RESCUERS FREE FLOOD'S PRISONERS

American Woman Nabbed Trying To Smuggle Arms To Rebels

2,000 BULLETS FOUND IN CAR BY OFFICERS

Wife of El Paso Merchant Is Taken Into Custody In Juarez

REBEL GOLD THERE

Gen. Escobar's Wife Arrives At Same Time To Buy Supplies

JUAREZ, Mexico, March 15. (UP)—The matronly wife of a prosperous American merchant, driving her coupe across the international bridge from El Paso, Texas, to Juarez was arrested today as the first smuggler of ammunition into Mexico since the present revolution in the country started.

Detention of Mrs. Margaret Mohr, whose husband is a pioneer El Paso hardware dealer, by United States customs officers when they found 2,000 rounds of rifle ammunition in her car, crowded from the limelight the regular grist of bulletins from rebel headquarters here detailing progress of the armies in Chihuahua and Durango.

Another Feminine Touch

Further interest was added to the "feminine angle" of the rebellion when Mrs. J. G. Escobar, wife of the rebel commander-in-chief, arrived here on a special train from Chihuahua City. She was reported to have brought with her "a great quantity of gold" with which to purchase supplies for her husband's armies.

Mrs. Escobar, the general's third wife, is reputed to be exceptionally beautiful. It was said she went into seclusion immediately upon her arrival. Reporters were unable to find her either in Juarez or El Paso.

Arrest of Mrs. Mohr came as the result of a strict watch by United States officers for arms smuggling. A few nights ago two American agents were shot by smugglers who were believed to have carried a quantity of guns and bullets across the Rio Grande. Other more or less vague reports of arms shipments to rebels have been circulated here for several days.

Smugglers Active

Probability that considerable smuggling of army equipment to the rebels has been going on was evidenced by the exceptionally complete equipment of the rebel army which captured Juarez a week ago.

Another rebel announcement said that Gen. Gabriel Chaves was in Parral with 1,600 well armed volunteers, awaiting orders.

Analysis of all reports from the south indicates that the long ex-

HEITHER WINS ACQUITTAL ON DEATH CHARGE

Freed Defendant Shakes Hands With Jurors After Trial

VERDICT EXPECTED

But He's 'Been Near Hell,' Acquitted Man Says; His Plans Made

Acquitted after one of the briefest murder trials ever conducted in Wichita county, O. C. Heither, held not guilty of the murder of Clifford Wood here on Jan. 19, Friday afternoon walked from the defendant's chair to shake the hands of the jurors who had set him free.

Heither based his defense upon the unwritten law and relied almost entirely upon his own story to the jury describing love-making he had seen and heard between Wood and his wife during the three hours immediately preceding the shooting

Jury Out Two Hours

A jury in the 78th district court, charged by Judge W. W. Cook that the shooting was justifiable, if they accepted the defendant's story, returned the verdict of not guilty after two hours deliberation between noon and 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. Heither, obviously nervous, smoked a cigaret and fingered a button hole in his coat as he waited for the verdict to be read. He sat quiet a moment afterwards, frowning down at the floor, and then hurried to thank the members of the jury, who were in turn apparently eager to shake his hand.

Mrs. Heither and her sister, Miss Beatrice King, were in the rear of the court room. They were waiting for the defendant as he came down the passageway and joined him silently.

Asks for Gun

An hour later Heither appeared in the office of the district attorney, asking for the return of the gun with which Clifford was shot nine times. He said that he planned to leave Wichita Falls as soon as he could save enough money to get away on.

"That's as near going through hell as I want to come," he said. "I was never afraid about the outcome of the case, but I hate the way people looked at it."

Heither was arrested after Wood, wounded from nine bullets, was found lying on the floor of the Heither home on the night of Jan. 29. He died a few hours later, leaving a dying statement denying any improper relations between himself and Mrs. Heither.

Short Testimony

Testimony in the case was completed in two hours and 15 minutes Thursday afternoon, the state introducing only one witness and the defense relying almost altogether on Heither's own story. He told the jury of how he had watched the actions of his wife and Wood through windows, from under a bed, and from the darkness of the kitchen in his own home on the night of the shooting. The state attacked the defense through the introduction of the dying declaration of Wood and attempted to show that Wood had been in the whisky business with Heither for at least six months before the shooting.

B. Y. Cummings and J. A. Lantz represented Heither. The case for the state was conducted by George Anderson and Mike Anglin, assistant district attorneys.

VOODOO DOCTOR GIVEN DEATH

Austin Negro Guilty of Killing Groceryman

AUSTIN, March 15. (UP)—Voodooism, "Aframerican" counterpart of witchcraft, received a blow here late today when a jury found one of the adherents to black magic guilty of murder and assessed the death penalty.

A rabbit's "hind" foot and other ghost paraphernalia, found on Bishop Adams, negro voodoo doctor, at the time of his arrest for the slaying of William Glober, grocer, failed to save him from the shadow of the electric chair.

Unlucky Day

Friday brought the sentence for Adams whose trial started March 13 for a murder committed Feb. 13.

This was the first death penalty in the score of the 23-year-old District Attorney Henry Brooks, and the first death penalty in the career of Judge J. D. Moore, presiding, in his service as district attorney and judge, and the first to be given in Travis county since 1917.

The crowd was the second largest in the 90-year-old history of the old rock courthouse. Only the audience that witnessed the trial of the Rev. J. Frank Norris, of Fort Worth, acquitted for murder, outnumbered today's attendance.

When the jury returned, the members trod on toes getting into the box. The deputy sheriff did not have to ask for quiet. The audience, nearly all Negroes, maintained a death-like stillness. Adams tapped the table with his fingers.

Walks His Eyes

"We find the defendant guilty and assess the penalty of death," read the clerk.

Adams walled his eyes. He adjusted his coat.

The jury filed out, the crowd backing in haste. Adams followed. The spectators still remained seated. No one commented.

"Well, get along," shouted the deputy. The old court house rang with the sound of scurrying steps.

Mystery Fleet's Skippers Shock U. S. Agents With Details of 'Rum Navy'

NEW YORK, March 15. (US)—Amazing details of the operations of a rum-running navy, with a high seas fleet of three large vessels, a blockade-running squadron of three more and a U. S. navy code book through which they deciphered customs and coast guard messages, were disclosed in coincident court actions today.

Thirteen men, some of them skippers of the mystery fleet, were named in indictments returned before Federal Judge Coleman. The indictments had been kept secret, under seal, for a month.

At the same time, five of the 13 indicted men and three others were held in bonds by U. S. Commissioner Wilson in connection with the seizure of $300,000 worth of liquor in a truck that bogged down Thursday night.

One of the eight arraigned, Fred Winkler, astonished the commissioner when there was produced from his person a code-book of the United States navy, also governing messages sent by coast guardsmen or customs authorities.

With this, Deputy Police Chief Strohnson told the commissioner, it was only an accident that any of their vessels ever were seized, for they could keep track of patrolling ships as easily as though their destinations and missions were broadcast.

The rum runners had an international organization, Assistant U. S.

MILITIA BOATS REMOVE GROUP OF REFUGEES

Thousands Still in Peril Of Being Swept Away By Torrents

ALL MAY BE SAVED

First Successes Buoy Rescuers to Redouble Their Efforts

ELBA, Ala., March 15. (US)—Estimates of flood victims in this town and immediate vicinity late tonight place the number of dead at 100. Hundreds are reported to have been injured as flimsy buildings crashed, or were swept away by the turbulent waters.

RESCUE CAMP, NEAR TROY, Ala., March 15. (UP)—The removal of refugees from the submerged town of Elba got under way early tonight, and several families were rescued by national guardsmen in boats. The flood victims, who had been trapped in the upper floors and on roofs of buildings for more than 24 hours, were carried to New Brockton and Enterprise.

Reports from New Brockton, eight miles east of Elba, relayed here early tonight said refugees were being moved out as fast as the small number of available boats would permit.

Many Still in Danger

It was reported that 100 more persons remained in the courthouse at Elba. There was no way of estimating the number remaining in the city.

The hotel, it was said, collapsed this morning. Whether any inhabitants who had sought safety there were drowned was not ascertained.

The telephone operator at New Brockton said she heard the water had fallen three feet at Elba during the day.

New Brockton reported there was real hope there of saving the 4,000 inhabitants of Elba, although it was unknown whether any had drowned in the hotel collapse.

Current Hampers Work

The operator said rescue workers told her they hoped to bring all out alive.

The swiftness of the current prevented the refugees from being brought here. The rescuers, after loading the boats, were compelled to submit to the current, which brought them to the towns situated south and east of Elba.

Grave fears were felt tonight for inhabitants of such communities as Brewton, at the junction of three rivers, and Geneva on the Choctawhatchie, certain to receive the bulk of flood waters.

The office of Gov. Bibb Graves of Montgomery reported tonight that national guard offices in the Elba district had advised that rescue work was proceeding rapidly. Two negroes were the only fatalities reported to Governor Graves.

Supplies were being sent from Montgomery rapidly.

Red Cross Helps

The Red Cross, assisted by volunteer organizations of communities immediately surrounding Elba, was rushing food, clothing and medical supplies to New Brockton, where the refugees were brought.

Ten planes from Maxwell field, Montgomery, flew over the scene, dropping provisions and life preservers to the trapped population.

The waters of the creeks between Troy and Elba were reported to be receding early tonight, while the Pea river continued to rise, with no indication of recessions in Elba proper.

Roads Repaired

Four troops of national guardsmen were busy repairing roads from the rescue camp, six miles from the inundated town, permitting trucks to approach to the overflown banks of the Pea river.

The 3,000 residents of West Point, Ga., on the swollen Chattahoochee river took to the hills late today when the river rose into downtown streets to a height of six feet.

Stock in stores was moved to higher ground and every precaution taken to safeguard property and life.

Hundreds of volunteers, including national guardsmen and a number of airplane pilots, have assembled here, and desperate efforts were made to breast the raging currents with boats to rescue hundreds who have been trapped on rooftops, trees and other points of temporary safety.

Homes Float Away

At Elba, situated at the junction of the Pea river and Whitewater creek, only the tallest buildings emerged from the surface of the swirling, muddy waters. Many of the smaller homes were torn from their foundations and carried bodily away. Hundreds of persons were packed into the top floors of the courthouse and office buildings, and their screams could be heard by rescuers who succeeded in approaching within half a mile of the town.

Thirty-five inhabitants of Elba, mostly women and children, were reported to have been brought by boat to Enterprise, west of the inundated town, late today.

Planes Drop Food

The report came by telephone to Ozark from the national guard camp at Enterprise.

It was the first indication that rescue parties had reached the flooded city and were beginning to remove the 4,000 refugees.

Two planes from Pensacola flew over Elba this afternoon and dropped bread on the rooftops for those marooned. They made several trips, getting their supplies at Enterprise and New Brockton, east of Elba.

A plane was wrecked near Enterprise during the day while en route to the stricken city, according to a report from Ozark. No one was hurt, the report said.

THOUSANDS HELD ATOP HOUSES

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 15. (UP)—Thousands of persons in southeastern Alabama are marooned on housetops and trees and unless aid reaches them immediately the death toll will be counted in thousands.

In a flight over the flood district late this afternoon, hundreds of persons clinging precariously to housetops or floating downstream with bits of wood or anything that floated were seen.

Just how many of them were already dead and how many others will be dead by morning, there is no way of telling. Damage is enormous. Water is everywhere. Alba is all under water with the exception of two or three of the tallest buildings. Rivers and creeks are raging torrents which struggle grimly to uproot the remaining houses on which the refugees stand, sending their piteous cries for help.

On the two-hour flight from Montgomery down to Brewton, back east across the areas of Covington and Coffee county to Elba and then back to Montgomery over Troy, were seen the effects of the havoc wrought by the flood.

WASHOUT WRECKS ALABAMA TRAIN

MANCHESTER, Ga., March 15. (UP) —An Atlanta, Birmingham & Coast passenger train ran off the tracks into a washout near here today, bringing death to a negro fireman, and causing injuries to 12 other persons, six of the passengers. The engine, two express cars, a baggage car and a passenger coach were derailed. Brown Harper was the negro fireman killed.

PEOPLE IN LOWLANDS FORCED TO EVACUATE

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 15. (UP)—Sluggishly advancing overflow water from the lower Mississippi, Ohio and tributary rivers tonight was slowly pushing back residents from their lowland farms toward higher ground, while Red Cross and weather officials worked overtime to meet the widening menace.

Some 200 families were homeless at Mariana, Ark., where the St. Francis river had poured over its banks. Albert Evans, assistant national director of flood relief, was sent to the town to direct work of caring for refugees who will be installed in tents supplied by the Red Cross. Many streams of the state were swollen beyond levees and highways were impassable.

Relief agencies were rushed to Mounds, Ill., on the Cashe and Ohio rivers, near Cairo, where a 51-foot stage by Tuesday was predicted, and, it was feared, would partly submerge the town.

Schools were closed in western Tennessee and highways were two to five feet under water at places. Water was rising in the streets of Hickman, Ky., though damage will be slight in that territory unless crests rise several feet above the present stage.

The Greenville, Miss., levee board stated today that the situation in that state was serious but not critical. River bottoms in four counties were inundated but property damage was not yet extensive.

BLIZZARD HOLDS 300 PRISONERS

GORDON, Neb., March 15. (US)—Sixty automobiles loaded with foodstuffs were en route to the William Reeves ranch, 20 miles from here, tonight to relieve the need of 300 ranchers and tourists who are marooned there by a severe blizzard. Two hundred Indians from the Pineridge reservation are also trying to get through to the ranch with supplies.

MISSISSIPPI RIVER BANKS PATROLLED

QUINCY, Ill., March 15. (US)—Men patrolled the earthen barriers of the Mississippi tonight as the waters rose to 15.8-foot mark and a heavy downpour of rain added to the flood menace.

The Des Moines and Skunk rivers, in Iowa, and the Henderson river and Honey creek, in Illinois, were full to the overflowing. The authorities at Keokuk, Iowa, expressed fear of a bad flood due to ice gorges and a brim-full river.

River men tonight said they could not forecast the crest, but were agreed that it will be the highest stage in years.

WATER COVERS ILLINOIS AREA

ROCKFORD, Ill., March 15. (US) —Several thousand acres of land in the territory drained by the Rock and Pecatonica rivers were inundated tonight with the property damage estimated at more than $500,000.

Bonnie Holmgren, sophomore, was adjudged the most beautiful girl in the Wichita Falls Junior college Friday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock when the annual college beauty contest which is sponsored by the staff for the year book, the Wai-Kun, was brought to a close. Virginia Moore, a freshman, came second in the event with a total of 1970 votes.

The contest started Wednesday morning and votes were sold students for the sum of 25 cents each for the first ballot cast, and one cent each for each additional vote. Proceeds from the affair will go to the year book fund.

None of the so-called "dark horses" were entered in the affair this year, according to R. O. Jonas, financial sponsor of the Wai-Kun. During the contests in recent years, dark horse candidates, or students who were not balloted at the start of the affair, were known to receive a large number of votes at the last minute of the contest and win first place in the affair. Not a single vote was cast this year toward this cause.

A picture of the winner will appear in the "favorite section" of the annual, set aside especially for this purpose.

Weeks Golf Course To Be Improved

Spring improvements on the Weeks Park Municipal golf course will be started early next week, according to C. C. Bunnenberg, city superintendent of parks.

All of the greens on the course will be given a top dressing of fertilizer and sand in the improvement program and all wild grass and weeds will be removed from the links.

Ten giant water sprinklers were received by the park department Friday for use on the course. They will be added to the nine that are already in use at the municipal links giving a sprinkler to each of the greens.

The grass is expected to be green within the next few days and the course will be in excellent condition for the grand spring opening on March 21, Mr. Bunnenberg asserted.

OIL LEADERS TALK PROBLEM

Holmes Pleads for World Conservation

as company, declared in an address here today before a gathering of oil men meeting to discuss conservation measures. The meeting was attended by about 100 of the nation's most prominent oil men.

Holmes said that a committee should be named to determine as accurately as possible the potential oil production of the world. He declared that some method should be worked out whereby oil conservation could be encouraged in foreign fields. He asserted that it was as important to encourage conservation of oil resources and restriction of output in foreign fields as in American fields.

Policy for Future

Holmes demanded a policy that shall look to the future as well as the present, declaring that "we should be quite as concerned as an industry, and as a nation, about the supply of crude petroleum and its essential products 50 years from now, as in the present."

Recommendations worked out by the meeting may be submitted to the board of directors of the American Petroleum institute at their meeting in New York March 27, it was stated.

Harry F. Sinclair, oil magnate, entered the conference room just before the meeting convened. He took no part in the discussions. Spokesman for the conference said that Sinclair attended merely as an interested oil leader.

Dr. George Otis Smith, of Washington, chairman of the advisory committee of the federal oil conservation board and director of the United States Geological survey, represented the federal government.

Government in Harmony

He emphasized the fact that the government is in harmony with the conservation movement and said that he was personally glad that the oil industry is alive to the needs of oil conservation.

It is necessary that the government and the oil industry work together in order to properly carry out conservation plans and safeguard the oil resources of the future.

Clarence Gilmore, chairman of the Texas railroad commission, told the conference that while Texas laws are concerned with the physical waste of oil and not its economic waste, that Texas was nevertheless interested in the protection of this "irreplacable resource."

the defense witnesses, for "truth and veracity" was bad.

Black, who is in the taxi business at Bowie, was put on the stand by the defense during the morning session and testified that he and Gooch had held a conversation relative to a liquor case against Goodspeed at Decatur and that Gooch said, "I hope they send Carl to the pen; if they don't I am going to have to kill him."

L. L. Waid and L. A. McDonald, both of Bowie, stated that they were present during the conversation between Black and Gooch They corroborated Black's version of Gooch's statement.

Pastor Is Heard

Rev. E. L. Moody, of Nocona, and E. B. Harris, of Nocona, both testified that they had made some observations in the Goodspeed home Friday morning and that a man standing behind the French door between the living room and the south bedroom could be seen by a man coming into the living room from the kitchen.

Mrs. Cap Adams, who lives about eight miles form St. Jo said that Gooch had searched her home early one Sunday morning. She testified that she went to the front door, clad in a thin nightgown, and saw Gooch standing outside with a gun in each hand. She told Gooch to wait until she put on a kimona, according to her testimony, but he broke in the door with a pistol and followed her from room to room and did not allow her to dress. She said that Gooch also cursed her.

M. Goodspeed, brother of the defendant, was placed on the stand by the defense in rebuttal. He described the position of the body as he saw it a short time after the slaying.

WOMAN HELD FOR SMUGGLING

2,000 Bullets Designed For Rebels Captured

pected battle of Torreon cannot possibly take place before Sunday, if then. Although rebel forces now are occupying the city, the federal army coming north to attack them still is many miles to the south and with the railways in the area destroyed, will have to proceed by foot, a slow, tortuous process in that bleak, desert-like country.

RECRUITS BALKED

AMARILLO, Texas, March 15. (AP)—Eldon and Carl Doyle, 9 and 13, tired of life in Dalhart, Texas, left yesterday for Mexico to take part in the revolution. Amarillo police halted their journey today, however, when advised by the boys' parents that the revolution would have to get along without them. The boys were sent home.

FEDERALS CAPTURE CITY OF DURANGO

(By The Associated Press)

Capture of Durango City by the advance guard of General Calles' army brings for the first time the two main forces of federals and rebels within striking distance of one another, and the military campaign of the Mexican revolution is moving faster.

Federal cavalry occupied the city Friday, announced Colonel Tapia, chief of the presidential staff. Its fall is of major strategic importance since it opens a new railroad and a new line of advance for the federals against the main body of rebels at Torreon.

Rebel troops were said to have fled from Durango before the federal advance, presumably retreating northward.

General Calles was expected at Durango to establish his headquarters before the final drive on Torreon. He hoped to find the Durango-Torreon railway line in better condition than that from Zacatecas.

Rebel leaders at Juarez however, denied the Mexico City claims of victory and declared that the Calles army was actually far south of Durango, at Irapuato, in Junajuato state.

They added that Canitas, previously claimed as well within federal lines, was really held and strongly fortified by Rebel General Urbalejo at the head of 12,000 men.

Rebel headquarters in Northern Sonora announced receipt of a telegram from General Iturbe, commanding the rebel advance against the important seaport of Mazatlan, stating that federal troops had revolted south of Mazatlan and were cooperating with him. Iturbe was said to be only 69 miles north of Mazatlan, which he expected to reach within five days. He had 4,000 troops against 2,000 federals.

Meanwhile the rebels are standing fast in Torreon. General Escobar, rebel commander in chief, told the Associated Press that he had no intention of evacuating the city. He said recent rebel troop movements near Torreon were only for maneuvering purposes.

SHE THOUGHT HER CASE HOPELESS

Yet ALL-BRAN Brought Relief Almost Immediately —No Trouble Since

When constipation once gets a grip on a person, it is almost impossible to relieve it, let alone prevent it with drugs and treatments. But here's a lady who was freed from her suffering—read her letter.

"Mine was an extreme case of constipation and although I had tried about everything that was recommended to me, I had almost given up hopes of ever being relieved.

"One day I came across your advertisement, so I thought I would try ALL-BRAN. It relieved me almost immediately and I have had no trouble since, which was almost three months ago."—Mrs. E. E. Leslie, 2164 Lyman St., Flint, Michigan.

Your system must have roughage or bulk daily, otherwise constipation is almost inevitable. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN will supply this bulk. It is a healthful cereal to eat every day. To use in cooked dishes or serve with milk or cream. To mix with other cereals.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation and to prevent it. Far better than pills and laxatives whose doses often have to be increased to be effective. Two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal. It is 100% bran and is 100% effective. Doctors recommend it. Your grocer sells it. Served by hotels, restaurants, dining-cars. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

STEEL CASING TALK IS HEARD

Illustrated Lecture Given For Oil Men

Approximately 50 oil men and oil well supply dealers assembled at the Kemp hotel Friday night at 8 o'clock to hear a lecture on the steel manufacturing industry and seamless well casing given by A. E. Crockett of Pittsburgh, Pa., and illustrated with six reels of moving pictures.

Mr. Crockett discussed the value of high class equipment and materials in oil drilling activities as comprising the highest degree of insurance against trouble and delays.

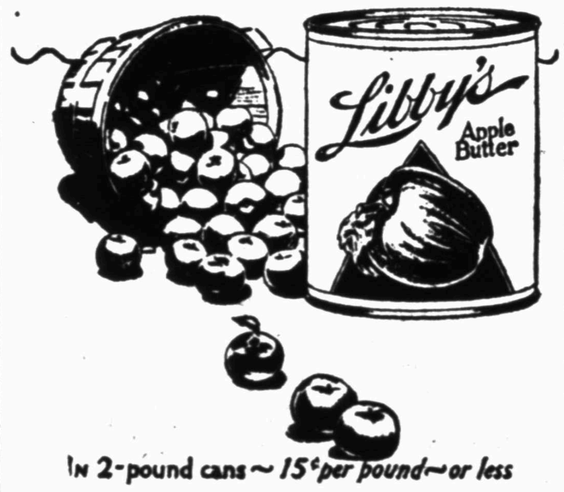

The moving pictures depicted the various phases of the steel manufacturing industry, from the removal of the component ores from the mines to the delivery of finished products made of the different grades of steel. The latter part of the showing was devoted to the particular type of well casing on which Mr. Crockett had spoken, and was designed to demonstrate its serviceability.

Mr. Crockett appeared in Wichita Falls under the auspices of the Frick-Reid Supply company. He is a representative of the Jones and Laughlin Steel corporation of Pittsburgh, Pa.

It's here—a fresh supply!

Wonders of World Offered In Advertisements

NEW YORK, March 15. (UP)—They may be just sighting the first Robin in Winsted, Conn., but spring has long since arrived in the open air show business and unless all signs fail this summer is going to be a wow.

Scarcely ever, according to the classified advertisements in "The Billboard," magazine, was there ever so much first class material scattered around just waiting to be exhibited. Those planning to hit the trail with their own sure-fire, quick-clean-up, they-fight-to-get-in concessions are already getting wise to themselves and making their bookings.

Giant Devil Fish

Do you need a fine, live freak Jersey calf? Write to Finn Drummond, Capeo, Mich. He has one he will part with, details on request. Or a giant devil fish with 10-foot tentacles, perfectly pickled? Bert Walton of Seattle will ship it for $30 and throw in a scientific lecture.

A fellow in St. Louis has some racing turtles and B. J. Flint, up in North Waterford, Maine, can always be depended upon for porcupines at a moment's notice. It is Mr. Flint's boast that no one ever caught him without porcupines in stock, and to those in the porcupine exhibition game this is one of the most comforting thoughts imaginable.

Mr. Flint of Maine has a strong competitor in the animal-act game residing in Laredo, Texas. It is the boast of this concern that none has ever called upon them to produce a wild boar, a snookum bear or a bob-cat and had them fail to come clean. Nor has any customer had to wait while they caught a fresh supply of rock pythons, boas, Texas rattlers, beautiful green southern Mexico rattlers or brown and blue bull snakes. Lovely dens of assorted snakes can be obtained for 50 cents per pound and horned toads are dirt cheap—$6 a dozen for little dandies.

Some Would Buy

But not all the boys in the tent show business are trying to sell things. The season is coming on apace, and some of them want to buy, and that with no delay.

Nichols Enterprises of Stryker, Ohio, want a partner with a tent outfit for Mason brothers' "Tom" and "Ten Nights in a Barroom" shows. They have the dogs already and will go dollar for dollar with the right man. Dr. Mundell of Chicago needs hypnotic subjects for a long tour. Dick Whitaker of Walton, New York, cannot really get going until he obtains a second hand devil's bowling alley in good condition.

A lot of the artists, it so happens, are still at liberty according to the ads, and a prepaid wire may still not be too late to obtain the services of a tattooed man, talking pony, balloon ascenscionist, or any number of e-flat clarinet players who can double on the Sousaphone. The latter, with great frankness, advertise themselves as "vitaphone victims."

Senate War Horses, Without Reed, Will Fight World Court Entrance

WASHINGTON, March 15. (INS)—The old senate irreconcilable groups, minus the inspired leadership of James A. Reed, of Missouri, will fight any modification of the American terms of adherence to the world court.

The irreconcilables today served notice of war against the terms proposed by Elihu Root, at the Geneva conference. Root, however, stole a march on the irreconcilables, it was learned, by submitting his plan to the world court leaders before going to Europe. It met with their approval. Then he showed it to Senator William E. Borah, Republican, of Idaho, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, but Borah will not say what occurred at the conference.

"It looks like another war in the senate," said Senator Nye, Republican, of North Dakota, one of the younger irreconcilables. "I feel sure the senate will not agree to any modification of its terms."

Senators Norris, Republican, of Nebraska, an old irreconcilable, who voted for the world court with reservations, said: "I do not believe the senate will agree to any modification of its reservations."

The other side, however, was optimistic. Senators Swanson, Democrat, of Virginia, and Walsh, Democrat, of Montana, who led the League of Nations fight and supported the Coolidge administration in the world court fight, predicted the senate would approve the new Root terms.

College Head 'Rescues' 2,000 Male Students From School's 50 Co-Eds

DETROIT, Mich., March 15. (AP)—The campus of the University of Detroit was stirred today by an announcement by the president, the Rev. Dr. John P. McNichols, that the 50 co-eds enrolled in the university would be expelled if they were detected couversing with any of the 2,000 male students on the university grounds.

The ban on conversation was defended vigorously by John S. Malley, associate editor of the Varsity News, student paper. Malley's statement said:

"The president's dictum is the greatest thing to come to U. of D. in years. The co-eds waylay and harass the male students. They destroy the studious and scholarly atmosphere of the college with their blandishments. . . . It is the greatest single step forward in the history of education."

A co-ed reply was: "One reason Malley hates girls is because he can't dance."

American 'Expert' on Revolts Says Over-Supply of Generals Bad Thing

LOS ANGELES, March 15. (UP)—Too many generals spoil a revolution and for that reason the present Mexican uprising is doomed to failure, S. G. Larkin, self-styled soldier of fortune contends.

"Every man with three followers is a general and every general wants to be a president," he grinned.

Larkin, the "man who knows all about revolts," says he was an officer in a 22-man American army that captured Lower California, Mexico, and didn't know what to do with it.

He said that in 1910 the "army" led by Stanley Williams, seized Mexicali and Tia Juana and offered Lower California to the United States, which declined with thanks.

The girl-friend says tomorrow is St. Patrick's day so she's thinking about the wearing of the green (hat) to church.

Oh, These Women

By LEOLA ALLARD

NEW YORK, March 15. (US)—A widow 47, at Jersey City, took a husband the other day—a boy of 17.

The lady had reached the age of disparity. The boy, if he had been a lucky boy, would have been spanked and put to bed in the garret. It might have been a bit humiliating, but nothing compared to this.

Two women killed their husbands last week and got three months in jail. It's beginning to look like the twilight of husbands.

A man of 60 in Chicago married a girl 24, and she taught him to drink, so he says (Adam started that). Then she sued him for it, asking for a divorce.

You see he had a drug store and he says it was his very own drug store gin with which she tempted him.

He gave it to her to tempt him with.

Isn't life gay?

British sales ladies never chew gum, says an English correspondent.

There's an idea for an up and up salesman!

Queen Mary of England went shopping in a five and ten cent store, and what a sensation that was!

She was buying things to give to a charity bazaar. In England, not Scotland.

A California woman wants to leave her husband flat. He pawned her wedding ring so he must be pretty flat already. But what made her decide was that he got only $2. The ring wasn't all gold.

It hurts a woman to find out that her marriage isn't right, but it hurts her terribly to find that her jewelry is plated. It's a veritable hay rack full of last straws.

Margot Asquith, for a fee of $26, directs folks in matters of taste regarding furniture, colors and art decorations. She could get much more if she would tell other women how she stays so thin. Then they could moderate the dosage.

A New York family has a cook who has worked for different members of the same family for 38 years. For the mother first, then for the daughter, now for the son.

In Omaha there is a woman who has had a servant 30 years and Chicago boasts one that has been contented working as a domestic in one home 25 years.

The New York one with the 38-year record doesn't have a day off, though she could have if she asked for it.

Read that and weep!

Tenting Proposal Is Taken Seriously

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 15. (AP)—Members of the Oklahoma legislature soon may be harmonizing on "We Are Tenting Tonight."

V. G. Houston, Logan county representative, suggested jokingly yesterday that the solons held here by the impeachment session of the legislature sleep in tents of the national guard when their $6 a day dwindles into $2 a day at the expiration of the 60-day legislative period early next week.

Carrying out the joke, a committee called upon Charles F. Barrett, adjutant general, who informed the legislators that not only would the guard supply tents and cots, but could provide meals at 50 cents a day.

Today the idea didn't look so obtuse to a number of the legislators who are men of limited means. Houston said some members may accept the guard's offer.

Mothers-in-Law Have Painful Duty Of Remonstrating With Lax Wives

When It Is a Mother-in-Law's Duty to Interfere. How Can a Mother Win Her Son's Confidence? The Fiance Who Refuses to Keep Regular Dates.

Dear Miss Dix—My son is a fine, intelligent man of refined tastes and habits. He is successful in business and provides a nice home with all the modern luxuries and comforts for his wife. She is a good woman, but she has no regard for the niceties of life. Although she is young she is permitting herself to get fat and sloppy looking. She goes about the house in slovenly clothes and doesn't even bother to dress up much when she goes out. Her house is always untidy and when my son comes home in the evening he finds any kind of an ill-prepared, scraped up meal that is as often as not served from the kitchen stove to his plate.

The inevitable result is happening. My son is disgusted with his wife and ceasing to care for her. He is getting to stay away from home as much as he can, and I hear is falling in love with a neighbor woman who is trim and tidy and snappy, and a good cook and housekeeper, everything his wife is not. I tremble for my son's happiness and the stability of his home. What can I do?

ANXIOUS MOTHER.

Answer—Your son's wife needs a jolt that will jar her wisdom teeth loose, and it seems to me that you are the one who will have to administer it, which is a pity, as mothers-in-law are not so popular that they can afford to be the bearer of unpleasant news.

However, it is not so much being persona grata with your son's wife as saving him and his home that concerns you, and while it may offend your daughter-in-law to be told a few plain and unpalatable truths, the time will come when she will thank you and realize that you have been her best friend. Or else, if she fails to take your advice, she will spend many bitter hours reflecting what a fool she was not to heed your warning.

Tell her that if there ever was a time when all that a woman needed to hold her husband was a framed marriage certificate hanging over the bureau, those halcyon days belong to the pre-historic ages. They don't exist now, and the modern wife, if she holds her husband and keeps out of the divorce court, has to be up and doing, and on her job every minute.

Maybe our grandmothers could sit down and flop after they had caught their man and safely landed him. Maybe grandpa never noticed what grandma had on, or whether she was clean or untidy. Maybe he never observed whether she combed her hair, or wore it frowsy, or whether she powdered her nose and put on her complexion or not.

Maybe grandpa wasn't interested in grandma's conversation and so he never found out whether she was a Dumb Dora who never read anything but the births and deaths and society notes in the newspapers, or whether she carried a peppy line of conversation.

Maybe grandpa didn't care whether the house was orderly, or looked as if a cyclone had just passed through it. Maybe grandpa wasn't finicky about his eating and didn't care how his food was served.

Also, and that's not maybe, times have changed and the points of view of men and women have altered, and men expect a lot more of their wives than they used to. They demand more of marriage. They won't stand for the things that their grandparents did.

Certainly no modern woman can call it a day, and knock off work when she gets married. As a matter of fact, her labors just begin, because it is a million times more difficult to keep a husband interested and satisfied, and in an admiring attitude, than it was a sweetheart. Any woman can look good to a man who only sees her when she is all dolled up. Any woman can keep a man fascinated for two or three hours a week, but it is some job when it has to be done all day, and every day.

The point is, it has to be done. Every man nowadays goes from his wife to work with women who are neatly dressed; who are alert mentally; who have learned to control their tempers and tongues; who are efficient, and who are cheerful about what they have to do, not whiners, and if the wife holds her own she has to offer good competition. She also has to be easy on the eyes, and pleasant to get along with, and turn out a workman-like job of her housekeeping.

The lazy, slouchy, naggy wife, who is too indolent to keep herself clean, or give her husband good food, or to try to entertain and amuse him, is just as sure to go bankrupt now and lose her husband as any business man would be certain to fail who kept a dirty store with a lot of shopworn goods on the shelves, that he was too trifling even to try to sell.

Tell your daughter-in-law that she is about to lose out to a better woman. Maybe that will wake her up and make her get busy.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I am a mother of one son 14 years old and I wonder if you can tell me why he does not tell me that he smokes? I have reason to know that he does smoke and feel hurt that he does not tell me, because I have never been strict with him, and have even talked over the smoking business with him. Nor do I particularly object as long as he does it in moderation. But why doesn't he tell me?

MOTHER.

Answer—Because he is a boy, and boys of that age are always secretive. They get a great kick out of hiding things. That is why they have robber caves, and locked boxes, and secret societies with passwords, and signs, and blood curdling oaths.

Besides, it makes your son feel that he is grown-up, and a real man of the world to be doing something on his own initiative and without even consulting you. Also there is a certain sense of adventure in thinking that he is pulling the wool over your eyes.

Don't worry over all of this. Try to think back to your own adolescence and you will remember how you used to whisper in corners with girls, and giggle over secrets that you never told your mother, and how you had been having dates with boys for months before she ever found it out.

Don't try to force your boy's confidence. You will only shut him up as tight as a clam. There is nothing the young resent so much as their parents prying into all their little affairs. It outrages their sense of privacy. Anyway, a confidence to be worth anything has to be spontaneous. When your boy wants to talk things over with you he will listen to your counsel, but you can't force your counsel upon him.

My advice to you is to meet this situation with humor. Don't ask Johnny if he smokes. Don't reproach him with doing it. But get a box of cigarettes, and casually offer him one. That, and the twinkle in your eye, will let him see that you are wise and he will think you are a darn good sport that a fellow can tell things to.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I have been engaged to a man for three years who has come to see me every Saturday and Sunday and one or two nights during the week. Lately he has been going off somewhere for his week-ends and says that it bores him to have to keep regular dates. Don't you think I have a right to expect this of him?

PERPLEXED.

Answer—You have the right, but to what end? Evidently he has wearied of the engagement and wants to break it off. Better beat him to it, and refuse to let him come at all. That might stimulate his interest in you and make him regard his dates with you as privileges instead of obligations that he tries to shirk.

Active People want and need sugar
The "Fuel of Preference" in the body

AN EMINENT food authority recently stated that any person who has a very active body is likely to be always on the edge of the sugar reserve in his body (glycogen). "That is why," he said, "the soldier and athlete wants and needs sugar. That is why the active child wants and needs sugar." He went on to explain that sugar is the fuel of preference in the body, that sugar can be more easily and quickly converted into energy than any other food. He emphasized the fact that sugar should form a part of the regular diet of every family and that any reducing diet, as well as any other diet, should contain sugar.
The best way for sugar to be eaten is as a flavorer of other foods. In that way, it serves the double purpose of furnishing energy to the body and also of adding appetizing delight to other healthful foods. Sugar added to healthful grain cereals makes them welcome and enjoyable to growing children. Think of how many health-giving fruits are objectionable to the taste without sugar. Scientists tell us that we need the daily roughage of salads as well as cooked fruits and vegetables. Any good cook knows that adding sugar makes all of these welcome and pleasant to the palate. In addition to being the best and cheapest fuel for the body, sugar is nature's perfect flavor. It makes nearly all other foods more enjoyable. For health and enjoyment, there is no substitute for sugar. The Sugar Institute.

180 ON ROLLS OF JUNIOR C.-C.

New Organization Formed At Meeting

French. Appointment of this committee by Charles W. Nolen, general chairman of the membership campaign, was authorized by vote of those present Friday night. Officers of the junior division for the ensuing year will be chosen by the board of directors.

Coordination between the senior and junior commercial bodies was provided for when the meeting Friday night voted that Orville Bullington, president of the chamber of commerce, shall appoint two members of the board of directors of that organization to meet regularly with the directorate of the junior division. It was also provided that the president of the junior body shall, upon election, automatically become a qualified member of the senior board of directors, and will sit in their regular sessions.

Program of Work

The program of work for the new organization, according to action taken Friday night, will be formulated along the same lines used by the senior chamber of commerce program of work committee. Each member of the division will be given a questionnaire, which he will be asked to return with suggestions for the organization's objectives. These suggestions will be cleared through the junior board of directors, and will form the basis of the program of activities which will be adopted.

Charles W. Nolen presided at the banquet Friday night, and in his introduction of the first speaker, Harry Hines, referred to him as "The father of the junior division of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce."

Mr. Hines welcomed the new members of the chamber of commerce on behalf of the officers, directors and old members of that organization. He praised the young business and professional men of this city who, he said, displayed the aggressive interest in constructive community-building which has brought about a new opportunity for the younger citizenship to lend its vitalizing force to the task.

Real Work Urged

"You young men occupy positions of trust and responsibility in your professional and business capacities. We should therefore expect of you a similar trust and responsibility in the affairs of the city, the state and the nation," said Mr. Hines. "Faith may have started Wichita Falls, but its ultimate state rests largely in the desire and ability of the young men in your organization."

Urging upon the junior division members a program of actual work rather than nominal support only, Mr. Hines declared that the body might well adopt as its motto, "Learning by Serving."

Lamar Fain and J. L. Jackson Jr., who served with Mr. Hines on the committee from the board of directors of the chamber of commerce which began the work of formulating plans for the junior body, spoke briefly in appreciation of the response which the movement has received.

Hubert M. Harrison was called upon for an outline of suggested organization plans, and in a brief address emphasized the unusual interest among the younger citizenship in civic affairs, which he said made possible the enrollment of so large a membership during the first week of the campaign.

"I have been engaged in community-building work for more than 10 years," Mr. Harrison said, "but it gave me the greatest thrill in my experience to see 180 young men interested enough to ask for the privilege of having an active part in building the future of this city."

Captains Respond

Responses were given by Dr. Bailey R. Collins, H. D. Mason, C. E. Deaton, J. V. Allred, Jerry Vinson, Alvah Conner, F. L. Randel, R. K. French and H. B. Dudley, who are captains of the membership teams appointed last week and who have obtained an average of 30 memberships daily since beginning their work last Saturday. Reports given at the banquet showed a total of 177 memberships, but three more were added during the meeting, it was said.

Brief talks also were made by Ralph Pittman, Sam Spence, Darrell Kahn, Bill Swint, Dick Kenley and William Penix. Invocation was pronounced by Rev. Patrick D. Moreland, pastor of the Grant Street Methodist church.

Veteran Soldier Who Fought Through Five Wars Dies in Mexico City Home

MEXICO CITY, March 15. (US)—Gen. Charles Horace Montgomerie Agramonte, the "grand old man" of Mexico City's American colony, veteran of five wars and known as "the indestructible youngster," was found dead in bed early today. He was 98.

General Agramonte was a soldier in the Crimean war, and as such witnessed the famous "charge of the light brigade" in the cavalry movement at Balaclava.

He later participated in the Indian mutiny, the Maori insurrection in New Zealand, the American civil war and the Spanish-American war. He attempted to enlist with the American army in the world war by posing as his own son.

General Agramonte contracted a fondness for flying while chief captive balloon observer during the civil war with the army of the Potomac, and never overlooked a chance to spin through the air.

At the close of the civil war, he held the rank of major in the U. S. army, and shortly afterward came to Mexico where the title of general, which attached itself to him, he was never able to shed.

Among his other army exploits, Agramonte numbered his participation with the Illinois militia at the time of the Chicago riots.

His father was an American, his mother a Cuban of Spanish lineage. He was married three times, and among the five children surviving are twin sons, 75 years old. One is now in London, the other in Paris.

BOOK REPAIR PLAN URGED

Moody and Marrs Issue Statement on Question

AUSTIN, March 15. (AP)—Stating that the board of education and textbook commission have favored the plan of rebinding and reconditioning used textbooks that the pupils might get the greatest benefit possible out of money expended for books, Governor Moody, as chairman, and S. M. N. Marrs, superintendent of public instruction and secretary of the textbook board, today issued a joint statement bearing on the majority and minority reports of the senate committee investigating text awards.

Taking the American Book company to task, the governor and superintendent said, "We believe that if we can divorce it from the school funds of Texas we will have rendered a substantial service to the taxpayers that furnish the funds for education of our children."

Rebinding Opposed

The proposal of rebinding and reconditioning books met with "strenuous opposition" of representatives of the company, "who did not want us to adopt the economy of reconditioning textbooks but wanted to replace used books with the new ones at the high prices they had formerly put over on the school fund of Texas," the statement said.

"Books are being rebound and reconditioned successfully and this year, according to the estimate of the department of education, this rebinding will save the school fund of Texas approximately $250,000," they said.

Two Reports

The senate committee, appointed to inquire into the legality of certain textbook awards, filed two reports. One, subscribed to by two members, was to the effect that contracts should not be made on certain awards, because of the belief such contracts would be illegal. This report also criticized other awards as tending to extravagance. The report filed by the third member was that contracts made on these awards would be legal. The report of the two members later was withdrawn and amended to eliminate criticism of the economy of the awards.

Governor Moody and Superintendent Marrs pointed out that no contracts have been signed, and that only awards have been made.

The statement said the "actual facts as to what textbooks have cost the state are the best test for economy."

BOOK ATTORNEY CLAIMS MISSTATEMENTS

DALLAS, March 15. (AP)—Q. U. Watson, of Garrison & Watson, attorneys for the American Book company, today wired that he had sent from Houston to Governor Moody a statement which follows in part:

"Statement issued to press today by you and Marrs on textbook adoptions contains many misstateemnts which fact upon slightest investigation could have been ascertained." The telegram went on to charge that "by changes made in textbooks" the "educational fund of the school children of Texas" has been dissipated "for years past."

RUM SKIPPERS TELL OF FLEET

Runners Had 'Dope' On Coast Guard's Plans

District Attorney Watts declared, after return of the indictments and issuance of bench warrants.

It had been operating since 1925, he said, and furnished a large supply of this country's illicit booze. The gang maintained buyers and agents in European centers, brought its liquor to rum row in its own bottoms, transferred it to its own lighters and power boats and landed it on water front properties it leased along the Hudson river and on Long Island.

It had its own trucks and convoying automobiles. Five sedans and two trucks were seized. One of the sedans was equipped with a powerful radio set, so that the master minds could retain contact with their high seas fleet even while running liquor inland.

Every detail of organization seemed perfect—but there was one little slip. One of the men arrested and also on of those indicted, is Peter Blohm, alias Peter Arthur.

Last December Blohm, a powerfully built man, swam three miles through turbulent, storm-whipped water to Long Beach and laconically announced to the coast guard that his ship had sunk with three companions aboard. Wreckage later floated in, with the bodies. One of the drowned men was named Cabinanoff. He left a widow. She sought financial assistance from Rudolph Wyik, named as the guiding genius of the organization in the indictment.

Evidently it was refused, for the information that sent police on the scent was furnished by Mrs. Cabinanof.

LUBBOCK, Texas, March 15. (AP)—Applications of the Texas and New Mexico and Santa Fe for permission to extend their lines into Lea county, New Mexico, will be heard here by an Interstate Commerce commission examiner on April 1, it was learned today.

The Texas and New Mexico extension would be from Monahans, Texas, to Lovington, N. M., while that of the Santa Fe is proposed from Seagraves, Texas to Lovington.

Lubbock is backing the Santa Fe's application because Lea county always has been trade territory for this city.

HIGHWAY HEAD DEFENDS WORK

Johnston Trial Marked By Road Testimony

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 15. (AP)—Charles D. Carter, highway commissioner, whose department has been under fire with Henry S. Johnston, suspended governor, testified before the court of impeachment today that he had adopted a policy by which highway construction had been made to cost less than in the preceding administration.

Carter's testimony, concluding a day devoted almost entirely to the highway department, related that the commissioner had managed to keep asphalt and concrete road builders in sharp competition with a consequent lowering of prices.

Clark Mandigo, highway engineer, had testified in defense of the Johnston administration. Mandigo had defended the extensive use of asphalt construction, which he considered superior to Bates type concrete, declaring roads topped with rock asphalt to be more durable and cheaper in the long run than concrete.

Both Mandigo and Carter denied that the governor's office had exerted any influence upon the highway department conductive to a preference for asphalt roads.

CRIMM FLAYS CHURCH SHAM

Christian Needs Plenty Of Backbone

It's a big job to be a Christian and unless you have a backbone as big as a post you just as well drink your bottle of home brew and go on to hell, B. B. Crimm, cowboy evangelist, declared Friday night when he preached to a near-capacity crowd in the tabernacle at Twenty-second street and Yale avenue.

Preaching on the subject of "Soul's Conflict With the Devil," the evangelist said he dared any man in Wichita Falls to hear him preach five nights and not hear God say "Give me your heart."

"I will either make a Christian out of you or prove that you are a doggone coward," he shouted.

"No man hates sham worse than I do," Crimm declared. "I have more respect for a bootlegger than I do for the church member who patronizes him. I hate a hyprocrite worse than I do hell.

"If I owned hell and one of those old reprobates or hyprocrites came there I would throw him out the back window, give him a shuck and a match and tell him to start a hell of his own."

There is only one thing in the world that can take a bad man and make a good man out of him and that is religion—a personal faith in a personal Christ, Crimm said.

Dr. S. S. McKenney, pastor of the First Methodist church, led the congregation in prayer.

Harlan Powell, song leader for the revival, announced that 90 young people attended the first inspirational hour service held Friday evening preceding the revival service.

Mr. Crimm will preach Saturday night on "Our Relationship With the Kingdom of Christ."

Over a Billion Deadly Germs in a Single Drop of Water

Germs are so small that there may be as many as one billion, seven hundred million of them in a drop of water. And just a few of these tiny germs, if they get into your blood through a cut in your skin, may make you so sick you will be in bed for weeks—may cause the loss of a limb through blood poisoning—may even infect you with that most dreadful and fatal of diseases, lockjaw.

Just because you can see no dirt in a cut does not mean that it is clean. You cannot see germs. The only safe and sane thing to do, is to thoroughly wash every cut, no matter how small, with Liquid Borosone, to kill the germs, and then dust it with Borosone Powder, to hasten the healing. Liquid Borosone costs 30 cents, 60 cents, $1.20 and $3.50; Borosone Powder, 30 cents and 60 cents and can be had at Miller Drug Store.

OTHER BULL MARKETS

Daily Editorial

WALL STREET continues to break old records and make new ones. But all its dance tunes are familiar music.

There's nothing original in any get-rich-quick trots. Or in human nature.

This isn't the first time that niggardly bond yields drove investment from conservative trends and fostered a gambling craze.

Thousands of individuals and concerns reason, that a fifty-fifty break of market luck will net a higher return than the 4 to 5 per cent proceeds from federal and corporation issues.

Savings are always inclined to take a risk when consols and and debentures won't pay decent wages.

History is simply repeating causes and effects in the present situation.

During 1835, the "Old Lady of Threadneedle Street" also grew stingy with her note holders and sent English bank deposits into Mexican and South American joint-promotions.

British cash deserted safe channels and swamped exchanges. Nobles, nabobs and newsboys, maddened by the chink of rainbow gold, kept quotations sky-hooting and turned brokerage houses into lunatic asylums, from which families and fortunes staggered in rags and tatters.

THE INTOXICATION reached perihelion in '44, when the "rate of discount fell to 2½ per cent, and, with government securities offering a correspondingly low profit, the temptation to invest in enterprises promising four, six and eight times as much interest, was too great for incautious capitalists."

As far back as 1692, Shadwell's comedy, "The Stock Jobbers," satirized a like state of affairs, and introduced, for low comedians, a pair of Puritans, who "wonder if it is godly to have shares in a company importing rope-dancers from China."

They finally satisfy pious scruples with the argument that "those whose consciences forbid, need never go to look at the rope-dancers."

The 18th century was born in the throes of a bull movement which lasted 40 years. "South Seas," issued at a hundred par, shot to a thousand. "Africans" whizzed to 200 from an opening 23.

And one blind pool collected ten thousand dollars in guinea deposits within half a day.

Optimism and manipulation steadily "expanded the bubbles, until, suddenly, all rushing together, they collapsed and brought grievous distress upon the kingdom."

We Adamsons run true to type. Something-for-nothing is the favorite hope of the clan.

That apple, which the serpent slipped to everybody's granddaddy, was doubtless guaranteed to produce an orange grove before winter.

The old man swapped Paradise for a world of trouble. And a flock of descendants, now mortgaging their expectations and properties on margin deals, are fast following in his footsteps.

Old Sea Fighter Dies and Day Passes, Too

A MINOR newspaper item, sometimes, gives one a realization of the changes brought by time more forcibly than anything else. Here, for instance, is a paragraph from London, clipped from a New York paper:

"Admiral of the Fleet Sir Edward Hobart Seymour died Monday at the age of 88. He was on the active navy list for well over half a century, his family having supplied naval officers since the days of the Tudors."

The story briefly recounted some of Sir Edward's experiences. He served as a cadet in the Crimean war, fought in the war with China in the late 50's, was wounded in action off the coast of Africa in 1870, commanded the "China station" at the close of the century and commanded the naval forces that were landed to help put down the Boxer uprising.

There isn't any particular reason why the little story about that man should bring such a clear realization of changing times and customs. Yet it does. It brings to mind an order of things that is passing; emphasizes the way in which old codes and standards are giving way to new ones.

Life was simpler when Sir Edward began his career. A man's duty was clearer. One did not question one's country's actions. It was taken for granted that the whole earth belonged to a few rich white nations, and no one doubted that it was quite fitting that these nations should seize as much of it as they needed and fight with each other over disputed portions of it.

The Crimean war—the ancient enemies, England and France, combining to check Russia. The war in China—Britain compelling a weaker nation to permit the opium trade. The fighting on the African coast—a grabbing for territories which were to be taken by force from their native owners. Service on the "China station"—the mailed fist notifying the orient that it had no rights except those that Europe chose to give it.

That is the picture as we see it now. Yet, in Sir Edward's day, there were no doubts about any of it. The rule of might went unquestioned. No one ever suggested that there might be a viewpoint broader than that of selfish nationalism.

We are slowly working our way into something different. England's labor government for a time actually refused to fortify the great naval base at Singapore. When English and American warships hurried to China, ready for action, a couple of years ago, there were plenty of men in both countries to protest, very loudly. The United States cannot even land marines in Nicaragua now without arousing a perfect storm of criticism, at home and abroad—yet, a few decades ago, no one would have dreamed of denying that an "advanced" country had a perfect right to police, rule and generally guide its weaker neighbors.

We are not so uncritical as we were. The rule of force still prevails, but it is not quite so strong. We have reached the point where we can admit that our country—this applies to all nations—can actually engage, at times, in a war that is plainly and simply unrighteous.

Sir Edward's life story, compressed into a few paragraphs, epitomizes an age that is passing.

Leadership

THE ITALIAN GOVERNMENT commission that investigated the loss of the dirigible Italia has reported that the real cause of the tragedy was a panic resulting from the crew's loss of trust in their commander.

Thus, once more, the supreme importance of leadership is emphasized. All men—even the meanest—have in them great capacities for courage, sacrifice, endurance and accomplishment. Yet these capacities go to waste unless there is a man who can draw them out.

When the Italia, her envelope weighted down by an accumulation of ice and snow, began to sink toward the ice of the arctic, nearly everyone on board, ignoring the commander, began to throw out ballast and to shout confused and contradictory orders.

Lightened too fast by this chaotic activity, the airship shot upward again—too rapidly. Quickly the panic-stricken crew realized that this course, too, would mean speedy destruction.

Again came confusion. More frightened than ever, the crew again ignored the commander, rushed to the hydrogen valves and opened them wide. The upward trend was checked. Too much gas was valved out and the ship came down rapidly, to crash on the ice with tragic results.

The Italia's crew, it is safe to say, was no better and no worse than other airship crews. Individually, the men who flew to the north pole with Noblie were as good as could be asked. But—most fatal thing possible in any enterprise—they lacked confidence in their leader. For some reason he was unable to draw from them the obedience, loyalty and trust that Eckener, for instance, got from the men on the Graf Zeppelin when it flew the Atlantic.

So they came to grief. The tragedy was inevitable. When leadership fails there is no remedy whatever.

This, of course, is a truth that should be too well known to need repeating. Yet we forget about it. We do not often realize that what we are is usually determined, in large measure, by our choice of a chief.

All of us—the best and the worst—have two extremes concealed within us. We can be utter cowards and unspeakable villains, or we can be brave heroes and noble altruists. No man living is not capable of going to the limit in either direction.

This, if you look at it right, makes for optimism. Men who are equipped to lead their fellows and bring out the best there is in them, are not too common; yet, after all, they are not so hard to find as might be supposed. They pop up unexpectedly.

Finding the right one to follow is perhaps the most important job that any of us face. Once it is done the rest is fairly simple. We can do great things if we are handled right.

THE OKLAHOMA SITUATION

Nobody who understands the situation at Oklahoma City believes that the impeachment movement was meant for the welfare of the state. It was conceived and has been pursued to serve personal ends. The idea was to find something on Governor Johnston that might justify his removal—not to assay fairly the merits and demerits of his administration and decide from this whether there should be impeachment proceedings. —Frederick (Okla.) Leader.

TOONERVILLE FOLKS By Fontaine Fox

The Day Book of a New Yorker

Broadway Chatter by Grant Dixon

NEW YORK, March 15.—A theater, unique in the amusement world and important in metropolitan society, is about to pass out of existence—and all the smart Park avenue crowd is mourning.

It is the Plaza theater, situated at Fifty-Ninth street and Madison avenue, in the heart of the blue blood belt. A plain little movie house, reminiscent in many ways of the old neighborhood theater, it attracted members of the younger and older sets of New York's exclusive society. There was a chuminess about it and each night you could find people in evening clothes. There was much strolling about, persons back from Palm Beach or Europe hailing old friends out loud.

Another amusing part of the theater's regulations was that members of the audience were allowed to express their reactions to the pictures on display. The management would purposely present old time western pictures, or puerile love plays and the gay young things would enthusiastically shout directions to the screen heroes and heroines. When this theater passes it will take away one place where society could enjoy itself in peace—for the people of Park avenue disdained the great cathedral-like movie palaces in and near Broadway.

New York literary circles are buzzing these days with excitement about the final discovery of the real personality behind the nome de plume "S. S. Van Dine." Author of "classical" mystery stories, including "The Bishop Murder Case," "the Canary Murder Case" and other stories involving the amateur detective, Philo Vance, he long has bee na mystery.

There were many stories about him. People saw in the profundity of the psychological studies portrayed in his books something more than a real mystery story writer. And, indeed, he is more than that. His real name W. H. Wright. He is author of a number of books of psychology and philosophy a student of history and science, a former newspaperman and the owner of a great private library.

His writing of mystery tales at first was intended merely as a hobby, for he already was wealthy. But they have brought him many thousands of dollars in royalties and almost as many enthusiastic readers. He has been as mysterious and elusive a personality as his books—and the discovery of his real identity proved as difficult, even to his closest friends, as the solution of his fictional mysteries.

Another writer in New York, who in an altogether different sense, is "mysterious" is Edwin Arlington Robinson. For a long time this gifted poet suffered his genius in silence. Beyond a few capable critics and a comparatively small number of readers he was not appreciated. His beautiful epic, "Tristram" brought him fame and a little fortune.

But even today the literary circles of New York see him seldom. He has the appearance of a business man and his days and nights are taken up with close friends. Like Theodore Dreiser, he has sluch a mania for exclusiveness that frequently he moves suddenly from one apartment to another.

Dreiser, at one time, was known to have even more than one lodging place; a "public" apartment, where he ostensibly lived and greeted admirers and acquaintances and a private apartment known only to his intimate friends. It saved him from busybodies.

Alexander Woolcott, the former dramatic critic, is another who wanted to "get away from it all" and sought a place outside of the literary and sophisticated limelight. He resigned from the newspaper that engaged him to write dramatic reviews and went away to Europe. But now he is back and his name is appearing once more in weeklies. Firehorses can't keep away from fires and writers can't withstand the lure of print.

Sherwood Anderson, the author, once travelled among the leaders of literature. But he, too, tired of the life and sought some distant, secluded spot, where he might toil away, unnoticed, with his books. He chose the little town of Marion, hidden away in the Virginia Hills. There he has become a part of the community life, edits two weekly newspapers, and the world outside hears of him only when from that little village's postoffice issues forth his latest manuscripts. And he is content there, too.

Two men who stand in the foremost ranks of American scientists met the other night in New York. One was Albert A. Michelson, professor of physics at the University of Chicago, the scientist who sought to measure velocity of light and who paved the way for inevitable deductions from Einstein's theory of relativity. The other was Dr. Robert Andrews Millikan, another professor of physics at California Institute of Technology, who in 1911, first succeeded in isolating an electron.

It is with regret that I report, however, Broadway, if it knew of the presence of these two men, did not go into ecstasies about it. The metropolis has a way of giving uproarious vent to those who swim channels, win golf championships and perform other spectacular feats. But the canyons of Broadway are not always alive with fluttering banners and ticker tape for those who have ventured into the mysteries of space and time.

HEREFORD TO LIGHT AIRPORT

Landing Field Improvements Planned

HEREFORD, Texas, March 15.—Engineers of the Transcontinental Air Transport company were in Hereford Wednesday figuring with officials of the Texas Utilities company on the lighting of the airport for that company located in the northwestern part of the city.

According to local light officials, this contract for lighting the airport for night flying will run into several thousand dollars, and will be one of the best lighted fields in any of the smaller cities of the state. A line will be built from the city to the field, a distance of about two miles, and high-candlepowered bulbs will be placed at even distances around the entire tract. This will be done for night flying, and regulation markers will be placed on the field for day flying.

According to specifications of the air company's officials, the entire route from Wyanoka, Okla., to Clovis, N. M., will be marked with electric lights, a flare being placed every three miles and a beacon light every 15 miles along the route.

PLAINS SEEKS BETTER ROAD

Designation of Plainview-Channing Route Sought

Special to The Record News

HEREFORD, Texas, March 15.—Secretary-Manager Roy Arnold of the Hereford Chamber of Commerce will leave Saturday for Austin, where he will appear before the highway commission in the interest of the Plainview-to-Channing highway for which the counties of Hale, Castro, Deaf Smith, Oldham and Hartley are asking designation.

The road would connect five county seat towns—Plainview, Dimmit, Hereford, Vega and Channing—and would connect the traffic of the South Plains with federal highway 5 at Channing.

According to proponents of the measure, this will be one of the most important highways in the Panhandle of Texas, traversing as it does five of the fastest developing counties on the plains, and going through a section that is being made one of the state's richest agricultural and producing areas.

Petitions from the commissioners courts of the various counties will be presented to the highway body at Austin, and designation sought on the entire route, which is approximately 150 miles in length.

The proposed designation will mean the saving of more than 50 miles between towns on the South Plains and Channing and Dalhart. The bridging of the Canadian river in Oldham county near the site of old Tascosa will be included in the final plans for this highway, and will give direct access to large territories that are now reached by circuitous routes.

'JUST HAVE 'EM SEE ME!' HE DECLARES

"I have been thankful a thousand times that I took Sargon when I did. It is simply wonderful the way it has benefited me," said L. J. Thomason, of 1102½ Houston street, Fort Worth. He is well known in the oil business and the real estate field.

"I was all out of fix from head to foot before I got hold of Sargon. My stomach gave me all sorts of trouble, and after every meal I would feel miserable. I would tire out easily and felt exhausted and nervous. Then I had an attack of 'flu' that left me so weak I knew I needed a tonic to rebuild my strength. I took a lot of medicines but kept on getting worse. Then my good friend, Charlie Haynes, who had taken Sargon, got me started on it, and right from the start I knew I had a real 'honest-to-goodness' medicine. It worked wonderfully and seemed like it was made especially for my case. I thanked Haynes a dozen times for what he did for me by getting me to use Sargon. It worked fine for him, too. I know now I should have gotten some long ago when I read what L. A. Barnes said about it, for I know his word is his bond. My only regret is I didn't have Sargon sooner.

"I feel better than I have in years, and feel it is a duty to tell others how different Sargon is to other medicines. In fact, I sometimes stop friends on the street and tell them all about it. I feel like a man made all over again; am stronger, and can eat like a farm hand and relish every bite. I am never troubled with indigestion now, I don't tire like I used to and can keep on the 'go.'

"I have lived in Fort Worth nearly all my life and most everybody knows me, so you know I am not seeking to get into public print with this testimonial. It is meant to tell other sufferers what this remarkable medicine will do for them. Yes indeed, just have them see me if anybody wants to know what I think of Sargon."

Sargon may be obtained in Wichita Falls from the Renfro Drug Co., Eighth and Scott streets, No. 1 main store, and Seventh and Indiana, No. 2; and in Electra from Lough's Drug store.—Adv.

Bobbers and Barbers Split Hairs Over Rights of Beauty Culturists

CHICAGO, March 14. (UP)—A man would be within his rights in Illinois today if he walked into any beauty parlor, no matter how fastidious, and requested a shave but he probably would find himself outside in short order puzzling over the quirks of law.

As a matter of fact the bobbers and the barbers have begun splitting hairs over technicalities and are divided on the right of a beauty culturist to clip a misplaced look without first displaying her ability to shave a man's lip and leave it intact.

It's No Joke

"This is no joking matter, either," Mrs. Florence E. Harris, chairman of the legislative committee of the Chicago and Illinois Hairdressers' association and chairman of the board of examiners of beauty culture for the state, told the United Press. "We are meeting here to devise some means of repealing the laws as they now stand.

"A recent ruling of the attorney general's office revoked all the barber licenses previously issued to beauty culturists and we are having reports from all over the state that the barbers are causing some trouble.

"Everyone now would have to take the complete barber's examination in order to dress a woman's hair. Technically we would have to be able to shave a man in order to clip a lock or use a scissors in any way in marcelling. It is not sufficient that we qualify only as hair bobbers or cutters."

Law Not Enforced

Mrs. Harris explained that the technical points of the law have not been enforced since the ruling was made. If it were, she said, beauty operators would have to clip an uneven bang while secreted behind a curtain out of the law's sight or approximately 10,000 women would drop their shears and look for typewriters, ribbon counters or other means of livelihood.

"Under an agreement made four years ago," she continued, "we arranged for barbers to do waving in return for the right of women to bob hair if they passed an examination in haircutting. Barbers who had been in the business for three years were exempted.

"The ruling of the attorney general revoking the beauty culturists' licenses, however, abolishes our exemptions and creates a serious situation for those who made large investments in the business.

"We have to even hair or cut it to style when we dress hair. The law doesn't say how many hairs I may cut. I might cut one hair and technically violate the law as it now stands. Otherwise I must send a customer across the street to have her hair cut to a style the barber knows nothing about.

"You wouldn't send your suit to a tent maker to have him cut it for a tailor would you?"

Terracing Increases In Frederick Locality

Special to The Record News

FREDERICK, Okla., March 15.—More terracing has been done in this locality the past few weeks, according to L. H. Beaty, county agent, than any other season since he has been here. Beaty recently conducted a series of six terracing schools in which he taught farmers how to build terraces with a machine which has been used near Chattanooga, Okla.

Beaty says he has questioned property owners as to the value of terracing and finds that terracing has increased crop returns from nothing to $50 an acre a year. The average increase is $5 an acre, he believes.

AIR HOSTELRY COMING TO U. S.

Dornier Explains Plans of Flying Cruiser

MIAMI, Fla., March 15. (US)—Dr. Claude Dornier, famed German aeronautical expert, head of the great Dornier flying boat factories in Germany, Switzerland and Italy employing 2,500 men and perhaps the only living man who knows to the nth degree the capabilities of both lighter and heavier than air craft, told for the first time today details of the world's largest plane which he will launch in Switzerland next May.

The "Dox" is a Gargantuan ship, far larger than anything sane minded optimists have predicted in this country. Imagine an apartment house 150 feet long built to house 80 people and offering refrigeration, a restaurant, a reading room, a promenade walk, individual compartments surpassing in luxury and comfort our most modern pullmans, phone service, maid service—in fact all the comforts that the modern home can offer, all flying 200 miles an hour and you begin to have some conception of another of Jules Verne's predictions that is about to come true.

For the past few years Dr. Dornier has been planning this ship. And he is climaxing it by building not one but three. They will be used to fly mail from Europe to South America and for carrying passengers about Europe.

The "Dox" is a flying boat. It has a 150-foot wing spread, 12 nine-cylinder radial motors developing 6,000 horse power, weighs 50 tons loaded, can cruise 2,700 miles and can land and take off in a heavy sea. It is of the monoplane type.

"It surpasses in size any heavier than air craft ever built," said Dr. Dornier. "The individual compartments are as roomy and even more luxurious than those found on the first class European railways. You do not have to duck your head when you walk down the aisles. You can retire and sleep with all the comfort of your bed at home. A feature of the 'Dox' is that it is as quiet as any large plane yet built.

"We have a complete refrigeration plant and the cook's galley has all the modern conveniences of a European hostelry. The immensity of the plane makes it more stable and smoother riding than the smaller ships. Air pockets, variable winds and other meteorological disturbances found in the usual flying weather will not affect the stability of this craft. It has an enormous gliding factor. Four of the 12 motors can fail and we can still fly.

Lindy's Name Signed on Girl's 'Friendship Pillow' in Borger

Special to The Record News.

BORGER, Texas, March 15.—There reposes in a trunk in a Borger home a pillow which bears the signature of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, "ace" of American aviators.

The pillow is the property of the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Greene, who are now residing in Lincoln, Neb. She formerly had the pillow but left it with her parents when they came to Borger.

"We used to live in Lincoln, Neb.," Mr. Greene said in discussing the pillow. "My daughter was a student at the University of Nebraska. Lindbergh was a student in the Ray Page Aviation school then.

"One of the other student aviators was a friend of my daughter and he used to come out to our house often. He would bring Lindbergh with him once in a while.

"My daughter had a pillow on which she used to have her friends write their name in ink. One night when Lindbergh and Mr. Hartley, his friend, were there, she asked him to sign his name and he did.

"After Colonel Lindbergh made his famous trip across the Atlantic, I looked on the pillow to see if his name was there. Sure enough, it was."

The two bandits described as a Hawaiian and a Portugese abandoned their bandit car in Kapiolani park and escaped in the shrubbery as pursuers closed in. Their early capture is predicted.

Rookie pitchers will oppose the St. Paul Saints of the American association today in the Spudders' first exhibition game of the season. Skipper Jim Galloway last night indicated that Fred Stiely, the stocky lefthander from the New York-Pennsylvania league, and Bill Schroeder, the tall righthander, will be his mound choices today.

The foreman has eight other chuckers on the Spudder list ready to toil a few innings should the first two starters prove unable to hold the Saints to a respectable score. Harold Wiltse, the southpaw from the St. Louis Browns and Cy Smith, big righthander from the Piedmont league, probably will pitch in tomorrow's game.

Both contests at Athletic park start at 3 o'clock.

The same lineup that has been playing for the regulars against the yannigans in practice affairs for several days will start today. George Spiers gets the call for the shortstop assignment and the lead-off place in the batting order, but both Rabbit Benton and Debs Garms probably will see service in one of the combats.

Others to Get Chance

Pete Turgeon of course will be at second base. The starry keystoner, however, is limping a trifle with sore insteps and it is likely that he will give way to Bear Allday in one of the games.

Howard Fitzgerald in center and Red Bennett in right field are next in the batting order, followed by Silent Swede Swenson, the third baseman. Cameron Best will get the call over Garland Orr, at least to start today, in right field. Dallas Clements will be at first base.

Jack Crouch will be behind the bat and C. C. Lawrence also probably will see some service today wearing the windpad.

Several other tossers will be used today or tomorrow, Galloway intimated last night.

Saints Popular Here

The St. Paul club, managed by Bubbles Hargrave, the former star Cincinnati Red catcher, is made up of its usual colorful and stellar squad of class AA talent. Wally Roettger, first baseman, the big hard-hitting chap; Big Rogell, the former Boston Red Sox infielder, third base; Bruno Haas, the fence-busting outfielder; Pee Wee Wanninger, the flashy stortstop; Tesmer, the highly-touted young catcher, and Hopkins, Polli and Harriss, pitchers, are among the Saints well known to fandom here from previous visits or from their big league records.

The Spudders took extensive batting and fielding drill yesterday and looked fit for their first exhibition contest of the spring training season. Three sets of infielders worked out in the afternoon, the first of which was composed of Clements, Benton, Spiers and Swenson. Bean, Allday, Best and Wright comprised the second quartet and Cox, Buddy Lewis, Norek, Shairen and Gordon worked in the third.

Garms Looks Good

Debs Garms flashed some particularly scintillating work at shortstop. Except for a tendency to overplay the ball, the former Abilene Ace looks like a great infielder. That tendency to overplay the ball is caused by over-anxiousness and is a fault that many young infielders have and can be easily eradicated. He looks more like a great prospect every day.

Pete Lapan, veteran catcher, left yesterday for California upon receipt of word of the serious illness of his wife. Until his return, Crouch is expected to carry the brunt of the receiving burden.

Tickets for the games today and tomorrow are on sale at Renfro's No. 1 drug store and Miller's drug store.

The St. Paul club arrived last night at midnight and is stopping at the Holt hotel.

JACK LOBBIES FOR RING BILL

Dempsey Aids Friend Fitzsimmons in Michigan

LANSING, Mich., March 15.(UP)—A friendship which started in his "ham and egg" days, tonight brought Jack Dempsey here to help his pal, Floyd Fitzsimmons, obtain legal sanction for 15-round championship boxing matches in Michigan.

Should the bill providing for 15-rounders be passed by the legislature, it would not be surprising to see Jack and Fitz head a promotion syndicate in Detroit.

While Jack did not deny this, he said his future plans are still undecided and that his primary object in coming here was to do what he could for Fitz in the battle to pass the bill.

Two Bouts Feature Boxing Wednesday

Promoter Alex Ross offers a double windup Wednesday night as the features of his boxing show at the Palace theater. Cyclone Hall and Speedy Sparks will meet in a return go in the final and Howard Scott will take on Joe Hooks of Tulsa in the first 10-rounder.

Training Camp Chatter

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 15. (AP)—In a free-hitting game, enlivened by a players' fist fight, the Philadelphia Americans today defeated the Philadelphia Nationals, 13 to 14.

Susce, batting for Milligan of the Nationals in the fifth, charged at Rommel after the first pitch came close to his head. Players separated the two before blows were struck. Susce was sent in to catch, and in the eighth Miller and Susce exchanged blows, after Miller had been declared out at the plate. Umpire Adams, aided by police, escorted Susce off the field. Score:

CARDS BEAT SOLONS

AVON PARK, Fla., March 15. (AP)—A ninth-inning batting rally enabled the St. Louis Cardinals to square things with the Washington Senators by taking today's exhibition game, 7 to 6. It was a free-hitting game, in which the Cards used two regular moundsmen but a rookied infield.

HARRIS EYES ROOKIES

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 15. (UP) Manager Bucky Harris kept an attentive eye on three of his most promising rookies during their workouts here today and predicted bright possibilities for them. The trio, Roy Johnson, former San Francisco outfielder; Dale Alexander, Toronto first sacker and Arthur Ruble, Seattle left fielder, appear to be the most promising of the junior aggregation.

Both regulars and rookies were urged to apply a trifle more pep in today's drills and both squads pronounced themselves primed for tomorrow's fourth intra-squad exhibition game.

A Spring Warning

"I'm not at home to any one else,
If any one else should call."

Who is it wants me on the phone?
Some one selling bonds?
Some purveyor of real estate
With meadows and trees and ponds?
Just let me know when the caller says
There's a four-ball match—that's all—
But I'm not at home to any one else,
If any one else should call.

Somebody wants to speak to me?
What has he got to say?
Quite an important deal is on—
When can I get away?
Just let me know when some one wants
A fourth to wallop the ball—
But I'm not at home to any one else,
If any one else should call.

Another Side

There is a feeling in some quarters that all professional sport is merely a matter of enriching certain owners, promoters and players at the expense of the public.

They forget the other side of the argument. Take, for example, the approaching baseball season. A number of owners will make a lot of money. A number of professional ball players will collect a good living. But this isn't the most important feature of the game. The main feature is the fact that in various leagues through various pennant races something like twelve or fifteen million people will absorb a lot of enjoyment, excitement and relaxation out of looking at baseball. Not every one has the time or the money to take a day off to play golf. Most professional sports are a healthy diversion. If they did not provide entertainment for a lot of people they wouldn't last.

"A nation's wealth," according to Adam Smith, "is measured by its happiness." When several millions of citizens can pick up some fun out of an enterprise that certainly can't be considered harmful in any way, that enterprise has its place in the general scheme of things.

Professionalism and Amateurism

The professional has his place in sport, just as the amateur has. He is a for, of entertainment and public interest, and life without entertainment, wouldn't be much to cheer about.

The professional may be on a higher plane than the amateur—if the amateur is violating the ethics of amateurism. A 100 per cent professional has it all over a 50 per cent amateur—ethically. Any enterprise that provides a non-harmful amusement is something to be encouraged in this somewhat sordid grapple with fate and existence. Amusement and entertainment for the masses are just as important as banking or the law. It may be better to play than to watch others play—but examples in excellence are needed and there is quite enough room for both. Without variety there is bound to be monotony. Most of those who play some game in this country, or any other country, are amateurs playing for the fun of the game, having no exceptional skill to capitalize, even if they wanted to. Which many of them would like to have. There are several millions who would like to be good enough to be professionals. Sport was largely intended for physical development and training, for mental recreation and clean amusement. As long as it follows these lines the rest of it is unimportant.

The trouble with most reformers is that anything which pleases a number of people is bound to be wrong. But it so happens that in the big majority of cases, anything that pleases a lot of people is almost sure to be right. Any one who plays the game in the spirit of the rules is a sportsman—professional or amateur.

Only recently I read an editorial decrying the fact that professional golf was being commercialized. Why shouldn't it be? Isn't professional writing, professional acting, professional banking, professional teaching or professional singing commercialized?

The professional in sport hasn't done any too well by himself. His period of activity is too brief. One might look up the material prosperity of most professional athletes who have reached the age of 50. I can name more former stars from one game or another, now competely destitute, than you might have dreamed was possible.

There was a time when sport meant mere recreation. Now it is a big part of the national life, professional and amateur, and must be so considered, if there is to be any equitable consideration of values.

City to Direct Twilight League

Bunnenberg Named Head Of Baseball Loop

Following along the plans to place sandlot baseball under supervision of the park board, L. O. Landon, who has served efficiently and long as president of the Twilight league, resigned last night, and C. C. Bunnenberg, city park superintendent, was elected to that office. A. E. Kelly was named vice president.

Formation of the league will be accomplished at a meeting the middle of next week, it was said last night.

Walter Made Old Joe Grin

Losing three straight games, 1 to 0, made a gruff old bear of Joe Cantillon, Washington manager 20 years ago. He did smile later, however, when Walter Johnson pitched three shutouts in four days.

UNCLE JAKE ATZ, skipper of the Panthers, was a speaker recently at a luncheon tendered to Francis Schmidt, new Texas Christian university coach, by a Fort Worth club. And an unintended quip by Uncle Jake brought forth the biggest laugh of the luncheon, Pop Boone, sports editor of the Fort Worth Press, relates.

As Pop tells it, Jake was telling Schmidt what fine people there are in Fort Worth and how sports fans there seldom criticize an athletic foreman. "They'll keep you here," Atz said, "because they never let a good thing get away from 'em."

Then, writes Boone, Jake realized how that sounded, so he made haste to fix it up by adding: "Not that I'm talking about myself, now—"

Which brought down the house.

ATZ SETS much store by Don Songer, his new southpaw, acquired from the Toronto club of the International league. Songer went to the Pittsburgh Pirates two years ago and showed a lot of stuff but lack of control caused him to be shipped to the Leafs. Difficulty in controlling his stuff again beset him in the Canadian metropolis, hence he was sent to the Cats. Songer possesses every requisite essential to pitching success—except control—and he doubtless will be quite a flinger for the Kittens if he can get the ball over the dish.

Don was with Oklahoma City three years ago and was quite a sensation in the Western league.

AS THE EMINENT Mr. Shakespeare asked, what's in a name? The Houston Buffaloes have acquired an outfielder who weighs 200 pounds—and his name is pepper.

AND OVER at Waco, two recent additions to the Cubs' camp were Stein and Rye.

Stein is the very good lefthanded pitcher who turned in a pair of shutout wins against the Buffs last season. Rye, first name Gene, is an outfielder from the Piedmont league, the circuit from which Cy Smith came to the Spudders.

Also on the Waco roster is a fellow named VHEN. If he sticks (if) and goes to bat, the fans will be yelling for a hit—and WHEN from VHEN.

A candidate for first base on Papa Del Pratt's Waco club is J. Wagner. No relation to J. Honus Wagner, who was a pretty fair shortstop for the Pittsburgh Pirates. J. faces some competition from five others, including Jimmy Battle and Papa Pratt himself.

WHILE on the subject of names, there is Albert Abernathy Phillips. You wouldn't know him by that, or those names. He is none other than Buzz Phillips, the Fort Worth pitcher.

LEFTY LEIFIELD, manager of the Oklahoma City Indians of the Western league, and former coach of the Detroit Tigers, thinks a lot of the Panthers, according to Flem Hall, sports editor of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. Leifield predicts the Cats will finish no worse than third this campaign.

"They will have power plus at the plate, a fine defensive club and fair pitching. The weakest spot is the catching," Hill quotes Leifield as saying.

I wouldn't be surprised if the Cats are as good as Lefty says—but how does he know? Baseball men here in the Texas league are unable to make an accurate forecast this early so how can an outsider be a prognosticator?

CARDS SLATED FOR DOWNFALL

Fourth Place About Best Hope of Champions

(This is the fifth of a series of articles by George E. Phair on the pennant race in the National league.)

By GEORGE E. PHAIR

AVON PARK, Fla., March 15. (US)—There are various reasons why the Cardinals will finish in fourth position in the National league pennant race this season—one is that their morale was ruined by the Yanks last autumn. A ball club that is beaten four straight games in a world series seldom comes back with any great amount of vim and vigor the next spring.

Another reason is that the Cardinals are experimenting with two minor league players in the second base sector—the most important defensive spot in the infield.

Still another is the fact that the once great pitching staff has begun to disintegrate, and still another is the new manager, Billy Southworth, a gentleman of parts, but not endowed with the Simon Legree instincts necessary to the successful pursuit of a national league pennant.

And if you are looking for further reasons, there are three better clubs playing on John Heydler's circuit this season.

Bottomley Still Stars

Jim Bottomley is still a tremendous first baseman both at the plate and in the field, but the rest of the inner defensive plan is purely experimental.

Frankie Frisch, one of the world's best second basemen, is being shifted to third for reasons best known to Billy Southworth and Branch Rickey, vice president and general director of the club. Frankie is a great, natural ball player, but there are three better third basemen in the league: Freddie Lindstrom, Pie Traynor and Pinky Whitney.

Selph, at second base, and Gelbert, at shortstop, will cover that most important territory. Selph has accomplished much at Houston, and Gelbert has done the same with Rochester, another Cardinal baseball school. But there is a wide difference between major and minor league playing. These two youngsters may perform in the big league manner, but that is a question.

The outfield is a good one, beginning in left field with Chick Hafey, who murders left-handed pitching. Aside from Rogers Hornsby, Chick is about the best right-handed batter in the league.

Douthitt Fades

Taylor Douthitt started like a million dollars last year, but faded to a thin dime at the close of the campaign.

Ernie Orsatti is a swift young man with a keen batting eye and will probably do most of the labor in right field. Then there is Billy Southworth himself, who is still a good ball player, but not a great one.

Behind the bat is Jimmy Wilson, a fine catcher who was practically worked to death last season. Assisting Jimmy is Earl Smith, a strong hitter with his knuckles but not so potent otherwise.

Grover Cleveland Alexander, once the master of all he surveyed on the pitching mound, is no longer the Alec of old. He showed bursts of power on occasions last year, but the world series demonstrated that the ancient arm had lost its cunning. Even Alec himself cannot fool Old Man Time forever.

Sherdell Best Hurler

Will Sherdell with his tantalizing southpaw curves and his intelligent slow ball is the best of the Cardinal pitchers. Jess Haines won a lot of games last year, but was seldom used against the Giants, who like fast ball pitching. Clarence Mitchell, with the slowest of all balls, may bother the Giants this year, and so will Sylvester Johnson on Sunday afternoon in St. Louis, with his side-arm delivery against a background of shirt sleeves.

Herman Bell, who had a new lease of life in Rochester last summer, and young Bill Hallahan, from Houston, are prospects, but only that. The rest of the Cardinal heaving staff is nothing to brag about.

Billy Southworth, with the advice and counsel of Branch Rickey and Sam Breadon, may succeed as a manager and then again he may not. Too much management is often a detriment to a ball club.

Singer Shades Buddy Taylor

Last Round Gives Al Close Nod Over Hoosier

By FRANK GETTY

NEW YORK, March 15. (UP)—Al Singer, Bronx featherweight outpointed Bud Taylor of Terre Haute tonight before a capacity crowd in Madison Square garden.

Winning the tenth round of a battle which was waged on virtually even terms throughout, Singer piled up just enough points to have his hand raised by Joe Humphries when the affair was over. The fight was close enough to justify a protest on the part of Taylor's supporters, but the Bronx boy scored oftener in the strenuous rallies and undoubtedly earned the verdict by a narrow margin.

Return Go Settles Feud

When the pair fought last month, Singer won on a foul in the fourth round. Many of those at the ringside claimed that the blow which ended the bout was not too low, and tonight's engagement was for the purpose of settling the argument.

Taylor carried the fight to his opponent during the early part of the bout, but slowed up badly towards the end, his legs no longer able to keep him active during such a fast affair.

Bud's Nose Broken

Once or twice during the bout Singer raised a complaint over Taylor's body glows, but he obviously was not hurt by any of the random shots which may have landed below the belt line. The Bronx featherweight broke Taylor's nose with a straight right hand punch in the third round, and slowed up the Terre Haute boxer.

Singer's right hand punches won him the first and third sessions, but at the end of the fifth round Buddy was out in front by a shade.

They came up to the tenth round all square, both of them tired from an excess of punching. Singer had a shade the better of it in the closing session, and this apparently influenced the referee and one of the judges to declare him the winner. The other judge voted for Taylor. Singer weighed 128¾. Taylor 128¼.

A Lesson From History

Many of the nations of the past that have flourished and declined; Babylon, Assyria, Egypt, Phoenicia, Greece and Rome. In some cases the disappearance of these once powerful nations can be accounted for by the invasion of foreign warriors, but in other cases the exact cause is not difficult to ascertain. All of them have this in common; when these nations were young, the individuals of each nation were hardy and vigorous; they lived on plain foods; they were physically powerful and had but few luxuries. As the nations prospered, the individuals become wealthier. Instead of working themselves, they had slaves or hirelings to do the work for them. They enjoyed luxuries, idleness and rich foods.

The citizens of these nations considered themselves superior to other nations. They would no longer undergo long marches nor till the soil. Foreigners should do their work and fight in their armies. In the course of time these foreigners became more numerous than the citizens. They also became stronger and more able to survive. As Goldsmith stated in his famous poem, "The Deserted Village," "Ill fares the land, to hastening ills a prey, where wealth accumulates, and men decay."

The Greeks were a mighty race, with individuals as beautifully formed as have ever been seen. They had many intellectual geniuses until they adopted the luxurious effeminate habits of the Persians. The Greeks conquered the Persians, but the Persians had their revenge, for their customs conquered the Greeks.

Then mighty Rome flourished, and with the legions of her own men swept over the Grecian states. Rome conquered Greece, but Greece had its revenge, for the Grecian luxuries and vices were imported to Rome. Grecian cooks, doctors and teachers flocked to Rome. They became the vogue, and Rome, for the first time, learned the art of self-enjoyment and idleness. The stern and vigorous Romans were softened by the luxuries of Greece and became easy prey to the virile Teuton armies. The Romans, too weak to fight themselves, expected to be defended by foreign mercenaries, and the decline of the Roman empire began. Race suicide became universal throughout Rome, as children were nuisances to the rich and burdens on the poor.

History shows us many examples where nations decay before they are conquered. The rot, produced by luxury and rich food, is far more dangerous than any foreign enemy.

The prophets were able to foretell the fall of Babylon, Assyria, Egypt, Tyre and even Jerusalem itself, because they knew that when a nation gives itself over to riotous luxury and waste, the nation and race decline.

Modern nations can take this as a lesson. As long as wholesome foods are used and work is considered honorable, the nation will prosper, but if rich foods are eaten and idleness is deemed fashionable, the nation will weaken and be conquered by more hardy people, even as were the nations of antiquity.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Baby Won't Drink Water

Question—Mrs. C. R. T. writes: "My baby girl is three months old and I can't get her to take any water. Someone suggested sweetening the water, but I do not know what quantity of sweetening to use. Also, was wondering if honey wouldn't be best to use. Will you kindly advise me? She is breast fed."

Answer—Your baby will not require a great deal of water if she is taking enough milk. I do not advise the addition of sugar to water for encouraging her to drink it.

Erysipeloid

Question—Mrs. E. asks: "Will you please tell me what erysipeloid is?

Answer—Erysipeloid is a noncontagious disease resembling erysipelas and the treatment is similar. I am sending you an article on this subject which outlines the cause and cure of this trouble.

Backward Children

Question—J. M. L. writes: "I have a boy 15 years old, a backward pupil, who dislikes school very much. When he developed a habit of running away from home we placed him in a detention school where he failed in physical and mental health. We now have him at the mental hospital where he has improved physically, but remains very quiet, while he used to be quite active at home in outdoor sports. His mother and father were aged 38 and 50 respectively, at his birth, and there is nothing hereditary on either side that I can trace. Could you advise us as to some form of treatment for him?"

Answer—It is difficult to advise you regarding your boy without having examined him. Often children improve mentally when placed on a well balanced diet and a good exercising or physical culture regime. He should also have some interesting hobby or occupation for his spare time. I am sending you some articles which you may find interesting and helpful.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, March 15. (AP)—Early advances on unfavorable weather reports from the South and firm Liverpool cables were followed by reactions under renewed realizing in cotton today. But after selling off from 21.30 to 21.15 for May contracts, the market recovered part of the loss, with that delivery closing at 21.24. The general market closed steady at net advances of 2 to 9 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 4 to 15 points. March sold up to 21.32 and the new October contract to 20.63 on covering or rebuying by recent sellers. This rally carried the price of May back to within 17 points of the high price touched late last week and evidently attracted renewed realizing or liquidation as well as some southern and local selling.

The census report showing domestic consumption of 598,098 bales for February against 572,875 last year as regarded in line with bullish views as to the season's consumption in this country, and judging from current comment the reaction in prices has not reflected any particular revision of sentiment as to the probable world's carryover at the end of the season. It is supposed, however, that the recent buying reflected a reduction in both the trade and speculative short interest and that this had left the market in an easier technical position.

Some cotton continues to arrive here from the South for delivery this month, and it is estimated in some quarters that the movement here for the whole of March will aggregate in the neighborhood of 35,000 bales.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, March 15. (AP)—The cotton market was erratic today and price fluctuations were two-sided. After advancing about 50 cents a bale in early trading prices weakened later under a renewal of long liquidation and profit-taking, active positions selling to levels 1 point under yesterday's close. There was a slight recovery during the afternoon and May contracts rallied from 20.52 to 20.57 and closed at the latter figure, net 4 points up. The general market closed steady at net advances of 2 to 7 points.

Liverpool cables were much higher than expected, and first trades here showed advances of 9 to 10 points in response. Prices continued to advance after the start under a demand stimulated by map indications of further rains in the eastern belt, which traders feared would add to overflows in that section. May sold up to 20.60, July 20.65 and October 20.43, or 10 to 13 points above the previous close.

Later in the morning early buyers took profits and longs liquidated on the official forecast for more favorable weather in the belt and in advance of the census bureau's final ginnings estimate, which some traders feared would prove larger than the government final crop report issued last December. On the subsequent decline May sold off to 20.46, July 20.52 and October 20.32, or 11 to 14 points down from the highs and 1 point below yesterday's close.

During the afternoon business tapered off and enough short covering developed to carry prices up 5 to 6 points from the lows. July closed at 20.57 and October 20.35, or 2 to 4 points net up. March showed the maximum advance for the day, closing at 20.35, or 7 points net up.

SINGER MANUFACTURING CO.

Five-Year Record

The Singer Manufacturing company is engaged in the manufacture and sale of sewing machines. It operates over 10,000 Singer stores and has 60,000 salesmen scattered over nearly the whole world. About 1,500,000 machines are turned out annually from the nine factories operated, in which some 28,000 workers are employed. Plants are at Elizabethport, N. J., Bridgeport, Conn., Cairo, Ill., St. Johns, Quebec, Singer, near Glasgow, Scotland, and Wittenberg, Germany. It also has a cabinet factory at South Bend, Ind. It owns the Singer building in New York. The concern had large investments in Russia before the war, and after they had been siezed by the soviet government, $84,302,231 was written off.

The company was formed originally in 1863, and in 1907 absorbed the Wheeler and Wilson Manufacturing company.

Net income has increased steadily. In 1927 it was $25,599,480 as against $24,991,231 in 1926, and $22,183,090 in 1925. There is no funded debt. Capital stock outstanding consists of $90,000,000 in shares of $100 par. Regular dividends have been at the rate of 10 per cent since 1925, with extras which totaled 10 per cent in 1925, 38 per cent in 1926 and 18 per cent in 1927 and 1928.

As of Jan. 1, 1928, total current assets were $114,163,885. Current liabilities amounted to $6,172,068 and net working capital to $107,991,817. Book value of the capital stock amounted to $174,740,350, or $194.16 a share.

Radio Clings to Spotlight As Volume of Stock Trade Soars

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, March 15. (US)—Radio held the spotlight in another strong market today in which volume increased to over 5,500,000 shares. The favorable federal reserve developments resulted in the strongest opening experienced in sevral months. Big blocks of Radio, Motors, and other favorites changed hands on the initial transaction at overnight advances of from 1 to 3 points, and most of the leaders added to their gains during the day.

Radio New finished with gain of 6½ more while the old stock added 37 points to its climb. General Motors advanced 3 under steady demand, Kennecott gained 3 to over par, Anaconda 4, and Coty Inc. 4⅞. Sinclair featured a firm oil group with advance of 2⅜. Rails remained quiet but held fairly steady. Call money appeared in good supply although the rate was held at 7 per cent throughout.

While the decline in loans and maintenance of the rediscount rate here at 5 per cent were the bull features most mentioned, it was the condition revealed in the reserve bank statements that comprised the most favorable overnight development. Ratio of the local bank at 80.6 per cent was practically the same as a year ago while loans of local banks for their own account were down $113,000,000 for the week. This improvement is the direct result of the resergve board's campaign of correction and is about all that could be expected. It shows that the system now is in a position to ease the credit reins whenever it sees fit, although it is not likely to do so. The increase of $40,000,000 in loans "for others" was further evidence that the enormous wealth built up by the prosperity of the last four years has taken full control of credit away from the reserve system.

Coty's outstanding strength was attributed to operations of those who have been among the most active in the radio operation. They have the cooperation of the bankers for the company as steady improvement in earnings is reported that indicates better treatment of stockholders. Bethlehem Steel buying was from similar sources, as this group has been bullish on Bethlehem for over a year. Bethlehem earnings now are running at the rate of over $1 a share a month and there is no sign of a letup. Further improvement in Johns Manville reflected the confidence that the new presidnt named would carry through the progressive policies inaugurated by Mr. Merseles.

New high record price scored by Advance Rumley was credited to buying by the same group responsible for advances in the stock over the last several weeks. The annual meeting of the corporation is to be held soon and as a result of recent market developments, it is claimed, there may be changes in the management. The foundation group was encouraged to renew operations by overnight developments and there was further talk of substantial gain in earnings being recorded in the current half year. Mack Truck also responded to group activity. Ultimately, Mack, Yellow and General Motors truck are expected to be combined in one unit but the current activitiy in Mack is based on expectation that second quarter results will be the best for that period in the history of the corporation.

Further skyrocketing of Radio came prior to announcement of election of two new directors. The addition to the board results from the merger with Victor and brings together financial groups of the greatest prominence. Mid-western industrialists who have been cooperating in the Radio activity were most responsible for the further rise in General Motors. They and their associates are now the most powerful interests in General Motors and are in best position to judge of the result of this year's operation. They look for earnings for the first half of the year at a new high record and expect extra dividend declaration during the summer. Their participation in the Radio and General Motors activity follows several weeks in which they were practically out of the market entirely due to worrying about the reserve board activities.

Livestock

TEXAS LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, March 15. (AP)—Receipts of cattle in the livestock market here today dwindled to very small volume, the yard's estimate calling for only 1,100 head. Calf supplies limited to about 300 head. The cattle run brought in only one carlot of slaughter steers, two or three cars of yearlings and the rest of the cattle supplies consisted largely of mixed butcher classes; no straight carlots of cows received, and the better grades of beeves practically lacking.

Trade in all divisions of the cattle and calf markets very poorly tested, owing to the unusually light supply. A fairly active demand existed for available supplies of all classes and the market as a whole appeared steady to strong. One load of slaughter steers sold at $11.15 and some small lots of fat yearlings reported up to $12.25. One load of fat and feeder yearlings also sold at $12.25, this carlot clearing on trader account. No business of consequence transacted in fat cows above $8, but a few sorts of butchers sold around $7 to $7.25. Low cutters sold at $5 to $5.50, the same as on previous days this week. Sausage bulls in demand at $7.50 to $8.25, but very few sales of this class reported. A few package lots of good heavy slaughter calves purchased by packers at $11.00 to $11.50, and some cull sorts around $7 to $8.

Desirable stock cattle wanted by country buyers, but the day's business limited to the sale of a two-car shipment of choice stock steer yearlings at $13.

A fair-sized run of hogs here today, the total head running 18,000. Trade was featured by a fairly active demand but proved uneven, showing an average advance of about a quarter. Smooth butchers in carlots up to $10.85, this price paid for good to choice 220-320-pound hogs. Bulk of the desirable 190-220-pound carlot hogs at $10.50 to $10.80; a few medium to good hogs in the lighter weights sold on down to $10.25 and less. Truck hogs topped at $10. Packing sows ruled steady to a quarter higher, mostly at $8.50 to $9.25. Feeder pigs at $7.50 to $8.25 appeared steady.

MID-WESTERN REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, March 15. (AP)—(U.S. D. A.)—Livestock trade around the 11-market circuit was featured by a reaction on hogs, with price gains of 15@40c. Light receipts and a broad shipping demand were the strengthening factors. The day's extreme top of $12.10 at St. Louis equalled the previous high mark of the year. Total offerings were around 52,700, a decrease of 32,700 from last Friday and 50,000 short of the same day a year ago.

Cattle trade at most centers consisted of the usual Friday cleanup with no material price changes registered. Packers this week were bearish on weighty fed steers but met with little success in reducing their cost. Other killing classes and replacement cattle are closing the week unevenly higher. Demand at eastern dressed beef markets remained narrow but should expand somewhat as the lenten period nears an end. Colorado fed steers are expected to arrive in more liberal numbers the next few weeks, shipments to date of this origin having been relatively light. Aggregate receipts were estimated at 9,500 against 9,471 a week ago and 6,265 the same day last year.

Fat lambs found a slow outlet at prices steady to unevenly lower as compared with Thursday's dull close. Several of the river markets reported losses of 25@50c. Chicago had a top of $17.60 while at Omaha the best mark of $16.75 was $1.00 under Wednesday's. Aged stock registered no change. The supply approximated 38,600, a decrease of 4,000 from a week ago but 14,000 heavier than a year ago.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW

CHICAGO, March 15. (AP)—Reversing the rule which has prevailed of late, the wheat market today closed on the upgrade despite profit-taking that followed an early bulge. Foreign advices were of a character more favorable to wheat holders than was looked for, and besides, a good deal of domestic crop news had a complexion that tended to induce buying.

Wheat finished nervous, ⅛ to ½@⅝c net higher, with corn ⅛c to ⅝c up, oats ⅛@⅛c to ⅜c down, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 7c.

Surprise over unexpected upturns in quotations at Liverpool gave an early advantage to friends of higher prices here for wheat. Curtailment of wheat shipments from Argentine was the chief reason assigned for today's action of the Liverpool market. Crop reports concerning United States winter wheat especially southwest, was taken in various quarters as being on the whole pessimistic. Particular interest was taken in messages from leading Chicago crop experts who are touring separately in the wheat belt southwest and who today telegraphed their first reports this season, wiring from McPherson and Newton, Kan. Among the points noted by the Chicago experts was that all wheat is late, and the stand light, with the plant small and stooled very little.

Corn was firm all day, largely in response to wheat strength. Country offering of corn were small, and roads in many sections of the corn belt impassable. Oats tended downward, forecasts indicating more favorable weather for seeding southwest.

Provisions were steadied by upturns in the value of hogs.

American Heiress Weds Russian Prince in Paris

RUM MURDER NET TIGHTENS

Trio Suspected in Death Of 'Fatty' Walsh

WASHINGTON, March 15. (UP)—The net which federal authorities are weaving around the supposed slayers of Thomas "Fatty" Walsh, bodyguard of the late Arnold Rothstein, New York gambler, is tightening, it was learned today.

Three men, believed implicated in the Coral Gables, Fla., murder, are under surveillance by federal agents.

Probe Ordered

Meanwhile, the $1,000,000 cargo of pre-prohibition American rye whisky, over which federal authorities declare Walsh was slain, attracted the attention of the state department.

After an attorney for a New York business man, who is said to have lost $172,000 through manipulation of ownership of the whisky, called at the department, Secretary Kellogg instructed the American embassy in Havana to investigate the New Yorker's chain.

Ambassador Judah informed the department that representations made by the New Yorker's attorneys were not fully borne out and he would take no further action until instructed to do so. The department then withdrew its first instructions.

The Cuban schooner Tres Reyes, which was carrying the liquor, returned to Havana last night after sailing for Nassau last Saturday.

Stopped by Gunboat

Reports from Havana said the schooner was stopped off Gun Key by a "U. S. gunboat" and taken back to Cuba.

The reports said the schooner was asked why it was not headed for Nassau when its papers were made out for that port. The master of the schooner was quoted as replying his ship was broken down and he could not proceed. The "U. S. gunboat" then towed the schooner back to Morro Castle.

Coast guard officials here have no information of the action by a "U. S. gunboat," which was supposed to mean a coast guard cutter. All boats in the South Florida and gulf divisions had been instructed to be on the lookout for the Tres Reyes and seize it if it entered American waters.

No report of a coast guard cutter making contact with the schooner has been filed at headquarters.

HOOBLER ASKS FOR NEW TRIAL

Condemned Man 'Relieved' By End of Trial

Formal motion for a new trial for D. J. Hoobler, sentenced to death Thursday evening for the murder of Arthur Pendergraft, was filed in the 89th district court Friday afternoon as the first move in an announced battle to save the defendant's life.

An amended petition, setting forth the specific grounds upon which the defense claims the verdict failed to comply with the law and the evidence, will be filed at a later date, Temple Shell, attorney for the defense, announced Friday.

Arguments Next Week

The motion will probably not be argued until late next week, since Sam Spence, district attorney, must be in attendance upon the 30th district colurt in Young county early in the week. Mr. Spence said he would ask the court to set the date for the hearing immediately after his return. The defense is required by law to enter its formal motion within two days after the verdict.

After a momentary break down shortly after he returned to his cell after hearing the death sentence read Thursday evening, the condemned man resumed his normal cheerfulness Friday, jail attendants said. He slept well Thursday night and his appetite was not apparently impaired. Attendants expressed the belief that he looked almost relieved after the continuous strain of the trial. C. E. Hoobler, his half-brother, and two of his friends called upon the condemned man in his cell Friday morning. They expressed the conviction that the legal battle begun with the filing of the new trial motion would save the defendant from the electric chair.

Should the motion be denied, the defense has 90 days in which to file an appeal to the court of criminal appeals. If the original appeal is denied and two motions for a rehearing overruled in the court of criminal appeals, the only recourse of the defense is to the supreme court on a plea of the violation of the defendant's constitutional right, a predicate for which has already been laid in a series of objections made during the progress of the trial. Attorneys for the defense announced Friday that they were prepared to carry the fight into the highest tribunals if need be.

Income Tax Collector Here Says Payers Have Learned Filing Plan

Return of more than 5,000,000 income tax reports for the year 1928 was completed in the United States at midnight Friday with the lowest degree of eleventh hour congestion ever experienced since the inauguration of the tax, according to federal revenue agents connected with the local office.

"We consider that the federal government has conducted a very successful correspondence school in accounting during the 16 years that the income tax law has been in effect," said James V. Montrief, deputy collector, "for at least 90 per cent of the reports on which Washington authorities ask an official re-check are found to be correct."

Payers "Learn How"

The increasing ability of the average income earner in this country to render accurately his tax report, and the desire to avoid a last hour rush at the collector's office, Mr. Montrief said, have effected almost a complete elimination of the congestion which featured the closing hours of the tax return period in earlier years.

Approximately half of the more than 5,000,000 returns made to the government will be taxable, it was said. Returns from married couples whose children form the basis of exemption were said to constitute the main portion of the remaining 2,500,000 reports.

Representatives of the United States internal revenue offices will begin about May 15, it was stated, on the auditing of reports for 1928 which will have been classified at Washington as warranting special investigation. The intervening 60 days will be used in auditing required to complete the inspection of 1927 reports, according to local officials.

Filing Space Dear

Practically all of the income tax blanks returned during the last 15 years have been filed in Washington, it was said, and for some years were housed in different buildings scattered generally over that city. An official visit to the national capital on income tax matters was said to have occasioned an extensive tour of the city. Assembly of all income tax files at one location is now under way, it was stated, several buildings already being required to afford filing space for the approximately 75,000,000 forms already received, and offices for secretaries and clerks.

EARLY RETURNS SWAMP TREASURY

WASHINGTON, March 15. (INS)—More than $1,600,000,000 was "turned over" at the treasury department today.

Income tax payments were piling up in the offices of collectors of the internal revenue throughout the country. Early returns indicated that payments were running slightly ahead of last March when $515,669,000 was paid.

Treasury experts estimated the total collection at least as high as last year.

Shepherd, manager, for Sheriff Ed Goodwin of Archer county, together with a corps of deputies, will comprise a fiddle band which is scheduled to participate in a fiddle frolic during the two hours before midnight. Members of the "official fiddle band" from Archer City, it was stated, have announced their intention of coming heavily armed.

T. B. Leverett of Waurika, Okla., and T. L. Finch of Burkburnett will bring fiddle bands to join that of Sheriff Goodwin in the frolic, it was said.

The high school band from Frederick, Okla., and the Burkburnett Chamber of Commerce also will contribute to Saturday night's entertainment, according to the program, which was announced as follows:

$10,666 WATER DAMAGE ASKED

Motion for Judgment Is Filed by Mrs. McGrath

A motion for judgment for $10,666 against the Wichita county water improvement district No. 1 was filed Friday afternoon by E. W. Napier, attorney for Mrs. J. M. McGrath in her suit for alleged damages to her land southwest of Wichita Falls. The suit was completed in the 89th district court last week and both sides have claimed victory on the basis of the answers to 71 issues submitted to the jury. The defendant filed its motion for judgment on the day following the verdict.

Judge P. A. Martin has set no date for the hearing on the motions, but the arguments are expected to be heard before the end of the present term of court. The motion filed Friday afternoon claimed $10,666 from the defendant on the grounds that the jury held the water district guilty of negligence in allowing too much water to run too long through the canals running through the McGrath lands, and that the verdict said the land had been injured through seepage.

The plaintiff claimed in her suit that 750 acres of agricultural land had been waterlogged from seepage from the irrigation canal.

Bralley Returns Man Wanted Here

Sheriff W. G. Bralley returned from Oklahoma City Friday afternoon with Henry Marshall, indicted here on charges of disposing of mortgaged property. Marshall was arrested in Oklahoma on instructions from the sheriff's office here and agreed to waive extradition.

The body of the dead man had been removed, the sheriff said.

COUNTY HEADS HEARD IN SUIT

Testimony Completed In Audit Trial

Members of the county commissioners court and former County Judge E. W. Nicholson were put on the stand in the county court at law Friday afternoon in the suit of Smith, Allred & Co., auditors, seeking the collection of an alleged debt of $297.50 from the county.

The commissioners were called by the plaintiff, represented in the suit by Harry Bunnenberg. Each of the four testified that the county had made a contract with the auditing company in 1928 through which a man from the company, with a member of the staff of E. P. Walsh, county auditor, was to recheck the audit of the records of A. F. Kerr, former district clerk. The plaintiff claims that a certain part of the work, valued at $297.50, was outside the terms of the contract.

Judge Nicholson was called for the county in support of its contention that the $14,878 paid by the county covered every part of the work. Testimony in the case was completed Friday afternoon. The case is expected to go to the jury by noon Saturday, after the charge of the judge and the arguments Friday morning.
