Maniac Butchers Discharged Wave, Leaves Lipstick Note

CHICAGO, Dec. 10. (AP)—Police reported today a "kill crazy" maniac thrust a 10-inch bread-knife through the neck of a pretty discharged Wave early today, pumped two bullets into her body and then scribbled this note in lipstick on her apartment wall:

"For heaven's sake catch me before I kill more. I cannot control myself."

The victim was Miss Frances Brown, 33, a stenographer discharged from the Waves last September. Hed body was found by a maid in the bathtub of her blood spattered, ransacked apartment in the Northside Pine Crest hotel at 8 a. m. today.

Police Capt. Frank Reynolds said the slaying appeared to be the work of a "madman" and closely resembled the fatal stabbing of Mrs. Josephine Alice Ross, 43, in her home in the same general neighborhood last June. Mrs. Ross's juglar vein had been severed and a strip of adhesive tape had been plastered over the wound to stop the spurt of blood.

Mrs. Martha Engles, maid at the hotel, said she found the door to the Brown apartment wide open and the radio blaring. The bed was bloodstained and the room in disarray with drawers opened and rifled.

Miss Brown's body was found in a kneeling position at the side of the bathtub with her head resting on the bottom of the tub. The knife was still in her neck, its point and handle protruding below each ear. The bottom of her pajamas was missing and the tops had been drapped around the knife. There was one bullet wound in her head and another in her right arm.

Capt. Reynolds said police sought to question a dark complexioned, clean-shaven man about 35 years of age who was seen leaving the apartment about three hours before the body was found.

Army And Navy Plan Joint Tests

Atomic Bomb Effect On Warships Sought

By ELTON C. FAY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10—The vulernability of fleets to atomic bomb attack will be given a joint test by the Army and Navy.

The two services, currently at loggerheads over the unification question, announced tonight that plans are under way for the test.

The announcement itself was a terse, two-sentence statement which failed to disclose what vessels would be used as targets. There has been some speculation that captured Japanese vessels would be used, but Navy officials have said they would not provide a fully satisfactory test since they are not comparable to U. S. ships in such factors as compartmentation. Hence obsolete American ships may be chosen.

Navy Hold Silence

A press announcement of the forthcoming tests, captioned "joint Army-Navy release," was issued by the War department with the explanation that it was a simultaneous release, but the Navy department's press section did not issue a similar announcement immediately.

The Navy had expressed informally its desire to investigate the results of atomic explosion against warships, but the effect of tonight's announcement was to commit it formally to a joint test with the Army and, presumably, with the Army air forces.

Far-Reaching Potentialities

Not since the historic occasion when Brig. Gen. Billy Mitchell of the old Army Air corps clamored for and finally won a test of airplane bombing of battleships in the early 20's has a projected experiment contained more far-reaching potentialities.

The announcement said 'planning is already under way for the

Now Milady, With Luck You May Get Christmas Nylons

CHICAGO, Dec. 10 (AP)—If you're lucky—whether you're a man or a woman—you may get a pair of nylon hose for Christmas.

Gustave Frankel, president of the Holeproof Hosiery Co., Milwaukee, Wis., announced his firm today had shipped 250,000 pairs of all-nylon women's hose to 3,500 dealers in more than 1,000 cities throughout the country, and planned to ship 7,000 dozen pairs of men's nylon hose to the same dealers next week. The women's hose probably will go on sale next week, Frankel told a news conference, although disposal of them is up to individual dealers.

U.S. 'Arrogance' Galled Goering

NUERNBERG, Dec. 10 (AP)—Nazi Air Chief Hermann Goering asked the German aircraft industry in 1938 to produce planes capable of carrying a five-ton bomb load to New York to "stop somewhat the mouths of the arrogant people over there," U. S. assistant prosecutor Sidney S. Alderman told the international military tribunal today.

As the American prosecution closed the case against the 21 Nazi defendants on the first count—conspiracy to wage aggressive war—documentary evidence piled up showing:

Gave Up Atlantic Plans

1. That Hitler planned in 1940 to seize Atlantic bases for future attacks upon the United States, but that six months later the Germans apparently lost taste for the project, and instead strove desperately to avoid embroilment with America while pushing Japan steadily into the war.

2. That German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop and Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka had low opinions of the U. S. Navy, which the Japanese foreign minister was certain his Navy would be able to smash "without trouble."

3. That the Nazis made plans months in advance of the attack on Russia to strip the Russians of all food, necessities of life and raw materials.

4. That Ribbentrop, another defendant, and other Top Nazis tried desperately, with glowing accounts of the advantages thereof, to push Japan into the war against the Russians, but that the Japanese warily sidestepped such an attack.

5. That the Germans never envisioned an attack on Pearl Harbor as the first blow of the Japanese in the war, having told the Japanese the line of logical attack was at Singapore, but nevertheless when the Pearl Harbor attack came, Hitler and the top Nazis were pleased and heartily congratulated the Japanese.

The prosecution also introduced a top secret directive from the Nazi high command, dated March 5, 1941, in which Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, Hitler's chief of staff, and others specified that the common aim of Italy, Japan and Germany should be "forcing England to the ground quickly, and thereby keeping the United States out of the war."

Sweeping Victory For Issue Forecast

Big Vote Sought For Bond Election Today

Voting on a $5,894,000 bond issue, which will finance a five-year municipal expansion and improvement program for Lubbock, occupies the attention of the city's qualified voters today.

Although a sweeping victory for the entire program had been forecast, bond campaign leaders were making plans late Monday to secure as large a turnout of voters as possible for the balloting.

Vote At Fire Station

Central Fire Station, corner of Tenth and Ave. J, is the only polling place for the election. Polls will open at 8 a. m. and close at 7 p. m. R. Rush Smith, W. E. Ballew, Glen Hess, Knox T. Thomas and Lewis Murfee are election judges.

Qualified voters in the election are those "who own taxable property in and are residents of the City of Lubbock and who have given account of or surrendered their property for taxation in due, fit and becoming manner, and who have paid their poll taxes before Feb. 1, 1945, or an exemption certificate was duly secured, except that when such electors are veterans of World war II they need only establish their military status at present or within 18 months prior to Dec. 11, 1945, to vote without having a poll tax."

"I'm hopeful that we have the largest total vote ever cast in a city bond election," Mayor O. W. Ribble said Monday, "for we certainly want the election to be a true expression of the sentiment of the people of Lubbock.

Want Every Issue To Carry

"Of course, we want every issue to carry; for Lubbock is already ten years behind in many of the items in the 14 propositions summitted on the ballot," Mayor Ribble continued. "The voters might as well cast their ballots to approve the entire issue, for if one proposition fails, it will certainly have to be re-submitted to the people again within a short period of time."

Mayor Ribble cited the fact that every phase of the city's life was included in the proposed improvements. Funds for municipal buildings, fire stations and equipment, parks, airport improvements, storm and sanitary sewer extensions and plants, highway and street improvements, street and

General Patton Is Said Critical

HEIDELBERG, Germany, Dec. 10. (AP) — Gen. George S. Patton, jr., was in critical condition today, but his rugged physique has sustained him in resisting the initial shock of a broken neck and partial paralysis, Army doctors said.

Today's final bulletin from the U. S. 130th station hospital in Heidelberg said:

"General condition maintained. Reacted well to initial shock. Dislocation of vertebrae is responding satisfactorily to extension. Condition remain critical."

First Time Word Used

It was the first time the word "critical" was used in describing the condition of the U. S. 15th Army commander, who was injured yesterday when an Army truck crashed into the sedan in which Patton was returning from a pheasant hunting trip. Previous bulletins said his condition was "serious."

Patton was described as being paralyzed completely below the fractured third cervical vertebra in the neck, and as suffering from a dislocation of the fourth cervical. The dislocation, however, had been almost completely reduced, a bulletin said.

The latest bulletin clearly indicated that Patton was conscious.

Wife Enroute By Plane

Mrs. Patton, flying to his bedside, was expected to arrive in Paris at 6 a. M. (midnight, EST) tomorrow, and will travel immediately by rail to Heidelberg. With her is Medical Corps Col. Roy Glenn Spurling of Louisville, Ky., a neuro-surgery specialist.

At Mrs. Patton's request, Brigadier Hugh Carnes, neuro-surgical consultant to the British Army, has come to Heidberg and is in consultation with Lt. Col. Gilbert Phillips, commanding the surgical division treating head injuries at British military hospitals.

Two bulletins are being issued daily on Patton's progress.

Hurley Cites Iran 'Scandal'

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10. (AP)—Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley said today that he had sought to stop a profit-making British corporation from selling lend-lease supplies in Iran and 17 other countries.

The late President Roosevelt endorsed Hurley's suggestion "that the distribution of lend-lease supplies throughout the Middle East should be taken over by our own people," testimony showed.

And it was this policy, Hurley charged, that was wrecked by Dean Acheson, then an assistant secretary of state and now undersecretary.

Acheson Follows Him

Acheson, following Hurley to the stand before the Senate Foreign Relations committee, asserted that "there is no policy I have blocked or destroyed" but acknowledged that he disagreed with some of Hurley's recommendations.

Hurley declared that Acheson "disregarded" his plan "in favor of monopoly and imperialism." Acheson replied that this statement was "utterly fantastic."

"The basic thing in Secretary Acheson's opposition," Hurley testified, "was that I contended that the United Kingdom Commercial corporation, a profit-making organization owned by Great Britain, should not be allowed to sell lend-lease supplies in Iran and 17 other countries fo rthe purpose of building up a trade monopoly and excluding United States trade from those territores.

Wanted Advisors

"I contended also that instead of creating imperialistic monopolies among weaker nations, we should furnish those nations with advisors, paid by them, in order to assist them to develop their own resources and not to enrich some imperialistic monopoly or foreign interests.

Acheson related that he had criticized Hurley's suggestions vigorously because he thought they would entail some undesirable commitments for the U. S. But he conceded that Mr. Roosevelt's letter "constitutes an overruling of my view."

Small Part Handled

Acheson explained that a small portion of lend-lease in Iran was handled by the British corporation because it would have been impractical to recruit and transport an American staff to do the job. He added that all proceeds of civilian lend-lease paid for by the Iranian government through the British corporation have been turned over to the U. S.

Hurley said that Acheson's view had prevailed until September, 1944. Then, Hurley continued, he made a report to Mr. Roosevelt containing charges against individuals who in Hurley's view were defeating the President policies. As a result, Hurley added, two diplomats were withdrawn from Iran "for not making American policy effective." He named them as Leland Morris and Lewis Dreyfus.

U. S. Knew Of Jap Actions

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10—Gen. George C. Marshall acknowledged today the Army knew more than 10 days before Pearl Harbor that the enemy was on the move in a direction that might take him past the deadline where American military chiefs believed we should fight.

The move was the embarkation of about five divisions aboard 40 to 50 transports at Shanghai, headed south. It was reported by Army intelligence Nov. 25-26, 1941.

Questioned By Ferguson

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) questioned the retired chief of staff at the hearing of the Senate-House committee investigating Pearl Harbor. Ferguson recalled that Marshall and Admiral Harold R. Stark, then chief of naval operations, had recommended on Nov. 5 that no military action be taken against Japan unless she moved south of 10 degrees north latitude.

The senator asked if it were not a "fair statement" that the Army knew the Japanese move might take troops across that line.

"Yes sir," Marshall replied.

Approved Flights

From the former chief of staff, the committee also received testimony that he approved proposed photographic reconniassance flights over Japanese mandated islands in November, 1941. Marshall said that as he recalled the flights were never made and the planes which were to make them were caught by the attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941.

The general also related that Britain suggested before the war's outbreak that the United States base some of its fleet at Singapore, but the American high command demurred because, among other reasons, it feared the ships would come under Japanese air attack.

Ferguson had personally questioned Marshall for more than seven hours and still had not completed his examination when the committee recessed until tomor-

GI Education Lapse Charged

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—Two leading educators said today that the nation is falling down on its educational job among returning GI's who most need help.

They urged in separate interviews that more be done for the 4,000,000 who never got past the eighth grade and the 5,000,000 others who never finished high school.

The report of poor performance came from Ernest V. Hollis, government specialist in higher education, and Francis J. Brown, staff associate for the American Council on Education.

Falling Down On Adults

Both said the nation is doing a pretty fair job with the veteran who is coming back to finish an interrupted college education. But they added the country is falling down on its job with the GI who returns as an adult—and still needs the type of schooling usually looked upon as kid stuff.

The figures were supplied by Hollis, who has made a detailed study of education—or the lack of it—in the armed forces. He rates the GI who needs additional grade and high school training as one of the nation's foremost problems.

His suggestion: Let each state set up a special board to supervise the problem. Then arrange special education teams which would move into each isolated area and give fundamentals as well as technical instruction.

Gangsterism Orgy Rackets, Murders Feared By FBI Head

By ROGER GREENE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Dec. 10. (AP)—J. Edgar Hoover, who carries perhaps more secrets in his head than any man alive, made no secret tonight of his fears that the United States may be in for a sequel to the orgy of gangsterism, rackets and murder that marked the roaring '20s.

The FBI chieftain, in an interview, told newsmen that hijacking, kidnaping and other types of violent crime are already showing an alarming increase across the nation.

"The firing has stopped on the battlefronts, but it is being resumed on the homefront."

Nationwide Increase

Citing a nation-wide increase in "serious crime" for October of this year over the same months last year, Hoover gave the following breakdown figures by sections:

Western state—12.3 per cent increase.

Northern state—9.7 per cent increase.

Northeast—6 per cent increase.

South—3 per cent increase.

Hoover blamed the laxity of parents as a major factor in contributing to the rising tide of post-war crime, declaring that "parental responsibility is no longer in style" with the result that "the delinquent youngster of the war years is now graduating into the ranks of seasoned criminals."

Penal System Looseness

In an address before the 62nd annual meeting of the International Association of Chief of Police, Hoover also struck out at what he termed the looseness of prison officials.

"The abuses and maladministration of our penal system which releases murderers, sex-crazed degenerates, outlaws and bandits on parole or on 'leave of absence' from our correctional institutions to commit serious crimes against our citizens is constituting again a national disgrace," the FBI chief said.

Turning from crime to war, Hoover disclosed that as early as Nov. 27, 1941, ten days before the Japanese sneak attack on Pearl Harbor, he alterted the Honolulu bureau of the FBI for possible danger from Japan.

Expected Break

"On the basis of our information, I felt it reasonable to expect a breakdown of diplomatic relations between the United States and Japan," he told reporters. "All our bureaus throughout the Pacific, including the Philippines, were alterted."

Hoover said he understood he would probably be called to testify in the Pearl Harbor investigation in Washington.

He recalled that on the day before Pearl Harbor his FBI agents tapped a telephone call from Honolulu to Tokyo in which the Honolulu caller, a woman speaking in Japanese, gave "poetic descriptions of the flowering poinsettias and scarlet hibiscus and mentioned the winds."

Hoover said he "thought it was funny for a person to talk about things like that on the telephone to Tokyo," but the code in the message, if there was any code, was not broken before the Japs blasted Pearl Harbor the next morning.

The FBI chief, saying "now it can be told," also revealed that the FBI investigated over a million complaints of espionage in this country during the war, and secured 141 convictions with penalties totaling 1,637 years imprisonment, six executions and one life-term imprisonment.

IMPATIENCE IS COSTLY

DENVER, Dec. 10 (AP)—A woman brought before Police Judge Joseph Neff today charged with shoplifting $80 worth of merchandise explained she would have paid for it "if somebody had waited on me, but I just got tired and left with it." She was fined $200.

Contract With Ford Is Seen

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, Dec. 10. — The CIO United Auto Workers union, in a move unprecedented in the motor car industry, offered the Ford Motor Co. a "company security" clause today that paved the way for contract negotiations on a 30 per cent wage increase demand.

Richard T. Leonard, director of the Ford department of the UAW-CIO, said the company agreed to talk wages at the next conference, scheduled for Wednesday.

He added that the union is not demanding "30 per cent or else."

May Waive Demands

A percentage of the wage increase demand may be waived, he explained, if Ford makes annual wage, pension, retirement, and vacation proposals which the union deems of more worth than the money itself.

"I believe they can pay 30 per cent," Leonard went on. "I don't know if we will ask Ford to produce their books. We may. Up to now we haven't."

The company security plan offered by the auto union permits the discharge and fining of wildcat strikers.

Acceptance Is Seen

"My feeling is that the company will accept our plan," Leonard declared. "And I am sure that our union members will accept it."

In addition to the proposal to Ford, on which the company delayed an answer pending study, there were these incidents:

1.—General Motors terminated its contract with the Auto Workers union, whose 20-day-old strike over a demand for a 30 per cent wage rate increase has made 343,000 workers idle. The contract was to have expired April 28, 1946.

2.—Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach urged an early settlement of the General Motors strike in the interest of America's "economic life."

Relief In Sight From Cold Wave

Shivering Christmas shoppers were promised slowly rising temperatures today by the weatherman as Lubbock continued gripped by the coldest weather of the season last night, and Dr. J. W. Rollo, city health officer, dropped an encouraging word when he predicted that the cold might serve to reduce the influenza epidemic which has hampered activities in the South Plains area for ten days.

13 Is Monday's Low

Lubbock's official low for the period preceding p. m. Monday was 13 degrees, while the high was 35 degrees. West Texas Gas company's unofficial main line station reading at midnight last night was 22 degrees.

Dr. Rollo said the "snapper" probably will "purify" the atmosphere, lessening danger of contracting the "flu" germ. While incidence of "flu" continues high in the city, the health officer ventured the opinion that it is "dying out."

He termed current cases as mild and that few develop with "complications." However, there are several cases of pneumonia in the city, many of them under treatment at local hospitals. Pneumonia cases along with those of "flu" recently have taxed already

This Is Lubbock's "Day Of Decision"

Vote "YES" On All Proposals!

Qualified resident voters of the City of Lubbock will decide the future of their community at the polls today.

If the majority votes "YES" on all of the proposed bond issuances, Lubbock will keep step with—even go ahead of—the forward march of the progressive cities of the Southwest.

If the majority votes "NO," Lubbock will stamp itself as a "back number," whose citizens lack foresight and courage.

The bond election is both a challenge and a privilege. If you are a loyal Lubbockite you will respond to the challenge for progress. If you are a loyal American you will exercise your privilege of free suffrage, now denied to so many millions of persons in other lands.

Today is Lubbock's Day of Decision. Shall she keep her rightful place alongside other progressive cities of our state, or shall she slip back into the class of 'hit-or-miss,' mediocre cities of this rapidly expanding empire of West Texas?

Voters, the decision rests in your hands.

Vote "YES" on each of the 14 proposals for a bigger, better, happier Lubbock!

U. S. Supreme Court Decrees Full Federal Tax On Estates

Community Property Ruled Out

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10. (AP) — A requirement that all "community property" of a married couple, for federal tax purposes, must be included in the estate of the spouse who dies first was ruled valid today by the Supreme court.

The court acted on Justice department appeals from two U. S. District court decisions in cases in the "community property" states of Louisiana and Texas. The district court held the requirement—contained in the 1942 federal revenue act—violates the due process clause of the constitution.

Under state community property laws, husband and wife are equal owners of all property they acquire. California, Arizona, Idaho, Nevado, New Mexico and Washington—all having similar community property laws—filed briefs with the Supreme court asking that the district court decisions be upheld.

Chief Justice Stone wrote two opinions in the two cases. In both the court ruled in favor of the government by 810 decisions. Justice Jackson took no part.

In the Texas case, the district court rejected efforts of the U. S. collector of internal revenue to keep $6,937 collected from the estate of Ernst Herbst, a rancher who died at New Braunsfels.

In the Louisiana case, the district court said heirs of Sam Wiener, jr., of Shreveport, were entitled to recover $162,329 as an overpayment of estate taxes. Justice Douglas wrote a special concurring opinion in this case, in which he was joined by Justice Black.

In both cases the government claimed taxes on all of the community property which belonged to Mr. and Mrs. Herbst and Mr. and Mrs Wiener, rather than on only one-half of the total property in each case.

The lower courts found that because of the state community property laws, one-half of the total property in each case belonged to the widow and ruled that half should not be subject to federal estate tax.

In the two opinions the court ruled against all constitutional objections which had been raised against the tax.

In the Wiener case, Chief Justice Stone said that the death of Wiener "since it ended his control over the disposition of the proceeds (or his insurance) and gave his wife the previous enjoyment of them, may be constitutionally made the occasion for the imposition of an indirect tax measured by the proceeds themselves."

In the Herbst case, Stone said that "the death of either the husband or the wife of the Texas community thus effects sufficient alteration in the spouses' possession and enjoyment and reciprocal powers of control and disposition of the community property as to warrant the imposition of the excise tax measured by the value of the entire community."

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

HARDLY a day passes that we do not get a telephone call from a distressed mother of a war veteran asking that we write something to persuade youngsters from shooting fireworks downtown or in their own yards. While we feel that anything we might write will be rather futile, unless we have cooperation from parents and especially from the youngsters, our column is still open to anything that may benefit veterans, and for their sake we are writing today.

As the Plainsman Says column in a recent Lubbock Evening Journal pointed out, young people are usually cooperative when they are asked to give up a normal or natural pursuit that is harmful to someone else, since on the whole they have akeen sense of basic justice. Surely no young boy has set off a firecracker or stomped one of those sidewalk explosives in deliberate attempting to frighten a returned service man. We feel, as the Plainsman does, that it is a thoughtless young person who shoots firecrackers this season, especially after it has been brought to his attention that it upsets the veterans. As the column set out, "We owe a great debt of gratitude to the returned fighting men the leaving off of firecrackers shooting is one way young men between 8 and 18 can help pay that debt."

We had occasion to be talking with a veteran Monday and asked him how he felt about hearing firecrackers. He flushed slightly and then said simply, "I'm sorry but I hate to hear them. They set my whole spine tingling. I find myself waiting for the next one to go off and when they first began firing them here my heart pounded like mad and my first thought was 'someone has been shot!' I don't know how long it will take the fellows to get back to normal but for my part I wish the kiddies would leave off firing them for a while."

ONE of our callers told of an incident witnessed in a drugstore. A war veteran and his young son were in the store when someone shot off a firecracker just outside the door. The exsoldier jumped and trembled violently, although his son said immediately, "Why Dad, that's just a firecracker!"

She was indignant about the matter and said she felt sure if the guilty person could have seen the reaction to the explosion he would have been more thoughtful in the future.

AGAINST THE LAW

INCIDENTALLY, while we're on this subject of fireworks, we'll tell you something you may not know. There is a city ordinance against shooting such explosives within fire zone 1, which according to Fire Chief W. E. Twitty is just about all of down town Lubbock. The zone begins at Fourth and Ave. —, goes west to Ave. M, south to Fifteenth, east to Ave. K and then south to Sixteenth. So, you see when a youngster celebrates in the manner many have done during the past few days, he not only is exciting war-torn nerves of those men who have come home for peace and rest, but is also violating a city ordinance.

If you want to buy firecrackers in Amarillo, you have to ge beyond the city limit to make your purchases because they are not sold down town and the ordinance there is put into effect. If the Panhandle capital can do that, why can't we?

ALTHOUGH we decry the custom of shooting off fireworks during the days prior to celebration of the birth of the King of Peace, we would not deprive youngsters altogether of the fun of firing sparklers or roman candles or other fireworks. As the Plainsman suggested, why can't there be an occasion for that at a stated place, such as a park or Boys club? Or, as a woman suggested to the writer, why not let parents take children and their playmates outside of town and build a bonfire and have one big time, away from anyone it might harm?

LOST BILLFOLD

MRS. J. G. West, who recently moved to 2519 North Fourth, lost her billfold in getting off of a bus Saturday night. She is dismayed since it contained the last card sent from her son who died in service and contained her social security card, driver's license and other papers. There was $8 in the billfold, which the finder may keep if he will return the article, she said.

IN THE MAIL

DEAR Miss Turner:

I want to commend through your column, the excellent performance of the Lubbock High school orchestra under the direction of Miss Beverly Vaughn at the high school auditorium Dec. 7. These students worked many weeks to prepare this program for the citizens of Lubbock and yet the attendance was very poor.

There is always a tremendous turnout for the performance of a well known artist; many of us travel miles and spend five to ten dollars for a seat at a symphony, and yet few of us realize that out of our own high school orchestra are very capable young artists giving free concerts of classical and semi-classical music we should pay to hear.

Mark 6:4 "A prophet is not without honour, but in his own country, and among his own kin and i nhis own house."

Help Prevent Worse Cuts in Our Soap Supply

Your Used Fats Are Still Needed To Help Ease The Soap Shortage

As long as our country's supply of industrial fats is so low, the government must determine how much fat can be released to make soap and other peacetime goods you need.

Any let-down in your saving of used kitchen fats will make our fat supply even less . . . and the amount allowed for soap manufacture may have to be cut accordingly. The end of rationing of food fats doesn't change the picture. Industrial fats are still very short. So keep turning in your used fats, won't you? . . . and speed the return of more soaps to your dealer's shelves.

Nazi Plot Against Christianity Revealed In Secret German File

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press World Traveler

LONDON, Dec. 10.—Ever since my tour of Germany at the time of the fateful Munich conference in 1938 this column has repeatedly insisted that Hitler deliberately set about to destroy Christianity in the fatherland, substituting the Pagan creed under which he himself was a messiah, because he realized that no Christian would support his plot of murder and enslavement in Europe.

Concrete evidence that this was indeed the Nazi anti-Christ's program has now been placed in my hands here in London, this is in the form of an amazing secret report recently discovered in the files of the Reich security department in Berlin.

Policy Set Out

This document, which was for official guidance, analyzed the operations of the Oxford group (moral rearmament) under leadership of Dr. Frank Buchman, and warned that it was dangerous to Nazidom as an instrument of Christianity. The official files in Berlin also disclosed that directives for the suppression of the Oxford group in both Germany and in occupied countries were issued.

In one brutally blunt line, it discloses the Fuehrer's purpose to smash Christianity in Germany: "They (the Oxford group) encourage their members to place themselves fully beneath the Christian cross, and to oppose the cross of the swastika with the cross of Christ, as the former (the swastika) seeks to destroy the cross of Christ."

The report reveals that the secret police regarded the Oxford group as a force working "to bring about new political and ideological conditions in the Reich. At the very moment we (Nazi officialdom) are making efforts to suppress Christian conviction of sin, which is regarded as the first step towards the enslavement of the Germans, a movement is emanating from the Anglo-Saxons, who are racially related to us, which regards just this consciousness of sin as a basis for a change in personal and national relationships."

Rate Agreements By Carriers Approved

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10. (AP)—Legislation permitting railroads and other surface carriers to enter rate and service agreements, with immunity from anti-trust laws, was passed 277 to 45 by the House today and sent to the Senate.

The bill conditions freedom from anti-trust action on approval of such rate and service agreements by the Interstate Commerce commission as working in the public interest.

Opponents of the bill, by Rep. Bulwinkle (D-NC), attacked it as a step toward destruction of anti-trust laws.

Rep. Tarver (D-Ga) declared it would "cut the ground from under-efforts of the South and West to get relief from "rate discrimination."

Bauer Described As Spy, Ordered Held

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—Attorney General Tom C. Clark today ordered the internment of Sgt. Frederick Emil Bauer, describing him as "a full-fledged German spy who came to the United States on an espionage mission" for Hitler.

Clark announced that the Justice department arrested Bauer at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indianapolis, Ind., today just as an officer board of the Fifth Service command issued him a discharge without honor.

He will be held as an alien enemy pending a hearing on his repatriation to Germany.

The order for his arrest termed Bauer dangerous to the peace and safety of the United States, Clark's announcement said.

Soviets' Censorship Is Claimed Resumed

NEW YORK, Dec. 10. (UP) — Henry Shapiro, United Press staff correspondent in Moscow, reported today that strict Soviet censorship of outgoing news dispatches has been restored.

He also advised that the Russian censors "bluepencilled in its entirety" a dispatch in which he sought to report the new censorship practice.

Moscow correspondents reported just a month ago that Soviet censorship had been materially relaxed.

It appeared possible that the resumption of tight censorship was ordered because of the impending meeting of the Big Three foreign ministers in Moscow.

Texas Hits Halfway Mark in Bond Drive

DALLAS, Dec. 10. (UP)—Led by little Sutton county, where you can drive 25 miles without seeing a house, the big state of Texas finally reached the 55 per cent mark today in the Victory Loan drive.

Lagging in 47th place in the nation, the state which claimed a big share in winning of the war was proving itself slow in "picking up the check" to pay for the battles.

Officials in charge of the drive disclosed that Sutton county, in Southwest Texas, was the first Texas county to go over the top in the drive and now heads the state with better than 160 per cent of quota sold. The county has apopulation of 3,977 and it went over the top the first day with average sales of $28 for every man, woman and child.

The Texas quota is $90,000,000 and the lone star state has until Dec. 31 to buy the other 45 per cent.

Youths Said Involved In Houston Shooting

HOUSTON, Dec. 10. (UP)—Three youths were charged today with shooting and robbing Lawrence Turley, 44, as police redoubled efforts to find another youthful trio wanted in another week-end robbery.

Turley identified three who, he said, first offered him a drink and then, when he declined, pulled a gun and demanded his money.

He said they took $9 from him and when he stumbled on the curb they shot him and fled. A witness of the shooting, Othla Lee Spear, followed the youths and eventually captured them.

Still sought were three youths who Sam Pusateri, 28, said robbed him of $53 early today. He said that while stopped for an intersection light, the trio jumped into his car and robbed him of the cash. When he refused to endorse a check found in his billfold they slugged him in the eye with a sand-filled sock.

Man Dies In Plunge From Houston Bridge

HOUSTON, Dec. 10. (UP)—Police today took fingerprints in an attempt to identify a middle-aged man who was killed Sunday when he fell 50 feet from a bridge.

Except for the name "J. R. Cox" sewed over a shirt pocket there were no identifying marks on the body.

Police said he apparently was lying down on the bridge railing when he fell about 1:40 a. m. His chest was bruised and his skull fractured when he hit a concrete slab on the bank of the bayou and rolled into the chilly waters.

Try ALL-BRAN Apple Spice Muffins!
(No sugar, no shortening, but lots of praise!)
It's hard to believe such luscious muffins are sugarless and shortening-less—but they are! They owe their wonderful flavor to a combination of ginger, cinnamon, molasses and the tasty, nut-sweet goodness of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. And they owe their tender texture to the fact that ALL-BRAN is milled extra-fine for golden softness.
2 cups Kellogg's ALL-BRAN
½ cup molasses
1½ cups milk
1 egg, beaten
1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoons cinnamon
¾ teaspoon ginger
1 cup raw apple or other fruit
cinnamon-and-sugar mixture
Add ALL-BRAN to molasses and milk and allow to soak for 15 minutes. Add egg. Sift flour, soda, salt and spices together and combine with ALL-BRAN mixture. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full. Dip apple slices in cinnamon-sugar mixture and place on top. Bake in moderately hot oven (400°F.) about 20 minutes. Makes 15 muffins.
Good Nutrition, too!
ALL-BRAN is made from the VITAL OUTER LAYERS of finest wheat—contains a concentration of the protective food elements found in the whole grain. One-half cup provides over ½ your daily minimum need for iron. Serve Kellogg's ALL-BRAN daily!

Dangerous mixture . . .
During the war there was little production of civilian goods, and a lot of the things people had were worn out or used up—
People did not spend the high wages they earned, so savings increased rapidly.
The result is that America has built up tremendous buying power.
Lots of buying power and little to buy make a dangerous combination—like chemicals that explode when put together.
When people need things badly and have plenty of money, they are apt to pay too much for what they need. INFLATION then begins!
It's a dangerous mixture—shortage of goods and plenty of money.
The answer to high prices and inflation is plenty of goods.
America's factories should be working day and night to turn out the things people need—to balance needs with goods.
Instead—what do we have? A demand by UAW-CIO leaders for a 30 per cent wage increase. More than that, a strike which has closed down General Motors plants. Both are inflationary. Both make the mixture still more dangerous.

Shaky Jap Regime Under New Fire As Emperor's Divinity Questioned

TOKYO, Dec. 10 (AP)—The shaky Japanese government came under new fire from its own people today with an unprecedented public questioning of the emperor's divinity and a warning that present policies were leading inevitably to imminent food riots.

At the same time Allied headquarters added to its list of wanted men 60 small-fry accused of abusing war prisoners. Three big-time war criminal suspects previously named were locked in jail.

15 Farmers Protest

A committee of 15 influential Japanese farmers from Akita province in northeastern Japan expressed the food riot threat, asking former Premier Prince Naruhiko Higashi-Juni to intercede with Emperor Hirohito to improve policies which they said had produced a general lack of confidence.

There have been some minor food riots in isolated districts in the past two months.

The farmer's appeal was almost simultaneous with a stern new order from General MacArthur for redistribution of land. A MacArthur directive a month ago resulted in a mild land measure being presented to the Diet, which has not acted upon it.

The farmers contended that only a personal tour by the emperor would dispel "the mental confusion existing among agricultural communities."

In the Diet and in the press, however, the emperor himself was attacked.

Emperor Is Accused

The new tabloid paper Minpo declared editorially that the emperor was responsible for the war and urged his abdication.

Also, for the first time, a member of the house of representatives bluntly asked whether the emperor was considered a god, saying the people were confused but he himself regarded the emperor as "a human being."

On Saturday the cabinet officially expressed itself in favor of retaining the sovereignty of the emperor.

Today's abrupt questioning came from Bumpei Hamaji, poet and politician who was aligned with the old Seiju-Kai conservative party but who lately has been assailing the government.

Merger Of Forces Is Hit By Navy Leader

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10. (AP)—A flying admiral said today merger of the Army and Navy might slow this country's scientific development.

The assertion came from Rear Adm. Luis De Florez in testimony prepared for the Senate Military committee. Assistant Chief of the Navy's Office of Research and Inventions, De Florez said he considered competition between the services the single factor that did most to bring forth radar, the atomic bomb and other wartime discoveries.

King Hurls Charges

Over the weekend, Fleet Adm. Ernest J. King kept alive the Navy's vigorous opposition to the Army-supported merger proposal by asserting in his final report as chief of Naval operations that the war produced no man capable of commanding all of this country's armed forces.

Contending that "competition of independent services, particularly in peacetime, is needed to keep aliv th spark of originality and nterprise," De Florez continued:

"We have too many instances in the past, of developments which would never have seen the light of day had there not been honest differences of opinion between the Army and Navy. It is a surprise to me that the Army does not welcome such competition."

Youth Admits He Set Fire "For A Thrill"

CLEVELAND, Dec. 10. (U.P.)—Juvenile authorities held a 12 year old boy today after he admitted to police that he started "for a thrill" a $200,000 stockyards fire in which two firemen were killed.

The Cleveland Union Stockyards Co. fire of March 11, 1944, injured two other firemen, and two civilians. Nearly 150 animals were killed.

The boy, a sixth grade student, also admitted starting a $35,000 fire at the Pilsner Brewing Co. Oct. 3, 1944. He said he started fires and then ran home to his parents and when the sirens sounded asked them to take him to the fire.

The boy said he didn't know why he started his first fire but after that he "couldn't stop."

Prevention Of War Only Method Of Saving World, Experts Say

By ROBERT ZIMMERMAN
United Press Staff Writer

DENVER, Dec. 10 — Atomic power experts, social science workers and educators, supporting the Truman-Attlee-King proposal for a commission to control atomic energy, agreed today that only prevention of war could save the world from destruction.

At the conclusion of an atomic power conference at Denver university, atomic scientists and laymen declared that international control of the atom bomb was the only way to save the world from an atomic death.

Recommendations Made

A group of more than 20 scientists who took part in the atomic research project ended a three-day conference with sociology and education experts yesterday. Their findings indicated a dark future if war was again to ravage the world, but a bright future if common sense and understanding was to rule.

Heading a list of recommendations agreed upon at the end of the meetings was the establishment of an international commission for control of atomic energy, as proposed by President Truman and Prime Ministers King and Attlee.

Scientists said the "secret of the atomic bomb" was shortlived. Dr. Joyce C. Sterns, Washington university professor who aided in the atomic research, estimated that it would take only from three to five years for any nation to discover the so-called secret.

The scientists and educators could offer no assurance for safety of civilization in the years to come except by the total disappearance of war.

Can Use Legislation

"If wars are permitted to occur, the atomic bomb will be used. Lacking a world organization, it cannot be outlawed or controlled by national legislation," the scientists said.

"There is no active military defense against the atomic bomb. The most practical defense is simply that of avoiding wars."

The nuclear physicists, who came to the conference from laboratories at Los Alamos, N. M., and Oak Ridge, Tenn., as well as several universities, recommended an "inspection force" as part of the United Nations Organization.

The UNO inspectors would make periodic inspection of factories and laboratories of all nations. To do this, there must be complete confidence and mutual desire for peace among nations, the conferees said.

Valley Crop Season Said Nearing Climax

McALLEN, Dec. 10. (AP)—This year's winter vegetable industry in the Rio Grande valley was nearing a close today after suffering a killing frost but the citrus crop rolled on to market.

Farm income in this section since Jan. 1 was estimated unofficially at $108,000,000.

Not all of the valley's vegetable crop was damaged by the frost, which arrived later than in most seasons and caught the tag-ends of such big crops as tomatoes and peppers. Cabbage, carrots and beets were unhurt. Squash and green beans bore the brunt of the weather damage, but large tonnages had already been marketed. Many bean fields had been grown for canning, and most operations had ended a week before the frost arrived.

No citrus was damaged by the mercury drop.

Rail shipments of vegetables this season stand at 2,717 cars, compared with 1,487 at the same date a year ago.

Citrus loadings have reached 8,407 carlots this year, or an average of well over 1,000 cars per week since loadings started.

Negro Registrants To Take Induction Tests

A group of negro registrants of Lubbock County Selective Service boards I and II left Lubbock Monday via bus for El Paso for induction in the armed forces and pre-induction physical examinations, chief clerks of the boards announced.

Those reporting for induction were Clarence Elmer Thomas, L. V. Cleveland, George Ural Smith and Lonzo Jackson, jr., all of board II.

Registrants going for pre-induction were Tinnie Ross, Robert Hammons, Jewel Loyd, Oliver Clint Harris, Dillard Harris, L. C. Guyton and Jessie Jackson of Board II and Bruce Alton McCollin of Board I.

In the first nine months of 1944, 38 per cent of the total shipments of tooth brushes from factories went to military, post exchanges, ships' stores, Red Cross, and for export.

Typhus Control Plan Approved

A resolution of agreement in connection with a typhus control program inaugurated by the city of Lubbock and the U. S. Public Health service, agencies working under the state board of health, was passed Monday morning by county commissioners.

They agreed to pay half the expense for such services in rural towns of Lubbock county commencing Jan. 1, provided the county's expenses would not exceed $75 monthly and that the first of the proposed quarterly programs proves effective. The county then would support the campaign in all of 1946.

Bond of V. K. Hays as public weigher of justice precinct 1 was approved. Plat and dedication of Murphy place was approved, as it earlier had been done by the city engineer. Plat and dedication of East Acres, a residential addition near the experiment substation was approved subject to approval of the city engineer.

Special Bills Allowed

Special bills were allowed: $616.31 to R. B. George company for machinery parts, $123.93 to Graham Paint and Paper company for paint. It was voted to transfer $750 from road and bridge fund No. 5 to the county library fund.

Commissioners are Barrett Penney, Ben Mansker, T. L. Holt and Vol J. Farris. County Judge Walter Davies presided, and Louie F. Moore, county clerk, acted as secretary. Newton Stokes, former commissioner of precinct 3, attended in support of the anti-typhus campaign proposal.

The commissioners plan to meet again Thursday.

Continental Airlines Officials Plan Visit In City During Week

Headed by Robert F. Six, president of Continental airlines, a party of company officials will make a survey trip this week over the new route from Tulsa to El Paso via Lubbock, according to an announcement from Denver Monday.

Six said the officals who will confer with officials here Wednesday in regard to Feb. 15 inauguration of service along the route serving Tulsa, Oklahoma City, Wichita Falls, Lubbock, Hobbs and Carlsbad would include O. R. Haueter, vice president in charge of operations; Donald A. Duff, executive assistant, traffic and sales; W. E. Amlong, executive assistant; L. H. Dennis, manager of flight service; and R. F. McKee, operations engineer.

Fly Twin-Engine Plane

They will fly one of the twin-engine planes which will supply cities of the route with northeast-southwest air transportation for the first time and which will link cities in the heart of one of the richest oil producing regions of the world with Tulsa and Oklahoma City, where many of the principal officers of the oil companies operating in the region are located.

Sizable saving in travel time will be made possible by the establishment of the new route. For example, travel by surface transportation between Lubbock and Wichita Falls requires 7 hours and 30 minutes. Via air the trip will take only 1 hour and 5 minutes. It now requires 19 hours and 30 minutes to go from Tulsa to Lubbock, but the new air route will reduce the time to 2 hours and 45 minutes. Travel time between Lubbock and Hobbs, where surface travel facilities are limited, will be only 40 minutes by Continental's new route.

The El Paso-Tulsa route will add 516 new miles to the Continental system, which now totals 2,333 miles and serves 23 cities in six states. Establishment of the route will bridge together two of Continental's present routes, thus further integrating the Continental system and making possible more efficient operation.

The population of Macedonia, numbering slightly more than 3,000,000, consists of many nationalities.

WILL THERE BE A STEEL STRIKE?

Not if the CIO abides by its pledged word, given only last spring.

Question: What would be the general effect on the country of a steel strike?

Answer: Over 40 per cent of all the factory workers in the country earn their living by making steel into useful products for American life. A shut-down of the steel industry would be a disastrous blow to reconversion and would cause a serious loss in both wages and industrial production at a time when they were most needed.

Question: Is it true that the Steelworkers Union has pledged itself not to strike?

Answer: Yes. Every contract which the Union has signed this year with the various steel companies has a clause wherein the Union agrees not to strike during the life of the contract.

Question: Are those contracts still in effect?

Answer: Yes. They were signed in the spring of 1945 to run until October, 1946.

Question: Who signed for the Union?

Answer: Its international officials—Philip Murray, Van Bittner, Clinton Golden and others—and the local Union heads at the various plants.

Question: Is there no "escape clause" by which either side could end the agreements?

Answer: No. The Union demanded a fixed, long-term contract and got it.

Question: Why did they want a long-term contract?

Answer: In the Union's own words before the War Labor Board, "The Union's request for a termination date of October, 1946, is not made capriciously or pressed here for bargaining purposes. it represents the considered view of the Union that only such a term will adequately serve the needs of stability."

Question: Did the recent strike vote violate the contracts?

Answer: No. Only an actual strike would violate them.

Question: Haven't there been strikes already during the life of the contracts?

Answer: Yes. There were 998 strikes in steel plants during the past year alone. They were mostly local strikes which the Union characterizes as "wildcat," but they meant a big loss in production.

Question: Does the end of the war justify changing the contracts?

Answer: No. The bond was sealed on both sides and should be kept whether times be good or bad. The steel companies are continuing to live up to these agreements. If a strike is called, it will be in clear violation of the existing contracts.

A strike in the face of existing contracts would shatter any confidence in the validity of union agreements in the steel industry.

Land Reform In Germany, Japan Big Steps Toward Democracy

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press Staff Writer

Land reform on opposite sides of the globe occupied an important place in the news during the past week.

Both in Japan and Germany, steps were taken to put the soil in the hands of the people who till it. No greater move toward true Democracy could be imagined in the two principal Axis countries which were perverted by their Fascist masters into an unbalanced and war-minded industrialism at the expense of the real producers of their natural wealth.

Basic Social Reform

The order signed by Gen. Douglas MacArthur directing the redistribution of farm holdings in Japan is a basic reform of far greater significance that the prosecution of war criminals or other more spectacular moves. It strikes at the root of the feudal system which made possible the Zaibatsu, or ruling landed-money class.

Similarly, news from Germany discloses that the great landed estates in the eastern part of that country are being broken up and turned over to the peasant operators. It means the end of the Prussian Junkers, who, if they did not correspond exactly to the Zaibatsu in Japan, were certainly the mainspring behind Germany's historic wars of aggression.

Germany More Industrialized

Of the two reforms, the one in Japan is probably the more important. Japan is essentially an agricultural country, with a false industrial imposed upon it, without which the misguided attempt at world conquest never would have been attempted.

Germany on the other hand, has an industrial heritage which has a fixed value to the European continent and to her own existence. Responsible economists maintain that Germany cannot be de-industrialized without harmful effects all around, whereas they state Japan can be made self-sustaining again with nothing more than lighter industries to preserve a trade balance.

If Japan is to become a Democracy, as desired by the Allied powers, emancipation of her farming and laboring classes obviously is essential. About 50 per cent of the population depends on agriculture for an existence.

Freedom of speech, free elections and the rest mean nothing to Japanese farmers if they are to be kept in peonage, which is what the present agricultural system amounts to for the majority of them.

Recent studies by occupation authorities disclose that the Japanese farmer, the backbone of the nation, has not been permitted a living standard in keeping with his contribution to the national welfare. He has not been able to revolt, and the inclusion of his sons into the Emperor's armie of conquest certainly can be attributed more to the desire to have enough to eat than to military ambition.

Will Aid Jap Peasant

When such conditions have been corrected, it is presumed that the Japanese peasant will have a real interest in voting, with the end result that rule by the people will become possible. Gen. MacArthur's order on land reform summed it up as follows:

"In order that the imperial Japanese government shall remove economic obstacles to the revival and strengthening of Democratic tendencies, establish respect for the dignity of the oxman, and destroy the economic bondage which has enslaved the Japanese farmer to centuries of feudal oppression, the government is directed to take measures to ensure that those who till the soil of Japan shall have a more equal opportunity to enjoy the fruits of their labor."

Ribbentrop Believed Duke Of Windsor May Have Prevented War

NUERNBERG, Dec. 10. (U.P.)—Joachim Von Ribbentrop believed that Germany might have reached an understanding with Great Britain, averting the war, if the Duke of Windsor had retained the throne, evidence at the war crimes trial revealed today.

Ribbentrop's notion was expressed in a conversation with Hirosi Oshima, Japanese ambassador to Berlin, on Feb. 23, 1941.

Ribbentrop told the ambassador that Hitler had always wanted an understanding with Britain.

"A certain possibility (for an understanding," Ribbentrop said, "had existed in the person of King Edward even though it had been doubtful from the beginning whether the King would prevail."

Ribbentrop made the statement in the course of an effort to persuade Oshima that it was to Japan's advantage to come into the war.

Segregation In Vets' Hospitals Is Upheld

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10. (U.P.)—Veterans Administrator Gen. Omar N. Bradley has turned down demands by negro leaders that he end segregation of white and negro veterans in some southern hospitals, it was learned today.

Maj. Gen. Paul R. Hawley, Bradley's acting surgeon general, advised him that the Veterans administration could not become an agency for social change and must follow local custom.

Bradley recently ordered a survey of negro hospital facilities. It showed that of VA's 97 hospitals, 17 accept no negroes except in emergency and that 24 have separate wards for negroes. One hospital, at Tuskegee, Ala., accepts only negroes and the remaining 55 make no distinction.

CHICAGO, Dec. 10. (U.P.)—Winner of the nation's highest wartime safety award was—of all things—the Manhattan District, better known as the atomic bomb project.

The National Safety council's award for distinguished service to safety was presented to the project in recognition of the corps of engineers' "achievement in maintaining outstandingly low accident rates at Manhattan district facilities throughout the country."

Members of the 200th and 515th Coast artillery, the Grant county veterans, have been invited to attend a supper party sponsored by the El Paso Chamber of Commerce in honor of Gen. Wainwright and other survivors of the first days of the Pacific war.

On the following day, they will occupy places of honor at a review of troops at Fort Bliss.

Gen. Wainwright will personally greet all survivors of his command when it was forced to surrender to the Japanese at the fall of the Philippines.

Farm Acreage Boosted But Number Drops In State From '40-'45

COLLEGE STATION, Dec. 10. (U.P.)—Texas gained 5,538,238 acres of farmland between 1940 and 1945—but lost nearly 20,000 farms in the same period, it was revealed today in preliminary returns from the 1945 agriculture survey of the Bureau of Census.

The survey showed that the number of Texas farms declined from 418,002 in 1940 to 398,183 in 1945. The loss was 19,819 individual farms.

At the same time, farm acreage increased four per cent from 137,683,372 to 143,221,610.

The survey showed that the trend in Texas is toward fewer but larger farms. The trend was spotted across the state with no one section leading.

Dallas county gained 1,505 farms and 30,319 acres under cultivation in the five year period. Tarrant county gained 470 farms but lost 17,181 farm acres. The greatest gain in number of farms was 1,979 in Hidalgo county. Harris county and the Houston area led in the number of farms lost with 1,866.

Galveston gained 343 farms and lost 13,858 acres of farmland. Jasper county in the deep piney woods gained 251 farms while Hill in the blacklands declined 368 farms.

Texas Board Of Education Backs Chairman Despite Young Demos

AUSTIN, Dec. 10 (AP)—The State Board of Education today adopted a resolution expressing full and unanimous confidence in Chairman Maco Stewart of Galveston after it had heard protests that Stewart's secretary, Lewis Valentine Ulrey, has "extra-legally influenced decisions of the board."

These protests were voiced by members of a committee of Young Democrats and by representatives of the Women's Committee for Educational freedom. They protested Ulrey's part in the withdrawal from board consideration recently of a textbook titled "Our Good Neighbors in Soviet Russia."

Book Is Assailed

The book was withdrawn by the publisher, after Ulrey had informed Stewart its contents were undesirable.

The charge that Ulrey had had undue influence on the board was made by Bill Wills of Fort Worth, a member of the committee appointed by Jack Carter, president of the Young Democrat state organization.

Oscar Lentz of Denton, another member of the committee, said he appeared "to protest in the name of the Young Democrats of Texas Ulrey's relation to the board."

Charges Are Made

The board passed its resolution after hearing this and other testimony, including statements that Ulrey was head of the Christian American and that he obtained his information "from Fascist sources and Nazi publications."

The resolution held these statements to be the opinions of those who appeared with whom it disagreed. The resolution voted confidence in Stewart for his "diligent, able and unselfish devotion to the cause of public education in Texas." It declared that Stewart had not constituted Ulrey as an "extra-legal ruler and dictator."

Woman Is Stopped

Efforts of Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham, one-time candidate for governor and spokesman for the Womens' committee to question Stewart were cut off by the board, which ruled that the proceedings were in the nature of a hearing and not a cross examination.

"What is your connection with Ulrey?" was the first question put by Mrs. Cunningham, to which Stewart responded:

"I am not on trial or here to be cross-examined. I refuse to answer."

Threatens Court Action

"In that event, the people have no recourse beyond the courts," Mrs. Cunningham said after the board indicated it would only hear statements.

At the conclusion of the hearing, the board announced it would take the matter under consideration. It made a stenographic record of the proceedings, which was open to the public.

Bill Wills of Fort Worth, a member of the committee appointed by Jack Carter, president of the State Young Democrat organization, to appear before the board, said "it is quite clear that Ulrey gets his information from Facist sources and Nazi publications."

This was after Ben Ramey, another member of the Young Democrat committee, read excerpts from a publication, The Christian American, "which Ulrey heads," and from other writings attributed by him to Ulrey.

Ramey said that Stewart had contributed to fight for free enterprise and to W. Lee O'Daniel campaign funds, and that "O'Daniel paid his political debt to Stewart by appointing him to the school board."

"If the board understood what Stewart represents, it would be as incensed as these delegates," he said.

Guatemala City was established on its present site in 1776.

Demos In Doubtful Areas To Get No Assistance By GOP

CHICAGO, Dec. 10. (AP) — Anti-administration Democrats had notice today from GOP National Chairman Herbert Brownell that they can't expect any help from the Republicans in the 1946 campaign.

Brownell told his colleagues of the GOP national committee in a conference that ended here Saturday night the time had come for them to put all of their weight behind their own party candidates instead of supporting Democrats in doubtful areas.

Out To Win Control

In the past, he said there had been a tendency to back Democrats who voted with the Republicans in Congress on major issues. But he left no doubt that the Republicans are out to win party control of at least the House, and he noted that the anti-administration Democrats never vote with the GOP on any such test of strength.

Some party leaders denied, however, that this new line means the Republicans won't go along with the anti-administration Democrats in the informal, working coalition that has been effective in both houses at times.

A Brownell adviser who didn't want to be quoted by name summed it up this way:

"We're glad to have the votes of the Democrats in Congress any time they want to go along with us, but our job is to elect Republicans so that we can have control of Congress."

UAW Proposes Security Pledge

appeal would be turned down.

In its proposal to Ford, the UAW-CIO also offered a specific counter-clause to the company's proposal that wildcat strikers be fined. The union proposed that each violator be fined $3 a day for his first offense and $5 for his second.

In informing the union of termination of their contract, General Motors said it was acting under a contract provision which gives the corporation "the option of cancelling the agreement at any time between the tenth day after the strike occurs and the day of its settlement."

Thomas Assails Action

President R. J. Thomas of the UAW-CIO took issue with the corporation's interpretation and accused General Motors of "another high-handed effort to evade the central issue in dispute—a 30 per cent wage increase."

Negotiations on a new contract were recessed until Tuesday. The cancellation was not expected to have any immediate effect — the action meaning that a new contract or some other agreement was necessary before the men return to work.

Earlier, Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach told a news conference in Detroit that the government would not seize General Motors properties in a move to end the strike. He urged both sides to reach a settlement as early as possible.

In Washington, meanwhile, John L. Lewis criticized General Motors corporation, leaders of the striking UAW union and the government's handling of the matter.

"The world knows and Congress ought to know it (the GM strike) would be settled in 10 days if the government would give to General Motorsa price for cars where they can make and sell them far a fair profit," the UMWA head told a house labor committee.

HST to Name Board

"They (GM) are making more money now not making cars than if they were producing them full blast, because of the present tax laws.

"And the poor, blundering leaders of the UAW picked this time of all times to shut down General Motors, when it could make more money not operating than producing.

"The dishonesty on one side by the company is equal only to the stupidity on the other side for that labor organization."

In Washington, the White House said President Truman would set up a fact-finding board "very soon" to consider the General Motors case, which has accounted for about half the 400,000 idle in labor disputes throughout the nation.

overburdened hospital facilities.

At the first symptom of "that aching feeling," one should go to bed and stay there until the ailment passes, Dr. Rollo advised. Rest is the best cure, he said. It would even be better, he added, if one went to bed whenever first developing a cold.

"Influenza never kills anybody," he said. "It's the complications that grow out of 'flu' which kill."

Marshall Testimony

row. Some Democratic members were beginning to show irritation.

Follows Council Session

The order for photographing Japanese-mandated Truk, Jaluit and Panope was issued the day after a Nov. 25 White House meeting of the so-called war council. Its members were Secretaries Hull, Knox and Stimson, and Marshall and Stark.

Ferguson wanted to know if it was discussed at that meeting.

"I don't recall, probably so," Marshall replied.

Ferguson recalled that Marshall had testified he did not telephone a warning to Hawaii Dec. 7, when a break with Japan was expected, because the Japanese might have listened in and treated a war warning as an "overt act.' His written message did not arrive until after the attack.

Comparison Asked

The senator asked that Marshall compare telephoning to Hawaii and photographic flights over Japanese islands as "overt acts."

Marshall said it was a question of judgment, that it had become "imperative" to learn what was going on in the islands.

"We thought that by flying at a high altitude we might get by with nothing more than a Jap objection," he added.

As for the telephoning, he said that aside from the matter of an overt act it was possible it might tip off the Japanese that their code had been broken.

In disclosing the British suggestion that some American warships be based at Singapore, Marshall remarked "we had assumed that in Pearl Harbor we had a reasonably secure base for the fleet."

Other High Points

In his fourth day in the witness chair, Marshall also testified:

1. He and Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, had repeatedly urged that the United States "play for time" in its diplomatic negotiations with Japan. They wanted time to get defenses ready, he said.

2. In his opinion, it would have been "catastrophic" for the United States to have simply stood by had Japan moved into the South China sea without directly attacking this country.

3. Arrangements were worked out before the war for landing strips to be constructed for American B-17 bombers at Rabaul, Port Moresby and Singapore (British-Australian territory). It was felt, Marshall explained, that the B-17s operations would be greatly restricted if they had no landing places except in the Philippines.

4. The Army Intelligence service correctly forecast Japan's strategic moves.

operation which will involve large problems of logistics including the assembly of many naval vessels, extensive instrumentation for measuring results, and assembly of necessary personnel."

This was taken to refer to the use of ships and instruments placed at the periphery of the anticipated blast area as well as inside to record such things as pressures, heat, radioactivity and other aspects of atomic blast on the surface as well as beneath and above the sea.

Patrol For Outskirts

Because of the expected wide lateral range of atomic blast at sea, together with other still unknown aspects of nuclear explosion, it was presumed a number of ships would be needed to patrol the outskirts of any test area.

Although results of atomic explosives used against land structures and man were obtained in some measure during the two attacks on Hiroshima and Nagasaki, no chance has been afforded to study the effect of an A-bomb on a ship's structure, her machinery, her delicate instruments and her crew.

Navy To Release Men For Holidays At Home

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10. (AP)—The Navy relaxed its rules today with the intention of speeding up return of men and women home for Christmas.

Effective today, the Navy said, men and women on duty within the United States continental limits who will become eligible for separation on or before December 31 may be released immediately.

The authority includes personnel serving on ships now in United States ports.

The only conditions imposed were a provision that their services can be spared and that their processing would not interfere with prompt separation of personnel previously eligible for release, particularly personnel returning from overseas.

The step was taken, the Navy said, in order to enable as many Naval personnel as possible to spend Christmas at home with their families.

Bond Vote Today

traffic lighting systems, auditorium-coliseum and a water supply system and softening plants are provided for in the 14 propositions to be voted on separately by the electorate today.

Voting Strength Unknown

Voting strength for the election is an undetermined figure due to the attorney general's ruling last week that service men and recently discharged service men only have to prove their military status now or within the past 18 months in order to vote in an election in Texas. This ruling may add several hundred votes to the city's "off-year" voting strength of approximately 3,000 votes.

Service men and veterans need only to present discharge papers to election judges to satisfy the requirement of a poll tax in the election. They must also conform to the requirement that they own taxable property within the city limits of Lubbock and "have surrendered their property for taxation in a due, fit and becoming manner."

City officials and bond campaign leaders were citing the fact that even though every proposition on the bond program was approved, Lubbock's tax rate would not be as high, after an estimated 40-cent raise due to the bonds, as a major portion of cities of similar size in Texas. Lubbock's present tax rate is 85 cents on the $100 valuation.

All of the bonds to be voted on will be tax revenue bonds with an interest rate of "not exceeding 3½ per cent" over a period of 25 years.

Hilton also said he would move his headquarters to Chicago "because of its strategic and geographic location."

There are Hilton hotels now in Chicago, New York, Los Angeles, Dayton, O., Long Beach, Calif., Albuquerque, N. M., Chihuahua, Mex., El Paso, Plainview, Longview, and Lubbock, Tex.

Bonds involved are Santa Margarita (Willacy county), $67,750; Mexia (Limestone county), $193,000; Slaton (Lubbock county,) $110,000; and Catarina (Dimmit county), $61,000.

Golfers Arrive For Fort Worth's Open

FORT WORTH, Dec. 10 (AP) — A twin-engine transport plane, recently purchased from the Army Air Forces by Johnny Bulla, today brought 17 of the nation's top golfers for the $10,000 Fort Worth Open golf tournament which will be contested Friday, Saturday and Sunday over the Glen Garden Country club course.

The plane, the golf tourists' latest solution to transportation difficulties, was piloted by Bulla, whose co-pilot was Ben Hogan.

The day also saw Byron Nelson's return to practice after a vacation on his Denton farm of more than a month.

Nelson and Hogan, both of whom learned to play golf as caddies at Glen Garden, will be heavy favorites in the shooting for Fort Worth's first big tournament since the National Open was staged in 1941 at Colonial Country club, across town from the Garden.

The winner here will get $2,000 in Victory Bonds, proportionate prizes will be spaced out over the first 20 places.

Sam Snead was enroute here by automobile, Harold (Jug) McSpaden was piloting his own small plane and was expected Tuesday.

Signing of negro Jackie Robinson by Brooklyn for its Montreal farm club established a precedent in such case, Bramham said.

In other minor league business, Bramham today announced qualification of one additional league for play during the 1946 season and the addition of three clubs to two other lower class leagues.

The Class C East Texas league was qualified with Henderson, Jacksonville, Lufkin, Sherman and Texarkana as member. Three other cities will be added.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10. (AP)—Price ceilings on imported whiskey-flavored cordials, liquors and specialty beverages were reinstated today by the OPA.

There have been in some cases of "unreasonably high" prices, a spokesman said.

Communist Chief Opposes 'Foreign Spheres Of Influence In China

YENAN, Dec. 8. (Delayed)—(AP)—Gen. Peng Teh-Huei, vice commander in chief of the Chinese Communist armies, declared today the Communists "definitely oppose" any country obtaining a sphere of influence in any part of China.

Peng said he recognized there were elements and individuals in America—such as Patrick Hurley (recently resigned ambassador to China), former President Herbert Hoover and Sen. Arthur Vandenberg—who feared the Chinese Communists would affiliate with Stalinist Russia, but asserted that their grounds for such an assumption "never have been made clear."

Want Free China

"The position of the Chinese Communists remains still for a free-independent and democratic China," he told newsmen.

"Regard the question objectively and you will find that the Soviet union does not want a sphere of influence in Manchuria. This she stated in the Sino-Soviet pact. However, there is a growing suspicion among the Chinese people that the policy represented by Hurley and Lt. Gen Albert C. Wedemeyer in China is mistakenly imperialist. We hope this is only a suspicion, not a reality."

Peng said the Communists anxiously awaited the arrival of Gen. George C. Marshall, recently named to suceed Hurley. They want to learn his policy regarding disarming of Japanese and to mark time until "peace talks" get under way in Chungking before making any belligerent moves against Peiping and Tatung where, they assert, many Japanese remain under arms.

To Annihhilate Japs

"Wherever Japanese and puppets remain armed in China, we are determined to annihilate them," he stated.

Peng said he "definitely expected" Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's forces to mount a full offensive in North China this month if American help and transportation increased, or in February or March if American aid decreased.

Of Manchuria, Peng said that the Communist Eight Route Army never had opposed and was not now opposing the central government's advance.

Peng asked:

"Is it a fact that we have a special liking for the Soviet union and a prejudice toward the United States? The answer is no.

"In the past, American policy under Roosevelt was a good one. The inator of its present mistaken policy was Hurley. We differentiate between him and the American people. His policy and that of Wedemeyer are suspect."

Soldiers' Reaction To Religion Talked

Hugh Anderson, Lubbock attorney recently discharged from the Army after service in the Pacific, told the Methodist Men's club at the Lubbock hotel Monday noon that the realization that they weren't among friends and alone with their own feelings proved a great shock to a lot of soldiers and some turned more strongly toward religion while others turned away from it entirely.

"If you had any troubles, you were told to see the chaplain, but the chaplain was a pretty busy man," Anderson said. "They worked all the time, trying to hold church services for as many of the men as possible.

Death Was Impersonal

"A soldier was trained to look upon death as an impersonal thing and this had a lot to do with his attitude on religion," Anderson said. "It would be quite a task to get a group of men here and tell them that tomorrow they were supposed to kill everybody in the 1100-block on Broadway. But that was the way soldiers were trained. They were told that the enemy area was to be wiped out. The enemy was impersonal and individuals didn't matter. As a result the boys, or some of them, became calloused toward death and after-life.

Anderson declared that Christianity among the natives of the Pacific islands aided Allied forces and wherever you found Christian natives, they were invariably on the Allied side.

Often Busy On Sunday

Regarding churches, he declared that as soon as an installation had been on an island for any length of time, there usually was constructed a church or chapel and regular worship was conducted.

"Of course, there wasn't any 40-hour week there and sometimes the boys were as busy on Sunday as any other time and couldn't take time out for church, but usually an effort was made to let them off sometime during the day for services," Anderson said. He declared there "wasn't a more beautiful church in the Pacific than the one constructed by the American soldiers, sailors and Marines on Treasure island." The native church had been destroyed by the Japs and the boys set to work and constructed a beautiful church of mahogany, teakwood, bamboo and coral.

Tommie McWilliams, recently discharged from the Navy, and Lt. A. C. Loo of Midland Army Air field, a Chinese soldier, were guests at the luncheon.

Entire City Block In Mexia Gutted By Fire

MEXIA, Dec. 10. (AP)—Damage from a fire which destroyed a two story brick building housing seven businesses here today was estimated unofficially at $200,000.

The Mexia Fire department and volunteers battled the blaze in the downtown section for four hours before bringing it under control at 7 a. m. High winds fanned the flames which were discovered at 2:30 a. m. and eye witness said icicles were hanging from the blazing building.

Fire Chief Sig Erickson said the blaze was believed to have started in the Yowell Drug store warehouse. Cause of the fire was not determined.

One wall of the building caved in and sent bricks flying through the roof of the Mexia News located in an adjacent one-story building. All linotype machines in the newspaper office were wrecked.

W. Duke Pittman, owner of the building, was in Austin.

New Drop Seen In Cotton Crop

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (U.P.)—The Agriculture department has estimated 1945 cotton production at 9,195,000 bales compared with 1944 production of 12,230,000 bales.

The estimate was based on Dec. 1 conditions.

Prospective production has declined 173,000 bales since the Nov. 1 forecast.

Outlook Steadily Darkens

Today's report is the department's final one for the season. The cotton outlook has steadily worsened since the first estimate of the season in August, which then placed the crop at 10,134,000 bales.

The crop will be the lowest for any year since 1899, with the single exception of 1921.

Frequent and prolonged rainy periods interfered with the season's cotton production. Abandonment of cotton fields was exceptionally heavy and the 17,688,000 acres left for harvest is the smallest since 1884.

Ginnings Also Drop

Only 7,384,351 bales had been ginned up to Dec. 1, compared with 10,272,672 on the same date last year.

Cotton seed production for 1945 was placed at 3,703,000 tons, or 24 per cent less than was produced in 1944.

Cotton production by states:

Mississippi, 1,615,000 bales; Arkansas 1,080,000; Texas, 1,820,000; Missouri 155,000; Virginia 17,000; N. Carolina 430,000; South Carolina 675,000; Georgia 665,000; Florida 8,000; Tennessee 495,000; Alabama 935,000; Louisiana 395,000; Oklahoma 295,000; New Mexico 107,000; Arizona 125,000; California 370,000; all other states, 8,000.

SEED SUBSIDY SET

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 10. (AP)—A subsidy for importing 155 tons of cotton seed to be planted in the Matamoros region across the border from Texas' lower Rio Grande valley was authorized by the government today. The subsidy is to be 20 per cent of the cost.

MANILA, Dec. 10. (AP)—More than 100,000 Navy personnel have left the Philippines for the United States in the past three months, Vice Adm. James L. Kauffman said today, with 97 per cent of them going to separation centers for discharge.

District 1-AA Cage, Grid Schedules Adopted At Meet

The 1946 basketball schedule and conference football slate for District 1-AA of the Texas Interscholastic League was adopted Monday at a meeting held in Plainview.

The basketball play in the south half of the district will find each team playing two games at home and two on the road with each of the other clubs, with the Plainview Bulldogs and the Lubbock Westerners starting play in the south half Jan. 4 at Lubbock.

Attending the meeting from Lubbock were E. J. Lowrey, R. W. Matthews, Floyd Honey and Dixie White. Brownfield was represented by Supt. W. M. Vernon and Coach Tom McCullum. Supt. O. J. Laas, Principal R. W. Davidson and Coach W. C. O. Harris attended from Plainview.

Supt. C. A. Cryer of Borger was reelected Chairman of the District, and O. J. Laas reelected secretary.

Ticket Price Raised

A raise in the price of tickets for the district football games next season was voted by the district. General admission tickets will be boosted from 50 to 75 cents. Reserve seats, including tax, will be $1.20 for regular games, and $1.50 for holiday games. Student tickets will be 30 cents.

Brownfield, Plainview and Lubbock play in the south half of the district in basketball, with the winner of the south half playing the winner of the north half (Pampa, Borger and Amarillo) for the district title.

The basketball schedule for the south half will be:

Jan. 4—Plainview at Lubbock.
Jan. 8—Lubbock at Plainview
Jan. 11—Brownfield at Lubbock.
Jan. 15—Lubbock at Brownfield.
Jan. 18—Plainview at Brownfield.
Jan. 22—Lubbock at Plainview.
Jan. 25—Brownfield at Plainview.
Jan. 29—Plainview at Brownfield.
Feb. 1—Plainview at Lubbock.
Feb. 5—Lubbock at Brownfield.
Feb. 8—Brownfield at Lubbock.
Feb. 12—Brownfield at Plainview.

1-AA Football Schedule

The 1946 football schedule for conference play was adopted at the meeting, with one game listed as tentative, pending final arrangement of the game.

The Borger at Lubbock game will be played either Oct. 25, as the opening game for Lubbock, or be played Nov. 16. This game will be decided later between the tow schools.

Conference play will get underway Oct. 18, with two conference games scheduled at that time. Borger plays Pampa, and Brownfield at Amarillo.

On Nov. 1, Borger plays at Plainview, and on Nov. 2 Lubbock plays at Brownfield.

A full schedule is set for Nov. 9, with Lubbock at Pampa, Amarillo at Borger and Brownfield at Plainview.

Games already set for Nov. 16 sends Pampa to Brownfield and Plainview to Amarillo.

The Amarillo-Lubbock annual classic is scheduled for Nov. 23 at Lubbock.

The Thanksgiving schedule, Nov. 28, will find all teams in action for the final round, Plainview playing at Lubbock, Pampa at Amarillo and Brownfield at Borger.

Bell Paces Gassers To Three Game Win

Leo Bell set the pace Monday night in the City League bowling race at the Plamor alleys, leading the West Texas Gassers to three straight over the Jaycees to increase the Gasser lead to three games.

Bell shot the top single game score of the night with 221 pins and the best three game series with 582 pins. It was the only clean sweep of the night.

In other games, the Lions club won two from Meads Bakery, Birds Eye Food won two from Armour's, and Hub Laundry won a pair from S. & Q. Clothiers.

Abernathy Plays Westerners Here

Still seeking to break into the win column, the Lubbock Westerners will take to the floor tonight at the Westerner gym for a return game with the high scoring Abernathy Antelopes. There will be both A and B games, the B game starting at 7 o'clock.

Abernathy took a 39-38 decision over the Westerners last week at Abernathy.

The Westerners have been playing good basketball in the three times out this season, but have been turned back twice by Levelland and once by Abernathy.

Coach Marlin "Shorty" Hayhurst will likely start the same lineup of other games, and reports that the club should be ready tonight for the year's best showing.

The losses by the Westerners have been to teams undefeated for the year, and rated as two of the strongest on the South Plains. The Lubbock lads have been showing a steady improvement in their work, and hope to crash the win column tonight.

Both Lubbock and Abernathy are entered in the annual New Deal cage tournament, opening Thursday night at New Deal High school, and advance dope on the tournament lists Abernathy as the pre-tourney favorite.

The Westerners also announced two additional games on the seasons schedule, playing the Amarillo Golden Sandies, traditional 1-AA foes, in January. The Sandies play in Lubbock Jan. 18, and the Westerners go to Amarillo on Jan. 25.

Davidson Win Boys Club Cage Feature

With Gaylen Brand hitting the basket for 16 points, Denny Davidson's senior cage team romped to a 47 to 18 victory over the Littleton five Monday night in the opening games of the Lubbock Boys club cage play.

Littleton paced his own team with eight points.

In the Junior league, Marshall Parrs team rolled over John Cottman's club, 14-7, with Norman Bantz pacing the winners with five points, and John Potts leading the losers with four.

Tommy Elliott won over Ira Ownes, 10-7, in the midget league game, with Bobby Sexton of the winners and Charles Rand of the losers sharing the scoring honors with six points.

Levelland Noses By Spade Cagers, 33-30

LEVELLAND, Dec. 10. (Special)—The Levelland Lobos won their third straight basketball victory of the season here tonight, staving off a desperate last half rally by Spade to win 33 to 30.

Leveland led 20 to 8 at the halftime, but Spade finished strong, but was never able to overhaul the Lobos. West of Spade copped the scoring honors of the night, getting 15 points, to account for half of the Spade scre.

Jess Clardy with 14, and Joe Garrison with 12, pressed him closely.

The Levelland B team won the opener over Spade B team, 18 to 13.

Cotton Bowl Is Reported Sellout

DALLAS, Dec. 10. (AP) — It is generally agreed that the fledgling Oil Bowl at Houston came up with a choice attraction when it matched Tulsa and Georgia but if that's competition for Dallas' Cotton Bowl it isn't showing up at the box office.

P. C. Cobb, veteran ticket manager, said today there were no seats left in the Cotton Bowl and wouldn't be unless some were returned by either Texas or Missouri, competing teams in the Jan. 1 gridiron classic.

This means 45,507 will see the game and it will be the second sell-out in the ten-year history of the event. The 1941 game between Texas A. and M. and Fordham jammed them in but at no other time has capacity been approached.

But despite the fact that the Cotton Bowl is certain to be a sell-out, the Southwest Conference, which annually commits its football champion to the Dallas game, appears to look upon the Oil Bowl as competition.

Meeting here over the week-end, the faculty committee of the conference gave Rice Institute a slap on the wrist for allowing its stadium to be used by the Oil Bowl. "There is no change in the relation of the conference to the Cotton Bowl Athletic association," read a resolution passed by the committee. "The conference is committed to support of the Cotton Bowl game." The latter sentence in the resolution was taken to mean the conference would not grant permission to any of its members to play in the Oil Bowl—not even Rice although the Oil Bowl is using its field.

Rice has only a one-year agreement with the Oil Bowl thus far. The plan announced was that proceeds from the game would be used to give Houston a stadium with 50,000 seating capacity. Rice stadium takes care of only 30,000.

Riggs Defeats Budge For Hardcourt Title

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 10 (U.P.)—Bobby Riggs was the world's professional hardcourt tennis champion today after defeating Don Budge 9-11, 6-3, 6-2, 6-0.

The two Los Angeles professionals battled for more than two hours yesterday. Budge, seeded No. 1 in the tournament, took time out during the game to have a cramp in his right hand massaged.

Budge, who eliminated veteran William Tilden in the semi-finals yesterday, took the first set but couldn't keep up with the steady Riggs in the next three.

After Budge began having muscle trouble, he didn't take a game. Riggs broke the veteran's service at the opening of the last set to go on and win that one six-love.

OKLAHOMA BOSS NAMED

Army Hogs AP All-America, Bechtol, Fenimore Repeat

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 10. — The United States Military Academy's mighty football team placed five of its players on the Associated Press 1945 All-American eleven announced today. It was the first time in the history of these selections that so many players from one team have been honored in this fashion.

The list of Army players included two repeaters from last year, both of them in the back field, Glenn Davis and Felix "Doc" Blanchard. Others were John Green at guard, and two tackles, Albert Nemetz and DeWitt Coulter, the latter a famed member of the Mighty Mites of Masonic Home fame in Fort Worth.

Four Men Repeat

The 1945 team, selected on the basis of nationwide reports from Associated Press staff men, included two other repeaters in addition to Davis and Blanchard. They were Robert Dale "Bob" Fenimore, Oklahoma A. & M. backfiel star, and the University of Texas standout end, Hubert Bechtol, who played one year with Texas Tech after leaving Lubbock High school.

The three members of the backfield of last year, who are back again are joined this year by Herman Wedemeyer of St. Mary's from the Hawaiian Islands, who barely nosed out Alabama's brilliant Harry Gilmer.

Teamed with Bechtol at the end position is Richard Duden, Navy's stalwart and brainy captain. Warren Amling, Ohio State guard, was named at the other guard with Green, and center went to Alabama's big Vaughn Mancha.

Bechtol Is Youngest

This rounded out the first team selections, which includes one freshman, four sophomores, three juniors and three seniors. Bechtol, at 19, is the youngest member of the team, and Mancha, at 23, is the oldest. Texas players on the first team, Bechtol and Coulter, gives the Lone Star State the distinction of being the only state with more than one star on the first team.

The selection of Fenimore and Wedemeyer on the first team adds interest to the New Orleans Sugar Bowl football classic of Jan. 1, 1946, as the only bowl game of the nation that will pair All-America backs for the New Year grid show.

Walt Schlinkman, Texas Tech's candidate for the All-America honors, was missing from the list without even an honorable mention, which he gained last season.

Numerous Southwest Conference players were given honorable mention, with Southern Methodist's Tom Dean named at a tackle post on the second team. Aonther Texan on the second team is Army's Henry Foldberg from Dallas.

HUDSON DECISIONS ZIVIC

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP)—Cecil Hudson, Los Angeles protege of Henry Armstrong, won an easy 10-round decision over the veteran Fritzie Zivic of Pittsburgh, at Madison Square Garden tonight. Hudson weighed 151, Zivic 150½ pounds.

Phils Buy First Sacker Of Reds

CHICAGO, Dec. 10 (AP)—After nearly two weeks of much talk and no action, baseball's winter meetings came up with a major player deal today in the sale of veteran first base slugger Frank McCormick by the Cincinnati Reds to the Philadelphia Phillies.

The deal, involving one Phillies player and a chunk of Phils' President Bob Carpenter's cash, reported to be getween $20,000 and $30,000, was announced as the American and National Leagues held a surprise joint meeting to consider the plea of the Pacific Coast loop to become the third major league. Any decision on this was delayed until Wednesday.

One-time (1940) National League most valuable player, McCormick is a veteran of eight full seasons and two shorter runs with the reds. A native New Yorker, he hit .276 last season and has a lifetime big league clouting mark of just under .300.

Thirty-two years old, he began his career in organized baseball in 1934 with the Beckley, W. Va., club and did his stuff for Toronto, Fort Worth, Nashville, Dayton, Decatur, Ill., Durham, N. C., and Syracuse, before coming up to the Reds to stay in 1938.

His purchase gave the Phils the only two major league deals of the minor and major league meetings as Carpenter opened his checkbook and loaded his pen in the hopes of hauling the futile Phils out of their long-term lease on the National League cellar.

Previously, the Phils bought right-handed fastballer Johnny Humphries from the Chicago White Sox.

Odessa Bronchos Next Test For Wichita Falls Coyotes

(By The Associated Press)

Odessa, twice before thwarted in its state schoolboy championship apirations by ineligibility, is the last hope of 1945 producing a titlist with an undefeated untied record.

The Bronchos, not even favored to win their district crown, have swept into the state quarter-finals with eleven straight victories in which they have averaged almost 29 points per game.

Odessa Is Underdog

Now they will meet mighty Wichita Falls, one of the top-rated elevens of the year. Their role in this game will be familiar—they will be underdogs.

Of the eight teams now battling for the state title, only three are unbeaten and two of those have been tied. Wichita Falls and Highland Park (Dallas) have blemished records because they met each other in a nonconference game and battled to a 7-7 stalemate.

Odessa isn't the under dog everywhere but they won't get many nods from the sports writers. Those who put money on the line have been backing the Bronchos against the field but the critics have been giving them only until this week to remain in the race.

Thompson A Threat

But Odessa is one of the most dangerous teams of the year. Any eleven boasting a runner like J. W. Thompson isn't beaten until the last gun fires. Thompson breaks loose sooner or later—and thus far it has been sooner.

Odessa and Wichita Falls clash at Wichita Falls Saturday. The three other state quarter-finals games are on the same day, thus for the first time in history all quarter-finals will be jammed into the afternoon of one day.

Highland Park plays North Side at Fort Worth, Waco goes to Marshall and Goose Creek tackles Thomas Jefferson at San Antonio.

Favorites will be Wichita Falls, Highland Park, Waco and Goose Creek with the best chance of an upset being the Goose Creek-Jefferson game. Here are two teams that slumped the first part of the season then picked up like a house afire in the stretch. Goose Creek won over Jefferson by two touchdowns in September but much has happened since then. Jefferson appears to have improved the most.

All-Southwest Eleven Is Named

DALLAS, Dec. 10. (AP) — The University of Texas, Southern Methodist and Texas A. & M., all placed three men on the 1945 All-Southwest Conference football team selected by the Associated Press through the help of coaches and scouts.

Rice landed two men on the all-star aggregation.

Four freshmen made the team—Doak Walker, SMU back, Dick Harris, Texas center, N. L. Nicholson, Rice guard and Bob Goode, Texas A. & M. back.

There was no race for the end positions — All-America Hubert Bechtol of Texas and Gene Wilson of Southern Methodist were too far in front.

Tom Dean of SMU was a unanimous choice for one tackle post and Monte Moncrief of the Aggies nosed out Leonard Dickey, his teammate, for the other.

Grant Darnell of A. & M. was paired with Nicholson at guard.

In the backfield it was Bobby Layne, who passed and ran the University of Texas to the conference championship, Bob Nemir of Rice, and the freshmen.

The Death March Is On

Axis Criminals Near Rope's End

THE death march of Axis war criminals is on.

Allied justice, moving with inexorable sureness and explicit fairness, is enveloping the butchers of World war II.

Several German prison camp murderers have been executed or sentenced to death. The first Nazi general to be executed for war crimes—Anton Doster—has fallen before a firing squad in Italy. Yamashita has been found guilty of the bloody atrocities in the Philippines, and now has a date with a scaffold. Indisputable evidence is piling up at Nuernberg against Goering, Hess, Ribbentrop and other top Nazis.

In all instances, the Allied case has been overwhelming. News dispatches tell of defendants at Nuernberg evincing fascination at the presentation by Allied prosecutors of bale after bale of documentary evidence, records, diaries, transcripts and memoranda.

There seems no doubt that the Allied nations are determined to see that every last Axis official who had anything to do with the conspiracies and crimes of World war II, pay with his life. The people of the United States, who at one time or other, have feared that the Allies might be "too easy" with the enemy, now should have no qualms about justice being done.

What The Record Proves

THE coming years will see a test of the relative effectiveness of three economic systems—Communism in Russia, Socialism in several European countries and private enterprise in the United States.

Communism came to the fore in Russia following World war I. The latest war is being followed by a wave of Socialism throughout Europe. It has enveloped Great Britain despite the fact that the empire has long been one of the ancient citadels of capitalism.

All will be seeking full production and jobs for everyone, but their methods will be widely divergent.

The appeal which Socialism possesses stems from the yet unproven contention that government ownership and operation of basic industries will increase national income and bring about more equal distribution of benefits.

Soviet Russia has nationalized all industry and nationalized or collectivized almost all agriculture. The state-owned industrial enterprises are administered through a hierarchy of combines and trusts grouped under various government departments. The government operates several thousands state farms, but the bulk of agriculture is carried in through farm collectives whose produce is divided between the government and members of the collectives. There is no private enterprise other than that of a few individual handicraft workers and farmers.

Socialists, unlike Communists, advocate nationalization only of producers' goods used in large-scale production, of banking and of certain public services. Thus the British Labor government is engaging in the process of nationalizing the Bank of England, fuel and power industries, transport services and the iron and steel industry.

Szechoslovakia appears to be pushing nationalization further than any other country except Russia. A decree recently issued will place under state ownership and operation virtually all industrial enterprises employing more than 300 workers and some employing only a few dozen workers. Nationalization in Russia involved outright confiscation—or legalized theft—of privately owned property. In Czechoslovakia and other countries undertaking nationalization, the private owners will be compensated. And through use of government corporations and other administrative devices, they will be "made to keep operation of nationalized industries free of bureaucratic and political influences."

Agitation for nationalization of railroads and of coal mines in this country, just after World war II, was short-lived. Instead, the United States has preferred public regulation rather than public ownership of those industries bearing closely on public welfare.

But, despite all the merits that political extremists claim for this or that "ism," the United States has become, through employment of the private enterprise system, the most powerful, the richest, the freest, happiest of any nation on the globe. In view of this country's stature, it is difficult to understand why the rest of the world continues to experiment with wild-haired political systems. The superior qualities of our democracy should be plain to all the world by now.

"Ninety-five per cent of concerns that fail in business are non-advertisers," reports a statistician. If you don't advertise your business, the chances are that the sheriff will.

One-Minute Sermon

Teach me Thy way, O Lord, and lead me in a plain path, because of mine enemies. Deliver me not over unto the will of mine enemies: For false witnesses are risen up against me, and such as breathe out cruelty. Psalm 27: 11, 12.

Marshall's Report On The War

By Gen. George C. Marshall
Wartime Chief Of Staff

This is the 21st of 42 installments of material selected from General Marshall's report on the winning of World War II.

RHINE CROSSINGS

THE Combined Chiefs of Staff met at Malta in early February preliminary to a meeting with President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill, and Marshal Stalin in the ARGONAUT Conference at Yalta a few days later. En route to the Conference, I met General Eisenhower briefly at a secret rendezvous near Marseilles where we discussed his future plans that were later approved at Malta, providing for the closing of the Rhine, the destruction of enemy forces west of the river, the seizure of bridgeheads across the river in the north and south and coordinated drives into the heart of Germany. At Yalta the general plan for the final destruction of Nazi Germany was established.

MARSHALL

In executing General Eisenhower's plan, a coordinated drive by the First Canadian Army from the Nijmegen bridgehead along the watershed between the Meuse and the Rhine was necessary and an attack by the U. S. Ninth Army across the Roer toward Dusseldorf was to follow shortly afterward. On 8 February the First Canadian Army began its attack following a heavy air and artillery preparation. Initially, the Canadian advance was rapid, but flooded terrain delayed the start of the Ninth Army attack, permitting the enemy to concentrate against the Canadians.

In preparation for the Ninth Army offensive, the Tactical and Strategic Air Forces flew almost 10,000 sorties on 22 February, covering rail and transportation targets throughout the length and breadth of Germany. These blows from British, French, and Italian bases were designed to paralyze the German rail system and isolate the Western Front. The next day the Ninth Army attack was launched and, although there was some delay in establishing bridgeheads over the flooded Roer, the general progress was quite rapid. By 1 March Roermond and Munchen-Gladbach were captured and the following day the armored columns reached the Rhine north and south of Dusseldorf. Meanwhile, in the Prum-Trier area, the Third Army drove across the Our and Sauer Rivers, capturing Prum on 13 February. Successive bridgeheads were established across the Saar and the Kyll Rivers and on 2 March Trier fell to our troops. From the launching of the operations on 8 February to 1 March more than 66,000 German prisoners were captured by the Northern and Central Army Groups.

Remagen Bridgehead a Windfall

Advancing on the right of the Ninth Army, the First Army captured the ruins of Cologne on 7 March against stout resistance. On the same day elements of its 9th Armored Division, probing to the Rhine further south, found the Ludendorff Bridge at Remagen intact and immediately crossed to the east bank, developing a small bridgehead. Such a windfall had been hoped for but not expected. The prompt seizure and exploitation of the crossing demonstrated American initiative and adaptability at its best, from the daring action of the platoon leader to the Army commander who quickly redirected all his moving columns in a demonstration of brilliant staff management. He established powerful elements across the river immediately in accordance with direct orders from General Eisenhower. The bridgehead provided a serious threat to the heart of Germany, a diversion of incalculable value both to the main effort in the Ruhr and to the reduction of the Saar-Palatinate. It became a springboard for the final offensive to come.

In the meantime, the Third Army was forcing its way through the rugged Eifel hills. By 7 March, constant pressure had crushed the German front north of the Moselle. General Patton's armor broke out and dashed forward to the Rhine near Koblenz on the 9th. Contact was established with General Hodges' First Army units southeast of Remagen, and by 11 March the Allies controlled the west bank of the Rhine from Nijmegen in Holland to its junction with the Moselle at Koblenz.

Once the Eifel sector had been mopped up, General Patton was ready to assist the Seventh Army in reducing the Saar pocket. General Eisenhower wrote me:

"Tomorrow morning the XX Corps of Patton's Army begins a local attack in the Trier area as a preliminary to the general attack by Seventh Army on the 15th. So far as we can determine there is not a single reserve division in this whole area. If we can get a quick break-through, the advance should go very rapidly and success in the region will multiply the advantage we have secured in the bridgehead at Remagen. It will probably be a nasty business breaking through the fortified lines, but once this is accomplished losses should not be great and we should capture another big bag of prisoners. I have given Seventh Army 14 divisions for their part of the job, and XX Corps (Third Army jumps off with four. Patton will throw in another subsidiary effort from north to south across the Moselle with about four to five divisions."

Saar Pocket Mopped Up

On 14 March General Patton established a bridgehead across the Moselle, southwest of Koblenz. The following day his troops kinged southward from the Moselle bridgehead, other Third Army forces drove east from Trier, and the Seventh Army attacked northward between Saarbrucken and the Rhine. Despite dense mine fields and the formidable Siegfried Line fortifications, the Seventh gained steadily, pinning down strong enemy formations and leaving the Third Army tanks free to cut to pieces the rear of the German position. On 16 March a spearhead of the 4th Armored Division broke through for a gain of 32 miles and seized two bridges across the Nahe River south of Bad Kreuznach. From this point on, resistance south of the Moselle crumbled. Armored divisions of the Third and Seventh Armies enveloped the Saar, and the Rhine cities of Worms and Mainz fell to our swift columns.

While pocketed German forces in the Saar were still in process of being mopped up, Third Army infantry of the Corps under Maj. Gen. Manton S. Eddy, achieved a brilliant surprise by crossing the Rhine at Oppenheim south of Mainz late on 22 March with decidedly sketchy and improvised means. In two days this bridgehead was expanded to a width of 15 miles, and on the third day the 4th Armored Division broke through the enemy lines to a depth of 27 miles, seizing an undamaged bridge over the Main River. The daring armored thrusts in the Saar had criss-crossed and intermingled elements of the two armies. Under the skillful direction of General Bradley and General Devers, the Army commanders regrouped their mingled corps and divisions without loss to the momentum of the offensive.

Stars Plan Meeting To Discuss Divorce

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 10. (AP)—Maybe the Rita Hayworth-Orson Welles marriage isn't divorce court-bound after all.

The one-time wonder boy of radio telephoned his actress wife last night from Oakland, a representative of their agency said, and a conference between them is tentatively scheduled today.

Miss Hayworth disclosed last week that their two-year marriage had reached the separation stage.

Haiti is the smallest republic of the western hemisphere.

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

I AM on a diet.

And since probably many thousands of you are on a diet, too, I hope you sympathize with me.

My wife told me that I was getting very irritable, so I went to my doctor, who took my blood pressure, looked at my stomach and ordered me to take off ten pounds within the next two weeks.

So I am on a diet.

BRANDEIS

It is a diet recommended to me by at least fourteen different people, each of whom has his own theories and each of whom has told me that his or her particular diet is entirely painless and guaranteed successful.

So now I am hungry while I am writing this, I woke up hungry this morning, I went to bed hungry last night—and I have gained two pounds the last two days.

First of all I cut down on my bread. And I love bread, particularly with a lot of butter on it.

When I told Ida Jean Kain, the famous dietician and a good friend of mine, about it, she threw up her hands and said: "For heaven's sake, cut out the bread and eat as little butter as you can."

So for breakfast this morning I had two spoons of apple sauce, two slices of rye toast and a cup of coffee with no sugar or cream.

For dinner last evening I had a slice of chicken, boiled, three stewed figs, a few bites of squash and a cup of coffee.

For luncheon today I am going to have a green salad, a raw apple and a cup of black coffee.

BUT, all joking aside, my blood pressure has gone down and my wife tells me I am much more cheerful and agreeable already, although I have to live this monk-like life for at least another twelve days.

Frankly, I don't believe very much in these forced diets, but I do think a large number of moderns actually eat themselves into their graves.

But what are you going to do when you really like to eat and when eating is as much pleasure to some as a concert or a moving picture is to others?

Only the other day a friend of mine had a heart attack and died. The whole thing was over in a minute and he never knew what hit him.

An hour before he died he had a big dish of onion soup with grated cheese, a colossal helping of lobster a la Newburg with French fried potatoes, a dish of ice cream with two slices of jelly roll, two cups of coffee with cream and sugar and a lot of bread and butter.

I hadn't been with him at the dinner, but the way he described the meal to me it must have been the epitome of pleasure to him.

So, I am sure, when his heart gave out he was still tasting that wonderful lobster dish—and death came to him among his memories of ice cream and jelly roll.

But if you want to live you'd better watch your diet. I shall be glad to give you mine, as much as I hate it.

The Story Is Unfolding

But Pearl Harbor Facts Lacking

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

ALTHOUGH last Saturday marked the fourth anniversary of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, the several investigations of that disaster have brought out little more information than Washington or the American people possessed soon after the tragic event.

The Congressional inquiry has thrown some beams into a few dim corners, but so far the searchlight has been carefully withheld from the full and moving scene. The squabbling investigators may yet produce answers to a few pertinent questions, but it is doubtful whether they will be able to fix responsibility on any individual.

TUCKER

It is even more questionable whether any decision by so openly partisan and unjudicial a body will be accepted as the last word by the American public.

The outcome of the inquiry can be forttold now in a general way.

The Demorcrats, who have a majority, will prepare a report exonerating the Roosevelt administration from any blame, although they may rebuke a few Army and Navy individuals not associated with either the Democratic or Republican party. Naval and military personnel usually eschew party ties.

Among those who may be mentioned critically are Maj. Gen. Sherman Miles, then head of Army Intelligence but later removed, and the two Pearl Harbor commanders — Adm. Husband E. Kimmel and former Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short.

GOP members will undoubtedly find that the late Mr. Roosevelt's secret agreements and general foreign policy were partially responsible for our negligence and weakness at our Hawaiian outpost.

He will be criticized for devoting too much attention to the European theater, for making commitments to Britain and Russia which overextended our lines, and, particularly, for dividing the Pacific Fleet by dispatching powerful units to the Atlantic.

MIND: A more impartial verdict, based on a careful study of the evidence so far and a canvass of disinterested spectators and participants, might be that the tragedy traced directly and indirectly to a state of mind which prevailed in Washington's officialdom from the White House to the officers' mess at Honolulu.

The "yellow peril" had been a political topic at the capital and elsewhere since the extremely difficult immigration problems of the middle twenties The prospects of war with Japan had been discussed and discounted at periodical meetings of the top councils of our naval and military strategists.

As a consequence, the threat had lost its edge. Tokyo, as well as some Americans, had cried "wolf" once too often.

ATTITUDE: It is almost certain that President Roosevelt never dreamed that a country consisting of a string of volcanic islands would ever dare to make war on the United States.

It is a moral certainty that many high naval officers thought we could lick Japan with "one hand tied behind our back," and that the conflict would never develop into a major trial of arms.

This attitude explains why almost every warning sent to Hawaii and to Gen. Douglas MacArthur in the Philippines envisaged a Jap descent on the British, Dutch and French possessions on the China mainland and in the adjacent archipelago—not on Pearl Harbor.

QUESTIONS: In view of this attitude and atmosphere, it is possible to attempt to sift the wheat from the chaff in relation to the answers to several key questions bearing on the December 7, 1941, incident. They are:

(1) Was the Hull note of November 27 an ultimatum that "touched off the button"?

The former Secretary of State, who has been applauded by the gallery on each appearance, maintains it was not. But the Japs so regarded it. It is a fact that it was far more demanding than the "modus vivendi" program advocated by Churchill because "We don't want two wars at the same time."

(2) Was Pearl Harbor kept sufficiently informed and warned?

The answer is that Kimmel and Short were warned too many times over too long a period and in somewhat vague terms. They were fed up with so many injunctions from so many sources at the capital that these messages conveyed no sense of immediate urgency.

(3) Did considerations of global war influence Washington to the detriment of our Pacific defenses?

The testimony suggests an affirmative answer. The Pacific Fleet was divided to do convoy duty for lend-lease arms and supplies en route to the European sector. Planes, specially trained units, anti-aircraft, radar and communication reinforcements had to be withheld from Guam, Hawaii and the Philippines.

It seems obvious that the strategists, diplomatic and military, at Washington aimed to "hold Japan" pending the final defeat of Germany. FDR's speeches, beginning with his "quarantine the aggressor" demand of October 1937, were designed to fulfill this purpose. But Tokyo refused to be lulled or bluffed.

TEXAS
By Gordon Shearer

AUSTIN.—Texas' idea of co-operative hospitals in small communities seems to have caught the national fancy. Results from the act of the last session of the Texas legislature are the basis for the leading article in the December issue of the Progressive Farmer.

The article says that since passage of the act sponsored by Sen. George Moffett of Chillicothe, eleven counties had chartered such hospitals and that tentative plans were under way in 42 other counties.

Since that article was compiled an additional hospital has been chartered for three West Texas counties to be situated at Devine.

The others listed by the publication are situated at Crosbyton, Lubbock, Morton, Lockney, Fairfield, Hale Center, Leonard, Dimmitt, Friona and Wolfe City.

Previous to this act the state had one co-operative hospital in Lamb county. The Progressive Farmer quotes liberally from a United Press article on the Moffett act.

EQUIPMENT: The co-operative hospitals hope to be able to acquire some of the surplus hospital equipment held by the government.

If they have no better luck than the state had had so far in going after surpluses the prospects are not very bright.

The State Board of Control still is in an argument with federal officials on allotment of highway building equipment. Texas seeks about $2,000,000 worth by purchase. But it seems the stuff has been apportioned regionally and not on a nation-wide basis.

There is a tangle too about getting automobile tires. More than 40 orders have been placed for tires and nothing has been heard of them.

TEXAS OUT: The proposal of Gov. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma to have a Southern group of states unite in establishing a university for negroes will have to count Texas out.

Unless the state constitution is changed, the state could not appropriate money for an institution to be situated outside of the state or one for use of other states.

If other states can arrange for construction of the institution, Texas likely would cooperate by paying tuition of Texas negroes who attended the regional university.

Meantime, the state program is development of Prairie View Normal school by raising it to the university class and offering courses there, such as are available to white students at the University of Texas, A. & M. college or the College of Mines, as demand for such courses arises.

We have never cared much for history—either in books or in the making

Republicans Said Too Sure Of Themselves

GOP Platform Said Behind Times

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

CHICAGO. — The Republican party management seems very sure of itself.

The prevailing psychology at the meeting here of the National Committee, dominated largely by old school conservatism, seemed to be that things are coming the party's way in the natural course of human events in reaction from war and the necessary regimentation of war.

STOKES

It is strictly a negative attitude. They expect a rebound without having much to do about it except to see that the party machinery functions smoothly. Consequently they are putting much stress on organization as was indicated by the detailed report of National Chairman Hergert Brownell, jr.

The rebound, they believe, should sweep them into control of the House in next year's Congressional elections, which hitherto always signified a triumphant entry into the White House two years afterward. They are not so sure about the Senate.

Rebels In Party

There are dissenters here in the residue of the old Wendell L. Willkie element in the committee, just as there are dissenters outside, as recently has been demonstrated in the rebellious attitude of some 39 first and second term House members toward party leadership in Congress. They are restive, but seem unable, by and large, to make any real impression with the elder G.O.P. bosses, however much fuss they kick up here or elsewhere.

Nor do the party bosses and elders appear to have been much affected or shaken in their fundamental attitudes by the great changes that have come over the world in the last five years. None of this is reflected either in the interim party platform adopted by the Republicans in Congress for the Congressional elections next year which was brought here by Rep. Martin (Mass.), Republican House leader for the committee's consideration.

IT is a mass of generalities lacking even glitter. It is a cold, precise document, hair-raising in its preamble about radicalism and regimentation, Communism and Fascism, full of figurative "dont's" about the Democratic regime, but without any positive appeal. It has no emotional lift whatever, recalling in its bare-bones aspects some of the cooler of Calvin Coolidge's pronouncements.

Unfortunately, these times are hardly comparable to the middle '20's when Mr. Coolidge regimed in Washington.

The platform is so generalized that it can cover a multitude of widely diverse views and actions on almost any topic. It pins the party down to nothing wholly specific. It is nowhere near as exact as the party's 1944 platform.

Failed To Aid Labor

Republicans came here encouraged by labor's attack on President Truman, hoping it may go to the extreme of breaking up the political influence of CIO's Political Action Committee for the Democrats in next year's elections.

But they are not ready with any inducements for labor to come over to their side, nor even with a solution of their own for current industrial difficulties. There, too, the platform is vague, though for some months now the proposal offered by President Truman to Congress has been available in a Senate bill which two Republicans sponsored jointly with a Democrat Senators Ball (R-Minn.), and former Senator Burton, (R-Ohio), now a Supreme Court justice. This idea as a matter of fact, has been available much longer in a Minnesota law sponsored by former Gov. Harold Stassen.

But these two younger Minnesota Republicans are not too popular with the old guard.

REPUBLICANS let President Truman beat them to this one and get the credit with the public.

But there are some here, and some Republicans in Congress, on the other hand, who would come down much harder on labor in really drastic proposals — which reveals the split in the Republican party as in the Democratic party over labor and other basic policy.

The party leadership, however, seems determined to steer clear of any sharp differences on issues, either in the progressive or conservative direction, and capitalize what they feel will be a material reaction toward them.

PRICES LUNGE HIGHER

NEW YORK, Dec. 10. (AP)—The stock market made another 15-year average peak today with the aid of selected steels and industrial specialties although numerous leaders were thrown for losses by profit cashing.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .1 of a point at 77.1, a top since April 13, 1931. The industrials advanced .2 to 102, best mark since April 16, 1930, while the utilities added .3 at 52.5, highest since Feb. 4, 1937. The market was relatively broad, 957 issues registering. Of these, 460 rose, 343 fell and 154 were unchanged.

Transfers of 2,150,000 shares compared with 2,050,000 Friday.

Talk of boosted ceilings aided the metals. Hopes for labor peace by the first of the year, despite the General Motors stalemate, combined with the persistent pressure of idle funds for speculation or investment, against provided bullish inspiration.

At highs for the move were U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Packard, Studebaker, Allied Chemical, R-K-O, Panhandle Producing and Pacific Mills, the last named spurred to a 4¼ jump by a 2-for-1 split-up proposal.

Ahead were Republic Steel, American Telephone, Texas Co., Radio Corp., Standard Gas $4 preferred, United Corp., Consolidated Edison, General Electric and Dow Chemical.

Bethlehem Steel ended off ⅛, an exception in this group. Lesser casualties were General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Goodrich, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific and Johns-Manville.

Railway bonds improved in spots.

British, French Make Plans To Suppress Radicals In Colonies

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 10—An important conference took place in Singapore the other day.

There Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten conferred with his field commanders, including French and Dutch commanders who are under him in his vast Southeast Asia theater.

WHITE

Two important decisions appear to have been made. The first is that the British job is done in French Indo-China, where British troops are preparing to withdraw and leave the French to finish the business of suppressing local disturbances connected with a native independence movement.

The second is the reported decision to bring into the Dutch East Indies whatever additional forces may be necessary—both British and Dutch—to finish the large job that remains there.

Still Using Jap Troops

In both cases it looks as though Japanese troops still are used and will coutinue to be used to help maintain order for a while.

After a British statement that Japanese troops in Java would be used only for defensive purposes, it was reported that a Japanese artillery battery was ordered to fire on a native independence headquarters in Bandoeng, the summer capital of Indonesia.

In French Indo-China reports say that the Japanese troops will be maintained under arms to protect French nationals stranded at isolated points until enough French troops arrive to handle the situation.

Indies Villages Bombed

The Indonesian situation is much more up in the air. Native outbreaks continue in several places. People are getting killed on all sides—Indonesian revolutionaries, Eurasians, Dutch, and British military personnel. The British recently bombed villages with RAF Thunderbolts to emphasize their intention to do whatever is necessary to restore order.

This program of restoring order, according to a British statement issued after the Singapore conference, is to be on the principle of restoring Dutch sovereignty, but the statement takes note of the native demand for independence and self-government.

Welcome Home . . . Back In Civvies

Recruiting Stations Are Opened In Area

The opening Monday of two new recruiting sub-stations in the West Texas U. S. Army recruiting district and plans for opening of seven more such stations has been announced here by Lt. Col. Robert L. Hardy, commanding officer.

Opening of the new stations, at Plainview and Childress, brings to seven the number of such stations in West Texas. Other cities that have recruiting offices are Amarillo, Big Spring, San Angelo, Abilene and Lubbock. District headquarters are in the post office building here.

Cpl. Walter J. Weeks has been assigned as head recruiter at the Plainview station, and Sgt. George B. Keith will have the same capacity at Childress.

Opening of new stations is hoped by Col. Hardy to increase the number of enlistments in the district — a part of the Eighth Service command which is leading the nation in the new voluntary reenlistment program—by shortening the distance that prospective recruits will have to travel to reach a recruiting station.

Hardy said that the new stations would probably be located in the post office or a government building in the respective cities selected.
