

New Miss AJRA to be announced tonight

Snyder and area timed-event specialists captured top honors in several categories Thursday at the AJRA National Finals Rodeo at Scurry County Coliseum.

Two performances of the rodeo remain, including Saturday's televised finals featuring the top four finishers in each event.

Tonight's AJRA performance will be highlighted with the crowning of a new Miss AJRA — an annual event. Current Miss AJRA, Jamie Bean of Ft. Hancock, will participate in the crowning.

Nominees are Shanna Owens of Rankin, Ashley Looney of Del Rio, Crissi McCormick of Eldorado, Lorissa Edmondson of Roby, Alison McFadden of Crane, and Christi Sultmeier of Melrose, N.M.

Admission to the rodeo today and Saturday — performances are at 8 p.m. — is $6 for box seats, $4 for adult general admission and $2 for children.

Snyder's Terra Kay Bynum, Callie Bolin of Colorado City and Post cowgirl Talina Bird led the West Texas contingent Thursday with a 1-2-3 finish in girls 12-and-under barrel racing. Bynum, who also wound up the season ranked second in the world in goat tying, posted a 14.63-second clocking for first in the go. She was trailed closely by Bolin's 14.93 and a 14.98 by Bird.

San Angelo's Crystal Bell scampered to a 16.47 time in the girls 13-15 division for the evening's top time.

A pair of area riders claimed second and third in girls 16-19 barrels, as well. Mecca McMullen of Iraan and Roby's Lorissa Edmondson wound up within .03 of each other with respective clockings of 14.63 and 14.66. They both came in behind Crane's Alison McFadden, who flashed a 14.60.

Melissa Brillhart, a Slaton native, scored a swift 3.27 in Thursday morning slack for best in the round in girls 16-19 breakaway roping. Kerrie Pitts of Floydada came in a close second with her 3.66.

Other area contestants placing Thursday included San Angelo's Jay West, who turned in a third-place tiedown roping time of 13.61 seconds among 13-15 year-olds; Matt Kiker of Anson, who registered a 2.67, good for first in boys 13-15 breakaway roping; and Tina Sherrod of Big Spring, who notched a 2.53 in girls 13-15 breakaway roping, tops in the go.

A total of 21 roughstock riders, including participants in bareback, saddle bronc, steer, junior bull and bull riding went out of the chutes Thursday but none completed their rides.

Committee to make salary proposals

A committee of two school board members and two administrators was named Thursday to work up various proposals for a teacher pay raise as Snyder Independent School District trustees met in a budget workshop.

Board President Sam Robertson named trustees Terry Martin and Luann Bursleson to work with Superintendent Dalton Moseley and Assistant Superintendent for Business Lee McNair on the committee.

The directive came as board members learned that no pay raises — other than those mandated by career ladder or steps — were included in the proposed $13,882,211 budget for 1991-92.

"We made that (pay raises) a priority and I'd like to see that put in in some form or fashion," said Robertson. "These people deserve it and if the good Lord's willing and the money's there, we are going to give it to them."

The board set an Aug. 20 meeting to accept the budget, but is not expected to set the tax rate until sometime in September. As Supt. Moseley explained, "We simply are in the dark until the legislative process is completed and we receive certifications from TEA (Texas Education Agency)."

In July, the board was given a rough estimate of expected revenues totaling $13.4 million.

Based on that, revenues would fall some $400,000 short, even without a pay increase. However, the board reviewed several possible avenues of added revenues Thursday, including increasing the deductible for property and health insurance.

A second avenue of income could be in student enrollment. Exact figures were not available, but based on Wednesday's pre-registration, Snyder ISD could have an increase in students for the 1991-92 school year.

Earlier this week, Martin had briefed the board on a step plan which would increase teacher salaries by $500 each five years.

As proposed, the plan would total $132,000 the first year. Such a plan would not be an across-the-board raise, as teachers had requested.

"Frankly, I have a problem with just scattering it out there," Martin said Thursday. "I think we need to reward teachers with tenure."

However, Supt. Moseley said raising salaries could be an important tool for recruiting teachers.

"I'd like to see everyone get an increase, but the ones that are really hurting are the first, second, third and fourth year teachers. The motive is good, but in recruiting teachers, the bottom line is, what is that teacher going to make the first year. I do have a concern for that beginning teacher, and, of course, for all teachers."

Trustee Geraldine Parker asked that the committee contact area schools to get input on several pay raise structures. Trustees recommended that the committee come up with several different proposals at different cost levels.

McNair informed the board that a preliminary budget must be adopted by Aug. 31, but that it could be adjusted up or down when the tax rate is set. Therefore, the board could add a

Board hires new teachers, recognizes student success

Snyder public schools board of trustees approved a recommendation to hire six new teachers Thursday, consented to the re-assignment of 15 others, and accepted five resignations.

In other business, the board approved the 1991-92 appraisal calendar and first, second and third appraisers, recognized students for their achievement and okayed payment of bills and past minutes.

Superintendent Dalton Moseley also informed those attending the meeting of pre-registration numbers, which he said were "probably the best in five years." The figures from Wednesday's pre-registration period indicate that 186 students are registered for Central Elementary, 235 for East, 206 for North, 238 for Northeast, 270 for Stanfield and 365 for West. In addition, 27 new students registered at the junior high and 47 new students registered at the high school.

Among the newly hired and/or re-assigned teachers were two to fill vacated coaching posts. Trustees approved the hiring of Jerry Tucker of Ozona ISD to replace Charlie Chrane as tennis coach and special education instructor, and added the assignment of boys high school golf to Bob O'Day. O'Day will take over in that regard for Milton Ham, who has accepted the position of golf coach and athletic director at Western Texas College.

In addition to the resignations of Chrane and Ham, the board also accepted those of Drew Bullard, high school English teacher; Barbara Chrane, North Elementary fifth grade teacher; and Roseann Martin, Central Elementary first grade teacher who had been on leave of absence.

Tucker comes to Snyder ISD after seven years at Ozona. Other new teachers include Jo Ann Cotton, six years experience at Snyder ISD, who will teach high school English; Trena Dorsett, four years experience at Ira, who will serve as VAC instructor; Stacy Hirt, six years experience at Beaumont, who will teach sixth grade at Northeast; Lisa Hartzog, nine years experience at Hermleigh, who will teach first grade at Stanfield; Richard Hester, one year at Hobbs Alternative School, who will teach high school history; and Dorothy Peterson, 10 years at Vernal, Utah, who will teach sixth grade at North Elementary.

Among the re-assignments were Keitha Brown, high school VAC to sixth grade at Northeast; Stewart Long, high school industrial arts to junior high math; (see TEACHERS, page 10)

Voters to decide on local options, state amendment

Polls open at 7 a.m. Saturday as Scurry County citizens vote on two related issues at separate locations.

Few people took the time to cast absentee ballots in the elections, which usually means a low turnout on election day. Only 81 people cast absentee ballots in the state amendment election at Scurry County Clerk's Office.

In the county educational district election at Snyder public schools administration building, only 56 people cast their ballots.

Polls will be open Saturday from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. at the four county precincts and at Snyder and Hermleigh school business offices and Ira Community Center.

Voters should be aware that there are two separate elections Saturday. At four precinct locations in the county, voters will cast their ballots on a proposed state constitutional amendment which would authorize county educational districts to hold elections to allow voters to decide whether to grant an exemption on a percentage of the assessed value of residents, whether to grant an additional exemption on the homesteads of elderly and disabled persons, and whether to impose taxes on certain types of property.

The second elections will be held at Snyder and Hermleigh school administration buildings and Ira Community Center. These elections act on the authorization of the state election.

The reason the two are held simultaneously is, if voters approve the proposed amendment statewide, the locally adopted options would go into effect without delay. Should voters turn down the constitutional amendment, (see ELECTIONS, page 8)

Cogdell budget presented

Officials from Cogdell Memorial Hospital requested $350,000 in ad valorem taxes this morning as they presented the hospital's 1992 budget to county commissioners. The presentation came as commissioners continued to review the county's proposed $5.6 million 1992 budget.

G.A. Parks, chairman of the hospital's board of managers, told commissioners the increase from last year's $225,000 in county taxes was needed to help offset the non-budgeted losses experienced this year of a doctor, Dr. Mario Ochoa, a surgeon, Dr. Tom Aycock, and CRNA personnel.

Tim Lancaster, Cogdell CEO, presented the budget, noting it was based on a $10 increase in room rates, an eight percent increase in costs to patients, an eight percent increase in patient volume and renewal of contracts with Texas Department of Criminal Justice.

Lancaster also explained that (see COUNTY page 8)

Texas A&M joins heart research program

HOUSTON (AP) — Famed heart surgeon Dr. Denton Cooley said a new research program designed to develop veterinary specialists could produce a functional artificial heart.

Physicians at the Texas Heart Institute and Texas A&M University officials on Thursday announced the establishment of the Halbouty Scholar Program that will train veterinarians in human cardiovascular medicine.

"I think we will find it to be a very fruitful association," Cooley said. "Most physicians who are trained through medical schools have a very limited knowledge about the physiology of lower animals and are even more ignorant of some of the pathology of the lower animals."

"I believe that they (the veterinarians) can provide us with a great deal of input," Cooley said.

The fellowships are named for Halbouty Energy Co. chairman Michel T. Halbouty, a Texas A&M graduate and THI board member who made the initial donation to endow the five-year fellowships.

"To me, the merger is just the epitome of my dreams to see THI and Texas A&M get together," Halbouty said. "This affiliation with the College of Veterinary (Medicine) is just the beginning of the cooperation we expect to have between Texas A&M and THI."

The program is designed to develop sophisticated researchers who initially can specialize in any of four areas: cardiovascular surgery, cardiology, anesthesiology or cardiovascular pathology. Later the program will be expanded to include cardiovascular physiology and bioengineering, said John August, A&M's co-director for the program.

Fred Clubb, THI's co-director, said the program allows participants to complete their veterinary board eligibility requirements while completing their residency requirements in a specialty.

For Cooley, the program forecasts a more effective use of animal research projects needed to establish an artificial heart.

"Our major interest today is in the development of mechanical substitute for the failing human heart," Cooley said. To continue working towards that discovery, he said, "it's absolutely essential that we continue with our research with animals. And I think a lot of the things that we will discover in our research will interrelate very well with our colleagues in veterinary medicine."

"They will have an important input into these matters and I hope that from some of our studies, too, that we can actually benefit the animal kingdom, as well. We've got to learn how to live with animals as part of our lives," Cooley said.

Kathryn M. Meurs, a 1990 graduate of the University of Wisconsin, and Douglas A. Rohn, a 1990 graduate of Iowa State University, have been awarded the first of what eventually will be 10 full-time fellowships for graduate veterinarians who have completed internships at teaching hospitals.

Ms. Meurs will specialize in cardiology research, while Rohn will study surgical research.

Two men charged in holdup at bank

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Federal authorities say a bank teller may have helped two men rob a Fort Bliss bank of $18,000 and at least one of the suspected robbers may have taken part in two other El Paso bank robberies.

Delano Palmer, 19, of Fort Bliss and James Davis, 21, of El Paso were arrested last week on bank robbery charges, El Paso FBI spokesman Terry Kincaid said Wednesday. Both were being held in El Paso County Detention Center. Bond amounts could not be determined immediately.

The charges stem from the robbery Friday of a Fort Bliss MBank.

No charges had been filed against the teller, who is not in custody, Kincaid said.

The FBI said on the day the bank was robbed a holdup man gave the teller a note and demanded money. The teller handed over $18,000, the robber escaped in a waiting car. Kincaid said the FBI believes Palmer was the holdup man and Davis drove the getaway car.

The FBI said Davis, Palmer and the teller conspired to rob the bank and planned to divide the money three ways after the robbery investigation "cooled down."

Kincaid said Davis is a suspect in at least one other El Paso bank robbery this summer and may have participated in two.

Stayman can play and bid

By Phillip Alder

Sam Stayman is best known for the convention that bears his name. But he is an excellent declarer and defender too. He won the Bermuda Bowl (the world team title) in 1950, 1951 and 1953, and he has won numerous national titles.

Today's deal was played by Stayman in New York's famous Cavendish Club in 1949. If you would like to test yourself, carefully fold your paper to hide the East-West cards, and plan your play in seven no-trump. It looks very easy; therefore you must be especially careful. Also it is rubber bridge — your money is at stake.

North used Gerber, thinking he could see 13 tricks: two spades, three hearts, three diamonds and five clubs. That would have been the case if the clubs were dividing nicely. But Stayman wasn't willing to assume that this was the case.

He won the spade lead with dummy's ace and cashed the club ace to see if the clubs were 5-0. When both opponents followed, he abandoned clubs to try to learn more about the distribution.

He cashed his top spades (discarding a club from dummy), his top hearts, the diamond king and the diamond ace. At this point, he stopped to count. Stayman had learned that West began the hand with six spades, four hearts, two diamonds and one club. That meant East must have four clubs. Stayman led the club 10 from the dummy and ran it when East played low. A club back to the king, a diamond to dummy's queen, and the club queen completed the 13 tricks.

MONTAUK, N.Y. (AP) — Billy Joel, Paul Simon and Ric Ocasek of The Cars rocked eastern Long Island at the first of two "Back at the Ranch" music festivals to raise money for area charities.

About 10,500 people were expected at tonight's concert featuring Joel, Don Henley, Foreigner and other groups.

Dutchess brought back home after free ride to New Orleans

RAYMONDVILLE, Texas (AP) — Dutchess is back home after a mostly unscheduled 1,400-mile journey to Louisiana.

Dutchess, a raven black cat, must have used up some of her nine lives during the trip, part of which was aboard a semi-trailer truck.

Her joyous owner, Kathy Klefisch, embraced Dutchess, Wednesday as she recalled their reunion after a five-week long separation that began outside a restaurant in Galveston in early June.

Ms. Klefisch, of Raymondville, adopted Dutchess when Ms. Klefisch's mother, Willacy County District Attorney Diana Cisneros, died on June 1.

One week after the family loss, Ms. Klefisch took Dutchess on a car trip to Galveston to get away for awhile and try to deal with her grief, she said.

All the way, Dutchess rode on the platform behind the back seat of Ms. Klefisch's Camaro.

Once in Galveston that night, Ms. Klefisch said she stopped at a restaurant to get coffee. She didn't expect any trouble, especially not from Dutchess.

But, she recalled, as she opened the door to exit the vehicle, the cat unexpectedly bolted out of the car and disappeared into the darkened street.

Frantic, Ms. Klefisch and someone she knew from the restaurant looked for Dutchess until they were told to stop the search before they were mistaken for thieves and shot in the darkness.

Ms. Klefisch resumed the search in the morning to no avail. Four days later in Louisiana, a group of truckdrivers watched as an unfamiliar black cat jumped out from under the cabin of an 18-wheeler.

Apparently, Dutchess had hitched a ride with the passing truck in Galveston and hid unobtrusively under the cabin — on what truckers call the fifth wheel — until she decided to make a break for it in Slidell, a suburb east of New Orleans.

Four pursuing truckers reportedly caught Dutchess and turned her over to a sympathetic woman who had watched the incident on the parking lot of a Union 76 Truck Stop.

Fortunately for Dutchess, the feline had identification tags attached to her collar. The woman was able to contact Ms. Klefisch and inform her of the cat's whereabouts.

It was then the long struggle to return Dutchess to her home in Raymondville began.

As Ms. Klefisch and her brother, Kurt Klefisch, planned a trip to Slidell, she became ill and was hospitalized. The trip was put off indefinitely.

Back in Slidell, a death in the family of the woman who was caring for Dutchess forced her to turn the cat over to the local animal shelter.

Once at the shelter, Dutchess aroused the curiosity of animal control officer Wayne Gaines, Ms. Klefisch reported. Through Gaines, arrangements were made to seek transportation for Dutchess back to Texas.

However, bus stations and airports proved uncooperative.

As a last resort, Gaines placed a call to Vera and Dennis Sylder, a retired Slidell couple, members of the Fireside Sams.

The Fireside Sams, a recreational vehicle camping and traveling group, are known for performing good deeds around the community.

The Sylders proved to be big animal lovers who couldn't turn down the chance to help the dejected little cat. They volunteered to postpone their Australian vacation and to drive Dutchess to Raymondville.

They traveled 700 miles to the Klefisch home to reunite the pet with her distressed owner.

"I'm just so impressed," said Ms. Klefisch. "What makes me feel good is that those people cared enough to return her to me."

Although she does not consider herself a religious person, Ms. Klefisch said she thinks Dutchess' return is a miracle.

"It's just a miracle that she wasn't killed," she said. "My mother just died. I didn't need to lose the cat, too."

The Sylder couple turned down the reward money Ms. Klefisch offered them. So, now she's preparing a gift package to mail to the good Samaritans.

The package contains cat T-shirts, cat ashtrays and photographs of Dutchess, among other things.

"You hear of so much killing, and those murders in Wisconsin; and now, these Fireside Sams saw an opportunity to do a good deed, and they took it," said Ms. Klefisch.

"They drove 1,400 miles, round trip, to return her, and they didn't want any money for their trouble."

Richards: Harris County won't settle

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Ann Richards says she doesn't think Harris County officials want to settle a lawsuit with the state over jail crowding.

"The truth of the matter is ... I don't think that Harris County wants to come to a settlement. I really don't," Richards said Thursday.

Harris County in one lawsuit, and 13 other counties in a second legal action, successfully challenged the state over its failure to reimburse them for holding state prisoners they say are clogging their county jails.

But a deal to build more prisons and pay the counties fell through at the end of the regular legislative session in May when Harris County wouldn't go along.

And Wednesday night, Harris County senators say they will fight the state's newest prison reform package.

Sen. Gene Green, D-Houston, said they want the Legislature to reconsider plans to add 25,000 more prison beds with the stipulation that Harris County drop its lawsuit.

"We're going to have to try and get more out of the Legislature for the problem we're going to have in Harris County," Green said.

As negotiations continued, Richards said she believes it is "very important" for lawmakers to adopt the criminal justice bill — and its provisions for new prisons and new drug and alcohol programs.

"We do not want to hang up this legislation on the agreement where the counties are concerned — whether they're all going to agree to this as a part of the settlement to the suit they brought," she said.

LAFF-A-DAY

Americans sweep 800 meters

HAVANA (AP) — Ana Quirot of Cuba gets her inspiration from Fidel Castro. Gcky Clark of the United States gets his from Castro's old revolutionary buddy, Che Guevara.

"I was reading something in 'USA Today' a couple of days ago, and it really helped to get me fired up," Clark said, pulling a torn newspaper clipping out of his bag. "It's something from Che Guevara: 'The willpower of heroes is needed in this hour.'"

"I could tell we'd been getting beat up."

Clark led a 1-2 American sweep of the men's 800 meters at the Pan American Games as the United States had its best day in track and field. With victories by Jim Driscoll in the hammer throw and Pat Manson in the pole vault to boot, the United States took the lead in track medals from the Cubans 28-26, although Cuba still led in golds, 12-5.

In the overall count, the United States led 128-113 with Canada a distant third with 39. Cuba has the most gold, 65, with the United States second with 44.

Quirot and countrywoman Liliana Allen won their second gold medals of the games, as did Robson da Silva of Brazil. Quirot, who earlier had won the women's 400 meters with a games record time, won the 800 in 1:58.71, another Pan Am record.

"Thinking of my town and the revolution makes me strong and confident," said Quirot.

Americans Alisa Hill and Celeste Halliday ran 2-3 to Quirot.

Allen added the 200 meters to her 100-meter victory for a sweep of the women's sprints, and da Silva captured the men's 200 after winning the 100.

"People have been saying that we didn't bring our best to Cuba," said Clark, who beat another American, Terril Davis, by .08 seconds in the 800. "I wanted to show people that maybe we didn't bring all of our best, but we brought some of them."

Even the Cubans couldn't dispute that in women's basketball. The U.S. team, the best in the world, beat Cuba 91-71 Thursday night.

The United States and Cuba don't match up in baseball until Sunday, and this might be filed under the looking-ahead category: The U.S. team needed a two-run, ninth-inning homer from Chris Roberts to beat the Netherlands Antilles 5-4.

That's better than Reginald

Martinez could do in another U.S.-Cuba matchup, this one in boxing at Kid Chocolate Arena. Martinez got knocked out in the first round.

There were seven U.S.-Cuba showdowns in Greco-Roman wrestling, and the United States won four of them.

Katrina McClain scored 23 points and had 12 rebounds as the United States ran its record to 3-1 by beating Cuba 91-71 in women's basketball. The teams meet again Saturday in the semifinals. The other semifinal will match Brazil, which snapped the U.S. women's 42-game international winning streak last Sunday, against Canada, and the final will be played Sunday.

In the first U.S.-Cuban boxing matchup of the games, Martinez was knocked out with a thunderclap left by Rogelio Marcelo at 2:16 of the first round.

The other U.S. fighter in action, Michael DeMoss, scored a narrow decision over Horacio Riviera of Mexico, giving the U.S. team three wins in four fights.

While the United States came out on top in the U.S.-Cuba wrestling matches, Cuba won six golds to four for the United States because it had wrestlers in all 10 matches.

Matt Ghaffari at 286 pounds, Randy Couture at 198, Andrew Seras at 149½ and Mark Fuller at 105½ were the U.S. winners.

Glanville to bring Falcons to Dome

by The Associated Press
As far as Jerry Glanville is concerned, the good guys wear black. But they won't be wearing it tonight when his Atlanta Falcons meet the Houston Oilers in an NFL exhibition game at the Astrodome.

"They told me we can't wear black, so we'll wear white," the Falcons' coach said. "They told me I'd be paying the fine if we wore black. Maybe we'll bring them (black uniforms) along anyway, but we'll wear white."

Glanville developed his "man in black" image during four seasons as head coach of the Oilers before he left in a front office dispute prior to last season.

When Glanville joined Atlanta last season, the Falcons went back to a black-dominated uniform similar to that worn in the 1960s. The Falcons' home uniforms are black with red trim, their road uniforms white with red numerals.

The Oilers lost their exhibition opener to San Diego 31-29. The Falcons beat the Los Angeles Rams 38-17.

Atlanta opened the 1990 regular season at home with a 47-27 victory over the Oilers.

The Atlanta-Houston game is the only one on tap tonight. On Saturday, it will be Detroit at Buffalo, Miami at Tampa Bay, Philadelphia at Cincinnati, Washington at New England, Seattle at Indianapolis, Kansas City vs. the New York Jets at St. Louis, Green Bay at New Orleans, the New York Giants at Cleveland, and Pittsburgh at Minnesota.

Phoenix travels to Chicago on Sunday, while the Los Angeles Raiders are at Dallas and San Diego at the Los Angeles Rams on Monday.

Astros rock rookie but lose to San Diego, 5-3

HOUSTON (AP) — San Diego Padres pitcher Andy Benes took quite a pounding, but still managed to beat the Houston Astros.

"It felt like I had a target on me," the San Diego righthander said after beating Houston 5-3 Thursday. "It was like I had a bull's eye on my chest, they hit me twice, and then hit I got hit with a pitch."

Benes, 7-10, allowed six hits and two runs in six innings. He walked one and struck out three.

The Astros, however, struck him three times.

Casey Candaele and Ken Caminiti hit line drives off Benes' body and rookie righthander Ryan Bowen, 1-2, hit him with a pitch in the third inning.

But Benes hung on for the victory. In his last 28 innings he has allowed just four earned runs.

The Padres scored four runs in the third. Benes got plunked by AJRA results

Bowen after a walk to Dann Bilardello. After a walk to Bip Roberts, Tony Fernandez, who had three hits, Fernandez singled in Bilardello.

Tony Gwynn followed with a single to center to plate Benes and Roberts before Fernandez scored on a double play ball off the bat of Fred McGriff.

It was all the support Benes would need as the Padres took the series two games to one.

The Padres added a run when Gwynn singled in Roberts in the fifth. Roberts had singled and stolen second base.

Houston scored on an RBI single by Casey Candaele in the fifth and a run-scoring groundout by pinch-hitter Mark Davidson in the sixth that scored Luis Gonzalez, who had tripled.

The Astros final run came against reliever Luis Melendez in the eighth.

Tolentino doubled to center and scored on pinch-hitter Jeff Bagwell's double to left. Craig Lefferts came on to record his 17th save and give Benes his third consecutive victory.

"I guess I got lucky," Benes said. "The balls they hit at me were fastballs. I had ice all over me when I came in (the clubhouse)."

the almost $4 million in salary expenses included an up to four-percent merit increase for employees, based on individual evaluations.

"I understand we have to give these increases to our professional people to keep them here, but I'm for keeping non-professional and clerical salaries stationary," said Precinct 2 Commissioner Roy Idom, who has gone on record as opposing any pay increases.

Hospital officials also noted that the facility's contract with TDCJ is a substantial factor in keeping the need for county tax monies at a minimum. Lancaster pointed out that the local hospital receives far less in such funds as compared to other area hospitals such as Sweetwater which receives over $1 million in subsidies.

In budget action Thursday afternoon, while reviewing the $1 million road and bridge budget, commissioners discussed consolidating cliche-hauling crews. The consolidation would not eliminate any personnel. In addition, some $30,000 was added to the budget for contract mowing of pavement areas.

Commissioners will resume budget work sessions Tuesday afternoon as they review projected revenues for the county.

Clinic turns protest signs into dollars

SAN MATEO, Calif. (AP) — Planned Parenthood worker Alice Stern can't help but smile when she sees anti-abortion pickets. The more the merrier at the San Mateo clinic, where protest signs translate into dollar signs.

During the past year, the clinic has raised $25,000 with an "adopt-a-picketer" program in which abortion rights supporters pledge donations for every protester who shows up each day.

The idea isn't new, but the program in San Mateo, about 20 miles south of San Francisco, is apparently unique in that it's continuous.

results of the local election won't matter.

The school finance law approved by the 72nd Legislature created 188 new county education districts, composed of single counties or groups of counties. In the case of County Education District No. 11, this includes Scurry, Crosby, Fisher, Garza and Kent counties.

The purpose of a county education district is to levy the required local first-tier tax to raise the equivalent of 72 cents per $100 of assessed market value and to redistribute the proceeds among school districts within the county education district.

Precinct voting locations for the constitutional amendment election are:

—Precinct 1, encompassing voting box 14, Loyd Mountain; box 15, northeast Snyder; and box 16, north central Snyder, will be the Scurry County Health Unit.

—Precinct 2, encompassing voting box 5, Fluvanna; box 6, Union; box 17, northwest Snyder; and box 18, west Snyder, will be Scurry County Library.

Dear Abby

Homeless People Are More In Need Than Homeless Pets

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1991 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: You told a woman that if reconciliation with her estranged son is not successful, she and her husband can leave their money to their favorite charity or to their local animal shelter.

A few years ago, I might have said the same thing. But my drive to work takes me through the streets of downtown Los Angeles, where hundreds of men, women and children live, scrounge through trash cans for garbage to eat, and warm themselves by bonfires they light in the street at night. I've seen grown men using the streets for a public restroom, with looks of anguish and great embarrassment on their faces as I drive by.

Given the awesome task of helping such people, it grieves me to think of people with money to give away donating it to animals. The number of children without food, people without jobs and families without homes is growing daily, and it appears that the government isn't going to do much about it at the moment.

FEMALE EXECUTIVE

DEAR EXECUTIVE: Must one make a choice? I would hope the human heart would be big enough to provide ample food and shelter for all God's living creatures. But in a country as wealthy as ours, for people to be scrounging in trash cans for garbage to eat is a national disgrace.

DEAR ABBY: I have decided to end our marriage. The reason for our divorce is my wife's marital indiscretions. We are well known in town, and our family and close friends were utterly shocked when they heard the news.

My problem: I do not want anyone thinking that I have been a less-than-decent, caring husband and father. There was no wrongdoing on my part. My wife, although appearing to be a very decent, moral woman, chose to ignore her vows to "forsake all others," if you get my drift — and I think you do.

I do not wish publicly to slander her, but mutual friends are treating me somewhat coldly because I initiated the divorce.

At the present time, I am not speaking to my wife, which is perceived as being cruel; however, I feel that this is appropriate in light of her indiscretions.

So, should I remain silent and try to ignore my friends' cold shoulders?

MR. X

DEAR MR. X: Whether you want to speak to your wife is your own business, but for you to "let people know" that she violated her marriage vows will make you look like a cad. It is almost impossible to throw dirt on someone without getting a little on yourself.

CONFIDENTIAL TO TALKED ABOUT IN NEW ORLEANS: Keep your character in mint condition, and your reputation will take care of itself.

This one's for everybody, from teens to seniors! ## Texas House passes trade school bill

AUSTIN (AP) — A bill aimed at tighter regulation of trade schools was approved by the Texas House.

Trade schools drew fire after some closed without refunding tuition to students who still had to repay loans, or did not make refunds to those who withdrew early from programs.

"The students were responsible for the money, but they didn't receive the services," said Rep. Wilhelmina Delco, D-Austin, bill sponsor.

She said she wasn't criticizing all such schools, but that stronger controls are needed to ensure that unscrupulous ones don't hurt students.

Ms. Delco said that an amendment to the bill approved by the House would take out a currently existing fund providing for student tuition refunds.

She opposed the change, which was not debated. But she asked legislators to pass the bill anyway Thursday, so work on it could continue in the Senate.

The amendment by Rep. Dan Kubiak, R-Rockdale, also removed part of the bill providing that annual fees for schools would be based on their gross tuition. Schools with higher loan default rates would pay higher fees.

Kubiak's amendment set the fees at $500 for schools with less than 50 students. For bigger schools, the initial fee would be $2,500 and $2,000 a year thereafter. The current fees are $1,700 initially and $1,400 after.

Embattled commissioner surrenders

DALLAS (AP) — A Dallas County Commissioner known for his scrapes with the law faces his toughest complaint yet, a felony assault charge which could cost him both his office and up to 10 years in prison if convicted.

Commissioner John Wiley Price was booked at Lew Sterrett Justice Center Thursday evening for aggravated assault in connection with one of two brawls Friday.

The felony charge was for breaking a man's ankle during a downtown scuffle. Price was also charged with two misdemeanor assault charges stemming from the other Friday incident.

Price was released on $1,500 bond posted for the more serious charge.

If convicted, Price could be sentenced to a jail term ranging from two to 10 years. He also would not be allowed to serve in public office.

Price is accused of breaking carpenter Tim Short's ankle. Short was working on the set of a movie being filmed near the Dallas County Administration Building when the fight occurred.

The incident started after Price and construction workers argued about construction equipment blocking the street.

"He had no reason to attack me," Short said in a television interview Thursday. "He pushed down on my leg and I saw the bone break."

About 90 minutes earlier, Price had fought with a jogger who tried to run through a picket line set up outside the offices of WFAA-TV and The Dallas Morning News.

Larry Buck said he was tackled and beaten by Price as he ran through the group of picketers. Buck was not seriously hurt in the mishap.

Price still faces misdemeanor assault complaints in connection with both Friday incidents.

There was no answer at Price's home Thursday evening.

These recent run-ins are the latest in a string of controversial

Richards didn't advise Clinton on race

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Ann Richards, who keynoted the 1988 Democratic National Convention, says she didn't offer Arkansas Gov. Bill Clinton much advice on whether he should seek the party's presidential nomination next year.

"I didn't urge him to do one thing or the other," Richards said after meeting with Clinton for about 30 minutes Thursday.

"He is moving around, talking to leaders, trying to make up his mind ... I told him it was personal, that he had to decide whether this was an experience that he wanted to have, whether or not he wanted to be president of the United States," she said.

Clinton said he is nearing a decision on whether to run, adding that he knows he must make up his mind soon.

"I'm getting closer," he said. "The physical demands of a campaign, and how long it takes a person who comes from a small population base to escape total obscurity, dictates that I don't have a lot of time."

Clinton also spoke to state legislators meeting in special session and later visited San Antonio.

Despite this week's withdrawal of West Virginia Sen. Jay Rockefeller from the potential Democratic field, Clinton said he was confident the party has capable candidates to challenge President Bush.

"I think (Iowa) Sen. (Tom) Harkin's made up his mind to run," Clinton said.

And the Arkansas governor had a kind word for the Democrats' only declared presidential candidate, former Massachusetts Sen. Paul Tsongas.

"I think Sen. Tsongas has already done something ... that no other candidate has done — which is to say what he would do if he had the job," Clinton said.

"If Paul Tsongas does not do one other thing in presidential politics in this cycle, that alone has been worth his candidacy," he said.

events involving the commissioner.

Price was convicted in February of criminal mischief because he bent the windshield wiper of a van that tried to cross a picket line he set up outside a Dallas television station. He is appealing a 6-month jail sentence he received.

He is also appealing a concurrent sentence for violating probation for whitewashing liquor and cigarette billboards in minority neighborhoods.

Price has been leading demonstrations outside Dallas media buildings for several months, protesting what he and supporters say is discrimination in coverage of minorities and minority hiring practices.

School is ordered to integrate squad

CARTHAGE, Texas (AP) — The Texas Education Agency has ordered trustees for an East Texas high school to integrate the school's all-white cheerleading squad, a newspaper reported today.

Officials for the Carthage school districts scheduled a meeting today to discuss the 10-day deadline issued Monday by the TEA.

In the meantime, the U.S. Justice Department has been interviewing officials and residents about the case.

"I think somebody probably complained to them that we were having a problem here in East Texas," said Herbert Owens, one of about eight black ministers who has called attention to the case.

Police note four arrests

Snyder police made four arrests Thursday and early today — all for drinking related charges.

At 6:31 p.m. Thursday, officers arrested a 33-year-old female for public intoxication in the 800 block of 25th St.

In response to a disturbance in the 2000 block of 28th St. at 10:50 p.m., officers arrested a 28-year-old male and a 31-year-old female for public intoxication. And, at 1:13 a.m. today, police arrested a 26-year-old male in the 3900 block of College Ave. for driving while intoxicated.

At 6:55 a.m. Thursday, police filed a report of terrorist threats after a woman said she had been assaulted and threatened with a knife by her ex-husband in the 200 block of Beaumont.

Officers also worked three reports of break-ins and one accident.

At 11:43 a.m. Thursday, Darrell Ash of 404 35th St. contacted police in reference to someone breaking into the residence. Nothing appeared to be missing and officers filed a report for criminal trespass.

At 12:40 p.m., Carolyn Gulseth informed police that someone had broken into a residence at 504 28th St. and taken furniture. A report for burglary of a residence was submitted.

At 12:12 a.m. today, Kerstin Selmon reported that a Goldstar VCR valued at $249 was stolen from 1101 29th St. A report for burglary of a residence was filed.

Officers also noted a traffic accident which occurred at 2:31 p.m. Thursday at 37th St. and Brick Plant Rd. Involved were a 1975 Chevrolet driven by Virgie Harris of Abilene and a 1986 Oldsmobile driven by Joseph Elton Box of 2204 43rd St.

SO takes report, records one arrest

Scurry County sheriff's office investigated a case of criminal mischief and made a felony arrest Thursday.

Twenty-eight-year-old Andrew Perez of 100 East 37th St. was arrested at his residence at 1:30 a.m. Perez had earlier been indicted for felony criminal mischief.

At 8:20 a.m., Bobby Griffith of Trailertopia reported damage done to his television and other items at the residence. Damage was estimated at $400.

A complaint was filed March 19 after three black girls were excluded from the squad and 10 white girls were elected.

On July 15, the school board voted to uphold the cheerleader selection process after the TEA recommended that the black girls be included.

Superintendent Mac Wheat said that decision was based on a prior recommendation by a TEA official that minority students should not be placed on the squad unless they are elected.

The school's policy for cheerleader selection is by student body vote unless more than 13 try out. Then a panel of judges pick the squad.

"They say that is a fair system. Yes, it's fair in surface," Owens told the Longview News-Journal.

"But in reality, if you have 70 percent of the vote, then it's not fair — because the black population only makes up 30 percent of the student body. Therefore, who do you think is going to be elected?"

Teachers

Betsy Griffin, junior high social studies to high school social studies; Rebecca Johnson, junior high English to high school English; Michael Meek, junior high math/coach to high school math/coach; Lisa Rollins, junior high science to high school science; and Darlene Stokes, junior high math to high school math.

Other re-assignments were Joe Young, junior high history/coach to high school history/coach; JoAnn Ham, North sixth grade to East sixth grade; Carla Allen, North/Central librarian to junior high librarian; Steve Tyler, East fourth grade to West sixth grade; Floyd Garcia, West sixth grade to Stanfield first grade; Willita Farmer, Northeast second grade to West first grade; and Paula Bowden, Stanfield first grade to East Elementary third grade.

Trustees recognized a group of students who had successfully earned advanced placement credits. Recognized in calculus were Amy Armstrong and Melissa Huddleston. Jamie Hall was the teacher. Those recognized in English composition were Armstrong, Huddleston, James Beauchamp, Gayle Henderson, Emily King and Courtney Lowrance. The teacher was Carolyn Vestal.

Recognized in biology were Lowrance, Renee Aguirre, Sherry Buchanan, Lisa Carlton, Holly Floyd, Chris Goeber, Shiny Shay, Julie Johnson, Michael Jordan, David Patrick, Betsy Taylor, Eric West and Kimberly Wilson. The instructor was Thomas Strayhorn.

By successfully completing the courses and tests, the students earned college credit.

The board also recognized Miss Taylor, who will be a senior, and Chris Cunningham who will be a junior. Both students have been accepted for special programs which will allow them to complete their high school studies while earning college credit.

New bill would ban 'canned' hunts

AUSTIN (AP) — A state legislator says "canned" hunts, the controversial practice of killing wild animals that have been kept in captivity, are sickening and should be outlawed in Texas.

"The canned hunts we've heard and read about in the (news) media lately turn the stomach of most Texans," said Rep. Robert Saunders, D-LaGrange.

"These individuals are not hunters or sportsmen, and they have no regard for fair and ethical activities. That's why this bill is necessary," Saunders said.

The bill he and Sen. Mike Moncrief, D-Fort Worth, introduced Thursday would restrict ownership of certain wild animals and strengthen enforcement of laws regulating licensing and inspection of wild animal facilities.

Raises to be reviewed

salary increase package — or make further cuts — when it sets a tax rate.

The board also learned Thursday that Snyder ISD will likely have to begin offering a tax incentive percentage, similar to that of the junior college district and county. Currently, those two entities offer taxpayers a three percent break on taxes paid in October, two percent in November and one percent in January. Snyder ISD has not offered the incentive in the past.

However, Ray Peveler, Scurry County chief appraiser and county education district administrator, told the board that eight of the 11 school districts in County Education District 11 currently offer such incentives. He said that payment of taxes to the county education district must be made "in the same time and the same manner" as is made to the school districts. "Since House Bill 2885 ties these together, it would seem that discounts must be offered in the school district if they are offered in the CED," said Peveler.

No figures on the impact of giving the percentage incentives was available, although both Peveler and McNair said they would prepare some figures for board review.

Earlier in the meeting, Burleson requested that the $60 each elementary school teacher receives for supplies be increased to $100. If accepted by the board, the increases would impact the total budget by about $6,000. As Burleson explained, "I think we've heard from enough teachers who are telling us that they are taking money from their own pockets. Sixty dollars is just not enough."

During Thursday's board meeting, which preceded the workshop, trustees heard from West Texas State Bank President Bill Parker and from teacher Carolyn Graves.

Parker, who addressed the athletic budget, asking the board to "Beware of tightening the belt too tight" and to "Beware of linking jocks and socks with faculty compensation. Those are distinct and separate issues."

However, the subject of further cuts to the athletic budget was not mentioned during the meeting.

Graves, spokesperson for a group of concerned teachers, thanked the board for its diligence in working through the budget, and requested that "any new system (of pay increases) be fair and equitable and that teacher salaries be a top priority next year and every year thereafter until once again Snyder is competitive with other districts."

spokeswoman Lydia Saldana, canned hunts aren't illegal under current Texas law unless the animal involved is listed as federally endangered or threatened.

The bill is aimed at protecting lions, tigers, cougars, leopards, cheetahs, hyenas, bears and similar state-listed endangered species.

The measure would make it illegal to kill any of those animals, except where human life was threatened, or under certain narrowly defined exceptions. It would regulate possession and would require all wild animal owners to register with the Parks and Wildlife Department.

Killing or illegal possession of the animals would be a Class A misdemeanor, punishable by up to $2,000 in fines and a year in jail.
