Senate Spends Last Day Before Recess In Debate On 'Official Murders'

CARTER GLASS FLAYS HOOVER ON PROHIBITION

Fiery Virginian Scores President for Attempt To Shift Burden

KILLINGS ARGUED

Brookhart and Copeland Engage in Warm Battle Of Words

By FRASER EDWARDS

WASHINGTON, June 19. (US)—"Official murders" by prohibition agents using sawed-off shotguns loaded with buckshot were vigorously deonunced and vehemently defended in the senate today in an all day debate on many phases of the prohibition question.

In the end, the senate adjourned for a two-months' recess without taking action on President Hoover's request for a joint congressional committee to investigate the question of transferring prohibition enforcement from the treasury to the department of justice.

HOUSE ADJOURNS

WASHINGTON, June 19. (AP)—The house adjourned today at 4:38 o'clock to recess until late September.

Glass Attacks Hoover

The resolution, sponsored by Senator Jones, Republican of Washington, author of the "five and ten" dry law, to carry out the president's request aroused all the debate and brought down on Mr. Hoover a savage attack by Senator Glass, Democrat of Virginia, a practical personal prohibitionist.

The fiery little Virginian charged the president with "submerging" the prohibition issue in the inquiry of his national law enforcement commission and with attempting to "shift" the responsibility to congress for the transfer of prohibition enforcement.

This was followed by a scathing indictment of the "cold" blooded and inexcusable killing of innocent citizens by government officials," by Senator Copeland, Democrat of New York, who urged senators during the recess to consider congressional action to prevent this lawlessness.

These "official murders" were defended and justified by Senator

New Texas Marriage Law Sends Couples To Durant Bureau

DURANT, Okla., June 19. (UP)—The Durant marriage license bureau has had a notable business boom, attributed by County Clerk L. W. Hughes to the Texas "Gin marriage law," which requires the posting of marriage notices several days before the ceremony.

Hughes issued 11 licenses over the week-end and eight of them went to Texas couples, three from Dallas and two from Fort Worth. Since June 1 the bureau has issued 31 licenses.

SCORES HURT IN 'L' COLLISION

Guard Killed in Smash Of Two Trains

NEW YORK, June 18. (AP)—One man, a guard, was killed and scores were injured, two of them seriously, tonight in a rear end collision between a Sixth avenue and a Ninth avenue elevated train on the Interborough Rapid Transit elevated structure between West 112th and West 113th streets.

The Ninth Avenue train, made up of five cars, had stopped three blocks above the high curve at 110th street, known locally as "death curve," and was waiting to pull into the 116th street station.

Passengers said the train had waited about three minutes when the seven car Sixth Avenue train crashed into it. The force of the crash caused the fourth and fifth cars of the Sixth Avenue train to buckle and smash the two platforms. It was at that point that the guard, Edward Brennan, 25, was killed and a passenger standing with him was seriously injured.

Seven Injured In Tahoka Windstorm

TAHOKA, Texas, June 19. (AP)—Wendell Medlin and six children were injured, none seriously, when a strong wind wrecked three houses northwest of Tahoka last night.

In the same storm Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Strong were stunned by lightning at their home southwest of Tahoka. Both will recover.

Wind and hail damaged some crops northwest of Tahoka, where several small houses were blown down and some small livestock was killed. About .7 of an inch of rain fell.

Bathing Beauties Lead Tulsa Optimist Parade

TULSA, Okla., June 19. (UP)—Greeted at the oil capital by a band of costumed cowboys, 1,500 Optimists tonight looked forward to three bright days of Oklahoma sunshine with the mercury mounting perhaps faster than their enthusiasm. An uproarious welcome was given the visitors from the 19 United States districts who paraded through the downtown streets this morning with each district represented by a bathing beauty. Delegates also were present from several Canadian divisions. Organization sessions were held throughout the afternoon.

WELLS DIES IN PRISON CHAIR FOR SLAYING

Coleman Slayer 'Bucks Up' After Moody Refuses Clemency Act

AFFIDAVITS DENIED

Dennis Dixon Refutes Reports of Statements Made by Him

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, June 20.—(Thursday)—(UP)—Desperate last minute efforts to save his life proving unavailing, O. C. Wells of Coleman, died in the electric chair at the state penitentiary here at 12:27 a. m., today for the murder of J. A. Mitchell, Coleman filling station operator.

Governor Moody, who last week granted Wells a six-day stay of execution in order that he might "make his peace with God," today refused to interfere further in the electrocution.

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, June 19. (AP)—All hope for executive clemency apparently gone, O. C. Wells tonight began preparations for his march to death early Thursday for the murder of J. A. Mitchell, Coleman filling station operator, Jan 27, 1927.

Wells, whose execution had been delayed several times to permit Governor Moody time to review the case, gave up all hope when he was informed of a telephone conversation between his attorney, M. E. Gates, and J. D. Hall, secretary to the governor, in which Hall said the governor had decided not to interfere further.

As hope waned Wells seemed to adopt a cheerful manner, his brother, J. N. Wells, who had been with him through the day, said.

"If I must go there is nothing to do but buck up and meet it like a man," he told his brother after hearing the Moody decision.

The governor's refusal to intervene further came after he had read an affidavit from Dennis Dixon, under sentence of 145 years for murder and highway robbery, in which Dixon denied statements atributed to him in affidavits submitted Tuesday claiming that Dixon had admitted the crime for which Wells was sentenced.

Mr Hall, in relaying the governor's decision to Wells' attorney at Huntsville, said the governor had investigated the signers of the affidavits submitted Tuesday and was convinced that they could not be considered.

Poison Theory Dropped In Children's Deaths

CHICAGO, June 19. (UP)—Coroner Herman N. Bundesen, investigating the mysterious malady which caused the death of three children in one family, abandoned the theory of a poison plot today and expressed the belief they died of food poisoning. The coroner made this announcement when a chemist reported that no traces of any common poisons were found in the organs of the dead children.

Slain Co-Ed and Suspected Professor

James H. Snook, right, former Ohio State university professor of veterinary medicine, admitted a clandestine affair with Theora Hix, left, co-ed, who was murdered. The body of Miss Hix, 25-year-old medical student, was found badly mutilated on a rifle range near Columbus.

Stains on Accused Professor's Car Called Blood by Chemical Experts

Dr. Snook Enters Police Station Fourth Time to Undergo Grilling by Columbus Detectives

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 19. (UP)—Stains, spattered on the blue Ford coupe of Dr. James H. Snook, professor of veterinary surgery at Ohio state university, were caused by blood, analytical chemists reported tonight, as Snook entered police headquarters to be cross-examined a fourth time regarding the death of Miss Leora Hix, murdered university co-ed.

At the same time Chief of Detectives W. G. Shellenberger said that a more specific charge than the present technical one of "suspicion" might be placed against Snook before morning, and the evidence against him would be placed before a grand jury Friday.

Snook Denies Guilt

Snook, firmly maintaining his innocence, went into the inquisition at headquarters tonight under an unhappy augury.

He had been dismissed from his professorship because of his admitted liaison with the murdered coed, for whom he maintained a secret love nest. His wife had admitted, under the fire of detectives' questions, that he was not at home most of last Thursday evening, when Miss Hix was murdered. The stains on the Ford, which he attributed to various causes, were analyzed as those of blood.

Then, as he entered the room to be questioned, he started as he found an aged, white-haired man sitting alone in a chair. They stared at each other. Neither spoke. Then a detective approached and let the white-haired man out of the room. He was Melvin T. Hix, of Bradenton, Fla., the murdered girl's father.

Chemist to Continue

Between now and Friday, C. F. Long, retained as chemist in the case, will determine whether the stains on the blue Ford coupe are those of human blood, and the blood will be compared with that found on the trousers and in the sleeves of a suit Snook sent to be cleaned the day Miss Hix's body was found. The report is expected to be completed before the grand jury meets Friday.

MARION T. MEYERS GIVEN RELEASE

Columbus, Ohio, officials investigating the slaying of Theora Hix, former student, have released Marion T. Meyers, who was held several days for questioning in the case. Meyers was at one time stationed at Call field here and has a number of friends here. His release was reported in press dispatches Wednesday.

WICHITA CHILD FATALLY HURT UNDER TRUCK

Two-Year-Old Boy Trapped As He Plays Under Delivery Wagon

SERVICES TODAY

J. T. Powell, Driver of Car, Unaware Tot Was Under Machine

Gregory Hanks, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Hanks, 1403 Bluff street, died at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning as a result of a fracture of the skull received when a truck, under which the child was playing, drove away from a grocery store next door to the boy's home, inflicting fatal injuries on the child.

J. T. Powell, employe of the Chapman dairy, driver of the truck, stated that he had just made a delivery to the grocery store and had returned to the street where he stood for several minutes, talking to friends about the truck, which was a new purchase. He stepped into the machine and started the motor, racing the engine to show its qualities to the men.

"Then I put it in low gear," he said, "and started off as usual, not knowing that anyone except the two men were near. I wouldn't have known that the child was hurt if they hadn't called to me after I had gone about 15 or 20 yards."

Powell returned to the spot and the child was taken in the truck to the Hargrave-Walker hospital where he died three hours later. The mother of the boy was at the window of the house when the accident occurred but did not see the accident. Funeral services will be held from the chapel of the Merkle Undertaking company Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock with Rev. S. S. McKenney, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating. The body will be sent to Gatesville, Texas, for burial.

Mr. Powell made a statement to L. V. Abernathy, assistant county attorney, following questioning by members of the sheriff's office Wednesday afternoon. He was exonerated in connection with the accident. Powell is the father of a 4-year-old girl.

Mr. Hanks, father of the boy, was on the week's jury panel at the courthouse and was called from the courtroom by a deputy sheriff to be informed of his son's fatal injury. Mr. Hanks is special agent for the West Coast Life Insurance company.

Fisherman Returns To Find Home Burned

I. H. Steed, whose home at the corner of Huff and Marshall streets was destroyed by fire of unknown origin about 4 o'clock Wednesday morning, was at Lake Kemp on a fishing party at the time of the fire.

The house had been closed since Monday, when Mr. Steed's sister-in-law locked it up and went to Fort Worth, it was said. Mr. Steed arrived in Wichita Falls at 9:30 Wednesday morning. The only clues to the origin of the fire were an empty five-gallon can, which had contained gasoline, and a small box which contained one burned match and one which had not been struck, these having been found in the alley behind the house.

MURDER CASES ARE REVERSED

Henry Helms Denied Leave To Ask Rehearing

AUSTIN, June 19. (AP)—Two murder cases carrying long-time sentences and on criminal assault conviction were reversed and remanded by the court of criminal appeals today.

Mrs. Rosa Waybourn, convicted in Bastrop county for the murder of her husband, W. W. Waybourn, Smithville railroad man, and sentenced to 45 years, was given a new trial.

It was held that the state had depended solely on the testimony of Hugo Middleton, an accomplice, to corroborate Joe Morales, who told the jury Mrs. Waybourn offered to pay him $300 to get Waybourn "out of the way." The indictment charged that Waybourn had been killed by a piece of steel.

Middleton, who testified that he had approached Morales with a proposition on behalf of Mrs. Waybourn recently was found guilty and given 99 years for the alleged murder of his father, J. J. Middleton, who died of poisoning.

Henry Helms, under death sentence for his part in the robbery of a Cisco bank, was denied leave to file a second motion for rehearing. Marshall Ratliff, who participated in the robbery with Helms now is at Huntsville awaiting electrocution. Two police officers were killed in the gun battle that followed the holdup.

DUDLEY RIDER, JOE STALEY SLIGHTLY HURT

Training Ship Crashes In Cotton Field After Drop of 3,000 Feet

MANY SEE ACCIDENT

"We're Gone Joe," Pilot Tells Youth, But Skill And Luck Save Pair

Unable to bring their ship out of a spin because of a jammed elevator control, Joe Staley, student flier, and Dudley Rider, operating manager and chief pilot for the Wichita Falls Air Transport company, narrowly escaped death late Wednesday afternoon when they dropped 3,000 feet into a cotton field three miles east of Wichita Falls.

Mr. Rider suffered a broken ankle and minor bruises. Young Staley was unhurt. Both were rushed to the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital for treatment, but the student, fully recovered from the shock, was found to have received only one small bruise.

Elevator Jams

The fliers were preparing to land at the time the trouble started, according to accounts given to Fulcher Armstrong, manager of the company, by Staley. Mr. Rider had expected to conclude the day's lesson by "spinning in," and had started the spin when the motor cut out, the student told Mr. Armstrong. The dead motor would not have interfered with a safe landing, Mr. Armstrong declared, explaining that some interference in "one of the flippers," or in the elevator control, must have developed to prevent the pilot's straightening out.

When Mr. Rider realized the situation he turned back to his student with the words:

"We're gone, Joe," Staley reported.

The boy braced himself for the fall, while the pilot took advantage of every foot of altitude to lessen the danger. The ship nosed into a cotton field just off the Petrolia road, hurling the gas tank back against the stick which in turn crushed the pilot's ankle. Staley in the back seat, was unhurt. Neither man lost consciousness, and the student crawled out of the wreckage to help extricate his teacher.

Praise for Pilot

Watchers at Staley field saw the ship drop, called for an ambulance and rushed to the scene in time to help with the first aid work. Meanwhile carpenters at work on a neighboring house and farm boys from several miles around gathered to offer aid.

"An all steel ship and a good pilot" was the way Mr. Armstrong explained the escape of the fliers.

"He must have had the ship under some control to have brought it down in that ploughed field rather than on top of a house or in the creek bottom. The training ship has an all steel fuselage and there's nothing about it that can break."

Joe Staley, 16 years old, is the son of J. I. Staley, president of the Security National bank, oil operator, and promotor of aviation. Mr. Staley was one of the organizers of the Wichita Falls Air Transport company and the landing field off the Henrietta road is named for him.

The boy had been a student for only a short time, having completed just two hours in the air, Mr. Armstrong said.

Hamilton's Trial for Murder Waits Until Sept. 30 Court at Weatherford

AMARILLO, Texas, June 19. (UP)—A conference of state and defense attorneys reported to District Judge Henry Bishop today that Weatherford, Texas, had been decided upon as the site for the murder trial of Judge R. H. Hamilton, charged with the fatal shooting of his son-in-law, Tom Walton Jr.

The decision postpones consideration of the case until fall, as the next term of the district court will not open in Weatherford until Sept. 30.

The shooting occurred when young Walton went to Hamilton's office suposedly to confess a secret marriage with the jurist's 17-year-old daughter, Theresa.

A predominance of sentiment in Amarillo and Potter county unfavorable to Hamilton caused Judge Bishop to grant the defense plea for a change of venue. Judge Bishop order a conference of attorneys to decide upon the trial city.

Wichitan Grows Beautiful Blossoms From Wild Flower

The gillardia or blanket flower, developed by a Wichita Falls man from the native wild plant, was urged as the official flower of Wichita Falls in the vote cast Wednesday by Scott Patton, 903 Tyler street.

Mr. Patton brought a bouquet of the flowers to The Record News office to prove the gillardia's beauty and availability as the city's official flower. When Mr. Patton started his development of the flower its blossoms were all of one color and were about the size of a five-cent piece. He has succeeded in producing seven colors and the blooms are now larger than a silver dollar.

The larkspur continued to lead Wednesday in the contest to determine the city's official flower. The vote is being taken by The Record News and the recently organized Garden club, and all residents of Wichita Falls have been urged to vote in the contest in order to make the selection representative of the

Girl Believed To Have Leprosy Kept Prisoner 21 Years

MOSCOW, June 19. (UP)—A tale of how a girl 27 years old had been kept in solitary confinement by her parents for 21 years in the belief that she had developed the dreaded disease of leprosy was revealed by police today.

The soviet authorities freed the unfortunate girl and declared it was not leprosy from which she had been suffering, but a minor skin disease.

The girl, in spite of her youth, was completely gray haired when discovered by police, her face was shriveled like that of a very old woman and she was half blind and entirely undeveloped mentally.

Her parents locked her in a barn 21 years ago for fear that if her disease, believed by them to be leprosy, were discovered she would be driven from the town with a hurling of stones as was the custom then. This custom, incidentally, still exists in some sections of the country.

Soviet authorities were in the Taskent district, according to information received, when they heard a voice issuing from the barn. At first the parents refused to open the barn and resisted all the efforts of police to do it. Finally, however, they yielded. The astonished officials found what looked like an old woman crusted with dirt, glowering in the corner on a heap of straw.

Haskell Farmers Catch Catfish in Their Yards

Special to The Record News.

HASKELL, Texas, June 19.—R. C. Ware, living in the Midway community, five miles west of Haskell, tells a big fish story. Mr. Ware states that after the big recent rains and just at the close of a downpour he went into his yard and picked up a cat fish seven inches long. J. D. Burson, living in the same community, corroborates the story of Mr. Ware by stating that he too caught a cat fish in his back yard after the same rain.

RURAL SCHOOL FUNDS STAY

Senate Votes Down All Amendments

AUSTIN, June 19. (AP)—The senate voted down all amendments to the $6,000,000 rural aid bill today, but was still considering it.

Efforts to change the minimum of 75 cents tax rate that school districts must maintain in order to participate in the fund were unsuccessful. Amendments would have made the minimum 25 cents, 50 cents and $1, but they were turned down in order.

The senate passed the blue sky bill to engrossment yesterday, after proposed amendments had been voted down. It is practically in the same form as written at the suggestion of Mrs. Jane Y. McCallum, secretary of state, who urged the necessity of putting "teeth" in existing laws regulating the sale of stocks.

The senate committee had sent to the calender with a favorable report the house bill proposing a 30 per cent reduction in registeration fees on privately owned automobiles.

The house committee on revenue and taxation last night killed the bill by Representative Sam Gates of Runge, proposing a tax on malt, placed the measure which would have fixed a tax on cigars, cigarets and tobacco, written by Representative James W. Harper of Mount Pleasant, on ice, and deferred a hearing on the gross receipts tax bill by Representative Harry Graves of Georgetown and others until further notice.

Conference committees are at work on the major appropriation bills, except the educational bill, which is waiting the appointment by Speaker W. S. Barron of the house conference committee, the senate committee having been ready a week. The conferees ont he electosynary bill were near an agreement. Senator Tom Pollard of Tyler, chairman of the senate finance committee, announced today.

Harris, Chicago, assistant secretary of Rotary International, is in a serious condition in Baylor hospital here where he has been since the recent convention ended May 31. He is suffering from a complication of diseases and attendants at the hospital reported he has but slight chance of recovery.

Paul Harris, Chicago; President Emereitus of Rotary International and founder of the organization, brother of the sick man, reached Dallas today to be with his brother.

SUCH A SIMPLE WAY TO END ECZEMA

There is no other way to compare with Heiskell's Ointment for clearing the skin of eczema and other eruptions. Here is no mere salve intended for use in a hundred and one different ailments, and weakly prepared on that account. Heiskell's Ointment was prepared by skin specialists for skin troubles only, and it contains a healing agent so powerful that once used, eczema and pimples start to dry up at once. . . No waiting days and days for improvement. In all its years of use Heiskell's Ointment has seldom failed even in the most stubborn cases. Inexpensive, too. At all druggists.

Dr. Caldwell's 3 Rules Keep You Healthy

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their systems. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping and harm to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Syrup Pepsin. Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person.

Get a bottle today, at any drug store, and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.—Adv.

BRECK ROTARY GETS CHARTER

Neighboring Clubs to Send Delegates

Special to The Record News.

BRECKENRIDGE, Texas, June 19.—Breckenridge Rotary will receive its charter as a unit in Rotary International at a meeting scheduled for Thursday evening.

Dr. Rue Parcells, district governor of the 41st district, of Amarillo has asked Judge James P. Stinson of Abilene to award the club its charter, which bears the number 3133.

Judge W. C. Veale will accept it for the local membership.

The parchment bears the date of May 8, 1929.

A gathering of more than 100 Rotarians and Rotary Anns from this section of West Texas is expected to attend the event. Abilene has sent word that at least 40 would be here from that point. Fort Worth Rotarians have sent word that their club will be largely represented. In addition other nearby organizations throughout the oil belt have asked that they be notified in time to join in the meeting which is regarded as an inter-city Rotary affair as much as it is an occasion for awarding the charter to the baby club of the 41st.

Bernard Bryant, district governor elect of Stamford Rotarians and Rotary Anns are counted upon to be in Breckenridge for the ceremonies.

The program will be given at the Y. M. C. A., beginning at 7 o'clock.

Cecil Newby is chairman of the reception committee and H. D. Hall is chairman of the committee on arrangements.

A. Garland Adair is president of the club, which is composed of 20 members. Floyd Jones is secretary and N. S. Holland, vice president.

A reception is to be given for early arrivals at the Petroleum club on the ninth floor of the Burch hotel, while John Ward and Floyd Holder will see that all of the golf minded are equipped with sticks and an invitation to go to the country club in case they arrive in time for a few rounds.

Quanah Now Assured Of Free Oklahoma Bridge

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, June 19.—Recently the Oklahoma legislature has passed a bill giving their state railroad commission authority to buy, build or condemn interstate bridges. This will remove the last obstacle to the present toll bridge over Red river, connecting highway No. 51 in Texas, north from Quanah with highway No. 7 in Oklahoma, and permit the construction of a new bridge at this junction of these highways.

The routing of highway No. 51 in Hardeman county, now in process of being paved, brings this road to a point some distance west of the present toll bridge, and will eliminate all railroad grade crossings by reason of being routed from Quanah to Altus, Okla., on the west side of the Frisco railroad tracks all the way.

LITTLE THEATER PLAY

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, June 19.—Quanah Little Theater players will present "The Southern Cinderella," as the final play of the 1928-29 season Thursday. This play will be under the direction of Mrs. Fred Major, with the following cast: Mrs. Maude Reeves, Mrs. "Chigger" Hurst; Mrs. Nova Buell, Miss Robbie Killingsworth; Miss Mildred Marshall, Mrs. Camille Hooker; and Mrs. Letty Major. The production will be the first one to be staged in this club's own playhouse, located at the corner of King and Fourth.

DALHART, Texas, June 19.—The agriculture and rural development committee of the Dalhart Chamber of Commerce is working this week on final plans for a new rural route out of Dalhart, which will serve 100 farmers of the county, most of whom have moved into the area during the past 12 months.

HOME TROUBLE

Calf Crowds Baby Buffalo Out of Its Regular Lunchroom

Special to The Record News.

LAWTON, Okla., June 19.—Domestic trouble developed at the forest home on the National Forest and Game preserve Tuesday when the family cow of Superintendent Harry French adopted a baby buffalo calf whose mother had died in giving birth to the offspring.

For the cow had a baby of her own, newly born, and the natural baby wanted a mother all its own and successfully intervened between the baby buffalo and the source of sustenance it badly needed and which the mother cow was willing to supply.

"Outside interference" in the family squabble on the part of members of the French family, however, resulted favorably for the baby buffalo and both babies are expected to live and thrive and may later dwell together in amity.

Quanah Parker Scouts Complete Encampment

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, June 19.—Scout Executive J. B. Parrish of Quanah Parker area, with 105 scouts and six leaders from this area, have returned from the scout encampment at Craterville Park, Okla., in the Wichita mountains, where the annual boy scout encampment was held.

Quanah Parker area is composed of eight counties in Northwwestern Texas: Childress, Wilbarger, Hardeman, Foard, Cottle, Baylor, King and Knox. Forty-five scouts and two leaders, from Childress; 17 boys, one leader from Chillicothe; 16 boys, two leaders from Quanah; 11 boys, one leader from Munday, made up the delegation. Hundreds of scouts were gathered at the Boy Scout home at Craterville from different sections of Oklahoma and the week was spent in all the pleasures so dear to a boy's heart in the great out of doors.

Mrs. Almond Gates Gives Lovely Luncheon Honoring Grandmother

Naming her grandmother, Mrs. Anna Anderson of Kansas City as honoree, Mrs. Almond Gates entertained Wednesday afternoon with a lovely bridge luncheon at her home on Fillmore street.

Shasta daisies were the flowers used in decoration and a great bowl of them filled the center of the table. An exquisite filet luncheon set was used and the china was in a delicate green, making a color motif summery and beautiful.

Covers were laid for the honoree, Mrs. Anderson, Mesdames J. A. Fisher, Luke McCrory, J. E. Friley, T. Dan Wiley, Harry Jenkins of Electra, Fred Couper, Fred Gates, and the hostess.

In the games, Mrs. J. E. Friley was high and a lovely gift was presented to the honoree.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

"Let not your right hand know what your left hand doeth." But be sure to put it in the paper.

Dr. Livingston Farrand, president of Cornell, is a man after our own heart. He was 62 last week and his theme has always been the "healthy life." He tells his students to go to bed early (and reads in bed himself) and is still much of a boy.

There's a "colyumist" in New York who draws $500 per week and 50 per cent of syndicate receipts for finding out and telling in his column all the theater, speakeasy and night club gossip.

The last editorial page of the Woman's Home Companion tells of an auction sale in New York the other day when the contents of an old-time livery stable, including 60 horses were sold, some virtually given away. But, we hear, on the continent poor people consume horse meat. In French and Belgian villages, there are many equine butcher shops where only horse meat is sold. A stuffed horsehead hangs over the doorway to show that's the particular place for that delicacy. Not much difference, they say, between tough horse and cow, in taste. Just the idea!

If you will just listen, you will hear the truth.

We know a little canyon where one sleeps under blankets at night and is perfectly comfortable during the day out of the sun. About four in the afternoon, a big log fire is lighted in the lodge. It is a fisherman's paradise if one is a real fisherman—can throw a line, we mean. Trout swim through the clear waters in reach of your hands, and from the low bridges tempt you to thinx you can catch them with your hands. We, being used to worms and minnows and holding a rod still until a fish nibbled, never did catch a fish, but a schoolmaster who was paying his summer board by being clerk at the lodge, went out for half an hour or so before dinner and supper and came back always with a basket running over with trout. That was one place to spend the summer.

We know an old farm house in Tennessee where there are great forest trees to keep off the hot sun. It is so old fashioned that the milk and butter is still kept in the spring house, although there is a refrigerator in the home. There's a wide hall running between the lofty rooms and a wide staircase going to the second floor. There are green shutters at the windows, which can be turned to send the sun or air as you desire it. There's a garden full of peaches and raspberries and gooseberries and the cook makes "corn lightbread" that is more delicious than it could sound. One must eat it to know. Food is perfection there. Sometimes, the air is hot but there's a hammock beneath the trees for afternoon and nights are always delightful; the mocking birds and red birds sing softly and sadly in the long summer evenings.

There is another place to spend the summer.

The recently organized Garden club has added the names of Mesdames W. W. Silk, Wiley Wyatt, P. P. Langford, N. B. Chenault, T. R. Boone, Homer Lee, J. J. Perkins, C. W. Gilliland and J. A. Kemp to the roll and another breakfast will take place at the Forum as soon as the flower name has been settled and Wichita Falls has her official flower. Anyone may vote. Send or bring your votes to the Flower Editor, Record News.

And, as has been said, there is much beauty from which to choose. The larkspur and radiant rose are running a close race now. But who can help seeing the masses of day lilies making lawns glorious? The front of Mrs. C. P. Burton's home is almost golden. And there are plats of Shasta daisies along the boulevard.

Were it not that we are choosing a flower prolific in or symbolic of this city's life, many would go back in years to select the favorite flower. Is there anything more exquisite than a snowdrop? Is anything more perfect than a lily of the valley? And once, we know, as the sun set, it shone upon a yard carpeted with sweet little creeping many-colored phlox in colors so wonderful they set one's spine ashiver. And do you know syringa? And did you ever smell sweet betsies? And tulips are gorgeous, and hyacinths are sweet and crocus and jonquil are harbingers of spring, just as the chrysanthemum is harbinger of autumn. In fact, in all our experience, we've never seen but one flower we cannot admire. It grew in every negro's cabin yard in Mississippi, prince's feather. We don't believe it is a flower.

Club Women Urged To Support Amendments

Club women of Texas are actively supporting two constitutional amendments which will be voted on July 16, according to Mrs. Bob Barker, who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. C. N. Alexander of Wichita Falls.

Mrs. Barker, prominent Fort Worth club woman and legislative chairman of the state federation of women's clubs, was instrumental in the submission by the 41st legislature of the two proposed changes, providing for a supreme court of nine members and for increasing the governor's salary to $10,000 a year. The amendments have been endorsed by the federation, and more than 1,000 club women are pledged to work for the adoption of the changes, Mrs. Barker said.

National Instructor Visits Drill Teams

Members of local groves of the Woodman circle met in the basement of the First Baptist church Tuesday afternoon and had with them Mrs. Jean Willard of Denison, national drill instructor, who was accompanied by the drill team of Stamford.

Members of drill teams in this section practiced for the Bluebonnet drill to be put on by Texas at the national meeting in Seattle in July.

Among those who will represent Durland and Wilson groves are Mesdames Pearl Young, Jenny Berry and Pearl Somers.

Members of the Stamford team were entertained at the home of Mrs. J. A. Connor while here.

Mrs. Jean Willard left for her home immediately after the meeting.

DIX APPROVES SECOND MATE

Up-to-Date Stepmother May Help Children

Dorothy Dix Explodes the Theory of the Cruel Stepmother—Will Children Chum With a Strict Parent?—Can a Boy Be Cured of Conceit?

Dear Miss Dix—Just how much does a father owe to his motherless children? For four years I have been engaged to a young man whose two daughters are in their first and second year of high school. He does not want to marry until both girls have completed their education and are both married. I have tried to be sensible and unselfish and have kept the thought in mind of how I should want my children treated by another woman if they were motherless, but do you think their father should stay single because they are not willing for him to marry again? Have I no right whatever to be considered in his life and should I be sacrificed to them? What do you think of the situation?—DISCOURAGED.

Answer.—I think that the man is making a very silly and futile sacrifice of both you and himself in yielding to the girls' selfish demand that he should not marry again. It is ridiculous to let two schoolgirls be the arbiters of the fate of two people who are older and wiser, and much better able to judge of what is best to be done under the circumstances.

To begin with, the girls are making a great mistake in preventing their father from marrying, even from their own standpoint. Having no mother, they must either live with some female relative, or have some hired housekeeper to look after them, and they would certainly be far better off if they were in their own home with a snappy up-to-date young stepmother at the head of it. She would know how to help them select their clothes, how to bring the right sort of people about them, how to help them make the most of themselves, and she would give them the home background that is such a help to girls socially.

I have known numbers of young girls whose lives were absolutely transformed by their father's marrying and giving them a stepmother, who not only took their mother's place, but did far more for them than their own mother could possibly have done, because she was a more modern and intelligent woman. I think now of two frumpy, shy girls whom nobody ever noticed, and who went nowhere because they lived with an old grandmother who dressed them as girls were dressed in her time, and who could give them no social position because she never went anywhere except to church.

Well, these girls' father married in spite of their wailing and weeping over his doing so, and the first thing the stepmother did was to dress them up and turn them into regular beauties, and then to make her house so gay and attractive that the girls were soon in the midst of everything and having a perfectly wonderful time, and eventually they made marriages that they never could have made except for their stepmother.

Young girls are too ignorant of the world to know the advantages and help that an older woman who has their interest at heart can give them, but their father certainly should have sense enough to perceive this and brush aside as immaterial their baseless prejudice against having a stepmother. Of course, the girls have their heads all filled with the bugaboo stories of cruel stepmothers that they have heard, but these will vanish with actual contact with a kindly, affectionate woman like yourself.

I am a great believer in men and women marrying the second time, not only for their own sakes but because in the end it is best for the children, for it keeps the young people from having to stay single to bear father or mother company, because father or mother gave up marrying for them when he or she was young, or else, if they do marry, from having to have lonely father and mother come and live with them, which imperils their own marriages, for few in-laws desire to be burdened with their husbands' or wives' parents.

As for your fiance's demanding that you wait until his daughters are married, that is a preposterous proposition. It may be for years and it may be forever, because there is no certainty that any girl nowadays will find a husband. Certainly it will be mere luck if they are snapped up as soon as they are out of school, and it is foolish to bank on that.

Therefore, if your sweetheart cannot see that you will be an asset to his daughters as well as to himself, and if he is willing to put the gratification of their baseless whim over your happiness, I think that he cares very little for you, and that you won't lose much if you lose him.

Certainly you will be foolish to waste your life in waiting for such a lukewarm lover. His grandchildren might object to you, you know, and where would you be then?—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—Do you think a mother can be strict and firm with her children and also be pals and companions with them? Will children tell their mother their little troubles and secrets if the mother corrects their faults? Don't you think from the way the world is going that parents should be firmer and stricter with their children than they are?—MRS. H. F.

Answer.—I certainly do. Undoubtedly the reason there are so many disobedient, self-willed youngsters who defy their parents and go hurtling on their way to destruction is that the fathers and mothers are too weak-kneed and cowardly to enforce any discipline on their children.

Children are like grown people. They only love those they respect, and they have no respect for the parents who are wishy-washy and afraid of them, and who lay down no laws that have to be observed. All the great generals in history whose men have followed them to death have been martinets. Every firm that gets loyal service from its employes has at its head some man who enforces his authority and who makes his subordinates toe the mark.

Children feel this same way about strong parents who make them behave. They like the feel of a firm hand over them. They know that they are ignorant and not able to cope with life and they want somebody upon whom they can rely to direct them.

Of course, the old-fashioned autocrat is as much deposed in the family circle as he is in politics. The day of the domestic tyrant is ended. There are no more fathers and mothers who say arbitrarily "Do this, or don't do that, or out of the house you go," but between that and a wise and wholesome restraint over children is a long distance.

Nor does it do to be too narrow and puritanical in your code. You can't hold your children to the standards of 50 years ago. Many things are proper now that were considered improper then. There is greater liberty for everybody and you can't rear your children entirely differently from the children about you.

But you can keep them from running wild. You can teach them to obey you. You can make them show you respect, and you can hold up to them ideals from which you will suffer no departure, and if you do this you needn't be afraid of losing their affection, or that they won't chum with you. As a matter of fact, children don't want their parents to be their equals. They want to look up to them as their superiors.—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—How should a girl treat a boy who is conceited and egotistic? Is there any cure for this dreadful disease?—M. A. C.

Answer.—Time is the only remedy and even that doesn't always work. Sometimes bumping up against the world deflates a boy's head. Sometimes it doesn't. Depends altogether on what is in it. If there are brains in it, eventually he will find out how little he knows and what a poor miserable worm of the dust he is. If he is a fool, he will go on believing himself a world's wonder to the end.

The only way for a girl to treat a boy who is conceited and egotistic is to give him the absent treatment, unless she has the patience of Griselda and the heroism to stand being bored to tears, for no other human being is more tiresome.—DOROTHY DIX.

Endeavorers Of Wichita District File Good Reports

Wichita District Christian Endeavorers who returned home Tuesday evening from the Houston meeting stated that this district took its share of honors in those bestowed.

First, they won flag number four in the state registration contest.

Wichita won first in her group in the state publicity and second in the state among all districts. The local district also won first place in the flying squadron mileage contest, with a total of 126,600 miles traveled in the interest of the Christian Endeavor.

The delegation from Wichita, 46 in number, was the largest registered number of delegates outside Houston.

Jack B. Dale, past president of the Texas Christian Endeavor union and Shirley Donnell, district president, made the invitation for the state convention which will be held here in 1930.

The convention was closed with the mizpah circle and the singing of "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

We Women

By BETTY BRAINERD

What Is Just Right

"Dear Betty Brainerd: Do you think it is a good plan for a girl to marry a man older than herself? If so, what do you consider the right difference in their ages?

"Has a girl a better chance of happiness if she chooses an older man for her husband than if she marries one her own age?"

Because women age more quickly than men it is regarded as better for a girl to select a husband somewhat older than herself.

Nothing is so galling to a wife's pride as to be afflicted with grey locks, wrinkles and a middle-aged figure while her husband still retains his youthful slimness and his full allotment of hair.

No man is proud of introducing a wife who looks like an elderly relative. It does not matter how his own physical charms have weathered the years, he likes to see the partner of his woes and joys as slender, as trim and as young-appearing as when he married her. It is a sop to his ego—a bolster of his self-esteem. Every man, in his heart, wants other men to envy him the prize he has captured and unless that prize remains very easy to look upon there will be more sympathy than envy forthcoming.

For these reasons—and always allowing for the inevitable exceptions—it is better that the girl be somewhat younger than the man she marries.

Mind you, she must not be as much younger that she wants to go dancing and partying when he wants his slippers and a book. Husbands and wife should be enough of an age so that their tastes coincide, so that they see eye to eye on all sorts of matters, which serve to make up social and domestic life.

If the husband is too much older he will make her life an inferno with his suspicions and his fear-inspired jealousies; for he knows very well that age has no chance against youth—and loving her he fears her loss. He will not want to go out and he will not want her to go out without him. He wonders why she is never contended at home and she wonders miserably whatever induced her to marry such a stick.

Being an old man's darling is a thoroughly dull existence for the darling and a most precarious and dread-ridden situation for the old man concerned.

Not too young and not too old, but just right! And "just right" seems to be from five to eight years difference in ages, with the difference most emphatically in favor of the wife.

Betty Brainerd will be glad to help her readers with their problems. Send a self addressed stamped envelope to her in care of this paper.

ST. LOUIS MAN INVENTS NEW WASHING MACHINE

A simple, new kind of washing machine has just been invented. It has no motors or moving parts, yet it is just as efficient as a machine costing $100. This new machine simply sets in any ordinary boiler and automatically cleans and sterilizes an entire washing in about 20 minutes. No rubbing or strong soap or lye is required. It has been tested and approved by leading engineers. This new machine costs no more than a pair of shoes. The Preston Manufacturing Company, Dept. 364, St. Louis, Mo., are offering to send one of these new washing machines on free trial to one person in each locality. They also want agents and spare time workers. Write them at once for free booklet and complete details.—Adv.

Negro Paper Scores National 'Scoop' On Capital's Most Talked of Tea

White House Reception for Mrs. De Priest Was Kept Quiet Until Racial Publication Spilled Beans

CHAS. S. HAYDEN
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Never before has the social fabric of Washington been more thoroughly disturbed than it has during the last week over the White House tea to which Mrs. De Priest, wife of the negro congressman from Illinois, was an invited guest. This has been the topic of discussion in every circle overshadowing farm relief, tariff revision and even prohibition enforcement.

Society matrons have been aghast, members of the congressional set astounded and hard-boiled politicians of both parties seeking to estimate its effect in terms of votes at the next election. Although some of those who profess to speak for the White House have sought to give the impression that the entertainment of the negro woman by Mrs. Hoover was done without the knowledge or approval of the president this has been received with little credence. Nor has full faith and credit been given to the White House statement that Mrs. De Priest was invited as have other wives of congressmen to the series of teas given by Mrs. Hoover.

Those familiar with the circumstances point out that it has been the practice to invite some 40 or 50 ladies of the congressional set to these other teas and without in any way drawing party lines. In this instance, it is evident that the white women present were chosen with care and there is every reason to believe they knew they were being called upon to jeopardize their own social standing. Mrs. Mitchell and Mrs. Good, as wives of cabinet members, could scarcely refuse while Mrs. Free, wife of the congressman from California, is known as one of Mrs. Hoover's closest friends while Mrs. Kelly, wife of the Pennsylvania representative, led the fight in the Congressional club last winter to prevent the amendment of the by-laws by which it was proposed to black-ball the negro congressmen's wife. Not only are all of these Republicans but care was taken that nothing should leak out to society reporters for notices carried in the local papers of the following morning simply stated that Mrs. Hoover had entertained informally at tea for "ladies" of the congressional set.

The fact of the matter is that it was a negro paper, published in Baltimore, which "scooped" the country on this sensational bit of news. It carried a story of it Thursday morning, describing the gown which the wife of the negro congressman wore, the time of her arrival at the White House and even a diagram showing where she sat and where the other guests were seated. The assumption is that it was given out by De Priest and it is certain he made no effort to conceal the fact that his wife had been entertained at the White House, even issuing a statement expressing his gratification over "the social contacts" which his wife had made at the White House.

That the incident may have a deep political significance is generally conceded, although there is a difference of opinion as to whether it was done for that purpose or not. The Democrats are confident that it will put a definite quietus on the Republican trend in the South and restore those states which deserted their traditional allegiance to the party of Jefferson and Jackson in the last election. Those Democrats insist that the prejudice against racial equality in the South is far greater and more deeply rooted than the tripie prejudice, rum, Romanism and Tammany. They believe, moreover, that its effect will be to alienate many people in the North, particularly women, who, for the most part, have firm convictions on questions involving racial integrity.

Although Republican leaders generally have engaged in a conspiracy of silence regarding the episode or dismiss it with a shrug and the inquiry, "What else could he do?" they appear to get some comfort out of the belief that it will restore the flagging faith of the black voters in the G. O. P. Despite the anti-segregation order of President Hoover when secretary of commerce it was with some difficulty and considerable expenditures that the negro voters in pivotal states were held in line at the last election. The activities of Horace Mann, avowedly a "lily-white" the alliance with the Ku Klux Klan, and the ousting of negro leaders from party control in the South had aroused the resentment of negro voters in many of the states. However, the goal of practically every negro leader's ambition, whether expressed or not, is social equality and for that reason the recent White House tea may be expected to silence the muttering and grumbling among the negroes which has alarmed Republicans in such states as Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Missouri, where the negro voters constitute the balance of power.

There is considerable speculation as to what effect this may have on the negro aside from politics. The Booker T. Washington dinner episode of a quarter of a century ago and the victory of Jack Johnson over Jim Jeffries as the champion heavyweight pugilist were both followed by sporadic outbreaks of racial strife. Fear is expressed that similar results may be traced to the White House tea, particularly in congested centers where racial prejudices are now smouldering and need but some one overt act to fan them into flames.

THE MODERN WAY TO COOK VEGETABLES

Save the Vital Elements and Improve the Flavor

Every woman who knows the importance of vegetable foods and wishes to make these healthful dishes tasteful, will welcome the work of two groups of nationally known cooking experts. These women experimented at length with vegetables cooked in the various ways. Their conclusions are of value to everyone interested in diet and health. Use little water in cooking vegetables. Do not overcook. Add a dash of sugar while the foods are cooking.

What does the dash of sugar do? It does not make the vegetables taste sweet as might be expected, but it intensifies the piquant flavors. It restores the freshness of flavor. It helps to heighten the color of the vegetables.

Try this Carrot Loaf recommended by one of the experts. Scrape enough carrots to make a pint of pulp. Boil in slightly sweetened water until tender. Then mash. To the pint of pulp, add 2 well-beaten eggs, ½ teaspoon of salt, ¼ teaspoon of pepper, 2 teaspoons of sugar and ¼ cup of cream. Pour into a well-buttered mold. Stand this in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven until firm. Turn out on hot platter and surround with peas and serve with white sauce.

Use a dash of sugar to make the healthful foods so appetizing that people will eat them. Good food promotes good health. The Sugar Institute.

MAYOR FILES WATER SUIT

$16,000 Asked of Irrigation Distriet No. 2

Damages aggregating $16,000 and two injunctions are sought by Mayor J. W. Akin in a suit filed Wednesday afternoon against the Wichita County Water Improvement district No. 2.

The plaintiff seeks to enjoin the district from the use of certain irrigation canals until they are lined and asks a mandatory injunction from the court instructing the directors of the district to drain the waterways.

The damages are sought on allegations that 160 acres of Wichita county land, close enough to Wichita Falls for a prospective suburban subdivision, have been injured from seepage from the irrigation canals and from bad odors and mosquitoes.

Mayor Akin alleges in the petition that he had planned to convert the north 60 acres of the tract into a subdivision before the alleged injuries accrued. The property is situated four miles east of Wichita Falls, lying just below the J. B. Jameson land, already involved in a similar suit filed several weeks ago.

The petition filed Wednesday is the third of a similar nature entered against county water improvement districts within the last year. A $12,000 judgment awarded to Mrs. J. M. McGrath against district No. 1 is under appeal. The suit for Mr. Jameson has not yet come up for trial. All three cases were filed by E. W. Napier, attorney.

WOULDN'T TAKE A FORTUNE FOR GOOD SARGON DID

"I wouldn't take anything in the world for the health and strength Sargon brought to me!

"I had been in a dreadfully run down condition ever since I had a bad spell of miaria last August. At times I was so weak, I could scarcely stay on my feet. My back and kidneys pained me considerably and I also had stomach trouble. My food would not digest properly, but seem to form like a knot in the pit of my stomach and I would suffer miserably for hours. Try as I might, I could find nothing to help me.

"How glad I am that I decided to try this new Sargon treatment! I had heard a great deal about this wonderful medicine, but it was a delightful surprise to me how completely it overcame my troubles. I can't remember when I've had such a splendid appetite, and now I can eat anything I want without suffering the least distress afterwards. I've gained five pounds and best of all, I feel much stronger and have more energy. The pains in my back and kidneys are gone. I'm not nervous any more, and I have a cheerful sense of well-being and health that's more to me than I can say.

"I took the Sargon Soft Mass Pills, too, and they are a valuable part of the treatment. They are far superior to any laxative I have ever taken and regulated me perfectly.

"Sargon accomplishes wonderful results and I am delighted to recommend it to others."

The above grateful statement was made recently by Mrs. J. M. O'Brien, highly esteemed resident of 336 Regent street, San Antonio.

Sargon may be obtained in Wichita Falls from the Renfro Drug Co., Eighth and Scott streets, No. 1 main store, and Seventh and Indiana, No. 2; in Electra from Lough's Drug store; and in Burkburnett from Burkburnett Pharmacy.—Adv.

Burk High School Athlete Unable To Explain Mysterious Attack

Pat Hood, 22, Burkburnett High school athlete, who was found lying unconscious beside his car on the Burkburnett road near the Panhandle refinery about 1 o'clock Wednesday morning, was unable to explain the attack Wednesday when questioned by City Detectives Pat Allen and Luke Hart, the officers said.

Hood had been riding alone when he heard a noise on the running board and leaned out to find the cause, supposing it to be a loose fender. Following that he remembers nothing, he declared. The only explanation, according to officers, is that someone was hiding on the running board of the car and that the unknown assailant struck the boy as the car slowed down.

Hood declared that he had a premonition of danger when he left Wichita Falls and had hidden a $10 bill in his shoe. About $1 in change, taken from his pocket, may explain the motive for the assault, officers believed. His clothing was torn almost from his body when he was found by several men in a passing car.

Officers, although puzzled by the case, are searching for clues which may lead to the discovery of the assailant. Hood declared that he knew of no enemies who may have made the assault.

Police Chief Nabs Liquor and Auto

Police confiscated a Buick coupe and over 36 pints of bottled in bond whisky Wednesday night after the driver of the coupe had abandoned his car following a chase of several blocks up Third street. Police Chief Frank Burns fired three shots at the tires of the car in an effort to bring it to a halt.

At the third shot, which struck the fender of the coupe, the car slowed down and the driver jumped out and ran down an alley. He had disappeared before Chief Burns could bring his machine to a stop. The pursued car, left without a driver, ran up over the curb and into a yard, where it stopped.

One Slightly Hurt In Auto Collision

Mildred Sleeper, from New Hampshire, who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Cameron, 1710 Elizabeth street, was slightly injured about 7 o'clock Wednesday night when the car in which she was riding, driven by Mrs. Cameron, and another car, driven by a negro, collided at the corner of Brook and Pearl streets.

The injured woman was taken to the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital for first aid treatment. She received minor cuts over the right eye and ear and slight bruises when thrown against the side of the car by the force of the impact.

Deaths

MRS. SARAH FRANCES RATLIFF

Funeral services for Mrs. Sarah Frances Ratliff, 53, who died Monday at her home, 1101 Marlow street, were held in Bowie, Texas, at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The body was forwarded to Bowie by the Burris funeral home at 12:40 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Ratliff, who was born in Illinois, was the widow of Charles W. Ratliff. Survivors in the immediate family are Sam and Leonard Ratliff, Mrs. Ida Holt, Mrs. Annie Cheek, and Misses Bessie and Gertrude Ratliff, all of Wichita Falls; Mrs. Ray Dodd of Lubbock, Texas; Mrs. Lucy Rankin of Dewey, Okla.; Clark Sandy of Russell, Ky., and Sam Sandy of Forrestburg, Texas.

GEORGE E. KERSTING

George E. Kersting, 61, carpenter, died in a local hospital at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning. The body is in charge of the Hines Mortuary pending the making of funeral arrangements. Mr. Kersting had been in Wichita Falls only a few weeks, having come here from Iowa.

JOHN H. HILL

The body of John H. Hill, 66, vice president of the Roamer Oil company, who died in a local hospital late Tuesday night, was forwarded to Franklin, Tenn., by the Hines Mortuary at 12:40 p. m. Wednesday.

Newman Hill, son of the deceased man, and secretary-treasurer of the Roamer company, accompanied the body. Mr. Hill had lived at 1657 McGregor street, having come to Wichita Falls from Nashville, Tenn., about three years ago. Survivors are his wife and son.

DOROTHY ALMA STORMS

Funeral services for Dorothy Alma Storms, two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Storms who died early Wednesday morning, were held from the family residence, 310 Tulsa street, Wednesday afternoon. Arrangements were under the direction of the Burris funeral home. Interment was in Riverside cemetery.

Graham Man Given Year in Liquor Case

Louis Young was given a one-year prison sentence for the manufacture of whisky by the verdict of a jury in the 30th district court at Graham Wednesday afternoon. The jury returned a verdict of guilty within less than an hour after the case was closed.

Sam Spence, district attorney, went at once into the trial of the case against Fred Tetmyer, charged with the possession and manufacture of beer. Arguments, closed by Mr. Spence, were not completed until 6:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and the jury had not reported late Wednesday evening.

The case against W. B. Cribbs, charged with the possession and sale of beer, is to be called early Thursday, the district attorney announced.

Summer Graduates To Open Social Activities

Social activities for the summer graduating class of the high school and Junior college will begin at 5 o'clock Thursday morning with a swimming party at Westmoreland park pool, according to Tommie Hutchison and Dorothy Stiner, who comprise the recently elected social committee.

In the recent elections, Aubrey Rodgers was chosen as chairman of the rings and pins committee, and Tom McCarty and Lois Baber were appointed for the invitations committee.

E. M. Mann Attorney In Suit, Not Defendant

Through an error in its court records column Wednesday morning, The Record News used the name of E. M. Mann as a defendant rather than as the attorney in a suit filed by the T. L. M. company. The papers were filed by Mr. Mann, representing the T. L. M. company, and the suit was against another person.

CREAGER SAYS CHARGES FALSE

G. O. P. Boss Denies Coercion Accusation

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, June 19. (AP)—A week before the senate committee is to begin an investigation of patronage by the Republican party in Texas, R. B. Creager, Republican national committeeman for Texas, today made public letters and a telegram denying charges made by Senator Brookhart, chairman of the committee.

Creager sent the telegram to Brookhart on June 14, the day after the Iowa Senator had told the senate, speaking of Creager: "This man is putting on a campaign of coercion not only among postmasters but among all federal office holders," and "Creager practically warns all these officeholders that if they don't contribute there will be no more office."

In the telegram Creager charged the Iowa senator with "taking refuge in your usual cowardly manner behind senatorial immunity." He asserted that Senator Brookhart had, on record, testimony of 36 Texas postmasters, all of the first class; the four United States district attorneys; the four United States marshals; the three collectors of customs and the two collectors of internal revenue, and that the testimony of none of those office holders would justify Brookhart's charges.

"Aside from hearsay evidence, usually twice removed, no particle of evidence has been adduced before your committee reflecting in the slightest degree upon the Republican organization in Texas," the telegram said.

Creager also made public a letter to Senator Borah, Idaho, in which he again denied the Brookhart charges, contending that the operation of the Republican organization in Texas had been justified when its records were made public.

How Famous Model Bleaches Her Skin

Miss Betty Thatcher, well-known artist's model and noted particularly for the pure beauty of her skin, has her own idea of a skin bleach. She buys no ready-made preparation, but "mixes her own." Her recipe, in her own words, is very simple.

"I get three ounces of Orchard White from the druggists and to this I add the juice of two lemons. This makes a full quarter pint of a remarkably effective and at the same time perfectly harmless bleach. Massaged into face, neck and arms it softens and refines rough and coarse skin and bleaches red, sallow and discolored skin to a clear rosy white. It also fades away tan and freckles. Nothing like this wonderful mixture can be bought ready to use, for half of its efficacy is due to the fact that it is used while fresh."—Adv.

PROGRAM GIVEN BY ELECTRANS

Band and Novelty Numbers At Park Show

A crowd of about 4,000 witnessed the "Electra Night" free vaudeville program at Bellevue park Wednesday night. The bill was presented by the Electra municipal band and chamber of commerce, with Electrans staging each of the acts.

The band was under the direction of Ira C. Johns, and J. G. B. Totten directed the vaudeville program. "March Electra," composed by Mr. Johns and dedicated to Mayor George Ragland of Electra, opened the bill, followed by an overture, Orhpeus in der Underwelt.

Margaret and Doris Owens presented a novelty act, the Sunshine Girls. The band gave a Katinka selection and Mr. Totten, accompanied by the band, sang "Indian Love Call" and "Carolina Moon." Joe Turner presented a singsong act.

A series of musical selections, Cleopatra Suite, was played by the band, following which Russell Austin and George Asbill gave a blackface act. Piano and violin selections were played by Leatrice Wofford and Bulah Ross. Hughes and Hill presented another blackface act, and the program ended with "Waltz in Modern Style" and "Wedding of Heinie and Katherin" by the band.

Tired, Burning Feet

Tender feet—tired, aching, burning and swollen feet! The minute you put them into a "Tiz" bath you can feel the pain being drawn out and glorious comfort being restored.

It keeps your food safe

—the temperature is well below 50°—always!

For family health . . . for appealing menus . . . this is vital

In the General Electric Refrigerator the temperature is kept several degrees below fifty . . . always! Fifty degrees is accepted by scientists as the "danger point" in the preservation of food. When the temperature rises even a degree or two above that, bacteria multiply, foods become unsafe to eat.

Perhaps you think your own refrigerator is always "cold enough." You cannot be sure unless you actually take your refrigerator's temperature. It is constant cold which is needed.

Note these vital points of superiority

Countless superiorities give the General Electric Refrigerator its outstanding position . . . an hermetically sealed, dust-proof mechanism, mounted on top . . . an accessible temperature control . . . a new standard of quiet operation . . . no oiling . . . no troublesome machinery . . . simplified installation . . . no radio interference . . . an unqualified two-year service guarantee.

The new all-steel cabinets and the hermetically sealed mechanism combine to produce what we believe is the finest refrigerator ever made.

Not a dollar for repairs

More than a quarter of a million homes are enjoying the convenience, economy and health-guarding services of the General Electric Refrigerator. And not one of these owners has ever paid a dollar for repairs or service! This is a record in the industry.

The new all-steel General Electric Refrigerators are priced as low as $215 at the factory. A small payment down places one in your home.

Texans Are Proud of Their Concrete Pavements—

There is a reason for that! Portland cement concrete pavements meet every demand of the motorist. They are smooth, even surfaced, rigid, pleasing in color and skid-proof.

For the taxpayer it's significant that the greatest amount of portland cement concrete pavements have been built by those communities having the heaviest traffic and the most experience in building and maintaining pavements.

Portland cement concrete is truly the aristocrat of street and road paving materials.

COTTON BELT WEATHER GOOD

Crop Conditions Reported As 'Spotty'

WASHINGTON, June 19. (AP)—The weekly weather and crop report for the week ending yesterday, issued today by the department of agriculture, said temperatures were mostly moderate in the cotton belt, with the weekly averages near normal, and rainfall generally light to only moderate.

In Louisiana conditions were generally favorable, while in Oklahoma adequate warmth and sunshine was very helpful. The general condition of cotton is spotted in Texas, ranging from very good in the extreme south to poor in some wetter sections, but progress during the week was very good.

Militia on Duty As Factory Reopens

GREENWOOD, S. C., June 19 (AP)—National guard troops were on duty at Ware shoals, near here, as the Ware Shoals Manufacturing company's plant resumed operation with picket lines formed near its gates.

The Greenville militia unit was ordered to the scene at 1:30 a. m., today after hundreds of strikers, at a meeting yesterday had voted to begin picketing.

The picketing was decided upon after R. E. Campbell, chairman of the strikers grievance committee, informed the meeting the mill management had refused to guarantee the employes that they would be protected against discrimination when the plant re-opened.

Muskogee, Okla., Attorney To Face Disbarment

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., June 19. (UP)—Disbarment proceedings against L. J. Roach, Muskogee attorney were on file today in the state supreme court. He was given 20 days to answer. He is under an 18 month sentence for embezzling $5,000 collected as attorney for an estate.

Bruce Reviews Local Topics in Optimist Club Address

An humorous review of current topics which lacked only the whirling rope and munching of peanuts to have every appearance of authenticity was given by H. J. Bruce before the Optimist club's weekly meeting at the Kemp hotel Wednesday noon.

Recent social affairs as reported from Washington were included in the several controversial subjects discussed by Mr. Bruce.

Violin numbers were given by Durwood Park, accompanied by Miss Mildred Anderson. Miss Lorene Tucker was at the piano for a singsong led by Joel H. MacGregor. Rev. Patrick Henry presided.

COOK TO CLEAR COURT DOCKET

Old Divorce Suits to Be Dropped, Judge Warns

Judge W. W. Cook in the 78th district court Wednesday afternoon announced his immediate intention of dismissing every divorce suit filed before June 1, 1928, in which no order has been entered during the past year. The docket will be cleared early next week without any further notice, Judge Cook declared.

The dismissal of such "dead" cases after a year without any progress on the case is a part of the judge's program for keeping the court's docket cleared. He expects to wipe off at least 50 cases which have not been pushed this year, he said.

A movement against department and chain stores has been started in Germany.

'LINDIES' EVEN STOP TO POSE

Honeymoon Over, Couple Allows Photographs

NEW YORK, June 19. (US)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh signalized the end of his will o' the wisp honeymoon today by stepping suddenly from seclusion into the spotlight's brightest beam, taking his shy and diffident bride, the former Anne Morrow, with him.

He drove to Mitchel Field, L. I., in the morning, straight into the massed army of photographers and startled members of that corps by consenting to pose, with his bride, for photographs. He granted an interview, also, smiled amiably, but said nothing whatever about his plans, his honeymoon or anything else but aviation.

The flying colonel took his bride for their first flight together since their wedding, as far as is known. Obviously, Lindy was glad to be "back on the job" and although he had planned not to fly, as he chatted with friends, his eye kept roving to the Bird plane, first to make the test flights in the Guggenheim safe aircraft competition. Then he strayed from his bride, borrowed a parachute, goggles and helmet and went along with Harry Guggenheim.

He returned in 15 minutes, bundled his wife in a leather jacket, goggles and helmet, and lifted her bodily into the rear cockpit of a Curtiss Falcon.

Both were smiling, even beaming. Lindy waved his hand and they took off, circled the field for 15 minutes and returned. Then they posed for photographers.

One of Lindy's newly persona grata reporter-friends, casually asked:

"By the way, Colonel, where are you living now?"

Lindy grinned.

He and Mrs. Lindbergh drove toward New York. They had moored their cabin cruiser, Mouette, to a dock at Sands Point, L. I., Tuesday and were guests at the Daniel Guggenheim estate in the afternoon.

'JUNETEENTH'

Negroes Take Holiday Celebrating Freedom From Slavery

DALLAS, June 19. (AP)—The calendar shows today was June 19, but to the negroes the day was "Juneteenth."

In the Dallas street department, the day meant no work for the negroes, and watermelon parties, hot times and general celebrating ruled. The holiday was declared for the negro employes of the city department yesterday by Commissioner Gus Wylie.

"If they show up for work, tell them to go home and come back tomorrow," he said.

Juneteenth is the day of days in darktowns, and is their day for celebrating their freedom through the emancipation proclamation.

Negro Knife Wielders Face County Charges

Four county court charges growing out of a stabbing affray in Electra last Friday night in which two negro men received a total of 38 knife wounds were filed by L. V. Abernathy, assistant county attorney, Wednesday afternoon. Each of the two men were charged with aggravated assault against each other, and vagrancy complaints were sworn out against the two negro girls who are said to have been the cause of the trouble. The assault charges were brought against Wallace Rose and Johnnie Williams. They are in adjoining cots at the General hospital recovering from their wounds.

BAPTISTS VOTE TO MAKE STUDY

Relationship With Federal Council Subject

DENVER, Colo., June 19. (UP)—Without any showing of discord, the Northern Baptist convention today adopted a resolution providing for the appointment of a committee to study the question of the Churches of Christ in America.

Judge F. W. Freeman, of Denver, who proposed the motion, following an agreement with leaders, read a prepared statement that was to have been a part of the resolution and said it really represented his own views. He made it plain that in adopting the resolution the convention did not approve or disapprove his statement.

He warned the convention against the "possibility of disfellowship" that might follow if Baptists permitted the federal council of churches to speak for them.

Briand and Stresemann Renew Finance Parley

PARIS, June 19. (AP)—A conference of the government to put the Young plan into effect could be called about the middle of July, said Foreign Minister Briand today after a talk with Foreign Minister Stresemann of Germany, providing the other powers concerned agreed.

The conversations today were first between M. Briand and Dr. Stresemann, and later Premier Poincare participated. M. Briand described them as simply continuing talks he had with the German foreign minister at Madrid regarding the procedure to be followed.

AIRLINES FOR SOUTH TO OPEN

Dixie State to Enjoy Fast Service

JACKSON, Miss., June 19. (AP)—A transcontinental air and rail passenger service through Jackson from the West coast, through New Mexico, Texas and Louisiana and on to Birmingham, Atlanta and New York is to be established in the near future to combat the transcontinental air and rail hookups already started through the Northern states, it became known today.

Texas Air Transport, a subsidiary of the aviation corporation of America, a $200,000,000 holding and operating company, yesterday announced plans for immediate service from Fort Worth to Jackson and Atlanta by way of Birmingham.

At the same time aviation Corporation of America officials through the Southern Air Transport, another subsidiary, announced plans for New York to California air and mail route to include the air service through Jackson. This, it declared, would include the T. A. T. line through Jackson, and will assure a service from the East to West coasts.

The new line from Fort Worth and Dallas to Atlanta through Jackson will start "in a few days," officials said, indicating that regular service will be started some time next week.

Mexican Official To Study New Law

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, June 19. (US)—Enrique de Selva, Mexican department of agriculture engineer arrived here today to determine the number of Mexicans in the Rio Grande valley who will be subject to deportation under the immigration laws which go into effect July 1.

Selva, who is cooperating with L. Lopez Monter of the local consulate staff said he would urge his countrymen to return to the Southern republic where grants of land await them.

More than 3,000 Mexicans have been deported since March 1, according to information obtained from American immigration headquarters. All were deported for violation of the entrance requirements.

While no official figures are obtainable on the number of Mexicans in the valley who will be subject to deportation under the new immigration law, Selva said that he had been informed that between 15,000 and 20,000 Mexicans, most of them laborers on valley farms will feel the effects of the new immigration law.

"Hindenburg's Health Good," Says Berlin Report

BERLIN, June 19. (AP)—The Wolff news agency tonight quieted fears for the health of President Von Hindenburg, who has been reported ill, while on a holiday in East Prussia.

"As a result of direct inquiries it may be officially stated that President Von Hindenburg is enjoying the best of health," said the statement.

Popular Orchestra at Lakeside Park

Charlie De Sautelle's Royal Terrace orchestra, above, comes from popular resorts in Indiana and Michigan to open an indefinite engagement at Lakeside Park dance pavilion Thursday night.

Collegiate "Singing Orchestra" Booked for Dances at Lakeside

Coming directly from famous lake resorts in Indiana and Michigan after closing an engagement at the Cinderella ballroom in Indianapolis, the largest dance pavilion in Indiana, Charlie de Sautelle's Royal Terrace orchestra opens an indefinite engagement Thursday night at Lakeside Park pavilion. In addition to popularity gained in numerous resorts, the orchestra has become well known as Victor recording and radio broadcasting artists over WLW, Cincinnati, and WFBM Indianapolis.

Members of De Sautelle's "singing orchestra," presented by Ralph Britt, were organized three years ago during their college days in Indiana, and have been together in the same musical unit since. The orchestra was a popular aggregation with the collegiates of Illinois State university and Indiana colleges.

Information preceding their arrival at Lakeside park resort describes the Royal Terrace musicians as favorites with the younger social sets wherever they have played, with their specialty numbers and dance novelties an added attraction to the well-marked dance rhythm, for which the orchestra is said to be noted.

Three soloists and novelty entertainers are included in the orchestra personnel, and the regular dance program will present novelty surprises every night at the Lakeside pavilion.

Honey Boy and Sassafras, KGKO black face artists, with a cast of 12, present their last performance Thursday night of a popular minstrel which was also played Wednesday night at the park.

Ship Reported Burning Reaches Port Intact

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 19. (AP)—The passenger steamer Ossian Bedell reached port here this afternoon in tow of a coast guard cutter and a tugboat, after the waterfront had been thrown into a furore by word that the little craft, passenger-laden, was on fire.

At the office of the New York and Ontario Ferry company, operators of the Bedell, it was learned the steering gear of the boat had broken down. Aside from that, officials of the company said there was nothing amiss as far as they could learn.

FRENCH DEBT IS EXTENDED

Both Houses Adopt Resolution Delaying Payment

WASHINGTON, June 19. (US)—Both the senate and house today adopted a joint resolution granting the secretary of the treasury authority to postpone the time for payment of the French post-war debt of $407,000,000, due Aug. 1. The resolution now goes to President Hoover, who is expected to sign it without delay.

The senate adopted the resolution without a record vote.

The house vote was 129 to 86, with two members voting present. The house was held in idleness for 25 minutes after the vote had been taken, for two additional members to appear and complete a quorum to make the vote effective.

The resolution authorizes the secretary of the treasury to postpone the maturity date of the debt from Aug. 1, to not later than May 1, 1930, provided the French parliament ratifies the Mellon-Berenger general $4,000,000,000 debt settlement plan before Aug. 1.

The $407,000,000 item is embraced in the general debt settlement plan. Should France ratify this pact before Aug. 1, and congress be not in session to also approve, the treasury department would have to demand payment by France of the $407,000,000, even though France had ratified the Mellon-Berenger plan.

FERGUSON LAND LAW IS VOID

Tenant Statute Is Called Unconstitutional

AUSTIN, June 19. (AP)—The tenant's land law, enacted at the instance of former Gov. James E. Ferguson in 1915, after he had been elected to office with it as the principal plank in his platform, was declared unconstitutional and void by the supreme court today.

It provided that a landlord should not charge rental to exceed one-third of the grain crop and one-fourth of the cotton crop, where the tenant furnished everything but the land, or more than one-half where the land owner furnished everything except the labor.

The provision was attached to the landlord's lien law, enacted in 1874, which provided that a landlord should have a preferential lien on the property of a tenant to secure rental due.

The court held the amendment "void and of no effect in its entirety" it violated both the state and federal constitutions, the court said.

The decision was based on certified questions asked by the third court of civil appeals in the case of Sam Culberson vs. B. G. Ashford, appealed from McLennan county. Culberson rented lands from Ashford and claimed Ashford was endeavoring to collect rental in excess of the worth of the crops.

Prize-Winning Hands

'Lovely Hands Due To Washing Dishes'

Says Winner of Prize for Most Beautiful Hands

Miss Helen Broderick, winner of a nation-wide contest for beautiful hands conducted by John Murray Anderson, noted producer, and of a $2,500 prize, has a unique method of keeping her hands smooth and white.

Miss Broderick's hands will be used as models by a great Italian sculptor, who searched Europe in vain for hands lovely enough.

"Honestly, the only 'hands' secret I have," she said in a recent interview, "is washing my fine things, my dishes, with Lux. The gorgeous Lux suds soothe the skin, leave it divinely smooth and white."

And not only Miss Broderick, but the beauty experts in 305 famous beauty shops all over the country, advise using Lux for all soap and water tasks, in order to give the hands real beauty care.

The Big City Problem

REAL ESTATE experts, meeting at Montreal, attempt to chart some sort of course which American cities can follow in their expansion. Such things as automobile parking, rapid transit, skyscrapers and traffic outlets are discussed in all their phases as the experts strive to find some way of making life endurable in the crowded centers of population.

It is a big problem, and it will continue to get bigger each year. In fact, it may yet prove the very biggest problem America has to face.

Meanwhile—quite by chance, yet very timely—newspapers in every city in the land print pages of vacation advertisements.

You cannot pick up a daily paper without finding yourself urged to get out into the open spaces for a rest. Lakes, mountains, rivers and ocean beaches flaunt their attractions in imperative type. Bathing girls are sketched in against a background of smooth beaches; excursion steamships are shown gliding over moolit waters; fishermen are depicted enticing lusty bass and trout from lonely, shaded streams.

These advertisements carry the appeals of every section of the country, and of course vary greatly. Yet the bastic appeal of them all is the same; get out of the city into the country and make yourself over—get away from the crowds, find a little peace and quiet and fresh air and get some strength for the next year's work.

Thus, in a way, the cat is let out of the bag. At the precise moment when the real estate experts are visioning a constant growth in size on the part of all our cities, these vacation advertisements are emphasizing what all of us secretly know—that the modern city, at bottom, is a pretty poor sort of place to live, and that people can stand it only by getting away from it every so often.

All of our cities are crowded now. All of them are tangled and jammed by streams of traffic. All of them contain vast throngs of people who can never get out of sight or sound of one another. And, since the country is constantly growing, all of these things are going to grow worse instead of better. Congestion is to become more congested, noise is to become noisier, frayed nerves are to be made more and more taut and strained.

The real estate experts are trying to find some way of handling these problems—and the rest of us, meanwhile, scan the vacation advertisements and dream fondly of getting off by ourselves in the summer sunlight, where there are no crowds or traffic cops or neighbors' radios or tumultuous streets.

While we dream of our vacations, though, we might as well drop a prayer for the success of the expert realtors. For, after all, we are going to continue to live in our cities, whether we like it or not; and the least we can do is hope that some way will be found of making them more endurable.

Cigarets—and Snuff

THE POPULARITY of the cigaret has apparently reduced the number of pipe and cigar smokers. At any rate, figures compiled by the New York Trust company show that while more cigarets were made in the United States last yenr than ever before, the production of cigars and pipe tobacco was considerably below previous levels.

In 1928, American manufacturers marketed 105,915,965,000 cigarets, as compared with 97,000,000,000 the year before and a mere 16,000,000,000 in 1914. Cigar production, on the other hand, stood at 6,453,667,000; more than 100,000,000 under the 1927 mark, and nearly half a billion below the 1914 level. Pipe tobacco production paralleled the cigar output very closely.

Apparently we are turning to cigarets in preference to other forms of tobacco. But there's one puzzling fact in these figures. Snuff—which, no doubt, most of us had supposed a pretty outmoded commodity—continues to gain. There were 40,655,000 pounds of it sold last year—half a million pounds more than in 1927, and a good 10,000,000 pounds over the 1914 mark.

Will someone please explain that?

A Light Bulb and a Tragedy

A VERY SMALL THING can cause a tragedy in this modern world. Investigators have proved that an ordinary electric light bulb caused the dreadful fire and explosion in the Cleveland Clinic hospital, where 126 people lost their lives.

It wasn't the fault of the light bulb, of course. It had simply been left hanging too close to the inflammable X-ray films. Turned on for a long time, the bulb got overheated and set the film on fire—and a terrible tragedy was the result.

Fate strikes its blows in a strange way, sometimes. Who would have thought that an ordinary light bulb could be the means of bringing 126 people to their deaths.

Our National Meat

IF ENGLAND'S great staple of diet is supposed to be roast beef, the national meat of the United States seems to be pork. At any rate, the American people eat more pork than any other meat. Figures compiled in the Outline of Business, issued by the Central National bank of Cleveland, show that more than one-half of all the meat eaten in the United States is pork, with beef ranking second and veal, lamb and mutton trailing in the rear.

Incidentally, we are eating more meat now than ever before. In 1919 the per capita consumption of meat in this country was 130 pounds; now it has gone up to 138, and it's still rising.

The GREEN SHADOW - By Herman Landon

(Copyright by Public Ledger)

Adele Castle has just had the weirdest adventure of her life. She has been taken by a mysterious Miss Conway to meet Dr. Moffett, whom she meets but does not see. For as she enters the room of an old house in a part of New York she does not recognize she is met by a green light through which she observes the vague outline of a man. He tells her he knows her father is the "Mr. Graves" whom police seek as the associate of Daniel Forrester, who died after getting $10,000,000 by fraud. He claims to have papers which, if made public, would result in Mr. Castle going to jail.

Adele calls on her father, who tells her Dr. Moffett demands $100,000 for his silence, though Mr. Castle profited but little by Forrester's operations, which he did not discover were illegal until after the latter's death. On reaching home Adele finds a note referring to the color green and making an appointment for the next day in Central park. It is signed "the Picaroon."

"Do you mean there has been a—a murder?"

Mr. Ferryman Calls

Captain John Summers, stockily built, sturdy of jaw, with a reddish complexion and a skull that was considerably larger than symmetry allowed, sat at his desk in the police headquarters building on center street and tried to fix his attention on a stack of reports.

There was a sour, fretting look on his face. Now and then he made a petulant jab with a pencil. He did not like to read these reports. He did not like any of the administrative functions connected with his position. If Captain Summers could have followed his inclination he would have been out hunting criminals—The Picaroon, for instance.

Summers nursed a special grievance against the Picaroon—the slippery and elusive scamp who amused himself by plundering people's safes and who always left a card behind him stating that the victim could recover his valuables upon paying 10 per cent of their real value to a certain philanthropic society.

Time and again Summers had accepted the challenge, but something had always gone wrong. On several occasions he had maneuvered the Picaroon into a tight corner, but the Picaroon had always slipped out. It was the ambition of Summer's life to catch him some day. That day, when it came, would heal all the wounds his pride had suffered.

But it was a difficult task he had set himself. No one seemed to know anything about the Picaroon except that he had a penchant for annexing other people's valuables and a special talent for avoiding capture. Somehow the rumor had got abroad that he was a wealthy and luxurious person who at one time had suffered grievously from one of the law's mistakes, but this was only a surmise on the part of the public and the newspapers.

Information of a more definite character was in Summers' possession, but he kept it rigidly to himself. Many little details and numerous trifling occurrences, each of no importance when viewed by itself but quite significant in the aggregate, had focused Summers' suspicion on a certain individual. That individual was Martin Dale, a leisurely, cultured and well-to-do gentleman whose good looks, easy manners, ready smile and breezy chatter had made him a favorite everywhere.

Martin Dale

Captain Summers was almost certain that this Martin Dale was the Picaroon, but so far he had been unable to prove it.

Strangest of all, he liked Martin Dale. They often lunched together. Summers enjoyed Dale's pungent anecdotes about life in clubs and society, and Dale relished the captain's observations concerning crime and criminals. Occasionally the conversation veered round to the subject of the Picaroon, and then Dale would look very innocent, and Summers' reddish face would close up like a poker player's. Yet, much as Summers liked Dale, he would not let friendship interfere with duty if his chance to capture the Picaroon should ever come.

There was no particular reason why he should be thinking about the Picaroon this morning, yet his thoughts strayed occasionally from the reports before him. The Picaroon had not been active for several weeks. That meant nothing, however. Probably he was planning some particularly brilliant exploit. The Picaroon was full of brilliant ideas. Oh, well, there was such a thing as being too brilliant, in Captain Summers' estimation. Some day the scamp would go a little too far, and then——

The captain moistened his lips as if contemplating some particularly savory mental morsel. The Picaroon had humiliated him time and again. Friendship or no friendship, Summers would give no quarter when the great day arrived. And he knew Dale would accept none. He would take his punishment with a smile and a shrug like a thoroughbred sport.

That was one of the things he liked about Dale, his sportsmanship. And Dale had many other likable traits. It was really odd how Summers could so thoroughly like a man whose alter ego he was determined to put in jail. It was a psychological phenomenon that he had never puzzled out.

The door opened and a uniformed attendant announced that Mr. Alexander Ferryman wished to see the captain on important business.

A tall gentleman entered. He was fastidiously dressed and carried himself with an air of distinction. He was lean and straight, looked about 50, carried a silver-knobbed cane and wore glasses on a ribbon.

Ferryman's Story

"I have something rather curious to report to you," he said at length "It may sound insignificant to you but it has worried me a great deal. I have hesitated a long time before finally deciding to bring the matter to the attention of the police. It concerns a situation that may result in some very unpleasant, not to say tragic, developments."

"Well?" said Summers tartly.

"I must explain a few things in order that you may understand the situation clearly. I am a retired business man. I own two adjoining houses on Bank street, No. 260 and No. 262. They are old houses of the comfortable kind that were built two generations ago. Unfortunately that kind is rapidly passing out of existence."

Mr. Ferryman sighed. Captain Summers looked bored.

"Until four years ago," Mr. Ferryman continued, "I lived with my wife at No. 262. I had done everything to make it comfortable for her, furnishing the house in the very best fashion I could afford. I was deeply devoted to her, and for a time we lived happily.

"Then my wife began to show signs of restlessness. She was much younger than I—only a little more than half my age. Naturally she was more active than I, and she craved more pleasure and more youthful companionship. Perhaps I didn't try to understand her as I should. I realize now that I was not the right sort of companion for her. I couldn't—well, to cut a long and distressing story snort, my wife left me four years ago."

"With another man?" Summers bluntly suggested.

The visitor bristled. He tapped his cane against the floor. "You have no right to make such an insinuation sir. I resent it. I will not have my wife calumniated."

"Keep cool," Summers advised, "and try to use shorter words. It will save time. And don't wear out my floor with that stick."

Mr. Ferryman seemed partly mollified. "I keep forgetting that strangers can't feel as strongly about the matter as I do. My wife simply went away, without any explanation whatever. I was heartbroken. I was very much in love with her, and I am still. If you could realize how beautiful she was you would understand. This will give you a faint idea."

He snapped the back lid of his watch open and exhibited a small photograph. Summers looked at it, observed that it was indeed a beautiful face and, as was his habit, filed away an image of the features in his mind.

"Of course, this doesn't do her justice," said Mr. Ferryman, shutting the watch and putting it into his pocket. "It may help you to understand, however, why I am so passionately devoted to her. After she had gone I moved next door, to No. 260. I couldn't endure the former associations. They reminded me of her and added to my grief. But I left everything as it was in the old house. I have a caretaker there, a faithful old fellow named Axelson, who keeps everything neat and clean and in repair. When she comes back"—and Mr. Ferryman smiled wistfully—"I want her to find everything as it was when she left."

Green Light Again

"You're sure she will come back?"

"I feel it—I feel it in here," Mr. Ferryman touched his heart. "Some day she'll come back repentent, and then we shall begin life at No. 262 all over again. Every night I sit at my window watching for her. Every morning—

"But you are not interested in that. I have made these explanations so that you may understand what follows. Several times within the last six or seven months, Axelson has come to me and reported that strange things are going on at No. 262."

"What, for instance?" Summers asked, showing interest for the first time.

"Perhaps you will smile when I tell you," said Mr. Ferryman in a diffident tone. "You see, the old house is sacred to me and it is possible that I attach undue importance to what happens there.

"So far nothing very sensational has happened—at least, it may not seem very sensational to you. Axelson has reported to me that minor articles have disappeared from time to time. He also has discovered evidence of trespassers in various parts of the house. Now and then, he tells me, he hears footfalls in the night."

Summers looked bored again. "I'd advise you to hire a better watchman and put new locks on the doors."

"Oh, Axelson is efficient enough, but these things seem to be beyound him. But I haven't told you the strangest part yet. Twice, upon hearing these footfalls in the night Axelson has got out of bed to investigate. The sounds seemed to come from the library, so he went there. On each occasion a strange green light has been flashed in his face the moment he entered."

"A green light?"

"Yes, a green light. Where it comes from Axelson can't imagine. It lasts only an instant, he tells me, and then it's gone. He has searched thoroughly, but there seems to be no explanation."

"Did he hear anything when he saw the green light?"

"Yes, footsteps moving about the room. But after the green light had gone out and he had turned on the electric lights, there was nobody in the room."

Summer thought for a moment. "Does Axelson drink?"

"Not a drop. And I am positive he is not subject to hallucinations of any sort. Now, I don't like the idea of such things going on in a house owned by me, and especially one that holds such intimate associations. It seems to me that the matter requires an investigation."

Summers gave his visitor a narrow and not very complimentary look. "I think you are exciting yourself over nothing," he declared. "Axelson is probably a drunkard or a dope addict. Just by looking at them you can't always tell what they are doing when nobody is watching.

"My advice to you is to take Axelson's cock-and-bull stories with a grain of salt. Take two grains for good measure. And next time he tells you one of those yarns send him over to me. I'll—"

The telephone on Summers' desk rang. He answered, listened with an indifferent air for a moment, then jerked up his top-heavy head and was all alertness. He drew a pad to him and wrote something on it. Then he turned to Mr. Ferryman with a curious look in his eyes.

"What did you say was the address of the house you formerly occupied with your wife?"

"No. 262 Bank street." Mr. Ferryman lifted his brows as if at a loss to know what the question meant. "I am now living at No. 260."

"Queer," said Summers, looking down at the pad on which he had written. "I've just had a report that a woman's body has been found at No. 262."

Mr. Ferryman started, then sat in stunned silence. "Body—my house!" he stammered at length. He sprang up from the chair. "Do you mean there has been a—a murder?"

"It looks that way." Summers picked up the telephone again and snapped a few orders into the transmitter. "Better come with me, Mr. Ferryman," he said when he had finished.

The visitor pulled himself together and followed the captain from the office and down the stairs. His car was at the curb, and they jumped in and drove to Bank street. The house in question was one of two murky, old-fashioned buildings with green shutters and a fanlight over each door. Summers entered first and was saluted by a policeman standing in the vestibule. The inner door was opened by a gaunt, elderly man, stoop-shouldered and white-faced.

"What's happened, Axelson?" Mr. Ferryman asked excitedly.

Murder

"Murder, I'm afraid, sir." The servant pointed a shaking finger up the stairway. "I happened to go up there about an hour ago, and that's when I found the body. It's terrible, sir!"

Summers started running up the stairs, Mr. Ferryman following as rapidly as he could. A policeman and two plainclothes men were standing beside a cot in a pleasantly furnished room. The captain looked at the figure lying on the cot. The face he saw was distorted by the ravages of a horrible death, yet it showed traces of beauty. Suddenly as he looked, he started violently.

It was the same face he had seen inside the lid of Mr. Ferryman's watch.

In a moment Mr. Ferryman was at the cot. He stared down at the body. Then, with a long cry of horror, he fell headlong over the cot.

Tragedy had entered the tranquil, green-shuttered house which Alexander Ferryman had maintained as a sanctuary for his errant wife. The pathos of the situation penetrated even Captain Summers' hard-grained fiber. For four years the husband had lived in hope and grief and faith waiting hourly for her return keeping fresh and intact the scenes of their brief married life in order that when she returned they would be able to resume as if there had been no interruption. And now she had come back but only to meet with a horrible and mystifying death.

Everything was scrupulously neat and clean, yet there was an atmosphere about the place that suggested long disuse. The intimate human touch and feeling had somehow vanished from the furnishings. As Summers inspected the surroundings he recalled what Ferryman had told him about certain mysterious things going on in the house. He had not considered them seriously at first, regarding them as meaningless trifles, or as the hallucinations of a disordered brain. Now he began to wonder whether they might not have some significance.

He turned to one of the two detectives who had been in the room when he entered—a youngish man, straight and lean, with yellow hair and a pair of keen, blue eyes. Summers knew him.

"What do you know about this, McCabe?"

"Not a great deal, sir. The medical examiner left just before you arrived. There wasn't much for him to do. He discovered the woman came to her death by a revolver bullet that penetrated the left lung. He said she must have been dead 10 or 12 hours."

The captain arched his black, snarled brows. "Then she must have died about midnight. Why wasn't the body found sooner?"

"Mr. Ferryman owns the house." McCabe inclined his blond head in the direction of the mourner. "He lives next door, in No. 260. The only occupant of this house is Axelson, the caretaker. That's the old fellow standing over there by the door."

"Yes, I know." Summers glanced at the caretaker, pale and shaken, who looked as if the tragedy had shocked him to the depths of his being. "Mr. Ferryman told me all that."

"Axelson makes the rounds of the house twice a day, morning and evening," the young detective continued. "If he finds anything wrong, he steps over to No. 260 and reports to his employer.

"Everything seemed to be all right when he went through the house last night. He heard no unusual sounds during the night, but then he lives in the basement, two floors below this room, and only very loud sounds would carry as far as that."

"Was it Axelson who found the body?"

"Yes, sir, about half past 9 this morning, when he reached this room on his usual morning rounds. It was lying there." McCabe indicated a spot on the carpet. "We moved it after the medical examiner had gone."

Summers cast another keen glance at the stricken face of the caretaker.

"Did Axelson recognize the victim?"

"No, sir. She was lying face down when he found her. He didn't stop to look, but ran to the telephone and notified the precinct station. After we had moved her and he had an opportunity to see her face, he let out a scream and said she was Mr. Ferryman's missing wife."

"He seemed actually surprised, did he?" Summers spoke out of a mind that took nothing for granted.

"Yes, the shock almost bowled him over."

Summers nodded and stroked his sturdy jaw. The other detective had assisted Mr. Ferryman to a chair. Sitting in a crushed and lifeless attitude, he stared hollowly at the dead woman. A lavender evening gown, with a great crimson stain over the chest, covered the slender figure. A diamond blazed on her finger and a crescent of rubies gleamed beneath her throat, the rich luster of the jewel forming a sharp contrast against the ravaged face.

It was indeed a strange homecoming, Summers thought. It seemed as if the returning wife had adorned herself in her loveliest raiment in order to give her waiting husband a delightful surprise. Probably she had gone to their former home to dress and put everything in readiness, meaning to summon him from the house next door as soon as her preparations were completed. But how had she contrived to enter without being heard or seen by Axelson? And what had happened after she entered? Who had fired the shot that turned a joyful reunion into a tragedy? And why?

Summers shrugged and decided these questions were futile until he had more facts to go on. Later he would question Mr. Ferryman and the caretaker in detail, but just now it would be useless to try to learn much from them. He let his eyes travel over the room, impressing each detail upon his mind. It looked as if it had at one time served as a writing room and study.

An incongruous touch caught his eye. It was a cluster of violets in a vase on the writing table. The flowers were the only intimately human touch in a room that had stood unoccupied for so long that it had lost most of its vital atmosphere.

"Where did the flowers come from?" he asked McCabe.

"Axelson tells me he has orders to get a fresh bunch every two or three days. It seems violets were Mrs. Ferryman's favorite flower."

Summers understood. This was another instance of how Ferryman had tried to keep the abandoned home in readiness for his wife's homecoming. From the violets his glance slid downward. A rubber tube about three feet long was protruding from the long tablecloth and trailing to the floor.

"What's that?" he asked.

"There's a dictation machine behind that cloth," said McCabe. "What you see there is the speaking tube. Axelson tells me Mr. Ferryman had a large private correspondence when he lived in this house, and he got into the habit of dictating to his secretary by machine. He sometimes used this room instead of the library downstairs. Axelson says he dusted the machine only yesterday. He must have left the tube hanging out."

Summers nodded absently. The word that caught in his mind was "dusted." By a sequence of thought it suggested fingerprints.

"Yes, sir; just what I thought. And McCabe in reply to his question; "but I didn't find any. Here is something that may interest you, though."

Broadway Chatter by Grant Dixon

NEW YORK, June 19.—New York newspaper reporter decided to find out how many times he might break the law and "get away with it." Within three hours he broke the law 33 different times—which is not a criticism of the morality of the reporter but of the superfluity and archaic temper of the statue books.

Among the things he did in violation of one law or another was to steal a broom from a park department ordinance; he threw banana peels quickly into the street; he bade a bet on the weather in a public place; he took a photograph into City Hall park (for some mysterious reason a violation of the park ordinance); he walked on the grass in the same park; he sneezed twice without using a handkerchief (violation of a health department regulation); he saw a large, ferocious dog, but failed to take it into custody; he read a newspaper in the violation of a federal regulation, corridor of the federal building, and he rested in a public street, which is violation of the penal laws prohibiting loafing or lounging on street corners.

Ignoring Styles

The National Shoe Retailers association here has decided that men should wear blue shoes with blue suits.

In all likelihood the dictum will be ignored. There have been a number of sartorial dictums for men lately and the show windows of Manhattan have revealed the male's contempt for them. Such things as red felt hats, white summer spats, and trick canes don't sell.

Airplane Passenger Costs

Airplane rides are getting cheaper, proving their popularity. The new Lindbergh line announces it will take passengers from New York to San Francisco for $350.

It wasn't so long ago when a five-minute ride in an airplane cost about $25. Then it went down to $15, then to $10, then to $5. Now you can get a ride over New York for $2. Pretty soon, I suppose, it will be something like 50c.

An Old Church

There is nothing pretentious in the appearance of an old brick church in Orange street, Brooklyn, but it has quite a history. It is the Plymouth church and dates back to 1849. Henry Ward Beecher, preached in the church, then Lyman Abbott and later Newall Dwight Hillis.

Many Marriages

When June comes to New York it brings many marriages, as Sherwood Anderson would say. About 4,000 or more June brides and bridegrooms will be the metropolitan toll, judging from the marriage experts.

The Little Church Around the Corner is visited by the more sentimental and romantic couples—it has the popular reputation of a church for marriages. Sometimes there are three marriage ceremonies celebrated in this church at one time, there being three altars for such occasions. This church, by the way, records a small percentage of divorces following the marriages celebrated in its romantic interior.

Babe Ruth and the Doctor

PHILLIPS

Babe: You certainly keep well informed.

Doctor: Well, what seems to be the matter?

Babe: I wish I knew

Doctor: Let me see your tongue. Aha! I thought so.

Babe: What's the matter with me?

Doctor: You've been overeating.

Babe: Not me, doc. I've been on a diet for the last two seasons. I always quit the table after the second sirloin steak.

Doctor: How are you on pastries?

Babe: I like strawberry shortcake for breakfast.

Doctor: Do you get much exercise?

Babe: Not as much as I got last season.

Doctor: Why not?

Babe: It must be the pitching.

Doctor: You need to walk more.

Babe: I know it.

Doctor: Why don't you?

Babe: The twirlers don't seem so scared of me as they once were.

Doctor: Do you ever have that all gone feeling?

Babe: I have it every time I look at my batting average this summer.

Doctor: Do you sleep well?

Babe: The catchers and second basemen say I am sleeping better than ever.

Doctor: Do you have spots before your eyes?

Babe: Only against slow ball pitching?

Babe: Every time I talk with Colonel Ruppert about more money I hear ringing noises, but they're in his head, not mine.

Doctor: Well, I think it will be necessary to take some X-ray pictures.

Babe: What for?

Doctor: To see what's inside of you.

Babe: I hope it's a batting streak.

CARTER GLASS FLAYS HOOVER

Senate Debates All Day On Dry 'Murders'

Brookhart, Republican of Iowa, in a heated denunciation of senators who "talk this gush stuff about murders."

"The senator," Brookhart shoulted at Copeland, "could make a louder speech about the murder of 55 prohibition agents. They were real murders. Some of these others were accidental and some of them ought to have been killed.

"These murders that we heard so much about are in the headlines of wet newspapers which do not want the truth about prohibition or anything else."

"Unenforcible Law"

The Iowan insisted that no prohibition agents had ever been convicted of murder in court and added that in attempting to enforce prohibition such things as killings "are likely to occur." He also insisted that in murder the action must premeditated.

In deploring the killing of prohibition agents as well as innocent citizens "in trying to enforce an unenforcible law," Copeland declared that Brookhart's attitude was "fanaticism" and "an example of the narrow-mindedness of prohibitionists."

This brought Senator Hawes Democrat of Missouri, into the arena with an amendment to the Jones resolution calling for an investigation of the "official lawlessness of prohibition agents" and a list of the men, women and children in connection with prohibition enforcement. His amendment died with the Jones resolution.

During the debate on Hawes' proposal, Senator Trammell, Democrat of Florida declared that such an investigation would encourage law violations and insisted that the killing of prohibition agents by bootleggers should be investigated. Senator Caraway Democrat of Arkansas denounced it as a part of a "nationwide propaganda to discredit prohibition."

Hawes roundly condemned the use of buckshot in sawed-off shotguns used by the dry agents and declared that no decent hunter would shoot a deer with buckshot and yet it was used to kill innocent citizens.

Meanwhile Senator Schall, Republican of Minnesota, placed in the record a certified copy of the coroner's inquest into the shooting of Henry Virkula at International Falls, Minnesota, by a customs board guard.

Glass ridiculed the president's request for a congressional inquiry into the transfer of prohibition enforcement and asserted that all the information necessary already is available in the treasury and other departments. He said the transfer was opposed by the late Wayne B. Wheeler of the anti-saloon league because "they realized that they had their thumbs on the prohibition organization."

Brookhart interposed to say the dry league had "good reason in not wanting to turn enforcement over to Jess Smith in the department of justice," under former Attorney General Daugherty.

The Virginian contemptuously referred to Mr. Hoover's attitude on prohibition and his failure to take any specific stand on the question in the campaign or since.

Man Accused of Fraud in Sale Of Hall County Lots Given $5,000 Bond

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 19. (AP)—A. J. Klein, 60, was arraigned today before George J. Escock, United States commissioner, on a charge of using the mails to defraud in connection with sales of townsite lots in Hall county, Texas, in 1917. He was released on $5,000 bond.

Postoffice inspectors allege that Klein, promoting townsites of Tampico and Burlington, launched through the mails a sale of town lots in subdivisions to which he had no title, collecting as much as $5,000 an acre for some of the land.

Klein, inspectors said, served two years in Leavenworth penitentiary for promoting a similar sale in 1910.

Iowa Park Society

Special to The Record News.

IOWA PARK, June 19.—Mrs. J. G. O'Donohoe entertained Friday afternoon with a bridge party, honoring her guest, Mrs. H. B. Peratt, of Oklahoma City. The house was prettily decorated with baskets of spring flowers and a color scheme of pink and white predominated. A "grab-box" contest followed the games and caused much merriment.

Iced refreshments were served to the following: Mesdames Fenton Dale, Bert Smith, W. H. Bagbey, C. B. Johnson, L. J. Boasc, R. A. Dahl, Carl Hoffman, J. H. Hatton, Gordon Clark, Troy Hager, C. W. Coppick, Frank Johnson of Duncan, Okla., Miss Gladys Brumley of Kingfisher, Okla., and the guest of honor, Mrs. H. B. Peratt and hostess, Mrs. J. G. O'Donohoe.

The Y. W. A. members of the First Baptist church spent the evening at Sand Beach Thursday afternoon. Swimming and games appropriate to the occasion were engaged in, after which a picnic lunch was served. Those attending were Misses Jewell Thompson, Bessie Riley, Ruth Wigley, Elma Finch, Kathryn Baxter, Ruby Faulk, Olla and Ozell Cambron, Lorene Williams and the sponsor, Mrs. Hazel George.

Mrs. George Entertains

Mrs. J. N. George assisted by Mesdames D. O. Smith, G. C. Peevier, W. A. Litchfield, and R. E. Golden entertained members of the W. M. S. of the First Methodist church in a mother's and daughter's tea given at the home of Mrs. George Monday afternoon from 3 until 5.

Arrangement committees were as follows: Program, Mrs. Gordon Clark, chairman, assisted by Mrs. C. W. Coppick and Mrs. Fentone Dale; decoration, Mrs. Carroll Hester, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Carl Hoffman and Mrs. J. C. Murphree. Decorations consisted of baskets of spring flowers tastefully arranged.

The program follows: Greetings by Miss Katherine Sue Ralston; piano solo, Mrs. James A. Sewell; reading by Mrs. Hazel George; song, "Have You Ever Been in Texas in the Spring?" Mrs. Fenton Dale. Presentation of pins to pioneer by Mrs. Ritchey Abernathy, members of the society commemorating their 50 years of service. Members who received pins were Mesdames A. B. Bishop, I. S. McKelvey, G. R. Hoge and J. A. Anglin. A song contest created much mirth by the discovery of much latent musical talent. Musical reading, rendered in colonial costume, by Miss Katerine Sue Ralston.

Approximately 50 were in attendance, including the following out-of-town guests: Mrs. Elizabeth Duvall of Fort Worth; Mrs. Mary Parton of Oklahoma City; Mrs. A. Laswell of Waxahachie; Mrs. H. B. Peratt of Oklahoma City, and Mrs. Johnson of Duncan, Okla.

Honoring her little son, Howard's, fifth birthday, Mrs. C. F. Hill entertained a group of happy children at her home south of town Monday afternoon, June 17.

The lawn was arranged for the playing of games in which all participated. The playing was interspersed by the serving of cake and iced-drinks. The little host received numerous gifts and souvenirs.

Those attending were Milton and Milldred Brubaker, Mildred Shaw, Eudena, Lavern and Wanda Lee Bray, Evelyn Wilson, Cleta Wigley, June Lessie and C. L. Ivey, Wesley Davis, Elene Hill, Vera Farrel, Bernice Gregory, J. P. Moore, Raydean Brown, Jewel Bray and Riley Ivey.

LIGHTFOOT SEES DIXIE GOING DEMO

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., June 19. (AP)—M. D. Lightfoot, cairman of the national anti-Smith Democratic organization, today said the action of Mrs. Hoover in inviting the wife of a negro member of congress to attend a tea at the White House will cause Southern states to remain in the Democratic ranks.

TEXAS SENATE DISCUSSES AFFAIR

AUSTIN, June 19. (UP)—The White House tea attended by the wife of negro congressman De Priest was again the topic for heated discussion in the Texas senate today.

A resolution was adopted asking a San Antonio newspaper to reprint from a negro newpaper an account of the tea and what the congressman's wife wore.

The San Antonio paper editorially had criticized the Texas senate for its action last week in adopting a resolution condemning Mrs. Hoover and chiding Texans who had voted for Hoover.

SHOUSE FORSEES RETURN TO PARTY

NEW YORK, June 19. (UP)—Jouett Shouse, manager of the Democratic national committee headquarters at Washington, saw a silver lining peeping through the clouds that seemed so dark last November, he said today.

Shouse said he foresaw a return of the errant Southern states to the Democratic fold, and he hailed with joy the rift between Senator Borah and President Hoover over farm relief. He had information, he said, that the entire Northwest was angry over the Republican tariff situation.

Cultivation and development of wild flowers was urged by Mr. Patton as one of the most important works of any garden club in a letter given The Record News with his nomination of the gillardia for the city's official flower. His letter, with an account of how he produced the new blossom, follows:

"In your issue of June 17 an invitation is given the citizens to vote on a flower to be named as the city flower, and sponsored by the Garden club. If I am rightly informed, the Garden club movement originates with the Better Homes and Gardens magazine. The purpose is to cultivate a greater love for flowers among its readers and an exchange of opinion of its members. This brings out the best way to plant and care for flowers. They not only studied the planting and care of the cultivated flowers, but would take the native wild flowers among its members to see who could produce the most beautiful bloom from a wild plant.

"Any one can go to a responsible florist and get a bulb, seeds or plant and produce a beautiful flower. But go out in the country and get a wild plant with no particular attraction, and change its nature and color and make a flower of beauty—equal to any hot house plant and you will love it as a flower of your own.

"I will give you a sample of what I have done in four years with a wild gillardia or blanket flower. I found it beside a road in the country. The original flower was about the size of a nickle, of reddish brown color, growing about eight inches in height and producing three to five blooms to the plant. I have them now two feet high with flowers as large as a dollar with 20 blooms to the plant. And I have seven distinct colors that are beautiful. In the wild state, the blooms last about 10 days, but my plants bloom from the first of May until cold weather. I have a bed in bloom the whole season equal to any hot house plants. The plants can be wintered by covering over, or the seed sown in the fall for best results."

Votes in the flower contest should be addressed to Flower Contest Editor, and mailed or brought to The Record News. Comments on selections are invited. Among the flowers so far nominated, in addition to the larkspur, are the red radiance rose, petunia, Shasta daisy, poppy, redbud and gladiolus.

Arnold Will Appeal Voiding of His Divorce

ATLANTA, Ga., June 19. (UP)—Setting aside of the divorce that Lieut. Leslie Arnold obtained here three years ago, automatically voiding his later marriage to Priscilla Dean, actress, will be appealed to the state supreme court, attorneys for the 'round-the-world flier announced today.

Robert Cone, one of Arnold's counsel, said that failure of Superior Court Judge G. H. Howard yesterday to allow a jury to pass on evidence in the case would be the basis for the appeal.

Harvest and Chopping Keep Farmers Busy

FREDERICK, Okla., June 19.—Wheat harvest and cotton chopping are occupying the attention of many Tillman county people. R. E. Stagner, local manager of the J. C. Had he anticipated the large volume of trade he could have used some extra clerks to advantage, he said.

The Cure of Bronchitis

In yesterday's article I explained the differences between acute and chronic bronchitis. In treating these disorders the treatment, of course, varies somewhat in both an acute and chronic form because of other contributing causes, such as derangement of the heart, kidneys or liver. However, the following instructions may give my readers some helpful suggestions about methods of treatment which may be used.

Acute Bronchitis

This is usually known as a cold on the chest. If this cold is rather severe, it is well for the patient to stop all work, go to bed between woolen blankets, and increase skin elimination by copious perspiration. Put a hot water bottle at the feet and at the start, use a treatment over the chest with a high-candle-power therapeutic light, an electric pad, hot towels, or some similar treatment. Rubbing the chest with oil of wintergreen also acts as a good counter-irritant and will help start the sweating.

The dietary treatment is very simple. Patient should take only large quantities of water, perhaps flavored with lemon or orange juice. This should be continued as long as there is any fever. As soon as the temperature has been normal for at least 12 hours, patient may first be given small amounts of cooked, non-starchy vegetables with finally the addition of such proteins as eggs and small amounts of meat. Starches should be excluded until there is no more sign of the cold or bronchitis. The patient should start exercising with calisthenics and walking within 24 hours after temperature has become normal. In this way the patient will regain his energy more quickly after the sweating and fastening treatment.

Chronic Bronchitis

In the chronic form of bronchitis it is also advisable to take a short fruit fast at beginning of treatment. This helps to loosen up any mucous which has accumulated in the lungs or bronchial tubes and will clean the patient's blood stream of any toxic substances which have produced the irritation of the mucous membranes. The fasting treatment will usually rid the patient of heavy breathing or wheezing so that within a few days he can start taking systematic strength-building exercises.

After the fruit fast, the patient should live on a well balanced diet, comparatively free from starches and sugars. Milk should also be eliminated for some time.

Two things to remember in the cure of chronic bronchitis are, first, to build up the general strength through systematic exercise and to eliminate for at least several weeks all foodstuffs containing large amounts of starches, sugars and fats.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Coddled Eggs

Question—Mrs. J. H. G. asks: "How are coddled eggs prepared?"

Answer—Coddled eggs are prepared by pouring boiling water over them while in the shells, and allowing to stand about eight minutes. When broken open, the egg should have a jelly-like consistency, but, at the same time, should be so well cooked that there is no transparent albumen.

First Aid to Fresh Cuts

Question—Mrs. F. G. T asks: "What would you recommend to wash a fresh cut with—water or carbolic acid? Or should the inside of the cut be painted with iodine?"

Answer—Cuts and abrasions should be washed with sterilized water as quickly as possible after the injury, and then painted with iodine or mercurochrome.

Potatoes Easily Dijested

Question—Lila W. asks: "Which is more easily digested—potatoes or bread? Which is more fattening?"

Answer—If potatoes are cooked properly they will be more completely digested than bread, and are not as fattening as bread, as potatoes contain only about one-third as many calories or heat units as bread.

Gall-Bladder Removed

Question—H. J. G. writes: "A year ago my mother had her gall-bladder removed. Now she has a rash all over her body, and her doctor tells her it is because she has no gall-bladder. What can she do? Would an orange juice fast do her any good? I have tried the orange juice fast myself, for eight days and feel like a different person."

Answer—There is probably no connection between the removal of your mother's gall-bladder and the rash which she is now bothered with. The gall-bladder, if infected or diseased, may become a regular cesspool of poison. After such a gall-bladder is removed, the patient should feel better for a year or two, but if the same habits continued which produced the gall-bladder trouble in the first place, other symptoms and disorders must inevitably result. The orange juice fast would certainly be a good treatment for her to take to cleanse the liver and remove excess toxins. Tell your mother to be especially careful afterwards to use good food combinations.

Lawton to Entertain Wichita Falls Visitors

Special to The Record News.

LAWTON, Okla., June 19.—Word has been received by Harry Stroud, manager of the Lawton Chamber of Commerce from the Junior chamber of commerce of Wichita Falls, Texas, that approximately 100 members of the junior chamber of that city will visit Lawton and Fort Sill one day during the C. M. T. C. camp.

Dates of the C. M. T. C. camp are from July 5 to Aug. 5.

The Lawton Junior chamber will assume responsibility of entertaining the visitors, escorting them not only to the camp, but to the Indian school, Medicine Park, Craterville Park and the Forest preserve.

Road Accident Halts Oklahomans' Honeymoon

Special to The Record News.

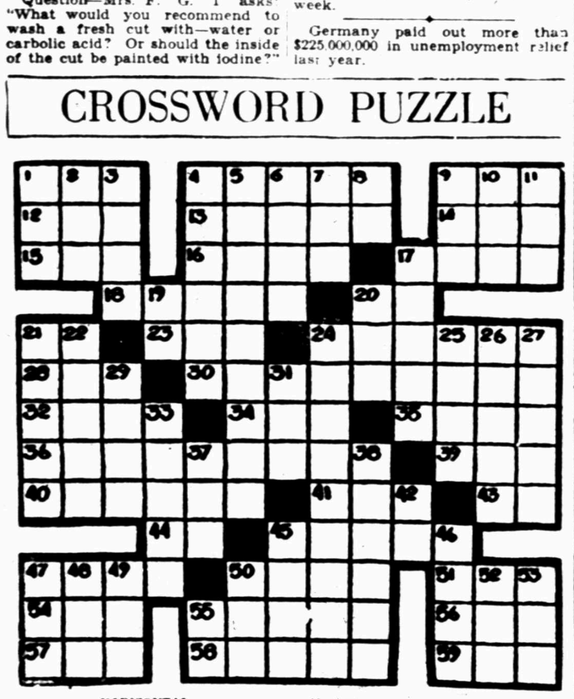

LAWTON, Okla., June 19.—A honeymoon trip on the part of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Pacey of Oklahoma City, to Medicine Park, was halted on highway 29 east of this city and the bride is in a local hospital as the result of being struck by a passing car, causing a fracture of a leg and internal injuries.

The machine of Mr. and Mrs. Pacey developed trouble and both had left the car. Another car, attempting to pass, struck Mrs. Pacey as she stood by the machine. The injured woman was immediately taken to the hospital for treatment.

SPUDS WIN AND TRAIL LEADERS BY HALF GAME AS STEERS LOSE

GALLOWAYS NIP CUBS 2 IN ROW

Turgeon Leads Attack in 5 to 4 Victory

Special to The Record News.

WACO, June 19.—The Wichita Falls Spudders tonight are snapping at the heels of the Dallas Steers. By virtue of their second straight victory over the Waco Cubs, while the Steers were losing to the Beaumont Exporters today, the Spudders trail Dallas by only half a game.

Wichita Falls has played 65 games and won 36 and lost 29. Dallas, in 68 contests, has won 38 and lost 30. The Steers top the Spudders by five points, with a mark of .559 to .554.

The Spudders continued hard and timely hitting to take today's contest, 5 to 4, behind very good pitching by Milt Steengrafe. Loose defensive play almost cost the Spudders a ball game, four errors, two by Ray Andrews and one each by Sullivan and Bennett being made. The Galloways, however, managed to bear down when threatened and eke out the victory.

Fitz Gets Three Hits

Twelve hits were made by the Spudders off Dumovitch, Thurman and Stein. Pete Turgeon was the big noise on the attack with four blows, including a double. Howard Fitzgerald whaled three knocks.

The Cubs made 11 hits off Steengrafe.

Wichita Falls will play its last game of this long and remarkably successful road treck with the Cubs here tomorrow. Wiltse is due to pitch but there is a possibility a righthander will get the assignment. After tomorrow's game both clubs go to Wichita Falls where the Spudders open a long home stay.

Spuds Again Start Scoring

The Spudders tallied two in the first inning. Turgeon doubled, advanced to third on Fitzgerald's infield out and scored on Bennet's single. Stapleton doubled to the right field wall and Bennett scored when he worked a double steal with Bud.

Turgeon started another run-getting inning in the third when he singled and went to second on Fitz's hit. Stapleton walked, filling the bases and Turgeon scored when Mellano fumbled Andrews' grounder.

The Cubs tallied one in their half when Sanguinet, Blackerby and Johnson singled in succession.

Waco counted in the fifth. Mellano doubled, went to third on Sanguinet's infield out and tallied on Blackerby's hoist to Sullivan.

We Win in Sixth

Wichita Falls counted two in the sixth, which was to prove enough to win. Crouch led off with a single and went all the way to third when the ball eluded Sanguinet. Steengrafe doubled, scoring Crouch, and went to third on Benton's lift to Sanguinet. Turgeon delivered again, his single scoring Steengrafe.

The Prattmen ended the day's scoring with two in the eighth. Johnson and Vigare singled. Benton made a sensational stop of Battle's grounder and Johnson, who had overrun third, was thrown out. Pratt, batting for Heath, shot a grounder which rolled through both Andrews and Bennett, Vigare scoring and Battle reaching third. Battle tallied while Benton was throwing out Windle.

Aged Frederick Woman Recovers From Injury

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., June 19.—Mrs. W. S. Peter, 81, of Monticello, Ind., who was injured at the home of her son, A. L. Peter, 616 North Tenth street, last Saturday, when she was run over by an automobile which the latter was backing from his garage, is now on the road to recovery. A. L. Peter, who had started to back the car out of the garage did not know any one was behind until he had struck his mother, when he at once stopped the car.

She was rushed to the Frederick hospital, where it was found that an upper bone in her right arm had been broken above the wrist, her right arm was fractured and her left leg was bruised but not broken. After setting the broken limbs she was returned to the home of her son.

New Yankee

The task of helping stop the Athletics may be delegated to Frank Nekola, pitcher acquired from Holy Cross college by the Yankees. Nekola recently joined the champions after receiving a bonus of $20,000 or more for signing.

Luncheon and Parade to Welcome Winning Spudders Home Tomorrow

Lots of people will greet the triumphant Spudders when they return home Friday to open an extensive stay at Athletic park, with the Waco Cubs as their first adversaries. A luncheon and parade will form the principal festivities preceding the pastime out at the ball orchard.

The luncheon will be held at the Kemp hotel, and a few short talks will be made. There will be only a few and they will be short, with Fred Weeks or some other prominent Wichitan as the principal speaker. Reservations for the luncheon should be made to C. S. Cates at the Kemp.

Owner J. Alvin Gardner, Vice President William E. Huff, Secretary Guy Airey, Manager Jim Galloway and the Spudders will be guests of honor.

The parade will start at 3 o'clock from Eleventh and Scott. It will be headed by a band, and will include Boy Scouts and members of the Knothole Gang. All fans are urged to have their cars in the line of march, and Boy Scouts and Knotholers are also urged to be present at 3 o'clock.

The Junior chamber of commerce is sponsoring the festivities, with Frank Haley in charge of arrangements.

BIG DAYS in sports are ahead, and starting tomorrow enthusiasts of athletic pastimes will focus attention on numerous important events. Of greatest interest here is the return home tomorrow of the triumphant Spudders, who are to be home for an extended stay, and with a big celebration to welcome them.

Baseball followers also will eye with intense interest the start today of a five-game series between the Philadelphia Athletics and New York Yankees, which will have vital bearing on the American league championship race.

The assurance that Babe Ruth will return to the lineup has increased chances of the champions to halt the pacesetting Mackmen, and a torrid series is promised.

GOLF AND BOXING followers will watch two great national events next week. Johnny Farrell is to defend his national open golf championship against the usual field of foremost professionals and amateurs. Bobby Jones again heads the simon pures with all the star pros out to cop the glory and coin that goes with the winning of our greatest links title.

Hagen, Sarazen, Mac Smith, Armour and all the veterans will be joined by Horton Smith, the sensational young Missourian, in their assault on the throne occupied by the Quaker Ridge expert.

TWO FORE-MOST heavyweights of the day will battle for recognition as the probable successor to Gene Tunney, when Max Schmeling, the German, and Paolino Uscudun, the Spaniard, fight 15 rounds next Thursday night at New York. Of similar styles, both of them boring-in, terrific hitters with ability to assimilate great punishment, the meeting of the Black Uhlan and the Basque promises to be a thrilling fight, with a knockout viewed as probable.

JAKE ATZ, dean of Texas league managers, has joined the list of those who regard the Spudders as foremost pennant contenders. Jinx Tucker, Waco sports editor, recently wrote the following:

"Atz has seen the best come and go. He knows the game in all its phases, and it is his frank opinion that the Wichita Falls team is the strongest in the Texas league this year.

"The team has lots of power, and so long as the pitchers go, it will remain exceptionally dangerous," Jake said.

PETE LAPAN will be out of the game only a few days as a result of an injury sustained in Tuesday's game in Waco. Indeed, the veteran could catch now in an emergency. This is the word of Secretary Guy Airey, who returned home yesterday after making the swing with the Spudders. Pete's hand was split between the second and third fingers but the injury was not serious and will heal rapidly.

Jack Crouch caught fine ball in the absence of Pete, according to word from Skipper Galloway, and so there is no need for alarm. But when Pete went out of the game Tuesday it looked for a time as if the old jinx was back at work on the Spudders and the pleasing news that Old Ironman will be okay okley soon was received with relief here.

"DANGEROUS GERMS

may enter your mouth through unsanitary cigars"

"Don't run the risk, smoke Cremo—It's certified germ-free"

Says

Alfred W. McCann

D. Litt., A.B., LL.D.,
famous pure food expert, long active in crusades for pure foods and sanitary factories.

Do you remember the old, filthy shop where the man in the window rolled the leaves with dirty fingers... and spit on the ends? What a far cry this is from the modern, certified "Cremo-method" of manufacture!

Cremo's superiority starts with the choicest and tenderest leaves, ripe and mellow, and continues in goodness through a slow, expensive maturing and mellowing process . . . topped off with the finest imported Sumatra wrapper! Cremo contains no scrap — no floor sweepings — all long filler — all fresh, tender leaves. Over $7,000,000 was spent in perfecting the certified "Cremo-method" of manufacture that insures uniformly fine, sanitary cigars. Foil-wrapped . . . germ-free . . . crush-proof . . . the kind of cigar that the late Vice-President Marshall must have had in mind when he said: "What this country needs most is a good 5 cent cigar."

"Don't bring dangerous germs into your mouth through unsanitary cigars . . . they may result in many serious diseases.

"Avoid this risk by smoking Cremos . . . then you know that every single leaf used in Cremo Cigars has been scientifically sterilized by U. S. Government approved methods.

"Cremo's purity is safeguarded every step of the way . . . with every known scientific precaution.

"Cremos are made in air-flooded . . . sunbathed factories . . . wrapped, folded and tipped by amazing inventions.

"Every Cremo Cigar is quickly sealed in sanitary foil wrappers, giving you the scientific health protection that comes with certified milk and certified canned goods."

GATE DOESN'T CONCERN MAX

Victory, and Not Receipts, Schmeling's Aim

By FRANK GETTY

NEW YORK, June 19. (UP)—Something of that same infinite capacity for taking pains which made Gene Tunney the heavyweight champion of the world may enable Max Schmeling of Germany to follow in the retired titleholder's footsteps.

It is strange that the experts who are fixing up the chances of the German in his forthcoming 15-round fight with Paulino Uzcudun have overlooked this attribute which Max and Gene appear to have in common.

There has been so much talk of Schmeling's resemblance to Jack Dempsey that a majority of the experts have rather soured on the German heavyweight and have made Paulino a 7 to 5 favorite for next week's battle.

Thumbs Down on Max

In view of the popular penchant for something new in the heavyweight array, all of the old familiar faces including Senor Uzcudun's gold-filled phiz having been pretty thoroughly discredited during the past two years, it is hard to figure just why the boys have turned against Schmeling.

About 75 per cent of the experts who have looked the men over have weighed their chances, seriously believe that the Basque will win decisively.

Of all those who might view with alarm such an impressive consensus, Max is the least worried of the lot.

Nor is he concerned about the size of the purse he is to receive for his evening's work. It was in this very connection, in fact, that Schmeling revealed that painstaking capacity which marks him as a serious-minded, determined young man.

Seat Sale Is Slow

The seat sale is not going well. The gate may not be more than $450,000. The promoters felt that Schmeling's training camp at Lakewood, N. J., was somewhat inaccessible, and that interest would be stimulated by having the German train where he could be seen oftener by boxing writers and fans.

This proposition was advanced to Max. It was to his interest to have the receipts as large as possible on the night of June 27, since he is boxing for 20 per cent of the gate.

"Nothing doing," or its equivalent in German, was Schmeling's response.

"I do not care what the gate turns out to be," he informed W. F. Carey, president of Madison Square garden. "My only concern is to win the fight."

This incident is enough to indicate that Max is something different from the regular run. He has set his course and he proposes to follow it to the heavyweight championship.

Grasshoppers Infest Pastures Near Frederick

Special to The Record News

FREDERICK, Okla., June 19.—L. H. Beaty, county demonstration agent, reports pastures are full of grasshoppers at this time. He says they are not the yellow-legged variety that did so much damage in 1924 and 1925 and as a rule they do very little or no damage. Should the pastures dry up they might do some damage to the crops next to the pastures. They are easy to poison. The following poisoned bran mash has been used successfully in the past:

Wheat bran, 100 pounds; white arsenic, five pounds; molasses, two gallons; lemons, oranges or onions, 12 good sized; water, enough to make wet but not sloppy.

The SPORTLIGHT

Half-Shots

There are said to be something between 2,000,000 and 4,000,000 people playing golf in this country, but it is impossible to get any accurate count as 95 per cent of them are concealed from sight in bunkers, traps and thickets, rarely emerging into the open spaces.

If Connie Mack can't win a pennant this season he might as well set the alarm clock forward to 1946. Or perhaps throw the clock away and take up golf.

What several millions of golfers would like to have the U. S. G. A. put through is to have the water and the sand removed from ponds and traps and then have rubber inserted.

What Score Will Win at Winged Foot?

Back in 1916 Chick Evans won the open at Minikahda with the count of 286 for 72 holes. That figure has never been touched. Gene Sarazen had 288 at Skokie in 1922, and Jim Barnes had 289 at Columbia in 1921.

The courses have been made harder and the scores have been higher ever since. Bobby Jones and Bobby Cruickshank tied at 296 at Inwood in 1923. Walker won at Oakland Hills, with 297.

Jones and Macfarlane tied at Worcester, with 292. Jones won at Scioto, with 295. Armour and Cooper tied at Oakmont in 1927, with 301. Jones and Farrell tied at Olympia Fields last June, with 294. Par is hard to beat at Winged Foot, for the par four holes are nearly all long and well guarded and the par three holes are difficult threes, where three of the four one-shotters are well over 200 yards.

Also there will be so many second shots caught in the green-guarding traps that flank either side that practically every card will have a number of 5s, where 4s are the correct figure.

A 74 at Winged Foot is nothing to upset any golfer in the field. It is first-class scoring from the back tees. Four 74s will produce 296. Any one who can turn in a 295 ought to be good enough to win. Any one who can beat 300 will have a good chance to win, at least a fair chance.

There is a question as to whether 70 will be broken. It will take great golf to break a 70 over this course—fine golf up to the greens and a fine putting touch for the day. For the shots to the green are too long to count on many approaches close against the pin.

The Human Limit

Charley Paddock said a little while ago that he always believed he could have run 100 in 9 2-5, and possibly faster, if he had been willing to gamble on his legs.

I asked him what he meant by that.

"The legs can carry only so much strain and pressure," he said. "Few men dare put on full pressure for the entire route. When I finished a fast 100 I could feel the muscles in my legs jumping and I knew they had been close to the limit. Yet I put them under full pressure for only part of the way. I also was afraid of wrenching a muscle or a tendon, and so ending my running career. One has to start smoothly and work up to his full speed. If I had ever tried to put on full speed from the jump I might have broken all records, and I might also have ruined my legs, without being able to finish. I don't believe many can understand the killing strain put on every leg muscle in running the 100 around 9 3-5. Nerves and muscles are often jumping and jerking for minutes after the race is over."

Simpson proved this statement when he ran the 100 in 9 2-5 recently. Apparently the strain did not tell until the next race, but it was the pressure of his record-breaking rush that undermined his underpinning. He had gone just a step beyond the human limit, as it applied to his own case. The same thing happened to him a year ago. It also happened to Charley Borah. The speed was there, but the legs could not carry this speed the full distance.

Paddock had the most powerful looking pegs in the game. They looked as strong as marble columns. But even Paddock never felt that he could give them all the game from the first stride to the finish.

It takes a world of leg power, driving power, for a human being to cover 30 feet in less than a second.

To run the 100 in 9 2-5 one must spin along at the approximate rate of 32 feet a second. That means more than three strides to the second. It means almost every half-ounce of power the leg muscles can stand before something snaps. Sheer speed isn't all that is needed to set a new record. There must also be enough durability to carry this speed. The motor might tear the machine apart.

The best pair of legs in baseball belonged to Ty Cobb. He put them under pressure for 23 years and they held up most of the route. But yet they were at the finish the factors that closed out his career. Cobb, with average legs, would not have lasted 10 years at the pace he set from 1905 all along the road.

Jockey LaVerne Fator Set Down at Aqueduct

NEW YORK, June 19 (AP)—LaVerne Fator, leading rider on the New York tracks, today was suspended for the remainder of the meeting at Aqueduct for unsatisfactory ride on Folking, the odds on favorite in the second race. Fator is contract rider for the Rancocas stable of Harry F. Sinclair.

QUARREL ENDS FATALLY

CORSICANA, Texas, June 19. (AP)—Jake Nichols, negro, is dead and Jake McAlester, another negro, is in the Navarro county jail charged with his murder as the result of a shooting affray on a farm near here yesterday. The shooting is alleged to have followed a quarrel over a card game.

CHUCKING NUB OF YANK HOPES

Hug's Hurlers Out to Stop A's Seige Guns

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

NEW YORK, June 19. (UP)—Babe Ruth will be back in the New York Yankees' lineup when they open their crucial five-games-in-three days series against the league-leading Philadelphia Athletics at Yankee stadium, beginning Friday.

There were three important developments in the Yankees' pitching situation today. Waite Hoyt, Yankee ace who has been troubled by a poison ivy infection, is virtually well and will pitch the first game of Friday's double-header against the Athletics.

Collegian Reports

Frank Nekola, Holy Cross college southpaw sensation, for whom the Yankees paid a sum said to be in excess of $20,000 for signing a contract, reported to Miller Huggins.

Henry Johnson, Yankee right-hander, who beat the Athletics five games last season, will not be available for the Athletics' series because of a strained back.

"The loss of Johnson throws the issue right back into the lap of Herb Pennock," Huggins commented. "Pennock didn't look so good in his last appearance, but I think he has about regained the full use of his arm and should do some splendid pitching from now on."

Six Carry Slab Burden

Hoyt, Wells, Pipgras, Pennock, Heimach and Zachary are expected to carry the Yankees' pitching burden against the Athletics.

Huggins' system for conquering the Mackmen is to bottle up Foxx, Simmons and Cochrane—the A's three big stickmen.

"Smart pitching can stop any hitters in a short series," Huggins said. "Our pitchers are certainly going to work on these three players."

Graham Hopes To Get on Airline

Special to The Record News.

GRAHAM, Texas, June 19.—Leo Rice, traffic representative of the Braniff Airlines, Inc., of Oklahoma City, accompanied by Wayne Lansing, pilot, and Mr. Goldman, secretary of the Geo. Henshaw Oil company of San Angelo, flew into Graham Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock in a Fairchild No. 71, six passenger plane. The trip was made from San Angelo with a short stop in Breckenridge in one hour and 20 minutes, landing at the new Graham airport, three-fourths of a mile from the business section of the city. Mr. Rice remained over and was a guest of the chamber of commerce at their regular weekly luncheon, and adressed the members on the subject of placing Graham on their regular passenger route from Tulsa, through Wichita Falls and Graham to San Angelo. The visit was made, following an invitation from the Graham Chamber of Commerce to the officials of the Braniff Airlines, in view of placing Graham on this route. The Graham Chamber of Commerce met immediately, all the requirements as set out by Mr. Rice for placing Graham on the official schedule.

What kind of grease do you use?

THAT is just as important a question as the kind of gasoline you use. Poor gear grease does not lubricate. It allows the gear teeth to come into metal-to-metal contact. Friction is increased. Noise and wear develop.

But Whiz Gear Grease is a pure lubricant and it keeps a cushion of grease between the gears. It makes your car smoother running. It gives you more miles per gallon because it reduces friction. Ask your dealer about many other Whiz Products for your car.

MILK SUPPLY HOLDS STEADY

Cheese Plant Receipts Now Nearing 25,00 Pounds

Milk deliveries to the local factory of the Kraft Cheese company are maintaining a volume of from 22,000 to 25,000 pounds daily, and with development of new routes now underway a marked increase may be realized within a short time, it was stated.

The route established a few weeks ago in Montague county, north of Bowie, has proven one of the best producers yet developed. A constant increase in receipts from that run has given a present daily delivery of more than 2,000 pounds.

A route from Terrill, Okla., finally was opened this week, the cargo on the first two days being only a few hundred pounds, but it is expected that the territory will provide increasing amounts when further connections are established. A second route from beyond Red river also is under process of organization, it was stated Wednesday.

Wheat prices showed the first improvement registered here in several days, local mill and elevator interests raising their quotations from 75 to 80 cents per bushel. Cotton continued its downward slide, dropping to 17.00 cents per pound, middling basis.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, June 19. (AP)—Cotton was quiet and rather irregular today with early declines followed by rallies on covering. October contracts after selling up from 18.63 to 18.73 closed at 18.69, with the general market closing steady, net 3 points lower to 1 point higher.

The opening was steady at a decline of 1 to 4 points, and the active positions worked about 6 to 9 points below yesterday's closing quotations during the early trading under liquidation, combined with some commission house selling. This pressure evidently was influenced by the relatively easy showing of Liverpool and a favorable view of the early weather reports from the South. Expectations of a bearish weekly report when issued was no more favorable than looked for and appeared to have been discounted.

July contracts went up from 18.34 to 18.44 and December from 18.80 to 18.90. At these figures the market showed a net advance of about 2 to 4 points on the active months, but the demand was limited and prices eased again later under renewed liquidation.

July was relatively easy during the day selling about 30 points under October at the close compared with a difference of 28 points at the close of the previous day. Private reports of boll weevil infestation continued to reach the trade from various parts of the belt and according to some of the local traders had a tendency to offset the more favorable view of the weather and current crop progress.

COTTONSEED OIL

NEW YORK, June 19. (AP)—Cottonseed oil was comparatively dull, but in the absence of July liquidation turned firmer and closed at net gains of 5 to 10 points. Better technical conditions created by the recent declines were emphasized when local support was encouraged by the strength of grains and the steadiness of cotton.

Stock Market Finally Begins To Feel Effects of Heat Wave

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, June 19. (US)—The heat wave has started to affect the stock market. It kept several traders who are usually active out of the street and left others with little ambition so that the list slipped lower on the average today. It was an orderly setback, however, and welcomed by most constructive interests who were starting to worry that the recovery was proceeding too rapidly. Steel dorpped 1¼ while other Standard Industrials were off about a point on the average. Radio dropped 2¼. General Electric three, Westinghouse three, and Anaconda 1½. Consolidated Gas added a point to its advance. Standard Gas jumped 3½, while Brooklyn Union soared 11¼ and Commercial Credit gained six points on the day. Rails benefited for a while from expectation that the Central would form a new holding company but later turned reactionary with others. Oils were dull and slightly lower. Call money held at seven per cent throughout while the turnover dropped below the 3,000,000 share level.

As one trader remarked it seems that nothing can make money tight now although it is not so long ago that record high rates were enforced without apparent reason. Despite the big payments on the Anaconda rights and other stock subscriptions, money appeared in good supply. The answer, of course, is that the reserve is no longer worried about the stock market and has let down the bars while at the same time there is materially less demand in speculative circles. It is anyone's guess as to when the current turnover will bring a higher rate, however, and until the end of the month passes, with its big dividend and interest disbursements, there will be constant worry as to what money is going to do. Even if a higher rate did cause a setback when it is experienced it would not be regarded as serious inasmuch as the extent of the recovery in many stocks apparently warrants some technical correction.

The Murray Corporation directors did as was exclusively forecast here and voted to offer one share of new stock for every two and a half shares owned at price of $30 a share. Offering gives valuable rights and the money derived from the sale of stock will be used for further expansion of properties. With the new plant in full operation, it is expected, record breaking income will be shown for the third quarter. One active firm sent out warning that the new group in Chrysler was about ready to try to force the shorts to cover. It was claimed that current quarter's net would prove higher than heretofore estimated.

There has been important buying in Columbia Gas due to belief that it is out of line with other Utilities. Continual demand for Consolidated Gas and the strength of Brooklyn Union have revived reports of merger. Ultimately it is to be expected that these companies will get together. However, before that happens the Consolidated Gas interests will go further with their program of concentrating operations of subsidiaries. Furthermore they will not pay too handsome a price for Brooklyn Union. There is wide spread of bull news on Packard indicating that the group therein is getting ready for more aggressive work but it should be realized that there is no exclusive Diesel patents.

Early announcement is expected of the plan to form a new holding company for the New York Central. At the same time, it is learned plans are ready for listing the stock of the Pennroad Corporation on the big board. The Central holding company will be formed along the same lines as the Pennroad and the Alleghany Corporation. That will put three railroad investment trusts on the stock exchange and probably there is more to come. Formation of the Central holding company is another feature of the colossal plans of the important bankers who control the road. They are grouping for consolidating managements of Railroads, Utilities, Oils, Food companies, Tobacco and Retail Distributing organizations in a manner that shows no fear of the business future.

MIDWESTERN REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, June 19. (AP)—Cattle trade around the 11 market circuit was marked by a narrowing in the demand for most all killing classes, except a few strictly choice fed steers and yearlings. Good to near choice steers and yearlings at several markets were tendered a 25c decline.

Other killing classes carried a weak to lower tone with grass fat she stock 25c or more lower. Chicago had a top of $15.40 on choice heavy steers and the same price was obtained at St. Joseph for a load of outstanding yearlings.

Opening trade on hogs ruled steady to 15c higher but packers failed to follow the gain set by shippers and the close was slow at steady to 10c lower prices. Fat lambs were generally weak to 25c lower, with some markets off more on natives. Other killing classes were little changed.

FORT WORTH, June 19 (AP)—Hogs—Receipts 900; truck hogs 5 cents lower; better grades 175 to 240 pound truck hogs $10.10@10.25.

Cattle and Calves — Receipts 3,700; slaughter steers 15 to 25c lower, choice 1,238 pound beeves $14.35, choice heavy beeves $13.75, others $12 and less, plain grassers $10.25@10.50, slaughter yearlings $12, fat cows $7.85@8.25, bulls $9.10, stock yearlings $11.90@12.75, common stock steers $7.75, good to choice heavy fat calves $11.50@12.00, light vealers $12.75@13.10.

Sheep—Receipts 3,200; fully steady; grass yearlings $10.50, aged wethers $7.50@7.75, 2-year old wethers $8.50@8.75, lambs $12@13.00.

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, June 19. (AP)—Wheat on the Fort Worth cash grain market today followed the contract markets to sharply higher levels. Corn was strong but oats slow and sagging. New crop wheat arrived in volume.

Exports bid as follows, basis delivered Texas gulf ports: No. 1 ordinary export wheat, $1.07½@1.08½; No. 1 soft red mixed, $1.06½@1.07; No. 2 barley 66@67c.

Mills bid, basis delivered Texas common points: No. 1 ordinary milling, $1.08½@1.09½; 13 per cent, protein, $1.09@1.10½; 14 per cent, $1.13½@1.14½; 15 per cent, $1.20@1.21½; 16 per cent, $1.25½@1.26½.

Dealers bid and offers, basis delivered Texas common points: No. 2 mixed corn, $1.01@1.03; No. 2 white or yellow; $1.08@1.09; No. 2 red oats, 44@45c; No. 2 barley, 67@69c; No. 2 milo, per 100 pounds, $1.80@1.82, No. 2 kaffir, $1.33@1.36; milo heads, per ton, $20.50@22.00; kaffir heads, $19.00@20.00.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 19. (AP)—Indications of severe crop damage in Oklahoma and Kansas brought about lively buying of wheat futures delivery contracts late today, and prices jumped quick. Half of Oklahoma's wheat acreage will not return even a yield equal to harvest expenses, according to dispatches received today by one of the principal grain companies here. Some reports along the same line came also from Southern Kansas.

Closing quotations on wheat were strong at the day's topmost figures, 2½ to 2¾c above yesterday's finish. Corn closed ½ to 1¼c up, oats ⅝ to 1c advanced, and provisions unchanged to 12c off.

Complaints of retarding conditions of wheat growth were received also from Nebraska and Illinois, but were mild by contrast with advices from Oklahoma and Kansas. Need of rain in the Dakotas and in some sections of Canada, as well as in Argentina and Australia, were likewise noted.

Shifting of trade sentiment toward the buying side of the wheat market was further promoted today as a result of talk about proposed operations under the new federal marketing law. Statements were circulated that same agency of the government farm board would announce an intention of buying a large amount of wheat and that if the announcement itself does not sufficiently bring prices up, the agency would buy the wheat outright to market afterward either at home or abroad.

Corn and oats prices were helped upward by the action of wheat. Favorable weather conditions for corn growth led to more selling of corn, however, than was the case with wheat.

Provisions lacked support.

TIPTON LIONS GUESTS HERE

Visitors Give Program At Luncheon Here

Members of the Lions club of Tipton, Okla., provided the program given Wednesday noon at the Y. W. C. A. before the weekly meeting of the local club.

Rev. J. T. Jones of Tipton was the principal speaker. Fulfillment of the requirements of Lionism is consistent in every way with the demands of good citizenship, the speaker said. A short talk was given by Henry Goodwin, who recently was elected president of the Tipton Lions club.

Musical entertainment was furnished by four Tipton girls, attired in red dresses and cowboy headdress, and styling their ensemble the "Red Birds." Erwin F. Bohmfalk led the club singsong, with George Kerner, pianist, and Leo M. Underwood, cornetist, accompanying.

Announcement was made that the installation of officers recently elected by the club will be held next Tuesday night, June 25, at the Wichita Golf and Country club, where a ladies' night program will be given in connection with the induction ceremony.

Lindy's Backer to Head $3,500,000 Air Concern

ST. LOUIS, June 19. (UP)—Formation of a $3,500,000 aircraft organization to be known as the St. Louis Aviation corporation, by a group of St. Louis, New York and Louisville bankers was announced today by Harold M. Bixby, prime backer of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's Atlantic flight.

McBride Says He Is Now in Fine Shape After Taking Orgatone

"For over a year now I have been looking for something that would relieve my troubles and have found it at last in Orgatone," said A. J. McBride, 2208 Broad street, Wichita Falls, Texas.

"For the past year," he continued, "I have suffered constantly from stomach and liver trouble, and although I tried different kinds of treatments I kept getting worse all the time. My liver was so sluggish that it wouldn't act at all without my taking some kind of strong purgative. I had a sallow, unhealthy look and would get up in the morning feeling so dull and languid that I didn't have a bit of life about me. My food almost always gave me indigestion, and I would have a miserable feeling in the pit of my stomach as though what I had eaten had formed a heavy lump there. I was badly constipated, and if I ate any lunch at noon I would always have a mean headache right afterward, and felt so drowsy and out of sorts that I could hardly do my work. I had always taken good care of myself and could not understand what was the cause of my trouble.

"Some few weeks ago I read a notice in the papers about Orgatone, and I decided I would investigate it. Well, I have taken two bottles so far and I am actually feeling better today than I have for the past year. My appetite is so much better that I enjoy all I eat and I can eat anything I want without having the least touch of indigestion afterward. All that mean, sluggish feeling is gone. I get up in the mornings feel fine and can work without suffering from headaches or anything else. My liver is working right and that constipation has been removed. I have never taken a medicine that did me so much good as Orgatone and am glad to recommend it to everybody."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called secret or patent remedy but a new scientific bile preparation and is sold in Wichita Falls exclusively by the Allison's Drug store, under the personal direction of a special Orgatone representative.—Adv.

Melon Feast For Kids at Lakeside

Watch for the day, kids!

The date will be announced soon—when Honey Boy and Sassafras, black face radio artists of KGKO, will have several thousand children of Wichita Falls and surrounding territory as their guests at Lakeside park for a free watermelon festival.

Honey Boy and Sassafras will furnish the watermelons and will place a large size order several days in advance, so all the small boys and girls need not worry for fear of being crowded out in the rush—there will be plenty for everybody.

All the children attending Honey Boy's and Sassafras' day at Lakeside park will be entertained in royal fashion.

There parents are invited, too, and more sophisticated entertainment for them will be provided in 12 or 15 acts of vaudeville. The date of the entertainment will be announced within the next few days, park manager Walter W. Pelliter stated.

Boy's Fatal Fire Made Basis of $10,000 Claim

A 12 year old boy's fatal effort to start a fire with gasoline is described in a $10,000 damage suit filed Wednesday by J. L. Poore, father of the boy, against Ralph Himes, owner of the filling station from which the gasoline is alleged to have been secured.

The father claims in his petition that the boy enjoyed playing around an old chimney near the filling station at the corner of Sixteenth street and Lamar avenue, and that he received fatal burns on Feb. 19, 1929, when he attempted to start a fire there with the aid of gasoline. The little boy died from his burns on March 8, the petition asserts.

England's oldest Sunday school, the Wycombe Wesley, recently celebrated its 160th anniversary.

WATER FLOODS CITY'S STREETS

Cloudburst Causes Overflow in Ohio

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, June 19. (INS)—With the basements and first floors of business establishments in the heart of the city flooded, the street car system out of commission and small buildings and automobiles completely submerged, Springfield faced a serious situation late today.

A cloud burst caused an excessive amount of water to rush through the sewer system and the sewer caved in at the heart of the business district, where water backed up, flooding stores, as well as streets.

Damage conservatively estimated at $100,000 had already been caused.

Rain was still pouring down and much heavier damage was anticipated.

A creek on the outskirts of the city is overflowing its banks.

The local sewer system is unique. Its main artery is a former creek which diverted into a 12-foot sewer so as to flow under the center of the city.

The cost of living in Germany is more than 50 per cent higher than before the world war.

Girl Injured In Saving Brother Sues for $5,000

Miss Irene Parham, 17, Wednesday afternoon filed suit against the Continental Oil company of Texas for $5,000 damages in connection with injuries she claims to have received when she rushed into the street to snatch her two year old brother from danger. The suit was filed for Miss Parham by C. W. Parham, her father.

The accident happened in front of the Parham home last April, according to the terms of the petition filed Wednesday. The plaintiff alleges that she ran into the street when she saw her baby brother playing near the street car tracks on Ninth street. As she ran, she was struck by an automobile owned by the Continental company, the petition declares.

ACCORD EFFECTED

MEXICO CITY, June 19. (UP)—The announcement of an accord between the Mexican government and the Catholic church awaits only approval from Rome, it was understood here today.

PACT RATIFIED

BUDAPEST, June 19. (UP)—The Hungarian parliament today unanimously ratified the Kellogg anti-war pact.

A Willisden, England, woman, recently demanded the arrest of a neighbor for "saying things to my dog."

RALEY SUIT DELAYED

Another postponement of the trial of Guy C. Raley's $18,000 suit against Wichita county for delinquent tax commissions was arranged in the 78th district court Wednesday afternoon because of conflicting engagements of attorneys. Judge W. W. Cook reset the case for next week, but announced that it would have to take its turn on the docket rather than have the right-of-way arranged for this week.

Experts from the United States will assist Manila, P. I., in its plan for vocational education in public schools.

THE GREATEST RESPONSIBILITY
The Greatest Responsibility in purchasing a motor car is in the new car you purchase, rather than in what you receive for your used car.
An extra two or three years of dependable service will greatly offset a difference of even a two hundred dollar or more appraisal on a used car.
Many Dodge Brothers Cars were registered January first for their sixth and seventh year of service—Consult the records.
