County Designated For Government Disaster Loans

An additional source of funds for crop production purposes is available to farmers in a 21-county area in West Texas where an extended drought has caused a virtual crop failure, Afrell Cummings, County Supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration, has announced. His agency is to provide funds to farmers in counties who have suffered production losses on crops and livestock, for seed, fertilizer and materials for insect control, where needed, gas and oil for tractorls, essential farm and home operating expenses, and repairs to machinery and other incident to production of a crop.

Counties included in the area are Donley, Hall, Collingsworth, Childress, Dickens, Kent, Lynn, Garza, Dawson, Borden, Scurry, Fisher, Martin, Howard, Glasscock, Mitchell, Nolan, Taylor, Gallahan, Eastland, and Edwards.

Before a loan may be made, the applicant must have suffered damage as a result of the prolonged dry weather and he cannot obtain the credit applied for from banks or other responsible local sources. Disaster loans will not be made for the purpose of refinancing existing debts, either secured or unsecured, or for the payment of cash rent.

Following a survey of the affected counties, L. J. Cappleman, State Director of the Farmers Home Administration, issued a statement in Dallas concerning the purpose of the loan program. Federal credit of this type will be available to family-type farmers who have sustained losses and who cannot obtain from local sources the funds required to carry on their farming operations and put in a crop in 1952.

Designation of the area followed recommendations submitted by local credit agencies through Cappleman's office. Designation is made by the U. S. Secretary of Agriculture, when justified.

Improved farming practices that are emphasized in the Farmers Home program are discussed and agreed upon between the County Supervisor and the applicant at the time loan application is prepared. Funds necessary to finance the 1952 crop program will be available within thirty days, the Supervisor stated. His office is located in the Court House in Wellington.

Dodson School Opens Monday

The Dodson school will open Monday, November 5, following the cotton picking vacation, T. E. Lennon, superintendent, has announced.

One new teacher has been added to the faculty, Mrs. Jessie Faye Pitcock of Mangum, Okla., who will teach commerce and home economics. She replaces Mrs. Bynum Hightower, who resigned.

Mrs. Pitcock formerly taught at Childress, Memphis and Hedley. She was a member of a 1933 graduating class taught by Mr. Lennon at Fairview high school near Mangum. She attended Oklahoma ArM College.

PASSENGER AND POTATOES ALA CART—This elderly lady, wearied from a morning's shopping in the "Les Halles" district of Paris solved her tired-feet problem with ease. She merely hailed a workman hauling a potato cart and was given a ride. Ah, the advantages of French logic.

Farm Bureau to Open Annual Membership Drive Nov. 5

The annual County Farm Bureau membership drive will get under way Monday, November 5, and continue through Saturday, November 10, Alex Coleman of Dozier, president, announced this week.

Membership goal this year is 1,000 farmers and business men, working together for the best interest of agriculture and business dependent on agriculture.

Workers have been named in a number of communities, and every farm operator and business man will be personally contacted during the drive, Mr. Coleman said.

Following the drive, a big barbecue will be held Wednesday night, November 14, at the community building. While this is especially for new members, everybody is invited, whether a member or not.

"Bring your family. We want to talk things over and get to know each other better," Mr. Coleman said.

During the short business session, officers for the coming year will be elected.

General membership chairman is Monty Mitchell.

Workers in the Quail area will be Frank Coleman Jr., Lewis Morris, Louis Allred, Leon Patterson, Ray Homer, E. C. Blevins, and Ben Farmer.

Her death came unexpectedly, and is believed to have occurred shortly after midnight. Members of the family were not aware of her passing until she failed to get up Monday morning, and they went to see about her.

Miss Johnson was born June 6, 1920, at Wichita, Kansas. A year later, the family returned to Collingsworth County, and this has been her home since. She was 31 years, four months and 23 days of age.

She received her education in the community school, and for more than 15 years, she was correspondent from the Roundup community for the Wellington Leader.

The accident occurred during a tackle when other players fell on Ward.

Plans for the American Legion Membership drive will be made at the regular meeting Thursday night, November 1 and committees to assist Mr. Coleman in the full activity program of the coming year will be announced.

County Gins 13,250 Bales; Crop Estimated Half Out

Collingsworth County cotton ginnings total approximately 13,250 bales and for the county as a whole, less than one half the crop is out, ginners revealed in a survey by The Wellington Leader Wednesday morning.

Rain Tuesday night, varying from a quarter of an inch up to an inch, has stopped pulling for the remainder of the week, but at that time yields and turnouts over most of the county were above what the growers had expected.

Wellington received .45 inch of rain, in addition to approximately one-fourth inch received in showers during the past week. Approximately one-half inch was estimated at Dozier, a quarter inch at Lutie, around an inch at Dodson a half inch at Rolla, and a good rain at Quail.

A little less than one-half the cotton is out in the Wellington vicinity, ginners estimate. The grade and staple are holding up well, with much of the cotton classing strict middling light spot 29/32. Dick Sweat, manager of the Farmers Co-op Gin, estimated that approximately 75 per cent of the cotton ginned by their plant carries the strict middling light spot classification by the government.

Turnouts are not as good as last year.

Farmers in the hail-damaged areas are hurrying to get their crop in in order to save it all, and some have put strippers in their fields. Others, where the cotton was badly knocked out, are picking up as much as possible off the ground, with the corresponding lower turnout and lower grade.

Dodson ginners estimate around one-third of their crop it out, a few strippers are in the field, especially in the hail damaged districts, but as is the case around Wellington, a considerable amount of empty burrs and green bolls are coming in with the cotton. A big per cent of the cotton in this area is grading strict middling light spot or middling light spot.

Around one-third of the cotton is estimated gathered at Dozier. None of the farmers in that area are using strippers, although there is still a shortage of pullers.

Approximately half the cotton is reported out around Lutie, and farmers of that section are making more than they had thought earlier they could.

Less than half the crop is out at Quail, and trustees have voted to postpone the reopening of school an additional week.

All communities report a shortage of pullers, although the shortage is less acute than it was two weeks ago.

City Group Host to District

Panhandle Area A-A Meeting Here Sun.

Wellington has entertained many conventions but none as unusual as that of Alcoholics Anonymous which will be held in the Community Building Sunday.

There will be "delegates" here from all over the Texas Panhandle, Western Oklahoma and scattered towns in Kansas and New Mexico, and the only "qualifications and credentials," they have is that drinking is a prnblem in their lives and they want to do something about it.

There will be about 100 persons in attendance, successful business men, professional people, farmers, ranchers and day laborers with one common problem: they can't handle their drinks. There will be many women members of A. A. present, too, for alcoholism is no respector of sex or social position.

The regional meeting will get underway at 12 noon with a turkey dinner, served by the Wellington and Shamrock groups who are co-sponsors of the all-day session. The luncheon will be for alcoholics only but the main program, starting at 1:30 will be open to the public. The public is cordially invited to attend the afternoon session and become familiar with one of society's most baffling problems — how to help restore the excessive drinker to a normal life.

Headlining the program will be a former school principal whose drinking ruined a brilliant career. The man who now resides in Dallas lost family and friends and wound up on "skid row," where he found Alcoholics Anonymous and began to rebuild his life. He has been associated with alcoholic foundations, sponsored by leading universities, and in recent years has come to be regarded as a leading educator in the field of alcoholism.

Another widely known speaker will be a lady from Pawhuska, Oklahoma, who will tell a story of how alcoholism ruined her life and how after family and friends had lost all hope she found her way to happiness through A. A.

The general public is urged to turn out for the meeting. There will be nothing said to embarrass any one present, the purpose of the program being to present the broad purposes of the A. A. program to as many people as possible.

The father will give the charge to the candidate for ordination, and his brother will preach the ordination sermon.

Rev. R. L. Porter Jr. who owned and operated the Pullman Cafe here until early summer, is now a ministerial student in Decatur Baptist College, Decatur. He has been called also as pastor of the Mt. Zion Baptist Church, seven miles from Decatur.

He grew up here and graduated from Wellington high school. During World War II, he served in the European theatre of operations with the Army. Since receiving his release from service, he lived at Wichita, Kansas, and here until he entered school. Mrs. Porter is the former Miss Eris Manney of Vinson. They have two children, Ila Beth and Gordon Lee.

May Not Be a Pushover

Rockets Open District Play with Memphis Fri.

Conference play in District 3-AA opens Friday night, November 2, when the Rockets meet the Memphis Cyclones on the Cyclones field. And it won't be the pushover game that a lot of fans are expecting.

So warn the Rocket coaches, Maxey McKnight and his assistant Don Briggs.

"It will be a good hard game. For one reason, it's Memphis. They always put everything they've got into their games with us and I think we can consider this will be one of the harder games of the season," Coach McKnight declared.

The Cyclone is considered a fairly well balanced club, but they haven't made much showing on the field so far. In recent games, the Cyclones couldn't get started until the second half, by the admission of Head Coach John Hansard himself.

The team has played seven nonconference games, won two and lost five so far this season, and for the past 10 days, Coach Hansard has been putitng the boys through some hard paces to see if he can get the Cyclones out of their first-half-slumps.

Memphis boys the Rockets figure they'll have to watch are Duke Frisbie, Jimmy Morrison, Duane Miller and Charles Messer, both on defense and offense.

Rocketman Tommy Wood is out of practice at present with a bladder infection, and Coach McKnight said it would depend on how he has

"They'll Have to Hold Their Bonnets On"

ROCKET B-TEAM MEETS MEMPHIS IN LAST HOME GAME THURS. NIGHT

The Rocket B team will meet the Memphis Cyclone B's Thursday night, November 1, in their first appearance for home fans, Coach John Lee announced this week. The Powell field game starts at 8:00 p.m. and it should be one of the best of the year for the younger team.

Earlier the Cyclones beat the Rockets 14 to 0. "We weren't satisfied with that game, but we think this will be a good one. Those Memphis boys will have to tie their bonnets on, because we're out to give them a run," Coach Lee declared.

"We'd like to have as many Wellington fans out as possible. It is your last chance this season to see your future Rockets. This game will mean a lot to the boys who are playing, and we can promise it will be a good one," for the boys have made lots of improvement.

The Wellington B team operates entirely separate from the A team, or regular squad. This is not the case in most of the other schools the Rockets have played, and as a result, they have played mainly reserves of the A teams, and in one case a player appearing on their program in the starting lineup.

The B team has won three out of five games this season.

Probable starters named by Coach Lee will be Eugene Brown, LE; Walter Kiesling, LT; Lynn Couch, LG; Frank Jones, C; Calvin Lacy, RG; Phil Handley, RT; Ray Wauer, RE; Jimmy Thompson or Camal Dakil, quarterback; Odie Hood, left half; Jesse D. Burkhalter, fullback; and Dennis Holliman, right half.

Minstrel Show November 13 to Highlight Entertainment Events

"The Minstrel of 1951," an original negro minstrel in the old time style, will be given at the Wellington high school auditorium Tuesday night, November 13, Mrs. Kelly Pigg, president of the Wellington Music Club, sponsoring organization announced this week.

Slapstick comedy and music with just one aim, to tickle Wellington funny-bones, the Minstrel show brings some of the town's top comedians — both those who have proved themselves adept at drawing laughs and others who will go on the stage for the first time.

The Rev. Archie Gray is middleman, pitting his wit against the negro with religion, Dr. E. W. Jones; the henpecked husband, Raymond Horton; Gabe, the family man, Dr. C. B. Jones; Dan, the penny pincher, Alvin Horton; Sambo, the ladies man, Tom Bryant; the ex-sergeant nicknamed Bones for a well known reason, Horace Small; Sassafras, the sleepy negro, Henry Sullivan; and Rastus, the politician, John King.

The cast of about 30 opens the fun to the old tune "Dixie" — for what else could you open a minstrel with?

Musical numbers will include vocal selections by Mrs. Jack Kopp and variety numbers by the jazz band composed of Bennett Goodloe, King Bowen, Peck White and Odis Killingsworth; Ruthie and Mary McCaskill will give a comedy dance, and Mayor L. B. Bratten will sing an old ballad. Kay and Gaile Peeples will give a top hat dance and Peggy Riggs a vocal solo. There will be music by the 4 F's, Fred LeDerer, Phil Handley, Fred Alexander and Jimmy Thompson, and Horace Small, still as Bones, will tap dance. A specialty dance will be given by Andrea Leach. Others taking part in the minstrel are Bura Handley, Chas. T. Roberts, Lefty Thomas, Rube Crawley, Rufus Johnson and Stanley Brooks.

Directing the minstrel are Mrs. John Lee, in charge of script, and Mrs. Lowell Wells, in charge of music.

No advance tickets will be sold, and the admission charge will be nominal, Mrs. Pigg said.

PROPOSED STATE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS EXPLAINED

Editor's note — This is the first of a series of articles written to explain five proposed amendments to the constitution of Texas. Voters will decide in an election on November 13 whether these amendments shall become parts of the constitution. These articles are provided by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce as a public service.

RAISING RURAL FIRE PREVENTION DISTRICT TAX CEILING — Senate Joint Resolution (SJR) No. 8:

In 1949 voters approved a constitutional amendment providing for creation of Rural Fire Prevention Districts. It also provided that voters might create by election a tax not to exceed three cents per $100. The vote of this amendment was 153,252 for and 145,298 against.

The amendment to be voted upon November 13 would make only one change in this Rural Fire Prevention District provisions. It would raise the tax ceiling from three to 50 cents per $100.

VETERANS LAND LOANS — House Joint Resolution (HJR) No. 2:

In 1946 Texas voters approved by majority of 80,022 to 29,935 an amendment to the Constitution known as Section 49-b of Article III.

That amendment authorizes the State to issue up to $25,000,000 of bonds. Those bonds are sold to provide money that is loaned to veterans of World War II to buy farms or ranches. To operate this loan program the Veterans Land Board was created. It consists of the Governor, the State Comptroller and the Attorney General.

The amendment to be voted upon November 13 would make the following changes in the constitution's provisions affecting Veterans' Land Loans.

1. Increase from $25,000,000 to $100,000,000 the total amount of bonds the State could issue.

2. Make eligible for loans all men who serve in the armed forces as many as 90 days prior to December 31, 1952. The law now applies only to men who served prior to January 1, 1946.

3. Extend the life of the loan program from November, 1954 to November, 1959.

The legislature has enacted a law to put this amendment into effect immediately if it is approved on November 13.

To August 31, 1950 approximately one and one-half percent of Texas' 800,000 veterasn had obtained these loans. The veterans' land fund purchased land for veterans costing $17,000,000 during the first year it operated.

Expense of administering the program is paid from the general revenue fund of the state — from taxes. This expense totaled $106,479 in the year ending August 31, 1950. The legislature has appropriated $150,000 for 1952 and $140,000 for 1953 to meet operating expenses.

CHANGING STATE PUBLIC ASSISTANCE LAW — House Joint Resolution (HJR) No. 6:

This amendment would rewrite the Constitution's provisions governing old age assistance, aid to the needy blind and aid to needy dependent children.

The changes it would make are fundamental. They are:

1. Remove all requirements that those receiving assistance be citizens of Texas.

2. Remove all requirements as to length of residence in Texas for one to be eligible for such assistance.

3. Permit the legislature to provide $7 million more per year for public assistance, raising the limit from $35 million to $42 million.

This amendment would make two other important changes: first, by increasing from $20 to $30 per month the amount of State funds that could be paid to those receiving public assistance and second, by lowering the minimum age of blind people who could receive assistance from 21 to 16 years.

AUTHORIZING A RETIREMENT AND DISABILITY SYSTEM FOR APPOINTIVE OFFICERS AND EMPLOYEES OF COUNTIES — House Joint Resolution (HJR) No. 22.

This amendment is similar to the one turned down in 1949 by vote of 20,545 to 95,280 except that it would prohibit any legislative appropriation to pay any benefits. It does not prohibit appropriation of tax funds to pay administrative expenses of the proposed System. It does not prohibit a loan of State funds to the System.

State laws now provide several methods by which counties, or citizens thereof, may set up systems to provide such disability and retirement benefits.

In September 1951 a law became effective that has the following provisions: Any Commissioners Court may place the county's officers and employees under the Federal Social Security System on the same terms and with the same contributions as are required of employers and employees in private business. Benefits to officers and employees so covered by any other retirement system cannot be covered at the same time by the Social Security System.

Both the present system that may be administered by counties, and the Social Security System require contributions to the Fund by both employees and counties.

The System proposed in this amendment does not itself call for any specific method of financing. Under it there could be stablished, but only in a county wide election, a system supported entirely by county funds with no contribution by appointive officers or employees. Any county could adopt the proposed system alone, but its basis could be changed by the legislature at will.

Every man, woman and child should realize the tremendous health value that occurs by keeping the spine in normal condition. Disease is lack or excess of function in any part of the body. All function is controlled by mental impulses from the brain.

Therefore, the cause of disease must be interference with the line of communication between the brain and the diseased part. It necessarily follows that the only permanent way to do away with the disease is to adjust its cause and thus restore the communication. Railroad workers are represented by 23 standard unions. By mutual agreement, 20 of these unions—comprising about 1,200,000 men, or more than 90%—are working under wages and rules agreed to by them and the railroads. But leaders of three unions—with only about 130,000 men, or less than 10%—still refuse, after more than a year of negotiations, to accept similar wage and rules agreements. These are even more favorable than the terms recommended by the Emergency Board appointed by the President.

Yes, it certainly seems to be finally about time that the leaders of the three unions stop their delaying tactics—their quibbling. But the leaders of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and the Order of Railway Conductors continue to refuse. They continue a course of dillying and dallying. It is definitely time to END THIS QUIBBLING!

On June 15, 1950, an Emergency Board appointed by the President under the terms of the Railway Labor Act—an Act largely fathered by the unions themselves—made its recommendations on certain wage and working conditions ("rules" in railroad language) which had been in dispute between employes and the railroads.

More Than 90% of Employes Accept

Since then, terms equal to or better than the Board recommendations have been accepted by about 1,200,000 railroad employes—more than 90% of the total of all workers. They are represented by 20 of the 23 standard railroad unions.

Less Than 10% Refuse

But three unions—with about 130,000 men, or less than 10% of the total—have refused to accept, even after months of negotiations. These three unions are the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and the Order of Railway Conductors. These are three of the so-called "operating" unions. Already the highest paid men in the industry, their leaders demand still further advantages over other workers.

In all, there are about 270,000 operating employes. But not all of them, by any means, are represented by BLE, BLF&E, or ORC. As a matter of fact, less than half—132,000 to be exact—are in these three unions. More than half—about 140,000—are in other unions, principally the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. What makes the whole situation so hard to understand is that these 140,000 operating employes are working under wages and rules which the leaders of the other 130,000 say they cannot agree to.

What Do the Railroads Offer?

They offer these three unions the same settlement which was contained in a Memorandum of Agreement signed at the White House on December 21, 1950, by four brotherhoods and the railroads. Later these brotherhoods sought to repudiate this agreement. But on May 25, 1951, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen signed a complete agreement carrying out the principles of the Memorandum Agreement of December 21. They have been working under this agreement since May 25.

What About Wages?

Under the terms of the agreement, yard engineers, firemen and conductors would now be receiving a wage increase of $.34 an hour ($2.72 a day) and road engineers, firemen and conductors would now be receiving an increase of 19½ cents an hour ($1.56 per day). Large sums of retroactive pay have already accrued and if the agreement is carried out, will be paid promptly.

What About "Cost of Living" Increases?

The White House Agreement includes an "escalator" clause under which wages will be geared to changes in the Government's cost-of-living index. Two such increases—April and July, 1951—have already been paid to the 90% of railroad employes covered by signed agreements.

What About the 40-Hour Week?

The White House Agreement calls for the establishment of the 40-hour week in principle, for employes in yard service. The employes can have it any time after January 1, 1952, provided the manpower situation is such that the railroads can get enough men to perform the work with reasonable regularity at straight time rates. If the parties do not agree on the question of availability of manpower, the White House Agreement provides arbitration by a referee appointed by the President.

What Else Do the Union Leaders Demand?

The continued quibbling of the leaders of the three unions has to do principally with rules changes, which have already been agreed to by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. Of these, the principal one seems to be that having to do with so-called "interdivisional service"—runs which take in two or more seniority districts.

The union leaders would bar progress and efficiency in the industry, and better service to the public, by maintaining a situation where they can arbitrarily stop a railroad from establishing such interdivisional runs. The carriers propose that if a railroad wishes to set up an interdivisional run, the railroad and the unions should try to agree on such run and the conditions which should surround its establishment, and if the railroad and the unions can't agree, the matter will be submitted to arbitration.

But the three union leaders still refuse.

Rules Can Be Arbitrated

The railroads have not only offered these three unions the same rules agreed to by the BRT and covered by the White House Agreement, but have even agreed to submit such rules to arbitration.

The Industry Pattern Is Fixed

With the pattern so firmly established in the railroad industry, it seems fair to suggest that the leaders of BLE, BLF&E, and ORC stop their quibbling and take action to make the railroad labor picture 100% complete. Certainly today's economic and international situation calls for a united front. And certainly no good reason has been advanced why these three unions should be preferred over all other railroad employes.

News of Men in Service

The following letter from Lonnie Hollingsworth, now serving with the Navy in Japan, was sent the Leader by his mother, Mrs. S. T. Hollingsworth. The family now lives at Corpus Christi.

Sasebo, Japan

Dearest Family:

The typhoon didn't get here and the condition one has been relaxed and liberty is to be granted again tomorrow. The place has been like a tomb for the last four days. Not a ship is moving and none of the small boats are moving about. All they care for the storm was good but to no avail as the storm played out before it could get here and has scattered off the other way.

Still broken down and no telling when we're to go to sea nor how long we're to stay. It's over a month now since we've been out of Sasebo Harbor. If we sit in here much longer we'll have to pay income tax for the month of August. As usual it's late and I'm writing this prior to setting up the cot and hitting the sack.

We (some of the boys and I) went over to the base chapel to services Sunday. I don't get to go every Sunday like I like to and should in the Navy because it isn't always too easy or convenient to go. I believe that all civilians who always have ample chance to attend a good church shouldn't pass up that chance. The services given in the Navy and other services are not the most desirable and religious but are more or less a substitute along the general Protestant line with no special services according to individual churches. All Baptists, Methodists, Church of Christ, etc., have to go to the same Chapel and hear the same message. It has its good point of making us get along with the boys of the other different Protestant faiths.

I'm putting a copy of one of the services I attended on the base at the little chapel some time ago. We have to dress up in clean white uniform and take a boat in and back to the chapel. It is really a cute little chapel made out of a Quonset hut with a steeple(miniature), pulpit (of a fashion) and so forth. It has stain glass windows and a picture of Jesus with a Sailor and Soldier.

Now don't you go worring about me getting hurt or being sick or anything. I've got all the free medicine, docs, hospitals, and so forth I want to take care of any ailments that I may have. Bad as I hate to admit it this Navy life seems to agree with me in a way. I haven't had a sick day so to speak since I've been in here. They keep us so full of shots and things that we can't hardly catch any kind of disease.

From all of the latest reports it seems that Patrol Frigate sailors are getting rotated after 12 months out of the continental limits of the United States and in just four short months that will be your little son, I hope. I'm still hoping. I don't get so homesick anymore and have resigned myself vrey well to just wait until they get ready to let me come back to the states and not try to rush things because by now I can see that they'll send me back to their convenience, anyway.

Haven't seen Bud anymore since his ship pulled out for Korea. Don't just now know when we'll go but I do know that we have repair availability on the 6th of September and when we do go out that we'll have to go back in port on the 6th of September and that means not over three weeks at the most. Our dock time in Yokosuka begins as of the 8th of December and that only gives us three more months in the operation area before we go back. There is still the chance that this frigate will draw the Philippines duty but I've given that up until I see Subic Bay and Manila too.

Your son and brother

P. S. It's not but one more 30 days until I'll have 12 months in the service and 30 days on the books just itching to be drawn off and spent down in Texas. There is a lad on here who had 24 months of shore duty at the Naval Air Station in Corpus Christi, Texas and put in to come over here to be with his brother. He could have stayed there for two more years. I told him that I thought he was crazy.

Folks, be sure and be nice and kind to Sailors and treat them like you figure they are human beings too. Just remember I'm one and you know how I'd like to be treated. Corpus has been a Sailor's town so long I know the people have learned to dislike sailors just like they did in Diego. I sure wouldn't want you to treat any other sailor like I got treated in Diego. The people go out of their way NOT to speak or at least be decently polite and friendly. They treat you like you were never a civilian and are responsible for the Navy's rep. Guys who've been to sea for months without ever seeing land or getting a chance to stretch are like horses who have been in a lot for a long time. They want to get some exercise and run and whoop when they get out. Nuff of that.

We shifted berths from the Item basin out to a buoy along side the PF 46 because the storm warning has been lifted. "Marge" as the typhoon is called is headed the other way and is not now expected to come by Sasebo at all. Still no definite word on where or when we will get under way and to where. All I know is that we'll be back on the 6th of September or before. We're to have sea trials to test the engines and see if anything else is to break down. I just got through reading the Stars and Stripes and it seems that the peace talks are still feebly going on even if they aren't getting much headway done. Oh well just four months and I'll be leaving over here anyway.

SOMETHING NEW UNDER THE HOOD—Exhibited among the heavy vehicles at the 1951 International Motor and Cycle Show in Paris, France, is this revolutionary turbo-jet truck. Equipped with a 180-200-horsepower motor, it has no gear box or speed changes—acceleration is built up automatically—and there is only a "forward" and "backward" clutch. Brakes are operated by compressed air.

School Spirit Week Nov. 5-9

November 5 through 9 will be School Spirit Week for Wellington high school, Howard Oliphint, high school principal, has announced, with the Childress-Wellington football game climaxing the week.

Emphasis will be placed on the high school spirit and sportsmanship. School rules will be relaxed somewhat, giving the students such freedoms as permission to sing the school song while changing classes between periods and mounting posters in the hall, Mr. Oliphint said.

Downing Reviews Struggle For Life and Liberty

Delbert Downing, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, Midland, was guest speaker at a Ladies Night of the Rotary Club Tuesday night, October 23. Special guests for the occasion were the teachers of Wellington's schools, Dr. C. B. Jones, president of Rotary Club, presided at the meeting.

"Four thousand years ago a government was set up in the promised land of Cannan guaranteeing life and liberty. This was done after spending 40 long years of wandering in a wilderness in preparation for the task of possessing the land," Mr. Downing said in part.

"One hundred seventy-five years ago a second movement was set up guaranteeing life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. This second government was the result of 150 years of hardships and preparation. In 1930 this second government undertook to guarantee that all should eat. (I'm not saying that this was good or bad. I'm not smart enough to tell).

"Six years ago several nations met in San Francisco for the purpose of setting up a government for the world. They called it the United Nations. This government undertakes to guarantee that all peoples everywhere should eat, live in peace, happiness and health.

"This government deserves the support of every American. We should seek to learn as much about its agencies as possible," he told the Rotarians and teachers.

Hospital Unit Dedicated in Services Sunday

Three speakers, from the medical profession, the laity and the Church, paid tribute to St. Joseph's Hospital as a place of healing of sick bodies, and sick souls as well, in the dedication and open house held Sunday, October 28, when more than 500 friends from five states called to see the new hospital addition.

Following the dedication and blessing of the rooms by the Most Rev. Laurence FitzSimon, Bishop of Amarillo, the short program followed with Dr. E. W. Jones, R. F. Curry, and Bishop FitzSimon as speakers.

Dr. Chas. B. Jones, president of the medical staff of the hospital, presided, and L. B. Bratten, mayor of Wellington, welcomed the visitors.

Returning here for the Dedication were two of the Sisters who came to Wellington when the Dominican Order took over the hospital; Sister Mary Adele, now of Jackson, Miss., and Sister Mary Rita, now of Granite City, Ill.

Mother Mary Imelda, Mother General of the Order, was here from Springfield, Illinois, as was Sister Mary Maura of Jackson, and four Sisters from the Order of the Holy Family of Nazareth, with Christ the King Hospital at Vernon.

"You are the people who have made this possible, by your patronage of the hospital," Dr. E. W. Jones told the group. He recalled the first hospital Wellington had, when the second story was put on a building on the west side of the square, in 1915, a few beds put in it, and the hospital opened. "We thought it was a good one," he commented. L. H. Stall built the first building on the present site, now used as the convent, and in 1935 the older portion of St. Joseph's was erected.

"This institution stands today, the culmination of the prayers, heartaches, hard work and planning of the Dominican Sisters. It is because of those things that we have what we have," he continued.

Dr. Jones expressed the hope that he would see some of the young men of Wellington in the future practicing medicine in the hospital. Some doctors will tell young men not to go into the profession because of the sacrifice involved, he warned, but added, "There is no greater service any man can render to his community than to care for the sick.

"Not one dollar has been asked of Washington in the building of this hospital," he declared proudly a few minutes later. "Every community can have just what they want, if they want it bad enough."

Mr. Curry pointed out that the purpose of the hospital was not to make a profit, but as a by-product, it had made the city richer by attracting people here: It's primary purpose is not social, but as a by-product it has built a richer social life; but it is built that the suffering of each may be alleviated.

"We do not have to abroad to find the best in care for the bruised body and the sick spirit. It is here at home," Mr. Curry said. "And we know our children will have the same kindly administration that we ourselves have here."

Bishop FitzSimon reminded the group that the hospital is dedicated to Christ the Healer and the new wing was blessed in his name. He recalled the instances in which Christ healed the sick and added that the profession of medicine first came from the temples of religion, as far back as the Egyptians.

"It is one of the finest traditions of the Christian religion that the nursing profession developed in it. Only the Christian spirit could impell those early workers to leave their families and band together for the care of the sick," he said. "The Sisters here work in this same wonderful tradition."

He, too, reminded of the substantial contribution the hospital has made to the wealth, the social and cultural life of the community. Then returning to his theme of Christ the Healer, the Bishop concluded,

"The Sisters are taught to see in each patient a suffering Christ. In that ideal they will continue their work as long as you come to them."

The Rev. Charles Knapp, priest of Our Lady of Mercy Church, in introducing Bishop FitzSimon, also paid tribute to the late Jack Hurst for his assistance as a layman at the dedication of the original St. Joseph's in 1938.

Damage Suit Settled After Jury Chosen

A damage suit, brought to trial in district court last week, was settled by the two parties after the jury had been selected and was in the jury box, Judge Luther Gribble, presiding judge, reported. An agreed judgment was entered in a second damage suit, which had been settled to the satisfaction of both the plaintiff and defendant earlier.

The $1,500 settlement in the first suit was made to Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McMullen of Pampa by D. B. Cline, doing business as the Cline Appliance Co., Judge Gribble said. The suit was the outgrowth of a wreck involving vehicles of the two parties north of Lutie earlier in the year. The plaintiffs were asking $21,910.

Attorneys for Mr. and Mrs. McMullen were Judge R. L. Templeton and Edward Poole, while the defendant was represented by John R. Fullingim of the firm of Simpson, Clayton and Fullingim of Amarillo.

The agreed judgment was entered in the case of Collingsworth County vs. Roof Maintenance Service, H. L. Dehtan et al and Etna Casualty Insurance Co., a suit which grew out of repair work on the county court house. The work, which the county believed faulty, was redone to the latter's satisfaction, but the defendants had asked that the agreed judgment be entered as a matter of legal record, Judge Templeton said.

Mr. Fullingim was also the attorney for the defendants in this case.

In the same session of district court, which extended through Monday, Judge Gribble granted one divorce, and one divorce was dismissed. A suit of trespass to try title and remove a cloud from property title was decided in favor of the plaintiff.

City Schools to Observe American Education Week

The Wellington schools will join with others throughout the nation in the observance of American Education Week, November 11 through 16, Supt. C. T. Roberts has announced.

General theme of this year's observance is "Unite for Freedom."

It is sponsored by the National Education Association, American Legion, National Congress of Parents and Teachers, and the U. S. Office of Education.

"American Education Week was started by the American Lgeion and PTA after the first World War in an effort to focus attention on public schools, in order to improve them," Mr. Roberts explained.

Local churches will be asked to discuss the theme of the week, and patrons of the school are invited to visit the local school system during the time, but especially are they being urged to come Wednesday, November 14, when the junior school students will present a special program in the auditorium at 11:00 a.m.

Other local phases of the observance will be worked out during the coming week.

Dodson Club Gives Pony

The Dodson Civic Club will give away a Shetland pony on December 22, at Dodson, Mrs. Murry Dodson, who is helping with plans for the event, announced this week.

Members of the club are contacting residents throughout the county explaining their plan for putting the pony in the hands of someone at the right time for a Christmas present.

Between now and December 22, it will be displayed at Dodson, Wellington and Hollis, Mrs. Dodson said. It is being stabled at the home of Mrs. Dolly Whisenant.

Some of the major projects of the Civic Club, worked out on a long-time basis, are assistance to the school cafeteria, park improvement, cemetery improvement, and contribution of books to the school library.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Mahan of Long Beach, California, visited his mother, Mrs. J. A. Mahan, last week. Other guests in Mrs. Mahan's home over the week end were Wade Mahan of Seymour and Sheffy Mahan of Childress.

During the business session, the teachers will cast their ballots for the president and vice president of the TSTA for 1952. Miss Hillyer is the only candidate for the top office in the teachers organization.

"Parents of any age group from pre-school through high school are invited to come and consult with Dr. Sliger about their problems. She is recognized in this field and can help parents understand why Johnnie acts as he does," Mr. Roberts said.

Mr. Sliger is now holding meetings with three groups of teachers in Collingsworth County once each month.

Students in the discussion were Carolyn Couch, Ada Carole Thomas, Nell Gholson, Wesley Savage, A. C. Gray and Charles Terry.

Mrs. A. L. Jackson and daughters, Paula and Barbara, of Spearman were guests of Mrs. S. B. Jackson this week. They went to Temple Tuesday on business and returned the same day.

God needed this one
We loved so true,
I know he didn't want to take her from me and you
But we know that her resting place
is far beyond the blue,
To you she was a friend,
But to us she was our kin.
Although we are many miles apart,
She will always remain in our

She was with us in sadness and

So let's hope you and I can be
With her in the hereafter.

Daily Services Announced

METHODISTS TO CONTINUE MEET ONE WEEK THROUGH NOV. 11

Evangelistic services at the First Methodist Church in Wellington will continue through next week, the Rev. J. F. Michael, pastor, announced Tuesday night.

The present phase of the evangelistic mission ends Friday night, when the Rev. Roy May of Brady preaches his final sermon.

There will be no services Saturday, but beginning Sunday, services will start again, and from Tuesday through Sunday, November 11, will be held twice daily. There will be only one service Monday, November 6. Hours of the services are 10:00 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Here to conduct the singing will be the Rev. W. M. Caldwell, pastor at Sundown, and a former evangelistic singer. He will also work with the children and young people.

Rev. Michael will be in charge of the preaching.

"We extend a cordial invitation to the people of Wellington to attend any of these services, either the evangelistic mission this week, or the meeting as it continues through next week," the pastor said.

Memphis Man Seeks Damages in District Court

A damage suit asking $45,000 was filed in the 100th district court Thursday, October 25, in which Johnny Hancock of Memphis is plaintiff and the Humble Pipeline Company is defendant.

The basis of the suit, according to instruments filed in the office of Mrs. E. O. Dodson, are injuries which the plaintiff alleges he received when the grading machinery he was driving on the T. J. Dunbar farm struck the pipeline owned by the Humble pipeline company, and passing through the farm.

The Dunbar farm, five miles northeast of Memphis, is in Collingsworth County.

The plaintiff reports that he was leveling and building up terraces at the time of the accident. His attorney in the case is J. O. Fitzgerald of Amarillo.

Mrs. S. S. McKay of Lubbock is here visiting with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Mac Saied, Jr.

Mrs. Wecie Box of Amarillo visited in Wellington over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Smith of Amarillo visited his mother and other relatives over the week end.

Legionnaires Urge Study of Draft Deferment Policy

A group from the Frank King Post of the American Legion and the Auxiliary Unit Sunday attended the 18th District convention in Childress Sunday, October 28, when Panhandle Legionnaires took up problems of the nation's armed strength.

Going from here were Mr. and Mrs. Riley Dunson, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. John Coleman and E. F. Lewis. Mr. Coleman is commander of the Frank King Post.

Memorial services were conducted by John Forbis Jr. of Childress, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Forbis.

A resolution was also passed and will be presented to the National rehabilitation department of the American Legion, asking that more efficient use be made of bed space in various Veterans Administration hospitals in Texas, and that at least two now-vacant VA hospitals in Texas be reactivated.

Discussion of a draft deferment policy under which qualified college students could continue their studies in atom research, or other vital military pursuits, occupied a great part of yesterday's afternoon session.

Lack of sympathy by some local draft boards, which have tended to disregard a student's college was scored by Lou Roberts of Amarillo, former district and department commander.

If the national armament program keeps at its present pace, Roberts said, the nation will need 30,000 new engineers and scientists by 1954. But according to college enrollments this year, only 12,500 will be graduated by then, Roberts added.

The resolution also demanded more efficient use of highly trained personnel within the armed services, deploring the use of skilled men as truck drivers and riflemen.

GLASS MENAGERIE PUP— It has certainly never been a rare sight for one to see a man in his cups, but to see a dog in its glass, well, that's something else again. Worse yet, if a man in his cups should see a dog in his glass—! But, before this gets out of hand it might be pertinent to say that the eight-ounce Chihuahua belongs to Beverly Reichard of East Texas, Pa.

Firecrackers to Play Childress There Thursday

The Wellington Firecrackers take their power over to Childress for a game with the junior high football team of that school Thursday night, November 1, Coach Aubrey Frazier has announced.

The Childress youngsters are rated as one of the better teams in the Junior high league which includes Wellington, Childress, Memphis and Paducah. They defeated the Firecrackers earlier in the season, but Coach Frazier considers his boys have improved considerably since then.

While the Childress boys are about the same age as the Firecrackers, that school is able to field a team that is both larger and faster than Coach Frazier's youngsters.

Probable starters in this game will be Billy Crosby, center; Sidney Raper, left guard; Don Scott, left tackle; Reggie Smith, left end; David McCaskill, right guard; R. W. Warren, right tackle; Tim Campbell, right end; Duggie Jameson, quarterback; Pat Swift, right half; Donald Hopkins, left half; and Maxie Tarver, fullback.

"Most of the convention was about our constitution," said Miss Pierce. Everyone took part in the contest on the constitution, she added. Miss Pierce is the president of the regional Delta Kappa Gamma.

Mrs. Ball was installed during the Grand Chapter of Texas' sixty-ninth annual session in San Antonio October 22 through 25. In Texas there are five districts with ten grand matrons to each.

Mrs. Vera Hester and Mrs. Ball attended a grand matron meeting in Littlefield Monday night. A banquet and lodge meeting were the main events.

Know Your Species Of Waterfowl

AUSTIN — The importance of knowing one species of waterfowl from another is emphasized by Theron D. Carroll in the forthcoming November issue of Texas Game and Fish magazine.

Carroll, member of the Game and Fish Commission's Publications staff, points this timely article toward "the fellow who's just taking up this winter madness called duck and goose hunting."

He recommends using "a few tips on identification of species," as "a sure way to increase your interest and pleasure in your chosen sport."

Carroll adds: "The knowledge might save you the inconvenience of explaining to the local Justice of the Peace just how you happened to have two Canada geese, one white-fronted goose, and two snows — when you thought you had two Canadas, one blue and two snows, or how the two wood ducks got in with those gadwalls and mallards."

Then, the author goes on to counsel:

"You should make it a habit to identify everything you shoot. It won't be long until you begin to associate certain ducks and geese with certain characteristics in specific habitats. This in turn will tend to make identification easier, and the cycle rewards you with a certain inner satisfaction and wealth of knowledge and bird lore that will allow you to take your place in the circles of those who know — the old heads!"

Carroll's timely article is illustrated to show varying identification marks.

Sportsmen desiring to inform themselves in advance of what promises to be a good waterfowl season may send $1 for a one-year magazine subscription to Circulation Department, Game and Fish, Austin, Texas, and their order will be acknowledged.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Buske and son, Jerry, made a business trip to Lubbock last week. They also visited with their daughter, Mrs. Gay Davis, and family at Ralls.

Expand Cub Scout Work To Include 100 Youths

Expansion of the Cub Scouting program in Wellington to take care of at least 100 boys will be the aim of workers during the coming weeks, Ed Poole, Cubmaster, announced Monday.

A meeting Tuesday night explained the program to parents, and the first steps were taken toward organizing enough dens to handle the boys seeking membership.

This was preceded by a visitation drive conducted by members of the Kiwanis Club, sponsoring organization, in which each member called on parents of at least five boys to explain Cubbing and its aims. In an earlier survey at the school, approximately 100 boys had indicated that they would like to become Cubs.

Two dens have been functioning here, Mr. Poole explained. Mrs. John D. Glenn is den-mother of one group and the other, a group of 11 year old boys with Mrs. Gene Glenn as den mother, reached the age maximum and are going into Boy Scout work.

The Cub Scout program reaches boys 8, 9 and 10 years of age, and parents of any boy interested, but not yet contacted, are urged to contact Mr. Poole, county attorney, at his office in the court house.

responded to treatment by Thursday if he will play in the Memphis game. Lonnie Wood, youngest of the Rocket trio to share the name, but no kin to Tommy, will go in the quarterback place if Tommy is unable to play.

Farrell Kent, the Rockets big left tackle, slowed down for the last two games by a back injury, gives all indications of coming down with the flu, and if this continues to develop, Coach McKnight said that Donald Shoff will go into the lineup in Kent's place.

The Rockets and Cyclones show about the same weight in the line, although the Rockets may have a little more poundage in the backfield, Coach McKnight said.

In the other conference game of Friday night, Childress and Paducah will play at Paducah. The Rockets will meet Childress next week and Paducah in the final game of the season.

The Rockets lead the district in the Panhandle Class AA rankings, standing sixth among all area teams. Brownfield is the field leader, with six wins, no losses and a tie; Littlefield is second; third, Shamrock; fourth, Dalhart; fifth, Dumas; sixth, Wellington; seventh, Ralls; eighth, Levelland; ninth, Tulia; and tenth, Phillips.

Scout Leaders Course Set

A Boy Scout leaders training course will be held at Lake McClellan Saturday night and Sunday, November 10 and 11, John Pound, field Scout executive for the southern district of the Adobe Walls Council, has announced.

The three major topics of this session are troop and patrol hiking, troop and patrol camping, and Boy Scout advancement.

Approximately 20 Scout leaders from the Southern district are expected, Mr. Pound said.

Three Escape As Car Overturns

H. C. Morrow and his two small daughters, Donia and Judy, of near Lutie escaped injury when their car overturned at the north edge of Wellington Saturday.

Deputy Sheriff Bob Barnett, who investigated the accident, said that a truck driven by John Givens, colored, pulled to the curb, then pulled back into the street in front of the oncoming Morrow car. Mr. Morrow, to avoid hitting the truck, tried to turn into a side street, and the late model car overturned two or three times.

kinson were srheduled for Wednesday afternoon at the First Baptist Church with the Rev. Howard Jones, pastor, officiating. Pall bearers selected were Wren Hartman, Alex Shields, Alfred Patterson, Pete Hartman, Jack Lancaster and Dennis Lacy. Burial was to be in the Wellington cemetery under the direction of the Kelso Funeral Home.

Mrs. Atkinson was before her marriage Miss Beda Hubbard. She was born in Cherokee County, Alabama February 16, 1870, the daughter of John and Sarah Hubbard. Her father owned a large plantation and worked it with slaves before the Civil War, in which he fought. After the war, he became a Baptist minister.

She received her education at Piedmont, Ala., and was married there to J. H. Atkinson April 1, 1888.

In 1892, the family moved from Alabama directly to Collingsworth County. Their first home here was a dugout, but in 1897, they built their first house. During the early years of the county — the years of great growth for the section in which they lived, the family of Mrs. Atkinson had an active part in that development.

He and Mrs. Atkinson were the parents of ten children, Vada, Herschel, Pluma, Austin, Jerry, John, Effie, Dora, Alta and Euna.

Mrs. Atkinson had been a member of the Baptist Church since 1890, joining at Piedmont, Ala.

Mrs. Atkinson is survived by five children, Mrs. E. T. Vaughn of Wellington, Mrs. Marshall Hutchinson of Upland, Calif., Mrs. Joe Samarco of Porterville, Calif.; A. V. Atkinson and John Atkinson of Wellington. Thirteen grandchildren and a number of grandchildren also survive, as does one sister, Mrs. J. L. Weaver of Hamlin. Mr. Atkinson preceded her in death several years ago.

Farm Management Meetings Set Through County

A series of farm management meetings to be held during November have been announced by J. W. Thomas, county agent.

Farmers will have the opportunity to learn what other farmers of the county are doing along this line, since slides of various crop demonstrations will be shown by Mr. Thomas, and followed by discussions of farm management.

In spite of drouth and other unfavorable weather conditions this year, there have been some outstanding examples of where proper farm management has paid off, the county agent pointed out.

The four meetings are scheduled for:

Samnorwood, Monday, Nov. 5, 7:00 p.m., at the school.

Quail, Wednesday, November 7, 7:00 p.m., the school.

Dodson, Thursday, November 15, 7:00 p.m., at the school.

Wellington, Monday, November 19, 7:00 p.m. at the school.

"Tweets" is like many another hatbox-toting New York model in that she works hard. But there the resemblance ends for it is well known about town that "Tweets" is a "cat." Hampered by this distinction, she generally draws such unglamorous assignments as posing before a bowl of milk or at the tail-end of a ball of yarn. Small wonder that she spends her spare time hours in the Bronx home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Stock sewing (left) glamorous creations (right) in an effort to vie with the slinky creatures in perfume ads.

Jane Vaughan – Jack Kassahn Wed October 26 In Lowrie Home

In a double ring service repeated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Lowrie, Friday, October 26, Jane Lowrie Vaughan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Z. T. Lowrie, became the bride of Jack Kassahn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gyles of Hereford.

Today's Teen-Age Trend Is on Head-to-Toe Cleanliness

BY EDNA MILES

WITH the waning of the age of sloppiness, teen - agers throughout the country are learning that messiness of appearance does not necessarily denote a casual attitude towards life.

Actually, real nonchalance is more often the off-shoot of self-assurance about your looks than the result of tumbled frowsiness. A nagging worry that your appearance isn't up to par, despite the current trend, can undermine your poise.

Proper hair care doesn't mean a young girl is to plaster her locks down in formal coiffures. It does mean that a fly-away arrangement is no excuse for uncleanliness or lack of gloss. Keep your hair-do youthful, but suggest your latent maturity by faithful adherence to a routine of frequent shampoos and nightly brushings.

Neat, well-brushed clothes and clean, polished shoes are an indication, too, of your developing self-pride. If yours are the traditional saddle oxfords, encrusted with grime and dirt, start a new fad in your school for shining white rather than tattle-tale gray.

It's easy to keep your two-tone shoes sparkling with a minimum of smears and trouble, provided you remember this simple trick. Before applying the white polish, run an edging of transparent tape along the brown parts of your shoes. Any mis-licks with the white polish will land on the tape, which can be ripped off quickly when the job is done.

A bit of transparent tape, attached lightly around "saddle" of school oxfords, protects the dark leather from smears of white shoe polish.

Realizing a youthful, casual look is not synonymous with sloppiness, this young woman gives her tresses a thorough brushing each night to add gloss and control to her fly-away hair-do.

Money to the USO is for Collingsworth Men

During the coming days, one of your neighbors will ask you for a contribution to the USO fund drive, as the solicitors seek to raise the county's goal of $880. We are being asked to give to many causes at present, but the USO is of special signficance, for dollars given here will come back to Collingsworth County boys in far corners of the world, as well as those throughout the United States.

It will help to give them something that is of utmost importance to the men in thre armed forces—a home away from home, a sturdy support to the morale of men who must be our defense.

This nation has sent its full measure of fine young men to serve in the armed forces. Many Collingsworth men are among them. Scattered over the globe, they are ready to defend our liberties against one of the most ruthless aggressors in history.

Many of these soilders and sailors are still in their teens, and but for the demands of war would still be at home. It is important that everything possible be done to maintain the ties of home with these boys and girls, so that their moral may be kept high when they are away.

The USO which performed so magnificently during World War II, providing a home away from home for the young men and women in uniform in the places and during the times it is important to them, has sbeen called back into action to perform a similar job. Approximately 4,000,000 youths now wear American uniform.

This is our opportunity to do something for them.

A Step in the Right Direction

Two weeks ago representatives from Memphis, Childress, Paducah and Wellington high schools met in Childress to consider and draw up a sportmanship code for the schools in this district 3-AA.

The code is to promote friendliness, respect, cooperation, cheerfulness, fair ness, loyalty and sincerity toward the students of the participating schools and the citizens of the communities.

The representatives from each school were elected officers of the Student Service Councils. The code drawn up by these students from the four schools is now being presented to the student body in each school.

Now if the matter stopped there, it wouldn't be worth very much comment. But here in Memphis is has no aspects of being halted after presentation to the students.

Last week the Student Council Representatives here presented the code and the program to members of the Rotary and Lions Clubs for endorsement of the business men to help them make this code mean something.

In this community, every year, at football games with rivals like Wellington, Clarendon, Childress and others, some people seem to forget the contest is just really a game. They let their enthusiasm go too far until ill feelings arises between the schools, bebtween the people and between the towns.

The step of the code of sportmanship, by these high school students can do a lot to prevent such situations from arising.

After all, a year from now it really matters very little who won last week's football game. But the boys that played the game, for the rest of their lives will live with and b ythe code of sportmanship they learned and played by in the game.

Did we, as a community, foster the right ideals an dset the right examples for these boys to learn before they got to the playing field?

With the adoption of this code of sportmanship the High School Councils have adopted, we can start in our community, in our town, in our schools and homes, the correct and proper atmosphere which will help these youngsters all of their lives.

Now isn't that more important than winning any football, basketball or baseball game?

We believe it is, yet we like to back a winning team as much as anyone and we are as proud of the Cyclones when they win as anyone else in town.

But there isn't a law against a team of good sports winning! More times than not it is the good sports that do win.

It's an old and time worn quotation that it's better to lose gracefully than win dishonorably.

Therefore, we are backing these school students in this sportmanship code. We believe it is one o fthe best things for them, the school, the town an dcommunity that could happen.

We hope you will back them too and give them your support. After all, they can't do it all by themselves.

Let's all cooperate and make this community one known for good sportmanship—The Memphis Democrat.

Limiting the Income of American Press

Running a newspaper these days is a form of incorporated hazard, so to speak. And, one by one, all over America, newspapers which have been published for generations are ceasing to be published at all.

A bill now before a committee of the National House of Representatives would probably result, should it become a law, in the serious embarrassment of all newspapers and in the death of not a few which have thus far survived the difficulties of obtaining white newsprint and of meeting mounting payrolls.

Senate Bill 2170, as The News understands it, would give to some swivel-chair gentleman up in Washington the power to decide what customers could buy advertising space in The News and how much they could buy. As you know, when you subscribe to The News delivered at your door each morning you pay to the delivery boy a sum which will just about meet the cost of delivering to your door that amount of blank white newsprint. Counting in overhead, taxes and managerial expenses properly allotted to circulation, apart from all editorial, news, composition and press expenses, your money does not pay for the white paper delivered.

The News, quite obviously, is able to tell yo uabout Iran, Egype and the SMU-Notre Dame game, along with weddings, funerals and the price of cattle, cotton and wool, simply because advertisers in Dallas pay for the space they use to tell you about their business and what their business can do for you. The News is probably selfish in wanting to go on being a newsapper. But is is thoroughly American in wanting to go on being a newspaper free from dictation or strangulation at the hands of Mink Coat Row, Washington, D. C.—Dallas News.

The Buck Creek Philosopher

Editor's note. The Buck Creek Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Buck Creek claims he knows what's wrong with college football and is offering to tell how it can be solved. This week's letter tells what he thinks is wrong, and next week's, he says, will give the solution. Personally we don't believe he can do the latter, and await his ideas with considerable doubt.

Dear editar:

I know about as much about football as the political experts know about who's gonna be the next President of the United States, but I have been listenin to football games nearly every Saturday afternoon on my radio out here on my Johnson grass farm at Buck Creek and readin all the sports comment I can find and I think I have figured out what's wrong with the game, especially the college variety.

It ain't over-emphasis, it ain't subsidization, it ain't the gamblers, it ain't the coaches, it ain't the yell leaders, it ain't disinterest or lack of comprehension of the game on the part of the college presidents, it ain't the parkin problem, it ain't like a neighbor of mine contends that college football needs a government-supported Fair Employment Act so small colleges can hire just as good a line-up as big colleges, it ain't that college athletes ain't got no time to study, the average student ain't no athlete and he don't study much neither, if you think eliminatin football will increase scholarship, you just ain't takin no practical view of present-day college students or them in your day either.

The trouble with the game is that approximately 50 percent of the fans come out of the stadiums all over the country every Saturday afternoon depressed because their side lost. How long you figure a newspaper or a Congressman could last pleasin only half of its readers or constituents?

What foodtball needs is some profound thinkin by the brains of this country, resultin in a change in the fundamental rules so both sides of the stadium can come out feelin like their side won. I know this is a large order, in fact so large it's probably a matter for government thinkers, although I believe I could figure it out, provided somebody was willin to pay me for my thinkin. Will be glad to tell you next week how it can be done, if I can find another pencil, this one's about down to a nub, Send me one if you want the answer.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Committee is planning a statewide safety program and it's aimed at eliminating accident hazards from the rural areas; and making every citizen, young and old, safety conscious and mindful of their responsibility in such a program.

There were 73 farmer cooperatives in business in the Coastal Bend area of Texas in 1949. Their average membership was six times greater in 1949 than when formed. Fifty-three were engaged in marketing and purchasing and handled products valued at 32 million dollars.

Cotton producers are urged to continue their fight against damaging infestations of cotton insects.

When used properly machinery and home appliances save labor and human drudgery but when used carelessly they become agents of destruction.

National Farm Safety Week may be past history for 1951 but farm families are urged to observe safety rules in the home or on the farm if they want to be around when the 1952 Farm Safety Week rolls around.

The dairy cow needs a rest of from six to eight weeks between lactation periods. During this time, she should be fed well and given good care.

Dry ice can be used to hold the temperature down in the home freezer in case of power failure or compressor trouble. A 50 pound cake, cut into pieces and placed in the various compartments, will hold the temperature to about 15 degrees for 48 hours.

There Is No Victory Without Real Peace

All over the world today, nations eagerly scan the military reports and news dispatches that bear on the Korean war. Anxious eyes watch the battle which United Nations troops are waging against determined despots and tyrannical rulers who are trying to force atheistic communism on the South Koreans.

Despite Allied successes and the still-possible opportunity for a negotiated truce there is at the moment no actual peace in sight. Many trying days, it is expected, lie still ahead.

But when victory, negotiated or dictated, is finally ours, then will our greatest days of challenge and responsibility begin.

Will we use our triumph or position for peace or for selfish purpose of gain?

Will we act in the spirit of the Good Samaritan and bind up the wounds of war? Or will we let a built-up hate and desire for revenge color our plans for the vanquished?

While there are still nations throughout the world who by their own widely broadcast statements are determined on the destruction of the democratic way of life as we in America know it, then surely it is useless to say that we will embrace peace with the intention of never under any circumstances again taking up arms.

But a victory without peace is a total defeat. Our peace, then, should be composed of preparedness—if we consider it our duty as Christians to fight to restrain evil.

Because one fights an epidemic of disease he does not believe less in good health. America, too, will not stand less for peace if it remains ready to curb potential warmakers.

When victory comes—as it will—we must then try to win the good faith of the defeated. We must strive to instill faith in men's hearts, encourage harmony in all relationships. Should we fail here, hatred and avarice will certainly insure us a victory that is peaceless.

Looking Ahead With George S. Benson

AN IMPORTANT STEP IN AMERICAN EDUCATION

The Indianapolis public school system is doing something that ought to be copied by the schools of every town and city in the nation. This year every senior in the city's high schools is being taught the advantages of the American private enterprise economic system and how the system actually works in the businesses, industries and homes of Indianapolis. Next year, and thereafter, every school child in Indianapolis, from the 4th through the 12th grade, will be included in this brand new program designed to create a better understanding of and appreciation for the American way of life.

This encouraging development in Indianapolis has been prompted by a careful study of what high school graduates don't know and the educational deficiency of the city's school system. The study was made by the school people themselves, and the new program being developed to fill an extremely important educational void has the active support of all groups in the city — industry, organized labor, business, the professions, utilities, banks, etc.

DIDN'T KNOW

The Indianapolis study which was carried on during the 1950-51 school year brought to light the fact that boys and girls graduating from high school didn't know the basic facts about the American system. Dr. Herman L. Shibler, Superintendent of Indianapolis Schools, said at the conclusion of the study: "Our high school seniors have only a hazy idea of the way the American economic system actually functions in our own city." He told the Indianapolis Board of School Commissioners that the schools could and should do something about this situation. The Commissioners agreed. Dr. Byron Williams, recently professor of education at the University of Rochester, was employed to head up an entirely new educational program.

In order to catch the seniors graduating next June and get across to them the basic facts about our American system, an improvised program was designed. Meantime, Dr. Williams will be developing the permanent educational materials which, beginning next year, will be used in all classes from the 4th grade up. He is getting much of his materials from big and ittle businesses and industries in the Indianapolis area.

IGNORANCE EXTENSIVE

Pointing to a recent national survey of high school seniors showing that 61 per cent of them believe the profit incentive could be eliminated without destroying our economic system, Dr. Shibler commented: "They failed to realize that the urge to make profits has been one of the great inspirational forces in building our nation."

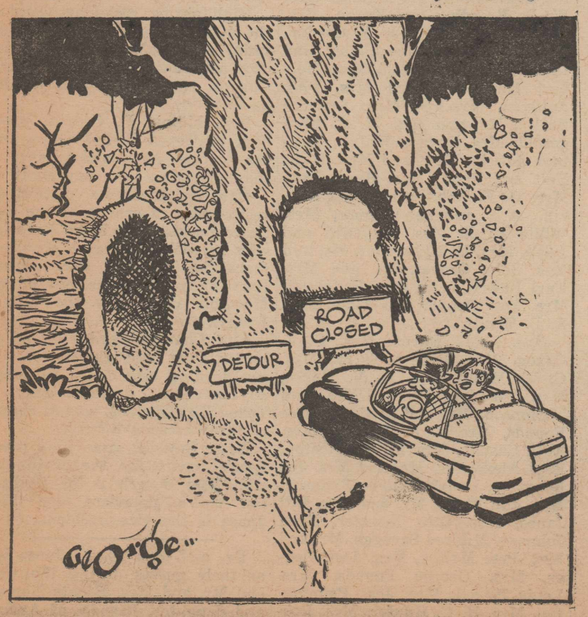

"When an Indianapolis youngster watches his father leave for work each morning in a business establishment," he continued, "the boy probably doesn't realize that the business, created because of a desire to make profits, is enabling his father to bring home food and clothing for the family and to save money that will enable the boy to have a college education. Our new program should give the boy a better appreciation of what the private enterprise system provides for his family."

CONDITION NATIONWIDE

This is getting around, at long last, to one of the most important responsibilities of our educational system, and in the right way. Every poll I've seen in recent years has shown the same educational deficiency that Dr. Shibler found in Indianapolis. The Brookings Institution just concluded a nationwide survey and reported this conclusion: "Only a very small percentage of our high school students get any real grasp of the economic factors and forces that are responsible for high standards of living."

The program being built by Indianapolis people to improve this situation is patterned after the Youngstown area (five-county) plan which was discussed in three of my columns last February and which formed the basis of my address, last spring, to the Atlantic City convention of the American Association of School Administrators. The Youngstown school program is far advanced. Special textbooks have already been written and are in use. A similar development of materials is under way in Indianapolis. We need to get such work started in every school in our land — NOW! Here's an Americanism project in which you, the reader of this column, can take the lead. You couldn't find a more important job to do for your country and for the future of the children of America. For details write the Industrial Information Institute, Youngstown, Ohio; or Dr. Herman L. Shibler, Superintendent of Schools, Indianapolis, Ind.

County Group Attends Texas Baptist Convention

A group of eight represented the First Baptist Church of Wellington at the Texas Baptist Convention which met in Houston from Tuesday to Friday, October 23 to 26, and two other churches of the county, those at Samnorwood and Lutie, were represented by their pastors, the Rev. W. C. Stockett and the Rev. Robert Webb.

The Rev. Howard Jones headed the Wellington delegates. Others attending were Mrs. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Leggitt, Mrs. Henry Davidson, Mrs. J. C. Whisenant, Mrs. W. T. Williams and Mrs. J. L. Hays. The latter four left for Houston Sunday in order to attend the State WMU meeting Monday.

Highlights of the convention, Rev. Jones reported, were the address by Dr. J. D. Grey of New Orleans, president of the Southern Baptist Convention, and the sermon by Billy Graham, Baptist evangelist. Rev. Graham preached in the Sam Houston Collesium to a capacity crowd of 13,000, the largest of the convention.

Rev. Jones was elected to the Texas Baptist Convention executive board. The board is made of 150 members.

The next meeting of the Texas Baptist Convention will be held in October 1952 at Fort Worth.

Chrome Trim May Stay on Autos

AUSTIN — A University of Texas professor's discovery is expected to keep chrome trim on autos and home furnishings despite growing defense production.

Dr. Norman Hackerman, chemistry professor, has developed a new chromium plating technique which by-passes the use of nickel, in critically short supply because of the defense effort.

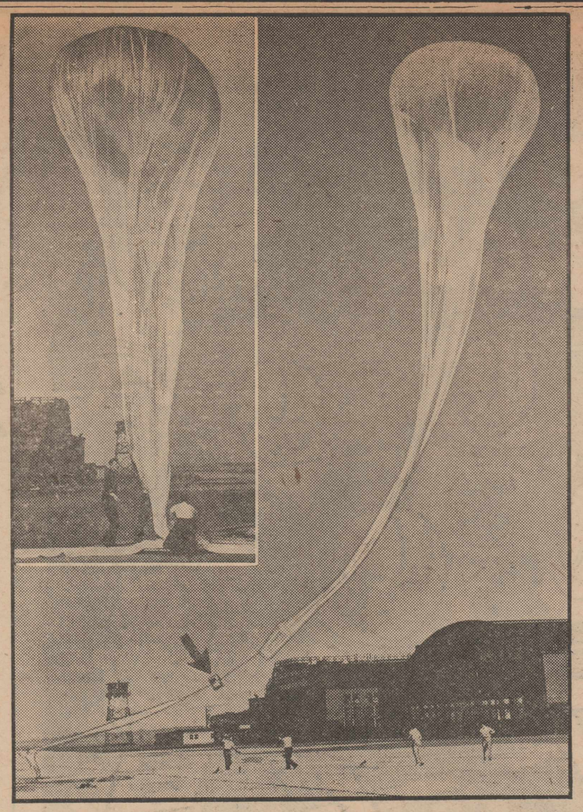

In present processes, nickel must be placed on steel to give chromium a "foothold" when it is added. The Hackerman process allows chromium to plate directly on steel.

Plenty of chromium probably will be available for trim on manufactured articles of the near future, Dr. Hackerman said.

Seniors Observe Hobo Day Tuesday

Wellington Seniors observed Tuesday, October 30, at Hobo Day, and climaxed it with a Hobo party Tuesday evening at the American Legion hut.

This was a fund-raising event, with all seniors taking part and competing for the most typical hobo dress.

WATCH FOR 'EM!—Preparing to release one of many plastic balloons used for the Air Force project "Moby Dick" are launching crews who, naturally, think of this as a whale of an operation. The 50 to 110-foot diameter balloons are drifting over the United States at altitudes of 10 to 20 miles for the purpose of transmitting data concerning high-altitude winds. The transmitter (arrow) below the balloon sends out signals to direction-finding stations. Crew inflates one of the big bags (inset) which may appear as "flying saucers" during the early and late hours of the day because of sun reflections on the transparent coverings. Persons finding collapsed balloons will receive a reward for return of radio unit.

SAMNORWOOD
BY MRS. C. W. Fritts

The showers for the past few days have slowed the cotton pulling. Hands are still badly needed. Both the good and bad cotton is open now.

Mrs. H. C. Morrow and children and Mr. and Mrs. Odus Bradley and daughters attended the Blasingame funeral in Wellington last Monday.

The accident happened just north of Wellington Saturday morning when a truck from a side road drove into the highway without stopping until it reached the middle of the highway. The Negro driver stopped directly in front of him. Mr. Morrow was forced to take to the dirt and in doing so hit the end of a culvert which caused the car to roll over three times. The car was badly damaged, but not totally demolished. Morrow and his small daughter were not injured, except for some bruises on Mr. Morrow.

Clarence Morrow was taken back to the hospital Saturday. He was brought home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Morrow of Fort Worth and his grandmother, Mrs. Lottie Williams of Aloa, arrived early Sunday to visit Gene's father and Mrs. Williams' son, Clarence Morrow, and family. The Morrows also visited Mrs. Morrow's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Peters, and Jessie Peters.

Welcome to Wellington

Although Taylor Lowrie has farmed here for the past three years, it was not until earlier this month that he and Mrs. Lowrie moved from Crosbyton to Wellington to make their home.

They bought the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Denzil Deger at 1605 Graham Street.

Mr. Lowrie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Z. T. Lowrie of Wellington and was born here. The family moved away when he was a boy, but his parents returned several years ago.

While working as a salesman for Lubbock Feed and Seed Co., Mr. Lowrie became interested in raising registered Duroc hogs, and now has a registered herd of about 45 head. Some of these he exhibited at the State Fair of Texas. Until he began spending part of his time here with his farming and stock work, Mr. Lowrie was active in the Lions Club at Crosbyton.

Mrs. Lowrie taught mathematics and science in Crosbyton high school for a number of years. She has a life membership in the Parent-Teacher Association and is a member of Gamma Eta chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, honor sorority for teachers. She was serving as district vice president, and would have been elevated to the presidency next year. She was for many years secretary of the Eastern Star at Crosbyton, and this year was associate conductress. She also served as superintendent of the young people's department of the First Baptist Church.

Letters From The PEOPLE

As a wife of a member of the local A. A. (Alcoholics Anonymous) Group, I would like to urge every person in this area to attend the program at the community building Sunday afternoon, November 4, at 1:30. This program will prove enlightening to every person who attends.

So many people confuse an alcoholic with a person who drinks from sheer deliberation. I know that I was confused before the doctor told me that an alcoholic was a sick person. They do not drink from choice. They drink because of the chemical makeup that calls for alcohol. As medical science tells us, they are desperately ill and one does not condemn a sick person. One does all in his or her power to help that person.

Since we know alcoholism is a disease, we should be eager to help our loved ones and friends who have this malady to be cured.

Medical authorities agree that no medical treatment can take the place of the AA program. One of the founders of this program was a medical doctor. The organization is filled with men and women from all walks of life, doctors, teachers, and even some preachers who are not ashamed of their disease but who would be ashamed not to seek a cure.

You might find the information to be helpful sometime in ministering of a loved one or friend. You will certainly hear one of the most forceful and interesting speakers ever to speak in Wellington, a former educator who knows the true value of AA. It is hoped you will be among those present.

Violations of Child Labor Law Not High

DALLAS — While most public schools in the Southwest have been in operation a full month or more, violations of the Federal law dealing with child labor in agriculture during school hours have not been alarmingly high, a government spokesman here reported today.

William J. Rogers, Regional Director of the Labor Department's Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions for five Southwestern states, said that while his investigators had found some violations, most reports indicated that farmers generally were complying with the law and that, as good citizens, they wanted to comply with it.

Some newspapers, he said, are reported to have given the erroneous impression that violation of the law subjected violators to a minimum fine of $10,000. That, he pointed out, is the maximum assessment under the law, and it can only be assessed by a Federal court.

"We understand that penalties provided by the law have not been imposed elsewhere in the United States," he said, "but no employer of farm labor in this region has been fined for violation of this provision of the law."

Rogers said he hoped that record of good citizenship in the Southwest would remain unbroken.

School Pep Rally Friday Afternoon

A pep rally at the high school Friday afternoon, November 2, will precede the Skyrocket-Memphis Cyclone game at Memphis that night, Howard Oliphint, high school principal, has announced.

The rally will begin at 3:30 p.m.

Pep leaders will be in charge, Frances Boyd, Peggy Riley, Irby Stout, Rugene Black and Twana Scott.

This will take the place of the usual pre-game band concert downtown, Mr. Oliphint said.

Rockets Best Chillicothe In Non-conference Tilt

Taking a breather before entering three weeks of what promises to be very rugged conference play, the Wellington Skyrockets took a one sided game from Chillicothe by a score of 51 to 6.

About the most interesting aspect of the game was that every Rocket that was suited up got to play at least a part of the game and gave the fans a preview of what they can expect to see next year and it was all to the good. In an effort to equalize the game to some extent, Coach Maxey McKnight never at any time used his starting line-up as a unit, but the so-called reserves proved too strong for the Eagles as the Rockets swept to touchdown after touchdown.

The first quarter proved to be a very even tussle with Chillicothe after Wellington fumbled deep in their own territory and on the third play Guinton Hampton carried it over from the five yard line to make the score 6 to 0 in favor of the Eagles.

It was here that the Rockets started to roll and displayed a number of running backs and linesmen who have not seen much play up to this game. The first Wellington touchdown was made by Harold Moore, who went 20 yards to even the score. Others were made by Lonnie Wood, Tommy Beam, Seldon Wood, Hoot Gibson and Clyde Ingram, the latter two making two each. Although he did not make a touchdown Douglas Duncan was the Rockets' best driving back of the evening. Gibson turned in one run for 60 yards and Seldon Woods made another touchdown run of 79 yards. Although he did not make a touchdown, Douglas Duncan proved to be the hardest running back of the evening and was consistent in making gains each time he carried the ball. Even the versatile Tommy Wood sat on the bench part of the time as Edward Bawcom or Lonnie Wood ran the team.

Besides the starters, linesmen who saw action and turned in some fine work were Jimmy Leggitt, Gene Baird, Kenneth Covey, Don Shoff, Bing Crosby, and Ray Mitchell. Floyd Hood again proved to be Wellington's most alert and aggressive linesman.

Next week the Rockets start conference play by meeting a stout Memphis club at Memphis. The Cyclone has a team that is far better than their win and loss record would indicate. They have two 230 pound linesmen who are fast on their feet and are due to give Wellington's sterling line some trouble as well as a good capable passing quarterback and well balanced team to go with it.

Lillian Moore, internationally known American dancer, will appear at Memphis Thursday, November 8, under the auspices of the Memphis Mutual Concert Association. Members of the Wellington Concert Association can attend this concert without additional charge, Jack Kopp, secretary, reminded this week.

The entertainment will be held at the high school auditoriulm, although the hour was not announced. This is the first of the 1951-52 concerts to be given by either association.

Her program in Memphis will include classical and satirical dances, with the emphasis on the humorous side.

The early destruction of cotton stalks is one of the most effective practices known for controlling cotton insects especially boll weevils and pink bollworms. Community and countywide stalk destruction programs are the most effective and the practice should be carried out just as early as is possible. What Is Scouting?

CONGRESS CHARTERS BOY SCOUTS FOR OUTSTANDING SERVICE GIVEN

THE CHARTER FROM CONGRESS
By JOHN POUND

Because of the outstanding service rendered by Boy Scouts and the universal esteem felt for the organization, Congress honored the Boy Scouts of America with a Federal Charter on the same basis as that given to the American Red Cross and a very limited number of other organizations. On June 15, 1916, President Wilson signed the Act of Congress granting the Federal Charter. Congress also passed a bill giving permanent protection to the word "Scout," and the Uniform, and Insignia.

The Boy Scouts of America adopted, in 1913, the Registration Plan for all Scouts, through the individual Scout application, approved by his parents, submitted to the Scoutmaster, accompanied by a small membership fee of 50c. The boy then receives a National Membership Certificate. The boy is expected to try to earn his registration fee, and understands that it helps make possible the national organization's service to other boys. It makes possible the protection of the Uniform and Badges, and also a simple method of determining who, as a registered Scout, is entitled to wear them. It also makes possible dependable reports to Congress as required by the Federal Charter, and a positive audit of all Local Council Membership figures.

During the first four decades, more than 16,500,000 boys and leaders have been members of the Boy Scouts of America.

In 1930, the Cub Scout Program for younger boys was started.

Sea Scouting had been developed in 1912 for young men fifteen and over. The older Scout program was expended to include Explorer Scouting in 1936, and Air Scouting in 1942. Since September of 1949, all three "Senior" programs have been revised and combined in one program known as Exploring. The age limit has been lowered to include all young men 14 years of age and older. Its advancement program includes land, sea, and air projects.

One of the outstanding contributing factors in the success of the Movement was the establishment of the Local Council plan of organization, which serves the entire country. Wellington is located in, and is part of, the Adobe Walls Area Council, which has its headquarters in Pampa.

Dr. Arthur A. Schuck, who has had a long and distinguished career in Scouting, is the third, and present, Chief Scout Executive. He assumed office in 1948, succeeding Dr. Elbert K. Fretwell, who is now Chief Scout. Dr. Schuck has served as Scoutmaster, Commissioner, Troop Committeeman, and in Local Council positions as a volunteer. He has been a Council Executive, member of a Regional Staff, and was for many years Head of the Division of Operations at the Home Office. He has been active in world Scouting, and has received foreign Scout decorations and Honorary Degrees from universities in recognition of his service to youth.

Quail Hunters Start Out December 1

Duck Season Opens Nov. 9; Deer Season Nov. 17

Duck hunters are getting ready for opening of the season on their favorite sport at noon Friday, November 9, J. M. Moore, county clerk, reminded this week, with the announcement of the Texas Game and Fish Commission of the migratory game bird regulations.

The season continues through December 28.

The deer season — and there is an open season in Collingsworth County again this year — opens one week later, November 17, and continues through November 26, while the quail season opens December 1 and continues through January 16, Mr. Moore said.

The bag and possession limits on duck are 5 per day, 10 in possession. Shooting hours are from one-half hour before sunrise to one hour before sunset.

Regulations covering migratory birds make it necessary to place all birds on storage within three days after the close of the season, and they may be possessed for only 90 days after the season ends.

Baiting or live decoys are prohibited, and the use of automobile or aircraft is also forbidden. A shotgun, no larger than 10 guage, is to be used, plugged permanently to hold not more than three shells, including those in magazine and chamber.

Ducks may not be taken from a power-driven boat, or boat under tow or sail and sinkboxes are prohibited. Nor may they be taken by means or use of cattle, horses or mules, according to rules, and it is also against the law to take them within one-half mile of any place where feed has been placed or exposed.

No person over the age of 16 may hunt migratory waterfowl without a Federal stamp, procurable at the Post Office.

Hunting licenses are to be secured from the county clerk's office, at $2.15 for resident hunters and $25.00 for non-resident, Mr. Moore said.

Shooting hours on deer are sunrise to sunset, and every hunter must have a hunting license, whether he hunts at home or not, he warned. Rifles only may be used, except that a .22 using rimfire is unlawful.

The limit is one buck.

The season is also open in surrounding counties, Childress, Cottle, Gray, Donley, Hall and Wheeler.

Special rules apply to this area with reference to quail, and hunters were warned to note that the bag limit here is less than in some parts of the state. Ten birds per day may be taken, with not more than 20 in possession. A shotgun, not larger than 10 guage, permanently plugged to three shells, including the magazine and chamber, or a rifle may be used.

Shooting hours are sunrise to sunset, also different to the general rules covering quail hunting.

These regulations apply to Armstrong, Briscoe, Carson, Castro, Childress, Collingsworth, Cottle, Dalham, Deaf Smith, Donley, Gray, Hall, Hansford, Hartley, Hemphill, Hutchinson, Lipscomb, Moore, Motley, Ochiltree, Oldham, Parmer, Potter, Randall, Roberts, Sherman, Swisher and Wheeler counties.

Mr. Moore reported that during the year which ended September 1, 1951, hunters paid fees $862.50. Of this, $791.85 was sent to the state and only $70.65 remained to the county.

The best season for planting the winter legume crop has arrived and moisture conditions are now favorable. Legume seed should be inoculated and the land fertilized before the seeding operation is performed.

SMALL-PACKAGE PUP — Seemingly making canine medical history is "Jiggerboo," right, a tiny chihuahua owned by Mrs. J. B. Herman of Miami, Fla. Shown with his brother Chico, the midget mutt was one of a litter of six, all of whom at nine weeks weighed about two pounds—all, that is, except Jiggerboo, who, normal and healthy in other respects, hardly affected the scales at 4½ ounces.

Of the 722 new ensigns recently graduated from the U. S. Naval Academy, 263 (or 36.4 per cent) were former enlisted men in the Armed Forces.

The U. S. Navy is now accepting 18 year-old girls for enlistment in the regular Waves. Formerly teenagers could only join Wave Reserve components.

Cotton Acreage Allotments, Quotas Off for 1952

There will be no marketing quotas or acreage allotments on the 1952 cotton crop, the county PMA office has been notified by Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan.

The latest available statistics of the federal government indicate that the total supply of both upland and long staple cotton does not exceed the normal supply, therefore marketing quotas are not required on the crop to be produced in 1952, the announcement pointed out.

Under provisions of law, the acreage planted to cotton in 1952 will be considered as a part of the base acreage in establishing future cotton acreage allotments.

Scarce feed items in the winter livestock ration are abundant in small grains. Now is the time to plant the supplemental small grain pastures and the use of the right fertilizers will increase pasture yields and speed their growth.
