Lions celebrate sixty years

The Sonora Downtown Lions Club celebrated their sixtieth Anniversary of the clubs founding on Sunday, June 5 with a bar-becue on the Courthouse lawn.

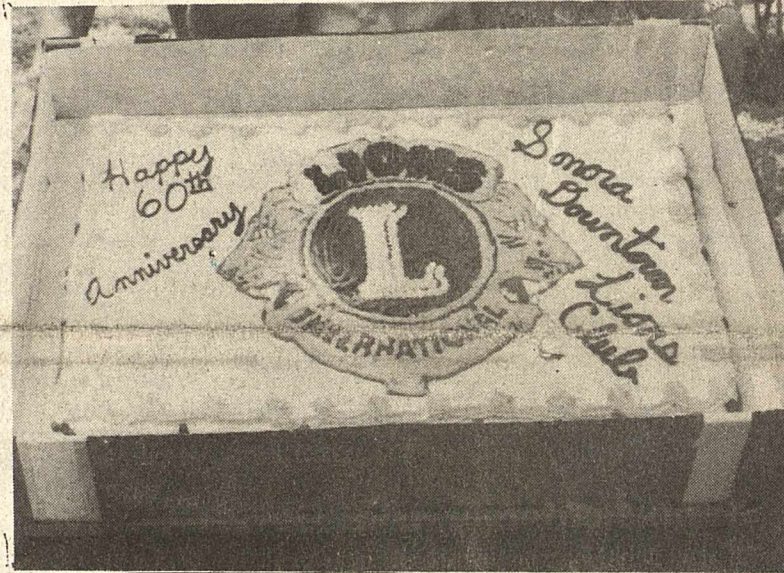

Approximately 250 persons attended the luncheon and were treated to lamb, chicken, potato salad and beans with the trimmings. Dessert was in the form of a beautifully decorated cake complete with the Lion insignia.

District Governor Cecil Templeton, from San Angelo, welcomed the group and told a brief history of the Lions organization from its meager beginnings to its membership, worldwide, to over a million Lions.

John Eaton, a charter member of the Sonora Club, was made a Life Member. Eaton, with his usual humor, explained to the group that when he joined the club sixty years ago, children eight years of age could join with parents approval adding that he was nine when he joined.

The Lions wish to thank everyone who attended the function and also to everyone who brought used eyeglasses or made cash donations toward the purchase of eyeglasses.

The cake for the celebration came from Food Center and was beautifully decorated by Lilia Virgen. The Lions emblem on the cake was done in the colors of the club. Staff photo/Ann Cates.

Up, Up with People

The Up with People group will be arriving in Sonora late Wednesday evening and performing at the High School Gymnasium on Thursday, June 9. The show will begin at 7:30 p.m.

The cast will include approximately 100 students from all over the world who will spend eleven months traveling to many lands, entertaining audiences, learning and maturing, sharing experiences, enthusiasm, hopes and concerns, and involving themselves in the community and civic affairs wherever they go.

The aim of Up with People is to encourage understanding among people of all nations through a unique program of intercultural education, musical performance and public service.

With the exception of the performance and we'll get that Thursday, these aims have been well met with the advance team of Abbie Montoya and Jorgen Karlsson who have been in Sonora since May 23.

In the photo above, Jorgen was one of the first to donate blood during the blood drive held June 14 in the First National Bank annex as Jennifer Ramirez looks on.

Below, Abbie and Jorgen were delighted to have their picture made with our very own Belle Steen during the Lions Sixtieth Celebration, June 5. Both agreed that it wasn't often that a person had a chance to have a picture made with a beautiful 100 year young lady.

They have spoken at Lions Club, attended graduation of the Class of '88, toured a working ranch and learned about our wool and mohair industry, anywhere there was a group gathered they have both added their smiling faces and positive attitudes.

Abbie and Jorgen have made themselves a welcome part of our community and they will be missed when they leave.

Make arrangements to come and see the show--you'll certainly be glad you did! Tickets are $6 for adults and $5 for students and Senior Citizens and will be available at the door. Be sure and save your ticket stubs from the show as they are worth dollars at Pizza Hut--$3 off a large pizza and $2 off a medium size pizza. Pizza Hut will be among the restaurants helping to feed the cast during the day Thursday. Staff photos/Ann Cates.

How do little guys get more attention?

DEAR COMMISSIONER NABERS: It seems to me that government is serving only big business in Texas. Is that because only big business can afford to contribute to politicians? If that is true I'm angry. If it's not true, how do us little guys get more attention and assistance?

B.T.
Fort Worth, Texas

DEAR B.T.: State government in Texas should certainly not be serving only big business. Texas is very much a small-business state in that over 93% of all our businesses employ fewer than fifty employees. Analysts agree that the majority of all job growth will continue to occur in small businesses rather than in large corporations. Small BUSINESSES will lead the way to our economic recovery and they need to be assisted as much as possible by state government.

While political contributions cannot be completely discounted they seldom play as evil a role as many think. It is my sincere opinion that government functions for those that use the system. Lawmakers and decision makers are best able to stay in touch with those they serve when there is regular contact.

Commissioner

Mary Scott Nabers

Texas Business Today

If an agency of government is not responding to you, someone needs to be advised. Let your State Representative or State Senator assist you. If you feel the laws being made are hurting your industry you should be establishing communication about that also.

Simply stated, state government belongs to the people and its sole purpose is to serve. Get involved and get results—that's really all it takes!

DEAR COMMISSIONER NABERS: I am caught between two emotions! First of all I appreciate the fact that you and your staff took the time and effort to send me the recent memo on AIDS in the Workplace. I know its a problem for our state. But, if the cost of that mailing had anything to do with my recent tax increase—I'm angry! What can you tell me?

E.G.
Houston, Texas

DEAR E.G.: The issue of AIDS is definitely a problem in this state and people do need to be informed. But LET ME HASTEN TO ASSURE YOU THAT THE MEMO'S PRINTING AND MAILING COSTS HAD ABSOLUTELY NOTHING TO DO WITH RECENT TAX INCREASES.

I want you to understand that the AIDS memo was made possible by the use of federal education funds that, if not used, would go to some other state. There is no connection between these monies and the fund from which the unemployment benefits are paid. Thanks for writing—it had not occurred to me but others might also be thinking the same thing.

Ms. Nabers represents 336,000 employers throughout Texas. If you have any questions you want answered, please write Commissioner Nabers at: TEXAS BUSINESS TODAY, 614 Texas Employment Commission Building, 15th and Congress, Austin, Texas 78778.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

by T. Driskell

Lookin in retrospect at the Moscow summit, and at all the serious post-mortem evaluations a number of conclusions are unavoidable. The major one being that Red Skelton far exceeds the ability of Ronald Reagan as an "ad libber". The excess is so great it might be suggested to our president that he avoid the "off-the-cuff" area or seek out a toothpaste soluble shoe polish.

Another persisting problem is our perception of our prerogatives involving internal sovereignty of autonomous states, especially in this age of nationalism. Imagine, if you will, Gorbachev, during his visit to Washington, meeting with dissident groups and suggesting that our programs should provide them with autonomous states, as a solution. It is doubtful whether or not we would tolerate here what we practice abroad.

Looking at the broader aspect of the summit, we appear to have furthered our cause. Gorbachev is the most powerful leader since Stalin; a position achieved over a long period of time through thorough knowledge and manipulation of Soviet party machinery. He is also the most pragmatic communist since Lenin and like Lenin he is confronted by the problems which existed in 1924—the absolute necessity for modernization.

There is a possibility Lenin's proposals are surprisingly similar and the deep rooted bureaucracy is resisting in a "no-holds" barred struggle.

Soviet Russia is a giant in a virtual pupal state and approaching emergence. If Gorbachev prevails the adult will be a honey bee or perhaps a butterfly. The dominance of the bureaucracy will mean a gigantic paranoid wasp that we have known, or worse.

We must work for Gorbachev's success, but at no time must we forget that Russia, according to its documents, is dedicated to a Communist world. We are confronted by something of a dilemma. We must aid and abet Gorbachev, keep our powder dry and, not to mention, above all develop an immunization against diplomatic "hoof-in-mouth" disease.

Laughter is the cheapest luxury that man has. It stirs up the blood, expands the chest, electrifies the nerves, clears away the cobwebs from the brain, and gives the whole system a cleansing rehabilitation.

An elephant never forgets. After all, what does it have to remember?

A stroll down memory lane would be pleasant if we could detour around a few "rough spots."

What do atheists do with their money? Surely they wouldn't carry around everything that says "In God We Trust."

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Dear Editor,

I would like to express my thanks to the individual who furnished the District Track Meet Results. And of course to you for putting them in the newspaper.

Thanks,
Sandi Espinosa

Dear Editor,

On behalf of the Jr. High girls basketball and track teams, we would like to express our appreciation to the parents and friends who supported the teams throughout the year. Without the support of each of you, our endeavors would not have been as successful.

Coach Tamie Gilcrease and Coach Martha Martin

To The Editor:

Most insurance companies consider any place over twenty years old, and over five miles from a fire department too great a risk to insure.

We live in thirty year old wood frame house eight miles from the nearest fire department. In the past three years our insurance premiums has increased from $350.00 a year to $850.00, with steadily reduced coverage.

We have never filed a claim in the eighteen years we have lived here, but are down to only one company that will offer us any insurance. If this company decides not to renew our policy next year, the Federal Land Bank will probably demand the balance due on our loan on the house.

I have written the chairman of the State Board of Insurance, the chairman of the House Committee on Insurance and my state senator for help in reversing the trend for rural insurance.

I have suggested to them that a rural home owner's insurance pool be established similar to the pools for high risk automobile drivers or workmen's compensation coverage. If a policy holder does not file any claims for some period of time—say five years—the premiums could be reduced as an incentive not to abuse insurance coverage.

With the insurance industries' position on rural coverage, I would not build a new home in a rural area and will advise anyone else not to. They may insure a new home now, but they are presently free to drop coverage whenever they think the risk is too great.

I urge all rural residents to write Austin in support of the insurance pool or suggest your own ideas to improve the rural insurance dilemma. Two important addresses are: State Board of Insurance, 1110 San Jacinto, State Insurance Board, State Insurance Building, Austin, Texas 78786 (Edwin J. Smith, Chairman) 512-463-6329; or Hon. New office cuts red tape

More than 300 potential small businesses in Texas have received fast, free, professional help to learn about regulatory requirements to operate in the state, thanks to a new office of the Texas Department of Commerce.

In the month of April, 50 potential new, expanding or incoming businesses obtained information from the Business Permit Assistance Office about various permits, usually in less than six hours. The telephone number for the new service is: 512/320-9528.

"The Business Permit Assistance Office is essentially a 'one-stop shop' to learn which state permits are required to start, expand or bring in a business to Texas," stated J. William Lauderback, Executive Director of the Texas Department of Commerce.

"This is a tremendous resource of our state's startup or expanding businesses. We expect to help thousands of firms each year to expand or enter the Texas business climate," he continued.

The Business Permit Assistance Office researches each case and refers applications to the appropriate federal, state and local agencies for the permitting process.

The Center's staff also works to facilitate contacts between business applicants and state agencies responsible for reviewing permit applications.

For businesses which require several permits, the office has developed a comprehensive application. After the appropriate agencies have been identified, a permit application packet is compiled and forwarded to the business applicant. This can reduce the regulatory review process by several days.

Beginning in July, the Center will also offer the publication, The Guide to Business Permits. This listing of state permits required to operate a business in Texas will be made available upon request by writing to the Business Permit Assistance Center, Post Office Box 12728, Austin, Texas, 78711 or calling the Office at 512/320-9528.

The mission of the Texas Department of Commerce is to build and maintain a diverse and dynamic economy for Texas through public and private partnership. By focusing and leveraging the State's resources, the Department of Commerce stimulates job creation through programs and activities.

HEALTH CARE

by Scott Gilmore
Hospital Administrator

A stress test can be given in order to detect early silent heart disease. This is an examination of the heart's function during exercise. The most common stress is treadmill electrocardiography in which an ECG is taken while the patient walks or jogs on a treadmill. More sensitive tests using radioactive tracers and computer imaging are done the stress ECG gives ambiguous results. A stress test is generally advisable before a major increase inactivity for all prson with risk factors for coronary heart disease. This includes all men over forty, and all women past menopause. Some physicians advocate that all exercisers past these milestones have a treadmill ECG every year or two. This may be excessive for those with no risk factors except age.

New treatments are constantly being developed that hold great promise for heart patients. The real hope, though, is in learning more about the underlying causes of heart disease and then taking the necessary preventive steps. Lillian M. Hudspeth Memorial Hospital, 308 Hudspeth, maintains high standards throughout our facility. Geriatric care services are also provided. We are covenant and dedicated to providing quality, professional, medical care. Telephone 387-2521.

Be alert for the signs of trouble during exercise-chest pains, nausea, dizziness, and difficult breathing.

GIVE YOUR ELECTRIC METER A TURN FOR THE BETTER.

You can slow down the wheels on your Electric Meter and lower Summer Cooling Bills when you follow these helpful tips:

- ☐ Set your thermostat on 78° or higher and use ceiling or portable fans to help circulate the air.
- ☐ Have your air conditioner serviced annually and once a month, check the filter. A dirty filter can keep your air conditioner from working efficiently.
- ☐ Keep doors, windows, and drapes firmly closed to keep cool air in and heat out.
- ☐ Protect ceiling and walls with adequate insulation. Make sure cracks around windows, doors, pipes and wiring are tightly sealed with caulking and weatherstripping.
- ☐ Use heat producing appliances, like ranges, dishwashers, and dryers during the cooler part of the day.

Texas wool-versatile fashion

Wool is popular for woven or knit garments ranging from classic suits to contemporary sportswear. This adaptive fiber is used to produce knitting yarns, blankets, upholstery and other household items. Wool clothing in classic designs is an excellent investment. Other styles of can easily be updated because the fabric is long-wearing and easy to alter as fashions change and the garment design allows.

From lightweight, sheer summer fabrics to heavyweight coatings, versatile wool provides year-round wear in any climate. Because of its natural fiber crimp, much of the volume of wool fabric is air that acts as insulation, allowing comfort without adding bulky weight.

Wool fashions are truly an investment in quality and long life for greater value. When buying wool garments, consider the cost per wearing. To do so, divide the total cost by the number of times you plan to wear the garment. The total cost includes alternation and dry cleaning costs anticipated for the life of the garment. Because wool fabrics are durable, resist tearing and often do not show wear, wool classic suits are a wardrobe investment which last season after season.

Wool, a renewable natural fiber, has other characteristics that make it a premium fiber. Wool resists burning, does not product toxic fumes and chars but does not melt. Another feature is that it does not transmit static electricity. Wool is easily dyed for seasonal color and retains color without fading. Because it resists moisture, it is excellent for outdoor wear. It retains its shape, resists wrinkling and drapes or hangs beautifully.

Wool is a favorite for home sewing. It tailors well and can easily be shaped by pressing and using supportive inner fabrics.

For many years, wool products have been required by law to be labeled. Common terms include:

*Lambs wool-is very soft, of superior quality and comes from an animal 7 months old or younger.

*Reprocessed wool-has never been worn but is remanufactured from fabric scraps and is usually of lower quality than virgin wool. It is often used in blends.

*Reused wool-has been remanufactured from items used previously and is usually lower quality than reprocessed wools. It is often used in blends.

*Shearling-is soft wool pile on one side and sheepskin on the other. It is often used in coats and slippers.

*Virgin wool-has never been used before. The term does not indicate quality.

*Woolens-are fuzzy fabrics such as tweed and are made of short fibers.

*Worsteds-are smooth, crisp fabrics such as gabardine and are made of long fibers.

Wool may be blended with other fibers to obtain fabrics with the best qualities of each fiber. These fabrics may have reduced cost or enhanced care, appearance or wearability. Fabrics with at least 50 percent wool behave much like wool. Wool tri- or multi-fiber blends are popular today. Wool is often blended with mohair, cotton, silk, nylon, polyester or acrylic.
