If the price of choice steers had gone up as fast since 1950 as the price of a first-class postage stamp, steers would be bringing $77 per hundred. If beef prices had increased as much as medical care, steers would be selling for $72.34. If the rise had been as fast as hourly pay, the figure would be $80.60.

Compared to the cost of having a baby, steers would be bringing $119.13. Compared to the daily cost of hospital service, steers would bring $179.69.

And if that is not sufficient to curl your lasso, the live cattle price in Europe at the beginning of 1973 averaged $56 per hundred.

Competition for depositors has always been hotter among city savings institutions than in the suburbs and small towns, because the big money markets are in the cities. With interest rates long ago having reached the legal ceilings, a favorite gimmick for luring new accounts is to shorten the traditional quarterly interval for compounding interest.

That was gradually worked down to daily compounding. That sounded like the ultimate, but thanks to computers, it wasn't. Recently, some New York banks began to offer "continuous" compounding which meant interest is figured to the second. The banks didn't say just how much this amounted to - and no wonder, because for the average depositor, the difference in compounding intervals will amount to, at most, pennies a year.

Specifically, $1,000 left on deposit for 1 year at a nominal annual rate of 5 percent yields the following year-end balances at various compounding intervals:

Quarterly	$1,051.67
Monthly	1,051.89
Daily	1,052.00
Continuous	1,052.00

Pretty clearly, the interest gained by moving a savings account from small town to city is hardly worth the postage.

Max Lerner, in his book "America As A Civilization," wasn't quite sure where to draw the line between the small town and the city. But he made this memorable observation: "One might say that a small town ceases to be one as soon as someone who has lived in it a number of years finds unfamiliar faces as he walks down the street and is not moved to discover who they are and how they got there."

That's a good way to suggest what a small town is not. An old story that used to make the rounds made unquestionably clear what a small town is.

A merchant who ordered some merchandise through a traveling salesman felt he was gyped when the goods arrived in Centerville. So he sent the stuff back to the wholesaler house. The wholesaler insisted on payment and drew a sight draft on the merchant at the local bank. When the bank refused to honor the draft, the wholesaler wrote the postmaster asking if the merchant's financial standing was sound. Informed by the PM that it was, the wholesaler sent the account to the town's leading lawyer for collection.

If that city wholesaler hadn't previously known what a small town is, the lawyer's reply straightened him out.

The reply went something like this:

"As your lawyer, I should tell you I'm the merchant you tried to cheat. I also happen to be president of our only local bank. As for the postmaster, I'm it. Now if I weren't also the preacher at the local church, I'd tell you where to go."

Candidates Answer

In order to give the voters a closer view of candidates running for office in the local elections April 7, questions will be asked each week pertaining to certain issues or opinions of these men. Questions that the voters would like to have answered should be called into the newspaper or mailed in. Then the questions will be put to the candidates for their answers.

This week's questions were: "If elected to office, are you willing to represent the majority of the people? After all, we are the ones that put you into office."

"With the emphasis seeming to be on cleaning up our town, what are your thoughts along this line? Are you willing to enforce our ordinances against such things as junk cars, discarded appliances, unkept vacant lots and deserted houses to mention a few?"

Answers to question number one were as follows:

RAYMOND POWERS -- "Yes, if the majority will let me know how they feel."

WANDIE HUTSON -- "Definitely! There will be no special interest groups for me."

K. V. GIVENS -- "Yes."

WALTER STRUVE -- "Why sure. All they have to do is come and tell us. That's the big problem, getting people to tell us what they think."

V. L. SMITH SR. -- "Yes, ma'am."

CHARLES SULLIVAN -- "Yes, I'd be willing to represent the majority."

PARLEY MYERS -- "I feel like we are. And we will continue to try to represent the majority, if re-elected."

LARRY GARVIN -- (out of town at the time of questioning).

DON MULLER -- "I would go along with majority if I felt that what they wanted was of sound nature and not detrimental to the school system. However, if I felt that they did not have the best interest of the school in mind, then I'd have to vote my own convictions."

DR. VAN BRIMHALL -- "I would have to analyze all the facts of a given situation, talk with the people to find out how they felt about the situation, and try to make the best decision for the betterment of the community."

BILLY CARSON -- "Yes, the school board members are representatives of the people. It's the responsibility of the citizens, however, to elect representatives who will truly represent their views."

FLOYD PRENTICE -- "You bet! I'll go along with the majority if it is the best thing for the school."

Answering the second question, comments were:

POWERS -- "Yes, I'm all for that. I don't think they should be biased. What's right for one should be right for another, regardless of their position in the community."

HUTSON -- "Oh, yes, I'm really for that. I believe I had that in my statement last week."

GIVENS -- "That is in the hands of the police department. Our ordinances are only good if they are enforced."

STRUVE -- "We've been trying. I am certainly for it. Some of the things we are not able to do because of the law. These ordinances do not pertain to private property. Sometimes the best way to get a neighbor to clean up is by example."

SMITH -- "I'm for that 100 per cent. I think they should be enforced."

SULLIVAN -- "I will try to uphold this to the best of my ability."

GARVIN -- Out of town.

MYERS -- "I intend to enforce these ordinances much stronger than in the past. I will enforce them to the best of my ability as far as the law will permit."

Thailand Mission Succeeding

When the Bob Brandon family traveled to far-off Thailand in the late summer of 1970, they had a number of far-reaching goals. Back in the States now, they've seen some of those goals achieved. Others, they realize, have hardly begun to be fulfilled.

Bob and Pat Brandon and their children, Chris, eight; Tim, 18 months and Shelly, six months, arrived in Thailand in August, 1970 to begin work with the Bangkok Church of Christ School.

Began in 1958, the school's purpose was to teach Thai to teach themselves, to establish a two-year school of preaching, to establish a mobile teaching-training program for villages, to expand a correspondence course program and to concentrate work with approximately 50,000 American servicemen stationed in Thailand.

Visiting in Olton this week, Brandon spoke Sunday to the congregation of the Main Street Church of Christ whose members contributed $350 per month for the work of the Brandons in Thailand. Accompanying Brandon on his reporting visits to congregations which helped with their support, are Pat, Tim, Shelly and Susan, their "own little Thai," nine-months-old, Chris is in Michigan with his grandparents, attending school.

"Could you tell the people of Olton how much we appreciate them?" Brandon asked in an interview Tuesday. "Everyone here is so nice - so courteous and friendly. We appreciate them so very much," he said.

Brandon reports the school is making good progress. He has seen five men graduate from the school with seven more ready for graduation. An additional seven will graduate in about 15 months.

One of the most promising graduates, Brandon says, was an elderly Chinese man, "Brother Woo," who spent hundreds of hours memorizing scripture, eagerly learning the Bible.

"Brother Woo" found writing English extremely difficult. Brandon found the solution to that problem by letting his dedicated student orally translate his Chinese lettered answers.

Students in the school, representative of their people, have high respect for teachers, Brandon said, and insisted on "Y-ing" their respect - a nod of the head with hands clasped palm-to-palm at face level. Brandon's answering gesture called for the "y" to be made at chest-level, indicating that he acknowledged they considered themselves "lower" than their teacher.

When the Brandons arrived in Thailand, they found the school had no place to keep students. Students who earned only $15 to $20 a month came but weren't able to stay. Some remained and slept on the stairway, tables, aisles, wherever they could find space.

A mass meeting was planned with Thai from all surrounding villages. A small, four-story building was proposed and $18,000 - the amount it was expected to cost - was raised. Some three to four hundred persons attended and most of the financing of the building which turned out to cost $30,000 was raised by Thai people.

Thousands of people in Thailand still worship Buddha, Brandon said. Very little converting is done by the missionaries at the school, whose principal job is to teach the Thai people to be preachers and to win their own people. Some seven or eight hundred have been converted, almost entirely, by the students of the school. The goal unachieved by Brandon in Thailand, was his work with the military bases. One Sunday each month, Brandon spoke at U-Tapao Air Base, a large base where the big B-52 bombers are stationed.

There is tremendous need, Brandon says, among the military stationed there for encouragement from home. "They need love - people to care!" "Christmas boxes are appreciated," he said, "but their biggest need is to know that people care."

"They can buy anything at the PX except good spiritual literature. Christmas boxes include everything but what they need."

Thousands of the servicemen never go to church, he said. "And they don't want to be contacted by a gospel preacher - they need a congregation in America that cares about them."

Pat explained that visits she made with Bob to the military bases (and there are others than U-Tapao), servicemen would be "starved" for a visit with "someone from home" and many were thrilled to get the opportunity to visit with the small Brandons - including wee Susan.

The Brandon children learned enough Thai language to converse. They also adopted many Thai customs.

All the Brandons had to become re-adjusted to wearing shoes indoors. In Thailand, shoes are removed immediately upon entering a home.

"First thing when guests come," Brandon says, "they remove their shoes, you offer them a wet cloth to wipe their hands and face (since it's so hot outside) and give them a drink of cold water or tea." Then, he says, you sit down and everyone puts his feet up and relaxes.

Speaking further of the informality of the land, Brandon said he never wore his suit but one time after arriving in Thailand,

"If anyone goes hungry in Thailand, it's his own fault," Brandon says. Vegetables and fruits are abundant. Some 30 varieties of fruit grow the year round and fruit and vegetables are very cheap.

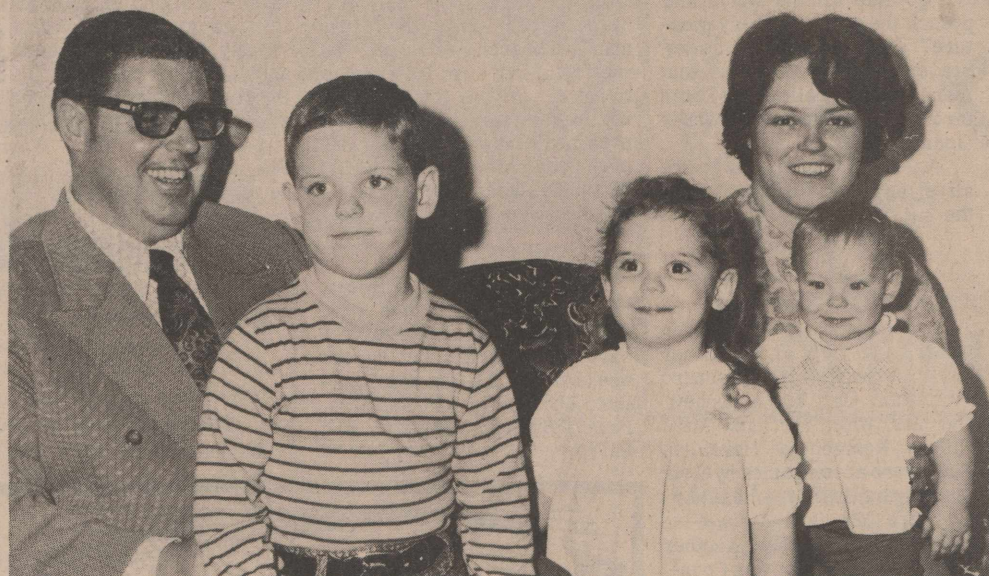

Some Thai dishes became favorites of the Brandons. They especially enjoy fried bananas. Sliced and dipped in batter, the bananas are deepfried, "Really delicious," the banana slices are crunchy with soft centers, the Brandons say.

Another favorite, is "kaw-pot" - a dish made of finely ground hamburger and rice. Rice is truly a staple product, the Brandons said.

"We bought 200 pounds of rice every two months." That was for us, the girl who helped with work about the house and the dogs," Brandon said.

Canned products were "terribly" expensive, Brandon said. "I've tried to break myself of

Main Street Church Of Christ Meeting To Get Under Way

"The Main Street Church of Christ is extending a personal invitation to each member of the Olton community to attend their spring gospel meeting," stated Milton Caraway, minister. They have secured the services of a very capable man, Gene Polvado, minister of the 9th and Columbia Church of Christ in Plainview. He has effectively served in this capacity for a number of years, receiving his education at Abilene Christian College and the University of Houston."

He began preaching part-time while he was employed as a sales representative with a large industrial firm in the Houston area. In 1961 Polvado began full-time preaching with a congregation of the Church of Christ in Corpus Christi.

Married and father of four children, he has lived in West Texas long enough to be conversant with the people and problems of the area.

The meeting will begin Sunday, March 25, with lessons at 10:40 a. m. and 6 p. m. The Sunday morning lesson is entitled, "Do You Really Love the Lord?" Sunday evening's subject is "What Sin Will Do to You." There will be lessons each night at 7:30 p. m., Monday through Friday, and morning devotionals from 7:30-8:00 a. m.

"You are encouraged to be present for these inspiring messages," stresses Caraway.

'On My Record'

In regard to the mayor's race, I did not intend to make a statement as I feel I will be judged on my past record anyway, but I feel there should be some rumors and facts answered.

The rumor that taxes are going to be raised in the near future is false. There has not been one mention of that by the council at any time. There is no intention of installing water meters in the near future either. Since we are the largest water users per person in the state we could eliminate our water shortage by installing meters and cutting our water usage by three fourths, but I am opposed to meters.

It is a fact that the town is cluttered with junk and trash but we have made some progress, and have plans for more, but the cleanliness of our alleys, streets, and homes, depends a lot on personal pride. It will take all of us, the whole town to clean it up right.

It is a fact that our dirt streets have not been maintained properly in the past, but we are definitely going to do a better job in the future.

It is a fact that we have received $36,000 in revenue sharing, $6,000 is already committed to securing a doctor. Possibly over $4,000 will be needed to keep our ambulance service here. We also have some debts on street equipment that need to be paid off. In truth we can use this money in place of our tax funds thereby leaving us a good surplus for emergencies that do arise often.

We have not ruled out any of the recreation programs that people have asked for. We just haven't had time to work it out.

All the programs that we have been asked to do, those that we need to do, and a new sewer system that the state will force us to put in, within the next few years, will cost over $300,000. This city cannot be bonded for that much even if the citizens voted it--which they won't.

There is considerable interest on four blocks of new paving that we may be able to do out of our present revenue, but no promises.

Like I said, I did not intend to write a statement. As for the leadership part of the council, but you either work in harmony with the five councilmen, or they will send you fishing without any bait. I have always worked with the council. I have had some of the finest to work with. I believe that most all of their decisions have been right. Of course, we don't all agree at all times, but we must have harmony and this certainly is no time to be getting adverse publicity for our city.

I stand behind the heads of each of our city departments 100%, as I believe under the circumstances they have done their best.

Having been your mayor in the past about all I can really say is: I stand on my record and let you be the judge. I run only because I feel a need to repay a country that has been so good to me.

Thank you for your support,
Parley Myers

Come Let Us Reason Together

(Isaiah 1:18)

By Milton Caraway, Evangelist
Main Street Church Of Christ

In our last study together we followed the passages that declare Jesus to have "all authority". Today let us note that the words of Jesus carry the same authority that Jesus himself possesses. That is, Jesus' words were "all authoritative". (cf John 12:48-50) "He that rejecteth me, and receiveth not my words, hath one that judgeth him: the words that I have spoken, the same shall judge him in the last day. For I have not spoken of myself; but the Father which sent me, he gave me a commandment, what I should say, and what I should speak. And I know that his commandment is life everlasting: whatsoever I speak therefore, even as the Father said unto me so I speak."

Often we declare that we would not dare reject Jesus; yet, observe that a rejection of His words is a rejection of Him (John 12:48). We must take heed to the words of Jesus because in John 12 He says that His words shall judge us in the last day. Jesus declares the origin of His message, that it is from God.

In John 17:8 Jesus states that He has given to His apostles His all authoritative word and that they have received it. Jesus repeats the same idea in John 17:14 and then sends the apostles forth into the world with that word (v. 18). Let us draw in at this time some of our previous studies regarding inspiration. Jesus promised the twelve that He would send Holy Spirit after His departure and that the Holy Spirit would bring to their (the apostles) remembrance all that Jesus had said (John 14:26). He would also teach them (John 14:26) and would guide them into "All truth" (John 16:13). Before Jesus' departure from the earth, He charged the apostles to "go into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature" (Mark 16:15). Jesus' prayer to the Father was that men might believe on Him through the apostles' words (John 17:20-21).

As long as the apostles were alive they went forth preaching the all authoritative words of Jesus (1 Corinthians 15:1-4; 1 John 1:1-3). These men also wrote down the all authoritative words of Jesus (II Thessalonians 2:15; 3:6; Ephesians 3:1-4; I Corinthians 14:37). We have today the all authoritative divine revelation of God concerning man--the revelation by which we are to live and the all authoritative word by which we will be judged in the last day.

Read Revelation 20:11-15 concerning the Judgment Day. Note that John here speaks of "the books" that were opened and "another book" which is the book of life (Revelation 20:12). Men will be judged out of the things that are written in the "books" (plural). These "books" refers to the revealed will of God that we hold in our hands (cf John 12:48; 5:22). We have in our hands the "road map" to heaven; and yet, we may refuse to read it! We need to put our faith in the Bible and not in our feelings, opinions, a preacher, a "church", a creed book, our parents, or councils. It is the words of Jesus that will judge us in the last day!

Everything But The Kitchen Sink

BY MOZELLE TROTTER.

There's a popular song, released just a few years back, that goes, "What the world needs now, is love, sweet love." Well, it's true that there is a great need today for love. And there's a need for like and there's a need for care. Webster says some of the meanings of "care" are "to feel interest, concern or solicitude" and "to be concerned about."

Talking with Bob and Pat Brandon this week in order to write the story of their work in Thailand, it is so very apparent they're a couple who care.

They spoke, too, of the intense need of our servicemen stationed in Thailand to have someone to care.

Ones in Thailand, of course, don't hold the monopoly on that need - nor did Pat and Bob imply that. Guilty myself, aren't we prone to care for our own and to give little thought about the hundreds who have no one to care?

Persons don't have to be in the service, either, to want someone to care. Hospitals, nursing homes and children's homes are filled with persons starving for care.

One of the greatest tragedies of the lack of care is represented in the news story of finding the skeletal remains this week of a woman in Houston who had been dead a year and had not been missed! Imagine that in our day!

I would not have you think that I'm proclaiming myself as a paragon of care! I'm guilty of neglect indeed. But I'm going to try to care deeper and care wider. After all, that's what love's really all about.

MRS. GARY KELLEY

Cook Of The Week

"Today's" are well filled for our Cook of the Week, Mrs. Gary Kelley, young housewife, mother and part-time student. Some distant "tomorrow," she hopes, will find her continuing what might be considered a family tradition.

Commuting to Wayland Baptist College each Tuesday and Thursday, Dona would someday like to teach, just as her mother and maternal grandmother, Mrs. Pearl Schreier, Dona's grandmother came to Olton as a young teacher, was married here and has called Olton home since that time. Dona's mother, Mrs. Archie Sorley has taught homemaking at OHS and is presently teaching third grade at H. P. Webb Elementary School.

Dona and Gary are parents of a baby daughter, Jennifer, seven months old. They are members of the First Baptist Church.

Although she grew up on a farm, Dona is just now experiencing the pleasures and trials of raising farm animals and baby chicks. The young Kelleys live in the old farm home of the late Judge E. N. Burrus.

'African Camera Safari' Presented For Local Club

An East African arm-chair-safari was the Monday night privilege of Olton Study Club members and special guests, as they met in Woman's Club House.

Presenting the tour, via film, were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cornelius who spent three weeks in Kenya, Uganda and Tanzania last year, with stopovers in both Italy and Greece enroute.

The Corneliuses flashed brief glimpses of the elegance and antiquity of the Mediteranean world, but the greater portion of their presentation was Africa--it's natural beauty, it's animal kingdom and bird-life.

Shown were tree climbing lions, sun bathing crocodiles, schools of hippopotami, herds of buffalo, waterbucks, gazelles, zebras, elephants, giraffes, leopards, cheetahs, hyenas, varieties of monkeys and other wildlife.

Also caught by the Cornelius camera were acres of flamingoes, and scores of brilliantly feathered birds, ranging from tiny to giant in size.

Of particular interest to viewers was the floor of a huge fertile crater thought by many to be the site of Biblical Eden.

The speakers were introduced by Mrs. Barton Prestridge president of the organization.

Sandwiches, chips, relishes, cake, tea and coffee were served informally.

Pollution Solution?

Mankind's long-held hope for a sure way to get rid of mosquitoes appears about to be fulfilled. An answer has come in the form of a strain of tiny larvae-eating fish. The little creatures are so hardy they can survive air drops to be deposited in otherwise inaccessible places.

In hailing this development as another example of the environmental wonders coming our way, the Olton Garden Club asked us to keep in mind one form of environmental improvement that depends directly on our own individual actions. It is to keep the land free of litter pollution. The answer is simple. Don't litter!

Forecasts are that soon our garden stakes, fences and trellises will come from the sea instead of a forest. Magnesium, the wonder metal derived from salt water, will replace wood as the base material. Thus will open another avenue for conserving forests that are being drained of one third more trees every year than new growth replaces.

The Olton Garden Club suggests a related conservation step all of us can take. It is to stop blighting these natural resources by polluting the land with litter. Do you have a litter-bag in your car? If not, better get one.

TIALAND MISSION

The Brandons describe a visit to the market place as "a real experience." Products are set up in stalls, unwrapped, with millions of flies swarming everywhere. Fish stalls may have fish that have been dead several days. In the midst, there may also be found a stall operated by a Chinese baker with the fragrant aromas of thousands of small filled cakes that sell for perhaps two to two and a half cents each.

Literally hundreds of small cart peddlers can be found in the streets of Bangkok. A good dinner of noodles can be purchased for a dime from peddlers whose small pedaled carts are equipped with their own tiny kitchens.

Street vendors also sell squid. Brandon said the squid would be run through a wringer, similar to that of a washing machine, and then hung from a wire at the top of the cart. A customer selects the squid he wants, the peddler cooks it over a bunsen burner and the fried product is served with a fish sauce whose Thai name translates "dead fish."

Six months of the year, rainfall is heavy. "We had so much last year," said Pat, "that it would seep up from the ground like the tide. Part of the day the drive would be dry and then you'd look out and it would be under water."

The "cool season" is so short that the Brandons found truth to the Thai adage, "by the time you find your winter clothes, it's over."

Two more months of travel are yet in store for the Brandons, as they report to congregations which helped in their work. Already they've registered enough miles on their own, and Bob's father's car, to reach to Thailand.

In the meantime, the Brandons are looking for some place where the children will find a good school. Maybe it'll be in Tennessee or Alabama or it might be Texas. And some day when the children are older and if there's still a need, the Brandons would like to serve in another mission field.

FOOD PRICE CHECK

The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) is proposing a check into food prices to determine the validity of claims such as "lowest prices" and "discount prices." A specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service explains that the proposed plan would involve a survey of all food chains accounting for one percent or more of the total grocery sales in a standard metropolitan statistical area (SMSA).

TIME and TIDE

Curious, isn't it, how people look at life so differently? To some there is an irresistible desire to cope with the tides of life by escaping from dullness to new lands and faces. To others the answer seems to lie in the foaming breakers, with the sinister desire to end existence completely. And yet to others the waves of life speak of plan and order and a sureness and perfection in creation.

And so it is with time! One person begrudges every second as a relentless march toward the end of life. Another sees the sands of time as a slow and painful journey. And to still another, it is the golden passing of each day ordered and well-planned.

What shapes these different viewpoints? The Christian sees, in the certainty of seconds and the regularity of tides, a revelation of the order and beauty that God perfects in His works.

Every man needs God and His Church to give his life its noblest point of view.

Broilers Are Popular... Onion Production Increases... Weather Delays... 34 Counties Still Under Quarantine.

Texas continued its number seven ranking in the nation in broiler production during 1972. In recent weeks, broilers have become more popular than ever and prices to producers and at the retail level have shown dramatic changes.

Prices have increased as much as 10 cents per pound during recent weeks, a situation never before heard of in the broiler industry.

The value of the 1973 broiler segment of the state's agriculture industry should be considerably higher than in 1972.

Average price received by broiler producers in 1972 was only 14.2 cents per pound. Gross income from broiler production during this past year amounted to $93,790,000. This is about $6,000,000 higher than during 1971.

Total production in Texas during 1972 was 187,441,000. This is seven per cent above a year ago, but two per cent below the record of 1970. Weekly placements of broilers during 1972 ranged from a high of about 4,000,000 to a low of 2,000,000.

Although broiler prices to producers have increased substantially, production costs have skyrocketed. Costs of feed have more than doubled in many instances.

Nationwide, broiler production during 1972 in 22 key states which produce 97 per cent of the nation's broilers, showed an increase of five per cent.

Broiler prices to consumers are now at about the levels of 20 years ago. Until recently, the retail price of broilers has been 15 to 20 cents per pound under prices paid by consumer 20 years ago.

The four leading states in broiler production are Arkansas, Georgia, Alabama and North Carolina. The production in Arkansas is about three times that of Texas.

IF YOU like onions, you'll be happy to know that this year's onion crop in the Rio Grande Valley is estimated now to be five per cent above last year's crop. Yield per acre is down this year due to weather conditions.

The South Texas spring onion crop has been delayed two weeks because of weather conditions. In the Lower Rio Grande Valley where the majority of the crop is planted, adverse weather conditions have prevailed since Christmas.

It is anticipated a good crop will be made if weather is warm and sunny from now through April.

WEATHER continues to delay other crop production too. Cantaloupes will be a month later than normal in South Texas; the same is true for watermelons. Citrus harvest, which usually is concluded in South Texas in April, is expected to continue into June.

A TOTAL of 34 Texas counties continue under quarantine for cattle scabies. They are Armstrong, Bailey, Briscoe, Carson, Castro, Childress, Collingsworth, Cottle, Dallam, Deaf Smith, Donley, Floyd, Foard, Gray, Hale, Hall, Hansford, Hardeman, Hartley, Hemphill, Hutchinson, Lamb, Lipscomb, Moore, Motley, Ochiltree, Oldham, Parmer, Potter, Randall, Roberts, Sherman, Swisher and Wheeler.

Quarantines for scabies from five southwestern Oklahoma counties was lifted recently. Nationwide, there have been 135 cattle scabies outbreaks in the past 16 months.

The wholesomeness of meat is not affected by the scabies. A total of 45 counties are under quarantine throughout the nation.

Olton Fillies Finish Second In Springlake Track Meet

After having their first outing at Springlake rained out, OHS Fillies had a very successful outing in their very first track meet ever at Farwell.

Even though the Fillies did not win the meet, the Fillies scored a whopping 86 points to finish second to Amherst's 98 points. There were 20 teams in the meet.

No team had more than two first places, but Olton was one that did. The Fillies two firsts were in the 880 Relay, composed of Marla Faver, Donna Hodges, Holly Daughtrey, and Melanie Cowart, and Donna Hodges in the triple jump.

The Fillies fell behind early, as they could score only 14 points in field events to find themselves in fourth place. After a second place finish in the sprint relay behind Amherst, the Fillies trailed Amherst 50-30.

RECENT VISIT

Mr. and Mrs. Shorty Smith were at Stovall Wells last week. There they joined their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Waymon Smith, Ty and Cory of Scurry.

STUDENT AT HOME

Rita Graham who is attending Nazarene College in Bethany, Okla. spent last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Graham and their children, Jimmie, Debra, Diana and Steve.

Then the Fillies started chipping away. Kim Barnett got a 4th and Kay Givens a 6th in the 440 dash. Melanie Cowart finished 2nd in the 220 to cut the margin to 50-43. But Amherst picked up 12 points with 3rd places in the 60 yd dash and 80 yd hurdles while Olton could score only 5 points with Marla Faver's 4th in the 60 and Cindy Moore's 6th in the hurdles to leave Amherst ahead 62-48.

Then came moments of glory. After running a swift 1:52.5 880 relay time in the prelims, the Fillies coasted in with a 1:54.0 in the finals to win easily with a 10-12 yard margin. Combined with Amherst 4th place finish, this cut the margin to 70-68. Carla Clark got an unanswered 4th in the 880 run to send the Fillies temporarily out from 72-70.

Debra Graham got a 3rd in the 100, but Amherst came in 2nd and 4th to regain the lead for good, 82-78. In the finals, the mile relay, Amherst came in 2nd, Olton 4th for the final 98-86 margin.

This Saturday, the Fillies travel to Panhandle to one of the biggest and best track meets in the state. The varsity has been split with Freshman running separately for the only time this year.

The following week, Mar. 31, will be the big Fillie Invitational Meet in Olton. Anyone who would like to help in the track meet, call Mickey Rundell at the school or at home, 285-2449.

HOW? THROUGH STANDABILITY & YIELDS!

ARDIS BARTON
Earth, Texas

"McNair 654 and 650 will both have a place in our farming plans in '73! I've planted 654 for two years with good results and I tried 650 for the first time last year. It stood well even after a severe ice storm."

GENE STEELING
Farwell, Texas

"McNair 654 Maize is hard to beat! This is the best I have ever had. It made about 10,500 lbs./acre for me in 1972!"

FLOYD BANISTER
Alton, Texas

"McNair's 895 and 654 hybrids performed well for me in '72 in both yields and standability. These two hybrids are outstanding enough for me to recommend them to my neighbors."

GENE TEMPLETON
Muleshoe, Texas

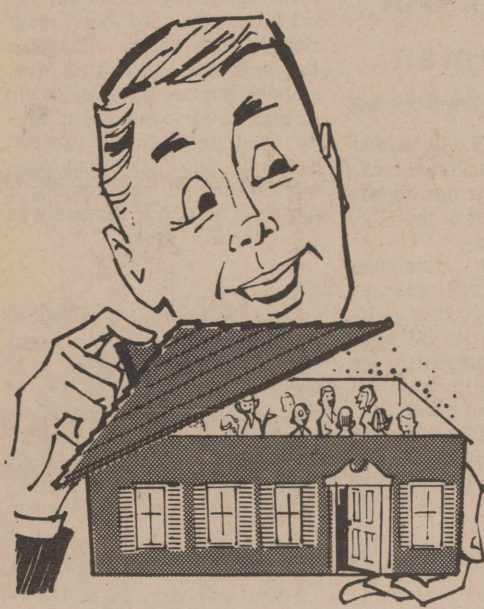

"After planting 700 acres of McNair 654 in '72, I plan to plant it again in '73—along with McNair 650. This last hybrid looked mighty good in my neighbor's fields last summer."

MAIN STREET CHURCH OF CHRIST

Thick As A Brick

By Max Moss

Well, Quilla Edwards and Carla Loyd have just informed me of what's been happening this week. There's been a Band Contest, Choir contest, Golf Tournament and the three track meets. The debaters beat Spearman and Panhandle and Robin Criswell made the semifinals in prose.

Well, Carl Bley, I hope you enjoyed that news. In other words nothing has happened here.

In the student council elections, here's who got the offices: President - Vic Allcorn, Vice-President - Donna Muller, Secretary - Jimmie Graham, Treasurer - Monte Chirwood, Reporter - Kathy Ahrens, and Parliamentarian - Freddy Stockdale. I guess that OHS will survive another year.

COMMENTS:

Keith: There's a rumor going around in the girls' dressing room about you. It's not bad, but just to make you suspicious we won't tell you what it is.

Barbara D: Beware of Man-eating clams!

Cindy N.: Anzi!!

Chesna: Get well soon.

Sharon Q.: My aren't we getting high classed?

David, Shane, Greg, Sammy, Paul, Robin: At least they weren't "cheap thrills" not at 79¢ a dozen.

Sylvia and Patsy: Girls your age shouldn't be fighting in class!

Mike Allen: What is so interesting in your trunk?

Jan: What kind of people did you find at the Hayloft?

Band: You sure looked cute in your bow ties.

Tim: We always knew you had a secret but who would have guessed it was that you should have been born a woman? Not really, but you have a great pair of legs in hose and heels!

DEDICATION OF SONGS:

Vic - Hall to the Chief
Mrs. Lacy - Funny Face
Mitzi - Wedding Bell Blues
John G. - You've Got To Change Your Evil Ways.

The highest motive is to be like water. Water is essential to all living things, yet it demands no pay or recognition. Rather it flows humbly to the lowest level. Nothing is weaker than water; yet for overcoming what is hard and strong nothing surpasses it.

If at first you don't succeed - try hard to hide your astonishment.

The man of few words doesn't have to take back so many.

I have decided to reveal the ghost writer in the next issue, so be sure to be tuned in next week. Until then
