The SDN Column

Several days ago, Chet Huntley, a television newscaster, made some rather unflattering remakrs about President Richard M. Nixon, using such words as "shallow," "naive," etc., which drew gasps from the general public as well as politicians.

This week it appeared that the president was determined to make a sage of Huntley. His remarks concerning the Tate murder case were stunning, to put it mildly, and it is difficult to imagine that they came from a high public official who also is a lawyer.

A few days earlier, the president's comment on plans for "assisting" with school integration in the South by invitation only, in sharp contrast with comments of other persons in responsibility in the federal agencies involved, including Atty. Gen. Mitchell, brought to mind the old days of the Eisenhower-Dulles double-talk circus back in the fifties.

The City of Snyder hopes to get back to its expansion of Dumpmaster sanitation service in the near future. There is a waiting list on file at city hall for this extra-charge service which has gained city-wide popularity. The expansion of the service came to a standstill last May 11 when the deadly tornado struck Lubbock. A firm in that city which had a contract to manufacture additional containers for Snyder was wiped out by the storm. It is now getting back into production.

The old order called for some 200 containers and this week the city council authorized still another order for 75. Those who have the use of such containers pay a higher garbage collection fee, but nearly all are convinced that it is well worth it. In fact, it possibly is the most popular service ever offered by the city.

Pep Pill Abuse Charged

By G. C. THELEN JR.
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration today accused the pharmaceutical industry of fostering abuse of "pep pills" through overproduction and announced tightened labeling for the drugs known as amphetamines.

"Industry has not faced its responsibility with these drugs," said Dr. Charles C. Edwards, the FDA commissioner. "It is time for the manufacturers to accept the challenge of working closely with the FDA and the Department of Justice to stop the unnecessary production of amphetamines."

The appeal to the industry and the announcement of new labeling for amphetamines was described as the government's most aggressive action so far in attempting to limit the use of the drug.

Misuse of amphetamines is considered one of the nation's most severe drug abuse problems. They are stimulants that can cause euphoria but also homicidal behavior, addiction, possible brain damage and psychotic states resembling schizophrenia.

AS THEY COUNT FATALITIES AND DAMAGE

Hurricane Area Is Alerted

By PAUL RECER
Associated Press Writer

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — The Weather Bureau issued tornado warnings in late morning today for Aransas County one of those hardest hit Monday by Hurricane Celia.

The Weather Bureau reported several tornado funnels were sighted near residences in the county.

The county includes such towns as Rockport and Aransas Pass, severely damaged when Celia swept through and still trying to bring some semblance of order to services and structures.

The San Antonio Express and News, after surveying the Hurricane Celia area as well as possible under the still severe conditions, said its count of damage exceeded $375 million and could easily go to half a billion dollars.

The hurricane claimed 32 lives, 13 in Texas.

There was no relation between the tornadoes and the hurricane.

Figures kept mounting on death and destruction from the effects of Celia's sledgehammer blows in the Corpus Christi area and northwestward into Mexico, where the tropical juggernaut finally beat itself into harmless bits Tuesday.

There were 13 deaths in Texas alone. Including five who perished as the growing storm battered across Cuba and 14 who drowned in turbulent Florida waters, the over-all toll stood at 32 fatalities.

Still incomplete estimates of loss approached $300 million. With damage to more than three-fourths of the buildings and houses in Corpus Christi and dozens of neighboring towns, officials tentatively put the property total around $233 million. Crop losses added nearly $60 million more.

Winds ranged up to a staggering 160 miles per hour, the Weather Bureau disclosed, as mighty Celia surged ashore Monday across Corpus Christi Bay. Before crossing the international border to hit Mexico's mountains, it still packed winds as high as 89 m.p.h. and dealt lessening blows as far as 250 miles inland.

Surprisingly, however, Celia brought rains amounting to less than nine inches along the watershed of the Rio Grande, where downpours up to 30 inches set off massive floods on the heels of Hurricane Beulah in 1967. There nevertheless were warnings of some flooding in low areas on the Rio Grande and the Nueces River, which flows into the Gulf of Mexico here.

President Nixon declared the Corpus Christi area a major disaster zone, making federal money available to speed relief, soon after Gov. Preston Smith and others advised him of the crippling damage.

The President acted without waiting for formal reports from Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans and Small Business Administration director Hilary Sandoval, who inspected the area in a helicopter tour. Gov. Smith was among those accompanying them.

Doctors and nurses came from Houston and other cities to help care for the injured—running into hundreds, although many escaped with minor hurts. It was necessary for them to use boats in reaching Port Aransas, on Mustang Island just up the coast from Corpus Christi and normally served by ferries.

Hospitals suffered severe damage at neighborning Aransas Pass and at Robstown, west of here. Lighter blows were felt by the four hospitals in Corpus Christi and others in this vicinity. Army hospital units set up at Aransas Pass and Ingleside.

Inspection disclosed widespread damage from around Corpus Christi to Rockport, 30 miles up the coast, and in Port Port Aransas, Aransas Pass, Ingleside, Taft, Sinton, Mathis and Robstown.

The Red Cross reported about 65,000 families suffered losses. These included an estimated 8,950 homes destroyed and 13,850 others dealt major damage. An urgent appeal for $6 million in relief funds was issued by Red Cross Chairman E. Roland Harriman.

One of the officials making an aerial survey, George Hastings of the Office of Emergency Planning, said, "It looks like hell. It's the worst hurricane damage I've seen, and I've seen them all since 1960."

Schools At Ira Open Aug. 15

IRA — Ira Schools will open the 1970-71 school year on Aug. 15 with a teachers work-day.

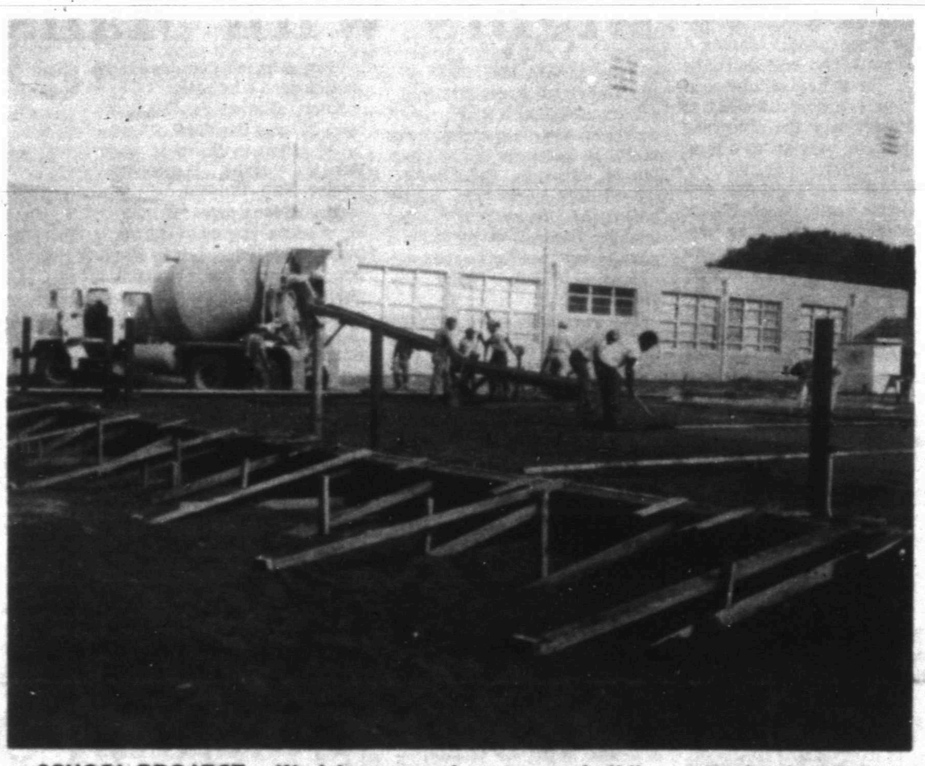

Teachers will report for work on Aug. 15 and Aug. 17, while actual classes will begin on Aug. 18.

"Something new is being tried this year in that we plan to have semester exams prior to the Christmas break," said Supt. Roy Sallee. "It is felt that this will enable students to enjoy this break more thoroughly and at the asme time be an advantage educationally.

"The school year is scheduled so that we will have 180 days of instruction for students. In addition to this, faculty members will have five work days and five in-service education days. These changes were made to conform to new legislation pertaining to the length of a school year."

Thanksgiving holidays for Ira Schools will be Nov. 26-27; Christmas holidays will be Dec. 23 through Jan. 3; Easter holidays will be April 7 through April 13, and school will be out on May 19.

The Ira Schools will have the same faculty as last year, Sallee said.

SCHOOL PROJECT — Work is progressing on a new building on the Snyder High School campus. The structure, located just south of the main SHS building, will house laboratories and classrooms for coordinated vocational-academic education classes, and also four general purpose classrooms.

Marijuana Cases Filed

Four youths have been released under $5,000 bond each after being charged here with possession of marijuana.

The charges were filed after arrests were made by city police Monday night in Towle Memorial Park. Officers said that a bag containing substnace alleged to be marijuana had been confiscated.

Charged with possession of marijuana, a felony, were Steve Farrar, 19, of Ira; Terry D. Bell, Larry Hollis and Randy Keller, all 17 and all of Snyder.

The district attorney's office also announced that charges had been filed and warrants had been issued for Ernest James, Shirley Wells and Carl Lee Edmans of Tyler in separate cases of theft over $50, and for James V. Clayton, alleging theft by bailee.

Junior High Band Schools Are Set

The junior high schools will begin their summer band schools on Monday, Aug. 10.

The 8th and 9th graders will meet from 8 a.m. to 10, the 7th grade woodwinds will meet from 11:15 to 12 and the 7th grade drummers will not meet until school begins. The Travis Junior High Band director is Glen Thompson and the Lamar Band director is Bob Chapman.

Israeli Parliament Endorses Peace Plan

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

By a vote of better than two to one, the Israeli parliament Tuesday night endorsed the government's acceptance of the American plan for a 90-day cease-fire and indirect peace negotiations with the Arabs.

Meanwhile, five Arab nations decided to go ahead with a meeting in Tripoli despite an Iraqi boycott, mortar fire from Lebanon wounded five Israeli teen-agers in a border settlement, and Israeli troops killed three Arab guerrillas on the Lebanese and Jordanian borders.

Before the 66-28 vote in the Knesset, Israel's parliament, Premier Gold Meir said Israeli troops would remain in Arab territory captured during the 1967 war until a binding peace agreement is reached.

Even then, she said, Israel "will not return to the 1967 borders" but will pull back to "secure, recognized and agreed boundaries to be determined in the peace agreement."

Withdrawal of Israeli troops from the captured territory is a stipulation of the U.N. Security Council resolution of Nov. 22, 1967, which is to serve as the basis of the new peace talks. But the Israelis have said repeatedly they will never surrender Old Jerusalem, the Arab sector of the city, and are also expected to insist on holding the Golan Heights, seized from Syria; the Gaza Strip, taken from Egypt, and possibly the Sinai coast past the Strait of Tiran, which overlooks the southern water route to Israel.

Israel also captured the Jordanian territory on the west bank of the Jordan River and the rest of the Sinai desert from Egypt.

Mrs. Meir said her government "continues to feel grave doubts" about Arab readiness to recognize Israel's right to exist. But she said the government feels it must not forego the new prospect for peace, "slight though it may be."

Deputy Premier Yigal Allon told the Knesset he believes the United States has checked the direct "Soviet involvement in Egypt" by making its opposition to this clear both in public statements and "through ways that were not published."

Details Asked On School Fund

WASHINGTON (AP) — After hearing charges that a special Nixon administration integration fund is pledged to foot-dragging Southern districts, two Northern senators have asked officials to spell out how the money will be spent.

Sens. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., and Jacob Javits, R-N. Y., asked Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Elliot Richardson to detail how the $1.5 billion asked by President Nixon will be used to promote school integration.

Richardson and his civil rights deputy, J. Stanley Pottinger, will testify before Mondale's Select Equal Educational Opportunity Committee Thursday.

Congress already has appropriated $75 million at the President's request to help districts involved in integration. The $1.5 billion would be spread over the next few years.

Mondale and Javits asked for more information Tuesday after hearing testimony from Ruby Martin, HEW civil rights chief from 1965 to early 1969, and her successor, Leon Panetta, who was fired last February.

"Are these monies really intended to help desegregating school systems or will the monies amount to some kind of political slush fund or payoff pot to Southern school systems?" Mrs. Martin asked.

She said she understands HEW is ready to mail letters promising money to Southern school districts with two-year desegregation plans going into effect this fall. HEW is ignoring systems outside the South who might be eligible also, she said.

Nunley Is On Trip To Peru

Mickey Nunley, Chamber of Commerce manager, is on his second trip to Paru in as many years as a representative of the Texas "Partners With Peru" organization.

Nunley was one of seven sent back to the South American Country at the request of the State Deppartment, the trip beginning yesterday and to continue for some 10 days. Nunley, who boarded a plane at Midland yesterday afternoon, said he had not been advised of the exact itinerary or other details of the trip, but had been adivsed that a couple of documentary films would be made, and that the U. S. group would visit areas damaged by earthquakes.

City Water Record Set

Snyder citizens used more water in the month of July this year than in any other month in the city's history.

The city purchased 140,082,000 gallons of water in July from the Colorado River Municipal Water District. The previous high month was July of 1964 when the amount was 132,205,000 gallons.

Of the total for July this year, 110,895,000 gallons came from Lake J. B. Thomas and 29,187,000 gallons came from wells within the city which are operated by the water district.

Although the figures for the month set a new record, no daily records were established during the month. At no time during the month did consumption reach five million gallons for a single day and the five million mark has been exceeded several times previously.. However, the water figures were consistently about the 4½-million-gallon mark for several days in July.

There was a reason for the heavy water consumption, of course. It didn't rain in July, and very little in June. Nothing more than a trace of rainfall has been logged here since June 22 when the gauge showed .27 inch. The last real shower fell on the night of May 31 and morning of June 1, with 1.15 inches measured. There was a mere trace a couple of times in July.

US Waging Big Border Offensive

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIRON (AP) — The United States and South Vietnam are waging a massive air and ground offensive along 200 miles of the Laotian border trying to block North Vietnamese troops and war supplies destined for South Vietnam and Cambodia.

The South Vietnamese command announced that several thousand troops from its 1st and 2nd infantry divisions and a marine brigade were conducting "several operations" along the border from the demilitarized zone to points southwest of Da Nang.

The sources reported that U.S. B52 bombing strikes in the Laotian panhandle had been intensified during the past few days.

A spokesman said the ground operations had produced no significant results yet, probably because the monsoon rains in Laos have slowed North Vietnamese activity.

Sources said the South Vietnamese command had no immediate plans to send large ground forces into Laos because the United States fears that might disturb preliminary overtures now under way between the Laotian government and the Pathet Lao.

American sources said some 40 B52s dropped 1,200 tons of bombs during the night on North Vietnamese supply depots along the Ho Chi Minh'trail in Laos and down to the Cambodian border.

One source said there has been no significant activity in Vietnam since July 1 and there are "no good targets in South Vietnam for the B52s. So they go into Laos to hit supply areas."

Some American troops are involved in the ground offensive though the bulk of the force is South Vietnamese. Troops of the U.S. 196th Light Infantry Brigade were attacked early today at the Kham Duc artillery base 13 miles from the border.

Moving behind a 60-round mortar barrage, about 35 North Vietnamese sappers blasted their way to the base perimeter, triggering a two-hour fight in which 15 North Vietnamese and two Americans were reported killed and 14 Americans wounded. Light material damage also was reported.

It was the first serious attack on Kham Duc since the base was reopened three weeks ago to support the border operations. The base had been abandoned more than two years ago under heavy North Vietnamese pressure.

U.S. ground forces also reported killing 33 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong soldiers in three small clashes Tuesday at points 8 to 69 miles southeast of Da Nang. No American Casualties were reported. These clashes occurred considerably to the east of the border offensive.

Emory Hall Dies Today

Emory Hall, 65, died at 3:25 a.m. today in Cogdell Hospital.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

Mr. Hall is survived by his wife; one son, Larry Hall of Snyder; two brothers, Merris Hall of Gallup, N. M. and Walter Hall of Fence Lake, N. M.

A native of Leon County, Mr. Hall had been in the drug business since 1949. He was a member of the Methodist Church.

Patient Plunges To Death

BIG SPRING, Tex. (AP) — A 17-year-old mental patient at the Big Spring State Hospital in West Texas plunged to his death from a 105-foot water tower this morning.

Officials said they do not know whether the youth slipped or jumped from the water tower.

His name was not released immediately by hospital authorities.

A fire truck had been summoned to the scene when the youth was spotted atop the tower but it did not have a ladder that would reach the tower.

Hospital officials said the youth had been a patient at the hospital for five years.

They said that about three years ago he climbed the tower and repeatedly slid down the cone of the tower to catch onto the railing on the platform around the tower.

Officials on that occasion succeeded in prevailing on him to climb down from the tower.

Higher fence may solve neighbor talk

By Abigail Van Buren

(c 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I dread summer because my next door neighbor is a pest. We rarely see her in the winter, but the moment one of us goes outside to hang up the clothes, work in the yard, or if my husband wants to wash the car — she's right there with a constant stream of chatter. If we go outside to just sit, she comes over and joins us. Other neighbors get pestered, too, but we get more of her because she's right next door.

This woman has a husband and two school-aged children. She doesn't work outside the home, and judging from the time she spends outside, talking to anyone who happens by, she doesn't do anything inside the home either. We put up a fence 2 years ago, but she leans over it and talks a blue streak.

We have lived here for 25 years, our children are grown and the house is paid for. We've always gotten along well with our neighbors. Short of moving, what can we do?

PESTERED IN SUMMER

DEAR PESTERED: How about a higher fence?

DEAR ABBY: Mine is a very serious and humiliating problem. I am a woman, 24, and I snore so loudly that sometimes I wake myself up.

I'm going with a man who has asked to marry me, and I am worried about sleeping with him and experiencing the embarrassment of keeping him awake with my snoring.

I know that I must snore very, very loudly because whenever I have slept away from home [camp, college, and overnight as a house guest] I have been kidded about my snoring.

This is becoming a monumental hang-up, Abby. Is there anything a doctor can do to help me? Any other suggestions will be appreciated.

ZZZzzzzz

DEAR ZZZzzzzz: First, see a doctor. If your snoring is due to a nasal obstruction, the doctor may be able to eliminate it [or tone it down] by performing minor surgery. ["Minor surgery" is an operation performed on someone else.] If that doesn't help, tell your fiance you snore before you marry him. There are enough "surprises" after marriage without this nocturnal nuisance.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please rush me the name of a boarding school near Philadelphia that accepts boys who are not yet 4 years old? I think my son needs to live away from home in order to grow up.

I am a divorcee who works, and my mother [a widow] lives with me and looks after Johnny. Lately Johnny has been going back to his baby ways. He wets the bed, sucks his thumb, and refuses to eat unless someone feeds him. My mother is exhausted every evening when I come home. She can't handle him. Now Johnny won't go to sleep unless I take him in my bed and I have a terrible time getting away in the morning to go to work. This all started about 6 months ago. Please help me.

END OF ROPE

DEAR END: From your letter, I think the last thing your child needs is to be sent to a boarding school. He is trying to tell you that he needs your love and attention. Ask your pediatrician to recommend a specialist in child behavior. Take Johnny there for a complete physical and mental examination.

CONFIDENTIAL TO L. L.: Don't worry about what to tell people. Your friends won't ask. And your enemies won't believe you anyway.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Letter writing can be a breeze. For Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

DE, ICT Rols Open

Snyder High School juniors and seniors interested in taking distributive education or industrial cooperative training this fall should contact the high school counselors, or Wallace Combest or Claude Donaldson this week between the hours of 9 a.m. and noon.

The training programs administered by the public schools are designed to increase the efficiency, earning power and business competency of young men and women through on-the-job training. Skill in dealing with people, self-confidence, imagination and the ability to express themselves clearly are very important in all phases of distributive education and industrial cooperative training.

Many businesses favor employing DE and ICT students, because they can take part in the training of the student employes and because the students take related school study about their respective businesses.

Students may earn as many as three credits a year in DE or ICT, and about 75 per cent of the graduates enter college with a better idea of what they want to become, as well as earning some spending money.

Water Is Released

The Colorado River Municipal Water District started the release of 500 acre feet of water Tuesday from Lake E. V. Spence to downstream users above Ballinger.

O. H. Ivie, general manager of CRMWD, said he had been advised by the Texas Water Rights commission, that studies by the commission had indicated that those who have prior rights to the river water would have received this much had it not been for the Robert Lee dam.

Because of the short supply of water, the district had been hopeful that the release would not be necessary, said Ivie, but conferences with water right holders and with commission representatives indicated otherwise.

"Under the law, these holders of prior rights to the water are entitled to the water, and we certainly intend to comply with the law," said Ivie.

Release from the lake was done through the 60-in. outlet so as to provide maximum flow and thus hopefully increase its beneficial effect on the downstream users by dimishing channel loss.

Under the permit granted to CRMWD for impounding Lake Spence, the district is required to release the normal flow of the river. This summer, there has been practically no flow into the lake, which now contains somewhere between 15,000 and 20,000 acre feet of water. For several months the district has been taking around 17,000,000 gallons per day from Lake Spence, and the city of San Angelo began pumping from the lake during the past weekend.

Senate Okays Unemployment Compensation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's signature would give unemployment insurance coverage to 4.7 million more workers and, in times when jobless levels are especially high, lengthenthe payment periods for all.

On a 50-19 vote, the Senate completed congressional action on the measure Tuesday, a compromise which the House passed 388-3 on July 23.

The bill had been stalled for three months after Senate-House conferees deleted a provision in the original Senate version which would have made a start on extending coverage to farm workers.

Those voting against the bill Tuesday weren't opposed, but still were trying to send it back to conference to have the farm provision restored.

As it is, the bill extends coverage to small firms with one to three employes (the minimum now is four), additional agricultural processing workers, employes of nonprofit organizations, state hospitals, colleges and universities and to some Americans working abroad.

It also contains a feature which would extend the maximum payment period another 13 weeks when the national unemployment rate reaches 4.5 per cent for three months running.

That provision also could be invoked for individual states, if their levels represent a climb of 20 per cent over the preceding year and the over-all rate is at least 4 per cent.

The lengthened payments will be possible legally as of 1972, or earlier if state action so provides. The states would share the cost equally with the federal government.

The federal unemployment tax would be boosted imhediately one-tenth of one per cent, and the payroll base on which it is levied would go from $3,000 annually per employe to $4,200 as of 1972.

Priest Says Celibacy Law Is Unjust

HOUSTON (AP) — A priest at St. Benedict Catholic Church served as assistant pastor for more than two months after he married, he said Tuesday.

Larry A. Derden, 28, said he did it to show that the Catholic priesthood and marriage were not incompatible.

He has been replaced at St. Benedict by the Rev. Anthony J. Matranga.

Derden said his wife, Dottie, is 23 and employed as a secretary. They met while he was teaching an advanced theology course at the church more than a year ago.

"My basic contention is that the law requiring clebacy is unjust and contrary to the welfare of the church and therefore is not binding," he said.

Derden, who is now looking for work as a counselor or in some type of youth work, said he has petitioned Bishop John L. Morkovsky and Pope Paul VI asking that he be permitted to "continue serving as a priest for the duration of my life, married, rather than celibate."

He asked that the petition be retained on file until such time as he can serve in the capacity as a married priest.

Derden said he had planned to tell his pastor, the Rev. Joseph A. Fiorenza, about the marriage on July 6, but he acknowledged the matter two days earlier than planned when the pastor asked if he were married.

The April marriage was performed by a priest and a second marriage for "legal purposes" was performed May 2 by a justice of the peace in San Antonio.

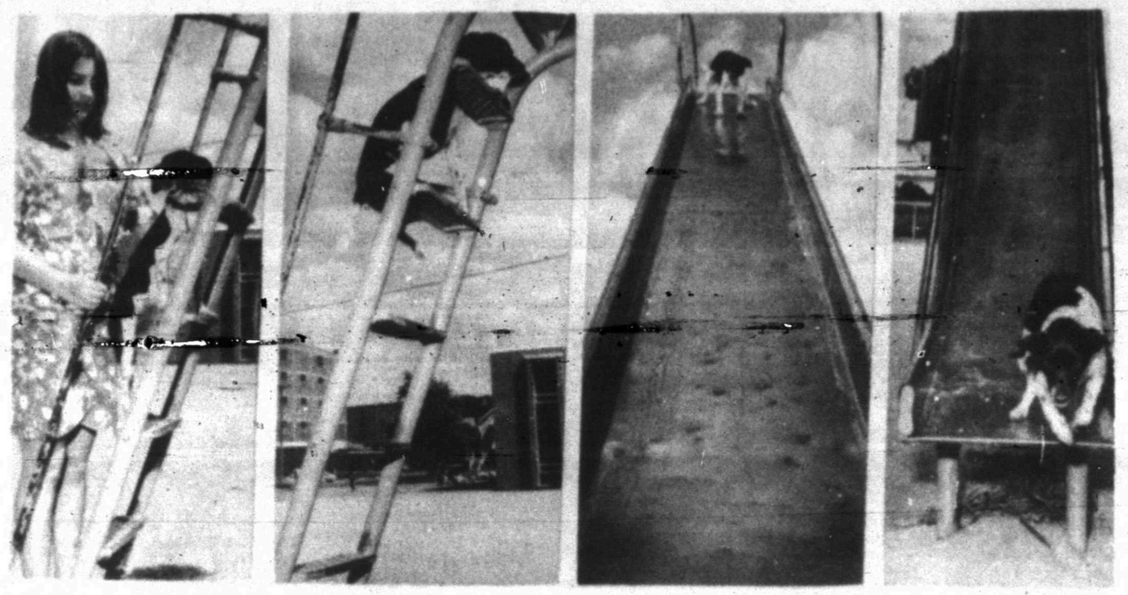

Sextuplets Are Born In Rome

ROME (AP) — A plumber's wife who had taken a fertility drug gave birth to sextuplets Tuesday night. Four died early today and a doctor said the outlook for the other two was "not rosy."

The three boys and three girls were born to Mrs. Loredana Luzzitelli Petrone, 35, who had been childless for 11 years of marriage. They were three months premature, and the doctors said two boys and two girls died during the night.

More than 20 sets of sextuplets have been reported born in other countries since 1900, and the rate has increased since the taking of fertility drugs became widespread. The Petrone babies and the babies born on May 21 to Mrs. Martin Danoff of New York are believed to be the only sextuplets all born alive. All six of the Danoff babies died within seven hours.

The largest of the Petrone babies weighed 1.9 pounds and the smallest 1.4 pounds.

MISTRIAL MOTION DENIED

Lawyer Spending Three Nights With Manson

By LINDA DEUTSCH
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A defense lawyer is spending three nights in the same jail as Charles M. Manson, the shaggy-haired clan leader who briefly halted the Sharon Tate murder trial by flashing at the jury a newspaper headline reading: "Manson Guilty, Nixon Declares."

The trial judge ruled attorney Daye Shinn committed "a willful and deliberate contempt" of court by leaving the paper within Manson's reach at the counsel table. Shinn said he'd done it by mistake.

Manson's move came Tuesday after Superior Court Judge Charles H. Older denied without comment a defense motion for a mistrial based on Nixon's statement — later withdrawn — that Manson was guilty directly or indirectly of eight murders.

Defense lawyers said later they would consider a further mistrial motion based on their contention that the jury has been "tainted" by exposure to Nixon's statements, made to newsmen in Denver Monday.

"This is a massive kind of prejudice," said Paul Fitzgerald, counsel for Patricia Krenwinkel, 22, one of four defendants charged with killing Miss Tate and six others a year ago.

He added: "What we want to analyze is what would happen if such a motion were granted. Would it be humanly possible to find a jury that hadn't been tainted by publicity?"

Older said that since Nixon's remarks were made he had ordered special precautions to protect jurors from exposure to the news reports. He had windows made opaque on buses that ferry jurors to court and ordered their access to telephones, radio and television suspended.

"I'm satisfied there has been no exposure," he said.

Shinn, attorney for Susan Atkins, 21, was the third defender to be jailed in the past week. Ronald Hughes, representing Leslie Van Houton, 20, was locked up for a night for making an obscene comment during a bench conference. Irving Kanarek, Manson's lawyer, spent a night in custody for numerous interruptions of the testimony of the state's star witness, Linda Kasabian. Shinn will be permitted to continue in court.

When Manson held up the paper—an early edition of Tuesday's Los Angeles Times—all attorneys were huddled at the bench in conference with the judge. Deputy Dist. Atty. Aaron Stovitz spotted Manson and shouted: "Your honor!"

A bailiff quickly grabbed the paper from Manson.

Minutes later, Older called each juror separately to the witness stand to say under oath whether they'd seen the headline. All but two said they had seen at least part of it; 11 had read it all.

Only one juror said it might influence him "subconsciously," but added he hoped it would not.

What did they think of the headline?

"I think if the President declared that, it was pretty stupid."

"It should sell newspapers."

"No one does my thinking for me,"

Alternate John N. Ellis said he wasn't surprised by the headline—he said he had seen it on a newsstand while being driven back Monday night to the hotel where jurors are sequestered.

Shinn said he was responsible for newspapers reaching the counsel table.

Returning early from the lunch recess, Shinn said, he found the newspapers on a filing cabinet in the courtroom and, assuming the front page had been removed, spread them out.

"I wanted to read the sports page," he said.

The judge reminded Shinn of a court order made at the bench forbidding newspapers in the area where the four defendants are seated or where the jury might see them.

Shinn protested that his error was "inadvertent" and he wasn't even sure Manson grabbed the headline page from that stack.

The judge said of Shinn: "His failure to obey it disrupted this trial and jeopardized this trial." He added, "Sothat the record is perfectly clear, my feeling is that this was a willful and deliberate contempt with full knowledge."

Hughes rose to further defend his colleague, but the judge, scooping up his papers, declared, "This court is in recess," and made a hasty exit.

Sp. 4 Reyes Is In Korea

TAEGU, Korea — Sp. 4 Sotero Gabriel Reyes has recently arrived in Korea and is being assigned to HQ KORSCOM, Taegu, (Korea Support Command) as a clerk typist.

The Korea Support Command is the largest U. S. military command under the 8th U. S. Army. Nixon Gets Urban Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has sent President Nixon an $18 billion appropriations bill for urban renewal, water and sewage treatment and veterans care. That's $541 million more than he asked, but talk of a veto has dwindled.

The Senate cleared the measure Tuesday 70-8. Somewhat notably, not a single Republican rose to echo Nixon's charges of excessive spending by Congress.

It includes $1.35 million for urban renewal, compared with Nixon's request for $1 billion, and $500 million for water and sewage treatment in towns of 5,500 to 30,000 population, compared with Nixon's $150 million.

Powell Will Be Keynoter

J. Lewis Powell, management consultant, author and nationally known dynamic speaker, will be the Keynoter for the 29th Annual North Texas Personnel and Industrial Relations Conference, meeting in nDallas on Oct. 1 and 2.

Headquarters for the conference, jointly sponsored by Dallas Personnel Association and Southern Methodist University, will be the Fairmont Hotel. Robert E. Edwards, Southwestern Life Ins. Co., National President of American Society of Personnel Administration, will be the General Conference Chairman.

Other outstanding speakers include Arthur Fletcher, Assistant Secretary of Labor, George Rieder, Senior Vice President of Indiana National Bank and National Vice President of A.S.P.A., Dr. Michael Mescon of Georgia State College, Dr. George S. Odiorne of University of Utah, Arthur Dietmeyer of Kaiser Aluminum, and Mrs. Mary K. Ash of Mary Kay Cosmetics, Inc.

The North Texas Personnel and Industrial Relations Conference attracts approximately 1000 management people yearly and an even larger attendance is anticipated this year.

Switzerland recently started an underground highway below the 6,916-foot St. Gotthard Pass. The 10.2-mile road will provide year-round access to Italy from northern Europe.

20 States To Let 18's Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Less than half of the 48 states that do not allow 18 year olds to vote have indicated they will comply with the lower voting age in the new federal Voting Rights Act, Atty. General John N. Mitchell said today.

Responses from the 50 states to a letter sent out by Mitchell last month brought out that 20 states will allow 18 year olds to vote in all elections after Jan. 1, 1971. Two states—Georgia and Kentucky—now permit 18 year olds to vote.

In addition, between three and six states with the literacy or good-character poll tests may defy the new law's ban on such voting requirements. Mitchell said that provision of the law went into effect June 22, the date President Nixon signed the bill.

Mitchell wrote governors of the 50 states July 16, seeking written assurances by last Monday they would comply with all provisions of the act. Mitchell said appropriate legal action would be taken against those who submitted a negative response or failed to respond.

Erlich Says Womanhood Is Means, Not Hindrance

By MARY ANN SEAWELL
Palo Alto Times Writer

STANFORD Calif. (AP) — "We shouldn't give children the impression that women's only role is to be mommies. Little girls should be encouraged to achieve just as boys are," says Anne Erlich, wife of noted biologist Paul Erlich for whom womanhood has been a means not a hindrance to self-realization.

Mrs. Erlich is a biology research assistant at Sanford University where her husband teaches. She helped him with his best-selling book, "The Population Bomb," and with more than 70 scientific articles and research papers. She is co-author of his recent book, "Population and the Environment," and she illustrated another of her husband's books. "How To Know the Butterfly."

The mother of a 14-year-old daughter, Lisa, Mrs. Erlich agrees with the goals of the women's liberation movement, but opposed militant tactics.

"I don't think that women who behave like witches win much sympathy from men or women," she says.

She thinks many women feel defensive in discussions of the population explosion: "They feel we are taking away their one and only accomplishment."

But, as her own experience has shown, women can achieve without producing large families.

"Raising a child is not easy, and even with one, it takes considerable time, effort and thought to be successful," she says.

She adds that she thinks the most important contribution any individual can make is to be politically aware and active.

Mrs. Erlich grew up in Des Moines, Iowa, in a family of three children. She met Dr. Erlich when both both were students at the University of Kansas, he in biology and she in French. They were married in 1954.

Both she and her husband are concerned about environmental problems.

"A mother has to think about what kind of world her children will grow up in. If she and everyone else decide to have several children, it's not going to be much of a world," she says.

She thinks "most public figures who talk about the environment talk about things like sewage plants which are likely to make things worse, not better."

Mrs. Elrich says Lisa is the family expert on detergents and cleansers. "Lisa told me to get another detergent—better a little tattle-tale gray than destroyed lakes and streams."

In junior high school, Lisa was in a population and ecology club.

"Lisa is worried about the future," Mrs. Elrich says. "Many youngsters that age are more worried than their parents are. They are much less hung up by traditional notions of sex and parenthood. They can understand that if you keep putting chips in the box, eventually the chips will fall out. Some adults don't seem to be able to grasp this concept. They think we can keep adding forever."

Bargains May Be Poor Buys

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Sales of house materials are tempting many do-it-yourselfers to let someone else work while they loll in the hammock.

However, in these tight-money days, not every sale is a bargain.

For example, it is easy to overestimate the lumber, paint and wallpaper needed and it may even be more expensive to underestimate the amount of materials required. Determining quantity requires careful consideration.

Professional workers can estimate quantities of materials more accurately than do-it-yourselfers usually can.

Bargains may intrigue a home handyman to do a long-considered project. But there is no saving in the sales merchandise if you don't get what you want or things you really need. If you want red-striped wallpaper for the living room, you may not be overjoyed later with the sale-priced yellow floral that clashes with the red sofa. And if you select a material that is available only in limited quantity and you do not have enough to complete the project, you may be in a decorating dilemma.

Overstocking on shingles because they are on sale, may actually raise the cost of the project. You may have shingles left over, but can you use them? Also, there is nothing more useless than the extra quart of odd-color paint. You may save it for touch-ups but when you again paint the living room, the whole decorating scheme may be changed.

On the other hand, an extra quantity of wallpaper may pay off because you may not be able to match it, if you must, and it takes considerable time for stores to restock such material. If the store is given exact dimensions, they can help you estimate the necessary quantity. And if you hire a professional worker he will estimate the amount required. It will be thriftier to have a roll of material left over than to have the wallcovering man return to finish the job. He would have to cart his equipment into the house and set up his work tables and tools. It takes time. You couldn't blame him if he charged you an additional half or whole day for a few hours work, even if the project lasts only an hour or two. He may have to kill a whole day on your small job.

Carpet tiles have become a do-it-yourself project. And if one orders a few extra tiles, they will not be a total loss. For example, if junior drops his airplane glue on the carpet, one tile might be removed and easily replaced.

If you have a few extra tiles, you might test one or two in the washing machine.

One laundering establishment operator has been washing carpet tiles in machines. A load of carpet flooring that looked bright and clean was in his shop for the second time, he explained. The synthetic tiles had some of the rubbery backing torn away, but the operator said this had happened when the tiles were removed from the floor. The woman customer said these irregular spots didn't affect the fit of the tiles when they were replaced.

Miss Everett Given Pre-nuptial Parties

The bride's chosen colors of yellow and white were carried out in flower arrangements and the table serving. Crystal and silver appointments were used. Miss Lee Ann Sterling and Gwen Colley served.

Presiding at the guest book were Miss Doris Wiggins of Ira, sister of the groom, and Miss Cissy McMahan, cousin of the bride, of Stephenville. Geanette and Theresa Myer of Gainesville helped with the gifts.

Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. W. H. Murphy, Mrs. Floyd Gouse, Mrs. Bill Daves, Mrs. Roy Sallee, Mrs. R. C. Howard, Mrs. H. L. Holladay, Mrs. Robert Erwin, Mrs. W. R. Sterling, Jr., Mrs. C. W. Payne, Mrs. L. Z. Ashley, Mrs. Corky Kruse, Mrs. Gus Sterling, and Mrs. Steve Cox, Jr., all of Ira.

Also Mrs. Howard Sterling, Mrs. Henry Layne, Mrs. Buford Sterling, Mrs. Orville Taylor, Mrs. Marvin Sorrells, Mrs. Jimmy Layne and Mrs. Tommy Clements, all of Snyder; Mrs. Ed Murphy of Abilene and Mrs. Linden Solomon of Colorado City.

Saturday, July 25, Mrs. Joseph Chandler and daughters, Mary Jo and Mrs. William La Dent of Plainview, entertained with a kitchen shower honoring Miss Everett at the Chandler home in Stephenville.

Rice bags were made by the guests.

A miscellaneous shower honoring Miss Everett was given Tuesday, July 28, 1970 from 6:30 until 8:00 p.m. at the Tarleton Student Center in Stephenville.

The hostesses for the shower were: Mmes. Ernest Dickerson, David Montgomery, Thurman Fitzgerald, W. R. Koonsman, D. C. Chandler, Thurman Cashon, Bobby Foster, L. L. Keyser, Barney Evans, T. D. Henry, Lloyd Adams, M. C. Lowery, Glenn Richards, Kenneth Hammit, Jerrel Harris, George Brown and Sam Taylor.

The table decorations were yellow and white, the bride's chosen colors. The centerpiece was a silver epergne with yellow and white flowers. Alternating at the table were Miss Doris Wiggins of Snyder and Mrs. Gene House of Stephenville, both sisters of the groom-to-be and Miss Cissy McMahan, cousin of the honoree and Miss Debby Ewers.

A bridal luncheon was given August 1 honoring Miss Everett at the home of Mrs. M. C. Brandon Jr. in Stephenville.

Hostesses for the luncheon were Mrs. Brandon and her daughters, Misses Cathy and Laurie Brandon.

The bride's chosen colors of yellow and white were used as the centerpiece and in the miniature baskets filled with yellow and white flowers marking each of the seating arrangement.

For almost a decade now, Michigan State University has been providing home gardeners with what it terms "tailor-made" vegetables, which also are very important to highly mechanized agriculture.

Literally, the breeders are "reshaping" vegetables, with higher quality, more yield, stronger resistance to disease and increased appeal to the eye. For the mechanized farm, they must adapt to uniform harvesting, high density planting.

Development of disease-resistant varieties, the university says, improves wholesomeness, minimizes the cost and potential danger of chemical spray programs by reducing the need of them.

The "tailor-made" effort means keeping in contact with processors and vegetable growers throughout the world and adjusting varieties to meet new modern trends.

Here are some of the items we are writing about:

Carrots, Spartansweet, a fresh, long, slender market carrot that will be available for commercial planting by 1971. Spartan Bonus, a squat processing carrot, also ready by 971, has high internal and external color, absence of internal and external greening, and good flavor and texture.

Green cauliflower, to contrast with the ordinary white. Keeps its color even after cooking.

Celery, experimental, non-bolting that keeps its quality in the field at maturity.

Broccoli, varieties resistant to club root disease and which can be harvested by machine are being tested (big, single heads on long leafless stems.)

Lettuce: Scientists are concerned about deceloping attractive, green varieties resistant to aster yellows and bottom rot diseases with heads higher above the soil, more upright wrapper leaves.

Tomatoes: Tomatoes are being made more shapely, more disease resistant and better adapted to harvesting. Some new ones are Moto-Red, a greenhouse variety; Rapids, a better-looking greenhouse type; cherry and pear-shaped. Breeders are working on a type on which no stem will be left on the tomato when it is picked.

Michigan's pickling cucumber yields mounted from 50 bushels per acre in 1950 to 185 in 1968 through better cultural practices and elimination of virus and fungus diseases. A big boost came when Spartan Dawn was developed in 1961. It has all female flowers (which produce the fruit) and thus concentrated production. A couple of new ones are pushing Spartan-Dawn aside. One is a seedless type. Recent seed releases are Spartan Champion, Spartan Reserve, Spartan Progress and Spartan Advance.

Some other items being tested or sought:

A darker green lima bean suitable for freezing; a bush Romano snap bean harvestable by machine and keeping its color at maturity; all female muskmelon. A new variety muskmelon is Howell Spartan. Spartan Banner and Spartan Gem onions produce enough rings of good size for the French-fry market.

ON ENVIRONMENT AND BUSINESS

Ford Publishes Book

By JACK SHOLL
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the bigger questions corporations are asking themselves these days is what responsibility does big business have to society.

The question has taken on a sense of urgency as students, consumers, employes, shareholders and government agencies have increased their demands on business to play a greater role in curing society's ills and improving the quality of the environment.

It is not surprising, then, to find Henry Ford II, chairman of the Ford Motor Co. and one of the nation's leading industrialists, pondering the question in a new book, "The Human Environment and Business." A collection of three speeches he delivered last year at Vanderbilt, Harvard and Yale universities, it was published Tuesday.

For Ford, the times are revolutionary. And the question is not simply whether business has done enough to improve the quality of society. Rather, it is whether business will be able to survive the challenges the next several decades will impose on it without losing its traditional freedom to make a profit.

"As employes, people are wondering if they have given up too much of their time, their freedom and their dignity for the sake of the paycheck," he writes.

"As consumers, people are realizing that affluence can be a burden. Their cars and appliances break down, their plumbing leaks, their lawns get weedy, and getting things fixed is troublesome, expensive or even impossible.

"As citizens, people can see that their material possessions have been purchased at a high cost in environmental pollution —dirty air, dirty water, ugly landscape.

"Modern industrial society is based on the assumption that it is both possible and desirable to go on forever providing more and more goods for more and more people. Today, that assumption is being seriously challenged.

In Ford's opinion, corporations would better serve society if their management would stop thinking of social service and profit as separate and competing aims. In other words, new public values should be viewed as opportunities to make a profit by serving new demands.

And when the market place can't automatically translate public needs to market demand, he says, government intervention should be looked upon as a necessary function.

In Ford's view, the battle business has to fight over the succeeding decades will be won by innovation, not complacent administration.

"The successful companies will be managed by men who regard themselves as entrepeneurs, and not merely as good administrators," he writes. "These are the companies that will earn the highest profits for their stockholders by discharging their highest responsibilities to the society."

Junior Editors Quiz on HENRY VIII

QUESTION: How did Henry the VIII die?

* * *

ANSWER: The eighth English king named Henry was crowned in 1509. During his reign the nation began to be aware of itself and to develop that naval power which was to make it such a force in the world. But this achievement was accompanied by incredible brutality on Henry's part. His great ambition was to have a son to inherit the expanding kindgom. But his first wife, Catherine, failed to give him such a son. He had fallen violently in love with the fascinating Anne Boleyn and he forced an annulment of his marriage to Catherine and married Anne. But Anne also failed to give him a son. Enraged by this, Henry had Anne beheaded — even if she had given birth to the remarkable child who was to become the great Queen Elizabeth and carry Henry's dream of English glory into actuality. Henry's third wife Jane gave him the longed-for son but she died soon after. Henry divorced his fourth wife and executed his fifth. With his sixth wife, Catherine Parr, Henry seemed more happy, but he had been suffering from a severely ulcerated leg which brought his stormy and dramatic life to an end in the year 1547.

Conclusion Jumping With Hal

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

There is more money in old love letters than old coins. Everybody has written at least one missive of this kind he'd pay to get back if it fell in the wrong hands—not because the letter threatens the security of his home life but because it makes him sound silly.

It has been a long time since I saw a woman with a wooden clothespin in her mouth. Don't they wear them anymore?

The reason some people prefer dental floss to toothpicks is that while using the floss they have an excuse to look in the mirror and admire themselves.

One of the greatest pleasures in life is to watch the fun a child has while riding a merry-go-round. America would be a happier place if the government, instead of providing political circuses, would build enough merry-go-rounds so that adults as well as children could get at least two free rides every week.

No matter how long you've been a friend, no girl will ever forgive you if you yawn while she is showing you her engagement ring for the first time.

Many women today are righteously refusing to buy furs made of cheetahs or leopards because these forms of wild life are threatened by possible extinction. But if they go right on skinning the American husband, won't he become a vanishing species too?

Half the guys who dig into a street wastebasket for a thrown-away newspaper to read don't do it because they are broke. They do it because they have enlisted in the ever-growing army of people who will do almost anything to get something for nothing.

If everybody practiced what he preached, soon there'd be no need for preaching. Then where would the world be?

Everybody in trouble looks for any help he can get, but in the end most of us have to cure our own hangnails and hang-ups.

If two boys come over to visit your teen-age daughter, you can bet that the one she chatters to and giggles with the most is not the one she's interested in.

Pat Paulsen 'Talks' Politics

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Dial a certain telephone in Los Angeles and you'll hear a recorded message of "a former presidential candidate who has come out of retirement to discuss California politics."

Then you'll hear the unmistakably hangdog voice of Pat Paulsen, back-running 1968 candidate for president, who says:

"I was surprised to see Frank Sinatra come out for Governor Reagan. I thought Sinatra had moved out of California and had settled in Palm Springs ... Now Dean Martin has joined Sinatra for Reagan. I hereby challenge Martin to a debate on his home grounds, Knott's Berry Farm."

Hearing of the challenge, the Knott's people offered their covered-wagon stage at the Farm for such a debate. That caused a wag to comment: "You'll never get Dean on the wagon."

All this is part of the byplay in one of the liveliest gubernatorial elections in California since reformer Upton Sinclair ran against Republican Frank Merriam in 1934.

This time it's incumbent Ronald Reagan vs. former Assembly Leader Jess Unruh. The race has brought a flurry of activity from show business folk on both sides.

Frank Sinatra made news by announcing his support for Reagan, despite a lifetime of working for Democrats. If Sinatra came over to the Republican camp, would not Dean Martin be close behind? He was.

In response to the Sinatra-Martin defections, the Unruh forces announced the support of Dustin Hoffman and Diahann Carroll. Said TV's "Julia"; "At this time in history, it's urgent and mandatory that we elect a man who stands for progress. Jess does."

Unruh's supporters include the familiar list of Democratic activists: Steve Allen, Eddie Albert, Warren Beatty, John Forsythe, Tony Franciosa, Peter Lawford, Eartha Kitt, Lou Rawls, Henry Fonda, Shelly Winters, Keenan Wynn, Burt Lancaster.

The Reagan team reads the same as before: Walter Brennan, Pat Boone, Joan Blondell, Irene Dunne, Buddy Ebsen, Fred MacMurray, Bing Crosby, Joel McCrea, Randolph Scott, Nanette Fabray, Walter Pidgeon, John Wayne, Roy Rogers, James Cagney.

"They're part of the window dressing for the candidate. Whether they bring in any votes is dubious. But if you can get them to work, they can be very useful in helping to draw crowds and to raise money."

SWEETWATER — Powered by strong pitching by Tim Holder, the Snyder Dodgers topped the Clifton Cardinals 3 to 1 in the first round of the State Junior Teenage League playoffs yesterday in Sweetwater.

Holder went the entire game for Snyder, allowing one run, two hits, and two walks, while fanning 15 Cardinals.

Snyder collected three hits off Clifton hurler Mike Dietzman, getting all three hits and three runs in the third inning. The first Snyder run came when Daryl Stokes got on base with a walk. Stokes advanced to third when Dryden hit a grounder to Dietzman who errored attempting to throw out Stokes at second Holder drove in Stokes with a single, and Holder and Dryden both scored after a sacrifice by Sullivan, a single by Cain, and a double by Braziel.

The single Cardinal run came in the sixth after Roberts got on base on an error. Roberts scored on Villareal's single.

Snyder will tangle with Haskell tonight at 7 p.m. in Sweetwater. Haskell downed Brownwood last night 15 to 7.

Elkins Is Trying Out Again

LATROBE, Pa. (AP) — Five years ago the Green Bay Packers and the Houston Oilers thought enough of Lawrence Elkins as a pass receiver to make him their first pick in the separate drafts by the warring pro football leagues. An uncanny series of injuries later, he has been reduced to a free agent trying out for the Pittsburgh Steelers.

The blond Texan, a 6-foot-1, 200-pounder, recalled his unfortunate medical history after he and 49 other Steeler veterans worked out Tuesday for the first time since the end of the National Football League players-owners dispute.

A two-time All-American at Baylor and the nation's leading receiver as a senior, he signed with Houston. A knee injury in his first exhibition game sidelined him for the year.

He shared flanker duties the first half of the next season and took over as a regular after his knee got stronger. Things looked even better the following campaign—until the third game. A shoulder separation ended his season and his career at Houston. They cut him.

Elkins came to Pittsburgh last year for another try. He led the team in receiving in the preseason only to break a collar bone in the final exhibition game. Another season was gone.

"It's got me wondering what I'm going to break next," said Elkins still able to manage a grin.

"I'd say its because I'm brittle, but I'm not. I'm just unlucky, that's all."

Elkins was among the first Steeler vets to report Monday following settlement of the National Football League players-owners dispute.

Wainscott Is Hitting Hard

KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP) — They're playing Loyd Wainscott's game here. It's called "hit." It's accomplished by lining up, searching out the man with the football and then reducing him to ruin if possible.

Wainscott is the second year Houston Oiler middle linebacker who's trying for Garland Boyette's job and in turn is being challenged by young Jess Lewis. Since being put in such a frustrating situation, the Texas ex is taking it out on the boys on offense.

"Wainscott is hitting like hell in four-on-four drills," head coach Wally Lemm said after a workout Tuesday.

The Oilers scrimmaged with the first offense, led by Charlie Johnson against the second defense. It took the first team offense 30 minutes to get the day's only score.

Expected to play against the Bears is rookie Charlie Olson from Concordia, a seventh round draft choice.

He will take the safety spot normally filled by Johnny Peacock, who has a strep throat.

Lemm said the deadline for the first squad cut to 60 players has been moved back to Aug. 17, an 11-day delay.

Polo Club Has Tournament

Snyder Polo Club held a tournament this past weekend at the Rodeo Arena. There were three teams entered: San Angelo, Lamesa and Snyder. Lamesa won first, and San Angelo second.

Tornadoes have killed 196 Kentuckians since 1916.

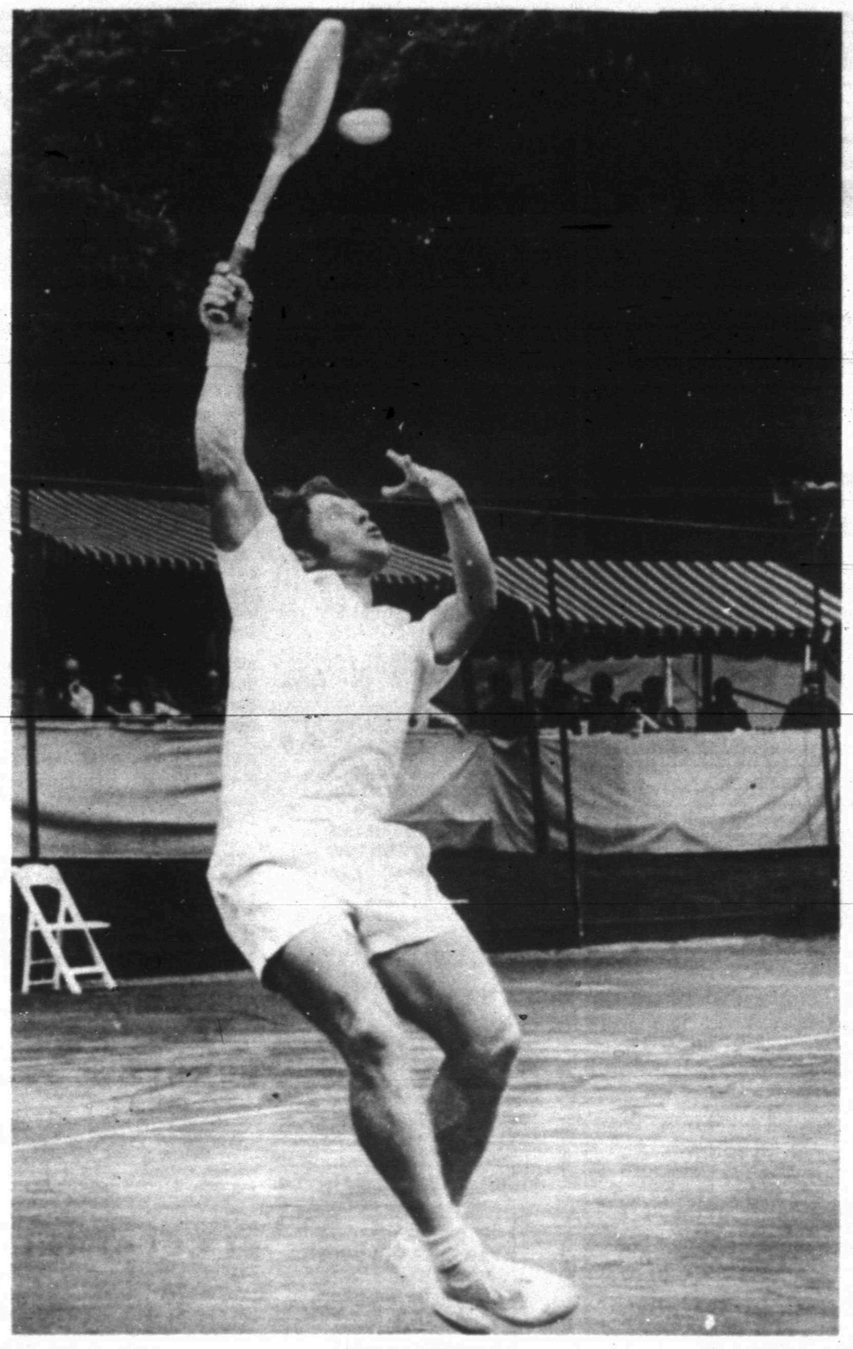

Townes Works In Andrie's Spot

THOUSAND OAKS,, Calif. (AP) — Defensive end George Andrie was still involved in a contract dispute Tuesday with the Dallas Cowboys, but Willie Townes didn't seem to mind.

Looking trim at 265 pounds Townes went through spirited morning and afternoon workouts at Andrie's right end position. Townes was charging from the left side in 1968 before suffering an injury which kept him out all of last year.

Both defensive safety spots were still up in the air as the Cowboys prepared for Saturday's clash with the Chargers in San Diego. Running the positions Tuesday were veteran Dave Whitsell, rookie Cliff Harris and second-year men Otto Brown and Richmond Flowers.

Cowboy stalwarts Mel Renfro and Cornell Green were at their familiar corner spots, trading off with Mark Washington and Charlie Carroll.

CLAY CHAMPION — Cliff Richey makes a strong recovery shot during his final men's singles match with Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif. Richey, from San Angelo, Tex., says he's at the top of his game and showed it Sunday in the finals of the Clay Court Tennis Championships with a 6-2, 10-8, 3-6, 6-1 victory over Smith. Brown Is Impressive In First Big League Win

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jackie Brown still can't be certain if he is a starter or a reliever, but after nine years in the minors, after injuries and illness, after beating Denny McLain for his first major league victory ... who cares?

Brown, who opened on the mound for Washington when scheduled starter George Brunet suffered a muscle spasm in his shoulder while warming up in the bullpen was sitting on top of the world Tuesday night after his unscheduled start-relief.

Listed officially as a relief pitcher in the game, he still pitched the first 5 1-3 innings, yielding only two hits and one run before Darold Knowles took over and gave only one more hit as the Senators beat the Detroit Tigers 4-1.

"I'm very thrilled that this is my first major league victory ... I've been playing for nine years in the minors and I'm just glad to be here," said the 27-year-old right-hander.

Brown and Knowles took part in a night of fine pitching in the American League as Baltimore and Dave McNally beat Boston 5-2, Minnesota and rookie Bert Blyleven halted Milwaukee 5-2, Steve Hargan pitched Cleveland past the New York Yankees 6-1, Tommy John and the Chicago White Sox nipped Kansas City 2-1 and Oakland held off California 4-3.

In the National League, the New York Mets blanked the Chicago Cubs 4-0 in the afternoon, and at night, Pittsburgh downed Montreal 4-2, Cincinnati pummeled San Diego 12-1, San Francisco blasted Los Angeles 11-4, St. Louis tripped Philadelphia 3-2 and Atlanta dropped Houston 6-1.

"He (Manager Ted Williams) told me before the game that I was the long relief man," said Brown, who had pitched only 12 innings in relief previously since being called up from Washington's Denver farm club on July 1. His showing, which lowered his earned run average to 3.63, might cause Williams to reconsider.

McLain, who gave up a three-run homer to Aurelio Rodriguez in the first inning and four runs and nine hits in eight innings, thought so.

"That first boy out there pitched a heck of a game," he said. "He's going to win a heck of a lot more. Teddy (Williams) better start him regularly."

McNally, 15-6, the third Orioles pitcher to win 15, hurled his third straight complete game and eighth of the season as Baltimore won its fourth in a row. Paul Blair backed him with two homers for three runs, giving him five homers against Boston this season. He has hit 10 in all.

Blyleven, 6-3, 19 years old, struck out 12 and helped himself out, capping a three-run fourth inning with a single for his first major league run batted in. Rich Reese drove in two other runs with a double and a single.

Hargan, 6-2, won his fifth straight game since being recalled from Wichita July 17, where he was sent with a sore arm. He now has a two-hitter, a three-hitter a five-hitter and a seven-hitter.

Vada Pinson's two-run homer, his 12th, gave Hargan the runs he needed after he worked out of a first inning jam by getting Danny Cater to hit into a doubleplay with the bases loaded and one out.

John struck out eight in raising his record to 10-12. The only run off him was unearned in the fourth inning, set up by Syd O'Brien's error.

Many Rookies Packing Bags

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A lot of rookies were packing their bags today as National Football League veterans were winning back their jobs—but one eight-year star was also going the route of the youngsters.

Wide receiver Lance Alworth of the San Diego Chargers retired Tuesday night. The 6-foot, 180-pounder from Arkansas had been an unofficial holdout, seeking renegotiation of his long-term contract with San Diego.

Kapp, who played out his option last year while leading the Vikings to the NFL championship, is seeking a million-dollar, four-year contract and a $250,000 bonus. The reason for Namath's absence isn't known, nor are the whereabouts of either player.

Baltimore placed four rookies on waivers and announced the retirement of nine-year veteran Ron Kostelnik.

The Green Bay Packers' roster swelled to 63 but it didn't include Herb Adderly. The defensive back said last year he might not return but club officials said he was expected.

The St. Louis Cardinals released two rookies and got some good news when Chuck Katourette, out all of last year with a knee injury, ran two miles in 12 minutes.

The Chicago Bears went through a triple session of drills and Coach Jim Dooley said sophomore Bobby Douglass would start at quarterback in the team's exhibition opener Saturday night.

Cincinnati was also going through an accelerated practice but Paul Brown, coach and general manager of the Bengals, grabbed the spotlight by criticizing NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle for granting the players' negotiators extra time to report to camp.

Washington's interim coach, Bill Austin, taking over for hospitalized Vince Lombardi, had his Redskins huffing and puffing through longer-than-usual workouts including the body-contact "nutcracker" drill devised by Lombardi.

Miami running back Mercury Morris suffered heavy hemorrhaging in the thigh when he was kneed during the Dolphins' workout and will miss the team's preseason opener Saturday night.

All but 10 of Boston's 45 veterans were in action and Coach Clive Rush expressed surprise at the effectiveness of the Patriots' pass offense and pass defense.

San Francisco Coach Dick Nolan called the 49ers' opening-day workout the best he has ever seen and said there would be no player cuts until the weekend.

New Orleans signed cornerback Nat James as a free agent and cut four players, veteran linebacker Jeff Smith and three rookies.

The Los Angeles Rams said only defensive tackle Roger Brown and cornerback Kermit Alexander were missing but were due today to complete the 53-man veteran roster.

Oakland Coach John Madden said he would not rush the practice sessions of his Raiders to prepare for the team's exhibition game against Baltimore, preferring to stick to the fundamentals.

Atlanta released fullbacks Gary McDermott and Stan Hearni and the Falcons said defensive tackle Bill Sabatino notified them he was giving up the game.

Buffalo Coach John Rauch said the Bills will stick to their development program with six sessions of contact drills but no scrimmages before their Saturday night game with the Jets.

Nicklaus, Floyd Are Favorites

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Streaking Jack Nicklaus and record-holder Ray Floyd ruled as the favorites today on the eve of the $150,000 American Golf Classic.

And the return to this country of U.S. Open Champion Tony Jacklin added spice to the select field of 101 that begins competition Thursday on the awe ome 7,180-hard, par 70 Firestone Country Club course.

Jacklin, the handsome 26-year-old who became the first Englishman in 50 years to win the U.S. Open Championship, has been out of the United States since he turned the trick in Chaska, Minn., more than six weeks ago.

He's due for a late arrival, as were British Open champ Nicklaus and defending title-holder Floyd.

Floyd's winning total of 268 in 1969, a course record on one of the most demanding layouts in the country, was ranked by his fellow pros as one of the major accomplishments of the year.

The swinging bachelor had been in a lengthy slump since winning the PGA national title a year ago, but has played well in recent weeks, including a tie for fourth in last week's Westchester Classic.

Nicklaus was a reluctant favorite. Of the last three tournaments he has finished, the Golden Bear won two and finished second in the other.

He took the title in the British Open, teamed with Arnold Palmer in the National Four-Ball and missed by a stroke at Westchester.

"I can't say I'm completely pleased with my game," said Nicklaus, who experienced difficulties in the final two rounds at Harrison, N.Y.

Among the missing in the chase for the $30,000 first prize are Palmer, Masters champion Billy Casper, Lee Trevino, Australian Bruce Devlin and Dave Hill.

Terry Dill and National Amateur champion Steve Melnyk made late withdrawals.

Palmer wired tournament officials that business commitments and preparations for next week's PGA Championship prevented him from coming.

SouthTeam Is Heavy Favorite

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The south, paced by the rebounding prowess and scoring firepower of 6-foot-10 Dwight "Big D" Jones, rated heavy favorites to night to defeat the Sammy Hervey led-north in the Texas High School Coaches Association all-Star basketball game before an anticipated sellout crowd of 10,000 plus in Hofheinz Pavilion.

The game is expected to be a high-scoring affair with a sizzling duel between Jones, who led Houston Wheatley to three consecutive state championships and the slick 6-foot-7 Hervey of Dallas Crozier Tech.

Hervey and Jones, the two most sought after basketballers of the 1969 Texas schoolboy crop, have never met on the court. Jones is bound for the University of Houston and Hervey will play college ball at Kilgore Junior College.

"I feel the game is a personal duel between me and Jones," said Hervey. "They say you can't drive on him, but I believe it can be done."

Jones said he knew Hervey could shoot but asked "can he rebound or play defense? We'll see."

J. D. Menasco of Carrollton is the north mentor. He said "I imagine it will be a strong offensive game. But the team that gets on the boards will win. It's that simple."

South coach Bill Tatum of Carthage is of the same mind.

He said "most games are decided on rebounding and defense. An all-star game is no exception. It's going to be the ones that get after that defense that win."

The series is tied 12 games apiece. The all-time record crowd was 8,847 set in Dallas last year.

Menasco will start 6-foot-7 James Forbes, El Paso Bel Aire, 6-3 Don Moore, Lubbock Monterey, Hervey, 6-7, Julius Howard, Dallas Adamson, and 6-6 Marc Wilson, Lubbock Dunbar.

Tatum will start Jones, Johnny Mayor of Taft, Will Carter of Edcouch Elsa, Lee Griffin of Houston Westbury and Jack West of Kerrville Tivy.

While the south rates a 10-point edge in basketball, the north is a three-point favorite for Thursday night's football clash in the Astrodome. The game will feature a duel between quarterback Jimmy Carmichael of Brownwood for the north and the south's Tim Trimmier of San Antonio Lee.

Both north coach Jimmie Keeling of Andrews and Jerry Hopkins of Sonora predicted Tuesday the game should be a high-scoring one.

Keeling kidded Hopkins about having a home-court edge because two of Hopkins' players—Trimmier and Charles Haynes of Beaumont Hebert — had played in the Astrodome before.

Both coaches seem to feel that the players would quickly overcome any stage fright from being in the dome and playing on artificial turf for the first time.

Shirley Having Clutch Trouble

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Shirley Jones has always had the knack for digging into a role, but in her first television series she's having a little trouble with the clutch.

The clutch is attached to an old, psychedelic-hued school bus that Shirley drives in her upcoming ABC series, "The Partridge Family."

"It's got a stickshift and I learned to drive on automatic," she said. "It's the clutch problem."

The bus is used to transport her TV family to singing engagements, where Shirley, as the mother joins in. "It's me and the five children," she said. If you think that sounds like the Cowsills you're absolutely right.

The singing role brings Shirley full circle back to the time she arrived in New York with $250 in her pocket after a stint at the Pittsburgh Playhouse. "I started in musical comedy," she said. "I was a nurse in 'South Pacific,' then I was in 'Me and Juliet' and after that the movie version of 'Oklahoma!'"

"Carousel" came after that and Shirley was beginning to worry that people thought of her whenever they saw gingham. The role that changed that was that of the prostitute in "Elmer Gantry," which won her an Oscar.

In "Music Man" she was back to prim librarian, but in "Happy Ending" she was a mistress to three men and in the forthcoming "Cheyenne Social Club" she's a madam. Shirley, dressed in a beige suit and wearing a knit tam on hair the color of ripe Oklahoma wheat, laughed and said, "Before 'Gantry' no one ever thought of me for anything else but musicals.

"Now people forget I was a singer and I've had people ask me who sang for me in 'Oklahoma!' That's a compliment because it means I've established myself as an actress."

It was on a good-will tour abroad with "Oklahoma!" that she met her husband, musical comedy star Jack Cassidy. "We had our courtship in Paris and Rome. We were married at the Cambridge Drama Festival while we were doing "The Beggar's Opera."

"I have three boys of my own and a stepson"—she smiled and displayed her dimples—"so playing a mother isn't anything new for me."

In "The Partridge Family" her stepson, 16 -year-old David Cassidy, plays the oldest son. David, Shirley and the other girl are the only ones in the group actually singing. The others, plus the instruments, are dubbed.

Nixon, House Panel Endorse $55,000 Limit

By ROBERT A. HUNT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon and the House Agriculture Committee have endorsed a $55,000-per-crop limit on farm subsidies but chances of passing a ceiling that high are rated no better than even.

Some House members are holding out for a $20,000 limit. There is no limit in present law on how much a farmer can get from the federal government for not growing crops.

President Nixon jumped into the fray Tuesday by supporting the $55,000 limit approved by the Agriculture Committee for each of the cotton, feed grains and wheat categories.

Despite the President's opposition, Reps. Silvio O. Conte, R-Mass., and Paul Findley, R-Ill., forged ahead with their bipartisan drive for the $20,000 figure for the same three crops plus wool. They also want to make sure the law is not evaded through such tactics as subdivision of farms.

The controversy over the payment limitation has been the chief one surrounding the committee-approved three-year major farm bill to which the $55,000 ceiling is attached.

House Democratic farm leaders agreed Tuesday to put the bill back on today's docket after a Nixon letter to Rep. Page Belcher, R-Okla., ranking GOP member of the House committee, outlined the chief executive's position.

House Democratic Whip Hale Boggs of Lousiana said, however, that he didn't consider Nixon's stand a firm one. "He's on both sides," Boggs told the House.

In the letter, Nixon said he subscribes to the analysis by the House committee and his secretary of agriculture, Clifford Hardin, "that too low a limitation would make it impossible for many farm producers to participate efficiently in the program."

"You may, therefore, inform your colleagues," he wrote Belcher, "that despite the obvious appeal of a lower limit, for these technical reasons I must prefer the limitation proposed by your committee."

The 188 House Republicans still were divided on the payment issue after Nixon's letter was read during a closed meeting Tuesday which preceded debate on the bill.

Twice in past years the House has voted for a $20,000 payment limitation but that came on separate appropriations bills to finance the Agriculture Department. On both occasions, however, it was scuttled in a House-Senate conference.

Celia Destroys 'Safest' Place

By PAUL RECER
Associated Press Writer

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) —Bill O'Connell awoke Monday morning in his $30,000 home and went to bed that night as a refugee.

Hurricane Celia demolished his fashionable brick house as easily as it had thousands of wooden shacks and sheet-iron buildings in its path.

"I never realized a hurricane could be that intense," said O'Connell, 31, Tuesday, standing outside his tormented home.

His three-car garage had disappeared. Most of his roof was missing. All of the inside was soaked, and only a few shingles remained on one corner of the house top.

Celia caught O'Connell—and most of Corpus Christi—by surprise. He awoke Monday that the storm was only hours away.

"We debated whether to stay here or at my father- and mother-in-law's place. We decided this one would be safest," he said.

As the most intense part of Celia slammed into the house, O'Connell had his wife, two children and his wife's parents gather in the master bedroom, the point farthest from the storm.

He went out into the garage, which was catching the full brunt of the wind, and saw the doors bowing inward. "You could feel the pressure in there," he said. He hurried back to the bedroom and told his family to crawl under a mattress.

A few minutes later, he became homeless.

"I could near the nails being pulled out of the lumber, and then I saw the roof over the kitchen go," he said. The garage already had disappeared.

Part of the roof sailed about 100 feet and slammed into a neighbor's roof.

"Two-by-fours were flying like spears," he said, pointing at two such boards which plunged through part of his house.

O'Connell moved his family and his wife's parents into a neighbor's house where they rode out the storm.

On Tuesday, O'Connell distributed his furniture around the neighborhood, storing it in the garages of more fortunate friends.

He and his family moved in with his wife's parents—in the house they thought might not be safe.

"Their home is just fine," the businessman said with a smile.

Disaster Aid Bill Change Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, D-Tex., urged the Senate Tuesday to change the federal disaster aid bill so it could include the victims of Hurricane Celia as well as victims of the Lubbock tornado last May.

The proposed amendments, sponsored by Yarborough and Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., would enable a city hit by a natural disaster to request urban renewal funds within one year of the event.

The bill, as amended, would provide relocation benefits for those forced to leave their homes in just the same way that moving and living costs can be provided for those whose homes are torn down in an urban renewal program.

Yarborough said he would leave for Texas to inspect the Celia damage as soon as the amendments to the disaster bill had been presented in the Senate.

He said Sen. James Eastland, D-Miss., whose staff worked for months with the victims of last year's Hurricane Camille, has offered to help the Texans.

South Texas Declared Disaster Area

WASHINGTON (AP) — Twelve South Texas Counties battered by Hurricane Celia were designated a major disaster area Tuesday by President Nixon. Property losses in that section were estimated at more than $200 million.

This serves to make available government funds for temporary housing, unemployment compensation for workers minus jobs because of the storm, unemployment compensation for workers minus jobs because of the storm, relief and recovery work, removal of debris, restoration of public utilities and repairs and rebuilding of streets, bridges and other public facilities.

Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., said the counties covered by the President's declaration are Atascosa, Aransas, Bee, Goliad, Jim Wells, Karnes, Live Oak, McMullen, Nueces, Refugio, San Patricio and Wilson.

Hilary Sandoval, director of the Small Business Administration, said emergency SBA offices will be opened at Port Aransas, Robstown, Sinton and Taft to help the agency's office in Corpus Christi handle the increased work load.

About 75 SBA employes will come from over the nation to man those facilities, Sandoval said, and their number probably will reach 200 before the emergency operations end.

Farbstein Attacks Canners

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Leonard Farbstein, D-N.Y., said today that national canners have attempted to deceive the public with claims that their goods will store indefinitely. He asked the Federal Trade Commission to investigate.

"The average person believes that foods cannot deteriorate in a vacuum," Farbstein said. But he cited Defense Department studies which set specific storage lives for canned items.

Farbstein said many items are sold long after they should be removed from the shelves.

Equipment Airlifted To Coast

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—C119s, manned by crews from the Corpus Christi area, flew airport missions Tuesday for the victims of Hurricane Celia.

The 922nd Tactical Airlift Group transported three 9,000 pound generators from Gulfport, Miss., to the stricken Texas city, where some of its members are currently engaged in their annual two weeks active duty tour.

The 921st Military Airlift Group, using C124s, carried two communications vans, a jeep and three additional generators, also from Gulfport.

Both units belong to the 433rd Military Airlift Alamo Wing at Kelly Air Force Base here.

The equipment was furnished by Mississippi Seabees Construction Battalion Center at Gulfport, who themselves were among the victims of Hurricane Camille last summer. Then 921st and 922nd Air Force Reserve Groups helped in their cleanup operations.

Two other C124s of the 921st are flying to Albuquerque, N.M., to pick up approximately 150 Corpus Christi residents of Army Reserve Engineering Battalion, who will finish their two weeks tour of duty back in their home area.

Trinity County Stopping Welfare

ANGLETON, Tex. (AP) — Trinity County Judge J.V. Price said Tuesday the county is discontinuing its welfare program immediately as one of four steps to combat a shortage of funds.

The county failed to meet its Aug. 1 payroll but most, and possibly all, employes have been paid.

Price and four county commissioners refused to comment on the total budget.

He said about one-sixth of the residents are receiving welfare in various forms and the county spends about $15,000 annually on the program.

Atomic Bomb Is Still Remembered In Japan

HIROSHIMA, Japan (AP) — On Aug. 6 and 9 the people of Hiroshima and Nagasaki remember the 1945 atomic bombs which turned their cities into wastelands. For many it will seem only yesterday.

In both cities peace bells will toll, doves will flutter into the sky, Buddhist sutras will be chanted in memory of the dead.

After these solemn pauses, Hiroshima and Nagasaki will return to every day living. On the surface, inhabitants of both cities are indistinguishable from their 100 million compatriots.

Long since rebuilt, neither city at first glance seems any different from other Japanese cities.

Nagasaki, which wants to forget, has a single monument to mark its black day. Hiroshima, designated a "peace memorial city," because it was first to suffer atomic devastation, maintains a museum of atomic horrors, a cenotaph and a peace park. A gleaming white building has been erected by the Chugoku Press close to the hypocenter of the pikadon, "the lightning bomb" which added a grim chapter to the history of World War II.

On the roof is a gay beer garden, a favorite of young people. Their conversation covers the fortunes of the Hiroshima Carps pro baseball team, the latest American, Italian or Swedish movie, the newest motorbike.

The bomb seems remote, too, to the throngs in Motomachi, the area used in 1945 exclusively by the Japanese army for divisional and regimental headquarters, barracks, hospitals and parade grounds. The bomb changed its character. Now it houses government offices, the post office, courts, the Chamber of Commerce and Industry and the stadium where the Carps play.

Kijiyama Koen, the windwashed park where young couples go to get a breath of air and see Hiroshima stretched out below them, also seems far from the events of 1945. But there the memories are kept green. One part of Kijiyama houses the Quonset huts of the Atomic Bomb Casualty Commission.

Almost entirely supported by the United States—it has spent $30 million, Japan $1 million since 1947—the commission is engaged in a long-term study of the human effect of the bombs' massive doses of radiation.

Its findings are expected to contribute to the safety of technicians engaged in handling the atom for peaceful purposes, and people dealing with x-rays.

Since 1953 it has worked with a fixed "sample" of 107,000 Nagasaki and Hiroshima survivors and others who were in neither city at the time of the blasts.

Findings of the medical researchers have been widely published.

By American reckoning the bombs or radiation killed 66,000 in Hiroshima; the Japanese say 200,000. The estimates of Nagasaki dead range from 39,000 to 74,000.

Wills Running Against Dowdy

LUFKIN, Tex. (AP) — Gordon F. Wills, 73, of Athens, is running against Rep. John Dowdy, D-Tex., in the November elections because he says Dowdy has "given our little town a bad name from one end of the country to the other."

Dowdy was indicted by a grand jury at Baltimore in March on charges of conspiracy, perjury and use of interstate facilities to promote bribery. He has maintained he is innocent and the charges are an attempt to smear him politically.

Wills's campaign as a write-in candidate has no big funds behind it. The former Army sergeant says he will campaign the 18-county district by public bus because "I have a very meager amount of money."

Cereal Industry Accused Of Brainwashing Public

By H. L. SCHWARTZ III
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A professor of nutrition accused the cereal industry today of brainwashing the American public with a Communist-like propaganda campaign aimed directly at children.

"In a country where there is a considerable amount of malnutrition among the poor and where rates of infant mortality are disgracefully high this advertising may be indirectly contributing to ill health and mortality," declared Dr. Michael C. Latham, a physician and international professor of nutrition at Cornell University.

Latham commented in testimony prepared for a third session of the Senate consumer subcommittee's inquiry into the nutritional value of dry breakfast cereals.

The subcommittee, chaired by Sen. Frank Moss, D-Utah, began its inquiry last week with testimony by citizen-lobbyist Robert Choate that most of the heavily advertised breakfast cereals are no more than hard liquor.

The industry, in a massive counterattack Tuesday, accused Choate of basing his findings on inadequate, confusing and incomplete information.

Five industry spokesmen told the subcommittee that Choate did not consider the impact of adding milk to cereal, which they said produced a high-quality protein. They also said cereals should not be eaten alone but with other things like juice and toast.

And they said overloading cereals with vitamins and nutrients could cause a dangerous imbalance in some human systems.

"The American people are continually being asked to support Radio Free Europe because we are informed that children in Communist Eastern Europe are being brainwashed with propaganda. I sometimes wonder if the advertising that our children see on TV is not equally harmful propaganda," Latham said.

"My main thesis," Latham said, "is that the consumer has been led to believe that ordinary dry breakfast cereals have nutritive value superior to common foods such as bread, hominy grits, rice, spaghetti, baked beans, potatoes, pizza etc. This is not true ...."

Latham said the cereal makers probably would deny ever claiming their products are nutritionally superior to these foods.

"Perhaps they have not claimed this in so many words, but they have implied it in their advertising," he said.

"Ask any 8-year-old on your block," he went on, "or almost any suburban housewife, and you will be told that breakfast cereals are better nutritionally than bread or rice or baked beans.

"These consumers did not get this idea from their health education classes, or nutrition textbooks or from news articles. They got it from the skillful advertising of the breakfast cereal manufacturers," Latham declared.

Saxbe Dons Spiro Watch

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, who has opposed the Nixon administration on a number of issues, showed up in the Senate Monday wearing a Spiro T. Agnew watch.

Saxbe said the timepiece was given to him by a constituent, adding: "I don't have any feeling of antagonism toward the vice president. It's just a gimmick."

Farmers Survey Damage

SINTON, Tex. (AP) — Farmers sifted through their fields in the coastal bend today to see what could be salvaged from the remains left by Hurricane Celia.

It was to have been a good year for the grain crop, needed after several bad years.

About 3,000 to 4,000 acres of grain sorghum was ready for harvest in the Ingleside area, San Patricio County Agent Dan Pawlik said Tuesday. It was one of the areas hardest hit by the storm.

Most of the county's grain crop had been harvested, he said.

The outlook for a good cotton crop this year was dim to begin with, as the fields were soaked by early rains and infested with insects.

Pawlik said the county has about 65,000 acres of cotton and most of it had been planted late. It is now putting on bolls and blooming at the top and would have been ready for harvest in about two weeks.

Pawlik said the farmers were lucky that the crop had not reached the harvest stage when the winds and rain can do the most harm.

The extent of damage in Refugio County, also feeling the high winds and torrential downpours of Celia, could not be determined Tuesday.

County Agent Harvey Hoerman said that about 3,000 acres of grain remained to be harvested.

Cotton there had also been planted late, Hoerman said, and it might not be hurt too seriously.

The same situation existed in Nueces County, where it will be several days before full extent of the damage is known.

This year's grain sorghum crop was estimated at $57 million and the cotton crop at $35 million, according to state Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

Celia's rains were welcomed by ranchers in the storm area and farther inland as the moisture will be of great benefit to the rangelands.

Katy Defies Federal Orders

KATY, Tex. (AP) — The Katy school board has defied federal orders to speed up interration by sticking to its present plans.

In a brief statement, board members said Tuesday they feel the district is in compliance with the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and intend to continue integration as planned for 1970-71.

Katy's freedom of choice plan to end segregation was found to be unsatisfactory at a recent hearing help in Austin by the Justice Department and Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The Cypress-Fairbanks school district northwest of Houston this week closed a predominantly Negro elementary school to comply with federal orders.

Chances Slim In Syndicates

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain

what job would you like to see explored in this column?

Dear Joyce: I am very interested in writing a regular syndicated newspaper feature. Can you tell me where I may obtain information on the various syndicates? How do I go about getting my work syndicated? -- Mrs. S.R., Pittsburgh

Because of the competition for newspapaper space, the ease of getting your work syndicated is comparable to loading the Astrodome on a yak's back and moving it to Boston. But don't let me discourage you.

Syndicates (firms which promote and sell features and comics to newspapers) are always scouting for fresh, original material. Unless you have an unusually marketable idea, however, and are a subject authority (if the topic requires expertise) or have a journalism background, your chances are slight. For example, McNaught, the syndicate which distributes my column, receives thousands of feature ideas each year, from which perhaps half-a-dozen are selected for syndication.

If you think you've got a jack-pot feature, present (by mail or in person) adequate samples to syndicates to show how consistently you can provide material. Syndicates make a sizable investment in their "contributors" and want to know that you're a pro, can meet deadlines and won't "go dry." Syndicating your work yourself is possible, but barely so.

Newspaper syndicates are listed in several books, including Editor & Publisher's Annual Syndicate Directory, and Writer's Market. Various writers' guides discuss the mechanics. Your librarian can help you.

Dear Joyce: I have heard that some colleges offer correspondence courses that carry regular college credits. Can you tell which ones offer home study programs? -- V. O'C., Dayton

Two of the best known are the U. of Oklahoma and Syracuse U (New York), but there are more than 60 other accredited institutions offering college credits through correspondence courses. "The Guide to Correspondence Study," published by the National University Extension Association, is the book you want. Dear Joyce: My son mentioned something about a new specialist degree for teachers. Does this take less than four years? -- K.E., Fullerton, Calif.

It takes more than four years if he is referring to the new teaching specialist degree which stands between the master's and the doctor's degree on the professional scale. It requires at least two years of study beyond the bachelor's, and some programs are designed to prepare teachers for two-year colleges. For instance, this would be one avenue for the retired professional person who wants to teach in a community college.

A free list of institutions offering the new degree is available from the American Association of State Colleges and Universities, One DuPont Circle, Suite 700, Washington, D.C. 20036. Enclose stamped, return envelope.
