This will be the only meeting held, according to Gary Kelley, secretary for the organization, and the only opportunity for signing for play.

Those wishing to participate in summer baseball should be at the Agriculture Building, with birth certificate and an $8 fee for Pee Wee and Little League teams, and $10 for the Babe Ruth division.

Any and all persons interested in coaching one of the teams is asked to report at the meeting by 7:30 p.m.

SCHOLARSHIP RECIPIENT - Patricia Masso received a $100 book scholarship recently which was presented to her by the local chapter of ATE, teachers organization.

Vandals Run Diesel Out On Ground

In a day of fuel shortages and exorbitant prices, an Olton farmer has been subjected to a painful and senseless experience.

Vandals used a key from a nearby truck to prop vavles on a 3000-gallon tank open and let approximately 2000 gallons of precious diesel fuel drain out upon the ground.

'Town Hall' Meeting Tuesday To Decide Use Of Money

Oltonites are invited to attend a "town hall" meeting Tuesday, April 15 at 8 p.m. in the agricultural community building.

The meeting has been planned so that persons may make suggestions on ways to make Olton an even better place to live. It is the responsibility of each citizen.

Also on the agenda for discussion is what should be done with the monies raised by the historical pageant in 1976. Proceeds were placed in a savings account at Olton State Bank after pageant expenses were paid and have been accumulating interest.

These funds belong to Olton Historic Preservation Society of which all residents are members. The money was ear marked for the use of "preserving Olton's history".

Although the Society was the formal sponsor of the history book just recently off the press, NO MONIES WERE USED IN THAT PROJECT.

Final Storm Alert Testing Completed

Civil Defense officials made the final storm alert test of the season Wednesday at 1 p.m.

Next sounding of the siren's blast will be "for real."

Spokesman for the group, Tom Smith, makes this statement, "In case of an actual tornado threat, we will run the fire trucks as a warning for the residents....IF we have time.

"When danger is sighted we will sound the alert, then if time permits we will start the trucks through the streets for additional warning."

Lions Elect New Slate Of Officers Hear Report On Olympics

Olton Lions elected a new slate of officers Tuesday at their regular luncheon meeting in the agricultural community building. Recommendations of the nominating committee were accepted and the nominees elected by acclamation.

Named as Lion Boss was Bill Yoakum. Other officers are George Richardson, first vice president; Leon Noack, second vice president; Wayne Cole, third vice president; George Jones, secretary; Les Kennedy, treasurer; K.Y. Givens, tail twister; and Larry Digby, Lion tamer.

Jones reported on plans suggested for the Olton Olympics. The date for the benefit fun event has been set for Saturday, May 10. In the event of bad weather, the meet will be held the following Saturday, May 17.

Entry blanks are being readied and will be available from Lions at a number of local businesses. Activities will include something for everyone from the Tiny Tots Dash for three to six-year-olds to the Old Masters (50 and older) Relay and the Grandma's Walk.

Guests attending were Carolyn Durham, Kristi McNeeley, Taralena Cole, Anthony Cole and Lionesses Marilyn Potts and Pauline Strain.

Cole presented the program on myths concerning the funeral industry.

"More myths exist about the funeral industry than any other," he said.

Many, he says, are derived from fear of death and a large number have been carried down through many generations. Primitive people had customs which reflect the superstitions and myths concerning death.

Early practices included abandonment, where the deceased is literally left to the ravages of decay and/or birds or animals of prey. Servants of the deceased have been burned at stakes with the body of their departed masters; wives have been literally entombed with their dead husbands and other pagan-like practices.

Olton State Bank Increases FDIC Insurance Coverage

As local farmers gear-up for spring planting operations, Dale Cary, president of Olton State Bank offers a note of optimism, "We feel real good about the local economy even with the recent depressed cattle prices and faltering commodity prices.

"The Olton community has proven that it can bounce back as well as any community can, and better than most. Since the terrible hailstorm of last August the attitude of the community as a whole has been splendid."

Indicating a healthy economy, deposits during the past year increased $3,400,000 while loans were elevated by $1,800,000.

Adding a tremendous boost in stability to the economy, Congressional Bill No. 4986 which became effective March 31, increased FDIC Insurance from $40,000 to $100,000 per account.

"This increased limit of FDIC insurance will give more assurance to our local people. Perhaps many can more more of their deposits "home" and provide the local bank with resources to continue helping our business people and farmers with their financial needs," Cary reasoned.

"The depositors' money," he continued, "now enjoys a stronger line of defense behind our experienced and able management. While we carefully protect all deposits with safe and prudent investments, it is reassuring to know that the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, a permanent agency of the U.S. Government, is standing behind us.

"We appreciate the confidence our depositors have in us, and we will continue providing the best in banking services.

"With almost $2.5 million in capital and the increased insurance coverage our depositors have been given added safety and incentive to save their money and to bank at home."

Cary went on to explain that total assets of the bank as of March 31, were $30,400,000 as compared with $27,700,000 on March 31, 1979.

He attribute the 23 percent increase to customers becoming more 'saving conscious' because of the higher rates now being paid on monies placed in Money Market Certificates.

Rep. Kent Hance Amends Legislation

U.S. Rep. Kent Hance successfully amended legislation in the House Agriculture Committee recently which ties farm commodity prices to parity.

The approval by the Agriculture Committee marked the first time in more than 30 years it has approved legislation which based farm prices on the concept of parity. The bill, H.R. 6815, will now go to the House Budget Committee before facing a full House vote.

"This could prove to be one of the most significant votes in years by the Ag Committee," Hance said. "Tying farm price loan rates to parity is something we have needed to do to protect the farm industry."

Hance's amendment set loan rate for all farm commodities at 65 percent of parity. Milk is the exception because it already has 80 percent parity rate. Simply defined, parity is the purchasing power of farm goods compared to a base established on the farm prices of 1914. One hundred percent parity would mean establishing farm prices in comparison with other manufactured goods using the prices of 1914 as a base of equality.

"Putting farm prices on parity ties them to other segments of the economy and would eliminate much of the uncontrollable situation farmers have faced with farm prices which are out of balance with today's economic indicators. This bill will still face strong opposition in the House and possibly from the Administration. However, it is a significant step because it is a totally new direction for Agriculture Committee policy."

'Notes Of Spring' Pageant Date Changed To April 25

"Notes of Spring", the annual pageant sponsored by Olton Band Boosters, has been rescheduled for Friday, April 25. The event had originally been set for Saturday, April 12.

Five separate categories will be featured in the pageant with girls judged on modeling of sportswear and party dress. Girls three years and older, residents of Olton Independent School District, are eligible.

Say What?

Talkin' Politics

BY FREDDY STOCKDALE

The other day Crash and I were sitting around shooting the breeze when politics suddenly entered, or maybe I should say got in the way of, our conversation.

Now ol' Crash (my not-so-friendly friend whom I introduced a few weeks ago) is about as conservative as you can get. (On the highway of politics, you might say Crash drives on the right shoulder). And as the days go by I find myself becoming a little bit more conservative, too.

When the subject of who we would vote for rolled around, Crash emphatically said, "Anyone but Carter."

"You know, Crash," I said, "that's the thing about this year's campaign that bugs me. When people talk about voting, they don't talk about who they're going to vote FOR. They only talk about who they're going to vote AGAINST. Doesn't that bother you?"

"Anyone but Carter," he repeated.

"What about Kennedy?" I asked.

"Anyone but Carter and Kennedy."

"Explain, please," I said.

"Well, even though Carter tries hard enough, I think he is just the wrong president at the wrong time. Too many crises for his inexperience to handle. As for Kennedy, I felt sorry for him at first because everyone was on his back about Chappaquiddick. But then he made the fatal mistake that saw the demise of the Kennedy 'mystique'.

"What was that?"

"He opened his mouth."

"O.K., then. What about Jerry Brown?" I asked.

"He has a better chance of beating Bo Derek in a '10' Contest than of being president."

"Besides that," I added, "his aides and the press would go nuts trying to figure out what to call Linda Rondstadt. Would she the First Lady or the First Singer or what?"

"Probably the First Roommate," replied Crash.

"Well, Crash, now that you've insulted the Democrats, what do you have to say about the Republicans."

"Actually things are a little more on the bright side over there," said Crash. "Even though Phil Crane is out of it, I think we'll see a lot more of him in 1984."

"Was he your favorite?"

"No," said Crash, "For a time I was really leaning towards John Connally."

"But what about his wheeler-dealer image?" I asked.

Crash thought about it for a minute and said, "Well, I got to thinking maybe that is exactly what this nation needs right now to deal with the smart-aleck little countries who like to take advantage of the fact that we are a civilized nation."

"What about Anderson?"

"Naw, he's too liberal. But at least he says what's on his mind, rather than the same old political hot air."

"Reagan?"

"I guess when election day comes along, he'll be the Republican facing Carter, so I'll probably vote for him," said Crash. "One thing about Reagan, though, is that he is never specific enough in his speeches."

"Yeah," I said, "He sort of reminds me of all the candidates for Lubbock's city council. Every two years they all say something needs to be done about the water and traffic problems, but you never hear them say what they'll do."

"Oh, well," said Crash, "I don't know if Reagan will beat Carter, but if Carter does win, at least there will be one thing to smile about."

"What's that?" I asked.

"He won't be able to run in 1984."

The Land Of Beginning Again
I wish there were some wonderful place
Called the land of beginning again,
Where all our mistakes and all our heartaches,

Could be dropped like a shabby coat at the door,
And never put on again.

MRS. JOHN STILES

Recipe Revue

Baseball and softball had never appealed to Mrs. John Stiles but a husband who loves baseball and three little sons have influenced a change.

Darlene had never played softball until last summer when, near the end of the league's season, she agreed to suit out for a game that seemed destined to be forfeited for lack of players.

"I was scared to death," she recalls and admits she struck out. "I just stood there and let the ball go by on third strike."

Darlene says she's thinking very seriously of trying out this season and admits she's learned to enjoy baseball since John has worked with both Little League and Babe Ruth teams.

Steve, their nine-year-old, played baseball last summer and both he and Dennis, who will be seven in August, are looking forward to summer and more ball games. "Little John" still has a while to wait since he just became four in February.

Moving to Olton from Hale Center in 1965, Darlene graduated from Olton High School in 1968. John was an older brother of Rita, one of Darlene's classmates and friends. After their marriage, they lived in California for a while until John completed his tour of duty in the U.S. Navy. They have also lived in Anton and Texhoma.

John works with the U.S. Post Office and has his own electrical business. They have done much of the work, with the aid of friends, in fixing up the house they bought and moved to town about a year and a half ago.

Working in her yard and garden, Darlene feels is enjoyable and rewarding work. Reading and crocheting are favorite pastimes.

Darlene is secretary at Frito-Lay and has discovered this season of the year allows her time to "make work." She laughs as she confesses, "I cleaned out the files twice and then I couldn't find anything."

Darlene shares a recipe Frito-Lay prints on their packages of Fritos corn chips. The substitution is her own idea. The recipes for French fried onions and blushing pears come from a much-used wedding present cookbook.

SOUR CREAM CHICKEN CASSEROLE

3 to 4 c Fritos corn chips, reg or king size
3 c diced cooked chicken
1 c mild green chilies, chopped and drained
1 c chopped onion
2 c grated American cheese
½ t salt
½ t white pepper
¼ t ground cumin
1 clove garlic, minced
1½ c sour cream

Grease a 13x9x2 casserole. Place 2½ to 3 c corn chips to cover bottom of casserole. Add chicken as a second layer. Blend chilies, onion, salt, pepper, cumin and garlic. Spread over chicken. Spread cheese over chili mixture and cover with sour cream (or substitute cream of mushroom soup). Bake covered at 325° F for 30 minutes. Uncover and add remaining chips and continue baking 15-20 mins or until hot and bubbly. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

BLUSHING PEARS

Set out a shallow baking dish that has a cover.

Wash, cut into halves, core and pare 2 large or 4 small pears.

Cut three tiny slits in full part of each rounded side. Insert in each slit, red cinnamon candy. Place pears in baking dish, cut side down. Pour in dish:
¼ c water
2 T lemon juice

Cover and bake at 350° F 30 to 50 mins (depending on size of pears) or until pears are tender when pierced with fork. Remove pears from oven. Turn pears and fill the center of each half with (in order):
1 T brown or granulated sugar
½ t grated lemon peel
¼ t butter or margarine
Sprinkling of cinnamon or nutmeg.

Return baking dish to oven uncovered and leave until pears are glazed.

Serve hot or chilled. Serves 4.

Note: For variety, substitute for sugar, butter and spices in each pear center 2 t colorful tart jelly, such as currant, mint or cranberry or orange marmalade.

FRENCH FRIED ONIONS

Set out a deep sauce pan or deep fryer and heat fat to 365°.

Meanwhile, clean and cut onions into slices ¼ inch thick (3 med onions)

Melt and set aside to cool, 1 t butter or margarine.

Sift together into a bowl and set aside:
1¼ c sifted flour
½ t salt
½ t Accent
1/8 t pepper

Beat until thick and piled softly, 2 eggs. Blend in ¾ c milk and 1 t Worcestershire sauce. Blend in the butter or margarine. Make a well in center or dry ingredients, add liquid mixture all at once. Blend just until smooth.

Dip onion rings in batter with fork to coat evenly. Deep fry only as many at one time as will float uncrowded one layer deep in fat. Fry 2 to 3 mins or until golden brown. Drain over fat a few seconds before removing to absorbent paper. About 6 servings.

MRS. ROBERT ANDREW VINSON

Naomi Lewis-Andy Vinson Pledge Wedding Vows Saturday

In a candlelight ceremony Saturday evening in First Baptist Church, Miss Naomi Joy Lewis became the bride of Robert Andrew "Andy" Vinson.

Dr. Travis Hart, pastor, directed the double ring vows before an altar adorned with spiral candelabras graced with leather leaf greenery, burgundy tapers and burgundy bows. Scheffeleras and white potted mums also decorated the nuptial area. The memory candle completed the decor.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. R.J. Vinson of Morton.

Mrs. Mark Hodges, organist, and Cheryl Watts of Canyon, pianist, played traditional nuptial selections and Ginna Phillips of Odessa sang, "God, Man and a Woman." Melinda Carter of Odessa sang "The Lord's Prayer." After lighting the memory candle, the bride sang, "Through the Eyes of Love" to the groom.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white sheer marquisette adorned with Alencon lace. Fashioned with a deep yoke of Alencon lace, the bodice featured a Victorian neckline of scalloped lace. Seed pearls and iridescents embellished the yoke which was outlined by a sheer ruffle. The long, pleated Camelot sleeves were finished in matching ruffles at the wrists.

A satin band encircled the natural waistline above her slightly gather A-line skirt. Encircled with a self ruffle at the hemline, the skirt swept to a chapel length train.

Her fingertip veil of silk illusion, edged with appliqued lace, fell from a fitted lace headpiece. She carried a bouquet of burgundy silk roses with tiny plum rosebuds cascading with rose and oak leaves and baby's breath.

Kathy Sherrod of Stratford, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Janet DePrang and Terry Irlbeck of Fritch.

Candlelighters were Marla Artho of Wilderado and Donna Burt of Fritch. Little Miss Heather Vinson of Morton, niece of the groom, was flower girl. Kim Griffin of Canyon, sister of the bride, registered guests.

Bridal attendants wore formal length sun dresses of mauve with ecru lace trim on the bodice and encircling the hemline and long sleeved jacket of ecru lace. They carried burgundy colored long stemmed silk roses with greenery and baby's breath. They wore satin streamers and flowers in their hair.

Candle lighters' dresses were similarly fashioned of burgundy color. The flower girl wore a floor length dress of mauve with ecru lace and burgundy ribbon trim. She carried a basket filled with burgundy flowers.

Craig Vinson of Morton, brother of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen were Randy Clayton of Morton and Don Hatch of Amarillo. Rings were carried by Clayton Livesay. Guests were seated by Steve Lewis of Muleshoe and Richard Lewis of Springlake, brothers of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Lewis wore a formal length dress of burgundy crepe fashioned with fitted bodice and long sleeves. Mrs. Vinson chose a formal gown of dusty rose boucle, style with long sleeves and fitted bodice.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lewis, Gordon, Keith and Rhonda and Jerry Sherrod, all of Stratford; Gary Clark, Teri Brown, Mackie Williams, Joe Smith, Ruth Cook, Jackie Watts and David and Danny Tiller, all of Amarillo; Ineta and Sidney Rodgers of Plainview; Mrs. Craig Vinson and Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Roberts, Stanley and Mark, all of Morton; and Mrs. Archie Sisneros and Eddie of Denver, Colo.

It's easy to see where many of our priorities are.

The children of today are looking to us for ways they can prepare for their own style of life . . . families . . . and job opportunities. To help, we'll need more electricity. It's true, electricity will play a big role toward helping expand the job market to include these adults of tomorrow. The modern use of electricity has contributed to a better educational system to prepare our young people for the new experiences yet to come. Almost 10 years ago, the folks at Southwestern Public Service wanted to make sure there was enough electricity to keep today's wage earner working. They decided that the fuel used in their power plants should be coal because, coal would be more abundant and cheaper to use than the conventional fuel . . . natural gas. Now, Southwestern Public Service has a new coal plant in operation and more on the way. Yes, coal plants will help stabilize fuel costs while providing a long-term, reliable, energy source to provide electricity.

It's good to be able to tell someone what they can depend on.

Dudensing-Hobratschk Vows Read In Sagerton

Miss Carol Ann Dudensing and Larry David Hobratschk recited wedding vows Saturday afternoon in Faith Lutheran Church in Sagerton.

Officiating the 4:30 p.m. double ring ceremony was the Rev. Ralph Hobratschk of Epiphany Lutheran Church in Lake Worth, Fla., brother of the bride.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Wallace L. Dudensing of Sagerton and the late Wallace L. Dudensing. Mr. and Mrs. V.J. Hobratschk of Littlefield are parents of the bridegroom.

Michael Navert of Denton, organist, presented nuptial selections and accompanied Phil Alford of Post, cousin of the groom, who sang, "The Lord's Prayer," "Treasures" and "The Wedding Song."

The candlelight ceremony was solemnized before an altar set with candletrees and two large baskets of yellow and white daisies. Two single candles graced the altar. Pews along the bridal aisle were marked with candles and white bows.

Escorted to the altar by her brother, Lynn Dale Dudensing, the bride wore a formal gown of white organza and Chantilly lace. Fashioned with a moulded bodice, it featured a high neckline with Chantilly lace collar. Schiffili embroidery, in a cameo design, embellished the sheer yoke which was defined in Chantilly lace and seed pearls.

Her sheer lace bishop sleeves were shirred to to wide lace cuffs. The empire waistline swept to a natural line in the back. The A-line organza skirt flowed from back fullness to a chapel length train. Chantilly lace medallions were sprinkled on the skirt which was encircle with a Chantilly lace flounce in an inverted V-pattern in front and back.

Her silk illusion veil, caught to a Camelot capulet, was adorned with Alencon lace and sprinkled with seed pearls. Falling fingertip length, it was finished in two rows of petal edging with Alencon lace motifs. She carried a bouquet of yellow and white roses with greenery and baby's breath.

Susan Lewis of Slaton was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Rhonda Askins of Andrews, Sandy Oliver of Tahoka and Traci Fleming of Plainview.

They wore gowns of seaspray green tinasta knit and chiffon styled with criss-cross bodice featuring double spaghetti straps. Their accordian pleated skirts swept from empire bodices. They carried bouqets of yellow and white daisies.

Allen Hobratschk was his brother's best man. Groomsmen were John Synatschk of Springlake, Brent Barker of Midland and Ben McKinnon of Littlefield. Guests were seated by Glenn Dudensing and Sammy Navert, both of Stamford, and David White of Littlefield.

The groom wore a white tux with white ruffled shirt and white rose boutonniere. Groomsmen and ushers wore tuxes of brown toast with white shirts and white carnation boutonniers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Dudensing wore a beige gown of Chantilly lace fashioned with sunburst pleated skirt and capelet. The bodice was styled with a low v-neckline accented with a rose of the same fabric. She wore a yellow orchid corsage.

Mother of the groom wore a gown of yellow chiffon accented with a stand-up collar which tied in a bow. The skirt was gathered to a band at the waistline. She wore a green orchid corsage.

A reception was held in fellowship hall. The bride's table was laid with a floor length cloth of white organza overlaid with lace. An arrangement of yellow and white daisies graced the table with its silver and crystal appointments.

The tiered wedding cake was decorated with yellow roses and topped with wedding bells. Cake and banana slush were served by Renee Berry of Hillsboro, JoAnn Rust of Cisco, Cynthia Burnam of Plainview and Susan Stegemoeller of Lubbock.

Following the reception, a wedding dance was held in the Sons of Hermann Lodge, Old Glory.

This hybrid's record for consistency has made it one of the most popular hybrids on the High Plains. In 77 comparisons over the last four years against competitive hybrids, 3184 has shown an average yield of 183.7 bu./A. with a yield advantage of 14.3 bu./A. over competitives. Bred with outstanding drouth tolerance, 3184 can adjust ear size and kernel depth to match growing conditions. And strong stalks keep 3184 standing straight for speedy harvest. It's just what High Plains farmers need in a dependable, high-yielding corn hybrid. And its maturity makes it a good companion for 3183.

Push this one for highest yields! In 43 comparisons on the High Plains in 1979, this hybrid averaged 192.1 bu./A. A sampling of yields from 1979 includes 216 bu./A. for Sheldon Rapp at Hooker, Oklahoma . . . 210.4 bu./A. for Larry Kemp of Muleshoe . . . and 196.7 bu./A. for Doyle Underwood at Dimmitt, Texas. 3183 has demonstrated very good standability and ear retention in this area. Excellent drouth tolerance helps 3183 maintain outstanding consistency year after year. And it has been especially impressive on gray soils. Plant 3183 along with 3184. Spread genetic risks and get top performance, too.

Reminiscing

By Lily May Silcott

It is heartening this week to present a former resident who still remembers kindly her years spent in the Olton community.

Through an interview, conducted via mail, we learn that Mrs. Clury (Hazel) Phillips is presently living in Coldwater Manor, Stratford where she reports, "It is a nice place to be. Because of a series of broken bones, I am no longer able to live alone. My children and I agreed we must empty the apartment and dispose of my furniture. So, after a few tears, I settled down here.

"Since everything is done for me, I have lots of time on my hands...hands which have always been busy. We have a craft room where we make all kinds of things, such as silk flowers, handwork, pillows, pot lifters and tote bags. We also paint ceramics.

"Last June the director asked if I would like to take art lessons. This appealed to me, so the teacher began coming here for lessons once each week. I have greatly enjoyed the new challenge. My first pictures were not very good, but I'm encouraged as people tell me that each one is an improvement over the others. So far I have painted 35 pictures. I'm far from a good artist but I do enjoy trying. I have also made six dozen roses for the church since Christmas.

"Although it was not easy to give up my home, and this is not what I would have chosen to do...still I am adjusted and very happy. Physically I'm doing real well. I use a cane, but that is far better than a wheel chair...as many must use. I am so thankful that I can make my way around and take care of myself.

"I have moved my church membership here and attend Sunday School and church as weather permits. We also have Sunday services here at 9 a.m. and Bible studies each Wednesday afternoon, various ministers of the town taking turns.

"Some 20 or more ladies of the town serve as volunteer workers...they do lots of nice things for us."

A native of Stephenville, Hazel remembers several moves made by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Pitt Holley, each time in search of better climate....better farm land....better schools for their four children.

At age 17, Hazel entered Wayland Baptist College at Plainview. After two and a half years, she was striken with a bad case of measles and had to withdraw from school to let her eyes recover.

At home in Ashtola she did some stubstitute teaching, taught a few music pupils and, in the summer of 1924....at a community singing....met a young farmer from Thalia, Clury Phillips. Each attracted to the other, they began to have more and more frequent dates. They wanted to plan marriage but lack of finances made it seem impossible. They decided it was best for them to continue to carry on their own pursuits and save their money for an eventual wedding.

Hazel secured a position teaching in a country school near Brice. Her salary of $90 per month was handled very carefully that she might save as much money as possible.

Phillips, a native of Tennessee, moved on to the Olton community where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M.J. Phillips, had preceded him. Upon a rented farm, during a dry year, crops were not outstanding but by May 22, 1926, the young couple had decided to pool their funds....and they were married in Amarillo by a Baptist preacher that Hazel had formerly known.

"We came directly from Amarillo," she states, "the furniture we had bought was there when we arrived at the poor little, two-room house located on the rented farm, four and one-half miles northwest of the city. During the night a hard rain fell....water ran in at the back door and out at the front, giving me some idea what my housekeeping chores might be."

A combination welcome-wedding dinner was served shortly thereafter in the elder Phillips' home. Here the new bride met several new friends, including a Miss Zula Hair (sister of Lauis and Bailey) who had baked "a lovely white wedding cake, as a wedding present."

The newlyweds soon made a trip to the home of the bride's parents to get some other possessions. Included as a gift of her parents, were a cow and calf, so Phillips rented a Ford truck and a trailer for conveyance. Coming back via the "caprock" proved to be too much incline for the loaded vehicle which stalled and even started rolling backward. The quick-thinking bride jumped out and rolled a rock behind a wheel to help hold the altitude already gained. After several such futile attempts, a passing mail-carrier stopped and tried to pull them along....but this, too failed. Continuing his way, the postman promised to send help. After a long wait a farmer, with his team of mules, arrived to pull the helpless vehicle to the top of the hill. Darkness had already fallen and without lights the young couple had to drive the 14 miles in to Silverton. Once there, they found no place to spend the night....except a small room at the rear of the lumberyard.

In Plainview, the following day, they called upon their landlord and learned to their delight that he would build them a new house during the summer. Happily established in the new home, they lived there for some eight years. Two daughters were born during that period of time.

Living in the Olton community meant membership in First Baptist Church, which met in a small white frame building (now a portion of the building used by the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints.) Hazel was soon pressed into service at the piano. She admits that she has always enjoyed playing hymns.

In the late summer of that year she remembers they had a revival, "They used the school bus shed for a meeting place. All of the town attended. John R. Rice did the preaching, Mr. Al Dennis led the singing and they moved two pianos in. Alice Jones played one of them, I played the other."

With the two girls, the Phillipses moved to a farm in the southern part of Castro County in 1933. The girls attended Sunnyside School. During the dust bowl days of 1935 a third daughter was born and life took on renewed interest for the family.

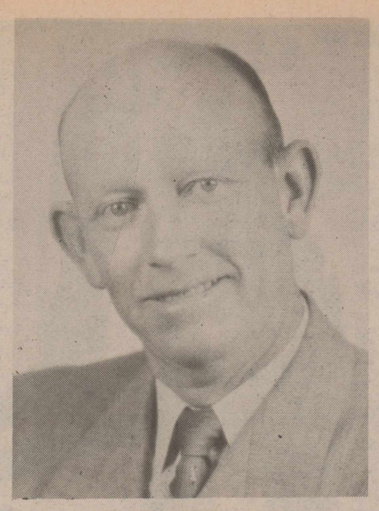

It was later, in 1936, when Phillips made a trip to Olton for some supplies. When he entered the general store, operated by Mr. C.E. Bley, he hastened to announce to some of his friends there that he had finally gotten a BOY. The exicted store keepers asked excitedly what they had named him...to which Phillips rather meekly responded..."Mary Hazel."

This little one who was a delicate child brought many anxious moments and sleepless nights for the parents before she could be pronounced a healthy child, completing the family.

After eight years in the Sunnyside community, the Phillips moved back to Olton for the purpose of a better school for the children. The farm they purchased, seven and one-half miles northwest of the city, had very poor housing. World War II was underway in 1942 and lumber for building could not be had. A two-year-old house was purchased from Earl Roberson and moved to the site. Hazel says of it, "It thought I had a mansion, it was so much better than anything we had lived in. We all appreciated it so much."

HAZEL PHILLIPS

CLURY PHILLIPS

During the war years, when help was unobtainable, Hazel helped with the combining by driving a tractor. She had begun helping with milking during depression years, when they had bought cows and a cream separator... selling cream to buy groceries. Too, she spent summer months raising and canning fruits and vegetables, she remembers, "We were poor, but all of our neighbors were in the same boat, so we didn't think much about it. We were happy and that took care of most everything. We didn't go much. If the children were well, we went to town once a week for groceries and to church on Sunday."

During some of those bleak years, Hazel taught music one year in Olton. Among her pupils was a young lad, Harold Dean Carson. He later became a teacher of piano under whom the younger Phillips girls...and some of the grandchildren....studied.

Phillips was a good farmer, and in better years they prospered. He had his first irrigation well dug in 1943. Always active in farm organizations, he served two terms as president of the board of directors for the Co-op Gin, and also was a member of the board of directors for Co-op Cotton-Oil Mill in Lubbock. He also helped organize the Co-op Grain elevator. His wife remembers him as a perfectionist at farming.

Work in their church was foremost in the lives of the couple. Phillips was general secretary of the Sunday School for some 20 years. He still held the office at the time of his death.

Hazel taught many levels of Sunday School classes, but her longest tenure of service was in Adult One department, where she served for a time as superintendent, but her greatest love was for the class of younger women, an age group with whom she worked for about 20 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips built a new farm home in 1955. The yard was as carefully planned as the home, and it did become a show place for the couple who loved flowers. Both spent a lot of time cultivating them.

But the family was almost gone from the home by the time the new house was built. LaNelle, the eldest, had married Hubert Waldrop. They now live in Stratford where he farms and she teaches. They are parents of two children and have one grandson.

Joy married a local lad, Milford Lambright. They now live north of Stinnett. They have two children and three grandchildren.

Gwendolyn, now Mrs. Robert Ziskz lives in Woodstock, N.Y. They are parents of two children and work for IBM.

The youngest, Mary Hazel, also married a local school mate, Cecil Maddox. Parents of a daughter, they live in Friona where he is elementary principal and she teaches fourth grade.

Clury's death, following a short illness, in 1974, brought about radical changes in lifestyle for Hazel. Not desiring to live on the farm alone, she secured an apartment in Plainview. A sister, Gladys Holley, had lived in that city for many years. She and new friends, gained through attendance in First Baptist Church, made life bearable through the first bitter months.

But thereafter, the series of broken bones caused long stays in hospitals and finally the move to the retirement home.

Located, as she is, near her eldest daughter, she sees her almost daily. Other members of the family visit as often as possible, so Hazel finds much for which to be thankful.

She concludes, "I do get real homesick for Olton sometimes, but I know it just wasn't meant for me to be there."

She finds comfort in her favorite verse of scripture, "We know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are called according to His purpose."

It just might be....that cards and letters from former friends, addressed to Coldwater Manor would find a warm welcome...and perhaps a prompt response from this "Oltonite in Absentia."

agri-facts

Arabic arithmetic may become a required course for American farmers. This special sort of mathematical learning is based on a very simple premise, "if you control a resource the rest of the world has to have, make sure they pay for it." American agricultural producers' ability to supply a large portion of the world's food has been responsible for a variety of new terms developed during the past few years . . . some even in the past few months. First . . . food power, then Agri-power . . . now, some politicians are talking about "agridollars." In balance of trade situation, the American public will benefit as long as the "agridollars" coming in equal or exceed the "petrodollars" going out. From that point the future looks bright . .. nearly everyone had rather run out of gas than groceries.

Piano Guild Auditions To Be Held Here

National Piano Guild Auditions will be held Thursday and Friday April 10-11, in Olton's First Baptist Church. Forty-two students of Dean Carson, Sue Carson and Pat Hukill are entered for evaluation and awards by the National Guild of Piano Teachers.

Sam Pendleton of Lubbock, who has served as adjudicator for the National Guild of Piano Teachers the past 20 years, will be judge. A native Texan, he has maintained piano studios in Minnesota, California and Texas.

He has taught privately, at the Music and Arts Institute of San Francisco, served on the board of directors of Oakland Symphony Association and Oakland Civic Music Association. He has also served as president of the Alameda Branch, California Music Teachers Association and president of Lubbock Music Teachers Association. He is a member of the American Matthay Association and has served on its board of directors.

In today's column, I would live to give a pat on the back to several small categories of businesses that are members of the Chamber of Commerce.

We have two grocery stores, Pay-n-Save, located on Highway 70 and Leon's, located down town. We also have two restaurants that are members -- Anita's Kountry Kitchen, located on Highway 70 and Dorothy's Place, in down town Olton. Both grocery stores are well established in Olton while both restaurants are relatively new, but all are providing a vital service. What would we do without food?

Another vital service is our utilities. Southwestern Public Service Company, Pioneer Natural Gas Co., General Telephone Company and the City of Olton provide us with electricity, gas, telephone and water and who would want to do without these necessities?

In addition to these life essentials, the above named businesses are making a contribution by being members of the Chamber of Commerce. They are giving of their time and money to make Olton a better place for all of us to live and work.

I have received a letter from the Lamb County Juvenile Probation Department telling about a Big Brother/Big Sister Chapter they are planning to organize in Lamb County. This is a very worthwhile endeavor a chance for someone to help a youngster less fortunate than some.

Sometimes kids who get into trouble just have no helpful, understanding family to teach them moral standards or to serve as a role model and just having a Big Brother/Big Sister to serve in this capapcity could mean the difference between a life of crime and an asset to society.

Anyone interested in being part of this program is invited to meet at the Tri-County Saving and Loan in Littlefield Monday April 14. The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. and will be over by 8:30 p.m.

I have had to change the date of our Town Hall Meeting to Tuesday, April 15 because of a conflict in my schedule. It will begin at 8 p.m. at the community ag building and Wendell Potts will be the moderator so everyone please turn out and help us decide how to spend $7,000 of the money raised by Olton Historical Society.

The Rhine River is so important to European commerce that it was internationalized in 1868.

MRS. TIM GIVENS

Area Residents Offered Local Aerobics Class

Aerobics has been described as "a fun way to get in shape." Beginning soon, Oltonites will have the opportunity to participate in an aerobics class which will be held under the auspices of Wayland College's Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

Announcement of the beginning course is made by Ms. Sylvia Madler, head of the department. The course, which can be taken for credit, will be taught by Cindy (Mrs. Tim) Givens.

An additional class on another day, will be offered if the demand is sufficient but at present, classes are planned for Tuesday evenings. Currently, they are expected to be held in the building formerly occupied by Northside Gift Shop.

"The Health Center" is the name chosen by Mrs. Givens and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Carson who move their Shaklee distributorship to the front of the new location. Announcement of the opening will be made soon.

Mrs. Givens, who grew up in Portales, N.M., has two years of college work in physical education and two years in nursing education. Both majors qualify her as an instructor in the new class.

Aerobics was offered for the first time at Wayland last fall with some 95 persons participating in the class. Mrs. Ernie Kahn, physical education coordinator for grades K-4 in the Plainview public school system and who taught the first class, describes it as "fun. It's a physical fitness program designed to build up the cardiovascular system. It tones the muscles, gets the heart and lungs in shape, burns up calories and really gives you energy."

Created by Jacki Sorensen of California, aerobics, she explains, "combines jogging and jumping with choreography." All routines and exercises are done to popular music. Each session will also consist of a warm-up period followed by several routines and finally a "cool-down" period of other exercises.

Heart rates will be constantly monitored during each class period. In addition, the program will be geared according to each person's capabilities.

Persons enrolling in the class should wear exercising clothing and tennis shoes. Those interested in enrolling or seeking additional information may contact Mrs. Givens at 285-2364.

Mrs. Givens also has plans to offer gymnastics classes in the future. No date has been made for this. She will accept boys and girls, ages five through 18.

Although she did not have gymnastic lessons until she was in high school, Cindy has the grace and agility of a born gymnast. She recalls her Christmas holidays and summers always included gymnastics camps and says that is where she learned most. She has taught gymnastics in Portales and Canyon.

Former Resident Dies Tuesday

Word was received this week of the death of Mrs. Tommy (Janelle) Kelly of Lancaster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.F. Miller. Mrs. Kelly died Tuesday at her home in Lancaster.

Services for Mrs. Kelly were held Thursday afternoon.

Appraisal Board Meeting Slated

Lamb County Appraisal Board will meet Monday, April 7 at 7:30 p.m. in the board room in the Olton High School building. Interested persons will be welcomed.

Agenda, according to Chairman Royce Collins, includes the discussion of chief appraiser applications, permanent office, policy making and attorney for the appraisal office.
