If you're going to vote in any elections this year and haven't registered at the county tax office, time is running out.

Tomorrow is the last day for registration, and you must have a registration certificate to vote, regardless of where you live, how old you are, etc. The county tax office is not open on Saturdays, but you may still apply for registration tomorrow provided you fill out an application blank and get it to the post office in time to be postmarked before midnight Saturday night. Mailed applications should be addressed to Don Adams, Scurry County Tax Assessor-Collector, Snyder.

Voting has been going on for a long time, but not exactly the way we do it. County Clerk Beverly Ainsworth passed along a pamphlet she received recently which tells something of the history of voting.

Some of the voting in early days, of course, was nothing more than opinion polls, but it was a forerunner of the system used in later years.

Before the Christian era, primitive chiefs are said to have assembled their people to resolve various questions and the people signified their preferences by clashing their spears on shields, or by vocal clamor. The vocal clamor still is used in some instances, after a fashion, in what people today call a "voice vote."

Earlyday Romans voted by tossing stones into a bucket. This system fell into disfavor when it was discovered that voters with big fists could put as many as five or six stones in the bucket with one toss, undoubtedly the first case of stuffing a ballot box.

The word "ballot" itself came from Italy, being derived from the Italian word "ballota," which means little ball. They had a system of tossing little balls in a jar, with white ones indicating acceptance and black ones indicating rejection.

The first time a ballot was cast in America was in 1629. The vote was taken there to choose a minister at the Salem Church in Massachusetts.

The same state had a "corn and bean" election in 1643. Assistants to the Governor and Deputy of Massachusetts were elected, with corn designating affirmative votes, and beans counting as negative votes.

That well-known American inventor, Thomas A. Edison, is credited with developing the first mechanical voting machine. He was granted a patent in 1869 for a device which recorded and counted by electro - mechanical means. It was never adopted by the public, but around 1890, Jacob H. Meyers, built a mechanical voting machine that was first used at a Town Meeting in Lockport, N. Y., in 1892.

BY US NUCLEAR EXPERTS

Weapon Concepts Tested

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States disclosed today its nuclear weapons experts have lately been testing "new weapons concepts" conceivably dealing with such bizarre weapons as the laser bomb, the neutron bomb, and the "pure fusion" hydrogen bomb.

But the government also revealed there would be some delay in completing expanded facilities for producing some of its most modern present weapons —including warheads for the "Safeguard" antiballistic missile system.

The atomic energy commission told about both projects in its annual report to Congress covering the previous 12 months.

The commission gave no details about the new weapons concepts. But AEC weapons officials have previously disclosed to the Associated Press that:

—The United States is trying to develop "pure fusion weapons"—that is, hydrogen bombs and missile-warheads that would not require an A-bomb fission trigger and would therefore be free of radioactive fallout.

—The AEC is also still trying the develop the fearsome "neutron bomb," which has been described as a kind of death-ray weapon.

—Commission scientists maintain a new kind of hydrogen bomb—a "laser bomb"—is a theoretical possibility, but a highly remote one.

A laser bomb would be an H-bomb in which the intense heat of a laser beam, perhaps the most powerful and concentrated form of light in the universe—would be used to trigger the hydrogen explosives, instead of the A-bomb trigger now required.

Over 600 Expected For Banquet Tonight

Over 600 people are expected to assemble tonight in the Scurry County Coliseum for the annual Banquet of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce. The banquet is set for 7 p.m.

The banquet program will be highlighted by an address by John E. Harvey of London, England. It will be the second time for Harvey to address a Snyder Chamber of Commerce Banquet audience. He appeared in a similar role in 1957. At that time he was a member of the British Parliament. He has been out of politics since 1966 and now devotes full time to his duties as European Divisional Director of the Burmah Oil Co.

Special entertainment at the banquet will feature Hondo Crouch, Texas humorist, who also is making his second banquet appearance here. Crouch was on the program at the Snyder All-America City Award Banquet last year.

A new Chamber of Commerce regime will officially take over the reins at the banquet, with Max von Roeder to succeed Shelby Coker as president. Von Roeder served as first vice president the past year. Mel Gilbert, who will introduce Harvey, is the new first vice president, Gene Best is the new second vice president and Jimmy Melton returns as treasurer. Jay Rogers is the retiring second vice pesident.

New board members are Henry Clark, Herb Reed, E. W. Schrader, Guy Sullivan, Best and Gilbert. Retiring from the board are John Reed, Leon Autry, Larry Hall, Coker and Winson Bright. Holdover members of the board are Von Roeder, Melton, Rogers, Tommy Mills, Carl Whitfield and Arel Faver.

Bill J. Hood, Superintendent of Snyder Schools, will be master of ceremonies at the banquet. Birdie Barren, chairman of the Women's Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, will introduce Mrs. Harvey, and Pat Abbananto, minister of the Thirty-seventh Street Church of Christ, will give the invocation and the benedcton. Linda Reitm will present dinner music.

GE Contract Agreement Is Reached

By TOM CRANE
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The General Electric Co. and two unions leading a 95-day strike have reached tentative agreement on a new contract. A presidential mediator predicted 10 other unions joining the strike would accept similar terms.

But it will be a week to 10 days before all 133,000 strikers return to work, federal mediator J. Curtis Counts said Wednesday night as he announced the settlement.

Negotiators for GE, the nation's fourth largest industrial corporaton, and the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers and the independent United Electrical Workers declined to discuss terms of the settlement until a memorandum of agreement was signed today. The pact must be ratified by union members.

Sources close to the negotiations said the agreement provided a pay increase of more than 80 cents an hour over 40 months. The unions had sought a 90-cent-an-hour increase over 30 months.

It was learned that the pact also included a cost-of-living clause.

"It is my expectation that what comes out of these negotiations wil be a pattern" for settlements with the oiher 10 unions, Counts told a news conference.

BUT SHUTDOWN LIKELY

Rails Operating

By GREGG HERRINGTON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Not knowing if, when or where the first placard-carrying picket might appear, the country's railroads continued operating today while management and labor prepared for a nationwide rail shutdown that might not come off.

The first walkout by members of four unions who have worked without a contract for over a year could come "like a shot out of the dark" William W. Winpisinger, chief negotiator for the AFL-CIO shopcraft unions, said Thursday night when contract discussions broke off.

A government spokesman said no further sessions have been scheduled.

A strike by any of the 48,000 members of the Machinists, Electricians, Boilermakers or Sheet Metal Workers—whose latest pact expired Jan. 1, 1968—would lead to a nationwide shutdown of the entire rail system, industry spokesmen have said.

"We have been unable to resolve" the dispute. "We've tried like hell," Winpisinger said following the latest round of negotiations that began this month. The Sheet Metal Workers in mid-December rejeced 2-to-1 a two-year agreement with an 18-per cent wage hike that was the highest in the history of the unions.

The other three shopcraft unions involved narrowly approved the pact but those workers would not sign a contract upless all did.

Officials of the Sheet Metal Workers said in December the rejection was based not on wage disputes but on a clause that would have permitted members of the four unions to perform work in each other's job jurisdictions in some limited cases.

The unions have been free to walk off the job since Dec. 3 when all federal cooling off periods and other delaying procedures expired. The Sheet Metal Workers contract—rejection came Dec. 18 but they did not strike and announced plans for further discussions this month.

Thursday night, Winpisinger refused to give any hint when, where or even if a strike definitely would be called.

Texas Has Sharp Freeze

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thermometers dived within a few degrees of zero at a place or two in the Texas Panhandle and the northern two-thirds of the state shivered in a sharp freeze this moning.

Skies were crystal clear in all sections and it was uncomfortably chilly in other areas.

Temperatures near dawn ranged down to 5 degrees at Marfa in Far West Texas and 7 degrees at Perryton in the Upper Panhandle. McAllen, deep in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, registered 48 at the same time.

Forecasts promised the start of a warming trend in Northwest Texas before day's end, rising temperatures due to reach into the eastern part of the state by Saurday.

A high pressure center over Texas was expected to keep the weather fair.

The freeze zone spread as far south as a line linking Lufkin, San Antonio and Del Rio.

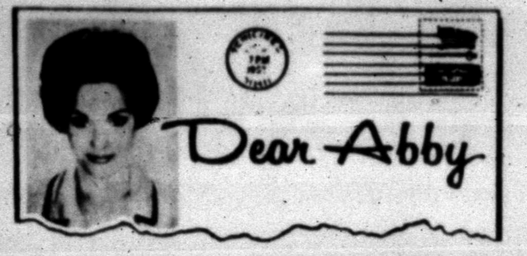

Readings near dawn at other points included Dalhart 12, Lubbock 13, Amarillo 15, El Paso and Wink 19, San Angelo 22, Childress and Midland 23, Abilene 24, Big Spring, Denison, Sherman and Waco 25, Killeen, Mineral Wells and Wichita Falls 26, Fort Worth and San Antonio 27, Austin and Tyler 29, College Station, Dallas, Hagyview and Lufkin at Texarkana 31 and Del Rio 33.

Ferry Sinks In Greece

PIRAEUS, Greece (AP) — An interisland car-passenger ferry was heavily damaged by fire and sank in the Cyclades Islands early today, but the 79 persons aboard, all Greeks, were safely evacuated by small boats.

Piraeus harbor authorities said the 1,769-ton Epiros ran on the rocks at the entrance to Skiros Harbor in a thick fog and caught fire when there was a short circuit in the engine room.

The ship ran from Samos Island, in the north Aegean Sea, to Brindisi, Italy. It carried a crew of 40 and had 34 passengers aboard.

If hubby leaves house, he'll leave marriage

By Abigail Van Buren

(c) 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I'm sure you've never had another letter like this one. The situation is as follows: My husband has never been a very sociable person. He doesn't enjoy being with relatives, his or mine. In fact, he's never enjoyed being with his own children. Our two eldest are now married and gone, and our youngest recently left for college, so my husband moved out of our bedroom and into the spare bedroom.

I like people, Abby, and always enjoyed having friends and neighbors drop in to visit. When this happened, my husband would feel so "intruded upon" that he'd just excuse himself and find someplace to go.

About a month ago he said it would be better for everyone if he got his own apartment just so he could be by himself. Knowing how stubborn he is, I didn't try to talk him out of it. You understand we aren't angry with each other or anything like that, and he can well afford the apartment. He comes back to visit me often, and seems in a much happier frame of mind. Of course, I'd rather have him home all the time, but I don't want him to be unhappy. No one knows about the apartment but me. What do you think of this setup?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: I think your husband is going to extremes to "be by himself." [A den or spare bedroom to be used as his "private retreat" should suffice.] It seems to me that a husband who first wants "out" of the bedroom, then wants "out" of the house, will probably next want "out" of your life.

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of two small children, and I am very much in love with my husband.

My problem is that I am extremely attracted to my husband's boss. When we see each other socially, I find myself wanting to be near him, and show my affection, but instead I greet him with polite coolness, and avoid him all evening. Oddly enough, I have the feeling that he is attracted to me, too.

Now, I think I have overdone it, Abby, and I am afraid I have hurt his feelings, and he thinks that I actually dislike him. Nothing could be further from the truth. Being an honest person, basically, this bothers me. Do you think I should tell him truthfully why I have been so cool to him? I don't like the feeling I have about the whole thing.

MIXED UP

DEAR MIXED UP: If you are looking for trouble, just "confess" to a man whom you find extremely attractive, and suspect the feeling is mutual, that you've been "cool" to him because you don't want him to know how much you really like him.

My advice to you is to discontinue the artificial winds from the north, and stick by your husband when his boss is in the company.

DEAR ABBY: I never thought I'd be writing to you, but here I go. I work in a fairly large office. All of the girls I eat lunch with are married, myself included. Every day without fail, one of the girls insists on discussing her marital affairs [and she doesn't leave anything out, either] with the girls at lunchtime. We all feel as tho we have a ringside [or should I say "bedside"] seat in their private life. Is there any way someone can tell this person how we feel about this very private matter being discussed at the lunch table? Please sign me.

SICK OF SEX TALK

DEAR SICK: Yes. Why don't YOU take the bull by the horns and tell her?

CONFIDENTIAL TO "TALK ME OUT OF IT" IN CLEVELAND: Memorize the following gem of wisdom by Ella Wheeler Wilcox:

"Talk health. That dreary never-ending tale
Of mortal maladies is worn and stale;
You cannot charm or interest or please
By harping on that minor chord, disease.
Say that you are well, and all is well with you,
And God shall hear your words and make them true."

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Paratyphoid Death Shuts Ozona Schools

OZONA, Tex. (AP) — Ozona schools were closed today because of a death attributed to paratyphoid fever. Officials said classes would reconvene Monday.

Dr. S. J. Lerro of the State Health Department in Austin confirmed the paratyphoid death in talking with County Judge Bernice Jones and Dr. Don Lee Carlisle, Crockett County health officer.

Lerro said the disease may be transmitted only by close personal contract.

Tests showed two other deaths in Ozona since Sunday resulted from chronic illnesses complicated by influenza, Lerro said.

Peace Talks Suspended

Associated Press Writer

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Hostilities broke out again between Honduras and El Salvador Thursday. Each claimed the other started the shooting. The two governments suspended peace talks in Costa Rica at which hey had been trying to ease the aftermath of their 100-hour war last July.

Honduras said a "considerable number" of dead Salvadoreans were left in Honduran territory. El Salvador's defense minister said he was waiting for casualty reports from the front.

El Salvador, smallest Spanish-speaking nation in the Western Hemisphere, claimed Honduran planes violated Salvadorean air space and then Honduran troops and armed civilians crossed the poorly defined border. El Salvador said its troops repulsed the invaders after a three-hour battle.

Honduras said the first attack was made by 100 Salvadorean ground troops, around dawn, and five hours later Salvadorean planes bombed two villages. The Honduran Foreign Ministry said that after a battle of several hours, the Salvadorean troops "were defeated, leaving behind a considerable number of guardsmen dead in Honduran territory."

Armed conflict along the border has been common since July, but Thursday's appeared to be the most serious since a cease-fire was declared on July 18.

At least 2,000 persons were killed in the war last summer, and Honduras closed the Pan American Highway, the lifeline of Central American commerce. Diplomats of other Central American countries had hoped that the peace talks in Costa Rica would improve the situation.

The two countries have a long history of economic, social and territorial disputes, stemming in large part from the fact that Honduras has five times the land and half he population of El Salvado. Land-hungry Salvadorean peasants migrated in large numbers into the rugged, undeveloped Honduran lands along the border, and by last year an estimated 300,000 Salvadoreans were living on Honduran territory.

Honduras enacted a land redistribution law and began seizing the Salvadoeans' lands. Some 15,000 fled to El Salvador, and on July 14 Salvadorean troops crossed the border, charging that the Hondurans were committing atrocities on the Salvadoeans.

Carswell Hearings Recessed

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee has recessed hearings after testimony one member called "damning" and "extremely damaging" to Judge G. Harrold Carswell's Supreme Court nomination.

Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., indicated he expects the hearings to wind up with one more day of testimony—probably Monday or Tuesday.

The hearings recessed after a long Thursday session that included testimony from three law professors opposing Carswell.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., said the testimony of Rutgers University law professor John Lowenthal about Carswell's handling of a case involving voter registration workers in Florida should be answered.

Although Bayh said he supposed it would be pointless to recall Carswell, now a judge on the 5th U.S. Court of Appeals, the senator told newsmen: "This kind of testimony, unless rebutted, is extremely damaging." Carswell told the committee earlier this week he could not discuss court decisions.

Colorado Introduces New Dependent Bill

DENVER (AP) — A bill to permit Colorado taxpayers to claim only two of their children as dependents for the state's $750-per-dependent income tax deduction was introduced in the state House of Representatives Thursday by Rep. Richard Lamm, D-Denver.

Under the bill, Lamm said, "the state would no longer subsidize unlimited numbers of children." Lamm described the measure as his answer to the threat of overpopulation.

City Police investigated three motor vehicle mishaps Thursday.

The first one occurred at 9:35 a.m. on Avenue S at Thirty-fifth Street. Damage to the 1965 Model Chevrolet of Thomas Clarence Goss, Box 395, was estimated at $500, and damage to the 1951 Model Chevrolet pickup of James Frederick Cotton, Box 503, Dunn, was placed at $100.

The second one occurred at 1:10 p.m. in the 1800 block of Twenty - sixth Street. Involved were the 1966 Model Pontiac of Frances E. Billingsley, 3616 Avenue B, and the 1964 Model Dodge of Jerry Claude Clift, Box 35, Hermleigh. Damage to the Pontiac was placed at $10 and damage to the other car was set at $15.

The other collision occurred at Avenue V and Thirty - fifth Street at 12:07 p.m. Involved were the 1964 Model Chevrolet of Bobbie Bernice Felton, 3108 Avenue B, and the 1962 Model Chevrolet of Don Gene Light, 3005 Austin. Damage to each car was placed at $100.

Meningitis Closes Bandera Schools

BANDERA, Tex. (AP) — Schools were closed today after contagious meningitis sent a third pupil to a hospital in critical condition.

Supt. Marvin Schnelle said state health officials had advised him it was not necessary to close school.

However, he said, it was decided to close today because of a high absentee rate this week. State aid to schools is based on average daily attendance of about 700.

About 130 pupils missed school Thursday, some with mumps or flu, others apparently because their parents were concerned about the meningitis, Schnelle said.

In critical condition at a San Antonio hospital late Thursday was Paulita Saucedo, 14, of the Avalon subdivision at Medina Lake near here.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francisco Saucedo and an eighth grade pupil.

Hippies Charged In Slayings

By MIKE COCHRAN

FORT WORTH (AP) — A police informer says Danny Ramirez, 4, was slain because he saw the face of one of the men who killed his father and uncle.

Danny was shot nine times.

Police found the dead child crouched on the back floor of a car, his tiny blue coat spread over him. The bullet-riddled bodies of his father and uncle were locked in the trunk.

His father, Daniel Ramirez, 23, was shot four times, his uncle, Sammy Ramirez, 26, eight times.

Lt. Oliver Ball attributed the swift police work in making arrests to Danny's death.

"It was because of the kid," Ball said Thursday after five "hippie type" persons were arrested and charged in the Jan. 20 slayings.

"I thought from the start that when we solved this, it would be because of the kid. That's what everybody mentioned first —the kid."

An assistant district attorney noted, "I've never known a jury to take the testimony of a 4-year old," suggesting that Danny's death was unnecessary.

Investigators surrounded a motorcycle shop-residence Thursday at dawn and arrested six persons. A seventh was seized later.

Murder charges were filed against four men and a woman, who allegedly killed in retaliation for some "impure heroin" reportedly sold them by Daniel Ramirez.

In a police affidavit, an informer told of visiting the motorcycle shop owned by Michael Paprskar Jr., 28, an ex-convict named by investigators as leader of the group.

"As the informant entered the living quarters, he noticed — standing in the room and on the floor two large pools of what appeared to be blood," the affidavit states.

"— had a bloody rag in his hand and lying on the floor were other rangs which appeared to be soaked with blood...

"Upon viewing this unusual scene, informant asked — what had happened. — replied that he and — had killed 'them Mexicans.'

"— further stated that he had to kill the kid because the kid had seen —'s face."

The affidavit ended by observing that "said informant's life would be in serious danger and will not be worth a 'plugged nickel' if his identity and whereabouts are disclosed..."

Charged along with Paprskar are his wife Bonnie, 26; Danny Anderson, 20, his brother Harrell, 22, and Edward Mille, 19.

All five gave the motorcycle shop as their address.

AWS Has Disbanded

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The Associated Women Students at the University of Tennessee has disbanded. Its president, Glenda Rae Ruby of Chattanooga, said there are no more issues of vital concern for women only, thus no more need for the organization.

The AWS was one of the oldest organizations at the university and fought many battle to gain equal rights for women.

It achieved one of its goals new policy for coeds beginning when the university adopted a this quarter. The policy permits them to sign out of dormitorys for the night if they have 30 hours scholastic credits and have permission from parents or guardian.

GREETS GUESTS — Mrs. Allene Massingill, right, president of the Business and Professional Womens Club, welcomes Mrs. E. B. Riesenberg of Sweetwater, district 7 director, B&PW, and Dr. John Blum to the regular meeting of the local club at the Martha Ann Woman's Club. Dr. Blum presented the program, telling about a trip he and Mrs. Blum made to the Holy Land.

DISPLAYS FIGURINES — Mrs. John Blum sits beside several figurines and other mementoes of her trip to the Holy Land. She displayed them at a meeting of the Snyder Business and Professional Womens Club at the Martha Ann Woman's Club.

Blums Present B&PW Program

Dr. and Mrs. John Blum were the guest speakers at the B&PW Club dinner meeting Tuesday at the Martha Ann Women's Club. The World Affairs Committee arranged the program that made geography and the Israeli headline very real.

Mrs. Blum arranged an interesting exhibit of souvenirs from their month long tour through Europe and the Middle East.

Dr. Blum narrated the trip fluently, as he showed slides, beginning with London, and continuing through Paris, Rome, Tel Aviv, Jerusalem and Naples. He commented that they took photographs and then had part of them made into slides.

Mrs. J. C. Massingill, club president, presented Mrs. Blum a gift in appreciation for the program.

Mrs. Tommy Riesenberg of Sweetwater, District Seven Director of Texas Business and Professional Women's Clubs, urged members to support the international project, the Lillystrom Fund that offers women better educational opportunities through scholarships. The local group has done its share of the work since 1950.

Mrs. Riesenberg commented, "This is a fine club, and I am pleased to have been here for the World Affairs program."

Mrs. Horace Williamson was hostess, and Mrs. Jerry Bowes arranged decorations, including the centerpiece of pink roses. Florence Leftwich was in charge of plate favors, which were blue phone keyrings, complimentary from the company manager. She also recited the Club Collect prior to the dinner.

In the brief business meeting the group voted to sponsor a book exchange in March, and anyone wishing to donate books, new and used, to the group for their civic work, may contact the club president.

Add sour cream. Beat until blended. Fold in drained cherries. Turn into a one-quart mold. Chill until set. At serving time unmold. Makes six healthy servings.

Mrs. Clark Has Program

Mrs. Virginia Clark, Martha Ann Woman's Club President, presented Atheneum Study Club with a book review of Psycho - Cybernetics in continuation of the club's theme, "Involving Ourselves in Our Changing Universe." Mrs. Sally Walton was hostess for the Tuesday afternoon meeting at the woman's club.

Psycho - Cybernetics, by Dr. Maxwell Maltz, one of the world's most famous plastic surgeons, depicts methods of new ways to get more living out of life. The "Success - type" personality, according to Dr. Maltz, is composed of sense of direction, understanding, courage, charity, esteem, self-confidence, and self - acceptance. Following Mrs. Clark's review club members shared their own personal experiences which illustrated the concepts of Dr. Maltz.

A large sheet of plastic is a handy tool when laundering knits and other stretchables which need to be dried flat. Just spread the plastic over a bed or floor to serve as a waterproof surface for drying large pieces. It's a good travel trick to carry a sheet of plastic which adds negligible bulk and weight to luggage.

Star Likes Bridge Above Film Work

By KEN CONWAY
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Omar Sharif is a highly paid international movie star whose dark good looks may cause the most heart throbs since Rudolph Valentino.

He has everything going for him, you might think, that a fellow could ask.

Not quite.

Except that it would severely diminish his income, says the 37-year-old Egyptian, he would give up films for a career in professional bridge.

"At the bridge table I feel I am the captain of my soul and the master of my fate," the star of "Dr. Zhivago" told an interviewer. "I find myself hoping the game will never end."

Sharif, who plays as much as he can between movie jobs, is in town as a member of the Omar Sharif Bridge Circus. He and seven other foreign experts are playing top teams in big cities around the country.

The entourage came to the United States fresh from an 80-rubber match against British experts in London for one pound —$2.40—a point and side bets. Sharif and company pocketed about $18,000.

Sharif says bridge is an ideal spectator sport, "more fun to watch than to play."

Spectators are admitted to his circus for $3 each.

"It's a fast moving game, much faster than golf," he says.

"A decision must be made every three or four minutes, and it takes longer than that to play a hole of golf. As a spectator, you see all hands."

As a man with a reputation for gallantry, what does he think of women as players?

"Women aren't as good as men," he said ungallantly. "They can't concentrate as well."

Sharif does not play regularly with any special teammate. The circus includes such noted bridge masters as Giorgio Belladonna, Benito Garozzo and Leon Yallouze, all of Italy, and Claude Delmouly of France.

Sharif and his fellow bridge experts take on the top local players in whatever city they visit and so far have scored victories by 95 match points in Winnipeg and by 68 in Chicago. The tour is underwritten by playing card and bridge table manufacturers.

Color-Code Linens

Color code your linens to assure maximum use and minimum wear. Now that linens are available in every color of the rainbow, plan your purchases accordingly. For example, use yellow bottom sheets and yellow-striped top sheets and pillow cases for all the beds in the house one week; blue the next, and white the third. Carry out the unicolor theme in the bathroom and do the same with your kitchen towels. It will be easy to remember what color was just used and your linens will last longer.

Flamenco Is 'Improvisation'

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Some people think of a concert of flamenco guitar and a concert of classical guitar as pretty much the same thing.

A classical guitarist plays what classical composers have written for the instrument. Traditional flamenco guitarists are Spanish gypsies who improvise accompaniment for flamenco dancers and singers.

The guitars are different, too. A classical guitar is made of rosewood for mellowness. A flamenco guitar is made of cypress and spruce, which gives it lighter weight and a more brilliant tone.

Carlos Montoya, the world's best-known flamenco guitarist, not only was around before the rock 'n' roll guitar made all others be thought of as classical, but he also was around before there were any flamenco guitar concerts. He started them.

Montoya started as a traditional flamenco guitarist and took it forward, into the concert hall, though he still doesn't read or write music. He is a Spanish gypsy, born in Madrid in 1903, whose mother started him at age 8 on guitar lessons with a local barber.

In his teens he played in cafes. "To accompany dancers you played rhythmic patterns. To accompany singers you played chords and adornment. I liked to come out and play solos. It just wasn't done in those days. But only by playing alone can you develop the music.

"Most of the guitarists didn't dare to come out alone. I always felt I could do it. Why? Confidence in self. It's the most important thing. Many artists have fear inside them. I don't."

Montoya made his debut on a cafe stage in 1919, and his debut as a solo artist for an entire concert in 1945, giving him both a 50th and a 25th anniversary during the 1960-70 season.

For many years he toured, accompanying flamenco dancers and having a solo spot on the program. The 1945 concert came after the death of the dancer known as La Argentinita, with whom he had toured for some time.

Mrs. Montoya recalls that people told them in the '40s that there are no public for full evenings of flamenco guitar playing. A radio show which invited her husband to play requested that he throw in a few Mexican numbers for variety. He declined. Montoya never has had any interest in playing anything except flamenco music.

Mrs. Montoya is amazed that some people don't recognize the variety within flamenco. "At first maybe it doesn't seem that different. But the more you sort it all out, the more you understand the variety of moods and rhythms and styles. There are gypsies who specialize in two or three particular styles."

These days, Montoya gives about 100 concerts a year in the United States, largely on college campuses, and at least that many more in other parts of the world, and nearly all are sold out.

From the first of October to the middle of December, Montoya gave 55 concerts in the United States. During February, March and April he'll give 45 more. The last one is April 19, at Penn State; the first one on the European tour which follows is April 21 in Hamburg.

In flamenco music, Montoya says, "The basic thing is transferred from one person to another, the rhythms and backlog of traditional melodies. These are phases, not whole songs. And they're just the jumping off place. You have to improvise on the themes and develop your own music. That hasn't been preserved and handed down."

Mrs. Montoya says, "I think flamenco is changing. The young don't play entirely in Carlos' style. And the way he plays isn't the way his uncle played. That's why it is exciting; it isn't a museum piece. It goes on being a living thing."

The one concession to written rather than improvised flamenco guitar music that Montoya has made, has been to help compose "Suite Flamenca for Guitar and Orchestra," to play its premiere with the St. Louis Symphony in 1966, and to record it for United Artists.

Montoya's English isn't very good. He married an American who wanted their two sons to be bilingual. She spoke English to them, and when the family was all together they spoke Spanish.

Do you need to be a Spanish gypsy to play the flamenco guitar? Montoya says, "It is not necessary—and yet gypsies have a certain something that nobody else has."

IN MEETINGS WITH BUSINESSMEN

BEF Sponsoring Fitzgerald

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — "We've got to create a situation in which public servants are made accountable for their actions . . . We've got to supply a counter constituency to the military."

In this frame of mind, "my competitive spirit aroused," A. Ernest Fitzgerald takes to the road for a year of meetings with businessmen about what he and his sponsor feels is enormous military waste and inefficiency.

Fitzgerald, 44-year-old father of three, an industrial engineer by profession, will speak from conviction.

On Nov. 13, 1968, he testified to a Congressional subcommittee about a $2 billion overrun for the C5 military cargo plane. He was asked to confirm or deny a cost estimate by the committee's staff.

"I could acknowledge or deceive," he said. "I told the truth, and one thing led to another."

After a year of what he felt was isolation and humiliation, Fitzgerald was told that his $31,000 a year Air Force job was abolished.

To that point, Fitzgerald said, he didn't feel like a crusader. "I didn't try to blow the whistle," he said in a placid Southern drawl that belies his deep feelings, "but the reaction, the oppressive tactics did disturb me. It was foreign to our style."

Fitzgerald feels that Air Force intelligence went on a "fishing expedition" seeking to discredit him. "They looked for moral lapses of any kind, for conflicts of interest, for financial interests."

The Air Force Maintained that it abolished Fitzgerald's job in order to save money and that they had sought unsuccessfully to place him in another part of their operations.

Says Fitzgerald: "Their reaction to accusations of waste is not to fix the problem but to put out the person who accuses. Their intention is self survival. There's a lack of checks and balances. Who are they accountable to?"

Fitzgerald wasn't out of work long. He became a consultant to the committee whose investigations preceded his dismissal. And the Businessmen's Educational Fund hired him under an arrangement that will give him a total salary almost matching that of his Air Force job. He will travel for nearly a year, lecturing, conferring, advising, educating.

A meeting with businessmen in Palo Alto, Calif., on Feb. 9 is the first date on his agenda, following the next day by a meeting with businessmen in San Francisco and another two days later in Los Angeles, all under BEF auspices.

And what is BEF?

A rather loose arrangement of 200 businessmen organized primarily by Harold Willens, 55, president of Factory Equipment Supply Corp., Los Angeles, and developer of real estate along Wilshire Boulevard.

Born in poverty, Willens now is wealthy enough to feel there is more to life than bank accounts. His particular interest is in reordering American priorities, primarily by reducing the influence of the military.

Big military budgets, he is convinced, are directly related to the deterioration in the quality of much of American life, partly because of its effect on the spirit, partly because it deprives socially worthwhile projects of funds.

His vehicle for rearranging priorities is the business community, whose members he believes, have enormous credibility and thus are in a position to influence others. He was co-organizer a few years ago of Business Executives Move for Vietnam Peace.

Marine Picks Army Man For Hero

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — It is rare for a U.S. Marine to pick an Army officer as his hero.

But the late Gen. George S. Patton has become something of a personal hero to actor George C. Scott as the result of playing the title role in "Patton," a $15-million roadshow film by 20th Century-Fox.

Scott, who rose to the rank of sergeant during a four-year hitch in the Marines, became fascinated with the personality of the famed U.S. 3rd Army commander who achieved notoriety by slapping a shellshocked private and later was praised for his march across France.

"I think I could write a book about Patton now," he said. "My biggest difficulty was to avoid the popular cliche of him —to show him not as a swaggering bully with a gun but as he actually was, a complex, multi-faceted man.

"Patton had gigantic stature as a human being."

Like Patton, Scott has had a stormy and controversial career. He once refused an Academy Award nomination and by the time he was 30 he had been thrice-married and had his nose broken five times. But time and a happy third marriage have mellowed his impetuous nature.

"I don't have a definition of controversial," he says mildly. "If it means I like to live my own life, then I suppose I am. But I'm not meddlesome, I despise gossip, and I don't stick my nose into other people's business."

Scott is a six-footer with cloudy eyes and an imperious profile. Admired by other actors for his dedication and skill at his craft, he says he became an actor because "it's the only thing I can do successfully."

"That's a left-handed thing to say, but it's true. Acting has its gratifications and rewards, but it is rather like gambling luck —you can kill it by talking about it.

"You can make a mistake by trying to overanalyze either a performance or your own life. It'll lead you on the road to the laughing academy. Better leave it to the critics — that's their job."

The key word in Scott's philosophy is distinction.

"It is unforgivable for a man not to aspire to distinction in everything he does," he said. "You also have to prize individuality very highly. It's one of the things that make man a higher animal—if he is."

Scott feels his own worst fault is intellectual laziness.

"I know I could be a better person," he said, "if I laid on the sweat and tears it takes. It's like a good marriage; you have to slave at it to get the best results."

Board Move Requested

HOUSTON (AP)—Staff members of the Texas Air Control Board should be forced to smell the "channel industries and a exhaust fumes" of Houston on a daily basis, board member William P. Hobby said Thursday.

Hobby wrote to board Chairman Herbert C. McKee asking that the board be moved from Austin to Houston.

"The logic of moving the focus of the state's air pollution control effort to where the pollution is, is obvious," Hobby wrote.

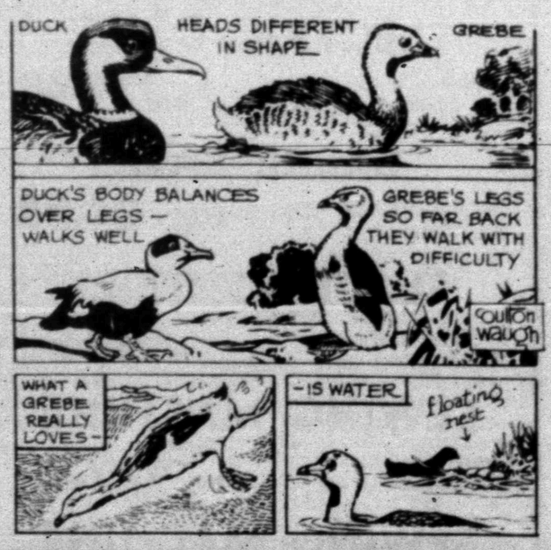

Hobby, who lives in Houston, is president and executive editor of the Houston Post.

Several Houston councilmen had complained to Hobby when he addressed them recently that the board met in the clear air of Austin, uninfluenced by Harris County smells, when it extended several variances to air pollution laws over the councilmen's wishes.

"... It is an inevitable fact that smelling the channel industries and auto exhaust fumes of the third of a three-day (weather) inversion (in Houston) has to sharpen the sense of urgency and affect the priorities of staff as well as board in dealing with the problem," Hobby wrote.

Leslie Uggams, who had her own television variety show this season, says she is part Cherokee and part Seminole and that her name is said to be derived from an Indian word meaning "sweet one."

A Junior Editors Quiz About GREBES

QUESTION: How does a grebe differ from a duck?

* * *

ANSWER: For birds living in or near the water, there are many advantages, such as a good food supply, with fish, crustaceans and water insects, as well as escape from enemies, especially by diving under the surface. A large order, or group, of birds live in this way. Of these, the best adjusted to water is the grebe, represented in our pictures by the widely distributed pied-billed grebe. Often nicknamed water-witch or dabchick, this bird looks something like a duck but lacks the duck's broad bill and characteristically shaped head. Also, the grebe's legs are placed very differently. They are so far to the rear that the bird can only sit up or waddle around clumsily when on land, while the duck, with his body well balanced over his legs, can walk very well. When swimming underwater, however, the grebe is all grace and speed; he is master of this element. Grebes build nests of decaying vegetation placed on rafts of buoyant green stems so that the nests can actually float. Most wonderful of all is the grebe's ability to lower himself while swimming on the surface, often until only his bill and eyes can be seen. Submerged this way, it is very difficult for hunters to find him.

IN LAMESA TONIGHT

Bengals, Tornadoes Begin Second Round

The two teams favored to represent the South Zone of District 3-AAA in the district basketball tournament will tangle at 8 p.m. tonight in the Tornado gym at Lamesa. The tilt pits the unbeaten (in zone action) hosts against Snyder's Tigers.

The only loss Snyder has sustained in South Zone play is a first round 67-56 loss to the same Tornadoes.

Virtually all observers agree Lamesa has one of the best teams in the state. With five returning lettermen, the Tors have experience, size, speed and smooth ball - handling ability. What's more, they also know how to play defense as evidenced by the score of their latest game. Last Tuesday, they whacked Sweetwater 82-25 while the Tigers had to rally in the last half to beat Lake View 65-58 in their toughest (physically) contest of the campaign.

Only a great fourth quarter rally, however, enabled the Tornadoes to claim the first decision between these two teams. With about 3½ minutes left holding a four point lead, Lamesa went into a stall and forced Snyder to go after the ball. The Tors were able to collect some free throws via this strategy and build the final 11 - point margin, but those who saw the game will tell you it was much closer than the score indicates.

Snyder has continued to make steady improvement. In Wesley Bishop, the Bengals have one of the finest shooters in West Texas. He has been especially dangerous in the fourth quarter in the past three tilts. The 6-1½ senior has developed some inside moves that complement his great outside shooting ability.

Teamwork, however, has been the Bengals' strong point all season, and when one boy has an "off" night, there usually is another one who takes up the slack. The best thing the Tigers could have going for them tonight, all things considered, is their poise under pressure. They've had several close tilts this season and it's been a long time since they lost their cool.

Other starters for Snyder tonight are Ronald Ward, 6-2½ senior; Lee McNair, 6-0 senior; Jim Patrick, 6-2½, senior; and Bruce Almond, 6-2 junior.

Opening for the host Tors does probably will be Floyd Lloyd Jenkins, 6-3 senior; Cecil Davis, 5-0 junior; Joe Jernigan, 6-5 senior; and Henry Minnix, 5-10 senior.

The program begins at 6:15 p.m. with the junior varsity clash. The Snyder Kittens are 16-3 for the season.

Good Rattler Coach Retires

By JOHN VAN GIESON
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Old Jake Gaither, a slope-shouldered, pot-bellied football genius who liked his players "agile, mobile and hostile"—and that rhymes with smile — Retired Thursday.

Jake, born Alonzo S. Gaither, son of a preacher, produced some of the finest football teams ever to smash an opponent into the dusty playing fields of the South's backwater black colleges in 25 years as coach of the Florida A&M Rattlers.

His 203-36-4 lifetime coaching record was the best in the nation among active football coaches. Once—but only once—a Gaither team slipped to a .5 record. He never had a lost season.

FAMU President B. L. Perry announced at a news conference that Gaither will be succeeded by Robert "Pete" Griffin, a 26-year Rattler defensive assistant who was a Negro all-American as an A&M center in 1938.

Then Gaither, with lines of age etched deep in his fierce round face and thin white hair curling backward over a scar left by a 1942 operation, described his feelings.

"The old man upstairs has been mighty good to Jake," he said. "I got a few more years and I want to spend them doing whatever I can for the good of the university."

Perry said Gaither's position would be cut from the original four to one—athletic director. At one time Gaither was athletic director, football coach, health and physical education professor and head of the health and physical education department.

The retirement decision, Perry said, was Gaither's own.

"The reason is simply that I don't want to press my luck too long," Gaither said. "Since leaving coach at Florida A&M I have survived a brain operation, I have survived blindness and I have survived a broken leg."

When the surgeons cut into his head in 1942, he said later, they removed two malignant tumors.

"His ability to inspire, to identify latent talent regardless of how rough it was, was one of the things that made him successful," the president said.

Blue, White Are 7th Grade Champs

The 7th grade basketball teams of Snyder closed out their regular season slate yesterday with Travis Blue and Travis White sharing the championship with identical 10-2 records while Lamar Red finished third with a 3-9 mark and Lamar Gray finished last with a 1-11 record.

In final games yesterday, the Blue beat the White 33-23 and the Red tripped the Gray 41-30.

The Blue, led by Weltos Cobb, built a steady lead in the first three quarters that was too much for the White to overcome. Cobb netted 12 points while Billy Murray sparked the White team with seven.

Lamar Red took a six point lead, 11-5, in the first quarter and remained in command throughout the contest with Roy Lee Carter pitching in 13 points to lead his team. Bernie Weems netted eight points — high for the Gray.

There will be an All-Star game Feb. 5 in the high school gym. Rosters will be announced later.

BLUE (33) — Cobb 4-4-12; Vargas 4-1-9; Gafford 2-2-6; Hardin 1-1-3; Neely 1-1-3; totals 2-9-33.

Another Mogul Peeks At Seattle

OAKLAND (AP)—Even if the group of Seattle businessmen now trying to finance the purchase of the Seattle Pilots should fail, the baseball club may not necessarily have to be moved out of Seattle this season.

Air Oakland airlines executive Edward J. Daly, jumped into the confused situation Thursday, confirming reports he was considering buying the club and keeping it in Seattle.

Daly is not to be confused with Cleveland businessman William Daley, who now owns the club and is trying to sell it for $9 million to a Seattle group headed by Edward Carlson, a hotel executive.

Edward Daly is president of World Airways, Inc. an Oakland charter carrier. He got into the act at the request of a friend of his, Charles O. Finley, owner of the Oakland Athletics.

A spokesman for Daly confirmed Finley's revelation that Daly had met with several American League owners in nearby Berkeley early this week and that he was looking over the Pilot's financial situation.

But, the spokesman warned, "It would be premature to make any further comment."

Nicklaus Takes San Diego Lead With 65

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Jack Nicklaus sounded a warning to his challengers in today's second round of the $150,000 Andy Williams San Diego Open.

"I have to do better."

Nicklaus, the defending champion, opened with a brilliant seven-under par 65 in Thursday's first round, one stroke better than fast-closing Tony Jacklin, the British Open title holder.

Four more are at 67—Canadian Al Balding, former Masters champion Gay Brewer, 54-year-old Julius Boros and young Jose Goldstrand.

The group of six at 68 includes Gene Littler and Bobby Nichols, while the current Masters champion, George Archer, was one of six at 69.

But Nicklaus, who has the hottest hand on the tour in his appearances, remained the man to beat—and the man to catch.

Nicklaus' 65—he also had a 65 in his last previous competitive round—came on the 6,792-yard Torrey Pines Golf Club course in what he called an "ideal situation for scoring."

The temperature was in the 70s, the greens held, the fairways were in excellent condition and the mild breeze didn't kick up until the afternoon, long after big Jack had finished.

His round was outstanding enough, but even more remarkable because he did some experimenting along the way.

"About my fourth or fifth hole I started having some trouble with my swing," he said. "I wasn't getting the shoulder turn right. I worked it for about nine holes before I got it back where I wanted it.

"It's gratifying to work your way out of some trouble and still be able to score well."

In that stretch of holes—"I just wasn't hitting the ball close to the hole"—he had only one birdie, on a par five when he chipped close and made the putt. But he didn't have a bogey.

"I haven't had quite as long a winter layoff as I usually have," he said of his fast start this year. "I watched about 20 movies of myself over the holidays and found some things I wanted to find and firmed up in my mind what I wanted to do."

Others had their troubles, however, particularly PGA champ Ray Floyd and Bert Yancey, winner of last week's Bing Crosby Pro-Am. Floyd took a 75, including four penalty strokes, for too many clubs in his bag, and Yancey had a 77.

Billy Casper, Frank Beard and Lee Trevino had 71s. Dave Hill had a 73. Arnold Palmer and U.S. Open title-holder Orville Moody are not competing.

SAN DIEGO (AP) — First-round scores Thursday in the $150,000 Andy Williams San Diego Open golf tournament on the 6,720-yard, par 72 Torrey Pines Golf Club course:

Jack Nicklaus	32-33—65

Gene Goldstand	34-33-67

Reed, Knicks Pop Detroit 127-106

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Willis Reed of the New York Knicks is over the 9,000-point barrier, but the most meaningful figures to the big center are the most that constitute victories.

"The 9,000 aren't significant," said Reed Thursday night after he went over that pro career total with 25 in the Knicks' 127-106 trouncing of Detroit in a National Basketball Association game.

"It's the six years," he said. "I hope I can match those."

In the only other NBA action Thursday, Phoenix upended Atlanta 111-102 and Seattle trapped San Francisco 105-101.

Kentucky trounced Pittsburgh 122-102 and Indiana edged Los Angeles 127-123 in the American Basketball Association.

Reed's 10th point, in the second quarter, was his 9,000th.

"We're playing as good a game as we were early in the season," said Reed after the Knicks won their fifth straight of 10 of 12 in opening up a six game lead over second-place Milwaukee in the Eastern Division.

The Knicks looked devastating in the third quarter, outscoring Detroit 40-20 as Reed scored 11 points. Walt Frazier got eight of his 21 and Dick Barnett eight of his 14. Cazzie Russell came in after Bill Bradley suffered an apparent minor ankle injury early in the game and scored 16 points.

Walt Bellamy scored 22 points and Dave Bing 21 for Detroit.

Connie Hawkins tallied 15 of his 24 points in the last period as the Suns trimmed Atlanta's Western Division lead over idle Los Angeles to 1½ games. Dick Van Arsdale topped Phoenix with 31 points and Jerry Chambers, hitting his first five shots, added 22 in his 25-minute stint.

Joe Caldwell was high for the Hawks with 29.

Dick Snyder's 24 points led Seattle past San Francisco, ruining the coaching debut of Al Attles, who replaced George Lee Tuesday as the Warriors' pilot.

HELP MET PITCHERS

NEW YORK (AP) — Chuck Estrada, who won 18 games as a rookie with the Baltimore Orioles in 1960, is the new minor league pitching coach for the New York Mets. The native of San Luis Gonzo, Calif., will report to the Mets camp at St. Petersburg, Fla., on Feb. 17, two days after his 32nd birthday.

Estrada, who compiled a 9-3 record while pitching and serving as a coach at Visalia, Calif., last year, succeeds Wes Stock who left the Mets organization to join the Seattle Pilots under new manager Dave Bristol.

Sandy Shines In Modesty

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sandy Koufax had a one-word reaction when advised he had been named Baseball Athlete of the Decade in a special poll conducted by the Associated Press.

"Incredible," said the former Los Angeles Dodger pitcher, a hard-throwing, soft-speaking left-hander many call the greatest in the annals of baseball.

Koufax, who retired at 30 after the end of the 1966 season because of a chronic, pain-enduring arthritic condition in his pitching elbow, is a man of many attributes.

False modesty is not one of them and he elaborated on his thoughts.

"I think it's incredible because there were guys like Mays and Mantle and Henry Aaron who were great players for 10 years or more.

"After all my big years were not spread over a full decade. I only had four or five good years."

Sandy had best check the records. In six years of the past decade, 1961-1966, he won 129 games and lost only 47 and in his final four his won-loss history was 25-5, 19-5, 26-8 and 27-9—and those were years when the elbow was in misery.

Sandy in his relatively brief but golden years won the Cy Young Award three times and pitched four no-hit games, a record unlikely to be surpassed in coming years, from 1962 through 1965, and one of them was a perfect game.

Koufax is proud of his success in baseball but he has said perhaps his most satisfying season was in 1963 when he struck out a major league record 382 batters.

This, he feels, was a sort of do-it-yourself thing.

The Mays and Mantle he referred to, of course, were Willie and Mickey of the San Francisco Giants and New York Yankees.

In the AP poll, Koufax received 225½ votes from the sports writers and broadcasters. The now-retired Mantle received 154½, Mays 105½ and Aaron of the Atlanta Braves, 51½, trailed next in that order.

Koufax after retirement accepted a fat, long term contract as a commentator with the National Broadcasting Company.

He was advised of the decade designation as he prepared to play golf at Riviera Country Club, to which he belongs. Golf has long been a Koufax concern. He carries an eight-handicap and said with a grin, "I can't play a little."

Once one of the nation's most eligible bachelors, Sandy has been married a year. His private life remains quiet—and quite private.

Does he miss the hustle and bustle of baseball?

"Yes and no. His things are still pretty keeping for me," he said.

More Couples Are Dating Across Racial Lines Now

By CONNIE ROSENBAUM
St. Louis Post Dispatch Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Skip and Sara spend most of their time at home. He comes to her house in the suburbs after his art class at the junior college and they visit on her porch, or watch television or take in a movie. They used to go to more public places but that caused problems so now they stay mostly to themselves.

In many respects, they look like any other young couple—except that Skip is black and has a thick kinky Afro beneath his bush hat; and Sara is white, with long brown hair hanging straight over her shoulders. They are one of an increasing number of couples who are currently dating across color lines.

"People stare and whisper when we go places so we just decided to try to avoid it," he said. "Sometimes we stare back until they become self-conscious, then we smile and flash a peace sign."

Skip and Sara met last year while they were students at Kirkwood High School. Other couples have met at work, on Sunday afternoon park outings, at peace marches, sporting events or friends' parties.

The motivations for dating are mixed on both sides. Many of the white girls admitted that they were intrigued by the virility myth about black men.

"Sure they come on strong," said Janet, a senior art student at Washington University. "These guys are different and that is part of their appeal. They have other experiences to share and usually the blacks who date white girls are the real achievers."

Black girls have noticed this point too and deeply resent it. Many interpret interracial dating as social climbing and an attempt at status on the part of black men. Others regard it as a negation of the "black is beautiful" line.

"These white chicks are encroaching on our territory," said a fiery young education major at Meramec Community College. "They should stick to their own kind. The whites only want to date the outstanding guys anyway, the school leaders and athletic stars, and that makes it hard for us to find dates."

Black girls are equally skeptical about white men who ask them out. Many refuse flatly because they said that they feel like objects of curiosity.

"I used to date a white man," said a 24-year-old fashion artist. "It got awkward though. I had the feeling that he wasn't interested in me as much as he liked the fact that I was black."

Interracial dating is strongly opposed by most black nationalists. The movement emphasizes the beauty of the black race and encourages the followers to support the new cultural emergence.

"The American standard of beauty still favors the white chick," said a Washington University senior who had recently bobbed her hair into a frizzy natural. "Men fall for girls with long sleek hair and light skin. But it is fast changing. If people believe in their race, they should prove it by dating black."

Many of the most ardent male activists, however, persist with the mixed racial pattern. One common reason they give for prefering white dates is the difference in education.

"Many of the black girls don't have as much college as we do and it is hard to find things to talk about," said a 22-year-old leader of a black campus club. "Maybe it is a challenge, a status thing, but a lot of these white girls are more for the movement than their black counterparts."

A large percentage of white girls who date blacks are actively involved in campus political movements on the left. They struck for grapes, picketed for peace, tutored in the ghetto and a few even migrated South for the summer to work with civil rights groups.

"Dating blacks might be a subconscious attempt to prove how liberal I really am," said a woman graduate in political science from California.

"Dating patterns reflect the simple fact of physical proximity as much as deep-seated psychological needs. These are men that I work with on campus projects. We belong to the same clubs and sponsor the same activities. It is natural that we should go out on social occasions."

"Initially my friends gave me a lot of static," said Steve, a senior at Webster Groves High School who has been dating a black girl for the last two years.

"They said the whole thing was stupid and my reputation in school would be ruined if I continued to date Judy. Now it is almost like a fad and those same guys are dating blacks themselves.

"We liked each other as people and that's the way it started. Then we began to realize that we had a lot in common and that we were attracted to each other."

Steve's father, a retired salesman, said that when he went home with a white girl he had been dating on the campus, her father took one look at him and walked out of the room.

"Her mother and I talked for a while and I think she sees me as another individual instead of just a black man," he said.

"My family feels that I should make my own decisions about my life and they will accept any of my friends as long as I am happy."

"I wouldn't let my son into the house with a black girl," said a middle-aged white father. "These kids ought to stick to their own kind. That's the way it is and that's the way it should be. They're just looking for trouble and they're going to get it from both sides—from the whites and from the blacks. They're not wanted by either group."

But Steve said that he and Judy have found that their differences are outweighed by their similarities.

"I can't really say," said Steve. "Judy and I enjoy each other's company. That's what is important now."

Astronaut Broman To Retire

By PAUL RECER
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The astronaut who commanded the first manned-orbiting of the moon plans to retire from the space program and head a foundation that will attack America's problems on earth.

Frank Borman, a 41-year-old Air Force colonel who directed the Apollo 8 flight around the moon on Christmas Eve in 1968, announced Thursday he is resigning from the service and the space agency on July 1. He said he and Dallas millionaire H. Ross Perot are establishing a foundation which will attack pressing national problems.

The astronaut said he would become vice president of Electronic Data Systems, Inc., a computer services company owned by Perot, who tried last Christmas to deliver parcels to war prisoners in North Vietnam.

Borman said he and Perot will establish the American Horizons Foundation.

"It is our hope through the use of mass media, particularly television, to fully inform the American people about our most pressing national problems and opportunities and to get the American people to actively participate in solving these problems," Borman said in a statement released by the space agency.

Borman's resignation from the Air Force will come 20 years after he was graduated from the U.S. Military Academy, took his commission in the Air Force and started an aviation career which led to the moon.

His Apollo 8 crewmates were James A. Lovell Jr. and William A. Anders.

It was the second spaceflight together for Borman and Lovell, who flew Gemini 7 in 1965 on an earth orbital mission. It lasted 14 days, still a record.

Billy Graham Helps Baylor Mark 125th Anniversary

WACO (AP) — The world's champion Baptist preacher Sunday helps the world's largest Baptist university celebrate its 125th anniversary.

Evangelist Billy Graham leads off a week's run of celebrities marking Baylor University's rise from a 24-student, two-room frame house to a 7,000-student, $35 million campus with classrooms and labs as far away as Dallas, San Antonio and Houston.

More than 11,000 persons are expected at the Heart o' Texas Coliseum to hear Graham's 2 p.m. address on "Dimensions of Faith."

Throughout the week, well known figures in education, industry and the arts will join in the observation, and the curtain closer Friday will be Bill Moyers, a University of Texas graduate and former press secretary to President Lyndon Johnson before becoming publisher of Newsday, a daily newspaper on Long Island.

Nationwide television exposure is also set up. The Kurt Kaiser Singers of Baylor taped a program last fall which will be broadcast by NBC Sunday afternoon.

Baylor's 10th president, Abner McCall issued this statement as the celebration neared:

"We believe in the maintenance of the dual systems—public and private—is essential to the continued soundness of higher education in Texas.

"We further believe that the solution of many of the pressing problems of today rest primarily in individual spiritual and moral attitudes and actions.

"Baylor, as a church related university with a program of Christian higher education, hopes to continue to make a contribution in this area."

Baylor became a university before Texas became a state, and is the oldest educational institution in continuous operation in Texas.

The ninth and last Congress of the Republic of Texas granted Baylor a charter Feb. 1, 1845 at Washington-on-the-Brazos.

But the charter had a blank space for the name.

Judge R.E.B. Baylor, one of several Baptists who had lobbied the charter proposal through the Congress, didn't want his name used because he was in politics and feared he would be accused of using the school to further his career.

Several names were suggested and discarded until one of Baylor's friends reached over and immortalized the judge by filling the blank: "Baylor."

Independence, near the Brazos River, was then considered by many the cultural center of the republic. It was chosen for the new university. Now Independence is so obscure it is not on many road maps.

In the early days, a mile-wide no-man's-land separated the male student facilities from those of the co-eds, and you could go to school for as little as $8 a semester tuition. Now it's $30—not per semester but per semester hour.

After 40 years, the school left dwindling Independence and and moved to a 40-acre site near Waco, where it has grown to a 200-acre campus.

Baylor's first president, the Rev. Henry Lee Graves, and its second, the Rev. Rufus C. Burleson, charted a doggedly independent course for the school. To this day, except for grants to individual professors, the university never has accepted a penny directly from the federal government.

The third Baylor president was the Rev. George Washington Baines, whose great grandson would become Bill Moyers' employer and Billy Graham's companion, President Lyndon Baines Johnson.

Others taking part in next week's observances, besides Graham and Moyers, are Dr. Sam Magill of Washington, D.C., president of the Council of Protestant Colleges and Universities; Francis Robinson of New York, assistant manager of the Metropolitan Opera; and William Crook, former ambassador to Australia and now chairman of Translinear, Inc., of Austin.

Congress To Get Proposed 1971 Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Post reported today President Nixon will send to Congress a proposed fiscal 1971 federal budget totaling $200.8 billion.

The Post said the budget recommendations include a $5.8 billion cut in defense spending from the current $79.4 billion and major trimmings in expenditures for space, agriculture and veterans' benefits.

According to the newspaper the budget will have a $1.3 billion surplus the President considers necessary to set the economy back on a steady base.

The current fiscal year expenditures are estimated at $197.8 billion.

The Post said the President's economic message, scheduled for Monday delivery to Congress, will also hint at some relaxation in the administration's tight money policy imposed to fight inflation.

Nixon will cite "economic credibility" as the goal of his budget, the Post article said, and will endorse "a moderate degree of monetary restraint."

The Post quoted Nixon's economic message as saying, "Personal freedom will be increased when there is more economy in government and less government in the economy."

The economic message will cite the need for establishing spending priorities, the Post said, in explaining why some federal programs cannot be given all the money they need, plus the necessity of meeting previously committed spending increases such as Social Security payments.

Suit Filed Against Chemical Plant

HOUSTON (AP)—A Negro employe of a Deer Park chemical plant filed a suit Thursday in federal court, claiming the company discriminates against blacks.

Adolphus Williams of Baytown filed the suit against Diamond Shamrock Chemical Co. Williams, who worked for the company for 17 years, alleged the firm pays white workers more than blacks for the same work.

He also charged that the company requires black workers to attend special training classes on their own time before being considered for promotion but does not require white workers to do so.

Williams asked the federal court to order the company to re-hire him, and to enjoin them from the alleged discriminatory practices.

Company officials confirmed that Williams had been fired but refused to comment on the suit.

U. S. Steel Ups Price

PITTSBURGH (AP) — U.S. Steel Corp., which usually sets industry trends, has followed smaller producers in raising its prices on products used to make containers and goods.

The nation's largest steel producer announced Thursday it was hiking prices from $4 to $6 a ton on hot rolled, cold rolled and coated sheets effective Feb. 1.

The products are used in the manufacture of autos, appliances and machinery. They make up about 36 per cent of total industry shipments.

The upward trend in steel costs began last week when Armco Steel Corp, the fifth-largest steelmaker, announced a price increase. Armco was promptly followed by the No. 2 producer, Bethlehem Steel Corp. Jones & Laughlin and Republic Steel Corp. also raised prices.

U.S. Steel and other producers also have announced hikes averaging 5 per cent on carbon steel plates and structural shapes. These products, used in the construction industry, average about 15 per cent of industry shipments.

Three days ago U.S. Steel reported a decrease in net income from $253.7 million in 1968 to $217.1 million last year.

In Detroit General Motors Corp., believed to buy between one-fourth and one-third of its steel from U.S. Steel, announced Thursday a drop in net income of $21 million from 1968 to 1969.

Houston To Vote On Bond Issue

Included in a $9.5 million proposal for a new central library.

Fire and police department proposals totaling $15.5 million include $10 million for a new communications system and $3 million for a municipal courts buildings.

Major proposals are $35 million for streets and bridges, $28 million for sanitary sewers and $9 million for storm sewers.

PENETRATION

Drive the nail into the board... that is penetration! You may be sure it won't enter of its own accord. It must be driven with sufficient, well-concentrated, properly directed energy. It takes a real artisan to wield a hammer like that. It takes a genuine God to penetrate some of our lives the way He does, too. Jesus "hit the nail on the head" when he said, "There is a way that seemeth right to a man, but the end thereof is the way of death." The Great Carpenter teaches us the fine art of living... how to flex the wrist to give the proper blow... to hold the tongue and protect a good name... to give a faithful witness and save a soul... to lose yourself in a cause infinitely bigger than yourself. Go to church Sunday and drive that nail straight and true. That's penetration!
