Recovery Is Going Well Says President's Doctor

Rhodesia Apt To Cut Ties With Britain

By RAYMOND E. PALMER

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Ian Smith of Rhodesia said today he believes his nation soon will declare itself independent from Britain—now that negotiations in London have collapsed.

"If we have to get out of our country," he told a news conference, "then we would rather go out fighting than crawling on our knees."

As Smith gave his version of this week's abortive talks in London, Commonwealth Secretary Arthur Bottomley told newsmen in Newcastle:

"I still hope that nothing will be done that will lead to the chaos and disorder that could arise from a unilateral declaration of independence."

A white minority governs Rhodesia. The British maintain that a declaration of independence by the Rhodesian government would amount to treason against the crown. The British also believe such a step could plunge a wide section of Africa into confusion and strife.

Talks between Smith and Prime Minister Harold Wilson collapsed Friday, with Smith insisting that Rhodesia become independent without further delay.

Wilson demanded that independence be held off until the white minority takes steps to ensure eventual rule by the colony's 3.9-million black African majority.

Smith, leader of the 250,000 white Rhodesians, seemed ready to defy Britain and declare independence unilaterally. "There is no alternative," he said in a broadcast beamed to Rhodesia. But some observers said he might avoid any immediate declaration of independence until he returns to Rhodesia and consults his Cabinet.

If Rhodesia breaks away, its Africans are expected to react violently, feeling they have lost their last hope of ever attaining majority rule. Observers also fear a violent reaction against whites elsewhere in Africa.

At the United Nations in New York, the United States warned it would join other nations in "concrete action" to oppose a Rhodesian breakaway. The United States has said it would not recognize a white government that took such a step.

New Zealand took a similar stand and said African leaders could play a key role in preventing an explosion by seeking a reconciliation of all factions in Rhodesia.

There has been talk in the United Nations of organizing a Congo-type international force aimed at installing a new regime in Rhodesia.

British sources said the government has made it clear to Smith it would not oppose U.N. action connected with Rhodesia.

Showdown On Filibuster Is Slated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate held a brief Saturday session to set the stage for Monday's showdown attempt to end the union shop filibuster.

Opponents are trying to talk to death the bill to repeal a portion of the Taft-Hartley Law which permits states to ban union shop contracts which require workers to join unions.

If two-thirds of the senators present Monday vote for cloture the way will be cleared for quick adoption of a preliminary motion to take up the bill. Sponsors of the bill have said they do not have the votes for cloture.

Sen. Russell Long of Louisiana, the assistant Democratic leader, said "There isn't a chance for cloture."

Under a union shop contract, all employes must join the union within a specified period, usually 30 days.

The question of repealing Section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Law, which allows states to prohibit the union shop, has been an emotionally charged one since the act first was passed 18 years ago.

The AFL-CIO long has insisted on repeal. Business groups have just as strongly fought to retain it.

The Democrats pledged repeal last year in their national platform. President Johnson asked Congress to carry out the pledge this year. The House passed the repeal bill July 28.

Texas and 18 other states have bans on union shop contracts.

TOP COMMUNITY BOOTH—Fluvanna's booth took top honors among community exhibits at the Scurry County Fair. The winning booth featured a variety of farm products which were presented in an attractive display.

Rises Early To Ink Bills

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson was up before dawn today and signed into law 10 bills. His family doctor said he couldn't be making a better recovery.

Dr. James Cain, long the President's family doctor, said Johnson is feeling very good, getting along fine and added: "I know of no way he could be doing better than he is."

The physician said the chief executive is a little tired and had a minor headache. But he said this is to be expected with a patient who barely 24 hours before underwent major abdominal surgery.

Cain spoke at a broadcast news conference with White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers, who introduced Cain and Vice Adm. George G. Burkley, the President's White House doctor, and Dr. James Young.

Speaking of the stone in the ureter during the gall bladder operation Cain said, "We knew the stone was there." He said doctors had known about the stone for "a year or so," but the President had not had any trouble with it for some time.

Moyers said Johnson was up at 5 a.m. sitting on his bed shaving and brushing his teeth. At 6 a.m. he took the first of what Cain said were several short strolls. Johnson sat in a rocker for the bill-signing.

Moyers and Cain said the President walked farther in his 6 a.m. stroll than either of those he took Friday. He was helped by a doctor and nurse.

The bill-signing was witnessed [illegible] had been summoned minutes earlier to the third floor presidential suite at the Bethesda Naval Hospital in suburban Maryland.

Soon thereafter, the White House press office released this word from Johnson's longtime family physician:

"Dr. James Cain reports that the President slept well, had a very restful night and is feeling fine."

The President pronounced himself in good shape. His doctors were willing to go along with that assessment. The White House said they were without [illegible] the patient was getting along [illegible] a gall bladder and a stone that started in a kidney and lodged in a duct.

These were removed one at a time by different doctors through the same incision in a 2½-hour operation Friday morning. The physicians said the operation was entirely successful and pretty much routine. They said there was no malignancy.

Johnson did have some pain and discomfort and fatigue. But less than five hours after the operation he was on his feet and taking several steps, with help from his chief surgeon, Dr. George A. Hallenbeck, and a Navy nurse.

This was about 2 p.m. At 6 p.m. he was up again and walking with a little assistance.

During the afternoon, White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers asked the President how he felt.

He quoted Johnson as saying: "Well, I feel all right. I feel some discomfort but I am in good shape."

Moyers said his boss looked as you would expect a man to look who had just had his gall bladder removed — tired.

"But otherwise, I think, fine," Moyers told reporters.

During the afternoon Moyers said the President gave some routine instructions to members of his staff but that there was no need for him to make any important decisions.

Moyers said Johnson would see more staff members today and "I imagine there'll be some bills signed." He said several of them, routine and minor, required action today.

Four Sisters Die In Fire

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Four sisters were fatally burned when trapped in a burning house early Friday in North Harris County.

The mother, Mrs. Charles Rogers, 35, frantically broke the glass doors of a patio in unsuccessful attempts to rescue her screaming children.

Two of the girls, Yvette Lin[illegible], 5, and Loveline, 8, were dead on arrival at a hospital. Their sisters Bridgette, 2, and Suzette, [illegible], succumbed later at a hospital.

Rogers, 35, a city surveyor, was working eight blocks away at a second job in a drive-in grocery when the fire was discovered. Mrs. Rogers awakened to find the house in flames.

Refinery Is Picketed

HOUSTON (AP) — Picketing continued at one Houston refinery Friday night, but a union spokesman was optimistic about the chances of early settlement.

W. J. Forrester, director of District 4 of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International Union, said the Petro-Tex Chemical Corp. refinery here and the Magnolia Refinery at Beaumont were the only plants in the district still struck by the union.

He expected an early agreement in talks with Petro-Tex.

A shutdown of a major segment of the Texas Gulf coast refining industry was averted Thursday night when the union decided against calling a general strike. Negotiations continued for workers at Petro-Tex, Crown Central Petroleum Corp. and the Sinclair Oil Co. Refinery.

Pickets were withdrawn at Crown and Sinclair after agreements Friday. Approximately 250 workers at Petro-Tex are represented by the union.

Bank Helps Women Balance Their Books

POMONA, Calif. (AP) — Who said nobody helps the housewife?

Wilson H. Asdel, president of Inland Bank of Pomona, says any woman having trouble balancing her check book may call the bank and get an appointment with an officer who will help her find the difficulty.

She doesn't have to be an Inland Bank customer, either, Asdel said Friday.

Husbands will be glad to learn that the service is free.

Scurry Fair Closes A Successful Run

The Scurry County Fair was scheduled to close out an ultra-successful three-day run Saturday night in Towle Memorial Park.

Traffic at the fair, which opened Thursday, far exceeded expectations, according to fair association officials and exhibitors, and both the quantity and quality of exhibits were [illegible] above previous [illegible].

Both buildings used for exhibits, the Towle Park Barn and the National Guard Armory, attracted good crowds throughout most of the three-day period as Scurry County residents took in their first fair in many years.

The final judging event of the fair was conducted Friday when swine exhibits were in the spotlight.

Wilson Howell, who operates the "Hog Haven" farm south of Snyder, dominated the swine show with some 28 entries. He swept the Duroc exhibits, winning all first place ribbons, and also had the champion Chester White boar and the grand and reserve champion Chester White sows.

Weldon Beck of Hermleigh had the top lightweight fat barrow, while Gary Parks of Snyder took second and third places. JoAnn Parks of Snyder had the first and third place heavyweight barrows, while Gary Parks had the second place heavyweight. Miss Parks' Duroc was named grand champion barrow. She also exhibited the top pen of three barrows while pens of Weldon Beck and Gary Parks were second and third, respectively.

Terry Robinson of Knapp showed the champion Spotted Poland China boar.

Melvin Crawford of Ira had the junior grand champion boar, and Doug [illegible] of Hermleigh had the junior reserve champion. Johnny [illegible] of [illegible] showed the champion Hampshire boar.

The fair was so successful that exhibitors already were discussing plans for a 1966 exposition.

FRESNO FAIR EVICTS AMERICANIZED NUDE

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — A red, white and blue-striped nude female bust with a George Washington medallion over one breast has been tossed out of the Fresno Fair art exhibit as an "unpatriotic desecration."

The move caused consternation in Fresno art circles and drew critical telephone calls to newspapers.

The glazed plaster bust was barred Friday by the art exhibit chairman, Mrs. Pat Chaffe, after four judges had accepted the work as a meritorious example of pop art.

The bust, said Mrs. Chaffe, "desecrates the flag and the father of our country and is un-American." She said she was near tears over the fuss.

"It was so completely un-American," she said. "And the woman's body too. The work was beautifully done, but in poor taste."

She has received "loads of criticism," she said, by "people who say we're not allowing free-

The bust was done by Fresno sculptor Arnold Jensen, who said it was intended as a satire on the "sex sells" theory of advertising. It was, he said, a denunciation of the use of sex to sell such things as toothpaste.

Jensen said he didn't mean to offend anybody.

Mrs. Chaffe was backed up in her rejection of the bust by the fair's president, Paul Paul. He said the bust was all right for an art gallery, but not a family fair.

"Mrs. Chaffe said she believes the American flag and George Washington are too good to be wrapped around a woman," said Paul.

"I'm a man who respects my country. I think the flag should be draped in different places other than where it is draped. The 4-H Clubbers and the Daughters of the American Revolution and the Legionnaires, they wouldn't approve it. But that doesn't knock the art down."

'Cong Ambushes Infantry Convoy

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A 20-truck convoy of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division was ambushed by the Viet Cong Friday night and the Americans suffered moderate casualties, a military spokesman said.

The Communist guerrillas let the lead security vehicles and the first part of the convoy pass, then blasted the eight or nine vehicles in the rear with mines, mortars and automatic weapons fire.

A 30-minute fight followed and the Americans finally continued along the road, the spokesman said.

The ambush occurred just south of Phuoc Vinh, about 40 miles north of Saigon, where elements of the "Big Red One," as the division is known, have been conducting an operation.

[illegible] the biggest in which U.S. forces have been caught in the Viet Nam war.

A reconnaissance unit swept the area before the convoy was ambushed but made no contact with the Viet Cong, the spokesman said. The convoy was a company-sized unit, which normally consists of between 100 and 200 men, he said.

A big U.S. and Australian operation on the edge of the Viet Cong's war Zone D, about 30 miles north of Saigon, continued today but only sporadic contact with the enemy was reported.

A U.S. military spokesman said the paratroopers from the 173rd Airborne Brigade used a small amount of non-lethal tear gas today in an effort to flush out Communist guerrillas from tunnels and bunkers. He said the results were unsatisfactory, but he did not elaborate.

It was the first authorized use [illegible] tion leaked out in March, it caused such a world-wide furor that use of tear gas was discontinued.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, who is in her early teens, smokes against our wishes. She never smokes in front of us, but we know she smokes, even though she says she doesn't. How do we treat this situation? Do we make an issue of it and "punish" her in some way? Or do we ignore it, hoping she will realize she is too young for such behavior?

WORRIED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: For parents to lay down rules, learn they are being violated, and then to ignore it, is foolish. But even more serious than your daughter's smoking is her lying about it. If you let her get away with this, don't expect her to listen to you in other matters of behavior. Restrict her activities, and let her know that she is being punished more for lying than for smoking.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I met Phil six years ago. He was divorced and so was I. I was 47 at the time and had two married children and one still living at home going to high school. First, I let Phil eat at my place as he had only a sleeping room and took all his meals in a restaurant. He always brought steaks and good food, which I prepared. Gradually Phil seemed to move into my place, which I was in favor of as I was lonely. Finally he was there so much I told my children that we were married. (They would disown me if they knew the truth.) I grew to love Phil and so did the children. When I bring up marriage, he says if we applied for a marriage license now it would be in all the papers and everyone would know we had never been married. I've been working under his name for four years and I don't suppose it's applying against my social security for it's not my legal name. How can we make it legal without any publicity?

LIVING IN SIN

DEAR LIVING: You're lucky you live in California. Confide this problem to your clergyman. He is authorized to perform a marriage ceremony, file the document in his church records and you will be legally and quietly wed with no publicity whatsoever. Those with this problem in other states should consult a local lawyer or clergyman and inquire about their chances to do the same.

DEAR ABBY: The longer most girls go with a guy, the harder it is to hold him off. My problem is just the opposite. I am 17 and George is 18 and we have been going together for almost a year now. When we first started dating, he used to kiss me goodnight, and we even did a little light making out. (Nothing serious.) Now George hardly even kisses me goodnight. I asked him if he was losing interest in me and he said no, he just didn't want to get "involved." What do you think he means by that?

"LOVE-STARVED AT 17"

DEAR "LOVE - STARVED": George means to look out for your best interests as well as his own. Better to be "love-starved" at 17, than worrying about the consequences of forbidden fruit.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Our church rummage sale is over again for another year, thank heavens. And as usual there have been hurt feelings by the stupidity and thoughtlessness of otherwise kind and gentle ladies. In our church we have some very well-to-do women who buy expensive clothes one year and give them to the rummage sale the next. We also have others, like myself, who are not "poor" but we can't afford to buy such expensive clothing and what we buy we wear for a long time. The problem is women who wouldn't for the world hurt your feelings intentionally, but while sorting and pricing rummage they made remarks like, "Ish. . . I wonder who brought this rag!"

Naturally they are not aware that the person to whom they are making this remark could be the one who brought the article. This happened to me, Abby. I am sure it must have happened to others, so if you'd print this letter it might remind other thoughtless ladies to be more careful of what they say and to whom.

Cubans Say Castro May Get Lonely!

By ISAAC M. FLORES

HAVANA (AP) — Cuba says refugee boats will be allowed to return to the United States Sunday with any Cubans who wish to leave their homeland.

Cuban exiles piloted several small boats here from the United States Friday and the Foreign Ministry said they would be allowed to leave Sunday, taking any refugees with them.

The ministry arranged to take newsmen to Camarioca, the fishing port which Prime Minister Fidel Castro has designated as the refugee exit point.

It was from Camarioca, about 60 miles east of Havana on the north coast, that the first group of 15 left Thursday after two Florida men sailed there to pick up their Cuban relatives.

Four exiles reportedly took another 33 Cubans off the island early Friday. One exile claimed that Castro militiamen machine-gunned his boat and wounded him in the leg.

It was not known why Cuba was encouraging refugees to leave before the current negotiations with the United States on how to handle the exodus are concluded.

The Swiss Embassy charge d'affaires, Arthur Monnier, said he had handed a detailed U.S. proposal to the Cuban Foreign Ministry but received no immediate response. The Swiss have handled U.S. matters in Cuba since Washington broke relations with the Castro regime in 1961.

Cubans seeking information and visas are forming long lines each day outside the Havana building that once housed the U.S. Embassy. Swiss Embassy personnel use it now.

"It's fiesta time in Cuba after six years of mourning," said Austicio Valdes, 38, a circus trapeze artist who arrived in Miami, Fla., Friday with the first refugee group.

Another of the group, Ramon Rosales, 61, said: "If Castro allows the full exodus, he may be left alone."

The U.S. State Department, seeking a safe and orderly exodus, urged exiles in Miami not to set out by boat to bring out more Cubans and asked them to wait until proper governmental arrangements are worked out.

Florida Gov. Haydon Burns said he had asked for federal action to encourage refugees to accepted resettlement outside Florida. "This is a national responsibility," he said, "and these people should be accommodated the length and breadth of the country."

Army Is Seeking Missing Missile

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N.M. (AP) — The Army is looking for another missile which missed its target.

Last weekend a geology student located one of the $750,000 Pershing missiles while doing field work near Creede, Colo. He collected a $500 reward.

Now the Army is hunting for a Pershing which was destroyed in flight after malfunctioning last Wednesday. It had been fired from Gilson Butte in southeastern Utah and radar trackings indicate the missile debris is near Blanding, Utah.

The Army said Friday it was sending 40 men with helicopters and planes to help in the search.

Judge To Decide Owner Of Weapon

DALLAS (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge Joe Estes will probably have to decide who is to have custody of the rifle which killed President Kennedy here and the pistol which killed policeman J. D. Tippit.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Tim Timmins made this prediction after John King filed an answer to a libel filed earlier by the government to legally take title to the weapons.

King said he bought the weapons from the widow of Lee Harvey Oswald, Kennedy's assassin.

King said he paid Mrs. Oswald, now Mrs. Kenneth Porter, $10,000 in cash and agreed to pay $35,000 more upon delivery of the guns.

Former President Ike Said In Perpetual Motion At 75

By RELMAN MORIN

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — At 75, Dight D. Eisenhower is having the time of his life.

His days are a satisfying blend of work and hobbies — writing books and speeches, golf, conferences on national problems, printing, church activities, reading, travel, bridge, political meetings, puttering around his farm here, visiting schools, watching his grandchildren growing up.

He is a man in perpetual motion.

He looks radiantly healthy. His complexion is ruddy. He walks with a quick, firm step; his aides have to look sharp to stay ahead of him when he is on a trip. The electric blue eyes — so expressive that they usually signal his mood — are bright as ever. He recently took off some weight and now stands a lean 166 pounds, five more than he weighed as a cadet at West Point 50 years ago.

The incandescent smile flashes freuently as he talks with visitors.

His 75th birthday comes Oct. 14, next Thursday. He plans to spend it with his four grandchildren and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Eisenhower, and his wife Mamie.

Last Sept. 24, he lectured and answered questions of a meeting of the National War College in Washington. An officer said, "This is a memorable occasion." Eisenhower smiled quietly and said, "It is for me, too. Ten years ago today, I had my heart attack."

He still follows the low-fat diet his doctors prescribed at the time, but he says he is no "extremist" about it. He hasn't smoked since March 21, 1949.

After the 1955 illness, Eisenhower underwent an operation for ileitis. Then, on Nov. 25, 1957, he suffered a minor stroke. For a short time, his speech was impaired.

He says that today he sometimes has difficulty pronouncing certain words. It is not apparent in a conversation. He speaks incisively and seldom has to reach for the word he wants.

His energy and recuperative powers, which became almost legandary during World War II, seem little diminished.

This is fortunate. For the demands on his time, and the pressure of work, are staggering.

Sept. 24, when he went to the National War College, was a typical day for him. He enjoyed this. "The boss looked 20 years younger while he was talking," an aide said. He went on answering questions until he was reminded of his afternoon schedule.

By helicopter, he and his aide hurried back to Gettysburg. Eisenhower lunched, rested briefly and went to his office. The daily stack of mail was waiting on his desk. He barely finished it before a delegation of German professors of political science arrived. They questioned him about foreign problems and the workings of the American political system.

Earlier in the week, he met with Mme. Chiang Kai-shek, wife of the president of Nationalist China. He taped a radio interview about his newest book, "Waging Peace," and another for a political candidate. Then a representative of a Japanese baseball team presented him with a gold watch. By that time, Eisenhower was free to go back to work on his next book.

And so it goes, day after day.

Eisenhower smiles ruefully when he recalls that, on leaving the White House, he expected to be free to do what he pleased.

It didn't work out that way.

Missing Cash Is Found

The recent robbery of the B&B Parkway Grocery on the Lubbock Highway has been cleared up with the discovery of the money.

The money, about $300 in cash and several checks, was in a money sack, which was found by a daytime employe of the store.

"He dropped a penny on the floor near the cash register and bent over to pick it up," police explained. "While stooped over, he saw the money sack on a shelf under the counter."

The nighttime clerk of the store, Mrs. Denver Way, had thought the money had been stolen, said officers. Police believe she simply misplaced the money.

According to the statement she gave police, she placed the money sack on top of the counter near the cash register. A customer left the store near closing time. She went into the back of the store, turned off the lights, and returned to discover the money sack missing.

AT VATICAN MEET

US Views May Be Set Aside

By BENNET M. BOLTON

VATICAN CITY (AP) — There were signs that U.S. Roman Catholic bishops at the Vatican Ecumenical Council might not get their views incorporated into the controversial declarations on the Jews and on modern world problems.

As the council ended the fourth week of its final session today, there were deep differences on both issues among the 2,200 prelates faking part.

In the modern world document, the controversy centers on a section about nuclear weapons.

Most American bishops want a statement saying the Church recognizes, that, lacking any foolproof international controls, a nation has the moral right and duty to retain nuclear arms to deter potential aggressors.

In the past week bishops from many other lands demanded a blanket condemnation of all warfare and all modern weapons, defensive or not.

Sources said the version backed by the Americans was in serious trouble and would probably be revised drastically by the drafting commission.

The belief now is that the commission might write a new version condemning war in terms similar to those used by Pope Paul VI at the United Nations — and without any mention [illegible]ably of nuclear age arms.

Final voting will come next Thursday and Friday on the latest amended version of the council's declaration on the Church attitude toward non-Christian religions. It contains the much-debated references to Jews.

The declaration has aroused more emotion and maneuvering than any other single item treated by the council in three years of sessions.

The latest version, distributed a week ago, says that Jews cannot be blamed for the crucifixion of Christ. The old version said Jews should never be presented as a people cursed by God or guilty of deicide.

The new version has the same argument but omits the word deicide. The new version deplores anti-Semitism while the old version said the church actually condemns anything that smacks of such bigotry.

The changes were made by the drafting commission to produce a version more acceptable in the council.

Students Get Review Of SACROC

About 70 students in four science classes at Lamar Junior High School received a review of SACROC operations from three Standard of Texas engineers Friday. The classes of Al Young, in their study of earth sciences, received a review of the Kelly-Snyder Field development and SACROC Unit formation to date by W. A. Vestal, R. H. Stewart and G. R. Dysart.

Slides of various producing installations and other points of interest, together with samples of cores from the producing Canyon Reef formation, were shown to each class. The attention shown by the students was most gratifying and indicated their interest in the importance of the oil industry to Snyder and Scurry County.

SACROC personnel are often asked to present talks concerning the oil industry both locally and out-of-town and are happy for the opportunity to present this type program to local and civic groups.

Fire Destroys Store

PANHANDLE, Tex. (AP— an early morning fire destroyed the A&P service here Saturday, doing $40,000 damage. The owner of the plumbing and refrigerator shop, Hugh Johnson, made the damage estimate.

Meanwhile,
Back at the polyester lab...

Like convenience? So do we, but honestly, some of the new polyester-blend wash and wear shirts turn pretty sickly looking in the wash. Well, one of our brainy friends at The Manhattan Shirt Company licked the problem. Tinkered around and came up with a shirt that stays Simon-pure white, wash after wash. It's called "Dura-Wite!"™—the secret's a blend of 35% cotton with 65% Kodel® Type IV polyester, a new polyester fiber just out of the lab. This "Dura-Wite!" shirt drips dry without ironing, of course, but it stays white, too. Our brainy friend's so sure he's got a winner, a printed guarantee comes with every shirt. Stays white, or you get a new "Dura-Wite!" gratis. That cinches it for us. How about you?

UNION METHODIST CHURCH
. . . 60th Anniversary

Union Methodist Church To Mark 60th Anniversary

The Union Methodist Church will ovserve its 60th anniversary with a special Homecoming Day on Sunday, Oct. 17.

The day will start with the Church School at 10 a.m., followed by the morning worship service at 11.

At noon, lunch will be served by members of the church and the afternoon session will include an old - fashioned singing, special music, a devotional service and full call of former members, former pastors and present members.

The Rev. Hubert Bratcher, D. D., the Rev. I. T. Huckabee, retired, and the Rev. Lee Roy Baker, former pastor, will attend and assist in the observance.

Sixty years ago, on Sept. 16, 1905, the church was organized at the Crowder Schoolhouse, which was two miles south of the present location. The Rev. A. H. Hussey, who was pastor at Gail and had been preaching occasionally at Crowder, was the first pastor in charge.

The 11-charter members were Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Biggs, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Turner, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Pate; Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Lemons, Miss Lora Lemons, R. H. White and Miss Mattie White. None of these is still living. However, two of the families have been represented in the membership of the church continuously since its beginning. Mrs. Murray Jackson is a great niece of the Turners, and Mrs. Howard Hogue is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Lemons. Records show that Mrs. Hogue (formerly Faye Lemons) was the first baby baptized by the church.

The Sunday School was organized in 1907 at the close of a revival meeting. J. T. Biggs was the superintendent, a position he held until his death in 1955.

In late 1922, the Bethel Church which was meeting in the Bethel Schoolhouse two miles north of the present location, merged with the Crowder church. The "new" church then was located half-way between the two schoolhouses and was named Union Chapel.

The church building was constructed under the pastorate of the Rev. B. H. Terrell, and was dedicated in 1923. The Rev. R. A. Stewart, presiding elder, preached the dedicatory sermon. Membership at the time was 65.

The church started its full time program in 1950 with the Rev. Rufus Kitchens as the first full - time pastor. During his ministry the present parsonage was built.

In 1951 the Rev. Lee Roy Baker became pastor and it was during his pastorate that the present modern, brick building was constructed. On May 6, 1956, when the Rev. I. T. Huckabee was pastor, the building was dedicated, with the Rev. O. W. Carter, D.D., the district superintendent, preaching the dedicatory sermon.

Two ministers and two ministers' wives have come from Union Methodist Church. The Rev. and Mrs. Harvey Carroll are presently serving the Epworth Methodist Church at Carlsbad, N.M. She is the former Mildred Patterson. The Rev. Ivey E. Biggs served churches in this conference for 27 years before his death in 1955. His wife was the former Thelma Perry. She is now Mrs. Owen Powell of Muleshoe.

The following have served as pastor of Union Methodist Church: A. H. Hussey, J. T. Trice, A. B. Keen, Emmet Yeats, G. H. Gattis, J. R. Plant, C. C. Tyler, J. B. McReynolds, J. R. Plant (second time), J. W. Griffin, B. M. Terrell, B. A. Moores, C. R. Hardy, J. R. Williamson, J. J. Kelly, C. W. Young, Frank Story, O. C. McDonald, I. T. Huckabee, M. W. Clark.

Also, H. E. Bennett, J. N. Tinkle, L. B. Taylor, A. T. Mason, H. W. Gaston, Melvin Mathis, M. C. Clark (second time) L. A. Reavis, J. P. Ready, Thomas Bandy, Kenneth Bowker, Rufus Kitchens, Lee Roy Baker, E. B. Thompson, I. T. Huckabee (second time), A. A. Mitchell, Ralph Odom, Roy R. Havens and Marvin L. Roark, present pastor.

The current official board is composed of Murray Jackson, chairman; Audry Head, treasurer; Mrs. Billy Prince, secretary; Leon Birdwell, Harley Carmichael, C. R. Fleming, Ernest Hall, S. D. Hays, Jr., Howard Hogue, Mrs. Howard Hogue, Mrs. Paris McPherson, Wayland Mathis, Nuell Mebane, Billy Prince, Thayne Mebane, Mrs. Thayne Mebane, Mrs. C. A. Ramsey, Mrs. R. J. Rosson, Herman Stokes, Mrs. E. M. Rutledge, and Miss Debbie Mebane.

Howard Hogue is the charge lay leader.

Pleads Guilty To Selling Marijuana

EDINBURG (AP) — Antonio Gamez Sanchez, 21, pleaded guilty Friday to possession and sale of marijuana and was sentenced to three and a half years in prison. An undercover agent of the Texas Department of Public Safety told the court he purchased marijuana from Gamez in a Pharr club where Gamez worked.

To Receive Grant

WASHINGTON (AP) — Grand Prairie will receive a federal grant increase of $104,626 from the Housing and Home Finance Agency for an urban renewal project. The total grant now is $1,438,697.

Cotton Classing Topic At Session

FLUVANNA — At the regular monthly meeting of the Fluvanna Young Farmer Chapter Thursday evening, B. B. Manley went into great detail about the complicated process of cotton classing.

Manley is head of the cotton classing office in Abilene which is district office for an area outlined by a boundary from Abilene, Seymour, Spur, Midland, and back to Abilene. The Abilene office, which classes Scurry county cotton, usually classes from 1½ to 1¾ million bales per year.

Manley used color slides to illustrate care cotton samples are given in the classing procedure. First the cotton is conditioned for at least 24 hours. In other words, it is stored in a room in which the humidity is a constant 50 per cent which makes cotton classing easiest and will give a truer staple length. When the actual classing starts, the first procedure is the micronaire in which an accurately weighed amount of cotton is compacted into a one inch cube and then the micronaire reading is determined by the amount of air that will pass through this mass.

According to Manley, this has become one of the more important tests to a spinner because a low "mic" reading denotes immature cotton which means trouble and dollar loss. He further pointed out that immature cotton is showing up more and more due to improper defoliation.

The cotton then goes to a very costly and complicated electronic machine to have its color content determined. The "pulling of the staple" is still done by hand as there has never been a machine that can consider all of the details in this process.

Periodically samples are pulled out of the line and sent with the classing report to the Memphis office for a cross check.

Should a farmer be dissatisfied with his classing report he may request and receive another classing if he is willing to pay for it himself. Manley stated that he handles all of the re-classing himself. This gives him another opportunity to check on the proficiency of his classers and also to possibly spot and work out with ginners possible malfunctioning equipment.

Rescue Sub Is Built

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — A piggyback submarine, to rescue its big brothers if they get in trouble, is scheduled for production before 1970.

The rescue sub, being built here, will have a three-man crew and be designed to submerge to a depth of at least least 3,500 feet. It will be 39 feet in length with tandem propellors, but will be less than eight feet in diameter.

Project director Karl H. Keller said Friday: "One feature of the rescue sub is that, in case of emergency, it can be transported anywhere in the world in 24 hours. A C14 jet aircraft could fly it."

Algerian Political Juggling Threatens Upcoming Talks

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH

ALGIERS (AP) — The Algerian regime of Col Houari Boumedienne has taken a sharp anti-Communist turn at home while trying hard to build up friendly relations with the Soviet bloc and the West.

This political juggling act has brought the wrath of Soviet editorial writers and the French Communist party down on the colonel's head and is seriously threatening the African-Asian summit conference sheduled to open here Nov. 5.

Some 30 French Communists and an unknown number of Algerian leftists are in jail, accused of plotting against the Boumedienne regime.

The Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda thundered against the recent arrests and the Paris Communist paper L'Humanite denounced Boumedienne as a fascist dictator.

Algerian officials tend to shrug offf these attacks as meaningless propaganda and point out that Moscow has shown no signs of slowing down its military or economic aid to Algeria.

L'Humanite is banned in Algeria; the Algiers Communist paper Alger Republican has been suppressed and most of its editors are in jail. Yet officials protest that the regime is not against communism — only against "Communist interference in our domestic affairs."

In the West there is a new confidence in Algeria that is beginning to pay dividends.

For the first time since French rule ended in 1962, private interests — mostly French are timidly investing in Algerian industry.

Planes from France are filled with European businessmen and technicians displaying a new faith in Algeria's future.

Shops are filled with sophisticated consumer goods and Western diplomats are talking of a possible substantial increase in economic aid.

However, in the nearly four months since Ahmed Ben Bella was ousted from the presidency, little has been done to end the mismanagement that provided a main pretext for Ben Bella's removal.

A few private businesses seized under the Ben Bella regime have been returned to their French or Algerian owners with the official explanation that seizure was an administrative error.

But the bulk of Algerian industry and virtually all agriculture remain under often chaotic state control. Employes of state enterprises and workers on the self-managed farms may go for months without being paid. Labor unrest is increasing while the regime tries to purge the labor unions of leaders suspected of Ben Bella sympathies.

One official said strikes organized to embarrass the government will not be tolerated. When asked why some workers had not been paid, he replied: "That is the price we are paying for Ben Bella's misrule."

Many ministries have barely resumed functioning since the predawn military coup of June 19 brought Boumedienne to power. The new ministers, many of them keen and able men, have had no time to reorganize their departments or clean up the chaos they say was left by Ben Bella.

For more than three months, most ministers have been traveling about trying to drum up support for the summit conference originally scheduled to open June 29.

It was to be the first African-Asian summit since the historic 1955 meeting at Bandung, Indonesia.

In the confusion, rioting and sabotage that followed the June coup in Algiers, the leading African-Asian governments decided conditions were too unstable to go ahead with the meeting then.

The beautiful new conference hall is at last completed and ready, but Algerian officials are becoming doubtful that the meeting will really take place.

At first, Boumedienne staked all his and Algeria's prestige on the gathering, which was to establish the nation as a top leader of the African-Asian world.

The growing divisions within the group gradually cooled the enthusiasm and raised fears that failure of the meeting — far from enhancing Algeria's prestige, [illegible] damage.

Red China's Foreign Minister Marshal Chen Yi made a remark at a Sept. 29 Peking news conference that hit Algerian officials like an icy blast.

"The Chinese prime movers behind the conference will denounced and condemn American imperialism, Ches Yi was reported as saying.

This was not at all Boumedienne's idea of the conference.

The government press and radio continue to sympathize with the Viet Cong rebels in South Viet Nam but no longer is this posture allowed to cloud Algeria's desire for friendly relations with the United States.

Nor does Boumedienne's regime — like many other African-Asian governments receiving substantial American aid — feel inclined to bite the hand that feeds it.

Algiera also fears that the conference may turn into noisy Chinese-Soviet slugging match, whether or not the Chinese can prevent seating of the Soviet Union.

The India-Pakistan war, the revolt in Indonesia, the Indonesian-Malaysian quarrel, Pakistan's break with Malaysia, and the continuing squabbles between Ghana and its French-speaking African neighbors have cast doubt on the advisability of an African-Asian solidarity conference now.

Officially, Algeria is determined to go ahead with it. Privately, officials are having second thoughts and would be relieved if the whole summit could be swept under the rug.

Sndyerite Gets Delivery On Personalized Car Tags

George Coe, a city policeman, became the first person in Scurry County to obtain special license plates for his car when he picked them up at the County tax assessor - collector's office Friday.

The plates bear a simple inscription: COE-1. Anyone with a name of less than four letters also gets a numeral of from one to nine on his special plate.

The special plates were made available by the Texas Legislature for the first time this year to Texans who are willing to pay the special price of $10. Coe was the first person to apply for the license in Scurry County, although others already have been issued elsewhere.

"I applied for the plates four weeks ago," said Coe. He secured an application for the special plates from the tax office and mailed it directly to Austin. The state sent the plates to the County Tax Assessor - Collector's office and Coe picked them up Friday.

A resident of Snyder for only two months, Coe said he likes to try to get special numbers for several things — telephones, radio licenses, etc. Coe moved here from Houston. He and his wife, Ernestine, are parents of seven boys: Gary 15, George Jr. 13, Kimbell and Timothy, 10-year-old twins, Mark 7, Jeff 4, and Kevin 3 months.

ALTON L. MILLER

Real Estate Assn. Hosts State Head

Alton L. Miller of Dallas, 1965 president of the Texas Real Estate Association, will be principal speaker Monday night at a meeting of the Snyder Real Estate Board at the Steak House.

Ervin W. Luedtke, of Austin, executive vice president of the 9,500-member state Realtor organization, will visit the meeting with Miller and discuss TREA services and projects.

The TREA president served the state organization as secretary in 1962 and as vice president in 1963 and 1964. As TREA membership committee chairman during the past year he headed up the drive which has seen the association grow to become second largest in the nation.

Miller entered the real estate business in 1945 after returning from military service and joined the Dallas Real Estate Board in 1947. Since that time he has served as chairman of every committee in the local organization, as director, secretary - treasurer, second and first vice presidents, and as president in 1957-58.

Instrumental in formation of the Dallas board's Multiple Listing Service, Miller served two terms as the MLS chairman. He is a member of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce, Oak Cliff Chamber of Commerce, Masonic Lodge, Hella Temple Shrine and Cliff Temple Baptist Church.

Broilers Hold Steady

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas broiler markets were steady all week, except for a slight price increase in East Texas Thursday. Supplies were adequate, demand fair and ready-to-cook interest moderately active.

Closing prices: South 14.00; East 13.50-14.20. Last Week: South 14.00; East, 13.50-14.00. Last year, South 14.00; East 12.85-14.00.

Farm Bill May Pass Next Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate action is expected next week to complete passage of a new four-year program of production and price controls for major crops.

The House passed 219 to 150 Friday the compromise version of a farm bill extending and modifying control programs for wheat, feed grains, cotton, dairy products, wool and other commodities.

Sen. Allen Ellender, D-La., chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said he expected Senate passage soon after the House acted. He praised the compromise as better than either the House or Senate version.

Enactment of a four - year program marks a departure from farm legislative practices which frequently have brought yearly changes for individual crops.

The bill would renew a program designed to convert surplus cropland to conservation, water storage, wildlife preservation and recreational use. Farmers would sign five to 10-year contracts to take their lands out of production for these purposes.

Over-all cost of the programs in the first year is estimated at about $4 billion.

Dies After Being Adjudged Insane

RUSK (AP) — Archie Robert Phillips, committed to the Rusk State Hospital after he was ruled insane by an Austin jury Tuesday, died in the hospital Friday.

An autopsy was ordered. He reportedly suffered seizures shortly before his death.

Phillips, 40, of Spicewood, had been charged with murder in the April shooting of Joe Teague Jr., 17, near Austin.

Tiger Defenders Shine In 0-0 Standoff

Thwart Mustang Drives With Goal Line Stands

SWEETWATER — The fighting Snyder High School Tigers thwarted Sweetwater's vaunted power offense and turned it helpless several times within the shadow of the goal here Friday night to preserve a well-earned 0-0 scoreless tie with the Mustangs in the District 3-AAA football opener for both teams.

It was a moral victory for the Tigers for they were able to turn back the herd every time the chips were down. For the defensive unit of Coach Horrace Bostick's Tigers, it was their finest hour.

Led by David Holt, the defense fought the favored Mustangs tooth and nail, killing potential touchdown drives that reached the Tiger 14 and 32 in the first quarter, and the three and 11 in the second frame.

The two second quarter goal line stands were magnificent. Sweetwater had driven from the Tiger 42 to a first and goal from the five. Halfback Randy Reed and fullback Robert Rivera had alternated carries to put the hosts in this good field position. It looked like a cinch touchdown.

Then, against overwhelming odds, defenders Jim Wilson, Billy Wilson, Rob Golden, Ray Kizer, and David Holt met the Pony power thrusts head on, allowing only one yard in three cracks at the line. Still three yards away on fourth down, Sweetwater quarterback Gary Ruffin started wide trying to sweep his way into the end zone. But he was bounced rudely out of bounds on the three by Steve McMahan, Fred Wiman, Golden and Danny Howell, all of whom hit him at full speed.

Snyder couldn't move and Jackie Rice punted out to the 43. A keeper by Ruffin, short cracks by Reed and Rivera and a 14-yard toss, Ruffin to Reed, put the Ponies back in scoring position with a first and 10 situation at the 13.

Again an aroused defense turned the tide, rending the offense impotent. Rivera and Ruffin each could get but a yard, the receivers were covered like glue on a third down pass attempt, and Sweetwater attempted a field goal from the 15 on fourth down. Ray Kizer put on the pressure and tackle Jerry Owen rushed his kick. It went wide to the left and the Tigers took over again.

There was time for another thrilling play before the half ended. Murry Bowden, trying to connect with the bomb, passed 32 yards to the Mustang 15, but Mal Richards stole the aerial. Bobby Clardy, the intended receiver, knocked him down after he caught it and the hosts had time for only one center plunge.

Sweetwater had a wonderful opportunity to get a quick touchdown and gain the upper hand early. Guard Ramond Gomez, who was outstanding on defense for Coach Murry Holditch's bunch, intercepted a short Bowden pass on the first play from scrimmage.

Operating from the 19, Richards gained one, then five, before Ruffin was thrown for a loss at the 16. The Tigers put the rush on 4th down and an aerial missed the target.

A couple of minutes later, after Snyder was forced to punt the Mustangs drove to a first at the 32. Again the Tigers put on the rush, causing the hosts to lose two yards in the next three downs. Then Owen tried a field goal from the 40 but it was short.

Sweetwater afforded partisan fans with some cheers that faded fast when Reed fielded a punt at his 47 late in the period, maneuvered to the east sidelines and scooted all the way. However, he stepped out on the Tiger 42. It was at this point that the Red and White began the ill-fated march to the three.

Snyder clearly held the upper hand in the second half. Charging linemen kept the pressure on Ruffin and he was forced to rush his passes. Rice kept Sweetwater off balance and the Tigers out of trouble with his booming punts. The Tiger back averaged 40 yards on six punts. He was the sparkplug of the Snyder attack, gaining the necessary yardage for a first on third down runs during Snyder's most serious drive in the third quarter.

The Black and Gold took the kickoff opening the second half and drove 49 yards to the Mustang 25 for their deepest penetration. After two successive carries by Rice, Snyder was in good shape to move on in with third and two from the 25. But one of only two fumbles (both recovered) occurred on third down, leaving the Bengals facing fourth and seven from the 30. David Cadena came in to try a pass but all of the receivers were covered and he was thrown at the 40.

Sweetwater's deepest penetration in the third quarter was to the Bengal 42.

A Snyder plunge with fourth and one on their 48 was about one inch shy of the necessary yardage early in the fourth quarter. Taking advantage of the change in possession, Sweetwater gained the Tiger 25 before the defenders again cut them down. Snyder received stellar play from all of its ends. They contained the sweeps well and nailed the ball carriers on the line of scrimmage several times.

Bostick's boys made a fourth quarter drive from their 25 to the Sweetwater 44, with Rice and Bowden carrying, but were unable to shake anyone loose.

Rivera was Sweetwater's best ball carrier. He gained 30 yards in two carries in the fourth period, but the defense stopped him when the chips were down.

Both sides hit hard and most of the few penalties occurred in the final stanza.

After the game a scout was heard to remark that "Snyder improves every week."

Top Teams In Western Loop Meet

By The Associated Press

Two games pairing the top four teams in the Western Division highlight Sunday's action in the National Football League.

The Detroit Lions take on the Colts at Baltimore and the San Francisco 49ers tangle with the Packers at Green Bay. Detroit and Green Bay lead the western Division at 3-0, while Baltimore and San Francisco are a length behind at 2-1.

In the Eastern scramble, the Philadelphia Eagles play the Cowboys at Dallas and the St. Louis Cardinals face the winless Redskins at Washington. St. Louis and Dallas are 2-1, Philadelphia 1-2 and Washington 0-3.

The other Sunday game pairs the Los Angeles Rams against the Bears at Chicago. Pittsburgh at Cleveland and New York at Minnesota were Saturday night games.

San Diego's Chargers and the Buffalo Bills, front-runners in the American Football League, collide Sunday at Buffalo. The only other AFL match has the Kansas City Chiefs against the Broncos at Denver.

The Lions have the NFL's least productive offense but have gone 3-for-3, chiefly because they also have the league's stoutest defense. Baltimore's attack, paced by Johnny Unitas and Lenny Moore, is capable of exploding — and the Colts also do the job of defense, particularly in the secondary.

Green Bay remains, week after week, the club most likely to succeed in the NFL. The 49ers have picked up, with passer John Brodie having a fine season, but can't stay with the Packers' all-around strength.

The Cowboys are another team on the move, with good balance. In the Eagles, they'll be facing an outfit that has been inconsistent. Philadelphia will have a sub quarterback, King Hill, filling in for the injured Norm Snead.

St. Louis was expected to battle Cleveland down to the finish for the Eastern title, and the Cardinals have shown every sign of doing it after an opening game upset by Philadelphia. The Redskins, expected to be a longshot title contender but a disappointment instead, will have a new starting quarterback — Dick Shiner in place of faltering Sonny Jurgensen.

The Bears are playing their first home game of the season, after three straight losses on the road — including a 30-28 setback at Los Angeles two weeks ago. The Rams won that one on Bill Munson's 10-yard pass to Terry Baker with 29 seconds to go. Both Clubs have looked well, even in losing, but have a tough go in the powerful Western Division.

Buffalo and San Diego are the AFL's only unbeaten entries. The Bills, defending league champions, have won four in a row and the Chargers have three victories and a tie.

But Buffalo is hurting, with star receivers Elbert Dubenion and Glenn Bass sidelined by injuries. That means Jack Kemp, the AFL's No. 1 passer, likely will direct a running game for the most part — a rugged assignment against the Chargers' defense.

San Diego's Paul Lowe has banged out 100 yards a game as the league's top rusher but he, too, might find it rough going against the sturdy Bills.

Kansas City, at 2-1-1, and Denver, 2-2, are factors in the Western race but need to keep winning to stay within reach of th Chargers. The Chiefs-Broncos match Sunday could be a battle on the ground, with big Cookie Gilchrist and rookie Wendell Hayes of Denver against Kansas City's Curtis McClinton.

Bruins Plan Porker Ruin

By The Associated Press

Their devastating aerial arm has been grounded but the Baylor Bears still plan a rough reception for Arkansas tonight in their key football tussle at Waco, Tex.

Until last Saturday, when Baylor lost both passing star Terry Southall and ace receiver Harlan Lane due to ankle injuries, the Bears shaped up as a major roadblock for third-ranked Arkansas, holder of the nation's longest winning streak. The Razorbacks have taken 15 straight, including three this season.

While Arkansas risks its streak and national standing, Notre Dame and Army clash at New York's Shea Stadium in the night's most colorful attraction. The Cadets and Irish, who began their series in 1913, are meeting for the first time in eight years. They haven't played at New York since Notre Dame held the Cadets' Blanchard-Davis powerhouse to a scoreless tie in 1946.

This year the Irish have their own Mr. Inside-Mr. Outside combination in Bill Wolski and Nick Eddy, who have combined for 385 yards rushing. The seventh-ranked Irish also have a breakaway threat in safetyman Nick Rassas. Rassas has intercepted thre passes and run back nine punts for a total of 376 yards, including scoring bursts of 92, 72 and 65 yards.

Army hopes to match Notre Dame's offensive might with an aggressive defensive unit that has yielded 28 points in three games. The Cadets have defeated VMI and Boston College after an opening defeat to Tennessee. The Irish also are 2-1, having been upset by Purdue two weeks ago.

A half-dozen other major games are scheduled under the lights, including three big ones in the South. Kentucky, 2-1 after its 23-18 loss to Auburn, takes on Florida State, 1-1; Louisiana State, 2-1, meets Miami, Fla., 1-2, and national champion Alabama, 2-1, plays Vanderbilt, 1-1-1.

LSU, knocked out of the Top Ten by Florida 14-7 last Saturday, is favored over the Hurricanes, upended by Tulane and Southern Methodist in three starts, while Alabama rates the edge over Vanderbilt.

The Crimson Tide dropped a one-point verdict to Georgia in their opener, then whipped Tulane and shaded Mississippi. Vandy lost to Georgia by 14 points and was blanked by Wake Forest.

This afternoon's top fare included No. 1-ranked Texas vs. Oklahoma in Dallas, second-ranked Nebraska vs. Wisconsin, fourth-ranked Georgia vs. Clemson, and Michigan State, No. 5, vs. Michigan. Southern California No. 8, was at Washington; Mississippi State, No. 9, entertained Mississippi Southern and Florida, No. 10, visited Mississippi.

Odessa Permian Pops Eagles, 7-0

By The Associated Press

Abilene, Austin and Dallas Adams fell in another rousing round of upsets in Texas schoolboy football Friday night but generally the rated leaders escaped mishap, these including Alpine of Class AA as the only No. 1 team risking its place.

Alpine crushed Class AAAA El Paso Jefferson 20-6 to further emphasize the power of the West Texans.

Texarkana, No. 1 in Class AAAA, doesn't play until tonight, meeting Corpus Christi Miller at Corpus Christi.

No. 1 in Class AAA, Dumas, has an off week.

No. 1 in Class A, Three Rivers, cancelled a game with Dilley when a member of the Dilley team died from injuries received in a contest last week.

The boy was David Wood, 14, who died in a San Antonio hospital.

Twenty teams tumbled from the undefeated, untied list, cutting down to 65 for the entire four divisions that play to state championships.

Among those having their records smirched were Abilene, which lost to Odessa Permian 7-0; Austin, which took a 27-0 thumping from San Antonio Lee, which, incidentally, is undefeated, untied and unscored on, and Dallas Adams, which was edged 13-12 by Dallas Woodrow Wilson.

The Adams-Woodrow game was the only one matching members of the AAAA Top 10. Woodrow Wilson was a notch below Adams but now will be expected to zoom to a high spot.

San Angelo crushed Midland 55-6 in the other AAAA game sending unbeaten, untied teams together. It was the most impressive victory of any team of the division thus far.

Denver City whipped Muleshoe 32-3 to show unheralded power. It was the case of a Double A team walloping a Triple A team.

Brownwood smashed Coleman 41-0 for a Class AAA impressive showing but the feature of this division was a loss rather than a victory. Austin Lanier lost to Austin McCallum 27-0, thus a dream started to fade.

Another loss that was noteworthy was the defeat of Pharr-San Juan-Alamo by Donna 17-8. This ended all hope of Pharr making good on pre-season predictions that favored Pharr-San Juan-Alamo to win the state title.

Four to five unbeaten, untied teams fell in each class and there's little hope in sight with everything tightening up with the full start of the conference race.

Zoilo Don't Believe In Superman

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I don't believe in super stars," said Zoilo Versalles, who may be on the verge of cracking into that elite category of baseball heroes.

Until 1965, Versalles was just another name to many fans, and people in the game would usually preface a discussion of the Minnesota Twins' star shortstop by saying, "He can be a great one if he matures..."

This season, however, the 24-year-old Cuban blossomed into the complete player — a brilliant fielder, a dangerous hitter and an excellent base runner. His World Series performances may make him a super star.

He gives all credit to Coach Billy Martin, but Martin will only take credit for instilling confidence in Zoilo.

"People who were skeptical of Zoilo" Martin said, "now ask 'How can he be that great?'

"He has shown everybody that he's great. But I felt this way about him all along. If I've done anything, it was just to convince him he could do it. The ability was always there; I didn't give him that.

"I'm just like the others," Versalles said. "I don't want anybody to call me a super star. We're all the same on this club."

Art Powell Hits Stride

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Oakland end Art Powell, a widely traveled nine-year pro at the age of 28, is proving to American Football League rivals that he deserves a little more respect.

Powell, who combines a solid 212 pounds with a track sprinter's speed, wrecked Boston defenses by grabbing 11 passes, including two for touchdowns, Friday night as the Raiders handed the hapless Patriots their fifth straight defeat, 24-10.

"Powell can kill anybody when he gets hot," said Oakland Coach Al Davis, after his first victory in six games against Eastern foes.

Powell picked up 206 yards with his 11 receptions, boosting his totals for the year to 427 yards on 27 catches.

In the first period, Flores' pass toward the left sideline was nearly intercepted by Chuck Shonta, who gambled with a clear field in front of him. Shonta tipped the ball and Powell grabbed it, taking off on his long scoring run.

With fourth down and goal to go at the Boston two in the third period, Flores called upon Powell again. This time the big end cut in front of Ross O'Hanley to make a diving catch.

Flores connected on 20 of 34 passes for 261 yards as the Raiders boosted their record to 3-2. Clem Daniels complemented the overhead attack by carrying 20 times for 113 yards, including 57 on a dash which helped set up a fourth period touchdown by Roger Hagberg.

Two other AFL games are scheduled for Sunday, with San Diego at Buffalo, and Kansas City at Denver. New York and Houston are idle.

The key game is the meeting between undefeated Buffalo, 4-0, and the Chargers, 3-1. The Bills rule a slight favorite despite the loss of ends Elbert Dubenion and Glenn Bass.

Bulldogs Bump Lueders 36-12

LUEDERS — The Ira Bulldogs invaded the home territory of the Lueders Pirates here Friday night and took home a hard-fought 36-12 victory in a non-district six-man football game. The win was the 4th in a row for the undefeated Bulldogs of Coach Jerry Miller, while it was the 5th straight loss for Lueders.

The two teams fought on fairly even terms during the first period in which each school posted six points. Lueders opened the scoring when Dickie Chambers tallied on a 30-yard run. An attempted kick for the two points failed.

Ira tied it up on the next play from scrimmage when senior Jack Payne went around left end and travelled 50 yards to pay dirt. An attempted run for the extra point failed and the score was knotted 6-all.

Ira went ahead to stay in the 2nd stanza when Ray Sorrels scored on a 15-yarder around his left end. This time Dennis Grizzle kicked for the points and Ira led 14-6. This was all the scoring in the first half.

The Bulldogs broke it wide open in the 3rd quarter with 16 points, while holding the Pirates scoreless. Larry Wiggins got a touchdown on a 40-yard run around right end early in the period. Grizzle kicked to up the score to 22-6. Minutes later Jack Payne made his second TD of the night with a 20-yard scoring run up the middle. Grizzle again kicked for the points, giving Ira a 30-6 lead.

The Bulldogs were still not through in the 3rd quarter as moments later a Pirate ball carrier was caught in the end zone for a safety by Gary Poe, Gary Vineyard and Jimmy Wilson.

Ira's last score came in the final stanza by way of a 16-yard field goal by Grizzle good for four points.

Late in the contest Lueders scored again when Ennis Kelly went over from 5 yards out for the tally.

Coach Jerry Miller had special praise for Aaron Crawford and Johnny Lindsey for their defensive play during the game.

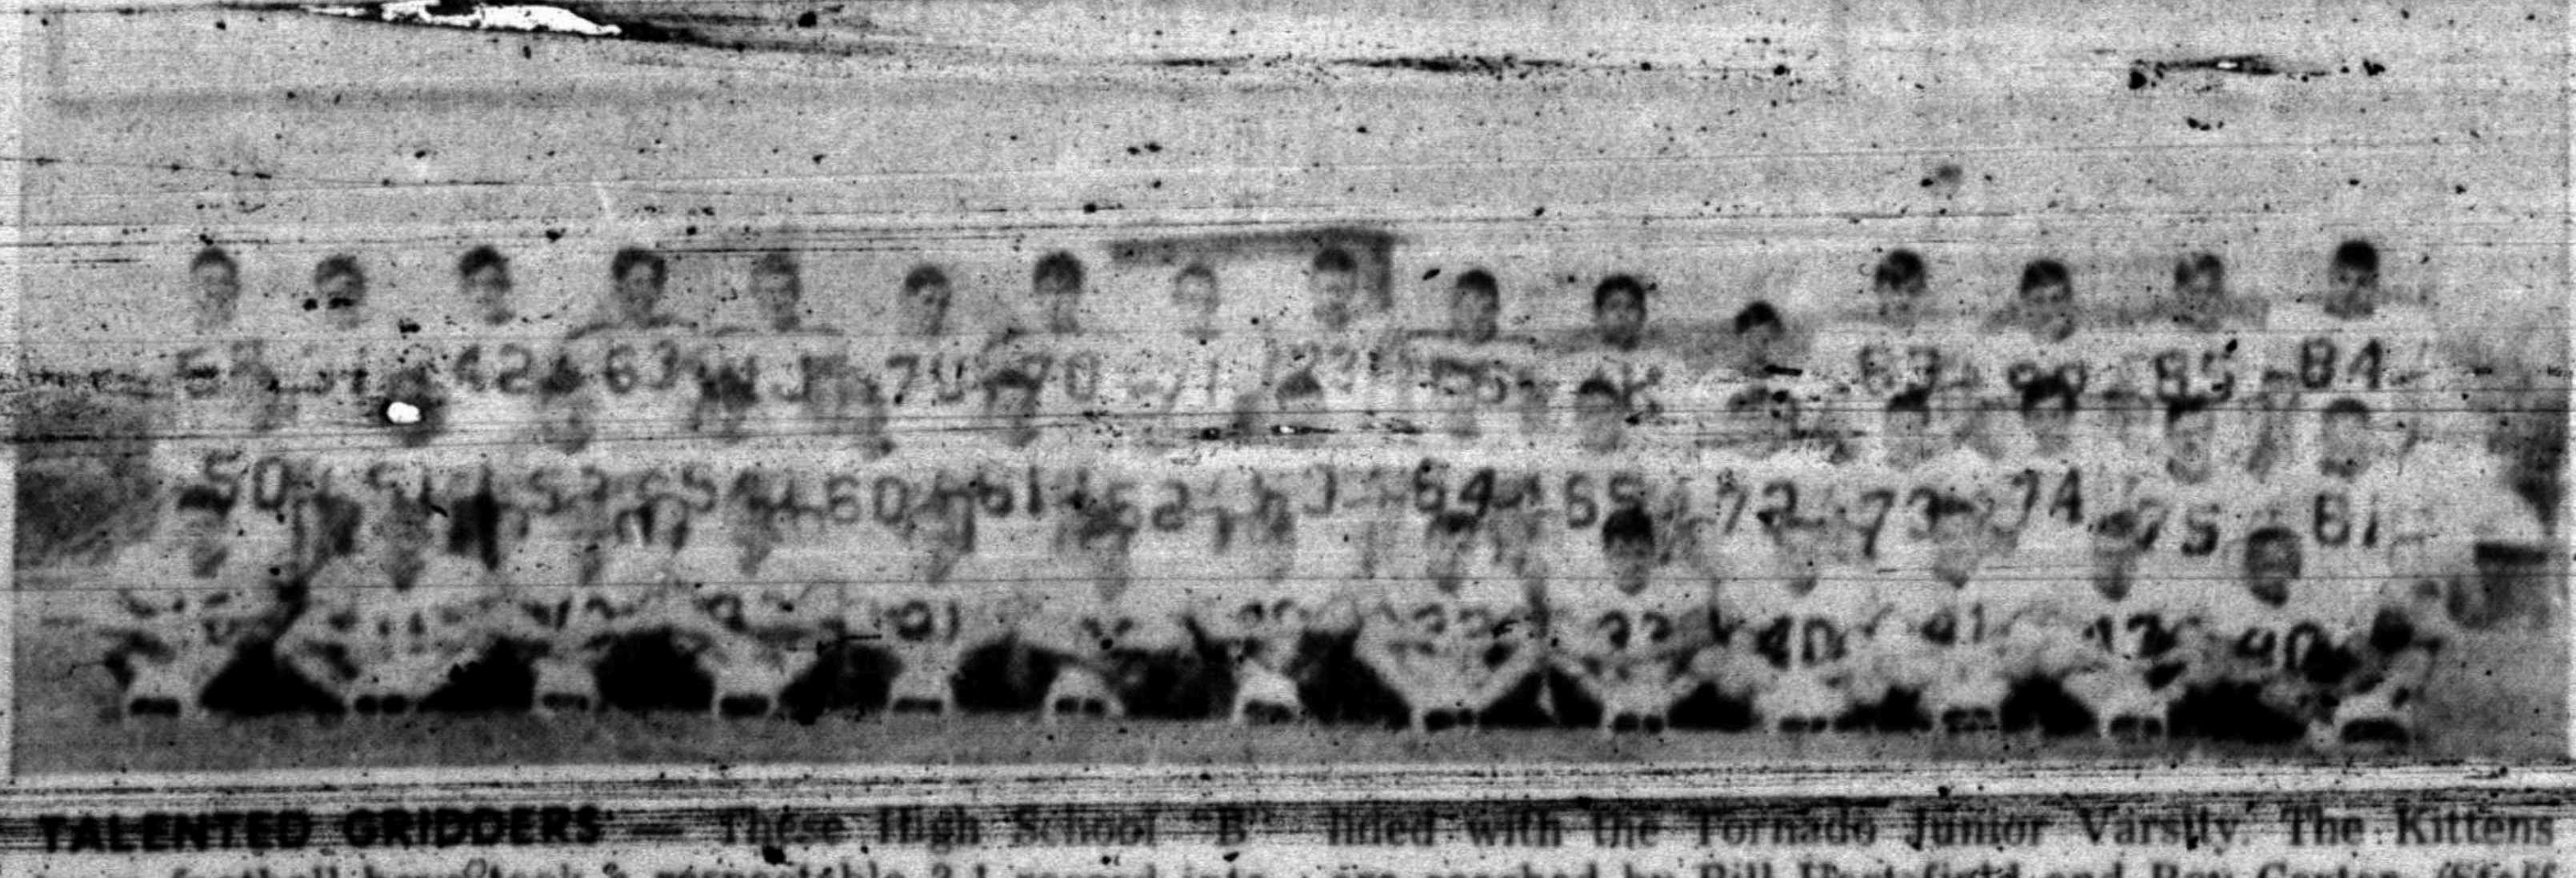
The Bulldogs will play their last non-district game in Ira Thursday night at 7:30 when they will host Paint Creek.

Head Injury Caused Death

LA FERIA, Tex. (AP) — A head injury that led to a brain hemorrhage was blamed for the death of schoolboy football player Arnaldo Aguilar, 17, of Santa Rosa.

Aguilar died Friday morning at a McAllen hospital. He collapsed at a B-team game between La Feria and McAllen Thursday night.

After receiving results of an autopsy, a La Feria physician said, "The football game caused it. It was an acute injury."



TALENTED GRIDDERS — These High School "B" team football boys took a respectable 3-1 record into the game at Lamesa Saturday night when they collided with the Tornado Junior Varsity. The Kittens are coached by Bill Hartsfield and Roy Carter. (Staff Photo).

Rookie Gets Cowboy Call

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys will start a rookie at quarterback for the first time in their six-year history Sunday when Jerry Rhome and Craig Morton step in for the slumping veteran, Don Meredith, in an effort to beat Philadelphia and return on top.

Coach Tom Landry said "We must improve our passing" as he announced the benching of Meredith, who was the first player Dallas signed when it entered the NFL in 1960.

"Meredith has not supplied the kind of passing we must have to win in this league," Landry declared.

Rhome and Morton, who ranked 1-2 in collegiate passing last year at Tulsa and California respectively, will start in that order as Landry institutes his quarterback shuffle, something he used with Eddie LeBaron and Meredith before the latter became the starting quarterback.

Meredith was not ruled out of some action Sunday, in the event he is needed, but he definitely will not be a starter and probably won't play at all since Landry thinks he needs a rest from injuries and the pressure that caused a poor demonstration against St. Louis last weekend.

Philadelphia won't have its regular quarterback either, since Norman Snead is out with an injury. But there'll be a familiar face for those who visit the Cotton Bowl Sunday to see the Cowboys battle the Eagles.

Hopeful Twins Limp Into 3rd Game At LA

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Minnesota Twins, still to suffer the pangs of World Series defeat, limped into the third game against the Los Angeles Dodgers today with outfielders Tony Oliva and Bob Allison hobbled by pulled leg muscles.

The American League champions held a 2-0 advantage over the National League titleholders, winning the first two games, 8-2 and 5-1, in Minnesota.

Veteran right-hander Camilo Pascual was Manager Sam Mele's choice to try to make it three in a row for the Twins. Dodger Manager Walter Alston countered with left-hander Claude [illegible] beat the Twins five for five as an American League[illegible].

While the Twins ruled a 3-1 favorite to win the Series, the Dodgers were made a 13-10 choice to take the third game, largerly because it was to be the first in Los Angeles. A sell-out crowd of 56,000 was virtually assured.

Although confident his Twins will maintain the same superiority over the Dodgers in Los Angeles as they had in Minnesota, Mele was more than a little disturbed over the condition of two of his top sluggers.

Mele revealed the players' condition Friday before the [illegible] in an hour and a half workout at Dodger Stadium.

Oliva and Allison attempted to minimize their injuries although both spent a good deal of time in the trainer's room Friday undergoing treatment that included diathermy and massaging. Both had their thighs heavily taped afterwards.

"Not too good, not too bad. Just so-so," said Oliva when asked about his condition. The injury is an aggravation of an earlier muscle pull that kept him out of the last five games of the regular season.

Allison was more explicit.

"I think I'll be all right," he said, "but I won't know until I try running on it. I won't do that until tomorrow."

The Dodgers, in the meantime, were concerned with their own troubles, namely anemic hitting against Minnesota pitching.

They did report one casualty, however. Lefty Jim Brewer aggravated an elbow injury in the opener and trainer Wayne Anderson recommended he see no more action in the Series.

"Our guys better stop swinging for those fences," warned Alston. "They ought to concentrate more on just meeting the ball. Our biggest offender has been Willie Davis. I want him to shorten up at bat. He'd have a better chance to meet the ball."

Alston observed that the Dodgers probably would have a slight advantage playing the next three games at home, but added:

"In the final analysis, it's what you do between those bases and they're still 90 feet apart no matter what park you play in.

"The way we played the first two games, they'd have beaten us in Darrtown."

Darrtown, Ohio, is Alston's home town.

The Dodgers' position, while not frantic, certainly is precarious. They've got to win at least two out of three to bring the Series back to Minnesota.

Win or lose today, the Dodgers will face Jim Grant and Jim Kaat, the right-lefty duo who limited them to three runs in the first two games. Grant goes Sunday and Kaat Monday.

Alston will come back with Drysdale and Sandy Koufax. Drysdale, a 23-game winner during the regular season, was blasted from the box in the third inning of the opener, giving up seven runs on as many hits. Koufax, 26-8 during the regular season, bowed out for a pinch hitter in the seventh inning of the second game, trailing 2-1. He admitted he didn't have his stuff.

Drysdale will pitch Sunday and, barring a Minnesota sweep, Koufax will face Kaat Sunday.

Dean Chance of the Los Angeles Angels expects to reach a pitching milestone this season - 1,000 innings. He needs 249 innings to reach that mark. Last year he worked 278 frames.

Hermleigh Falls To Bobcats 12-6

RULE — The Rule Bobcats used the long "bomb" and a scintilating punt return for two touchdowns to edge the Hermleigh Cardinals 12-6 in a non-district football game here Friday night. The win was the second against 3 losses for Rule, while Hermleigh now has an identical 2-3 record.

The Cardinals started off as though they were going to control things, marching 75 yards for a first-quarter score. Mike Peterson carried it over from six yards out. The try-for-point failed, but Hermleigh had a 6-0 lead which they held until the second half.

Rule tied it up in the 3rd quarter when Larry LeFevre gathered in a punt on his own 35 and raced 65 yards for a TD. The Bobcats also failed on their extra-point attempt and the score was tied.

The tie was broken in the final stanza when LeFevre took a pass from Johnny Westbrook and went all the way to score. The play covered 65 yards.

The Cardinal defense held Rule to only 65 yards rushing, but a leaky pass defense allowed the hosts to run up 144 yards in the air. Meanwhile Hermleigh racked up 105 yards on the ground and added 35 through the airways. The Cardinals also led in first downs 10-8.

The Cardinals will enjoy an open date next week as they prepare for their first district encounter October 23 when they journey to Bronte.

Gail Overpowers Flower Grove

FLOWER GROVE — The Gail Coyotes got back into the win column here Friday night by overpowering the Flower Grove Dragons 28-12 in a district 2-B 8-man football game. The victory brought Gail's season record to 2 wins and 3 losses, while in district play they are even with one win and one loss. Flower Grove is winless in season play.

Flower Grove took the lead in the first quarter when Howard broke a scoreless duel with a 45-yard touchdown run. The extra-point try failed, but the hosts had a 6-0 lead.

Minutes later Gail tied it up when Don Nunnally went around left end to cross into pay dirt. The Coyotes also failed on the extra point try and the score was knotted 6-all.

Flower Grove again took the lead in the second period when Howard scored his second TD on a 43-yard run, which gave the Dragons a 12-6 lead, which they still held at the end of the first half.

The second half belonged to the Coyotes as they wasted no time going ahead to stay. Quarterback Brant Payne sneaked over from the one-yard line to culminate a 60-yard drive, and Nunnally ran around right end for the extra points and a 14-12 lead.

In the waning moments of the 3rd period Kenny Hensley intercepted a Flower Grove pass and travelled 35 yards for a touchdown. David Lansford ran for the points.

The final Gail score came about midway of the 4th stanza when Lansford went in from 15 yards out. The point attempt failed but Gail had won the game 28-12.

Coach Jack Aldridge had high praise for his entire team, and especially was pleased with the defensive play of Ricky Cunningham, Larry Wallace and Hensley. He also had special praise for the offensive play of David Lansford, who was filling in for Tony Isaacs, who is out for the season. Lansford, who is a 182-pound sophomore, scored 8 points and gained 152 yards on 23 carries.

MAKES GAIN — Rick Hall (No. 40), Snyder halfback, scampers for short yardage in the District 3-AAA foot ball game at Sweetwater Friday night. Teammate Murry Bowden (No. 10) can be seen in the background. Closing in is Mustang tackle Buddy Price (No. 70) while halfback Mal Richards (No. 25) can be seen on the ground. Arnie Palmer Leads Ryder Cup Assault

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) — Arnie Palmer today took on his familiar role as Uncle Sam's top gun in world golf — and led the final American assault against the British in the battle for the Ryder Cup.

With the Americans leading 9-7 and 16 singles matches to come, the Latrobe, Pa., star was flung straight into the front line of the firing line and was named to play Britain's Jimmy Hitchcock in the first match of the day.

Hitchcock was a second choice, substituted by the British for the ailing Christy O'Connor. Going straight in against Palmer, he had the toughest job of the day.

Palmer was for part of the way at his scintillating best Friday, when the Americans got their noses in front by winning four four-ball foursomes, losing two and halving two.

Palmer and his partner, Dave Marr of Larchmoont, N.Y., hammered O'Connor and Peter Alliss 6 and 4 in the morning, with Arnie making a stream of birdies. In the afternoon Palmer's putting was off and O'Connoro and Alliss won by two holes.

Palmer was still the idol of the 14,000 persons who thronged the 7,037-yard, par-73 Royal Birkdale links — the course where he won the British Open in 1961.

Today, the Americans needed only to break even to win the cup for the 13th time in 16 meetings between the two countries.

If Palmer did what was expected of him, beat Hitchcock, the British were going to be in a tough spot indeed.

The matches have been desperately close thus far, and for the American team only Tommy Jacobs of Denver, Colo., came through the two days with a perfect record. He was left out of the line-up on Thursday, but Friday he helped Don January of Dallas, Tex., chalk up two victories over Dave Thomas, the big driving Welshman, and Scotland's Georoge Will.

Jacobs and Thomas were paired against each other in the singles today.

Tony Lema of Marco Island, Fla., meets Peter Butler — the Englishman with the hot putter.

Also on this morning's schedule were Julius Boros, of Southern Pines, N.C., vs. Lionel Platts; Marr vs. Neil Coles, Gene Littler of La Jolla, Calif., vs. Bernard Hunt, Billy Casper of San Diego, Calif., vs. Alliss, and January vs. Will.

Will Celtics Lose Crown?

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Basketball Association opens its 20th season on Friday and once again the question is: Will the Boston Celtics be dethroned?

The Celtics, under new ownership but with Red Aurbach still coach, will be shooting for their eighth straight NBA championship, their ninth in 10 years and their 10th straight Eastern Division title.

Last season the Celtics finished the 80-game regular session with a record 62 victories against 18 defeats, then overcame the Philadelphia 76ers and the Los Angeles Lakers in the playoffs for the championship.

The retirement of Tommy Heinsohn, plus a series of injuries have made the Celtics vulnerable. Bill Russell, Boston's $100,080-a-year center; Willie Naulls, John Havlicek, Tom anders, Mel Counts and Ron Bonham all have been hurt.

They lost six straight exhibition games and who remembers such a losing streak for the Celtics?

"We just aren't in shape because od the injuries," Auerbach said recently. "At first it was almost funny the way we were getting hit, but now it's serious."

The Celtics open the season home Saturday night against the Cincinnati Royals. The Royals play at home in one of the two opening games on Friday night, against the St. Louis Hawks.

In the other opener Friday the Lakers, also under new ownership but again featuring Jerry West and Elgin Baylor, play at San Francisco against the Warriors. Rick Barry, the All-America from Miami of Florida, is expected to make his pro debut for the Warriors.

The other teams play their first game Saturday night. In addition to theRoyals-Celtics at Boston, Detroit is at New York, Philadelphia, with its $100,000 center Wilt Chamberlain, is at Balimore and the Lakers are at St. Louis.

Lee Eleven Wins, 27-0

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Robert E. Lee remained undefeated, untied, and unscored upon Friday night as the Volunteers defeated the Austin's S. F. Austin, 27-0.

The Lee team scored long runs and came up with six pass interceptions to stave off the previously undefeated Maroons.

Pat Sheehan had touchdown runs of 8, 64 and 65 yards, his final jaunt coming with just six seconds showing on the clock. That tally gave Lee 240 points for non-conference play—exactly the number of minutes played so far.

In the 21-0 first half with the Volunteers marched the length of the field three times, and gave the ball up only once, that on a pass interception.

Austin made its best bid in the second period, moving to the Lee 5 yard line behind the passing of David Barbour, who was finding receivers open on the flanks. But the Lee line held the Maroons inches shy of a first down and started the Volunteers on a 95 yard scoring drive.

Coach, Wife Hospitalized

AUSTIN (AP) — Three persons died and two others were injured late Friday in a head-on collision one mile west of Austin.

Dead at the scene on Farm 2244 were Allen Curry, 43, of Houston; Bernice Wright, 51, and Horace Edell Wright, 56, both of Austin.

In Brackenridge Hospital here with broken legs were Betty Lee Hart, 33, and Dan Hart, 33, both of Houston.

Bernice Wright was the wife of Horace Wright.

Hart is football coach at Kincaid High School and a former Rice star. He was in fair condition with a broken arm. His wife underwent surgery for possible internal injuries. She had two broken arms and was in serious condition.

Hart's football team beat St. Stephen's High School 24-6 here shortly before the crash.

Police said Curry was alone in his auto.

Police Seek Early Trial In Murder Case

DALLAS (AP) — Police officials pushed today for a pre-Thanksgivng Day trial for William Samples Marshall after the Dallas County Grand Jury indicted him for the rape-murder of a school girl.

An Oct. 18 trial date was set Friday following an emotoional hearing before District Judge John Mead. Defense attorneys appeared sure, however, of at least one postponement.

Police discounted reports of a possible accomplice in the brutal crime. They reportedly were investigating the possibility that another man—a passerby—saw Marshall at the crime scene.

Marshall, 3, denied rape and murder of a teen-ager but told newsmen he was "pretty well doped up" and did not remember

Judy Ann Fogle, 16, collapsed in a courthouse corridor Friday after she told the grand jury of the 20-hours of terror in which she was held prisoner and Wanda Burgess, 15, was shot to death.

Marshall's mother wept in court a few hours later as Judge Mead appointed George Milner and William Watts to defend her son and attempt to save him from conviction and possible death sentence.

"Let me touch my baby," she cried as they led the dark-haired, unshaven man from the courtroom.

Moments later, Marshall's step-father hit WBAP-TV photographer Bob Welch and knocked his camera to the hallway floor. The mother led him away before further incidents.

Assisant Dist. Atty. Bill Alexander, chief criminal prosecutor for the district attorneys office, is expected to lead the case against Marshall.

The suspect hid his face in his hands when he appeared in court.

Marshall, a two-time former convict for burglary, was seized nude and asleep in a car on an Oak Cliff street early Thursday after Judy escaped and summoned help at a nearby house.

She later led police to a country lane three miles south of Lancaster where the body of her slain friend was found in a shallow ditch.

Wanda Sue had been bludgeoned about the head, but the medical examiner said she was killed by a single bullet in the head.

Combat Troops May Use Air Mail Free

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has approved and sent to the Senate a bill to provide free air mail service to American troops in combat areas.

The bill also would require the Defense Department to fly parcel post packages to men in combat areas. Senders would pay only the surface rate to the port of embarkation.

The Pentagon objected to the parcel post provision, saying it would take up needed airlift capacity for a low priority cargo at heavy increase in cost over the sea transportation now used.

Students Slate 3 Performances Of 'Brigadoom'

Three performances of Alan Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe's award - winning Broadway musical, "Brigadoon," will be presented Oct. 28, 29, and 30 by the high school Choral and Drama Departments in the high school auditorium.

The show will be the first musical presentation by the high school since the spring of 1962 when Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Carousel" was performed.

Lead roles will be portrayed by Powers Boothe as Tommy Albright, Kay Pitner as Fiona MacLaren, Jackie Beane as Jeff Douglas, and Debra Norton as Meg Brockie.

Directed by Jim Casey, choral director, and Gerald Gafford, drama coach, "Brigadoon" relates the tale of a magic Scottish village which comes to life every hundred years and disappears after a single day.

Two American adventurers, Tommy and Jeff, find Brigadoon on a day when a wedding is to take place. The old village schoolmaster tells the story of the town to Tommy. In 1747 a miracle happened which permitted the village to hibernate except for one day in each century. The miracle would cease, [illegible]

Other principal roles will be played by Sharrylon Ator, Janeen Clements, Robbie Wesson, Gary Walton, Wayne Anderson, Jackie Walton, Bill DeKnight, George Norris, Drake Snyder, and Gary Sutton.

Members of the chorus are Janet Womack, Brenda Featherston, Bill DeKnight, Sarry Guillum, George Norris, Sharon Barfoot, Austin Sutton, Debra Ellington, and Yvonne Sanders.

Other singers are Sandy Welborn, Penny Blythe, Vernon Moore, Danny Stokes, Tommy Wooldridge, and Helen Ward.

"Brigadoon" opened in New York at the Ziegfield Theater March 13, 1947. Choreographed by Agnes de Mille and staged by Robert Lewis, the show closed July 31, 1948, after a run of 581 performances.

Called a "whimsical musical fantasy," the show won the New York Critics' Circle Award for the best musical of 1947 and was the only musical of its time to win 100 per cent of the critical opinion of New York.

Lerner and Loewe claim among their successes the musicals "Paint Your Wagon," "My Fair Lady," "Gigi," and "Camelot."

Tickets are currently being sold by members of the Choral and Drama Departments. Prices are $1 for students, $1.50 for adults, and $2 for reserved seats. Ticket information may be informed by calling Mr. Casey at the high school at HI 3-6301.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

MEXICO CITY — It has become very fashionable to write about life's ups and downs. Things like books about "The Rise and Fall of The Third Reich," "The Decline And Fall of the Roman Empire" and "The Short Rise and Heavy Thud of Early Missiles."

Consequently, I have decided to write a book about Mexico which will include the rise and fall of everything in general. And the title, based on Dr. Sigmund Blott's famous theory, will be "Everything That Goes Up Comes Down Unless It Stays In Orbit."

To begin with, let's take the Yucatan Peninsula which was the site of the great Mayan Empire. In official literature on this region, we take careful note of numerous things.

Traveling around Mayaland (it says) one passes through the picturesque towns of Tahmek, Hoctun, Xocchel, Kantunil, Holca, Yokdzonot, Holactun and Tixkokob.

Now these places were founded during the "Katun 6 Ahua" which on the Maya yard stick was 435-455 A.D. our time. A "Katun" was a period of 20 years in case you are curious.

Anyhow, it was a scorching day in September when King Dzuz the Fierce was walking around his territory with a group of warriors inspecting the lay of the land and shooting lizards.

The king turned to one of his warlords and asked in a sort of Edward G. Robinson tone, "What time is it, Otto?"

"Any time you want it to be, Sire," replied the warlord. They all had a tremendous respect for the king's wishes and the fact that his spear was three royal feet longer than anybody else's.

"That's reasonable," said the king. "We'll rest up here a few days and build a town. Call the historian over."

The historian came trotting up and saluted.

"Son," the king said, "take note of this. Here, on the fourth day of the second week of the eighth month of Katun 6 Ahua at one thirty P.M. Central Standard, we Mayas built a town called Xocchel".

"How do you spell Xocchel, oh Mighty Sovereign?"

The king looked fiercely at the historian and remarked, "listen, we are an early civilization and haven't even developed an alphabet yet. How should I know about spelling — write it with X's."

"So be it, Sire", said the historian, who was not too bright. "Do I write it with chicken ekks or duck ekks?"

Naturally, the king had him shot for this howler. But that gives you a rough idea of how towns were named in Katun 6 Ahua.

Then, in the evening the king and his troops would sit around a fire eating roast jaguar and discussing science and history.

"Gentlemen", the king would say, "we are a rising people who one day will build a mighty empire, gorgeous pyramids and even develop astronomy".

One of the princes would nod and say, "your wisdom is unequaled, oh Celestial One, but an empire that rises will go plunk- Dr. Blott's Law.

The king turned to the high priest and asked, "how do you see the situation, Xiu?

"King," Xiu would say, each comes only to that which is forgotten. You notice our surface rock is calcareous and the yearly rains seep through this level until the water reaches a waterproof pocket? The pyramids and cities we build will remain here even unto the time of Johnson, and then some.

"Break out the cactus Scotch and let's get high", the king would shout.

Obviously the Mayas got high enough to stay in a permanent orbit. Because — everything is still there, just like Xiu predicted.

John Gavin Has Surprise Ace-In-Hole

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — John Gavin, like the guy who watched his mother-in-law drive his expensive car over a cliff, is a man of mixed emotions.

Gavin is the star of NBC-TV's new naval series "Convoy" which got clobered in the early ratings.

Naturally, like any television star, he wants his series to succeed. But if it doesn't, he has an ace in the hole dealt oddly enough while he was on the road plugging "Convoy."

"You might say a funny thing happened to me on the way to meet the NBC bosses," says Gavin.

He stopped off in Cleveland to plug his show on the Mike Douglas television show.

"Vic Damone was the guest of the week and Vivian Blaine and I were the guests for the day.

"Douglas almost knocked me off my feet when he asked if I would sing with Vivian — and with no rehearsal.

"And to top it off, he picked 'You're Just in Love,' from 'Call Me Madam.' You know the one where the boy sings different words than the girl?

"It's the toughest song there is and I had never sung before without water running on my back.

"But I got through it okay. It was the first time I had ever sung publicly."

One of the viewers of the show was producer Leland Hayward who is going to make a Broadway musical out of the movie "Roman Holiday."

"The next day I got a call from Leland asking me if I would be interested in playing the Greg Peck part on Broadway. He liked my singing."

Gavin asked for a few days grace before making an answer.

"I came back here and found out who the best voice coach is in town. I went to him and told him that I wanted him to give me an honest appraisal; and that it wouldn't hurt my feelings if he told me the bitter truth.

"He listened and told me I could sing and that I could easily carry a Broadway show. I immediately figured that he was telling me this so he could get my business.

"Then he told me he couldn't handle any more students and that I'd have to get another coach.

"So now I'm studying singing — and watching the television ratings.

"If the show goes off, Broadway, here I come."

To Stand Trial

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Elvin Stewart, 37, of Denver will stand trial for the March 1963 murder of Texas socialite Jane Langdon.

A date will be set later.

Justice of the Peace Charales Coppock made his ruling Friday.

Miss Langdon, 21, was a TCU student and daughter of Judge Jack Langdon.

Stewart has been serving a four to six-year prison sentence in Arizona.

December-May Match Has Good Chance In Hollywood

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Some may have been shocked when Frank Sinatra, 49, went yachting with Mia Farrow, 19 — and Cary Grant, 61, wed Dyan Cannon, 27, a few months ago.

It didn't stir Hollywood much. That's because many December-May marriages in Hollywood have worked out well.

Linda Christian sums it up this way:

"I was 17 when Errol Flynn discovered me in Mexico. Then he brought me to Hollywood and by the time I was 18, I was too old for him."

George Jessel, who describes himself as the act that was to follow John Wilkes Booth at Ford's Theater the night Lincoln was shot, once had a 16-year-old wife.

His buddy, comic Lou Holtz, became a father twice after the age of 70 by a wife many decades his junior.

"I got more fame as a father," says Lou, "than I ever did in all my years of show business."

Edward G. Robinson was 64 when he married dress designer Jane Adler, 38. That was 1958. He is now 71 and still happily married.

Xavier Cugat was 51 when he married Abbe Lane, 19. The marriage lasted 12 years, a long pairing by show business standards.

Two show business veterans — Rudy Vallee and Milton Berle — both are happily married to much younger women. Vallee, a veteran of World War 1, is 27 years older than his wife while Berle is 15 years older than his.

One of the most successful marriages is that of Bing Crosby and Kathy Grant. Bing was 53 and Kathy 23 when they married in 1957. Bing, who had four sons by his first wife, now has two boys and a girl by Kathy.

Jimmy Durante was 51 when he first met Marge Little, a 23-year-old New York showgirl. He went with her for 16 years and married her in 1960. Now Durante, 72, and his red-haired wife have a cute baby daughter.

"Imagine Durante warming milk at 2 a.m.? It's mortifyin'," he says, but admits that he's enjoying the happiest years of his life.

One of the most durable of the May-December marriages is that of Charlie Chaplin, then 54, and Oona O'Neil, daughter of Eugene and then 17. Charlie is now 76 and Oona is still mad about him. They have eight children.

What's the reason for the cradle-snatching?

Hollywood men not only are young in looks, they are young in heart. Sinatra is hipper than any teen-ager. They speak his language, not he theirs.

One of the happiest Hollywood marriages was of Humphrey Bogart and Lauren Bacall. Bogie was 25 years her senior. Bogie's previous marriages to women nearer his own age had been stormy.

In Hollywood, many young actors take themselves much too seriously. Actress Joan Caulfield said one day: "I would never marry a young Hollywood actor. What woman wants to race for the mirror every morning?"

Even Elizabeth Taylor was not immune to the appeal of older men. Two of the happiest — while they lasted — of her five marriages were to Michael Wilding and Michael Todd.

Both were decades older. Todd was killed in a plane crash and Wilding is now agent for Elizabeth and Richard Burton.

Debbie Reynolds and Eddie Fisher, both teen-age idols, didn't hit it off as man and wife. But Debbie is now happily wed to Harry Karl, 17 years her senior.

One of the most solid marriages in town is that of John Wayne and his Pilar. Duke has 22 years on his pretty Peruvian wife. But Pilar comments: "Duke is really much younger than I."

Not all May-December marriages work out.

Zsa Zsa Gabor was 36 years younger than hotelman Conrad Hilton and it wasn't the age difference that bothered her.

"I was in Conrad's arms on our wedding night and he was very thoughtful," she recalls. "I asked him what he was thinking about. He told me: 'I was thinking I would like to buy the Blackstone Hotel in Chicago.'"

Not all such marriages favor the men. Sybil Burton didn't wait for too many years when Richard left her for a younger woman. Sybil married a 24-year-old rock 'n' roll singer.

Both of Lucille Ball's marriages have been to men several years her junior. Her first lasted a long time but she finally broke up with Desi Arnaz. Of her current marriage to comedian Gary Morton, she says: "It's a whole, wonderful new life and I've never been happier."

Hectic Day Reported By Dallas Police

By PEGGY SIMPSON

DALLAS (AP) — A frenzied Dallas police force dealt Friday night with many of the quarter of a million people expected at the State Fair of Texas opening Saturday.

"It was like the whole world had climbed into cars and converged on us," one policeman said.

It was the annual honk and holler session before the Texas-Oklahoma football game in the Cotton bowl.

A young Dallas man died about 3 a.m. when his car loaded with friends hit a bridge abutment of the Stemmons freeway. He was Douglas Burton, 23. Miss Dorothy Ann Ebrey, 18, was critically injured.

In an all-night restaurant, one youth stabbed another. Parkland Hospital said Ronnie Richard, 22, of Dallas was in critical condition.

"Cars were bumper-to-bumper four lanes across on the three main streets downtown and all the side street," a policeman said. "The whole place looked like one big parking lot—with people hanging out the windows screaming 'hook 'em horns.'"

In general, though, it was quiet as Texas-Oklahoma weekends go.

Police arrested 31 persons by dawn — "95 per cent on drunk or creating a disturbance charges," a policeman said.

Beer and liquor bottles were clutched tightly by thousands of merry - makers pushing down the streets. In previous years, the big sport was throwing bottles ouot hotel windows at pedestrians.

Secret Service There —Even In Surgery!

WASHINGTON (AP) — Not all those impressive figures in green surgical gowns and masks in the presidential operating room went to medical school. Some were Secret Service agents.

White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers disclosed that the Secret Service carried its vigilance practically to the operating table by stationing two men — properly costumed — in the room throughout the 2¼ hour operation.

When either agent left the room, another green-gowned colleague slipped into his place. Outside were numerous other Secret Servicemen on the job to ensure Johnson's safety.

Railroad Commission Reports On Drilling

AUSTIN (AP) — The Railroad Commission reported Saturday that 123 oil wells were completed during the week, bringing the year total to 5,374, compared to 6,521 last year.

Gas well completions totaled 14. The year total is 2,013, or 136 less than last year.

A total of 170 wells were plugged, including 109 dry holes. Six oil wildcat and one gas well were drilled during the week.

Two Die In Crash

BURLESON, Tex. (AP) — A head-on crash one mile south of here killed two opersons Friday night. They were William Hyjek, 24, of Fort Worth and David Davis, a University of Texas student from Odessa. Monty Harrell of Fort Worth was seriously injured.

Texan To Head Little Rock Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Marlin, Tex., native, who began working for the Veterans Administration in Waco in 1935, has been appointed director of the VA Hospital at Little Rock, Ark.

Dr. Lee G. Sewall, 58, will replace Dr. Harold W. Sterling, who is retiring. Sewall has been director of the Perry Point, Md., Hospital since 1957. He will continue to receive a salary of $24,175 a year.

Ladies Lose 4 Tons

CINCINNATI (AP) — About 1,000 southern Ohio women who have collectively lost more than four tons since this spring are meeting today and the best losers will be declared winners.

They're members of TOPS — Take Off Pounds Sensibly — who graduate into KOPS — Keep Off Pounds Sensibly — when they achieve a goal of losing so much weight. The meeting is highlighted by the graduation of 53 women into KOPS and a bathing beauty contest for KOPS members.

Grant Teaff To Speak At Homecoming Rally Friday

Grant Teaff, head football coach at McMurry College in Abilene, will be in Snyder Friday to speak at a pep rally and assembly honoring Snyder High School 1965 football players and ex-students. The rally is set for 2:30 p.m. in the high school gym.

Teaff himself is an ex Snyder High school student having graduated in 1950. He lettered in football, basketball and was co-captain of both teams. He was all - district basketball player and won the Carl Herod Most Outstanding Football player award while at Snyder High. He was president of the 1950 student body.

After high school, Grant entered San Angelo Junior College in 1951 and played football two years there. He was co-captain of his football team. He next entered McMurry College and played tackle the 1953-54 and 55 seasons. He was named to the All-Texas Conference 2nd team in 1954 and the 1st team in 1955. He also earned a spot on the Dallas Morning News All-Texas College team in 1955. During his McMurry days, Teaff earned extra money working as a radio disk jockey and a television director. He majored in physical education, was vice president of his 1954-55 senior class, as well as being student council vice president that year. He was named to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities in 1954-55. He graduated in 1956 with a bachelors degree.

Having earned his masters degree in education from McMurry in 1957, Teaff was hired as McMurry's line coach after coaching for one year in the Lubbock Public School system where he was an assistant football coach. He became McMurry track coach in 1958 and head football coach in the spring of 1960.

Teaff is a past president of Abilene Optimist Club; co-coach for Texas All-Stars in the Oil Bowl Game in Wichita Falls, 1964; coached the Green Belt Bowl in Childress and successfully won the bowl in 1965. He is a distinguished lecturer.

Teaff refereed the 42nd annual Southwestern Recreational Track Meet in 1965. He is secretary to the NAIA Coaches Association. He has coached national champion track stars Bill Miller, broad jumper and David Bonds, hurdler - both McMurry products.

Teaff is married to the former Donell Phillips, a Texas Tech graduate. They have three girls, Teresa, 8, Tammy, 5, and three month old Teri. They make their home in Abilene.

Duke In Houston For Medical Tests

HOUSTON (AP) — The Duke of Windsor will return to Houston's Methodist Hospital for medical tests Tuesday, 10 months after major surgery on the main artery leading from his heart.

Dr. Michael E. DeBakey, renowned heart surgeon who performed the operation last December, will conduct the tests Wednesday morning.

The duke also will golf with Jimmy Demaret, tour the Manned Spacecraft Center and attend two private dinner parties while in Houston. He is scheduled to leave early Friday.

Something For Free Has Real Appeal

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The lure of something for nothing has its attraction for the educated as well as for the ignorant.

At the West Tennessee Education Association meeting in Memphis Friday a school supplies manufacturer laid out 200 of last year's calendars with a sign saying they were free. All were gone within 10 minutes.

Special Education Unit To Be Featured On Program

West Elementary unit of Snyder schools' special education program will hold the spotlight on the schools' telecast Monday evening. This program will be broadcast through SCAT facilities between 6:30 and 7 p.m. and may be viewed on Channel 2. A 10-minute school - wide newscast will precede the special education feature.

Central wing of the West Elementary school has been converted into a school for children with learning disabilities. These children are not mentally retarded, the schools' instructors point out, but perhaps suffer from slight brain injury, are emotionally disturbed or may have a specific reading disability. The individual child is trained to the limits of his or her own potentiality.

One of the first things these children experience in this new school is special training to develop good coordination. A large room is equipped for these special exercises.

Mrs. Maurine Robinson is well qualified through both special training and experience to be director of special education according to Dr. Robert Clinton, superintendent. The Snyder facilities include two separate buildings. The one in conjunction with West Elementary school, and the second, the recently dedicated Humble - Smith school located across the street and directly south.

Mrs. Robinson will give the philosophy and overview of special education on Monday's program. She will also tell of classroom work afforded children in the intermediate department and will discuss the reading clinic she conducts, both part of the special education school which is situated in the West Elementary building.

Bob Womack, principal of West Elementary, will discuss the integration of special education into the regular classrooms. Dub Harbour, in charge of the junior high school unit, will explain the pre - vocational training phase offered in this school.

Other school personnel to appear on Monday's feature will include Mrs. Dorothy Ratliff, assistant teacher to Mrs. Robinson and secretary for the special education department, and Mrs. Gussie Gray, teacher of primary work in the school.

Present enrollment in the West Elementary unit of special education is 42 students. Four to six more children are expected to be transferred from other elementary schools in the system to West Elementary, after completion of careful screening, to participate in the reading clinic. These children will enter regular classrooms in West Elementary, where they will have easy access to the special reading clinic at the new school.

At Humble - Smith school, the children not eligible for regular classroom work will profit by being taught self - help skills, social skills and minimal economic efficiency. At this school, children are taught the simple rudiments of living with and in society. These children learn to do simple household chores such as sweep a floor, wash dishes and set a table. They are taught self-care. Emphasis is placed on teaching them to get along with other children. The school provides these children with a home like atmosphere. Mrs. Joy Loyd is instructor of these trainable handicapped children. Mrs. Irene Martinez aids Mrs. Loyd in their care.

Jim Erwin, coordinator for the child services program for all Snyder elementary schools, will work with the personnel of the special education schools. Mr. Erwin, elementary counselor, coordinates activities of special services including speech therapists and school nurses in the seven elementary schools. Mrs. Barbara Bigham and Miss Betty Buckner, speech therapists, will include special educations schools in their schedules. School nurses will also be involved with this new school program.

Members of the high school advanced speech class will again participate in Monday's newscast. These students will include Donna Davis, master of ceremonies and reporter for school administration; Lora Pinkerton, news commentator for the high school; Mike Stephens, who will bring news highlights from the two junior high schools; and Lloyd Polk, who will give news coverage for the elementary schools.

School technicians to be working behind the scenes Monday evening are Tom Love, Glenn Arnold, Robbie Wesson and Herbert Eades. Ed Pitt, the school's technical director, will again be on hand. Cy Thompson, SCAT engineer, is assisted by the school group.

Miss Carolyn Payne's journalism classes are responsible for collecting news from the various schools. Miss Payne directs the news casts.

The TV programs are being planned in advance. The program to be presented on Monday evening, Oct. [illegible], will present members of the cast of the high school musical, "Brigadoon." This play is to be staged Oct. 28-30 in the high school auditorium.

Six-Day Job With Sundays In Jail

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — For the next year Ralph A. Clary, 21, will work six days a week to support his widowed mother. On Sundays he'll be in the Baltimore County jail.

Judge John Grason Turnbull imposed the sentence Friday.

Clary, a stock clerk at a sporting goods store, was convicted of stealing a car, drunken driving and driving without a license.

Road Deaths Down

AUSTIN (AP) — State police said 2,065 persons had died in Texas traffic to noon Friday, compared to 2,144 last year.

GRADUATES—Marine Private J. Malcolm Bolger, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Edward Bolger of Snyder, was graduated recently from Marine recruit training at Parris Island, S. C. During his eight weeks of recruit training, Pvt. Bolger learned small arms marksmanship, bayonet fighting and methods of self-protection, and also received training in military drill, history and traditions of the Marine Corps and other academic subjects. He has been assigned to Camp Lejeune, N. C. for at least four weeks of advanced infantry combat.

School May Offer Plan For Grads

DALLAS (AP) — University of Texas regents approved Friday plans for Arlington State College to begin its graduate program in the fall of 1966.

If the new Coordinating Board of Colleges and Universities agrees, Arlington will offer programs leading to masters degrees in seven fields. They are economics, psychology, mathematics, physics, electrical engineering, mechanical engineering, and engineering mechanics.

The regents also appointed Dr. Frank Harrison as associate dean for graduate development at Arlington. Harrison has held a similar position with the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School.

The board took under advisement a recommendation from medical school officials for expansion involving millions of dollars.

Dr. A. J. Gill, dean of the medical school, said the present 386,000 square feet of space occupied by the school is below the minimum basic requirements for a modern four-year medical school.

PROCLAMATION
School Lunch Week
October 10-16, 1965

WHEREAS, the United States Congress and the President of the United States have declared School Lunch Week for the Nation; and

WHEREAS, the School Lunch program in Texas makes possible a nutritionally adequate lunch in 3133 Texas schools and serves approximately 735,000 school children daily; and

WHEREAS, the School Lunch Program in Texas currently represents a $52,000,000.00 industry which greatly benefits the state's economy by using many Texas agricultural products; and

WHEREAS, the School Lunch Program provides employment for thousands of our citizens in the local communities and the recognized success of this program is due in large measure to the faithful and effective work of these school lunch employees;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, M. L. Broman, Mayor of Snyder, do hereby proclaim the week of October 10-16, 1965, as SCHOOL LUNCH WEEK and to urge all citizens, teachers, school administrators and parents to learn more about the School Lunch Program and its significant role in the education, health and well-being of the youth in Texas and to give this program their support and interest.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto subscribed my name and placed my seal on this 6th day of October, 1965.

(s) M. L. Broman, Mayor
City of Snyder

Phy-Durham Marriage Vows Read

Miss Rebecca Charlene Durham of San Angelo became the bride of Edwin Gale Phy, Jr. of Snyder Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m., September 26th, in the chapel of the First Christian Church in San Angelo.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Durham K. Durham, 1609 South Madison, San Angelo. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Gale Phy of Snyder.

Officiant was the Rev. Dr. Richard W. Crews, pastor.

Mrs. Phy wore a street-length dress of beige lace over taffeta. Yellow accessories complimented her costume. She carried a traditional colonial bouquet of champagne French carnations centered with a white Cattalaya orchid. Her going away corsage was the white orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The bride, a graduate of San Angelo Central High School, has attended San Angelo College. At SACHS she served as head cheerleader and belonged to the National Honor Society and Pheta Tri-Hi-Y. She was class favorite also. At SAC she was a cheerleader and was listed on the dean's honor roll.

The bridegroom was graduated from Snyder High School and attended SAC. At SHS he was a member of the varsity football squad two years and a member of the varsity basketball team three years. He was a delegate to Boy's State in 1961-62. Presently he is a student at San Angelo State College and is attending Texas National Guard Officers Candidate School at Austin.

Mr. and Mrs. Phy are home at 302 W. Harris in San Angelo.

A new Brownie Troop has been formed for Stanfield Elementary School. Mrs. Barbara Newman is its leader and Mrs. JoAnne Nunley the assistant leader.

Mrs. Lou Neves is leader of a Stanfield Brownie Troop and her new assistant is Mrs. Joyce Craig.

Both these troops met on Thursdays at the Girl Scout House.

Bowl Chair Made For High Hems

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — Found at last, a chair in which the girl with the short-short skirt can sit in comfort and confidence that she isn't exposing large areas of epidermis.

With some hems hiked three, four and five inches above the knees, looking decent while sitting down has become a feat of acrobatic proportions.

But no longer.

Designed by Robin Sanberg, the revolutionary chair has no legs, and it looks like one half of a giant honeydew melon.

"I am an advanced sitter," said Sanberg, explaining himself and his chair. "People like to move when they're sitting, but at the same time they like something static to support them.

"Getting into this new chair can be a bit tricky. It can tip you out if you're not careful, but once in it it's amazingly relaxing and comfortable."

Explaining that he and his associates had dispensed with the legs entirely, Sanberg said: "We made the chair from a half-hemisphere of glass fibre and then upholstered it with foam in 12 petal-shaped sections covered by a fabric woven especially for us."

The chair is weighted on one side so the sitter will know how and where to get into it.

The designers also sell a rosewood base to go with the chair. This anchors the chair. Otherwise the sitter can swing about in it as freely as in a swivel chair.

Model Ann Norman, who demonstrated the avant garde sitting apparatus, said: "It's super when you get the hang of it, and you're so near the ground it's very difficult to look indecent."

The makers think their upholstered bowl has a great future — especially with skirts going higher all the time.

For perfect deep - fat dried chicken, choose a broiler - fryer that weighs no more than two pounds; have the chicken cut in serving-size pieces rather than in quarters.

Better Quality Can Save Money

If you're planning a major home improvement, it pays to use high-quality materials. It's often more economical in the long run.

Home improvement experts note that labor costs for installing premium - grade materials i na home are frequently about the same as for materials of lesser quality. The longer life expectancy of the materials, however, may make them more economical on a per-year-of-life basis.

Heavyweight asphalt roof shingles, for example, are applied the same way as standard weight shingles, so the installation cost is about the same. But since heavy-weight shingles last longer, look better and increase the resale value of a home, many homeowners consider them a better investment.

Contrasts Vast In Rural China

REPORT FROM A CHINESE VILLAGE. By Jan Myrdal.

The author, a Swedish anthropologist (son of Gunar Myrdal, who wrote the famous work "An American Dilemma") presents here a unique documentary account, fascinating in its cumulative effect, of one segment of contemporary China.

He and his wife, after visiting in China for four months, were given permission to live in a small village and talk with its people for one month, from mid-August to mid-September of 1962.

He chose Liu Ling, in China's heartland of northern Shensi, where the peasants prefer to cut their cave-like houses into the hillsides and a village of 50 households and 212 persons.

Myrdal operates as a sociologist compiling the first-person narratives of many individuals, letting the reader draw his own conclusions. He considers his book as an "instrument" for use in conjunction with other writings about the Chinese.

Don't skip the introduction, for it puts the whole interviewing process in perspective. For example, Myrdal examines meticulously his own techniques and approach, even to the point of explaining how he felt an identification with the peasants of Liu Ling because of his peasant ancestry in Sweden.

In Part One the author assembles the relevant sociological background of the village, its modes of living and working, its changing customs and such matters as mean temperatures and the prices of consumer goods at a nearby market. Then he proceeds with the individual stories.

These are people of both sexes and many ages, and their stories sometimes are at variance. They include old revolutionaries who remember the war with Japan and the emergence of the Red Army; younger "ganbus" who are professional administrators of the Communist regime or the local cooperatives; teachers, housewives and workers in a labor brigade; a former counter - revolutionary who is tolerated but not fully accepted; a visiting young intellectual.

There emerges an agricultural microcosm of tremendous contrasts - from cave-building to radio receivers. It would be impossible to find an American counterpart of this village, even if you poked into a mountain crossroads where folk songs of Elizabethan origin have been handed down to feuding moonshiners. For Liu Ling has been through far greater social and ideological changes, from pagan superstitition and the binding of women's feet to the tactics of guerrilla warfare and propaganda machines.

Myrdal says he wants "the reader to doubt, to think, to utilize my work in order to understand and interpret what is happening in China . . "

His book is both a revelation and a challenge to readers who want to know what daily life is like in a peasant village where Oriental Marxism sows its seeds in an ancient soil.

Electra Had Complexes

ELECTRA. By Gladys Schmidt.

Among the varying myths that surround the bloody, ancient house of Atreus, Miss Schmidt has chosen her own approach to the story of Agamemnon's daughter Electra.

It is a modern approach, a fictional study of the psychological pressures behind the dire deeds at the citadel of Nycenae.

In the etched black and white of Greek drama, the situation was that while Agamemnon was busy at the seige of Troy, his queen Clytemnestra became the paramour of Aegisthus. When Agamemnon came home from the wars, they killed him. So virtuous Electra prodded her brother Orestes into a vengeful slaying of the two lovers.

In this novel there are significant grays to offset the stark outlines of the legend.

The author presents Electra as a volatile and immature young woman, with too close an affinity for her brother. She is the last to discover the adultery — Orestes had fled when he had learned of it — and when Agamemnon returns to the citadel she resolves to expose the story, but indecisively postpones her warning. The result is Agamemnon's death from the knife of Aegisthus — and Electra barely escapes a similar fate.

Miss Schmidt makes Clytemnestra's unfaithfulness understandable by portraying Agamemnon as a better worrior-king than a husband. And what of the lovers after the murder? There is a very modern touch on this point, when the blood guilt shakes Clytemnestra and Aegisthus in a tragic way.

The author's strong talent as a writer of historical fiction lies in her ability to give modern illumination to times past. She has lifted Electra's story from a mustily classical pattern of prescribed vengeance to the modern pulse of psychological tragedy.

Scalloped Cabbage With Cheese

1½ quarts water
1 tablespoon salt
3 quarts chopped cabbage
1-3 cup butter
¼ cup flour
Dash, pepper
1 1-3 cups milk
1 1-3 cups grated process American cheese
2 2-3 cups soft bread crumbs
1-3 cup chopped pimiento

Combine water and 2 teaspoons of the salt in a (2 gallon) saucepan; bring to a boil. Add cabbage to rapidly boiling water, making sure that water entirely covers the cabbage; cook uncovered for 5 minutes; drain off water. Place blanched cabbage in a (9 inch) square baking pan. Melt 3 tablespoons of the butter in a saucepan; add flour, remaining 1 teaspoon salt and pepper. Stir in milk and cook slowly for five minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat; add cheese and stir until blended. Pour cheese sauce over cabbage. Melt remaining butter; add soft bread crumbs and pimiento. Sprinkle bread crumb-pimiento topping over cheese sauce. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for twenty minutes.

Yield: 8-9 servings.

Sherried Cabbage Fondue

1 quart chopped raw cabbage
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
1 teaspoon sugar
1-3 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
¼ cup chopped pimiento
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
¼ cup slivered almonds
8 slices enriched bread, crusts removed
3 eggs
1½ cups milk
1-3 cup Sherry
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon paprika

Combine cabbage, onion and sugar in a (2 quart) saucepan with enough water to cover. Cover and bring to a boil; simmer for three minutes. Drain well. Stir mayonnaise, pimiento, mustard and almonds into drained cabbage. Cut bread slices into halves. Arrange 8 half-slices of bread in a greased (8 inch) square baking dish. Spread cabbage mixture over bread; top with remaining half-slices of bread. Beat eggs and milk together; add Sherry, salt and pepper and pour over bread and cabbage. Sprinkle paprika over top. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for forty-five minutes, or until puffed and lightly browned.

Yield: 8-9 servings.

ON THE HOUSE

Johnny and Jane often come home from well - lighted class-rooms to study areas that don't even approach minimum requirements for comfortable "eye - work".

Industry has learned that better lighting can be the key to greater efficiency, higher productivity and fewer accidents. Modern schools, too, have provided their students with scientifically engineered lighting to enable them to perform at their best. But many of these same children return to their homes to continue their studies in drably lighted, makeshift quarters.

There are many scientists who contend that children with quiet, private and well - lighted study areas perform their homework more willingly and with better results than those lacking such conditions, even when the latter group might normally do better work in the classrooms.

Parents haven't been entirely to blame, either. At least, not where lighting is concerned. There simply hasn't been any simple way to determine what is and what isn't proper lighting for home study. And few persons are going to hire lighting engineers to come in and make recommendations on what types of lamps to purchase and where to place them for maximum results.

Now, however, through the combined efforts of the Better Light - Better Sight Bureau, the Illuminating Engineering Society, Electrical Testing Laboratories Inc. and the lamp manufacturers, break - throughs in this area have been achieved. A national program has been launched to promote public awareness of the need for proper study lighting.

Engineers and designers have developed new light control devices that will do the job — and manufacturers are producing them according to rigid specifications. Such study lamps carry blue tags certifying that they have met these specifications and have the endorsement of the Better Light - Better Sight Bureau, a nonprofit educational association.

There is no certainty that youngsters will find it any easier to do their homework solely because of better lighting, no matter what the scientists say. But it is good to know that parents concerned about the situation now have some reasonably sure method of selecting proper lighting equipment for Johnny and Jane.

QUESTION: In finishing an extra room to a house we bought a few years ago, I would like to use plywood sheets some of the 4 by 8 size, some of the 4 by 4 size. I did something similar to this in a house we had some years back and attached the plywood to the studs with nails, filling the nail holes with wood putty. A neighbor tells me I can eliminate the job of filling nail holes by attaching the plywood with adhesive. What is your advice?

ANSWER: Your neighbor is correct in saying that the use of nails will be eliminated if you attach the plywood with adhesive, especially if you use contact cement or one of the modern glues which grip the wood so securely as to be considered a permanent bond. But there are other factors to consider. One is that handling 4 by 8 sheets by yourself can be quite a task when using adhesive rather than nails. Since contact cement, as the name implies, makes instantaneous contact and cannot be shifted, you would have to be 100 per cent certain each sheet were placed perfectly the first time. This requires extreme care even when the plywood is handled by two persons. It is very difficult to do alone.

If you have help, by all means use the adhesive. If not, better stay with the nails, expecially since you have had experience in making the attachments that way. Incidentally, some of the textured surfaces now available in plywood make it possible to nail the wood into place without the nailheads being conspicuous. Plywood facings take finishes the same as regular paneling, with the exception of fir plywood, which must be coated with a special sealer before the final coating is applied.

Broiled hamburgers will taste extra good if you add cream — light or heavy — to the ground beef. For a pound of lean beef, you may add as much as a quarter cup of cream.

Have sour cream out of the refrigerator and at room temperature before you add it to a sauce or gravy to help prevent curdling.

Baked Sweet Brown Bread

1 cup unsifted regular white flour
½ teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup unsifted stoneground whole-wheat flour
½ cup dark molasses
¼ cup dark corn syrup
1 cup buttermilk
2-3 cup raisins, [illegible] water and drained

On wax paper, thoroughly stir together the white flour, baking soda and salt; add whole-wheat flour and thoroughly stir together. In a medium mixing bowl, stir together until combined the molasses, corn syrup and buttermilk; add dry ingredients and raisins; stir until ingredients are evenly distributed.

Turn into a greased metal loaf pan (4½ by 4½ by 2½ inches). Bake in a slow (325 degrees) oven until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean but sticky - about 1¼ hours. Turn out on wire rack; loaf will have crack on top. Use long serrated knife and sawing motion to slice rather thick while faintly warm - top will be crusty; or place in tightly closed plastic bag and store at room temperature overnight when top will soften and loaf may be thinly sliced.

Controversial FPC Formula Headed For Supreme Court

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP)—The controversial area formula for controlling wellhead prices of natural gas is headed for a Supreme Court showdown now that six years of preliminary maneuvers have been completed.

The Federal Power Commission opened the way for the court test last week that set ceiling prices in the formula's guinea pig case.

Appellate action already was under way by the time the commission completed the formalities.

Skelly Oil Co. has filed two petitions with the 10th Circuit Court of Appeals in Denver, Colo. One petition seeks a review of the Aug. 5 order. The other seeks delay of its effective date.

It has been indicated the Skelly petitions are major starting points for coordinated strategy by major producers affected by the order.

A final court decision may require as long as two years but the FPC already is proceeding with plans to apply the Aug. 5 Permian Basin price pattern to 22 other major gas producing areas.

The area formula the FPC adopted in 1960 has been before the Supreme Court previously. A 5-4 decision in 1963 authorized the commission, in effect, to proceed with development of the formula but sidestepped a direct ruling on legality.

The 1963 decision was accompanied by a dissent. The two documents indicated sharp differences of opinion within the court at that time.

Justice John Marshall Harlan's majority opinion stated the area plan permitted the FPC to retain "the flexibility it must have at this still formative period in a difficult area of regulation."

Justice Tom Clark's dissent said the FPC wasted six years of work on an old formula and switched in 1960 to "experimenting with a new, untried, untested, inchoate program which, in addition, is of doubtful legality."

"I predict that in the end the consumer will find himself to be the biggest goose of the hunt and the small producer the dead duck," Clark wrote.

Justices William O. Douglas, Potter Stewart, Byron R. White and Arthur J. Goldberg formed the majority with Harlan. Signing the dissent with Clark were Chief Justice Earl Warren and Justices Hugo L. Black and William J. Brennan Jr.

Goldberg since has resigned to become ambassador to the United Nations. He was succeeded last week by Abe Fortas, Washington lawyer and longtime friend of President Johnson.

The area formula replaced an old system under which each producer's case was handled on the area concept, Permian producers have been authorized a price of 16.5 cents per 1,000 cubic feet for gas from new wells and 14.5 cents for other production.

Permian producers sought a one-price ceiling of 20 cents. In asking a rehearing, the producers argued the two-price formula will fail to provide sufficient revenues to meet costs and encourage new exploration.

The commission contends the Permian formula provides for a 12 per cent return and argues that the 16.5-cent ceiling will encourage new exploration at minimum cost to consumers.

Many producers also still are fighting for congressional action that would eliminate or curtail federal authority to control wellhead prices of gas sold into interstate commerce. The 7,000-member Independent Petroleum Producers Association of America completed work in May on drafting such a bill and will review strategy at its annual meeting Oct. 26 in Dallas.

A LITTLE CHINESE EXPERT SHOWS HOW MOVE THIS STICK UP AND DOWN —
—MEANWHILE— HOLDING THIS ONE STEADY

QUESTION: Why do the Chinese use chopsticks instead of a knife and fork?

• • •

ANSWER: Primitive men used their hands to eat with. But one of the signs of civilization is that we enjoy having clean hands and don't like to get them smeared with grease and food materials. Both our knives and forks and the Chinese chopsticks developed for the same reason: to make the process of eating cleaner and more pleasant. Although spoons were used from Egyptian days, our use of the fork only began in 1100 A. D. and was not general until the 1500's. We use knife, fork and spoon because our food is served to us in large pieces which we must then cut up and manipulate. By contrast, the Eastern custom is to cut up the food in small pieces before serving it. For this, the slender sticks we call chopsticks are highly efficient to eat with, and once you are used to them, very easy to handle. Our picture shows the principle.

Have fun making yourself a pair of chop sticks and trying the Eastern eating system. Whittle down two straight wooden sticks, about 10 inches long, until they are a little thinner than a pencil. Practice holding the lower one steady and moving the upper stick down to it. Then cut up some food and see if you can lift it, holding your chop sticks so they are parallel to the plate.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: Give a chopsticks dinner party with cut up food and sets of sticks you have made—with prizes for those who finish with chopsticks alone. Have knives and forks handy for hungry guests who lose their patience. 10-9

SOLUTION OF YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE

Integration Brings Plight To Some

Editor's note: Some Texans who worked for school integration are suffering most from their success. How does a Negro teacher feel when her job evaporates when all-Negro schools are consolidated with previously all-white schools? Here is one example.

By LEE JONES

HUTTO, Tex. (AP)—Integregation closed this farm village's two-room Negro school. Mae Ollie David viewed the development with mixed emotions. She lost her job.

As a teacher of 15 years, she was disappointed and unhappy to be out of work.

As a Negro mother of four, she was glad to see school segregation wiped out.

Hutto, a town of 400 about 20 miles northeast of Austin, voluntarily desegregated.

Desegregation in Hutto meant closing the Negro school and absorbing its 40 to 60 children into the white school. The high school had been integregated earlier.

Trustees said Negroes could be assimilated without adding more teachers to the white school. So Mrs. Davis and the town's other Negro teacher lost their jobs.

Both Mrs. Davis and her husband now have jobs on the federal payroll.

"I don't feel bitter," Mrs. Davis says. "Integration is here. It was inevitable."

Mrs. Davis' plight is not uncommon in Texas and the rest of the South.

The Teachers State Association of Texas, composed of Negroes, has a list of 37 Negro Teachers ousted by desegregation and looking for jobs. Vernon McDaniel, executive director, says the list has had up to 64 names.

The Negro teacher gets hurt particularly in small districts when segregation ends, McDaniel says, because it is the Negro school that gets closed.

"The (local) boards have ruled in some cases that since it is the Negro pupils who are transferring out, they will eliminate positions for Negro teachers," he said.

The Negro teachers organization actively helps the displaced teachers to find new jobs. And it informs them that they may complain to the State Education Agency, the federal government or the courts if they feel their employment rights or civil rights have been violated.

"Our position is that placement of teachers should be without regard to race, creed or color," McDaniel says.

In this he is supported by President Johnson, who instructed the U. S. commissioner of education to "pay very special attention, in reviewing desegregation plans, to guard against any pattern of dismissal based on race."

McDaniel said three Port Neches teachers are appealing to the Texas Education Agency. Two others, he said, from Texas City and Munday, are complaining to the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

A number of teachers have found new jobs, McDaniel said.

RONA JAFFE

Author Sees Cynicism About Modern Romance

NEW YORK (AP) — Mr. Right is dead, and Mr. Rat reigns in his stead.

So says Rona Jaffe, whose specialty is the New York career girl and her bachelor playmates. They were the subject of the young author's 1958 best seller, "The Best of Everything." And now, in her recently published book "Mr. Right Is Dead," she paints a picture of the single set's social life in the 1960s.

The contrast is startling.

The whole transformation started with the men, according to Miss Jaffe.

"The men stopped being Mr. Right — he's the one your mother told you was going to ride up on a white horse," she explains. "They started to be Mr. Rat — he's like the bachelor with the chic bedroom in all those movie comedies.

"Then," she says, batting her long, black eyelashes over her pixie - bright eyes, "the women started to be Miss Rat so that they could cope with Mr. Rat."

So, she says, the single girl grew up from a naive romanticist to a down-to-earth realist.

"The girl of the '60s is different from the girls of the 50s," Miss Jaffe points out. "While the girl of the '50s really believed in love, the girl of the '60s is unromantic. The girl of the '50s was deceived by other people.

"But the girl of the '60s is not an innocent — she's found her own kind of truth. These girls are stronger and know how to deal with their unhappiness more. When rejected, the girl of the '60s tends to have a brief decline, then go out and try to drown her sorrows. When the girl of the '50s was rejected she's spend her time trying to [illegible]

Another difference, says Miss Jaffe, is the lack of dreamy idealism.

"The girl of the '50s would stay home waiting for Mr. Right," she says. "But the girl of the '60s will date three or four rats at once."

This new - found realism on the part of the girls has both inherent advantages and disadvantages, she believes.

"I think the girls today are cooler and, therefore, more interesting to men," she says, adding that "women are now more aware of what men are like. The girls of the '60s would not be taken in by a rat bachelor — they enjoy him for what he is.

"And," she continues, "because the girls aren't asking for the impossible, the men don't have to pretend any more. You get so much more affection when a man feels free to show it — he knows he doesn't have to commit himself and get trapped."

On the negative side, Miss Jaffe speaks of "the lack of communication, the lack of tenderness. There's an inadequacy in the feeling department," she says. "Everyone is emotionally anesthetized. The people are dead. They've been programmed to relate. Like robots, they can do everything except feel."

But even though she herself is still single at 32, she doesn't rule out completely the remote possibility of a Mr. Right and marriage. She does, however, have some rigid requirements for any potential husband of hers. He must have "a lot of energy, he must be creative and successful in his own work and not resent mine, and he has to have a sense of humor." Besides that, he must be "someone I feel secure with — not someone I have to prove something to. And he has to be secure and not have to prove himself to every girl who walks by."

"I would get married," she concludes, "if I was in love and he wanted to marry me and I thought I could stand it."

In the meantime, she has the next best thing to Mr. Right. She lives alone in a spacious apartment overlooking Central Park and goes out almost every night.

"I go out with four men," she explains. "Each has a good quality — one's intelligent, one's kooky, one's funny and one's sexy. Put them together — you've got Mr. Right!"

Serve halibut steaks with a sauce made with sauteed onion, green pepper and tomatoes. The tomatoes may be fresh or canned; if the latter, you may want to thicken the sauce lightly. For seasoning, you may add salt, freshly ground pepper and basil.

Lebanese Spinach Turnovers

1 1/4 cups warm water
1 package active dry yeast
3 cups sifted regular flour
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
Spinach Filling
2 cups salad oil

In a large mixing bowl, dissolve yeast in water; add flour and salt; mix well. Turn out [illegible] Turn over dough in a greased bowl and let rise in a draft-free warm place until doubled in bulk — about 40 minutes. Roll out to 1/4-inch thickness. Cut out with a round 2 1/2 inch cutter. Roll each round very thin — 5 inches. Place a heaping tablespoon of the Spinach Filling near center of round; fold over and firmly press edges together. Place as many turnovers as you can, at least 1 inch apart, in oil poured into a large (17 by 11 by 2 inches) roasting pan; bake in a very hot (450 degrees) oven about 15 minutes; turn and bake another 15 minutes or until browned. Bake remaining turnovers in hot oil in pan the same way. Drain on brown paper and serve hot, or reheat on foil in hot oven. Makes about 2 dozen.

Spinach Filling — Thaw and thoroughly drain 2 packages (each 10 ounces) frozen leaf spinach. Mix with 1 minced medium onion, juice of 2 lemons, 2 teaspoons salt, 1/8 teaspoon each pepper and allspice.

Dill Green Beans

1 (9 ounce) package frozen green beans, French cut
1/4 cup chopped pimiento
1-3 cup melted butter or margarine
1/2 teaspoon dill seeds or 1 teaspoon finely chopped fresh dill
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup coarse bread crumbs, toasted

Cook beans according to package directions; drain. Combine pimiento, melted butter, dill seeds and salt; pour over green beans. Toss toasted bread crumbs with green bean mixture.

Yield: 3-4 servings.

To keep a knob of fresh ginger, leave it unpeeled and cover it with sherry. Use a glass jar with a screw-top cover and keep the sherried ginger in the refrigerator. Cut off a slice as needed.

BANFF ADDS CROCHET—Starting with a skirt and Chanel jacket of double-knit wool, Banff feminizes this costume with collar, cuffs and shell in a fascinating mosaic crochet for the new look-of-tomorrow. It's the ideal suit for every appearance, from worldwide travel to a college tea. Never looks mussed or wrinkled, the lively all-American wool fiber endows it with "instantly wearable" virtues at all times.

Peel and parboil potatoes before adding them to the pan in which meat is roasting. Baste the potatoes with the fat in the pan and turn them occasionally to keep them from sticking and to brown them evenly. Toward the end of the cooking time, you may dust the spuds with paprika.

Take your choice? You may add brandy, sherry or sauterne to a spread made with a mixture of cream cheese and blue cheese.

NEWS OF BOOKS

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Writer

COYOTE WISDOM, Edited by J. Frank Dobie, Mody C. Boatright and Harry G. Ransom.

Coyotes aren't so smart, really. They can be caught or killed or driven off the range.

And the farmer and rancher may be sorry if they vanish.

The last time this reviewer saw this happen, the jackrabbits took over the country because the coyotes weren't there to thin them out. Farmers and ranchers had to buy dogs to chase them, and when that didn't help, finally oiled up their shotguns and held a community rabbit hunt.

People disliked coyotes a little less after that experience, even if they sometimes wantonly killed domestic animals.

A good many legends of coyotes are told in "Coyote Wisdom," a book brought to new life by Southern Methodist University Press. It is a Texas Folklore Society publication of the 1930s.

The title is somewhat misleading, since many of the legends seek to show that the little animal can be beaten in the brains race by several other animals, such as the turtle.

The book really is an anthology of Southwestern folk lore. Many of the stories deal with Indians.

Of particular interest are two kinds of Indian legends.

One of these kinds are stories which seem to be very close to the folk stories of Europe but far enough from them to dispute any view that they are simply Indian revisions of European legends. Perhaps there is something universal about storytelling.

The other series involves Indian views about creation. If you try hard enoough, you can see a little bit of Genesis here, or even material for the evolutionists' viewpoint. The origin of the stories is an interesting field for speculation.

KARANKAWA BOY, By Audrey Adams (Naylor, $2.95)

"Karankawa Boy" is juvenile fiction about a lad of the Karankawa tribe of Indians which lived on the Texas coast.

They were particularly savage. A combination of disease, alcohol and white men's guns devastated the tribe and the remnants moved into Mexico about 1844.

FACTS about prescription drugs

① Back in 1930, drugs and sundries accounted for 20¢ of the per capita health dollar. Today, our much more efficient modern drugs take no more of the total medical care dollar than they used to.

② In spite of talk to the contrary, the average U.S. price to have a doctor's prescription filled is only $3.25.

We are proud of our record of serving physicians and their patients with the finest products of the ethical drug companies — at uniform prices, always. We welcome your prescription patronage.
