New low-cost luxury in two just-out Chevy II Nova sedans

• Luxury and low cost have never been more beautifully blended than in these two newest additions to the Chevy II line! Like their running mates—the Nova 400 Sport Coupe, Convertible and Station Wagon—they have the same more-for-your-money features that have made Chevy II the winner of Car Life magazine's Engineering Excellence Award for 1962. Soft-riding new Mono-Plate rear springs, proved in the equivalent of 2,000,000-plus test miles. Thrifty 6-cylinder engine that gets more "git" out of a gallon of regular. Body by Fisher roominess that fits big families and small parking places. An easy loading vacation-sized trunk. New ideas that save on upkeep. Plus trim, tasteful styling, inside and out. See the smart, sassy, saving Chevy II Novas—and the other sensibly sized, sensibly priced Chevy II models—at your Chevrolet dealer's.

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Texas. — A hectic final night ended the special session of the Texas Legislature. Two major problems—loan regulation and appropriations—were left unfinished. Senate killed the loan regulation bill by a two-vote margin, after the House had approved it by 18 votes. It was described by experts as the strongest loan regulatory law in the nation. Death came to the appropriations bill in the House. It would have provided money to advertise for tourists, repair San Jacinto Monument, repair damages done to state properties by Hurricane Carla and by fires, pay Senate employees, and finance a number of other items. Gov. Price Daniel called it a very productive session, nevertheless.

He said it had settled two long standing issues — bank escheat reporting and farm-to-market road policy.

Daniel was disappointed about the failure of the loan legislation, tourist advertising, and San Jacinto Monument repairs. But he said he would not call this Legislature back into session in the foreseeable future.

Lawmakers headed for home to file for re-election and begin their campaigns for the same or other offices.

This session set some sort of a record for fast action on bills to solve local problems. These ranged from closing the season on alligators in Orange County, to a score of bills creating new water districts (to undertake drainage, hurricane protection or water supply projects).

Daniels was pleased at the bill changing the name of the State Board of Water Engineers to the Texas Water Commission, and reworking it into an image of the State Highway Commission. The chief engineer takes over full administrative control, leaving policy matters in the hands of the three-member commission.

Governor Daniel studied a flood of mail, telegrams and phone calls, which he had elicited, and decided that there was a definite public demand for him to try to become Texas' four-term governor.

WHO SHOULD CENSOR? — Question of school book censorship was buffeted about by 22 witnesses, when the House Textbook Investigating Committee held its fourth weekly public hearing.

Some 200 persons attended the hearing. Frank Wardlaw, director of the University of Texas Press, said, "There are no men wise enough to serve as censors." He stated that he would prefer that his children's textbooks be censored by authoritative professors, rather than by unqualified individuals.

Author J. Frank Dobie said, "the more textbooks are censored, the weaker they become."

The opinion that regulation of teaching materials by elected trustees has worked satisfactorily was expressed by former Baylor University trustee Joseph M. Dawson.

Other witnesses, such as Mrs. A. A. Forester of Texarkana, Richard L. Harvey of Tyler and M. F. Gabler of Hawkins, criticized the Board of Education's formula for sense of patriotism and love of country.

Committee will hold another hearing Feb. 9.

NAMES IN THE HAT — With the special session of the Texas Legislature ended, candidates for state offices quickly grabbed the spotlight.

Most surprising announcement was the filing of former Gen. Edwin A. Walker as a Democratic candidate for governor.

Then came Gov. Price Daniel's statement that he would seek re-election to a fourth term as governor. Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler predicted that Daniel would run again, and cancelled his tentative plans to seek that post. Instead, he announced for re-election.

Attorney General Will Wilson said failure of the loan shark bill to pass was the determining point in his decision to file as candidate for governor.

John Connally, already actively campaigning for the office of governor, came to Austin to pay his $1,000 filing fee and left immediately on a flying organizational trip to West Texas.

Gubernatorial candidate Marshall Formby opened state headquarters in Austin. He appointed Dr. James B. Ray of Austin, Wendell Gambill, Dr. Joe Webb and Clint Formby to organize his campaign.

Don Yarborough, Houston attorney, paid Austin a visit to announce his candidacy for governor.

So far, the only Republican contender for governor is Jack Cox of Breckenridge.

Agriculture Commissioner J. C. White filed for re-election to the post he has held since 1950. White said 1962 should be a turning point in achieving greater self-determination for farmers and ranchmen.

J. Evetts Haley of Canyon is the only other announced candidate for commissioner of agriculture.

Other candidates for statewide offices flooded the State Democratic Central Committee headquarters.

Willard G. Street of Littlefield filed for associate justice of the Supreme Court. Others already seeking that office are incumbent Zollie Steakley and James R. Norvell.

County Judge Woodrow W. Bean of El Paso and Warren G. Moore of Tyler filed for Congressman-at-large, post now held by Martin Dies of Lufkin.

Judge W. T. McDonald of Bryan, Court of Criminal Appeals justice, joined the attorney general race.

Immediately after the House passed the loan bill, Speaker of the House James A. Turman announced for Lieutenant governor.

That brought the total of democrats running for the second top spot to six: Sen. Preston Smith of Lubbock; Sen. Crawford C. Martin of Hillsboro; Sen. Robert W. Baker of Houston; Sen. Jarrard Secrest of Temple and former representative Gene Smith of Fort Worth, plus Turman.

There was activity on the Republican side, too.

O. W. (Bill) Hayes of Temple and Kellis Dibrell of Seguin both filed as candidates for lieutenant governor. Dibrell practices law in San Antonio. Hayes is vice president of Continental Belton Company in Belton. Both are 43 years old.

Earlier, two other Republicans had filed for the same office—Congressman-at-large. They were Giles E. Miller, Dallas publisher, and Desmond Berry, Houston industrialist.

SUGGESTS FORUM — Tom Reavley, Austin attorney running for attorney general, suggested joint appearances for himself and opponents, Waggoner Carr of Lubbock, Les Procter of Austin, Tom James of Dallas and Judge W. T. McDonald of Bryan.

"Joint appearances of the can-

FROM LUBBOCK — Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Beasley over the week end were their two daughters and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Lusk and Ronnie, and Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Cagle and Donald.

didates will bring the issues and the candidates squarely before the people of Texas," he said.

APPOINTS JUDGE — Governor Price Daniel appointed J.

water Friberg, Wichita Falls attorney, as district judge to fill the unexpired term of newly-elected Congressman Graham B. Purcell, Jr.

Streams in Desert Places

Ozelle Stephens

"And Jesus calmly rose and said: Peace be Still," and there was a great calm. The word of Jesus is authority and he who yields to His Authority has found the secret of being calm in a world of confusion.

This incident is to remind us if we fill our minds with Jesus Christ and His vast mind and spirit, come what may, we will have the power to be calm and not upset.

When the spirit of Jesus Christ lives in your heart, you may fail but one thing is sure He will give you an inner sense of peace and righteousness. You will be able to withstand the attacks a confused world makes upon you. Keep in your mind the words the Bible emphasizes again and again, "Peace be Still." Jesus says unto us, "My peace I give unto you" . . . "Let not your heart be troubled." True to Jesus. He is there. He is in your heart that is rocking on the stormy sea of life. When you be-visited in the home of Mrs. Zena H. Waldron Monday night. Mr. and Mrs. Chester Wallace of Wichita Falls visited her mother, Mrs. R. L. Headrick, and other relatives here Sunday.

Uncle Ben from Benjamin says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The feller that runs the country store announced Saturday night he'd appreciate gitting his two-bits worth into the conversation for a change. As a general rule he don't take no part with the fellers solving the world problems ever week, but Saturday night he was chomping at the bit about spending all his time keeping store records for them tax agencies.

He claims things is worse now than they was back when the OPA was regulating prices. He recollected that back in 1946 when the OPA removed price ceilings on cowbells, bullrings, horseshoes and cocktail shakers, he wrote 'em that he didn't have no cocktail shakers. They told him to git some.

He said things has went from there to worse and today he don't know whether the tax folks owns his business or he owns it. All he knows for shore, he claims, is that he waits on a customer, now and then when he can find time from tending his tax books.

He allowed as how he was voting agin all candidates in the next election and aimed to shoot the first one that tried to leave any cards or literature in his store. He claimed the only political propagander ever left at his store that was worth reading was a handbill a feller running for Sheriff come by and left him about 30 years ago. It seems a drunk printer was trying to set a patent medicine ad and the handbill at the same time. He got the handbill out of a bottom drawer and read it to the fellers:

"I wish to announce to the voters of this county that fer 25 year I have suffered from asthma and lumbago on the Democratic ticket and thought they was no cure fer me until I heard of the office of county Sheriff, for which my doctor advised me to run."

"I have never held county office, but have been troubled with nervousness and handshaking, so feel I am well qualified. I was operated on 2 months ago fer appendicitis, so feel I am cut out fer the duties required. I have had 14 teeth pulled to see if it would help me pull in the votes. I have gained 40 pounds and hundreds of votes and am feeling like a new man.

"While it has been impossible fer me to see all the voters personal, I will say that this has been a Godsend to me and I will appreciate your vote and 2 bottles of your magic tonic."

Ed Doolittle said the storekeeper made him recollect the country editor that run the paper over in his county when Ed was a boy. According to Ed, the paper come out occasional and sometimes oftener. It come out only when the editor got riled up about somepun.

Yours truly,
Uncle Ben

Veterans Questions And Answers

Q—I hear that men being discharged from military service have a one-year deadline from date of discharge for applying for VA dental treatment. Is this true?

A—Generally, yes, for VA outpatient dental treatment, for which the dental condition must be service-connected. But there are a number of exceptions. These include veterans drawing compensation for dental conditions, those dental conditions resulted from service injuries, and former prisoners of war.

Q—Can I get transportation to a VA domiciliary?

A&As a rule, transportation to a VA domiciliary at government expense is provided only for the initial admission.

Q—I know a wife may be buried in a national cemetery if her veteran husband is already buried there. But what if the wife dies first?

A—A veteran who assures cemetery officials that he intends to be buried in a national cemetery may make arrangements for his wife to be buried there if she precedes him in death.

Soil Fertility Program

The Knox County 4 point Soil Fertility Committee is working to encourage the area farmers that plan to fertilize their soil for the coming crop year according to soil sample analysis to sample their soils as soon as possible. At the present time, there are soil sample bags and information sheets available in the First National Bank in Munday and at the Citizens State Bank in Knox City as well as in the County Agent's office in Benjamin.

Gopher Control Demonstration

Several of the farmers and other people in Knox County have been complaining about the damage the gophers have been causing. Joe Webb, of the Fish and Wildlife Service Rodent Control division will be in the county on Tuesday, Feb. 13, in cooperation with the Texas Extension Service to conduct a demonstration on the Sam Clonts farm.

The public is invited to the demonstration that will be held starting at 1:30 on the south side of the Brazos river bridge between Benjamin and Knox City. The gopher population in the county is much higher than normal in some areas of the county while other parts of the county seem to have fewer gophers than usual.

The demonstration will feature the use of the recently developed Gopher burrough machine. The machine is designed to be pulled by a tractor that has a three point hitch on it. The machine was being produced by a commercial company; however, farmers that have a small shop on his farm could make a similar machine at a relatively small cost.

Blueprints for construction of

Grand Jury Called; Six Indicted

A Grand Jury was impaneled Monday for Knox County to serve for the next six months of jury duty.

District Judge Lewis Williams read the charge to ten men and two women jurors.

The Grand Jury for this term is:

Mrs. Ruby Martin, Gilliland; Lee Patterson, Goree; Dwight C. Key, Munday; H. R. Beauchamp, Knox City; Otis Cash, Knox City; Edmond Tomanek, Truscott; Clyde Beck, Vera, and appointed by Judge Williams. Raymond Carden, Munday; J. T. Offutt, Munday; C. J. Norman, Munday; Sam E. Clonts, Knox City; Mrs. John Crownover, Knox City.

The jury issued six true indictments Monday; three for burglary of an automobile; one for D.W.I., second offense; one for statutory rape; and one for burglary of the Shamrock Cafe in Munday.

This machine can be obtained from the County Agent's office. The older hand method sometimes called the hill or run method of poisoning will be demonstrated. In some sections of the state the economic loss caused by the gopher was not really realized until an effective control program was used.

"AMONG OTHER THINGS . . ."

By BOB BURNETT, JR.

Like most people, I have a television set in my home which I occasionally watch. One thing that never ceases to amaze me is the caliber of the commercials shown. Some I am able to endure

Letter to Editor:

Mr. James Hill:

Kind Sir:—

I wish to correct an error in that piece written about Knox City called the "History of Knox City."

In my quotation, it was stated I was the only survivor of my family, or rather father's family. The family of J. F. Mitchell.

If I made the error (but I don't think I did), I meant the only one of the young folks that used to roam where Knox City is located. There was no Knox City at that time.

I have a brother John Mitchell living in Weatherford, that is all. His wife wrote me, it was news to him, that he was dead, so I thought others would read it, that knew him, and think he was dead, and decided to correct it—I don't know who made the error, but sorry it was made. Thank you to do this for me.

for the minute or so they are on the screen, and a few minutes are actually humorous, but most of the commercials nauseate me. I believe a good idea would be to give a booby prize for "the sickest television commercial."

Perhaps a year's supply of Brand X should go to the person or company that has the worst advertisement. The award could be presented as part of the "Emmy" awards every year. The following three commercials would be my nominees for the "sickest commercial."

The first is the "new blue Cheer" advertisement. Apparently the "Cheer" are under the impression that people who watch television are the most gullible in the world. This is the commercial where a housewife washes two piles of clothing, one in another product and the other in "Cheer." After the clothes are washed they are placed in two piles in front of the television camera. The housewife then looks at the clothing and tells the announcer which pile she believes to be the "whitest white"

The announcer then shows a card which was lying face down on the whitest wash, which reads "Cheer." Never as long as I have watched this commercial has a typical American housewife failed to pick the "Cheer" pile. Someday I intend to run the "Cheer" test myself, but I doubt seriously if I would be able to distinguish the two washes by the difference in their whiteness.

My second nomination goes to the commercial Anacin is currently using. As you probably already know, Anacin brings fast, fast, FAST, relief from headaches, neuritis, and neuralgia. If you are not exactly sure what the latter two are, your worries are over, for a reliable source (the dictionary) tells me they are nervous pains. At any rate, Anacin is supposed to cure these three dread diseases. This is proven beyond a shadow of a doubt when a picture of a human head containing three little boxes is flashed on the screen. Each box contains a picture. In one there is a hammer pounding. I have reached the conclusion that this represents a headache. The other two boxes contain pictures of something resembling an electrical spark. These apparently represent depression and jittery nerves which Anacin fights and calms respectively. When the man on the television takes an Anacin, the hammer starts pounding slower and the sparks become weaker. No doubt this means when a person takes Anacin the pain is gone. If you are still skeptical of the product after this amazing little demonstration, I can only think of two things for you to do. You can take an aspirin or an aspirin with buffering and compare the effects, or you can ask five New York doctors. Four of them will endorse Anacin.

The third and final nominee is fairly new compared with the other two. It is the advertisement for Amalie motor oil. In the first one I ever saw, an old grizzled farmer came sputtering up on an old Farmall tractor and said, "This tractor's twenty years old and runs as good as the day I bought it. I've used Amalie in it the whole time."

Either this man is one whole of a liar or he bought the tractor the day before he televised the commercial, or bought it and never used it, or both.

Apparently Farmer Brown's trendex rating dropped, or he drove his tractor back to the farm, because I have noticed that he has been replaced by a sheriff and a truck driver.

When the truck driver comes on, he pats his truck on the front fender and says that it has been 200,000 miles without having a wrench laid on it. He insinuates that his using Amalie has caused this but I cannot bring myself to believe him.

As for the county sheriff, I have not paid very much attention to what he says, but I do remember his drawling out at the end of the commercial in a slow, twangy voice, "I always use Amalie."

The above have been my choices for "sickest commercials of the year." I know there are other ads just as bad, but I believe these are by far the worst. I am sure that the products themself-es are fine, but I can do with less of their commercials.

A votre sante.
