Allies Resume Air Offensive

Red Troops Rip Apart Nazi Line East Of Dneiper

Russians Drive On Toward Base At Kiev

MOSCOW—(P)—Red Army troops surging swiftly toward Kiev and Zaporozhe, key cities on the Dnieper River, were reported Thursday to have ripped apart the German defenses east of the river.

The army newspaper Red Star said the Germans no longer held a continuous line.

Russian forces drove on Kiev from Nezhin, 73 miles to the north-east, and on Zaporozhe from a line between Gulai Pole and Pokrovskoye, some 45 miles to the east.

LONDON—(P)—Battering their way across the Ukraine plains toward the vital Dnieper River defense wall, approximately 70 miles to the west, Red Army columns which captured Nezhin Wednesday apparently were aiming their main thrust Thursday against the Kiev-Poltava-Lozovaya railway, severance of which would isolate German armies to the north and south.

Capture of Nezhin, a main bastion of Nazi defenses before the Dnieper barrier, already has cut off but one rail link between the enemy forces operating in the central and southern sectors of the Ukraine. If the Red Army spearhead can place themselves astride the Kiev-Poltava-Lozovaya line before the autumn rains make large-scale military operations impossible, the Germans in the southern sector face the possibility of another defeat as costly as that suffered at Stalingrad.

Advances Everywhere

Although the capture of Nezhin spotlighted Wednesday's Russian advance, the Soviet forces to the south were not idle. Driving toward the great bend in the Dnieper, Moscow said, they captured Gulai Pole and Pokrovskoye, both 50 miles from Zaporozhe.

There was still no announcement by the Russian high command of the capture of Bryansk in the north, which the Germans said they evacuated several days ago. The Russian communiqué reported fierce fighting in the Bryansk sector toward Smolensk and disclosed the capture of Dyatkova, 20 miles north of the German base.

In the central sectors of the 600-mile active front the story was the same, with Red Army columns everywhere advancing.

Allied Position At Salerno Is Serious

WASHINGTON—(P)—The position of Allied troops in the battle of Salerno is serious, Secretary of War Stimson said Thursday, but "our commanders are confident."

Describing the struggle south of Naples as one of the most critical battles of the Mediterranean campaign, Stimson said reinforcements and additional supplies were reaching the Allied forces, now reported to have consolidated their beach head and to be making progress.

"There has never been any thought of evacuation," the secretary said emphatically.

COAST HAS STORM ALERT

HOUSTON—(P)—A hurricane alert for precautionary purposes was in effect Thursday for the entire Texas Gulf Coast.

Speculation Over Possible Japanese Attack On Soviet Russia Is Growing In Washington

WASHINGTON—(P)—Speculation about a Japanese attack on Soviet Russia revived here Thursday with unconfirmed reports from Chungking that a border clash—the first reported in some time—has occurred along the Mongolian frontier.

The Chungking report said the incident occurred north of Pailingmiao, a Japanese-controlled inner Mongolian desert settlement below the border of Outer Mongolia, which is an autonomous republic dominated by Soviet Russia.

Pailingmiao is a strategic base should be planning a lightning drive across the Gobi desert through Ulan Bator, the outer Mongolian capital, to cut the trans-Siberian line in the vicinity of Lake Baikal.

Conjecture among experts on Asiatic affairs here is by no means unanimous.

One group holds that the Japanese will not attack, having enough on their hands already with the growing power of the Allies in the Pacific and East Asia.

Another contends that while the Japanese well may be concerned about this, they are nevertheless in this war with the Germans and must realize that once Germany is liquidated the Allies can turn their full attention to the Pacific. And the Germans, this group argues, undoubtedly are pressing the Japanese for a second front against the Russians in the east which would divert much Soviet strength from the advancing lines in the west.

Backing The Attack With Bonds —

War Bond Show To Be Held At Yucca Theater Thursday

Backing the attack with War Bonds, Midland citizens Thursday night will enjoy their first War Bond premiere at the Yucca Theater, presented by J. Howard Hodges, theater manager, to bond purchasers in the Third War Loan Drive.

Cooperating in the entertainment, the Midland Army Air Field will send its famed band, three bombardiers who have been in the thick of battles, its big searchlights and other equipment to give the premiere all the excitement of a Hollywood first-nighter.

The motion picture will be "Bataan," featuring Robert Taylor.

Admission is free to all War Bond

Captain Wollard Tells Cadets Of European Battles

A bombardier veteran with more than 250 hours of combat missions to his credit, Capt. Robert V. Wollard Thursday morning painted vivid word pictures of his experience as an Axis blaster in England and North Africa for graduating Hell from Heaven Men and their families at exercises for the thirteenth class of bombardiers to complete training at Midland Army Air Field this year.

This bombardier of the Flying Fortress "Hell's Battlewagon" was introduced by Colonel John P. Kenny, commanding officer of the headquarters field of the nation's bombardier training program here.

Captain Wollard told of the activation of his heavy bombardment group in Spokane, Wash., early in 1942. On July 26, 1942, his outfit took off from an air base in Maine and flew the northern route to England. During their stay in the British Isles they were further trained as combat crews, studying aircraft identification, gunnery, etc.

RAF Aided Americans

"While the RAF bombing tactics differ from ours the men of the RAF were most cooperative and helped us a great deal in preparing for the day we would take to the air over Europe on our own," said the young bombardier who wears the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal and ten Oak Leaf Clusters.

His group flew several important missions over Hitler's Europe from England. Among them was the great raid on Lille, France, out-

Hungarian Station Lauds Talk By Hull

LONDON—(P)—BBC said in a broadcast that the Budapest radio Wednesday night made "a very favorable comment on Secretary of State Cordell Hull's statement on the foreign policy the United States intends to carry out after the war."

The London broadcast quoted the Hungarian radio as saying:

"Hungarian public opinion is struck by Mr. Hull's affirmation that all sovereign nations are equal whether they be small or large, and that each one has the right to handle her own internal affairs. Hungary has always agreed with these principles as well as with all other fundamental principles of American foreign policy."

BBC added that "Hungarian social democrats have asked that Hungary resume her parliamentary regime and her independent foreign policy."

Rubber Factory, Berlin And Paris Targets Of Raids

Americans Go Out On First Night Attack

LONDON—(P)—American Flying Fortresses, following up an inaugural dusk raid on Hitler's Europe and probably the Allies' biggest night assault on the continent, bombed naval installations at Nantes in France Thursday in their second foray in two days.

An official announcement of the raid on Nantes, big French industrial center at the mouth of the river Loire, said the Fortresses were escorted by American Thunderbolts.

LONDON—(AP)—A heavy force of RAF bombers attacked a rubber factory at Montlucon only 43 miles northwest of Vichy in enemy-occupied France Wednesday night while other bombers hit targets in Berlin and Northwest Germany, the Air Ministry announced Thursday.

The Vichy radio said the town of Chartres also was attacked, but the British announcement made no mention of this.

Yankees Hit Paris Area

Wednesday night's raid, first since the Sept. 8 attack on Munich, followed by a few hours the first after-dusk assault by a combined force of American Flying Fortresses, Liberators and Marauders which raided the Paris area. Here the Tispana-Salza and Caudron-Renault aircraft plants and a ball bearing works were the main targets.

At the same time German air raiders subjected suburban London to one of its severest bombings in months.

The raid on Paris marked the first time that Fortresses, Liberators and Marauders had joined in the same operation in the European war theater and the first time they had gone out and come home after dusk. Brig. Gen. Frederick L. Anderson, commander of the U. S. Eighth Air Force Bomber Command, pronounced the experiment a success and praising the possibility that they would soon team up with the RAF in bombing Europe.

Allied Troops Back Japs Into Death Trap In Drive On Big Air Base At Lae

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC—(P)—Backing the Japanese into a death trap where they are forced to fight, Allied jungle troops have battered through pillboxes, trenches and machinegun nests with the aid of artillery and planes to bring nearer the fall of the big air base of Lae, New Guinea.

East of Lae the Australians are only two miles from the center of the coastal town and are about to overrun the prized Malahang airbase.

On the west another force in the Markham Valley is only five miles away.

Stragglers Hunted

To the south, Americans and Australians who annihilated most of a Japanese garrison in capturing the airbase and harbor town of Salamaua left behind patrols to hunt down the surviving stragglers and moved in force more than half way along the 18 miles of jungle trail separating the two Huon Gulf bases.

Thursday's communiqué reported the capture in the Markham Valley of three defended plantations. The most bitter fighting was at Heath's. There the enemy had erected pillboxes, dug trenches, installed machine guns, artillery and anti-aircraft.

From east and west, Allied artillery is pouring shells into Lae. Japanese artillery is returning the fire. Enemy resistance is reported stiffening everywhere along the line of advance.

30 Barges Hit

Ahead of the Markham Valley force, a path was blasted by Mitchell medium bombers through enemy defenses along the road and river. Above Lae, other Mitchells destroyed or damaged most of 30 enemy barges at Hansa Bay, silenced machine gun and anti-aircraft posts and demolished warehouses.

Delayed dispatches from the South Pacific told of new Japanese air losses in the Solomons. On Sept. 11, sixteen planes were destroyed on the ground at the Kaituli airbase on Bougainville and seven out of 27 intruders were shot down during an American raid.

Eight other grounded planes later were destroyed or damaged by strafing fighters. Over Vella La-Vella Island, now occupied by the Americans, three out of 15 raiding enemy fighters were downed. American losses in these operations were three fighters.

Navy To Need 533,000 Men Before Year End

WASHINGTON—(P)—The Navy needs to draft 533,000 men to meet its manpower requirements the last four months of this year, Rear Admiral Randall Jacobs, naval personnel chief, Thursday told the Senate military committee, which is surveying the necessity for drafting fathers.

This means Selective Service will be called upon to furnish upward of a million men by Dec. 31, since Army spokesmen testified Wednesday that inductions will vary from 145,000 to 175,000 a month for the rest of 1943 to build up an Army of 7,700,000 men.

American And British Troops Lash Out To Drive Germans From Salerno Bridgehead; 8th Army Races North

General Clark Declares Beachhead Secure; Additional Troops Being Landed Each Day

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA—(P)—Sweating British and American soldiers on the Fifth Army have lashed out at the Germans, driving them back from the Salerno bridgehead, and have clinched their foothold in Italy, Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark announced Wednesday.

General Clark launched his offensive Thursday morning on the eighth day of the biggest battle yet fought in the Mediterranean, and threw the German armored forces back between the junction of the rivers Seland Calore north of Allavilla in the central sector of the 27-mile front.

Simultaneously, Gen. Clark, in an order of the day to his troops, declared "our bridgehead is secure. Additional troops are landing every day and we are here to stay. Not one foot of ground will be given up. Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's Eighth Army, racing northward toward Sapri, but 39 miles from the southern anchor of the Fifth Army's front, was mentioned by Clark, who said "in a matter of hours its presence will be felt by the enemy."

Troops Pour In

A military spokesman said the Germans were in flight in the Salerno sector for the first time since the original landings eight days ago and that Thursday morning's assault was "the first serious offensive thrust we have been able to make since getting on the beach."

Reinforcements pouring into the bridgehead during the past 48 hours made the drive possible, he said.

While the terrific fight raged back and forth under the thunder of 15-inch guns from British battleships and the artillery of lesser warships, Allied naval might poured a flood of reinforcements into the area.

Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth Army, composed equally of British and Americans, was now the largest Allied force engaged in a single battle since the Mediterranean war started, and it was supported again Wednesday by more than 2,000 sorties flown by the powerful Northwestern African Air Force and separate raids by Middle East heavy bombers.

Ships Shell Nazis

The entire Allied air force thus joined the struggle for the second straight day and hurled hundreds of tons of explosives upon the Germans' positions with earth-shaking barages.

With unchallengeable control of the sea, the Allies exploited the advantage to the utmost by moving their mobile naval batteries up close (Continued on Page 2)

The indictment alleged that between June 20, 1941, and February 20, 1942, the defendants "falsely and fraudulently represented themselves as being experienced and competent consulting engineers with special facilities and qualifications for obtaining war contracts from the government but that they had little or no experience in this field and could not and did not produce any of the services for which they were paid."

The indictment alleges that retainers fees of as much as $9,000 were accepted from clients and contracts were entered into calling for commissions of as much as eight per cent of all contracts obtained. Dallas Man Charged

In addition to Curley and Smith the defendants are: Marshall J. Fitzgerald, Chicago and Washington, secretary and director of Engineers Group, Inc.

James G. Fuller, formerly of Washington but now serving a five-year term in a federal penitentiary on conviction of sending fraudulent securities via the mails, executive vice president and director of the concern.

James Barton Underwood, formerly of Washington but now serving with the Greek army at Cairo, Egypt, president and director in January and February, 1942.

German Troops Surrounding Vatican City Are Preventing Persons From Entering Or Leaving

GENEVA, SWITZERLAND—(P)—An Italian border dispatch to the Lausanne Gazette said Thursday that German troops armed with anti-tank guns and machineguns were preventing persons from entering or leaving Vatican City.

"A dozen mobile anti-tank guns have been placed in St. Peter's Square at the base of the grand stairway of the Basilica, while machine guns were installed along the celebrated colonnades," the dispatch said.

German parachute troops have mounted guard around Vatican City to check all contacts between Rome proper and the Holy See, it was reported.

The Lausanne Gazette said that German troops had surrounded workers' quarters in Transtevere across the Tiber River in Rome, where "communists, rebels and socialists installed barricades in the streets and fortified their homes."

The dispatch declared that Italian troops of the Rome garrison had been installed in a big camp at Tivoli and were being treated as prisoners of war.

Some stores were reported reopening in Rome and the city's bus lines were partly functioning again, but the scarcity of food presented a serious problem to Rome authorities.

Two To Go

When General Eisenhower was seeking some code expression for the command to attack—something which every American would recognize instinctively, but which would mean little to others—he decided happily upon the phrase with which every baseball game is started: "Play ball!"

Before this was known to the American public, Benito Mussolini, who stabbed France in the back on June 10, 1940, disappeared mysteriously from the international scene. And spontaneously, all over the United States, men and women found ready-made another expression borrowed from the national pastime: "One down, two to go."

Now the "One down" has become a fact. Not merely but the nation of decent people that he betrayed has collapsed, loud-mouthed, yellowlivered Mussolini is down, lapsed as a belligerent—has thrown in the sponge, surrendered unconditionally.

One down. That makes us very happy. Truly, we have passed the end of the beginning and have arrived at the beginning of the end.

But—two to go. The guy who has been tucked away was at the bottom of the batting order, where the pitcher usually is, although Mussolini and his reluctant Italy have done no pitching since little Greece forced Mussolini to call in a relief hurler. The men now coming up are at the top of the batting order. We can get them out. But there's no use kidding ourselves that we can sneak any floaters past them the way we did with the Indians, who never wanted to play ball anyway, but who would much rather have sat under their olive trees and sung sweet love songs to their girl friends.

The Germans and the Japanese are tough babies. They are tough because they love this game of war, because they have been long and well trained in it, because they got the jump on us, and not least because that when they are whipped they are not going to get off as easily as the Italians will.

By all means let us rejoice at the victory over Mussolini and the Italians. But let's forget this out-of-the-trenches-before-Christmas hooie. It's not only silly. It's dangerous. We've got to whip the Nazis and the Japs until they're paralyzed. So now that we've given three rousing cheers for ourselves, let's go on with the job.

Sugar Situation Is Still Sticky

All those good government intentions to increase the supply of sugar which you were hearing about so optimistically a month or so ago have turned into taffy in one of the most perfect examples of a bottleneck to be developed during the war. It isn't exactly any one person's or one agency's fault, and the bottleneck will in time be cleared or broken. But due to a combination of circumstances which no one foresaw, the sugar situation on the east coast today looks like this ball of wax:

There are a number of ships loaded with raw sugar, riding at anchor or tied to the wharves in several gulf ports, which can't be unloaded because there is no place to store the sugar.

There is an embargo against loading this sugar on freight cars at these southern ports, for rail shipment to the eastern refineries. This embargo was slapped down on Aug. 27 by the Association of American Railroads, on order or with the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission, to prevent the use of freight cars for storage of raw sugar at eastern terminals near the principal refineries in Savannah, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Jersey City, New York and Boston. All these refineries previously received their raw sugar by boat directly from the West Indies. But because of the submarine menace this direct shipment has been somewhat restricted, making it necessary for the eastern refineries to get their raw sugar by rail from the gulf ports.

Here the sugar shipping ran into a manpower shortage. Several manpower shortages. The railroads were short on manpower to handle switching. The refineries were short on manpower to handle unloading from box cars, unloading from shipside normally being handled by mechanical conveyors. The sugar boats used to bring in cargoes of from 2000 to 7000 tons. The average freight car will handle 30 tons, meaning that from 70 to 250 cars had to be used to carry each boatload of sugar up the Atlantic coast to the refineries. In all, this began to tie up some 1200 to 1500 freight cars every day.

The refineries were apparently willing to pay demurrage charges for storage, but that began to clutter up the railroad yards which were already jammed to capacity with other war freight. The railroads were also under obligation to get the maximum use of their equipment, and the use of freight cars for storage simply could not be permitted. An embargo on shipments, which railroads have a common law right to impose at any time, was the only answer to keep their cars rolling.

That solution threw the burden right back on the shipping interests, who thus found that they couldn't unload. Shipping space being at a premium too, the ship operators are faced with the alternatives of leaving their ships in port, loaded, or sending them back where they came from to unload their sugar and take on other cargo.

standing among early AAF forays over the continent. Many of the huge Flying Fortress returned from these missions with tails nearly shot off, controls shot up, landing gear useless, and engines knocked out by fighters and flak. "There is no question in my mind as to what those Forts can do or what they can take," he said. "About that time we began to appreciate the superiority of our equipment."

In November of 1942 Capt. Wollard's outfit moved to North Africa, operating from an Allied base near Oran. During the months in that theater his group moved numerous times but the targets remained the same — Tunis, Bizerte, Palermo, Gabes, Sfax and Tripoli. The Fortresses and their crews pounded the Nazi supply lines and strongholds day after day until Rommel and his men were blown out of North Africa.

"Many times we fueled our own planes from five gallon cans of gasoline, loaded our own bombs, and then flew missions against the enemy."

The captain praised the Red Cross and particularly its Field Canteens which were on hand with coffee and donuts when the bombers and fighters returned.

Offers Advice To Bombardiers
In closing Captain Wollard offered a bit of advice to the "Hell from Heaven Men" who will soon be dropping their bombs over the Axis targets. "Be more than just a bombardier to your Squadron. Let it be known that you are willing to do anything and everything to help your outfit. You may not have much time but every little job you can do will help make your organization a better fighting team."

Commissions as second lieutenants or appointments as flight officers in the Army Air Forces were presented to graduates by Colonel Kenny, and bombardier wings were awarded by Lt. Col. Howard E. Watkins, director of training. Chaplain Charlie Dollar gave the invocation and the benediction, and Capt. Carl W. Allen, school secretary, administered the oath to the newly commissioned graduates.

Named the outstanding cadet of his class, Russell L. DiMatteo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis R. DiMatteo, Quincy, Mass., was presented with a special plaque by Colonel Kenny. At formal retreat ceremonies last night, graduating cadets passed in review before their commanding officer, Colonel Kenny, and members of his staff. Outstanding members of the class were presented with awards by the colonel.

Cadets who received awards were: Lewis L. Eubanks, son of Mrs. Ruby Eubanks, Oklahoma City, physical fitness medal; Leslie W. Jockens, son of Mrs. Margaret Jockens, Fairbury, Neb.; Henry J. Horney, son of Mr. P. L. Horney, Chicago, and Donald J. McCarthy, son of Mrs. Marie V. Prothero, Wayzata, Minn. They received miniature bomb trophies for participating in the AAF Training Command's Sixth Bombing Olympics.

to the blackened, smoking beaches and hurling tons of screaming steel into the teeth of the Germans. The British battleships Valiant and Warspite with their 16-inch rifles joined in the bombardment.

Casualties Heavy
Casualties in this seven-day battle have been the heaviest of any in the Mediterranean fighting.

At least four German divisions had been identified in the action against the 27-mile front, and more were being brought up. It was probable that as many as five had been employed in the all-out effort to smash the Allied group.

The magnitude and fierceness of the battle undoubtedly was draining German strength even more rapidly than Marshal Erwin Rommel's effort in Africa.

Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's Eighth Army, racing dramatically up the Italian west coast, passed through Salerno, approximately 50 miles inland southeast of Agropoli, the southern anchor of General Clark's positions, Allied headquarters announced.

British Opposition Light
General Montgomery's warriors were meeting no opposition in the dash that had carried them more than 15 miles in the last 24 hours.

Although Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters communique said the Fifth Army had strengthened its hold on its bridgehead and was being reinforced and supplied, it was not considered likely that the critical phase would pass until it had been joined by the Eighth Army to form a great unified force.

Meanwhile, the communique had nothing further to report of the British force which landed at Taranto and sliced off the Italian heel with the capture of Brindisi and Bari in a flanking drive on the east side of the peninsula. These troops were believed to be fanning out through the lower backbone of the Apennines, however.

Lt. William E. Black Tells Rotarians Of Bombing Experiences

Lt. William E. Black, who was bombardier on 52 bombing missions over Europe and Africa, urged Rotarians at their meeting Thursday noon at Hotel Scharbauer to buy more War Bonds and to keep letters and newspapers going to the men on the battle front.

"Let these men know you are a hundred per cent behind them and they'll do the job they are assigned," he suggested.

He described the morale as excellent. Lieutenant Black spent 13 months overseas before returning to America to study at the Central Bombardier Instructors' School at the Midland Army Air Field. He holds the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with oak leaf clusters and the Purple Heart.

He told of his trip from America to England on a Flying Fortress, and then described bombing raids over Europe.

"Rough And Tough"
The officer described the North African campaign as a "rough and tough affair," and related difficulties and problems which confronted Allied forces there.

He told of large German transports which moved troops to North Africa. The Germans, he said, had plenty of planes but were short of fuel.

American forces had plenty of fuel and supplies, he explained. He told of aid by the RAF to American forces, when they first arrived, and said the Americans made the daylight raids which are more dangerous because they bomb by precision. The British and Germans both bomb large areas, rather than specific targets.

Lieutenant Black was introduced by Mayor A. N. Hendrickson, program chairman. Roy McKee, president, introduced Louie Fielding, a new member of the club.

This call is urgent!

Over the oceans loaded troopships are carrying new thousands of soldiers to join our attacking armies at the front.

And every soldier who goes out to the fighting fronts must be replaced in an Army job behind the lines.

Women are needed in the WAC to take over these vital jobs. Hundreds of thousands of women are needed. You are needed—and right away.

In the WAC you'll do vital work. You'll share in one of the biggest experiences of your generation—and feel a deep sense of satisfaction in helping your country in its urgent need.

Are you an American citizen, a woman over 20 and under 50 years of age? Are you single, or if you're married, are you without dependents, without children under 14? Then you are needed in the WAC immediately. (If you are ineligible for the WAC because of age or family responsibilities, take over the job of an eligible woman and free her to join the WAC.)

Children Enjoy Party On Lawn

In honor of eight year old members of the primary department of the Calvary Baptist Church, a party was given Wednesday afternoon on the church lawn when games were played by the children and refreshments were served.

Teachers of the Sunday School present included Mesdames M. J. Coen, C. R. Scribner, Andy Brooks, R. C. Frazier, and Joe Nichols.

Sandra Ann White Fed At Party On Fourth Birthday

Little Sandra Ann White was the guest of honor Monday afternoon when her fourth birthday anniversary was celebrated with a party in the home of her grandmother, Mrs. J. M. White.

The children played various games in the garden of the home, and later in the afternoon were served refreshments. Sandra Ann cut her birthday cake, which was served to the small guests with the refreshment course.

Four tiny tapers graced the top of the cake, and after refreshments were served in the garden, the guest of honor opened the numerous gifts brought to her by her little friends.

In addition to her paternal grandmother, there were present the maternal grandmother, Mrs. A. W. Wyatt, and a great-grandmother, Mrs. M. L. Wyatt, who were special guests of the party.

Movietones were taken of the children's party in the garden, after which they were escorted into the living room where movietones of last year's party were shown on the screen, which included the same group of children. It has been the custom of each year to photograph each birthday party of the little hostess.

The guest list included: Andrea Cole, Donnie Kelly, Anne Simmons, Sandra K. Aycock, David Klapproth, Carolyn and David Leggett, Mary Louise and Ruth Ann Erskine, Mary Lynn Osborn, and Bobby Herington.

Miss Alpha Lynn, home demonstration agent, gave a demonstration on canning of fruits and vegetables. Tomatoes, tomato juice, peaches, squash, okra, mustard greens, and tomato and okra gumbo were canned.

Present were Helen and Johnnie Harrison, Kathryn Richmond, Jewel Dee Livingston, Velda Dee Pigg, Dessie Casbeer, Irene Fields, Grace Marie Arnett, Wanda Pearl Elms, and Miss Lynn.

Received into membership were Irene Fields and Grace Marie Arnett.

MIND Your MANNERS

1. Is it correct to introduce a minister as Reverend Jones?
2. In writing to a priest, how should the envelope be addressed?
3. In talking to a rabbi, should he be addressed as Dr. Wise or Rabbi Wise?

4. What is the appropriate complimentary close in a letter to a clergyman?

5. At a wedding, who pays the clergyman's fee and when?

What would you do if—
You are a newcomer in town, and the minister of the church you select calls when you are not at home—

- (a) Acknowledge the call?
- (b) Do nothing until he calls again?

Answers

1. No. He is not introduced and addressed as Dr. or Mr. Jones.
2. The Rev. Michael Duffy.
3. Either is correct.

4. "Faithfully" or "Faithfully Yours."

5. The best man hands the officiating minister an envelope containing his fee in the vestry room after the ceremony.

Pot Roast In Jelly With Vegetables a la Mode (Serves 20)

Twelve pounds round steak, 2 bunches carrots, 1 bunch white turnips, 1 pound cold pack peas, 3 dozen mushrooms, 3 whole tomatoes, 2 dozen small onions, 2 soup spoons tomato puree, 1/4 of a garlic, 1/2 bay leaf, 2 stalks celery, 1/2 branch parsley, 2 glasses red wine or grape juice, 1/4 pound flour, 2 quarts stock, 1/2 tablespoon gelatin.

Take two 6-pound pieces of beef, salt and pepper, insert the 1/4 clove of garlic, put in pan and brown on all sides. Add the onions, chopped tomato, tomato puree, celery and parsley. Simmer in hot oven for 10 minutes in covered pot. Add the red wine or grape juice and stock. Cook slowly in oven for two hours. Cook your carrots, turnips, peas in separate containers. When the pot roast is cooked, strain your gravy and add the diluted gelatin. Slice the beef and place in deep dish. Decorate with the vegetables and cover with sauce. When cold, you may serve it in the same dish or mold it on a bed of lettuce.

Kate Smith swaps stories with Mr. Dedman

— of San Diego, California

"I WAS NEVER a fancy cake maker," writes Mr. N. A. Dedman of San Diego, California. "But for over thirty years I have been cooking under all conditions—with coal, wood, electricity, gas, and kerosene—and Calumet has been my constant companion. Not once has Calumet let me down."

"When you have to turn out enough biscuits, muffins, or corn bread to feed a small army, you can't be bothered with 'temperamental baking powder.' Calumet has always proven a worthy ally."

"I sure did enjoy your letter, Mr. Dedman," Kate Smith replies, "especially what you said about Calumet's not being 'temperamental.' And I'm sending along a recipe that's a special favorite of mine."

Try Kate's recipe for BUTTERSCOTCH NUT ROLLS

2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons shortening
3/4 cup milk (about)

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder (notice that small, thrifty proportion) and salt, and sift again. Cut in shortening; add milk gradually, stirring until soft dough is formed. Turn out immediately on lightly floured board and knead 30 seconds, or enough to shape. Roll into 12x10-inch rectangle 1/4 inch thick. (Calumet is the "double-acting" baking powder, you know. Works once in your mixing bowl—then waits till it hits the oven before working again. You can count on dependable Calumet—every time.) Cream together butter and sugar and spread on dough; roll as for jelly roll and cut in 1-inch slices. Melt butter in 8x8x2-inch pan; add water and sugar. Cook over low flame until mixture bubbles, stirring constantly. Remove from fire and sprinkle nut meats over mixture. Place rolls in pan, cut-side down. Bake in hot oven (400° F.) 40 minutes, or until done. Remove at once from pan. Makes 10 to 12 rolls. All measurements are level.

Bulldogs To Provide Answer To Off-Asked Question Friday

THE MIDLAND High School Bulldogs will pry the lid from the 1943 football schedule Friday when they meet Brownfield's highly-touted Cubs at 9 p. m. under the lights at Lackey Field. They also will provide the answer to an oft-asked question, "What kind of team does Midland have this year?"

That question is a highly controversial one among the fans who have witnessed the gridders working out and in a scrimmage against the Monahans Green Wave. There are some who are not hesitant in proclaiming that Midland has the best team it has produced in recent years, and should go a long way in the district gonfalon race. There are others, more cautious, who say it likely won't win more than a couple of games and that there's no reason for optimism since the squad is untried against real opposition.

THE ANSWER will be given Friday night. Without sticking our neck out too far, this column ventures to say that the majority of fans will be given a jolting surprise in the Brownfield game. Coaches Gene McCollum and Jack Atkins have a pessimistic outlook on chances for victory over the Cubs, but their charges are full of spirit and ready to go—and are determined to walk off with a win in the season opener. Despite the fact that many of the boys are inexperienced, the squad does show up well. It operates as a team and depends upon no star or stars to do its work. It has been handed a large number of excellent plays and executes them with precision. It has some weight although it also is spotted with some light material. It has speed and deception.

THREE BULLDOGS will be playing in their first game Friday night. John Spurge, Charles Funk and Jim Edwards, all in the line, haven't yet been under fire. Copper Daugherty, end, played in only one or two tilts last year. There are other boys whose experience has been limited. But on the other side of the register, there's such veterans as Jimmy Watson, Bill Richards, Red Roy, Black Jack Taylor, Joe Stickney, etc., who know that it's like to be facing competition and who are expected to show the greenhands the way.

A STIFF program of calisthenics handed to the boys on the opening day of the season has proven of great value. The Bulldogs are in top shape, and thus far there have been no serious injuries and few minor ones. The team is ready to go against Brownfield and the stands should be filled Friday night. Win or no, the Bulldogs are bound to put on a good show against the vaunted Cubs.

MIDLAND'S GRID teams of 1944, '45 and '46 may be seen each afternoon on Lackey Field. They're boys from the Junior High School and from the ninth grade in High School who are working out under the tutelage of Jack Mashburn. This long-range program is providing boys 15 years of age and under a needed sports program and also is building for the future of the high school squad. And the youngsters are digging in and showing that they like it.

GAME TIME Friday is 9 p. m. Reserve seat tickets are on sale at the Chamber of Commerce. General admission, student's, and enlisted men's tickets will be available at the field at 7:30 p. m. Friday.

World Series Of Softball Starts

DETROIT — (AP) — The annual "world series" of the Amateur Softball Association, bringing together 30 regional winners from the United States and Canada, opens Friday night under the lights at University of Detroit stadium in a two-game program featured by the first appearance of the New Orleans Jax, 1942 women's champions. The gal champions meet the Detroit Ford Bomberettes, and in the men's division Camp Wallace, Texas, one of four service teams seeking the title, opposes the Detroit Briggs Bombers.

EVERETT C. LUCKIE TO BECOME AVIATION CADET

Everett C. Luckie, 21, of Midland has reported at the Oklahoma Baptist University, Shawnee, Okla., for a course of Army Air Force instruction, lasting approximately five months, prior to his appointment as an aviation cadet.

About 45 Boys On Junior Squad

About 45 boys 15 years old and under are reporting each afternoon to Coach Jack Mashburn for grid practice on Lackey Field, and more are expected out as soon as togs and equipment can be provided. The squad is composed of about 20 students from the Junior High School and the remainder from the high school.

Each of the boys has at least two more years of eligibility, and the foundation for future Midland High School varsity squads is being laid in the training handed the juniors. The candidates range in weight from 85 pounders to about 150 pounds, and already some promising material has been spotted. Mashburn said Wednesday. A number of the boys likely will be ready to step into good berths on the Bulldog team next year.

Condition work and passing practice were meted out in the initial session Tuesday afternoon, and blocking and other ground work

With 50 of 75 candidates in Uncle Sam's livery. Penn State's is truly representative of college grid-iron squads. Left to right in service and football regalia are Marine Pvt. Ed. Czekaj, end; Apprentice Seaman Red Moore and Marine Pvt. Ted Hapanowicz, tackle; Pvt. Johnny Jaffurs, guard; and Marine Pvt. Bill Powers, center.

Bulldogs Ready For First Game With Brownfield

Midland High School's Bulldog gridders went to the showers early Wednesday afternoon after a short work-out under the direction of Coaches Gene McCollum and Jack Atkins. They had gone through two rough practice sessions Tuesday afternoon and night and the coaches feared an overexposure.

Another short brush-up period is slated Thursday, the final one before the boys shatter the curtain hanging before the 1943 grid schedule. They play the Brownfield Cubs here Friday night.

Apparently concerned mainly over the defensive abilities of the players, the two mentors dished out work in that department Wednesday, but managed to edge in a little offensive practice along with it.

McCollum Thursday pronounced the squad as ready as it is possible to be for the Brownfield encounter. He hedged no guesses on the outcome.

Former Boxer Now Bombardier Cadet

Orin S. Slauson mastered his aim when he was a boxer at the University of Wisconsin, where he was an outstanding member of the school's boxing team. Now as Bombardier Cadet Slauson at Midland Army Air Field, the world's largest bombardier school, he is learning to slug the Axis around with bombs in each hand.

At least two, and possibly more, games are planned for the junior squad this season.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK — (AP) — The hottest golfer in Northern Africa, at last report, seems to be Fireman First Class Herb Johnson, U. S. Navy.

Corp. Howard L. Dupont of Pinehurst, N. C., relays the results of the first Moroccan open tourney, played Aug. 14-15, and an amateur event two weeks later. Fireman Johnson, former Hinsdale, Ill., pro, won them both. He shot 72-72-150 in the open over a course that "was built inside of a race track and up to two months ago was a camp for our troops" and playing with golf balls which, Dupont says, "some caddies at home would throw away as useless."

pro-am tourney Herb teamed with Victor Bellincioni, Moroccan banker, and they teamed in a card of 65-62-127. Corp. Dupont seems to think the tournament committee, including Sgt. Dugan Aycock of Lexington, N. C., and Corp. Ben Banks of Dallas, Texas, did a good job—they even got the Pasha of Marrakech and his son, Si Ahmed Glaoui, to play—but, he asks, why can't they get some good golf balls in Africa? "The latest quotations at Gibraltar are $10 apiece if you can get one."

Today's Guest Star

Wilbur Kirley, Jackson (Miss.), Daily News: "Signs of the times: Last year the Southeastern Conference had four teams in New Year's bowl games (Georgia, Rose Bowl; Tennessee, Sugar Bowl; Alabama, Orange Bowl, and Georgia Tech, Cotton Bowl.) This year the Southeastern Conference has four teams period."

Shorts And Shells

Story from the Southwest is that conference coaches put through a rule that gridders who had used up their three years' eligibility in the circuit couldn't come back as service trainees and be eligible because they thought it would be easier to deal with Texas' Roy McKay that way than on the field. Roy, who played a lot of fullback for three years, was assigned to the Austin campus by the Navy. Tommy Colella, Detroit Lions' halfback, recently was discharged from the Marine Corps because he was allergic to 25 different foods, three weeds, two trees and feathers. Wonder how he reacts to Redskins and Bears?

Service Dept.

When Capt. Red Eubank, coach at the South Plains Army Air Field team at Lubbock, Texas, called out his Winged Commando squad, he discovered four 240-pound tackles, three ex-high school stars and Lt. George Meier, Jr., who had played at Nebraska. The coach probably used his crying towel to wipe the dust out of his eyes and make sure he wasn't seeing things. Pfc. William J. Beckloff, formerly of Temple U., and Platoon Sgt. William McSherry, ex-Columbia player, played forward on a Marine basketball team that won 11 of 13 games somewhere in the South Pacific—and it was only runner-up in its league.

Four Men Complete Armament Training

Recent graduates from a course in aircraft armament at the Post Tech School of the world's largest bombardier school at Midland Army Air Field include the following: Sgt. Ralph N. Jacks, Corp. Bernard P. McNelly, Pvt. Wilbur R. Richman and Pvt. Raymond W. Zewers, of the 486th Bombardier Training Squadron.

Carpenter Gets Man With Broken Leg Well

ALAMOSA, COLO. — (AP) — C. R. Bollier, city supervisor, isn't a doctor but he cured one of his employees of a broken leg in record time. The fellow called by telephone and said he wouldn't be at work because he had fractured a leg. Bollier went to his home, to offer his sympathy. He found that the leg was a wooden one. So he called a carpenter shop, arranged for repairs and ordered the employee to be on the job by noon.

Dempsey Thinks Athletes Could Help Uncle Sam

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS — (AP) — Jack Dempsey thinks some of the energy of the nations young fighting men could be turned toward making money for their Uncle Sam and at the same time building them into better soldiers.

The old Manassa Mauler, now a lieutenant commander in the Coast Guard with the duty of coordinating its physical training program, envisions great fight shows in the metropolitan centers, with war bonds as the admission price—the bigger the bond the better the seat.

Dempsey was here Thursday to help Dallas in its war loan drive by presiding at a bond auction luncheon. He had just come from Houston where he refereed at a war bond boxing tournament for service men and defense workers that drew over $4,000,000.

Teaches Rough Stuff

"That illustrates just what I have in mind," said the former heavyweight champion of the world. "If we could match name fighters like Joe Louis and Billy Conn in the major cities we would raise half of the next war loan. I would say Louis and Conn would draw $100,000,000 in New York."

Jack for the past 18 months has been teaching young men of the service sportsmanlike conduct.

"We have to forget sportsman-ship now," he said grimly. "We need soldiers who will not only shoot a Jap but go back and run a bayonet through him to be sure he's dead. We have to fight to win and we can't do it under standards of sport."

Governor Takes Part In Mexican Program

MEXICO CITY — (AP) — Texas and Mexico, whose histories for more than 100 years have been peculiarly intertwined, Thursday formally entered into a new era of understanding.

Gov. Coke Stevenson of Texas—the first governor of the border state ever to join formally with Mexico in celebrating its national independence—brought his goodwill tour to a close by standing with President Manuel Avila Camacho in review of the annual parade of freedom Thursday.

Wednesday night he joined with other dignitaries from the United States and Texas, with members of the diplomatic corps, as guests of President Camacho and Foreign Secretary Ezequiel Padilla at the ceremonial commemorating Miguel Hidalgo's cry of freedom.

While President Camacho repeated the stirring words—"Viva la Independencia"—the cry was taken up by thousands of Mexicans massed before him in the Plaza de La Constitucion.

Dartmouth Scheduled To Top Grid Field In New England

By DEAK MORSE

BOSTON — (AP) — With the normal opening date for New England collegiate football here, the only certainty about the fall sport is uncertainty.

Harvard was one of the first to announce cancellation of its schedule and Boston College followed. The famed "Little Three," Amherst, Wesleyan and Williams are on the "out" list as are Boston University, Rhode Island State, Northeastern, Massachusetts State, Connecticut, and the University of New Hampshire.

The University of Maine will be the sole representative of the Pine Tree State. In Vermont, Norwich and the University of Vermont are out, and Middlebury, with some navy students available, is teetering.

Brown Not Optimistic
Yale and Dartmouth, Ivy League colleges, stimulated by certain rugged individuals enrolled in Naval V-12 programs, will go to the wars again. Holy Cross, struggling to find both manpower and games, has decided to carry on and Brown, Coast Guard Academy, Tufts and Worcester Poly Tech also have declared themselves in the fold.

Dartmouth has been selected by the prognosticators as the pre-season favorite on the grounds that fine material from other campuses—navy trainees of course—has moved to Hanover, N. H., but Coach Earl Brown of the Indians claims he hasn't been occurrin' with any such hordes and is keeping his tongue in his cheek except to say: "Prospects are not very bright."

Betsy Beckham Bundy's Advice To The Lovelorn

Q. I am keeping company with a man past 60 who seems to think a great deal of me, and I do enjoy his company and the attentions he pays me. I am a widow, and my only son is now in the service, and I have been left alone.

I am not convinced it is because this man's attention breaks my loneliness or because I really find him interesting that I seem to want him around. He is lovely to me and has proposed marriage to me. I had never thought of being married again, but being alone is a mighty uninteresting life. I find.

Do you advise a woman who has been a widow over ten years to remarry?

Widow.

A. I think possibly you may be interested in the man who is paying his attentions toward you. If you like to have him around, and enjoy his presence, that is a fairly good sign that you like him. No matter if you had not planned to remarry, one sometimes changes her plans. That is permissible, and there is no law against it.

Since you are alone, and if you are convinced that you really care for the man, I would advise you to accept his proposal of marriage. Your son will be married, if he is not now, and you are destined to be alone always unless you remarry.

Q. My young daughter, 15, will not listen to my advice on accepting the attentions of the very young men, and also the attentions of soldiers. I think she is too young to be associating with soldiers of 21, 23 and 25 years of age, and she tells everyone that she is 18, which confuses matters greatly.

What do you advise?

Mother.

A. I advise sending your daughter to a girl's school in a far away town where there are few men so much older than she to associate with. She is just the cunning type of 15 year old who will have her own will about her company, etc. It is quite all right for her to go with boys her own age, but she should not be permitted to go with men so much older than she. A school where she will be supervised and chaperoned is the only place for her.

Make Nuptial Breakfast Extra Special

Executive Chef Otto shows the bride how to prepare jellied pot roast for the soldier ice box raid.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

The wedding breakfast for the soldier and his bride should be "out of this world," if possible, despite rationing and scarcities. Here's a practical suggestion for a gala breakfast from Otto E. Indermauer, executive chef of the Savoy Plaza Hotel in New York.

Soldier's Wedding Breakfast
Baked grapefruit, celery, radishes, minced chicken a la king, rice, new peas, floating heart, coffee.

Baked Grapefruit
(Serves 20)
Ten grapefruit, 1/4 pound brown sugar, 1/2 cup grenadine syrup, 1/2 cup honey, 1/4 cup chopped ginger, 2 ounces Jamaica rum or non-alcoholic rum flavoring.

First cut grapefruit on each end to secure straightness. Cut in half. Core as when serving cold. Mix grapefruit juice, acid chopped ginger and rum or non-alcoholic rum flavoring. Pour over each half grapefruit in proportion, sprinkle with the brown sugar and bake in hot oven for approximately 10 minutes. Place under broiler for a minute and serve on a hot plate. Decorate with a maraschino cherry and, if possible, serve on a leaf.

Floating Heart With Candied Fruit
(Serves 20)
Eight eggs whites, 1 pound sugar, 2 pints A cream, 3 tablespoons candied fruit, 1 ounce chocolate bar.

Beat white of eggs to a stiff snow. Add sugar in a syrup form by slowly stirring. Mix whipped cream slowly and fold in the cut candied fruits. Place on pan two inches thick, let cool in refrigerator and cut out heart-shaped pieces by means of a form cutter. Sprinkle with grated chocolate roll. Serve with a light vanilla sauce for which you can employ your yolk of eggs left from your recipe.

Twentieth Century Club Entertains With Beautifully Appointed Coffee

A coffee of beautiful appointments was given in the home of Mrs. W. L. Simmons Wednesday morning, when members of the Twentieth Century Club and their invited guests were present.

A centerpiece from the hostess' victory garden was effectively used on the table, and refreshments were served preceding the program.

Mrs. Louis F. Caddell, club president, reviewed Mrs. W. R. Potter's Federation History, to acquaint members and guests with the aims and ideals of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs and its achievements of the last 25 years.

Yearbooks Distributed
Mrs. S. M. Erskine, vice president and chairman of the program committee, and her committee members, Mrs. R. P. Simpson and Mrs. R. E. L. Taylor, distributed new yearbooks.

Mrs. Erskine gave a resume of the year's course of study, "Tomorrow's Course of Study," which is taken from "Peace and Post-War Planning" by Mrs. Sarah A. Whitehurst. A bibliography of other material available for the preparation of topics for discussion was presented to each member.

The preface to Mrs. Whitehurst's book, which is to be the club's guide this year, is "A lasting peace cannot be effected without an intelligent public opinion, and public opinion cannot be developed without a comprehensive understanding of many important facts relative to world affairs."

Mrs. Goodman Gives Report
Mrs. James H. Goodman, state legislative chairman, and Mrs. J. Howard Hodge, president of the eighth district of Federation of Women's Clubs, were guests of honor. Mrs. Goodman gave a brief report of her legislative program for 1943.

UNLOCKING ADVENTURE

By Charles Courtney

COPYRIGHT, 1943, NEA SERVICE, INC.

Charles Courtney is the world's highest paid legal Jimmy Valentine. This is the true story of his many adventures unlocking safes around the earth and under the sea.

CHAPTER XVI

A HILARIOUS incident was the affair of the missing padlocks. This happened in prohibition days. The officer who had been on our post for a long time had been transferred to the speak-easy district in the forties, but as he lived near the shop, he sometimes dropped in when he was off duty. When I unlocked the shop door one morning, he was waiting for me, on his way home from the night shift.

"You look worried, Hank," I said.

"You're right, I am, and it's such a silly thing, but it's got me down," he grumbled. "There's a padlocked speak-easy on one block of my post. Every night for the last three nights, the padlock on the door has disappeared. When the first went, I brought one from the station house, but after someone took the second, I didn't have the nerve to ask for another, so I got one and put it on myself. This morning it's gone, and I can't keep on like this forever."

"What brand do you use, Hank?"

"Those big black iron ones. You know the kind."

"I did. They were the cheap German make that seemed to have flooded the world."

"It doesn't take much of a locksmith to unlock those, or force them," I told Hank. "You can put on one that would take hours to pick and that would stop your joker, but if you'd like to catch him, I can rig up a bell to the padlock that will give an alarm loud enough to wake City Hall." Hank was delighted. In the morning, he stopped by the shop again, grinning.

"So you thought it was a lot of kids! It's a sporting old gentleman of pretty near 70, I'd say. He was doing it on a bet with another old caddy who used to hang out at the place. He had a grand time at the station house. How do they do it?" asked Hank, looking at his tired feet. "When I'm as old as that, I don't expect to crawl."

SOMETIMES I did a bit of detecting on my own and was gratified when I was able to solve a crime. A year or so ago a Westchester banker was robbed of a safe of jewelry, bonds and other valuables that he kept in his country home. The safe had not been tampered with, and as no one knew the combination except the owner and his secretary, the secretary had been looked up for the robbery.

"I've known this young man for years," the owner said, "and would trust him with anything that I have. The thief is someone else, and if you look at the safe, you may be able to see how it was opened."

We drove out to the banker's house on the shore. In the small paneled office beyond the library was the safe, a large one. I looked at it make.

"Will you help me tip it forward?" I asked. While the banker held the safe leaning slightly on the front edge, I twiddled with the dials and the door flew open.

"What!" he exclaimed. "Could anyone do that to it and make it open?"

"Anyone who knew," I answered. "You bought this safe in Austria, didn't you?"

"Yes, from a good firm, and it was guaranteed to be burglar-proof."

"It is a good firm but when they made this model about six years ago, they discovered that the first 10 safes were defective. When the safe is tipped forward, the locking bolt slides back, just as you see, and anyone can get into it by twisting the dial. The question is, who would know about it? Have you any Austrians in your employ?"

"I had, a gardener who came to me soon after I returned from that trip, but he quit a day or two ago." The police tracked down the man and found that he had been a foreman of the Austrian factory. When he learned that the safe had been bought by an American millionaire, he followed it to this country, convinced that it would be easier to live by robbery than by making safes.

AFTER Eddie's death I wanted to find work so absorbing that it would make me forget my loneliness. That summer I began the "Master Locksmith's Reference Book," a work upon which I spent every spare moment during the next two years.

Scarcely had the third volume come from the press when the police told me that they had caught a yegg crawling out of an office window of the Master Locksmith. He was a big crook, a top safecracker who had robbed a string of Jersey banks, and the police were surprised to catch him in a second-story job. He hadn't touched the safe; the three volumes of the "Master Locksmith's Reference Book" were the only things he took.

This theft alarmed the lock manufacturers, and they consulted the F. B. I. At a conference with the manufacturers, the F. B. I. and the police held in my office, it was decided to destroy the first volume and withdraw the third two from circulation. The F. B. I. considered it unsafe to have copies in the hands of locksmiths, even accredited members of the association. They said that not one of the books would be in safe hands as long as any crook could read.

Two Escaped German Prisoners Recaptured

TEMPLE, TEX. —(AP)—Two Germans were captured in a wooded area near the Camp Hood military reservation less than 12 hours after they fled while cutting wood several miles from the prisoner of war camp there.

Camp Hood military intelligence officers said Heinz Hellmann and Peter Windisch were captured at 10:45 p. m. Wednesday night. They and two other prisoners, still free, were missed at the 12:15 p. m. check-up Wednesday.

Military intelligence officers, Rangers, FBI agents and officers from the state school at Gatesville were participating in the search. Still at large were Fritz Hornuff, 20, and Wilhelm Vietinghoff, 19. Vietinghoff speaks English.

Arkansas is the largest producer of hardwood of any state in the union.

Army Personnel Enjoys USO Camp Show Here

Hundreds of officers and enlisted men at the Midland Army Air Field Wednesday night enjoyed "Steppin' High," a USO-Camp Shows musical revue, at the Post Service Club. The show has an all-negro cast and the dancing of Derby and Frenchie, who have played the major theaters of the country, drew rounds of applause.

India-Trained Chinese Troops Rout Jap Band

NEW DELHI —(AP)—Chinese troops trained in India and led by an American routed a band of 200 Japanese in a daring foray into the wild Naga hills country of North Burma recently, it was announced Thursday.

The Chinese were equipped at Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's Chinese-American training center.

The raiders pushed on behind enemy lines and blew up supply depots and bridges along the Japanese communication route. A communiqué said Chinese infantry and motor units were active.

Heavy casualties were said to have been inflicted upon the Japanese before the raiding force withdrew. Chinese losses were reported as light.

Shipping Attacked

(This is the first reported action involving Chinese trained at the India center and suggests expeditions on a still larger scale may be in the offing.)

British Beaufighters, in new attacks Wednesday on Japanese road, river and railway communications in Burma, damaged more than 30 sampans on the Irrawaddy and Chindwin rivers and an equal number along the Arakan coast, some of which were sunk, a communiqué announced Thursday.

The communiqué also said an oil tank at Yanagafat and a 100-foot landing stage at Monywa were heavily attacked.

In the Shwebo area severe damage was inflicted on a train and two army trucks. The operations were carried out in adverse weather, but all planes returned safely, the bulletin declared.

Cholera And Plague March Against Japs In Southwest Pacific

WASHINGTON —(AP)—Cholera and the plague are marching against the Japanese in the Southwest Pacific.

Data compiled by the Netherlands Information Bureau here disclosed Thursday that typhoid, malaria, dysentery and other epidemic diseases are waging guerrilla warfare against the empire-builders from Nippon.

Evidence of the serious difficulties encountered by health authorities in the Japanese-occupied areas is found, says the bureau, in recent Japanese-controlled news broadcasts in the Netherlands East Indies, French Indo-China and elsewhere.

A Domei (Japanese official news agency) report from Bandung, Java, for instance, tells of alarming outbreaks of plague in Western Java, where Japanese military authorities have ordered evacuation of the stricken districts.

Cholera Spreads

Not only bubonic plague (the black death of the Middle Ages) but the more deadly and more infectious pneumonic plague has been spreading.

In the Celebes a malaria epidemic is reported raging. Malaria also is handicapping Japanese military operations on Southwest Pacific battlefronts.

Other reports broadcast by Japanese-controlled stations say that an epidemic of dysentery which has been uncontrolled in Thailand since last June now has appeared in the Philippines.

Bond Dollars Are Fighting Dollars

More than $240,000,000 daily is being spent upon our war machines today, a rise of $100,000,000 over a year ago. That is why President Franklin D. Roosevelt, in a message to American workers, told them "we need considerably more than 10 percent of income in War Bonds now." The Treasury Department is conducting a national campaign under the slogan, "Figure It Out Yourself," asking every worker to balance family income with family cost of necessities and put the extra money into more bonds every payday through the payroll savings plan.

Top of the pay is at 5,189 feet and the total depth of the hole after plugging back from 9,312 feet is now at 5,267 feet, seven feet below the bottom of the pay section.

An acid treatment of 6,000 gallons was injected prior to the completion.

Stoddard's Pipe Stuck

Hugh W. Stoddard No. 1 Kendrick, exploratory development in Southeast Yoakum County, is fishing for stuck drill pipe at a total depth of 6,240 feet in lime.

Magnolia No. 1 Willis Winter, Vincent area outpost in Northeast Howard County, has drilled below 3,892 feet in lime.

Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Company No. 52-A Lane, McCamey area Ordovician test in Upton County, is drilling passed 7,249 feet in chert and lime and in the top section of the Ordovician.

Only 14 Feet From Record

Phillips No. 1 Ada C. Price, Southeast Pecos County operation, has made hole below 12,772 feet and is now only short of the Permian Basin depth record 14 feet.

Phillips No. 1 Sterling, West Sterling County project to 9,900 feet, is grinding through limestone around 5,757 feet after marking top of the formation at 5,700 feet. Elevation is 2,468 feet above sea level.

Railroad Starts Survey For Rack For Loading Oil

Preliminary surveys were started Wednesday at the Atlantic Pipe Line Company tank farm and terminal east of Midland by Texas & Pacific Railway Company engineers for a 1,500-foot double track crude oil loading rack.

While no definite announcements have been made by Atlantic officials concerning the project, it is supposed that the company will likely install such a rack for loading oil since Beauford Jester, chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission, announced this week in Dallas that tank cars would be made available for moving 25,000 barrels of petroleum daily from the Atlantic terminal here.

Could Load 15,000 Barrels
Approximately 75 tankers could be accommodated at one time on 3,000 feet of railroad track. Capacity of the average car is around 200 barrels of oil. On that basis cars holding about 15,000 barrels could be loaded at a time.

Loading of 25,000 barrels per day would require around 125 tank cars, and that number could be handled in 24 hours on such a rack as is indicated by the survey now being made.

No information is available as to where the 25,000 barrels of oil per day that could be handled by such a shipping arrangement would come from, or where it would go.

It would appear, however, that where such facilities available, they would warrant increased production somewhere in the area.

Milk Production Problem Will Be Laid Before Unit

WASHINGTON—(P)—War Food Administrator Marvin Jones will lay before the Senate banking committee Friday a critical milk production problem which, if unsolved, might lead to consumer rationing of fluid milk this winter and to higher ration values on butter, cheese and canned milk.

The food chief will suggest, aides said, the possible use of government subsidies during the winter season, when production costs generally advance.

Dairy experts of the War Food Administration estimated such subsidies might run between $140,000,000 and $160,000,000.

Many areas, particularly urban districts, already are running into milk shortages—a fact which last week led the WFA to inaugurate a program for eliminating sales of fluid milk through a system of dealer quotas.

The Bureau of Agricultural Economics said in a recent report that milk production in 1944 might drop to 115,000,000 pounds, or 7,000,000,000 less than the WFA goal, unless steps are taken to encourage a greater output.

CAR GOES INTO DITCH

A tire blowout sent a negro taxicab into the ditch and almost overturned it early Thursday west of Midland. No one was injured.

The death rate from typhoid fever in 1943 was the lowest in U. S. history.

Operating Manager

E. F. FREEMAN

Culminating sixteen years in the bus business, E. F. Freeman has been appointed operating manager of the Southwestern Greyhound Lines. Previous to his new assignment Freeman was superintendent for that company for the Dallas-Fort Worth to El Paso, Dallas to San Antonio, and Dallas to Oklahoma City divisions.

Freeman started in the bus business in 1927 as inspector for the Texas Motor Coaches. In 1928 he went with West Texas Coaches as superintendent of operations, and in 1929 joined the Greyhound organization and has been with that company since then.

Man Who Attempted To Kill Theodore Roosevelt Is Dead

WAUPUN, Wis. — (P) — John Flamung Schrank, 67, who attempted to kill Theodore Roosevelt in Milwaukee in 1912, died at the Central State Hospital here Wednesday night.

Schrank was found insane by a sanity commission in Milwaukee municipal court in November, 1912, when tried on a charge of assault with intent to kill and murder. He was committed to the Winnebago State Hospital on November 22, 1912 and transferred to the Central Hospital here two years later.

Theodore Roosevelt was shot in the chest in front of a Milwaukee hotel a short time before he was to address a rally in his Bull Moose campaign for president. A spectacle case deflected the bullet but it entered his body. He insisted on making his address and did so, highlighting it with a dramatic gesture as he pulled open his coat to display his bloodstained shirt and pad that covered the wound.

Problems On Food Production Talked

WASHINGTON — (P) — Both the White House and Congress took up the 1944 food output problem for minute examination Thursday, and perhaps some action to insure adequate food for the nation besides meeting large foreign commitments.

Marvin Jones, War Food Administrator, accepted an invitation to outline for the House agriculture committee next Monday his ideas for next year's farm program — production, distribution and price fixing.

From another angle, price incentives to farmers are encouraged to turn out the maximum in crops, the food subject occupied the attention of President Roosevelt, who met with his advisers and with leaders of the major farm organizations Wednesday.

Advance Agent Paves Way For Blind Workers

BATON ROUGE, La. — (P) — Advance agent for Louisiana's 800 unemployed blind, John H. McAulay, blind himself, has a new technique. He leads the sightless to useful work, the sightless to a useful source of badly needed manpower.

If a prospective employer doubts that a blind person can be of value in a war plant, McAulay goes into the plant to operate a drill press, lathe, box folder or other machine he never has seen, and he does it with the same speed and accuracy as other plant employees.

The employer told, McAulay, whose official title is field representative for service for the blind, U. S. Office of Education, seeks out a sightless worker who can fill a critical job.

He estimates at least 400 of the state's 800 blind are qualified for private employment, the remainder or sheltered workshops.

Virginian Too Much Man For U. S. Army

CAMP LEE, Va. — (P) — Here is one fellow the Army didn't have a suit to fit.

William A. Sackel, Jr., wanted to get into the quartermasters, so he told recruiting officers he was six feet, six inches tall. He found the longest shirt sleeves struck him about the elbow. Army cots were too tight, the trousers were too tight, the shoes pinched his toes.

The Army gave him an honorable discharge. The tape measure showed he was six feet, 10 inches—too much of a man for the quartermaster corps.

PAPEETE, TAHITI — (P) —

Because Polynesians thought the first white visitors had a disease—since they were not dark skinned—they termed them ta'ate pupure, meaning leprous man.

For the same reason a blonde today is called vahine pupure, meaning leprous woman.

If 3 per cent more homes that are heated with oil or gas are completely weatherproofed this year, more than 44,250,000 gallons of fuel oil and more than a million tons of coal can be saved.

Captain Who Was Shot Down First Day Of War Speaks At Premiere Thursday

Getting shot down on the first day of the war started the fighting career of Capt. Jim B. Buchanan, Thursday night.

"We were still about 25 miles off when we saw a formation of planes sweeping along below us. We thought they were Navy planes, until suddenly they turned and started pouring bullets into our ship. It was the first we knew of the Pearl Harbor attack."

The tail surfaces of his plane were shot away, and the big bomber was forced to crash land. That started things. Three weeks later, on a patrol mission out of Hawaii, Captain Buchanan's plane was forced down in the ocean, and for four days he and the eight other members of the crew floated in two tiny rubber life rafts before they were rescued.

From Hawaii, he went to New Guinea, and there flew a total of 61 combat missions, against the Japs in the Solomons, sending his bombs hurtling down on enemy installations at Rabaul, Wewak, Kavieng, and Lae.

Once, when his Fortress was flying a reconnaissance mission, shadowing a Japanese aircraft carrier, no bombs, the crew spotted a Jap airport on Bougainville, and the big plane swooped down to 100 feet while all hands manned guns, strafing the air field from end to end. Three Jap bombers were destroyed. For his part in this raid, Captain Buchanan was awarded an Oak Leaf Cluster to the Distinguished Flying Cross, which he already held for flying a certain number of combat missions.

For awarding the Silver Star, he was sinking the Silver Star.

"It was on a mission over Rabaul," he said. "We came in at about 5,000 feet just at dawn, and got pretty badly shot at by anti-aircraft, and something happened to the racks so our bombs wouldn't drop except in salvo. So we swung around and as we passed over St. Georges Channel I saw the sub. There were two destroyers nearby, and they put up a pretty heavy barrage of anti-aircraft fire, but we got on course and I salvaged our eight 500-pound bombs. They hit in a pattern directly across the submarine, and the explosion blew it clear out of the water."

Captain Buchanan in his nine-month months of combat service "never got a scratch," although many of his fellow crew members were wounded and the planes in which he flew were often blasted by anti-aircraft and enemy fighting.

In addition to the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Silver Star, he has been awarded the Air Medal and a unit citation.

Captain Buchanan completed his bombardier training at Barksdale Field in September of 1941, and served at Alton, N. M., prior to going on foreign duty. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Buchanan of Holly Springs, Miss.

Texans Demand Relief For State's Dairymen

Congressman R. E. Thomson late Wednesday presented to the Texas delegation in Congress, of which he is chairman, the problems confronting dairymen of this area.

In a telegram to Bill Collins, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, Thomson said he "found a similar situation prevailing in many parts of Texas."

The Texas delegation went on record unanimously in demanding some kind of relief immediately from the War Food Administration and the OPA.

"We expect to keep after them until we get some favorable action and will advise when any developments occur," Thomson reported.
