Ruling On Tax Law Reversed

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, June 23 — The Supreme court ruled in effect today that persons over 60 who failed to obtain poll tax exemption certificates before Feb. 1 may vote in this year's elections.

It reversed lower court judgments holding that voters over 60 in towns of 10,000 or more population must obtain such annual exemption certificates before Feb. 1 of each year to qualify as voters.

Court Is Divided

The court was divided 6 to 3 on the question which came up from the Eastland Court of Civil Appeals. It involved directly only 45 votes in a Big Spring election contest, but Attorney General Price Daniel had told the Supreme court in arguing the case that if the Eastland devision were upheld, thousands of voters would be deprived of the ballot this year.

The 49th legislature amended the exemption certificate law to provide that persons over 60 shall renew their permanent exemption certificates annually if they lived in cities of 10,000 or more.

This renewal feature was not in the old law.

Was Ruled Invalid

Then Attorney General Grover Sellers ruled the law in effect was invalid because it provided no penalty for violation. County tax assessor-collectors have generally followed this ruling in the absence of any court decision on the subject.

Then a tax-raising election was held in a Howard county independent school district. It was con-

New Yorker's Chiefs Claim "It's In Bag"

Other Candidates Disagree; "Stop Dewey" Is Cry

PHILADELPHIA, June 23.—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey picked up another "favorite son" backer today in his drive for the Republican presidential nomination. This time it was Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll, leader of New Jersey's 35-vote convention delegation.

The New York governor's backers already were claiming the nomination was assured when Driscoll plumped for Dewey.

Senator Robert A. Taft and Harold E. Stassen disputed that PHILADELPHIA, June 23 (AP) — Harold E. Stassen said today leaders of a "Stop Dewey" movement have "formulated a program" which will be disclosed in the Republican convention balloting.

and were trying to line up a hard-core "Stop Dewey" coalition.

Seek Vandenberg Support

They sought support from backers of Senator Arthur A. Vandenberg who gave consent only this morning for his name to go formally before the convention.

Gov. Dwight Green said the Illinois delegation will vote for Senator Taft after the first top presidential nominating ballot.

Green is Illinois' "favorite son" and will bet the delegation's 56 votes on the first ballot.

But even some of Vandenberg's warmest supporters figured the moves in his behalf were too little and too late.

Driscoll has been one of the biggest rooters for the Michigan senator.

Proves Heavy Blow

They figured Driscoll's move was a heavy blow both to the "Stop Dewey" movement and to Vandenberg's chances.

An Associated Press survey before Driscoll's move indicated Dewey was sure of 374 to 407 votes with 548 needed to win.

Driscoll said the New Jersey delegation had decided to cast one complimentary vote for him on the first ballot and that on the second a majority would go to Dewey.

At Dewey's headquarters there was the same sort of elation that followed announcement from Senator Edward Martin yesterday that he was withdrawing as Pennsylvania's favorite son and would support Dewey.

Western Allies Defy Russia

Tension Again Is Soaring In Berlin Sector

Soviet Order For Currency Issuance Draws Rejection

By LYNN HEINZERLING
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERLIN, June 23.—The three Western Allies rejected today a Soviet order for issuance of a Russian-controlled currency for all Berlin and announced that their own new deutschemark would be used in the city's western sectors.

The Americans, British and French said they were making Berlin a two-currency city ratner than submit to an arbitrary violation of four-power agreements.

Tension Soaring

Tension soared again in this focal point of the East-West cold war.

Crowds of political demonstrators swarmed about Berlin's city hall and prevented legislators from entering the building to conduct an emergency debate on the currency reform. The American-controlled German radio said the demonstration was staged by adherents of the Socialist Unity party, which is Communist-led and Soviet-dominated.

The Western Allies moved swiftly after the overnight announcement of Russian currency reform for the Soviet zone and Berlin.

The three western commandants for the city ordered all banks and business institutions except food and drug stores closed. A moratorium of debts was ordered.

Rules Said Violated

The Russian order for currency reform in Berlin, announced early this morning, "violates the rules of four-power government," the western power proclamation said.

The Berlin magistrate, executive body of the city government, decided at a special meeting a short time before not to accept the Russian order for the entire city. It ruled that an occupation commander can issue orders only for his own zone.

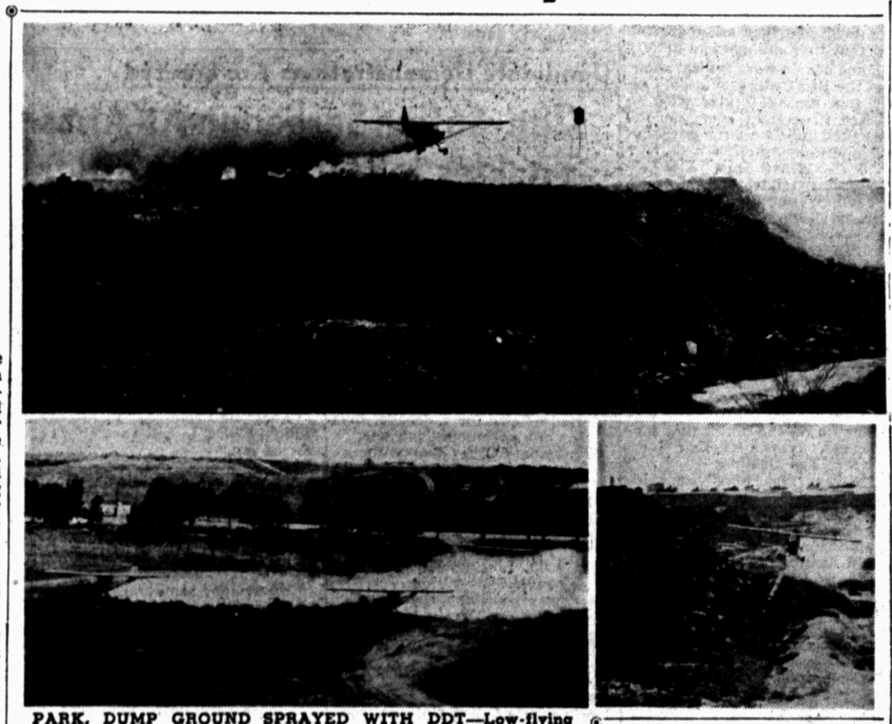

The western proclamation said the western powers "cannot submit to such arbitrary action which is in violation and total disregard of the actual quadripartite status of Berlin, and which violates all agreements respecting the management of money and banking affairs of the city."

Reaction Is Unknown

The statement charged that the Soviet authorities were trying "to usurp the authority to dominate the economic affairs of Berlin."

Soviet reaction to the step by the Western Allies was not immediately apparent. The change-

Three Others Missing; Cars Are Marooned

Highways Blocked As Rain Drenches Sections Of State

(By The United Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 23 — Eight persons were reported drowned and three missing today in a western Oklahoma flood that followed overnight rains measuring as much as 11 inches. New flood warnings were issued by the federal weather bureau.

The state highway patrol said the eight bodies were reported found near Hydro, Okla., by workmen of the Caddo Co-Operative Electric Co. Trooper Charles Dawson said the three missing persons were among 54 passengers of a Greyhound bus stranded by the rampaging waters of Little Deer creek near Hydro. Passengers of the bus were sitting on top of the vehicle. It was presumed the trio may have been swept away.

Cars Also Marooned

Marooned with the bus, Dawson said, were about 100 cars in the vicinity of Hydro on U. S. Highway 66. The patrol said rescue efforts would begin as soon as boats could be dispatched to the area.

The electric company sent its report by radio, since all other communication to the flood sector had been cut off by last night's pounding storm. Six of the bodies were said to have been pulled by workmen out of a car bearing a California license.

The Red Cross dispatched disaster crews to Kingfisher, Okla., where 100 residents were taken from their homes in boats last night. Federal Forecaster W. E. Maughn said the South Canadian river already topped flood stage in some areas and he issued a flood warning for the 150-mile area between Union City, Okla., and Calvin, Okla.

Warned To Evacuate

Lowland residents along the North Canadian river, stream paralleling the South Canadian, across central Oklahoma, were warned to flee to higher ground.

The Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. said floods along Deer creek near Bridgeport, Okla., had destroyed its main cables between here and Amarillo, Tex. The creek caused a washout 50 feet long.

The weather bureau predicted the rains would ease off during the day in the west and north, but

SERVICES MUST DECIDE ACTION

Draft Officials To Face Red Problem

By ELTON C. FAY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 23.—The armed forces must decide between now and next fall what they will do with Communists drafted under the new selective service program.

Army officials told a reporter today the problem is under study. The situation is this:

For more than a year the armed forces have been at pains to locate and ease out of the service known or professed Communists.

The selective service bill passed by Congress says nothing about (a) whether Communists should or should not be drafted or (B) what should be done with them if inducted.

May Be Inducted

Army spokesman said they assumed that lacking any legislative directive, they would go ahead and induct them.

But what happens if an inductee, refusing to take the required soldier's oath of allegiance, asserts he is a Communist?

Well, no one seemed to have a ready answer for that.

One official suggested that the Army probably would go ahead and induct Communists, then take care that they were kept away from "sensitive" jobs. Moreover, this official said, it is unlikely known Communists would be sent overseas to occupation zones for duty.

The draft bill does set up methods for dealing with conscientious objectors who, for religious reasons, oppose war. They would be placed on non-combat duty or deferred if a valid objection was approved.

Many Join Reserves

Meanwhile, an increasing number of men eligible for the draft got the urge to join one of the military reserve organizations.

In these units, as in the National Guard, men 19 through 25 years old will not be subject to the 21 months service called for by the draft bill. Both the Air Force and Navy showed small boosts in re-

Cool Weather Is Predicted

(By The Associated Press)

Sprinkles of rain cooled the air in the lower Rio Grande valley today, but brought slight relief from the drouth that has produced an acute irrigation water shortage.

Cooler weather was forecast for the Panhandle, South Plains and the northwest part of East Texas. Partly cloudy skies over the entire state were the only relief in sight for other parts of the state from the searing heat wave now in its third week.

River Up Slightly

An .82 inch local rain at Rio Grande City last night brought a slight increase in the Rio Grande water flow there, but the river has dropped so low that an 84-hour shutdown of river pumps in the western half of the lower valley has been ordered to start at 6 p. m. Thursday.

Widely scattered thundershowers are forecast for the southeast and extreme east.

Temperatures yesterday generally were in the high 90's. The top was Fort Stockton's 102, the low maximum 84 at Guadalupe Pass. Pampa in the Panhandle was cool with the state's low of 57 degrees. Laredo's 81 was the highest overnight reading.

Fifty Dollars Burglary Loot

Police, preparing this morning to question three negroes arrested in connection with a burglary in the negro quarters, were called to hunt clues in another breaking and entering—of Gilson Service stantion at 2801 Texas Ave.

Money totaling $50.13 was taken, officials were told by Tony Gilson, station owner. Gilson said entrance was at a door leading from the wash rack. Nothing else apparently was taken, he said.

Police said Eugene Hankins, 20, a negro, had admitted breaking and entering the residence of Cliff Hereford. He said another negro was with him and that when they went outside the Hereford residence the other black gave him 50 cents to a dollar, hit him in the eye and jumped in a car with a third negro.

Hankins, police said, told officials that the person who assisted him in the burglary had sold property taken, to the driver of the car, and that it could be found in Queen City residential addition for negroes or at a pawn shop here.

All Suspects Held

SAN FRANCISCO, Jne 23—The parents of five-year-old Sharon Stewart were in custody today after the child was freed from confinement in a dark and foul-smelling closet at the family home.

COMINFORM MEETING IN WARSAW

Reds Said Talking East German State

(By The Associated Press)

WARSAW, June 23—Russia and six eastern European satelites were reported authoritatively tonight to be considering creation of a separate state in eastern Germany.

Representatives of the Soviet Union, Poland, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Romania and Hungary, opened a surprise conference in Warsaw.

Plan For Overhaul

Authoritative reports, in addition to the German angle, were that the conferees were planning an overhaul of the Cominform and another attack against the European recovery plan.

Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov headed the Russian delegation. The heads of government and foreign ministers of the small powers were at the gathering in the suburban Wilanow palace.

Secrecy Shrouds Meeting

There was no indication whether Communist leaders of France and Italy, who also signed the cominform, were attending.

Secrecy shrouded the arrival of Russian and other planes at nearby Okecie airport. There were reports that Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov was heading the Soviet delegation, but this could not be immediately confirmed.

Police officials closed all normal information channels and declined to say who was attending the conference or what its purpose might be.

Hundreds of Polish troops, armed with tommy guns, were at the airport at an early hour and lined the streets into Warsaw.

Offers Of Aid Pour In, But Couple Who Gave Away Children Plan To Leave

(By The Associated Press)

MIAMI, Fla., June 23 — Sympathetic offerings of help poured in to Mr. and Mrs. William W. Harvey today, but the couple who gave away their seven children were turning them all down.

One Miami woman offered them the use of a bungalow, rent free through the summer, but Harvey said the important thing was to leave Miami and "try to start life over again."

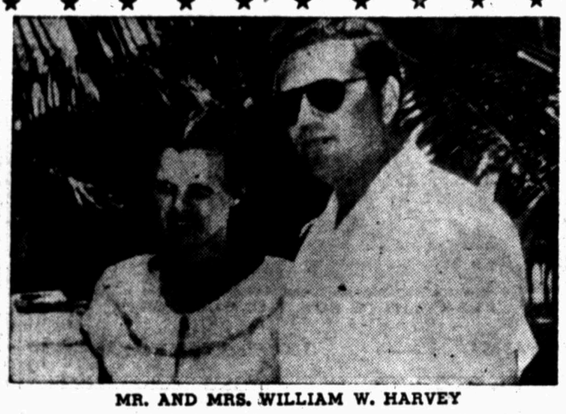

Although the Harveys announced they had been forced to give up their children because of financial difficulties, he said today he had refused "numerous" offers of money and loans.

The 36-year-old radio announcer and his wife decided to surrender the three boys and four girls, ranging in age from nine months to eight years, about a week ago.

At the time, Harvey said, he was pressed by bill collectors and nearly out of money. The publicity resulting from his decision, he added, had an "adverse" affect on the radio

McKinney Storm Damage Under Repair With Aid Of Red Cross

BY WILLIAM C. BARNARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

In another two months you won't know McKinney, Tex., was hit by a tornado, and Robert F. Newsome, big, red-haired, 53-year-old mayor, gives the lion's share of credit to the Red Cross.

"I figured the Red Cross would come in, parcel out groceries and clothing and move on out," said Newsome. "I didn't know they stayed around to rebuild a town."

750 Carpenters On Job

So far, the relief organization has spent $147,000 in McKinney and estimates it will dish out another $53,000 before it's through Seven hundred and fifty carpenters are on the job.

The May 3, tornado destroyed or damaged more than 300 homes in the southeast and southwest portions of the town. The Red Cross has had about 500 calls for aid—clothing, groceries, furnishings, and home repairs.

"It works on a basis of need," said Newsome. "It will supplement your insurance in rebuilding a home or it will build from the ground up if that's what you need. It doesn't help people who don't need help. It won't contribute to rebuilding a rent house — it has to be a home."

Finally Ask For Help

The amiable mayor said he had trouble convincing some needy residents of McKinney that they should ask for help.

"They figured the Red Cross was charity and they didn't want charity. I got ahold of a sound truck and went into the wrecked areas and told those folks what was what. 'Suppose you got together with some friends and every one of you put $100 each into a pot to go to the family of the first one that died,' I told them. 'That wouldn't be charity—that would be mutual aid. That's what the Red Cross is — you've been contributing to it all your lives and it belongs to you. You've been putting money into the pot and now you get some of it back.'

"Well, that argument broke the boys down and they asked for the help that they deserved to get.

"Some people were cynical about what the Red Cross would do. One lady told me: "I'll give $100 to the Red Cross if I ever see one home they build here for anybody. Well, she's paying off.

Wiped Out

"A young fellow and his wife were wiped out by the tornado. When he learned that the Red Cross would rebuild his home and refurnish it, he asked them how he could pay it back. They told him they didn't take pay. But he now pays $25 per month into the Red Cross national disaster fund.

"'I want my money to help someone in the same shape I was in,' he said."

The tornado was a terrific surprise to the natives.

Newsome, for instance, was brought up on the belief that tornadoes can't cross a creek or river.

Too Shallow

"I always was told," he said, "that when a tornado hits a creek, it just turns and goes down the creek bed. Well, McKinney has Wilson creek on the south side and the east fork of the Trinity on he east side and we thought we were absolutely safe. But that tornado just jumped right over that east fork like it wasn't there.

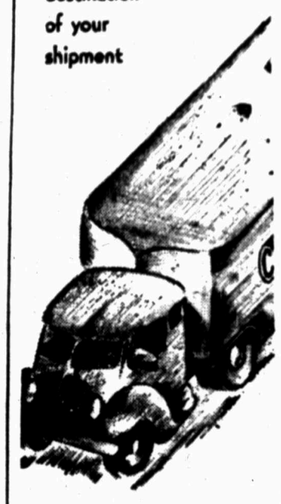

"Now the oldtimers are saying that the reason it happened was that the east fork had filled up so much it was too shallow to stop the twister."

Candidate Demonstrations Are Limited

Convention Sergeant-At-Arms Tackles Job Of Keeping Order

By CHARLES WELSH
Associated Press Staff Writer

PHILADELPHIA, June 23.—The Republican national convention of 1948 will not "be stampeded by outside influences."

That's the word from the man charged with maintaining convention order and discipline. He is William S. Livengood, jr., chief sergeant-at-arms.

Livengood, big, good-natured and Pennsylvania's secretary of internal affairs for a decade, says he has one paramount job now:

Remembers Other Conventions

"I want to see the delegates to this convention select a presidential candidate of their own free will, without any outside influence. I intend to see that that is done."

Only 49, Livengood remembers other conventions vividly.

He was assistant secretary of the convention here in 1940 when the roaring chant from the jammed galleries—"We Want Willkie"—preceded the nomination of Wendell L. Willkie.

Four years later he was head doorkeeper of the Chicago convention which nominated Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

And he brought to this 1948 meeting definite ideas on how a convention ought to operate.

Demonstrations Limited

Among the orders laid down this year for the first time is a stringent limit on the size of the "demonstrations" which traditionally follow when the name of each presidential candidate is placed in nomination.

The rule permits only one band and not more than 150 demonstrators.

"That rule," says Livengood, "will be enforced."

Delegates and alternates, of course, will be permitted to join any and all demonstrations for so long as they choose. But there will be no parades of complete outsiders on the convention floor."

To enforce the rules, Livengood has a squadron of 150 assistants. Hazen Kreis, six-foot-four, 350-pound former sheriff of Knox county, Tenn., has been assigned the key doorway at the rear of the platform through which the "arranged" demonstrators will enter.

Arranged By Committee

Assisting him is an old hand at policing things—Stanley Ginn, of Columbia, Mo., a former state police commissioner of his home state.

Livengood said the convention rules were laid down by the committee on arrangements.

"And," he declared, "I'll do my almighty best to see that they're carried out."

Communist Chiefs Are Holding Emergency Meeting Somewhere

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Somewhere in a secret place within the perpetual twilight behind the Iron Curtain the Cominform, or Communist General Staff for World Revolution, is meeting for emergency consultation.

So carefully have the details of this conclave been hidden that its locale has been a matter of speculation. Guessing tongues have placed it "somewhere in Poland," "Somewhere in Romania," and "somewhere in Czechoslovakia." But advices from usually trustworthy sources say it is in session, and is being attended by such powerful figures as Moscow's A. A. Zhadnov, who is a member of the Russian Politburo, Palimiro Togliatti of Rome, and Jacques Duclos of Paris.

Partly Defensive

We can take it, I believe, that this important meeting is to consider the situation created by the stone-wall stand of the Democracies headed by the United States. The Bolshevists are being held along the Stettin-Adriatic line through central Europe. They have sustained grievous defeats in France and Italy—strategic countries through which they planned to extend their conquest of western Europe. There has been a heavy revulsion against the Reds in the United States and in other countries of the western hemisphere.

Therefore the cominform meeting may be considered as partly defensive. Any further Communist aggression such as the brutal rape of Czechoslovakia might produce war. Russia isn't prepared for war and consequently doesn't want it.

So we are safe in assuming that the Red Cominform meeting is planning ways and means (1) of consolidating and defending their post-war gains in eastern Europe and Asia, and (2) of mapping out a campaign of political strong-arm action in other countries along lines with which the world has become completely familiar. This involves not only political agitation but strikes, sabotage and spying. That is, it will include everything short of war with lethal weapons.

Not So Powerful

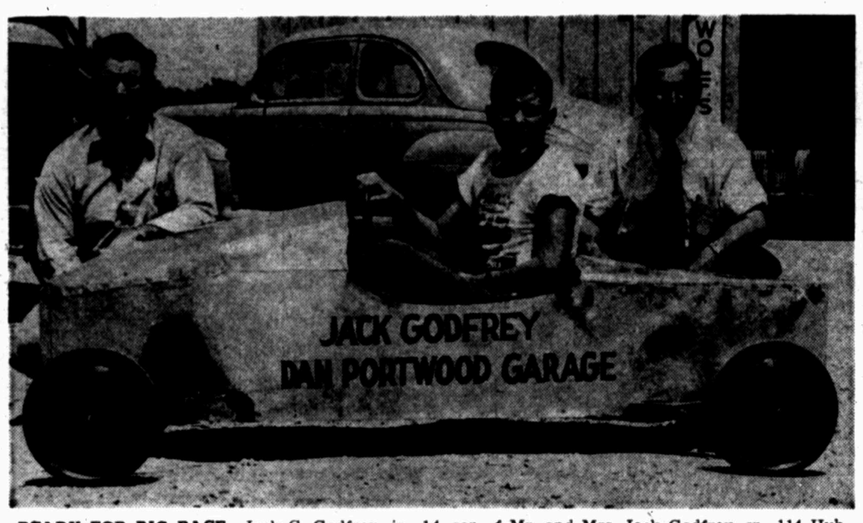

Russia is powerful, but her present strength doesn't by any means come up to the impression she created by her conquests in Europe during and just after the close of the world war. Those conquests—the three Baltic states, Poland, Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Albania and Czechoslovakia—were achieved by sleight-of-hand, to speak euphemistically.

These "political" victories were carried out under the auspices of the Red armies of occupation. Moscow gained many concessions in those early days because she was one of the major allies and had fought a great fight against the Germans.

However, the Democratic world finally is awake to the dangers of the Communist revolution. The Marshall plan is beginning to work. The newly created western European union and the American government are to engage in conversations relating to mutual military defense. Even Sweden, Norway and Denmark—sitting under Russia's big guns—have had the courage to hold discussions for joint defense of Scandinavia.

No wonder the Cominform is holding an emergency session. The Red flood would seem to have been checked at least temporarily by Democracy's energetic measures.

Icebergs fifty miles long have been reported in the Antarctic.

READY FOR BIG RACE—Jack C. Godfrey, jr., 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Godfrey, sr., 114 Hub Homes, is all set for the first Avalanche-Journal-Chevrolet Soap Box Derby to be staged in Lubbock, Monday, July 5. He is pictured above in his completed racer, in which he declared he's going to win the race. Dan Portwood, left, who is sponsoring the boy's car and Jack's father, right, are shown as they visited Jack after completing the car. Jack is a member of the Lubbock Boys' club and a 9th grade student at Central Junior High school. Portwood's garage, the Dan Portwood Garage, is sponsoring the boy's car in the race. Constructed of scrap lumber and sheet aluminum, young Godfrey's car complies in every respect with racer regulations for the big Derby. (Staff Photo).

Marine Corps Group Planning Maneuvers

CHERRY POINT, N. C., June 23. (AP)—The Merine Borp's Organized Reserve Training command will demonstrate here next month just how fast it could act if war were declared.

The annual maneuvers starting at this air base July 10 will involve 3,000 officers and men on reserve squadrons in 27 cities of Eastern America.

On the first day of the two-week maneuvers, Cherry Point's transport squadron will gather in the personnel from the 27 cities east of the Mississippi which have reserve squadrons. From that day until July 24, the reserves will run their show at Cherry Point.

Each squadron will bring its Corsair fighter planes, their pilots and their ground men. They're all civilians now, but every pilot is a combat veteran.

In their high-speed two weeks' training here, these war-seasoned reserves will fit together a fighting organization which would form a secondary line to existing forces.

SEVEN ARE KILLED

TOKYO, June 23. (AP) — Seven Japanese workmen were killed and seven injured today in a landslide at Maebashi, 60 miles northwest of Tokyo.

Water Shortage Is Rice Crop Threat

BAYTOWN, June 23 (U.P.) — A steady drop in the San Jacinto river, combined with continued hot, dry weather, posed a real threat today to the $1,250,000 rice crop in Harris and Chambers counties.

The river now is lower than it was last summer, according to Theo Wilburn, rice grower and chairman of the Agricultural committee of the Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce. At that time, he pointed out, water was rationed to rice farmers.

U. S. weather bureau records show only 4.4 inches of rainfall here since May 1. In May and June of last year, 14 inches fell.

Until recent times, in civilized countries animals were given legal trials for their "crimes" according to Encyclopedia Britannica.

State Suits Ask Liquor Forfeiture

The State of Texas, through the Liquor Control board, the attorney general and County Attorney John Steele, Tuesday afternoon filed suits asking that judgment be entered by 72nd District Judge Dan Blair forfeiting to the state a large quantity of alcoholic beverages.

The suits were filed against Luke Silas and approximately 601 bottles of alcoholic beverages; Youell Mershon and approximately 557 bottles and 360 cans of alcoholic beverages; L. Z. Cannon and approximately 1,224 cans and 173 bottles of alcoholic beverages; W. L. Yarborough and approximately 2,082 cans of alcoholic beverages; and C. A. Lynch and approximately 1,230 bottles of alcoholic beverages.

Ground for the action was described by the state as alleged possession of alcoholic beverages in a "dry area." All had been seized in raids here, it was pleaded.

The action was the first of its kind here, the office of Charley Fuller, deputy supervisor of the Lubbock district of the liquor board, said. It apparently follows a procedure that has been adopted in some other sections of the state to preclude the possibility of litigation brought by persons from whom such beverages have been taken.

Philippine Rebels Get General Pardon

MANILA, June 23. (AP)—The government wrote out a general pardon today for the armed peasants known as Huks (Kukbalahaps) and the National Peasants' union.

President Quirino extended the amnesty. Both houses of Congress approved it.

It promised the end of two years of civil strife in which an estimated 50,000 Huks backed up demands for land reform with guns.

The Huk leader, Luis Taruc, who gave himself up, remained in technical arrest. The government's next job is to disarm his followers. Manila newspapers reported hundreds had surrendered their arms already.

MARY HAWORTH'S MAIL . . .

Married Now And With Two-Year-Old Son, Girl Can't Forget Long Ago Secret Flirtation

DEAR Mary Haworth: Five years ago at the age of 20 I made the foolish mistake of losing my heart to a married man, although I never had an affair with him.

He was only 21 at the time and had been married three years; married too young, of course. He had the usual line: his wife "didn't understand" him. He told me he loved me and I suppose you'll think I'm crazy, but I believed him. However, he must have felt something, because he was always kind to me.

My conscience bothered me. I knew no good could come of it, and finally I realized that my life would be ruined if we continued to see each other, so I made the break. He went into the Army but sent me letters and called me long distance; and even after I married, I kept hearing from him.

SHE IS MOODY, HAS HEADACHES

I HAVE a wonderful husband and a two-year-old son and my husband knows all about this past episode. But what he doesn't know is that I think of Jim almost constantly. There are times when he fades from mind for a day or two, and then I am happy with my husband—until thoughts of Jim recur to haunt me.

Larry (my husband) would be deeply hurt if he knew of this, therefore I don't tell him. But why can't I forget Jim? I had other boy friends and I have forgotten them all, so why not him? Lately I get nervous headaches and am very moody. The situation isn't getting any better. How do you explain this torment? Please advise me.

C. V.

GUILT FEELINGS REFER TO PRESENT

DEAR C. V.: You're not really pining for Jim, and neither are you tortured by remorse at having once had a foolish crush on him.

Actually you are batted back and forth by conflicting selfish impulses, on the one hand wanting the security of marriage, on the other hand wishing you weren't tied to husband and child.

Now that you are a wife nd mother, you are at heart no more loyal to your conjugal obligation than Jim was; and your unconscious guilt-feelings about these renegade impulses are the source of your torment.

Jim's escapade with you is symbolic of the freedom you'd like to take, if only you were bold or weak enough to follow his example; and this explains why you think of him so much. In brief, as you try to bridle resurgent desire to check the whole kit-and-kaboodle of domestic tedium, you spontaneously identify yourself with Jim, whose performance in relation to you advertised his comparably unstable character.

IGNORANCE AT ROOT OF HER DISCONTENT

YOU broke with Jim in recognition of the fact that there was no future in the flirtation; and if your paths were to cross again, you would again see fit, sooner or later, to reject him as a purposeless two-timer. So he isn't your problem at all.

Your unhappiness stems from your immature personality; from the fact that you aren't prepared to come to terms with responsibility. Hence your nervous headaches and moody spells, symptomatic of repressed hysterical rebellion against commitments you've brought on yourself.

For advice: Canvass your doldrums with your family physician, looking to the possibility that a substantial degree of sexual maladjustment, based on ignorance, may be at the root of your discontent with marriage, thus sparking morbid reveries featuring Jim and adding to the vicious circle of guilt-feelings and rebellious tendencies.

M. H.

Government Budget Surplus On Upsurge

WASHINGTON, June 23. (AP)—The government's budget surplus has topped $8,000,000,000 for the first time in nearly 160 years of U. S. history.

Treasury records released today showed the surplus—which is the excess of income over spending—reached $8,251,054,534.55 on June 21.

Responsible for the upsurge were heavy receipts of quarterly income tax payments that fell due June 15.

Before the fiscal year ends June 30, However, the surplus is expected to go down nearer to President Truman's January estimate of $7,482,000,000. Quarterly tax receipt tallying will be completed by then and heavy year-end expenses will show up on the balance sheets.

When you buy Barcentrate, you buy a preparation for taking off weight. You do not pay for any printed diet nor for vitamins to fortify you against weakness while on a starvation diet. You need never know a hungry moment while taking this preparation. Barcentrate is the original grapefruit juice recipe to take off ugly fat.

If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to take off ugly fat, return the empty bottle for your money back.

Two Georgia Ex-Governors Join Hands To Beat H. Talmadge

ATLANTA, June 23 (AP)—Two former Georgia governors — Ellis Arnall and E. D. Rivers—today had joined hands publicly to defeat Herman Talmadge.

It was on the basis that Arnall, often described as "the spokesman for the liberal South" and Rivers, once accused of collaborating for profit with the head of the Ku Klux Klan, rallied behind Gov. M. E. Thompson.

To Join Fight

Once bitter political enemies they said yesterday they would roll up their sleeves and work together for Talmadge's defeat in the forthcoming gubernatorial campaign.

"Talmadgeism is bad medicine for Georgia," said Arnall. "We are glad to join in any fight against Talmadgeism."

Talmadge's sole comment was: "It looks like they want to bury Thompson before the campaign even begins."

The surprise announcement of the alliance between the two was further evidence to Georgians that politics makes strange bedfellows.

Two years ago Rivers accused Arnall, then governor, of doublecrossing him in the gubernatorial fight.

Rivers said Arnall had promised to support him and then renigued.

Almost on the eve of the primary election, the two made up, but Rivers still ran a bad third.

And it was just a scant eight years ago that Rivers was under indictment along with former Imperial Wizard Hiram Evans of the Ku Klux Klan.

Evans was indicted by the Fulton county (Atlanta) grand jury on a charge of conspiring with Rivers to defraud the state on the sale of asphalt. Rivers was accused of embezzlement.

A lengthy trial of Evans ended with a deadlocked jury and a mistrial was declared. Charges against both Rivers and Evans, a colonel on Rivers' staff, eventually were dropped.

Suit Is Brought

Later the state brought suit Evans to recover 390,000 in overcharges on the asphalt sales, but settled for 36,000. That came during Arnall's administration.

A U. S. tax court ruled still later that Evans owed 350,000 in income taxes.

Arnall recently has become widely known as an author. He wrote "The Shore Dimly Seen" and "What the People Want." He served as attorney general during Rivers' second administration and succeeded Rivers in office.

FUNERAL IS SET

DALLAS, June 23 (AP)—Funeral services were planned here today for Dr. Marvin P. Stone, 69. Dr. Stone, who had closed his office last year because of failing health, died yesterday.

BRITAIN MAKES HER SEE RED — Mrs. John L. Brand, left, Russian-born British bride, returned to Moscow recently because, she said, she couldn't stand the "dreadful slum" of Hackney, a London suburb. Mrs. Brand filed suit for divorce from her husband, right, as soon as she arrived in Moscow, and then wrote a letter to Pravda, Russian newspaper, warning Soviet women who are still trying to join their husbands in Britain against it.

Republicans Inform Russians "They Shall Go No Farther"

CONVENTION HALL, PHILADELPHIA, June 23 (AP) — A Republican party orator served notice on Soviet Russia today that "thus far and no farther shall they go."

Rep. Halleck of Indiana, majority leader of the House of Representatives and one of the final speakers before the GOP national convention began the tedious task of picking a presidential nominee, sounded the warning "for all the world to hear and for Mr. Stalin to heed."

"The Republican party is a party of peace," Halleck declared in an address prepared for today's convention session of mounting tensions.

"We want no war. We will provoke no war. We will exert every device of wise negotiation to avert war," the Indiana lawmaker said.

Declaration Made To World

"But we declare for all the world to hear and for Mr. Stalin to heed, that thus far and no farther shall they go. We will not tolerate its threat to our future nor to the security of the world."

Like other speakers who preceded him, the Indiana favorite son lashed out at the "evil" he said resulted from the Roosevelt and Truman Big Three conferences at Yalta, Tehran and Potsdam.

"In foreign affairs, as in domestic affairs," Halleck told the convention delegates and visitors and an international radio audience, "The people are paying a high price for the incompetence, bungling and vacillations of the New Deal Democrat administrations, past and present. . . .

Russian Position Changed

"There was a time when it was a matter of life or death to Russia to have our aid. There was a time when the United States could have demanded and obtained agreement in accordance with the principles for lasting peace for which so many were sacrificing.

"Instead, the New Deal-Democrat administration followed a policy that strengthened Communism at home and abroad. . . .

"It was the Republican party that has called attention to the dangers of Communism in the United States. It was the New Deal-Democrat administration that has coddled the Communists and allowed them to obtain high places in our government."

Congress Is Praised

On domestic issues, Halleck said the GOP-dominated 80th Congress "has made an outstanding record in clearing away debris left by New Deal administrations and establishing solid foundation for sound national progress."

The House leader pointed to the income tax cut, the Taft-Hartley Labor act, budget reductions and removal of wartime controls as congressional acts carried out despite what he called the "obstructionist" tactics of President Truman.

"Much has been accomplished," Halleck said. But "There is much more to do — much more." He asked:

"Must we who are in Congress continue fighting every inch of the way against executive obstruction? Must we face at every step the opposition of a president who talks liberty and freedom and seeks police state powers — who talks economy but would spend billions we do not have?

"The answer is no — emphatically no."

Then, echoing the 1946 Republican campaign cry, Halleck continued:

"The American people have had enough, more than enough, much too much."

Nurses Aid Class Will Begin Today

Mrs. Grady Harrist, registered nurse who will be one of two nurses in charge of nursing services when the blood bank opens, will teach the course. The class will meet at the same time again Thursday and Friday. Another class is to be organized after the bank opens and the need for nursing assistance increases.

A staff assistants' four-hour course is to be conducted next Tuesday.

Mrs. O. R. Hand is chairman of the nurses aide group and Mrs. Valm Williams is chairman of the staff assistants group for the blood bank.

Commander Outlines Local Guard Setup

To clarify the local situation with regard to National Guard enlistments for young men between the ages of 18 and 25, a statement was made Tuesday afternoon by Lt. Col. Ross Ayers, commander of the 132nd Field Artillery battalion with headquarters in Lubbock.

"Congress and military officials feel that so far as possible the country is better off and the men are better off if they are allowed to stay at home for military training. Such training can be given at less cost to the government and the men get more out of it with less inconvenience to them," Col. Ayers said.

Training Choice Given

"But, since local units can accomodate only a limited number, men are being given a choice whether they will take concentrated, regimented training for 24 hours per day for twenty-one months, or whether they will take training in civilian components for a longer period," the local National Guard commander explained.

"I should like to make it clear that enlistment in the National Guard is not an evasion of military training," Col. Ayers said.

For the convenience of parents and prospective recruits, a recruiting center for National Guard enlistment has been established at American Legion Hall, 910 Texas Ave., this week. M/Sgt. J. C. McClung, Army instructor assigned to the 132nd Field Artillery battalion, will be on duty there each afternoon from 2:30 until 6:30 o'clock.

Quick Action Necessary

Since the President has only 10 days from the time Congress passed the bill to sign it, it was thought that those young men who wish to join National Guard units would have to do so this week in order to be allowed to receive their required military training at home.

Units of the local battalion stationed in Lubbock include: Service C, and Headquarters batteries. Battery A is located in Plainview and Battery B in Big Spring. Yet to be organized is the medical detachment of the battalion.

Armory space for the local National Guard units is at Lubbock Army Air field. Trucks transport men from the city for weekly drills. Pay for service in the National Guard is the equivalent of one day's pay in the regular Army, plus the pay received at the annual summer camp.

Valuables Reported Missing From Boat

WILMINGTON, Calif., June 23 (AP) — Screen Writer George Sherwood and his wife, the former Pauline Starke of the films, reported to police that their schooner Fiesta in the harbor here has been "pirated."

They said their schooner had been burglarized of a $4,000 mink coat, a $2,500 ermine cape, a $200 pair of binoculars and a $100 wrist watch.

The Sherwoods live on the boat.

Look, No Steering Wheel For Autoist

LOS ANGELES, June 23. (AP)—The kid on the bicycle who hollered "Look, Ma, no hands," had a grown-up counterpart today.

Police tell about the motorist who easily could have shouted "look, no steering wheel."

Motorcycle Officer C. D. Barkley said he stopped 22-year-old Everett Miller yesterday for driving 50 miles-an-hour in a 25-mile zone. And doing it without a steering wheel, Barkley said.

The officer found Miller was using a pair of pliers on the steering shaft to guide the vehicle.

Miller pleaded guilty to a reckless driving charge and was fined $15. He also had been cited for speeding, faulty headlights, defective windshield, stickers placed illegally on the windshield, no registration and failure to observe a stop signal.

"But I do have breaks on the car," the officer quoted Miller after the latter was ticketed.

CIVIL STRIFE SHAKES ISRAEL

Rebel Ship Blasted In Tel Aviv Battle

By ROBERT HEWETT
Associated Press Staff Writer

TEL AVIV, June 23 — Israeli mortar fire blasted a munitions ship beached by Irgun Zvai Leumi rebels last night as civil strife shook the new Jewish state of Israel.

The ammo-laden vessel burst into flames, throwing a four-hour battle between Irgun and the army into confusion. Thousands of Tel Aviv residents fled the central water front, scene of the fighting.

The ship—an LST—was carrying 600 tons of munitions in violation of the terms of the four-weeks United Nations truce which forbids the importation of arms during that period.

Many Explosions

Later, persons watching from distant rooftops, said they heard 12 or 15 explosions. Clouds of smoke arose, obscuring the whole area. Soon afterward an Irgun truck with a loudspeaker toured the city while an announcer proclaimed sarcastically:

"Haganah has achieved a great victory in blowing up our ship."

The Irgun announcer said Menachen Beigin, commander of the former underground organization, had a "narrow escape" from the burning ship.

There were no further reports of Irgun-Israeli fighting on Tel Aviv beach after both sides fled the battle ground in fear of explosions.

Unarmed Fighters Appear

A little later, truckloads of unarmed Irgun fighters appeared on the city's main streets. Some interpreted this to mean that a deal had been made with the government to end the strife.

The battle began early yesterday when Irgun gun runners beached their munitions ship within a block of the hotel occupied by United Nations truce observers. Irgun refused to surrender the ship to government custody, and the Israeli army rushed platoons of infantry to the waterfront.

Some 40 persons were reported killed or injured in the fighting.

Paralysis Epidemic Spreads Over State

NEW YORK, June 23. (U.P.)—The epidemic of infantile paralysis in Texas has spread to 50 counties, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis reported today.

The foundation said that 427 cases of the disease have been discovered from Jan. 1 through June 12, compared with 63 cases in the state for the same period last year.

Among the counties hardest hit according to the foundation were Willacy, Nueces, Harris (Houston), Galveston and Bell.

"The outbreaks started in Hidalgo county in the Rio Grande valley, then moved to adjacent Cameron county," the announcement said. "They now have jumped in a northern and eastern direction. More than 50 Texas counties have reported polio cases so far this year."

Traffic Death Rate Below 1947 Record

AUSTIN, June 23 (U.P.) — Texas traffic deaths dropped to 141 in May, 19 below the total for the same month a year ago, the Department of Public Safety reported today.

The month's fatalities brought the year's total to 728, compared to 747 over a similar five-month stretch in 1947.

The Department of Public Safety figured that the year's death rate on the highways was three per cent below last year, while Texans were traveling an estimated seven per cent more miles

83-Year-Old Pastor Builds Own Church

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., June 23. (AP)—An 83-year-old preacher is building his own church here and plans to give up the sound truck he has used or the past 10 years between Pennsylvania and Miami.

C. E. Neal, who describes himself as "interdenominational," is putting in 14 hours a day on the 32 by 48 foot structure. Work on the concrete block walls is nearly completed.

The aged minister explained:

"I couldn't get proper help, so I just figured I'd do it myself—just the Lord and me, that is. I don't like for the devil to lick me."

Although claiming never to have taken up a collection, Neal says he has saved between three and four thousand dollars. All of it will be spent on the church construction.

Neal is a native of Beach Lake, Pa. He has been preaching, he says, for 35 years. The past decade he has driven his sound truck up and down the Atlantic seaboard, preaching in small communities.

Troops Unload Food Cargoes

LONDON, June 23 (AP) — The Labor government sent troops to London wharves today to unload food cargoes tied up for 10 days by a wildcat strike of dock workers.

An official statement from Prime Minister Attlee's office said:

"As work has not been resumed in the London docks and perishable food needed by he people is in danger of deterioration and waste the government has decided that it has no alternative in the public interest but to utilize service personnel to safeguard the peoples' food supplies, particularly those of a perishable nature."

Unloading Started

The soldiers began unloading the food ships at noon. The decision to use troops was made by a special emergencies committee of the cabinet following failure of a back-to-work movement this morning

The dock workers walked out 10 days ago in a wildcat strike. They demanded reinstatement of 11 dock workers who were penalized for refusing to handle "dirty cargo" of zinc oxide without extra pay.

Odds Dropping On Joe Louis

NEW YORK, June 23 (AP) — Given a break in the weather, a bulky tight-weary Joe Louis will defend his heavyweight championship against Jersey Joe Walcott tonight in what well might mark the end of a boxing era.

It's this intriguing prospect—the last ring appearance of a great champion or an upset victory by the old campaigner from South Jersey—that is expected to lure a crowd of 55,000 in to Yankee stadium.

The 15-round title bout is scheduled to start at 9 p. m. EST

Expect Huge Gate

Twentieth Century Sporting club officials anticipate a gate of between $800,000 and $900,000 with radio and television receipts making it a million dollar affair if skies clear

The weatherman could offer little comfort on that point. He said intermittent showers that hit the New York area yesterday may clear before evening, permitting the battle to go on under warm, humid conditions.

If postponement is necessary, the bout will be staged Thursday night.

Odds favoring Louis dropped to 5 to 12 as the result of a last-minute influx of Walcott money and it's possible they will shrink to 1-2 by ring time.

If you like the champion by a knockout you must lay 7½ to 5. If you figure Walcott can end it before schedule you can back your sentiment at 4 to 1.

The two principals, both 34 and old as fighters go, spent the next to last day quietly.

Louis, at Pompton Lakes, N. J., indulged in a few exercises, saw a movie and ate a heavy meal. He said there would be no "drying out" as the last time.

Walcott took a five-mile run over the hills around Grenloch, N. J., rested in the afternoon and then motored to New York.

The challenger retired early last night at a mid-town hotel.

They weigh in at noon today. Louis expects to scale 215, the heaviest fighting weight of his career. Walcott figures to check in at 195.

Longview Edges Into First In Lone Star

(By The Associated Press)

The Lone Star league continues its game of button who's got the button — only in this case it's who's first.

Today the Longview Texans are back on top, replacing Kilgore.

Longview clipped Tyler 2-1 to edge back into the lead as Bryan whipped Kilgore 6-1. Longview is only 10 percentage points ahead and Kilgore is just six points to the good over third-place Tyler.

Six-hit pitching by Harry Fowle brought Longview its triumph.

Bryan got four runs in the third on two walks, a single and Manager Jess Landrum's homer to beat Kilgore.

Henderson came from behind for five runs in the fifth to lick Lufkin 9-4 as M. Tappe pitched a seven-hitter.

Marshall went into a tie for seventh place with Lufkin by edging Gladewater 6-5. Frank Calo of Marshall was the hitting star with four blows in five trips.

Blue Sox Squelch Hubbers By 9 To 6

The Hubbers faltered after winning five straight games and were edged by the Abilene Blue Sox last night, 9-6.

Lamesa also stayed even with Abilene in sixth place, a ninth inning homer by Chris Haskins winning the game and another by Tony Fiarito adding insurance, as the Loboes beat the league leading Pampa Oilers 4-1.

Race Gets Tighter

Pampa didn't lose the game lead over Amarillo that they had gained the night before, when the Gold Sox were nosed out by Albuquerque 4-3. The Dukes thus went back into a tie with Borger for third place, the Gassers meeting defeat at the hand of the rampaging Clovis Pioneers, 10-5.

All in all, the West Texas-New Mexico league is getting tighter than a newspaper reporter at a free dinner. Pampa has a lead of only six and a half games over the seventh place team, with the other nines stretched out in between. Any team might take the lead, but Pampa has been the only one to win consistently enough to remain in first place.

Last night's game at Rosenthal Field was not entirely lost. Manager Jackie Sullivan, who had had a tooth pulled in the afternoon, was in misery and sidelined by the molar. In his place went Royce Mills, the hero of Monday night's game.

Hits Didn't Count

But Mills, as fine a player as he is, wasn't the Skipper and the Hubbers were unable to put together a sustained attack. They were given seven bases on balls and staged one brief rally, before Ray Miller came on to squelch that. They weren't hitting when it counted and the only extra-base blow they had was a double by Mills.

For that matter Abilene wasn't hitting hard, they were merely getting timely little hits on the fluke side. The biggest blow for the Sox was a three-run double by Bob Crandell. The rest of the time they were getting singles, capitalizing on walks, their speed and Hubber miscues.

Tonight Blond Bobby Layne will go to the mound seeking his second win against two losses, with either Ed Patterson or Fred Fazzio opposing him. And Sullivan will be back in the lineup, giving the Hubbers his finesse at second and his booming bat, without which the team definitely is weaker.

Surprise Is Sprung By Cloverlake Team

One of the major upsets of the South Plains Softball league competition was turned in Tuesday night at Jumbo Webster field when the surprising Cloverlake Dairy nine edged by the Bluebonnett-Sunbeamers, 7-6, in the second tilt of a twin bill.

The Dairy nine handed Bluebonnet ace Jackie Neel his worst defeat in seven years of hurling in notching the win, pounding the curve ball artist for nine hits. Neel, who struck out seven, received little support from his teammates as the Sunbeamers were charged with eight errors.

Cecil Hale gained credit for the mound win, striking out nine batters and giving up eight safeties.

In the first tussle the Thomas Jewelers dropped their bitter rivals—the Baldridge Bakery—by a 4-1 count. G. W. Warden tallied the win for the Jewelers as he held the Bakerymen to seven hits, while Loy Hubbard was marked as the losing hurler. Hubbard was touched for only four hits, but he issued seven free passes.

Morris McClendon paced the Jewelers at the plate with two safeties.

The linescores:

THOMAS	021	000	1—4 4 1
BALDRIDGE	010	000	0—1 7 0

Warden and Highly; Hubbard and Griffith.

SECOND GAME

Between . . . The Lines

— By JOE KELLY —

This is an open request to Manager Jackie Sullivan and the Lubbock Hubbers; please don't ever again send us through such torture as we endured Monday night at Rosenthal Field. We love to see you win, we hate to have you lose, but it hurts us to type this column today because we have no fingernails left on either hand. We slowly are recovering from that rally Monday night, the one in which you spotted Abilene eight runs and then beat them 9-8.

While we're on the subject of that game, we want to make a resolution. We were at El Paso on New Year's Day and became so engrossed in the city, the football game and the excitement that we completely forgot to make a New Year's Day resolution. Now, it seems, would be a good time to make one. We hereby resolve to write, mentally, a lead for the next day's story on any Hubber baseball game, even if the score is 99-0 in the seventh inning.

We were guilty of that Monday night. Along about the fourth inning we were writing, in the mind, that "The loud snap heard about 11 last night in the vicinity of Rosenthal Field was a three-game winning streak compiled by the Hubbers," etc. Thank goodness we were able to revise it considerably. We weren't without company. A certain radio announcer, whose name shall be kept secret (mainly because he threatened to chase us with a baseball bat until he caught up), said when things looked black(-est), that it would be a five-hit shutout for (no-relation) John Kelly.

Certainly no mention of that game would be complete without paying tribute to Royce Mills, a person that we have maligned on occasion this season. We have liked Royce for some time and were always grieved when he threw them in a little too fat and they disappeared from view. But last night's exhibition was one of the finest of the season. He really bore down when the chips were on the line and for a relief hurler to go 10 and two-third innings is a remarkable feat. He deserves a great hand for his pitching chore Monday night. For a bull pen pitcher to come in and go more than a regulation game is news. It also was a brilliant exhibition of courage.

We talked to Royce after the game, in the dressing room, where he was slowly dressing, a tired, happy man. He said that he couldn't get his curve to work right until the 9th inning, but he felt sure he had the game then. When he whiffed the side in the 10th, he was certain he was going to win. And even having the bases loaded in the 11th didn't bother him. Balls that Art Bowland, Bob Crandell and Len Glica hit out of the park were curves that didn't break, that hung too fat. Outside of those three pitches, Mills was in control.

Several persons have asked why we didn't ride the team when it was losing, declaring that it was a rotten team, they had a poor manager, the pitching was terrible, the front office wasn't doing anything to help, and similar remarks. It isn't out policy to kick a dog; it isn't our policy to strain at the bit in an effort to lash out at a team. When a baseball team is winning they look great; when they are losing, they look terrible. If we, with our meager intelligence, could do any better, we would be managing the team.

It's so easy to call a manager and players rotten. We wonder how many persons, if they were playing, could do any better, let alone as well? So, when the Hubbers lose, we'll grind our teeth and suffer in silence. When they win, we'll give them their just desserts. We have an idea that the Hubbers didn't like that losing streak themselves and that their confidence sagged. With these victories over Lamesa and Abilene, the team probably is more confident and will do better. We wish them luck, we want to see them up there on top.

Tonight the two Joes, Louis and Walcott face each other again. Not having any inside dope, we're stringing along with Louis on the sheer fact that percentages favor the champion and that it's considered sound betting policy. We don't believe that Louis underestimates Walcott this time; we don't think he will be the same befuddled Louis who stalked and stalked and stalked without avail in December. Louis doesn't have much ring time left and he does want to go out as champion. We don't know when the fight will end, but we don't believe it will go the limit.

Texan Is Threat In K. C. Golf Tourney

KANSAS CITY, June 23. (AP)—The soggy Mission Hills country club put a premium on the tee shots intoday's two rounds of play in the trans-Mississippi golf tournament.

Any player capable of equalling par was considered a good bet to win his second and third round of competition. Approximately an inch of rain fell yesterday while the 33 championship matches were in progress.

The prospect of dry weather today was none too good.

A darkhorse threat, Robert (Bob) Watson, of Wichita Falls, Texas, the only shooter to go eighteen holes in sub-par figures yesterday, was carded against Orville Goens, of Des Moines, Ia., 4 and 3 victor over Dr. A. E. Upsher, of Kansas City.

Watson eliminated O. O. Rose, of Kansas City, 7 and 6, but the boys played out the eighteen holes. A Texas university student and Southwest conference titlist, Watson made the 6,700 yard tournament strip in 70, two strokes under par. He was out in 3-under-33, and came in with a 37, one stroke over regulation figures.

Cards Proving Tough To Beat

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

National league clubs are finding out that a team blessed with a .400 batter and an .800 pitcher is tough to beat.

It was this combination that paved the way for the 5-2 victory the St. Louis Cardinals hung upon the league leading Braves in Boston last night, and boosted the Redbirds right back into the fight for the flag.

The first half of the combination—slashing Stan Musial—stroked five consecutive singles to zoom his league leading batting average to .403. His fifth hit came in the ninth with the bases loaded to drive in a couple of mates and snap a 2-2 tie.

Breecheen Wins Eighth

The other half--Harry (The Cat) Breecheen—won his eighth game of the year. He has lost two. It also marked his seventh victory in eighth decisions under the lights this year.

The triumph moved the third place Cards to within a game and a half behind the league leaders. The Redbirds trail the second place Pittsburgh Pirates by half a game.

The American league pace-setters, the Cleveland Indians, whipped New York 5-2 in Cleveland to increase their margin over the runner-up Yankees to three and a half games.

Joe DiMaggio whacked three hits including his 16th home run, tieing the American league home run leadership with Ken Keltner of the Indians.

Reds Beat Phils

Danny Litwhiler's 10th inning home run with Hank Sauer on base gave the Cincinnati Reds a 6-4 victory over the Phillies in a night game in Philadelphia. Earlier in the game, Sauer had smashed his 21st home run of the season, a record total for a righthanded Cincinnati batter.

Earl Wooten's first major league homer gave the Washington Senators a 5-4 victory over the Tigers in a night game at Detroit.

A four-run eighth inning helped the Philadelphia Athletics beat the St. Louis Browns 7-6.

The Boston Red Sox came from behind to club the White Sox 11-6 in a night game in Chicago.

The scheduled games between the Chicago Cubs and Giants in New York and the Pirates and Dodgers in Brooklyn were postponed because of rain.

City Open Golf Tourney To Be Launched Here On July 10

The Meadowbrook Publinx Golf club will be host this year to the annual City Open Golf tournament sponsored by the Optimist club, it was announced yesterday afternoon by club officials, with play scheduled to open on July 10.

Match play rules will govern the tournament, but a medalist will be chosen from the qualifying rounds, which will be fired on July 10 and 11 to open the tourney. After those initial rounds, which will qualify golfers for flights, all match play in the first two rounds must be completed by July 18. The third and fourth rounds will be completed by July 25 and will be the championship rounds in each flight.

Entry Fee Is $5

A contestant's fee of $5 will be charged, somewhat lower than in other city championship tournaments, and admittance cards for participants will be available on or about July 1. These will be sold at the Meadowbrook club at that time.

An attractive list of prizes, already totaling over $600 worth of merchandise, has been compiled and the prize list is expected to grow before the tournament actually opens. Among the items to be offered winners in the various flights, as well as consolation winners, will be golf equipment, radios and other goods.

Proceeds from the tournament, which are not expected to be too great, will be used by the Optimist club to develop golfing for boys in Lubbock. The club hopes to set up a well-rounded program for boys and the tournament, which will become a yearly event under their sponsorship, is the first step toward realization of the project.

Although there have been no entries to date, Lofton Burnett, the 1947 champion, has promised to enter the contest, as well as Jimmy Goldman, the 1946 champion. Goldman only recently returned from Los Angeles, where he took part in the United States Golf Association's National Open tournament.

Several outstanding amateur golfers of Lubbock have evinced an interest in the tournament and the entry list is expected to be one of the largest for any tournament in recent years. Among those expected to be on hand for the golfing are Chick Trout, Sr., and his sons, Oran Wilson, Murrell Tripp, and others.

Prizes to be offered in the tourney will be placed on display in Lubbock as soon as the lists are completed. A prize also will be given to the tourney medalist.

Various Optimist club committees have been appointed and are functioning, with Ben Williams the general chairman. Williams also is on the prize committee, which is headed by Jim O'Connell, while Cliff Cummings is chairman of the publicity committee and is serving on the tickets committee.

Babe Facing Jinx In Western Open

CHICAGO, June 23. (AP)—Favored Babe Didrickson Zaharias met a youthful jinx opponent, two former champions collided and a couple of Texans feuded in today's second round of the 19th women's Western Open golf tourney.

Mrs. Zaharias, three-time open winner, took on tiny Mary McMillin of Green Bay, Wis., who in 1946 handed the Babe one of her most stinging setbacks in a phenomenal athletic career.

The two former champions pitted were Betty Jameson, San Antonio, Tex., and Helen Dettweiler, Indio, Calif., both professionals, like Mrs. Zaharias and veteran Patty Berg of Minneapolis, who had yesterday's steadiest performance.

The embattled Texans were Polly Riley of Fort Worth, and Bettye M. White of Dallas, who met once before in this tourney. That was in 1945, when Miss White scored a 2 and 1 first round decision.

Both Louis, Walcott Are Favored By Some

Sports Experts Are Divided On Outcome Of Fight Tonight

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 23. — The fearsome reputation founded through the years by Joe Louis made the "Brown Bomber" a heavy favorite with a cross-section of the sports world to defend his heavyweight championship successfully tonight against Jersey Joe Walcott.

Strangely enough, most of the sentiment favoring Walcott came from within the fight game itself but in the other sports they banked heavily on the old adage of riding with the champion. Here is the way some of them look at it:

Walcott Win Seen

For Walcott:

Jack Sharkey, former heavyweight king—"if he makes the same fight he did last time."

Charley Johnson, president Fight Managers' Guild—"Because up to now Walcott was a hungry fighter. Now he's eating regularly."

Al (The Vest) Weill, fight manager — "He'll befuddle Louis Again.

"Dumb Dan" Morgan, veteran manager—the essence of a 15-minute dissertation: "Walcott."

Stout Steve Owen, New York Giant coach—"Walcott by decision."

For Louis:

Some Favor Louis

Jim Braddock, former heavyweight champ from whom Louis won the title—"Louis, as always."

Tami Mauriello, Louis' last knockout victim—"Walcott always was a bum, and he's still a bum."

Jimmy Demaret, the golfing rainbow—"Louis inside three."

Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox—"Louis inside four rounds."

Ray (Sugar) Robinson, welterweight champion — "Louis in three."

Craig Wood, former National Open golf champ—"The Bomber in two or three heats."

Tony Zale, middleweight champion—"Louis should knock him out inside 10 rounds."

Other Opinions Given

Andy Pafko, Chicago Cubs — "I'll stick with the champ."

Frank Stranahan, British amateur champ—"Ditto."

Ray Arcel, veteran fight trainer—"Louis after going the distance."

Mel Ott, New York Giant manager—"I feel that Louis will knock him out."

Freddie Cocoran, Golf Expert—"Louis in 10."

Spencer Drayton, Turf F. B. I.—"I like Louis."

Leo Durocher, Brooklyn Dodger manager—"Louis by a knockout."

But the smartest one of all—on two counts—was Ned Irish, basketball enterpreneur at Madison Square barden.

1. Because he quite being a sportswriter.

2. Because he refused to make a selection, explaining:

"I don't know a thing about picking prize fight winners!"

You can see why the guy is a success.

Tulsa's Oilers Take Over Top Position In Texas Loop Chase

(By The United Press)

The Tulsa Oilers were riding atop the Texas league standings today but still were a game behind the second-place Houston Buffs.

It was all a matter of fewer games but more percentage points on the part of the Oilers after they broke even in a twin bill with the San Antonio Missions, losing the opener 9-4 and taking the nightcap 10-4 as high winds caused a light failure in the sixth inning.

Sent To Showers

In the opener, the Missions sent the loop's top pitcher, Harry Perkowski, to the showers for the second time in as many starts and handed him his fourth setback against 11 victories.

The Houston Buffs, meanwhile, dropped a pair to Oklahoma City —7-1 and 3-0—to drop to .582 in the standings compared to .585 for the Oilers.

Vic Johnson and Preacher Dorsett each limited the Buffs to seven hits as their mates hopped on Pete Mazar and Pete Bryant for ten and seven hits, respectively.

Rebs Win Pair

The Dallas Rebels, who picked up Fort Worth's deposed manager Les Burge within a few hours after the latter was fired but didn't use him last night, crept into fifth place by half a game over the Missions by sweeping a twin bill from Shreveport 2-1 in a 11-inning opener and 5-4 in the nightcap. Marty Errante and Jodie Phipps each went the route for the Rebels.

In the league's other game, Fort Worth stayed within challenging range of Tulsa and Houston by giving acting manager George Dockins a good inauguration with a 6-2 victory over Beaumont. Carl Erskine held the Exporters to six hits.

Wichita Falls First In Big State League

(By The Associated Press)

The first division teams all lost last night in the hectic Big State league race and the upshot was one change in the standings.

Wichita Falls went into the first division by licking leading Sherman-Denison 10-8 while Waco was falling to a tie for fifth with Paris by losing to Texarkana 5-2.

Second-place Austin was nipped by Paris 4-2 and third-place Greenville took it on the chin from Gainesville by the same score.

Ralph Germano pitched and slugged Wichita Falls to victory over Sherman. He hurled a 10-hitter and it was his three-run homer in the fourth frame that put the Spudders back into the ball game.

Paris hopped on Tex Hughson for its victory over Austin. It was Hughson's first set-back as the Rockets got to him for four hits and three runs after he had pitched three-hit ball for six frames.

Bill Garland won a pitching duel for Texarkana over Tony Judge of Waco.

Bill Perrin shoved a six-hit job at Greenville as Gainesville took the majors into camp.

The clubs continue their series tonight with Waco at Texarkana, Wichita Falls at Sherman-Denison, Paris at Austin and Gainesville at Greenville.

A BIG WINNER—All 350 pounds of Asumafuji holds the trophy he won as Japan's new wrestling champion. The huge fellow came out on top in an 11-day tournament in Tokyo.

Murdoch, Knutson On Wrestle Card

A bout matching Frankie Hill Murdoch, the Waxahachie "sleep hold" specialist, and Gil Knutson, the transplanted Iowan, and a crowd-pleasing Australian tag team setto will feature the wrestling card at Sled Allen's arena tonight.

Murdoch, a rowdy veteran, is slated to face a tough test in the brawny Knutson in the two of three falls main event. Murdoch will have the advantage of experience and age, but Knutson often makes up in muscle what he lacks in skill.

Four of the top grapplers of the Southwest are scheduled to tangle in the Australian tag team setto, with Pat O'Dowdy and Olan Boynton facing Bill Weidner and Sammy Kohen. O'Dowdy and Boynton, wrestler from Amarillo, are well-known in the local arena, but Weidner and Kohen are not as familiar to Lubbock mat fans. O'Dowdy and Boynton have gained a reputation for using rough tactics against foes, but the pair may have tough sledding against the speed of "Boston Bill" and New York's Sammy Kohen.

Black Hubbers Will Play Lamesa Club

The Black Hubbers will play the Lamesa Tigers at Lobo Park in Lamesa Thursday night, Manager James Roy Lewis announced last night. The Black Hubbers return to Lubbock for games Sunday and Monday at Rosenthal Field against the Detroit Senators.

Ex-Hubber Now Is Playing At Odessa

The Odessa Oilers of the Longhorn League have a new catcher, but he's no stranger to Lubbock and vicinity baseball fans. He's none other than Bill Merkel, former Hubber and currently a catcher in the semi-pro Oil Belt League.

The Hubbers received a call from the Oiler front office asking for aid when their regular catcher was injured. The Hubbers had no one they could spare, so suggested Merkel and the Oilers accepted him.

Merkel currenly has been catching on Sundays in the Oil Belt league, a semi-professional baseball circuit, and operates the concession stand for the Lubbock Baseball club at Rosenthal Field.

El Paso Boxer Is Decision Winner

EL PASO, June 23 (U.P.) — Jesse Fonseca, 119-pound El Paso boxer held a 10-round decision today over Hector Marquez, 117 pound Juarez youth and former bantamweight champion of Texas.

Approximately 2,500 fans watched Fonseca make use of his superior reach, strength and a sharp left last night to bring Marquez to his knees for a count of nine in the fourth round and carry the fight most of the way.

The 20-year-old El Paso youth opened a cut over Marquez' left eye in the second round and drew blood from his nose during the same round.

Legion A Nine Meets Slaton

First home game of the American Legion District 2, Region 1, baseball title race for the Lubbock "A" nine will be unreeled at 5 o'clock this afternoon at Chapman field when the Hub city team battles Slaton for the lead in the South bracket.

Bleacher seats are now available for fans at the Chapman field diamond, officials have announced, and no admission will be charged.

Coach Fred Taylor is expected to start Hulen Fowler, dependable righthander, on the mound for the home nine, with Lefty Jack Martyn and Jack McCabe ready for relief duty. Other starters will include Jackie Cook, catcher; Jesse Fullerton, first base; Charles Galey, second base; Billy Tatum, third; Bobby Brown, short; Dorrance Guy, left field; Garnett Reeves, center field; and Jimmy Richards, right field.

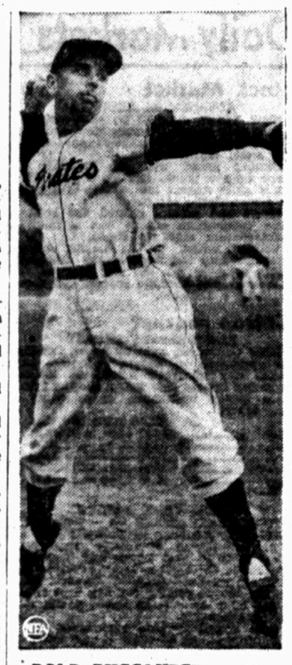

The Lubbock A nine chalked up a win over Spur, 39-3, in the only district tussle for the Hub Seniors, while Slaton thumped Tahoka, 17-5, in their only encounter.

In the only other South half game, Spur journeys to Tahoka for a tilt that will determine the cellar position in the loop.

The strong Lubbock "B" team, winner of three straight games in the North division of the district, goes to Muleshoe in one of the feature contests of the top bracket. Both nines are undefeated, with Lubbock holding wins over Morton, Brownfield and Plainview.

Coach Garland Head will probably give David Clark the starting hurling assignment for the Lubbock youngsters, with Tommy Yelvington behind the plate. Pitcher-First Baseman Mack Taylor is expected to start at the initial sack, with Neil Sikes at second and Morris Turner at third. Other boys slated to see action include Bobby and Jimmy Sexton, Tom Brown and J. R. Bradford.

In other district tilts Brownfield will go to Littlefield and Morton will clash with Plainview at Plainview.

BOLD BUCCANEER — Stan Rojek was the only Dodger, outside of pitcher Clyde King, who did not get in the World Series last fall, but his short-stopping is credited with making the infield that has kept the Pirates in contention to date.

Rules Offered For Entries In Jaycee Miss Lubbock Contest

Junior Chamber of Commerce members were busy today with plans for the Miss Lubbock contest, one of many being conducted throughout the state, with winners slated to compete in the Miss Texas Pageant to be held in Port Arthur on Friday, July 9, as the climax to a week-long Golden Jubilee celebration in that city.

Dr. P. K. Palmer, who is heading arrangements for the selection of Miss Lubbock, urged this morning that local girls get their entries into the Jaycee office at the city hall (telephone 6861) as soon as possible. Plans here have gotten underway somewhat belatedly, he said, and full cooperation of entrants and commitee workers will be necessary to make the local pageant a complete success.

Rules Are Announced

Palmer announced the following rules for entry:

1. Contestant must have been a resident of Lubbock county for six months prior to contest; Texas Tech students excepted from the above ruling.

2. Contestant must be single and never have been married, divorced, or had a marriage annulled.

3. Contestant must be a high school graduate or a senior attending high school at time of contest.

4. Contestants age on Sept. 1, 1948, shall be not less than 18 nor more than 28 years.

5. Contestants must be of good character and possess poise, personality, intelligence, charm and beauty of face and figure.

6. Contestants must possess and display talent in a three-minute routine. This talent may be singing, dancing, playing a musical instrument, dramatic reading, or she may give a three-minute talk on the career she wishes to pursue.

7. Contestant must be in good health and of the white race.

8. Contestant may be either amateur or professional.

July 1 Is Deadline

Contest officials emphasized that July 1 will be the absolute deadline for entries.

While contestants may register their own entries, Jaycee officials said, anyone may enter the name of a Lubbock county girl in the contest, providing they are reasonably certain that the girl is eligible within the requirements stated.

After preliminary judging, local entrants will take part individually in a floor show revue at the Lubbock Supper Club, with the date and time to be announced later. The winner will be costumed by local Jaycees and flown to Port Arthur, accompanied by a chaperone, with all expenses paid.

At Port Arthur, Miss Lubbock will compete with winners from other key cities throughout the state, and the winner will be one of 48 state finalists to enter the original "Miss America" contest at Atlantic City, N. J., set for Labor Day at the famous Boardwalk and Convention Hall.

Local officials explained that Miss America winners are awarded scholarships as follows: Miss America, $5,000 scholarship; first runner-up, $3,000 scholarship; second runner-up, $2,500 scholarship; third runner-up, $2,000 scholarship; fourth runner-up, $1,500 scholarship; next ten finalists (each), $1,000 scholarship; most talented contestant not in finals, $1,000 scholarship.

serves.

But it was the Guard which led the way.

Guard enlistments have boomed so that Maj. Gen. Kenneth F. Cramer, chief of the National Guard bureau, has ordered the organization to select only the best men from those who volunteer. "If we find we have men not up to standard they will be released," he said.

Cramer denied tartly to reporters that the Guard was a refuge from the draft. He pointed out that even before the draft bill passed, the National Guard strength was rapidly approaching the ceiling allowed under funds provided by Congress.

First To Go

Moreover, he said, the Guard is no spot for folks who want to avoid getting shot at in a war—it is one of the first military units to be called into action because it is trained, equipped and ready.

Under the budget for the year starting July 1, the Guard has funds for only 341,000 men—300,000 in the ground forces and the remainder in the air arm. The strength of the ground units already totaled 249,000 on June 1.

This left comparativly few vacancies under the quotas for most states. The quota for New York is set at 20,168; its strength on June was 14,553; in one day alone, Monday, 600 joined up. The story was much the same in first reports from a number of other states.

either of these things.

Probation officers summoned by neighbors went to the Stewart home yesterday and found the girl in the closet, with the door held shut by a heavy dresser. The closet was about three feet square.

The child said her mother had put her in the closet early Monday.

Mrs. tewart told police that Sharon was dressed and playing in the kitchen when she left for the beach with the two other children, Micnael and Judy. She said she had no idea how the child got in the closet.

She described Sharon as a "difficult child."

Juvenile Court Judge I. L. Harris set cash bail at $1,000 for each of the Stewarts.

Two Hurt In Wrecks Here

Reports pieced together from police and hospital officials showed that two persons were taken to hospitals early this afternoon for treatment of wreck injuries.

Patrolman Jerry Hoover said Mrs. Mary Evelyn Clepper, 24, of Lubbock Army Air field, was taken by Plains ambulance to Lubbock Memorial hospital for treatment of possible broken ribs and perhaps an internal injury.

Donald Edwin Teague, 16, of 2215 Ninth, was taken by Plains ambulance to St. Mary's hospital.

Cars In Collision

Hoover said Mrs. Clepper was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Edward Bruce Clepper. The Clepper car was struck, the report said, by one driven by Mrs. Gene Walden, 37, of 2716 Second, during the noon hour at Broadway and Ave. V.

Hoover said Mrs. Walden was given tickets asking her to appear on charges of negligent collision and no operator's license. Clepper, they said, was given a ticket charging no operator's license.

Not Injured Seriously

Young Teague apparently was not injured seriously, a physician told Patrolman Bob Adkinson of the police. He was dismissed from the hospital. His motor scooter ran into a truck driven by W. J. Evans, 61, of 809 Ave. K., at Eighteenth and Ave. H, officials said. Evans was given a ticket charging improper driver's license, officials said.

Joe Ketzelnick of Veterans village, passenger in the Clepper car, suffered a bruised chest. He was examined at Lubbock Memorial hospital, but did not remain.

Galveston Attorney Delivers Ultimatum

GALVESTON, June 23 (U.P.) — Galveston county waited today for a crack-down on "gambling and vice," ordered yesterday by County Attorney Sherwood Brown, jr., in an ultimatum to the sheriff's department.

Brown said he would take the situation in his own hands if Sheriff Frank L. Biaggne and his deputies had not acted by noon today.

The ultimatum, issued in an official statement from Brown's office at noon yesterday, said the sheriff had "blamed his own shortcomings on others."

Brown referred to statements attributed to Biaggne, which the sheriff reportedly made when he appeared recently before the Galveston Ministerial alliance.

Biaggne told the 'ministers' organization that vice and gambling within the county cold be blamed on "poor prosecution," and not on the sheriff's department.

Men Buried Alive In Ditch Cave-In

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., June 23. (U.P.)—Two men were buried alive today in a cave-in at a sewer-ditch project in south Leavenworth.

It was feared Thomas Berry, 27, of nearby Bain City, Kan., was dead, since his body was believed to have been trapped beneath Howard.

ADVANCE IS DECISIVE

NEW YORK, June 23 (AP) — Strong demand for railroad issues provided the motive power for a decisive advance in the stock market today.

Closing prices were up fractions to more than 2 points and at a peak generally since August 1946. Gains of a point or more littered the list.

Steels and motors offered the rails a little competition but it was a railroad market from start to finish.

Volume picked up as buying orders streamed into the floor of the exchange. Total turnover for the day was at the rate of around 1,700,000 shares, well above yesterday's 1,410,000.

Flare Gun Causes Air Crash Rumors

MINEOLA, June 23. (AP)—The mystery of the phantom lights, which caused reports of an airplane crash in Wood county Sunday night, is a mystery no longer.

The lights were from Army Air Force parachute flares.

Buford Harris, farmer living four miles east of Golden, cleared up most of the mystery today. He told this story:

His son-in-law, Ed Baker, a highway department employe, found a satchel while cutting weeds along the roadside east of Mineola Saturday. In it was a gun of a type unfamiliar to him.

Baker took the gun home and fired it into the air Sunday night. The flare was seen by resident over a wide area in western Wood county, who reported it apparently was a burning airplane. A search and a CAA investigation produced no result.

Baker fired the gun again last night, and again there were reports of a mysterious light.

Still a mystery was the ownership of the gun.

Residents of Norman, Okla., and other points along the South Canadian received official flood warning today after the river was measured at .6 feet at Union City—three feet above flood stage.

"We expect flooding all the way down the river's course, to its junction with the North Canadian in McIntosh county," Maughan aid. "It probably will last through tomorrow."

Republicans

sure now.

Taft told reporters he and Stassen have invited Governors Kim Sigler of Michigan and Earl Warren of California to an afternoon meeting—one of their "Stop Dewey" conferences.

Sigler heads the Michigan degation booming Vandenberg. Warren is a candidate in his own right.

Called to order at 8:15 a. m. (Lubbock time), the convention recessed at 11:10 until 7 p. m. Formal nominating speeches were put off until the night session.

Lift From Missouri

Even before Driscoll's jump to Dewey, the New Yorker's drive had received a lift from Missouri. Senator James Kem, chairman of the Missouri delegation, came out for Dewey in a statement.

Nevertheless, Taft and Stassen said they don't believe Dewey has a majority of the delegates or can get them.

Dewey said he feels sure of winning, but insisted strongly that neither he nor any member of his campaign staff has predicted that he will get the nomination on the first ballot.

House Republican Leader Charles Halleck of Indiana came to the Dewey campaign headquarters and conferred with some of the top strategists. This led to speculation that Indiana might swing to the Dewey camp—or at least a large majority of the state's 29 delegates.

Dewey-Halleck Ticket

Some Dewey backers have talked about a Dewey-Halleck ticket. There are reports that Dewey has been canvassing vice presidential possibilities, but has made no decision.

As Taft and Stassen outlined the situation in separate news conferences, their aim is this:

First, to convince Dewey and the convention that the New York governor cannot be nominated.

Second, to let the convention delegates decide without pressure among the other presidential hopefuls.

Taft and Stassen had conferred together just before their meetings with reporters. Gov. James H. Duff of Pennsylvania sat in on the conference.

Is Leading Faction

Duff is leading an anti-Dewey faction in the big Pennsylvania delegation. That group is to caucus tonight and Duff said "we will have a candidate" to oppose the efforts to line up the delegation for Dewey.

Stassen told reporters there is "great resentment" among the delegates over the attempt to swing the Pennsylvania delegates to Dewey.

Taft predicted that Dewey will not have as many as 400 votes on the second ballot, and he added:

"I think the second will be his highest."

Ohioan Confident

The Ohioan said he believes his total will begin to climb from the second ballot on and that he will be nominated on about the fourth or fifth ballot.

For the first time in the big hall here, Vandenberg banners put in an appearance. A truck drove up with a load of them soon after Sigler announced he had the Michigan senator's consent to put his name before the convention.

Sticks By Decision

Vandenberg stuck by his stand that he is not actively seeking the nomination. But Gov. Kim Sigler of Michigan said he had obtained the senator's consent for him to put up his name.

Dewey's drive got another push, this time from Missouri. Senator James P. Kem, chairman of the Missouri delegation, issued this announcement: "I have decided to support Governor Dewey. I look forward to his nomination on an early ballot. I believe he will be the next President of the United States."

Even before Kem's announcement, an Associated Press check indicated Dewey would get 18 of Missouri's 33 votes on the first ballot with others split among three or four candidates.

Believes He Can Win

Asked if he was nominating Vandenberg in the belief Vandenberg can win or as a gesture of respect, Sigler replied, "if I didn't honestly believe there was real hope of winning I would not nominate him."

Sigler made the announcement after Vandenberg had put in his first appearance at the Michigan headquarters.

These workers for the nomination for Vandenberg have been discouraged by his aloof attitude and the senator made an apologetic little speech.

"I know I am a problem child for you," he told the Michigan group, "but I set my course a year ago and must steer it to the finish."

He said a year ago that he would not seek the nomination, but would not refuse it if it were offered.

The Taft-Stassen moves to head off Dewey kept their backers in an almost continuous round of conferences. The principals themselves were meeting.

Taft and Stassen first met secretly last night. This morning, Taft told reporters "I rather expect I will see him (Stassen) again today, but it is still a little indefinite."

When questioned by newsmen, Taft refused to discuss what had transpired at his talks last night with Stassen and Gov. Earl Warren of California.

These strategy conferences and maneuverings went forward while the delegates assembled in this big hall for the morning session of the convention's third day.

The big item was the nominating speeches. Balloting will probably not begin until tomorrow although that was not definitely settled. It may begin tonight.

Working with the Taft and Stassen forces in the "stop Dewey" campaign was Gov. Duff of Pennsylvania.

Duff leads one faction of a split Pennsylvania delegation. Senator Edward Martin, a leader of the other, withdrew yesterday as a "favorite son" and declared his support for Dewey.

Any doubt that Dewey's name would be the first to go before the convention was removed when the Alabama delegation voted 8-6 to yield its first place on the alphabetical roll call to Pennsylvania so that Martin could nominate the New Yorker.

Two Fugitives Are Captured

ELIZABETHTOWN, N. C., June 23. (U.P.)—Two Texas fugitives faced federal charges today after they and two other men were caught in a state patrol dragnet yesterday.

Hollis Wesley Queen, 32, of Cleburne, Tex., and Floyd Hill, of Fort Worth, were charged with transporting firearms in interstate commerce. They were turned over to FBI agents for federal prosecution and held on $20,000 bond.

Five-Hour Chase

A five-hour chase began at Clinton, N. C., when state Patrolman N. H. Bell tried to stop the Texans' car for speeding. Their 1947 buick eluded road blocks at White Lake, N. C., and Elizabethtown but was trapped in a deadend road near here.

With the Texans at the start of the chase were Judson Hamilton, 38, of Wilmington, N. C., and Eddie Nichols, 46, of Raleigh, N. C. Hamilton was alone in the car when it was trapped but the others were trailed by bloodhounds and caught at a nearby farm.

In the car was an automatic shotgun and a quantity of wire, police said.

Wanted On Indictments

The FBI said Hill and Queen were wanted in Fort Smith, Ark., where they were indicted last January on charges of transporting firearms from Myra, La., to Miller City, Ark. They were also charged with violation of the national stolen property act and national motor vehicle theft act.

Hamilton was turned over to state bureau of investigation agents and Nichols, a parolee, was charged with speeding and reckless driving.

Man Drowned Trying To Rescue Daughter

DENISON, June 23. (AP)—Mack Dunn, 57, of McKinney was drowned last night in Lake Texoma, attempting to rescue his nine-year-old daughter, Molly Sue.

The girl was in a Denison hospital today and was expected to recover.

She was one of three girls who were wading in the lake and stepped into deep water. Her father and his brother, Collin Dunn, also of McKinney, rushed to help them. It is believed that father then suffered a heart attack.

The children were rescued by Collin Dunn and an unidentified man. Molly Sue was revived after 25 minutes of artificial respiration. Her father's body was recovered by dragline two hours later.

It was the season's first drowning in the lake.

Exchange Club Seeks Prizes For Derby

Members of the Lubbock Exchange club meeting for luncheon today at Hotel Lubbock heard a request by President Warlick Carr for increased emphasis on the drive for "heat prizes" to be awarded in the Soap Box Derby set here July 5.

Carr explained that Derby sponsors hope to be able to award the winner of each heat a prize of approximately $10 or more retail value, and asked members able to secure promises of such prizes to turn over that information to Wayne Henly at the Avalanche-Journal.

The East Side Kids continued to pull gradually away from the Dead Enders by garnering 138 points during the week to the opposition's 129 in a contest in which the club has been divided into two sections, with points awarded for individual member contacts with Derby entrants and sponsors. Current standing in the contest is East Side Kids 301, Dead Enders 266. Club officials have promised "some sort of worthwhile prize" for members of the winning side, with the contest scheduled to continue for two additional weeks.

Dr. P. K. Palmer, Junior Chamber of Commerce member, urged Exchange Club members to submit names of Lubbock county girls eligible for the title of Miss Lubbock, a contest currently being sponsored by the Jaycees, with the winner slated to go to Port Arthur on July 9 for the Miss Texas pageant.

Nominations made today for election of officers, to be held on July 7, include: Jim Reynolds and Charles Cathey, president; H. A. Watson, jr., and Joe Holmes, vice-president; Bennie Hilburn and G. V. Pardue, jr., secretary; Glenn Lawson and Jack Patton, treasurer; Dick Cook, Horace Humphries, C. J. Griggs, Jimmie Kilpatrick, Wayne Sullivan and Dr. Lee Hale, board of directors.

Members voted an Exchange Club party at the Lubbock Supper club on Friday, July 16. Ted Goldsby was introduced as a new member. Warlick Carr presided.

Rotary Club Hears Talk On Tooth Stain

A discussion of the cause and effects of tooth stain (dental flourosis) by Joe Stanley, former sanitary engineer with the city but now in private business here, featured the Rotary club luncheon today at Hotel Lubbock.

Setting out that Lubbock is in the heart of probably the largest dental flourosis area in the world, Stanley said the water here contains about four parts to the million flourine, whereas U. S. Public Health findings show that water with one part to the million is best.

Stanley said the trouble does not occur in adults, but that the stains are created during the formative stage of teeth, probably between birth and seven to eight years of age.

The speaker was introduced by Maurie J. Day, program chairman. Visiting Rotarians included Claude F. Anderson and Bill Sewell of Slaton, Knox Crews of Plainview, Paul M. Brannon of Seminole, Bill Phillips of El Paso, Wilson Palmer of Harlingen, John R. Potts of Littlefield, and Herman Lyle of Sudan.

Club President Rex Webster was in the chair, with invocation by A. T. Cocanougher.

Maiming Trial Heard In 99th

Judge G. V. Pardue and a 99th district petit jury this afternoon were hearing evidence in the maiming trial of Hood Abercrombie, about 33, of Lubbock.

The indictment charges that he, on May 29, bit off an ear of Joel F. Bohannan.

The defendant is represented by C. L. Harris.

Members Of Jury

The jury is composed of J. D. Medlock, Carter Caldwell, F. Key Ely, W. E. Klein, J. E. Sligar, R. D. Hickman, R. B. Speer, A. L. Burnett, W. L. Sisser, Carl Parr, W. S. Jones, and F. C. Rector.

Abercrombie pleaded innocent.

Earlier, in the morning session, John Bell, jr., 20, a negro, pleaded guilty of assault on April 19 with intent to murder Eddie Rhones, jr., another negro. He waived a jury. Judge Pardue placed him under 10-year probation. The defendant was represented by Turner Adams of the firm of Campbell and Adams. A parole agent had not been appointed, court officials said.

Man Found Guilty

A jury of which R. H. Woolam was foreman returned a verdict at 6 p m. Tuesday adjudging Harrell Lee Smith, 22, of Lubbock, guilty of burglary of a well house of Franz Hettler of near South Plains Army Air field. It recommended two years in the penitentiary, after 20 minutes of deliberation.

District Attorney Lloyd Croslin and his assistant, E. G. Pharr, represented the state in each of the cases.

Judge Dan Blair of the 72nd district at midmorning ordered an instructed verdict for the defendant and against the plaintiff and the intervenor in the breach of contract suit of F. T. Northington against Millie Putty. Intervenor was L. F. Jordan. Northington sued for approximately $9,300, alleging the defendant offered, then declined, to sell a piece of property. The intervenor sought judgment for a commission he thus failed to collect, officials said. The law firm of Campbell and Adams represented Mrs. Putty, and Roy Bess was counsel for the intervenor. The verdict was signed by J. W. Owens as foreman.

Dewey's Votes Would Total 400 If GOP Roll Were Called Today

PHILADELPHIA, June 23. (AP)—If the roll were called today, Thomas E. Dewey could pile up as many as 400-odd votes on the first ballot for the Republican presidential nomination, an Associated Press survey showed.

The estimate of the New York governor's initial strength was based on both official delegation polls and "best guesses" of responsible members of each of the state delegations to the GOP national convention.

Results Given

Although a myriad of things might happen to change the fluid situation, here is a summary of what AP reporters found in interviewing delegates on the current inclinations and pledges in their own groups:

1. Dewey could have anywhere from 374 to 407 first ballot votes, with a possibility of picking up at least 80 more on the second ballot. (548 of the 1094 delegate votes are needed for nomination.)

2. Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio appears assured of 207 to 217 first ballot votes. On the second ballot he probably will pick up 80 new votes but stands to lose up to 20 of his first ballot supporters.

3. Harold E. Stassen, former Minnesota governor, will have around 150 votes on the first roll call. If the delegates follow their present intentions, Stassen may pick up seven votes but lose 20 for a net loss of 13 on the second go-around.

Hundreds Undecided

Hundreds of delegates have not decided how they will vote, or have not indicated their intentions even to members of their own delegations.

The Pennsylvania situation, particularly, is up in the air. Estimates coming in the wake of Senator Edward Martin's withdrawal in favor of Dewey gave anywhere from 30 to 60 votes to the New York governor on the first ballot, with no indication how the remainder of the 73 Keystone state votes would be split.

Other favorite sons might withdraw or release pledged delegates.

The candidates themselves may elect to hold out some votes on the first ballot in order to show mounting strength on the second roll call of the states.

Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan was tabbed in the poll for 55 first ballot votes, although he is not officially a candidate. Forty-one of these will come from Michigan. Strong secondary sentiment appeared for Vandenberg, especially among the smaller delegations like Maine and Kansas, if the first-ballot result shows signs of a deadlock.

Gov. Earl Warren, California's favorite son, has that state's 53 votes in his pocket, plus an indicated one additional vote from Missouri for the first count.

Three Lubbock Men To Attend AAA Meet

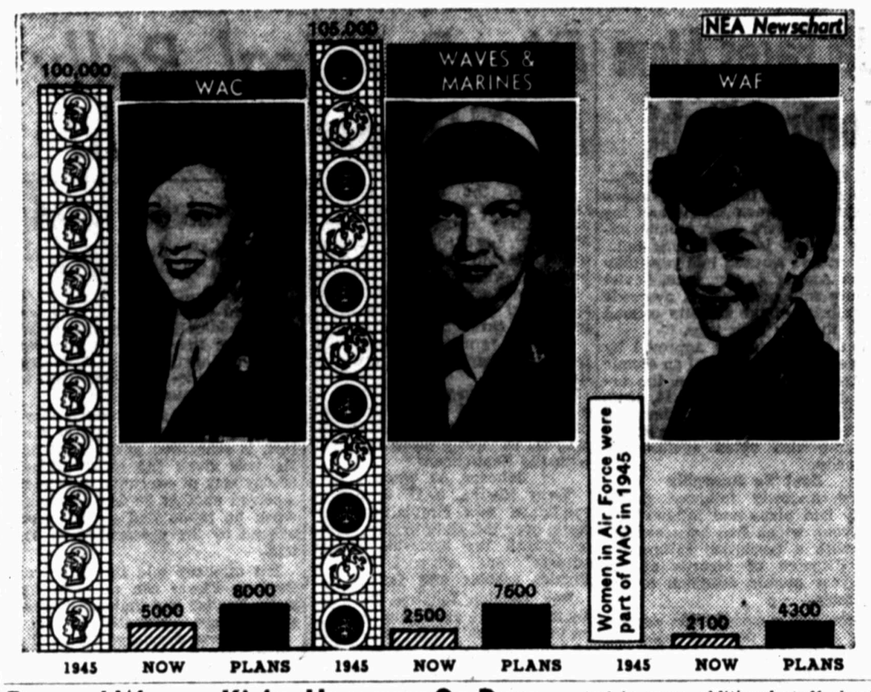

Jack Douglas, president and manager of the local unit of the American Automobile association, Dr. J. M. Gordon, professor of education and Latin at Texas Tech, and Charles R. Ehring, branch supervisor of AAA in this area, will leave Sunday in Douglas' private plane for San Antonio, where they will attend the annual meeting of Texas AAA clubs on Monday and Tuesday.

Douglas, who will address the meeting on "Branch Office Operations," was elected president and general manager of the local AAA at a meeting of members and the board of directors here June 2. He succeeded Dr. George M. Howe as president. He had been vice president and general manager here for the past 19 years.

The three men plan to begin the return trip to Lubbock on Wednesday, stopping in Austin briefly on business.

Clerk Receives Mail From Wrecked Plane

County Clerk Louie F. Moore received a fragment of mail Tuesday that had been an assignment from Citizens National bank to a Hartford, Conn., insurance company—before a San Diego to New York flight of a United airlines plane plummeted Thursday into a high tension power line, broke up and burned with a loss of 43 lives and much of its cargo of mail.

The instrument, a note, bore only the clerk's file mark for identification and was burned to only a fraction of its former size.

Stains On Paper

Stains that looked and smelled like oil were on it—and smudged brown had appearance of dried blood.

The plane fell near Mt. Carmel, Pa. Theatrical Producer Earl Carroll was one of those killed.

Moore received with the assignment fragment a note from a postal inspector of Pottsville, Pa., a sterotyped note: "Delay due to air mail interruption near Mt. Carmel, Pa., June 17. Damaged by wreck of AM-1, flight 624."

Moore said he would mail the fragment to Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance company, shown by his records to be its owner.

Enraged Woman Kicks, Hammers On Door

Incident At Telephone Booth Indicates Fair Sex Sometimes Delays Reporters

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

PHILADELPHIA, June 23. — Women are wonderful, but sometimes they get in the way of right-thinking justice.

And of newsmen.

Like right here at this GOP convention.

It was like this: The reporters were busy doing their jobs. They were running down a rumor that the backers of Bob Taft and Hal Stassen were in conference to make some kind of a deal. A sort of hands across the prairie thing—Ohio to Minnesota.

She Heads For Phones

Every working newsman had an ear to the ground, like they say in the books.

Well, the meeting broke up finally and what happened!

Our unidentified lady friend started toward the two available telephones just when it was important for the newsmen to get on the wire. A couple of reporters beat her to the phone booths, however, and began relaying the story to their offices.

But it wasn't much fun. Having an enraged gal around is worse than having no lovelies at all.

Hammers On Door

Our unnamed friend hammered on the glass door of the booths. She kicked them a couple of times. The girl, in a light blue dress and a new look and a half, looked like she ought to know better.

She didn't.

Our man paid little heed. He ruffled through his notes and called in some additional stuff about the Republican convention.

Little side-bits like how the organist in the convention hall never gets to see or hear what's going on on account of he is under the platform. Waiting for a signal from the man on the floor.

Some stuff about how former President Hoover looked better in a modern collar than he did before.

Has To Face Music

Still the impatient woman waited outside the booth.

Our boy got a little nervous. But he realized he'd have to face the music sooner or later. So he walked out.

There she stood, a little wilted. "Do you have change for a quarter," she said, the flower pot hat almost rolled off her head. "I'd like to make a call."

The power of the press shrank.

UN Faces Atom Control Fight

LAKE SUCCESS, June 23 (AP)—A big battle in the United Nations assembly between Russia and the western powers over atomic energy control is certain this fall.

That was assured late yesterday when Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet deputy foreign minister, overrode a majority of the security council with Russia's 26th veto.

His act killed the approval by nine council members of an atomic control scheme based on the original plan offered June 14, 1946, by Bernard M. Baruch, then the United States delegate. The Soviet Ukraine also voted against the majority.

Sent To Assembly

The majority followed previously laid plans and followed up the veto, which had been expected, with a resolution calling for the dispatch of records of the two-year atomic deadlock to the assembly.

Gromyko opposed this resolution also but did not insist on what he said was his right to veto it. He stood aside with Dmitri Z. Manuilsky, Soviet Ugrainian foreign minister, and the records were sent to the assembly by a 9-to-0 vote.

Faris El Khouri of Syria, council chairman for this month, ruled that the United Nations atomic energy commission still had the atomic problem under consideration.

The commission voted this spring to suspend talks until the assembly found there was some base for agreement between Russia and the western nations.

To Be Aired Fully

But El Khouri said Russia's veto had killed the majority vote approving the commission work and accepting three reports from the commission. Since the commission's reports were not accepted, the commission still had the problem before it.

Commission members made it clear, however, that nothing will be done until the whole issue is aired fully in the assembly.

The security council was called to meet at 1:30 p. m. (EST) today on the Dutch-Indonesian conflict.

Big Political Rally Is Slated Tonight

(By The United Press)

One of the largest political rallies of the year was scheduled at Bonham today when House Minority Leader Sam Rayburn opens his bid for re-election. A barbecue was scheduled prior to his kickoff address scheduled to start at 7 p. m. and due to be broadcast throughout the district.

The congressional campaign fronts are beginning to erupt in liveliness.

Candidate Earnest O. Gillam, in a radio talk at Fort Worth last night, accused Rep. Wingate Lucas., D., of "going down the line" with the Republicans."

Johnson At Waco

Terry Sledge, a U. S. Senate candidate, was circulating postcards over the state urging voters to "spank the brass-big money triplets" and support a "GI, Rhodes scholar and farmer."

Rep. Lyndon Johnson, D., Tex., another Senate candidate, touched on international affairs in his talk at Waco last night. He said that "if we build our dams against war —the Marshall plan, reciprocal trade agreements, military strength —we can live in our peaceful green valleys. We can have prosperity and progress."

George Peddy spoke at Victory last night and in an apparent reference to Johnson said "we will have to have new blood (in Congress)." He said we have too much government and too much spending. Peddy was in Cuero today and goes to Beeville tonight for a radio talk.

Plans For Broadcast

Former Gov. Coke Stevenson, fourth Senate candidate, was in New Braunfels today to speak at a joint Rotary-Lions clubs luncheon. He plans a 20-station radio broadcast from Temple tomorrow at 6:30 a. m.

High winds forced Johnson to abandon, temporarily, his helicopter campaigning, but he planned to resume traveling "by windmill" if the wind subsided. He moved into the piney woods country of East Texas, with stops scheduled today at Mexia, Teague, Fairfield, Buffalo, Centerville, Crockett and Palestine.

42 Patrol Recruits Complete Training

AUSTIN, June 23 (U.P) — The Department of Public Safety announced today that 42 recruit patrolmen have completed the second recruit training school of the Texas Highway patrol.

Director Homer Garrison said the new patrolmen will take assignments effective July 1.

Col. Garrison also announced that these patrol stations have been activated: Humble, Littlefield, Cameron, Jacksboro, Jacksonville, Sinton, New Braunfels, Sonora, Texas City, Columbus, Woodville, Atlanta, Johnson City, Georgetown and McLean.

Commutation Asked In Death Sentence

AUSTIN, June 23 (AP) — Gov. Beauford H. Jester today had under consideration a recommendation from the Board of Pardons and Paroles that Miguel Flores' death sentence be commuted to life imprisonment.

Flores, convicted shotgun slayer of Paul "Blue" Wilson of Goliad, is scheduled to die June 28. He was given the constitutional 30-day stay of execution and later received another 30-day clemency when he repudiated a confession offered by the prosecution at his trial.

His attorney told the Board of Pardons Flores can not read or write English and that the confession was not interpreted for him.

Flores was discharged from the army because of illiteracy before he completed basic training, Chairman Abner Lewis of the Pardon Board reported.

Several petitions for clemency for Flores most of them from Latin American residents of Goliad county, have been received by the Governor.

Wife Of Department Store Leader Dies

PHILADELPHIA, June 23. (AP)—Mrs. Ellis A. Gimbel, sr., wife of the chairman of the board of Gimbel brothers, died last night at her home after a long illness. She was 77.

Her husband, two sons, Ellis A., jr., of New York, and Col. Richard Gimbel of Philadelphia, and a daughter, Mrs. Fridolyn Watkins of Beach Haven, N. J., were at Mrs. Gimbel's bedside when she died at 11:35 p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mrs. Gimbel, the former Minnie Mastbaum of Philadelphia, had been ill for about 18 months and recently was confined to her home. She was married to the department store executive here in September, 1890.

Greeks Shelled From Albania

ATHENS, June 23 (AP)—Greek Army troops pushing to encircle some 7,000 guerrillas in the Grammos mountain area have been shelled from across the Albanian border, press dispatches from Kozane said today.

The dispatches, from Second Army corps headquarters, said some rebel forces withdrew into Albania, west of Pyrsoyani. Later, the correspondent for the newspaper Embros said, the insurgents reentered Greece from Amarandos and attacked a Greek flank.

Another dispatch said the Greek forces were shelled from the villages of Kamenik and Maria, three miles east of the Albanian town of Leskovic.

UN Team Is Witness

It was reported the shelling — by heavy artillery and mortars — was witnessed by members of a United Nations Balkan Commission observation team.

Latest reports from the northern front indicated that elements of the crack Ninth division had cracked the rebel defense line from the Albanian border to Pyroyani and southwestward to Kerasovon. This line extends some 11 miles northeast of Konitsa.

Heavy fighting was reported today in the approaches to the heights of Kleptis, regarded as the key to the Smolikas mountains, as the Greeks deployed their forces in an all-out attempt to crush the Communist rebellion led by Markos Vafiades.

Guerrillas In Last Stronghold

The Grammos area is the last major stronghold of Vafiades' forces. One Greek column is thrusting from Amgandos in the direction of Aetomilitsa, believed by some to be Vafiades headquarters.

Yesterday, dispatches said National forces had occupied the Pyrgos heights in western Macedonia, bringing them within six air miles of Aetomilitsa.

Woman Sentenced To Buy Fur Coat

LOS ANGELES, June 23 (U.P) A judge has sentenced Mrs. Alta Bouldin, 49-year-old hotel clerk, to buy herself a fur coat!

Mrs. Bouldin had pleaded guilty to a charge of receiving stolen furs worth $6,500. So Judge Walter S. Gates at her hearing yesterday fined her $300 and placed her on probation for three years.

Tha wasn't unusual. But then Judge Gates said:

"I want you to learn the lesson that one should not try to possess things beyond their means."

He then ordered Mrs. Bouldin to pay $25 a month into a court fund. He said that when $500 has accumulated she will be accompanied to a store by a court representative and allowed to buy a coat of her own choice.

Wheat Harvesting Is Delayed

Rains Causing Brief Respite

Weekend rains over most of the wheat belt in this part of the state brought two to three days delay in harvesting, with the crop in various stages of harvest completion, ranging from two per cent to 48 per cent, depending on locality and pre-harvest conditions.

This was announced yesterday by the Texas Employment commission office here, based on telegraphic and telephone reports from all parts of the area and consolidated by the district office of the TEC at Amarillo.

There is no shortage of workers or equipment in any area, but there were indications that some recruitment of harvest hands in the nearly-completed southern portion of the area might be necessary for the counties farther north.

As the harvest progresses in the northern counties, the TEC anticipated continuing demands for tractor drivers, truck drivers and combine operators, with the probable shortage of help, if one develops, expected to be combine operators.

Crosby is about the only county in the southern strip with any appreciable quantity of wheat, and the harvest there is reported 48 per cent complete, as of the last weekend. Work was progressing rapidly, and likely will end about July 5, the TEC report sets out. Mostly on dry land, the Crosby crop is averaging possibly seven to eight bushels per acre, compared with four to five bushels in Lubbock and other counties on the rim of the belt. Irrigated wheat in the county is reportedly averaging 30 to 35 bushels.

Grain Is "Pretty Dry"

Although the crop is small, the grain from Crosby and Lubbock counties is grading mostly No. 1 and is described as "pretty dry."

In the tier of counties immediately north of here—Floyd and Hale and others west—harvest is reported 11 per cent complete, scheduled to end July 10 to 15. Rains stopped work on the weekend, but combines were expected to resume operations yesterday or today.

In Swisher, Briscoe and Castro counties, harvest was 15 to 30 per cent complete, probably to end July 15. There was a slight surplus of equipment and workers in each county.

Deaf Smith and Parmer counties reported harvest three to five per cent complete, probably to end July 6. Cutting was resumed Monday following weekend rains. There was no surplus equipment but no shortages reported, and all orders for men and machinery

Russian Women Study American Customs In Evenings At Home

After A Cold Cellar Room In Vienna, Family Of DP's Find Warmth Of Living In U.S. Town

BY PATT WATTS
NEA Staff Correspondent

CLAREMONT, Calif., June 23 —American hospitality is such small things as the hometown newspaper running an explanation of how to pronounce a newcomer's name. It is welcoming calls from neighbors, who come visiting with a jar of homemade strawberry jam in one hand and a rough map of the neighborhood in the other hand.

Adopted By Four

That is the discovery of four Russian Ukranians who have been adopted by the small college town of Claremont, in the center of the orange groves of Southern California.

With the war they became Displaced Persons. For three years they lived in one cold basement room in a Vienna DP camp. But through the aid of welfare agencies they became the "adopted family" of Claremont, and were brought here from the Vienna camp a month later.

Now the family is self-supporting. Jobs to work at and an old frame house to live i n were provided for them by the college. The 70 - year - old grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Ginejko, stays at home and takes care of the house while her daughter, Mrs. Adela Sawycka, and her two granddaughters, Tatiana, 24, and Natalia, 17, go to work.

Study Customs

By five each afternoon the four women are home in the old fashioned house. They keep busy in the evening studying American customs and history. Fashions and other typical feminine subjects are no lure, but they are fascinated with such every-day American items as soaps and wire dish drainers.

Often their evenings are taken up with calls from their neighbors.

Before they arrived here, the Claremont newspaper wrote a story about the adopted family. Now these hospitable neighbors want the newcomers to become acquainted with the American way of life. And newcomer Mrs. Ginejko has acquainted the women of Claremont with tarts of cottage cheese, and a mock ice cream made of cottage cheese flavored wih vanilla and sugar.

Claremont, through its Co-ordinating Council, had planned for a year to "adopt" a European family. The Council is composed of college, civic, and church members. Then they heard of the Sawycka family. One daughter, Tatiana, was secretary to a niece of a Council member in the Vienna office of the International Refugee Organization. After the Sawycka family was recommended to the Claremont Council, arrangements were completed in almost miraculously short time.

To the Sawyckas, displacement is an old story. In 1917 Mrs. Sawycka and her mother fled from the Bolsheviks to Warsaw. In 1944 they were forced to flee Warsaw, and were captured in Vienna by the Nazis.

Now the four refugees think they have reached the end of their long search for home and security.

Big Crowd On Hand At Tech Band Concert

An audience of approximately 1,500 persons warmly received the second of the series of weekly outdoor concerts by the intermediate and concert bands of the Texas Technological college Summer Band school on the Tech campus Tuesday night.

The performances by the nearly 200 bandsmen comprising the two groups, and playing as units for the second time, more than justified the appreciative applause they received.

Intermediates Open Program

Four selections by the intermediate band, comprised of high school students from many parts of Texas who, for the most part, have enrolled in the Summer Band school to further their ambitions for careers in professional music, opened the one-hour program.

N. G. Patrick, director of the San Benito High school band, directed the playing of Casas' "Simbolo," a march, and Boyer's overture, "Ariane." Joe L. Haddon, assistant director of Tech bands, conducted for "Amparito Roca," by Texidor and a Victor Herbert medley.

More polished renditions naturally were provided by the more experienced musicians in the concert band, which includes in its membership directors of several high school bands who are enrolled for refresher work.

Wiley Given Welcome

The audience was somewhat hesitant with its applause at the start, but quickly enthused in its appreciative reception for the various selections. D. O. Wiley, director of Tech bands and head of the summer school, was given a cordial welcome when he took the baton to direct the four closing numbers.

Especially pleasing to the hearers was the rendition of Rossini's "La Gazza Ladra," from "The Thieving Magpie," a difficult selection featured by the Dallas Symphony orchestra in its Lubbock concert a few weeks ago. It was a tribute to the quality of the concert band, or any band, that it would attempt such a number in its second public appearance. Robert L. Maddox, director of Odessa High school bands, conducted.

Also well received were Donald I. Moore's Marcho Poco," conducted by Clifford L. Horn, director of McAllen High school band; a trombone solo by Grant Sharman, of Dumas, a Tech graduate and a student in the summer school; Liadov's "Lament," for brasses, and Mozkowski's "Bolero," directed by Wiley; and the first movement from "Sonata No. 4," Mo-

Finders Of Money Bag Decline Rewards

Two Lubbock Women Find $1,650 In Lost Store Funds, Take It To Owner Quickly

At least one Lubbock woman had her share of luck Monday and her faith in human nature was raised several degrees at the same time—all over a slight matter of $1,650.

Mrs. Doris I. Miller, operator of a food market at Nineteenth and Ave. S, was on her way to the bank about 11 a.m. to deposit $1,600 in checks and $50 in cash, planning also to attend to some shopping duties at the same time.

She parked her car at Thirteenth and Texas avenue, and walked west on Thirteenth. When she reached Avenue J and stopped for the traffic light, she suddenly discovered the brown canvas sack in which she had been carrying the intended deposits was missing. Retracing her steps toward her car, she failed to find the bag. It had been picked up by two other women, who, as it happened, had passed Mrs. Miller going in the opposite direction just a few seconds after she dropped the bag.

Mrs. Joe Arrington of 2812 Thirtieth, former teacher at Senior High school, and Miss Mamie Alexander of Levelland highway, former dean of girls at the school, thought the bag was empty at first, but changed their mind after a look inside. Finding the name of the store inside, the two drove to Mrs. Miller's place of business, only to discover that she was not there. So they returned the money to the bank whose name was stamped on the canvas bag.

In the meanwhile, Mrs. Miller, having exhausted all other means of finding the money, went to the bank. The three women arrived at almost the same time.

Mrs. Miller received her money, and offered a reward which was refused by her two benefactors. However, both women received gifts Tuesday as a mark of appreciation from the happy woman who had lost and found her money in the short time of about an hour. Said Mrs. Miller, "It was lucky for me that there are honest people in the world."

Strange Soil Proves Aid To Plains Farms

A strange soil, mined in the Big Bend area of Texas has been applied to soils of these High Plains with amazing results. Believed to be of no value when discovered 12 years ago by an unknown geologists, the product has relieved vegetables, wheat and cotton farmers of a great deal of worry normally connected with production of crops.

At least two local farmers and one at Plainview came in this week with results unbelievable. Bill Kerr, operating a large wheat farm 15 miles north of Plainview, reported experiments on wheat that jumped his production from 18 to 42 bushels per acre. He is using lands that have been dedicated to irrigation farming for the past 26 years. He treated one plot of land with 1,600 pounds of this Big Bend soil and reaped 42 bushels per acre in wheat. Just across the irrigation ditch is a similar strip with no treatment and he will do well to get 18 bushels of wheat per acre.

Potato Scab Is Eliminated

W. J. Thiel, nine miles north of here, is preparing to harvest the best crop of Irish potatoes in his five years activities here. He has 130-acre plot and last week's inspection revealed that potato scab, long a hazard to his operations, is almost completely absent. His estimate indicated he will harvest 300 sacks of number one potatoes per acre.

Just a few miles away, Kenneth Thiel, a brother, is preparing to harvest 230 acres of potatoes that will do just as good as the older brother's crop.

The Thiels, operating large packing and shipping facilities at Monroe, have the same story to tell after having used the Big Bend product on their carrots, onions, lettuce and other vegetables. Kenneth Thiel told representatives of the soil firm of Alpine that he would use an immense amount of the soil before seeding the next potato crop.

Soil Found By Accident

About the same story is told by farmers all over these High Plains At Hereford, Seminole, Plainview and around here, the soil was made available last year on an experimental basis. Results were eye-openers.

But the strangest part of the story is that the soil was found quite by accident. A geologist was deer hunting in the Big Bend in 1936. He found the deposits and marvelled because not even Texas cacti would grow there. He took samples home and found they made plants regain their vigor He returned to the area for more samples and used them in experiment in the Rio Grande valley.

Soil Is Crushed, Sacked

In 1939, Brewster County Chamber of Commerce sent Glenn Burgess, its manager into the valley

That Girl on Broadway says many a person uses up a pound of energy dodging an ounce of work.

Parents used to wonder if a swain courting their daughter could support her after marriage. Now they must wonder, too, if he can pay a good alimony — or is likely to make a generous settlement!

IN Philadelphia today are hundreds of delegates to the Republican National convention; more hundreds of party workers and officials; more hundreds of hungry politicians—and still more hundreds of hangers-on.

The first of this year's great political circuses is on—the second to come next month, when the Democrats give a similar performance in the blistering heat of the City of Brotherly Love and Municipal Graft.

Having been to several national political conventions, viewing the hullabaloo up front in the press section, we find, peculiarly, that we can see the goings-on clearer from this vantage point nearly 2,000 miles removed than we ever could from the ringside.

One thing we can see most clearly. That is that nearly all of the hangers-on, most of the party workers and a majority of the delegates have no idea of what actually is going on—and why.

This is not a criticism of the Republican convention, or even of this year's Republican convention. It is simply a factual statement which covers all such conventions—Democratic and Republican—of as far back as most living men can remember, and probably as far back as there have been such conventions.

The raw, unvarnished truth is that most of the planning and the plotting of a national political convention is done far in advance of the gathering of the throng—and without plain Delegate Joe Doakes, from Backwater Gulch Newalasylvaniassippi, knowing the score.

ONCE in a great, great while a convention gets away from the handful of guys who really are running it. That happened in the GOP conclave in 1940, when the rank and file stampeded to Wendell Willkie. It almost happened in Chicago, four years ago, when, with the help of a CIO cheering section in the gallery, the Democratic convention was almost stampeded for Henry Wallace for Vice President. Only some slick maneuvering by "Dear Alben" Barkeley saved the day, or, rather, the night.

Looking back, the maneuvering—all in violation of Roberts Rules of Order—was a lucky thing, indeed. Otherwise, Wallace would be President today and everybody knows what that would mean.

But nine times out of 10—or thereabouts—the whole business is fairly well cut and dried before the delegates get to the hall; and last minute changes brought about by deadlocks are worked out in advance of daily sessions in what someone aptly called "smoke-filled hotel rooms."

Delegate Joe Doakes goes home after the convention, preens his feathers and "tells the boys" at Backwater Gulch, Newalasylvaniasippi, what "we did"; what Senator Whoozis said to me in caucus," and how "our delegation held off until we swung in line at the opportune time and thereby assured the building of a multi-million dollar dam on Polecat Creek."

The truth of the matter is, Joe basked in the aura of the great and the near great for a few days; felt like somebody special with his delegate's badge on his lapel; attended a few cocktail parties; joined in the "demonstrations" on the floor, waving a sign for his candidate—and never did know what time it was, politically speaking!

ALTHOUGH the methods employed in running our political conventions are something akin to those employed in "amateur" college football, in that things ain't exactly what they seem, maybe it's just as well that conventions are run as they are.

With all respects to the Joe Doakeses from all the states of the Union, most of them are not selected as delegates because of their great knowledge of domestic and world affairs; because of their astuteness in the science of politics, or because of their personal knowledge of the talents of aspirants to high office Instead, most of them are selected because (1) they know the party bosses in their own state; (2) because they have, or can dig up, the money to pay their way to, from and at the conventions; and (3) because they want to go.

So the fact that national political conventions are like marionette shows, with the strings being pulled by a group of master technicians from behind the scenes, may be the best in the long run.

Meanwhile, we hope the boys in Philadelphia this week—and next month—have a good time.

After all, like the Army-Navy football game; the World Series and the Miss America Bathing Beauty contest, political conventions are as distinctly American as the hot dog, ham and eggs and apple pie.

And they're in the same, good clean fun—we er, ah, hope!

And, speaking further of mistakes, it's not so bad to make a few as long as they're new ones!

How can we logically expect to maintain permanent world peace when a lot of us can't even get along with our own kinfolks?

BY DREW PEARSON: MAJORITY OF REPUBLICANS REALIZE U.S. CAN NOT LIVE ALONE

GOP National Chairman Carroll Reece Rebuffed

PHILADELPHIA — The sweet smell of victory is in the Republican nostrils. Delegates are flushed with the air of impending triumph. The White House and 1,000,000 or so jobs seem just around the corner. They can almost stretch out their hands and touch the Treasury department. And they can hardly wait.

PEARSON

The tension is something terrific. The city of brotherly love is seething with excitement. It's the liveliest convention the Republicans have staged in three decades.

And if it were up to the 5,050 delegates, alternates and others assembled here, they'd vote right now to dispense with all the keynote speeches, yards and yards of old-fashioned oratory, and get right down to the job of nominating the candidate. They are on pins and needles waiting for the first balloting to get started tonight.

Salty Carroll Reece

Meanwhile the backstage fireworks have been popping. Salty GOP national Chairman Carroll Reece is a chivalrous Southerner, but he lost his temper with a lady during the battle over Georgia.

The Taft-Dewey forces were arguing hot and heavy over which of the Georgia delegations would be seated. Reece, supposed to be neutral chairman, but openly a Taft man, vociferated that the Taft delegates were qualified. Col. R. B. Creager of Texas backed him up.

Mrs. Dudley C. Hay, Michigan's gracious national committeewoman and secretary of the GOP national committee, didn't agree. She made a speech favoring Dewey.

Whereupon Reece hit the ceiling, charged the Dewey forces were trying to browbeat the national committee, claimed Dewey people had threatened him in his office. If he hadn't known how to control his temper, proclaimed Reece, who comes from the Tennessee Mountains he would have pulled a gun on the Deweyite.

When the vote, 48 to 44, showed Dewey the victor, Reece proceeded to bawl out Mrs. Hay, said he was going to try to defeat Mrs. Hay for re-election as national committeewoman from Michigan.

"Don't worry Mr. Reece," sweetly retorted Mrs. Hay, "when this convention is over you won't be national chairman."

FOUR years ago this convention met in an atmosphere of unreality. The greatest invasion army in all history had crossed the English channel 21 days before, stormed up the coast of France.

Across another ocean, the U. S. Navy was edging closer to Japan. Even the Chicago hotels in which the Republicans met were haunted by the ghosts of Air Force trainees who had lived there a few months before.

There were those who had said Franklin Roosevelt would never hold an election in wartime, that the U. S. A. would simulate the dictatorships it was trying to defeat. But despite the sombre atmosphere, the conventions and the elections were held.

Today — three short years after the war's end — the old-time political vaudeville is back. The war is pretty much forgotten. The promises of new homes for veterans made so glibly when the boys were overseas, have been sidetracked by one triumphant wing of the Republican party. Post-war profits are zooming, also prices and inflation. Income, especially for white-collar workers and lower-bracket groups, is proportionately down.

A lot of wartime promises have been forgotten.

One GOP Lesson

But not forgotten is one all-important lesson learned by the majority of the party — namely that the U. S. A. cannot live alone.

In 1940 on the eve of the Republican convention, Arthur Vandenberg denounced President Roosevelt's action of putting American military supplies at the disposal of England and France. Next day Thomas E. Dewey criticized FDR's "stab in the back" speech against Mussolini after he invaded stricken France.

Today at Philadelphia is Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, jr., chairman of the GOP platform committee. He is the grandson of the Massachusetts Senator who defeated Woodrow Wilson and the League of Nations. Young Senator Lodge, however, no more thinks like his grandfather than his grandfather thought of flying the Atlantic.

Appearing before young Lodge's platform committee the other day was a Cleveland lawyer, John Putnam, with what the elder Lodge would have called a revolutionary proposal. With him was Nat Howard, editor of the Cleveland News.

Neither are crackpots. Both represent strong, conservative interests. They proposed that the Republican party go on record in favor of planting the seeds of world government. Specifically, they proposed a formula for world law and world law enforcement.

Their idea, put forward by a group of Cleveland businessmen, educators and others calling themselves "Workers for World Security," would make old Henry Cabot Lodge turn over in his austere grave.

However, 300,000 people have signed their petition endorsing the broad principles of world government, and young Senator Lodge listening gravely to the plan, didn't seem to consider it revolutionary.

That is the biggest change that has occurred among the top leaders of the Republican party. It is still a point of big controversy with the John Tabor—Chicago Tribune wing of the party. And it is the point which the American people will be watching most, not only now but on election day. They do not want war again.

"DESTINY," said Dewey's friend Paul Lockwood, in 1944. "waits on no man. By 1948 an Eisenhower will come out of the army. This is Dewey's year." 1944 was Dewey's year for the GOP nomination, but not for the election . . . Never before has the Republican party renominated a previously defeated candidate However, his cohorts are determined to break this precedent, and the next 48 hours will tell the story . . . Here are the men whose patient years of building up Tom Dewey will crash or succeed this week.

Closest man to Dewey is his secretary, able, amiable, bluff, hard-working Paul Lockwood. An ex-New York newspaperman, Lockwood guided Dewey through the early maze of political pitfalls which threatened the young racket-buster. He is what Louey Howe was to Franklin Roosevelt, and if his young protege makes it this week, to Paul Lockwood will go a large share of the credit.

Political mentor to the young GOP hopeful is Buffalo's heavy-jowled, tough-talking Edwin F. Jaeckle, chairman of the New York state GOP committee. Born of German immigrants, Jaeckle waxed wealthy on the job collecting back New York taxes, became New York's shrewdest, though not most diplomatic up-state GOP leader. He would like to forget, however, that he once drew up the incorporation papers of the German-American Bund, and he has tried to atone for it by helping to found the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Herbert Brownell, who came out of Nebraska to practice law in New York, was Dewey's campaign manager in his successful race for governor in 1942, continues at the steering wheel now. Long a member of the New York legislature, he helped put through the racket-buster's criminal-reform bills.

J. Russell Sprague as smooth as the oysters his father used to hoist from Long Island sound, is Dewey's chief backstage operator. Born and bred in New York politics, Sprague has been GOP boss of Nassau county, Long Island, for years but has little experience in the big political world outside. Except for George Medalie, he is the oldest of the young men around Dewey. His age 61.

Vandenberg Refused To Push Himself For GOP Nomination

WASHINGTON — The massive achievement of Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg in the 80th Congress is likely to loom even larger with the passage of time. With his able staff on the foreign relations committee, he has led his party, sometimes balky and surly, from one historic milestone to another.

On the record he deserves the highest honor the GOP can offer. But as Vandenberg has pointed out that honor has never gone to the man who waits to be drafted.

CHILDS

While he has consistently been the first choice of millions of voters in the event of a deadlock at Philadelphia, he has just as consistently refused to help in any way to gain the nomination. Ardent admirers and friends have pleaded with him, in vain, to be allowed to take the steps necessary to crystallize the vast latent support in the party and in the country.

Unless such steps are taken, with floor managers ready to seize the strategic opportunity, Vandenberg's admirers fear the convention may pass him by. Enthusiastic friends are working, but without co-ordination.

Two factors are back of Vandenberg's reluctance. One is a kind of pride that restrains him from seeking the office and being repaid with a rebuff.

The other, and far more important, reason, is his genuine hesitation before the crushing burden of the Presidency. This has little to do with his health, which he and his doctors believe to be good.

Fear Of Obstructions

Nevertheless he is 64 years old. Moving into the White House, he would break the rhythm of his Senate life, and he cherishes that rhythm.

As President, he would be faced with complicated administrative decisions. He would be taking on duties alien and strange because of his long concentration on foreign affairs.

This is why some who want Vandenberg have suggested the possibility of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey accepting the vice-presidential nomination. as vice president, Dewey would take broad administrative responsibility. There seems little likelihood of this outcome at Philadelphia, however Still another element is involved in Vandenberg's hesitation. It is his fear of how far the narrow obstructionists in his own party would go in thwarting him if he were in the White House.

They will be back in January — the Tabers, the Martins, the Hallecks — with the expected Republican sweep, and their power will be greater than ever.

They are jealous of Vandenberg, deeply resentful of his prestige and influence. Certain of his fellow Republicans in the Senate already have gone beyond common decency in spreading vicious slanders about the man who towers so far above them.

THIS is a grim forecast of what these same petty, jealous minds might do. A Republican President might be almost as much a prisoner of Congress as the Democrat who has been skirmishing with Capitol Hill for two years.

Even though he has done nothing to gain the nomination, the convention may turn to Vandenberg. He has the support of such forward-looking Republicans as Governor Duff of Pennsylvania and Governor Driscoll of New Jersey, who know the fatal consequences of a retreat to Hard-ingism.

Ever since the end of war, both at home and abroad, Vandenberg has spoken for stability and peace through the United Nations. Again and again, his has been the voice of leadership.

Skeptics point to the newness of his conversion from old-fashioned isolationism. But millions underwent the same conversion in the ordeal of a global war. That may be why today they have such a fellow feeling for a leader with the courage and the ability to strike out in a new direction.

Inflation is spreading to everywhere. In a certain South Sea island the price of a wife has been advanced to a whole carton of cigarettes.

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

THE hostess who really wants to put her guests at ease doesn't do any of these things:

Chatter away about the people she simply "has" to entertain. (If she does that her guests are sure to wonder if duty rather than friendship was behind their invitations.)

MILLETT

Under the veil of humor, take nasty cracks at her husband. (Nothing is more discomforting to a guest than to have to pretend not to notice that there is an undercurrent of malice or bitterness beneath a host's and hostess' attitude toward each other.)

In an effort to impress, entertain her guests much more lavishly than they could do in return.

Call attention to all her prize possessions—so that the guests are forced to be an admiring audience.

THE FLUTTERY TYPE

WORRY so constantly about her guests' comfort that she is forever flitting around instead of relaxing and enjoying the company of those she has invited to her home.

Embarrass the shy guest by commenting on the fact that he is left out of the conversation—instead of unobtrusively drawing him into it.

Let one guest monopolize the conversation — or monopolize it herself.

Make unnecessary apologies for what she has to offer her guests in the way of food or drink.

Make it hard for the guests to leave when they decide it is time to go.

"Try And Stop Me"

THE latest story about Stalin concerns an incident supposed to have happened last May Day His favorite regiment was lined up in the inner courtyard of the Kremlin, before the grand march began, and the Premier was giving them a last-minute inspection

Suddenly a man in the ranks sneezed. "Who sneezed?" demanded Stalin. Nobody answered.

"Shoot Company A," commanded the Premier. After Company A had been mowed down, he asked again, "Who sneezed?" Again nobody answered. "Shoot Company B," shouted Stalin.

Company B bit the dust, and Stalin cried for the third time "Who sneezed?"

At this point, a rear-rank private in Company F said in a quavering voice, "I sneezed, my Premier."

"Ah ha!" boomed Stalin. "Gesundheit!"

Today's Journal Editorial

THE OLD, OLD STORY

Current anti-American feeling in China adds to the masses of previous proof that Uncle Sam usually winds up with a kick in the pants as a reward for his attempts to help others.

Experiences in China are typical of many others around the world in years past. Those Chinese getting help are mad because they aren't receiving more. Those not getting it are angry because they have been left out. Some groups are resentful because other Chinese groups are recipients of U. S. charity. If anyone is satisfied or appreciative, it has not been reported. Everyone seems to be mad at Uncle Sam for one reason or another.

Despite this insulting attitude, the distribution of U. S. charity to China doubtless will continue as long as present appropriations hold out. But when the Chinese ask for more help, as undoubtedly they will, they might discover that Americans are not as responsive to the idea as they have been in the past. It might be a good idea if the Chinese, and the world, are made to realize that a kick in the pants is an ineffective way of loosening Uncle Sam's pocketbook.

Hundreds Of Women Working, Help Make Convention Success

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
Associated Press Staff Writer

PHILADELPHIA, June 23—Hundreds and hundreds of women are working like beavers around the clock at this Republican convention.

A few, like former Congresswoman Clare Boothe Luce, Reps. Frances P. Bolton of Ohio and Katharine St. George of New York, have formally addressed the assembled delegates. They are the bright stars in the party firmament.

Many Women Officials

There are 113 women delegates this year and 250 alternates. They attend delegation meetings and, when their political affections are pledged, are busy buttonholing prospects and selling their favorite candidates. Politicking is their fun and their job.

There is the multitude of national committeewomen—one from each state. These women have important voices in policy and politics. The convention is the national committee's show.

Mrs. Dudley Hay, Michigan committeewoman, is the secretary, right up there on the platform handling resolutions and generally greasing parliamentary machinery.

Volunteers Work Hard

These, then, are the women who share in the spotlight and assume the responsibilities. But they represent only a fraction of the women in there pitching. The rest are volunteers, putting in formidable hours on a show for the candidates or acting as a giant hostess team for all the visiting outlanders.

Mrs. Worthington Scranton, of Scranton, Pa., is official hostess of the convention. She enlisted 2,000 Republican women of the Keystone state to smooth the path for delegates, their spouses and children.

Dedicated volunteers, determined to help roll their candidates into the top spot, have arrived from all over the country. They have practically taken over the campaign headquarters of the candidates.

Two-Fold Theory

The theory about having women prominently around campaign headquarters is two-fold.

First, politicians are aware that in numbers women hold a potential majority of votes. Hence developing a "woman's angle" is important.

Secondly, men even when concerned with politics don't run away from pretty girls. There are lots of pretty ones around. They distribute buttons, pass out literature, dole out information, act as hostesses and listen pleasantly to visitors' complaints and gossip.

Something For Nothing

The big Dewey headquarters with 400 women volunteers is completely a distaff responsibility. The women in charge have dreamed up all manner of lures to attract the footloose convention-goer—including the something-for-nothing attraction.

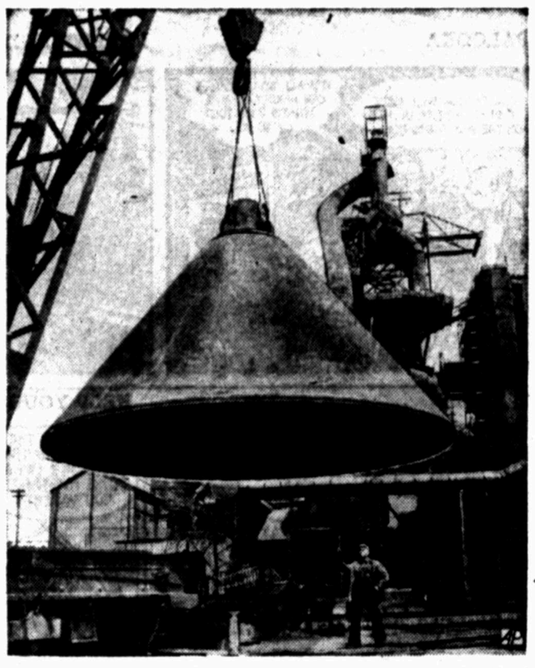

Women dispense free coffee and tomato juice in the morning and free cold soft drinks most of the day. They give visitors shopping bags—advertising a certain candidate—and fill it with such assorted items as paper cigarette holders, fans, emery boards and other souvenirs. Every 200th visitor is given a better gift like nylons, a slip or cosmetics.

Stassen headquarters, while not completely feminine in its administration, has lots of gay young things, prettily dressed, passing out helpful suggestions, persuasive literature, buttons, friendly smiles and—early in the convention 900 pounds of cheese, Wisconsin cheese that is.

Tickets Are Scarce

The Taft headquarters, a few blocks away, has not underscored the feminine line but there are plenty of women volunteers in the offing to give assists and selling talks. And, of course, the Taft camp has Martha Taft.

There seems to be only one complaint from the ladies: the acute shortage of tickets to the convention hall. It looks as though most of them will go back home without having seen any of the fun from the ringside.

BELL WITHOUT A BONG—A 21-ton stopper is lifted at National Tube Co. plant in Lorain, Ohio. It will regulate flow of raw materials into blast furnace (background). Down steep sides of stopper will slide tons of iron ore, coke, limestone.

Maine Winner Will Attend Convention

SKOWHEGAN, Me., June 23 (AP)—Rep. Margaret C. Smith, nominated to the Senate in traditionally Republican Maine, planned to fly today to Philadelphia and a rousing reception at her party's national convention.

Mrs. Smith piled up a 32,359 plurality over three male opponents in Monday's primary. Even she was surprised at the margin.

"Of course I always thought I was going to win," she said, "but I never dreamed of anything like that."

House Speaker Joseph W. Martin, jr., permanent chairman, extended the invitation to the convention.

HEARING SCHEDULED

AUSTIN, June 23 (AP) — The railroad commission has scheduled hearing Aug. 6 on the application of the Barnsdall Oil company to dispose of salt water into the Greta formation below the original oil-water contact through its Pickering-Roos well No. 12, placedo field, Victoria county.

Bullfighter Won't Tackle Texas Bull

HOUSTON, June 23 (AP)—Armilita, the $1,000,000-a-year Mexican bullfighter, says he wouldn't fight a Texas bull even for a million bucks.

The world-famous Mexico City matador, whose real name is Fermine Espinosa, paused briefly here today with his wife while en route to Spain for a vacation.

He was asked: What do you think of the Texas bull? Have you ever fought a Texas product?

"You can't fight the Texas bull," he replied. "He is too unpredictable. He is wild rather than ferocious."

He gave definite indication it wouldn't be "fun" to enter the ring with such an animal.

The slim-hipped matador, however, spoke enthusiastically over his profession.

It's been so profitable he plans to retire next year.

"I make 150,000 pesos or about $30,000 for each performance," he explained. "I fight about 30 times a year, so I am rather wealthy and plan to retire next year."

Autograph Hunters Plan Organization

LOS ANGELES, June 23 (AP)—Bubble gum poppers and swooning bobby soxers won't be around tonight when the Southern California chapter of the National Society of Autograph Collectors is organized.

These people represent the ultra in autograph collecting. They don't bite, gouge or kick to get Frank Sinatra's signature in their little red book. They go after rarer stuff.

Justin G. Turner, one of the organizers, exhibits an original document signed in 1647 by one Myles Standish. That's what makes these folks drool. Turner wouldn't trade that one for two Bing Crosbys and a Lana Turner—signatures, that is.

Proof Added To Nervous System Theory

Doctor Reports Memory Can Reproduce Wounds Years After They have Faded

LONDON, June 23 (U.P.) — It sounds like something from a horror story with a psychological twist—but a distinguished British physician says it happened.

The pretty woman, speaking from a hypnotic trance, told a story of her sadistic father and of a terrible whipping he gave her.

Twenty minutes later a red welt appeared on her shoulder, where she said her father had caught her with a particularly vicious blow. The wound bled again that night as it had when the whipping occurred more than 20 years before.

Case Reported In Journal

Dr. Robert L. Moody reports the case in the British medical journal, The Lancet, as further proof of his recently advanced theory that the nervous system has a memory capable of reproducing actual wounds years after they have faded away.

Moody caused a sensation a year ago when he reported that a patient had relived an incident involving forcible detention in a hospital even to the extent of having red welts from the ropes that bound him appear again on his wrists.

Of the present case, the psychiatrist writes:

"The patient who consulted me privately because of persistent insomnia was a married woman in her late thirties. She had an extremely unhappy childhood in which a sadistic father played a prominent part. At 17 she was treated for a nervous breakdown, and after recovery she seems to have widespread amnesia for the unhappy events of her earlier life.

"During treatment by me she dissociated very readily, and relived these events in dramatic style. If they involved physical injury, somatic (physical) repetition of what presumably had been the original injury almost always appeared. Swelling, bruising, and bleeding were observed by me on at least 30 occasions."

NAACP Action To Intensify

KANSAS CITY, June 23 (AP)—A Negro editor says the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will intensify its political action and continue its fight against discrimination.

"We shall continue to preach the gospel that there can be no democracy for anyone if rights are denied to any segment of the population," Roy Wilkins of New York told the association's convention last night in a keynote address.

He urged a close watch on the Republican and Democratic national conventions to determine which party will offer a convincing civil rights program.

"On the performance of the 80th Congress on our issues," he said, "it is a nice question as to whether the nice-talking-but-do-nothing Republicans are worse than the bad-talking-but-do-nothing Democrats.

"There is one characteristic common to both parties: The have — and will have—the machinery and power to get things done if they choose to act.

"Our job is to get them to act."

Wilkins is editor of the NAACP magazine, "Crisis."

The association's convention will continue through Sunday. Delegates represent more than 40 states.

Strange Soil

for first-hand information. Soon after Burgess' reports were made, a firm was organized for the mining and crushing the peat-like substance. The firm called itself the Min-Sol Corporation.

Now, the firm operates the mine 82 miles south of Alpine and a crushing plant at Marathon. A new plant, to cost $50,000 is under construction at Alpine to process the soil. At the plant, nothing is added to or taken from the soil. It is merely crushed and sacked.

Has 29 Different Minerals

Chemical tests reveal 29 different minerals present in the deposits which geologists are unable to explain. There are two opinions which say a glacier brought the deposits and that they are of volcanic origin. However, no one knows for certain. They only know the Min-Sol, as it is called, does help crops up here where some of the soil has been in crop use for a long time.

Spokesmen for Min-Sol Corporation are negotiating with interests for the location of its first sub-office here in Lubbock. An announcement about that location is to be made within the next few weeks.

Visiting Firemen Visit Two Fires

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., June 23. (AP)—Several out-of-town firemen at a convention here hired a taxi to follow Chief Rudolph H. Swanson's car to two fires.

"We are firemen no matter where we are," one explained.

The largest land value increases in the country for 1947 were reported in the wheat and range livestock areas.

Drunk Driver Comes Prepared For Jail

SACRAMENTO, Calif., June 23 (AP) — Judge McDonnell looked down from his municipal court bench and recognized the defendant's face.

His brow wrinkled and he said, "When you were tried for drunken driving in April I told you that if you got into trouble again you might just as well bring your tooth brush, because you'd be staying a long time.

"What have you got to say for yourself?" he asked.

Roy Goodenough 62, who was charged with driving after revocation of his license, looked up at the judge. He said nothing, reached into his pocket and pulled out a toothbrush.

He got six months.

Wheat Harvest

were filled promptly.

Record May Be Set

No estimates were given on production in any of the area, but much of it has been under irrigation, and yields were expected to be high in some instances. One yield in particular, in Hale county, was a possible new high record for Texas in per acre yield.

This was on the O. A. Lucas farm, a mile southeast of Aiken in Hale county, where a measured five acres of a 30-acre irrigated plot yielded 78.18 bushels per acre. The grain stands almost five feet tall in places, with an average of probably four feet over the entire 30 acres, and was almost a solid mass of heavy heads. Lucas, who farms 80 acres, watered the wheat three times, and had watered once before planting.

In the Panhandle the harvest was in various stages of completion. In Carson and Armstrong counties, harvest was five per cent completed, scheduled to end July 15. There was no equipment surplus, but no shortages, and not many custom operators would be needed.

Rains Halt Work

In Sherman, Dallam, Moore and Hartley counties harvest was two to five per cent complete, to end July 8 to 15. Equipment standing by in Moore and Sherman counties would be put to use by middle of week, and there was no surplus of workers. Wheat was averaging 12 to 15 bushels.

In Hutchinson, Hansford, Ochiltree and Lipscomb counties, harvest was 10 per cent complete in Hutchinson, and 15 to 22 per cent complete in the others. Rains in excess of two inches Saturday night stopped work, but if no more rain fell, expected to resume operations Wednesday. Increasing activity expected by middle of week, but harvest hands constantly coming and going unless employed immediately. Ochiltree county reports yields of 15 to 25 bushels.

In Gray, Wheeler, Roberts and Hemphill counties harvest was 17 to 23 per cent complete, and should be about finished by end of this week. Most of work being done by local equipment. Hall county is averaging about 11 bushels per acre, Collingsworth about 10, and Donley about 9, the report showed.

Portable Pipe Test Is Made

Portable galvanized pipe for irrigation is being used by the Plant Industry department of the Texas Technological college farm, according to Dr. A. W. Young, head of the Plant Industry department, who said that this is the first time such a method of transporting water from the irrigation well to the field has ever been used in this part of the country.

Running the water in ditches, which is the method now used in this section, has been estimated to lose from 20 to 40% of the water in the course of a one-half mile run through evaporation and seepage.

The use of pipe entirely eliminates loss from both of these causes, and for this reason Young believes that the pipe will pay for itself over a short period of time. A well that waters four rows of row crop at a time with the ditch system, will water five rows at a time when the pipe system is used, regardless of the distance the water must travel. This not only cuts the expense of watering, but by allowing the farmer to get water to his crop when it needs it most, will bring about a considerable increase in yield.

The pipe is manufactured in 10 foot sections which connect together by friction. The diameter of the pipe, which screws directly to the mouth of the well, is determined by the size of the well, and should be about two inches larger than the well-size. That used on the Texas Tech farm with its eight inch well is 10 inch, 20 gauge pipe, which weighs 55 pounds per 10-foot section.

In connection with the irrigation system being used, the department plans to experiment soon with liquid fertilizer, which is also a new thing in this part of the country, Young said. He plans to test the new type fertilizer, which is distributed with the water from the irrigation well, as to its increase in yield and also in respect to its distribution through the soil. Reports from the comparatively few other tests which have been conducted show that the increase in yield compares favorably with other types of fertilizer, but that it fails to penetrate to any depth in the soil.

Wild Applause Is Given Hoover And Martin After GOP Speeches

By HARRISON HUMPHRIES
Associated Press Staff Writer

PHILADELPHIA, June 23—Herbert Hoover's sizzling attack on Russian "tyrants" and Speaker Martin's defense of the 80th Congress featured the second night of wildly applauded oratory at the Republican national convention.

The only living former President took out after Soviet leaders in an appeal to his party to lead the interlaced battle against Communism's spread and for an enduring world peace.

The world crisis, he said, is "deeper than some may think."

Ovation Given

Hoover was given an enthusiastic 14-minute welcoming ovation by the convention delegates and the crowd.

Martin, presiding officer of the House of Representatives, leaped to the defense of the Republican controlled Congress which President Truman has branded the "second worst" in history.

The Massachusetts lawmaker—himself a darkhorse contender for the presidential nomination—said he is "proud" of the record written on Capitol Hill in the last year and one-half.

Martin spoke in accepting for the third straight time the permanent chairmanship of the GOP national convention.

Warning Issued

In his review of world problems, Hoover said this country must continue to help foreign nations in rebuilding from the ravages of war—but not to such an extent as to overburden the American economy.

To weaken the nation's finances in carrying the double load of relief and increased armaments woul be playing "Stalin's game," he cautioned, "for his expressed real hopes lies in our economic collapse for which his fifth columns are busily planning."

The former president called upon the convention to pick candidates who will recognize "we are in a critical battle to safeguard our nation and civilization."

Neither Peace Nor War

"Today the men in the Kremlin hold in their right hands the threat of military aggression against all civilization. With their left hands they work to weaken civilization by boring from within.

"These tyrants have created a situation new in all human experience. We saved them from Hitler but they refuse to cooperate with us in good will or peace on earth. A powerful nation, dominated by men without conscience, finds its useful to have neither peace nor war in the world."

Hoover said foreign aid should go for "reconstruction" only.

"...ly here necessities," he asserted. "There is no room for non-essentials, profligacy or inefficiency."

Truman Criticised

Martin praised the recent Congress for turning the tide "against the march of police state methods in this country. This was done, he said, despite "fumbling and bumbling" by the Truman administration in foreign affairs and "awful confusion" from the same source on the home front.

Martin said some "patriotic Democrats" had joined Republicans in Congress in hobbling "the encroachments of the federal government" on American freedoms

The House speaker said the work of the Congress was a result of "foresight and vision" and that he was proud to have had a part in balancing the budget, writing labor legislation, cutting income taxes and weeding out "hundreds of enemies of America" from the government.

Woman Speaks

The labor laws he helped pass, he added, "brought better relations in the field of labor and management."

Rep. Katharine St. George of New York, another speaker last night, told the convention the nation's voters will turn out "the war party" in November and "return to the Republican ideal of peace with honor."

The Republican formula for peace, she said, includes a return to "sound economy at home and abroad," the best Army, Navy and Air Force in the world, "a firm and intelligent foreign policy, and depicting America to the world "as she really is."

She said peace can be achieved only by a President "who will not . . . save his political fortunes by plunging us into another war."

Five Prizes Named For Derby Winners

Five "heat prizes" for the first annual Avalanche-Journal-Chevrolet Soap Box Derby to be run Monday, July 5, on East Broadway hill were announced Tuesday by Roy Finley, Derby director.

Winners of each of the approximately 60 heats in the big race are to receive some sort of merchandise prize, the Derby committee has announced.

Tuesday's list of prizes included: one pair of Acme cowboy boots from Levine's, two season passes to the Midway theater, one gift certificate from Hemphill-Wells company and one three-months pass to the Lindsey theaters.

Finley also announced continued showings of the Soap Box Derby picture, which has been showing this week at the Tech theater. Today and Thursday it will be shown at the Plains Drive-In, Friday and Saturday at the Midway theater, Sunday and Monday at the Five-Point drive-in, and June 30 and July 1 at the Chief.

In addition, another Soap Box Derby film will be shown at the Palace theater, today, Thursday and Friday; at the Palace Sunday and Monday and at the Plaza theater, June 30 and July 1.

Scientists have coined a word "hypergolic." It designates rocket propellent combinations that are self-igniting, as opposed to fuels that must be "sparked' 'to start the firing process.

Midshipman George W. Brewer Jr., USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Brewer Sr., of 1912 Ave. Q, is participating in the annual East Coast Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps cruise aboard the aircraft carrier USS Coral Sea.

The eight-week cruise will consist of gunnery drills, battle problems, and lectures to acquaint the midshipmen with the latest developments in naval equipment.

Screen Gentleman Tackles Daring Task

Douglas Names Hollywood's Most Sophisticated Women

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, June23 — Melvyn Douglas, the suave gentleman of the screen, tackled the daring task of picking Hollywood's most sophisticated women and came up with only four choices:

Greta Garbo, Dorothy McGuire, Myrna Loy and Katharine Hepburn.

Says Douglas: "Much of what passes in Hollywood for sophistication just ain't. Wisecrackers and smart alecs aren't sophisticates, and with women that goes double." He added that Garbo, Loy and Hepburn are "as subtle as good wine and stimulating as a cold shower." McGuire said he, gives you the feeling she's worldly without being bored.

"She's the new pattern in sophisticaion," he announced.

Donna Reed Marks Time

Donna Reed is marking time until MGM finds a co-star for the Monty Stratton yarn.

"It calls for a tall, gawky, shy fellow—the Gary Cooper type," says she. What's wrong with Cooper for the role? . . . After her Canadian vacation, June Haver plans to visit Memphis to see her father for the first time in 12 years.

Esther Williams won't swim in "Take Me Out To The Ball Game," but a bathing suit scene has been written in for her. A 1905 suit, I might add . . . Low of the week: The title switch of the electric "burlesque" to "When My Baby Smiles At Me." Sounds like just another 20th-Fox musical.

Hopkins Making Film

Miriam Hopkins, here for "The Heiress," won't make it a habit.

"I'm a New Yorker by choice," she says. "Getting up at six to go to the studio is too rugged for me." She'll return for a play in October . . . MGM has finally discovered Ava Gardner. The tarheel tornado is due for a big build-up and won't be the studio's loan-out girl any longer.

Capsule review: "Romance On The High Seas" (WB) is a happy dish of entertainment which should please most customers. It's a nonsensical story of mistaken identity, performed with enough brightness to make you overlook its triviality. Jack Carson, Doris Day and Oscar Levant head the gay cast.
