickets to be sold in their schools, indicating that delegations will attend.

Invitations Are Extended

Firearms And Ammunition Are Taken

J. B. Knight Hardware Is Looted; No Cash Or Other Merchandise Is Taken

(Special To The Journal)

BROWNFIELD, Dec. 13— Burglars struck in Brownfield Monday night, to continue a wave of breakins that were reported over the weekend at Littlefield, Jayton and Girard.

Breaking through a skylight and letting themselves into the J. B. Knight Hardware store on the west side of the public square here, burglars escaped with four expensive guns, several other less valuable firearms and a quantity of assorted ammunition for shotguns, rifles and pistols.

An inch and a quarter rope they had stolen before the break-in was left in the store, last year known as Hudgens & Knight Hardware company, said S. C. White of Brownfield, deputy sheriff.

Missing merchandise was listed early this morning as:

One automatic 16-gauge shotgun; one 12-gauge shotgun; one Winchester automatic .22 calibre rifle; one Remington automatic .22 rifle; one Winchester bolt action .22 short rifle; one cheaper rifle, and several cartons of shells for shotguns, rifles and pistols.

Cash Register Not Rifled

No attempt to rifle cash registers or drawers was made said the deputy sheriff.

"They wore gloves, and there were no fingerprints," he said. "When they got ready to leave the store, they just left the rope and let themselves out the back door."

Sheriff John Sartin assisted Sheriff Ches Gore in sifting of clues, but there was no announcement late this morning to indicate an immediate arrest.

O'Daniel's Visit To Detroit Is Two-Fold

FORT WORTH, Dec. 13. —Governor-Elect W. Lee O'Daniel's visit to Detroit will be two-fold: to interview Henry Ford on industrialization and confer with Oscar M. Powell of Washington, executive director of the Social Security board, on pensions.

O'Daniel and family left here yesterday and will reach Detroit tonight. They went by way of St. Louis and Chicago.

The governor-elect, whose platform when he ran for office included industrialization of the state and pensions for all over 65, will visit Ford at his Dearborn home tomorrow and during the afternoon will confer with Powell. The O'Daniels will also go to Akron, Ohio, in response to an invitation from Russell A. Firestone, spending Thursday there. He will visit Firestone's tire factories and rubber plants.

O'Daniel said his conference with Ford would be to learn all he can about industrialization and how such ideas can best be made applicable to Texas.

McChesney, 96, a former stage coach driver across the plains, saves old newspapers and sells them in half ton lots. Most of the money goes to pay the cost of a headstone to mark his grave.

Continue Probe On Smuggling

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—A federal grand jury today continued its investigation of Albert N. Chaperau's connections with some of Hollywood's brightest luminaries following Comedian George Burns' plea of guilty yesterday to a charge of buying smuggled jewelry from the Polish-born film importer.

The film and radio star, "straight man" of the comedy team of Burns and Allen (Gracie Allen, his wife) was one of the several movie players to whom Chaperau's correspondence led federal agents.

With an expression glumer than any that ever greeted Gracie's zany remarks, Burns hastened into the federal courthouse yesterday, solemnly pleaded guilty, replied to all newspapermen's questions with a curt "no comment" and fled back to West coast by plane.

He is expected to return and testify for the government when Chaperau and Mrs. Ergar J. Lauer, wife of a supreme court justice, go on trial—possibly next week—on smuggling charges. Mrs. Lauer, who has been ill, is scheduled to be arraigned tomorrow.

Postpones Sentencing

Judge William Bondy postponed sentencing of Burns until after the Chaperau trial, indicating that leniency might be given the comedian, although he technically is subject to maximum penalties of 18 years imprisonment and fines totaling $45,000. Assistant U. S. At-

Editor Gives Italian View In Newspaper

French May Be Asked To Give Concessions For Shipping At Port Of Djibouti

(By The Associated Press)

ROME, Dec. 13—Virginio Gayda, authoritative Fascist editor, sounded Italy's demand today for an open door to her Ethiopian empire through French Somaliland.

He indicated the least Italy would ask of France would be better and cheaper shipping facilities at the port of Djibouti, a larger share in the Djibouti-Addis Ababa railroad and reduction in rates, and an end to alleged anti-Italian activity in the French colony.

Charges Opposition Base

Gayda, writing in his Il Giornale D'Italia, charged Djibouti not only was a base for French opposition to Italy's colonial expansion but a parasite feeding on "the blood of Italian shipping and labor."

Since the Fascist anti-French agitation began Nov. 30, the editor has aired grievances against France in Tunisia and a desire for lower tolls and a share in control of the Suez canal.

Names Of Streets Changed

While Gayda continued to expound against France, the city of Pesaro on the Adriatic coast, changed the names of three streets to Nizza (Nice), Corsica and Tunisia, French territories which figured in the Italian clamor.

The editor, who is close to Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano, charged that Djibouti "always has been an active center of France's war, silent but continuous, against Italian interests."

He alleged the city was a center of anti-Fascist activity from which Tecle Hawriate, former Ethiopian diplomat, still was sending encouragement to rebel bands holding out against the Italians in Ethiopia.

McCraw Rules On Oath Date

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Dec. 13 — Attorney General William McCraw ruled in an opinion Monday that:

(1) The official oath of a state official might be legally taken on Sunday when that day was the commencement of his term;

(2) That a state official might take the oath any time after he received his certificate of election but he might not begin to exercise official authority until the commencement of his term.

The question was raised by G. A. Jerry Sadler who will become a member of the railroad commission in January, having defeated the veteran C. V. Terrell for re-election.

Because January 1 falls on Sunday it is of interest to officials throughout the state whose terms begin on that date.

McCraw said the law was settled that the administration of an oath was a "ministerial act" and ministerial acts might legally be executed on Sunday.

He concluded "the official oath of a state official for Texas may be legally taken on Sunday when that day comes as the commencement of his term."

be here. Tickets will be available to them at the 50-cent student rate.

However, he warned, those tickets cannot be bought at the 50-cent price at the gate because there will be no way to identify applicants as students at that time. But school officials in other towns wanting supplies are assured that they will be sent immediately upon request.

Demand Sets Record

The demand locally, according to announcement at the high school, has been in excess of that for any previous game this season so far in advance. The same prices prevail and the same system of distribution as in the Breckenridge game.

Admission prices are 50 cents for students, $1 for adults and $1.25 for bix seats. It will be strictly a case of first come, first served. The choice reserved seats will go to the first who apply. When those seats are exhausted, the admission still will be 50 cents and $1.

Welcome Is Planned

Information still was lacking as to what mode of transportation will be used to bring Masonic Home and Fort Worth adherents to the game. If word is received as to when the fans will arrive, the high school band will be out to greet them and to participate in a warm welcome.

The giant killers themselves are scheduled to arrive here Wednesday morning and will drill at Tech field that afternoon, according to word received here late Monday.

Meantime, according to observers at the high school this morning, members of the Westerner squad seem fully awake to the job which confronts them. If there has been a tendency to belittle the Masons' chances because they happen to be small, that idea is fading.

However, observers still are fearful that if the Westerners should pile up a lead, they may begin taking things easy. And that will be just what the Masons will be playing for—will be setting up for them the conditions they have faced in every important game on their schedule this season. With their opponents lulled into over-confidence, the Masons have struck and have won by narrow margins.

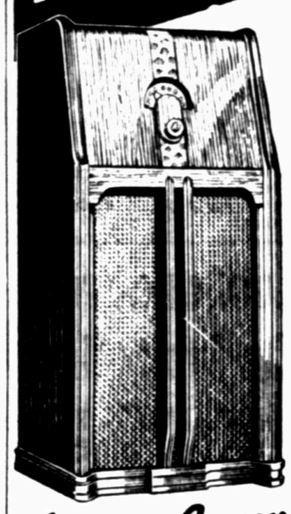

"So Is A Bumblebee"

"Our boys can't let up an instant if they want to win that game," was the observation of Irvin, who saw the Masons beat Highland Park of Dallas last Saturday. "The Masons are small. But so is a bumblebee. And no bumblebee is more alert to opportunity than those boys from Fort Worth, and no bumblebee has a worse stinger than the Masons with their passes."

The Masonic Home aggregation, according to word to local school officials, is apt to be the best conditioned of any which ever has played on a Lubbock field. The excellence of their condition has been demonstrated in their previous games when they bounced back like rubber balls from hard knocks.

As pointed out here, their splendid condition is easy to understand. In the Home they are under constant and expert supervision. They get sleep when they need it, the right kind of food, and the right kind of exercise. All that combines into a mode of living which likely will mean that they will be the freshest and strongest last-quarter team the Westerners ever have faced.

Five Sentenced

counts 2 and 3, suspended for five years.

W. C. Austin, Fort Worth attorney, represented Atwood, Appling and Dr. Rutledge and D. A. Webb represented the Rasburys. Both men made brief statements to Judge Davidson on behalf of their clients.

District Attorney Clyde O. Eastus said the government "had spent $5,000 to $6,000" in prosecuting the case and running down evidence.

Judge Davidson said he was interested in seeing that the two victims of the alleged racket, Misses Blanche and Lucy Cullen of near Lovington, N. M., were repaid.

Given 30 Days To Repay

"I give you, Rutledge, 30 days in which to repay this money ($795) to the victims," said the court. "You do not have to go and see them. I suspend sentence on you provided you pay to the U. S. marshal by Jan. 16, this money and that you abandon this racket and go straight."

In discussing the case the court said, "I can't think of a word to describe the meanness of this act."

Rutledge explained that if his license as an optometrist was not taken away, he could earn enough to repay the money. His attorney said he had excellent credit in his home town.

Read Previous Record

The district attorney, representing the government read a purported previous record of Atwood. Rutledge is 61 or 62 years old, his attorney said, and the elder Rasbury about as old.

The federal grand jury late yesterday returned its first indictments. Another batch, five cases, were returned this morning. Because not all defendants were under bond or held, names were not announced.

Indicted were, Guy Nickels, J. A. Nickels, deceased, charged with falsely and fraudulently representing themselves to be producers of 28 bales of cotton, or 14,219 pounds, on which a loan of $863.40 was secured and R. C. Burleson, Bill Burleson and B. L. Thompson, charged with falsely and fraudulently representing themselves as producers of 13 bales of cotton, or 6,656 pounds, on which $466.17 was secured as a loan.

All four defendants were free on bond, it was said at the clerk's office.

Roy Homer Henry, 18, and Forest J. Kinney, 21, charged with theft of a motor car and transporting it to Sweetwater, were given 13 months each in El Reno, Okla., federal reformatory, on their plea of guilty. Both youths made pleas for clemency, but were denied by Judge T. Whitfield Davidson.

Fine of $50 each, on their plea of guilty to a charge of violation of the federal food and drug act was imposed by Judge Davidson on Arno and R. R. Struve, Abernathy. R. H. Bean, attorney, represented them and William P. Fenville, assistant district attorney, the government.

Gordon B. Temple, charged with theft from a postoffice lock box, was given 6 months in jail, suspended for three years, on his plea of guilty.

Four New Citizens

Four new citizens were given naturalization papers in the clerk's office, after a ceremony and examination in the court room before Judge Davidson, conducted by R. A. Scott, Tucson, Ariz., acting naturalization examiner. They were: Hassen Hamed Cabool, O'Donnell, who asked his name be changed to C. H. Cabool and Abou Ali Hassine, also of O'Donnell, who asked his name be changed to Hassine Collie, both former citizens of Syria and Lebanon; Demtrius George Catsarus, of Littlefield, who asked his name be changed to James George Catrous, former citizen of Greece and Sister Annie Mary Fleming of Slaton, who asked her name be changed to Sister Mary Cecelia Fleming. She was a former citizen of Ireland.

Following a conference between Judge Davidson and W. P. Walker, assistant U. S. district attorney, it was announced a number of crop loan suits, filed by the government, would be heard Wednesday morning. Nine cases were consolidated into one case, said Walker.

Chinese Claim Japs Occupy Only One-Seventh Of Conquered Area

War Is In Its 526th Day

(By The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, Dec. 13 — Chinese military leaders asserted today that Japanese armies occupy only about one-seventh of the area of eleven provinces included in the principal zone of the Japanese invasion.

The Chinese said the invaders occupy only 119 hsien, or counties, in the eleven provinces, which have a total area of 550,000 square miles and 375,000,000 population.

(This 550,000 square miles is only about one-fourth of China's total area, but it includes nearly all of China that figures in world trade.

(The Chinese claim apparently is based on the relatively small area actually garrisoned by Japanese troops).

The undeclared war was in its 526th day today, with opposing armies of more than 2,000,000 men embattled over one of the most widespread fighting fronts in history.

Despite severe but unspectacular fighting on all fronts, the situation changed little last week.

Methodists Pledge Funds For Home

Pledges toward the $125,000 budget for operation of the Methodist home in Waco next year are being sought among Methodist churches of Lubbock, according to announcement Monday.

Churches and their pastors here cooperating are First, Dr. L. N. Lipscomb; Asbury, Rev. W. E. Patterson, East Circuit, Rev. Audrey Ashley, and Lubbock Mission, Rev. C. T. Jackson.

The Northwest Texas conference, in which Lubbock is located, increased its donation from $12,200 in 1937 to $15,000 in 1938. Lubbock Methodists also clothe several children. They "adopt" a child and send a wardrobe of new clothes based on a given child's individual size, coloring and needs.

Without endowment, the home depends solely on free will offerings of the Methodists of the state and New Mexico for the support of its 405 orphaned children. For the last six years, Methodist Home graduates have been enrolled in Texas Technological college, and a number live in this area or have taught school within the Lubbock district.

Tunisia, a French protectorate, has an area of 48,300 square miles.

Dancer Is Pleasing In Recital Monday

Carola Goya, Spanish dancer, and Beatrice Buford, harpist, delighted a crowd of approximately 1,000 to whom they were presented in Senior High school auditorium Monday night in one of the season's Texas Technological college artist courses.

Carola Goya was accompanied at the piano by Emilio Osta.

She danced a dozen dances in as many costumes. All the dances were her own creations with exception of "Fandanguillo Gitano," one of the oldest dances in Spain.

Her presentations came from the classics, the semi-classics, and the folk dances—and in almost all she added humor and comedy. Her appeal was universal.

She was well-received and answered as many as three curtain calls after each dance. She changed costumes almost between curtains, the attendants had time only to read the next number on the program before she was ready for the next dance.

Beatrice Burford was presented in six numbers on the harp. She is nationally recognized as a harpist in her own right.

Downey Says WPA Must Go

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 — Sheridan Downey, Democratic senator-elect from California, said today the WPA "is demoralizing the country, and it has got to go."

Downey, who supported the $30-Every-Thursday pension plan in California, said the federal relief agency should be replaced by a national pension system costing several billions annually. He added he was drafting a national pension program, with payments starting at either 50 or 60.

Although saying he had not decided how the payments could be financed, the Californian asserted issuance of new currency might be one way.

When You Have Cold Troubles Do What 3 out of 5 Mothers Do
Here are 4 Proved Ways They Use to Relieve Discomforts of Colds

1 Head-Cold Sniffles and Misery. Melt a spoonful of Vicks VapoRub in a bowl of boiling water, then inhale the steaming vapors. These medicated vapors loosen phlegm, clear air-passages, make breathing easier. Then, at bedtime, massage throat and chest with VapoRub; leave bed-covering loose around neck so the medicated vapors, released by body heat, can be inhaled freely during the night. VapoRub's direct action brings comfort—relieves local congestion—helps you relax into restful sleep. Often, by morning the worst of the cold is over.

2 Coughing or Sore Throat due to the cold. Use steam treatment outlined above. Also put a small lump of VapoRub on the tongue. It melts, trickles slowly down—bathes the throat with soothing medication which brings comforting relief to the irritated membranes and checks tendency to cough.

3 Night Coughs due to colds—especially of children—can often be prevented by massaging VapoRub on throat and chest at bedtime.

4 Chest Colds. Thoroughly massage VapoRub on throat, chest and back. Then spread a thick layer on the chest and cover with a warmed cloth. VapoRub goes right to work—two ways at once: (1) Direct through the skin like a poultice; (2) Direct on the irritated air-passages as its medicated vapors are inhaled with every breath. This direct double action loosens phlegm—eases coughing—clears the air-passages—eases muscular soreness or tightness—relieves local congestion.

Children's Colds are always a problem to mothers. Neglect is dangerous, because it often paves the way for more serious trouble. But constant internal dosing is risky, too. It often upsets a delicate little stomach, lowers resistance just when it is most needed to overcome the cold and ward off complications . . . It is for these reasons that most mothers depend on VapoRub to relieve the misery of their children's colds. With VapoRub there's no needless dosing, no risk of stomach upsets. It can be used freely; as often as needed, on even the youngest child.

Many Other Ways in which VapoRub can help you are described in the medically-approved directions folder that comes in each VapoRub package.

Sheppard Will Be Honored

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Dec. 13—More than 200 friends of U. S. Senator Morris Sheppard, are expected to assemble in Austin next Saturday to pay tribute to the senior senator at a testimonial banquet.

The occasion will be the formal unveiling of a portrait of Sheppard, which will hang beside those of his predecessors in the entrance corridor of the capitol.

The idea is an outgrowth of a movement started by O. O. Touchstone, a college mate of the senator, when he observed that an omission of his picture from the gallery of fifteen senators who had gone before him, had been overlooked during the thirty-six years of his continuous service in congress.

Coach P. W. Cawthon spoke briefly about the Cotton bowl tilt. J. Odd McLaughlin of Ralls made a short talk on what the people of the surrounding territory thought of Tech and the football team. Herschel Ramsey, former Raider captain, recounted some of his experiences in professional football.

Sponsors of the barbecue were: Alex McDonald, Joe Baldridge, Roy Furr, Earl Collins, and George Meiser. The steaks were barbecued by Dr. F. G. Harbaugh and students of the meats laboratory.

There were approximately 135 guests in attendance.

Westerners Favored For Champions

(By The Associated Press)

The Lubbock Westerners, sweeping down from the South Plains country, stood today as favorites to win the Texas schoolboy football championship — a goal other fine Lubbock teams have aspired to but failed to reach.

Amiable Weldon Chapman, who has been knocking around in the coaching profession for quite a few years, says little about his team but he has boys like Jumbo Webster to do the talking with big touchdown figures on the scoreboards.

Hinted At In September

Back in September it was bruited about at the annual coaching school that Lubbock would be tough. The sport writers made the Westerners favorites to win the Panhandle championship over the mighty Amarillo Sandies.

There were times when the scribes felt tempted to change their opinions as the Westerners encountered all sorts of trouble taking out Plainview, Lamesa and Pampa. Also there was the matter of a one-point victory over North Side (Fort Worth), which hadn't been considered strong after it lost to Masonic Home, which also wasn't said to be tough. However, this was BQ (before quarter-finals).

But They Moved On

But the Westerners moved on through the district, downing Amarillo 29-19 and in the bi-district game smashed Vernon 26-6. Last week, Lubbock reached its zenith with a 36-14 victory over the dangerous Breckenridge Buckaroos.

Lubbock has not been beaten by a Texas team. It lost to Capitol Hill (Oklahoma City) 14-13.

Friday Lubbock meets the Masonic Home Masons, that gang of mighty mites from Fort Worth. The Westerners will outweigh Masonic Home 20 to 25 pounds to the man. Masonic Home has paid little attention to such a handicap in other games but this time the weight advantage really means something, because Lubbock has a bunch of rangy, powerful boys as tough as the rawhide of those western saddles.

MUSTANGS DOWN DENTON

DENTON, Dec. 13 (AP)—Dan Yarbro roped 17 points for the Denton Teachers here last night but Southern Methodist university downed the Eagles 39-34 through the fine defensive work of Chelsea Crouch and Bill Dewell in the second half.

HERE'S THE $1.00 ANTI-FREEZE

Fifty cents' worth now keeps most cars safe down to 10° above zero

MAYBE this is an "Indian Summer" day, when you're not even thinking of anti-freeze. But you know a cold snap will come. Set your mind at ease now. Have your dealer or service station man put a couple of quarts of Du Pont "Zerone"* Anti-Freeze in your car today.

Check the radiator solution from time to time. When winter gets down to real business, add enough "Zerone" for lower temperatures. Scientific tests prove that radiator losses are chiefly mechanical, and even then you lose a solution of "Zerone" and water—not one or the other alone. With "Zerone" you get improved engine performance, due to better heat dissipation, and more pep and efficiency, through prevention of rust and corrosion in a clean cooling system. All for only $1.00 a gallon. Du Pont, "Zerone" Div., Wilmington, Del.

Webster Leads Westerners In Scoring But Dozen Others Have Had Hand In Counters

By TOM MILLER
Journal Staff Writer

If you think Capt. Jumbo Webster produces all the Westerner scores and thrills, think twice more and picture mountainous Avon Sewalt rumbling over for a touchdown.

Webster has scored 96 of his team's 225 points. He sometimes rumbles through an entire opposing posse of tacklers for 90 yards and a counter.

Others Have Been In Scoring

Once in a while a half dozen harassers are taken over the goal line by the "Jumbo" on a line thrust, but a dozen other Westerners have taken part in team scoring this year.

Five regulars in the center of the line and Obbie Moxley, who "totes" water for the team, haven't scored yet, but the others have.

Big L. V. Risinger's toe has given him his only point, as has Jack Lovin's. The latter admits modestly he'll "be the team's extra point kicker next year."

Jackson Scores 42 Points

Leete Jackson has explored the region of the double stripes seven times for 42 points as Webster's nearest rival.

Don't take Sewalt too lightly, for after all, he weighs 230 pounds "with his toenails trimmed." Don't tell him short. He is in third place in team scoring.

It's not every game that one can see a behemoth tackle "sprint" over the goal with a pigskin clutched in his mitts.

Friday afternoon in Lubbock's 36-14 rout of Breckenridge, Sewalt cantered up behind Jackson, when the latter got in trouble on the seven-yard stripe, and in effect shouted, "Give it to me."

His Boot Is Powerful

It was six points for Sewalt and the Westerners. He also has kicked six extra points and a field goal. His kicks often leave the premises, his boot is so powerful.

But most of the extra points have been left to the gifted toe of Joe Bob Foster. Fourteen times his kicks have found their mark this season.

Howard "Hayseed" Alford and J. B. Privitt each has scored two touchdowns. Privitt hit his stride against Borger to score both his markers.

Alford, for whom a steer once provided transportation to and from school, enmeshed one foot in another Friday afternoon to nullify one scoring chance, but climaxed the effort a moment later with a touchdown.

Harold Parsons, Clifton Hill, Ernest Winter and Billy Phillips each has been over for touchdowns once.

Usually confining his efforts to telling others to "go after that last stripe," Parsons scored against Borger. Billy Phillips, "no bigger than a bar of soap after a hard day's washing," snared a pass to score in the same contest.

Hill counted on a pass in the Amarillo game and Winter was on receptive end of a touchdown pass in the Vernon game.

Jerry Nash, Pat Farris, Wayne Pipes, Joe Pytell and Lloyd Parsons and some of the substitutes may bet their scoring chances Friday.

Ruling Restricting Semi-Pros To Eight Pros To Be Invoked

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 13. (AP)—A drastic ruling restricting semi-pro baseball clubs to a maximum number of ex-professional players was announced here today by George H. Sisler, commissioner of semi-pro baseball.

The ruling affecting some 30,000 semi-pro clubs throughout the country, will permit no more than eight former professional players on any one club. The new law does not become effective until 1940, Sisler said, and in no way will affect the 1939 national program. But in 1941, he added, the limit will be trimmed from eight to six.

"The national semi-pro baseball congress desires to balance the strength of teams in every section of the United States," Sisler declared.

Lubbock Congratulated By District Chiefs On Progress In State Schoolboy Contest

PLAINVIEW, Dec. 13.—Lubbock and Amarillo will meet in the Thanksgiving classic again in 1939 it was officially agreed here yesterday at the annual winter meeting of coaches and executives of District 1.

Congratulations was poured upon the backs of Lubbock's mighty Westerners who have advanced into the semi-final round of this year's Interscholastic campaign. The Westerners were officially recognized as the district champions for 1938.

Meeting Is Quiet

Instead of the usual "grand battle" that District 1 officials usually have yesterday's meeting was the quietest in history. Drawing up next year's grid schedule took most of the time. A formal adoption of the Panhandle Basketball League was made. The court league is comprised of Class A schools of this district. A double round robin schedule on a home and home basis was agreed upon.

Only five members will make up the district next year, Lamesa planning to compete in another district under the new Class AA redistricting plan of the Interscholastic league.

Prices Are Reduced

Uniform prices on all district games were decided upon. General admission will be 50 cents, plus 25 cents for reserved seats, except on holidays when the prices jump to 75 cents, general admission. A standard rate of 25 cents will be charged for student ducats.

This schedule for next year's football campaign was adopted:

Sept. 29—Plainview at Borger (night).

Oct. 13—Lubbock at Borger (night); Pampa at Plainview (night).

Oct. 27—Amarillo at Plainview (night).

Oct. 28—Pampa at Lubbock.

Nov. 11—Amarillo at Pampa; Plainview at Lubbock.

Nov. 18—Borger at Amarillo.

Nov. 30 (Thanksgiving)—Lubbock at Amarillo; Borger at Pampa.

Sone Elected Chairman

Elected chairman of the executive committee was L. L. Sone, superintendent of Pampa schools, succeeding C. E. Rogers, Amarillo superintendent. O. J. Lucas of Plainview was re-elected secretary for the third time. Superintendents of the five schools constitute the executive committee.

Attending the meeting were: From Amarillo, Superintendent C. E. Rogers, Coaches Howard Lynch and T. G. Hull, and Bill Britton of the News-Globe; from Pampa, Superintendent L. L. Sone; Principal D. F. Osborne; Coach Odus Mitchell, and School Board Member, L. L. McColm; from Borger, Superintendent W. A. McIntosh; Coach Catfish Smith; J. F. Kiekbusch, secretary of the school athletic association, and Dale Johnson of the Daily Herald; from Plainview, Superintendent O. J. Laas, Coaches Vernon Hilliard and Mickey Pool, Jack Woodward of the Herald, from Lubbock, Superintendent W. B. Irvin, Principal R. W. Matthews, Coach Weldon Chapman, and Collier Parris.

Russell Gives Reason Why Boys Are Up

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, Dec. 13. — Rusty Russell, the man behind the guns of Masonic Home's mighty mites, is about as amazed as anybody else at the way his boys are coming along in the Texas schoolboy football race.

But he can give you the reason why.

"They're the smartest boys as a whole that I have ever had here," he said, "and they have the desire to win."

Unstinted Praise For Keel

His praise is unstinted for Gene Keel, the boy who pitches all those passes, and Coach Russell says also that Keel is a fine field general.

"And we have some wonderful receivers for those passes," he hastened to add.

Russell has a squad of 30 but only about 14 of them are big enough to play—that is, unless he should run out of first-call reserves.

Uses Three Backfield Subs

He uses three backfield substitutes—or rather alternates. Webster and Bates, Hudging and Roach and Earp and Stephens is the way he pairs them. Last week he was a little worried. He only had two reserves. Phil Earp was out with injuries.

Earp, hurt in the Sunset (Dallas) game, missed last week's battle with Highland Park but Russell hopes he'll be ready for the quarter-final tilt with Lubbock next Friday.

Team Averages 147 Pounds

His team averages 147 pounds — that is, if Stephens is in the line-up. Stephens, you know, is a "heavyweight" of 162 pounds. Earp is much lighter.

"My boys are smaller than they used to be," Russell lamented. "The age limit has hurt and besides they all go to school starting with the sixth grade now.

"Lubbock looks like an impossible hurdle for us but we'll be in there fighting. They're a great bunch of boys."

Jumbo Meets Another Challenger For His Schoolboy Football Throne This Week

Captain Walter "Jumbo" Webster meets a challenger to his schoolboy football throne every week.

First, it was Amarillo's Blazin' Bill Thompson and the Wild Westerner emerged victorious in the duel. Vernon's passing ace, Morris Southall, was no match for the all-state candidate and the Westerners marched into the quarter-finals. Last week Breckenridge's Buckaroos came to the city boasting one of the best backs in Texas, Bill Ramsey. Lubbock, with several brilliant runs by Webster, advanced to this week's semi-final game with Masonic Home.

Keel Excellent Passer

But Mr. Webster with all his galloping mates may meet their superiors. Certainly the "mighty mites" are outweighed nearly 20 pounds to the man. Highland Park had them spotted more than that, and lost. Practically every team has had the weight advantage. The Masons have lost only one game the entire season.

Coach N. N. "Rusty" Russell has his stars too. One of them is a distinct threat to Capt. Webster's remarkable record. He is Eugene Keel, 150 pound quarterback. And he has one thing that Webster does not have — passing ability. That may be the downfall of a state championship dream for Coach Weldon Chapman's lads. Only they can answer that challenge.

Westerners Plan Defense

The Westerners are not intending to be caught unprepared on pass defense if their coaches have anything to do with things between now and Friday. Added emphasis was placed on aerial defensive tactics yesterday afternoon as the squad ran through a brisk workout.

Perhaps it was the cold weather or something else but the offense, representing Keel, was completing a goodly portion of their heaves. So this afternoon and again tomorrow afternoon the Westerners will be seeking some way to intercept the bullet-like aerials of the Masonic quarterback.

Record Crowd Expected

The Lubbock lads suffered no serious injuries in last week's rout of Breckenridge and all hands should be ready to go Friday. Reports from Fort Worth are to the effect that Coach Russell will have no names on the hospital list when he leaves there early tomorrow morning by special bus.

The Masons are scheduled to arrive here in time for a workout tomorrow afternoon. Plans for a special train from Fort Worth are being made and interest in the game in that section of the state is high, it is reported.

Another ticket rush surpassing the Thanksgiving classic stampede was in progress today. Tickets went on sale this morning and a majority of the best seats were expected to be taken by tonight. All seats are reserved. Tickets are $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. Box seats are $1.25.

HOWARD PAYNE WINS

BROWNWOOD, Dec. 13. (AP) — Howard Payne opened the basketball season last night at home with a 34-27 victory over the Rams of San Angelo junior college. The score was 21-21 at the half.

Todd and Smith of Howard Payne were high scorers with 13 and 12, respectively. Elrod scored nine for the visitors.

NACOGDOCHES, Dec. 13. (AP)—Marshall Matteson paced the Stephen F. Austin Lumberjacks in a 31-24 victory over the Rice institute cagers here last night.

Dobie Isn't A Candidate Agai For Boston College Position

NEWTON, Mass., Dec. 13. (AP) "Gloomy" Gil Doble, taciturn m of the gridiron for more than a qu ter of a century, ended last night conjecture as to whether he wo be dropped as Boston college fo ball coach by announcing he was seeking the job again.

Dobie's three-year contract, wh reputedly paid him $10,000 annually, expires next April, and reports it would not be renewed have been current almost since the beginning of the 1938 season.

The Rev. Patrick H. Collins, S. J., faculty director of athletics, made public Dobie's one-sentence letter, which read:

"I wish to advise that I am not a candidate to succeed myself as football coach at Boston college."

Yankees Not Going To Break Up Team 'For Good Of The Game'

Others Forced To Get 'Ivory'

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—One thing can be said for sure as the satraps of baseball get down to business here today in the annual big league convention—the New York Yankees are not going to break up their three-time world champions "for the good of the game."

Therefore, almost anything that happens in the way of player deals in either league is not going to be of paramount importance. The fact will remain that the Yankees overshadow the game, and are in position to watch with honest amusement the efforts of 15 other clubs to put together a winner.

Tigers Take Leap

The Detroit Tigers took a lengthy leap in that direction yesterday when they bought Freddie Hutchinson, the year's likeliest minor league pitching prospect, from Seattle of the Pacific coast league. Just to show how highly Hutchinson is rated the Tigers gave up a veteran outfielder, Joyner White; Tony Piet, an infielder who has played in each major league; two minor league prospects and an unnounced sum of cash.

They beat the Yankees and the Pittsburgh Pirates to the youth. A while back Seattle was asking about $50,000 in cash but wishing for players. The Tigers had the players and got the boy. With a right-handed pitcher who won 25 and lost seven on the coast last season they now are in much better shape for the annual pursuit of the New Yorkers.

There is a good chance that before nightfall the Cleveland Indains will have shipped Pitcher Denny Galehouse and Outfielder Earl Averill to Detroit in exchange for Pitcher Elden Auker and Outfielder Pete Fox, with the Boston Red Sox possibly cutting themselves in on the deal.

Of Gaels And Masons
By Collier Parris

A BIT OF CHATTER from the California end of the Cotton Bowl: Four hundred citizens of San Francisco and environs will be aboard "Slip Madigan's Cotton Bowl Special" when it steams into Lubbock Friday afternoon, Dec. 30, for its only scheduled stop between the Pacific Coast and the Dallas union terminal . . . Tom Foudy, energetic and friendly publicity director for the Gaels, says the special is the "latest and apparently greatest of St. Mary's famed football excursion trains," so it must be a killer-diller, because we have seen and visited on two of Madigan's specials. . . .

Mayor Angelo J. Rossi of San Francisco will head the delegation of fans, who already number better than 200 reservations, and Miss Zoe Dell Lantis, beauteous "theme girl" of the 1939 San Francisco World's Fair, will be in the party. . . . The largest crowd the Cotton Bowl stadium could accommodate would rank only fifth with crowds which have witnessed the Gaels play this season . . . So they are not likely to get stage fright . . . In their seven games this year, the Gaels attracted 310,000 fans, an increase of 25 per cent over 1937, and third on the Coast in attendance behind Southern Cal and University of California . . . The crowds were distributed thusly: California, 65,000; Santa Clara, 60,000; Fordham, 50,000; Loyola at Los Angeles, 50,000; San Francisco, 35,000; Gonzaga, 30,000, and Portland, 20,000. . . .

Herbert Hoover Smith, St. Mary's fullback and leading scorer, will be 21 years old on Jan. 2, 1939, coming of age along about Cotton Bowl kickoff time . . . He proposes to celebrate by scoring 21 points by himself . . . For years, the Gaels have had the reputation of being "the best dressed football team in the land," and they figure to uphold the rep in Dallas . . . Coach Madigan has ordered brand new suits, all around, for the game, but is keeping the color and style a secret . . . You can be sure they'll be nifties . . . Rumor hath it that Madigan checked samples of all-white outfits, probably in keeping with the "cotton" theme . . . Slip, who dotes on color in everything even more than Coach Cawthon of Tech, wanted to dress his team in solid black silk suits this year, but his athletic council objected . . . The Gaels turned out in flaming cardinal red silk pants, royal blue jerseies with satin epaulets and numbers, and scarlet helmets. . . .

The Gaels share with U. S. C. the championship of the Pacific Coast, although they are not in the Coast conference . . . Each lost two games, each staged brilliant comebacks—St. Mary's in beating undefeated and untied Santa Clara, 7-0, and the Trojans in stopping undefeated, untied Notre Dame, 18-0 . . . Unlike U. S. C., which floundered rather pitifully early in the season, St. Mary's, with the tiniest bit of luck, would have gone through unbeaten. . . . The Gaels led mighty California, 7-6, until the final 60 seconds of the game when a pass and a short smash put the Bears ahead for a 12-7 win . . . St. Mary's outdistanced and generally out-statisticed the hefty Fordham Rams, losing 0-3, when a smart-aleck Ram pulled a Jodie Marek. . . .

In stopping the Santa Clara winning streak, the Gaels really did something . . . The Bronchos had won 16 games in a row, and were still sailing high . . . Until the Gallopers came along . . . No team has out-punted St. Mary's in two seasons . . . Jerry Dowd, who swaps his center position with the fullback to do the kicking, led the nation's punters in 1937 with 91 punts for 3,851 yards, or slighty more than two miles . . . His average wsa 42.3 yards . . . His 1938 average was 44.8 and we haven't heard of anybody topping that . . . Mike Klotovich, of whom you'll be hearing plenty, also punts, averaging 41 yards this season. . . . ST. MARY'S HAS NEVER BEEN DEFEATED BY A TEXAS TEAM! . . .

NOBODY IS TELLING any Masonic secrets, but the experts along the line are practically unanimous in the opinion that Rusty Russell's Masons are going to make football trouble for the Westerners come Friday afternoon at Tech Stadium.

Most everycne agrees that the Westerners SHOULD win the game, by all that's normal and regular, but they warn in the next breath that the hoodoo and mysticism which seems to govern Masonic Home football won't stand comparison with things normal and regular.

Summing it up, the general idea seems to be that if you've got the Masons and twelve points, you're on your way to success—but that if you give six points, you're ready for the booby hatch. Personally, this department long ago voted out the point-giving attitude, figuring that we'd be doing mighty well to pick the winner, and let some other chump name the score.

The Masons, without a doubt, are the best "little" team in the country. Friday's game should resolve itself into a tug o' war between the good little man and the good big man, and there's only one way for such tugs to end.

While they're good physically, mentally and morally, the Westerners may not be good psychologically — and they've got to be good all around to fight off the good little team, which is pretty certain to be good in all departments. And if you doubt it, go ahead and lose your money.

SHORT SHORTS: For the super ultra in women's sports, you may see two of the country's outstanding feminine grapplers in action tomorrow night at the Auditorium . . . Promoter Allen is tossing quite a party, and he expects the lady wrestlers to steal the show at the Auditorium . . . Lubbock has been invited to send a Golden Gloves team to Abilene on Jan. 23 to meet the team there in a build up show for the district tournament . . . So get set, you Glovers . . . At least six will be taken on an expense paid trip that date . . . Added to the ever growing and ever funny list of wrestling champions is the name of Jack Hagen, who has been awarded the "world's light heavyweight title belt" in Illinois. . . .

Your ball playing friend, Hack Miller, has forsaken the men's clothing business in favor of insurance . . . Hoping to establish himself here permanently, if not through the baseball season — which he hopes to play in the Texas League — Hack has joined forces with Charley Whitacre . . . Well, if he can peddle ins, like he did the Hubbers, it may be another championship team . . . Sure would be nice, huh, for Lubbock to turn out THREE championship teams this year???? Too bad there wasn't a Class D playoff for the Hubbers . . . Few teams in that division could have taken them. . . .

Paddling down the steps from the press box last Friday, Jerry Malin of the Amarillo Malins has a happy thought; "Wouldn't it be swell," he chirps, after hollering his head off and his throat raw for the Westerners, "if about two years from now we could sit in that press box and write for our papers: 'Blazin' Bill Thompson threw a long touchdown pass to Wild Walter Webster that gave the Texas Tech Red Raiders a victory over T. C. U. here today'."

Yeah, that would be pretty swell.

'Get A Gael' Is Cry At College

The peace that has prevailed around Tech stadium for the past four days will be broken this afternoon as blood curdling yells of "get a Gael" ring out from Coach Pete Cawthon's Scarlet warriors who begin their last three days of home practice.

The Southwest's representatives to the Cotton Bowl will be made familiar with St. Mary's plays in skull practices and later will attempt to stop them on the gridiron. The reserves are to play the part of Slip Madigan's lads.

Coach Cawthon has received "valuable information" concerning the Galloping Gaels and their offensive and defensive tactics from west coast scouts. He expects the Techs to get acquainted with these "secrets."

Tomorrow and Thursday afternoons the Raiders will bear down, then take things easy until next Tuesday. Present plans call for the squad to leave here next Tuesday night. The squad plans to go into serious work then at Southern Methodst university's gridiron.

Coach Cawthon is taking the boys to the site of the classic 10 days before the game so they may get used to the climate and so that more detailed work can be done. Coach Madigan and his squad will not arrive in Dallas until three days before the contest thus giving the Raiders an advantage of acclimation.

tor discussed the Masonic Home comeback against Highland Park last Saturday.

Appearing on the program as a speaker was Herschel "Red" Ramsey, captain and end of Texas Tech's 1937 eleven. He has been playing professional football with the Philadelphia Eagles of the National league. The great Raider star discussed college football in the East and professional football as it is played over the nation.

Films of outstanding national games this year were shown the group through courtesy of A. H. Maas, owner of the pictures.

Women To Wrestle Here On Wednesday

The women have invaded the wrestling profession!

Two of the so-called weaker sex engage in strong arm tactics tomorrow night at Sled Allen's auditorium in a special event wrestling match.

Clara Mortensen, women's heavyweight champion of the world, will "pull hair," more or less, with Mildred White of Chicago. The "more or less" depends upon the grasp. The champion veighs 135 pounds and is from New York. Her challenger weighs 134. The bout will be for two out of three falls.

When it comes to the hair pulling and eye gouging the women are going to have to work fast to beat anything Sailor Tex Watkins may pull in the main event when he meets Leo Mortensen, brother to the woman champion. The Sailor is correctly the terror of the circuit.

In the semi-final which will be a one fall or 20 minute affair Joe Banaski will attempt to fix his specialty, the "alligator clutch" on Scotty Williams, a determined scrapper. Banaski lost the main event to Frank Wolff last week. Tomorrow night Wolff may be quite a headache to young Russell, ex-Mule-shoe lad.

No advance in admission will be made Promoter Allen has announced.

No patent can be granted on a mere idea or suggestion.

Muscular Pains Yield To Gly-Cas

Finds Gly-Cas Just What He Had Been Needing For Years; General Health Much Improved

"Gly-Cas made a remarkable change in my condition," said Mr. E. A. Zollicoffer, 302 N. Georgia St., Amarillo, Texas. "Improper bladder action had allowed my entire system to become clogged with poisons.

MR. E. A. ZOLLICOFFER

Soon muscular aches and pains settled over my body, especially in my right knee and it became so stiff and sore that to walk any distance was almost impossible for I could hardly get around. Then too, my ars were so sore I practically lost the use of them. My stomach was in a miserable condition and after each meal I was sure to suffer dreadfully with severe gas pains and bloating. A good nights sleep was out of the question and I seemed to be fast losing hold of my health in general. But a short trial of Gly-Cas soon corrected all of this for me."

"Never have I seen a medicine do its work as well as Gly-Cas," continued Mr. Zollicoffer. "I can now walk with ease for those dreadful muscular pains have all been driven from my body. My stomach and baldder no longer bother me, eat what I wish and suffer no ill effects afterwards, sleep good and am really a different man I feel so well again. And to think, at my age of seventy-eight, that a single medicine like Gly-Cas could change my whole outlook on life. Gly-Cas is a real blessing and I cannot praise it half enough."

The PLAINSMAN Says:

That Girl on Broadway says most people's idea of heaven is having nothing to do and eternity to do it in.

We don't know whether or not this is food for the gossips, but Santa Claus is more liberal to young ladies whose stockings are well-filled all the year around.

THE Plainsman here—and publicly—pleads guilty to an inexcusible oversight.

How we ever fumbled and stumbled as we have, your humble servant simply can't explain.

But the fact remains that while The Avalanche-Journal has told the South Plains public everything under the sun about Texas Tech's new president—which is as it should be—we overlooked giving sufficient mention to the new first lady of Texas Tech, Mrs. Clifford B. Jones.

And that didn't pass by without due notice, either.

Numerous ladies of the city have criticized us for the oversight, so late though it is. The Plainsman here and now will do his best to make amends.

We prognosticate, without any qualms whatsoever, that the wife of Tech's new president will capture not only the respect but the outright admiration of everyone with whom she comes into contact. And she will do it in less time than it takes to say "Tarbox ran 51 yards through the middle of the St. Mary's defense."

If it is permissible to use such an expression in describing Tech's first lady, we can best describe her as an "all-around jim-dandy."

And further than that, Lubbock is just as lucky to get Mrs. Jones as a citizen as it is to get her distinguished husband. She will grace her new position in every way it can be graced.

WEST Texas is extremely fortunate in having many fine, gracious ladies.

In 15 years residence here and after roaming the section over that length of time, The Plainsman has met many of those gracious ladies who live among us.

But in all that time and in all that roaming, The Plainsman has never met a lovelier lady, or a more charming hostess than Mrs. Jones, which statement will promptly be echoed by everyone who knows her.

Well on the sunny side of 40, Mrs. Jones never-the-less has long contributed to the life of Spur and vicinity, where she has been reared.

At a recent meeting of the Spur Rotary club, President Alton Chapman, after paying tribute to Mr. Jones' fine record of service to his city and section, brought out the fact that while Spur will miss the new Tech president a great deal, it also will miss Mrs. Jones fully as much.

And a wave of applause from club members present attested to the truth of his statement.

CARING nothing whatever for the bright light of publicity, Mrs. Jones is not the effusive type.

Widely traveled and well informed, she is a good conversationalist, tactful, agreeable and possesses that very valuable talent of good humor. Never ruffled, she has an evenly good disposition.

And there is nothing "bossy" about her.

If anything, Mrs. Jones is a little smaller than average size.

She is, of course, well groomed and displays quiet good taste not only in her apparel, but in everything she does and says.

And although she never makes a lot of noise about anything, her merry brown eyes frequently twinkle; she smiles a great deal, laughs often and has a keen sense of humor.

In other words, she is a very attractive young woman with the ability to adjust herself to any situation and to any group with which she comes into contact.

That she will be a valuable addition to Texas Tech and to Lubbock circles is a foregone conclusion.

ALONG the line of our recent comment regarding the high cost of football to school kids comes a suggestion from Dr. Robert Hutchins, president of University of Chicago, for 10-cent football for everybody.

Not only would such a move be helpful in removing the very evident over-emphasis upon football, but, says Doctor Hutchins, it would make the game available to thousands who are barred from attending simply because they don't have all the way from a dollar to five dollars to spend on a ticket.

This column would like to see Doctor Hutchins' suggestion tried out at University of Chicago.

Even though local football experts tell us that it isn't worth more than a dime to watch a University of Chicago team, such an experiment might be useful for consideration by heads of other institutions which have considerably better football teams.

THOSE good people who are forever charging that there are no more opportunities for advancement in this country should consider the case of Gargantua.

Most of our readers will remember Gargantua.

He paid us a visit early last fall with the Sells-Floto-Barnes circus.

He was—and is—a big ape in the exact sense of the word and South Plains circus fans gaped at him, pop-eyed, as he was dragged around the ring in his luxurious cage.

But to get back to the opportunities for advancement in this country, with Gargantua is an example.

Seven years ago he was a baby gorilla in a $3 wooden cage, in the hold of a tramp steamer en route to the United States. He didn't amount to much. He didn't even have a name.

When he was here last fall he was in a $20,000, airconditioned cage; nine people out of every ten in the country had heard about him; he had been publicized in every paper and most of the magazines in the U. S.

Today he is in that same airconditioned palace aboard a luxury liner on his way to England. Although it is further and more costly, Gargantua is being carried to England via the southern route which is more conducive to a smooth trip. He has grown not only in prestige, but in size and weight and is on his way to becoming a world figure, sort of like Hitler and Mussolini.

His life for the past seven years proves what a young gorilla who behaves himself can do in America.

And it indicates, too, that a human being who has something on the ball—and will apply himself—can still make a success in the U. S., regardless of what the cynics say!

ALTHOUGH the principals in the case are serenely untroubled about the whole business, the sprightly lads and lassies who make up the Austin statehouse press are hot and bothered over an economic problem.

The question surrounding the problem is:

Who's going to be paid by the State of Texas for being governor on January 17, 1939?

That day — a Tuesday — will be Governor Allred's last day as chief executive, and it will be Wilbert Lee O'Daniel's first day in his new job.

Since Governor Allred will serve up to noon—or during the first 12 hours of the day—he'll have the job half that Tuesday, and Wilbert Lee will have it the other half.

The State of Texas pays the governor $32.87 a day and, after all, $32.87 is $32.87.

Maybe Jimmie and Wilbert Lee will split the January 17 "take," or, maybe, even match for "all or nothing."

After all, Jimmie bet the Big Bend park against Pike's Peak in the Colorado-Rice Bowl football game last New Year's Day—and won. And Wilbert Lee says he has "an open mind" on race track gambling!

Murder To Music

CAST OF CHARACTERS

MYRNA DOMBEY — heroine. Wife of the sensational swing band leader.

ROBERT TAIT—hero. Newspaper photographer—detective.

ANNE LESTER — Myrna's closest friend.

DANNE FEELEY — officer assigned to investigate Ludden Dombey's murder.

Yesterday: Tait theorizes that George Weeks, who wrote "The Cat's Meow," murdered Dombey in revenge. Feeley and Tait return to the factory district for clews.

CHAPTER XIX

The Millbay district looked much less fantastic to Tait in the early morning than it had in the moonshadows when the taxi driver had almost given his life in the discord of a cat's cry—and when Tait had detected that haunting odor of perfume. But even in the light of day it was an evil-looking area, and the factory in which Tait had fruitlessly pursued an attacker was the worst building of the lot.

"This is it," Tait said to Dannie Feeley as the latter drove his car alongside.

Feeley eyed it with distaste. "A fine spot for murder, all right. D'you know, Bob, if you'd come here alone and they'd done you in it might have been days before anybody found out about it. Nobody comes down here but the last of the bums, and it hasn't been on the patrol chart for five years."

"Yeah. . . . I owe my life to that taxi driver, all right." Tait stepped out of the car. "Come on, let's go."

"Take it easy, son. There's nothing to tell us that the bird isn't still up there. If it's the goofy musician he may not have sense enough to scram."

Cautiously they climbed the narrow staircase, and Tait showed Feeley where the candle had been burning. The Irishman nodded. "I don't think it could have been your fancy blond, Tait. A woman doesn't usually carry the stub of a candle around."

"But how do you account for the perfume?"

"I don't," said Feeley. "At least not yet." He started clomping up the stairway to the big machine room. "These your tracks?"

"Yes. And those marks in the dust are where the others were swept up."

Feeley looked. "They go to the window, all right. How do you explain he had the time to manage that?"

"I figured I was covered. That light on the landing worried me. There was plenty of time before I got the nerve to make the second landing."

"Which," said Dannie Feeley, was lucky for you."

They went to the window, climbed down to the roof next door. Gravel on tar, it showed no trace of a recent occupant. The knife wielder could have walked for a block over the ancient roofs, or could have gained the street in a dozen places down fire escapes.

"There's nothing we can get out here," Feeley said. Tait followed him back to the factory room, watched while Dannie went over it practically foot by foot. At length the detective straightened wearily and shook his head. "I don't see anything I can tie to. It's certainly a cinch that nobody's been using this room for very long. But I'll send Dunphy down with a squal to look over all the adjacent buildings. We might find where this guy Weeks has been lodging since he skipped his board bill at Old Lady Sourpuss's."

As they went down the stairs again, Feeley opined dourly, "You know, it beats hell. In all the detective stories I ever read a couple of guys in our position up there would have found something—a busted match, or a hunk of hair, or a cigaret butt. All we find is dust."

"You keep forgetting that there was a noise like a cat meowing, and the odor of perfume."

"I don't keep forgetting it—even if I'd like to. Feeley shot Tait a look of disgust. "I'm talking about tangible clews. All you give me is a smell and a sound. A fine couple of clews!" Feeley yawned prodigiously. "I've got to get some sleep, and I have an idea you could use some."

"You said it, Dannie. Drop me off at the apartment, will you?"

At the apartment Bob telephoned Myrna. His heart lifted at her voice. He was sure there was relief in it. "Bob, where have you been?"

"Just around. I'm getting some sleep right now. But I'd like to take you and Anne to dinner tonight. How about it?"

"We'd like to," Myrna said.

In the days that followed, dinner for the trio became a regular thing. And sometimes, when Tait noticed that Myrna's spirits were up, they would drop into the Pacific-Plaza to hear the band. At first Myrna obviously steeled herself against the memory that came rushing when she entered the Golden Bowl. But gradually she faced her problem, and it seemed to Bob that she began once again to enjoy hearing the band. "You've done a good job of lifting Myrna out of it," Anne told Bob one day. "She's beginning to take an interest in The Swingateers as a business. It's the best thing in the world for her. At first she didn't want even to think about swing music. If—if only she could be definitely cleared of the suspicion of killing Lud Dombey!"

Tait nodded soberly. "Feeley's no nearer than ever, and I've been no help, I'm afraid."

"What does Barkley say?"

"The prosecuting attorney? He says, in effect, that he wants Myrna's neck. And the trial opens on the 20th. Keep your fingers crossed, baby."

But that very day Tait did more than keep his fingers crossed. He went to see Barkley. He knew Barkley's kind and he tried a simple bluff. "Look here," Tait said, "I've still some friends on the newspapers—and I don't want Myrna served up as political pottage."

Barkley's dark eyebrows raised. "I'm afraid I don't know what you mean, Tait. You know I don't work that way. There's an open and shut case on Myrna Dombey. For instance, Tait, when you are called to the stand you'll have to testify that a few seconds after Lud Dombey was killed you picked up Mrs. Dombey's handbag, won't you?"

"Yes . . ."

"And that inside it was a .32 caliber revolver with one shell fired and the barrel still warm. It that correct?"

"Yes, but—"

"Well, then?" Barkley smiled. "That's just one example. And I don't mind telling you that Leonard Macy and Doctor Matisse have been bringing in some interesting things."

"Those fakers!"

"That is wholly a matter of opinion, Tait. I doubt if the jury when I am through with it, will think they are fakes."

"But what about Feeley?"

Barkley shrugged. "I'm afraid Dannie is a little baffled, Tait. And I've tried to get him to say that he's confident of Myrna Dombey's innocence. He won't quite go that far. Not even," again Barkley smiled, "not even in view of your splendid friendship."

Tait reddened, tried to hold back his anger. But it was no use. "You're going to regret making trouble for Myrna to save your own skin, Barkley!" But even as he gave the warning, Tait wondered dully how it was to be fulfilled.

HE DESERVES THE HONOR

Ralls Rotarians are getting behind a movement to name the No. 1 Rotarian of that enterprising community as a candidate for a directorship on Rotary's International board. It is not necessary to say much about the candidate—J. Edd McLaughlin—for everybody knows Edd.

There are 51 Rotary clubs in the 127th district, of which Edd was the first district governor. He closed his term last summer. There should be 51 "McLaughlin-for-Director" committees in this district.

Edd McLaughlin has worked long and hard for Rotary during the years he has been a member. He has traveled far and wide, been up early and late and has done his best to advance the cause of Rotary, not only in West Texas, but throughout the state and nation.

He has been honored by his club and by his neighboring clubs. They know, too, that he will be a credit to Rotary International if members of the convention see fit to elevate him to membership on that board.

The Evening Journal, because it knows Edd and his service record, not only as a Rotarian, but as a civic-minded citizen, hopes that the plan will be consumated and that he will be elected a member of the governing board.

He has the honor coming to him.

Sinister Scrap Of News From Italy Mirrors Trend Followed By Dictators, Flynn Says

By JOHN T. FLYNN
NEA Staff Correspondent

A simple sentence in a newspaper dispatch from Italy, unobserved by anyone to whom I have spoken, carried one of the most sinister scraps of news that has come over the cable in some time.

It appeared in the accounts of the wild demonstration in Rome, where members in the Chamber of Deputies staged a frantic demand for the "return" of Tunisia and certain parts of the French Riviera to Italy. After an account of the demonstration the dispatch closed with these words: "The Chamber of Deputies, which is to be supplanted by a new house, met today to vote itself out of existence."

FLYNN

The significance of this event cannot be underestimated. Fascism is a new form of social organization in which the state makes an attempt to regulate and control the economic system.

Mussolini, in his early days as premier, began to tinker with this idea. He had been a socialist, but he had also been a syndicalist. When he abandoned socialism and became the great champion of saving capitalism in Italy, it was natural that he should turn to the syndicalist pattern. And this is what he did.

Italian NRA

He as a dictator, of course, was to be supreme. But there must be bodies which could make the rules and regulations for business, rules to govern production, to regulate prices, to regulate what he called "fair trade practices," rules governing competition in all its forms.

He therefore decided that the proper way to do this was to turn it over to the trades organized as such—to trade associations and to organizations of workers. He set up something like the structure we established under the NRA. He called them corporatives. We called them codes of practice. The code authorities or corporatives made the rules in the first place. They had to be approved by the representatives of the government finally.

So immediately Italy had two governing groups functioning under the dictator. One was the Chamber of Deputies elected by geographical districts which made the laws governing the political state. The other was the corporatives which made the rules and regulations for the economic state.

But the inevitable happened. The political Chamber of Deputies and the corporatives soon clashed. The chamber still retained a semblance of the democratic technique. It was elected by the people. But the corporatives were far from democratic. They were elected by the employers, a small group of people. Little by little the chamber grew weaker and corporatives became stronger. Until finally the Fascist leaders began to demand the extinction of the last vestige of the democratic society in Italy—the Chamber of Deputies.

Dictator's Technique

This agitation had reached this point in 1933 just as we began to experiment with the same dangerous instrument. We did it, of course, without realizing what we were doing. Our experiment broke up because we had no dictator, by harsh and ruthless measures to compel complance, and because our democratic chamber (Congress), though it had grown weaker through what might be called its "yesiness," was still strong enough to attack the NRA and because the Supreme court unanimously said it was unconstitutional.

But in Italy the dictator decided to abolish the chamber and to make the corporatives supreme. Later a new constitution was adopted abolishing the national congress of Italy and providing a new chamber which would represent the trade associations—the corporatives. Last week that Chamber of Deputies met for the last time to pronounce its death. It was to that melancholy event the dispatch quoted referred.

The Plainsman Gets Some Mail

(Letters from readers are invited and welcomed. They will be published gladly whenever they do not violate the laws of libel, or the rules of decency, and when they do not exceed 500 words in length. Letters criticizing individuals, firms or organizations must be signed by the true name of their writers.

SCORES "FOOTBALL DRUNKS"

Dear Plainsman: I note in your column "The Plainsman Gets Some Mail" the invitation that the people express themselves. For the sake of every decent, self-respecting individual in Lubbock and the South Plains section, that is just what I desire to do, "express myself" regarding the shameful situation which happened on about the 40-yard line of the east section of Tech stadium during the Lubbock-Breckenridge football game Friday afternoon.

In company with a friend, a prominent business man of Levelland, I attended that game. The tickets we carried for reserved seats located us in the midst of the highly publicized "visiting delegation from Dallas," and immediately they came in and were seated, betting, drinking, and profanity became their program for the day. I never suffered so much humiliation in my life, no not even places supposedly tough, as we experienced during the time of that game. I will say, however, several of these men conducted themselves as true gentlemen should, but in that crowd were those who evidently had no self respect, for themselves, their city, their cause they came to represent, Lubbock, Tech, Westerners, or the great West Texas section of citizenship which they profess to befriend. Their attitude was that they thought all present, right thinking citizens of every walk of life, who with their wives and children having gone there with the one motive for supporting a clean ball club to futher well earned and well deserved victory, were just a bunch of small town hicks who knew nothing but humble down like whipped curs and let the "big time—big town" boys bowl over them in that way they described as "be a sport, and have a good time."

My attention was called to the shameful happenings in this way. They came in and took their seats and immediately and loudly calling back and forth placing bets on the game. Two men sitting behind us secured pop bottles, to which my attention was called by their conversation. One held a pint bottle of whisky in his hand, called his companion and told him he bought it in Lubbock as prescription liquor. After "blankety-blankety-blanking" the town and all concerned he poured it in his pop bottle, guzzled it down, as did his companion, handing the same to a friend immediately to the right of a minister from Ralls, who sat by my side. He then called another man and asked me to pass him the bottle. I told him to behave himself; that I would have no part in such indecencies, and that if they thought they were helping the cause of Dallas in such conduct, they had better think again. In loud abusive language he then pushed along the seat, handed the man the bottle and crowed about his accomplishment. They also crowed about an article you carried in your paper, in which it was said that certain drinkers at a former game in Lubbock had their liquor taken away and poured out, saying "I wish they would just try that on me. I paid my money for this and I am going to drink it. I'd like to see the 'blankety blank fools do anything about it'?" Mr. Plainsman, where were the officers of the law Friday? How many laws of the land did they break Friday? (These high-handed brawlers?)

I have been an athlete, and coached in high school some five years, and went to Lubbock innocent of such situations as we found, to boost for Lubbock and West Texas. So long as such situations exist unchallenged, and no effort made for correcting the same, I will never go again, and I know well many, many others who will take a like course. If this be a fair example of what may be in the coming Cotton Bowl game in Dallas, decent folks better think twice before they go.

I am aware of the possibilities connected with this letter, but you will note, I am signing my name, and have a large group of witnesses who will sign up likewise. Please publish the same in your column and, with Patrick Henry, I say "If this be treason, make the most of it."

Very truly yours,
Alfred A. Brian, Pastor,
First Baptist Church,
Levelland.

(Dear Mr. Brian: I am not disputing your word. Such incidents as you report are frequent all over the country, not only at football games but at many kinds of public gatherings. However, may I suggest in fairness to the group from Dallas that what you saw was not general among them. At 6:45 Friday night, I went to a dinner at which the Dallas delegation was honored. Every one of the Dallas visitors at that dinner were perfectly sober and just as gentlemanly as any group I have ever seen, anywhere. Incidentally, football games here this year and, for that matter, for the past several years, have been remarkable for the orderliness of the crowds. There were 8,500 people in that stadium last week and certainly the actions of the several persons you point to were not general in the crowd. As a citizen of Lubbock, I am sorry you were offended and hope it never happens again. Thanks for your letter. The name you mentioned has been deleted in keeping with laws governing matter privileged for publication in Texas and in fairness to the man who, for all you and I know might not have been the individual at all. Very truly yours, The Plainsman.)

Dallas Judge Irked

drawn from the central jury room.

Simmons said he would be back but Judge McCallum told him he wasn't needed on the jury and when Gallaway asked if he couldn't continue to serve Judge McCallum ordered him to get out, declaring "We've got plenty of jurors this week."

Refuses To Depart

Simmons remained in the jury room, refusing to leave after District Judge Paine L. Bush, in charge of the jury, gave him a second opportunity to depart.

Governor Allred, at Austin, said he did not know anything about yesterday's episode at Dallas. "About six or seven weeks ago I instructed Rangers to protect all jurors, white or black," the governor said. "That was after a negro was thrown out of the Dallas courthouse. Those instructions are standing orders, if necessary."

Edens In Capital

coln Memorial on the Potomac, came a White House tea for the Edens with Mrs. Roosevelt and wives of cabinet secretaries.

Eden flashed a shy smile as he left the station to the applause of more than 200 persons, the majority of whom were well dressed women down early to greet the British advocate of peace. They were not disappointed in his dress. The famed Homburg hat was in place, and Eden appeared a walking fashion plate as he acknowledged the greeting.

Unofficial Aspect Emphasized

The unofficial aspect of his visit was emphasized here, although it had the British cabinet's approval. No state welcome was arranged for his arrival, and none of the functions on his schedule are official gatherings. Appointments with President Roosevelt, Acting Secretary of State Welles, and others were obtained as a member of the British house of commons rather than a former cabinet official.

Eden's arrival at the state department caused a feminine flurry which temporarily stopped work in offices there.

More than 100 girl clerks and stenographers lined the hallways for a glimpse of the handsome young British statesman. The applauded loudly as Eden ran the gauntlet, appearing somewhat embarrassed.

Allred's Message

ported teachers contributed more than $2,252,000 in the fiscal year ending Aug. 31, and that it was estimated state funds in excess of $2,475,000, $2,568,000 and $2,661,000 would be needed in the succeeding years.

Cited As "Good Business"

"Even when the present (eleemosynary) building program is completed," Allred said, "unless it is continued for the ensuing two years, several hundred unfortunate insane people will naturally accumulate and have to be confined in jails."

Asserting it was not only the humane thing to do, but would be "good business," the governor suggested general expansion of the institutions and the addition of homes for delinquent negro girls and feeble-minded and epileptic negroes for which no provision has been made.

"Texas is one of the few remaining states which is not officially a member of the council of state governments, that joint agency serving all of the states," he said.

He referred to the council as a clearing house and research center for legislators and advocated the lawmakers set aside $4,500 for its support.

Smuggling Probe

torney Joseph V. Delaney asked consideration for Burns' aid.

Specifically, Burns was indicted on a charge of smuggling two bracelets and a ring valued at $4,885.

His attorneys issued a statement saying Burns "had no purpose or intent" to violate the law, but "circumstances of this case indicate violation of the customs laws with respect to some novelty jewelry whch Mr. Burns purchased in New York City."

Committee To Start Work On Christmas Tree Project Here

A committee will get on the job before the end of the week to ascertain whether Christmas trees will be placed at sidewalk edges in front of Lubbock business establishments during the holidays, according to information given this morning by George W. Brewer, commander of Allen Bros. post of the American Legion.

The Legion is sponsoring Christmas tree sales this season as in previous years, the profit going into the post's relief fund, he explained. Approximately 250 already have been sold, he added.

Holes for trees were drilled in downtown curbings at the city's expense last year and practically all of the business streets were lined with the trees to add a peculiarly appropriate touch to the Yuletide atmosphere. A number of merchants, Brewer said, already have made inquiries as to whether the same plan will be followed this year.

Meanwhile, he said, sales are continuing at the Legion hall, directly north of the city hall, to those wanting trees for their own homes.

Members of the club played the parts.

Surprise Plea Made In Case

MALVERN, Ark., Dec. 13. (Special)—Circuit Judge H. B. Means who Monday received a surprise plea of guilty of first degree murder in the beer bottle slaying of W. J. Van Hooser of Lubbock, Texas, traveling salesman, will pass sentence Thursday morning on Vasco Waymon Carrier, Oklahoma ex-convict.

Van Hooser's partly clothed body was found on a lonely road near here Nov. 11 amidst a litter of broken beer bottles. The following week Carrier was captured by Texas authorities after a running chase near El Paso.

Malvern authorities charged Van Hooser picked up Carrier in an East Texas tourist camp and engaged him to drive to Memphis. Van Hooser's car was found abandoned in Muskogee, Okla., three days after the slaying.

Skin-Grafting Made On Burns Victim

Skin was grafted from the thigh of W. M. Churchill to approximately 80 square inches of arm and shoulder surface this morning at Lubbock sanitarium.

Although not exceptionally rare, such graftings are unusual, even in the larger hospitals in big cities.

Churchill, a mechanic of 501 Avenue O, was seriously burned early in September when gasoline ignited when he was working on a truck. He suffered third degree burns on the right shoulder, arm and back. He entered the sanitarium in critical condition.

The skin grafting had been planned several weeks ago, but complications developed to prevent grafting at that time.

Additional grafting will be effected, at a time not yet designated, it was said at the sanitarium. Churchill was considered in satisfactory condition, authorities said.

Goodfellows Fund

Goodfellows.

Similar matinees are scheduled at the Broadway and Lyric theatres Friday afternoon. Manager A... Mauldin is arranging that event.

To Contribute Receipts

Also scheduled Friday is the special program at the Cactus theatre when Manager M. A. (Tate) Sa... ders will contribute all receipts, day and night without a cent's deduction for expenses, to the Goodfellows.

Although the Goodfellows' fund climbed above the $600 mark this morning, it is moving too slowly, the goal of $1,500 is to be reached. The money is needed as soon as possible, because much work remains to be done.

The Goodfellows will have to do their buying; they then must sort the toys, fruits, nuts and candy into packages; they must get the names of those to be remembered arranged; and then they must distribute the packages. All of this takes time, and the job can't get well started until the buying is finished.

Among the encouraging boosts the fund received Monday afternoon was an anonymous contribution of $50 from a nearby South Plains town. The donors shunned publicity for themselves. But this much can be said — they are not wealthy people. They merely know what the Goodfellows are trying to do—and they are for them.

If you know any children between the ages of 1 and 14 years in Lubbock who should be remembered, use the blank on page 5. Mail it to the Chief Goodfellow, P. O. Box 561. Or send it to the Avalanche-Journal, 1211-13 Texas avenue.

Your contribution may be sent to either place.

Automobile Might Have Been Used In Week-End Burglaries

An automobile reported stolen sometime Saturday at Spur might have figured in the week-end burglaries at Littlefield, Jayton and Girard, it was reported by Lubbock police this morning.

The machine, belonging to ... Wilson of Spur was found abandoned between Jayton and Girard, said Aubrey Fawver, police identifications officer of the Lubbock police. A rod had burst through the side of the motor.

Speculation centered on whether those who figured in the burglaries abandoned the machine, late Saturday, took another and perpetrated the series of burglaries that netted them more than $500, or whether they entered another machine possibly stolen elsewhere or owned by one of their members.

Webb Has Article In Texas Outlook

Joe E. Webb, superintendent of the Slaton school, in an article in the December issue of the Texas Outlook, official organ of the Texas State Teachers association, discussed high school bands.

His article, "How about the Band,' discusses the splendid achievements of the Slaton band. Its scholastic achievements were cited to show that band members have high standing.

"The students in Slaton high school who are members of the band have a higher average in other subjects, as a whole, than the average student not in the band," he points out. "Seventy per cent of the band members in last year's graduating class were in the high 20 per cent. Of last year's junior class, the four highest students are band members and 50 per cent of the band members in the freshmen and sophomore classes are in the high 25 per cent."

Approximately 20 per cent of the student body play in the band and receive only 5 per cent of the demerits. There are 140 students receiving band instruction, at a lower cost of teaching than any other subject.
