

The Gay Philosopher

By J. W. S.

THE COOL WEATHER was delightful while it lasted. A cold front blew through this country Friday afternoon, accompanied by a sprinkle of rain, and dropped the temperature to a cool 66 degrees during the night. This was the coolest weather in these parts since about May 20. The temperature was about 69 degrees Monday night.

There was a pretty fair rain shower down in the Nimrod county and south Eastland county Sunday afternoon. The folks found here are beginning to wish for rain again.

PROSPECTS FOR a peanut crop in Eastland County, particularly the southwest part of the county, are the best in two or three years, we're informed. Each orchard is coming into production fast with a good harvest. Cisco peaches are moving in markets in Dallas and out west. Grain crops are looking right for, too.

LET'S ALL WISH Mr. M. L. Keasler a successful operation. The Eastland County Gulf oil went left aboard the noon train today for Fort Worth. There, he has to board an airplane and fly to Rochester, Minn., and the Mayo Clinic for an operation. Mr. Keasler became seriously ill some ten days ago and spent several days in the Eastland hospital. He's to undergo major surgery at Mayo Clinic.

THERE'S NOTHING quite like a dress want ad for selling things. That's what Mr. R. W. (Bob) Ancill told us this morning. He ran an ad in Sunday's Press about selling some household goods at the Williamson home on Monday morning. It was a successful sale. Mr. Bob reports.

WAS DOWN TOWN shortly before 6 a. m. the other morning and was surprised to see so many people around. Ran into Mr. Homer Ferguson, Mr. Bob Elliott and Mr. Nance having a fast cup of coffee before a golf match. Understand Mr. Ralph Glenn, Mr. Charlie Graham, Mr. Gene Damm, Dr. Jim Lawrence, Mr. Gene Abbott and others have been playing 6 a. m. golf matches since a week or so lately.

SATURDAY WAS another holiday for Mr. P. R. Warwick, who is office manager for the Humber Oil Company. Our sports report that Mr. PRW was scouting for one of the long and complicated oil forms the other day. When he finished, he discovered some changes had been made in the forms, and the duplicate and triplicate copies of the original had been the old form while the original was a new one. Mr. PRW was when he discovered the difference. Mrs. Cate Adams of the Victor Hotel Newsstand also celebrated a birthday over the weekend.

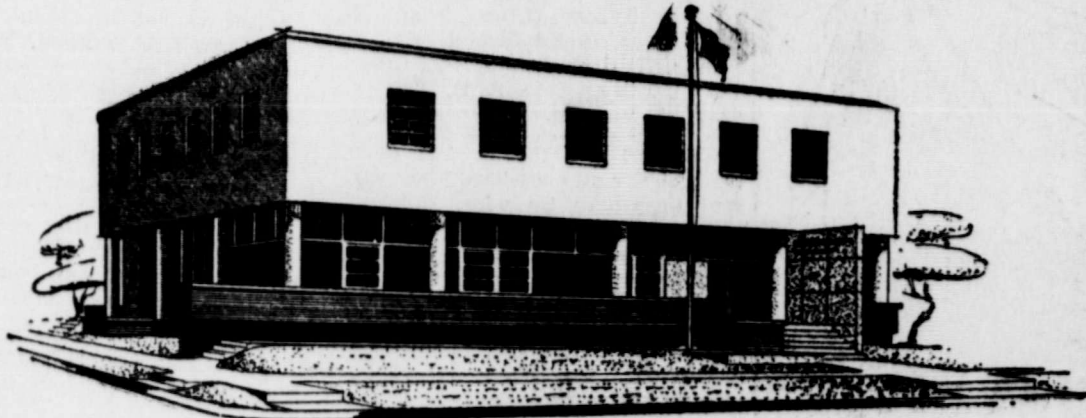

IT'S NOW Captain Eldon F. Kennedy. The former Humber Line Company employee has been promoted from a first lieutenant to captain by the Marine Corps. He is stationed at Camp Pendleton, Calif. Captain Kennedy is a veteran of World War II and was ordered back to duty in January, 1951, and served a 10-month tour in Korea. He was discharged in June, 1952, and returned to work for Humber in Cisco until he enlisted in the regular corps March, 1953.

Mrs. Kennedy and their two daughters are in California with the captain. The Kennedys have many friends here.

ES PLANS MEETING The Cisco Chapter No. 461 of the Order of Eastern Star will meet Tuesday evening (tonight) at the Masonic Hall at eight o'clock for their regular stated meeting. All members were urged to attend.

AMERICAN LEGION'S NEW STATE HEADQUARTERS BUILDING

Above is the new $205,000 state headquarters building of the American Legion, Department of Texas. Located two blocks north of the State Capitol building at 15th and Congress Avenue, the structure is of polished native Texas granite and cream colored bricks. It was dedicated July 7.

Cisco Man On Building Committee For Legion Headquarters Building

AUSTIN, July 14—After 35 years, the American Legion has built its own state headquarters building, a modern $205,000 structure located two blocks from the state capitol building at North Congress and 15th Streets here in Austin.

The building was formally dedicated July 7 with the American Legion's state commander, Albert D. Brown, Jr. of Austin, presiding.

The building is two stories with a foundation and elevator shaft for six additional stories. There are approximately 5,000 feet of floor space on each of the two floors. The building is of polished Texas granite and cream colored brick. It is both air conditioned and winter conditioned.

The American Legion, the American Legion Auxiliary, the Texas Legion News and the 40 and 8 all have their state headquarters on the main floor. The upper floor is rented to a state agency.

The building is paid for and an adjoining lot on 15th Street has been purchased for parking purposes. The state headquarters property has 92 feet frontage on Congress Avenue and 180 feet on 15th Street.

Ground was broken for the building July 22, 1952 and it was dedicated a few days less than a year later. Members of the building committee were V. F. Taylor, Austin, chairman; R. C. Gusman, Bay City; Lou Roberts, Amarillo; Ralph Holman, Joiner; Willis Jarrel, Tyler and E. L. Jackson, Cisco.

Rain Making Is Studied By West Texas Ranchers

Sam Allen, field representative for the Water Resources Development Corp. of Denver, spoke before the directors of the West Texas Ranchers Association, Inc., July 2. The meeting was held in Eastland at the Faircloth Sales Barn.

Mr. Allen told of the various projects in Texas and the results of the cloud seeding in the Dallas area. The group invited Mr. Allen to speak in order to learn more about the cloud seeding business. No action was taken by the group.

POLICEMEN AND FIREMEN WILL BE HONORED AT GAME TONIGHT

The Cisco Indians meet the Stephenville Blue Jays in a post-conference baseball game at ABC Field at 8:15 o'clock tonight, it was announced by Manager D. N. Morrison, who also said that it would be Policemen and Firemen Night at the field.

All local policemen and firemen will be admitted free to the game if they wear their caps, Morrison said. He expressed appreciation for the cooperation of both departments with the Legion during the baseball season.

The game tonight will put the two leading pitchers in the district when Dizzy Howell of the Indians meets Stacy of the Jays. Both wound up the season with enviable records.

Stephenville was declared the winner of the district when the Cisco-Ranger game played Friday night was wiped off the records when it was found that Ranger used an ineligible player. The erasing of the game from the record books gave Stephenville the championship by a few percentage points.

Next Tuesday night will be Ladies Night at ABC Field as the Indians meet Mineral Wells and the Giants and the Athletics play a double header. The Giant-Athletic game is scheduled to get underway at 6:30 p. m. The farm team game between the two will probably be played that morning.

COUNCIL WILL MEET

Members of the City Commission will hold a regular semi-monthly business meeting at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday at the City Hall, Mayor G. C. Rosenthal reported today.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Morris and Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Fenley and daughter, Kathrine, spent Sunday in Coleman visiting Mr. and Mrs. Bill Warren.

LEGION BASEBALL PLAYERS ARE GIVEN PICNIC AT LAKE CISCO

All members of the American Legion Indian baseball team were honored at a picnic at Lake Cisco park at 7 p. m. Monday, and members of their families and others were guests.

Some 70 people attended the picnic, which was sponsored by the mothers of the players. It was a 100 percent affair with every member of the team and their parents attending.

D. N. Morrison, manager of the team, announced that the four members who would be lost to the team next year because of the age rule were named captains for the year. Named as captains were Don Greenhaw, Dizzy Howell, Ronald Jackson and Jerry Weiser.

W. J. Foxworth, post commander of the local American Legion welcomed the guests and praised the fighting spirit and the sportsmanship of the team members. In behalf of the team Don Greenhaw presented the Legion post a new baseball with the autograph of all the players. The ball is to be placed on display at the Legion hall. E. H. Cheeves gave the invocation.

Following the picnic lunch, which consisted of fried chicken and all the extras, with ice cream, cake and pie as desert, Mr. Foxworth called on E. L. Jackson, state American Legion vice-commander who had umpired many of the Indian games, for a talk. Mr. Jackson told of the value of the baseball program and praised the players, their parents and the team managers. On behalf of the team he presented the Manager D. N. Morrison a gift certificate. He also presented a gift to Stub Poyner of Gorman, who had aided in training the team this year.

In a short talk Morrison thanked the team and the parents for their fine spirit of cooperation during the season.

The Indians concluded the season with a record of seven district wins against two losses. They were in second place, just a few percentage points behind Stephenville, the winner of the district championship.

The out-of-town property came to the school district through consolidation of rural school districts with the Cisco district. A formal notice of the sale will be published later in the week.

The trustees approved plans to drill a water well on the Chesley Field property for use in watering the gridiron. A report was made that the remodeling work on the football stands was progressing nicely.

The board accepted the resignation of Paul Mosley as assistant coach and teacher at Cisco Junior College. Mosley resigned to accept a position as head football coach at Gail in Borden County.

Superintendent Arlin Bunt reported to the trustees that the teaching staff for the 1953-54 school was near completion and would be ready for announcement in the near future. The school system will begin the 1953-54 school year on September 8.

Other routine reports and business matters were heard and discussed at the meeting.

Water Well Will Be Sunk At Field

Two small buildings and two small tracts of land will be advertised for sale by the Cisco Independent School District, it was decided Monday night at a regular meeting of the board of trustees at the school board's downtown office.

The property to be advertised for sale includes a city block or 12 lots at Dothan, a two-acre tract which was formerly occupied by a school building at Shady Grove six miles south of Cisco, a three-room house in the Breezedale Addition, and the old Smithville school building in Cisco.

Ninth Inning Run Gives Cardinals Win Over Giants

A home run in the bottom half of the ninth inning off the bat of David Elder broke up an extra inning little league contest at ABC Field Monday night and gave the Cardinals a 6-5 conference win over the Giants.

The game was tied up in the sixth and went through the ninth before the tie-breaking homer occurred.

Jerry Blackwell started on the mound for the Giants but was relieved in the second inning by Milton King. King was the losing pitcher by virtue of serving up the ball that broke the tie. He pitched almost hitless ball for the remainder of the time he was on the mound.

Dal Elder was the winning pitcher after hurling the last three innings of the game for the Cardinals.

Here 77 Years . . .

Uncle Jack Swindle Recalls Early Days Of Area On His 80th Birthday

Uncle Jack Swindle who celebrated his 80th birthday at his home in Cisco Tuesday, July 14, can look back on those 80 years — 77 of which have been spent in the Cisco area — with the satisfaction of knowing that they have been both interesting and full.

He remembers when there was no Cisco, and no Rising Star. He can recall the establishment of the town of Cisco and the town of Rising Star, and can talk for hours on the interesting events incident to the building of the two communities.

He was born in Henderson County in East Texas on July 14, 1873. In 1876, when he was three years old, he came to this area with his parents, who settled on the Leon River some six miles southwest of where Cisco now stands. In 1878 they moved to a farm and ranch south of where Rising Star now is located. At that time the cattle and other livestock roamed the country, as there were few fences to hold them back.

When he was 21 years of age he was married to Miss Mary Henderson in Sipe Springs. The date of their wedding was November 11, 1894. At that time Sipe Springs was the leading trade center for the area in which he lived. Some two years after their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Swindle moved to Cisco to make their home and he has been in Cisco since that time. Mrs. Swindle died on September 13, 1948.

He recalls the first store that was built in what is now known as Rising Star. The store, a 10 x 12 structure, was built in what is now the south part of Rising Star, by a Mr. Anderson who had a very small stock. Soon after that store was built, Hobb and Newt Anderson built a larger store at the spot now occupied by the Higginbotham store. The third store was built by a Mr. Rushing across the street north of the Rising Star bank.

He also recalls when the town of Cisco was known as Red Gap, and when there was only one store there. The town was located near where Oakwood Cemetery now is located. He recalls the beginning of the town of Cisco when the Katy and T&P Railroads made their historic crossing here. He tells of the race by the two roads to reach the intersection first.

According to his story, the Texas and Pacific had reached Lem Switch, about three miles east of town and the Katy had reached a spot near where Humboldt is located. It appeared that the T&P had won the race because they had three miles of level ground upon which to lay their track while the Katy had a difficult cut to make through the hill near Humboldt. The T&P foreman, sensing victory, told the Katy foreman that he could make the crossing at the intersection for $20,000. The man in charge of making the difficult cut through the hill for the Katy called for 40 kegs of powder and blasted the cut through at one

WISH FOR FISH—Probably the most popular deity around the island of Hong Kong is Tam Kung who, the fishermen believe, has absolute control of their catch. Lest a fisherman find himself without fish at the end of a hard day, he must win the Lord Kung's favor. Legion Auxiliary Needs Funds To Aid Vet Program

"Signatures Wanted," was the cry of American Legion Auxiliary units over Texas in an effort to increase its funds for the comfort of disabled veterans in 10 VA Hospitals and bed patients in other hospitals in Texas and other states.

The program has always been supported by the Auxiliary through proceeds derived from poppy sales, but the growing number of patients from the Korean conflict as well as World War I and World War II have resulted in a fund shortage. The diminishing funds have necessitated a curtailment of work with the disabled veterans during August, September and October.

In order to meet the emergency each local auxiliary, including Cisco, has been asked to secure what is known as "Signatures" at $10 each. At a meeting of the local unit Monday night it was decided to secure as many of the signatures as possible, and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Flournoy started the program with the first in memory of their son, James Flournoy.

It was pointed out that anyone might take part in the program by adding the signature of himself or someone to the roll. Signatures may be in memory of a loved one, in honor of someone or for an individual.

It was pointed out that there were approximately 1,200 Eastland County disabled veterans being treated in veteran's hospitals and that the need was great.

Wednesday night, July 15, is the deadline on the Signature program and those wishing information on the matter were asked to call Mrs. H. N. Lyle, phone 524, or Mrs. Beatrice Guthrie at phone 979.

Jesse Ray Youngblood of Coleman spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Youngblood.

Mrs. Ray Kinard is improving in Harris Memorial Hospital in Fort Worth following a major operation about ten days ago. Her room number is 361.

TEXAS WATER POTENTIAL

Texas is using only a small fraction of its potential water resources, which are sufficient to bring an additional million acres of land under irrigation and to meet all requirements of the State's steadily expanding industry, according to the report of a study of Texas water problems made by the Bureau of Reclamation at the request of Senator Lyndon B. Johnson.

"Total present water usage," says the report, "including withdrawal of ground waters, represents only about 15 per cent of the 53 million acre-feet of average annual discharge by streams that border or originate in the State."

Senator Johnson, shortly after he entered the Senate in 1949, asked the Department of Interior to make an appraisal of the Texas water problem. The report was prepared by the Austin Area Planning Office of the Department's Bureau of Reclamation.

"The present disastrous drought in Texas points up the absolute necessity for a realistic, long-range program of water conservation and use in the State," Senator Johnson said. "This comprehensive appraisal shows that Texas has water resources sufficient to meet needs much larger than are now foreseeable — provided these resources are conserved and distributed to points of potential use."

The appraisal examines the nature and extent of the national interest in Texas water problems, describes the probable rate of future expansion of the national economy, and shows the close relationship between this expansion and the need for providing additional large and reliable water supplies to make possible substantial increases in Texas production of goods.

Federal investments in reservoir projects on Texas Gulf Basin streams have been directed primarily at the problems of flood control and power, the report points out, adding:

"Provisions for water supplies in connection with such effort has not received adequate or effective consideration."

The report suggests policies and programs designed to bring about a comprehensive integrated development of Texas water supplies.

"The circumstance of expanding economic requirements and a vast Texas resource reserve presents the State an unparalleled economic opportunity," the report declares.

What is peptic ulcer? Where does it occur, and how common is it?

Peptic ulcer is an open sore located in any part of the food tube bathed with gastric juice, that is stomach secretions. The most common locations of these ulcers are the stomach and the part of the small intestine just beyond the stomach, known as the duodenum.

The incidence of peptic ulcer in the general population is estimated roughly to be 10 per cent. The disease occurs more frequently in men, and the majority of patients are in the age range between thirty and sixty years old.

The exact cause is not known, but a number of conditions are considered to set the stage for peptic ulcer. In the first place, there may be a somewhat higher content of acid in the stomach juices. Second, the patient's stomach may empty its contents into the intestines more rapidly than usual. Third, the patient may show a definite sort of personality. Most frequently he is ambitious and drives himself constantly in striving for success.

He is a responsible, conscientious person. Even if an ulcer victim is inclined to withdraw from life, some scientific authorities claim that basically he has the same kind of personality as the "typical ulcer patient" but meets life's situations by withdrawing instead of fighting back.

The pain of peptic ulcer is characteristic: gnawing "hunger pains," often relieved by frequent, small meals, and as a rule worse during the night. Also, the following may occur: vomiting with or without nausea, belching, excessive saliva formation, heartburn, or constipation.

The medical history and physical examination, coupled with specific tests such as gastroscopy looking at the inside of the stomach through a special tube, analysis of the gastric contents, x-ray examination, and examination of the stool will usually let the doctor know whether or not the patient has an ulcer. Conservative treatment by diet, rest, and medicines usually is sufficient, but occasionally surgery must be performed.

New Chemicals to Lessen 4 Billion Insect Damage

Even in these days the four billion dollars in farm crops destroyed by insects is a big loss and most of it comes out of farmers' profits. Anything that can be done to prevent this loss is worth trying.

A guide prepared by the U. S. Department of Agriculture lists the insecticides recommended for controlling insect pests on forage and field crops. As insects develop resistance to certain insecticides, new chemicals must be found to take the place of the old ones. Many others that appear promising are now being tested for current and future use. These insecticides can usually be obtained from your seed supplier or local hardware or drug store. The user should read the labels carefully and follow the manufacturer's instructions to get satisfactory results. Special precautions should be taken in handling the insecticides. If in doubt about use, time, method or rate of application of insecticide, consult your county agent.

She told what countries had hospitals for the disease and how to cure it. She stated that at one time the disease was considered contagious and that the name had been changed to Hansen's disease.

Anna Jean Whitten told other facts about leprosy as mentioned above and the group started work on a scrap book for sick children in which gum, balloons, puzzles, paper dolls, and pictures will be included. Spike Bucks Due To Be Plentiful

AUSTIN, July 11. — Look out for those spike bucks come the fall of 1954! The Director of Wildlife Restoration for the Game and Fish Commission reported an unusual good survival rate among this year's fawns in the Hill Country big game areas. He said the principal reason for the fawns coming through is the dry weather which retards the screw worm. This parasite is a great menace to baby fawns during wet seasons. The Director said one particularly favorable report came from Game Warden Adolph Heep of Fredericksburg, stating that the survival rate among fawns is one of the best in all the years he has been in the key big game country. The Director explained that the screw worm develops from fly eggs laid in open wounds in the fawn's body. These infestations oftentimes are fatal. WORD CLUB TO MEET The Word Home Demonstration Club will meet Thursday at the home of Mrs. M. P. Farnsworth at which time the Home Demonstration Agent, Mrs. Crow, will be present. All members were urged to attend.

Another Nursing Course Planned

Mrs. Bill Tucker, Home Nursing Chairman of the Eastland County Chapter of the American Red Cross, announced today that the second class in "Care of the Sick" has been completed. The class was taught by Miss Loretta Morris, authorized instructor. This was the first class to be held at night for business women in this chapter during recent years. The following women successfully completed the course and received their certificates: Mrs. Hattie E. Tate and Mrs. Horace Lane of Desdemona, Mesdames A. K. Garrett, Myrtle Walker, Charles Burkett and A. V. Edwards, all of Eastland. The next class will be taught by Mrs. Bill Tucker and will be conducted in the Cheaney community or in Desdemona. Announcement will be made later as to the exact time and meeting place. Each member of the class expressed appreciation for the training and were of the opinion that it would enable them to take better care of an ill person. No charge was made as all expense was paid by the local Red Cross Chapter.

Uncle Jack ---

From Page One shooting, and beat the T&P by a matter of hours. The T&P was forced to pay the $20,000 to make the crossing at the intersection, where it now is located, the story goes. He remembers the devastating cyclone of 60 years ago that blew the new town of Cisco almost off the map, and he helped with the cleaning up of the wreckage. At the time of the cyclone he was staying with his grandparents south of town and cutting wood. On the night the cyclone struck he was playing the fiddle for a dance south of Rising Star, but he saw the funnel shaped cloud that did the damage. He also recalls the big flood on the Colorado River about the same time that washed away the town of Ballinger and killed thousands of head of cattle for the Day Ranch and others in that area. He would like to know the exact date of the flood and asks any one with that information to write him, giving him the time. In speaking of the flood on the Colorado he told of seeing a cow hanging by its horns in a tree 20 feet from the ground where it had been deposited by the flood waters, and tells of counting 33 dead animals on a two acre tract. He told of the work of cowboys who roped houses that were floating down the stream and took people off their tops. The cowboys also roped barrels of whiskey that were being moved down the river by the water from saloons that were washed away in Ballinger. The early day farming consisted mostly of raising corn, grains and sorghums. He remembers one field of rye on his father's farm that grew so tall that a man on horseback could not be seen, and several grain crops, including wheat and oats, that were almost as tall as a man. Rainfall was more plentiful, he said, and if a farmer planted a crop he was almost always assured of reaping a harvest. Big game was plentiful in the earlier days of his life in the county and the residents could go out any time and bring back a deer or a turkey. He has seen the peach industry grow from four trees planted south of Rising Star to the present time when there are thousands of trees in the area. He remembers the first peaches he ever ate. His father was riding the range checking on some 500 razor-back hogs he had brought to the area when he came across four trees that had been set out by a Mr. Roland, who had starved out and moved on. The peaches were getting ripe and the following Sunday the father and mother loaded the kids in the wagon and went to gather the peaches. They prepared them for cooking and placed them in an old fashioned cast iron wash pot along with a liberal amount of black sorghum molasses for sweetening and made the first preserves they had ever eaten. He recalls only one Indian incident. A man named Joe Cones who lived near Rising Star was hunting deer with his grandson when he saw an Indian about to let loose with an arrow. He shoved the grandson behind a tree and the Indian's arrow imbedded itself in the tree trunk. Mr. Cones promptly disposed of the Indian. After coming to Cisco before 1900, Mr. Swindle farmed a little and did odd jobs. He cut and hauled wood for a time and at one time, when the small tank that supplied Cisco with water went dry, he hauled water and sold it by the barrel. The tank was located east of Thornton Feed Mill near the Katy track. He bought the water he hauled from the Strickland farm for 10 cents per barrel and sold it for 25 cents. In 1900 he went to work for a local drayman, and some four years later went into the dray business for himself. In 1914 he bought an interest in the R. H. Boone Feed Store. He ran that store, specializing in the sale of feed and flour, until he retired in 1935. Since 1943, Mr. Swindle has been blind and has had to curtail his hobby of fishing to some degree. At times now he goes out with some member of his family to give them advice on how to bait hooks to catch fish. In celebration of his 80th birthday his children gathered at his home at 710 East 13th Sunday for a party in his honor. The children prepared the birthday dinner and all met at his home for a party and reunion. Seven of his eight children were present for the affair as were a number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren. One daughter, Mrs. Minnie Hill, was unable to attend because she was on a vacation and study trip to Europe. Attending the Sunday party were: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Swin-

Flight Training Opened To High School Graduates

For the first time since World War II, high school graduates now are eligible to apply for Air Force flying training directly from civilian life. United States Air Force Headquarters, Washington, D. C., recently announced that a college education was no longer an entrance requirement for Aircraft Observer training in the Aviation Cadet program. Any young man who is between the ages of 19 and 26½, single, a high school graduate, and in good physical and mental health can now apply for Aircraft Observer training. Applicants may have 20-50 vision if corrected to 20-20 with glasses. An applicant is under no obligation if he takes the qualifying tests. He does not enter the Air Force until he is found fully qualified for Observer training and actually desires to enter the program. The Aircraft Observer is schooled in navigation, bombardment, radar operation or aircraft performance engineering, and upon completing training becomes a crew member of bombardment, transport, reconnaissance or interceptor type aircraft. His cadet training is divided into three phases — Pre-Flight, Primary and Basic. The three month Pre-Flight course consists of intensive officer training. Upon successful completion of Pre-Flight, Aircraft Observer cadets receive 30 weeks of Primary training that covers the fundamental skills and techniques common to all Aircraft Observer duties. After completing the Primary phase, the Aircraft Observer cadet attends one of several Basic courses that trains him for a specific aircrew position such as a navigator, bombardier, radar observer, or aircraft performance engineer. The Aviation Cadet in Aircraft Observer training receives a commission as a second lieutenant in the Air Force Reserve approximately 14 months after he enters training. For complete information on Aircraft Observer training, a high school graduate should contact Aviation Cadet Selection Team No. 202, Hensley Field, Grand Prairie, Texas. Phone 4401.

FIR PLYWOOD OPENS CAMPAIGN IN ALL U. S. DAILY NEWSPAPERS

NEW YORK, July 13. — In the biggest newspaper advertising program ever run for a building material, 1,626 daily newspapers will carry a seven-week campaign this summer selling fir plywood for easy midsummer home building projects. News of the $200,000 campaign, which will run in every city in the nation with a daily newspaper, was announced here today by the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association. Combined circulation of the newspapers scheduled is 35,000,000. During the past decade or more, only in the automotive and cigarette fields have so many newspapers been used for a single campaign. Fir plywood is an all-purpose building material, and the new drive is timed to ride the crest of the "do-it-yourself" trend. Six ads, starting the week of July 13, will feature built-ins for the home, furniture, garden storage units, fences, remodeling ideas, shop projects and summer fix-up jobs. They will also tell about new plans for these projects which are available to consumers at lumber dealers' showrooms. The campaign is by Douglas Fir Plywood Association, with headquarters in Tacoma, Wash. "Newspapers were chosen above all other media," said W.

E. Difford, managing director of the plywood association, "because they offer immediate local stimulation of consumer buying interest and unmatched opportunity for tie-in advertising by the nation's lumber dealers." Copy in the ads states: "The weather's right, the price is right. Do your home improvement projects now. See your local lumber dealer; he has new plans for you." The advertising agency on the account is The Condon Co., of Tacoma, with Victor Kaufman, partner, as account executive. Simultaneously with the Bureau's announcement, Edward H. Burgess, director of the Bureau's Retail Department, noted that the "Do-it-yourself" market, already many times its prewar size, is one of the fastest-growing consumer markets in the nation today. In recognition of this fact, he pointed out, the Bureau of Advertising and its more than 1,000 member newspapers have been conducting since early this year an intensive organized campaign among dealers and manufacturers — a campaign designed to increase sales promotion efforts on the many products enjoying vast new sales opportunities as a result of the trend. A folder released by the Bureau to its members points out that American householders spend an average of more than $75 a year for materials used in "do-it-yourself" projects — plywood, lumber, paint, tools, garden supplies, etc. In addition to this activity by their advertising departments, Burgess pointed out, newspapers have also recognized the wide public interest in "do-it-yourself" by expanding their how-to-features and news stories, and by sponsoring local "do-it-yourself" shows. In support of its national advertising drive, the DFPA will supply to retail lumber dealers a wide selection of newspaper mats for tie-in advertising, billing plywood as "today's best buy" and "the do-it-yourself material."

Rising Star Plans To Open Golf Links

A. A. White, newly elected president of Lakewood Country Club near Rising Star announced that plans were underway to reopen the club in the near future. Recent heavy rains assured sufficient water for proper green care and as soon as the officials feel that they are in playing condition the course will be open for play.

L. B. Forbes, Curt Smith and Fred Cook have been named to the committee to get the course in condition for play.

An announcement as to the opening day will be made soon, it was reported.

Drought Not To Ruin Rio Grande River Fishing

AUSTIN, July 11. — The Rio Grande River, noted for its giant catfish, can be restored to its piscatorial eminence, according to the Executive Secretary of the Game and Fish Commission.

He said the record drought, with consequent lack of flowage along great stretches of the Rio Grande, will be costly to the fish population. But he explained that river observers report many large pools, deep enough to sustain adequate brood stock.

Meanwhile, deep South Texas fishermen are looking forward to the vast lake created by the Falcon Dam below Laredo and above the rich irrigated fruit plantations in the Valley.

This lake, which is expected to be filled within a year, will provide a large impoundment of water for stocking with fish as well as providing constant flow of water in the river below the dam.

The Executive Secretary said the lake will be stocked with catfish, bass and other species which, he added, should provide unlimited sport.

Indian Trail Festival Planned At Gorman

The program will open with a parade Thursday. The queen will be crowned in ceremonies Thursday night at the new high school auditorium. A pet parade will be held Friday afternoon.

A musical jamboree has been planned for Saturday. Everyone in the Cisco area was invited to attend the three day affair.
