Two Women Are Killed In Crash

MAN NOT EXPECTED TO LIVE; FOUR NEGROES SERIOUSLY HURT

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Sept. 7—An automobile collision early today caused the death of two white women, the probable fatal injury of the white man in whose car they rode and the serious injury of four negroes in an other car.

W. E. Routt, Salesman for California Baker Oil Tools, inc., driver of the car in which the two white women rode, was taken to a hospital and was not expected to live.

Names Not Know

Shortly before the crash occurred at a street intersection in the residence district, C. E. Whitney of Los Angeles, also a salesman for California Baker Oil Tools, inc., had parted from Routt and the two women at a downtown hotel. The two couples had been to a night club. Whitney, who was visiting Routt here, said he did not know the names of the women.

When taken to the hospital, Routt was unconscious.

One of the women was killed outright as the car, after colliding with that occupied by the negroes, careened against a tree. The other woman died a few minutes after the crash.

Two negroes and two negresses were in the other car.

Denison's Founder Claimed By Death

DENISON Sept. 7 (AP)—Dr. Alex W. Acheson, 92, one of Texas' oldest practicing physicians, founder of Denison and advocate and authority on inland waterway development, died at his home here after an illness of several weeks.

Born in Pennsylvania, Dr. Acheson served with the Union army and was wounded. He later completed his medical education and came here in November, 1872, a month before the first railroad reached this city. He was the town's first doctor and served more than three score years. He was local surgeon for the Katy railroad 40 years.

MUNITIONS TO BE CURBED?

GOVERNMENT CONTROL OF MANUFACTURE OF ARMS IS URGED

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Spet. 7—World-wide efforts to take the manufacture of armament out of the hands of private enterprise and place it under government control were forcast today by members of the senate munitions investigating committee.

They made known their views as the committee resumed its inquiry which yesterday produced testimony that an official of the Electric Boat company asserted he had aided in placing two representatives— Fort of New Jersey and Martin of Massachusetts—on the house rules committee in 1928.

Solons Deny Claim

Both Martin, still a house member, and Fort, who has retired, promptly denied that the official, Sterling J. Joyner, vice president and the company's Washington representative, had anything to do with their selection.

It also developed that on September 23, 1930, Ernest Lee Jahncke of Louisiana, then assistant secretary of the navy, wrote John Q. Tilson of Connecticut, then house Republican leader, that contracts for two submarines would go to the Electric Boat compnay.

Further inquiry into this testimony was promised. The committee planned first to call L. L. Driggs, president of the Driggs Ordinance and Engineering company. Senator Pope (D-Idaho) contends the navy department sent a cruiser to Turkey five years ago in an effort to aid help Drigg's firm sell guns to that country.

NEW BOARD TO HANDLE WORK IS SOUGHT

FERGUSON AND ALLRED FORCES CLASH OVER APPOINTMENT RIGHT

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Sept. 7—Sharp lines were drawn in the Texas house of representatives today as debate was started on amendments to select the official or officials who would name members of a board to replace the Texas Relief commission as the state's relief administration agency.

Standing out in the conflict were blocs to give James V. Allred, attorney general and Democratic nominee, and Governor Miriam A. Ferguson authority in making the appointments.

Long Favors Allred

Representative R. J. Long of Wichita Falls sponsored an amendment to permit Allred, as the incoming governor who must grapple with the relief problem after January 15, to name all members of a three-man, full-time, salaried board.

Representative W. E. Pope of Corpus Christi, an administration leader, proposed to split the power of appointment between the governor, lieutenant governor and speaker of the house, the three officers who named personnel of the present commission.

BILL INTRODUCED

AUSTIN, Sept. 7 (AP)—Supervision over disbursement of Texas relief funds would be vested in the state board of control under an amendment adopted today by the Texas house of representatives.

Representative H. H. Ray of Troy withdrew an amendment to allow the governor to make all appointments and said he would support an amendment that would not add fuel to any controversy between Ferguson and Allred supporters.

Another Plan Offered

Long's amendment would authorize Allred to appoint the entire commission as attorney general and would transfer the appointive power

DOGS TO BE USED TO TRAIL MAN

CLAUDE, Sept. 7 (AP)—Sheriff Tom Brunson today was attempting to obtain bloodhounds to trail down an alleged slayer who has been hiding in the Palo Duro canyon since Tuesday.

A report last night said the fugitive had emerged from the canyon at a point 20 miles southwest of here, but when officers arrived the man apparently had again taken refuge in the canyon.

Sheriff Brunson, who said the fugitive is believed to be one of two men who fatally shot Elmer Barnes, Wellington filling station attendant, August 18, said this morning that the hunt will be continued. Brunson tried to secure bloodhounds from Oklahoma prison but had been unsuccessful at 11 a. m.

The fugitive, clad only in underwear, escaped into the canyon on a stolen horse early Tuesday morning when officers raided a barn 10 miles southeast of here and arrested a man and a woman, the second man fleeing but taking time to grab a pistol from a trailer load of guns and loot.

The canyon at this point is practically inaccessible and offers a number of hiding places. Officers said hunger will drive the man from hiding in a short time unless he has food cached in the canyon.

HEARING SET TODAY

BORGER, Sept. 7 (AP)—Preliminary hearing was set for today for a man arrested at a hotel here in connection with the shooting of Charles Payton, former Borger policeman, last week. Payton died Sunday.

Strike Assumes Ominous Aspect

BLACKWOOD MAY DECLARE CERTAIN SECTORS OF SOUTH CAROLINA IN STATE OF INSURRECTION; INQUIRY BOARD MEETS TO SEEK SOLUTION

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7—The nation's textile strike assumed a more ominous aspect today, with the growing seriousness of the walkout apparent in at least one sector of the strike front.

The death of seven persons in South Carolina yesterday led Governor Blackwood to announce he was "seriously considering declaring certain areas in a state of insurrection."

FDR's Board Meets

As the strike continued to spread, along with indications several allied industries would join in the movement, the board of inquiry named by President Roosevelt gathered in the capital to begin consideration of the controversy. Governor John G. Winant of New Hampshire, chairman of the board, declined comment as he arrived by airplane to meet his colleagues, Raymond Ingersoll, borough president of Brooklyn, and Marion Smith, Atlanta attorney.

The board was confronted by a strike death toll of ten, injuries exceeding two score and several score arrests. Apprehension was expressed in some quarters that fresh outbreaks of bloodshed would occur. Bitterness of the strike has been most evident in the southern areas where all ten deaths have occurred.

Thousands Join Strike

Additional thousands joined the strike yesterday to swell private estimates of the total number of strikers to 360,000, more than half the operatives normally employed.

Francis J. Gorman, strike chief, said other international unions might call out their members in support of the textile walkout. Strike calls appeared imminent in the hosiery, drapery and silk dyeing industries. Cotton garment workers were under orders to strike October 1, although this walkout was not directly connected with the textile stoppage. The garment strike was ordered to force compliance with President Roosevelt's order reducing hours and raising the wage scale. Leaders said the strike would

SURF DAMAGES WEST COAST

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA BEACHES LASHED BY GIGANTIC WAVES

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 7—The crash of mountainous surf echoed along the southern California beaches today, bringing with it death and destruction as men labored to raise sandbag and wooden barriers against the avalanches of water.

Striking first along the coastline near Newport beach last week, the gigantic combers spread northward to threaten the picturesque homes of film celebrities at Malibu Beach today.

One Body Recovered

The body of an unidentified man was taken from the wood-strewn surf at Long Beach yesterday. His skull was fractured but his lungs were empty of water, leading police to believe he was killed in the collapse of the Pine avenue pier Wednesday.

Washing high upon the sands of Malibu Beach, the ground swells damaged beach fences at the homes of John Gilbert, Corinne Griffith, Mike Levee and Lou Seiler. Crews of workmen were rushed to the colony as residents saw visions of a repetition of the damage at Newport. Two thousand sacks of sand were raised as a barricade against the waves.

Among screen personalities who live at Malibu are Richard Arlen, Bebe Daniels, Lupe Velez, Johnny Weissmuller, and the Marr brothers.

Battering the pleasure piers at Long Beach, the ocean tore a 40-foot hole in the rock fill of the new Rainbow pier and lossened more than 150 feet of the understructure. Only a few pilings remained of the 500-foot Pine avenue pier. The ocean was strewn with debris.

Resigned Sheriff Sued For Damages

SHERWOOD, Sept. 7 (AP)—Sam Harkey, who resigned Tuesday as sheriff of Irion county, today was named defendant in a $20,000 damage suit filed by Frank Emerick, another former Irion sheriff and next-door neighbor of Harkey until recently.

The petition names Harkey and three of his sons as having participated in an assault election night in which Emerick represents himself as being badly beaten. Ten thousand dollars is sought as actual damages of Harkey and his bondsmen, J. T. Burns, J. H. Clark, and J. Kinser, and $10,000 exemplary damages.

HUEY READY TO STEP IN AS DICTATOR

MAYOR WALMSLEY NOT TO SURRENDER CITY "WITHOUT EFFORT"

(By The Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 7—The full strength of the Louisiana national guard concentrated on the New Orleans city limits today for the assumption by Senator Huey P. Long of dictatorial powers.

National guardsmen estimated to number 2,000 converged on the city before noon—the hour at which the "Kingfish" takes over the powers conferred upon him by the acts of the recent special session of the state legislature.

To a threat of martial law, Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley, enemy of Senator Long, answered: "We have no intention of surrendering the city to the militia without an effort." On his side he holds an army of 1500 regular and special police.

Maneuvers Precede Vote

The military maneuvers were executed five days before the September 11 primary election in which Long and Walmsley are contending for political control of the city.

They came, also, just after Lieutenant Colonel Guy Molony, soldier of fortune and campaigner in Central American revolutions, arrived to testify before the legislative investigating committee that he did not come to lead an army against Long—but that he would take great pleasure in doing so.

Senator Long said the militia would be held at the service of the committee which is investigating the city administration.

Methodists Report Prohibition Faith

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 7 (AP)—Delegates to the Texas Methodist Centennial commission, en route to their homes after a three day meeting, began laying plans for another statewide session in 1936 in connection with the Texas Centennial celebration.

The finding and recommendations committee reported a renewed faith if prohibition endorsed the movement for cleaner motion pictures and advocated extending it to magazines and literature and deplored the lack of religious education for the youth of Texas.

The meetings were for general instructions preparatory to beginning the new academic year, Superintendent Oberholtzer said.

Five Persons Dead In Algerian Quake

ALGIERS, Algeria, Sept. 7 (AP)—Five persons were killed and 20 injured when a violent earthquake rocked the town of Orleansville at 4:15 a. m. today.

The temblor shook the houses and sent the French colonists and natives fleeing into the streets.

Many more persons were believed injured in the small towns between here and Orleansville and authorities started relief expeditions into the territory.

GIANT SENATOR

There should be no argument about who has the floor when Jim Neal, 6 feet 5 1-2 inches tall and weighing 260 pounds, gets up to speak in the Texas senate. Neal, 58-year-old rancher from Oilton, created a stir when he defeated Senator Archie Parr, long ruler of Rio Grande valley politics. (Associated Press Photo)

TWO KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK

SEVERAL OTHERS ARE INJURED IN KANSAS; TWO CRITICAL

(By The Associated Press)

WINFIELD, Kas., Sept. 7—Two men were killed and several others were injured, two critically, in the collision of Santa Fe No. 13, a westbound passenger train, and a locomotive five miles west of Grand Summit, Kas., about 4 o'clock this morning.

Sherman Leighty, Chanute, Kas., engineer on the passenger train and father of Mrs. Martin Johnson, wife of the noted explorer, died beneath the cab of his overturned locomotive.

J. I. Hanson, Chanute, engineer on the pusher engine, died en route to a hospital here.

Firemen Are Scalded

Roy Diehl and E. A. Taylor, firemen on the locomotives, suffered severe scaldings and internal injuries and physicians at the hospital held little hope for their recovery.

S. W. Griffin, Parsons, Kas., the only passenger on the train, suffered a broken arm. He, too, was in a hospital here.

Hanson was knocked unconscious at the time of the impact and his locomotive ran wild seven miles down the hill from the point of the crash. Hanson fell from the cab of the engine a mile from the scene of the collision and his locomotive raced on six more miles before it came to a halt.

Revival Of Buying Is Seen For Fall

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—There are definite signs of a "strong revival" of retail buying during the autumn months, said Dun & Bradstreet in their weekly trade review today "and barring prolonged labor disturbances the current rise is expected to be strengthened gradually until joined by the forceful momentum of the holiday shopping season."

The survey declared that the moderate expansion of commercial bank loans may be interpreted not only as indicative of plans for extending fall industrial activities beyond earlier estimates but also attests to the better financial position which numerous firms have been able to achieve.

YOUTH CLAIMS HE TRIED TO MARRY GIRL

TELLS JURY HE LOVED AND WAS ENGAGED TO BEAUTY QUEEN

(By The Associated Press)

NORMAN, Okla., Sept. 7—Neal Myers, white and shaken, told the jury trying him on a murder charge today that he had nothing to do with the death of Marian Mills, the 19-year-old University of Oklahoma beauty queen he is accused of killing.

In halting sentences as his mother, Mrs. P. B. Myers of El Reno, sobbed bitterly 15 feet in front of the witness chair, the university junior denied:

"Saw No Instrument"

1—That he ever saw an instrument that might have been used in a criminal operation at the Hazel Brown duplex, where the 19-year-old co-ed died July 10.

2—That he ever saw Marian take the medicine she had come to the apartment to take.

3—That he wanted her to prevent motherhood.

"As a matter of fact, Neal, you loved the girl and wanted to marry her, didn't you?" asked James Rinehart, his attorney, after the boy had told a dramatic story of Marian's death in the little duplex.

"Yes, sir," he replied.

The youth, occasionally wiping his eyes with a folded handkerchief, declared that Mrs. Brown, former cook at his fraternity, called Marian into a bedroom a few minutes before her death and closed the doors while he stayed outside.

Advised To Flee

He declared Mrs. Brown came out, "white faced and excited," said the girl was "as good as dead" and advised him to flee to save his family from disgrace.

Young Myers told of summoning a doctor against Mrs. Brown's wishes and of working over the girl until her face became blue and she stopped breathing.

"Everything was black. I didn't know which way I went," he cried.

He fled in panic, surrendering after three weeks of wandering to face the murder charge.

Earlier, the youth said, Marian, the daughter of a university professor, wore his fraternity pin and that was "sort of an engagement."

Repeatedly, he declared, he asked her to marry him and tried to dissuade her from taking medicine to prevent maternity, but was unsuccessful.

METHVIN CASE TO BE INVESTIGATED

DALLAS, Sept. 7 (AP)—Tarrant and Dallas county officers planned to question several witnesses today concerning statements contained in a book of the lives of Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker that Henry Methvin, escaped Texas convict, was the slayer of two Texas highway patrolmen and not Clyde and Bonnie.

Winter King, assistant district attorney of Dallas county, said Jesse Martin, Tarrant county district attorney, planned to question Mr. and Mrs. Henry Barrow, parents of Clyde and Mrs. Emma Parker, mother of Bonnie.

In a book recently written by Jan. I. Fortune, Dallas woman writer, statements were made that Methvin allegedly confessed to the killings of the two patrolmen near Grapevine on last Easter Sunday.

TYLER, Sept. 7 (AP)—State prosecutors today questioned veniremen concerning their scruples against capital punishment as selection of a jury to try John B. Willis, ex-convict from Louisiana, on an indictment alleging criminal assault on Mrs. Maxwell Herring, continued.

Only one juror had been selected. A special venire of 200 men were summoned to the courtroom.

Honoring Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Scarbrough on their fourth wedding anniversary, Mrs. R. C. Odom and Miss Alberta Odom, mother and sister of Mrs. Scarbrough entertained with a party in the Odom home, 1905 Seventeenth street, Thursday evening. Bridge games were played by the honor guests and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Abbott, Miss Juanita Mills and Fenton Harding.

CORDUROY IMPORTANT

Corduroy suits are an important informal fall fashion, with tunic length coats most popular. Skirts are straight—often slit on the sides—while the three-quarter length coats are fitted at waistlines and allowed to flare slightly at hemlines. Blouses of sheer woolen, plaid taffeta and heavy crepe are best with corduroy.

FAVORED FOR WINTER

PARIS (AP)—The old-fashioned changeable silk which grandmother loved is back in the new winter mode. It appears in red and blue, green and yellow and red and green changeable taffeta which fashions evening frocks. A new changeable velvet which has a similar two colored sheen is also used for both day dresses and evening gowns.

JAPS SEEKING STRONG NAVY

SEA POWER SECOND TO NONE DEMANDED BY TOKYO LEADERS

TOKYO, Sept. 7 (AP)—Japan definitely committed itself today to a policy of being second to none in naval armament.

The empire determined to renounce the present scheme of naval limitation, and demand in naval matters a ranking in all respects equal to that of the United States and Great Britain.

The formal policy received the approval of the nation's highest authorities.

First the cabinet adopted unanimously a statement of naval program which Admiral Mineo Osumi, minister of the navy, said incorporated the recommendations of high naval officers.

Then Premier Keisuki Okada proceeded to the palace with the program, and it was reported that it received the imperial sanction.

Later naval members of the supreme war council, among them the highest admirals, convened to hear and approve Osumi's report.

It was stated that the program now definitely drawn up will be the guide for Japanese negotiations at the naval conference next year, and at conversations in London preliminary to the conference.

There was no official disclosure of details of the policy, but newspapers unanimously asserted that one of the fundamentals is a demand for the abolition of the ratio principle for limitations of navies. This would mean that Japan would abrogate the Washington naval treaty at the earliest possible date, which is Dec. 31, this year.

Another fundamental was understood to be an insistence on a principle of Japanese equality among naval powers, with a maximum tonnage fixed for each nation.

Policies settled today will be taken to London by Rear Admiral Isoroku Yamamoto for presentation to Ambassador Matsudaira, who is preparing for the preliminary conversations with Great Britain. The admiral plans to sail from Yokohama Sept. 20. He will travel by way of Seattle and New York.

Banish Body Odor This New Odorless Way

Leaves No M. S. (Medicine Smell)

It isn't the smell of a soap that gets you clean—it's the lather.

Ordinary toilet soaps don't lather freely enough in this hard water. They form a sticky soap-scum that works into the pores and dams up stale perspiration.

Strong-smelling soaps—no matter how much they lather—can't keep a secret.

Kirk's Castile, being a 100% pure vegetable oil soap, lathers abundantly, even in hard, cold water. It goes deep into the pores, mixes with the stale perspiration curds and sets them free. In a twinkling your body is as fresh and clean-smelling as a woodland breeze!

"Simply Great for Our Hard Water" — says citizen of Peoria, Illinois

Try Kirk's Coco Castile today. It's odorless. And half again larger than average toilet soaps—an exceptional bargain. Be sure to ask for Kirk's by name.

CHACO WAR UP IN LEAGUE

SOUTH AMERICAN ROW TO BE DISCUSSED BY ASSEMBLY

GENEVA, Sept. 7 (AP)—The League of Nations council voted today to refer consideration of the Chaco war between Paraguay and Bolivia to the league assembly.

The resolution stated Bolivia requested examination of the dispute and added that it had abided by all the conditions prescribed by article 15 of the covenant, under which league intervention was sought.

Embargo Opposed

The Chaco war was the first question considered as the session of the council was called to order by Edouard Benes, foreign minister of Czechoslovakia.

Dr. A. Costa Du Rels, representative of Bolivia, sprang to his feet immediately and protested against the embargo on arms shipments to the belligerents. He said he doubted the legitimacy of the embargo as it was arranged under the league covenant. Caballero Bedoya, representative of Paraguay, also sat with the council.

Hopes of various countries to join the league or win places in its council kept international politics humming as the council started its sessions.

Discussions Held

Russia's overtures both to become a member and to sit in the council led discussions in many tongues, but the political machinery of this meeting place of the nations also was turning over the candidacies of Turkey and China for semi-permanent council seats. Persia, which had been a candidate, withdrew yesterday in favor of Turkey.

France, England and Italy were a powerful triumvirate urging Russia's admission to the league.

China campaigned for a seat with the contention that tension in the far east has placed her in the position of being the sole defender of the league covenant in the Orient and the whole idea of cooperation between the east and the west.

TWO WOMEN OF MURDER PONDER OVER KILLING A MAN FOR HIS INSURANCE

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y., Sept. 7 (AP)—Two women of murder—Eva Coo and Martha Clift—pondered today the profit of killing a man for his insurance.

"Little Eva" Coo was convicted late yesterday of murder in the first degree and sentenced to death in the electric chair at Sing Sing. She dies, if no agency of law intervenes, the week of October 15.

Given Twenty Years

Martha Clift, 27-year-old mother of two children, pleaded guilty to second degree murder, and was sentenced to serve 20 years to life.

It was the testimony of Martha Clift, co-conspirator with "Little Eva" in the murder of Harry Wright, that clinched the fate of the middle-aged Mrs. Coo, yet today Mrs. Coo said she held no malice.

Sometime today the two women are to say goodbye and "no hard feelings". Mrs. Coo, keeper of a roadhouse where her victim, Wright, was a handy-man, also wants to speak a friendly farewell to Harry Nabinger, her paramour, whose testimony scored heavily against her.

"I bear no grudge," said Eva Coo, facing the electric chair.

Spectators Cheer, Weep

She showed little emotion when the jury, after two hours of deliberation, returned its verdict. Women cheered when the verdict was told in the courtroom. Some men wept.

Mrs. Coo will be taken to Sing Sing probably tomorrow. At the same time, Mrs. Clift will be moved to the women's prison at Bedford.

Nabinger, who has been held in jail as a material witness, is to be released today.

The evidence at the trial, with 74 persons testifying for the state, was that Mrs. Coo had taken out insurance on her handy-man's life, and then had conspired to bring about his death. He was a cripple. With Mrs. Clift, she went with Wright to a deserted spot, slugged him over the head, and then signaled Mrs. Clift, at the wheel of a car, to run over him, to make death certain.

SECOND THE MOTION

WARSAW (AP)—Poland has had so much cloudy weather this summer and school children have had so little vacation sunshine that parents petitioned the public instruction ministry to extend the vacation.

Sidewalk Is Built By Side Of Highway

BEAUMONT, Sept. 7 (AP) — A novelty in highway improvement is the mile-long sidewalk paralleling the paved road to the Vidor rural school in Orange county along the old Spanish trail.

The school is a mile from the Vidor community proper and school children had to walk along the highway. In order to avoid danger to the youngsters from highway traffic the state highway department decided to construct the sidewalk.

G. A. Bracher, division engineer at Beaumont said it was the duty of the highway department to do all possible for the safety of the traveling public and he believed the walkway built "high and dry" along the right-of-way fence was a good step in that direction.

Off the Algerian coast are 5000 square miles of shallows, rich in fish, that have hardly been touched so far.

Rolling Chicken Coop Is Successful

CHEROKEE, Okla., Sept. 7 (AP)—With a hen house on wheels Herman Haas plans to control grasshoppers by moving his hen flock from one point of infestation to another.

This summer Haas moved 475 young chickens onto a 16-acre alfalfa patch which had become overrun with hoppers. When the chickens had done their stuff he estimated they had saved at least a bushel of seed per acre.

A. E. Wade, Alfalfa county agent, said grasshoppers may be used successfully as feed for growing poultry and yohng turkeys if a regular mash, grain and green feed ration is also supplied.

Prune bread baking has increased to an output of 200,000 loaves weekly, since its introduction in California last summer; four ounces of prunes are utilized to a loaf.

University To Get Lincoln Portrait

CHICAGO, Sept. 7 (AP)—Abraham Lincoln's favorite portrait of himself, painted by George Frederick Wright during the period between the martyred president's election and his inauguration, is to remain in Illinois.

At present the painting, known as the "Butler" portrait, hangs in the Illinois host building at the world's fair, but it will be moved at the conclusion of the exposition to the University of Chicago to become part of the institution's growing collection of Lincolniana.

The purchase price of $6,000, says the university, has been underwritten by an anonymous friend in the hope that a donor or donors may be found.

The mountain village of Mars Hill, N. C., has taken to the manufacture of hand-made rugs and 100 skilled mountaineer-weavers have found permanent employment.

HOLLYWOOD JUNKMAN PAYS $60 FOR A CAR THAT COST $600,000 TO BUILD

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Sept. 7 (AP)—A junkman to whom an old automobile is just so much scrap metal today had a car that cost $600,000.

He bought it the other day for $60.

Had the car been officially christened, it would have been called the Hughes Steamer. Its construction was financed by Howard Hughes, youthful Texas millionaire, who came here to produce motion pictures several years ago.

Hughes wired two young engineers who had specialized in steam problems at the California Institute of Technology, and gave them carte blanche. Bruce Burns and Howard Lewis secretly began their experiments in 1925, working until 1930 with an average staff of 40 men.

Burns and Lewis solved the problems of uniform steam pressure and temperature and the production of fire in ratio with the flow of water, problems which, it is said now, former steam car inventors had not solved. They perfected a new burner and new boilers, which have been patented, and an individual wheel suspension in which manufacturers of conventional motor cars are reported interested.

Hughes' fabulous income, from a Texas oil tool company, dropped soon after the stock market crash of '29. The experiments on the Hughes Steamer were ordered ended. The several patents are considered valuable and, it was admitted today by Noah Dietrich, who represents Hughes here, that two steam car companies are interested in them.

Goat races are the latest. They are in vogue in Australia.

EVERYBODY TALKS ABOUT THE WEATHER — BUT NOBODY DOES ANYTHING ABOUT IT!

$5.00 REWARD

For the first letter from each State in which this advertisement appears, which correctly gives the full name of the author who made this statement about the weather, we will pay $5. The Post Office time-stamp at point of mailing will determine priority as between letters sent in. In case of ties, duplicate rewards will be paid. Address: Advertising Dept., Phillips Petroleum Co., Bartlesville, Okla.

PHILLIPS DOES!

We scientifically match PHILLIPS 66 Gasoline to your weather . . . and that is why neither heat wave nor sub-zero cold can rob your motor of peak performance.

When a blistering heat wave makes front page news . . . your motor doesn't mind the weather, if the tank is filled with Phillips 66 . . . the greater gasoline.

During a month officially recorded by the U. S. Weather Bureau as the "hottest in seventy years," hundreds of thousands of drivers discovered the benefits of CONTROLLED VOLATILITY.

They marveled that their engines did not overheat or knock, that speed and power were undiminished. They will be just as pleasantly surprised this Winter, when their motors start with split-second speed on mornings away below zero.

Phillips was FIRST to break the vicious connection between bad weather and bad engine-performance. With our pioneer process of CONTROLLED VOLATILITY, the weather may change but motor efficiency does not! . . . because Phillips 66 Gasoline is changed in advance, "custom tailored" or pre-adjusted at the refinery to make engines do their best regardless of climate.

One trial tankful, at any Orange and Black 66 Shield, will quickly give you facts about extra anti-knock and miles, added power and speed . . . without extra cost . . . Yes, you will actually feel the difference in your engine!

LEAGUE FEARS NAZI PUTSCH

FRENCH INTERVENTION SEEN IN SAAR IF TROUBLE BREWS

BY JOSEPH E. SHARKEY
Associated Press Foreign Staff

GENEVA, Sept. 7 (AP)—Many officials of the League of Nations, political guardian of the Saar basin, fear that a Nazi putsch in the troublesome valley may bring about an intervention of French troops before or at the time of the plebiscite Jan. 13, 1935.

The league's governing commission for the Saar is striving to calm popular excitements and to keep the situation firmly in hand.

Can Call Troops

The governing commission, headed by Colonel Geoffrey G. Knox of Great Britain, has authority to call for aid from French soldiers. When French forces left the Saar in 1926 a Saar police force was set up. But the league commission approved the evacuation only on condition that, should events call for such drastic action, it might request France to send another expeditionary force.

It is understood that Baron Pompeo Aloisi, Italian delegate to the League of Nations and chairman of the league council Saar committee, has conferred with other league statesmen on Knox's recent demand for 2,000 police recruits to be selected from neutral countries.

Col. Knox has not yet disclosed whether he intends to undertake recruiting of men among the German speaking population of Switzerland, the Netherlands and Luxemburg, or whether he will ask the league council to request neutral governments to undertake the task.

Catholics Cause Doubt

The feeling is prevalent in league circles that the Saar will vote to join Germany, only the attitude of Catholic voters casting some slight doubt on the result.

The prevailing opinion in Geneva continues to be that a Franco-German accord is the only basis for an assured peace in Europe. It was pointed out by the optimistically inclined, that both nations have gone a long way toward conciliation by agreeing to the terms under which the Saar plebiscite is to be held. The mutual pledges that there are to be no reprisals against the losers were regarded particularly significant.

Youngest Librarian Is Borger's Claim

BORGER, Sept. 7 (AP) — Don Hennessee at 19 probably is the youngest librarian in Texas. He has been in charge of the Borger library three years.

In addition to handling circulation, sponsoring book shows, and promoting interest in reading, Hennessee is responsible for the financial condition of the library.

The library was established in 1928 by the Twentieth Century club. Since Hennessee took charge three years ago the number of volumes has increased from 800 to 3,500 and the list of subscribers jumped from 100 to 500. The average daily circulation is 108 volumes.

Hennessee plans to enter college this fall but he still is planning for the future of the library.

KENTUCKY PAYS SALES TAX PENNIES IN BITTER WRATH; LAWMAKERS ARE ASSAILED FOR NEW BURDEN ON THE POOR

By NEA Service

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 7—"One dollar and three rubies, please!"

The visitor to Kentucky's metropolis gazes in astonishment at the salesman. For the visitor has just bought three pairs of socks for a dollar. And he doesn't see why precious stones should figure in the price.

Grimly the clerk explains that Kentucky is one of the two dozen states that have a sales tax, and that pennies in the Bluegrass State are now called "rubies" after Gov. Ruby Laffoon.

Some state have accepted the sales tax resignedly, but here it has been more cussed and discussed than anything since the last attempt to bar horse racing. In fact, indignant sales-tax payers hanged in effigy one state legislator who voted for the tax.

The state government needed money badly. The railways, coal mines, and utilities managed to fight off further increases in their taxes. Legislators from farm counties were brought into line because they were told such a sales tax would save them from additional taxes on their farms.

Collected by Sheriffs

Kentucky has 120 counties. Each county has a sheriff. Each sheriff is the agent through whom the commonwealth collects state taxes. Each sheriff is also a considerable political force in his county, be he Democrat or Republican.

Now in some of the poor counties the sheriff draws very low pay. It is different in the rich counties, where the sheriff can easily draw down the $5000 limit allowed by the state law.

The sheriffs of the poor counties were made boosters for the sales tax by a provision that they should be allowed 2 per cent of the total sales taxes collected, provided that no sheriff should receive less $1000 a year from this source, nor more than $2000. To many of them this assured minimum of $1000 looked like a fortune.

Road Fund Another Lure

Another element of support was gained by a clever allocation of the funds thus gathered. Two-thirds of the taxes go to the state's general expenditure fund and one-third to the county road fund. Of the funds allocated to the road fund, one-third is distributed equally to all the 120 counties; one-third goes to them on the basis of population and one-third on the basis of area.

This means that the people of the larger cities of Louisville, Lexington, Newport, Covington and Paducah will be paying for roads in the poor mountain counties.

Despite vigorous opposition by part of the metropolitan press and by the retail merchants, it went over with a bang, was signed by Laffoon and went into effect on July 1.

Paid by Customer

Under this an excise tax of 3 per cent is imposed on every merchant selling goods at retail, but tax is collected from the customer. The tax also applies to theater and movie tickets and to the receipts of electric, gas, water, telegraph and telephone companies.

It is applied on every retail sale of 10 cents or over. As the minimum tax collected is one cent, it means that the purchaser of a dime's worth of goods pays not 3 per cent, but 10 per cent.

Customers in the five and ten-cent stores soon found themselves paying through the nose. So, proprietors were forced to issue slips, allowing the dime purchaser who has paid one cent tax, credit for that tax on future purchases.

Burden on Poor

The tax has not only already proved a real burden and nuisance to the poor, but has become a political issue and threatens to become the source of many lawsuits.

Symptomatic of what is brewing in the state is the action of some of the citizens in one county whose representative was asserted to have been elected on a pledge to oppose sales tax, and then voted for it. He was hanged in effigy. A placard attached to the figure read:

"You were traitorous to the interests of the people of your county. You have offered no defense and the court of judment of the people of this county finds you guilty of disloyalty and sentences you to be hanged in effigy until your political life in this county and state is dead. May God have mercy on your soul."

WASHINGTON (AP) — A transportation company is experimenting with dry ice as an agent for cooling airplanes in India where summer temperatures of 115 degrees are considered normal and 130 degrees is sometimes exceeded.

Beauty Spot Near Balmorhea Planned

PECOS, Sept. 7 (AP)—The state park board with help of CCC labor plans to create a beauty spot at San Solomon Spring, near Balmorhea in southern Reeves county. The site is in the foothills of the Davis mountains. A CCC camp is being moved there.

A tract of 200 acres has been given by landowners of the section to the park board. It adjoins the springs which flow 21,000,000 gallons of pure water daily and forms the principal source for irrigation of 10,000 acres in the Toyah valley.

Plans call for rock tourist huts, rock auditoriums and beauty spots, fountains, driveways, picnic sites, and one scenic drive that will ascend a neighboring hill 400 feet to the summit where a stone lookout will be created.

MOSCOW (AP) — An aeronautical laboratory attached to a balloon has been built by the Aeronautic Institute here. Five or six times a month scientists ascend four miles to study the effects of electricity on flying and radio transmission.

PRESS LEADER SHOT DOWN

FORMER EDITOR MEETS DEATH AT HANDS OF GUNMAN IN CAR

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 7 (AP)—Howard Guilford, former newspaper editor and leader of a fight for freedom of the press, came into the spotlight again today—slain.

He was shot down by a gunman last night in fashion typical of the underworld his publications often attacked.

Shot While Driving

Guilford, 40 years old, was driving along a South Side street, going home, when the killer and his companion drove their car alongside Guilford's, poked the muzzle of a shotgun through an open window and pulled the trigger.

The charge struck the former editor of the "Saturday Press" and the "Pink Sheet" in the head. His death was instantaneous.

Then, after taking one quick look to make sure the charge had killed their victim, the gunmen sped away. There was but one witness and he told the killers' machine bore yellow license plates.

Atacked Once Before

Seven years ago Guilford was attacked by gunmen. He was wounded seriously, but recovered. Guilford's publications often were devoted to attacks on gambling and ther forms of vice. He said he had been threatened.

The "Saturday Press" was involved in the famous case of the Minnesota newspaper suppression law, which was held unconstitutional by the United States supreme court after twice being upheld by the Minnesota supreme court.

The law, enacted by the 1925 legislature, gave a district judge, sitting as a court of equity, power to suppress any publication printing "malicious, scandalous and defamatory matter."

Order Stopped

About a month after publication of the Saturday Press was ordered stopped, Guilford, in a petition filed with former Governor Theodore Christianson, sought removal of Floyd B. Olson, then Hennepin county attorney at Minneapolis. The petition charged that Olson failed to perform his duties properly.

This effort was unsuccessful but Guilford continued his attacks on Olson after he became governor. After leaving the "Saturday Press" several months ago, Guilford entered the political field, establishing a political news service for country weeklies.

Training Camp In Palisades Planned

AMARILLO, Sept. 7 (AP)—Construction of a training camp in the Palisades park near here where transient unemployed will be given instructions in vocational work is due to start this month.

W. B. Bowden, divisional director for the Texas transient bureau, said plans had been completed and that between 225 and 250 men will be accommodated in the camp.

"We plan to provide educational and vocational training for the men in the new Palisades camp and at the same time make it possible for them to live respectably until they can find jobs and get back on their own," Bowden said.

DIAMOND IMPORTS UP

Old-Timers Recall Last Indian Fight

CANADIAN, Sept. 7 (AP)—There will be no celebration but many old-timers are talking about one of the last great Indian battles in the Panhandle country—that of Buffalo Wallow.

The battle was fought 60 years ago Sept. 12 on a divide between the Washita river and Gageby creek between Canadian and Miami.

According to records William Dixon and Amos Chapman, scouts, and four enlisted men in company M, Sixth cavalry, wer esurrounded by Indians while the men were carrying dispatches from Gen. Nelson A. Miles' camp on McClellan creek to Fort Supply, Indian territory.

The men battled 48 hours with a band of 125 Kiowa and Comanche Indians before they were able to continue their journey.

Middleweight Mat Champ Will Wrestle In Lubbock

GUS KALLIO TO MEET UNDESIGNATED FOE HERE WEDNESDAY

Gus Kallio, king of middleweight matmen who last night at Amarillo successfully defended his title against the onslaught of Vic Webber, will mingle with an undesignated antagonist in the main event of the wrestling show here Wednesday night.

Last night at Amarillo, after the grilling two-hour battle with Webber, the fighting Finn, still in his sweat-soaked trunks, signed for the bout here. Promoter Sled Allen was compelled to post a $1,000 guarantee. This is the highest guarantee ever made to insure the appearance of an athlete in Lubbock.

Detton Or Clingman?

Dory Detton and Otis Clingman are possible opponents for the champion.

Like most championship matches last night's battle was a lengthy affair.

Webber more than held his own most of the route, and it was Kallio's rope-clawing propensities that got him out of more than one bad spot.

The Finn took the first heat with his famous self-strangle hold after 38 minutes of grappling.

The New York Dutchman opened the second fall, vigorously assaulting Gus with body blocks, tackles and butts. Then after 35 minutes on the pad Vic won the fall with a flying tackle and body smother.

Webber Almost Won

In the opinion of some of the spectators Webber won the title in the third fall. Once he had Kallio's shoulders glued to the mat like fly paper. But the referee ruled that the two gladiators were too far under the ropes for the body press to count.

Kallio finally pinned the youthful New Yorker after almost an hour of chores.

IT IS difficult to read a sports page now without seeing where somebody or some club is playing for or is being awarded a national championship in something or other, which is all very nice. It speeds competition and provides grist for the sports writing mills in the off seasons.

But it's getting so that the town is inconspicuous and unknown indeed which does not boast a national champion in something. Before you go to feeling sorry for your home town, supposing you live in the Hub City, consider the following:

The Lubbock Redshirts and the Philadelphia Demons will meet in the near future to settle the motorcycle polo championship of these United States.

That is, Lubbock has been designated as the Western champion, and Philadelphia the Eastern title holder in motorcycle polo. Philadelphia has invited Lubbock to come East and play for the title. Wade Anthony, the brains and 200 pounds of the brawn of the local team, shows us a letter from the Philadelphia club secretary which extends the invitation and offers a substantial cash guarantee. Mr. Anthony says the proposition very likely will be accepted.

That the Lubbock club has not gained the right to play for the national title is not challenged by the most astute fan or authority who has seen the Redshirts in action, and they are formally certified by the American Motorcycle association. The only kick local fans have to make—and from 1000 to 3000 have watched them in nearly every game—is that they have been unable to book an opponent which could offer anything like stiff competition, although they have played the strongest teams available. They've even loaned their own players to the opposition in order to make the contest tougher. The game, as a thrilling, chilling combat, has great possibilities.

As a warm-up for the pending national shampionship game, the Redshirts plan to meet an all-star team here September 16. The all-star team will be composed of the best riders in West Texas, some of them coming from Big Spring, others from Fort Worth, Amarillo and Wichita Falls. The game is to be sponsored by the American Business club.

WE SEE by the Abilene papers that Prexy Anderson, whom we were about to identify as the erstwhile Abilene sports editor, has returned to work after a summer's vacation spent on the rim of a copy desk. At least we are led to believe Prexy is back on the job after reading his first column this week. Somewhere in it he mentions the fact that he has returned to work. And just when his contemporaries were about to surmise that his boss finally got smart. Now our friend and fellow worker, Cholley Watson, will not agree that working on a telegraph desk constitutes a vacation. But we used to room with M. Watson.

Prexy is welcome back to the fold. If Jerry Malin of Amarillo and Paxton Dent of El Paso will go back to work, the West Texas circuit will be just about complete. It must be nice to work on a paper whose sporting editor is given the summer off to write page 1 headlines, or to join a posse in search of the elusive Perchmouth Stanton (yes, Dent was in on the celebrated Battle of Alamogordo), or to renew one's acquaintance with the equally elusive trout of Colorado streams and attend horse races. (And our conscience squeaks: "Yes, and it's pretty nice to work for a paper who is so considerate when you're layed up 6 wks. in a hosp., too").

As might be expected, Prexy would return to his sports desk just as the football season is about to get under way. Maybe he has aspirations to win another Texas Tech gold football. He missed last year when the gold trophies were handed out, and the 1932 ball probably is turning green by now. With Tech scheduled to play the McMurry Indians and the Simmons Cowboys—pardon, the Hardin-Simmons Oilers—he should work up enough lather to win another.

Employment by Hardin-Simmons (that's going to be a hard name to get into a headline) of Vic Payne as line coach means that the Matadors may have to apply a little extra pressure on November 9. Payne used to coach the Matador line, and evidently did a fair job of it. Not-so-old timers say he was one of the most popular roaches here. He should be effective as a "primer" for the Cowboys as they prepare for the Tech game. Payne replaces the likeable Potts Anderson, who has gone to Dallas as a high school coach.

Payne will not be a full time coach at Hardin-Simmons, we are to understand, merely line coach through the football season. He will retain his business relations with an Abilene firm. No definite contract was signed with Payne, it is reported, the tie-up with the Cowboys being strictly informal.

LUBBOCK HIGH WESTERNERS ARE TO ENGAGE IN GRID SCRIMMAGE TODAY

The Westerners will have a wild and woolly scrimmage session this afternoon.

The men, many of them hampered by minor injuries, drilled leisurely yesterday. The ends, backs and centers played pass ball; the guards and tackles rehearsed, nonstrenuously.

New formations have occupied the Westerners this week. Shifty line shifts, increased emphasis on aerials, and use of an unbalanced line both to the left and right will be new innovations in the high school attack this year.

Stronger In Air

The team should be considerably stronger in the air this fall. Vergil Griner, Eugene Alderson, Morris White, Robert Allen Hill, Charles Calhoun—in fact, all the experienced backs can hurl the ball with proficiency. And the flankmen, particularly Starkey Whitehorne, are greatly improved as receivers.

The veterans are showing amazing adaptibility in handling any positions to which they are assigned. No specialists are the Westerners but jack-of-all-trades.

A Versatile Gridder

Calhoun, for example, can play any role in the secondary or either of the end positions in the approved fashion. White is a threat at any slot in the backfield. On defense he is most valuable when backing up the line. Blackie Young and Dowell can qualify both as tackles and pivotmen. Country Phillips is a guard, but he would do considerable damage at tackle.

The Cowhands are now undergoing practice sessions on the Junior High school field. Coach Ross Ayer's team meets the Ralls Jackrabbits here a week from today in a game that starts the football season.

On Sept. 21 the Westerners will attempt to wrest a victory from Big Spring High school's seventeen heavyweight lettermen on the Steers' gridiron.

Delegations Urged For Tri-State Fair

AMARILLO, Sept. 7 (AP)—More than 40 cities and towns of Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico have been asked to send delegations and bands to the Tri-State fair here Sept. 15-22.

Wilbur C. Hawk, president of the fair, has authorized fair representatives to offer $100 in cash prizes to the bands that bring the largest delegations to the 1934 exposition.

FIGHT TO DRAW

DALLAS, Sept. 7. (AP)—Pat Murphy of Terre Haute, Ind., and Bobby Murray of Houston, welterweights, battled through ten of the most slashing, bruising rounds seen in Dallas in several years in the main event of a fair park arena boxing show last night, judges and the referee voting on a draw. Murphy weighed 146 pounds and Murray, 148.

CUBS STRETCH CONTEST BUT ARE BEATEN

GIANTS SEVEN GAMES UP ON CARDS, NINE ON CHICAGO CLUB

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

If there's any way of stopping those New York Giants in their rush toward the National league pennant, the Chicago Cubs apparently haven't discovered it.

The Cubs managed to stretch things out over 12 innings yesterday but the result was just the same. They went down for the second ed up at the leaders from a depth of e up at the leaders from a depth of nine games. St. Louis, kept pace with a 7 to 5 decision over Brooklyn although still seven games behind.

Card Hopes Dim

With only 22 more games to go for New York and 24 for St. Louis that began to look like a huge deficit with a clean sweep in the coming series about the only St. Louis hope.

Leroy (Bud) Parmelee and Bill Lee, both trying to preserve perfect records against the day's rival, hooked up in the Giant-Cub duel and it came very close to being a draw.

The Cardinals hopped off toward an easy victory when they clouted old Tom Zachary with a five-run outburst in the fourth.

Pittsburgh's Pirates extended their belated drive for a first division berth through their fifth straight victory when they attacked Ed Brandt for three runs in the first two innings and went on to beat the fourth-place Boston Braves 4 to 1.

Yanks, Sox Gain

In the American league the Yankees and Red Sox managed to make up some ground they lost the day before without causing a great amount of excitement. While Detroit's doubleheader with the Athletics was rained out, the Yankees reduced the Tiger lead to 5 1-2 games with a 5 to 3 decision over Chicago.

The Red Sox evened their third-place struggle with Cleveland with a late attack that netted three runs in each of the last two innings and a 6 to 1 victory for Gordon Rhodes.

The Washington-St. Louis contest was halted by rain.

HOPES PUT ON TWO NETTERS

IT IS UP TO EITHER ALLISON OR WOOD TO HALT PERRY

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 7 (AP)—It looks like it's up to either Wilmer Allison or Sidney B. Wood, jr., to stop Fred Perry's march to his second American singles tennis championship.

They both can't do it, because if form holds true they'll meet in the quarter-final round and then there'll be only one of them left. On that survivor apparently rides America's best chance of wresting the championship from the Briton.

In Same Bracket

Allison and Wood are in the lower bracket of the current 53rd national singles championship tournament.

Standing alone in the upper bracket, as the United States chief obstacle in Perry's path to the final, is Frank Shields, the top-ranking player. The New Yorker, however, has been unimpressive and at the rate he has been going might succumb to the stroking of the Briton.

Allison was booked aganst Jack McDiarmid of Fort Worth, Texas, in the fourth round today, and Wood was to encounter Marcel Rainville, Canadian Davis cup player.

With Wood in the bottom of the draw is Frankie Parker, the Lawrenceville, N. J., schoolboy, who is waiting to meet the winner of the rained out Roderich Menzel-Gregory S. Mangin match. Menzel and Mangin were to renew hostilities today with the giant Czech having the first set in his favor 8-6.

George Lott Routed

It's all a big headache, shared equally by officials of the U. S. L. T. A., the competitors and the spectators. It wasn't bad enough that the rain had to break up the play yesterday. But George Lott was routed from the rolls in an upset by Edward W. Feibleman and when he went out the tournament committee not only lost one of its seeded players and chief threats to Perry's reign, but a major gate attraction as well.

While the Lester Stoefen-John Van Ryn and Berkeley Bell-Clifford Sutter matches held the spotlight today, Bryan M. (Bitsy) Grant of Atlanta and Donald Budge of Oakland, Calif., were to complete their rain-checked third round match with the score standing two sets each.

Georgia Tech Needs "Guy Who Can Get Loose And Go Places"

COACH SAYS PERFECT CONDITION OF KEY MEN NECESSARY

BY DILLON GRAHAM
Associated Press Sports Writer

ATLANTA, Sept. 7 (AP)—As the writers in the press box would phrase it, Georgia Tech needs "a guy who can get loose and go places."

William Anderson Alexander, beginning his fifteenth year as Tech's coach, agrees with this summary of the gridiron outlook, but points a great forefinger at his 10-game schedule and adds another qualifying angle—"we're going to need all the luck and perfect condition of our key men to have a chance."

Backfield Prospects Good

"We had a pretty fair crop of halfbacks last year but we couldn't seem to shake one loose. And when we did give them a clear track they'd get get stagestruck or something," the pilot of the Engineers says. "The backfield prospects are better this year and we'll be o. k. if we can find one who can take care of himself out in a partially open field."

The real problem facing Alexander is that of possible injuries to any of his five "key" men.

The boys who Alexander says he cannot satisfactorily replace are Jack Phillips at fullback, Clarence (Shorty) Roberts at quarter, Clyde Williams at tackle and the Wilcox brothers at guards.

Roberts Is Star

"Roberts developed into a fine little signal caller last season. The boys seemed to have great confidence in him. Phillips, in addition to being a good runner, line puncher, defensive ace, and kicker, was also the best short passer in the Southeastern conference. The 1933 team was built around him and he again will be the center of the offensive tactics again.

"There hardly is a better tackle or a finer pair of guards than Williams and the Wilcox boys. At this time I know of no players who can be substituted for any of these five men without weakening the team to some extent. And I'm not optimistic enough to think these five boys can go through a long, tough season without injuries of some kind."

The Georgia Tech schedule:
Sept. 29—Clemson at Atlanta.
Oct. 6—Vanderbilt at Atlanta.
Oct. 13—Duke at Durham, N. C.
Oct. 20—Michigan at Ann Arbor.
Oct. 27—Tulane at New Orleans.
Nov. 3—North Carolina at Atlanta.
Nov. 10—Auburn at Atlanta.
Nov. 17—Alabama at Atlanta.
Nov. 24—Florida at Gainesville.
Dec. 1—Georgia at Athens.

DALLAS COUNTRY CLUB GOLF EVENT TO BE EXCLUSIVE

BY BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Sept. 7 (AP)—The Dallas Country club's annual invitational golf tournament, scheduled the first week in October, will be an exclusive affair.

It is going to be ritzy in a tall way. No municipal players will be eligible. Only players whose country clubs are bona-fide members of the Southern, Western, Trans-Mississippi, Texas and United States Golf associations will be invited.

Previous tournaments were wide-open. Instead of a huge field, tournament officials are limiting entries and seeking a superior group of sub-par sharp-shooters.

Professional George Aulbach, who will be official starter, has completed tournament details and is confident this year's tournament will out-strip any previously held in the class of competing golfers.

David Goldman will be defending champion. He has a habit of winning this tournament. Gus Moreland failed to stop him in last year's 36-hole finals. Goldman is now in Boston where he will play in next week's National amateur.

Victorious last week in the Fort Worth Glen Garden and Southwestern tournament, Moreland said today he probably would play in the Dallas Country club event.

WEST WILL PIT EXPERIENCE AGAINST YOUTH AND TEAM-WORK FOR THE EAST

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—Experience and individual brilliance for the west, speed, youth and team-work for the east—that will be the line-up when the first game of the second annual intersectional polo series is played at Meadow Brook tomorrow.

Formal selection of the rival teams, made last night, finds a 36-goal western team, averaging around 35 years in age, opposing the east's youngsters, handicapped at an aggregate of 30 goals and averaging about 26 years.

The teams:

East (30)	Pos.	West (36)
Michael J. Phipps (7)	No. 1	Eric L. Pedley (8)
James P. Mills (8)	No. 2	Elmer J. Boeseke, Jr., (10)
Winston Guest (8)	No. 3	Cecil Smith (10)
William Post 2nd (7)	Back	Aidan Roark (8)

East spares: Elbridge T. Gerry (7); Earle A. S. Hopping (7); Stewart Iglehart (7).

West spares: Lindsay Howard (6); Tom Mather (5).

Fight Interest Is Hiked By Delay

ROSS-McLARNIN BOUT SLATED TONIGHT OR TOMORROW NIGHT

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—A delay of 24 hours was just what the doctor ordered as a tonic for the prospective gate for Barney Ross' 15-round welterweight title defense against Jimmy McLarnin in Madison Square Garden bowl.

Originally scheduled for last night, the fight was put over until tonight, weather permitting, because of an afternoon downpour. Postponements usually are the bane of a fight promoter's precarious existence but this time it worked the other way.

50,000 Expected

Where a crowd of 35,000 had been the fondest dream of the sponsors two days ago, there were predictions today that perhaps as many as 50,000 would make their way to the Long Island arena. Given good weather during the day, it was figured late ducat-buyers might swell the receipts past the figure of $194,000 Ross and McLarnin drew last May when the Chicagoan lifted Jimmy's 147-pound title on a split decision.

The postponement likewise resulted in a big swing in the betting odds. From 7 to 5 Ross became a 9 to 5 favorite. The bookmakers had a ready answer for that one. They believe that McLarnin's 5 3-4 pound pull in poundage as revealed by weighing-in ceremonies, will have been cut about in half by the 24-hour delay. Ross, who scaled 140, probably will pick up three or four pounds during the day while McLarnin, at 145 3-4 pounds, was close to his best fighting weight yesterday and probably will attempt to keep it there.

Under commission rules, the principals will not have to weigh in again today but should a further postponement to tomorrow night be necessary, they will be put on the scales again tomorrow afternoon to make sure neither is above the class limit.

The main bout is scheduled for about 9 p. m. (Eastern Standard.) There will be no broadcast.

TO VOTE ON BEER

ALICE, Sept. 7 (AP)—Residents of Sandia in the north part of Jim Wells county have petitioned the commissioners court to call a special election in order that they may vote on local option. If Sandia votes for local option, it will be the only precinct in the county prohibiting the sale of 3.2 beer.

COTTON MCAFEE NAMED COUNTRY CLUB MANAGER

W. L. "Cotton" McAfee was named manager of Lubbock Country club, Amos Howard, club president, announced Thursday.

McAfee, one of the top ranking golfers of the club, takes over part of the duties of J. O. Smith, club secretary and member of the board of directors. He will be placed in charge of the management of the entire club, and supervisor of its physical layout, and will act as overseer for club employees, Howard said.

Smith, the president stated, is to continue to serve as club secretary and on the board of directors for the remainder of the fiscal year, ending about October 10. At that time yearly officers and directors are elected.

At a meeting of the board this week, Howard said, several applications for the vacant professional position were made, along with McAfee's bid for the managerial post. He was elected by a vote of 6 to 1. No pro was selected, Howard stating yesterday that this position might not be filled for several months.

Jimmie Gamewell, a professional golfer who assisted Paul Denson during the latter's tenure as pro here, is in charge of the caddy house now and is giving lessons.

LEAGUE PLANS LONG DRIVE

LIBERTY BODY TO TRY TO ENFORCE ITS IDEA OF CONSTITUTION

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP)—The American Liberty league served emphatic notice today that it is "enlisted for as many years as may be necessary" to enforce its conception of the Constitution.

The campaign will be given another fillip tonight in a nation-wide broadcast by President Jouett Shouse, but the day-in-and-out forays against infringement of "Constitutional rights" will be deferred until December.

Although there is no change in league determination to refrain from the current campaigns, it is considered inevitable in political circles that the latest revelation of its plans will become a factor.

Alfred E. Smith, John W. Davis, Representative James W. Wadsworth and others of its executive committee joined in a plain-spoken contradiction of new deal portrayals of the property-owners organization.

It was summed up in the words: "Human rights and property rights are inseparable."

This referred, indirectly, to President Roosevelt's contention that the first-announced league purposes made no provision for help to the jobless and protection of the weak.

Both Sides Active

The committee reported a nation-wide glad reaction to its efforts, saying:

"We intend to teach those things that will awaken in the hearts and minds of our people an appreciation of the necessity of cherishing, protecting, defending and fighting for those liberties and rights which are guaranteed by the Constitution and which must be preserved if we expect our form of government to endure."

With both sides increasingly active, the prospect was for formation of coalitions in both parties on the issues raised by the league and by former President Hoover in his magazine article denouncing recent "emergency" enactments.

Roosevelt Studies Railroad Affairs

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 7 (AP)—Reorganization of railroad affairs and formulation of a "comprehensive" legislative program for the carriers took shape Thursday in a conference between President Roosevelt and Joseph B. Eastman, federal rail coordinator.

Indications grew that a way was being opened for J. J. Pelley, president of the New York, New Haven and Hartford, to take over a post of czar for the railroads as the head of an organized unofficial unit of the carriers. Pelley conferred with the president here early this week.

DOCTORS BAFFLED AS WOMAN WEEPS TEARS OF BLOOD

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 7 (AP)—Kansas City physicians were baffled today at the case of a 28-year-old woman who once a day weeps tears of blood.

Usually in the evening, Mrs. Eula Santa Maria, a patient in the General hospital, sheds the tears. The application of ice packs and medicine stops the flow, about ten cubic centimeters each time, but it occurs again the following day.

Physicians studying the case said real tears accompany the blood flow, which comes from the outer corner of the eye.

Mrs. Santa Maria entered the hospital Aug. 22, saying that the bleeding had started about six months ago.

X-ray pictures of the woman's skull disclosed a slight deformity, physicians said, but this probably has nothing to do with her ailment.

The patient is nervous, easily excitable and cries frequently, hospital attendants said.

Some physicians considered the possibility that the malady may be the result of two mastoid operations several years ago.

Physicians on the hospital staff said a search of the county medical association library so far has revealed no similar cases.

Body Of Flier Is Sent To His Home

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 7 (AP)—The body of Lieut. Robert A. Brunt, student flier of Kelly field, who was fatally injured when his attack plane crashed while attempting a forced landing near San Angelo Wednesday, was sent Thursday night by train to his home in Marion, Ind., for burial.

Lieut. Robert J. Cairns, one of his classmates, and his widow, Mrs. Edythe Rigsby Brunt, are accompanying the body. Mrs. Brunt's home is also in Marion. Besides Mrs. Brunt, the flier's father, Charles B. Brunt, who lives in Marion, survives.

Lieutenant Brunt was graduated last year from West Point and entered the air corps training center last October.

That Girl on Broadway says in remote and backward regions you can still find men who are proud of how much work they can do.

Oh well. If they hadn't tried to beat the train to the crossing they might have lived long enough to pour gasoline on a fire.

AT the recent meeting of the American Bar association our lawyer friends had quite a little discussion over whether judges should be appointed or elected.

There was quite a debate on it up in Milwaukee and last reports failed to say whether the boys were going to let the public have anything to say about it.

Of course, the public is interested in a way, since it pays the bills and is tried before the judges from time to time; but what didn't seem to worry the attorneys at all!

One side argued that judges should be appointed by the governor, or some such official "to get the bench away from politics."

Of course, politics never enters into appointments. Oh, no!

And Old John Public hasn't sense enough to decide who he wants to honor with the jobs for which he pays.

It's mighty nice of the bar association to be willing to take such a load off the public mind but somehow or another The Plainsman can't get steamed up over the idea.

We'd just as soon rock along in the same old way and make our own mistakes.

THE PLAINSMAN is going to take the Little Woman and pile into the big, black mysterious looking closed job early tomorrow morning and set out for Galveston-by-the-gulluf.

Texas Democrats are going to gather there Monday and Tuesday and a lot of them will be there Sunday evening and your humble servant wants to see what he can see about politics.

He also wants to mitt-wobble a bunch of the politicians and find out, if possible, what is what and why.

This department, therefore will be missing for a few days the early part of the week but there will be other matter to take its place.

The Plainsman will file some stories out of Galveston, together with some sidelight paragraphs, so you won't get clear away from him at any rate.

The jaunt will be a mixture of business and vacation, on account of there not having been any vacation in our family this year, which is about as usual.

THE other day this column told of the great, great grandson of Davy Crockett being in Lubbock and needing some financial help to get to school.

The youngster is 11 years old and this column's informant says the connection between the boy and the Texas hero can be proven without a shadow of a doubt.

Thus far only one letter has been received and it is from Crosbyton—written by a lady who also is kin to the great Crockett.

Surely Lubbock isn't going to sit by and see a descendant of one of our really great men kept away from school because he hasn't the money to get the necessary clothing and equipment.

Anyone interested may call The Plainsman at home tonight or call Parker Prouty here at the office tomorrow.

Parker doesn't know he's being selected to sub for The Plainsman while the latter is out of town, but he has a heart as big as Texas and he'll be glad to help any way he can.

Let's don't forget the debt we owe this boy's famous kinsman and let's help the youngster get to school.

The Plainsman is 'in the pot.' How about you?

NOTE to Taxpayer: You are wrong on the garbage and sewer charge. . . . They have been on for a long time. . . . Our Mr. McCall has looked it up and he says 'the sewer charge and garbage collection fee are the same that have been embraced in the water rate for years. In a recently printed batch of statements the itemization of the two charges simply was added. The water rate always has included them and they remain the same in amount. There's been no change except a little extra printing which is causing City hall to explain some."

Many a baseball fan is pulling for the Yanks against the Tigers so Geo. Herman "Babe" Ruth will have another chance at the big money. . . . Four Ft. The Man Who Was Going to Have His Brakes Fixed Some Day

Author Has To Find Actor Before He Can Sell His Play; Takes Three Years To Find Youth Fit For Leading Role

BY DAN THOMAS
NEA Service Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 7—Now that "Wednesday's Child" actually has gone before the cameras, there's an interesting tale behind the efforts of the author, Leopold Atlas, to peddle this tale.

It was five years ago that Atlas first tried to sell it to several Broadway producers. Then he tried a major film company, but the story was rejected on the ground that no child actor was good enough to play the leading role. After that no stage producer would even consider it.

Atlas decided that his only chance was to find a youth who could play the role. After a three-year search he found Frankie Thomas and sold both Frankie and the play to a Broadway producer.

The show was one of New York's biggest hits last winter. So now it's being made into a picture and with Frankie in the leading role.

Privilege, Being Shaved

Old Lamps Still Good

Until just the other day, I thought that the old-fashioned magic lantern, forerunner of modern motion picture equipment, had been relegated to the junk pile years ago. But now I find that these old machines still are in use—and right in our huge studios. Their use today is as an aid in decorating walls of sets. The artist draws his design on a small piece of glass, puts it in the magic lantern, focuses the image on the wall to the desired size, and then starts tracing.

Mother's Influence

And now we find a woman who is absolutely certain that prenatal influence is a fact and not a fancy. She is Mrs. Martha Holt, mother of David Jack Holt, the 7-year-old youngster who recently made such a hit in "You Belong to Me."

"Before David's birth I concentrated on the thought that he should some day be a motion picture star," Mrs. Holt declares. Whether that thought was what did the work is not for me to say. But young David certainly is living up to expectations.

Only Death Is Serious

Frank Mitchell and Jack Durant, the comedy team, contend that in the 15 years they have been tossing each other about, neither has ever sustained a serious injury. Oh, there have been minor hurts which they enumerate as follows:

Durant: One wrist fractured, one lip fractured, one kneecap fractured, nose broken twice, and a dozen knockouts.

Mitchell: Both eyes cut, mouth cut so badly it required eight stitches, nose broken, collar bone broken, both shin bones fractured, both ankles broken, and both wrists fractured.

"But never anything serious," they still insist.

HIGH COST OF STRIKES

If you have ever doubted that the strike is the most expensive way of settling labor difficulties you might scan the figures presented by the Minneapolis Junior Chamber of Commerce, dealing with the recent truck strike in that city.

The truck drivers themselves, in wages, lost $575,000.

Employers lost, in diminished business, $20,000,000.

Taxpayers, through the calling of the national guard, had to foot a bill of $450,000.

In addition there were deaths, injuries, much property damage, wage losses to thousands of workers not directly involved in the dispute, and the loss of much business, some of which will never return.

All this makes a pretty heavy bill for a community to pay. Almost any kind of peaceful settlement would have been cheaper than that, in the long run.

Dutcher's News And Views OF WASHINGTON

Dutcher

(Copyright, 1934, NEA Service, Inc.)

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—It is impossible to report President Roosevelt's reaction to Upton Sinclair's big victory in California, but many of the president's best friends here turning cartwheels in the privacy of their boudoirs.

They may not like Sinclair or his ideas and they may think George Creel would have made a better governor, but the progressives in the New Deal councils believe they now have conclusive evidence that popular support will not be lacking for the strong liberal program here which they are sure will become more pronounced.

A great popular victory for a "radical" indicates they haven't much to fear from "reactionaries."

It's a fairly safe bet that Roosevelt feels much the same way, as he has lately indicated almost unmistakably that his course was veering leftward with an increasing appeal to "the average man" and away from the old-line conservative element of the Democratic party.

Sure of Democrat Aid

Jim Farley promised Sinclair wouldn't be denied Democratic support if he were nominated and the size of the ex-Socialist's majority makes it certain that regular Democratic politicians will seek some working arrangement with him, even though the administration will be careful to avoid associating itself with Sinclair's personal platform.

For the administration would just as soon have a "convert" to the New Deal such as Sinclair running as a Democrat as some of the anti-New Deal governors, such as Talmadge of Georgia, Ely of Massachusetts, and Bryan of Nebraska.

Its only official candidate in the California primaries was Senator Hiram Johnson, who won the nomination of all parties and can't possibly be handicapped by Sinclair.

Some New Dealers will even admit that Sinclair's platform—even though he couldn't achieve it if elected—isn't far left of their own ideas.

His proposal for subsistence farms and use of idle factories for the unemployed, with exchange of products among them, differs little from federal programs already in effect.

Old age pensions are in the New Deal deck, though Sinclair's rates are high. No one here is yet proposing a graduated tax beginning at $500—as Sinclair is—but there is plenty of sympathy for the "soak the rich" idea.

Labor Sore at Bruere

The chairman of the Cotton Textile Relations Board is the same Robert W. Bruere who was a guest at Dr. Wirt's famous "red" dinner party in McLean, Va., and subsequently denied the Gary-school teacher's yarn in as stentorian tones as were ever heard before a congressional committee.

If anything were needed to show that Bruere isn't a political radical, the events leading up to the textile strike have provided it. Even the conservative A. F. of L. crowd professes to be sore at Bruere, claiming that he has failed to attack the stretchout evil in the industry and has accepted the explanations and denials of the mill owners too complacently.

Bruere, a studious philosopher, a liberal, and a human being of great personal charm, has indicated less sympathy with the labor leaders than have many other officials.

• • •

"Dynamo" Leads Strike

A black-haired, wiry, bushy-browed, short, obvious Irishman is this Francis Gorman, chairman of the textile strike committee.

He was born in Yorkshire, Eng., and at the age of 13 was brought across and put to work sweeping floors in a cotton mill. He stayed in the mills of New England for 20 years, but educated himself and left to work with the United Textile Workers, of which he is vice president, some 10 years ago. Which makes him about 43. He lives in Providence, R. I.

Gorman is full of nervous energy—some of which probably is just plain nerves, considering the size of this strike. His manner is grim, but not over-confident. He usually carries a rolled-up newspaper as a sort of swagger-stick, whacking his leg sharply with it as if he were rarin' to go somewhere.

He works in a white linen suit which is seldom offensively clean, with a smartly matching blue shirt and tie.

Murder at MOCKING HOUSE

BY WALTER C. BROWN

SYNOPSIS: Sergeant Harper believes that the murderer of the stranger and the policeman found dead in Pierre Dufresne's house is someone connected with the household. But he has no case until he can identify the stranger and prove how the murderer escaped without leaving tracks in the snow. Harper and Lafferty are eating luncheon in the Dufresne house.

Chapter 35
MRS. CROYDEN

"This luncheon is Mrs. Croyden's kindness, not Dufresne's," Harper explained.

Lafferty put down his empty cup and looked at his companion meaningly. "Well, Mrs. Croyden may be very gracious and I'll go bail that she's certainly not hard to look at, but Bob Johnson told me that she leads her husband a merry chase. And come to think of it, Croyden does have a sort of pained and worried expression. That's what comes of marrying money. When two persons marry, there should only be one bankroll and that should be in the pants' pocket."

Harper frowned. "Jack, you sound like an old gossip at a tea fight. Mrs. Croyden is the only one in this house who has shown us any cooperation at all. If she hadn't acted as a buffer, we'd probably have come to an open breach with Dufresne before this."

"O.K." said Lafferty, with an impish twinkle in his eye. "I was only passing on what was told to me. I forgot you have a soft spot for the ladies of the house."

Luncheon over, they lingered at the table, smoking and talking over the amazing feat of the murderer in escaping from the house without leaving a mark in the snow. It was a problem that gnawed and bit at Harper's mind, presenting a bold challenge to his wits and ingenuity. While they were still at it, Mrs. Croyden appeared in the doorway.

"Oh, I'm sorry," she said quickly, as both men rose to their feet. "I had no intention of interrupting you."

"Not at all, Mrs. Croyden," Harper rejoined. "We finished some time ago. Thank you for your kindness. We enjoyed the luncheon very much."

As Mrs. Croyden graciously disavowed the necessity for their thanks, Lafferty left the breakfast-room. Mrs. Croyden advanced into the room, glancing about curiously. "How is the case progressing?" she inquired.

Harper shrugged. "Slowly, perhaps," he confessed, "but that's the order of nature."

The bright hair of the lady shone with a rich golden gleam as she crossed the bright shaft of winter sunlight coming through the win-

COLBY SCORES ROOSEVELT

AYS ADMINISTRATION WINCES AT THE NAME OF "DEMOCRAT"

PORTLAND, Sept. 7 (AP)—Declaring that the Roosevelt administration winces at the party name of Democrat, Bainbridge Colby last night asserted "the overturn of our institutions, including the Constitution, is the avowed goal" of the President's immediate advisers.

In a caustic criticism of the administration, the former Democratic secretary of state told a meeting called by the American Coalition of Patriotic Societies that submission, not freedom, is to be the future badge of the United States."

Fears Regimentation

"Imposed regimentation," he said, is to take the place of American ingenuity and enterprise. Bureaucratic control, even of our going out and coming in, is to weigh down the land once known as the land of the free.

"Collective farming, state operation of factories, and gradually the entire Soviet concept of a regimented life, are to be set upon our soil.

"Of course, such a program on the part of the administration spells the end of the United States of America. The name may survive, but it will no longer describe the country of Washington and Jefferson and Madison and Franklin; the country of Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt; of Cleveland and Woodrow Wilson."

To "save our beloved country from the enemies which are within the gates," Colby said the American people must turn to the congressional election, and declared:

Urges True Congress

"Congress is democracy's arena, under the Constitution. The elected representatives of the people are the spokesmen of Democracy in America.

"But when I say congress, I mean a true congress a self-respecting congress not a rubber-stamp congress such as congress proved itself the last session. . . ."

Colby told the rally—called by the patriotic societies coalition in the interest of congressional candidates—that voters in the fall elections must rout the foes of freedom."

"The president and his administration, Colby said, have repudiated the platform on which he was elected.

RELIEF DEBATE

the governor on Allred's inauguration. He offered a second amendment to allow the governor, lieutenant governor and attorney general each to name one member with Allred to select all three on his inauguration.

Debate was started on a subcommittee amendment to vest the power of appointment in the bond sales commission, composed of Allred, George H. Sheppard, state comptroller, and Charley Lockhart, state treasurer.

Middle Ground Sought

Effort to strike a middle ground and avert a bitter fight over the appointive power was made by Representative Harry N. Graves of Georgetown. His amendment would turn relief administration over to the state board of control, two members of which were appointed by anti-Ferguson governors and one by the present chief executive.

Representative J. L. Goodman of Franklin, who had prepared an amendment to permit the governor, attorney general and comptroller each make one appointment withdrew his proposition in favor of Hope's. Goodman said he did not believe the governor should be denied of a voice in relief affairs the close of her administration. Governor Ferguson has one appointee on the existing nine-member, part time board and is ex-officio chairman without a vote. The lieutenant governor and speaker of the house each selected three members while two were named in the statute setting up the board.

Outlook Confusing

Refusal of the house to vote for issuance at this time of more than $5,000,000 in state bonds to aid the needy cast confusion into the winter relief outlook.

The house, fearful that relief funds would be speedily exhausted, refused to approve sale of $9,500,000 securities, all that remains from an authorized issue of $20,000,000.

"Save For Future"

Decision to withhold $3,500,000 the securities came after members asserted the relief commission would spend all the money that was voted it regardless of the amount before the first of the year and that then no funds would be available to carry on through the rigorous months of January and February. They proposed that the regular session in January issue the $3,500,000.

Pleas of administration leaders aid of members from areas hard hit by drouth and the depression went unheeded. Governor Miriam Ferguson strongly urged the legislature to issue all the bonds. Her plea was fortified by an estimate of the Texas Relief commission showing anticipated winter relief requirements of $44,000,000 with only $9,000,000 in sight.

Protests Reported

Relief commission officials reported a flood of protests against present relief budgets from all parts of the state. Scores of letters are received daily stating allotments are insufficient to prevent hunger. The need for speed in enactment of a bond bill has been emphasized by the relief commission director. The last of available funds has been committed to counties. It was expected to provide relief until September 15 and counties have been advised no more appropriations will be forthcoming until the legislature acts or the federal government comes to the rescue.

Although the house voted to issue only $6,000,000 in bonds, the final figure agreed upon by a house and senate conference committees may be materially higher. A bloc fighting for the maximum allotment appeared confident $9,500,000 finally would be voted.

DAILY MARKETS

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 7 (AP)—Cotton had a quiet opening today and as Liverpool came in about as due and traders were indisposed to enter upon new commitments on the eve of the bureau report, first trades showed no change from yesterday's close.

Prices eased off slightly after the start with December at 13.30 and March at 13.39, or two points below the previous close. The slight drop was attributed to some hedge selling.

The bureau report forecasting the crop based on Sept. 1 conditions will be issued at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning which will be at the close of the market.

The market ruled very quiet all morning and prices fluctuated somewhat aimlessly within a narrow range.

After dropping to levels 3 to 4 points below yesterday's clise during the early part of the morning, the market rallied 6 to 7 points later on pre-bureau shorts covering. October traded up to 13.25, December to 13.35 and March to 13.43, or 2 to 3 points above yesterday's lose.

Near mid-session, prices eased off 2 to 3 points, practically back to yesterday's close.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, unchanged to 2 points advance on steady Liverpool cables and commission house and foreign buying. Oct. 13.21; Dec. 13.34; Jan. 13.38; March 13.44; May 13.52; July 13.57.

Business was moderately active at the start. Southern selling was light and there was a fair demand from Wall Street and scattering sources as well as some buying for continental account. This was supplied at about the initial levels, however, and prices eased off right after the call under realizing or liquidation which probably included further evening up for over tomorrow's government crop report.

December reacted from 13.34 to 13.27 but was holding fairly steady around 13.30 at the end of the first hour when active months were a point or two under yesterday's closing quotations.

Another private crop report was issued placing the condition of the crop at 52.8 and the indicated outrun at 9,035,000.

Trading was quiet later in the morning and fluctuations were irregular within a narrow range. Much of the business was attributed to evening up in preparation for tomorrow's crop figures, but there was very little pressure against the market and prices held fairly steady. At midday December was selling around 13.32 and May 13.50 with active months about net unchanged to 2 points lower.

Grain Market

FORT WORTH MARKET

FORT WORTH, Sept. 7 (AP) — Wheat was in keen demand here today with values further reflecting the advance in contract markets. Estimated receipts included: wheat 13 cars; oats 1 and sorghums 1.

Prices quoted:

Delivered Texas gulf ports, export rate, or Texas common points. Wheat No. 1 hard 118 1-4 to 119 3-4. Barley No. 2 nominally 85 to 90; No. 3 nominally 83 to 86. Sorghums No. 2 milo per 100 pounds nominally 183 to 185; No. 3 milo nominally 181 to 183. No. 2 kafir nominally 173 to 175; No. 3 kafir nominally 171 to 173.

Delivered Texas common points or group three: Corn No. 2 white 104 1-4 to 105 1-4; No. 2 yellow 100 3-4 to 101 3-4. Oats No. 2 red 61 1-2 to 62 1-2; No. 3 red 60 1-2 to 61 1-2.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Sept. 7 (AP)—Late advances of wheat values today followed announcement that No. 1 northern spring wheat in Chicago had been purchased at 10 cents a bushel spot cash higher than September delivery contracts.

It was also shown that talk of United States imports of Argentine wheat was apparently without any good basis. Delivered at Buffalo, duty paid, Argentine wheat would be considerably higher than domestic wheat of better quality.

Wheat closed firm 3-4 to 1 1-8 over yesterday's finish, Dec. new 107 5-8 to 3-4, corn unchanged to 1-2 higher, Dec. new 80 1-4 to 3-8, oats 1-4 to 5-8 up, and provisions unchanged to 5 cents down.

Wheat No. 2 red 1.07; No. 5 red tough and garlicky 98 1-2; No. 1 hard 1.13 1-4; No. 1 northern spring 1.15 3-4; No. 2 mixed 1.07 1-2; corn No. 2 mixed 81 1-2; No. 1 yellow 81 1-2; No. 2 yellow 81 1-2; No. 1 white 85; oats, No. 2 white 57-58; No. 3 white 5-58; no rye.

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 7 (AP)—Judge Harry L. Howard held here yesterday that divorce decrees obtained by Texans in Mexican courts are void unless the seeker had established a marital domicile in the southern republic.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—Financial markets were somewhat fretful today and irregular price movements characterized the trading in most categories.

Stocks steadied in the early dealings although the metals, which led yesterday's relapse, failed to get back any previous losses. After the noon hour equities again pointed downward and the activity expanded on the dipping movement. The rails were fairly resistant. Just how much of a market factor current labor troubles were proving was conjectural.

Grains were mixed, with the general tendency lower as some traders voiced fears of Argentine wheat imports. Cotton was hesitant. U. S. government securities were a bit ragged after extending their rally moderately in the morning. Corporation bonds were easier. The dollar was fairly firm in terms of leading foreign exchanges.

Shares of Homestake Mining were off about 15 points on a few transactions and U. S. Smelting, relatively active showed a further loss of more than 3 points. The utilities and oils were quiet.

TEXTILE STRIKE

affect from 125,000 to 175,000 workers.

After the garment strike had been authorized, the executive board of the International Ladies Garment Workers union took action to provide financial assistance to the textile strikers and officials said approximately $25,000 would be spent. In addition the board authorized appeals among affiliated organizations to raise $75,000 for aid to the textile strikers.

National guardsmen continued on duty in North and South Carolina today as fresh picketing attempts were planned. Every unit was on duty in South Carolina and 11 companies were mobilized in North Carolina.

Governor Blackwood's assertion he was considering declaring certain parts of the state in insurrection followed an announcement by Mayor John Mauldin of Greenville that he had urged such action because of the tense situation there.

The New England area, which yesterday saw picketing expeditions resulting in the closing of more mills, was comparatively quiet, although the ranks of the strikers had been swelled in Rhode Island, Massachusetts and Connecticut.

Conflicting views of the situation from the employers' viewpoint were expressed last night. George A. Sloan, president of the Cotton Textile institute, said "the situation is decidedly better than last night" and "the tide is turning." On the other hand, Arthur G. Besse, spokesman for the woolen textile manufacturers, asserted the strike was "far more serious" than the previous day and said the number of mills closing had been "tremendous."

Peace Hopes Dashed

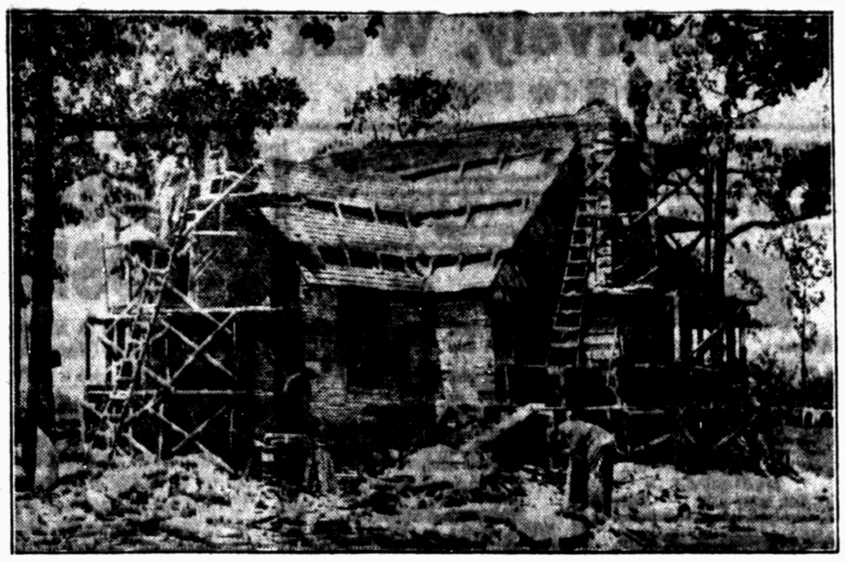

Any hope that President Roosevelt's inquiry board would be able to start arbitration proceedings was dashed by Gorman who declared that if an arbitration proposal is made "we shall agree to it only after we have closed all mills in all divisions of the industry."

"The president has named a board," he added, "which has power to investigate, mediate and arbitrate, but it can arbitrate only when the parties seek arbitration.

"Up to this moment we have seen no signs of abandonment by management of its imperious and arbitrary character."

Gorman said additional strike calls would be issued today, possibly including drapery workers.

Homesteaders Build Own Homes In Tennessee

Typical of the houses being constructed by former miners and lumbermen for their own occupation under direction of the subsistence homesteads division of the department of the interior is this house, being built near Crossville, Tenn. The homesteaders pay the government, on a long-term contract, the purchase price of the house. (Associated Press Photo).

Three Indicted In Levelland Robbery

Indictments of armed robbery of the Levelland bank against Chester Branch, J. C. Smith, and Buck Smith were returned by a grand jury that completed its work Wednesday, District Attorney Daniel A. Blair said.

The defendants probably will be tried during the week starting Sept. 17, Blair said. Six indictments were returned by a 72nd district court grand jury.

Lubbock county's 99th district court grand jury will be impaneled Monday. About 50 cases are to be investigated.

An official survey has shown the average wage of a farm hand in North Carolina is $14.25 per month.

Murder at MOCKING HOUSE

BY WALTER C. BROWN

dows. She glanced curiously at the photographs scattered across Harper's table.

The detective noted her interest and held out several for her inspection. "Those are the fingerprints of our unnamed victim," he explained, "taken from the liquor glass found on the table. They're greatly enlarged, of course. Here are the ones taken from his gun—not quite as clear, you will notice."

"But how do you tell one from the other?" Mrs. Croyden asked. "Why, the world must be literally covered with fingerprints!"

"No, for not all substances or surfaces will retain a print," he explained. "A smooth, hard, polished surface, like a mirror, or a table top, or polished metal, makes the ideal contact. Let me show you how it's done."

Harper went to the luncheon table and carefully lifted the goblet of water that stood by his plate. "You see this? To the casual eye it is clear, unmarked glass."

The detective took the insufflator and sprayed the body of the goblet with a dark powder. When it was sufficiently coated he tapped the rim evenly with the dull edge of a knife. The looser grains of fine powder fell and the remaining ones settled more firmly in place. Harper held it at eye level against the light, where three prints of Andrews' fingers were plainly revealed.

Mrs. Croyden stood by the detective's shoulder and looked at the glass. "That's very mysterious, and rather terrifying," she murmured. "But were there any strange fingerprints in this room, besides those of —that man?"

"Not one, I am sorry to say. Other signs of this visit, yes, but no fingerprints."

The lady turned to him with serious mein. "Mr. Harper," she said earnestly, "are you sure that your deductions are correct? Are you positively, absolutely certain there was a third person in this house last night? Otherwise you have made a very serious charge. This is a terrible thing that some taken us—the suspicion that some one in this house is a murderer. Just these few hours has made such a frightful change in every one. I don't pretend to understand police affairs and this one seems hopelessly complicated. It is so far from our custom of every day living that we all feel there must be some error."

Harper heard the emotional catch in her voice and lowered his gaze from the lifted glass to meet her wide-eyed scrutiny. "Mrs. Croyden," he replied in a voice equally grave, "there is now no room for doubt. We are always loath to believe that any person within our own circle could deliberately take human life. We run against the feeling in every case. But it happens. Last year there were nearly five hundred homicide cases in New York City alone. According to the law of averages, out of every hundred thousand persons now alive about a dozen will die within the next twelve months—murdered!".

The clear, wide eyes clouded. "Please!" she cried. "I hate such statistics. They are so sordid and hopeless. Is there any real hope of a solution, or are we all to go about under a stigma the rest of our lives? This worthless criminal who came into this house to die has more power to harm us now than when he was alive and threatening only one!"

Here was the same wild plea voiced again, even as Dufresne had blazed forth. "Yes, I have been told before that this unknown man's life was worthless, depraved and criminal," Harper countered drily, "and I have also been told that he is an absolute stranger to every one in this house. I find the two statements inconsistent."

Aline Croyden turned pale, and her hands clenched as she took a step backwards. Fright and terror stared out of her eyes with the realization of the detective's warning. "We have no fear of what you imply," she declared, "if the facts are dealt with honestly and I trust you to do that."

"Thank you," he returned gravely, and looked again at the dark smudges on the goblet, using his magnifying lens through force of habit. That thumb mark, with its double ridge breaking across the central whorl—that was familiar, surely? Then the answer flashed into his mind and such a startled look came over his face that Mrs. Croyden stared from his transformed features to the goblet and back again.

"What is it, Mr. Harper?" she breathed.

The detective flashed her a look as if he had entirely forgotten her presence. "Just a small point, but a curious one," he replied guardedly, placing the goblet far back on his work-table.

"Now Mrs. Croyden, I'd like to ask a few questions, if I may. Will you sit down?"

"First to make our records complete, will you please tell me how you and Mr. Croyden spent last evening, say from six o'clock on? We are required you know, not to exempt any one in a case like this."

"Well, I think you will be quite satisfied with our alibi. It consists of about two thousand witnesses. Last evening Mr. Croyden and Hugo Palese, the 'cellist, gave a joint recital at Orpheus Hall.

"We had dinner at the Savoy, rather early, as there had been a last-minute substitution in the program and Richard wanted a little extra time for rehearsal. The concert began at 8:45 and was over about 10:30. We had just reached home and Mr. Croyden was foraging in the refrigerator for a late snack when Mr. Dufresne's call came through.

"Our house is just around the corner, you know, on Cypress Lane. In fact, you can see a corner of the back of it from these very windows."

As Mrs. Croyden raised her arm to indicate the position of the house, the sunlight struck points of fire from an unusually beautiful ring she wore on the same finger with her wedding ring. catching and flashing back the brilliance of two exceptionally fine diamonds, a pure blue-white and a canary stone, both perfectly cut and matched and set diagonally.

The detective returned to his questions. "You were in the audience, of course? In a box seat?"

"Oh, no. That would be the worst possible place to sit. I always choose an aisle seat on the lower floor."

"Do you always attend your husband's recitals, Mrs. Croyden?"

"Of course. I never have missed one. Even when he goes on tour I travel with him."

Souvenir-Hunter?

AMBRIDGE, Pa. — Captain William Pollock, pilot of an Ohio river excursion steamer, believes it isn't safe to leave anything lying around.

He reported to police that someone stole his pilot's license, frame and all, from the cabin of his ship. It has no value to anyone but himself.

Singer Silenced

$1 Not Enough

PHILADELPHIA — Charles W. Clemens, building contractor, told the United States District court he has exactly one dollar with which to pay debts of $1,137,064.

The dollar, his voluntary petition in bankruptcy explains, is the value of a single share of stock in Charles W. Clemens, Inc.
