Medina Plans To Leave Army After Acquittal

By KATHRYN JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

FT. McPHERSON, Ga. (AP) — Capt. Ernest L. Medina, acquitted of My Lai massacre charges, says he has no bitterness toward the Army but still plans to leave it.

The 35-year-old career officer who commanded a U.S. company which swept through My Lai on March 16, 1968, was acquitted Wednesday of murder, involuntary manslaughter and assault after a court-martial jury of five Vietnam veterans deliberated an hour.

Medina, his face pale, snapped a smart salute to Col. William D. Proctor, the jury president.

"It is my duty as president of this court to advise you that the court in closed session and upon secret ballot has found you not guilty of all specifications and charges," Proctor told Medina, who stood at attention.

The trim, black-haired Medina appeared stunned by the verdict. He saluted again and then looked toward his sobbing wife Barbara, who has sat on the front row each day since the trial began Aug. 15.

"I am extremely happy," Medina said later, his usually expressionless face broken by a wide grin. "I have always had complete faith in the military and the military justice system. I always felt I'd be found innocent."

Medina, who joined the National Guard when he was 15 and has been an offiser for seven years, said he still plans to resign from the army.

Asked if he felt any bitterness toward the Army, he replied, "None whatsoever."

During the trial, Medina testified in his own behalf and maintained that he was not aware of atrocities at the time the massacre.

"Reflecting back now, I know I lost control because there were noncombatants killed by my company," he testified. "If I had been aware of it that day, I would have stopped it."

The jury also said it was convinced Medina was not aware of civilian deaths.

Col. Robert E. Nelson, one of the jurors, said the verdict does not signify that the jury believes no war crimes were committed at My Lai.

"I am certain war crimes were committed," he said. "In the case of Capt. Medina, the jury was convinced he did not commit war crimes."

Nelson, 40, of Eatonton, Ga., said he personally was convinced that Medina had no knowledge of the activities of

Jury Action Set Late Afternoon

AUSTIN (AP) — The Austin American said today that three top state officials and aids have been indicted by the Travis County grand jury in the Texas stock fraud scandal.

The American said the grand jury voted unexpectedly Wednesday night to indict House Speaker Gus Mutscher, 39, second term speaker from Brenham, on a charge of bribery and conspiracy to bribe.

The American said Rep. Tommy Shannon of Fort Worth, Mutscher's key floor leader, and Rush McGinty, Mutscher's top staff assistant, were named in an indictment for conspiracy to bribe.

Public announcement of the grand jury action was scheduled for 3 p.m. today.

Dist. Atty. Bob Smith said Wednesday the grand jury was considering possible indictment earlier than expected because some jurors will be absent next week—the final week of the jury's term.

An indictment for false swearing in documents filed with the State Board of Insurance was voted against John Osorio, former state insurance commissioner and former president of the National Bankers Life Insurance Co., the American said.

Smith had no comment on the American's story.

The Associated Press was told by a high informed source about three weeks ago that the district attorney's office had drafted indictment papers against Mutscher, Shannon, McGinty and Osorio but at that time had not presented them to the grand jury. None of the four had any comment on the report.

Smith said Wednesday he indicated to the grand jury whether he thinks the facts in the case are sufficient to get the case past an instructed verdict against the state by a judge. He would not elaborate.

The jury listened to two hours of testimony from Joseph Novotny, former president of the Sharpstown State Bank, and one hour of testimony from Eugene Palmer, who wrote two controversial state banking bills, before Smith told the jury whether he thinks prosecution would be successful.

Mutscher, Shannon and McGinty made quick profits on National Bankers Life stock that they bought with loans from the Sharpstown State Bank.

The banking bills won passage in a special session of the legislature in 1969, but Gov. ton Smith vetoed them. Smith also made a profit on the stock with a Sharpstown State Bank loan.

Frank Sharp, chairman of the board of Sharpstown State Bank, said he wanted the bills passed so he could have the banks' deposits insured with a state corporation and thereby avoid federal bank examiners.

GRADUATION TRAGEDY

Two Girls Lose Lives In Survival Training

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — "I just wanted to live. I kept thinking of home and my parents and all the people I love. I wouldn't allow myself to die."

But despite her efforts, two of Pamela Sullivan's companions perished while on a survival training exercise in the rugged Three Sisters Wilderness of Central Oregon early this month.

Pamela, 18, gave a written statement on her ordeal shortly after being rescued to officials of Outward Bound, sponsor of the exercise. The statement, released Wednesday, told of a harrowing struggle during the first week of September and of how Joyce Howden, 21, Fall Creek, Ore., and Lorene LaRhette, 17, of Sudbury, Mass., died of hypothermia—lowering of the body temperature —in snow-covered Three Sisters Mountains.

"Halfway up the ridge, Joyce could no longer make it," Pamela's statement said. "We headed back for the shelter. Then couldn't find it. We dropped our packs, took our sleeping bags and headed for trees. Joyce just couldn't make it. I pulled and pushed, but she couldn't get to the trees. Also, she was losing her sight and hearing and kept asking us where we were when we were only a few feet away.

"At this time Lorene went for help.

"I wrapped Joyce in all three wet sleeping bags and liners. Then I layed over her with my poncho. Shortly after this she began breathing hard, lost total awareness, went delirious and in about 10 minutes stopped breathing.

"I tried mouth to mouth resuscitation, but no good. After this I stayed around camp maybe five minutes, then I went after Lorene, following her tracks in the snow. I finally caught up with her about 6 p.m. She had sacked out near a lake with her poncho on ....

"We packed into some trees. Then I found out she had lost the map and compass ... We huddled together trying to create warmth ... Lorene kept saying she just couldn't move. As we talked more, her speech kept getting slurred. I put my wool cap on her, layed myself on her and tried to keep her coherent.

"Her breath kept getting more labored. I kept yelling her name in her ear but she didn't answer. Her eyes were wide open. After about two hours her breathing stopped altogether. I tried artificial resuscitation and chest massage. It did no good.

"I used her body warmth and stayed there 'til Friday mornng."

On Friday morning Pamela left Lorene's body in the snow

Weather Menu: Clear And Warm During Weekend

The rainy period that began Tuesday night brought Pampa 1.5 inches up until 8 o'clock this morning.

That was about the time the overnight drizzle and sporadic showers began to taper off.

Today's forecast indicated clearing this afternoon and tonight and warmer Friday.

The outlook was for a pleasant weekend, according to the U.S. Weather Service in Amarillo.

Yesterday's high in Pampa was 45 degrees. The overnight low was 43 this morning. It still was in the 40s at noon. It remained overcast but there was no rainfall.

September precipitation in Pampa now totals an official 3.92 inches, making it the wettest month of the year so far.

The year's total to date is 15.16 inches, slightly above normal.

Summer bowed out at 11:45 a.m. Pampa time today and Fall moved into the picture.

According to the forecast, the weekend should bring good weather for area football games and other outdoor activities.

ON CHINA RESOLUTION

U.S. Meets Success And Failure In First Round Campaign In U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States has met success and failure in the opening round of its campaign to prevent the expulsion of Nationalist China from the United Nations.

The victory came in getting its two-Chinas proposal recommended Wednesday for the General Assembly agenda, and rounding up a good number of cosponsors for its two resolutions, including Japan.

The first resolution, which calls for the seating of Peking and Taiwan in the General Assembly with Peking getting China's permanent Security Council seat, had 17 cosponsors. The other, which calls for a two-thirds vote instead of a simple majority to pass any resolution to oust Taiwan, had 19.

The defeat was in the Steering Committee session, which recommended that both the U.S. proposal and a rival Albanian-sponsored resolution to seat the Communists and oust the Nationalists be placed on the agenda, but as separate items. The Albanian resolution had 18 cosponsors.

The committee voted down a U.S. motion that they be combined for debate by a 12-9 tally with 3 abstentions. This meant the assembly was being advised to debate the Albanian resolution before the American one. However, U.N. precedent indicated both would be debated under the Albanian resolution's title.

The Albanian resolution was recommended for the agenda 1 to 2 with 4 abstentions.

The U.S. two-Chinas proposal was recommended 11 to 9 with 4 abstentions.

Taiwan's Foreign Ministry issued a statement after the vote criticizing the U.S. resolution and declaring the Nationalist government is "firmly opposed" to giving China's Security Council seat to Peking.

"Such a move to sacrifice a founding and faithful member is in flagrant violation of the charter of the United Nations," the statement said.

Solon To Introduce Legislation Improving Rural Living Condition

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation designed to improve living conditions in rural America was drafted for introduction today by Chairman W.R. Poage, D-Tex., of the House Agriculture Committee.

Poage urged urban colleagues to support the bill because it "should slow down or halt the migration of farm families to the cities, where so many have been forced onto relief rolls to survive."

"Poverty is not confined to the big city," Poage said in a statement. "America's countryside is in ecosomic chaos and the problems in our urban areas are linked directly to the suffering in our rural areas."

Poage's bill would:

—Expand the authority of the Farmers Home Administration to make insured loans for industrial and general rural development such as establishment of community centers and the purchase of fire and rescue equipment.

—Allow the Soil Conservation Service to share in the cost of creating municipal and industrial water supplies and projects for soil and water pollution abatement and control.

—Create the United States Agriculture Land Development Corp., to obtain fair market prices for farming land on the outskirts of cities for such uses as parks, and recreational and wildlife areas.

UF General Solicitation Division Goes Into Action For $9,700 Goal

The General Solicitation Division of Pampa's United Fund moved into action this morning with a coffee at the Coronado Inn.

David Fatheree, division chairman, outlined to the group plans for attaining their goal of $9,700.

Campaign kits and cards were distributed to the fifty-five workers at this morning's meeting.

Assisting Fatheree in getting the teams together were James McCune, Mrs. Arthur Teed and Doug Coon.

This division will be responsible for contacting individuals and small business firms in Pampa.

Solicitation will begin immediately with the first check-in to be held tomorrow between 10 a.m. and 11 a.m. in the Emerald Room of the Coronado Inn.

Check-ins will be held each Tuesday and Friday until the drive goal of $94,250 is met.

Other divisions which have begun work are the Oil and Gas Division headed by Warren Fatheree and City and Government Employes headed by Mack Wofford.

The Oil and Gas Division will be striving for a goal of $6,600; Wofford's group will be looking for a goal of $3,000.

The annual United Fund appeal is conducted by Pampans, for Pampans, for good reason, according to H.P. Donohue, Jr., president.

The theme of this year's drive, "If you will do it, it will get done," is a positive approach to the campaign to assist the nine member agencies, Donohue asserted.

Dallas Deputy Shot Accidently

DALLAS (AP) — A police vice squad officer accidentally shot a deputy sheriff Wednesday night during a drug raid at nearby Lake Dallas, authorities said.

Deputy Sheriff Danny Hoyt Cobb, 23, of Denton County was in serious condition after he suffered a 12-gauge shotgun blast in the upper right leg.

Five Tried In My Lai Case, Only Calley Stands Branded Murderer

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer

There was William Calley, with the face of a cherub. At 24, a lieutenant in the United States Army, leader of an infantry platoon in the assault on My Lai.

There were Sgts. David Mitchell and Charles Hutto, squad leader and machine gunner. There was Capt. Eugene M.K. touc, round-faced and pixie-ish, the intelligence officer for the attacking force.

And then Ernest Medina, with bearing and manner that shouted pride of uniform and rank, the captain who commanded Charlie Company that bloody morning in South Vietnam.

Thirteen had been charged with crimes of assault and murder. These five were tried. Only Rusty Calley stood branded a mass murderer when the gavel dropped Wednesday for the last time at Medina's trial, the last trial of the men who fought at My Lai.

Separate courts-martial decreed Mitchell and Hutto not guilty of assaulting respectively 30 and six Vietnamese civilians with intent to murder; Kotouc not guilty of maiming a prisoner by cutting off a finger; Medina innocent of killing a woman, assaulting a Viet Cong suspect or involuntary manslaughter in the death of 100.

But Calley was pictured at his trial as ordering his men to fire into two groups of old men woman and children, then spraying round after round of M-16 ammunition into the screaming mass. The jury convicted him of at least 22 murders and sentenced him to life in prison after the longest court-martial in history.

The verdict brought a national outcry of "scapegoat," a presidential promise of review, and later reduction in sentence to 20 years at hard labor with opportunity for still a lesser sentence in appeal.

There remains for the Army only some final blame-fixing and in-house punishment stemming from the slaughter at My Lai 3½ years ago.

Col. Oran K. Henderson, a quiet Hoosier with 30 years of service and a chestful of ri service and a chestful of ribbons for valor still is on trial at Ft. Meade, Md.—not for what happened at My Lai, but its aftermath.

The Army charges that by failing to follow on orders for thorough investigation and reporting the incident to higher command Brigade Commander Henderson helped in the coverup. And, it charges, he lied to a high-level board of inquiry when the story finally became public 1½ years after the action.

Henderson was one of 13 officers charged with whitewash as a result of that Pentagon investigation. None of the others was brought to trial, however. The division commander, Maj. Gen. Samuel W. Koster, was stripped of one star and his assistant, Brig. Gen. George Young, was reprimanded. Some of the others still face administrative sanctions.

But with Medina's acquittal, the government closed the legal books on participants in the assault.

The men of Charlie Company who returned to civilian life are out of the Army's reach and no civilian court has jurisdiction. The enlisted men who were charged but not brought to trial have been let out of the service. And the statute of limitations has run out for any further coverup trials.

In the 4½ months of Calley's trial at Ft. Benning, the story of My Lai became well known.

Lt. Col. Frank A. Barker commander of the task force named for him, briefed his company commanders the day before the assault. Col. Henderson, who had moved up from executive officer to brigade commander that day, was at the meeting and stressed aggressiveness.

Medina, in turn, briefed his Charlie Company—the spearhead of the assault. Calley's 1st platoon took the south half of the village, the 2nd platoon was in the north part and the 3rd platoon was to mop up, was the hoodhes. A standard search-and-destroy operation in such a Viet Cong-infested area as th My Lai hamlets of Son My village.

Medina testified at Calley's and his own trial that he told his men to use common sense if they were confronted by civilians. Calley said Medina ordered everyone killed and that he relayed instructions to "waste them."

Charlie Company met no enemy resistance that day. Medina testified while his men were in the village he thought they were battling the Viet Cong, that he heard nothing about civilians being shot that he saw 20-28 bodies and thought they

Tax Portion Of Nixon's Program Wins Approval Of House Unit

WASHINGTON ((AP) — The tax portion of President Nixon's new economic program has won the crucial approval of the House Ways and Means Committee—but in sharply revised form that gives business less and individuals more short-range tax relief.

By rough preliminary estimates, the Democratic-controlled committee's decisions would mean about $4.9 billion less in tax breaks over a three-year span for business and about $3.4 billion more for individuals than Nixon recommended. In the long run, the business relief could increase somewhat.

There is at least a little income tax relief for all individuals in the package approved by the committee Wednesday and scheduled to be voted on by the House about Oct. 6 It would begin showing up in the returns due next April.

Much more relief proportionately would go to low-income taxpayers, those at poverty levels or close to them.

For business, the package includes an investment credit allowing 7 per cent of the cost of equipment to be charged off against taxes and special help for exporters. But the committee would take back part of the gains for business by trimming the special depreciation advantages the Treasury already had put in effect without new legislation.

The 7 per cent excise tax on automobiles and 10 per cent excise tax on light trucks also would be repealed under the bill.

Major provisions affecting indivudals:

—The personal exemption for this year would be increased fro m$650 to $675. Instead of increasing to $700 next year, it would go to $750.

—Increased tax benefits for low income persons would begin this year and by 1972 would help some 25 million return-filers, relieving an estimated 1.9 million completely of income tax.

—Next year, a single individual would have to have $2.050 income before owing any tax, a couple $2,800, a family of four $4,300.

—The estimated poverty levels for these categories are $2,-170, $2,810 and $4,290.

Most of the individual relief was added by the committee. Nixon had recommended only a speedup of the increase in the personal exemption, to $750 next year instead of a year later.

Local Man Arrested And Charged With Clinic, Pharmacy Burglaries

A 19-year-old Pampa man was taken into custody Wednesday night by Pampa police officers and charged with the burglary of two local clinics and a pharmacy Tuesday night.

He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace E.L. Anderson who fixed bond at $5,000.

Pampa authorities asked that his name be witheld until the district attorney could be apprised of the arrest take appropriate action from his office.

In other action on the local law enforcement front, Gray County sheriff's department brought Charlene Hughes, 24, 722 W. Franlis, before Judge Anderson on a rharge of aggravated assault with a deadly weapon. Bond was fixed at $500.

Dellie Dement, 618 Scott, was lodged in county jail after she refused to undergo a breathalyzer test. She was arrested by Pampa polire and charged with driving while under the influence of intoxicants following a complaint that a car answering the description of her vehicle had driven into the Black Apartments, 412 N. Somerville.

Agency Asked To Consider Immediate Ban On DDT

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal court has told the Environmental Protection Agency to consider an immediate ban on DDT, because the long-lasting pesticide threatens man's enviroment.

The U.S. Court of Appeals, in a brief order issued Wednesday, gave EPA until Nov. 1 to explain its reasons for either agreeing or refusing to suspend federal registration of DDT.

The court order was a rerun of the situation EPA faced earlier this year but with one major difference—a scientific panel has now suggested a possible legal basis for the immediate ban which the agency earlier refused.

The order followed an appeal by the Environmental Defense Fund, a citizens' group seeking an immediate and virtually complete ban on further use of DDT. The appeal came after EPA Administrator William D. Ruckelshaus announced last March that the agency found no evidence of "an imminent hazard to the public," the legal basis for banning use of the pesticide.

The court's action Wednesday came after disclosed a report by a scientific panel commissioned by EPA to study the effects of DDT.

The panel quoted an EPA policy statement defining "imminent hazard" to include not only direct danger to public health, but also "significant injury or potential injury to plants or animals alone."

It concluded that the present level of DDT use "does not present an imminent hazard to human health in terms of individual bodily functions and safety."

British Troops Take Over Guard Duty In N. Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — British troops took over guard duty at key police stations in Northern Ireland today in a switch of policy dictated by hit-and-run raiders of the Irish Republican Army.

The soldiers moved in only a week after handing over sentry duties to the Royal Ulster Constabulary, the police force that supports the troops in battling the IRA's guerrilla campaign.

Since then several police posts have come under attack, including oen in central Belfast that was raked by machine gun fire and damaged by a gelignite bomb.

Ulster constables complained that they had been issued inadequate shotguns to defend police stations against guerrillas using automatic weapons.

Army commander Sir Harry Tuzo and chief constable Graham Shillington held an urgent meeting and announced early today that soldiers have again replaced police at stations "selected on security grounds."

There was no letup in the violence that has taken 108 lives in the past two years.

Six-year-old Linda Parker, one of two girls shot outside candy store by gunmen firing rfom a speeding car Wednesday night, was reported "still serious" in a Belfast hospital. The other girl, aged 13, was less seriously wounded. Police said the gunmen appeared to have been aiming at a military Jeep and hit the girls by mistake.

A bomb blast at the Michelin tire depot on Limestone Road injured two passersby. Another explosion wrecked a telephone exchange.

In London, members of Parliament assembled for the close of a two-day emergency debate on the crisis in Ulster.

Senate's Pentagon Critics Decide On Limited Challenge To Budget

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — In sharp contrast to the past two years, the Senate's Pentagon critics have decided on a limited, almost token challenge to the $21 billion bill authorizing funds for military hardware and research.

As a result, barring a long fight over the new version of Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield's amendment to set a date for total U.S. withdrawal from Indochina, the debate will be considerably shorter than those of recent years, improving prospects for early congressional adjournment in November.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who is organizing the drive to cut the bill, predicted in an interview the bill could be acted on within three weeks. It took twice as long a year ago, and eight weeks in 1969.

The new mood became evident Wednesday, the first full day of debate on the bill, when Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., agreed to a voice vote, rather than a roll-call tally, after just three hours of debate on an amendment to cut $339 million of the $370 million in the bill for the B1 advanced bomber.

"We made a head count and it showed we didn't have the votes," McGovern said. "I just don't see the point of going through a lengthy exercise."

Similarly, there are indications that two bitter unsuccessful efforts to stop the Safeguard missile defense system have taken their toll and that this year, only a limited effort will be made to slow antiballisic missile (ABM) defense deployment. Time limits will be accepted on most amendments, Proxmire said.

Those close to the military procurement debate say many senators feel another lengthy debate on the military procurement bill would be futile, noting that in the past most major efforts to trim the Pentagon budget have been beaten.

In addition, the Armed Services Committee is giving increasingly strict scrutiny to Pentagon requests, limiting some major projects and echoing the call by critics for economy in defense spending.

Funeral Services For Mrs. Mitchell Set Tomorrow

Funeral services are scheduled for 11 a.m. Friday in the Duenkel Funeral Home chapel for Mrs. Perla M. Michell, long-time Pampa resident, who died Wednesday in the Abraham Nursing Home, Canadian.

Rev. Ralph Palmer, pastor of the First Christian Church, will officiate, and burial will be in Fairview Cemetery.

Born Nov. 8, 1879, in Willow Springs, Mo., she moved to Oklahoma Indian Territory with her parents in 1898. She taught school in Cheyenne, Okla., for a number of years before moving to Pampa with her husband in 1926.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell opened Mitchell's Ladies Ready-To-Wear Store here, which they operated until his death in 1936. Mrs. Mitchell and her daughter, Mrs. Art Holland, of Pampa, continued to operate the store until 1939.

Mrs. Mitchell was a member of the Christian Church and of the Order of the Eastern Star.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Ruth Ann Holland of Pampa.

Calley and the other soldiers at My Lai.

"We all began this trial with the assumption that Capt. Medina was innocent. We were waiting for the government to convince us otherwise. It did not do so.

Proctor, 47, of Atlanta, issued a written statement to newsmen in which he said the jury had conscientiously striven to seek out the truth. "We feel that justice has been done. We the jury have done our job to the best of our ability."

and followed their tracks back to the original camp, arriving that afternoon.

"Now the weather was beautiful and clear," she said.

"I was vtry tired and cold so I took my clothes off and layed in the sun. The next day was Saturday (Sept. 4). I got some honey and ate it ... I layed down to sleep ... When I woke up Vern (Vern Bush, an Outward Bound instructor) found me and we hiked out."

Evaluating her companions' efforts, Pamela said:

"Joyce stayed pretty together. She never got too depressed, but she never fully realzed the situation ...."

"Lorene was really scared and kept yelling: 'This ---weather!' By Wednesday she was pretty depressed and stopped eating. By Thursday she was pretty much giving up.

"Me—I just wanted to live."

The three girls were a subgroup of 43 young women enrolled in Northwest Outward Bound, a Eugene-based school which trains young people in outdoor survival.

were killed by artillery or helicopter fire.

But a helicopter pilot returned to his base and reported indiscriminate shooting of civilians and a confrontation with Calley. The word was passed to Barker and two days later to Henderson. Some six weeks later, Henderson reported that 182 Viet Cong were killed, along with 20-28 civilians who got in the way of artillery and gunships.

Teh saga of My Lai became barracks-room talk among Americans in Vietnam, but none of it reached official ears until a former G.I.—who hadn't been there—wrott congressmen in March 1969 about what he'd heard. He spoke of "something rather dark and bloody."

Then the Pentagon investigated and brought its charges.

WILLIAM HAMPTON

Optimist Club Nominates Young Texan

William Madison Hampton, 17, has been nominated for Young Texan of the Month by the Pampa Optimist Club. In competition sponsored by the Optimist Clubs of Texas, the finalist will be selected on the basis of achievement.

Young Hampton, son of Dr. and Mrs. R.M. Hampton, 1824 Mary Ellen, has established a record of scholastic endeavor and athletic activity.

He has played both football and baseball and has been an honor student academically in both junior high and high school. He ranks 58 in a senior class of 400 students.

GI Combat Deaths Drop

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today that 13 American servicemen were killed in action in Vietnam last week, marking the 10th consecutive week that combat deaths fell below 20.

The figure was one less than U.S. deaths two weeks ago and reflected the continuing American disengagement and a relative lull in ground fighting.

The command also reported 111 U.S. troops were wounded in action last week, more than double the 49 listed as wounded the previous week. Many of these were attributed to booby traps.

The command's weekly casualty summary also showed 12 U.S. deaths from accidents and illness last week, the same number of deaths in the non hostile category for the previous week.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported 397 government troops were killed and 755 were wounded last week, and increase over the 264 killed and 508 wounded of two weeks ago.

The allied commands reported, 1527 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops were killed last week. This compared with 1,085 enemy troops reported killed by the allies the week before.

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A 93-year-old man, charged with first-degree murder in connection with a fire that killed six fellow nursing home patients, has been committed for psychiatric examination at a Salt Lake City hospital.

Thorvold Peterson, a resident of the Lil Haven nursing home, was charged Friday with the death of John Opdahl, 71, one of the six victims of the fire early Wednesday.

Post Office Authorized To Bill Dog Owners For Bitten Mailmen

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — The U.S. Post Office is putting the bite on dog owners whose pets chew on letter carriers.

Since July 1, the Post Office has been authorized by law to bill dog owners the cost of treating postal employes bitten while on their rounds.

The Newark Post Office has five such cases pesding, including one for $2,100 against a family whose dog tore a mailman's leg and put him out of work for six weeks.

"I don't know what it is," said Newark Postmaster Joseph Bennuci. "A dog sees a mailman and goes wild."

Every year in the United States, 20,000 mailmen are bitten by dogs the Post Office says. The problem is worse in suburban areas.

Postal officials blame the increasing use of guard dogs for some of the troubles. Unfortunatel y, they say, the guard dogs are doing their thing to mailmen as well as to burglars.

Most mailmen nowadays are equipped with dog repellant that causes at least five seconds of eye irritation.

Local post offices are also authorized to stop delivery to families whose pets have attacked mailmen. The household is notified that unless the dog is leashed at mail delivery time, service to the home will stop.

"The trouble with that," said Jersey City Postal Supervisor Harry Brophy, "is that sometimes you even get bitten when you deliver the notice that service is stopping."

Bennuci adds: "It's not only the pain of being bitten that hurts.

"It's a question of negligence. There's not only the cost of medical treatment, tetanus shots and sometimes sutures, but the loss in salary for the employe who gets bitten."

Massive Raids Inside N. Vietnam Aimed At Blunting Season Attack

SAIGON (AP) — The massive U.S. air raids inside North Vietnam's southern panhandle two days ago were ordered by President Nixon primarily against fuel depots to blunt a dry-season push of troops and supplies southward, official sources said today.

The U.S. Command, in announcing the strikes, initially said they were directed against surface-to-air missile—SAM—sites and antiaircraft guns firing on American reconnaissance planes flying over North Vietnam and bombers attacking the Ho Chi Minh trail supply network in Laos.

The U.S. Command acknowledged today, in a second communique, that the 200 air strikes in an area running 35 miles north from the demiliarized zone included attacks on fuel storage depots. Official sources outside the command said they were the primary targets and today's communique, reporting damage assessment, dealt mainly with the fuel storage depots rather than the antiaircraft defenses.

The sources said that the nature of the strikes meant that they had to be ordered by the highest authority, meaning the President.

The sources said the attacks did not represent an expansion of the "protective reaction" policy in that three previosu major strikes since May 1, 1970, were similar. The official reason given for the previous strikes was that they were primarily against antiaircraft defenses, although the bombers attacked scores of other targets including supply depots and trucks.

"Look at the past protective reactions of this size," said one source. "You see the sort of targets undertaken and the pattern that has developed."

Communist negotiators canceled today's session of the Paris peace talks to protest the raids.

The command said today that pilots "reported numerous large sustained fires and heavy black smoke which indicated that strikes on POL—petroleum, oil, and lubricants—storage areas had been successful."

ONE EFFECT of the 10 per cent tax on imports into the United States imposed in President Nixon's economic program is evident 6,000 miles away. Japanese shoppers pore over table utensils originally produced for the U.S. market but now on bargain sale in Tokyo.

Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The ability of the United States to unilaterally impose on the world a new monetary order appears now to be less than was first believed and hoped for in Washington.

The U.S. plan was to force a realignment of currencies by floating the dollar, or releasing it from its anchor of gold. Other currencies, it was hoped, would then rise in relation to the dollar.

The effect would be to make American products more competitive abroad and foreign products less competitive, or more costly, in the United States, which for many nations is their biggest export market.

To enforce its demands, the United States holds another weapon, a 10 per cent surcharge on foreign goods. Regardless of the effectiveness of the dollar floating, therefore, foreign goods will be made less competitive.

The realignment of currencies has taken place to some extent, but slowly. Some analysts now believe that only half the level of adjustment has been achieved in more than a month and that the second half will be harder to achieve for several reasons.

Gaining adherents now, especially since a meeting Sept. 15 in London of the major trading nations, is a plan whereby the United States would meet other nations halfway, that is, through a devaluation of the dollar.

Few monetary officials deny that the United States had cause to seek a realignment of currencies, but they are reportedly indignant about the manner in which it was attempted. The United States too must contribute, they say.

If the United States were to officially devalue the dollar, instead of relying solely on revaluation of foreign currencits, it might reduce the burden somewhat. Its main value, however, would be in speeding the entire process.

Some bankers asd others fear that the longer the adjustment process is carried out the greater is the danger that world trade, essential for the economic health of all nations, will deteriorate.

Devaluation by the United States would involve raising the official price of gold from $35 an ounce to perhaps $37 or so.

There are several objections to devaluation. The psychological reason cannot be dismissed. The United States feels that, despite its financial problems, it is still the most powerful economy and should be in a position to demand reforms.

Perhaps the most-often mentioned objection to devaluation is the feeling that to raise the price of gold would be to hand a gift to South Africa and Russia, both big producers with whom there are ideological disputes.

Texas Tech Dads To Meet Oct. 9

Fathers of Pampa students at Texas Tech University have been invited to attend the annual Dads' Day observance in Lubbock on Saturday, Oct. 9.

It will begin with registration from 9 to 11 a.m., followed by a noonday business meeting and Dads Association embmreship luncheon in the University Center and a mothers' luncheon in the Gates-Wall Hall complex.

There will be bus tours in the afternoon and the Tech-Texas A&M football game kickoff is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in Jones Stadium.

SIC Reports 52 Pct. Increase In Earnings

Southwestern Investment Co. of Amarillo and Pampa reports a 52 percent increase in earnings for the year ended Aug. 31, 1971. Consolidated net earnings were $2,544,356 compared to $1,669,521 in 1970. After preferred stock dividends, the 1971 earnings were equivalent to $1.80 per share based on average common shares outstanding compared to $1.12 in the previous year.

Lower short-term interest costs were the principal factor in more than doubling 1970's earnings from finance operations. All other operating divisions contributed increases except for a slight decline in life insurance net earnings.

Improved business conditions were reflected by a substantial improvement in credit loss experience during the most recent six months and by a 2 percent increase in outstanding finance receivables.

Plains Pooch's Passing Put In Prominent Print

DICKENS, Tex. (AP) — Not much could be said for the chance that a small white fox terrier puppy found on a deserted highway near Dickens, Tex., might some day end up with a three-column obituary in a metropolitan newspaper.

But the newly-published Dickens County History has recorded that a homeless little pup named "Tex" was found by Alice Kennelly, later Mrs. Edward Roberts, a columnist for the Kentucky edition of the Cincinnati Enquirer.

She found the pup beside the road while vacationing in New Mexico and Texas in 1950.

"Tex" became well known to the newspaperwoman's readers.

60TH ANNIVERSARY — Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Barnett, 1033 S. Faulkner, will celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary Sunday. The couple was married Sept. 24, 1911, in Sapulpa, Okla.

Reception Planned For Pampa Couple

A reception honoring Mr. and Mrs. E.F. Barnett, 1033 S. Faulkner, on their 60th wedding anniversary will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday in their home. All of their friends are invited to attend.

Hosts will be the couple's children. They are Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Barnett, Mr. and Mrs. J.L. Romines, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barnett, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Barnett, Stanley Barnett, all of Pampa; Mr. and Mrs. James Salsman of Poteau, Okla.; Rev. and Mrs. James R. Baxter and Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Barnett, all of Morrison, Okla.

Mattie Bell and Earnest Franklin Barnett were united in marriage in Sapulpa, Okla., Sept. 24, 1911. They moved to Pampa in 1928.

The couple has 27 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Drama Group Plans For Fall Production

Members of the Pampa High School drama department are preparing for their fall production of "Arsenic and Old Lace," to be staged Saturday, Oct. 23, and Monday, Oct. 25, in the school auditorium.

Cast members include Retha Jordan as Abby Brewster; Mike Smith as Rev. Harper; Jim Bowen as Teddy Brewster; Tom Batchelor as Officer Klein; Lou Ann Fulcher as Martha Brewster; Paula Johnson as Elaine Harper; Rod Warford as Mortimer Brewster; Glenn Davis as Dr. Herman Einstein; Rick Powers as Jonathan Brewster; Rip Thomas as Lt. Roomey; Marc Hudson as Officer O' Hara; Cara Thomas as Mr. Hoskins; and Rick Martin as Mr. Spinalzo.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 57-year-old man who is absolutely crazy, mad, wild and dizzy over a 55-year-old widow who makes me feel like a teen-ager!

This woman is beautiful, warm, responsive, intelligent, and she says she loves me as much as I love her. So what's the problem? She won't marry me!

Her reason: She has buried three husbands, and she says she is a "jinx" to a man. She says she will continue to date me, she will travel with me, and she will even "play house" with me, but she won't marry me or anybody else as long as she lives because she cannot go thru burying another husband. Abby, I am in perfect health, and I am not planning on dying.

So what advice have you for a man who wants a wife and not a mistress?

—WALKING ON AIR

DEAR WALKING: Keep walking.

DEAR ABBY: This problem concerns my wife. She thinks it is against the Bible to have sex in the day time. And it has got to be real dark or it's no go.

Another thing, when she goes outside, no matter what the weather is like she buttons herself up and always has a coat on. I am losing patience with this woman. Can you help me?

—HAD IT IN THE SOONER STATE

DEAR HAD IT: Ask your wife to show you where in the Bible it says sex is forbidden is the day time. And since she's religious, maybe your clergyman can talk to her. And it wouldn't hurt to have the doctor check her over, too.

DEAR ABBY: The many letters you print from widows who complain that they are lonely, neglected and forgotten, prompts me to write.

I lost my husband nearly a year ago. We had been married for 35 years, and, Abby, there are not enough hours in the day to do all the things I'd like to do. Since his death (he had been ill for two years) I have returned to church activities, volunteer work and keep busy with lectures, art, antiques and helping others.

I invite my friends in for dinner, and I'm not hung up on having a balanced table with an equal number of men and women. I am more concerned with good companionship and conversation. I'm not looking for dates, but if I were, I'm sure that wouldn't be a problem.

I am not saying I never have moments of loneliness, I have. But no widow has to be chronically lonely if she makes an effort to keep busy and active instead jof sitting home and expecting others to invite her out.

—NO TIME FOR LONELINESS

DEAR NO TIME: Not every widow has your get up and go, but thank you for an inspiring letter.

DEAR ABBY: Three cheers for the 14-year-old adopted girl who wrote the letter exploding the myth about the "other" mother.

Too many bad movies, tearful novels and hysterical TV shows have depicted the adopted child into the foggy night to search for his or her "real" mother.

Baloney!

I, too, was adopted — over 40 years ago when I was an infant. My "real" parents were those two wonderful people who gave me their name, their home, their loving care and their discipline. That they were not my biological parents mattered not one bit.

An adopted child with loving parents has no "other" mother.

Report Meet Held By Legion Ladies

The American Legion Auxiliary met recently in Furr's Cafeteria, with Mrs. Ruth Sewell, president, in charge.

During the meeting, it was announced the auxiliary had purchased a new United States flag for Fairview Cemetery.

It was reported, also, that a needy veteran, ill in the hospital, had been given aid by the group. Mrs. Molly Butts had made 22 lap robes for patients in the hospital, in cooperation with the Red Cross.

A card was signed and a gift sent to Mrs. Katie Vincent, a long-time member who is ill in Worley Hospital. Mrs. Sewell thanked the group for its courtesies while she was incapacitated with a broken hip.

The meeting was opened with the Auxiliary prayer. The pledge to the flag was given, and the auxiliary preamble was read in unison.

Next meeting will be at 6:30 p.m., Oct. 21, in Furr's Cafeteria.

Members present were Mmes. Bessie Foster, Estelle Wheeler, Evelyn Stout, Gladys Turner, Mary Martin, Ruth Sewell; and Miss Ruth Huff.

Peroxide

If you want to keep those summer-sun streaks in your hair during the winter, all you need is a brush and a bottle of peroxide. Dip the brush into the peroxide and brush the area you want to blond. Do this before shampooing and be sure not to leave the peroxide on too long or it will damage the hair.

Your Horoscope

FRIDAY, SEPT. 24

Your birthday today: Your natal day begins a prolonged run of healthy normal growth, added progress and, inevitably, more responsibility for your own and others' well being. There is considerable work which you can't shirk. Todays' natives often collect material objects, may ncounter themselves with personal possessions to the point of being tied to one place.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Inquire diligently to see if there isn't some better way of doing your chosen speciality and a more favorable bargain in supplies.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Make peace wherever needed, whether you had any share in disharmony or not. Get your full quota of work done on time.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): you cannot prevent budget upsets, since unusual expenses are essential or brought on by circumstances beyond your immediate control. Go ahead as if this is the way you'd have chosen.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Competition pops in areas where you'd think there could be none. Arise to the occasion in dignity and splendor of spirit.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Present yourself positively as a leader able to deal with a major project. Your mature action in any job level can be impressive.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Old times come to life again with a visitor or recovery of an object associated with long past. Have fun but keep work going well too.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Progress is not always direct or upward; a step back seems probable. Learn, regroup for a renewed effort later.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Any comment you offer promises to bruise a tender ego somewhere near. Be specially gentle to those you love. Home life, daily living habits require practical consideration.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Hide your dismay or indecision with a cloak of smiles. Proceed as if fully confident choosing a direction away from controversy.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Step right up and claim your proper place, full attention. A strong promotional talk should work. Provide definite, positive advice.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Clear up odds and ends, terminate unproductive projects. Make space for larger programs.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Seek the conventional, thrifty approach. You have neither time, money nor resources to waste or risk on speculative ventures.

Today's Parents Blame Themselves, Berate Themselves, When Child Errs

By BETTY CANARY

DEAR BETTY—Our daughter is only 19. At 17 she was pregnant and married the 18-year-old father of the child. The baby was born prematurely and died and now our daughter is divorced and living at home. Her father and I tried to rear her with Christian ideals and morals and did everything we could to teach her to be a responsible, mature person. We did not want her to marry the boy as they were completely unsuited but the two of them insisted. The marriage was a shambles and the past two years has been one long nightmare for us. What did we do that was so wrong?"

—FLORIDA

DEAR BETTY—My son is just back from Vietnam and I am sure he is taking drugs. It saddens us that he did not have the moral fiber to resist this temptation. Where did I go wrong?

—PENNSYLVANIA

Tailored Look

It's back to the tailored look for women's suits — wide lapeled jackets with flared pants, slung low on the hips, with man-tailored shirts. Make sure the accessories go with it. Try little boyish shoes, a cravat and a plain square leather pocketbook.

Face Attention

Keep your ears warm and the attention on your face this winter. Wear a knit hat pulled down onto the forehead. These are called cloche hats and they come in various fabrics and designs.

Patch Pockets

Patch pockets in contrasting colors, which were so popular with corduroy jeans, can be used for more elegant outfits. Cut out squares of white lace or brightly colored velvet can give a patchpocket look to a black velvet dress.

First Meeting Held My Mobeetie Troop

MOBEETIE (Special) Mobeetie Brownie Girl Sco held their first meeting of n year with Mrs. Kay Batt leader, and Mrs. Nancy Shelt assistant leader, in charge the First United Method Church. The group conducted flag ceremony, sang son talked about making n friends and discussed th sister-troop projects.

Refreshments were served Mrs. Shelton. Attending we Teresa Shelton, Terri Ea Shannon Batton, Susan Bart Donna Quarles, Melissa Hefl Shonda Quarles, Connie Wals Cindy Harrison and Debb Dyson.

Southwestern Bell To Crackdown On Fraudulent Toll Call Practice

Southwestern Bell is trying to stop people from using fraudulent telephnone credit card numbers and fake phone numbers to make long distance calls without paying for them.

"We're making it more difficult for fraudulent long distance calls to be completed," said George Newberry, manager here. "If a fraudulent call is completed, using a fake credit card number or phone number, we have new ways to detect, investigate and prosecute the person responsible."

Highlights of the new plan include changing of the credit card numbering system — training of long distance operators to detect fraudulent calls when they are placed and use of computers to spot fake credit card numbers and phone numbers when long distance calls are billed.

Most fraudulent calling involves illegal charging of calls to Bell System credit card numbers. Under the new system if a person in Pampa makes a call using a non-existent credit card and the operator does not catch it, daily processing of toll message tickets will turn it up. This means quick identification — maybe in 24 to 48 hours. It is virtually impossible to escape detection after that. Identiy of the caller can be made with just one call.

Use of an unauthorized or fictitious telephone credit card could violate both state and federal law. Maximum penalties range from a $1,000 fine and 10 years in prison, if convicted of a felony under Texas law, to a $10,000 fine and five years in prison for felony conviction under federal law.

"There are good reasons for the stiff penalties," Newberry said. "The Bell System may lose $34 million to toll fraud this year. In the five states Southwestern Bell serves, toll fraud losers may top $3 million."

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia (AP) — Zagreb Grand Fair, which closed in September, attracted 6,300 exhibitors from 55 countries and more than 1.5 million visitors, officials announced.

Court Schedules Argument On Redistrictin

AUSTIN (AP) — Fresh from one entanglement in the "political thicket" of redistricing, the Texas Supreme Court plunges into that same old briar patch again Thursday.

The court scheduled arguments on whether legislative redistricting was even necessary this year and, if so, who should do it.

Only two weeks ago, the court ruled that the House redistricting plan adopted by the 1971 legislature was unconstitutional.

But if left unsettled the question of whether the five-man Legislative Redistricting Board —already at work on Senate reapportionment—or a special session of the legislature should write a constitutional bill for House.

Sen. Oscar Mauzy of Dallas petitioned the high court Sept. 14 to order the board to redistrict the house.

Mauzy reportedly favortd a special legislative session but filed his case anyway since that was the only way to get the issue decided quickly. The redistricting board ceases to exist Oct. 23.

The board itself voted 4 to 1 in favor of a resolution, saying it believed it had no authority over House districts unless the Supreme Court decreed otherwise.

Gov. Preston Smith, the only person who can order a special legislative session, prefers the board approach.

Texas' Constitution says the board must redistrict either House that the legislature fails to reapportion in its first regular session after publication of census data. The regular adjourned without action on Senate districts.

The constitution is silent, however, on what must be done if a redistricting bill passed during the session is invalidatted by courts.

Indian Militants Clash With Police

By PEGGY SIMPSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Indian militants and police clashed inside the Bureau of Indian Affairs building Wednesday, and the approximately 30 young demonstrators attempted to make a citizens' arrest on BIA Deputy Commissioner John Crow.

Up to 10 of the Indians were arrested after a screaming, shoving, war-whooping melee at the base of the stairs leading up to Crow's office.

Among those arrested was Russell Means, an Oglala Sioux who was spokesman for the American Indian Movement demonstration to protest Crow's alleged clampdown on proposals designed to give Indians greater self-determination.

As the fighting erupted, some BIA executives sympathetic to the militants were also shoved about.

Ernest Stevens, one of the Indians brought in by BIA Commissioner Louis Eruce, who since the arrival of Crow in July has been downgraded in rank, was attempting to make appointments for the AIM members when the fighting and shouting began.

As Stevens recalled later, he had started to head for a telephone when Means attempted to lead his people up the stairs toward the executive offices and were blocked by police.

Brownings Pipestem, a lawyer and also a key member of Bruce's team, was squeezed into a corner as the police and demonstrators flayed about.

"I was trying to keep sanity," Pipestem said. "It is a whole tragic series of errors."

Earlier the AIM demonstrators led by Means had barricaded themselves in two rooms of the BIA's public information division and had announced they would not come out until they could meet with Crow.

Congress Bans N-Bomb Blast

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House accepted Wednesday a passed bill to ban the Amchitka Island underground nuclear test "unless the President gives his direct approval for such test."

The Senate's restriction on use of funds for the test was written into a compromise $4.7-billion public works appropriation bill.

The House passed the compromise 376.0 and sent it to the Senate for final actton.

Congressional sources say the five-megaton nuclear bomb for the test was lowered at least 300 feet into the underground Alaskan island test hole last week even though President Nixon has not officially approved the test.

LONDON (AP) — Britain exported nearly 31.6 million gallons of Scotch whisky in the first six months of 1971, an increase of 14.5 per cent over the same period last year, the industry announced.

Mansfield Hopes House Will Okay Senate Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield expressed hope today the House will approve a new Senate move to set a date for U.S. withdrawal from Indochina.

The Montana Democrat said he was unable to say when the new proposal would be offered, but Senate sources said it would likely be presented next week.

A previous Mansfield amendment to the draft bill directed total withdrawal of U.S. troops in nine months if American prisoners are freed. It passed the Senate 61 to 38 but was diluted in conference after House rejection and sent to the White House as part of the draft measure on Tuesday.

The sources said the new amendment, to be offered to the $21-billion measure to authorize military hardware and research for the armed forces, would probably carry a six-month deadline but that its full text is still being drafted.

Nixon To Meet With Gromyko In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon will confer here next Wednesday with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, the White House announced Wednesday.

Gromyko has had annual conferences with Nixon on the occasion of the Russian leader's visits to the United Nations General Assembly.

Asked if the Soviets had requested the meeting, press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said each government was involved in advance negotiations and reached an agreement on the White House session.

Ziegler, when asked what the two men would talk about, replied, "I don't have details to give you on that."

Nixon's top national security adviser, Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, was bound for New York today to make a speech. But neither he nor the White House would specify his audience or the location of the appearance.

Anthony Quinn Succumbs To TV At Last

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — To turn your back on $5 million takes something special. Guts, maybe. Or rocks in the head. Or, in Anthony Quinn's case, principles.

Quinn said no to a firm offer of $5 million — tax free — to do a television series five years ago. At the time, he didn't think he would be saying anything worthwhile the way the series was laid out. But now he's in TV in ABC's The Man and the City. He's happy and his principles are happy, too.

The deal five years ago was offered by the British insurance company, Lloyd's. They wanted a series called The Man From Lloyd's and that was the price they offered — plus the use of a yacht for three months each year for Quinn's vacation.

At first, seduced by the money and the chance to shoot around the world, Quinn agreed. Lloyd's happily flew 25 executives to Hollywood for a gala contract signing, with champagne and hors d'oeuvres and striped trousers.

The night before the event, Quinn couldn't sleep. He thought o' two years of what he considered empty entertainment. He walked the beach all night long, then showed up for the supposed ceremony unshaven and in dirty clothes and said, "Gentlemen, I'm sorry, but I just can't do it."

It cost him $25,000—they made him pay for the trip and all that champagne.

But now, five years later, he has done a complete turn-about. The reasons are worth examining.

Anthony Quinn
Turning to television.

First, he feels that this series he's doing says something. It won't hit you over the head with a message, but it is about today and today's problems and, thus, he considers it "relevant."

But there are other, more earthy, reasons why Quinn has decided to do a TV series now. For one thing, he came to the conclusion that he's actually been in television for some years.

"My movies are on TV all the time," he says. "I counted up and 104 of my movies have been seen on TV. So I'm in TV — and not getting paid for it.

"The other day, Brando called up and said, 'Tony, why are you of all people doing a TV series?' And I said to him, 'Marlon, you're on Tv, I'm on TV, all movie actors are on TV, so we might as well get paid for it."

Another reason is that he had been living abroad for the past five or six years, and began to realize he was losing his American roots. He was, he says, "in a state of limbo." Even his children realized it. One of his sons, he says, said to him, "Dad, you've lost touch with things here," when he came back for a visit and started to discuss current events.

This is a way of getting back into the swim, reestablishing his roots and his concern with American issues.

There is another motive behind Quinn entering TV. He says he is less concerned now with having a great part than with reaching a larger number of people. He realized that his film, "Requiem for a Heavyweight," was seen by perhaps one million people in the theater, but more than 70 million saw it on home TV screens.

Quinn was not suffering from any lack of movie offers — there are seven scripts which he is now considering — nor was it the lure of big money that brought him to TV.

If I wanted to be rich," he says, "there are easier ways than acting. I could import hemp. Anyhow, money doesn't mean that much to me — I'm still too embarrassed to have a yacht or a Rolls."

But what he does want to do is make some contribution, in some way. He has been doing a great deal of soul-searching lately, and he isn't sure he's really done as much as he should have with his life.

"People tell me I've given hours of pleasure to people," he says, "but a prostitute can make the same statement."

He thinks, now, that he might have been happier had he become an architect, his earliest passion. Maybe to fill that void, he is currently occupied with building "a city" on the Greek island of Rhodes. He thinks that may become his most lasting contribution.

He's also written three books lately, but won't publish any of them because, he says, he made the mistake of being too truthful. The three form a sort of autobiographical trilogy. They're called "The Original Sin," "Come Back, Dear Bird" and "Sam, Zorba and Me."

NEW CRIME-FIGHTING OFFICE

Bite Is Worse Than B--ureaueratic Ring

AUSTIN (AP) — This city's newest federal office has a harm less-sounding name with a bureaucratic ring to it, but its job will be one of the toughest in law enforcement.

The name is the Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Division of the Internal Revenue Service.

The job, said one of its officials, will be "Almost exclusively fighting organized crime."

Some of the federal government's most effective new tools against organized crime are the laws of the past three years trolling firearms and explosives, which are administered by the Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Division.

The division, said Chief Special Investigator Elvin D. Hilge who opened the Austin branch office, "is devoting more and more of its time to organized crime and it's going to be more that way in the future."

Although the division's agents are the legendary "revenooers" who traditionally axe back-country stills, Hilger said "firearms and explosives will be our main interest, because moonshine's not a problem down here."

The firearms laws which Hilger and his field agents will enforce include the 1968 Gun Control Act, the newly revamped National Firearms Act and the new Explosives Act.

Since the gun-regulation laws were passed, Hilger said, most of the provisions relating to the sale and import of guns to the average gun owner have been put into full effect, and the IRS can concentrate on using the laws as a weapon against crime, especially the organized variety.

Les Ellsworth of the Dallas office of the Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Division said the average gun owner, "other than having to sign a form when he buys a gun, is not very much affected."

The new laws, he said, give the government "the ability to get some people off the streets and into the penitentiary—people who ought to be here. Quite frankly, it's working pretty well."

Ellsworth said the division's eight-state region which includes Texas had filed "in the neighborhood of 3,000 cases" since 1968, and "we can expect something in the neighborhood of 95 per cent conviction."

"The real significance," he added, "is who these 3,000 are—we're geared to go after big-time criminals rather than the petty criminal."

In 1959, about 500 deaths were reported in a river flood in southwestern India.

Chemical Plant In Production Following Fire

BAYPORT, Tex. (AP) — Oxirane Chemical Co.'s propylene oxide plant here is back on stream after a three-month shutdown caused by a fire May 26.

The Oxirane plant, jointly owned by subsidiaries of Atlantic Richfield Co. and Halcon Internationa, Inc., has a design production capacity of 160 million pounds per year of propylene oxide.

Unaffected by the fire was Oxirane's second plant, having a design capacity of 340 million pounds per year of propylene Oxide, under construction at an adjoining site at the Bayport petrochemical complex. The new facility is scheduled to be in production by the end of this year.

Smith Addresses Juvenile Judges

BROWNWOOD, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith, addressing about 100 juvenile judges who are holding a three-day conference here, said Wednesday that, in the face of constant increases in offenses during the past decade, the people of Texas want "something done" about crime.

"We do not believe that Texans will ever welcome federal control of law enforcement," Smith said. "Nor do we believe that they will ever welcome a state-operated criminal justice system, because the desire of our people for local law enforcement is strong in our heritage and in our desires."

The governor then outlined how $3 million would be spent on action programs in the coming year.

More American Males Undergo Vasectomy

By C. G. McDANIEL
AP Science Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Make love, not babies.

This seems to be the attitude of the modern American male.

The number of men undergoing vasectomy—the male sterilization operation—has shown a "sensational increase" recently, says John R. Rague, executive director of the Association for Voluntary Sterilization in New York City. He estimated 750,000 American males had vasectomies in 1970. That's up from an estimated 200,000 the year before.

And Rague predicted in an interview that the 1971 figure will be even greater than 1970's.

So far, an estimated three million men in the United States have had sterilization surgery—a simple procedure, done often in the doctor's office in a few minutes. The American male is not alone.

In India, where reduction in the birth rate is a major concern, an estimated 8.2 million men have been sterilized. In Great Britain some 20,000 men underwent vasectomies last year and it is estimated the figure will be double for 1971.

Rague said his association offered $30,000 in October 1969 to any New York hospital which would open a vasectomy clinic. There were no takers. The money went to the Margaret Sanger Research Bureau, which did open such a clinic.

Since then, Rague said, 154 vasectomy clinics have opened in 36 states. Among them are 82 hospitals which do vasectomies in their outpatient departments.

Rague, as well as medical authorities, attributes the recent upsurge in requests for male vasectomies to fears about possible adverse side-effects from the contraceptive pills taken by women.

There is also, he said, "a finer understanding of human sexuality, especially among the young," so that males are willing to take responsibility for preventing pregnancy.

And "the Puritanism which has been a strong influence in the development of the United States" has been declining in the past decade, especially among those under age 30, Rague said.

An obstacle to male sterilization has been the popular misconception that the operation makes the man less masculine, less able to perform sexually.

This is untrue.

In fact a survey by the Association for Voluntary Sterilization of 25,000 men who had had vasectomies found that 85 per cent of the men felt that their sexual performances was better, 13 per cent felt it was about the same, and 2 per cent felt that it had declined.

In the last group, Rague noted, the aging process could have been a factor.

The male sterilization operation is much simpler and less expensive to perform than that for females, which requires hospitalization. Vasectomies are performed under local anesthetic, with little or no pain.

Vasectomy interrupts the flow of sperm into the ejaculatory system.

Peking Cancels October 1 Parade

LONDON (AP) — Red China announced the cancellation of its traditional parade on National Day Oct. 1 for economy reasons, the British Foreign Office reported.

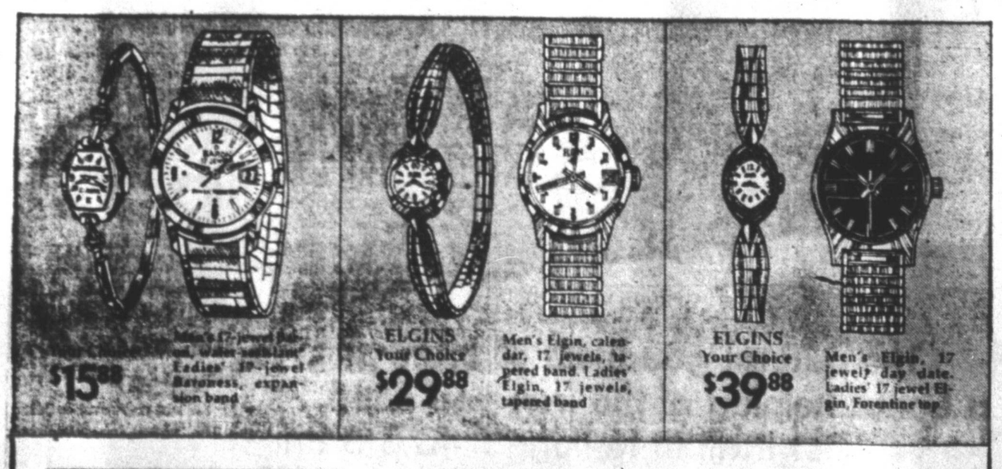

The Foreign Office got word from its charge d'affairs in Peking. Cancellation of the parade was confirmed by a spokesman for the Chinese Embassy in Paris. He said the parade was called off as part of a decision to change the way of celebrating the holiday.

As for reports that Mao Tse-tung was ill, he said the party chairman was "in excellent health."

The decision to cancel the National Day parade, reviewed by Mao and other high officials, was unusual. The parade had been held annually since the Chinese Communist wrested the Nationalists 21 years ago.

One year ago: Five Nobel Peace Prize winners called on the Soviet Union and the United States to halt and reverse the nuclear arms race.

Chewy spice bars have base of instant oatmeal with apples and raisins.

Snack On Chewy Spice Bars

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Yearning for the special taste of homemade goodness in cookies? A Chewy Spice Bar, topped with a frosting and walnut half, fits the bill. The combination cookie has a nutritional basis with use of instant oatmeal, apples, cinnamon, raisins and spice. Since it is school time again, this is a good treat to keep around for snacking children and their friends.

CHEWY SPICE BARS

Cookie Base:
½ cup butter or margarine
1½ cups firmly packed brown sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon brandy extract
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
Dash salt
¼ teaspoon ginger
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon allspice
Two 1½-oz. packets instant oatmeal with apples and cinnamon, uncooked
Two 1½-oz. packets instant oatmeal with raisins and spice, uncooked
1 package shelled walnuts

Frosting:
One-third cup butter or margarine
1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
1 teaspoon brandy extract

For cookie base, heat oven to 350 degrees. Beat together butter and sugar until fluffy. Beat in eggs and brandy extract. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, ginger, nutmeg and allspice. Add to creamed mixture; beat until smooth. Stir in instant oatmeals. Spread batter into a greased 13x9-inch square baking pan. Bake in preheated 350-degree oven about 30 minutes. Cool. For frosting, beat butter until light and fluffy. Add confectioners' sugar, a little at a time, beating after each addition. Beat in brandy extract, a few drops at a time. Chill. Frost cookie base before cutting and top each bar with a walnut half. Makes 3 dozen.

Homemade Ice Cream Pops Provide Economic Snack Treat For Small Fry

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Small fry appetites can send the weekly food budget into a spin. However, making home snacks helps economize and keeps youngsters happy.

VANILLA 'N CHIP ICE CREAM POPS

1 package unflavored gelatin
1 tablespoon cold water
2 cups light cream
4 egg yolks, beaten
½ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 ounces semi-sweet chocolate, coarsely grated

Sprinkle gelatin over cold water; let stand 5 minutes to soften. In a small saucepan combine light cream with egg yolks, sugar and salt; mix well.

Cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly, for 5 minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in softened gelatin. Turn mixture into ice cube tray without divider; cool slightly Place in freezer and freeze until almost firm. Remove from tray and beat until fluffy. Beat in chocolate. Spoon into ice cream pop forms or into ice cube tray with divider. If using pop forms insert sticks at once. If using ice cube tray wait until mixture is partly frozen to insert sticks. Freeze until firm. To unmold, separate cream from the sides of the molds with a hot knife. Life out carefully. Makes 1 quart or 16 pops of ¼ cup each.

ORANGE-LEMON ICE POPS

1 package unflavored gelatin
1 cup orange juice
Two-third cup lemon juice
2 cups water
¾ cup sugar
1 tablespoon pure vanilla extract

Sprinkle gelatin over orange and lemon juices; let soften 5 minutes. In a small saucepan combine water and sugar; bring to boiling point and boil 5 minutes. Pour over juice. Stir in vanilla. Pour mixture into ice cube trays with dividers. Push sticks in when almost frozen.

Homemade ice cream pops ease budget and keep small fry happy.

NUTRIENT BOOSTER

To greatly improve the taste and nutrition value of a meat sandwich, add lettuce, escarole, chopped cabbage or other green vegetable.

SEASON STRETCH

Adding greatly to our enjoyment, seasons for fresh fruits and vegetables have stretched. For example, in 1931 even in New York City, fresh corn was available only from May through October. Now it is at the market in all months, with large amounts from April through September.

STORAGE STORY

To keep most fresh fruits and vegetables at their best, keep them cold. Exceptions to this rule are sweetpotatoes and potatoes. Bananas and tomatoes should be kept at room temperature until they are ripe, then refrigerated. The same is true of unripe avocados and pears. Dry onions need not be refrigerated unless they are held for a long period, above all keep them dry.

Dilly Creamed Beans

1 can (1 lb) Stokely's Finest Cut Green Beans
½ cup dairy sour cream
1 teaspoon lemon juice
⅛ teaspoon white pepper
1 teaspoon dill weed

Heat Green Beans in saucepan; drain (reserve liquid for use in soup or gravy.)

Combine sour cream, lemon juice, pepper, and dill weed. Heat slightly; pour over hot Green Beans.

Serves 4.

Curried Shrimp And Crab Casserale Delightfil Buffet

By AILEEN CLAIRE'
NEA Food Editor

Concert musicians always are on the go. Composer-conductor Harold Farberman and his wife Corinne Curry, a concert and opera singer, flit between the East and West Coasts. He is music director for the Oakland, Calif., Symphony Orchestra. Both enjoy entertaining and a specialty of the house is a curried shrimp and crab casserole called, significantly, "Corinne's Curry." It is a small buffet in itself with a number of accompanying side dishes to top the curry and rice or noodles also may be served.

"CORINNE'S CURRY"

2 tablespoons butter
1 onion, sliced
4 tablespoons flour
2 cups chicken bouillon
3 tablespoons lemon juice
3 teaspoons curry powder, or to taste
2 cups lump crabmeat (canned or fresh)
2 cups cooked and cleaned shrimp
Salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste

Corinne Curry cooks the shrimp: Bring 1 cup cold water to boiling, add shrimp and bring to boil again. Lower heat and simmer for 3 minutes or until all the shrimp are pink — no more. Longer cooking toughens the shrimp. Remove from heat, uncover and cool. Peel and clean the shrimp out and remove from the stock. Heat the butter in a 2-quart flameproof casserole. Add the sliced onion and cook for 5 minutes. Blend the flour in and add the bouillon. Cook for 5 minutes longer. Add the lemon juice, curry powder, crabmeat and shrimp. Add salt and pepper to taste. Heat thoroughly. Accompaniments: chutney, chopped almonds, chopped scallions, snipped parsley, sliced tomatoes, chopped black olives, chopped crisp bacon, candied ginger, grated fresh coconut, chopped orange peel, chopped avocado, sprinkled with lemon juice, crisp-fried "Bombay Duck." Makes 6 to 8 servings.

VEGETABLES — Vegetables make good snacks. They score low on calories and high on nutrients. Extension foods and nutrition specialists suggest trying cucumber slivers, carrot curls, celery sticks, cauliflowerets, cabbage or tomato wedges.

Versatile Fish Goes Casual Or Elegant

AUSTIN — Fish is so versatile that it can go casual or elegant and fit into any meal.

By taking advantage of commercially prepared salad dressings which create a savory sauce, fish gets "dressed up" even in simple-to-fix dinners. You can follow a recipe, or you can improvise a bit.

Dip fillets into Caesar salad dressing and sprinkle with a mixture of crushed potato chips and shredded cheese. Oven-fry this at 500 degrees F., for 10 to 15 minutes.

French dressing and crushed cheese crackers also team up to add spice and crispness to another oven-fried fish dish.

You can dress up fish with garnishes such as lime slices to add color and flavor. Citrus Fruit — from lemon crowns and cartwheels to orange slices — is a natural combination with fish because the tangy flavor offers contrast to the flavor of seafood.

A "Fast Fish Broil" uses a combination of dressing, spices and garnishes.

Fast Fish Broil

2 pounds fresh fish fillets
¼ cup garlic French dressing
3 tablespoons soy sauce
¾ teaspoon ground ginger
Lime slices

Place fillets in a single layer, skin side down, on a bake and serve platter, 16 x 10 inches. Combine French dressing, soy sauce, and ginger. Pour sauce over fillets and let stand 10 minutes Broil about 4 inches from source of heat for 10 to 15 minutes or until fillets flake easily when tested with a fork. Baste once during broiling with sauce in pan. Garnish with lime slices. Makes 6 servings.

KING'S COMMAND

Only a century ago, even kings could not command the profusion of fresh fruits and vegetables available in our markets all year around. Often as many as seventy kinds of fruits and vegetables, not even counting the many varieties of each, are on the market at the same time.

GARDEN GUESTS

It is little realized that most fresh fruits and vegetables grown in the United States today were brought in by explorers and settlers. Few are native Americans.

THE EMBELLISHED BEAN

BEANS AND FIXIN'S — the mainstay of chuckwagon cooking.

NEW YORK (ED)—Back in the 1800's, they used to say a man would work from sunrise to sunset for "a dollar a day and a plate of beans". Big, juicy, tasty Pinto beans served straight from the oven with a couple of slices of moist corn bread to help clean the plate.

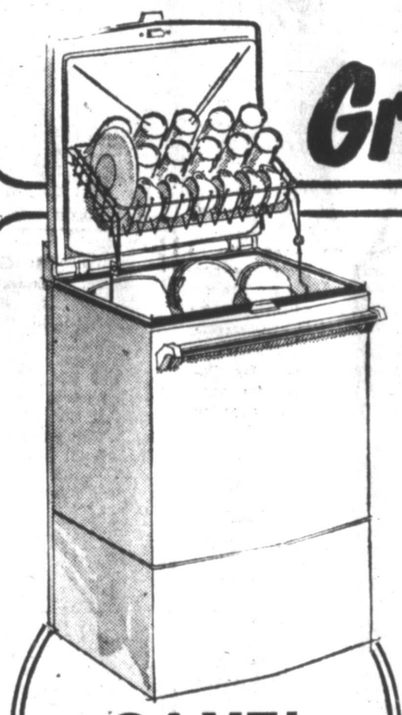

Pinto beans are still a favorite in "Marlboro Country", especially when prepared from recipes originated by the Cow Country Cordon Bleues — the Chuckwagon Cooks. And they'll really be appreciated by your own rough-riding bunch if you serve them up with Chicken Fried Steak, Corn Bread, and Texas Pecan Cake — all prepared from authentic recipes found in "Chuckwagon Cooking from Marlboro Country", a delightful addition to your cook book shelf. It's free for the writing to: Marlboro Chuckwagon Offer, P.O. Box 666, Westbury, N.Y. 11590.

COWPOKE BEANS

1 pound dried Pinto beans
2½ cups cold water
½ pound salt pork, cut up
1 red chili pepper
1 medium onion, chopped
1 clove garlic, minced
1 6-oz. can tomato paste
1½ tablespoons chili powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cumin seed
½ teaspoon marjoram

Wash and pick over beans; put in mixing bowl. Cover beans with cold water and soak overnight. Next morning, put beans and water into Dutch oven and bring to a boil; reduce heat. Cover and simmer 1 hour. Stir in remaining ingredients; cover and simmer 3 hours or until tender. Add more water if necessary. Serves 8.

Tax Load Now Is About All That We Can Carry

Will poverty ever cease to be a problem, and will welfare ever be brought under control? Those are questions that more and more people are asking as the taxpayer's burden of supporting countless aid and training programs becomes heavier year after year.

Two decades of unprecedented prosperity have been accompanied by the switch of a steadily growing proportion of the population from the ranks of producers and taxpayers to the ranks of dependents.

A lengthy feature story on the subject in U.S. News and World Report shows how dramatic this switch has been and how it has continued despite all the political promises to end poverty and in spite of federal, state and local aid schemes of the most elaborate and far-reaching kind.

Many people are wondering whether the problem of poverty has any solution. For some four decades, uncounted billions of dollars have poured out of public treasures in payments and services to "uplift" the poor in the United States. And, as U.S. News reports, since 1950—a period of growth the property— welfare rolls have soared. In 1952, 6.2 million parsons were receiving welfare assistance at a cost of $2.5 billion. Today, 14.4 million people are on the relief rolls and expenditures are about $18 billion annually.

Direct expenditures for welfare are but part of the story. Additional billions have been spent by all levels of government on education, counseling, job training and community improvements — all programs designed to end poverty. However, like the dreams of eternal youth, the dream of ending poverty is elusive. Page after page of the U.S. News article is devoted to recounting the discouraging failure of public schemes and programs too numerous to mention. As the cost of these programs has soared, the problem of growing dependency on the institution of welfarism has multiplied.

More than that, so far as poverty is concerned, the definition of the word changes with the rising affluence of the society as a whole. At one time poverty was defined as applying only to tht "destitute" — when meant people without the essentials of survival. Later, he definition was changed to include those suffering "hardships" — insufficient food, clothing and shelter. Then their failure to obtain medical attention in an emergency was also included under the heading of poverty. Currently the term poverty stricken is defined to include all those living in "deprivation" and "disadvantage."

In other words, poverty is not an absolute. It is measured in terms of the affluence of others. As one economist observes of the phenomenon of poverty: "In an affluent society, people are willing to devote larger and larger sums of money to programs which they hope will alleviate the misery of the poor. In the process there is a public demand by those in poverty that builds up to the supply. Poverty pursues society like a shadow following a running man."

Many people feel today that the shadow is catching up with us. Their belief is reinforced by the tendency to accept welfare as a respectable means of survival, even to the point of organizing to demand more liberal sharing of the fruits of those who work. Many welfare recipients now belong to a national movement in quest of bigger and better benefits for themselves.

The next question that must be faced is this. When does the war on poverty become indistinguishable from the Marxist dogma of sharing in accordance with need? When does the war on poverty financed by the good and generous citizens of the country, become a social and political revolution led by those who want to destroy a system and take the fruits of other men's labor?

Hand-Picked Crowds

President Nixon was greeted by some 12,000 to 15,000 enthusiastically cheering people on his recent visit to the new Air Force Museum at Wright-Patterson AFB in Dayton, Ohio.

What he did not see, says one writer, "was the systematic attempt by battle-dressed Air Force police and Secret Servicemen to keep all young people out of the area."

It is charged that many people—identifiable because of the length of their hair or their manner of dress or simply by their youth— were either prevented from entering the grounds or were indiscriminately rounded up and herded into vans and driven off the base.

There is, lamentably, plenty of substance to the complaints.

But it is also lamentably true that it has been a long time since a president of the United States could freely travel around this country and deliver speeches without being subjected to the threat of heckling, harassment, and disruption by assorted protesters—most of them young, most of them long haired.

President Nixon is no exception. In one of the worst incidents, his limousine was pelted by youths following a political rally in California in 1968.

It is unfair and unjust that simply because a person is young and — or bearded and — or barefooted and — or sloppily dressed he or she is automatidally suspect.

It is also not healthy for a president to be insulated from the people and exposed only to carefully screened and favorably partisan crowds.

But it is not a situation that has appeared suddenly out of a clear blue sky, and neither the present nor the previous administration nor anyone charged mith the protection of the president is responsible for it.

Women's Muscle... Again

Wars are a product of the "masculine mystique," says Wilma Scott Heide, newly elected president of NOW, the National Organization for Women, and when women take over the government among other changes will be a "universal end to war."

It is a tall order, but no taller than the goals of the early suffragettes, which included not only an end to wars but to saloons and hem-soiling dirty streets and every other ailment of society when women won the vote.

South Viets Ready To Take Over

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The South Vietnamese government is prepared for and ready to accept a substantial step-up in U.S. troop withdrawals, according to Saigon sources with access to President Thieu.

The Thieu government would be satisfied with the withdrawal of all U.S. troops before the end of next summer — except for a small residual force.

There is a condition, however — the U.S. must continue to supply South Vietnam with the economic and military assistance it requires to hold off the North Vietnamese.

By the fall of 1972, only a small force of U.S. advisors, a training mission, some technical and logistics support and a limited amount of naval and air backup would remain in South Vietnam.

There has been talk of a residual force of 50,000 men. But it would almost certainly be considerably smaller. A much lower figure, in fact, would be quite acceptable to the South Vietnamese. The Saigon sources say the actual numbers of Americans required should be small enough to cause no political repercussions here.

The optimism reported above is based on the current South Vietnamese assessment of the North Vietnam-Viet Cong military capability. (The first test of this confidence will likely come in late October or early November in the Delta, at which time the North Vietnamese may probe the South Vietnamese army's capabilities.

The high Vietnamese sources mentioned above believe that by the end of next summer, the entire South Vietnamese army and navy and a goodly share of the air force will be able to operate on their own.

South Vietnam will have sufficient airplane and helicopter pilots and enough naval officers and enlisted men experienced in river and coastal operations. A number of technicians will be required for maintenance.

There will, however, be a shortage of experienced men in repair and maintenance administration, especially in the air force. There also will be a shortage of experienced administrators in supply and logistics. Amricans will be badly needed to handle the training.

And there must be some U.S. support, especially in the air, if there is a massive invasion by North Vietnamese troops across the Demilitarized Zone or through Laos.

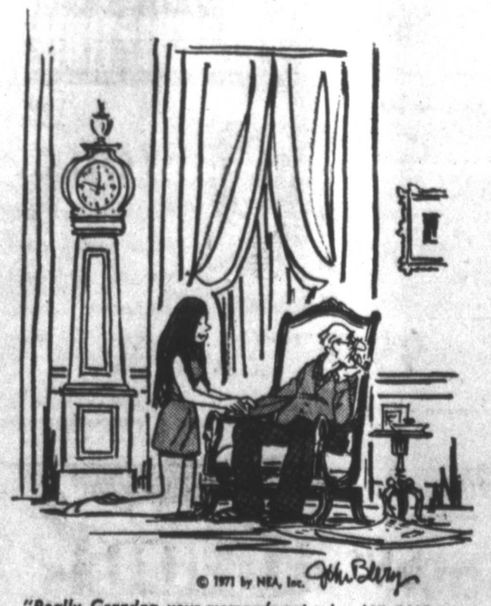

Much of the air and sea backup necessary would be for such emergencies. Therefore the builk of these forces could actually be stationed in Thailand and on a number of Pacific Islands. These units then might not operate over Vietnam or in Vietnamese coastal waters unless North Vietnam stepped up its southern campaign.

'Big Labor' Gets Out The Axe To Chop Nixon Down

By PAUL HARVEY

An official of the retail clerks' union says that unions must "fight President Nixon's re-election."

Seems inconceivable that any person or organization would pledge to fight anybody's re-election before he knows the alternatives, but this James Huntley asks the retail clerks to pool a million dollars for political action and he says the union "must fight President Nixon's re-election."

How about that!

Labor's leaders had been loudest in their demands that the President "do something about inflation."

Yet when he did, some of labor's leaders were most vociferous in their objections.

Suddenly they realized that with wages and prices frozen, who needs a union leader? That's a scary consideration even for 90 days. So rather than co-operate, George Meany, with rhetoric reminiscent of the 1930s, accused the Administration of favoring the rich.

The least becoming statement came from Auto Workers' President Woodcock who talked of "waging war" on the Administration.

A teacher's union leader talked of "raising a war chest" with which to defeat Nixon.

And Harry Bridges refused to end his longshoremen's strike.

Surveys indicated that America's rank and file approved and applauded the President's moves, but these few labor leaders appear determined to obstruct the anti-inflation effort if they can.

I don't think they can any more.

Labor leaders left over from yesteryear remember when Big Business abused its bigness, when Big Business paid slave wages, bought politicians conspired to restrain competition, locked out workers, hired strike breakers, discriminated against blacks.

And these old-timers deserved much of the credit for the child labor laws and the Wagner Labor Act and other legislation which restrained the abused prerogatives of often arbitrary industrialists.

Now the pendulum has swung the other way. Now it's some of Big Labor's leaders who conspire with gangsters, pay off politicians, discriminate against blacks, let the gargage pile up, cut cables, derail trains and use physical terror to intimidate and demand higher wages and higher dues that beget higher prices for everybody.

Organized labor represents one-fourth of our nation's total work force. It is big. It is important. It is powerful. It doesn't have to "act tough" any more.

You'll notice the new breed of labor's leaders don't; it's just a few, just a misty-eyed handful who can't let go of the old days, the old ways.

Why Should Police Meet The Thieves?

The chairman of Republic of China's Overseas Chinese Commission says President Nixon's projected trip to Peking is like the world's No. 1 policeman visiting the No. 1 bandit in his lair.

He compared Nixon's visit to mainland China to British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's ill-fated talks with Adolf Hitler at Munich shortly before World War II.

Kao, former vice minister of education in the Republic of China, said he fears damage to United States prestige as a result of the trip. He said the Republic of China and the United States have worked as partners to preserve peace and check Communism.

"This is a policy of over 20 years existence that has been modified on 20 minutes notice," he said. "Free China connot understand how this can be resoncilld with the past defenses of its principles by the United States." — Free China Weekly.

Your Health

By Dr. Lawrence Lamb

Lecithins Won't Eliminate Obesity

Dear Dr. Lamb — I have read in two health magazines recently concerning lecithin and both state it is a soya bean product. It is helpful in breaking up fats in the blood stream and also good for the nerves. This conflicts with your comment that lecithin is an unsaturated fat found in egg yolk and brain. Your advice was to forget it. Are there different kinds of lecithin? Is this soya beaen product advisable?

My husband is 30 pounds overweight and has a cholesterol problem. He's always tired and every time he lifts a finger he puffs. He has tried many diets to no avail. When tensions mount — especially at work — he heads for the slot machine for food. He thought perhaps this lecithin would help to break up some of the fats.

I am really concerned about my husband. I've watched the food here at home, but it's his habits at work and also weekends that are doing the damage. What's your comment?

Dear Reader — There are a variety of substances of similar chemical composition to the lecithin found in egg yolks and brain that are grouped with the lecithins. The compound you mention is probably one (an unsaturated fat).

Unfortunately, none of the polyunsaturated fats, or vitamins eliminate obesity. Only two things work, eating fewer calories or using more by activity.

In some cases polyunsaturated fats like corn oil and safflower oil lower cholesterol. Fish oil frequently is even more effective. However, they are often useless unless the person controls obesity. I am skeptical that any dietary procedure will work if the body fat is not controlled. Don't count on lechithin to do that.

Technically, lecithin is a "phospholipid" — an unsaturated fat containing phosphorous. It has been suggested that individuals with increased phospholipids in the blood have less fatty-cholesterol deposits in the arteries. This is where the idea comes from that lecithin "breaks up fats." Even if this is true there is no evidence that eating phospholipids will produce a favorable effect unless obesity is corrected.

Often the husband's "away from home" habits defeat the wife's efforts to help him control his weight. Preventing obesity is something each person must do for himself. Even so, the right eating habits at home do help. Perhaps you can encourage his interest in less caloric foods, like snacking on apples or other fresh fruit or encourage him to exercise by walking with him.

State Backs Bill to End Soviet Control of U.S. Chrome Supply

ROBERT [redacted]

WASHINGTON — An extraordinary struggle is taking place behind-the-scenes in Congress over the bipartisan legislation to put an end to Rusia's control of this country's supply of metallurgical chrome essential for key weapons production.

The State Department is the principal opponent of this measure, and is doing every thing in its power to kill it.

Outcome of this little-known backstage battle is a toss-up.

It revolves around a provision (Section 503) in the $21 billion military procurement bill now under consideration in the Senate. The section, sponsored by Senator Harry Byrd (Ind.-Va.) and a bipartisan group of other Senators, was written into the bill by a unanimous vote of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Purpose of the amendment is to free the U.S. of dependence on Russia as the principal supplier of chrome ore vital in production of jet aircraft, missiles, nuclear submarines, etc.

This highly vulnerable dependence is due to this country's complying with the United Nation's trade embargo against Rhodesia.

Prior to these 1966 sanctions, the U.S. got most of its chrome from Rhodesia. Since then, upwards of 60 percent of this strategically crucial ore has been imported from Russia — which has hiked the price 188 per cent: from $25 to $72 a ton.

The bipartisan amendment does not require the U.S. to withdraw from the UN embargo against trade with Rhodesia. The legislation is limited solely to chrome.

Under the Section, the 1945 act under which the U.S. joined the United Nations would be amended to "provide that the President could not prohibit imports of a strategic material from a free world country as long as the importation of the same material is permitted from a Communist-dominated country."

Exlpains Senator Byrd: "The reason for singling out chrome is clear and simple. It is the one commodity which could be imported from Rhodesia that is vital to the security and defense of our nation."

The State Department doesn't see it that way. It contends the U.S. must adhere strictly to all the requirements of the UN embargo against Rhodesia. To do otherwise would be disruptive of "international commity."

Thus, in effect, the State Department is in the remarkable position of strenuously battling for continuance of Russia's control of the supply of a vital U.S. defense commodity — even at the expense of gravely jeopardizing the security of the U.S.

Laying It on the Line

Senator Byrd has bluntly warned Congress that in the dire situation facing the country if the State Department has its way and Section 503 is killed.

The Virginia legislator in this forthright talking on speech on the Senate floor that strangely went unreported — and has the entire bipartisan fight to put an end to Soviet domination of this country's chrome supply.

For some unexplained reason, this important issue has been ignored by the press and radio-TV.

Byrd sternly told his colleagues the issue is simple and clear-cut — whether the U.S. is going to continue to be dependent on Communist Russia for a material vital to the security of the country.

"If the State Department succeeds in knocking out Section 503," said Byrd, "then the members of the Senate will have to decide whether they think it is logical to vote $21 billion of tax funds for the procurement of military equipment, such as aircraft, missiles, naval vessels, etc., and at the same time be dependent on Communist Russia for vital defense material."

The huge $21 billion military procurement bill, Byrd pointed out, is to provide the weaponry necessary against Soviet aggression. If there were no likelihood of Russian aggression, then it wouldn't be necessary to spend $21 billion for armaments.

It therefore doesn't make sense, held Byrd, for the U.S. to continue to be largely dependent on Russia for chrome.

"It is wholly illogical and highly dangerous for the United States to be dependent on Communist Russia for this strategic material," declared Byrd. "We are in the process of passing this huge military procurement bill solely to protect this country against possible aggression from foreign nations, the foremost of which is Russia.

"So I am completely baffled how the State Department can argue against this provision. The position of the State Department simply does not add up. Regardless of what the State Department may say, the indisputable fact is that what this legislation does is to declare that no longer will the United States put itself at the mercy of Communist Russia for a vital defense material."

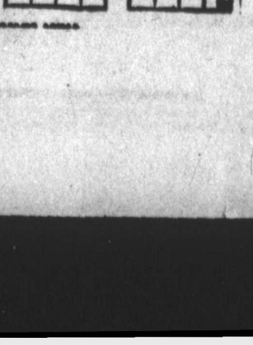

Note: Last week, this column revealed that U.S. Custom authorities are being asked to investigate reports that quantities of the chromium sold this country by Russia actually come from Rhodesia.

U.S. producers of specialty steels, large users of chromium, are chiefly behind the claim that some of the ore obtained from the Soviet is of Rhodesian origin. Tests made by the Crucible Steel Division of Colt Industries, Inc., reputedly disclosed that.

American Prison Authorities Face 'New Breed Of Prisoner' Challenge

Editor's note: The following article, second of a series, examines the rise of the cell block militant, a politically motivated rebel who no longer can be silenced by a few days in solitary.

By MARK BROWN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Politically aware and increasingly militant, a new breed of prisoner is challenging the right of prison authorities to subject him to privation and brutality.

Although in a growing number of cases defiant prison inmates are finding an ally in courts, more are turning to violence to gain redress of grievances, real and imagined.

A prison revolt at Attica, N.Y., and what officials call an escape attempt in San Quentin, Calif., have left 48 persons dead in the past month. In California prisons, officials report, the seven guards murdered so far this year outnumber the total for the entire period 1953-70.

"There is a new breed of prisoner," says a leading Senate expert on prisons, Republican Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska. "He is younger, more intelligent and more aggressive."

At the root of prison unrest is a correction system that, in the judgment of federal authorities, is failing to rehabilitate criminals or protect the public.

Subhuman squalor in cells built 50 or more years ago, sadistic brutality at the hands of keepers or fellow convicts, inadequate hehabilitation facilities or none at all: these are the lot of prisoners across the country in a system that one federal law enforcement official has called "a national disgrace" and President Nixon himself has condemned as "a convincing case of failure."

Building on and adding to grievances among all convicts is a new factor: a growing conviction, particularly among blacks who make up a far greater proportion of inmate populations than they do of the total population, that imprisonment is political repression raher than punishment for a crime.

"There are still some blacks here who consider themselves criminals—but not many," wrote the late George Jackson in his book "Soledad Brother."

Jackson, shot to death in the San Quentin incident, had spent 10 of his 28 years in prison for a $70 robbery.

Paradoxically the rising militance comes at a time when national leaders, including President Nixon and Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, have signaled an unprecedented call for prison reform.

It also is a time when the courts are abandoning their traditional hands-off policy to declare substandard prison conditions unconstitutional, and to expand legal rights of prisoners.

To Ellis McDougal, Georgia's director of corrections and a past president of the American Correctional Association, prison revolts reflect conditions on the outside.

"No one should be surprised," McDougal said. "What's true in society is true in its institutions. Any problems that develop in the streets wind up six months later in the prisons."

Prison officials point to the changing characteristics of the nation's prison population.

With expansion of probation and parole, America's prison population has declined from a peak of 213,000 in 1960 to slightly less than 200,000.

The offenders still behind bars are likely to be those who have committed the most serious crimes: murder, rape, robbery and assault.

Throughout the American criminal justice system, blacks are disproportionately represented in relation to their percentage of the total population.

FBI crime statistics for 1970 indicate blacks comprise 53.3 per cent of all persons arrested for the violent crimes of murder, rape, robbery and assault, and for 32.8 per cent of arrests for the property crimes of burglary, larceny and auto theft. Yet blacks comprise only 12 per cent of the total U.S. population.

The imbalance is even more evident in the prisons. In New York state prisons, for example, blacks comprise 70 per cent of the inmate population.

In a philosophical senses, at least, some prison administrators sympathize with black inmates claims that they are "Political prisoners."

I can see a lot of truth to it," said Leihton W. Dudley, Maryland's deputy secretary for correctional services. Noting that many of the state's inmates grew up in Baltimore's black ghetto, he describes them as "victims of a rotten social system."

Whether or not prisoners are developing, as radical California lawyer Fay Stender contends, "a consciousness of themselves as a convicted class," the effects of a new militance are being felt in prisons around the country.

"It used to be that if an offender was recalcitrant, he was placed in disciplinary segregation and didn't get out until he played the game," Dudley said.

On thee inside, according to Heywood Burns, executive director of the National Conference of Black Lawyers, such groups as the Black Muslims and the Black Panthers are helping to create an "increased awareness on the part of the black pirsoners of the nature and extent of their victimization."

Outside prison walls there are such organizations as Mrs. Stender's Prison Law Project in California, the Fortune Society in New York, the External Committee of the Afro-American Society of the Adult Correctional Institution in Rhode Island, and a score of others around the country.

Both the Fortune Society and the Rhode Island group are composed of ex-convicts who perform such tasks as maintaining family contact with prison inmates and smoothing their transition into society at the end of their terms.

Alligator Loose

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A three-foot alligator with a bite "about like a chipmunk's" roamed freely through the bushes outside San Diego Zoo Tuesday night after escaping from a security guard who apprehended its would-be kidnaper.

The alligator, taken from a reptile pit, is not considered dangerous and no big search was made because it fled into a bushy area, a zoo spokesman said.

Security officer Fred Markland said he saw two boys climbing a fence early Tuesday with the alligator and two small turtles in a canvas bag.

Boston School Committee Abandon Busing Program

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston School Committee has voted 3-2 to abandon a controversial plan to bus some black pupils to predominantly white neighborhoods and whites to a new school in a black neighborhood.

The plan had been defied by the parents—both black and white—of about half the pupils involved. The decision to scrap the plan, announced at a public meeting Tuesday night, was applauded by most of the 400 parents present.

The transfer program was instituted at the beginning of school year to meet the requirements of a Massachusetts law designed to end racial imbalance in the schools. No alternate plan was proposed by the school committee to achieve balance.

Abandonment of the plan places in jeopardy some $21.3 million in state finds that had been earmarked for the Boston school budget.

School officials said that under the plan, the new Joseph Lee School, in a black neighborhood, should have opened with 585 white children and 520 black children. The school was attended Tuesday by 257 white and 815 black pupils.

Since the start of the school year, approximately 225 white children have continued attending neighborhood schools, and at least 227 black children have been attending the Lee school, although not officially in the district.

White opponents claimed the from home than the modern transfers endangered the safety Lee school.

The school committee's decision means pupils will return to neighborhood schools to which they would have been assigned if the transfer plan had not been instituted.

Slater, an electrician, was charged with theft but no one appeared for Montgomery Ward when the case came to court and it was dismissed.

Dallas Man Files Suit Of Damage Against Store

DALLAS (AP) — A man allegedly arrested for shoplifting a screw filed a $150,000 damage suit in federal court Tuesday.

George W. Slater claimed he carried the screw from his home to match it up with the kind of screw he needed. He bought some screws and a light bulb and had just left a Montgomery Ward store when he was stopped and challenged by store detectives, the suit states.

A woman detective allegedly accused him of stealing the screw he had in his pocket and a man detective with her was said to have ordered him to shut up because "he had been caught red-handed stealing."

IT HAS BEEN a bad year for the favorites. Hoist the Flag will never race again but Namath is expected back in the Jets' lineup in November.

Shockers Will Be Hosting Dumons Tonight

Playing time for the Shocker vs the Dumas B squad game has been changed from 7:30 to 4 p.m. today, on the practice field.

Dumas will be running the Houston Vere and will probably pass about 50 per cent of the time, according to Shocker coach Bob Sanders.

"Dumas will come to play some football, as they always do," said coach Sanders. "Dumas always does, simply because Dumas is Dumas."

"We have had good workouts this week and all the players are healthy," added Sanders.

The Shocker rushing attack will be led by Chuck Reeves, Jack King and David Nipp.

"We will try to get outside in order to score," commented Sanders.

The first game the Shockers played they ran over Perryton's B squad 35-8. We had a total of 430 yards rushing with Chuck Reeves being the leading rusher scoring once form 65 yards out, next from 40 yards out, and last from 15 yards out. Rick Smith crossed the goal line from 68 yards out as he snagged a pass from Reeves. The last touchdown of this game was taken over by David Nipp from 3 yards out.

The second game the Shockers played, the team treked to Liberal Kansas where they, once again came out on top with 342 total yards of offense. Scoring was made as follows; Chuck Reeves from 55 yards out, Joe Curtis catching a pass from Tony Frogge for a 37 yard score changer, Rick Smith picked up a fumble and ran with it, which is legal under Liberal's district ruling, and scampered 35 yards for another Shocker touchdown. Last Tody Black chunked a pass to James McCarroll to upset Pampa's last score from 63 yards out.

The starting line up for the Shockers this afternoon will be 10-Tody Black quarterback, 64-Dennis Glover guard, 11-James McCarroll tight end, 74-Keith Mitchell tackle, 60-Ronnie Minnick guard, 21-Kelly Newman halfback, 36-David Nipp fullback, 53-Steve Randall center, 24-Chuck Reeves halfback, 81-Rick Smith split end, 70-Mark Warren tackle.

Harvester Face Rangers In Bid To Regain Lead

Staff Writer

After being defeated last Saturday night by Odessa High the Harvesters are ready to rope a Ranger tomorrow night as Perryton comes to Pampa.

The coaches should know, what Perryton is going to run against them as they have seen them in two scrimmages, Vernon and Guymon, and one game at Borger as Perryton boxed the bulldogs 14-13.

"Their ace player would be David Flowers the 220 pound fullback and defensive end." commented Head coach and Athletic Director Robert E. (Swede) Lee. "They will probably use Flowers on hard yardage situations because he is a tough runner."

"Steve Gobin, 185 pound, tight end for the Rangers, is probably the finest athlete they have." commented coach Lee "As well as a pass receiver, he is also a fine blocker."

"We won't know until we play them if their quarterback, Slaughter, will be passing. He hasn't thrown it much in the past." added Lee. "I will assume he is adequate since he does have some good looking receivers in tight end Steve Gobin and 190 pound split end, which is pretty big for the position."

"After a first game a team can improve a lot since they usually get to see what they did wrong and work on it," said Lee. Perryton should be ready as they have had an open week since the Borger victory."

"We are healthy, healthier than we have been since Hereford." added Lee, we are about to get rid of chest colds. Last week we had boys vomiting up to game time."

"The passing game hasn't been what it should be," said coach Lee, but I think it will be more effective this week since we have worked on it quite a bit this week in practice."

Lee went on to add," If we are going to get ready to play a team we had better get ready to play Perryton. They have the best team they have had in quite a few years."

Schoolboy Football P Full Of New Challeng

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Port Arthur Jefferson and McKinney have a couple of challengers to their No. 1 rankings in The Associated Press schoolboy football poll.

Port Arthur Jefferson shattered Baton Rouge Istrouma 46-0 last week to retain its hold on the Class AAAA lead but Odessa Permian also was impressive in a 28-7 victory over Bryan and gained ground on the leader.

Jeff and Permian each had eight first place votes and only a 157-153 margin in total points kept Jeff in the Lead.

Prison Official Warns Of Renew Rebel In Attica

NEW YORK (AP) — State Russell G. Oswald says there is some danger of a renewed u-rising by inmates at Attica State Prison.

"I think without question that there are some of these hard core Maoists who would love to start the thing up again, and who will get support and what help they can from people on te :outside," e said.

"In the light of what they told me repeatedly out in the yard, one has to be prepared for possible difficulties." Os-wald said in an interview with Walter Cronkite on the CBS Evening News Tuesday.

He estimated that the hard core leadership consisted of 30 to 40 men, almost all of whom survived the armed assault Sept. 13 by state police that ended the four-day rebellion.

In a longer version of the in-terview broadcast later, Oswald said he felt strongly that such radical militants should be iso-lated from the other prisoners but that lack of space and fed-eral court decisions made that practically impossible.

As to the assault that ended the outbreak in which 10 hos-tages and 30 prisoners died, Os-wald said the threat of anarchy among the inmates left him "no choice" but to order the troopers in.

"I had to make a decision as to whether I could longer delay, permit them to arm, take the chance that they might start killing correction officers or their own men," he said.

Asked why he negotiated with the prisoners in the first place, Oswald said, "I sincerely felt there was a real opportunity to save all the hostages . . . and on balance I felt that it was worth the risk."

Large Address Numbers Help Police Helicopter

HOUSTON(AP) —Some Hou-ton merchants, in response to police pleas, have started put-ting their addresses on their roofs.

The big numbers, four feet high, are designed to aid police helicopters in responding to the scene of trouble.

"They will most certainly help helicopter patrolmen pinpoint their locations," said Police Chief Herman Short. "of course, they can pinpoint loca-tions anyway with land marks and so forth, but often valuable time is lost in trying to find an exact spot. I think they will be-come even more valuable at night."

The quickest to start the paint-ing campaign were the many drive-in groceries in Houston, the most frequent victims of armed robbers.

The police helicopters normal-ly patrol at 700 feet and the numbers can be seen up to two miles away.

"The few seconds these num-bers will save us might make all the difference in the world in catching a criminal who is trying to run away from us and hide," said Capt. H. L. Ellisor, who heads up the cop-a-chopper brigade.

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — James J. McMann of North Providence, drove his son to Boston University Saturday night.

On his way home, McMann, 42, pulled into a Pawtucket parking lot and suddenly found himself surrounded by 26 police cars.

McMann e is a lookalike for Stephen M. McDonough, a 23-year-old fugitive wanted for murder, robbery and the shoot-ing of a Massachusetts State policeman.

McMann had been spotted by a motorist in Boston who gave a description of the car to po-lice.

McMann, stopped 40 minutes later, was handcuffed and tak-en to Providence police head-quarters where he was photo-graphed and fingerprinted. He was released moments later, when the prints were com-pared.

"I wasn't scared," McMann said. "I knew who I was."

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

..Velma's Junior High class were vitally interested in reducing the "generation gap" and producing far more happy family camaraderie. So check the 8-point formula outlined below. And if you are able to read easily, rate yourselves on the "Behavior Tests for Teen-Agers."

CASE R-570 — Velma D., aged 12, is in Junior High School.

When I visit a city for a banquet address, I tell my sponsoring organization that I will also gladly speak to high school or college convocations during the day.

So I may thus address 2 or 3 youth groups before the main event at 8 p.m.

After my talk to Velma's Junior High assembly, her Guidance Counselor invited me to visit a class of about 30 who were dealing with family problems.

"Dr. Crane," Velma asked, "how can parents and children produce a happy family?"

So I quickly outlined these salient points:

(1) Encourage friendly discussion and even debates at the dinner table.

For this helps bridge the "generation gap."

And also lets the children whet their wits on each other's, a sour pioneer psychologist, Professor William James, stated concerning his own boyhood.

For when you take a positive stand in your dinner table remarks, then your siblings may challenge you, so you learn to think fast and more logically.

(2) Try to get the entire family in active participation in the same church.

For when daddy and mother accompany their youngsters to Sunday School, we find very few cases of delinquency resulting.

And such parents rarely get a divorce!

(3) Start my "Compliment Club" and report the reactions of people to whom you have offered honest praise during the day.

Also, use a few compliments on your own family, too.

When I asked Velma's classmates how many had paid a compliment to either parent that morning, not one hand went up!

For we tend to take love and care and sacrifices for granted, but even our home folks are perked up in morale by a bit of praise.

So I quoted Benjamin Franklin's wise adage"

"As we must account for every idle word, so we must for every idle silence!"

And it is our silence that often causes heartbreak, inferiority complexes in our comrades, and even suicide!

(4) Organize all-family recreation, as picnics, visits to the zoo or amusement park, swimming parties, ball games, etc.

(5) Assume your share of household chores instead of letting Mamma pick up after you, as if you are an adult infant!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of The Pampa Daily News, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

TV And Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Network television entertainment on Tuesday nights is a cut above that of most other nights—several pretty good action series, a couple of variety hours, a new movie-for-TV and a doctor show.

Since no one can see all the shows, viewers must make some difficult decisions.

A tough one involves the early evening when ABC's "Mod Squad" and NBC's "Ironside" are in head-on competition. This is deliberate programming by NBC—pitting its most popular police action show against ABC's most popular police show. The winner of the ratings contest is likely to be CBS' Glen Campbell, with whodunit fans split between two programs of the same genre opposite him.

The singer's second program of the new season looked a lot like his variety hours of last season—lots of singing, a little comedy and brief turns by the guest stars—the ubiquitous Bob Hope, the Smothers Brothers and Dionne Warwick.

It is a nice, easy program with unfailing good taste and handsome production values, but also is a little bland.

That dedicated, understanding general practitioner, Marcus Welby, was busy on ABC at evening's end, mending the torn fabric of an 11-year-old orphan's life and patching up the deteriorating marriage of the couple who adopted her.

Robert Young continues to portray convincingly the concerned man of medicine—he was making a 2 a.m. house call in the episode—and the story was less drama than a lesson in human relations.

The show tugs at the heart, has a tendency to be sudsy—and should be good for a lot more seasons of television.

The new season has its first drop-out. "Quarterly Report," which had its premiere on NBC Sept. 9, will be a one-time program. The sponsor has pulled out of what was to be a series of four programs. Word around the network is that the underwriting company found the program too controversial.

The network news department plans to fill the periods reserved for the program in December, March and June with other actuality specials.

PEOPLE IN THE NEWS

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Queen Elizabeth of Britain and her husband Prince Philip will pay a week-long state visit to Thailand next February, the Foreign Office announced today.

QUONSET POINT, R.I. (AP) — Marine Corps Commandant Leonard F. Chapman Jr., says his boss, Navy Secretary John H. Chafee, once a Marine captain, could not get back into the corps today because he's too shaggy around the ears.

Gen. Chapman made the observation about the former Rhode Island governor during an interview Tuesday at the Quonset Naval Air Station, where he made a brief inspection.

The commandant had said the traditional Marine crew cut is an integral part of Marine discipline, a crucial factor in corps performance and efficiency.

A newsman reminded the general that Chafee has taken to wearing sideburns and hair long enough to be distinctly out of step with Leatherneck custom.

"No, we're not going to begin that in the Marine Corps," the general replied. "If he wants to go back into the Marines he'll have to get a haircut."

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Tom Hayden, a founder of Students for a Democratic Society, is teaching a political science course at a Roman Catholic women's college.

About 25 students were at Hayden's first class Tuesday. The 15-week course will deal with Vietnam and the protest movement, said a spokesman for 500-student Immaculate Heart College.

Haden, 31, is free on bail while appealing his conviction in Chicago of crossing state lines to incite rioting at the time of the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

Bill Murray will get a second cash crop off this milo field.

Mr. Murray farms around 1,000 acres near Panhandle, Texas.

When he cuts his grain sorghum, he leaves the stalks high. Because those stalks keep making money for him until spring.

Mr. Murray's formula for extra profits? Stalks plus cattle plus T-E Liquid Feed Supplement.

Last year for example, he had 150 steers on the stalks for 150 days. They gained 225 lbs. or an average of 1.5 lbs. per head per day, on nothing but stalks and free-choice T-E Liquid Feed Supplement, consuming .4 lbs. of the supplement per head per day.

It added up to a nice profit, even though Mr. Murray explains, "They were out in bad snow storms for several days."

Mr. Murray buys his steers in August, keeps them on pasture until harvest, turns them in on the stalks and puts them on wheat pasture in the spring. He keeps T-E Liquid Feed Supplement in front of them the whole time; because he knows self-rationing T-E provides whatever supplement they need, whatever the grazing conditions.

Considering his experience with T-E Liquid Feed Supplement over the past few years, Mr. Murray concludes, "It seems to me a farmer has just got to run some cattle."
