Birth Control Sanctioned By Interdenominational Church Federation

$430,000 DRAINAGE PROGRAM PROPOSED HERE

Home Town Talk

By B. D. D.

Lyman Abbott, the great liberal preacher, once said that he believed that Voltaire, the great French atheist, had contributed more to advance Christianity by his criticism of the beliefs and the practices of the church of his day than some of the saints by their pieties.

It would perhaps be saying too much to say that Clarence Darrow, the agnostic, was doing the same thing today, but it cannot be said that his challenges to all faiths as laid down in forums for religious discussion such as that in Wichita Falls Thursday night are doing much to destroy these faiths. Certainly these forums ought to bring a searching of beliefs and a quickening of spirit that even Mr. Darrow would say are needed.

Many Wichita Falls oil men are planning to attend two hearings at Austin next week which are of great importance to the oil industry of this section. The first is a hearing before a legislative committee Monday on a bill sponsored by Governor Sterling to place the matter of oil conservation in the hands of a special commission to be appointed by the governor. The second is a hearing on Tuesday before the state railroad commission on a proposal to prorate all the oil fields of Texas, or to abandon proration altogether.

Oil men here are placing a great deal of hope in Governor Sterling's proposal for a special commission to handle oil conservation. They believe such a commission will much more effectively handle the situation to the oil industry in this section than is possible through the elective state railroad commission.

They believe in the sincerity and courage of Governor Sterling and the charges recently made that the governor is influenced by the Humble or any other major oil company in his proposal find little support in this community where the oil industry is of major importance.

Eleven southwestern rail lines, including the Burlington and the Missouri, Kansas and Texas are planning to inaugurate door-to-door package freight service within the next 60 days, if the plan is given approval by the Interstate Commerce commission. Under this plan contracts will be made with local trucking concerns for picking up and delivering freight from shipper and to consignee. The service will be given at no additional cost above the package freight rate.

This new door-to-door delivery service and reduced passenger rates are steps proposed by the railroads to regain at least a part of the business that has been lost to truck and bus lines. They are steps toward a perfection of railroad service that was hardly dreamed of 10 or 15 years ago.

Rabbi Harry E. Merfield, of Temple Beth-El at Fort Worth talking on the "The Tired Business Man" before the Wichita Falls Rotary club pictures a man who is so absorbed with the business that he hasn't time to live and exclaim, "Can you imagine a woman living with a man like that." A good many women are.

And now comes Alice D. Kelly in Harper's magazine for April that men are now the downtrodden sex and that man is beaten from the start. She says:

"Men are universally expected—just to start by listing the superficial virtues they must have—to be brave, shrewd, intelligent, high-minded, chivalrous, capable at all times of supporting several persons, and of being entirely and continuously adequate to the demands of this present highly complex world. This is a cruel kind of flattery which I should say—without having consulted any statistics on the subject—is responsible for a great many cases of lunacy, drunkenness, and domestic desertion.

"Men are strangely at the mercy of women. They is every opportunity for the average American of middle-lass family to develop a fine, robust Odipus complex. Deeply imbedded in his consciousness from his tenderest years is the illogical but lofty idea that every decent boy should treat all women as he would his mother or his sister.

"The ideal of the internationally famous good American husband is an ideal of male submission. Women in the United States have every weapon with which to subdue their men. His early training, the talk of the neighborhood, and masculine inarticulateness are all on her side. The man is beaten from the beginning."

Anybody who wishes can continue this discussion at home.

Ardmore Friends Defend Suspected Wife-Slayer

ARDMORE, Okla., March 20. (UP)—Neighbors who knew A. J. Hardy before he served as county attorney and district judge, testified in his defense today in his trial on charges of shooting to death his 26-year-old wife.

Two character witnesses told the jury that during their long acquaintance with Hardy he had been a law-abiding citizen.

They testified the state's charge he shot his wife on a hunting trip Nov. 12 to either collect $20,000 in insurance policies or to maintain relationships with another woman was contrary to his character.

COUNCIL CITES MORAL RIGHT TO REGULATION

'Humanity, Economics And Health' Listed As Justification

NECESSITY GRANTED

27 Organizations Join In Study of Marriage In Nation

NEW YORK, March 20. (UP)—Birth control was approved, broadly though conditionally, on grounds of health, economics and humanity in a report today of the federal council of Churches of Christ in America, representing many denominations of Christian religion.

The approval was said, in a statement accompanying the report, to be the first such declaration made by an inter-denominational body. A minority recommended abstinence as an "ideal" among married people who felt unable to have children. But all signed the report and these made an imposing list of churchmen and social workers. Baptists, Methodists, Presbyterians and Episcopalians were included among the signatories, representing 27 Protestant churches with a total membership of 23,000,000.

Briefly, the report upheld birth control because:

Reasons Listed

1.—It may be morally right in certain circumstances.

2.—Some form of "effective control" of families is necessary.

3.—"There should be sex union between husbands and wives as an expression of mutual affection, without relation to procreation."

It was held that birth control has become a fact, and that therefore:

1.—"The public therefore has a right to expect guidance from the church on the moral aspects."

2.—Whatever the final decision of the church may be, it should not seek to impose anti-birth control legislation, nor to seek to prohibit physicians from imparting information regarding use on contraceptives.

Procedure Recognized

Rev. Worth M. Tippy, executive secretary of the church council's social service commission, said in a statement accompanying the report that it was the result of a "continuous study of problems of marriage and the home, extending over a period of years." Physicians, psychologists and social scientists, he said, had given counsel regarding its preparation.

In its opening paragraph the report said that use of contraceptives was "nearing the status of a recognized procedure," and that the public was entitled to church guidance regarding it. Marital love, it was said, could not be regarded solely as a means of procreation, but as a supreme expression of affection and comradeship.

The hazards of pregnancy in certain circumstances, it was said, must be accepted as a fact. Economic conditions also enter into the

Negro Slayer's Case To Reach Jury Today

AMARILLO, Texas, March 20. ## Literary Lights Flicker In Clash

Dreiser Answers Lewis' Remarks With Resounding Slap

NEW YORK, March 20. (UP)—Long smouldering personal enmity between Sinclair Lewis and Theodore Dreiser, America's two foremost literary men, burst into momentary flame last night at a dinner at the Metropolitan club.

The outcome was that Dreiser slapped Lewis twice—once on each cheek—while the six foot Lewis stood quietly until friends approached and separated them.

A sidelight of the affair was that, though among the literary lights present were several who contribute duly to newspapers, the news did not reach print until mid-afternoon today, the dinner having been regarded by them as a private one.

Lewis rose to make a speech. Opening on the note that he would not make one, he confined his speech to giving his reason why he wouldn't—"while there was a man present who had stolen 3,000 words of his wife's book and two eminent critics who had made him feel like a swine with their criticism of the award of the Nobel prize in literature to him."

Lewis sat down. Dreiser rose for his speech. Lewis rose abruptly and left the dining room. Dreiser spoke at length, but did not mention Lewis.

Lewis re-entered the room after

SINCLAIR LEWIS
"...when are you...?"

THEODORE DREISER

Dreiser's speech. The two men met in the dining room doorway.

"Dreiser, when are you going to explain this theft of my wife's literary work?" asked Lewis.

"Let's talk it over right now," said Dreiser.

They walked together to a corner of the room, sat down and proceeded to talk it over.

The 20 or 25 other guests were sitting or standing around, sipping coffee and smoking. They naturally watched the corner closely, if

TWO BROTHERS HURT IN SCRAP

Piston and Pistol Used In Encounter

Two brothers, J. L. and Barney Stout, were at the Wichita General hospital Friday following an affray on Wichita street in which one was beaten over the head with a heavy instrument and the other shot in the arm with a .45 caliber pistol.

The fight started in front of Barney Stout's garage at 612 Wichita street. When the brothers were parted by a bystander, the garage owner had sustained severe injuries about the head from blows inflicted with a hammer-like piston and connecting rod from an automobile.

Rushing into his garage after they had been parted, Barney Stout secured a pistol. A foot race ensued as J. L. Stout ran to the corner and turned into the Burkburnett road, witnesses said. Reaching the corner, the garage owner fired three shots from the pistol. One of the shots struck J. L. Stout in the arm near the elbow and passed through. The wounded man made his way across the street to a cold drink stand where he collapsed and was taken to the hospital.

Barney Stout was taken to the General hospital by city officers. Attendants at the hospital said he was not seriously injured.

Officers investigating the case were Sergeant Ernest Deaton, Chris Jensen and Herbert Pogue, motorcycle officer.

The father of the two men was questioned by Frank Burns, chief of police, but said that he knew of no trouble between the two sons. Questions directed at employes of the garage revealed that the two had engaged in a fist fight the day before.

Both brothers are to remain in the detention ward at the hospital until Saturday, when further investigations will be made with the assistance of the district attorney's office, Chief Burns said.

The garage owner resides at his place of business on Wichita street, immediately north of the Wichita river bridge. The brother resides at 101 Wichita street.

AUSTIN, March 20. (AP)—The state highway department today asked for bids on the construction of bridges across Driggers and Pine creeks on highway 39, in Lamar county. The estimated cost of the work was $14,000.

The department also asked for bids on bridges across South Pease and Dutchman rivers on highway 18 in Motley county, estimated to cost $50,000.

Water Compromise Suggested For Good of City, Fischer Declares

Unnecessary to Secure Approval of Citizens Committee To Express His Personal Views, Says Leader

A reiteration of his belief that a "compromise" bond issue of $450,000 for the improvement of the Wichita Falls water system is the best solution of the problem was made here Friday by F. W. Fischer, leader of the anti-bond forces in the last campaign, upon his return from Amarillo.

Mr. Fischer's plan was placed before the council last Monday night by J. B. Marlow, leader of the bond proponents. The plan had been outlined by Mr. Fischer in a letter to Mr. Marlow. This plan, however, was disclaimed in its entirety by other leaders of the citizens committee, which opposed the bonds in the recent election, and it was declared that Mr. Fischer did not express the sentiments of the committee. Mr. Fischer, in the meantime, was called to Amarillo on business, and could not be reached by The Record News for a statement until Friday.

"I expected no reward either by appointment to office or otherwise when I opposed the $1,000,000 bond issue; and when I proposed a compromise I did so only in the belief that it was best for the city and without any thought as to what that suggestion might have upon the political fortunes of any one," Mr. Fischer declared.

He pointed out that the "compromise" program was submitted as his personal belief; and as such, he could see no reason why he "should first lay the matter before the citizens committee" and receive its approval of what he might have to say.

Statement Issued

Mr. Fischer's statement follows:

"Of course I am surprised to learn that the 'citizens committee' felt called upon to issue a statement disclaiming any knowledge of or consent to the proposal contained in my letter to Mr. Marlow, for the letter does not indicate that I pretended to have discussed the matter with the committee or asked the committee's advice about it or purported to speak for the committee, or anyone else. Mr. Marlow and others who had favored the million dollar bond issue that was defeated Saturday asked me, and not the 'citizens committee,' to give them my views as to what could be done with reference to the water situation that would be satisfactory

PHONE WIRES 12,000 FEET ABOVE SEA LEVEL, UNDERGROUND

THE highest international telephone line ever strung is laid over the Andes mountains of Chile. It was necessary for workmen to dig a ditch many miles long and bury the wires to keep them from being swept away by heavy snows. The line on the Argentine side of the Andes reaches a point over twelve thousand feet above sea level, while, by way of contrast, the submarine cable off the coast of Chile rests twenty-one thousand feet below sea level. These telephone lines make communication between the farthest places possible. The Classified Advertising Department of The Daily Times-Record News has a well trained telephone staff and uses the same type of wires and equipment. ## BILL TO SAVE GOODWIN VOTED

Measure Enables Court To Reverse Verdict

AUSTIN, March 20. (UP)—The house committee on criminal jurisprudence tonight unanimously favored a bill that will permit the court of criminal appeals to reverse the death verdict given Dave Goodwin at a "mob trial" in Bowie county.

The case is in the court on a ty as the slayer of Lloyd Elliott. motion for a rehearing. When it was first heard, Judge A. N. Martin said there were reversible errors in the case but under the present statutes they could not be reviewed. The bill permits the court to review any error that appears.

Goodwin was found guilty and sentenced to death at New Boston, more than a year ago. He killed Elliott, a youthful rancher, in a fight over a hog. He is in the Dallas county jail, where he recently was transferred from Texarkana due to threats of mob violence there.

Attorneys for the illiterate hog rancher said that during his trial a mob surrounded the courthouse and made it impossible for the jury to return any verdict other than death. Guards sat around Goodwin in the courtroom, their guns plainly visible to the jurors, it was charged. The court of criminal appeals ruled that it was unable to order a new trial because Goodwin's attorneys had not asked for a change of venue within the time specified for filing.

The Nautilus, formerly the navy submarine P-12, left Camden, N. J., Monday but was delayed by weather conditions.

Series of Burglaries Brings Five Indictments

HOUSTON, March 20. (AP)—Sam Foster, negro, was indicted today by the Harris county grand jury on four charges of robbery, one charge of attempted robbery and a charge of assault to murder. ## Mother Charged With Parting Son From Wife

LAMESA, Texas, March 20. (UP)—A $175,000 damage suit, alleging alienation of affections, was filed here today by Miss Jean Strong against her former mother-in-law, Mrs. Carrie Slaughter Dean of Dallas.

In her petition Miss Strong asks $150,000 actual damages and $25,000 punitive damages.

Black Daughter of Former Slave Leads Rejoicing in New Oil Wealth

EDCOUCH, Texas, March 20. (UP)—Mammy Mary Jackson, dowager of Rollo, negro settlement near here, tonight with her neighbors and chil'en, "made merry and gave thanks" for the new found wealth oil has brought their little community.

Mammy Mary's father, an ex-slave from a Georgia plantation, paid $7 an acre for the land she now owns.

"Times was ha'd and taxes high, but I paid 'em," the smiling old negro reminisced tonight.

Today she received $5,000 in cash and a check for $30,000 more is awaiting the approval of the deeds to her tract. She will also receive 8 per cent of the value of the oil flowing from her fields.

"I'se rich as 'Creese'," she beamed.

The young folks of the community "pleasured themselves" with singing and much laughter in the yard of Mammy Mary's home.

On the inside of the three room, unpainted home, the elders sat around the kerosene lamp of the "front room." The women sat on chairs, on the upturned wood box and on the bed. The men sat in the windows, leaned against the door or crouched around the wall. All were smiling. Some of them owned no land, but they rejoiced in the good fortune of the landed.

Mammy Mary led the conversation. The others followed. She reviewed "the hard times and the good times" the little settlement has known during the past 30 years. Here and there a word was added, heads nodded and eyes smiled. An occasional tear was quickly brushed away.

OPEN GAMBLING BOOMS NEVADA RESORT TOWNS

Halls of Chance Crowded Throughout First Day Of New Order

LAW HELPS TRADE

Long Established 'Secret' Practice Augmented By License

By W. A. WELLS

RENO, Nev., March 20. (AP)—Reno, along with the rest of Nevada went "Old West" today. In the flush of wide open gambling, a new 42-day divorce law virtually was forgotten.

At 10 o'clock in the morning the principal gambling hall in the heart of the city was thronged by hundreds who played or milled about the roulette wheels, faro tables, mechanical dice throwing and other gambling games.

Room Enlarged

The hum and hubbub of gambling, the clicky-clack of machines and the clatter of poker chips partly was drowned by the staccato noise of a compressed air drill operated by a construction crew engaged in cutting through massive stone, brick and mortar walls to enlarge the gaming room.

While waiting for the printers to turn out gambling license forms the mere formality of official permission was dispensed with, hence no statistics were available regarding the number of permits which will be issued or the extent to which the city, county and state will profit in revenues.

Law Ends "Secrecy"

The signing of the new gambling bill yesterday by Gov. Fred Balzar was the signal for augmented patronage of the gambling resorts rather than the inauguration of new ones for the new statute merely makes legal what has been going on under nominal cover for years.

Dozens of so-called "speakeasy" establishments, where divorces and others play in an atmosphere of seclusion and a measure of "exclusiveness" enjoyed generous patronage.

As the nocturnal players dwindled away others took their places. All of the principal establishments operate 24 hours a day.

Nine Injured In Burk Crash

Texas Marriage Law Evaders Get Acid Dose in Annulment Decree

FORT WORTH, Texas, March 20. (AP)—A lecture condemning Texas couples who "flaunt the Texas marriage statutes and go to Oklahoma to get married" was delivered by District Judge Hal Lattimore Friday in granting an annulment to Georgia Belle Bryson, Houston. She married Horace McCoy, former Dallas newspaperman, in Durant, Okla., some months ago.

Miss Bryson and her mother, accompanied by their lawyer, Jack Binion, were in the judge's office two hours, while the plaintiff told her story. She attended the University of Texas for about two years, is well known in Austin and Houston. She told the judge that on the day of her marriage, she and McCoy had been drinking and she was "dazed." She said she was not in the proper mental condition to appreciate the nature and quality of her acts. She stated she never lived with McCoy and that they separated in Houston, two days after the marriage.

She said she also had been told by McCoy that he had never been married but that after the marriage she learned that he was a widower with a child by a former marriage.

Judge Lattimore granted the annulment, which carries restoration of the maiden name. He told Miss Bryson, however, that "you have no right to expect the Texas laws to free you from this union since you disregarded them." Miss Bryson's mother cried during parts of the judge's discourse. Judge Lattimore also told Miss Bryson that "you are drunk on your own vanity and that makes you easy for anyone to approach you by playing up to your vanity, just as this man did."

Statesman Dies

Hermann Mueller, former chancellor of Germany and an outstanding post-war European statesman, died in Berlin Friday after a lingering illness. Dr. Mueller was a signer of the treaty of Versailles.

DEATH TAKES GERMAN CHIEF

Republic Loses Post-War Leader

BERLIN, March 20. (UP)—Hermann Mueller, former chancellor and among the leading statesmen developed in post-war Republican Germany, died tonight after a heroic fight for life against a lingering illness which in recent years had sapped his strength.

Death occurred at 10:45 p. m. Mueller's condition had become steadily worse after an operation for bladder trouble last Saturday. Pneumonia developed and the complications set in. He was 55.

The operation was effected by his surgeons last Saturday, after days of uncertainty. They feared his weakened condition would not permit the strain, although the operation was deemed essential if life were to be maintained.

It was announced the operation had been successful. It was not the first which Mueller had undergone for the malady. In the summer of 1929 he was gravely ill and was operated on for gallstones.

His condition became weakened earlier this week. A blood transfusion was performed last night, but the doctors held little hope then for his recovery, and he sank steadily until death this evening.

Mueller was the most influential moderate leader in the Socialist party, and it was believed tonight his death probably will be felt in the party's policy. The moderates at present are in a difficult position, in their defense of their present opportunist policy against the radicals.

Mueller was one of the two German statesmen to sign the treaty of Versailles ending the world war—a moment, he later said, among "the saddest of my life." He was foreign minister in the cabinet formed by Gustave Bauer in 1919.

Mueller attained a leading position in his party in comparative youth, being delegated in June, 1914, just prior to the outbreak of the war, to discuss with French Socialists in Paris their attitude in case of war. The mission failed

Kidnapers Free Le Fors Constable

PAMPA, Texas, March 20. (AP)—Constable Bon Wall of LeFors, a small town a few miles from Pampa, was kidnapped last night and taken for a "ride" which lasted until about 9 o'clock tonight. His captors then returned him to LeFors and threw him from their automobile in front of the school building. He was uninjured.

A posse led by Sheriff Lon Blancet had started in search of the missing officer this afternoon. He had last been seen in a cafe at LeFors late last night.

Tonight nothing had been learned definitely of the constable's experiences while he was held prisoner. Threats were made against the sheriff's department lately by a reputed liquor ring in Gray county.

DISTRICT TWO ELECTION SET FOR APRIL 25

Irrigation Area to Launch Program to Protect Property

LAND OWNERS VOTE

Voters Also to Pass Upon Methods of Levying Tax for Bonds

A $430,000 program of drainage improvements for District No. 2 of the Wichita Falls irrigation system has been approved by the board of directors of the district and an election called for April 25 to determine if bonds in that amount shall be issued for the work, it was announced Friday by G. A. Remington, manager of the two water districts.

Program Drawn

A complete drainage program covering the entire district has been mapped by the board in order to reclaim water logged lands and to prevent other lands from becoming water logged or damaged by seepage. The election will involve only landholders living in the district. Four election precincts were named by the directors in their resolution calling the election, and officers named for each of the voting places.

Voters in the election will pass upon two propositions, one being the issuance of bonds and the other being the method of levying the tax for the payment of the bonds. In the election in 1923 forming the district and providing for the issuance of irrigation bonds, the district voted that taxes should be levied "on an equitable basis" according to the benefits to be derived from the program. In the election April 25 the qualified voters will determine if the same method of levying taxes will be followed.

Taxes Per Acre

Under the uniform assessment of benefits plan, the tax levy would be made on a basis of benefits of $10 an acre on irrigable land and of 30 cents an acre on non-irrigable land. Members of the board said the tax per acre of irrigable land would not exceed 60 cents per year for the first three years, and the average tax per acre per year would

CHURCHES FOR BIRTH CONTROL

Council Endorses Use Of Contraceptives

question, it was added, and it was pointed out that very large families tended to "produce poverty, to endanger the health and stability of the family, to limit the educational opportunities of the children, to overstrain the mother and to take from her her own chance of a life larger than the routine of her home."

Necessity Granted

Furthermore, it was said, the problem of over-population—while not an immediate one so far as this country was concerned—must be taken into consideration.

"As to the necessity, therefore," the report continued, "for some form of effective control of the size of the family and spacing of children, and consequently of control of conception, there can be no question. It is recognized by all churches and all physicians.

"There is general agreement also that sex union between husbands and wives as an expression of mutual affection, without relation to procreation, is right. This is recognized by the Scriptures, by all branches of the Christian church, by social and medical science, and by the good sense and idealism of mankind.

"As to the method of control of conception, two ways are possible. One is the use of contraceptives, or methods other than abstinence, which may be classified as such. The other is self-control or abstinence for longer or shorter periods of time. Both may be considered as forms of birth control."

Committee Unanimous

Here the report reviewed the differing views, medical and social as well as religious, regarding use of contraceptives. But whatever the views, it was emphasized, there should be no effort to impose restrictions legally or by other means of coercion against the use of contraceptives or the dissemination of information regarding them.

To this point in the report, it was said, the committee agreed. Then follows the majority view—"That the careful and restrained use of contraceptives by married people is valid and moral"—and the minority view.

Minority signatories of the report are the Very Rev. Howard Chandler Robbins, professor of the General Theological Seminary, New York, Mrs. Orrin R. Judd, president of the council of women for home missions, New York, and Mrs. Robert E. Speer, president of the national board of the Young Women's Christian associations, New York. In addition, three members expressed no judgment between majority and minority views. They are:

Rt. Rev. Charles K. Gilbert, suffragan bishop of New York; Rev. Ben R. Lacy, president of the Union Theological seminary, Richmond, and Mrs. W. A. Newell, chairman of the bureau of social service, Woman's Missionary council M. E. church, South, Greensboro, S. C.

The combined committee appealed for recognition of the spiritual relationship of marriage and for proper self control among married people, particularly among younger folk.

Test Cleaning Out After Nitro Shot

After placing a 200-quart shot of nitro glycerine in the lime from 3815 to 3820 feet the Continental Oil company's No. 1 Primitive Baptist church test in south Young county is cleaning out. The well, which is a rank wildcat about six miles west of Graham in the Hill survey, was plugged back from a depth of 3860 feet to the 3815 lime that at one time showed the earmarks of about 30 barrels and was accompanied by a strong gas pressure.

Mother Fights to Keep Baby She Offered as Loan Security

BEAUMONT, Texas, March 20. (AP)—"I won't give up my baby to anybody to keep forever," Mrs. Hary Hart, young mother who offered her 8-month-old daughter as security for a $100 loan to fight a robbery charge, declared today.

She made her statement when informed at the county jail that her sister-in-law, Mrs. W. C. Cockeran, who she believes lives in McCamey, Texas, wanted to take Margaret Jean, or Mergene Hart, to fill the void left by the death of her own little girl.

"I won't consent to her having my little girl, because I want her when I get out of trouble," Mrs. Hart said. "I don't want to give up little Margaret Jean and I want Miss Senia Fielder to keep her in St. Louis for me, until I am free."

More than a score of curiosity seekers called at the jail today to see Mrs. Hart.

GUARDIAN IGNORES BOARD BILL

ST. LOUIS, March 20. (AP)—Miss Senia Fielder, who has taken care of Margene, the 8-month-old daughter of Mrs. L. P. Hart, in jail at Beaumont, Texas, on a robbery charge, said today she was trying to have the baby sent to the home of an aunt in Odessa, Texas.

Miss Fielder said she had not taken up with anyone Mrs. Hart's offer to put up her baby as security for a $100 loan to fight her case as she thought it was "too cruel."

"The baby's father wrote me some time ago and told me he was trying to find work so he could pay the baby's way, but I haven't heard from him for a month," Miss Fielder said. "He wrote that he was in San Francisco but was leaving there.

Father Jobless

"He was anxious to have the baby sent to the home of his sister in Odessa, Texas, but he had no money to pay her fare. His sister owns her own home in Odessa but her husband is working only part time and she can't afford to come up here and get Margene. She told me her own baby girl died and Margene would take her place. She has three boys.

"Margene's such a good baby and I love her so that I didn't say anything to her aunt about the baby's board bill. It's $1 a day and hasn't been paid since Dec. 29. But that isn't as important as getting a good home for the baby."

Dirigible Sabotage Plot May Widen To Include Other Airplane Plants

Suspected Worker Blamed for Fatal Crash of Army Ship Near San Diego Last September

CLEVELAND, March 20. (AP)—A sabotage plot to destroy the world's largest dirigible and numerous airplanes was believed to have been uncovered tonight as department of justice agents continued an investigation of the wrecking of a navy bombing plane and an alleged scheme of a worker on the dirigible to freeze rivets in the framework with water instead of hammering them in.

Paul F. Kassay, the suspected worker, was under arrest at Akron, Ohio, where the giant dirigible is under construction. He denied the accusations and said he was the victim of a frame-up.

Suspect Called Fanatic

Federal investigators said Kassay was a fanatic and they believed he had been planning to die in a crash of the dirigible, if necessary to accomplish his alleged purpose of destruction. They said he was a communist, but officials of that party disclaimed him.

The giant dirigible, named the Akron, is to be ready for its first trial flight early this summer. It is planned to be the world's most formidable fighting ship of the air and will be operated by the United States navy.

Officials of the Goodyear Zeppelin corporation which is building the ship, and navy inspectors said no damage had been done in the alleged plot to wreck it, and that no fears were felt for the future safety of the craft.

Six Months' Inquiry

Department of justice agents had been working on the alleged sabotage plot nearly six months before Kassay's arrest. It was the wreck of a bombing plane in San Diego, Calif., Sept. 3, 1930, that started the probe.

Pilot W. T. Ygharraguerre was killed in that crash when an upper wing of his plane collapsed from a mysterious cause. His craft was one of 18 delivered to the navy in the spring of 1930 by the Great Lakes Aircraft corporation of Cleveland. Kassay had worked on them as an employe of the builders.

Subsequent investigation of the navy pilot's death showed that at least two of the planes which had previously passed inspection were dangerously defective. Someone had weakened the wings so they eventually would have collapsed.

Suspicion Aroused

Suspicion of the agents began to center on Kassay. Meanwhile he had taken a new job in the dirigible construction. The department of justice agents put one of their operatives to work beside him, and recently Kassay allegedly disclosed his plans.

Several others besides Kassay were probably being investigated, Nathan said, and added that further developments are to be expected.

Department of justice agents said Kassay confessed the plot to destroy the dirigible, that he "had his own reasons" and refused to implicate others.

Kassay, described as a war time captain in the Austro-Hungarian navy, denied the accusation of intended sabotage and also denied the captaincy.

William J. McDermott, Cleveland, assistant U. S. district attorney, in whose office much of the investigation centered tonight, said Kassay engaged in communist uprisings in Hungary after the war.

CITY TEACHERS HEAR HOLLAND

'Character Education' Subject of Address

A thought-provoking presentation of an educational problem which is to receive the study of the National Educational association this year made up the short address given at the annual banquet of the City Teachers association at the Woman's Forum Friday night by N. S. Holland, superintendent of schools at Breckenridge.

"Any sort of education is character education," Mr. Holland said in his talk on "Character Education," the principal feature of the program. "It is for that reason that we should think a great deal about those habits, those ideals, those motives and those traits that lead to a life that will yield on every occasion to the right line of conduct."

The floating population and the conglomerate population had been described as handicaps in character education, and Mr. Holland had also remarked that there are now four R's in education—readin', 'rit-in', 'rithmetic and Rugby.

Mr. Holland was introduced by W. E. Walker, president of the association, who acted as toastmaster. Various other prominent guests were also introduced, including the school board, Dr. J. W. Cantwell, and W. W. Brown, secretary of the board, and past presidents of the association.

W. A. Franklin, principal of the Reagan school, announced the meeting of the Northwest Texas Teachers association, to be held in Lubbock on April 10, 11 and 12, and H. A. Glass, principal of the Zundelowitz school, was introduced as president of that organization.

Miss Ethel Morgan of Crockett school, R. O. Jonas of the high school and junior college, and Charles Tennyson of Zundelowitz Junior high were appointed to make up the nominating committee. The committee will report its nominations at the next meeting of the association.

During the meal, music was furnished by the Zundelowitz Junior high orchestra, directed by Miss Minnie T. Baker. W. E. Young, baritone, also entertained with negro spirituals, delivered in a clever style with the aid of a blackface costume. Mr. Young was accompanied at the piano by J. S. Pitman.

Decorations, featuring the Easter motif, were made by pupils of the Reagan, Zundelowitz and high school art departments. Wooden bunnies and other animals, gaily-colored balloons and wood-blocked programs were included in the decorations.

More than 250 teachers of the local public school system were in attendance at the banquet.

SUNSHINE AND SOAP

WE'RE not going to bore you with technical explanations, but the fact of the matter is this: a pure soap made from vegetable and nut oils is the gentlest, kindest, yet most effective soap that can be produced.

Planes Carry Field Artillery Across Isthmus

COLON, Panama, March 20. (US)—A battery of field artillery was flown across the Isthmus of Panama today and set up, ready to repel an invader from the Pacific, within an hour and 30 minutes of word that the Panal Canal was menaced.

It was the first time in the history of the U. S. army that planes have been resorted to in the transportation of such heavy armament. The trip from Fort Davis to Rio Atta would ordinarly have taken four days by mule pack.

Anti-Bond Leader Replies To Citizens Committee

to the majority of the citizens. I did this hurriedly and the respective amounts suggested for the various items of improvement are only approximations which can be worked out to a certainty by the city engineer, and in all probability it will be found that the aggregate amount required will be less than $450,000. Therefore, as I was acting independently, my views being given for what they might be worth in solving one of our most important problems, I cannot understand why the members of the 'citizens committee' should be surprised that I had not discussed the matter with them and obtained their approval of my views any more than any one of the other 2,000 persons who voted against the bond issue in Saturday's election. Surely the 'citizens committee' does not assume that it only has the right to speak upon this vital question or that anyone who opposed the issue of the bonds that were defeated, before expressing his views as to some other plan, should first lay the matter before the 'citizens committee' and receive its approval of what he might have to say.

Reviews Program

"Over 1,500 of our citizens ardently supported the million dollar bond issue, earnestly believing that this amount was necessary in order to put our water department in such condition as will insure an ample supply of pure, soft water. Almost 2,000 of our citizens believed that a million dollars was not needed to accomplish this purpose. Of this 2,000, none, who have the interest of Wichita Falls at heart, believe that our water department does not need immediate and extensive repairs and improvement; however, some of them believe that this can be accomplished gradually out of the earnings of the water department by reducing the overhead expense of the city administration, thereby making it unnecessary to use all of the revenue from the water department for this purpose, leaving enough in the water department fund to make these required repairs and improvements. However, none who are of this belief contemplate an expenditure of less than $35,000 or $40,000 per year, as an expenditure of less than this sum would accomplish very little, if any good.

"I believe, and I think the majority of those who voted against the million dollar bond issue agree with me, that the most good would be accomplished if the required repairs and improvements were all made at one time, instead of being made by piecemeal as the earnings of the water department will permit, which would necessarily be dragged out over a period of years, making it very doubtful of a completed job ever being accomplished.

City Must Progress

"I think that a vast majority of the citizens of Wichita Falls would agree to a bond issue to complete the work all at once and immediately if they are assured that it will not work an increase in the tax and water rates. It has already been demonstrated that this can be done as it will require only approximately $32,000 per year to meet the interest and sinking fund to retire a bond issue of $450,000, which will be adequate to accomplish this purpose, as the present city administration have already, by a reduction in the salaries of city employes effected a saving of $41,000 per year, which, as will be seen, is more than enough to retire this bond issue. Therefore, I am still in favor of a bond issue of $450,000, or any amount under that, so that work can commence immediately upon all of the needed improvements and repairs and finished before the hot, dry weather sets in, thereby eliminating the hazards that will prevail in the event needed improvements are not made. We have not yet reached the point where we are willing to cease our endeavors to progress and build a greater city.

"But regardless of our different views of how the water problem should be handled, that is not an issue in the aldermanic campaign."

flected the lights of the derricks. The throb of engines was audible. At one end of the village one of the youngsters had taken advantage of his "pa's" absence and was heard sawing out the strains of "Arkansas Traveler" from his father's fiddle.

The young people outside the Jackson home played "snap" or "Miller Boy" at intervals they sang. In nearly all their songs there were "low parts for the boys and high parts for the girls.' A strong voiced leader was necessary for some of the tunes.

At 10 o'clock Mammy Mary arose and came to the door.

"It's a purtty night, but it's gettin' late youngsters."

They became quiet and gathered about the door.

Mammy Mary walked back to her place in the center of the room and knelt. The others in the room knelt in a circle around her and the young faces at the door grew solemn. Heads bowed.

Even the throb of the derrick engines seemed to fade and the deacon of the little church at the end of the village street led in prayer.

Wash clothes in water softened with Mel'o—save ⅓ to ½ the usual amount of soap

CLOTHES washed in hard water are hard to get clean. The hardness in the water combines with the soap and makes scum. The scum collects dirt. It gets into the fabric of the clothes. No amount of rinsing can get it all out.

But soften hard water with Mel'o and there isn't any scum. The water makes wonderful suds. Mel'o saves from ⅓ to ½ the amount of soap ordinarily used. With or without soap, water softened with Mel'o is a wonderful cleaner. Get it at your grocer's.

Dreiser Administers Slap To Sinclair Lewis

with polite furtiveness. Arms began to gesticulate from the depths of the chairs; blazing words finally were shouted out by Lewis; they rose; Dreiser slapped Lewis heartily and with an echoing "smack," or, in the more powerful comic section term, "Pow."

Lewis seemed almost to turn the other cheek. Dreiser slapped again.

Lewis, much younger than Dreiser, athletic looking though slim in contrast to Dreiser's bulk, stood quietly while the little audience came up. And that was the end of the great literary sensation.

But the talk went on, and finally reached the papers late today.

It developed there also was a minor, blowless argument between Dreiser and Heywood Broun, a leading newspaper columnist. Broun thought Socialism was pretty good in some ways; Dreiser was all for Communism, and said so with his usual positiveness. Pretty hard words were said on both sides, but about Socialism and Communism, not about each other.

The dinner was a purely private one, given by Ray Long, magazine publisher, for Boris Pilnyak, eminent Russian novelist, and Eugene Lyons, manager of the Moscow bureau of the United Press, upon the occasion of their arrival in this country.

Guests included Arthur Brisbane, newspaper publisher; Burton Rascoe, editor; Rupert Hughes, novelist; Laurence Stallings, playwright, and Irvin S. Cobb, humorist.

Most of them had forgotten, though all of them knew about, the old enmity between Dreiser and Lewis. Lewis' wife is Dorothy Thompson, former European newspaper correspondent. She went to Moscow and wrote about the country, as have so many others. So did Dreiser. Their writings showed, in one portion, textual similarity that led both to accuse the other of plagarism.

Incidentally, gossip at the time was that a Moscow newspaper man had aided both with their "stuff," and inadvertently had given the identical aid to both.

After the war he took an active part in reorganizing the country's political complexion. He became foreign minister in the Bauer regime. The cabinet fell in March, 1920, and Mueller became chancellor until the following June, when the Catholic central party formed a coalition cabinet, following elections.

Mueller resumed active leadership of his party and in June, 1928, was called to form the "big coalition" ministry as chancellor. The coalition government fell last year and Mueller was succeeded by Chancellor Heinrich Bruening.

Born in Mannheum, Germany, in 1866, Mueller had a varied and thrilling career. At 23 he was editor of the Socialist newspaper, Gerlitzer Volkszeitung and continued in that capacity for seven years. In 1906, he became a member of the directing board of the German Socialist party, a position he held until death.

Federal Loans Now Available For Purchase of Farming Necessities

County Agent Gives Methods of Securing Funds for Food, Clothing, Wages and Repair of Machinery

Plans for obtaining federal loans for agricultural rehabilitation for Wichita county farmers were completed at a meeting of the county committee held Friday noon, according to G. C. McGown, county farm agent.

A total of $10,000,000 has been set aside by the government Mr. McGown said, for the purpose of enabling drouth-stricken farmers to provide themselves and their families with food and clothing, and to pay for machinery repairs incident to crop production in 1931.

Plans as worked out by the committee Friday were outlined by Mr. McGown as follows:

April 30 Last Date to Apply

"Any farmer who already has made a loan, or application for a loan, for the purchase of feed, seed and fuels, may borrow additional money to buy food, clothing, pay farm hands' wages and pay for needed repairs to farm machinery.

"Applications for such loans must be made not later than April 30. All applications from Wichita county will be made at the county farm agent's office in the courthouse at Wichita Falls. Forms are now on hand, and the taking of applications will begin next Monday morning. The amount available to each applicant will be based upon the number of persons in the family. Loans for food will be made for a period of only three months.

"Any farmer who is living on a farm is eligible to make a loan for the purchase of food, providing he can not get such funds elsewhere. He must give a first lien on his crops now growing, or to be grown this year, to secure payment of such loans. If a tenant farmer, he must also secure a waiver from the land owner, as he did when qualifying for feed and seed loans, giving the government's lien right of way. If any prior mortgage or lien has been given on such 1931 crops, it also must be waived in deference to the prospective food loan.

Decision Within Week

"Any one not living on a farm is ineligible to receive the loans now being provided. Farmers living in this county who have not previously made feed and seed loans, may make application for such crop loans now at the county agent's office. If forms are properly made out, checks on approved applications will be available within a week, since they issue from the Fort Worth office. About 48 checks have already been delivered in this county out of about 100 applications. The majority of those still outstanding are delayed by the fact that they were returned by the St. Louis office for correction, or for additional information. All such amended applications now have been returned to the federal branch office and checks are expected daily."

Food and clothing loans now offered the farmers of Wichita county, according to Mr. McGown's statement, are available to farmers in the several drouth stricken states for which federal aid was provided in the action of congress.

COURT TERM ENDS

Trial of jury cases for the present month was completed in the 78th district court Friday, according to Judge W. W. Cook and jurymen who have served during the past two weeks were discharged. No more jury cases will be called for trial in Judge Cook's court until the second week in April, he said.

Childish Theft To Bring Aid To Electra Family

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, March 20.—When a 12-year-old Electra girl, clad in dingy overalls, slipped a pair of silk step-ins from the L. C. Burrs store under her belt Friday afternoon she started more than trouble.

She started an investigation of conditions in her home that will lead to the providing of clothing and food to a needy family. The child has been unable to attend school because the dingy overalls are her entire wardrobe, relief agencies discovered.

The childish shop-lifter fled down an alley after she took the dainty underwear but she was stopped by a pursuing clerk and the article was recovered.

The case will probably be put into the hands of the juvenile officer, store officials said.

NOW and ... THEN

Russia's Foolishness
It Bans the Bible
Roung Wife, Old Husband
A Murder Results

By EMILE GAUVREAU

From Russia, supposedly struggling for freedom of the masses, come many ideas more intolerant and fanatic than may be found in the capitalistic world. The latest Russian idea is the ban on Bibles, the importation of which is penalized heavily, according to a report from the foreign Bible society of London.

The Bible is described by the Soviet as "anti-Socialistic and antagonistic to Soviet ideas." Paradoxically enough, the Bible has been condemned by other people at various times for the very reverse. Some people seem to refer to Christ as socialistic. For His teachings he was harassed, called a heretic and a revolutionary, and crucified as a dangerous radical by the Romans.

True, the New Testament is not all of the Bible. But personages, events and stories in the Old Testament are quite as eloquent of fraternizing gospels, the communality of earthly goods, equality before the law, justice, peace and personal liberties.

The Bible is not the only book banned by the foolish Russians. Even Tolstoi, the crown jewel of Russia's authors and thinkers, is under the same ban interdiction because of his "reactionism." Hereafter a person in Moscow who decides to read "Resurrections" or "War and Peace" will have to take a train for Poland or Lithuania.

There is no surer gauge to the mind of a nation than its censorship, and the things it censors. The mind of Russia is in a confused state. France went through the same jungle for some years after its revolution. Russia is in a bad way indeed, to judge from the works it is afraid to permit its people to read.

Mrs. Fred G. Nixon-Nirdlinger, 26, shoots her husband, aged 62, in their apartment on the Promenade des Anglais at Nice, France, after a quarrel. The death of the Philadelphia theater magnate causes no repentant tears in the wife when she looks upon the deed she had committed "in self-defense."

Mrs. Nirdlinger is the former Charlotte Nash of St. Louis, whose physical pulchritude, valued in an Atlantic City beauty contest at $100,000, lured the Philadelphia theater operator to woo and wed her, back in 1923. The result of the union is two children, the death of the father, and the imprisonment of the mother. Money, pleasures, travel could not bring happiness, evidently, to this misalliance.

Since experiment is very costly, and a little clear thinking or vision may accomplish the same result with no waste at all, it seems logical that thinkers, rather than experimenters, be given the right of way in the legislatures of our country. But what is most logical is the very thing most abhorred by our public servants.

A case in point is the New York divorce law, which has only one ground for divorce—adultery. Because of this stricture, hundreds of people have migrated to other states or other countries, established residences abroad and committed perjury.

At last the Chinese wall seems to be broken. A bill to "add five years of desertion as a ground for divorce" is approved at Albany, the assembly codes committee reporting favorably on the measure.

Marriage, if it isn't a happy institution, becames easily the most enslaving. If entering the union is an act of free will, dissolving it should imply the same option. That ought to be as plain as a pike staff. But there are none so blind as those that will not see.

Beauty or Industry

EARLY as the season still is, the matter of summer automobile touring is already beginning to occupy people's minds. Those who are going to go touring are beginning to day-dream about the places that they will visit, and to wonder if they will be able, by good luck, to afford new cars in which to do the visiting; and towns that are on the tourist routes are likewise beginning to figure out new ways for attracting more visitors than they had the summer before, to their greater profit and glorification.

In this latter connection, there is a remark in Charles J. Finger's recent book, "Adventure Under Sapphire Skies," that is very much to the point. Every town in America that hopes to attract tourists ought to heed it, and it is worth reprinting here.

Mr. Finger remarks that every town has its "boosters' club" that tries to attract the visitor; and he continues:

"But how do they set about attracting him? By making pictures of the beautiful places near their town? By seeing to it that natural beauties are undisfigured? Not a bit of it.

"In nine cases out of 10 they will tell you about the factories and the banks and the churches and the good water and the schools in their community. Now to do that is every bit as silly as if a business house should advertise that it had safes and cash registers and typewriters and ledgers. Such things are necessities and rightly taken for granted. So are schools and good water and banks necessities, and it should be taken for granted that every community has them.

"But what the towns might do is see that no local high board advertisements disfigure the landscape. They should search out their beauty spots and clear ways to them. They should look to the beautification of their town, so that travelers might wish to stay there, as the city of Leamington in England has beautified its streets and made them gay with flowers and potted plants.

"To put matters in a nutshell, the active-minded people who would do the right thing by their town should give some consideration to the tourist's point of view. But that they do not do.

"Neither we, nor you who read, were ever, or are ever, likely to visit a town because it has an overfall factory in full blast, or because there is a coal dealer and a paint and wall paper merchant in it, no matter how much of a citizen of credits and renown the advertiser might be."

Would that civic boosters might ponder deeply over this advice! It would make automobile touring in the United States infinitely more enjoyable.

The Minimum Wage Bill

THE establishment of minimum wages for women and minors is before the Texas legislature.

The bill seeks to create a wage commission which will have authority to examine the books and records of corporations and firms employing women and minors, to summon witnesses and take testimony, to conduct investigations to determine living costs and to determine a minimum wage for such employes.

The bill may be admirable in purpose but it is another of those measures which very often defeat their own purpose and instead of helping the status of those so employed would have the effect of depriving them of employment and subjecting employers to exactions and annoyances tending more and more to make business and industry something of wooden rules and laws, instead of something that is individual and flexible and in which intelligence and judgment can find play.

The first effect of a minimum wage law would be to make the minimum wage where established the wage—the highest as well as the lowest—paid all employes in such place and line of business. The law contemplates that certain employes may be excepted from the rule but that it would be almost impossible to provide for such exceptions without so much red tape that employers are likely not to attempt to carry them through and thus many would be deprived of employment by the law.

In a period of changing conditions the bill would load employers with unbending and unchanging rules and exactions and would tend to fasten standardization upon employes as well as upon employers in a time that calls for flexibility and intelligence if business is to survive and improve and workers to have employment and the expectation of better wages.

What! Square Pies?

MANUFACTURERS of round pie tins are worried. Not long ago a little Scotch lassie, working in a Philadelphia bakeshop, hit upon the idea of baking pies in square pans. And the idea is catching on in that city.

Bakers, of course, will be heartily in sympathy with the quadrilateral pie. By using square tins instead of the round ones, they can take full advantage of oven area. The spaces which occur when round tins are placed side by side are eliminated, and thus no heat is gone to waste. It's rather a simple means of reducing operating expenses, when you think of it.

But somehow we still prefer the old-fashioned circular. For one thing, they have more pleasing geometric design, if you go in for that sort of thing. And they have the advantage of having an indisputable point for attack. The new model, too, is likely to have more crust than filling. So how are you going to vote on the question?

Big Business Girl . . By One of Them

Synopsis of Preceding Installments

Claire MacIntyre, known as "Mac," a beautiful and ambitious girl, determines upon a business career in Chicago when she is graduated from state university. She is in love with Johnny Goodman, handsome, talented as a musician, but undependable. Johnny heads a little band of Collegians for a summer engagement in Paris. Mac, against his protests, goes to Chicago, determined to embark on a business career. She has had some experience in the cleaning and dyeing business at college. Mac learns that this business is threatened by racketeers in Chicago. She finds work in the office of the Clayton company, cleaners and dyers. Her big chance in the office comes when she volunteers to go to bunch with a racketeer, Green, who has written a covertly threatening letter to Clayton. Green, charmed with Mac, agrees to have his racketeers "lay off" the Clayton establishment for a month. Clayton, delighted with Mac's achievement invites her to a party at his home. Other gangsters, rivals of Green's racketeers, destroy one of the Clayton delivery trucks and seriously injures the driver. Johnny Goodman arrives and he and Claire have a rapturous meeting. Then Johnny reproaches her for having a business engagement on the night of his arrival.

INSTALLMENT XII

She released herself but clung to his hand. "Come along."

She pulled him into the great living room, its high ceilings and soft draperies giving a kind of false twilight in the middle of the afternoon.

"Nobody is here this afternoon, Johnny. Isn't that cozy?"

"I'll say."

They both felt intimacy enveloping them with a delightful rush. They sat down together on the divan.

"Remember how we had to dodge people at school?" he asked. "Seemed like we never could be alone."

She nodded with a swift intake of breath.

On that mouse colored divan with the great velour flowers, they sat with their arms tight about each other.

"Johnny," she repeated his name softly, like a caress. "My dear!"

"It's so good to see you."

"I've worked like a fool this summer."

"I know you have."

"Did you work hard?"

He laughed, so that his white teeth shone in his dark face. "Well, those Frenchmen never did want to quit dancing. I guess it was hard work—I don't know. We surely got grand tips."

"I'll bet you did."

"The manager gave the boys an extra bonus when we sailed, and he took care of me, too."

"How much did you save?"

He laughed again. "You would ask that. Not very much, Mac. I bought a lot of clothes in London. You know, I never did have all the clothes I wanted—or the right kind."

"You should have been more saving."

"Oh," he cried, kissing her protests down, "I love you so. Don't scold me, honey, when I've just come back. I love you so!" He whispered it over and over into her ear.

"And I love you so," she replied. "I'll never let you go so far away again."

There was the fullness of silence between them. They were both trembling a little.

"Love me, Johnny," she murmured.

After awhile she said softly, "How do you feel about going back to school?"

"I don't want to, at all."

"You don't?"

"No."

She was silent. One of the things they had continually disagreed over was this. Johnny should have graduated with her—if he had only buckled down to work.

"I really don't, Mac. I can't see another year of it."

"You promised," she reminded him, but she wasn't accusing.

"Sure, but I just cant, honey."

"I know," she said heavily. "I know. I think you're making a mistake, though. It would do you a lot of good to do more things you didn't like to do. But if you feel that way about it—" Her voice tapered off.

"I do." He thought he had won. "So you're all fired up over your band?"

"I think they're a great bunch of guys," he explained, "and I want to get across like nothing human out there at the Villa Carlotta tonight."

"But—"

"But I don't think I want to get a job in a hotel or night club, plunking away night after night. It gets you down, do you know it?"

"Why, Johnny, what do you want to do?"

He was afraid of her eyes.

"I sort of thought it might be a good idea to drop down to Los Angeles to see what the talkies have done to the place. If it looks right, I could get some men together and work in a picture or two."

"You must be crazy."

"I am crazy—to see L. A. again, and those cool old nights and the zip of the place."

"You shouldn't like it so."

"You've never been out there," he reminded her.

But she knew him. Knew that golf clubs, saddles and high powered cars were made for him. He was built for play, was Johnny. Just a glorious playmate. Somebody would do the worrying. Somebody would always have to do that. He was John Goodman, take him or leave him.

A clock near them chimed softly. He straightened up, examined his wrist-watch. "It's late, Mac. Terribly late. I've got to go. Where do I call for a cab?"

She came to life. "I hate to have you go this way."

"Blame yourself," he said bitterly. "Business again. That's all it ever is."

The sharpness of his tone annoyed her. "I'm going to get your cab," she said. "You mustn't be any later than you are now."

He followed her into the little telephone booth under the stairs. There was a slight confusion over the address. He stood with the door knob in his hands, a frown on his face, looking at the back of her neck and wondering what to say next.

She emerged after a moment. "I wish I were going out with you."

"Why don't you?" he said shortly. "Cut this dinner."

"I couldn't possibly do that."

"Yes, you could."

"No. It's business."

"Business!" he cried hoarsely, his voice absurdly like a villain's in a melodrama. "Don't say that word!"

She sat down, to steady herself. "I don't want you ever to say that word to me again!"

There was a dangerous pause.

"Ever is a long time," she said quietly.

Their conversation staggered after that. It seemed ages before his cab came. They said things to each other, polite things, afraid of each other's emotions.

"Well, the man is here," he waved his hat foolishly at the driver who stood in the door calmly surveying them.

"So I see," she said dryly.

"Everything's all right, isn't it?"

She lifted her head and, looked at him gravely. "Yes," she said, and they both knew it was a lie.

He touched her lips lightly. They were a thin line, unresponsive. "I'll call you tomorrow morning," he reminded her.

"Do." He was already down the steps. "And "good luck for tonight."

With a wave he was gone.

She closed the door and sank down on the first step in the hall. She didn't cry easily, but she wanted to cry now. Her emotions had worn her out.

Just a moment ago she had held the moon in her hands. Now that he was gone, she realized suddenly with a wave of misery, all that he had for her was a fascination which was a horrible burden upon her. When he put his arms about her she felt trapped . . . but then she didn't ever want to get away from that trap.

She was strong now. She had her business career that would take her time and her interest and her enthusiasm. She could afford to be hard. But what would it be without him, after a few years when life began to wear thin and accomplishment had lost its importance?

Perhaps it was that air of the perpetual undergraduate about him which she resented. And the fact that he was lazy, steeped in natural talent. She thought of his terrible facility as a curse.

She hated him for his power over her. One of them would have to give in—but it wasn't going to be Claire MacIntyre.

The only way to be free of him was to find another man.

He was not going to spoil it for her—not on her life! She would have fun. It seemed more important now than it had before.

She would flirt with every man she saw. She would get R. J. tonight. She would flirt, but she would not break the rules of flirting by falling in love.

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The answers to questions printed here each day are specimens picked from the mass of inquiries handled by our great information bureau maintained in Washington, D. C. This valuable service is for the free use of the public. Ask any question of fact you may want to know and you will get an immediate reply. Write plainly, enclose two cents in coin or stamps for return postage, and address the Record News Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q.—Are people in automobiles likely to be struck by lightning?—E. L. S.

A.—The bureau of standards says that the fact that automobiles are supported on rubber tires would probably have no appreciable effect on the probability of the automobiles being struck by lightning. Likewise, the wetting of the automobiles by rain would probably produce no appreciable effect. The inclosure effected by the automobiles would probably afford some degree of protection to persons within. Persons within a conducting inclosure are safe against lightning. The automobile body, although the inclosure is in a large measure effected by glass, approaches this condition.

Q.—What weapons were used in the battle of Chalons?—A. W. P.

A.—It was fought near Chalons-Sur-Marne, France, in 451 A. D. The weapons used were swords, stone-headed axes, Javelins and arrows. The attacking army first used arrows, next spears, and finally engaged in hand-to-hand combat with the enemy.

Q.—Since we have a dial telephone, the noise made by dialing is picked up by our radio. Can this be stopped?—M. M.

A.—Such interference is prevented by a small condenser, easily installed in the base of the phone by changing a wire connection and removing a few screws.

Q.—What is the Society of Cincinnati and what was George Washington's connection with it?—D. O.

A.—The society is an hereditary patriotic society organized in 1783 by the American and foreign officers of the Continental army assembled in their cantonment on the Hudson river near Fishkill, N. Y. The original meeting was held in the Verplanck house, then the headquarters of Baron Steuben. The objects of the society were: "To perpetuate as well the remembrance of the revolution as the mutual friendships which have been formed under the pressure of common danger. . . ." Since most of the officers were returning to their farms which they had left to fight for the republic, they named their organization the Society of the Cincinnati after their Roman prototype, Lucius Quinctius Cincinnatus. George Washington was the first president-general. He was elected in 1787 and re-elected until his death. Presidents-general succeeding him have been Alexander Hamilton, C. Cotesworth Pickney, Thomas Pickney, Aaron Ogden, Morgan Lewis, William Popham, H. A. S. Dearborn, Hamilton Fish, William Wayne and Winslow Warren. The state societies meet annually and the general society meets once in every three years. The living hereditary members number 980. The emblem symbolizes the union of France and America.

Q.—Why are flags flown on Mother's day?—S. B.

A.—In 1914, Hon. J. Thomas Heflin, at the request of the founder of Mother's day, Miss Anna Jarvis, introduced the joint resolution which was agreed to whereby the president should designate by annual proclamation the display of the American flag on all government buildings, homes and other suitable places. The United States is the first nation in the world to give such a national, patriotic honor and tribute to the mothers of the nation.

Q.—Who determines the size, shape and color of postage stamps?—D. K.

A.—Postage stamps are designed by the bureau of engraving and printing, subject to the approval of the postmaster general.

Q.—Why was John Trumbull imprisoned in London?—A. C. S.

A.—After serving in the revolution Trumbull went to London. Arrested there, he announced that he had been on the staff of General Washington. This occasioned his being confined in the tower of London for about eight months. The artist's life was saved by a direct appeal to the king made by Benjamin West with whom the artist had studied.

Q.—What state has the greatest number of clear days in the year?—W. H.

A.—Arizona has the greatest number. The rainfall varies from 20 inches per annum in the mountains in the northern part of the state to less than five inches in the Gila valley.

The Record News Offers A Booklet on Fish And Seafoods

Twenty billion pounds of fish are taken from the sea every year and many more millions of pounds from rivers, creeks, lakes and ponds. The annual take for the United States and Alaska is estimated at three billion pounds, so it is seen that this country has proportionately its full share of this delicious and healthful food supply. However, more Americans would eat more fish if they knew more about the food, and to this end The Record News is offering its readers a 24-page illustrated booklet that contains a wealth of information.

A copy of this booklet will be sent to any address. Fill out the coupon below and enclose 10 cents in coin or stamps to cover cost and postage.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper

(Copyright, 1931, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Chew Your Starches Well

One of the common dietetic evils is eating too hastily. Among doctors this is called tachyphagia or hasty eating. One swallowing food too quickly cannot thoroughly chew it, and carbohydrate foods especially will enter the stomach with only a slight alteration, so that fermentation and autointoxication may result.

Everyone should know that one of the principal digestive fluids for starch is ptyalin, formed in the salivary glands. This secretion has the power of changing starch into a form of sugar. Only about five per cent of the entire starch-digestion takes place in the mouth, but this is the most important part of the digestion, which is equal in some ways to the other 95 per cent which takes place in the small intestines. If the starch is properly mixed with the saliva it is changed just enough so that when the starch passes through the stomach it is not harmed by the acid gastric juice.

A few years ago health teachers from all over the world started teaching people to masticate food more thoroughly. Horace Fletcher taught the necessity for masticating food well and his name has gone down in history as the foremost exponent of the art of chewing. The word "Fletcherize" is now found in all standard dictionaries.

There is no doubt that some people carry this food mastication to extremes as much as chewing everything for 30 or more times before swallowing it. Doctors call this slow eating bradyphagia. Prolonged mastication may be overdone and create in a person's mind the fear that something dreadful will happen unless the food is masticated very thoroughly. Once the enchantment and pleasure of eating has been lost, as sometimes happens in these cases, the whole digestion is interfered with.

Experiments have proven that it is not necessary to chew meats and protein foods as thoroughly as is required for the starches. In fact, it seems beneficial for some people to swallow meat in very large particles. This is especially true in those who tend to be hypochrondiac as they tend to watch their eating and symptoms too closely. There is not much danger of chewing raw foods or meats too little, as one cannot swallow them if the particles are too large. However, there is a danger of not chewing the cooked starches enough. They are soft and readily swallowed. You will note that when you chew a piece of bread or potato for a long time it develops a finer flavor due to changing the starch into a form of sugar.

No digestion of meat or non-starchy vegetables takes place in the mouth, however, and the gastric juice of the stomach can penetrate through small particles of meat without difficulty.

One should not try to hurry through a meal in five minutes and then spend hours complaining about the indigestion thus produced. On the other hand, there is no necessity of carrying "Fletcherizing" to the extreme of taking an hour or more at a meal. If you make it a point to chew the starches well and avoid the starchy gruels and soups, which are so readily swallowed without chewing, your instinct will then be a safe guide.

One should always make it a practice of using some foods which give the teeth exercise at each meal, such as melba toast at breakfast and the raw green vegetables at other meals.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Spinal Lesions

Question—J. H. asks: "Do spinal lesions have to be corrected before the body can heal itself, or will correct diet cure them?"

Answer—It is sometimes necessary to mechanically adjust the body by the use of the hands. Spinal treatments given in connection with special exercises for the spine are often essential in correcting a faulty shaped spine where the vertebrae are out of proper alignment. A correct diet will help only by giving the body the right kind of food out of which the patient can build strong bones and muscles.

Milk

Question—R. D. S. asks: "Does everyone need a quart or pint of milk per day, especially tuberculars?"

Answer—I do not recommend a quart of milk a day for everyone, and usually not at all in tuberculosis. In tubercular cases I believe it is better for the patient to get calcium and other minerals from the non-starchy vegetables in place of from milk, which also contains a large quantity of butter fat and milk sugar.

Sleepy Fingers

Question—B. M. asks: "What makes fingers feel numb or in other words, 'go to sleep?'"

Answer—If the fingers of both hands become numb frequently it is due to faulty circulation, which is often the result of some heart derangement. If only the fingers of one hand are affected it may be due to an interference with the nerve supply going to that arm. This could be caused by a pinching of the nerves issuing from certain upper spinal vertebrae.

TEXAN PLAYS BOROTRA TODAY FOR INDOOR SINGLES TITLE

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

The Browns apparently have decided the Spudders need only one brother of a major league phenom in their ranks, and so, according to The Sporting News, Marvin Ferrell, brother of Pitcher Wesley of Cleveland and Catcher Rick of the Browns, has been sent to the Malwaukee Brewers.

Several weeks ago wire reports from St. Louis said the Browns had signed the young pitcher with the intention of farming him out to the Wichita Falls club.

The Sporting News continues: Marvin had joined the Browns in their training camp at West Palm Beach, Fla., in the hope of playing with Brother Rick, but it was decided he needed more seasoning, although the youngest of the Ferrells showed enough to warrant the belief he will return to the Browns to give St. Louis its first brother battery since M. J. and Jack O'Neill performed with the Cardinals a couple of decades ago.

Shay Gray, brother of Sam Gray of the St. Louis Browns' pitching staff, is a candidate for a pitching job with the Spudders this year. Marvin Ferrell's transfer to the Brewers leaves Gray the only blood link between the Spuds and the big show.

What They're Hitting

Many fans wonder what the former Spudders are hitting with the Browns in the exhibition games. Again going to The Sporting News for our information, we can give their averages for at least two of the games, those of last Saturday and Sunday with Columbus of the American association.

In Saturday's game, Levy, up four times, failed to hit but scored a run. Burns was up four times and got a single. Storti, up five times, got a single. Tom Jenkins, up four times, hit a double. Crouch was up once and failed to hit. Incidentally, Pressnell, Spudder who is training with the Browns, pitched three innings of that game, and allowed only one hit. Columbus won it, 7 to 3.

The Browns won the next day, 8 to 4. Levey got two hits in four times up, stole two bases, and scored two runs. Burns had a perfect day at bat, getting three hits, one of them a double, in three trips to the plate, and scored three runs. Jenkins got a single in four trips. Storti was up once and failed to hit.

R. W. Parrish and Chick Holden, football stars on the 1930 Coyote team, are just two of Coach J. N. Hall's leading track candidates this —, and followers claim that if Wichita Falls high ever did have a chance at the district title, it has that chance this year. Parrish and Holden are heaving the shot, among other things. The other day Parrish whipped it 39 feet and Holden 35.

One of the outstanding all-round athletes of Wichita Falls high, who one of these days is going to do big things for some American college, is the boy prodigy, Rufus King, who won the grand national trapshoot championship last year up east.

King is more than a rifle expert. He is an accomplished tennis player, and was singles champion of the high school last year. He will be defending that title next week in the school tournament. Also he is a golfer, and plays regularly. He was a member of the Basketeers, local independent basket ball team here during the past season, and also plays baseball.

J. G. Dixon, John White and Isadore Wolfson and several other young fellows in town remember their baseball team of two years ago, the Alley Rats. King played third base with the Rats, and the nine won the city boys' title and earned entrance to a tournament at Fort Worth. They "hitch-hiked" to Fort Worth and lost to the boys' nine of that city, 11 to 10, in 10 innings.

Trapshooter, tennis player, golfer, basket ball player and baseball player. Some activity for a lad of 14!

In addition to refreshing their minds on some baseball problems, the Spudders today and tomorrow will have a chance to get acquainted with one of baseball's most colorful umpires, John King, the East Texas oil magnate. Prexy Gardner announced King would officiate at both of the games in Dallas.

An interesting tale of King's eccentricities in his earlier days is told by Tom Truly, of this newspaper's staff who hails from Ballinger. Ballinger was in the old West Texas league and King was that team's center fielder years ago.

He was some wild-haired center fielder, according to Truly. He not only patrolled the center garden, but occasionally would slip in behind second and put a runner out. But here's the story:

One day, with a runner on second, King glided up behind the sack expecting the pitcher to whirl and toss him the ball, but the pitcher, this time, didn't know King was back there and he pitched the ball to the batter. That was just too bad, for the man at bat socked a long one to center, and it went for a home run inside the park, for before King could get back into his field the runner had circled the bases.

Wichita Methodists Win In Fort Worth Tourney

FORT WORTH, March 20. (AP)—The Dallas Athletic club and the Texas Chiropractic college of San Antonio became the favorites in the annual men's tournament of the Texas amateur athletic federation as eight teams came through the first round of play here.

The other teams to survive the first round were: First Methodist of Wichita Falls by defeating the Morning Glory Creamery of Houston, 22 to 20; Harlingen Methodist by beating First National bank of Fort Worth, 45 to 23; First Methodists of Corpus Christi by downing Nu Iey of Austin, 31 to 28; Anderson's Tin Shop of Cleburne by winning from Goree All-Stars, 35 to 23; Tivoli Theater of Fort Worth by winning from the McAllen Monitors, 36 to 20; Public Service company of San Antonio, winning from Pete's Place of Austin, 40 to 26.

FRENCH PAIR WINS DOUBLES

Berkeley Bell Wins In Singles Semi-Finals

By FOSTER HALEY

NEW YORK, March 20. (AP)—Jean Borotra and Christian Boussus of France won the American indoor tennis doubles championship today, defeating the Franco-American combination of Pierre Landry of Paris and Cliff Sutter of New Orleans, the American intercollegiate champion, in a four set final match.

The victory of Borotra and Boussus ended an afternoon of play in the American indoor championships which saw Berkeley Bell, Dallas, Texas, conquer Frank X. Shields of New York, the American favorite, in the semi-finals of the singles play. Bell will meet Borotra in the finals tomorrow.

The doubles match resolved itself into a duel between Sutter and Borotra, with Boussus, ranked third behind Henri Cochet and Borotra in French tennis, and Landry, France's seventh ranking player, merely added attractions in a two-man show.

The scores were 7-5, 6-4, 5-7, and 6-4.

The singles match was a ding-dong match from the start, the third game being deuced seven times before the broad shouldered Shields, towering over Bell, like Big Bill Tilden did over Little Bill Johnson, finally broke through to win it.

Bell could not seem to keep his feet on the hard boards of the big brick armory and made several returns while sitting on the floor or skidding across it on his hands and knees. In one of these baseball slides, in the 18th game of the third set, Bell hurt his foot and had to take time out for a few minutes while he removed the shoe and massaged his aching instep.

Golfers Tie In Miami Tourney

LA GORCE GOLF COURSE, Miami Beach, Fla., March 20. (AP)—Gene Sarazen staged a last minute spurt today to go into a tie with Joe Turnesa, Elmswood, N. Y., at 139 at the 36th hole of the $15,000 La Gorce 72-hole open golf tournament.

The leaders were three strokes under par for the 36 holes.

Sarazen shot a 35-36—71, square with par, today. The Elmsford pro, swinging ahead of Sarazen by virtue of a sub-pair 34 on the outbound nine, delivered a par 36 coming back to take a 70 for the day.

Turnesa was one stroke behind Gene yesterday.

Joe Kirkwood, New York, followed Sarazen and Turnesa with a 71-70—141. Tommy Armour, Detroit, was next with 142 strokes. A stroke behind Armour as the leading 67 players were accepted for tomorrow's final 36-hole play, were Frank Walsh, Chicago, and Walter Kozak, North Hills, L. I.

The 144 rung of the scoring ladder carries names of three famous threats, Lighthorse Harry Cooper, Chicago; Johnny Farrell, winner of the first La Gorce open in 1928, and Sir Walter Hagen. Craig Wood, Deal, N. J.; Wiffy Cox and Willie MacFarlane, co-winners of this year's international four-ball matches at Miami were tied at 145.

Wild Bill Mehlhorn, defending champion, had a 36-hole card of 146 with Willie Klein, Wheatley Hills, L. I., and Ed Dudley, Wilmington, Del.

Coyotes Ready For Track Meet Today

By BILLY JENKINS

Coach Hall's track squad will open the season by meeting the Electra Tigers in a dual meet Saturday at 1 o'clock on the field behind the Junior college. The Coyotes tracksters will show their ability this afternoon by either beating the Tigers or by taking the small end of the score. The real worth of the Coyote pack has not been determined, but this will be a test of their ability.

In addition to the discovery of Holden and Parrish, the two men who have strengthened the weight-throwing department, Coach Hall has found a star in J. R. Holton. He has proved fairly good in the 440-yard dash, javelin throw, and has already been made a member of the relay team.

Coach Hall announced the members of the relay team that would compete against Electra in Saturday's meet. The athletes named were Ed Campbell, Herman Paul, J. R. Holton, and Earl Harbes. Williamson was anchor man on the relay team, but because he is entering four other events, he will not be able to compete. The wing-footed Williams is already carrying the majority of the load in the dashes and is expected that he will be a big factor in the battle with the Tigers. The Tigers have been district champions for the last few years, but if the dope runs true their reign has ended. The track fans expect not only a drubbing of Electra but a district championship, too, and the majority of people think that we have a championship team this year.

This is one of the strongest teams Coach Hall has put out during his stay in the local high school. Although we expect a victory over the Tigers, you can depend on Coach Presson for a good team, and he is doing his best to upset the slight favoritism for the Coyotes.

Red and black suits were issued to 11 members of the track squad Friday evening. Before Friday the track aspirants have been wearing their gym suits, but yesterday they blossomed out in the Coyote track suit. The suits have white jerseys with a coyote head on the front, and black pants. The athletes to receive suits were James Williamson, Ed Satterwhite, Earl Harbes, Ed Campbell, W. D. Humble, Herman Paul, Luther Noey, Max Raney, J. R. Holton, Ralph Davis, Malcolm Mauldin.

JOHNSON LINGERS

ST. LOUIS, March 20. (AP)—The condition of Ban Johnson was unchanged tonight. The former-American league baseball president has periods of delirium at night, but usually is improved in the morning.

MILT ON WAY

Steengrafe En Route To Camp; Spudders Off To Dallas

Solution of the Spudders' one holdout problem—that concerning Milton Steengrafe—was seen Friday with the announcement from club headquarters that the big right-hander has left his Oakland, Calif., home with Athletic park his destination.

Whether he had finally signed a contract was not announced, but assurance was given that the club expects no difficulty whatever in dealing with big Milt. He is expected to arrive early next week, and start priming immediately for the season's warfare.

Off for their first real contest of the season, Manager W. Carl Williams and a band of 20 Spudders left by bus Friday afternoon for a two-game exhibition series with the Dallas Steers at Dallas Saturday and Sunday.

President William E. Huff left simultaneously for Dallas, and he will be joined there Saturday by Secretary Guy Airey, who left Thursday on a business trip to Abilene.

Continued bad weather prevented the scheduled squad workout Friday morning, and players were at their ease until bus time. Players not included on the trip to Dallas were likewise prevented from a workout Friday afternoon.

IOWA PARK IS FIRST IN MEET

Team Makes 34 1-2 Points In Practice Competition

Special to The Record News.

IOWA PARK, Texas, March 20.—The Iowa Park High school track team walked off with top honors in a practice track meet today participated in by four schools, Iowa Park, Clara, Fairview and Valley View. Cashion did not enter the meet as scheduled. Cold weather and a high wind slowed down the athletes and none were able to show their true worth.

The Iowa Park team rolled up a total of 34½ points to win first place. Valley View was second with 25 points, Fairview third with 21, and Clara last with 17½.

J. C. Cobb of Iowa Park was the school's chief point-getter, the brisk dash man collecting an even dozen points alone. Bryly of Fairview was second high scorer of the day with 11 points.

Longhorn Athletes Ask Removal of Fred Walker

AUSTIN, March 20. (AP)—Dr. W. E. Metzenthin, chairman of the athletic council of the University of Texas, said today he was "inclined to believe" that nothing would come of a petition filed with him bearing the names of 13 Longhorn athletes requesting the removal of Coach Fred Walker.

Dr. Metzenthin said he felt sure there had been no outsiders agitating the petitioners.

He stated the petition was filed with him some time ago and that he had informally read it to the members of the council in meeting last night. He stated he did not believe the council would act on the petition.

'OX' EMERSON IS INELIGIBLE

But Official's Decision Is Subject to Review

AUSTIN, March 20. (AP)—Dr. Daniel A. Penick, president of the Southwest conference, today received a letter from Dr. J. A. McDiarmid of Fort Worth, vice president, holding ineligible Grover "Ox" Emerson, University of Texas football captain-elect.

The mighty lineman from Orange still has a chance to establish his eligibility, as the McDiarmid decision is subject to review by conference officials in their meeting at Fort Worth in May.

Emerson was held ineligible on the grounds that he participated in the Texas-Baylor game at Waco in 1928. Conference rules limit a player to three years of competition.

Dr. McDiarmid said official records showed Emerson played in the Baylor contest and that the evidence submitted by Emerson in his eligibility claim was more open to error than the official records. Emerson sent in statements from several teammates and opponents in the Baylor game to the effect that he did not play in that affair.

The University of Texas faculty committee on athletics decided Emerson's case had sufficient merit for him to protest to conference officials. Dr. Penick declined to rule on the case because of his connection with the university.

Olney High Wins Invitation Meet

Special to The Record News.

OLNEY, Texas, March 20.—The Olney High school today won the first Olney invitation track meet with an impressive total of 77 points, as compared to 29½ polled by Megargel, their closest competitors. Besides the two towns named, Archer City and Newcastle participated. Archer City came third with 24½ points, and Newcastle last with 17.

By virtue of being a member of the winning Olney relay team, which gave him one and one-fourth points, Captain West of Olney ranked as high point man with 15¼ points, being closely pushed by Larkin of Archer City, who got 15 points. The high point man was awarded a gold medal, the second high scorer a bronze medal and the winning team a silver loving cup.

First competition in the Young County Interscholastic league meet will start here Saturday with tennis and playground ball contests scheduled. The meet will be concluded the following week.

Indiana Catholics Advance in Tourney

CHICAGO, March 20. (AP)—Basket ball as played in Indiana dominated today's second round games in the national Catholic high school tournament at Loyola university.

Three Hoosier teams, Catholic High of Washington, the Indiana champ; Central Catholic of Fort Wayne, the state runner-up, and Jasper academy, the most popular team in the tournament, all advanced to the third round, leaving Father Ryan High of Nashville, Tenn., and De La Salle of Minneapolis, as the only survivors of the day's play from other parts of the country.

St. Louis Cardinals

BRADENTON, Fla., March 20. (AP)—Charles "Chick" Hafey, the only unsigned member of the 1931 Cardinals held a conference with Branch Rickey, vice president and chief persuader, this morning, but no agreement was reached on salary terms.

Rickey emerged from the conference gesticulating and perturbed.

Rumors that a deal with the Phillies, with Hafey involved, were circulated, but they appeared to have no foundation in fact. It was said further negotiations with Hafey would await the return of Sam Breadon, owner of the Cardinals, from a fishing trip.

Steers Beat Greenville

GREENVILLE, Texas, March 20. (AP)—Hap Morse and his Dallas baseball club Steers gave Greenville a look at Texas baseball here today by defeating the Greenville Independent club, 7 to 0.

George Murray, veteran right-hander, made his 1931 bow for the Steers and allowed three hits in five innings. The game was called in the seventh inning due to rain. Bryant, on the mound for Greenville, pitched well but was given erratic support.

Dallas Steers

CORSICANA, Texas, March 20. (AP)—One squad of Dallas Steers left early today for Greenville where they will play a Geenville independent team this afternoon. Another squad, under management of Grady Adkins, veteran pitcher, will go through a workout here today and join the other club in Dallas tomorrow for a two-game series against the Wichita Falls Spudders Saturday and Sunday.

Fort Worth Cats

FORT WORTH, March 20. (AP)—Cold weather chased the Panthers into a hot stove league parley this afternoon but isn't likely to interfere with their meeting the St. Paul Saints in the first of a two-game series Saturday afternoon at La Grave field.

Brisk north wind caused Manager Art Phelan to cancel the yannigan's workout this morning and confine the regulars practice to running exercises around the park.

Orr Hits Home Run!

SAN ANTONIO, March 20. (AP)—Delightful to Indian fans was a healthy home run wallop by Outfielder Garland Orr far over the center field fence at Fort Sam Houston park during a scrub game in spring training today.

The rookies were lined up against the regulars with Tom Estell and Roy Walker pitching for the rookies and Bill Hargrove and Stormy Cromy for the regulars, who won the game by a lopsided score, putting five runs across in one inning.

Manager Claude Robertson was back on the field after knocking out a bad cold.

Houston Buffs

HOUSTON, March 20. (AP)—With Ed Holley and Herb Sanders pitching great ball, and George Knot leading the attack with a perfect day at bat, the Kansas City Blues here today turned back the Houston Buffs, 7 to 1.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, March 20. (AP)—Cotton prices were easier today under near month liquidation and more or less local and New Orleans selling prompted by easier Liverpool cables and an absence of more than a moderate amount of buying.

The preliminary final ginning report by the census bureau showing a falling off of 313,000 bales or the equivalent of 500 pounds from the December government crop estimate was apparently discounted and failed to have any noticeable influence on the market. The May position declined to 10.86, a loss of 15 points and closed at 10.90, a net decline of 11 points, while the general market closed steady at 7 to 11 points net lower.

During the day there was apparent disposition to liquidate the new crop positions and there was a good deal of exchanges from May to the later months.

Rains over the Southwest were looked upon as favorable and served to offset further evidences of a decrease in sales of fertilizers and reports that little preparation is being made to counteract insect damage by poisoning.

Futures closed steady, 7 to 11 points lower. Spot quiet; middling 10.90.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, March 20. (AP)—Cotton ruled rather quiet practically all session in the market here today and prices fluctuated narrowly within a range of about 10 points and without definite trend. Cables were lower than due, but the census bureau's report on total ginnings for the season of the 1930 crop was bullish as expected. The total given was 13,753,883 running bales equivalent to 13,929,941 bales of 500 pounds weight. This showed that the final yield in 500 pound bales was 310,000 bales less than the government's December estimate of 14,243,000 bales of 500 pounds weight.

Prices after losing 8 to 9 ponts in early trading later rallied 7 to 8 ponts and thereafter fluctuated narrowly within the early range. Weekly statistics were disappointing and rather bearish. The market turned easy in the late trading on liquidation due to the bearish weekly statistics and made new lows 10 to 12 points under the highs but improved slightly at the end, the general market closing steady showing net declines for the day of 5 to 8 points.

Futures closed steady at net declines of 5 to 8 points:

Market Closes on Uncertain Note After Irregular Fluctuations

—By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, March 20. (US)—The stock market closed irregular today after milling around in uncertain fashion during most of the session. Public Utility shares, which the day before had established a new high, met persistent profit-taking causing this group to close a slight fraction lower on the day, whereas the Railroads and Industrials moved higher.

Price changes among the majority of stocks were within moderate limits, although a few issues enjoyed abrupt advances. Commodities were inclined toward weakness, especially wheat in which market the lowest price since 1895 was reached before a rally ensued.

Silver was fractionally lower. Volume on the stock exchange was substantially below the previous day's total.

United Corporation displayed heaviness and its influence was noticeable throughout the Utility list. United for some weeks has performed as a market leader and continued heaviness or possibly a reaction in price is certain to have continued effect on other members of its group. American & Foreign Power and International Telephone & Telegraph, however, reacted only minor fractions, with profit-taking chiefly responsible for their setback. The short interest in both stocks remains on very substantial size, thereby maintaining a strong technical position which their sponsors undoubtedly will continue to capitalize whenever the general market permits.

Westinghouse Electric was a star performer, rising over four points net on a short squeeze understood to have been engineered by Cutten, the Chicago operator. This stock has probably one of the most extensive short accounts of any listed issue, which provides the basis for repeated run-in of the bears. Fundamentals affecting the stock are unfavorable, but the Chicago interests now active on the bull side are said to be planning further squeeze of the shorts, but such influence usually is only temporary.

Radio was another strong issue, advancing close to its former highest price of the year. Buying was stimulated by the Columbia Graphophone-Gramaphone merger news, although there remained considerable conflict of opinion as to the actual benefits either to stockholders or to Radio Corporation of America, which obtains working control of the combination through the exchange of stock.

General Motors conitnued as the bull leader, attaining the best price of the year on maintained aggressive sponsorship for the pool formed early in the week. Its strength imparted confidence to the remainder of the automobile group, although it became more evident that the buying was of much more speculative character than for several weeks.

Nash reached a new high, and Studebaker approached its former best price of this year. Studebaker has not participated as vigorously in the recent improvement of the group as have some of the leading Motor shares. Chrysler closed unchanged.

Steel Common sold off nearly a point, and American Telephone & Telegraph also was in supply. The latter stock has not performed very encouragingly of late, as if reflecting nervousness over its earnings results for the first half of the year. United Aircraft was in demand on reactions.

Kennecott, in which important long-pull buying takes place on all price setbacks, closed unchanged. American Machine & Foundry was steadily absorbed, buying being attracted by reports the company has secured an important contract from Germany for its cigar-making machines.

Call money, which has been extraordinarily easy for many months, today loaned at 1 per cent, the lowest rate since June, 1915.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 20. (AP)—Lowest prices since 1895 went on record for wheat today. North American wheat exports had apparently come to a dead halt, and British millers announced that hereafter United States federal inspection certificates on wheat purchases would not be accepted. Argentine, Australian and Russian wheat exports increased heavily, and weather and crop reports in the United States and Canada gave promise of further piling up of fresh 1931 surplus supplies.

Buying resistance developed, however, after wheat prices had reached new depths, and the market closed with a rally, but irregular, ⅛@¼ cent lower to ⅛@¼ cent higher than yesterday. Corn finished ⅛c off to ⅛@¼c up, oats unchanged to ⅛c advance, and provisions unchanged to 20 cents down.

Closing indemnities—Wheat: July 62@62⅛c, 62⅛@⅛c Sept. 62@62⅛c, 62⅛@63c. Corn: May 64½@¼c, 64⅝@⅝c; July 66½c, 67⅛c; Sept. 66½c, 67⅛c.

Livestock

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, March 20, (AP)—(USDA)—Increased supplies of hogs at most of the larger markets reflected a weaker trend in values, and 10@25c lower prices were effected. Weighty descriptions met with most favor to big packers and sold to the best advantage. Receipts at the 11 markets totaled 88,200 against 73,651 last Friday.

Trade in fat lambs was very uneven. Some markets along the river reported a good demand at strong to 25c higher prices while some sales at Chicago were slightly under those of Thursday's market. Best wooled lambs brought $9.25 at St. Louis and Chicago for the day's extreme top. Mature classes were relatively scarce and values were unchanged with fat ewes ranging downward from $5.00. Total arrivals around the loop were 59,400 as compared with 41,055 a week ago.

Limited supplies of fed steers and yearlings at all markets held values at generally steady levels. Best fed steers scored $9.60 at Chicago for the top. Some weakness was evident in she stock and steady to 25c lower prices were quoted with best fat cows showing the loss. Bulls and vealers held at mostly steady values. Stocker and feeder steers were unchanged. Offerings totalled 11,800 against 10,656 a week ago.

BOSTON, March 20. (AP)—Strictly combing 48, 50's, fleeces are very active. The movement is quite general and sales are of fairly large volume. Options are being taken on future quantities. DRY GOODS MARKET

NEW YORK, March 20. (AP)—Fair demand for finished cotton goods, percales, shirtings and some household lines continued today. Gray goods markets were quiet with demand scarcer for March and April print cloths and fine goods, but little contracting ahead. Prices were unchanged and steady, with sheetings a shade easier. Rayon yarn demand was fair. Burlaps were slightly firmer on reports of strikes in Calcutta mills. Wool goods markets were quieter. Spot raw silks were weaker in a dull market.

Wichitan Given $7,575 in Verdict In Damage Claim

After about two hours' deliberation, a jury in the 78th district court returned a verdict Friday afternoon before Judge W. W. Cook, awarding H. Y. Elliott $7,575 from the Wichita Falls Traction company in a suit originating from an accident which occurred last July.

According to the plaintiff's petition, he was a passenger on a street car operated by the defendant concern when a trolley wire fell on Lamar avenue near the Kemp Public library. He alleged that as a result of the charged wire striking his elbow, he was permanently disabled. Loss of toenails and the establishment of a constant tingling in arms and hands were alleged by the plaintiff to have resulted from the shock.

Trial of the case opened Thursday morning. At a first trial of the suit, several weeks ago, a hung jury was dismissed.

Two Homes Burn With $4,000 Loss

Fires Friday morning destroyed two homes, one of them vacant, according to J. L. McClure, fire chief, who estimated the total loss at $4,000.

The blaze which destroyed the home owned and occupied by A. E. Miller at 1203 North Sixth street broke out at about 2 o'clock Friday morning. Members of the family were away at the time. Half of the structure, a duplex, was tenanted by Mr. Miller and his family, the other apartment being unoccupied. The loss to house and furnishings was estimated at $2,500.

The vacant house at 2005 Burnett street belonging to Roten Cleveland was destroyed at about 7 o'clock Friday morning. Damage was estimated at $1,500.

Ham Fritters With Bananas

Two cups chopped cooked ham.
One-fourth teaspoonful pepper.
Two eggs.
Two tablespoonfuls milk.
Chopped onion if desired.
Salt if needed.
Three tablespoonfuls bread flour.

Beat eggs, add milk, seasonings and ham, then flour. Drop by spoonfuls into hot fat (395 degrees F., or when a small piece of bread browns in 20 seconds), until brown. Drain on soft paper. Arrange in the center of a platter and surround with bananas fried as follows:

Take six small bananas, peel, dip in lemon juice, roll in dry bread crumbs and fry as directed above until brown. Arrange on platter with fritters and garnish with parsley.

Cheese Eclairs

Two tablespoonfuls butter.
One-fourth cupful boiling water.
One-fourth cupful bread flour.
One egg.
One-fourth cup grated cheese or Chopped ham.

Put butter and boiling water in a sauce pan and place over the fire. When boiling, add flour all at once. Stir and beat vigorously until mixture firms a ball in center of pan. Remove from fire and add the egg, unbeaten, beating until thoroughly mixed. Add the cheese or ham. Shape with pastry bag and small tube or with knife and teaspoon, using one level teaspoonful for each, making eclairs two inches long. Bake at 400 degrees F. for 20 minutes. These eclairs may be placed in the consomme at serving time or passed during the course.

Fish Fillets, Green Olive Sauce

Fish fillets.
Beaten egg.
Finely sifted cracker crumbs.
Two tablespoonfuls butter.
One minced onion.
Three tablespoonfuls flour.
One cupful canned tomato soup.
One-half cupful hot water.
One cupful stoned, chopped green olives.
One teaspoonful chopped parsley.

Dip the fish fillets which have been cut into individual servings in beaten egg and then in finely sifted, seasoned cracker crumbs. Saute until tender. Meanwhile melt the fat in a saucepan, add the minced onion and cook until it is tender. Then add the flour, stir until smooth and next add all the remaining ingredients. When smooth and heated pour over the fish fillets and serve. Serves six.

Chiffonade Salad

Cook two green peppers in boiling water for one minute; cool, and shred. Shred one head of lettuce or romaine, remove pulp from one large grapefruit, and cut three small ripe tomatoes in quarters lengthwise. Arrange in a salad bowl and serve with French dressing.

Pineapple Pie

One can crushed pineapple.
Three-fourths cups sugar.
One-third cup flour.
One-half teaspoon salt.
Two tablespoonfuls lemon juice.
One tablespoon citron.
Two tablespoonfuls red cherries or tiny red grapes.
One tablespoonful sugar.
One-half tablespoonful milk.

Drain sirup from pineapple; there should be seven-eighths of a cup. Water may be added to make up the amount if necessary. Put in a saucepan, bring to boiling point, add sugar, flour and salt mixed together and stir until mixture boils and becomes thick and smooth. Remove from heat, add pineapple and lemon juice, cool and turn into plate lined with pastry. Sprinkle citron, finely chopped, and cherries cut in pieces of grapes, over the mixture, cover with pastry, press edges making a fancy border with the handle of a door key frequently dipped in flour. Brush with one tablespoonful of sugar mixed with one-half tablespoonful of milk, and bake in a hot oven or at 450 degrees F. for 10 to 15 minutes, or until pastry begins to brown. Reduce to 300 degrees F. and finish baking, or about 20 minutes longer.

Chicken Timbales

One-half cupful stale bread crumbs.
One-half cupful milk.
One tablespoonful butter.
One-half cupful chopped chicken (cooked).
One-fourth teaspoonful salt.
Few grains of pepper.

Put bread crumbs and milk in saucepan and stir and cook until it makes a smooth paste. Remove from fire and add remaining ingredients, stirring until thoroughly mixed. Fill greased timbal molds two-thirds full of mixture, set in pan of hot water, cover with greased paper and bake in a moderate oven or at 350 degrees F. until firm. Turn out on individual plates. The mixture may be made up some time before it is to be cooked. Serve with a sauce unless a sauce is served with the vegetable. Serves four. Cooked ham may be used in place of chicken.

Asparagus Tips, Pimiento Sauce

Open can of asparagus tips at the bottom and turn gently into a strainer. Place over a saucepan of boiling water, cover closely and cook until heated through. Place on plates and cover with pimiento sauce.

Pimiento Sauce

Two tablespoonfuls butter.
Two tablespoonfuls flour.
1 cupful milk.
Two tablespoonfuls pimiento.
One-half teaspoonful salt.
Pepper.
Few drops of onion juice.

Melt butter, add flour and when well mixed add milk a little at a time and stir until the sauce boils. Add pimiento cut in small pieces and seasonings. This sauce may be kept hot for an hour or so if covered and placed over hot water. One chopped ripe olive may be added to give the black and red contrast if desired.

Apple Sauce Omelet

Make a foamy omelet with six eggs, six tablespoonfuls water, one-quarter teaspoonful salt and two tablespoonfuls sugar, added before cooking. (Beat the egg yolks, add water, salt and pepper; and fold in the stiffly beaten whites; place 1½ tablespoonfuls butter in an omelet pan and tip it slightly to grease the sides and bottom; pour in the omelet mixture and spread evenly on the surface; cook over low heat until omelet is golden brown on the underside. Place it in a slow oven of 350 degrees F. for five minutes to dry off top). When ready to fold, cover one-half with one cupful hot, sweetened apple sauce. Loosen with a spatula and fold. Cover the top with slightly sweetened whipped cream flavored with vanilla; sprinkle chopped almonds over the top of the cream and serve at once.

Fish

Perhaps in no other single article of food has the housewife in past years encountered more difficulty, real or imaginary, than in the preparation, cooking and serving of fish foods.

In the first place, fish do not have to be served full of bones, as all flat fish may be made boneless for the learning or for the asking. The dealer will gladly attend to this but it may be done in the home if directions are followed: Cut the skin around the edges of both sides with a very sharp small pointed knife; then begin at the upper end and place the skin closely between the knife and the thumb and pressing with the forefinger, tear the skin off. With a large knife, cut away the flesh from the backbone by putting the knife between the backbone and the flesh and pressing toward the left. Two large pieces of solid meat, called fillets, should be the results of this process. Very often it is not necessary to skin the fish, as the skin is tender and aids in holding the flesh together during cooking.

In the second place the markets sell fresh and frozen fish fillets in package form which have been cleaned, boned, skinned and wrapped with the utmost care the day they are caught and packed in new containers, sealed with air-tight covers and placed in sturdy boxes of ice and shipped at once to retail dealers. The processes have been perfected to such a point that the fish retains the juicy texture and flavor of fresh fish. People far inland can now afford to buy fresh fish due to the lower express charges.

Many varieties of fish including cod, haddock, mackerel, smoked haddock, sole, shrimp, clams and scallops are being distributed in this form. These have the advantage of brand name so customers can ask for the guaranteed quality product. The products must be used as soon as fresh fish after purchasing unless they are properly refrigerated in the home. Frozen fillets should be thawed out in cold water before using.

With these new methods of merchandising bringing fine quality of fish into inland towns, it is worth trying one's skill in better and more interesting cooking of this valuable sea food—rich in iodine and vitamin D—plus its face value of furnishing variety in the menu. Such fish products as these, to say nothing of the wide variety of shellfish and canned and picked fish that are now on the market, offer daily suggestions for more interesting meals.

RECIPES

Stuffed Filet of Halibut

Two large halibut steaks.
One cupful cooked rice.
One cupful soft bread crumbs.
One No. 2 can crushed pineapple.
One small onion, minced.
One teaspoonful paprika.
One teaspoonful salt.
One teaspoonful poultry seasonings.
One-fourth teaspoonful pepper.

Combine the rice, bread crumbs, crushed, drained pineapple, onion and seasonings. Spread this dressing on the fish fillets and place in a baking pan. Add the juice from the can to pineapple and bake in a hot oven of 450 degrees Fahrenheit for about 40 minutes or until tender. Serves six or eight.

Fried Fillets With Sauce Tartare

Wipe fish, cut in individual servings, sprinkle with salt, dip in flour, then coat with one egg white beaten with one tablespoonful cold water and lay on a mound of sifted dry bread crumbs. Sprinkle bread crumbs on the top and shake off the superfluous crumbs, put in frying basket until serving time. Heat deep fat to 375 degrees Fahrenheit or until a piece of bread will brown while you count 60. Lower fish slowly into the fat so that it will not boil over, reduce heat and let cook from five to eight minutes or until well browned. Garnish with parsley and lemon and serve sauce tartare separately.

Sauce Tartare

One-half teaspoonful onion.
One olive.
One teaspoonful pickle.
One teaspoonful chopped parsley.
One-third cupful mayonnaise dressing.
One teaspoonful capers.
One tablespoonful tarragon vinegar.

Chop onion, pickle, olive and parsley very fine, add to the mayonnaise dressing with the capers, add vinegar slowly and more salt and cayenne if needed.

Baked Fillets With Tomato Sauce

Wipe fillets, put in a baking dish that can go to the table, cover with one cup canned tomato soup and bake 40 minutes to one hour at 350 degrees Fahrenheit, basting frequently. Sprinkle with chopped parsley and serve in baking dish.

Broiled Fillets of Fish

Wipe or rinse fish, dip in melted butter or oil and salt lightly. Preheat the broiler even 10 minutes. Place the fillets in pairs, one on top of the other, in their original position, on a heat-proof platter. Place the platter on the broiler rack, insert the rack in the broiler oven about two and one-half inches from the heat, and broil the fish until it has lost its glassy appearance, allowing about 10 minutes to the pound. Baste the fish at least once with fat or oil, or twice with a tablespoonful of hot water. When tender, draw the broiler out, salt the fish, garnish the platter and serve. (Fillets have a much finer flavor if broiled in their original form and not turned. One of the greatest mental handicaps to the housekeeper in broiling fish is the difficulty experienced in removing it from the broiler to the platter intact, and the fact that parts of the fish invariably cling to the broiler either through breakage or insufficient greasing—the heat-proof glass platter solves this problem). Spread with maitre d'hotel butter and garnish with thin slices of lemon sprinkled with chopped parsley.

Maitre d'Hotel Butter

Three tablespoonfuls butter.
One-half teaspoonful salt.
Few grains pepper.
Lemon.
One tablespoonful parsley.

Work butter with a small wooden spoon until very creamy, adding salt and pepper. Cut lemon in half and from each half cut two slices. Cut edges in points. From the ends of the lemon squeeze three-fourths tablespoonful juice and add slowly to the butter. Chop parsley, put one-half tablespoonful with the butter and use the remainder to sprinkle lightly on the lemon slices. A bit of red or green pepper cut in bits may be added to the butter. This lemon butter may be chilled, rolled into balls, ganished by rolling in chopped parsley and served on a separate dish, one ball being placed on each serving of fish. This amount serves four.

Baked Fillets Poulette

Cut fillets of fish in individual servings, dip in milk and in sifted dry bread crumbs. Put in baking dish and bake 25 minutes or until crumbs are brown. Place on a serving dish, surround with egg sauce and garnish with hard-cooked egg whites cut in rings, egg yolks rubbed through a strainer, lemon slices cut in fancy shapes and parsley. Make sauce by melting two tablespoonfuls butter, adding two tablespoonfuls flour and stirring until smooth. Then add one-fourth cupful boiling water, one-third teaspoonful salt, few grains of pepper and one teaspoonful lemon juice. Thicken slightly by stirring over the fire. Then add the sauce slowly to one or two egg yolks; return to the saucepan and stir over hot water until slightly thickened.

Court Ruling Upsets Salary of School Head

The salary of the Wichita county school superintendent will apparently revert back to the $2,800 figure set in the general state law under the new supreme court ruling wiping out special local legislation, according to the interpretation of Rep. Bob Long, received in a special dispatch to The Record News Friday.

In 1927 a special law increased the Wichita county superintendent's salary in the discretion of the county school board, to a range of between $2,500 and $3,800, with provisions for expenses. The 1930 United States census put the county out of the jurisdiction of the special law. In Mr. Long's opinion, the supreme court ruling will make it impossible to change the 1927 law so that the county will still be included in its provisions. Under a ruling from the attorney general, the office this year has been operated under the 1927 special law.

PROSPECTS FOR TEXAS BRIGHT

'Lucky to Live Here,' Says Plainview Man

Interspersing with a generous flow of humor his comment on business conditions, the possibilities of Texas and the fortitude of the American people in times of stress, Ray H. Knoohuizen, Plainview business man, told members of the Junior chamber of commerce at its luncheon Friday noon at the Kemp hotel that "we have been going to school" during the business depression. Much has been learned by business during adverse conditions, he said.

In spite of the general downward trend of most securities, the speaker said that many had remained stable. He named life insurance stocks as one from which the bottom did not drop.

Quality of Greatness

Napoleon's greatness, Mr. Knoohuizen said, was not in that he was an executive of power, nor in that he beat a successful retreat from Russia, nor because he was a man of exalted ambition. "It was because he would not be whipped," he said, "and we, the American people, will not be whipped."

The spirit of the salmon that returns to its birth place to lay its eggs after years at sea and the obstacles the fish overcomes to return to quiet waters to render its obligations to its species was also used by Mr. Knoohuizen to illustrate the strength of purpose the people of the United States exert to overcome obstacles.

Declaring that Texas will be the next state to grow and develop, the speaker said that the eyes of the entire nation are on Texas. "We should be glad," he said, "that we are in Texas. We should be glad that we are in West Texas."

Three Ambitions

Mr. Knoohuizen humorously told of the realization of his life's three ambitions, that of taking the lead in a musical show with a background of 40 beautiful chorus girls, of having a train wait for him while he finished a speaking engagement, and of being invited out of his home city to fill a speaking engagement. With his address Friday, he said, his final ambition had been fulfilled.

Gus Hecht was elected as a sergeant-at-arms to officiate during coming luncheons and to collect fines from members who fail to wear their membership buttons, which were provided for the first time Friday. Announcement was made that the organization would give a dance and bridge tournament at the Wichita club Saturday, March 28.

Fifty members of the organization inspected the Wichita Falls Mill and Elevator plant, to open the organization's series of industrial tours.

At the close of the tour Friday officials of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company invited members to visit their plant. The next inspection tour will be made following the semi-monthly luncheon Friday, April 4.

Estelline Stages Free Entertainment

Special to The Record News.

ESTELLINE, Texas, March 20.—The Lions club of this city, cooperating with the other business men, have started a Saturday afternoon entertainment program. The third program will be staged Saturday of this week.

All kinds of athletic events are being fostered including foot races, sack races, fat women's races, nail driving contests for the women, potato races for children, relays for the men. To close each of the programs, chickens and guineas are turned loose with money attached to their feet and the large crowds who are attending have lots of fun chasing the fowls, the lucky person catching them getting to keep both chicken and money.

Substantial prizes are being offered in all events by the business men of the city. Rural schools are being asked to come in and take part in the races. Special prizes are being offered to schools, and much interest is being shown.
