Season Opener

71-44 Romp For Wolves

The 1971 Wolves Basketball team made a successful debut Friday night with a convincing 71-44 victory over Stamford at Colorado High School gym.

The Wolves "A" and "B" teams will take to the courts again Monday night against Coahoma at Coahoma and then again Tuesday night against Slaton back in Colorado City.

Activities both nights will start with the "B" team game at 6:15 p.m.

The "A" and "B" teams games Friday night was watched by a large crowd for which Basketball Coach Dean Ingram was highly appreciative.

Ingram noted that the crowd has a great deal to do with the success of the team and "good crowds can help the Wolves have a good season."

The Wolves Varsity Squad, which had been able to practice together only a week since the football season ended, got off to a ragged start in the game Friday night.

Stamford got on the score board first and that was their last time to be in the lead.

With the first quarter more than half gone, David Matthews made two quick baskets for the Wolves and the Wolves took over the lead for good.

At one time, the Wolves had a 30-point lead.

In the first quarter, Colorado players scored 10 points. The Wolves kept improving throughout the game, scoring 19 points in the second quarter, 20 in the third and 22 points in the final stanza.

Melvin Jackson led the scoring with 26 points, Matthews dropped in 15 points, John Ridge and Jerome Hopkins had 12 each and Skeet Kimbrell had four, and Greg Sanders made one bucket for two points.

The ragged performance possibly was due to "first-game jitters," said Ingram. He noted that the Wolves had been running better in practice and didn't really get started running in Friday night's game until the second half.

Starters for the Wolves were Jackson, Sanders, Hopkins, Matthews and Kimbrell. In addition to Benson others seeing action included Sonny Edwards, Welvin Ross, Clifford Taylor, and John Ridge.

Randy Wright was injured and did not suit up for the game.

During the first half, the Wolves hit 32 per cent of their shots from the floor and 3 of 11 free throws. In the second half, the Wolves only hit 28 per cent of the shots from the floor and only 6 of 16 free throws.

Jr. Varsity Opens With 85-25 Win

Members of the Colorado High School Junior Varsity basketball team got a lot of experience Friday night as almost everybody got to play and just about every player scored as the Junior Wolves trounced Stamford's junior varsity 85-25.

Tim Stansel, James Austie and Danny Borger led the scoring with 10 points each.

Scott Carney, Amador Guerrero and Bo Taylor each had 8 points each. Close behind with 7 points was Felix Franco and Arnold Parker had three buckets for 6 points.

Others scoring included Pat Mundy, 5 points; Danny Jackson with 4 points, Calvin Belvin, 3 points and Trey Sheppard, 2 points.

The junior varsity will travel to Coahoma Monday night to take on the Bulldog's junior varsity at 6:15 p.m., and then Tuesday night at 6:15 p.m., the Wolves junior varsity will play at home against Slaton, beginning at 6:15 p.m.

Price Info At ASCS

Local Center For Phase 2 Data

Mitchell County citizens desiring official information on Phase 2 of President Richard Nixon's Economic Stabilization Program should contact the local Agricultural Stabilization & Conservation Service office.

The ASCS Office here in Colorado City will continue to be the local-level information outlet for Phase 2, just as it was for Phase 1.

The County ASCS Office will receive regular updated information from the President's Cost-of-Living Council, Price Commission and Pay Board, according to Don Stewart, executive director for the ASCS here.

Persons phoning or visiting the local ASCS about wage-price problems will receive answers on the spot if the questions fall within existing guidelines, Stewart said.

Police Graduate

City Patrolman Robert Henderson has graduated from Southwestern Law Enforcement Academy at Howard County Junior College, Big Spring.

He was one of 18 law enforcement officers completing the 18th session of the academy.

Henderson, whose participation in the course was cited by instructors as outstanding, completed 240 hours of in-depth police training during the six weeks course.

Construction of new sidewalks, curbs and gutters is being halted in the face of wintry weather, but City Manager J.A. Sadler Jr. already is looking ahead to more downtown improvements and beautification.

However, don't expect the city to rush into a quick project for beautification.

The city manager has indictated there should be adequate planning so that future work will result in a coordinated beautification instead of a hodge-podge effect.

What city officials are enthusiastic about right now is the step forward by Evening Lions Club with an offer to work in an improvement program.

"Here is a civic organization that wants to work to improve and beautify our city," Sadler said, "and we want to work with them and encourage them to work with our program."

"But I believe that we should now take a good look toward what we can do in our next phase of improvements so that our new work will be compatible for property owners, the public and the merchants."

"We need to decide upon a downtown plan of beautification and coordinate it into an overall program."

"We don't want to make the mistake of doing a little bit here... another bit some other place. We want to plan it for a coordinated effect."

Dennis Wright was the Evening Lion who voiced his civic organization's desire to cooperate and work with the city for more improvements and beautification.

"We welcome this offer and, to be sure, we plan to put them to work. But we want to decide on a plan first and be sure this group of Lions can provide maximum assistance."

Just how the beautification plan can be finally decided is a question, too. A Chamber of Commerce committee busied itself for almost 2 years with a downtown renovation goal and never seemed to be able to obtain a definite cooperative response from the majority of downtown property owners and business firms.

Initial phase of the downtown improvement--all at city cost with no expense to property owners or business firms--was completed this week with new walk, curb and gutter on south side of 100 block of West Second St.

The new sidewalks now are in seven blocks of the downtown area, placed at a cost to the city of $1.50 per foot for curb and gutter and 50 cents to 65 cents per square foot for sidewalk, have been paid for out of available municipal funds.

Paid for also this year are 60,000 square yards of street seal-coating, costing more than $8,000 at 13.49 cents per square yard of paving; 7,000 feet of 6-inch water line extension costing $8,163.40 for the pipe, and an improvement project at the city sewage treatment plant which brings the facility up to the state's stringent new efficiency levels ahead of many communities--all out of current funds without the expense of a bond program or with federal grants or loans.

Sadler is hopeful the beautification program--assisted at first in the residential and business highway routes by Chamber of Commerce, Garden Club and other areas of the city on a similar pay-out plan.

That's why he and other city officials are welcoming the Evening Lions Club offer of assistance. But he is eager for a shaping of a plan before jumping off with the actual work.

$175 In Drawing

Tickets To C-City Shoppers

This Saturday could be a big day for three people who shop Colorado City.

At 4 p.m. Saturday, (Dec. 4), a drawing will be held on the parking lot of City National Bank. Three tickets will be drawn.

The holder of the other half of one ticket will win $100. The second ticket will be worth $50 and the third ticket will mean $25 for the person who has the other half.

Saturday's drawing is one of four scheduled as 43 Colorado City merchants are offering $750 Christmas cash in appreciation to their customers for shopping Colorado City.

Drawings also are scheduled for Dec. 4, Dec. 11, Dec. 18 and Dec. 24.

Registration at the participating 43 merchants is free.

Ticket numbers drawn each Saturday will be posted in the 43 participating stores and businesses through 5 p.m. the following Wednesday for lucky ticket holders to present their winning tickets and obtain free Christmas cash.

If all the money is not claimed by the 5 p.m. Wednesday deadline, then it will be placed in the next Saturday drawing.

In the final Christmas Eve drawing, ticket numbers will be drawn until all money is given away.

Here are the 43 firms where you can obtain your drawing tickets:

Thomas Bros. Texaco Station, Fuller Foods, E-Z Way Superette, Early & Late Drive-In Grocery, Safeway, J & J Gulf Station, Jeff Taylor Enco Station, Bloomer's 66 Station, Truman Nix & Son Texaco.

Villa Inn Restaurant, Jim's Trucktown Restaurant, El Ranchito, Dairy Queen, Lazy Day Drive-In, Pond & Merritt, Cleaners, Better Cleaners, Texas Electric Service Co.

City National Bank, Colorado City Savings & Loan, Colorado Lumber & Supply, L.C.'s TV & Radio, Russell's Discount Furniture, Eddie's Pharmacy, Corner Drug, Marshall's Sewing Center, Ramage Appliance.

Sears Catalog Store, Ward's Catalog Store, Mode O' Day, Sanderson Carpet, Sanderson Jewelry, Kirschbaum Appliance, Maniss Office Supply and Western Auto.

Landau's, C.R. Anthony, Ben Franklin, Ed Thrift's, Marshall's Downtown, Sam L. Majors Jewelry, Colorado Drug, Sparks Hardware, Cowen's Shoe Store.

New Expansion At Foam-Tex

Foam-Tex Inc. has wasted no time in rebuilding and expanding after a costly fire interrupted manufacture of carpet cushion at the local plant. The new fabricated steel unit is shown in left half of photo. The unit replaces the west fourth of the original plant building which was heavily damaged by fire and expands the Foam-Tex building footage to more than 30,000 square feet.

Ruth COFFEY'S CONVERSATION CORNER

IT'S BEEN several seasons now since that old saying concerning the fact that what people talk about gives them away and is an index to their character--or lack of same.

You know how it goes. "Low brows talk about other people, middle brows talk about current events, and high brows talk about ideals."

Can't think just who said it first but do get the feeling that most of us are low brows some of the time, middle brows at other times, and high brows upon occasion. It all depends on who is doing the listening plus the mood of whoever is doing the talking.

NOW HERE comes Earl Wilson, a favorite syndicated columnist because he rarely--or never "dishes dirt". He sounds like a nice man which is as it should be since he was born, understand, the son of a Methodist minister.

Any how, here comes Earl Wilson with one of his "Wish I'd Said That" bits, giving a new twist to the old saying about how the wagging tongue and what it's talking about classifies a person.

As Wilson quotes it, "Gossips talk to you about others, bores talk to you about themselves and good conversationalists talk to you about yourself." He credits something called Tid-Bits of London with that little jewel of wisdom.

AFTER mulling it over decided to like the Tid-Bits version better than the older "low brow, middle brow, high brow" quotation.

Gossips who talk to you about other people all the time are usually afflicted with one of two ailments. Either they lead very dull lives themselves and get their vicarious thrills from "bad-mouthing" others. . . or they are trying to prove to the world that whatever mischief they're up to themselves is not half so bad as whatever So-and-So is doing.

BORES, who talk to you about themselves without respite or pause for breath, go through life neither knowing nor caring what's been happening to you or to anybody else under the sun.

There is simply no way you can demand and get equal time to tell them about yourself. . . your operation. . . your car trouble. . . your plans, failures, small success. . . or even how smart your children and grandchildren are.

Did you ever share a bus seat with an old lady, a perfect stranger, who talked for 200 miles about her 13 grandchildren, naming and praising them, without a single station break to let you do a few commercials about your own marvelous tribe?

It's sad. It's also frustrating.

THIRD category, the good conversationalist, who talks to you about yourself, is the pick of the lot.

They learn more and they are so interesting! Could be they were blessed with more curiosity, too. Prefer to believe they are born people-lovers.

They are the ones who say you don't look too much like anybody's grandmother, ask you what you've read lately, how you liked New York City (ha!) and what your profession or way of making a living happens to be.

Funny thing here is that most good conversationalists assume yours truly is either a school teacher or a rancher's wife. Your guess is as good as mine how come.

LIKE the "low brow, middle brow, high brow" mark, nearly everybody alive is a combination of the gossip, the bore, and the good conversationalist.

Most of us indulge in gossip at least a little, talk about ourselves more than necessary, and listen with avid appreciation when somebody sees fit to talk to us about US. Unless of course they seem to be prying which puts them back in the gossip or the bore class, because prying is off limits.

Least favorite is the bore. Even so, you can learn from one of them, too. You might even learn to be a good conversationalist by just sitting still. And if you get the chance tell them you're headed for California to be on the Merv Griffin Show, the Glen Campbell Hour, or maybe take part in the Pass Word game. That'll fix things.

SEEN LATELYS this time included Selma and Willie Landau whose University of Denver sophomore son Jerry spent Thanksgiving at home. . . Cummins Wood on the down town scene. . . Ditto Jay Craddock. . . Bill Martin. . . Syble (Mrs. Dennis) Walding. . . J. A. Sadler, Jr., supervising the putting up of 'C-City's Christmas lights.

Saw Mac McKinnon. . . Pete Upshaw. . . Wayne Shawn and Trevlyn Kelley, City National Bank VP's after a refreshment break. . . Mildred Mann Boyd, county treasurer, having coffee after work hours. . . Maxine Brown.

Ralph Hines and his cute second daughter Janie were together at the Corner. . . Mrs. Wayman Love and sons were eating turkey at the Villa. . . Saw Truman Nix of the LTNS, long time no see, department, on Second St.

HEAR TELL (gossip department for now)--Gloria May who lives in Denton and teaches P.E. in Lewisville mid-schools, spent the holidays here with her mother and father Wayne and Eli May.

Roy and Alice Coles drove to Houston to be guests of the Roy Davis Coles Jr. family and their three little daughters. They were met there by the Coles daughter Rebecca, her husband Bob Price, their two sons and little daughter from Arlington.

Dorthea and Paul B. Hunter met daughter Debbie, her husband Rodney Gordon and daughter Misty of Hereford in Lubbock for Thanksgiving dinner. Misty came back to C-City with the Hunters for a little holiday stay. Weekend guests in the Hunter home were their son Glenn and his wife Kaye (nee Jameson) of West Texas State University, Canyon.

FEAST at the ranch home of Patti and Bob Fee, Jr., had their Kemper College son Jim Aaron here, Pat's parents Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Jones of Fluvanna, her aunt and uncle Mr. and Mrs. Lee Beavers, also of Fluvanna, and her aunt and uncle the Steins of Chicago.

Home of Mrs. R. P. Price, daughter Kack and her husband Fred McClellan, entertained the Price daughters Loyce and Marcella, along with their husbands Arnold Ewald of San Angelo and Bob Fee Sr. of C-City.

Vera Simpson feasted her daughter Maxine, her husband James Calame and the Calame children Douglas and Kathy of Richardson. They were joined

Miss Neta Bassinger Becomes Bride Of Patrick J. Halton

Miss Neta Delaine Bassinger of Lubbock became the bride of Patrick Joseph Halton of Lubbock in a Thanksgiving Day ceremony in Pioneer Drive Baptist Church in Abilene.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Bassinger of Eldorado, former residents of Westbrook, are parents of the bride. She is granddaughter of Mrs. Loyd Phelan of 1133 East Seventh Street.

Bridegroom is son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Halton of Waverly, N.Y.

The couple exchanged double ring wedding vows in a 12 noon ceremony. Rev. Jack Ridehoo- ver presided in the ceremony.

"St. Francis Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer" were sung by Jennifer Benton. Piano accompanist was Mrs. Ruby Faye Ross.

Altar was centered with an arch and prayer bench. Candelabra with greenery and baskets of white gladioli completed the setting.

Bride was given in marriage by her father.

She wore a formal gown of white slipper satin and lace designed and made by her mother. Empire bodice was overlaid in lace and featured full lace sleeves with wide satin and lace cuffs. Her skirt and chapel train were accented by re-embroidered lace.

Bridal bouquet of phalaenopsis and baby breath was carried with a white Bible.

Mrs. James E. Powell of Granada Hills, Cal., was matron of honor.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. John Stanley Phillips of Big Spring, bride's cousin; Miss Judith Knight of El Paso, Miss Emma Lee Hill of Winters and Miss Judy Sallee of Eldorado.

They wore floor-length gowns of gold slipper satin fashioned with empire waistlines and puffed sleeves trimmed in gold velvet ribbon.

Their flowers were nosegays of bronze chrysanthemums.

Lisa Love of Odessa and Cathy Wallis of Big Spring, bride's cousins, were flower girls.

Candles were lighted by Dale Geiger of Colorado City and John Stanley Phillips of Big Spring, also cousins of bride.

Arvid O. Peterson of Evanston, Ill., was best man. Groomsmen were John Stanley Phillips of Big Spring, Captain Munson G. Compton of Abilene, Robert Geiger of Colorado City, cousin of bride, and Captain Roger Krinsky of Abilene.

Dale Geiger and John Stanley Phillips also seated wedding guests.

Fellowship Hall of the church was setting for a reception following the marriage ceremony.

In the houseparty were Mrs. Eldon Love, Mrs. Joe Wallis, Miss Ruth Strickland, Mrs. Dale Geiger, Mrs. James Shoemaker and Mrs. L. D. Jones.

Bride's table was laid with a white fitted cloth and full ruffled skirt. Centerpiece was of bronze chrysanthemums.

A gold tablecloth covered the groom's table which was centered with an arrangement of gold chrysanthemums.

For a honeymoon trip to Acapulco, Mexico, the bride wore a gold velvet suit with brown suede accessories.

Following their trip they will be at home in Lubbock.

The bride is a graduate of Andrews High School and Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene. Her husband is a graduate of Waverly Central High School and University of Kansas. In January, 1972, the couple will move to Austin where the groom will attend pharmacy school at University of Texas.

Out-of-town guests in Abilene for the wedding were from Colorado City, Andrews, Eldorado, El Paso, Waverly, N.Y., Evanston, Ill., Big Spring, Odessa, Granada Hills, Cal., Lubbock and Coahoma.

MRS. PATRICK JOSEPH HALTON, . . . holiday bride.

Review Highlights TOPS Meet

A review of Sea City TOPS Club last Monday night highlighted a supper program for the group in Community Center.

The local TOPS was organized in March with 12 members, compared to the current enrollment of 30.

"TOPS members have prayer buddies to call in times of need," officials said encouraging anyone with a weight problem to visit during weekly meetings.

"Weight and weight charts of each individual are kept confidential," they explained, "anyone wishing to remain a silent member may do so."

New official scales are now being used to record weights.

Officers for the organization are Mrs. N. J. McMahan, leader; Mrs. Lloyd Barr, co-leader; Mrs. Audie Claxton, secretary; Mrs. H. C. Clark, weight recorder; Mrs. Tommy Dixon, treasurer, and Mrs. A. J. Dean, reporter.

The salad supper Monday night was hosted by a team chairmanned by Mrs. Melvin Smith who lost in a six-week contest. Winning team was captained by Mrs. Troy Prater.

Last week's fruit bowl prize was won by Mrs. Billy Culwell, who lost the most pounds during the seven-day period.

Fifty-one pounds was lost by 27 members attending the weekly session.

Another contest, started this week, will provide awards for each TOPS member not gaining any weight during the holidays. Prize winners will be announced during the first week of January.

Naomi Mangum, John R. Hines Marry In Waco Church Vows

Columbus Avenue Baptist Church in Waco Saturday evening was setting for the marriage of Miss Naomi Ruth Mangum of Waco and John Russell Hines of Cooperas Cove.

The bride is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ross Mangum Sr. of Waco.

Hines is the son of Mrs. John Pete Hines of Westbrook and the late Mr. Hines.

Rev. Robert F. Evans read the double ring vows in a 7 o'clock ceremony. Miss Laura Pitman was organist and David Mayr was soloist.

Church altar was decorated with white tapers, arrangements of white gladioli and palms.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an original gown of candlelight silk, organza over peau de soie. Appliques of Alecon lace on the bodice, tapered sleeves, skirt and train were re-embroidered with seed pearls.

Her long veil of imported illusion, attached to a Dior bow, was bordered by, applied Alecon lace roses.

Mrs. Robert Ross Mangum Jr. of Waco, the bride's sister-in-law, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Emmitt Currie of Gonzales, a cousin, and Miss Laura Lavender of Waco.

They wore royal blue peau de sole dresses with matching evening mitts. Each carried a yellow rose and a white Bible.

Candles were lighted by Clyde Hines of Westbrook and John Mangum.

Robert Ross Mangum Jr., bride's brother, was best man. Groomsmen were Emmitt Currie of Gonzales and Sam Arno Mangum of Waco, another brother of the bride.

Ushering guests were John Allen Mangum, bride's brother; Steven Hines and Clyde Hines, brothers of groom, of Westbrook.

A reception in Spencer Parlor of the church honored the bridal couple following their marriage.

Members of the reception houseparty were Mrs. Robert Morgan, Sara Lyn Morgan, Cyn-di Welsworth, Janet Enoch, Beth Childress and Lynda Burk, all of Waco.

For travel the bride changed to a royal blue plaid western suit.

They will be at home in Waco.

The bride was graduated from Waco High School and attended McLennan Community College and Mary Hardin Baylor. Her husband, a graduate of Westbrook High School, attended Texas Tech University and University of Texas at El Paso.

He is presently a sergeant with Master's Unit of United States Army at Fort Hood.

Attending the wedding from Westbrook were Russell Bird and Mrs. Rebecca Blauvelt. Others were in Waco from Fort Worth, Houston, Gonzales, Victoria, Nixon and Grand Prairie.

MRS. JOHN RUSSELL HINES, nee Naomi Ruth Mangum.

Rainbows To Sell Frito Pies, Drinks

Frito pies, soft drinks and coffee will be sold Friday afternoon as a fund-raising project of Colorado City Order of Rainbow for Girls.

The concession booth, open during the annual Santa Claus parade, will be located in the vacant Humble Station east of Mahoney Parts at Second and Chestnut Streets.

Frito pies will sell for 25 cents; colas and coffee, 10 cents, according to Mrs. B. A. Jackson.

Revival Starts Today At Payne Chapel

Revival services at Payne Chapel CME will begin Monday, 7:30 p.m.

Bobby Chaney, pastor of Christian Temple, will be evangelist for the series of special services.

Robert Owens, Payne Chapel pastor, and the church congregation at 701 Front Street this week extended an invitation to the public to attend all services.

Arthritis Foundation Program Here Dec. 9

A special program concerning arthritis will be sponsored here by Health and Safety Committee of Mitchell County Home Demonstration Council.

The informative study is set for Dec. 9, 7:30 p.m. in Medallion Room of Lone Wolf Electric Cooperative building.

MRS. LINEHAN, on program.

Mrs. Charles M. Linehan of Midland, executive director of West Texas Chapter of Arthritis Foundation, will be moderator for a panel composed of Dr. William A. Riley, Dr. Pete Rhymes and Jim Thompson, all of Big Spring.

Dr. Riley is rheumatologist with Malone and Hogan Clinic in Big Spring and is chairman of the Medical Committee for West Texas Chapter of Arthritis Foundation.

Dr. Rhymes is an orthopedic surgeon also at Malone and Hogan Clinic and Thompson is a registered physical therapist.

Panel members will discuss diagnosis and treatments for arthritis as well as various kinds of the disease.

"A question and answer period will give people a chance to obtain more information," said Mrs. Janis Choate, new home demonstration agent, in announcing the program.

Cross Fence Joint Project For County Ranchers

In the early days of the range industry fences were not of a particular advantage to the large operator since he could move his cattle about and thereby discourage and remove smaller operators from any given area, says George Willis, Range Conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service.

Times have changed and today fences are a necessity, especially for the large operator.

The Soil Conservation Service has assisted ranchers in the Mitchell Soil and Water Conservation District in installing approximately 20 miles of cross fences. Much of this fencing was cost-shared through the Great Plains Conservation Program.

Planned Grazing Systems which are being recognized as a much needed management tool, are dependent on the method of cross fencing. A planned Grazing System in any systematic grazing pattern in which one or more grazing units are rested at a specific time through a given year and not at the same time year after year. Cross fences are placed within the boundary lines in such a manner that all pastures are fairly uniform in carrying capacity and have water located at strategic sites. The pastures established by cross fences can then be used to utilize the major forage production areas at different times of the year as the forage matures or becomes available for harvesting.
