Unemployment Rate Stable Through January

WASHINGTON (AP) — While the economy shows signs of staggering under the weight of persistently high interest rates, the nation's unemployment rate remained surprisingly stable in January.

The Labor Department reported today that last month's jobless rate stood at 7.4 percent overall, the same as in December, and "little different" from the level that has prevailed since May.

About 7.8 million Americans were out of work in January, the department said. In contrast, 97.7 million people were employed last month, an increase of more than 400,000.

"The gloom and doom predictions have been with us for a while, but so far they haven't materialized," said Sar Levitan, a labor economist.

January's stability is all the more impressive because the number of people entering the workforce increased by 475,000 last month, the first sizable increase since July. Most of this gain occurred among women, whose participation in the labor force now stands at an all-time high of nearly 52 percent.

In contrast, however, employment among adult men and teenagers was virtually unchanged in January and still was 150,000 and 500,000, respectively, below the levels of one year ago.

Industry employment, which had suffered heavily during last spring's recession, rose by nearly 400,000 in January and over the last three months has advanced at a monthly average of about 250,000. "Between December and January, large employment reductions usually occur," the Labor Department noted.

In addction, average weekly earnings, after seasonal adjustment, rose 1.4 percent in January, a larger than usual increase that reflects the 25-cent increase in the minimum wage to $3.35 an hour.

Reagan Tells Nation...

Economy In Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, summoning Congress to approve without delay his drastic anti-government remedy for an economy in crisis, is finding lawmakers willing to cooperate but already promising to change a program they have yet to see.

Growing government has allowed the economy to veer out of control, Reagan told the nation Thursday night. Now, he insisted, government must "chart a different course" of swift and stern cuts in spending, taxes and regulation.

Declaring the economy is in the "worst...mess since the Great Depression," the president implored a Congress accustomed to slow deliberation to act now.

"We've stalled the judgment day...We're out of time," Reagan declared in his first nationally broadcast address from the Oval Office.

The speech avoided specific solutions. Details will be delivered to Congress on Feb. 18, the president promised.

Congressmen from both political parties said they were moved by Reagan's dramatic description of the economy's problems and the need for immediate and strong steps.

Tower Going To Europe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Tower, the new chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, is scheduled to travel to nine European and Middle Eastern countries on a 17-day tour that starts today.

Aides described the Texas Republican's trip as a "fact-finding mission" to learn about NATO defense capabilities and Middle Eastern security and stability.

The itinerary called for stops in the United Kingdom, Greece, Turkey, Israel, Egypt, Saudi Arabia, Oman, Tunisia and West Germany.

Two staff members from the armed services committee and one military escort were scheduled to accompany the senator.

Tower became armed services committee chairman last month at the start of the new congressional session.

TESCO Scraps Solar Project

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Electricity from a proposed solar-powered generator in West Texas would cost four or five times as much as electricity generated with fossil fuels because of mammoth construction costs, utility officials have said.

Bill Marquardt, president of Texas Electric Service Co., said a federally financed study shows it would cost $176 million to convert one of TESCO's natural gas-fired plants near Monahans to solar power. The new unit would have produced 50,000 kilowatts at peak output — about 45 percent of current capacity — would would have saved only $104 million in gas during the next 30 years, even counting inflation, he said.

Garwood Awaits Sentence

CAMP LEJEUNE, N.C. (AP) — Marine Pfc. Robert Garwood, who said last summer that "an American prison is better than a Vietnamese one" today faces the possibility of life imprisonment for collaborating with the enemy during his years in a prisoner of war camp.

His lawyers will be trying to whittle down the sentence.

Garwood, 34, blinked back tears but otherwise was composed as the verdict was read Thursday afternoon. He was found innocent on a charge of maltreatment, but guilty on a lesser charge of assaulting a fellow American prisoner.

The Indiana native, whose attorneys had tried to establish mental illness, made no comment as he was led away.

BATTLE INSIDE – Western Texas' Shari Teal (51) battles inside with 6-3 Howard College opponent Kelly Lyons during WJCAC action here last night. The Dusters defeated the nationally ranked Queens 68-62 as Teal stuck up eight overtime points. The sophomore from New Deal scored 28 points and had 23 rebounds on the night. Lyons led the Queens with 34 points. See related article, page 10.

'Trailhands' Named At Western Texas College

Lynda Cain of Coral Springs, Fla., and Wesley Kruger of Hermleigh were introduced as the Western Texas College Trailhands for 1981 at half-time of the WTC Westerner-Howard College basketball game Thursday night in the Scurry County Coliseum.

Trailhands are elected by students at the college each year in a contest sponsored by Phi Theta Kappa, a national honor society in two-year colleges. Proceeds go toward chapter projects.

Other nominees were Stella Bickley of Robert Lee, Angie Thane of Snyder, Gina Willman of Roscoe, Cindy Maddox of Canyon, Chuck North of West Covina, Calif., Chris Johnson of Seminole, Chris Welch of Midland, and Gary Ray of Borger.

Miss Cain, a sophomore journalism major, is editor of the WTC yearbook, The Trailblazer, and assistant editor of the campus newspaper, The Western Texan. She serves as secretary of the student senate, is vice president of the WTC Press Club, and is a cheerleader. She plans to continue her education at North Texas State University.

Kruger, a sophomore pre-law major, plans to transfer to the University of Texas at Austin for the 1981 fall semester. He was named Outstanding State Government Student in the 1980 spring recognition program at WTC and has received a social sciences scholarship to WTC.

Both Miss Cain and Kruger are members of Phi Theta Kappa and were selected for Who's Who in American Junior Colleges for 1980-81.

School Pupils Given Dental Health Checks

National Dental Health Week was recognized this week when over 2000 elementary school children in the Snyder Schools received dental health checks given by Snyder dentists.

The annual dental survey is a cooperative effort in which local dentists volunteer their services thereby assisting the Snyder Schools in implementing good health instruction in the classroom.

Snyder dentists participating in this year's survey were Drs. John Best, Robert Hargrove, David Hensley, W. Jay Kidd, John Hamblen, Judith Dunham and Michael Dunham.

Mrs. Bobbie Box, Student Development Coordinator, Snyder Schools, was responsible for coordinating this effort. Mrs. Reba Erwin and Mrs. Nell Spence, school nurses, and other school staff also assisted in these activities.

Snyder Public Schools encourage good dental health practices through the use of special instructional programs designed for students in kindergarten, first and third grades.

The Tattle Tooth program, a state validated program, is used in kindergarten and first grade. It is sponsored by the Region IV Texas Dept. of Human Resources and the Texas Education Agency.

The third grade program instructional materials are provided each year by the Crest Toothpaste Company. Dental health is taught in all other grade levels through use of basal health series.

Deputy Stable After Beating

GRANBURY, Texas (AP) — A Hood County deputy is in stable condition with a possible skull fracture after being beaten and shot at when he stopped to help a man who appeared to have car trouble.

Deputy Gerald Leon, 23, was taken to Hood General Hospital for treatment of a possible skull fracture and a concussion. A hospital spokeswoman said he was in stable condition Thursday night.

Keeping tab on our neighbors:

The return of the hostages from Iran has attracted more attention than any other event in this country in recent months, so much in fact, that some people feel that reaction was overplayed. But it was indeed a big event, and members of the press have not only "covered" it, but also commented on it.

Lynn Brisendine of the Brownfield News saw the celebration as "one of unity, a nation as a whole, throwing off the weight of a great burden that has had all of us under its grip. The former hostages are important as individuals, but they have become more than that. They have become a new rallying cry for millions of Americans; they have become a thing of use for a nation that has felt guilty and humbled too long."

Walter Buckel of the Lamesa Press- Reporter says, "This country needed to line the parade route and cry unashamedly over being an American! They needed to wave flags, tie yellow ribbons, and salute---and weep over their happiness....I believe the events of that last two weeks---the inauguration of the president, the hostages' return, the outpouring of love and affection shown toward them was one of history's greatest moments for our nation.

"Where else but in America could you watch the events of Mr. Carter in the final hours of his presidency striving to get the prisoners home---the smooth transition of governmental power, the goodwill of both parties focused in on one goal and then the culmination of negotiations with the ex-president going to Europe to meet them?

"For once, a nation forgot whether it was republican or democratic, independent or anything else."

We felt that the most significant factor in the entire drama was that all of the hostages got back to America alive, and in most cases, well.

Noting that the rush is on to smaller cars, Orlin Brewer of the Vernon Record says that "trying to save gasoline and trying to save lives at the same time, however, offers a tough assignment."

Reagan Turns Seventy Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ronald Reagan, the oldest man ever to become president, today is celebrating his 70th birthday — or as he puts it, "the 31st anniversary of my 39th birthday."

More than 100 people, including such long-time California friends as Jimmy Stewart, are expected at Reagan's birthday party tonight at the White House.

soviet enterprise

Soviet minds are changing on the subject of agriculture.

Plagued by continuing poor harvests as well as the American embargo, the Kremlin's masterminds are moving to increase production by giving the producers more incentive to do so.

A new decree from Moscow, according to a Wall Street Journal report, spells out measures to be taken to this effect and in several respects they amount to a right face from orthodox Marxist practice toward private enterprise. Small private plots have long been the practice on the huge collective farms, but for the first time they are being officially encouraged. Farmers may now, for example, obtain loans from state banks to purchase their own livestock and equipment.

There are serious obstacles to implementing this or any new agricultural policy in the Soviet Union, such as a run of bad weather, shortages of farm machinery and fertilizer and bureaucratic resistance to change in the production and marketing structure.

But there should be no question of the potential effectiveness. The answer is already available in the statistics.

According to well-educated estimates of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, private plots representing no more than 3 percent of cultivated land produce about a quarter of all Soviet farm products.

overkill in hair

Never underestimate the ability of science even to meet a genuine need.

In this case it is hair — or the lack of it by many individuals who had it, lost it and would like it back.

The remedy for baldness sought by so many for so long may just possibly be in sight, according to a wire report on research recently reported to the New England Journal of Medicine. A doctor studying the effects of a drug in use since 1979 for the treatment of severe high blood pressure reports that it can have the side effect of hirsutism.

That is, hair growth.

It is not, however, being rushed to the market and won't be until a number of problems are cleared up. Such as the drug's tendency to promote hair growth not only on scalps but upper lips, cheeks and foreheads.

That's the sort of result that could, among other disadvantages, cancel out whatever progress had been made with the blood pressure.

my turn

by john dunnam

Statisticians have said that if you turned 10,000 monkeys loose on 10,000 typewriters, in 10,000 years or so they would reproduce the works of Shakespeare, Hemingway, ect. Sometimes, I think television operates on the same premise.

Wedged somewhere in the half-hour upon half-hour of inane situation comedies is an effective joke or fresh approach. The problem is that you have to endure reams of George Jefferson's zebra jokes or listen to Flo tell someone to "Kiss my Grits" a thousand times before being served the slice of wit, which I'm convinced is produced quiet by accident anyway.

The old Tonight Show is a microcosm of televison in general and in the words of its host, Johnny Carson: "Its 10 minutes of humor, intelligent conversation and unrestrained talent crammed into an hour-and-a-half."

Perhaps like literature, it is only in retrospect that the jewels can be lifted above the junk. For the sake of posterity, I take note of some of the best moments of the best shows.

I knew "WKRP in Cincinnati" was going to be a departure from the norm right away by not being set in New York or Los Angeles, which are about the only two cities in the U.S., if you used TV for a map.

My favorite episode was when Johnny Fever, the morning jock, made a blunder on the air and from then on froze up every time he tried to talk into the microphone. He thought he was washed up in radio and was drowning his troubles in a bar as his friends came by to restore his confidence.

Venus Flytrap, the black deejay, came by first.

Fever confesses to nightmares of being reduced to spinning records in a disco joint as Venus gently tries to convince him he still has it. Meanwhile, some big lug challenges Fever to a game of pinball for a quarter. Fever declines. Venus scoffs at the offer and asks why don't they go big time and play for 50 cents. Fever agrees if Venus will stake him. As the man takes his turn at the machine, Fever explains that in this bar a quarter means $25 and 50 cents means $50. This puts Venus into a state of silent shock.

Travis, Fever's supervisor, enters the bar and begins working on Fever to come back. Since Travis is a rational sort of fellow, he doesn't always have much rapport with the zany deejays and after losing a couple of rounds with the be reasonable approach, he beseeches Venus to help him save Fever from throwing his career away. Venus snaps out of his trance, starts to say something and then grabs Fever by the shoulders, and says: "Tell me Fever, just how well do you play pinball?"

Finally, they convince Fever to return to the station to take his turn on the air. It coincides with Fever's turn at the pinball machine. Venus casually asks Travis if he will pay the man his 50 cents while he escorts the wavering Fever to his post.

Travis fishes some change out of his pocket and hands it to the hulk and makes his way toward the door. As he is yanked back for the inevitable mauling, the scene switches to the radio station. No violence on this show, just understated humor.

The most satisfying scene I ever saw came in the middle of an otherwise blase Charles Bronson movie. The flick had shown at the movies before television, I suppose, but it still qualifies because TV has a way of cutting movies at just the right places to destroy their grandeur before putting them on the tube. In this particular one, Bronson is an ex-military man whose only ambition is to lead the settled life of a watermelon farmer. He somehow gets crossways with the law who agrees to let him off, if he will take on the mob who is trying to move in on the melon hauling business.

Plot sounds dumb I know, but it worked. Anyway, he is setting in a restaurant eating, when the bad guy of the movie, a thoroughly despicable character whom Bronson has already raked over the coals once or twice, comes in. The bad guy begins telling Bronson all the terrible things he is going to do to him and how he is going to enjoy watching him die. Unperturbed, Bronson continues eating, occasionally gazing accross the table through those inscrutable dark eyes, that are mere slits in a face that looks to be the veteran of a thousand brawls. The harassment continues until finally, Bronson is through eating, smiles at the man and as he leaves the table, buries his fist in the man's stomach. Bronson looks down and says, as the man writhes in agony, "Oh did I hurt you? Why don't you call a cop?"

The most ridiculous situation I ever saw on TV was when Mike and Gloria on All In The Family had a fight and she left him.

As the meathead stuffs his face at supper, he tells Archie, "I'm through with her Arch, I mean it, I don't care if she never comes back." The look on Archie's face is pure gold.

Leave it to Hee Haw to spring the funniest moment televison can hope for anytime soon. That show has a knack of taking the oldest, and corniest jokes that weren't very funny to begin with and making you laugh at them.

In this situation, Goober was brought before the judge (also the barber) for robbery.

"Young man, I'm told that you took two dollars from an old lady and that you knew she only had two dollars when you took it. How do you plead.?"

"Guilty, your honor."

"Why would you do such a thing?"

Well judge, two dollars here, two dollars there...it adds up."

The Israelites were forbidden to breed mules, but some of those animals were imported. Ezra's company brought 245 from Babylon (Ezra 2:66). Absolom was riding a mule when his head caught in the tree (II Sam. 18:9). David and other kings rode mules.

at wit's end

by erma bombeck

All of you know there is no one in this wide world who has more affection for her children than I do.

I also have affection for Miss Piggy, but I don't want to pick up her wet towels off the bed for the next 30 years.

Parents of grown children tell me their children don't need door keys anymore... they need a revolving door. They're in when they're out of work, out of money, out of socks, out of food and in debt.

They're out when they're in love, in the bucks, in transit, in school and have outgrown their need for milk.

When I launched all my children I rewarded myself with a celery green carpet in the spare bedroom. It was my Olympic Gold Medal, my Oscar, my Emmy, my Readers Digest Sweeptstakes. I had done it and this was my reward.

Three months later, one of my children moved back with, among other things, a set of drums that leaked oil. My celery green carpet looked like a leftover.

When he left we had it cleaned and began again. The next prodigal son brought a dog that had a sofa wish, a car that was not garage trained and leaked oil all over it when it stopped and used towels like they were nose tissue that popped up automatically in a box to be disposed of.

The next one to return let me use my own phone but kept hours like a fireman.

One night my husband and I sat down and tried to figure out what the attraction of living at home is – other than free laundry, free rent, free toiletries, security, love, a permanent address for mail, unilimited storage, financing and loans, convention rooms for private parties and entertaining, and guest privileges. I snapped my fingers. "I've got it! It's the refrigerator that beckons and calls them home. Without it, nothing else would keep them here.

We decided to stop treating the kids as guests and go back to eating the way we wanted to eat. We stocked the refrigerator with cottage cheese, fresh garden vegetables, plain yogurt, unsalted butter and blue milk. We bought bran cereal, wheat germ, dietary fruit and did away with the sugar bowl!

As the last one left we heard him mumble, "I'm going anywhere, just so long as they don't refrigerate their bread!"

We haven't seen them since.

NEW YORK (AP) — If you want to know where interest rates are headed right now, don't look for some kind of consensus judgment from the experts.

Some say it won't be long before rates resume their decline of December, which nudged the prime rate charged by banks down from a record 21½ percent to 20.

Others warn that the widely heralded "peak" of a month or so ago may have been just a way station on the road to even higher levels.

In other words, confusion abounds.

"There are no benchmarks any more by which we can judge how high interest rates can go," said Henry Kaufman, the well-known economist at the investment banking firm of Salomon Brothers, in a recent television appearance.

But whether the prime rate is headed for 15 percent or 25 percent, almost everyone agrees that rates will remain at historically high levels for some time to come.

Thus, just as individuals and businesses have had to learn to cope with persistent inflation, it is evident that they must adapt to living in a climate of high interest rates.

Some of the effects of sky-high rates are plain to see. Mortgages at 14 percent or 15 percent, or more, make housing a less appealing investment than it was for most of the 1970s.

Auto manufacturers have found that is hard to sell cars — whether they are small or large, fuel-efficient or not — when the cost of an auto loan is as high as it is right now.

Alert savers have been quick to find the best places to put their money in times of high rates. Assets of money market mutual funds, now yielding 16 percent to 19 percent, have climbed to new highs above $80 billion this month.

Less apparent perhaps, but just as important, are the subsurface economic forces, set in motion by high interest rates, that affect just about everyone.

For instance, there is the news from Pensions & Investment Age, a trade publication, that growth slowed last year in the assets of the nation's 1,000 largest pension, profit-sharing and other employee-benefit plans. The figures showed only an 11.9 percent rise last year, compared with an increase of more than 19 percent in 1979.

The apparent cause: Falling prices of bonds, in which many of the funds have invested heavily. When interest rates rise, prices of bonds are forced downward to keep their yields at prevailing levels.

Thus, in a roundabout but still very real way, high interest rates have cut into the retirement investments of millions of workers.

Still another subtle but pervasive result of high rates is the so-called "slow pay" effect. Seventy percent of business credit executives polled in early January said they had problems with slow-paying customers.

commentary

donald f. graff

So here we are at the end of the beginning.

The family photos and that jar of jellybeans are in place in the Oval Office. Inaugural festivities are no longer news, and we sould be hearing less of who is knocking them dead in what designer's gown and which are the really choice parties—the ones where Betsy and Bonita and the rest of the old California crowd show.

Well, we can always hope.

Most likely we will still be hearing now and then about progress in the redecorating of the White House, as the Jacqueline Kennedy purists react in horror to Nancy Reagan's concepts of California classic. But you can't have everything. And on the plus side, there should be less and less need on the part of journalists to refer to the acting past for a spot of color in the copy as readers get to know him simply as President Reagan.

On the other hand, you never know. Even some who should know much better can't quite get out of the act yet. Such as the New York Times' James Reston, who found the inaugural speech "a theatrical triumph" in an Inauguration Day script (bringing in the hostage release) "no brilliant Hollywood producer could have dared to imagine..."

But again, we can at least hope.

So now comes the big question: What next?

There was a great deal of post-election and pre-inauguration talk about the new administraion's intention to hit Washington running. What it came down to appears at this very early date to have been a transition operation so massively unwieldy that its participants kept running into each other.

President Reagan's first executive gesture was to freeze federal hiring, which was only to echo his predecessor. Jimmy Carter's freeze, which reduced the government's civilian employee total by some 45,000 in four years, was still in effect when he left office.

In fact, in other respects as well the new President Reagan has more in common with the new President Carter than might make him comfortable if he were inclined to give it much thought.

Reagan, like Carter, arrives in Washington short on programs ready to implement but long on intentions, some of them very similar to Carter's—controlling federal spending, shaping up the tax system, pruning the departmental jungle, liberating public and business from the regulators, reversing the flow of power and responsibilities from the states to Washington.

But that is not necessarily a bad thing. Let it be remembered that Jimmy Carter's trouble was not in how he started out but what came after, how he did or did not meet the challenges that he either had not initially fully understood or could not have anticipated

There has also been some talk about the Reagan election being an event of similar but mirror importance to that of Franklin Roosevelt, epochal in its political implications.

That will require some proving, for which we'll just have to wait. But here, too, let it be remembered that the New Deal did not burst fully developed upon Washington and the nation on Inauguration Day in 1933. The famous first 100 days were a period of furious improvisation with many changes of approach but never of purpose: to devise the programs to which the problems of the nation would respond.

Under the circumstances, it is just as well that the Reagan administration is not off to a running start. Problems always become more complicated when they are in your lap rather than on someone else's back. A quick fix all too often is only buying more trouble for the future.

The administration and the nation are likely to be better served in the long run by a walk at a steady pace, with a sure sense of direction and a clearly comprehended purpose.

Your Birthday

February 7, 1981

Your material prospects look encouraging for the months ahead, but you may not get everything you want on the first try. It's your second efforts which will turn out to be the big producers.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Business dealings with friends today may not turn out as well as you'd like, but commercial involvements with outsiders could prove to be quite profitable. Romance, travel, luck, resources, possible pitfalls and career for the coming months are all discussed in your Astro-Graph which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Because you will do what is right today rather than that which is most expedient, you'll win the respect of friends.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're very good at extricating yourself from sticky situations today. There are strong possibilities you'll have opportunities to apply your talents.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you aren't too willing to share with others today, don't be surprised if you receive the same treatment. When you give, you get.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You shine in situations today where you have to figure things out which befuddle others. They may not have the answers, but you will.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) There is much that you will find to criticize in friends today, but you'd be better off if you didn't. Overlook their frailties. Focus on their virtues.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) For a person who prefers a set routine, you are able to adjust surprinsgly well to sudden changes today which may frustrate others, but not you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Rectify promptly disagreements which may arise between you and your mate today. Misunderstandings can be smoothed out quickly if you're the first to say "I'm sorry."

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) It's not that you're self-seeking today. It's just that you're a more productive worker when you see an opportunity for a reward. Your motives are ethical.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Most situations you'll manage very well today, but you could get a little neglectful or careless when it comes to handling you own resources and possessions.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) A situation you are involved in which wasn't working out as well as you hoped could suddenly take a turn for the better today, owing to the efforts of someone new.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Being involved with active friends today will prove to be uplifting, especially if you're a trifle moody earlier in the day. Make a night of it.

The Twentieth Century Club, meeting in the home of Mrs. Weldon Key, had as their guest, Mr. Roy Allen Baze, speaker, and his wife. A full membership of 15 welcomed them.

"We are in a major energy transition in this country which will last 40 or 50 years," Mr. Baze said.

Mr. Baze, a retired senior vice-president for Exxon, has been actively involved for many years in all phases of the oil industry in all areas of the world.

He speaks with first hand knowledge when he says that the U.S. oil industry is the envy of the world and that it is the only one funded entirely by private enterprise.

The American people can and will get on with the job of resolving the energy crisis, said Mr. Baze, if they are given the facts and if they will accept the fact.

Some suggestions he made for immediate consideration are these:

1. We must recognize, believe, that we have a problem.

2. We have the resources to solve the problem. We have half the world's coal and vast areas of shale oil.

3. The need to press ahead on all fronts — synthetics, nuclear, solar and especially research.

4. We must have national resolve.

5. We need to conserve more.

Mrs. H.O. Beard, leader, called attention to the ongoing program begun in 1978 by the General Federation of Women's Clubs to emphasize the role of free enterprise in our economy. FREE chairman, Mrs. Clyde Key, cited the oil industry as an example of private enterprise accomplishment.

New Hair Looks Delicate, Natural

CHICAGO (AP) — Hemlines are inching up for spring, and so are hair lengths.

"Fall fashion's wide-shouldered T-shape is narrower, and clothing is more loosely structured. Hair will follow that silhouette with freer, fuller, shorter looks," says Victor Figueroa, New York-based member of the Helene Curtis Hairstylists Advisory Board.

The dozen board members, top professionals from across the nation, agree that the basic hair message for spring is short.

"Everyone has wanted smooth hair and straight page styles," says Peter Friedauer in Denver. "But when hair goes short, you need more volume or fullness. We'll see more height on the short hairstyles for spring."

Coloring techniques toe that subtle fashion line for spring. Last year, board members saw brighter, richer, more vibrant hair coloring for the future, to complement more colorful clothing looks. But this year, hair coloring is "very delicate" and close to natural shades, according to Gerald Haynes in Detroit.

"Hair color shouldn't confine a person to constant retouches," he explains, "so we're working with five or eight strands of hair at a time, adding several shades close to the natural hair color. That way, the hair doesn't look grown out at the scalp in a few weeks."

Daytime makeup colors are "clean, natural and 'tender'," says Judith Gordon, Chicago makeup expert. "It's classic makeup, with natural shades and very pale lips. The look is soft and pretty."

Short or long, wispy, spiky or curved, the hairstyling experts say they are coaxing the best out of natural hair looks, rather than designing startling creations.

"Nothing's freaky or wild this spring," says Jerry Gordon in Chicago. "There's a simplicity to the looks. We're trying to bring out the best of what's already there by enhancing the hair — it's like bringing out the fire in a diamond."

Opening lead: ♦4

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

In this hand from 1966 the bidding at almost every table started with one notrump, a Stayman two-club response, a bid of two spades or two hearts by opener and a raise to game by responder.

The hand illustrates the weakness of mirror distribution. North and South had 27 high-card points, a good four-four trump fit, the club finesse was on, all suits broke nicely, yet perfect defense would defeat either a spade or heart game.

Perfect defense didn't take place very often. Almost all declarers brought home game in whichever major suit they played the hand.

The bidding in the box occurred when the late Kenneth Konstamm of Great Britain held the South cards and elected to bid spades.

West opened the four of spades and dummy's queen held the trick.

Kenneth saw that he would have to take the club finesse some time or other and led the queen from dummy. East covered. Kenneth took his ace and led back to dummy's jack. Then he played a trump to his ace and started to run hearts. West refused to ruff in so after playing all the hearts, Konstamm threw him in with the king of trumps.

West had to lead either a club or diamond. The club would give declarer a ruff and discard, the diamond would give him a sure diamond trick.

Diesel Being Smuggled From Mexico By Boats

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — U.S. Customs officials have seized four shrimp boats and are holding nine Mexican nationals in connection with an effort to smuggle diesel fuel from Mexico.

Hank Posio, a customs investigator, said the two American and two Mexican vessels were spotted during routine patrols early Thursday at the Brownsville shrimp basin.

The Mexican crewmen were being detained aboard their boats but no charges were filed immediately, he said. Captains of the four vessels could not be located.

The Mexican boats, "Leo" and "Aris", were tied at the docks, where they were listed as in for repairs, he said. The American vessels, "Miss Myra" and "Miss Juanita," were tied to the Mexican boats.

"They began pumping diesel from the Mexican boats. It started about midnight and went on until 2 a.m.," Posio said.

Criminal charges in the case could include smuggling and importation of diesel fuel without a federal license. The maximum penalty is five years in prison and confiscation of the vessels, he said.

Agents could not tell how many gallons of diesel fuel were transferred from the Mexican boats, Posio said. However, he said a shrimp boat commonly will hold between 25,000 to 35,000 gallons.

Diesel fuel in Mexico costs 17 cents a gallon, compared to American prices of $1 or more, he said.

"It's kind of unusual," he said of the alleged smuggling by boat. "But with the shortage of fuel and the cost, it's not surprising."

Last year, customs agents arrested a man attempting to cross the international bridge here with a waterbed filled with diesel fuel in his pickup.

Rival Factions Rioting In Iran

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Up to 10,000 leftists demonstrating opposition to Iran's clergy-dominated government battled with Islamic fundamentalists in the streets of Tehran today and sources in the Iranian capital reported 30 people injured, some by gunfire.

Iranian police contacted by telephone from Beirut said there were "many" casualties, some suffering bullet wounds. One Tehran newspaper said 30 were injured in the fight that lasted more than three hours.

"Those who have been shot are now hospitalized," one officer said.

A policeman said one person was reported killed, but he was unable to confirm the report.

A Tehran hospital reported treating eight people for injuries and a hospital spokesman said one policeman was wounded by gunfire.

Police said between 7,000 and 10,000 members and supporters of the Marxist Fedayeen e Khalq organization gathered at Freedom Square on the western edge of Tehran in defiance of a government ban on demonstrations.

The leftists were confronted by supporters of the "Hezbollahi," or "God's Party," according to a spokesman for the Revolutionary Guards contacted by telephone from Beirut.

Hezbollahi is an organization of followers of hard-line Islamic clergy who support revolutionary leader Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini.

Tehran Radio reported that members of the Fedayeen organization staged a march "creating tension" in defiance of a ban on demonstrations issued Thursday.

A journalist on the newspaper Nizan, in a telephone conversation with The Associated Press in Nicosia, said about 30 persons were slightly injured.

Tehran Radio had little to say about the demonstration except that members of the Fedayeen organization had ignored a government ban on demonstrations.

Dear Abby

Daughter Scores Elegy For Unsung Parents

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1981 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Recently you ran a letter from a reader who sent you an "inspirational piece" titled, "Winning Against the Odds." You invited additions to the list of famous people who had succeeded in spite of adversity.

May I add two of whom you have never heard?

Take away his mother when he's 10 years old and put him to work in a coal mine for most of his life. Let him work in ice-cold water to his knees, or put him on his stomach digging out coal from deep inside a mountain, working hard to feed and clothe a wife and six children, and you have my father!

Put her outside before daylight, milking a cow so her little ones could have milk. (She had read in a doctor's manual what children need for good health.) Send her to a clothesline in freezing weather to hang clothes for a family of eight. Watch her apply ointment to cracked and bleeding hands. (She had no gloves.)

Stand near her rocking chair at night and watch her as she holds a baby and a story book, reading to her little brood, and you have my mother.

Then watch this loving couple grow old too soon and die painful deaths from "black lung" and cancer.

The world will never hear about this hero and heroine, but to me, they were the greatest.

MILDRED IN NASHVILLE

DEAR ABBY: AL IN OREGON has become my hero of the week. (He pointed out the error one makes in saying, "I could care less," when the expression should be, "I couldn't care less.")

Now, please take a firm stand against the currently popular abomination, "Hopefully."

It is appalling to hear an otherwise well-educated person say, "Hopefully, I'll finish the report tomorrow."

He should, of course, say, "I hope to finish the report tomorrow."

MARTHA, THE GRAMMARIAN

DEAR MARTHA: Right on. E.B. White, in "The Elements of Style," explains it this way:

"This once-useful adverb meaning 'with hope' has been distorted and is now widely used to mean 'I hope' or 'It is to be hoped.' Such use is not merely wrong, it is silly. To say, 'Hopefully I'll leave on the noon plane' is to talk nonsense. Do you mean you'll leave on the noon plane in a hopeful frame of mind? Or do you mean you'll leave on the noon plane? Whichever you mean, you haven't said it clearly."

Now I hope it's understood!

DEAR ABBY: The letter from BEEN THERE AND BACK prompts this response. BEEN THERE, who had spent two years in a mental institution and was frequently asked why, offered a terse response that always put off further questions: "Because I'm crazy."

A colleague of mine once worked in a mental hospital. While making the rounds, he would "test" the patient by asking, "Why are you here?" The response usually revealed the patient's degree of reality orientation.

One morning, the psychologist received a response that rocked him. "I'm here for the same reason you are, Doc. I couldn't make a go of it in the outside world."

Abby, it's obvious that not all who are in mental institutions are "crazy." Conversely, not all who are "crazy" are in mental institutions.

George, Paul, Ringo May Sing One For John

LONDON (AP) - The three surviving members of the Beatles are planning to record together again, the Sun newspaper reported Friday.

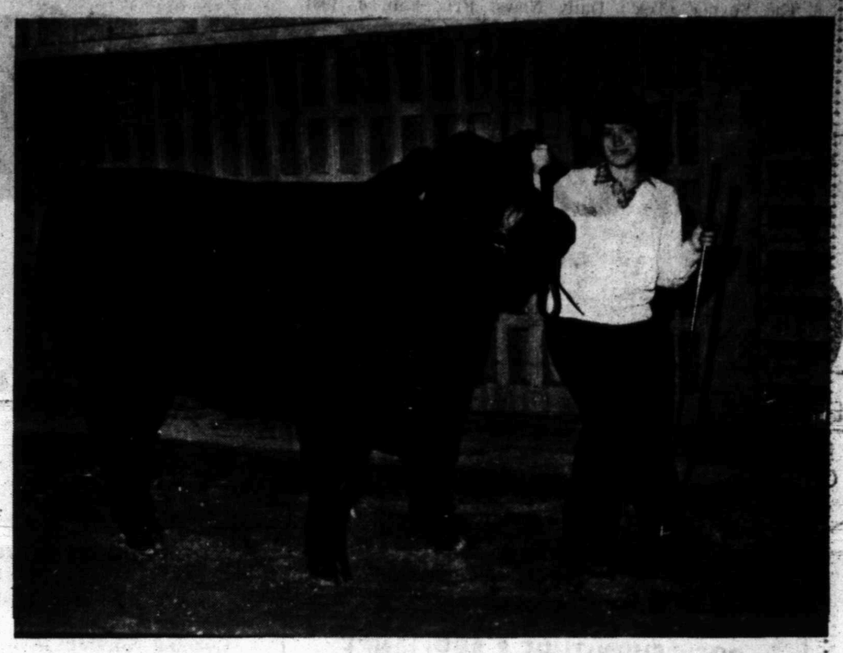

In a dispatch from New York, a late edition of the newspaper said the three — Paul McCartney, George Harrison and Ringo Starr — will make a record in tribute to John Lennon, who was shot down outside his New York City apartment Dec. 8.

The Beatles split up in 1971.

The paper said the reunion was being organized by the group's long-time producer, George Martin.

It said Martin hoped to record an album featuring the three musicians at his $2.4 million studio on the Caribbean island of Montserrat.

McCartney is already on the island making a new record for his own group, Wings.

Prison Terms Assessed Here

Prison terms were levied against all but one of five men sentenced yesterday in 132nd District Court.

Randall Louis Gillham, 3212 Ave. U, charged with robbing Burgess-McWilliams Pharmacy last month, plus burglarizing cars or buildings owned by Dr. Robert Taylor, Bill Dennis, Jesse Chavez, and David Thompson, received five 10-year prison sentences. The sentences are to be served concurrently.

Steven Bryan Johnson, 2812 Ave. U, was sentenced to 15 years in the penitentiary for his role in the holdup of Burgess-McWilliams Pharmacy. He also received two five-year prison terms for burglaries of buildings owned by Dr. Robert Taylor and Bill Dennis. The prison sentences are to be served concurrently.

Robert Perez Castro, 306 28th St., received two 10-year prison terms and a two-year sentence that are also to be served concurrently.

Castro received 10 years in the penitentiary for burglarizing the Wayne Denson building Dec. 25; 10 years for burglarizing the Billy Hall building Dec. 25, and two additional years in a probation revocation.

Gary Charles Ingram, 318 36th Place, received five years in the penitentiary for burglarizing the Dennis Vaughn business Dec. 21.

George Allen Tucker, 509 27th St., was the only defendant to receive probation. He was handed a two-year probation on a theft charge. He is alleged to have stolen a car stereo tape player from Radio Shack.

Overdose Treated

A 19-year-old woman was treated and released at Cogdell Memorial Hospital early this morning with a drug overdose.

Officers reported the woman took some pain killers at her Ave. V residence about 12:45 a.m.

Working the case are Sgt. Wade Norris and Robert Harbin.

Head Shop Raided

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Police, testing a new state law, raided a French Quarter "head shop" and seized an estimated $200,000 worth of alleged narcotics paraphernalia.

"This doesn't bother me in the least," said Matthew Cooperman, 22, manager of the Mad Mad World T-shirt Shop. "I sell all novelty items used for tobacco only."

"Whatever a purchaser wants to do with this stuff is his business," he added.

Missionary Guest Of Assembly Of God Here

"A great challenge to the Church in Ivory Coast, West Africa, is the training of national leadership," says the Rev. Willard Teague. "Ours is a constant problem of the Church--the need for more workers."

Teague, an Assemblies of God missionary to Ivory Coast, will be guest speaker Sunday at 10:50 a.m. at First Assembly of God, 19th and College Ave., Rev. James Jackson, pastor has announced.

Teague and his wife, Jerlene, have worked in Ivory Coast since 1971. They have been involved in evangelistic ministry, establishing new churches, and Bible school work. They also teach at the Ministers Institute in San Pedro, Ivory Coast. Teague is chairman of the Association of Theological Education of West and Central Africa and is chairman of the Board of Governors of the Assemblies of God West African Advanced School of Theological Education in Lome, Togo.

REV. TEAGUE

The Teagues also work with the International Correspondence Institute (ICI) in Ivory Coast. ICI is a home-study Bible school sponsored by the Assemblies of God Division of Foreign Missions. Started in 1967, ICI now has students in 132 countries of the world. Teague served as superintendent of the Ivory Coast Asssemblies of God from 1976 to 1980.

About their work in Ivory Coast, Teague says, "The government is very favorable toward the Church, and we find complete freedom to minister. The Church has experienced rapid growth, and there are more than 25,000 members and adherents in the Assemblies of God."

The Teagues went to the Ivory Coast in the pioneer days of the Assemblies of God there and assisted in setting up the organizational structure. They also founded one of the two Bible colleges for pastoral training.

Prior to missionary appointment, the Teagues pastored in Healdton, Okla., and also traveled in evangelistic ministry in Texas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico.

Pastor Jackson invites the public to attend this special missions service.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Pain from back spasm

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have been bothered with lower back pains for the past year. I've seen two doctors who think the only remedy is pain pills.

I find heat pads are a great relief. The pains are only apparent when I twist my back in any way, particularly getting in and out of a low chair. When the pains partially subside, I sometimes bring them back by lifting something heavy. I understand back pains are quite common and wish I could learn which treatment is best for relief. I'm 69 years old and very active.

DEAR READER — I am glad you have seen a doctor. There are many many causes for back pain and not all of them are in the spine. Colon problems, kidney problems, cancer of the pancreas are all on the list of things that can cause back pain. Clearly, no intelligent plan of treatment can be followed without knowing what one is treating.

Your story suggests that your doctors do not think you have a dangerous condition, but a painful one. Most back pain is really caused by muscle spasm. The spasm may be protecting you from overdoing it.

A suitable exercise program is often very helpful in relieving and, most important, in preventing back pain. Many authorities think the reason so many people have backaches is because they don't get enough of the kind of exercises that strengthen the trunk.

Exercises to strengthen the abdominal muscles are important, including sit ups and leg lifts. However, no one should begin these exercises without the permission of his doctor. During an acute backache, exercises can be harmful. At that stage rest, usually flat on your back in bed, is the best thing you can do. And heat does help.

I have outlined the usual exercises used to prevent backaches in The Health Letter number 13-10, Backache and What to Do about It, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Badly designed furniture, including chairs that are too low, is a frequent factor in causing chronic back strain. Learning how to lift is also important to avoid an acute injury to a weak back.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I was thinking about your column about older people being prone to forget. Why is it even small children and people of all ages tend to forget? I've just turned 65 and at times I can't remember. I conclude there are very few memory experts and that it is necessary for even the intelligentsia to look up things they have forgotten.

DEAR READER — While it is generally accepted (there certainly are notable exceptions) that older people as a group are more prone to have trouble remembering — you are right, people of all ages can forget.

A topflight business executive may not remember his appointments because he is concentrating on other more pressing matters. That is why a secretary is expected to keep track of such things for him. If he wastes his time thinking about his appointment schedule, he won't have time to do the important things. Overloading the mind with too much information can affect what you remember — like your wife's birthday.

Most people, young and old, can improve their performance with memory training. After all, why should we expect every mind to function with great skill if it is not trained?

Fabulous Fridays Launched

Students at Stanfield Elementary were to begin their annual Fabulous Fridays program today at 2:30 p.m. by spending an hour being instructed in hobbys and careers that the students have chosen themselves.

People from the community have volunteered their time to go to the school and share their skills and interests with the students there on scheduled Fridays in February.

Grades 3-6 are participating in the program. Each child was able to choose five things they would like to do from a list of 20.

One group of students is touring the Snyder Daily News today while the other students remain at the school and attend a number of other scheduled "classes".

Sharon Sutton will be teaching candle making, Robert Adams will be teaching hunting and gun safety and Jim Rambo will be teaching stage make-up.

Other classes will be candy making, taught by Rosie Floyd and Sandra MacDonald; sketching, taught by Karen Sears; Cake decorating, taught by Sharon Hanzalik and inking on glass, taught by Barbara Bills.

Shelly Stroud will teach plaster painting, David Cotton will talk about tropical fish and David Higgins will teach tinker tronics.

On other Feb. Fridays, the special classes will include radio and broadcasting, modeling, skin care and make-up, photography, bike safety and repair, and pottery.

The special program is being sponsored by the Stanfield P.T.A. and arranged by Vera McSpadden and Carol Davis.

Linda Sellars, a secretary at the school says the project was very successful last year and the children enjoyed it.

Four Sentenced

Four persons were sentenced Thursday in county court after entering guilty pleas. All the charges involved driving while intoxicated.

The defendants were Julian Reyes of Colorado City, Herman Doyle Brooks of Graford, Johnny Ray Lee of Odessa, and Michael Ray Tovar, 2001 Ave. E. All received identical $200 fines and three-day jail terms.

Reading Efficiency Course At WTC

A 20-hour course in reading efficiency for business and professional people is to begin Monday night at Western Texas College.

Classes will meet from 7 p. m. to 9 p. m. Mondays through April 13 with students paying fees of $20 each. They will also be required to purchase a textbook costing $4.15, Gerald Corkran, intructor, said.

Student are to pre-register by calling the continuing education office at 573-8511, extension 240.

Robbed Once, Realtor Opens 'One Safe Place'

DALLAS (AP) — All Frank Campbell wanted was a safe place to store his valuables after burglars ransacked his home. What he wound up with was a thriving business and possibly the "safest" safe-deposit boxes around.

Campbell, a realtor, scouted for more than a year before he picked a spot in a local shopping center and opened his own safe depository called "One Safe Place."

"I put in every type of security system Honeywell had," says Campbell. "They said, 'you don't need that on top of that,' but I said all things mechanical can fail."

"And if every system in the place fails, there is an armed guard behind bullet-proof glass."

Campbell doesn't visualize himself as a man with a mania for security. He says he's just a homeowner who got burglarized and decided to do something about it.

After a burglary last year, Campbell and his wife decided to store their valuables in a safe-deposit box. But they soon found that not only were the boxes already rented, but their many of their valuables wouldn't fit in the boxes.

Worse still, they began to read about major banks in Boston, Virginia and California where millions of dollars in cash and valuables were stolen from the locked boxes.

To enter Campbell's private safe-deposit box haven, you must have an appointment or a card — actually a tiny radio transmitter — with a photograph and a special number.

The number flashes on a computer watched by the guard, while another computer makes a permanent record of the visit. The customer must sign in and out.

The guard also watches a bank of television sets, one for each of the three vaults, and a TV scan of the street outside.

The walls and roof are steel-reinforced concrete a foot and a half thick, laced with sensors.

If that isn't enough, Lt. Richard D. Baker — a veteran of 34 years in police and security work — stands watch during the day and totes a loaded police special.

"We scared the hell out of some poor guy from the beauty shop next door the other day," he said. "He just went up there to fix his air conditioning, but he happened to step on our roof and found himself looking at a shotgun and a .45."

One Safe Place is accessible 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Campbell said the closest comparable service he knows of is in the East, "but they don't have the security level, and they don't have armed guards on duty 24 hours a day."

The boxes aren't cheap — the range in price from $200 to $1,400 a year — but Campbell says that his service is really a bargain, since silver spoon and fork would go for about $200 these days.

Two Congressmen Disagree With Reagan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Texas congressmen who will be in the thick of budget wrangling disagreed sharply on President Reagan's evaluation of the economy as being in its worst shape since the Great Depression.

"I think it's if anything an understatement," Rep. Phil Gramm, a College Station Democrat, said after Reagan's televised speech Thursday night. "I think if we fail to gain control that we may never get another chance."

Rep. Jim Mattox, a Dallas Democrat, said he and the president definitely view the nation through different eyes.

"I disagree with the painting of such a dark picture of this country," Mattox said. "I think most Americans agree they're living better now than they were 10 years ago or 20 years."

Both Texans, along with House Majority Leader Jim Wright of Fort Worth, are members of the House Budget Committee.

Gramm, a former economics professor at Texas A&M University, said Reagan's economics were the best heard from a president in 20 years.

"I think he did well," the College Station conservative said. "I think he pointed out to the American people what's got to be done and I think his communications skills will serve this country well."

Mattox, however, said Reagan may not be able to translate his skill at making a speech into a carried-through economic program.

"It's one thing to deliver a good speech; it's another to deliver on it," the Dallas congressman said.

Mattox predicted that following Reagan's basic economic theory would increase inflation and probaby increase the budget deficit as well.

He said the plan to make drastic cuts in federal spending may not get far, although he said he would go along with as many of the program cutback proposals as possible.

"I think it's going to fall apart before it ever gets started because you'll find the special interest groups are going to be protecting their programs," Mattox said.

Gramm said Congress in its present mood may give Reagan more support than presidents have received in the past on any proposals to cut spending.

The College Station conservative recalled what happened last year when he and former Rep. David Stockman, now the director of the Office of Management and Budget, proposed a $26.4 billion program of budget cuts.

Gramm said he received a flood of mail, each letter congratulating him on the overall program but pointing out one mistake, one special program that needed preserving.

The city of Quebec was founded in 1608 by Samuel de Champlain. It was the first settlement in New France, and for a number of years it was no more than a trading post reached only by a perilous route. Within 20 years, the settlement had 100 inhabitants and an economy founded on farming.

PUBLIC NOTICES 010

STATEMENT OF NON DISCRIMINATION

Midwest Electric Cooperative, Inc., has filed with the Federal Government a Compliance Assurance in which it assures the Rural Electrification Administration that it will comply fully with all requirements of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, and the Rules and Regulations of the Department of Agriculture issued thereunder, to the end that no person in the United States shall, on the ground of race, color, or national origin, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benifits of, or be otherwise subjected to discrimination in the conduct of its program and the operation of its facilities. Under this Assurance, this organization is committed not to discriminate against any person on the ground of race, color or national origin in its policies and practices relating to applications for service or any other policies and practices relating to treatment of beneficiaries and participants including rates, conditions and extension of service, use of any of its facilities, attendance at and participation in any meetings of beneficiaries and participants or the exercise of any rights of such beneficiaries and participants in the conduct of the operations of this organization. Any person who believes himself, or any specific class of individuals, to be subjected by this organization to discrimination prohibited by Title VI of the Civil Rights Act and the Rules and Regulations issued thereunder may, by himself or a representative, file with the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, or the Rural Electrification Administration, Washington, D.C. 20250, or this organization, or all, a written complaint. Such complaint must be filed not later than 180 days after the alleged discrimination, or by such later date to which the Secretary of Agriculture or the Rural Electrification Administration extends the time for filing. Identity of complaints will be kept confidential except to the extent necessary to carry out the purposes of the Rules and Regulations. Midwest Electric Cooperative, Inc., is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Okay To Tax Shareholders, Rules Judge

DALLAS (AP) — A state district judge reversed his own decision and ruled that city and county governments can legally tax shareholders in 52 local banks — but $26 million in back taxes cannot be collected right away.

The ruling Thursday by State District Judge Jim Nobel Thompson voids his previous judgement that prohibited the taxing of bank shareholders, and parallels a Jan. 23 ruling by the state's Fifth Court of Civil Appeals concerning a similar bank case.

But Thompson also ruled that the governments cannot collect the 1980 taxes for 30 days, to give the banks time to appeal the decision.

TONY DEGRATE

DALE JENKINS

Degrate Plans To Ink With UT

Tony Degrate, 6-4, 250-pound tackle for Snyder High School, has made a verbal committment to sign with the University of Texas, it was learned yesterday.

"I've always wanted to go to Texas," he said, "but I was impressed with Oklahoma, too. I was especially impressed with Texas' Fine Arts Department and some of the other players they have had commit."

Degrate, who has been recruited by over 60 colleges, was named to the Lubbock Avalanche Journal and Fort Worth Star Telegram top player's list this year.

He is expected to sign a Southwest Conference letter of intent with Texas on Wednesday. The national signing date is Feb. 14.

Jenkins Enrolls In Private School

ABILENE -- Dale Jenkins, standout track and field athlete for three years with Snyder High School, was to enroll at Abilene Christian High School today in order to compete his senior year.

Jenkins, the state's top schoolboy pole vaulter, was found ineligible at Snyder High when it was discovered he had not taken enough University Interscholastic League approved courses last semester. He originally signed up for the required three, but later dropped ceramics to take a history course offered by Western Texas College. His father, Don Jenkins, had contemplated a suit against the UIL, but elected to send the son to a private school instead.

"We just wanted to do what we thought would be best for him," said the elder Jenkins this morning, confirming he would file no suit. "If we go this route there's really no point in pursuing that (the suit). The only thing we wanted was to find a way Dale could compete and vault through the season."

By attending ACHS, Jenkins will be eligible to compete against UIL athletes. Abilene Christian, which offered to enroll the athlete a week ago when the ineligibility was discovered, has scheduled track meets at Brownwood, San Angelo, Anson and Dallas in addition to the Texas Association of Private Schools state meet.

Jenkins advanced to the Class AAA state track meet his freshman, sophomore and junior years, and finished second and first in the last two. His 15-6 was the best official vault by a Texas high schooler, but he cleared 16-6 in the summer.

Jenkins also qualified for regionals in the hurdles his sophomore and junior years, and was a member of the Tiger relay team. He averaged over 20 points a meet last season.

Jenkins will be living with his grandmother, Loraine Spires, while attending ACHS.

Dusters Crack Queens In Overtime!

Western Texas College's Dusters rallied from an 11-point deficit late in the game, then stuck up a dozen overtime points to upset No. 11 ranked Howard College here last evening, 68-62.

An all-around team effort was what beat the highly-touted Hawk Queens, but it was led by sophomore standout Shari Teal. The 6-0 native of New Deal was pitted against WJCAC leading scorer Kelly Lyons (6-3) most of the night, but came away with 28 points and 23 rebounds.

Lyons also paced the Queens with 34 points as the duo battled back and forth continually throughout the contest.

The victory puts the Dusters at 20-5 and the Queens at 21-5 on the season. WTC is 6-2 in conference play; HCC is 4-2. The Dusters travel to Odessa College on Tuesday, while the Queens entertain South Plains at Big Spring.

Howard County led for most of the night as Lyons and 6-1 Melissa Luna stuffed up the middle to dominate the boards. The Queens led 28-25 at halftime, and eventually opened up a 13-point advantage midway through the second period.

Lyons hit three straight hoops as the Queens rattled off 11 unanswered points in taking a 46-35 lead with less than 10 minutes to go. Western Texas finally got on track with 8:30 to play when San Angelo freshman Cindy Goltl came off the bench to score on an 18-footer.

Goltl's shot, coupled with a tenacious fullcourt press by the Dusters, momentarily cratered the visitors, who went scoreless for the next several minutes. Valerie Wells answered her teammate's call with a bucket of her own, and Teal, Cindy Maddox and Wells all shoveled in points to trim Howard County's lead to 46-45.

Howard kept the slim lead until Wells converted on a three-point play with 17 seconds left to give Western Texas the advantage, 56-55.

HCC's Jill Floyd went to the line with three ticks remaining. The Queens' sophomore could have bagged up the contest, but her first shot bounded from the rim, and though she made the second, the game went into overtime.

Lyons and Teal put on a show for the fans at the outset of the extra period, but it was the Duster who would come out on top at the end.

Lyons got the Queens up 60-58, but Stella Bickley executed a steal and a score to tie the game at 60-60 with just over two minutes left. From then on, it was Teal, who scored three straight buckets - two off of rebounds she put back up.

Teal's display put WTC ahead 66-60 with 1:05 left and all but closed the doors for the Queens, who had a chance to cut it to two points from the freethrow line but was not able. With 21 seconds left, Carol Wasserman hit the back end of a two-shot foul aid with 13 to go Cynthia Robinson did the same, 66-62. Bickley put up the final two points of the game on a pair of charity shots with 12 seconds remaining.

Individually for WTC, Wells had 14 points, 9 rebounds and 5 steals and Maddox had 14 points, 5 assists and 5 steals. Teal also had 2 steals and a blocked shot. Western Texas hit only 34 percent from the field for the night, but hit 29 of 85 shots while Howard managed 26 of only 63 (41 percent). From the line, the Dusters were 10 of 13 while HCC was 8 of 16.

Besides Lyons, Robinson was the only Queens player in double figures, with 11. Floyd had 7.

Howard Outlasts Westerners

Howard County College's Hawks combined a six-point lead with late freethrow shooting to outlast Western Texas' Westerners here last night in WJCAC men's cage competition, 72-62.

The loss drops WTC to 14-9 on the season and 5-7 in conference play. Howard College is 19-6 and 10-2.

Jeff Faubion clinched the game for the Hawks with 37 seconds left as he canned a pair of freethrows for a 69-62 lead. Crushon Loving added another charity shot with time running out and Ron Akins dropped in a bucket with four seconds left to give Howard the 10-point victory.

Western Texas made a game of it all the way, but could never gain enough momentum to catch and surpass the visitors. The lead changed hands five times and was tied four times in the first half but HCC took a 36-31 lead at intermission.

The Hawks came out hot in the second half, outscoring Western Texas 14-8 in the early going for an 11-point, 50-39 advantage. The lead eventually grew to 13 as Gregg Bess hit back-to-back buckets for a 56-43 lead.

Western Texas rallied when Dwayne Dickey came on to the floor and banged in a 20-footer. Ceasar Scott added another bucket, Chuck North garnered a freethrow, and Brett Smith stuck up a rebound to trim the margin to 56-50. Darren Lee then added WTC's ninth straight point after Smith blocked a Howard shot and Dickey recovered possession for the hosts.

But Howard College, led by WJCAC leading scorer Randy Corker, took the wind out of the Westerners again. Corker cracked the hoop on two straight shots and Loving added another to push the advantage back out to 10, 62-52.

Late fouls were the clincher however, as WTC was ticketed with seven in just three minutes. The calls took the Westerners from only two team fouls to six with just three sweeps of the clock and were to make the difference as HCC went to the line to bucket six charity shots in the final 1:19.

Western Texas stayed close as Kenneth Jones' two-pointer was answered by North. Corker hit a freethrow with 1:19 showing and Lee added a field goal to cut the lead to five points, 65-60. But Howard cradled the win late as the Hawks marched to the line three straight times - including Faubion's effort with 37 seconds left - to bag the victory.

The Westerners were led by freshman Scott, who scored 19 points. Denis hit for 12, and North added 9. North, recovering from an ankle injury, was not expected to play but was in for much of contest. Likewise, Darren Lee was reported as doubtful with a pinched nerve, but started the game. Lee scored 6 points, as did Dickey and Troy Stevenson.

Corker whipped up 20 points, but got help from Akins with 19, Faubion with 10 and Loving with 9. Jones scored 8.

Western Texas takes to the road Monday night, meeting Odessa at 8, while the Hawks entertain South Plains College.

Cat Squads Snare Tournament Wins

JAYTON -- Snyder sophomore boys and freshman girls downed Aspermont here yesterday to advance in the Jayton Tournament. The girls were to vie again at 1 today and the boys at 2:30, both against Post.

Snyder boys got 11 points from Matt Davis and 10 each from Don Johnson and Trey McWilliams to lock up the victory. Eleven Cat players scored in the game as Snyder outscored Aspermont 21-7 in the second period, 15-8 in the third and 20-14 in the fourth for a 66-43 victory.

Snyder's girls defeated Aspermont 37-33 in overtime. With 18 seconds left and the Cats down by one point, Tammy Merritt executed a steal and a layup to put Snyder ahead. The girls then went to the charity stripe to sack up the victory.

Borg Wins

TORONTO (AP) -- Sweden's Bjorn Borg downed Poland's Wojtek Fibak 6-3, 5-7, 6-3 and joined Jimmy Connors, Vitas Gerulaitis and John McEnroe in the semifinals of the $500,000 Molson tennis challenge tournament.

Snyder Challenges Eagle Duo Tonight

Snyder and Pecos get into it tonight as District 2-AAAA cage action continues around the loop. Elsewhere, Lamesa meets Ector, Andrews takes on Lake View and Sweetwater challenges Fort Stockton.

Snyder boys look for their 12th consecutive win of the season in Pecos, taking on an Eagle team they destroyed 78-45 in an earlier district meeting. The girl's game will be held at Snyder High School Gym. Both start at 8 p.m. and will be preceded by 6:15 junior varsity contests.

Pecos' boys are 12-10 on the season and 0-1 in 2-4A Round Two competition. The Tigers, 14-12 season-wise, lead the loop with a 2-0 mark. Sweetwater, at Fort Stockton tonight, is also 2-0 in Round Two, while Andrews goes into this evening's encounter at Lake View with a 1-0 mark.

Both Snyder and Pecos girls are apparently out of the running for a district title. Monahans, 8-0 the first round and 4-0 in Round Two, would appear to have the girl's race wrapped up, though mathmatically others are still involved. Snyder's Felines are 13-10 on the season and 2-3 in district play.

Snyder also drilled the Eaglettes in their first meeting, 57-40, though Coach Ken Housden cautioned at the time that Pecos had a better team than the score indicated.

Tuesday's Results: Snyder 55, Lamesa 46; Andrews 79, Ector 68; Monahans 72, Fort Stockton 58; Sweetwater 51, Lake View 41; Van Horn 47, Pecos 38 (non-district).

Friday's Games: Snyder at Pecos, Lamesa at Ector, Andrews at Lake View, Sweetwater at Fort Stockton.

Partnership Postponed

Snyder Country Club pro Mike Yantis has announced late this morning that the Ground Hog Partnership scheduled to begin tomorrow will be postponed until Feb. 21-22. According to Yantis, a meterologist with the National Weather Service has forecasted Sunday's weather to be in the mid 30s.

All teams already entered in the tournament are asked to contact the Pro Shop at 573-7101 in order to verify their registration at the new date. Yantis also noted several openings into the tournament were still available.
