The Office of Information at Webb Air Force Base has advised that it is currently maintaining a list of 13 active speakers in the base Speakers Bureau, and these people are available to appear on programs for clubs and organizations in the area.

The service is free and may be arranged by contacting the Webb AFB Information Office. However, requests should be submitted at least two weeks prior to the dates of appearance.

You can arrange for speakers on such subjects as Thailand, Greece, Japan, Okinawa, the people of Southeast Asia, Counterinsurgency, Child's Sex Education, Hypnosis, Safety in the Home and on the Job, and others relating to the U. S. Air Force in Vietnam. They would like to know in advance the name of the organization, when and where the meeting will be held, how many people are likely to attend and the name and telephone number of a person who could be contacted for more information.

Program chairmen who are struggling for summer attractions to appear before their clubs should be interested in this service.

Why all the interest in old school buses?

That question arose the other day when local school trustees were asked to authorize open bidding for five buses which had already been traded in on new ones. The demand for the old buses was such that the company which sold new buses to the school district agreed to let the old buses go, provided there are bids above their trade-in price. Even so, the company itself was reluctant to let the old buses go.

The interest in such vehicles has increased because of widespread use of buses by churches and because old school buses are ideal for conversion into campers, says Doug Flynn, school business manager. Flynn said one church wanted to buy all five of the old buses, one of which is 13 years old. The "youngest" of the lot is some eight years old.

Today In History

Today is Wednesday, April 30, the 120th day of 1969. There are 245 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1789, George Washington was sworn in, in New York City, as the first American president.

On this date: In 1803, the United States more than doubled its size as it made the Louisiana Purchase from France — at a cost of about $15 million.

In 1812, the State of Louisiana was admitted into the Union.

In 1945, during World War II, the Soviet flag was raised over the ruins of the Reichstag in Berlin, and Adolf Hitler killed himself in an underground bunker.

In 1963, New Hampshire became the first state since 1894 to authorize a state-run lottery.

Ten years ago: A committee of the Organization of American States was investigating an invasion of Panama.

Five years ago: A U.N. peace keeping force on Cyprus disarmed a band of Greek Cypriot irregulars.

One year ago: It was disclosed that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower had suffered his third heart attack in 13 years.

Nixon Would Revise Federal Aid Programs

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon asked Congress today for broad authority to consolidate related federal aid programs, saying they are so numerous and overlapping they threaten "government paralysis."

The presidential request was expected to generate controversy because it would give the chief executive power to alter, within limits, some provisions of existing grant programs that have been fixed by Congress.

Nixon proposed to place the consolidated programs under the jurisdiction of a single agency. Related programs now are spread among various government offices.

The presidential plan, closely patterned after his existing authority to reorganize the executive branch, would give either house of Congress 60 days in which to veto any proposed consolidation.

"It is an almost universal complaint of local government officials," he said, "that the web of programs has grown so tangled that it often becomes impermeable. However laudable each may be individually, the total effect can be one of government paralysis."

"If these programs are to achieve their intended purposes, we must find new ways of cutting through the tangle," he added.

States, cities, and other recipients of federal grants "find themselves increasingly faced with a welter of overlapping programs, often involving multiple agencies and diverse criteria," he said.

He pictured the results as leading to confusion, waste of time, energy and resources and frequent frustration of the intent of Congress.

Phillip S. Hughes, deputy budget director, told newsmen soundings in Congress on the plan have been "generally favorable."

The proposal seems certain to generate some controversy, however, since grants earmarked by Congress for very specific purposes would, under consolidation, be broadened. The effect would be to give state and local authorities greater discretion over distributing the money.

Nixon said that under his proposal, "Formulas, interest rates, eligibility requirements, administrative procedures and other terms and conditions of the various programs being consolidated would have to be brought into harmony."

Nixon also launched a program today to help enlist millions of Americans in volunteer community efforts to help deal with urban and poverty problems.

"People can reach where government cannot, people can do what government cannot," Nixon said in a statement calling on Americans to join in common enterprises to help one another.

Nixon plans to pump $1 million into an effort to enlist volunteers across America. He said he will set up a Cabinet Committee on Voluntary Action, with Secretary George Romney of the Department of Housing and Urban Development as its chairman, and establish a clearing house for information on where volunteers and voluntary programs are most needed.

The President said that millions of Americans have asked how and what they can do to help and the chief aim of this new effort will be to give them some answers.

"One of the chief aims of this administration is to help to match up the willing hands with the tasks that need doing," Nixon said.

He emphasized that America "needs the enlistment of the energies and resources of its people—not as substitutes for government action, but as supplements to it."

Nixon said: "America needs the hearts and hands of its people, joined in those common enterprises, small as well as large, that are the mark of caring and the cement of the community."

Max M. Fisher, a Detroit businessman active in volunteer efforts, was named to serve as special presidential consultant on voluntary action, to work with Romney and the committee.

Peace Talks Still Stalled

By RODNEY ANGOVE
Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) — The Vietnam peace talks continued in another fruitless session today. North Vietnam and the Viet Cong hammered again at the Nixon administration and stood firm on their demands for U.S. troops withdrawals.

The United States replied by charging the other side with impeding peace efforts by failure to talk in terms of reciprocity.

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, chief U.S. representative, told the 15th full-scale session that he had searched the record of the meetings and "what we have found is not encouraging."

"To avoid discussion of specific issues and mutual action," he said, "to present unreasonable unilateral demands, to refuse to talk in terms of reciprocity—these are not indications of a serious desire to negotiate."

North Vietnam's Xuan Thuy called the U.S. proposal for mutual withdrawal of troops absurd. He accused President Nixon of acting contrary to his pre-election promises to bring peace to Vietnam. He said "the Vietnamese people are determined to fight until they achieve complete victory."

Tran Buu Kiem, representative of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front, repeated his position that the United States must withdraw its troops without condition. On the basis of this position, he said his delegation is ready to engage in discussions to forward the peace talks.

He indicated that, as far as the political problem was concerned, the solution lay through the creation of a peace cabinet whose aim would be to bring an independent and neutral South Vietnam.

He called the South Vietnamese constitution a scrap of paper and said it not only outlaws communism but also those advocating neutrality—which he asserted constituted an overwhelming majority of the South Vietnamese.

Stab Wounds Fatal In Boys School

GATESVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A youth died of stab wounds Tuesday at the Mountain View State School for boys.

Assistant Supt. Mack Morris said the victim was Freddie Turner, 15, originally from Roswell, N.M., but sent to the school from McLennan County (Waco).

Morris said the matter was turned over to the district attorney and an inmate of the school was taken to the Coryell County Jail.

High Talker Leads Group

HONOLULU (AP) — A "high-talking" chief is leading 19 other American Samoan legislators on a visit here to study Hawaii government.

He is Tamotu Mulitauaopele —Pele, for short—who proudly displays the status symbols of both the old Samoan and new American cultures.

Pele strolls down the hall of the new state capitol wearing a tapa, or bark cloth, wrap-around skirt and carries a stick for swatting flies. These trappings are characteristic of his high station in American Samoa.

He also chomps on a thick American cigar, as befitting a "high talker" in the United States.

Pele is one of the highest ranking "high talking" chiefs, or district leaders to make the visit to Hawaii.

2 Markers Are Dedicated

"We are proud to be one of only about 15 registered cotton breeders in the state," said Bentley Baize, manager of the Von Roeder cotton breeding farms west of town.

He was master of ceremonies at dedication ceremonies for a historical marker in commemoration of the breeding farms, held at the plant site this morning.

Clemens Von Roeder and his wife were special guests for the occasion. He founded the business, beginning experiments in the use of cotton mutations after he moved to Scurry County from Austin County in 1907. In 1923, he began producing a long staple, boll cotton and later added strains to resist hail, windstorm and rust.

The ceremonies were organized by the Scurry County Historical Survey Committee. Its chairman, Hugh Boren, Jr., discussed the work being done in the "Ramps" program, and the historical marker was unveiled by Earl Sneed, commissioner of Precinct 2.

The dedication of a marker for Deep Creek also was held at the ceremony for the cotton breeding farms. Mrs. Wayne Boren, secretary of the survey committee, told those present that the creek originally was called Culver's Creek, but the name was changed when early buffalo hunters began referring to it as Deep Creek. The Creek played a central role in early town life as a site for picnics, horse races and Baptisms. Boren said he was baptized in the creek.

Employes of Von Roeder Cotton Breeding Farms were introduced along with several members of the family.

Clemens' brother, Nolan, joined him in the operation of the seed farms in 1934. Baize, became connected with the firm in 1940, and Nolan's son, Max, became active in the business in 1957.

Von Roeder - marked seeds are Texas Mammoth and Western Prolific for hand - picking, and Western Stormproof for modern mechanical harvesting.

Some 50 persons were present for the occasion.

Parents To Plan Senior Day Events

A meeting of parents of Snyder High School seniors has been set for 6:30 p.m. Thursday in Room 210 at the high school.

Purpose of the session is to plan activities for Senior Day, which is scheduled for May 16. All parents of seniors have been urged to make a special effort to attend the meeting.

City Hall Has No Oil Well

LOS ANGELES (AP) — After six weeks of oil drilling under City Hall, an official says it appears Signal Oil & Gas Co. hit it dry.

There was no comment from company officials as a wildcat oil rig was dismantled Tuesday in the Civic Center.

The derrick, drilling platform and equipment were set up March 17, and exploratory slant drilling was conducted under subsurface leases.

Arthur Spauling, city petroleum administrator, said he understood no oil or gas of commercial significance was found.

Smith Names Conn To New Position

AUSTIN (AP) —Gov. Preston Smith Tuesday named Jerry Conn, his assistant press secretary, director of public information for the Governor's Criminal Justice Council.

The governor also officially appointed Conn coordinator of youth affairs, a job he has held since Smith took office.

In his new position, Conn will be in charge of releasing information concerning activities of the Criminal Justice Council formed in late 1968 to implement the federal omnibus crime and safe streets acts.

COMMANDO UNITS STRIKE

Middle East Tension Grows

By RODNEY PINDER
Associated Press Writer

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli commando units struck 120 miles inside southern Egypt Tuesday night, blasting a dam across the Nile, a bridge and electric lines supplying Cairo, the Israeli army announced.

An Egyptian communique disputed the Israelis, claiming there was "absolutely no damage." There was no evidence of a power shortage in Cairo.

The Israelis also announced that a heavy artillery battle erupted during the night along the entire length of the Suez Canal. A spokesman said the Egyptians started the shooting.

The raid into Upper Egypt was in retaliation for recent Egyptian artillery and commando attacks on Israeli forces occupying the east bank of the Suez Canal. It was almost an exact copy of the first commando penetration into Egypt six months ago and struck at two main areas of the Upper Nile, north of the Aswan High Dam.

Presumably helicopters flew the commandos across the Gulf of Suez or the Red Sea to the targets and brought them back, but the army did not say. It gave this report on the results of the raid:

Two high tension cables, 100 yards apart and carrying 500 kilovolts of power to Cairo, were cut. The lines were 300 miles south of Cairo at Isna and Naj Hamadi. Four transformer stations 19 miles to the north were hit in the earlier attack.

The Naj Hamadi dam—also hit last year—was attacked and "heavily damaged." The dam stretches 800 yards across the Nile and is 20 yards wide, the statement said. A shipping lock in the same area was damaged.

Seventy miles north of the dam, commandos blasted the Idfu bridge and again caused heavy damage. The bridge is an important junction for the highway from the Red Sea south along the west bank of the Nile.

Cong Offensive In A Stalemate?

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. field officers said today the Viet Cong's spring offensive is in a stalemate. For the first time in 10 weeks no significant enemy shelling was reported overnight, but allied forces reported killing more than 200 enemy in half a dozen clashes.

U.S. spokesmen said most of the fighting was initiated by sweeping U.S. and South Vietnamese forces. But they refused to write an end to the offensive the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese launched Feb. 23.

"We're not going to make any announcement on the end of the enemy offensive," one American said. "That's up to the enemy."

"We feel like they're just holding up for some reason, probably awaiting further instructions," said one field officer. "There is not enough information to tell us one way or another. The prisoners we take are usually privates who do not know the over-all plans."

Allied forces reported four Americans and 15 South Vietnamese troops killed in the ground fighting, along with 30 Americans and 46 South Vietnamese wounded. U.S. forces also lost an armored personnel carrier, and two others were damaged.

The heaviest fighting was reported north of Saigon near the Cambodian border and along the eastern flank of the Demilitarized Zone, where the North Vietnamese are nearest their supply lines.

DEAR ABBY: My mother is a widow in her early seventies who has been "dying" for the past 25 years. She keeps praying to die, and says she "knows" she will not live much longer. The doctors tell me there is nothing wrong with her.

It is very depressing to be around her. I want to be a loyal daughter, but I am so tired of hearing her say that she is praying to die, when there are so many people who are praying to stay alive.

The biggest problem is that she demands so much of my time. I am married and have my own family, Abby, and I just can't run over there and spend every day with her. I feel a responsibility to my mother, but she makes me feel guilty if I don't see her every single day. I have three brothers and two sisters. Have you any suggestions?

TIED TO MOM

DEAR TIED: If you've heard her "praying to die" story for 25 years, you should be used to it by now. You should also realize that she probably doesn't mean it, and she could be a little sick. Handle her as you would a demanding child. Be compassionate and patient, but firm. Give her what time you can, and don't feel guilty about the rest. Your problem is not your mother. It's your inability to accept a situation which you can't change.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Why do parents teach their children that we are all "brothers," and therefore should not judge another by his race, color, or the church he goes to. But when their own son or daughter gets serious with someone of another race, religion or color, they wring their hands and say, "You are breaking our hearts." Why?

MADISON, WIS.

DEAR MADISON: Good question. All parents want their children to have the greatest possible happiness in life. Marriage, at its best, has many problems, but a "mixed" marriage poses even more. This is not to say that all such marriages are doomed to fail. But in a mixed marriage, the percentages are always against the house divided.

DEAR ABBY: "FED UP IN BARTLESVILLE" objected to the hostess whose kids have to be the center of attraction while an adult party is going on. How about guests who are called upon to entertain the DOG?

Regardless of who is visiting, this mutt lays a rubber ball at the guest's feet, and barks until the guest throws the ball to be retrieved. This of course stops any meaningful adult conversation.

Should the guest be so rude as to ignore the dog, the hostess then proceeds to throw the ball to the far end of the large den to be retrieved over and over again, thus demonstrating to the guest his ill manners in not letting the mutt show off and be the center of attention.

Speed-Read Course Due Here Soon

Speed reading is the aim of a series of classes to be presented here by the Accelerated Education Schools of Dallas.

The nine-weeks course, to be conducted soon in Snyder, will provide an avenue for citizens bogged down in the current flood of publications to read and absorb a far greater percentage of written material than would be possible under the accepted one line, one stop and start again method.

Students are accepted in the program following personal interviews and a brief test designed to present reading rates.

An integral part of the course features instruction on approaching a reading assignment to get the most out of it in the shortest time. The student's aim is to learn to pace himself by analyzing the assignment, by asking himself pertinent questions to be answered from his reading.

Not all enrollees are avid readers and top students. Almost half admit they have never enjoyed reading and take the course to master the art of getting over in a hurry.

Pickup Truck Is Stolen From Firm

Thieves stole a red and white 1962 Model Chevrolet pickup from Spikes Fertilizer Company on the Old Lubbock Highway last night.

The vehicle was parked at the firm with the key in the ignition. The thieves also forced entry into the building and stole 17 containers of chemicals.

The total loss, including the pickup, was placed at $2,000.

The pickup has license No. 8U566.

OIL ON TROUBLED WATERS

Offshore Potential Richest

by MAX B. SKELTON
AP Oil Writer

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — "To pour oil on troubled waters originally meant to calm the water. Today, pouring oil on water won't calm anything; it will only cause trouble."

This statement by a special American Petroleum Institute task force recommending cleanup procedures for comparatively minor oil spills took on dramatic meaning recently after disastrous leakages off the coasts of California and Louisiana.

These two events were quite different, but they focused national attention on one of the riskiest and most costly phases of the petroleum industry's search for new reserves to meet the spiraling domestic demand for petroleum products.

In 1967 and 1968 alone, the petroleum industry paid the federal government more than $2 billion just for the right to search for oil in unexplored areas off the continental shelf.

An over-all investment approaching $10 billion since the 1950s has led to domestic offshore production in excess of one million barrels a day. This output is expected to increase 15 per cent annually through 1975.

Why such emphasis on offshore where one wildcat can cost $1 million or more as opposed to $68,000 for the average onshore well? And where there is the risk of a Santa Barbara Channel oil spill of 250,000 gallons, a seepage that continued for 12 days and caused millions of dollars in damage to a 25-mile strip along the resort-oriented California coast?

Repercussions from Santa Barbara to Washington included damage suits, stiffer drilling regulations, and a temporary shutdown of a hot drilling area that had brought the federal government $602 million on bonus lease payments only a year earlier.

"Despite the difficulties of accurate financial predicting, industry continues to go offshore because it must," said Thomas D. Barrow, a geologist and a senior vice president of the Humble Oil & Refining Co.

"This is where the potentially large reserves are to be found," he said.

Most domestic onshore prospects have been pretty thoroughly tested over the past 110 years. A plush production discovery has become a rarity and strikes with the barest of commercial value have become tougher to find.

Total world crude oil proved reserves now approximately 350 billion barrels, but geologists believe that offshore areas alone hold a potential for 700 billion more.

The best offshore prospects are believed to be submerged areas adjacent to plush onshore production. This led the domestic industry frst to the Louistana coast and, later, to the Santa Barbara Channel.

Oilmen say the industry must expect and accept a low rate of return on the expensive offshore demand for petroleum products is expected to jump from 13 million barrels a day to 18 million or 20 million by 1980.

The long-range supply problem of the domestic industry is very simple. The United States holds only 8 per cent of the world's crude oil reserves but accounts for 25 per cent of all crude production and 34 per cent of total petroleum consumption. Petroleum and natural gas now supply about 75 per cent of the nation's energy and the Interior Department itself has estimated that total energy demand will increase 45 per cent by 1980.

"Demand for oil has risen 44 per cent the past 10 years while proved reserves have gone up only 15 per cent," said Michel T. Halbouty, past president of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists.

"This makes the situation quite clear: we are not finding domestic reserves commensurate with the increase in demand."

Barrow said the high bonuses at federal offshore lease sales suggest that many companies see a long-term need to replace dwindling crude reserves even if present conditions indicate low or marginal return on investment.

There also is the tantalizing possibility, he said, of finding an offshore field with 100 million barrels of oil or more.

The Prudhoe Bay area of Alaska's Arctic Slope may prove to be an exception. Atlantic Richfield, in a joint venture with Humble, completed two Prudhoe discovery wells last year and some experts say the area's crude reserves potential may range from 5 to 10 billion barrels.

But, like offshore, exploring for oil on the Arctic Slope is expensive.

Hurricane Hilda in 1964 gave graphic evidence of the risky nature of offshore operations. The storm destroyed 12 large platforms that held 45 producing wells as it churned toward the Louisiana coast. Subsurface tubing valves limited any spill, however, to only seven wells.

"Oil is expensive and we cannot afford to spill it and lose it," Barrow once said.

Some oilmen were a bit irritated because industry spokesmen, at the time of the Santa Barbara spill, did not emphasize the industry's record for preventing major pollution problems.

Among them was Ralph S. O'Connor, president of Highland Resources Inc., a Houston firm with offshore interests.

"They could have pointed out that literally thousands of wells have been drilled offshore without a major pollution problem," O'Connor said.

A&M To Construct Model Of Coast

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) —Texas A&M University will duplicate 80 per cent of the Texas Gulf Coast in a new $2 million coastal engineering laboratory here.

The laboratory will include large models of Galveston, Corpus Christi, Matagorda, San Antonio, Aransas and Baffin Bays, Sabine Lake and Laguna Madre.

Dr. John B. Herbich, head of Texas A&M's Coastal and Ocean Engineering Division, said the models will be used to study coastal problems.

It's Ham And Yams Together

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

There are too many mish-mash recipes in the world. Ingredients thrown together without much rhyme or reason. This probably happens because cooks try too hard — they yearn to come up with something original and different.

But once in a while we come upon a new-to-us combination that has just the right ingredients. That's what happened recently when this recipe for Stuffed Yams came into our test kitchen. The stuffing calls for figs and sherry, and the seasonings are just right. Served with ham, the yams make a fine main course offering. A green vegetable or a salad, or both, will complement the meat and potatoes.

STUFFED YAMS

6 medium yams (about 2¼ lbs.) pounds)
¼ cup butter, at room temperature
½ teaspoon salt
8 ounces (8 large) moist soft dried figs, finely chopped (1 cup)
Grated rind of 1 lemon
Sweet sherry

Scrub yams in cold water and dry. Bake in a prehated 400-degree oven for 15 minutes; reduce heat to 375 degrees and bake until tender — about 45 minutes longer.

Cut a thin lengthwise slice from top of each yam. Scoop out pulp, leaving a thin layer of the pulp, if necessary, to have sturdy shells.

Mash yam pulp with butter and salt; mix in figs and lemon rind. Add enough sherry to give pleasantly soft (but not soupy) texture.

Spoon mixture back into shells. If yams are not to be finished right away, cover and leave at room temperature for several hours. Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven until throughly hot — about 30 minutes.

Note: For this recipe we used the dried figs that are soft and ready to eat — not the dried figs that need to be soaked or cooked before eating.

Makes 6 servings.

Smoked Tongue

Small smoked beef tongue, about 2½ pounds
1 cinnamon stick
1 bay leaf
½ teaspoon each whole cloves, whole allspice and peppercorns

Remove all wrappings from tongue and place in a large saucepot with cold water to cover and the spices. Bring to a boil; simmer, turning midway, until tongue feels quite soft when a two-tine fork is inserted and turned in center—about 2½ hours. Drain; peel off skin; cut away scrappy underpart from thick end. Slice thin from tip end.

Highway Safety Debate Continues

By H. L. SCHWARTZ III
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A revived policy debate, a little confusion and a great deal of caution appear to have hamstrung the administration search for a highway safety director.

The debate centers on the future of the three-year-old Highway Safety Bureau that gave the auto industry its first taste of federal regulation through mandatory inclusion of seat belts, shoulder straps, back up lights and more than a dozen other items.

"You have two polarized groups—the concrete pourers and the safety community," said one source. "The safety community is telling them to get the bureau out of the Highway Administration and the concrete pourers are saying the hell with you."

While this debate goes on, another dispute rages over whether the new director should be an administrator or a researcher.

Privately, the auto industry favors an administrator. It feels enough safety standards are required on vehicles for the time being and that there should be more effort in carrying out such existing programs as law enforcement, driver education and highway improvement.

The apparent confusion over just where the talent hunt stands seems to be shared by the Transportation Department and the White House.

One candidate for the job said he was contacted by "at least 20" intermediaries and couldn't be sure which actually were speaking for the administration.

Queries to aides of Transportation Secretary John Volpe elicit answers that range from "We have three people in mind but they're all making too much money in industry," to "We hope to have someone in a week," to "The job is wide open."

Sources on Capitol Hill say key Republicans who presumably would be notified beforehand haven't heard a name mentioned in a month.

Several sources believe Dr. Robert Brenner, currently acting director, has the inside track and will get it "kind of by default," as one put it.

The bureau was set up under the 1966 Highway Safety Act to draw up and enforce standards for vehicles and help the state's with such programs as driver education and alcohol testing.

It was put into the Federal Highway Administration for some reason that a spokesman for the parent agency says is now forgotten. But there has been continuing pressure to get it out ever since.

Since the resignation shortly after the change in administrations of the bureau's first and only director, Dr. William Haddon, and the ensuing talent hunt the debate has revived.

On one side are the arguments that there never was any authority for putting the bureau under the Highway Administration; that it doesn't have that much to do with highways and you shouldn't put a fledgling program needing ideas and innovation into old line agencies which sometimes are opposed to change.

The other side of the argument is that safety work should be under one cover and the appropriate roof is the Highway Administration since it has been in the safety business, through construction, for years.

Federal Highway Administrator F. C. Turner is generally identified with those who support keeping the bureau under Highways.

Volpe hasn't taken a public position. But he told a safety meeting in Washington in February that there was a "problem . . . as to whether or not the bureau is in the right position insofar as a line of authority is concerned; whether it ought to be reporting directly through the federal Highway Administration or whether it ought to be perhaps in some other area."

Tornado Victim Dies Of Pneumonia

MCKINNEY, Tex. (AP) — Delmer Curtis Barnard, 61, whose trailer home was turned over by a tornado Sunday, died of pneumonia Tuesday at a McKinney hospital, doctors said.

He lived in the Shamrock Trailer Park near Lake Lavon.

Dirksen Finds Jobs Going To GOPs

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration is becoming more Republican all the time. Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen has reported to GOP members who complained the party wasn't getting enough government jobs.

In the face of beefs that President Nixon hasn't been turning out enough Democrats and delivering their jobs to the GOP faithful, Dirksen made a personal survey.

He said the results show that in his first 100 days in office, Nixon filled 280 of 545 first line jobs—and only 34 of these appointments went to Democrats. And most of these Democrats were the kind of men seldom marked as active partisans, the the Illinois senator said.

Furthermore, Dirksen said, this inquiry shows that more than half of about 1,300 second string jobs have been filled, all but about 8 per cent of them going to tested Republicans.

"We have been hearing from home, and some places closer, that the new administration hasn't been moving fast enough in the appointment of Republicans to replace Democrats," Dirksen said in an interview. "But I think it has a pretty good record for a new administration."

Although an Associated Press survey showed that scores of holdovers from the Democratic years still occupy key federal jobs, Dirksen said that is to be expected.

"You can't make a clean sweep right away. Key spots are difficult to fill and it takes time to find the right man for the right place."

Dirksen made it clear he doesn't think all available jobs should go to Republicans.

"I never oppose or support any on that basis," he said. "I don't mind the appointment of some Democrats. I don't even know the politics of some of the people I have objected to."

Leaders Of Men Stand Tall

By ROBERT HEARD
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Are the leaders of men taller than other men?

Yeah, we know about Napoleon. An exception. Besides, we are not talking about great historical figures only. We are talking about intermediate fry, too. The corporation vice presidents and colonels and senators.

Take the Texas Senate as a random example. And that's about as random as you can get.

The average height of the 30 male senators and Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, president of the Senate, is just under 6 feet—5 feet, 11.4 inches.

This compares with the national average of 5 feet, 9.1 inches, according to Henry Dreyfus and Associates of New York City, an industrial design firm.

Even the one woman in the Senate, Barbara Jordan of Houston, is taller, at 5-7¼, than the national average for women, 5-3.2.

The Senate includes some shorties: Mike McKool of Dallas, 5-4; Joe Bernal of San Antonio, 5-7; Roy Harrington of Port Arthur, 5-7; and A.M. Aikin Jr. of Paris and A. R. Schwartz of Galveston, both 5-8.

Twenty-five senators, or five-sixths of that body, are above them barely make it at 5-10; the national average. Five of Ronald Bridges of Corpus Christi, Criss Cole of Houston, Charles Herring of Austin, Oscar Mauzy of Dallas and Bill Patman of Ganado.

Two are only half an inch taller: Jim Bates of Edinburg and Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells.

V. E. "Red" Berry of San Antonio and H. J. "Doc" Blanchard of Lubbock come in at 5-11, and Murray Watson of Waco is 5-11½.

Missing 6 feet by only a quarter of an inch are O.H. "Ike" Harris of Dallas, Grady Hazlewood of Canyon and Bill Moore of Bryan.

Six senators say they are exactly 6 feet: Chet Brooks of Pasadena, Joe Christi of El Paso, Henry Grover of Houston, Don Kennard of Fort Worth, David Ratliff of Stamford and W. E. Snelson of Midland.

Jack Strong of Longview is 6-2. Ralph Hall of Rockwall is 6-2½. Jack Hightower of Vernon is 6-3. Barnes is 6-3½.

Three senators tie for tallest at 6-4: Wayne Connally of Floresville, Charles Wilson of Lufkin and J.P. Word of Meridian.

So an even dozen senators are 6 feet or better, and Barnes makes 13.

The talent for talk is unrelated to actual height. Schwartz, 5-8, probably has the best gift for gab in the Senate.

What is the explanation for the excess of height in the Senate?

Perhaps people tend to pick the candidate they can look up to.

Or, since the average man doesn't know who his state senator is, perhaps it would be fairer to say that the real leaders—the business, labor and community leaders—tend to choose more imposing men who at least give the appearance of independence from the leaders who picked them.

No survey has been run on the House, but it does not appear to have as large a proportion of six-footers. It is, after all, the lower house.

Sorry about that.

New Method To Identify Bacteria

DENTON, Tex. (AP) — Scientists will be spared many days of laboratory work in identifying bacteria in water supplies through a new procedure developed by Dr. Rufus Guthrie of North Texes State University.

The new method cuts identification time from more than one week to a matter of a few hours.

Some people have misconceptions about Savings Bonds.

They think they're a nice, safe investment but they don't really give much in the way of returns.

Look at it this way. U.S. Savings Bonds now pay 4¼% interest when held to maturity—a little over $4.00 back for every $3.00 you invest in just seven years.

On top of that, the interest is exempt from state or local income tax, and Bonds may be [illegible]

you cash the Bonds. That can make a real difference in what you actually get back on your investment.

Also, buying Series E Bonds lets you purchase higher interest Freedom Shares in combination—and they pay a full 5% when held to maturity of four and one-half years.

Any way you look at it, Savings Bonds are a good investment.

Dirksen Opposes EEOC Nominee

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's choice to head a key civil rights agency reportedly has run into opposition from Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, who demanded—and got—the ouster of the previous chairman.

Sources indicated that Dirksen is lining up votes to oppose Nixon's nomination of William H. Brown, 39, a Philadelphia Republican, to replace Clifford L. Alexander Jr. as chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunities Commission.

The five-member EEOC is charged with seeing that government bans on job discrimination are followed by businesses and industries.

When asked about the reports, Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, declined comment.

But his opposition, coupled with expected antagonism from Southern Democrats, could doom Brown's nomination when and if it reaches the Senate for confirmation. Brown was originally nominated for a commission seat by President Lyndon B. Johnson and Nixon resubmitted his name and then decided to make him chairman.

Coincidentally, the fight paralleled a move by Nixon to strengthen the EEOC's powers to enforce a ban on racial bias in employment.

Dirksen said Tuesday the administration's proposal will convert the EEOC into a quasi-judicial agency with limited cease-and-desist powers.

The arrangement, Dirksen said, would pattern the EEOC's enforcement authority after that of the National Labor Relations Board, making the commission's orders effective only if they gain approval of a U.S. Court of Appeals.

In opposing Brown who, like Alexander, is a Negro, Dirksen is reported to feel that the Philadelphia lawyer shares the strict enforcement views of his predecessor.

The Illinois senator accused Alexander last month of "punitive harassment" of businessmen. The White House announced the next day a new EEOC chairman would be named. Alexander then quit before he was fired, although he retained his commission seat.

Dirksen said he favors Nixon's proposal to give limited enforcement powers to the EEOC, but the measure faces opposition from senators who want stronger legislation and southerners who maintain it goes too far.

CAP Directors To Meet Thursday

The board of directors of the Community Action Program will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Guadalupe Hall.

An election of area representatives will be the principal item of business for the session.

Militant Is Fired From EODC Post

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The executive director of the Economic Opportunities Development Corp. said Tuesday militant organizer Carlos Cansino has been fired from his EODC job for lack of performance in carrying out his duties.

Jose "Pepe" Lucero said Cansino's statements about Texans at the Alamo had nothing to do with his dismissal from EODC.

"His performance had been under scrutiny for some time," Lucero declared. He added that he had been disappointed in results shown by Cansino, a $600-a-month community organizer for EODC since last February.

Lucero said, however, that militant activities may have hurried up the review of Cansino's accomplishments with EODC.

Cansino was a key figure in last Saturday's marches on the city Public Service Board, City Hall and the Bexar County Courthouse at which time he proclaimed the fall of the Alamo as a glorious Mexican victory which "put down the scum that were trying to steal our land."

Lucero said that Cansino had been asked to resign "so he could bow out gracefully" and had refused. The EODC chief said he would draft a letter to Cansino informing him of the dismissal Tuesday.

Lucero said Cansino, a San Antonio native but who had been working in New Mexico prior to being hired by EODC, was still on a six-months probationary period.

Lucero denied any pressure had been put on him to dismiss Cansino. "A man has to produce to stay," he added.

Cansino said Monday he expected to be fired from his job because of the Saturday marches and other activities in which he has been involved.

Pupils Have Fun Making Tri-Wheeler

"The boy is rather large (220 pounds)," Whittenburg explained, "and he has difficulty riding a cycle. Also, the seat of a regular cycle is too small for him."

So, the CVAE students (formerly called OT or occupational training) put their ideas and talents together and designed a specal tricycle for the exceuptional student. Doing the work in the school workshop, the boys removed the back part of the frame of a bicycle and re-built it so that it would have two wheels in the rear. They also put a cultivator seat on the vehicle.

It looks more like a tricycle than anything else, and that's what the boys usually call it, said Whittenburg.

"It has been called other things — such as a tri-wheeler," he added.

The tri-wheeler rides just like any tricycle, and it's large enough to accommodate the big student.

The boys were excited about the project. The vehicle was to be presented to the exceptional student today.

"I hope he likes it," one of the boys said.

Arnold Rites Set Thursday

Funeral service has been set for 2 p.m. Thursday at the Northside Baptist Church for Robert Denver Arnold, 55. Mr. Arnold, a former resident here, died Monday at Spearman.

The Rev. Cone Merritt will officiate at the funeral service. Burial will be in the Snyder Cemetery, under direction of Bolger Funeral Home.

Mr. Arnold is survived by his wife, Mrs. Blanche Arnold; four daughters, Mrs. Earline Airington and Mrs. Dottie Morris, both of Freeport, and Mrs. Calvin Fulsom and Mrs. Ronnie Weeden, both of Houston; a son, Robert C. Arnold of Shreveport, La.; two sisters, Mrs. Cecil Mason of Carthage and Mrs. Itasca Messer of Spur; a brother, Ray Arnold of Gary and nine grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be Mayo Davis, Simon Best, Olan Bearden, Ernest Ford, Norman Ford and Jay Rogers.

Younger Nixon To Test His Mettle

LYNNWOOD, Wash. (AP) — Edward Nixon, the President's younger brother, will test his political mettle for the first time when he seeks election as Snohomish County Republican state committeeman.

Nixon, 38, has no apparent opposition in next month's election. The incumbent, Meryl Hrdlicka, quit in a dispute with the state Republican organization.

"I am not looking at this as a stepping stone," Nixon said Tuesday. He recently declined a $30,000-a-year federal job in Alaska after questions were raised about the federal nepotism law.

Signs Of May In West Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — Signs of May began appearing in West Berlin today.

Leftist slogans were painted on the Kaiser Wilhelm Memorial Church. U.S. and French flags were stolen from a hotel. Green paint was smeared on a sign at the Greek military mission. A large red flag was hung on a memorial to German reunification.

Berlin will have five May Day demonstrations, including a military parade in Communist East Berlin. It will be the only military display in the Soviet bloc.

In West Berlin, the city government sponsors a rally before the Reichstag building, and there will also be one Communist party and two leftist student demonstrations. The leftists couldn't agree on holding a unified demonstration.

Awarded Scholarship At Institute

PARIS, Tex. (AP) — Philip B. Fletcher, manager-production for the Paris plant of Campbell Soup Co., has been awarded a one-year Sloan Fellowship at the School of Industrial Management, Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The course meets requirements for a Master of Science degree in industrial management. Fletcher joined Campbell's in 1958 as a supervisor in the shipping department.

Wiley College Said Returning To Normal

MARSHALL, Tex. (AP) — Troubled Wiley College is "rapidly returning to normal," a trustee of the Methodist school said Tuesday.

The Rev. W. B. Randolph said he spoke for the school in making the statement.

Wiley has been the target of class boycotts by students twice this year, the most recent of which started last week.

The Rev. Randolph said he saw students going back and forth to class Tuesday.

The school trustees met several student demands last week, but failed to act on one—the demand that the school president, Dr. T. Winston Cole be dismissed. Students said that issue prompted the latest boycott.

DENTON, Tex. (AP) — Despite the draft taking its toll on master's degree programs with predominantly male enrollment, the number of graduate students at North Texas State University has reached a record high, almost 20 per cent of the total university population.

On Typing The Characters In The Company Cafeteria

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — If you can't find a white collar worker at his desk today, the chances are he's in the company cafeteria—and probably doing something besides eating.

For the company cafeteria has become his home away from home during working hours, his club, his pub, his library, his recreation center.

No one knows for sure what executive genius first thought up the idea of the company cafeteria. But he must have brought it up at a top-level conference, as follows:

"Half our staff are spending their time at lunch going shopping, watching daytime movies, and wandering into pool halls. They're wasting half the work day.

"Mind you I'm just thinking out loud, but why don't we serve them lunch on the premises? Then we could keep an eye on them."

And so, innocently enough, the company cafeteria was born. Since then the wily peons of the business world have converted it to their own devious uses, and what started out as a management boon has often evolved into a management burden.

Look around your own company cafeteria and you'll probably find the following types pretty familiar:

"Bargain Ben"—He never has time to eat. To him the company cafeteria is a clearing center for his own private business operations. He ambushes each employe in line and asks, "Want to buy a secondhand car or sublet an apartment? Well, then, how about a three-year-old parakeet for $15 that curses in Portuguese?"

"The Fond Lovers"—Here, sitting knee to knee staring soulfully into each other's eyes as the vanilla ice cream melts unheeded in their paper cups, are the junior executive and the boss's secretary. To them the company cafeteria is a kind of restrained indoor passion pit.

"Hermit Herman"—He thinks everyone else is an illiterate dullard. He huddles in a corner reading "The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire," and hisses if those at a nearby table become too loud.

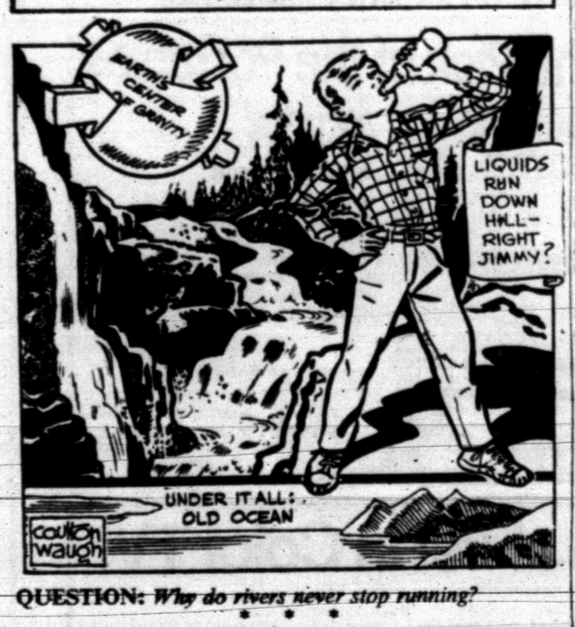

"Hangover Harry"—The office toper creeps in silently, takes half a cup of coffee, goes out to the locker room and fills it with bourbon, returns and starts nipping and sipping. By 1:15 his head falls back, and he's snoring.

"The Chronic Complainer"—Nothing on the menu ever pleases him. "What, nothing but meatballs and mildewed fish again?" he moans. At least once a week he circulates a petition demanding that the management start putting in such dishes as shish-kebab, truffles, and moo goo gai pan with wild rice.

"Sanitary Sid"—"This place looks like a pigsty," says the office hypochondriac, who is sure an epidemic will spread from the cafeteria before nightfall. He rinses and wipes each utensil before using it, and after each meal rushes out to the washroom to gargle out any germs he may have picked up.

Of course, some old-fashioned employes do eat in the company cafeteria. But for the rest of them it is just a nice place to gossip, carry on a romance, play gin rummy, start a rumor, or launch a plot against management.

Junior Editors Quiz on RIVERS

QUESTION: Why do rivers never stop running?

* * *

ANSWER: It's true that most rivers keep running, but there are rivers in dry areas which may dwindle and disappear at certain times in the year. Let's ask ourselves the question: where is a river's water coming from and where is it going to? River water begins to flow down from some high source; from a spring or pond in the mountains, perhaps a glacier that is melting. As it runs, other streams join the first one, until the volume of water has become a river. Water runs downhill because it is heavy and the force of gravity is pulling it down. It will run wherever it finds a place below its own level to spill into. How far down does the river go? It keeps going all the way until it reaches the old ocean at the bottom. In all cases, water lies still only in the lowest places to which it can flow. This is what is meant by water seeking its own level. People have always felt that rivers are particularly interesting and beautiful. There is serenity in a river, for the water usually runs slowly. There is a sense of history, too, for explorers moved up the rivers first, and civilization first came into being along the river banks.

Role Of Secretary Is Expanding

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Freed from some of the routine chores by labor saving devices, much as the housewife is freed from kitchen drudgery, the modern secretary these days is greatly expanding her role and influence.

The evidence is everywhere. There's the boss at a two-hour lunch, for example, while back at the office letters that will bear his signature rise in volume from the electric typewriters.

More and more responsibilities are delegated to her and, as many men have found, secretaries often can handle the details of administration with much more facility than men.

A survey by the 26,000-member National Secretaries Association, which is trying to upgrade the job from a trade to a profession, shows that 78 per cent of members write letters on their own initiative and 71 per cent now supervise other workers.

Even the titles are changing. The upcoming president of the NSA, Bertha Stronach of International Business Machines, carries the title of senior staff assistant and has two secretaries under her supervision.

With a salary well up in five figures, Miss Stronach places a premium on initiative in a secretary. A good secretary, she believes, no longer is a girl with a stenographer's pad. Often she does her own thinking rather than waiting for the boss to dictate his thoughts to her.

To be able to do so she must know what the boss is up to and what his plans for the future are. And she must be aware, Miss Stronach says, of the broad plans and goals of the department.

In some ways she must be even better informed than her boss; in office procedures, for example, where great changes are under way because of data processing and other technological developments.

In her own job Miss Stronach once was given dictation by her boss, L. Millard Collins, a middle management man. Later he merely scribbled notes of instruction and eventually wrote "you do" on letters to be answered.

Inevitably a secretary's work draws her into the personal affairs of her boss because in the executive suite there is no sharp demarcation between social and business affairs. The area can be touchy, because it is also the wife's domain.

In determining her responsibilities to her boss in activities not solely of a corporate nature, Miss Stronach uses this maxim as a guide: "If it helps him in his over-all job responsibilities then its part of his job." And part of her's as well.

This changing role of the secretary helps not only to build up the ego but the paycheck also, and experienced secretaries now are usually in the $125 to $135 a week category, but with some earning up to $20,000.

Selected Officers To Enroll In Course

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Selected Army officers soon will be enrolled as graduate students in the Institute of Contemporary Corrections and the Behavioral Sciences at Sam Houston State College.

These officers, captain and above, will do graduate work in criminology and corrections.

Details on the master die of the Lincoln penny have been sharpened noticeably for the first time since the coin originally was struck in 1909. A heavy workload slowly obliterated details on the old die. The features became flat and lifeless.

Boston Nips Lakers Again

By LARRY ELDRIDGE
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics had the Los Angeles Lakers talking to themselves today after Sam Jones' off-balance shot in the final seconds rolled teasingly around the rim and then dropped through to even their National Basketball Association championship playoff series.

"When the good Lord wants you to win, you win," said a disconsolate Jerry West, whose magnificent 40-point performance wasn't enough to prevent Boston's 89-88 victory.

"A loss like that is hard to take," the Lakers superstar muttered. "I must be a loser is all I know."

The Lakers have a history of frustration against the Celtics, having lost out to the perennial champions in the NBA finals five times in the last seven years.

This time they jumped off to a 2-0 lead in Los Angeles only to have the Celtics win the next two games at Boston Garden, sending the teams back to the coast all square for Thursday night's fifth game.

The dramatic finish Tuesday night came about after West's consistent brilliance had put the Lakers in command with an 88-87 lead and possession of the ball with some 15 seconds remaining. Emmette Bryant stole the pass in and fed Jones, who missed a shot. The Celtics got the ball out of bounds, however, and with seven secon seconds left they set up Jones again for their final chance.

The 35-year-old sharpshooter, who is retiring after this season, stumbled as he shot. The ball rolled around the rim, then dropped in as the record crowd of 15,128 went into near hysteria.

Player-Coach Bill Russell said everything went as planned on that final play—in which three men screened for Jones—until the veteran backcourt ace slipped.

"That's the play we called," Russell said. "He wasn't supposed to stumble though. That was his innovation."

Jones thought he had missed the shot, but he had an ace up his sleeve.

"I tried to get it high and get backspin on it," he said. "That way if I missed, I knew Russell had a chance for the rebound."

The only trouble with this strategy was that Russell, knowing that the Lakers might commit a foul and wanting his best free throw shooters on the floor, had benched himself for those final seconds and wasn't in the game.

"He wasn't?" Jones asked when informed of this. Then he just burst out laughing.

The game was a defensive struggle in which both sides shot poorly—Los Angeles 39 per cent and Boston only 32 per cent.

The Celtics jumped into a quick 10-0 lead and Boston also led by as many as nine points in the third period.

West got hot on each of these occasions to pull this team within range, and continued hitting until the end in almost single-handedly bringing the Lakers through.

Tigers Pound Panthers 7-0

Snyder's Tigers won their 7th District 3-AAA baseball victory without a loss here yesterday afternoon, turning back Dunbar's Panthers 7-0 behind the 3-hit pitching of Merce Hernandez.

The tall junior right hander gave up two of those hits in the first frame with E. Davis and Cunningham each getting a single after two outs. But Merce bore down and fanned Bryant to retire the side.

Only two other Panthers got on base. Kinner reached first on an error and stole second in the 3rd, but that's as far as he got. E. Davis cracked another single in the 6th, but he couldn't get beyond that point. Merce sent seven Panthers down swinging.

The Bengals bombed Marc Wilson for eight hits, getting two runs off him in the 3rd, three in the 5th and two more in the 6th.

Jodi Williamson scored the first run. He singled, moved to second on Ronnie Lewis' fielder's choice, and scored when Steve Holder hit a long, high fly that the shortstop fumbled. Holder came in on a double by McGinnis.

The three 5th inning runs resulted from a walk and singles by Wesley Bishop and Holder. Williamson and Lewis put together back-to-back singles in the 6th to drive in Snyder's other two runs.

Tiger defensive performances were superb in this game. Lewis, Holder, and Richie Thompson all turned in some sharp plays. The infielders didn't commit any miscues, and the outfielders made a couple of nice catches, although the wind helped them on several long shots.

McGinnis and Williamson, with two hits apiece, led the Tiger batters. Snyder visits Lamesa in its next outing with the tilt set for 2 p.m. Saturday.

Yesterday's victory boosted the Tiger record to 20-3-1.

Astros Are 0-12 On Road

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Houston Astros might have come out of the 1962 expansion draft in worse shape than this year's two new National League clubs, but it's seven years later now and the Astros still appear left out in the cold.

Colder than yesterday's mashed potatoes, the Astros added another loss to their worst record in the league by dropping a 2-1 decision at Atlanta Tuesday night, their seventh consecutive defeat and 14th in the last 15 games. They are 0-12 on the road.

"I think we're better than this," was about all suffering Manager Harry Walker could manage to say after his club fell to a 4-19 record.

Although Montreal dropped a 2-0 verdict to the New York Mets, and San Diego lost to Los Angeles 2-1, the two newest teams in the league had records Houston could envy. The Expos might be last in the East Division, but they have a 7-12 record, while the Padres are fifth ahead of Houston in the West at 9-13.

San Francisco, meanwhile, remained tied with the Dodgers for first place in the West by beating Cincinnati 4-3 in 13 innings and the Chicago Cubs increased their East lead with a 10-0 rout over Philadelphia.

Cold weather postponed St. Louis' game at Pittsburgh.

In the American League, Minnesota swamped Kansas City 9-1, Boston nipped the New York Yankees 2-1, Detroit overcame Washington 5-4 and Seattle slipped by California 1-0. Baltimore at Cleveland also was postponed by cold weather in the only other game scheduled.

"We're not loafing," Walker insisted. "We just get the bases loaded and time after time the batter drills one right into someone's glove that just as easily could have been a double."

That's close to what happened against the Braves. Trailing 2-1, the Astros loaded the bases in the eighth inning with one out on singles by Jesus Alou and Jim Wynn, a sacrifice and an intentional walk, but reliever Cecil Upshaw got Denis Menke to hit into a force out at home and then induced Curt Blefary to ground out.

They also loaded the bases with one out against winner Milt Pappas in the fifth, but Alou and Wynn both fouled out.

After Orlando Cepeda's sacrifice fly in the first gave Atlanta a 1-0 lead, Pappas, 2-2, drove in the decisive run himself in the fourth with a single off loser Denny Lemaster, 0-4.

Ed Kranepool's first two homers of the season—off Jim Grant in the second and sixth innings—gave the Mets, the other 1962 expansion club, their eighth victory in 19 games for a third place tie in the East. Jerry Kossman stopped Montreal on two hits before leaving with one out in the fifth when his arm tightened, and Nolan Ryan completed the shutout, giving four more hits and striking out seven.

Kranepool's homers gave him 53 with the Mets, breaking the club record of 52 set by Frank Thomas from 1962-64.

The Dodgers scored twice in the first against rookie Al Santorini on a walk, an error and singles by Willie Davis and Bill Sudakis, but needed clutch relief work by Pete Mikkelsen and Jim Brewer to save Joe Moeller's victory.

Mikkelsen came in to get out Al Ferrara with the tying run on third and two out in the seventh inning and Brewer pitched out of a first-and-second, none out and then bases loaded, two out jams in the ninth.

Bobby Bonds was the hero in San Francisco's eighth straight victory, drilling a two-run homer in the eighth for a brief 3-2 lead and then rapping a run-scoring single in the 13th with two out.

Cincinnati, losing its fifth in a row, had held a 2-0 lead and then tied the game in the ninth on Bobby Tolan's hit with two out.

Ferguson Jenkins, 4-1, hurled the Cubs past Philly with a four-hitter, made easier by Chicago's 13-hit attack.

Strong Derby Field Set For Saturday

By BOB COOPER
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Help wanted: Translators to help the man on the street understand trainers of Kentucky Derby hopefuls; must be fluent in doubletalk.

Qualifications will include demonstration of understanding:

—Elliot Burch, trainer of Arts and Letters, when he calls Top Knight "the best 3-year-old of this year" and adds, "but he may be asked to move over Saturday by Mr. Longden's horse, Majestic Prince."

—Ray Metcalf, trainer for Top Knight, when he declares he works his colt before dawn "so he won't see those others and get frightened."

—Johnny Longden, who admits it "will be tougher to win here in the Derby than it was on the West Coast, where Majestic Prince is unbeaten.

—Lucian Laurin, who predicts his Dike will be last under the wire—"or at least he'd better be"—the first time around the track in the Derby and won't comment where the colt will be at the finish.

—Gordy McLean, who's positive his Ocean Roar has never gone up against class like he will see in the 1¼-mile, $125,000-added race Saturday at 5:30 p.m., EDT.

For newcomers to Derbyland, all of these comments translate into the same language: We came here to take all the marbles and we're not about to tell you too much about how we're going to do it.

All of the trainers—and long-time Derby observers as well—proclaim this year's 95th running as perhaps the strongest in many years. Some are predicting a timing of less than two minutes for the first time.

A factor in that prediction is Cain Hoy Stable's Ack Ack, who broke the Churchill Downs track record for a mile Tuesday in winning the Derby Trial Stakes by seven widening lengths.

Capt. Harry F. Guggenheim, owner of the fleet bay colt, said it might be a day or two before he decides on his colt's Derby status.

The decision for Guggenheim—as well as all others—must be made by 9:30 a.m. Thursday, when $500 must be deposited to pass the entry box if a horse is to go to the post in America's most famous horse race.

It costs another $1,000 to start.

If Ack Ack goes, he could force a fast early pace, resulting in a record timing for the Derby. If he doesn't go, it might force the other horses to make their own pace—with an even faster clocking as the outcome.

Frank McMahon's Majestic Prince, the Steven Wilson Estate's Top Knight and Paul Mellon's Arts and Letters would like to run close to the pacesetter early in the Derby, but preferably not in front.

Dike, flying the colors of Claiborne Farm, wants to come from as far off the pace as he can get and still hope to make up the lost ground. He'd like to be passing tiring horses in the long Churchill Downs stretch.

Ocean Roar, a royally bred bush leaguer from Ohio's small race tracks, is hoping for as much mud as possible.

Food Price Outlook Revised

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government experts are having second thoughts about their previous optimistic forecast that the increase in food prices this year might be held to between 2 and 2.5 per cent.

The Agriculture Department is in the process of re-examining its earlier projections, "and it may be that we'll find the outlook for food prices will rise as much as 3 per cent over last year," an official said. This still would be an improvement over last year when food prices soared 4.3 per cent.

The department is scheduled to issue a summary report on the national food situation May 1. Sources say the revised food-cost analysis, to be included in the report, will reflect a larger gain than previously expected.

Last week it was reported that food prices went up four-tenths of one per cent in March —a month in which grocery prices normally remain level. The previous month had shown a drop of two-tenths of a per cent.

Department sources say prices paid to farmers during the first quarter of this calendar year were stronger than economists had expected. This, coupled with continuing inflation in other areas, had caused the concern among some experts that their previous outlook for food prices was too low.

The department's farm price report for the month ending April 15 shows a decline of three-fourths of one per cent in the index for prices farmers receive for their products, but this was the first drop since October.

Although prices paid to farmers generally fell off, the report added, the costs of farming went up three-fourths of one per cent during the month.

The report said farmers at mid-April were receiving prices averaging 4 per cent more than one year earlier, but their expenses were up five per cent.

Last week the Bureau of Labor Statistics announced that the Consumer Price Index—including food as well as other items—rose in March by eight-tenths of one per cent, an annual rate of 9.6 per cent, the steepest monthly rise in 18 years.

But the economists are concerned that small drops in farm price averages will have little dampening effect on what consumers have to pay for food.

They say farmers receive less than 40 cents of every dollar consumers spend on food, and that marketing, processing and transportation costs which account for the larger share are not expected to drop significantly.

CAREER CORNER

By F. J. LAIN

Miss Lain awards a Mercury portable, courtesy of the Royal Typewriter Co., to Ricky Ward, Lake Charles, La., for his request:

"Please write about becoming a Hollywood movie producer."

A. — Thanks to Robert Arthur, senior producer for Universal Pictures in Los Angeles, for a big slice of his busy day to discuss this often-asked-about topic. A 54-picture veteran, Mr. Arthur's credits include "Sweet Charity," "The Hellfighters," "Operation Petticoat," "Touch of Mink," and "Lover Come Back." Here's a summary of our conversation.

LAIN: Exactly what does a feature film producer do?

ARTHUR: There are various situations; duties depend upon whether you're a studio producer or an independent packager, but generally speaking, the producer functions as a general manager, or factotum (the head man who does all kinds of work).

If the project is already assembled in a package, such as a Broadway show, the producer supervises the total effort: talent, budget, writers, directors, editors, the dubbing, release paterns (how the film is to be distributed to theaters), promotion and all other related factors. Producers who work for studios also create projects — we read internnably; looking for ideas, books or screenplays; in ths case, we also assemble the package including the story, assignment of writers, selection of cast, budget projection, and, of course, sell the studio on the idea of making the film — as well as the duties I mentioned previously. It may require a year or two to prepare for a picture which takes only three or four months to shoot.

There is a trend toward independent packages for which the free lance producer is also responsible for raising funds to finance the picture; usually the money is obtained through film distribution companies.

LAIN: How did you become a producer?

ARTHUR: I was in the accounting end of the oil business when I wrote a screen treatment of Captain Bligh's career following the events recorded in "Mutiny on the Bounty." My pleasure reading has always been oriented toward history. Through a business contact, I submitted it to a studio which then hired me as a writer. Later I became an associate producer and then a producer.

LAIN: What do you like best about your job?

ARTHUR: When I make a good picture.

LAIN: What do you like least?

ARTHUR: When I make a bad picture.

LAIN: How much money do producers make?

ARTHUR: There are no standards. Some associate producers who begin essentially as leg men may get $250-300 a week; major creative entities can ask and get $250,000 per picture, or negotiate a profit participation by accepting a lesser fee. Many studio producers are paid on a year-round basis, others work on a per-picture arrangement.

LAIN: What about a film education . . . any colleges for producers?

ARTHUR: None per se. A number of universitites offer programs in film making which potential producers might choose. Among the better known ones are UCLA, USC, NYU, U. of Iowa, Northwestern, Boston U., Ohio State, U. of Penn., and Columbia.

LAIN: What advice can you give potential producers?

ARTHUR: To stay away in droves. Trying to walk into a Hollywood producer's job is like bucking a brick wall. You have to emerge from another area of the entertainment field where you have demonstrated talent and competence.

LAIN: Specifically?

ARTHUR: Producers come from every phase of entertainment. Many were writers, directors or aetors in films, television or stage. Others rose from junior jobs in films, or worked with small film makers around the country. I repeat producing is a risky business: for the unrealistic neophyte, inspecting volcanos is a safer gamble.

Bill Approved For Students Transfer

AUSTIN (AP) — The legislature has approved and sent to the governor a bill which would permit pupils to transfer from one school district to another.

Both the House and Senate approved a conference committee report Monday.

The bill by Sen. J. P. Word, Meridian, would make transferring a decision for the pupil and receiving district, with the pupil's home district losing state aid if the other district accepts him.

Herb Alpert, Wife Reported Separating

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Bandleader Herb Alpert and his wife Sharon, who met at Fairfax High in Los Angeles, are reported separating after 11 years of marriage.

A family friend said there are no plans for divorce. Alpert, 32, and his 28-year-old wife have two children.

Rights Revoked

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

BRASILIA (AP) — President Arthur da Costa e Silva has revoked the political rights of 105 more Brazilians in his biggest purge since assuming dictatorial powers last December. For the first time he also barred some of those purged from continuing in their jobs.

Among those barred Tuesday from taking part in politics for 10 years were 41 congressmen, including five in his own party, state legislators, educators, mayors, judges and private citizens.

In the case of two airline pilots, two professors and two journalists, Costa e Silva not only took away their political rights but ordered them fired.

Since he began ruling by decree Dec. 13, the president has stripped 289 persons of their political rights for opposing the military regime.

Nagging Wife Drives Hubby To Prison

ISTANBUL (AP) — Yusuf Cagan, a 36-year-old factory worker, said his wife "has been talking and nagging about everything you can think of ever since we married three years ago.

"Brother, does she talk . . .

"She would nag if I was early, if I was late, or if I took her out or didn't . . . She's unimaginable . . ."

"I was about to go nuts. Finally I decided to steal something of little value, so I might serve a short term, and meanwhile recuperate and regain my peace of mind."

Cagan stole two spoons, and now he's in jail, awaiting trial.

Senators Shelve Pay Raise

By ROBERT T. GRAY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has backed away, at least temporarily, from approving extra pay raises for congressional officials after questions by some members about why they should get less money than their leaders.

When the bill calling for raising the leaders' pay as much as $29,500 a year reached the Senate floor Tuesday, Sen. John C. Pastore, D-R.I., objected "I don't think it costs the speaker (of the House) any more to live in Washington than it costs me," he said.

The bill, already passed by the House, would raise the pay of the vice president and House speaker from $43,000 to $62,500 a year. The president pro temp of the Senate and the majority and minority leaders of both the Senate and the House would get pay raises from $42,500 to $55,000 a year.

Caught in the middle when the dispute broke out unexpectedly was Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, whose pay raise wasn't opposed. In fact, Pastore suggested that only the vice president get the raise.

Amid indications of agreement from other senators, Sen. Peter Dominick, R-Colo., made a formal motion to give only Agnew a raise.

Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., interrupted and asked that the bill be recommitted to his Post Office and Civil Service Committee which had approved the measure.

That motion carried, 64-21.

Earlier this year, Congress raised the President's pay from $120,000 to $200,000 a year.

Shortly thereafter, members accepted for themselves a $12,500 annual increase that sent their salaries to $42,500.

That boost, which also saw substantial raises go to federal judges and top officials in the executive department, was the first under a new procedure that does not require a direct vote by Congress.

Unless either the House or Senate vetoes the raises, they take effect automatically 30 days after the President recommends them.

Joining Pastore were several economy minded senators, including Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va.

"The first thing we did this year was double the President's salary and the second thing we did was to raise our own pay," Byrd said.

"And while we are doing this, we are asking the taxpayers of this nation not only to cope with this terrible inflation but to pay a 10 per cent surtax that we tell them will cure this inflation."

PUBLIC NOTICE
Proposed CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT
NUMBER FOUR ON THE BALLOT (SJR6)

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Section 2, Article VIII, Constitution of the State of Texas, be amended to read as follows:

"Section 2. All occupation taxes shall be equal and uniform upon the same class of subjects within the limits of the authority levying the tax; but the legislature may, by general laws, exempt from taxation public property used for public purposes; all real and personal property owned by a nonprofit water supply corporation which is reasonably necessary for, and is used in, operation of the corporation in the acquisition, storage, transportation and sale of water as authorized as its sole legal purpose; actual places of (of) religious worship, also any property owned by a church or by a strictly religious society for the exclusive use as a dwelling place for the ministry of such church or religious society, and which yields no revenue whatever to such church or religious society; provided that such exemption shall not extend to more property than is reasonably necessary for a dwelling place and in no event more than one acre of land; places of burial not held for private or corporate profit; all buildings used exclusively and owned by persons or associations of persons for school purposes and the necessary furniture of all schools and property used exclusively and reasonably necessary in conducting any association engaged in promoting the religious, educational and physical development of boys, girls, young men or young women operating under a state or national organization of like character; also the endowment funds of such institutions of learning and religion not used with a view to profit; and when the same are invested in bonds or mortgages, or in land or other property which has been and shall hereafter be bought in by such institutions under foreclosure sales made to satisfy or protect such bonds or mortgages, that such exemption of such land and property shall continue only for two years after the purchase of the same at such sale by such institutions and no longer, and institutions of purely public charity; and all laws exempting property from taxation other than the property above mentioned shall be null and void."

Sec. 2. The foregoing Constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this state at an election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in August, 1969, at which election all ballots shall have printed on them the following:

"FOR the Constitutional amendment to exempt nonprofit water supply corporations from taxation."; and

"AGAINST the Constitutional amendment to exempt nonprofit water supply corporations from taxation."

Sec. 3. The Governor of the State of Texas shall issue the necessary proclamation for the election, and this amendment shall be published in the manner and for the length of time required by the Constitution and laws of this state.

PUBLIC NOTICE
Proposed CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT
NUMBER THREE, ON THE BALLOT (SJR31)

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Section 24, Article III, Constitution of the State of Texas, be amended to read as follows:

"Section 24. The Lieutenant Governor and the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall each receive from the Public Treasury an annual salary in an amount to be fixed by the Legislature, not to exceed one-half the annual salary of the Governor. Each other member of the Legislature shall receive from the Public Treasury an annual salary to be fixed by the Legislature, not to exceed the annual salary paid to a district judge from state funds. Members of the Legislature shall also receive a per diem of not exceeding Twelve Dollars ($12) per day during each Regular and Special Session of the Legislature. No Regular Session shall be of longer duration than one hundred and forty (140) days.

Sec. 2. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this state at an election to be held on August 5, 1969, at which election the ballots shall be printed to provide for voting for or against the proposition: "The constitutional amendment providing that the Lieutenant Governor and the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall receive a salary fixed by the Legislature, not to exceed one-half the salary of the Governor; providing that the Legislature shall fix the salary of the other members, not to exceed that received by a district judge from state funds; and removing the 120-day limitation on per diem for regular sessions."

Proposed CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT
NUMBER TWO ON THE BALLOT (HJR9)

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Article III of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended by adding thereto a new Section 49-d-1 to read as follows:

"Section 49-d-1. (a) In addition to Texas Water Development Bonds heretofore authorized to be issued by Sections 49-c and 49-d of Article III of the Constitution, the Texas Water Development Board is hereby authorized to issue $3,500,000,000 in aggregate principal amount of bonds. No part of such additional bonds shall be issued prior to approval thereof by the vote of two-thirds of the elected members of both houses of the Legislature.

"(b) The proceeds from the sale of such bonds shall be deposited in the Texas Water Development Fund.

"(c) The bonds herein authorized and all bonds authorized by such Sections 49-c and 49-d of Article III shall bear such interest and mature as the Texas Water Development Board shall prescribe subject to the limitations as may be imposed by the Legislature.

"(d) The Texas Water Development Fund shall be used for the purposes heretofore permitted by and subject to the limitations in said Sections 49-c and 49-d and in addition thereto for the purposes of developing water resources and facilities for the State of Texas, both within the State and without the State of Texas. Provided, however, that financial assistance may be made pursuant to the provisions of such Sections 49-c and 49-d subject only to the availability of funds and without regard to the provisions in Section 49-c that such financial assistance shall terminate after December 31, 1982.

"(e) Under such provisions as the Legislature may prescribe, the Texas Water Development Board may receive grants and, in addition, execute contracts with the United States or any of its agencies, other states of the United States, foreign governments and others, for the acquisition and development of such water resources and facilities for the State of Texas. Such contracts when executed may be secured by the general credit of the state, and if so secured shall constitute general obligations of the State of Texas in the same manner and with the same effect as Texas Water Development Bonds. If facilities are acquired for a term of years, such contracts shall contain provisions for renewal that will protect the state's investment. The aggregate principal amount of Texas Water Development Bonds authorized herein and in said Sections 49-c and 49-d shall be reduced by the aggregate of principal payments committed under such contracts constituting general obligations of the state. The provisions hereof shall not be construed to limit the authority of the Texas Water Development Board to execute contracts or issue revenue bonds when such contracts or bonds are not secured by the general credit of the state.

"(f) Texas Water Development Bonds and such contracts secured by the general credit of the state shall after approval by the Attorney General, registration by the Comptroller of Public Accounts of the State of Texas, and delivery to the purchasers, be incontestable and shall constitute general obligations of the State of Texas under the Constitution of Texas.

"(g) Should the Legislature enact enabling laws in anticipation of the adoption of this amendment, such Acts shall not be void by reason of their anticipatory character."

Sec. 2. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this state at an election to be held on Tuesday, August 5, 1969, at which election all ballots shall be printed to provide for voting for or against the proposition: "The constitutional amendment broadening the powers of the Texas Water Development Board and the purposes of the Texas Water Development Fund; eliminating the interest limitations on Texas Water Development Bonds; raising the authorized amount of Texas Water Development Bonds by $3,500,000,000; extending the maturity schedule on Texas Water Development Bonds; eliminating the procedures for curtailment and the curtailment date of financial assistance to be provided by the Texas Water Development Board."

NUMBER NINE ON THE BALLOT (HJR8)

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Section 5, Article III, Constitution of the State of Texas, as amended, be amended to read as follows:

"Section 5. The Legislature shall meet in regular session each year at such time as may be provided by law and at other times as convened by the Governor. When convened in odd-numbered years in regular session, the Legislature shall devote the first thirty days to the introduction of bills and resolutions, acting upon emergency appropriations, passing upon the confirmation of the recess appointees of the Governor and such emergency matters as may be submitted by the Governor in special messages to the Legislature; provided that during the succeeding thirty days of such session the various committees of each House shall hold hearings to consider all bills and resolutions and other matters then pending; and such emergency matters as may be submitted by the Governor; provided further that during the following sixty days the Legislature shall act upon such bills and resolutions as may be then pending and upon such emergency matters as may be submitted by the Governor in special messages to the Legislature; provided, however, either House may otherwise determine its order of business during this session by an affirmative vote of four-fifths of its membership.

"Regular sessions in even-numbered years, commencing in 1972, shall not exceed sixty days and shall be limited to legislation on the subjects of providing funds for the support of functions and activities of the state government and emergency matters submitted by the Governor in messages to the Legislature. At each regular session, commencing in 1971, appropriations shall be made for the support of functions and activities of the state government for the next fiscal year."

Sec. 2. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this state at an election to be held on August 5, 1969, at which election the ballots shall be printed to provide for voting for or against the proposition: "The constitutional amendment to provide for annual legislative sessions."

Proposed CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT
NUMBER ONE ON THE BALLOT (HJR3)

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Sections 42, 46, and 48 of Article III, Sections 3a and 7 of Article VII, Section 12 of Article VIII, Section 3 of Article IX, Sections 1, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, and 9 of Article X, Section 10 of Article XI, Sections 3, 4, 5, and 7 of Article XII, Sections 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, and 7 of Article XIII, Sections 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, and 8 of Article XIV, Sections 3, 4, 7, 13, 29, 32, 34, 35, 36, 38, 42, 45, 46, 54, 55, 57, 58, and 60 of Article XVI, Constitution of the State of Texas, be repealed, it being specifically understood that the repeal of these sections shall not in any way make any substantive change in our present constitution.

Sec. 2. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this state at an election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in August, 1969, at which election the ballots shall be printed to provide for voting for or against the proposition: "The constitutional amendment to repeal the obsolete, superfluous and unnecessary sections of the Constitution."

PUBLIC NOTICE
Proposed CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT
NUMBER FIVE ON THE BALLOT (SJR8)

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Section 51-a of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended, and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

"Section 51-a. The Legislature shall have the power, by General Laws, to provide, subject to limitations herein contained, and such other limitations, restrictions and regulations as may by the Legislature be deemed expedient, for assistance grants to and/or medical care for, and for rehabilitation and any other services included in the federal laws as they now read or as they may hereafter be amended, providing matching funds to help such families and individuals attain or retain capability for independence or self-care, and for the payment of assistance grants to and/or medical care for, and for rehabilitation and other services to or on behalf of:

"(1) Needy aged persons who are citizens of the United States or non-citizens who shall have resided within the boundaries of the United States for at least twenty-five (25) years;

"(2) Needy individuals who are totally and permanently disabled by reason of a mental or physical handicap or a combination of physical and mental handicaps;

"(3) Needy blind persons;

"(4) Needy dependent children and the caretakers of such children.

"The Legislature may prescribe such other eligibility requirements for participation in these programs as it deems appropriate.

"The Legislature shall have authority to enact appropriate legislation which will enable the State of Texas to cooperate with the Government of the United States in providing assistance to and/or medical care on behalf of needy persons, in providing rehabilitation and any other services included in the federal laws making matching funds available to help such families and individuals attain or retain capability for independence or self-care, to accept and expend funds from the Government of the United States for such purposes in accordance with the laws of the United States as they now are or as they may hereafter be amended, and to make appropriations out of state funds for such purposes; provided that the maximum amount paid out of state funds to or on behalf of any needy person shall not exceed the amount that is matchable out of federal funds; provided that the total amount of such assistance payments only out of state funds on behalf of such individuals shall not exceed the amount of Eighty Million Dollars ($80,000,000) during any fiscal year.

"Supplementing legislative appropriations for assistance payments authorized by this Section, the following sums are allocated out of the Omnibus Tax Clearance Fund and are appropriated to the State Department of Public Welfare for the period beginning September 1, 1969 and ending August 31, 1971: Three Million, Six Hundred Thousand Dollars ($3,600,000) for Old Age Assistance, Two Million, Five Hundred Thousand Dollars ($2,500,000) for Aid to the Permanently and Totally Disabled, and Twenty-Three Million, Nine Hundred Thousand Dollars ($23,900,000) for Aid to Families with Dependent Children. Such allocations and appropriations shall be made available on the basis of equal monthly installments and otherwise shall be subject to the provisions of currently existing laws making allocations and appropriations for these purposes.

"Provided further, that if the limitations and restrictions herein contained are found to be in conflict with the provisions of appropriate federal statutes, as they now are or as they may be amended to the extent that federal matching money is not available to the state for these purposes, then and in that event the Legislature is specifically authorized and empowered to prescribe such limitations and restrictions and enacts such laws as may be necessary in order that such federal matching money will be available for assistance and/or medical care for or on behalf of needy persons.

"Nothing in this Section shall be construed to amend, modify or repeal Section 31 of Article XVI of this Constitution; provided further, however, that such medical care, services or assistance shall also include the employment of objective or subjective means, without the use of drugs, for the purpose of ascertaining and measuring the powers of vision of the human eye, and fitting lenses or prisms to correct or remedy any defect or abnormal condition of vision. Nothing herein shall be construed to permit optometrists to treat the eyes for any defect whatsoever in any manner nor to administer nor to prescribe any drug or physical treatment whatsoever, unless such optometrist is a regularly licensed physician or surgeon under the laws of this state."

Sec. 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this state at an election to be held on the first Tuesday in August, 1969. At the election the ballots shall be printed to provide for voting "FOR" or "AGAINST" the proposition:

"The Constitutional Amendment providing for assistance to and/or medical care on behalf of the needy aged, the needy blind, the needy disabled, and the needy dependent children and their caretakers; establishing Eighty Million Dollars ($80,000,000) as the maximum amount that may be paid per year from state funds for assistance only; allocating and appropriating additional sums supplementing current legislative appropriations for assistance grants; and authorizing the Legislature to enact such laws as may be necessary in order that federal matching money will be available for assistance and/or medical care."

Proposed CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT
NUMBER SEVEN ON THE BALLOT (HJR1)

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Section 51-d, Article III, Constitution of the State of Texas, be amended to read as follows:

"Section 51-d. The Legislature shall have the power, by general law, to provide for the payment of assistance by the State of Texas to the surviving spouse and minor children of officers, employees, and agents, including members of organized volunteer fire departments and members of organized police reserve or auxiliary units with authority to make an arrest, of the state or of any city, county, district, or other political subdivision who, because of the hazardous nature of their duties, suffer death in the course of the performance of these official duties. Should the Legislature enact any enabling laws in anticipation of this amendment, no such law shall be void by reason of its anticipatory nature."

Sec. 2. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this state at an election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in August, 1969, at which election the ballots shall be printed to provide for voting for or against the proposition: "The constitutional amendment authorizing the Legislature to provide for payment of assistance to surviving spouses and minor children of governmental officers, employees, and agents, including members of organized volunteer fire departments and certain organized police reserve units, who have hazardous duties and are killed in the performance of those duties."

Proposed CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT
NUMBER EIGHT ON THE BALLOT (HJR50)

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Article III, Constitution of the State of Texas, be amended by adding a new Section 50b-1 to read as follows:

"Section 50b-1. (a) The Legislature may provide that the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System, or its successor or successors, shall have authority to provide for, issue and sell general obligation bonds of the State of Texas in an amount not to exceed Two Hundred Million Dollars ($200,000,000) in addition to those heretofore authorized to be issued pursuant to Section 50b of the Constitution. The bonds authorized herein shall be executed in such form, upon such terms and be in such denomination as may be prescribed by law and shall bear interest, and be issued in such installments as shall be prescribed by the Board provided that the maximum net effective interest rate to be borne by such bonds may be fixed by law.

"(b) The moneys received from the sale of such bonds shall be deposited to the credit of the Texas Opportunity Plan Fund created by Section 50b of the Constitution and shall otherwise be handled as provided in Section 50b of the Constitution and the laws enacted pursuant thereto.

"(c) The said bonds shall be general obligations of the state and shall be payable in the same manner and from the same sources as bonds heretofore authorized pursuant to Section 50b.

"(d) All bonds issued hereunder shall, after approval by the Attorney General, registration by the Comptroller of Public Accounts of the State of Texas, and delivery to the purchasers, be incontestable and shall constitute general obligations of the State of Texas under this Constitution.

"(e) Should the Legislature enact enabling laws in anticipation of the adoption of this Amendment such acts shall not be void because of their anticipatory nature."

Sec. 2. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this state at an election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in August, 1969, at which election the ballots shall be printed to provide for voting for or against the proposition: "The Constitutional amendment authorizing the Legislature to provide for additional loans to students at institutions of higher education under the Texas Opportunity Plan."
