One Of True Bills Quashed In Case

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A federal judge today dismissed one of the indictments against 17 men charged in the slaying of the three civil rights workers.

U.S. Dist. Judge Harold Cox tossed out the most serious indictment — one of two — on grounds there had been no violation of existing federal statutes and jurisdiction was lacking.

Defense attorneys for 17 of the 18 men indicted had asked Cox to dismiss both indictments, but Cox took action today only on the one involving a felony.

SEES FAULT
Cox did say, however, "the indictment surely states a heinous crime against the State of Mississippi, but not a crime against the United States."

"This is a court of limited jurisdiction," he said. "The indictment simply does not charge either of these defendants with any offense against the laws of the United States."

In his decision, the jurist cited decisions in similar cases.

INDICTED 18
A federal grand jury had indicted 18 men in the killing of Andrew Goodman and Michael Schwerner, both white and of New York, and James Chaney of Meridian, a Negro.

Included in those indicted were Neshoba County Sheriff Lawrence Rainey and Deputy Cecil Price.

The bodies of the three were found last summer beneath an earthen dam near Philadelphia, Miss.

Rainey and Price were in the 17-man group defense attorneys had asked to be freed when they filed for dismissal of the indictments.

The felony Cox dismissed would have set a $5,000 fine and 10 years in prison for the killing, or both.

It made it illegal if "two or more persons conspire to injure, oppress, threaten or intimidate any citizen in the free exercise or enjoyment of any right or privilege secured by him by the Constitution or laws of the United States."

FOR PROTECTION
Cox said the statute was "de-

Lie Test For Fonda's Son?
TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Actor Peter Fonda, son of Henry Fonda, will be asked to take a lie detector test in the investigation of Eugene (Stormy) McDonald's mystery death.

Sheriff Waldon V. Burr said today he will ask the Los Angeles Police Department to give Fonda the test if the young actor agrees.

Police at Oakland, Calif., will be asked to give a similar test to Joyce Shank of Dayton, Ohio, who attends Mills College in East Oakland, Burr said.

The two were close friends of McDonald, 23, heir to a $30-million Zenith Radio Corp. fortune, who was found shot to death in his rented Tucson home Feb. 3. McDonald's wrists had been slashed. There was a bullet in his head.

A coroner's jury has ruled that McDonald, although he clutched the gun believed used in his death, did not kill himself.

Soviet Claims U.S. Menacing Vessels
MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union protested to the United States today against what it called "impermissible and dangerous actions of U.S. warships and aircraft against Soviet ships on the high seas."

Stock Mart Gains Slight In Trading

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market remained a little higher early this afternoon but trading slowed and some profits were taken.

Gains of fractions to a point still outnumbered losses in the same range, but the margin of plus signs seemed to be dwindling.

Analysts saw the market as in need of a "breather" after five straight daily advances in the industrial average.

TREND HIGHER
The trend was generally higher among chemicals, electrical equipments, airlines, tobacco and electronics.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .4 at $35.7 with industrials up 1.2, rails off .1 and utilities off .1.

Corporate and U.S. government bonds showed little trend.

Worst Wintry Wave Lashes East Sectors

By The Associated Press
Snow, sleet, cold and raw winds gripped broad areas in the eastern half of the nation today — the worst weather of the winter in some sections.

The snow, which extended deep into the Southland, blanketed at least 21 states, from New Mexico and Colorado to Michigan and southward into Mississippi.

FOOT DEEP
The storm disrupted normal activities and inconvenienced millions. Snow, heavy in many northern states, piled up to a foot in parts of Illinois, including Springfield and the Chicago area.

Gusty winds hampered snow removal operations and traffic conditions were described as the worst in many years in some cities. Plane, train and highway travel was seriously disrupted. Schools in many areas were closed because of blocked highways.

Heavy snow headed from the eastern Great Lakes region and the Upper Ohio Valley to interior sections of New England.

BELOW ZERO
Below-zero weather again stung the north-central region. The cold air dropped deep into Dixie, with freezing temperatures as far southward as Mobile, Ala., on the Gulf of Mexico.

The Weather Bureau said no general immediate relief appeared but forecasters said there was a possibility of a "slight warming trend in a few days."

Snow fell in Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia and Louisiana. Heavy snow warnings were posted for Lower Michigan, Indiana and northwestern Ohio, ranging from 4 to 7 inches.

The mercury dipped to 39 above in Atlanta, a drop of 22 degrees in a few hours. In Mobile, the early morning reading of 31 compared to Wednesday's high of 73, a plunge of 42 degrees.

TWO KILLED
Two persons were killed near Ardmore, Ala., on the Tennessee line, when they stepped out of their car after it became entangled in power lines felled by wind and snow.

Western Tennessee was hard hit, first by freezing rain and then by snow, making many highways impassable and closing several schools. Two inches of snow fell in Memphis and stayed on the ground with near-zero temperatures as the city has no snow removal equipment. Brisk winds piled up drifts of four and five feet.

Police cars were used only for emergency calls because of the rash of traffic accidents, including 60 in a one-hour period.

SNOWSTORM
A snowstorm followed rain and freezing rain in western Kentucky, with amounts of 2 to 4 inches, the heaviest of the season. Schools in at least 13 counties were closed.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 21 below zero at Hibbing, in northern Minnesota to 79 at Key West, Fla.

Eight inches of new snow battered Kentucky and 53 of the state's 120 counties ordered schools closed. It was the worst storm of the season there.

The storm, aided by northwesterly winds, left many communities paralyzed.

Rites Friday For Mrs. Nall

Mrs. Willie Mae Nall, 87, of 804 Runnels, longtime resident of Howard County for three score years, died Wednesday about 10:30 p.m. in a local hospital after a lengthy illness.

Services are set for 3 p.m. Friday in Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel with Dr. H. Clyde Smith, pastor of the First Methodist Church, officiating. Burial will be in City Cemetery.

Mrs. Nall was born Aug. 17, 1877, in Cuero. She married Leo Nall in 1892 in Brownwood. They moved to Howard County in 1905 and to Big Spring in 1909. She was preceded in death by her husband on Jan. 1, 1939. She had been a member of the First Methodist Church since 1909.

Besides her own family, Mrs. Nall helped rear a foster grandson, Lt. Johnny Nall, who was lost on an air mission during World War II.

Khanh To Arrive With Grim View

Connally Clarifies Pupil Labor Stand

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Connally said today he doesn't like the idea of paying inexperienced high school students more than their parents earn. He said he likes the Neighborhood Youth Corps.

Connally issued a statement today to clarify his position in a disagreement with the U. S. Department of Labor.

Under the Neighborhood Youth Corps, boys and girls 16 to 21 years old who are attending high school but who are on the verge of becoming dropouts because of financial difficulties may be given part-time work around the school or other public agencies in the community.

THE PROGRAM
The idea was that these young people would work 10 to 15 hours per week at non-skilled chores of the type not being performed by regular workers and earn enough to perhaps make the difference in whether they could stay in school to complete a high school education," Connally said.

He said Congress stipulated that enrollees will be paid wages "appropriate and reasonable in the light of such factors as type of work performed, geographical region and proficiency of employee."

Connally said at least 23 Texas school districts have filed application to take part in the NYC program with about 5,000 students.

The 23 school districts proposed to pay the students 75 cents to $1.20 an hour, depending on the area.

However, the Labor Department recently issued a ruling that the students must be paid $1.25 an hour, the federal minimum wage.

AWKWARD SPOT
"This action would put local school districts in the awkward and unrealistic position of paying inexperienced students of underprivileged families a rate of pay for casual chores that in many cases would exceed that of adult employees working in that same facility, the average earnings of their own parents and the wages he himself might reasonably expect to earn in the days immediately following school," Connally said.

TEARS IN EYES
Bayard Rustin, one of the Negro civil rights leaders who organized the 1963 march on Washington, Wednesday visited the funeral home where Malcolm's body is on public display.

With tears in his eyes, he told newsmen: "He had a tremendous impact on the Negro community. He caused many young Negroes to take a new vision of themselves."

Film Director Wins Divorce
LONDON (AP) — Film director Kenneth Hume won an uncontested divorce in London Wednesday from Shirley Bassey, 25, the British singer who has made a recording hit with the song "Goldfinger."

Hume named movie star Peter Finch and a man identified only as John Patrick McAlliff as correspondents in his suit.

Ex-Strongman Coming To U.N.

By The Associated Press
Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh is headed for the United States with some gloomy views about the prospects for the war in South Viet Nam.

Those who know the deposed strongman of Saigon report that he feels the war will be lost — this year — unless the Americans decide to extend it directly to the Communist North, even at the risk of hostilities with Red China.

Khanh, now designated an ambassador-at-large to lay Saigon's case against the North before the U.N. Security Council, is known to believe that the only chance to save Viet Nam from a Communist takeover is to convert the limited war in Indochina to a general war between Red China and the West.

FAR FROM ALONE
Inside South Viet Nam he probably is far from alone in this viewpoint. Thus, in coming to the United States, he is pictured as seeing his prime role as diplomatic and his goal to bring the United States into open hostilities with North Viet Nam and even Red China.

Khanh has clashed sharply with U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor. Those who know the former strongman say he resents Taylor for opposing his assessment of the prospects. He is said to want to see President Johnson in person and lay his case on the line, confident that his views would be supported by many Americans — including military advisers with whom he has had contact in South Viet Nam.

SEES U.S. "BLUNDERS"
Khanh preferred to deal with Taylor's predecessor, Henry Cabot Lodge, and when Lodge left to campaign for the Republican presidential nomination last year, Khanh was quoted as advising Washington to "send me another Lodge."

For one thing, Khanh is represented by those who know him well as arguing that the Americans bungle, blunder into internal political situations which are none of their business. Such intervention, he is said to feel, often causes Vietnamese leaders to oppose the Americans as a matter of principle, on the basis of sovereignty, whether or not their opposition represents wisdom.

As for the stability the Americans have been seeking so long in South Viet Nam's government, people who have talked with Khanh believe he would insist such stability could come only through cooperation with the predominant Buddhists.

PEKING PLANS
Khanh is known to have complained that the Americans in Saigon insist upon thinking of Viet Nam as a case all to itself, without taking into consideration what the Red Chinese may be planning. He is represented as believing that there is little time left, that this is the year of decision in Southeast Asia.

Khanh is apparently of the opinion that eventually war between China and America is inevitable, if oriental communism would work 10 to 15 hours per week at non-skilled chores of the type not being performed by regular workers and earn enough to perhaps make the difference in whether they could stay in school to complete a high school education," Connally said.

UNDER PRESSURE
But the administration is under considerable pressure from civil rights leaders and congressional liberals to push for immediate legislation that would affect the 1966 elections.

An amendment, one source said, would be lucky to pass Congress and the required 36 state legislatures by the end of the decade.

The consensus of Justice Department officials is that the abolition of literacy tests, now required in 19 states, would require a constitutional amendment. The plan being prepared for Johnson's consideration would attack the test problem while circumventing the delaying tactics available to any state officials who try to avoid compliance with earlier civil rights laws aimed at making good the right to vote.

LITERACY TESTS
The administration proposal as now envisioned would seek a legislative finding that literacy tests have been used, in violation of the 15th Amendment, to discriminate against Negroes. Where statistics showed a percentage of voters below prescribed minimum in a state, the government could prohibit the use of literacy tests for a specified number of years.

ADMINISTRATION Narrows Vote Rights Plans
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration is narrowing its planned voting legislation to two key proposals — a localized moratorium on literacy tests and the limited use of federal registrars.

Informed sources reporting this today said a constitutional amendment, while still under active consideration, is likely to be shelved for the time being.

COMBAT BIAS
The Justice Department is expected to send to President Johnson shortly — perhaps by the end of next week — its draft of proposed legislation to combat any discrimination against Negroes attempting to register and vote.

Department lawyers already are drafting a message for Johnson to send to Congress, possibly in advance of the voting legislation package.

Sheffield Due At Penitentiary
AUSTIN (AP) — B. R. Sheffield, convicted and sentenced to six years in prison in a case resulting from the Texas veterans land scandals, was due to enter the penitentiary today.

Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr said in Austin Wednesday that Sheffield would surrender today to Hill County Sheriff Ernest Brooks at Hillsboro for transportation to the prison at Huntsville.

"Sheffield's imprisonment will bring to a climax one of the state's longest legal battles," Carr said.

Sheffield was convicted by a district court jury on May 28, 1961, at Hillsboro on charges of uttering a false and forged acknowledgment to a written instrument concerning a real estate title.

His appeal was carried through higher courts including two trips to the U.S. Supreme Court, which turned down the last request that it enter the case on Jan. 18.

Sheffield was first convicted in 1956 at Lubbock and assessed 10 years in prison. This conviction was overturned by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals and a new trial ordered.

The second trial was moved to Hillsboro.

Two Major Fires Cause Heavy Damage Last Night

Two fires in Big Spring late Wednesday left damage which may range above $50,000. They were at a stucco building at 306 State used by a transport company, and at a restaurant building under construction on FM 700 near Gollad.

Explosions at the State Street fire hampered firemen and caused an alert from the Big Spring Police Department to the Department of Public Safety in Midland and civil defense offices.

The cab was blown off a transport truck stored in the State Street building, Fire Marshal A. D. Meador reported. The tank on the truck, which was empty, exploded. Meador said, and another 400 gallon tank containing waste oil, inside the building, also exploded.

The roof of the building and interior walls were burned and steel beams in the roof were twisted by the heat, firemen said. The fire started in the rear of the building and had been burning for a period of time before discovered, Meador said. Both the transport truck and a pickup truck, also parked in the building, were a total loss, he said, while damage to the building may reach about $7,000 to $10,000.

The building was owned by the Coca Cola Bottling Co. and leased to Coastal Transport Co. The fire was reported about 10:45 p.m.

Two fire trucks from the Central Station were at the scene. Firemen placed some 1,500 feet of hose in fighting the blaze. Some 25 firemen fought the two blazes Wednesday night, including 10 off-duty men.

The fire at FM 700 and Gollad left damage which Meador estimated may reach $18,000 to $20,000. The roof and interior of the building, which was still under construction, were burned, with paneling and partitions inside destroyed, Meador said. The building was of tile construction and was being constructed by Tom McAdams, a local builder.

Units from Station Two, 1711 Main, and Station Five, Wasson Road, were used to fight the blaze, which was reported about 11:55 p.m.

Causes of the two fires had not been determined today, Meador said.

Damage estimates on the residence at 1905 Wood, which burned shortly after midnight Wednesday, may total about $5,000 to $6,000 on the house, Meador said, with an additional amount on the contents.

The city's insured loss totals will be considerably less than the full amount of damage on the State Street fire, as vehicles are not included in the amount considered by the state in computing a city's insured loss. The transport truck and pickup, which were in the building, will not be included in the insured loss totals for the city, although the damage to the transport truck may total some $30,000, Meador said.

Clears Up Burglary

Morris D. Minter, who Wednesday pleaded guilty to a forgery charge, voluntarily cleared up a Christmas Day burglary case today, Chief Deputy Lindy Oldfield, reported.

Minter, who received a seven year sentence Wednesday on the forgery charge, told Oldfield today that he and a second youth, now being sought, broke into the Ivory Harper residence, 805 Wyoming, Dec. 25.

Minter told Oldfield he used the telephone in the house to put in a long distance call to Denver, Colo. The Harpers later received a bill for this call for $16.65.

He also told officers he and his companion took two bags of articles from the house. His share, he said, included a shotgun, which he pawned for $3 and a typewriter for $10. Both articles have been identified and will be recovered.

Oldfield said a search is under way for the second man named by the prisoner in his statement.

Secrecy Lid On Red Parley

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today appeared to have clamped a tight security lid on the gathering of foreign Communist party spokesmen for Monday's meeting on Red unity.

The Soviet press made no reference to the arrival Wednesday of Italian, East German and Czechoslovak party delegations; and maintained tight secrecy on other expected arrivals.

Mikhail Suslov, powerful member of the party Presidium, met the four-man Italian delegation, headed by Enrico Berlinguer. Presidium member Andrei Kirilenko greeted the East Germans led by Politburo member Herman Matern.

American Communist leaders Hyman Lumer and William I. Patterson were reported in Moscow.

Observers believed the secretive handling of the arrivals and other details indicated a Soviet attempt to play down the highly controversial meeting.

Red China has refused to attend on the grounds that it would lead to a split of the world Communist movement.

The parties of Albania, North Viet Nam, Indonesia, North Korea, Great Britain, Romania and Japan are also reported to have refused to attend.

Former Premier Khrushchev last August originally called the meeting of 26 parties for Dec. 15. After his ouster, it was moved up to March 1.

Five High School Students Are Scholarship Finalists

Big Spring: Senior High School today hit the jackpot on National Merit Scholarship finalists by placing five for scholarship consideration.

They are Cynthia Nolen, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. W. F. Nolen; Ricky Ream, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Ream; Nancy Thomas, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Clyde E. Thomas Jr.; John Richard Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Thomas; and Kathy Seddon, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. E. A. J. Seddon.

Although BSHS has had semi-finalists for more than half a dozen years in the NMS program, only twice before has it had finalists. Doug Brandon, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Brandon, is now on scholarship at Rice, while Steve Kite, son of Mr. Sgt. and Mrs. Verlin Kite was last reported at the University of Texas.

All of the five selected in the final evaluation by NMS are not eligible to be considered for scholarships. Should they not qualify for these, they will be listed as commended students, who frequently find private college and other scholarships as a result.

While academic excellence is stressed, NMS also insists on well-rounded personalities. Thus, extra-curricular activity and special achievements, aside from required work, are considered. It so happens that all five of the finalists this year are

Lions Salute Five Youths

The Downtown Lions got a chance Wednesday to salute the five young men and women who qualified as finalists in the National Merit Scholarships competition.

Wayne Bonner, guidance director at Big Spring High School, explained the program, a privately financed venture to reward scholarship and scholastic citizenship.

Each of the five gave a terse biography and told of some outside interests and what they now planned to do.

Cynthia Nolen — A mid-term graduate and now attending Howard County Junior College, hopes to be able to major in astronomical physics and get into the space program.

Kathy Seddon — Takes part in music, speech, tennis, Student Council; hopes to take a masters in social science and government with a goal of overseas duty in U.S. foreign service.

Nancy Thomas — Involved in numerous activities, on Student Council, likes sports and writes poetry; wants to major in elementary education at University of Texas.

John Richard Thomas — Works at a hospital, also manages rent property for grandfather, president of Science Club, active in church work; wants to become a doctor.

Ricky Ream — Has been a "brother" to a foreign exchange student this year, active in Key Club and various organizations, interested in music; plans to enter Baylor University to become a doctor or researcher in biology or chemistry.

The freeing of U.S. B-57 bombers for action within South Viet Nam, officially disclosed Wednesday, added push to the air warfare that had been waged jointly with slower pro-peller-driven planes and helicopters by Americans and Vietnamese.

National Merit Scholarships is a program established nine years ago by a grant from the Ford Foundation and since joined by 237 other corporations and foundations, as well as a number of colleges and universities. Over 9,000 scholarships have been awarded, and these range from $100 to $1,500 or more, depending upon need. The grants are made annually for four years.

Finalists represent the top one half of one per cent of high school students, said Wayne Bonner, guidance director at BSHS. Each year 17,000 high schools in the states and territories enter some 700,000 juniors in the contest. Texas this year had about 35,000 contestants.

From those taking the first exams in the spring, semi-finalists are chosen to take the College Board exams in the autumn, and their showing here, together with their other record, determines if they are to be finalists.

Next first round tests will be given March 13, and already 20 students have applied, said Bonner.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Air Force jets bearing secret antipersonnel weapons blasted Viet Cong strong positions north and east of Saigon today and there were exultations among the crewmen, along on the sidelines.

Beale Reports On Meeting

John Taylor, presiding at the meeting of the chamber of commerce economic development committee Wednesday afternoon, called on R. L. Beale for a report of a recent meeting in Fort Worth. The Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce sponsored an Industrial Development clinic, with major figures of the industrial world conducting sessions.

Big Spring representatives at the clinic were Beale, J. Y. (Ike) Robb Jr., R. H. Weaver, Paul Meek, and Jerry Jenkins.

Included among the speakers at the Fort Worth clinic was Winthrop Rockefeller who has taken a leading part in the industrial development of Arkansas. He told the group that the more than 100,000 industries, listed as interested in possible changes of location or expansion, were screened, and that some 30,000 were selected to be contacted. The list was made up of industries not asking for concessions.

One of the main attractions of cities for industries was that of "attitude," he said. Citizens must want industries and new businesses to make a city attractive, other clinic speakers said.

"A bare piece of land in a good location, without the benefits that go with an attractive city, means little," Rockefeller said.

Patent attorney contacts and ways of financing industries for Big Spring were on the agenda for Wednesday, but will be heard at a later meeting.

 The suit preference signal is a valuable defensive tool—when used properly. It provides that "the play of an unnecessarily high card, which obviously is not a come-on signal, asks partner to return the higher-ranking of the two plain suits (i. e., excluding trumps and the suit which partner has led).

Emphasis is placed on the phrase "which obviously is not a come-on signal" because numerous abuses have been committed by players who apply the convention with little or no discrimination. West's performance in defending against South's four spade contract is a good case in point.

West opened the king of clubs and East signaled emphatically for a continuation of the suit by playing the nine, as declarer false-carded from his hand with the ten. It appeared to East that his own holding in spades offered the primary hope for defeating the contract, and he felt that it was urgent to attack the opposition's trump holding without delay.

West decided that the nine of clubs was a suit preference signal, and he promptly shifted to the ten of hearts at trick two. South played the king of hearts from his hand and led the jack of spades for a finesse. East was in with the queen and he returned a club which was ruffed in dummy.

South cautiously refrained from cashing the ace of spades. Instead, he led the six from the North hand. East put up the king and returned another club. Declarer ruffed with the dummy's ace and returned to his hand in diamonds in order to draw the remaining two trumps. He lost two spades and one club.

West's conclusions were not well founded. The play of an unnecessarily high card does not necessarily indicate a suit preference signal, unless it is not a normal come-on. Inasmuch as West has only one trump himself, there is a good chance that his partner has four spades and wishes to force declarer's holding in the suit.

Observe that, if West continues with a club at trick two, the dummy is obliged to ruff and, now when East gets in with the queen of spades, a third round of clubs delivers a lethal thrust. Whether South trumps in his own hand or the dummy, he cannot prevent East from eventually scoring three spade tricks to defeat the contract.

Revolutionary Youth 'Intellectually Curious'

AUSTIN (AP) — The student body president of the University of Texas spoke this week of teenage revolutionaries — garbed in button-down shirts and ivy league pants — but able to make intelligent decisions in a voting booth.

"Since I've been at the University of Texas," said Greg Lipscomb of Houston, "there has been an educational and political revolution."

The senior law student was one of four university students, and the only non-teenager, who urged the House Constitutional Amendments Committee to approve a proposal lowering the voting age to 18.

Lipscomb said today's 18-year-old is "intellectually curious . . .

The new owners said operations of the paper will continue with no personnel or policy changes. The purchase price was not disclosed.

Mathis was with the Houston Post from 1950 until 1962, working in Houston, Austin and Washington. Mrs. Mathis, a former White House reporter for the Post, was with the Houston paper 10 years.

Engleman, a native of Tulsa, bought the Daily Review shortly after World War II from W. R. Montgomery.

It's About Time, Show's Fans Say

By BOB THOMAS
 AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "We've been living together for two years; it's about time we got married."

The provocative Inger Stevens made this statement — about her television series, "The Farmer's Daughter." For eight years two seasons she has been playing Katie, the winsome housekeeper for Minnesota Congressman William Windom in the ABC show, and their relationship has caused raised eyebrows among the more literal television watchers.

FANS ASK

"Yes, we've had a bit of mail asking when we were going to get married," Inger admitted. "It seems to have upset some of the viewers that Katie has been living under the same roof with the man she obviously loves. She gets a kiss from him now and then, and on one show he even carried her upstairs in his arms."

Such goings-on cannot continue in television, unless the show is "Peyton Place," of course. Katie's integrity will be vouchsafed later this season with an engagement to the handsome congressman.

"NOT PROPER"

"She'll have to move out of the house, of course," said Inger. "It was all right for her to stay there as long as they weren't engaged. Now it wouldn't be proper." It may be a long engagement. At least the pair won't wed until next season — if then. "I think the producers plan to wait and see what the mail reaction will be to the idea of a marriage," the Swedish-born actress remarked. "Maybe people won't like the idea."

NULL WEDDING

The production minds are already at work on a proper wedding — if it takes place. The idea is to stage it in Washington, preferably at cherry blossom time, with a member of each political party in the wedding.

"The Farmer's Daughter" has come through the renewal period without mishap, and will return to ABC a half-hour later next season, in an effort to attract a more mature audience. Inger is content to remain another year and perhaps to the full length of her contract — five years.

Or could it be that Inger is planning an off-camera marriage with producer Allen Baron, her steady date. "I don't know," she said provocatively. "He hasn't asked me."

Thant Bares Proposals For Viet Nam Settlement

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant disclosed today he had been engaged in private discussions for some time with the United States and other parties to the Viet Nam conflict and had made concrete proposals aimed at a negotiated settlement.

He declined to disclose the nature of his proposals, but told a news conference he was confident a formula could be found which would end the fighting and enable the United States to withdraw gracefully once stability has been achieved.

Thant said he did not advocate an immediate U.S. military withdrawal. He said, however, that he had the "greatest respect for the great American leader, President Johnson, whose wisdom, moderation and sensitivity to public opinion is well-known."

"I am sure that the great American people, if it only knows the true facts, will agree with me that further bloodshed is unnecessary and that political and diplomatic negotiations alone can create conditions that will enable the United States to withdraw gracefully from that part of the world," he added.

The Goliath went to aid the tug Vulcan, which was pushing barges and was in trouble a mile south of the Texas 87 ferry landing off Bolivar Peninsula.

The Goliath ran on a mud bar, and in backing off, the fuel shifted and the tug sank.

A Devotional For The Day

Repent ye, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ unto the remission of your sins; and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit. (Acts 2:38, ASV)
PRAYER: Help us, our Father, to submit ourselves to the Holy Spirit's control. Produce in our daily lives the fruit of the Holy Spirit. Glorify Thyself through us and grant us eternal life; through Jesus Christ our Lord, in whom we put our faith and hope. Amen.

Builders Both

This is Brotherhood Week and National Engineers Week, and perhaps they have little in common except that both are dedicated to the task of building.
The ideal of brotherhood is the spirit of our democratic system, for it is the manifestation of the ideal that all men are created free and equal in opportunity before the law. It is the idea to give a man a chance to show what he can do, and accept him for what he can do and not from whence he came.
The engineer has played a great role in our technological advance. He has translated dreams into reality, he has put theories to work. Few of the wonders we accept as routine parts of our lives would have been possible had it not been for engineers who gave them substance, practicality, economy. Whether it is a magnificent building, a domed stadium, a huge bridge, a chemical plant, an intricate system of a space ship, the factory of a rocket, a jet airplane, or plastic cap pistons or squeeze bottles, engineers have had a hand in the production of these and thousands of other things.

Thus during this special week, we salute both of these—those who would build understanding and mutual appreciation and respect among human beings, and those whose skills help bring to people the benefits most human beings enjoy.

Run Our Own Race

A couple of years back there was great fear that war was near in the Cuban crisis, but as it turned out many observers later praised the delicate, masterly exercise of power and restraint which forced the Russians off their rocket gambit.

Now that the United States has responded with air strikes against North Viet Nam, there again has arisen apprehension about widening of the conflict, especially fears that the gambit may have driven Russia and Red China back together.

Of course, it is desirable that Russia and Red China go their separate ways, but it is also desirable that they understand that despite all the pretense and formal terminology we are well aware the source, the genius and the purpose of the Viet Cong attacks.

Moreover, it is doubtful that these responses—these air attacks on strategic targets, if you please—would so instantly change Russian and Chinese policy. While the Communist tactic is one of great flexibility and accommodation, it always moves within some grand strategy. Thus, it is well that we pursue with firmness and with flexibility, our own grand design with more concern on the long-range than the immediate response.

Murphy And The Right-Wingers

WASHINGTON—Of the small crop of new senators it is a Californian who gets the most attention from the galleries and the reason is not hard to find. George L. Murphy, one of the rare Republicans to buck the Johnson landslide, was a familiar father in the movies for years as the kindly father figure in Shirley Temple's life and before that as a soft-shoe dancer.

BUT THERE is another less obvious reason why Murphy should be a center of interest. He is a new breed of public-office holder, generated in the strange politics of the nation's most populous state—the smooth performer who knows every trick of the mass media.

No Hollywood casting office could mistake Murphy. As he rose on the floor last week for his maiden speech—to appeal for the admission of Mexican labor that California's big fruit and vegetable growers insist they must have—he was the very model of a senator. Quiet-voiced, restrained, modest, he nevertheless put the case for the growers forcefully.

HIS TECHNIQUE in his campaign was to soft-pedal all controversy, including his connection with far-right groups. But in light of the political bomb just exploded in Los Angeles the question is whether in the future Sen.

Murphy can skirt his close connection with the far right.

He is the protégé and was until his election the employee, as general vice president of the Technicolor Corporation, of Patrick J. Frawley Jr., who also controls Schick Safety Razor. Frawley is the principal angel of Fred Schwarz's Christian Anti-Communist Crusade and a host of other right-wing causes. He was also chairman of a television committee for Barry Goldwater that is said to have raised $3,000,000.

THE POLITICAL BOMB took the form of four indictments returned by a Los Angeles grand jury investigating a charge of conspiracy to commit criminal libel against California's senior senator, Thomas H. Kuchel, also a Republican. One of the four indicted was John F. Fergus, a public relations executive for Frawley. Fergus denied the charges but resigned from his position because he said he did not want to embarrass Frawley and the company.

The district attorney's office in Los Angeles and the grand jury are convinced that the "false, reckless, malicious and vicious" affidavit alleging a morals charge against the senator was part of a conspiracy to destroy him politically. A host of witnesses, including members of the John Birch Society, were called to testify.

FULL DETAILS will not be known until the transcript of the lengthy hearing resulting in the indictments is released. But those familiar with the case believe it was an attempt at character assassination more savage than anything that occurred in the McCarthy era.

What it does is to draw the line even more sharply between the right wing of the Republican party in California, as represented by Murphy, and the Kuchel wing which is an outgrowth of the party's great days under such middle-of-the-roads as Hiram Johnson and Earl Warren.

Hire Ex-Cons

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Faced with a critical shortage of manpower, South African businessmen are breaking down traditional prejudices and are employing more and more men with prison records.

It is now far easier for a former convict to find a job than ever before. South Africa has an annual jail population of 340,000. During any one day 72,000 people of all races are behind bars. Of these 35,000 are serving terms of two years and longer.

Society's attitude towards the criminal is gradually getting better, reports J. Harley, chairman of the Pretoria Branch of the Social Services Association, which last year helped find jobs for nearly 4,000 former convicts.

NEW YORK (AP)—Frank Loesser, composer last heard from on Broadway with "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying," turns his attention to Catherine the Great's Russia in "Pleasures and Palaces," for Broadway.

Sam Spewack, who co-authored the book of "Kiss Me Kate" and a number of other stage exhibits, has adapted the story from his own "Once There Was a Russian." The musical, previously labeled "Ex-Lover," concerns the empress, Potemkin and the American naval hero, John Paul Jones.

Asking For Pay Raise

NEW YORK (AP) — One of life's little ordeals is asking the boss for a hike in pay.

This is the greatest business drama in America today, and it takes place daily in thousands of offices.

The pattern usually goes as follows: Your name is Jack Crestfall, and you finally get tired of hearing your wife complain about how hard it is for her to make both ends meet.

"If you don't ask for a raise, I'm going to have to start taking in the neighbors' washing," she threatens.

WHEN YOU tell your buddies at the office you are going to hit the boss up for more money, all work halts while they give advice. Some egg you on, others say you are foolhardy. They recall the case of a fellow in the stockroom who asked for a raise 20 years ago, got fired and wound up on the streets carrying a signboard for a pants-pressing firm.

The next step is to enlist the aid of the secretary of the boss. You butter her up by buying her flowers and candy with your lunch money.

Two months later she lets you know the stage is set.

"THE BOSS is real pleased this morning because he had a good golf game yesterday, Jack," she says. "You'd better hit him up now—while his irons are still hot."

But the big man—old J.P. Grasper—seems in a mood of pure irony when you squirm across the thick rug up to his desk.

"Ah, Mr. Crestfall," he murmurs, "and may I inquire the purpose of your visit? I hope this is not another complaint about the lack of paper towels in the men's washroom."

"NO, SIR," you hesitate, and then the words blurt out, "I just got to have more money. My wife and kids—"

"You understand, of course, young man, that we are not exactly a welfare organization. This is the boss's favorite line."

"No, sir, but I have been working hard. Last month I put 20 new ideas in the office suggestion box."

"How many have we adopted?"

"None, sir."

A long, long silence.

Grasper, toying with his eyeglasses and staring dolefully out the window, then gives you management's set speech. Management itself likes to move young men ahead as fast as it can, but management has its problems, too. Management is on a raft adrift in perilous seas. Business is bad, the market is tightening, no one knows what lies ahead.

JUST AS your backbone melts into complete jelly and you start to volunteer to take a pay cut to keep the firm afloat, Grasper throws out a lifeline.

"Well, Mr. Crestfall," he says grudgingly, "I guess it wouldn't break us to give you a $5 increase, now, my boy."

Business is bad, the market is tightening, no one knows what lies ahead.

Nursing Mother Shouldn't Take Birth Control Pills

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: Should birth control pills be taken by a nursing mother? If not, what would be her best protection against becoming pregnant even though she is nursing?
—G.R.

For a time after pregnancy ovulation does not resume. So, of course, there can be no pregnancy or menstruation.

Usually this is at least for six or eight weeks. But in any case, it is best to abstain from sex relations for that length of time.

My suggestion would be to wait until then, have a checkup by your doctor, and have him advise you as to when to resume the pills.

The pills will lessen or stop milk production. Hence if your milk supply is adequate for the baby's needs, the pills should not be taken.

If the milk supply is diminishing or the prospect of weaning is near, then I would wait a little longer—that is, wait until you have stopped nursing before resuming the pills.

Your menstrual rhythm by then should be well established again, which is important in knowing the proper time to take the pills—that is, from the fifth day through the 20th day after the onset of each period. If my suggestion still leaves you with an interval when pregnancy is possible but you are not yet ready to resume the pills, one of the older methods of birth control would suffice. Your doctor can advise which would be best for you.

Incidentally, nursing does NOT prevent pregnancy.

Dear Doctor: Is it advisable to continue birth control pills after menopause?

No. The purpose of the pills is to prevent ovulation, or release of an ovum or egg. When menopause has occurred, Nature has already halted ovulation.

As to the "gray zone," the time just preceding actual menopause, when a woman may still be having occasional periods, use of the pills is favored by a good many doctors to give the patient a sense of security and peace of mind, even though pregnancy while possible, is very much less probable.

Dear Dr. Molner: I can't have any salt as I have high blood pressure, but the rest of my family like it in their food. Since I can't afford to cook things for myself alone, what do you suggest?—MRS. M.A.

First, let the family salt their food to suit themselves at the table. Second, if occasionally you can't help having some particular food salted before it reaches the table, you can substitute something else for yourself just for that meal—scramble some eggs, or eat leftovers from the day before. Third, avoid foods which are salted when they are processed. Most preserved meats, whether bacon, sausage or others, are salted. Use fresh meats, fish and poultry instead. Fourth, you can get salt substitutes at the grocery or drug store.

What are ulcers? How should they be treated? What can you do to help rid yourself of ulcers and stay rid of them? For answers, read Dr. Molner's helpful booklet, "How To Heal Peptic Ulcers and Keep Them Healed." For your copy write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

Dissenter On Modern Math

It's not just the parents and teachers who are turning a questioning eye on the "new mathematics" being integrated into the school systems across the land. The harried parent trying to help junior puzzle out the meaning of the new methods has an ardent spokesman in Physics Professor Alexander Calandra of Washington University.

HE TOLD the recent convention of the American Association of School Administrators "the discovery aspects of the new math were oversold and that much of traditional math could be taught just as interestingly, and it would be more honest."

And more, he charged that the modern math is often little more than a status symbol used by mathematicians to obtain grants, by educators to gain prestige, and by publishers to sell books. He charges school boards have rubberstamped new math programs they really didn't understand in their hurry to get on the bandwagon.

"BY THIS process," he explained, "some rather amateurish efforts" of curriculum planning and textbook "came to be status symbols in mathematics and science education in America." Much of what resulted, he said, is mediocre "and some of it is ill-advised."

The professor said that teaching set notation to children in the elementary grades was foolish. Just because a child is able to learn something is no reason that he should.

"IT IS LIKE taking a child in diapers and saying, 'Wouldn't he look cute in a full dress suit?' He'd be a mess to change," quipped the speaker.

He told the assembly that there are more than 600 programs of the new math, and they range from "interesting approaches" to "rather wearying pedantics."

HE CALLED for school boards to examine the new math program more carefully, pointing out that one school system had adopted three different new math programs in a short period of time, all of which turned out to be unsatisfactory.

If the professor's charges are only partially true, it is a serious indictment and worthy of some serious study by the administrators.

The Navy Can't Do It All

WASHINGTON—Back in 1958 at the battle for Quemoy-Matsu, the U. S. Navy deployed four carriers which stood off by as the Chinese Nationals beat off the Communists' attacks. In the February air strikes against North Viet Nam, the Navy had only three carriers on station—the Ranger, the Hancock and the Coral Sea. This reduction in force, while no sign of weakness, does indicate the serious over-commitment of the Naval Service in which we must put so much reliance. A Navy spokesman summed it up:

"WE'RE LIVING in a four-ocean era with a two-ocean Navy. It's necessary to patrol the Pacific from the Arctic to the Antarctic, the North Atlantic, the Caribbean and the Mediterranean. We ought to have a fleet for the Indian Ocean, but we just don't have that many vessels. As matters stand today, we are deploying at sea for eight and nine months at a stretch, instead of the normal six months. Our men and ships wear out faster than they should. We're already stretched to the limit of our capabilities."

WITH TIPTOE negotiations going on, which may bring the removal of our Army and Air Force units from South Viet Nam, the Navy becomes more than ever our main line of defense in the Western Pacific. The Seventh Fleet is a mighty armada, but it is not almighty and the conditions of operation are not ideal. Its Commander, Vice Admiral Roy Johnson, can call upon 64,000 men, a total of 125 ships, including two Polarisarmed submarines, and better than 300 aircraft. The range of the fighter and bomber planes varies from 1,000 to over 1,500 nautical miles, and these distances are manageable so long as the carriers cruise in the South China Sea and below the 17th Parallel which divides Viet Nam.

BUT IF OPERATIONS from the sea should call for moving closer to Hanoi, the North Vietnamese capital, our carriers, cruisers, amphibious ships and logistic ships would have to move into the Gulf of Tonkin at almost unacceptable risks. This body of water is small, landlocked on three sides by Communist territory and very shallow.

As Navy tacticians discuss it, they admit that land-based planes could make the place close to untenable for any surface ships except those regarded as expendable.

ASIDE FROM its salt water commitments, the Navy is already deep in operations inside Viet Nam. The Bureau of Ships is at work on ingenious lightweight craft, made of aluminum, fiberglass and from rubber, capable of operating in any damp environment from shallow streams to muddy swamps. But, again, the over-demand for men and vessels is pinching the Navy's capacity.

If negotiations do go so far as taking the Army and Air Force out of Viet Nam, we cannot plausibly say, "What's the difference? We've always got the Navy." For the Navy is already overworked, overextended and underequipped.

Confessions Of An Eavesdropper

WASHINGTON—Last week's Senate hearings on electronic eavesdropping and bugging devices reached their high point when it was revealed that you could even record someone's conversation through a martini olive. But the hearings brought back sad memories for me.

I tried to bug someone once. It was during the days of the McCarthy hearings and the Senator had sent his two young lieutenants, Roy Cohn and David Schine, gumshoeing through Western Europe hoping to find Communists in the State Department.

COHN and SCHINE were scheduled to give a press conference in Paris at the American Embassy and I had just purchased for $400 a German wire recorder called a Minephone, which could be hidden in a shoulder holster under your arm. The microphone was an ordinary watch and I was assured I could record anyone's conversation without his knowing it.

I revealed to all my Paris press colleagues that I was armed with this bugging equipment, and I would be able to get everything Cohn and Schine said, as they said it, without their being aware of it. My friends were thrilled and excited. They arranged to have me sit at close to Cohn and Schine as I could get, so each pearl that came from their lips would be recorded.

NO ONE bothered to take any notes, because I was recording the conference for everybody.

After the press conference was over, we all rushed to the Crillon Hotel bar, across from the Embassy, and everyone watched excitedly as I took the Minephone out from under my coat and proceeded to play it for the press.

I PRESSED the "play" button and nothing happened. I checked the batteries and they were in order. I opened the case and suddenly realized what I had done. I was so excited I had forgotten to turn the recording machine on when the press conference started.

My one big chance to do some bugging for the good of humanity had failed.

But the story does have a happy ending.

Two weeks later, a young man I knew, of wealthy parents, came in to see me. He said he decided to go in for a journalist career and he was wondering if I could give him some advice as to how to go about it.

I THOUGHT for a few moments and then I said, "You own a Minephone. I presume."

He didn't even know what it was. I explained, "If you're going to be a reporter, you've got to have a Minephone. It's a secret recording device that you use for interviews and press conferences."

"Where can I get one?" he asked excitedly.

"THEY'RE VERY hard to come by, but if you come back tomorrow I may be able to find one for you. They cost $400."

"I've got the money," he pleaded. "Please get me one."

The next day I parted with my Minephone and the young man went off towards the Champs Elysees to start his career in the journalism profession. I don't know how he's made out since, but I wouldn't be in the least surprised to see his name as a winner of the Pulitzer Prize any day now.

Billy Graham

We have more money than we know how to spend and yet my husband is still money-mad. He is wonderful in every other way, but can't stop driving himself to make more and more money. Do you have any suggestions to help him?

When Jesus was asked to settle an inheritance dispute between two brothers, he declined with a warning against covetousness. Money is a good slave but a bad master. Property belongs in the purse or the bank, but not in the heart. Wealth has its place and its power, but it is not entitled to occupy the throne or sway the sceptre. Covetousness puts money above manhood. It shackles its devotee and makes him its victim. It hardens the heart and deadens the noble impulses and destroys the vital qualities of life.

Your husband should keep himself from it through vigilance, prayer, self-control and discipline. Help him to remember that life is not a matter of dollars and cents, houses and lands, earning capacity and financial achievement. Life is larger and better. Put God first. Money has become his God; he is guilty of idolatry, which is the worst of all sins. Let him turn from money to Christ. Once Christ is in his heart, the matter of covetousness will take care of itself.

The Stretch

URBANA, Ill. (AP) — Stretch fabrics are being improved by modern technology to provide faster and better recovery features plus shape retention.

Esther Siemen, University of Illinois extension clothing specialist, says the two basic categories of stretch fabrics are power stretch and comfort stretch.

Power stretch fabrics are highly stretchable and have quick recovery and "muscle power." They are used in athletic clothing.

Comfort stretch fabrics are used when holding strength is not needed. They allow for freedom of movement and give a smooth, comfortable fit.

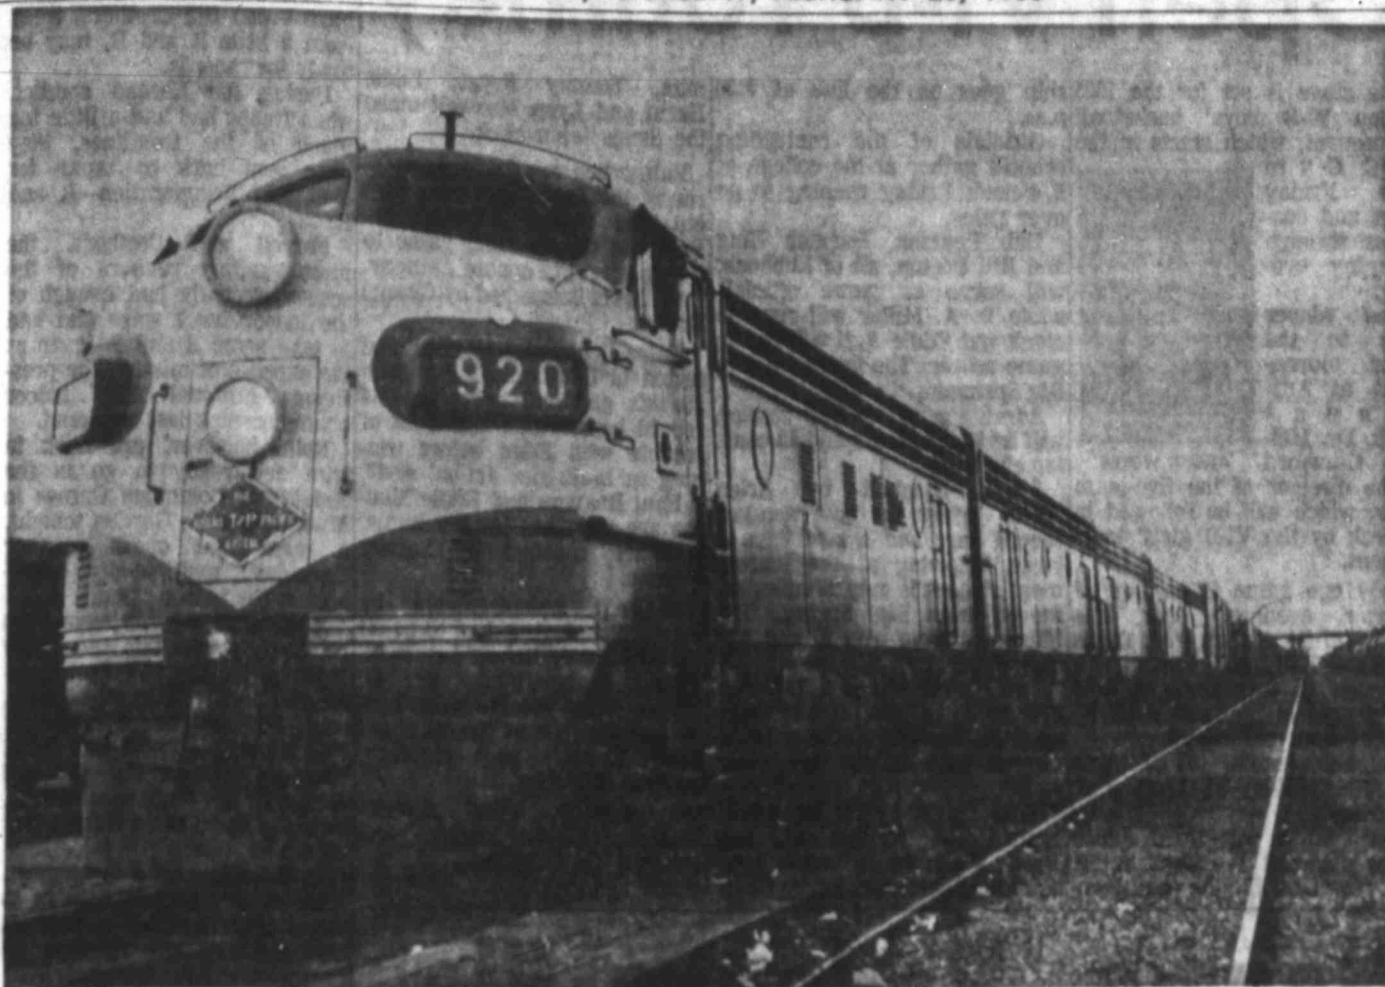

Any garment made of stretch fabric should feel comfortable and never feel or look strained or too tight, Miss Siemen said.

DIESEL UNITS PULL MILLIONS OF TONS OF FREIGHT ANNUALLY
Texas and Pacific Railway's locomotives use as many units as necessary to pull trains

Diesel-Electric Locomotives Moving T&P Freights Faster

The first locomotive to pull into Big Spring, over the newly-laid Texas and Pacific Railroad 84 years ago, was a lot different to the modern streamliners of today. The old funnel-smokestacked steamers were just as advanced in their day as the diesel-electric units now used to pull more than 100 loaded freight cars over much heavier rails.

Texas and Pacific Railway Co. always stays abreast, and it has no improvement greater than the addition of its fleet of sleek, powerful diesel locomotives.

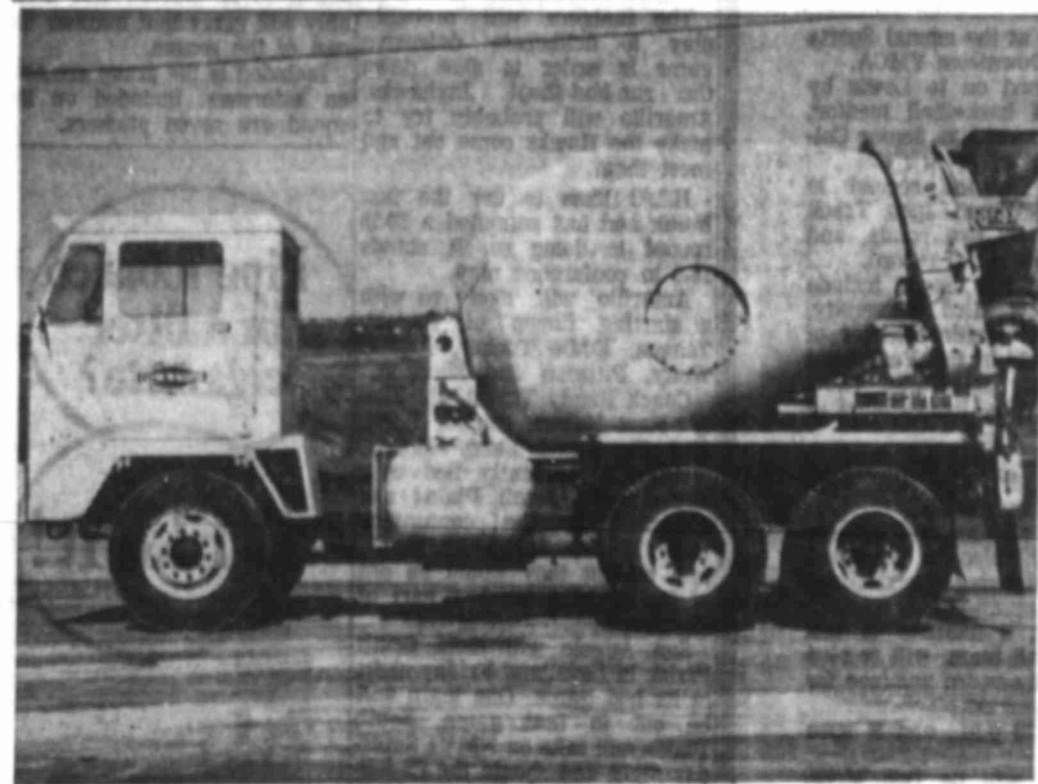

BEGAN 16 YEARS AGO
It was a little over 16 years ago that the first modern diesel-electric locomotive made its debut on the T&P. This drastic transition in motive power was both hailed and lamented.

To many admirers of the railroad's impressive old steam engines, the passing of the cumbersome giants, and the coming of the diesels meant the end of a romantic era of railroading. It meant the passing of that most nostalgic of sounds — the long, tuneful, and often plaintive-at-night sound of the steam locomotive whistle.

When the big, swift-moving high-wheeled steamers, used for pulling passenger trains, first started over railroads, there were always crowds at the depot to meet the trains. Some went down to see who was coming and going. Others were more interested in the puffing, steaming, and sometimes smoking moguls rumbling in to the stations with sparks flying from applied brakes. Nobody goes to the station to watch trains come in today, unless expecting to meet someone.

FLASHY-LOOKING
But the fast-and-flashy new diesels, with their powerful engines gliding smoothly over the rails up to 70 to 80 miles per hour, more than filled the motive power gap. In five meteoric years, they proceeded to "put to pasture" every steam-powered "Iron Horse" the T&P owned to complete dieselizing the railroad.

During the past 15 years Texas and Pacific has acquired and

Light Provides Protection

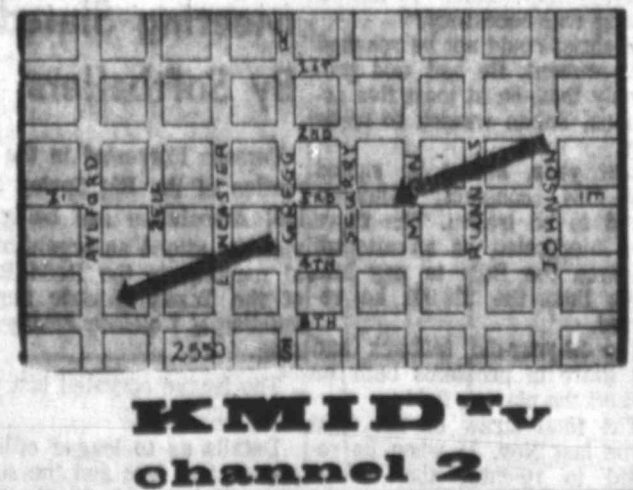

An outdoor fixture, designed as a protection for homes, business buildings and lots or industrial sites, known as Guard-Lite, is offered by Texas Electric Service Co. in Big Spring. A lot of new uses are continually being found for it.

Mounted on a standard 30-foot pole, the light is available to TESCO's customers for $4 a month, including normal installation, pole, electricity, and maintenance.

A white, mercury vapor-type lamp gives the brilliance of more than four 100-watt incandescent bulbs. It turns on at dusk and off at dawn by an electric eye.

B. L. Beale, local manager for TESCO, says an acre of farm land, or as much as a 100-car parking lot, can be adequately lighted with the Guard-Lite.

Meet Nabobs Seek Teams

By TED MEIER

Penn State and Dayton, which will play in the NCAA, and Boston College, which will appear in the NIT, celebrated acceptance of their bids to the two major post-season college basketball tournaments by bowling over Bucknell, Louisville and Boston University, respectively.

The actual competition on the courts Wednesday night took a back seat to the spirited bidding earlier in the day for teams to fill the 23-team NCAA field and the 14-team NIT.

The NCAA tournament, which determines the national champion, landed seven at-large teams — Providence, Penn State, Dayton, DePaul, Houston, Colorado State University and Oklahoma City. The NIT snared Villanova, Boston College and Detroit.

Because of what a spokesman termed a lack of teams with good records west of the Mississippi, the NCAA cut its field to 23 from 25 and eliminated the first round of the Far West regionals originally scheduled for Corvallis, Ore. Just one more at-large team is needed to complete the field since 15 conference champions automatically qualify.

The NCAA opens with first-round games March 8 in Philadelphia and Lubbock, Tex., and ends at Portland, Ore., on March 20. The NIT opens in New York on March 11 and also ends March 20.

Penn State, which will oppose the Ivy League champion, in the first game of a tripleheader March 8 at Philadelphia, extended its winning streak to 12 and upped its overall record to 18-3 by whipping Bucknell 68-52. Carver Clinton paced the Nittany Lions with 22 points as they remained unbeaten at home.

Dayton, 19-4, invaded Louisville and beat the Cardinals from the Missouri Valley Conference 75-70. Jack Warrell led the Flyers with 22 points. John Austin scored 27 points. Tufts 73-65 in the other first-round game and will play BC in a first-round game of the final next Monday.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

The Region VI-B basketball tournament starting here Friday is the only one of that classification in the state with less than eight teams eligible to take part. The local meet, which will be held at Howard County Junior College, will have five contingents competing.

Other regional tournaments in the Class B division are being held at Canyon, Stephenville, Sherman, Kilgore and San Marcos.

Roger Staubach, the former NMMI cager who became a football All-American at the Naval Academy, has decided to make it a career with the Marine Corps.

The 1964 football season among Texas high schools closed without a single case of mistreatment or abuse of game officials or a single incident of crowd misconduct being reported to the State Executive Committee.

Needless to relate, the crowds in some instances were sullen but not mutinous. It is interesting to note that, in some high school stadiums, provisions were made for turning the game, to hasten and insure the clearing of the fields. High school officials have seen to it that the protection of officials has improved up. The calibre of officiating probably has improved, too.

The current Big Spring High School baseball team is probably in a better way for pitchers than at any time in recent years.

Three of the eight boys listed as hurlers on the club are lettermen and two others won reserve numerals last season. The Steers open here a week from tomorrow against Andrews.

Lefty Steve Hillhouse, the Colorado City hurler who is poised for his junior year at Texas A&M, spent most of last summer at home.

He had planned to play sandlot ball in Kansas but the league didn't pan out. The Aggies will lean more heavily on Steve than last year — coach Tom Chandler has only four lettermen back from last year.

A Southwest Conference basketball coach who sat in on the Midland-Lee-El Paso playoff game in Midland the other night said neither of El Paso's 6-3 boys is an outstanding prospect.

Incidentally, game officials Jim Scott and Lou Turlo had a chance to work the Lee-El Paso game (where the home team was sold out in advance of the game) but had already been committed to toll the junior college contest here.

As it turned out, they were roasted by some of the spectators. The game was a hard one to police because of the type of offense that Clarendon was using and some of the fans felt inclined to get on someone in hopes of changing the play patterns. As is usually the case the arbiters were the whipping boys.

Two Sands Players Gain Spots On All-District

Two members of the championship Sands club were named to the All-District 87-B basketball team selected Thursday night by coaches in a meeting held in Lamesa.

The two Sands players honored were Eddie Herm, who received 49 of a possible 50 points in the balloting, and Larry Chapman, 25; and Danny Hagin, 24.

The second team consisted of: Jimmy Hollingsworth, Flower Grove; Ronnie Hilton, Loop; Emel Douglass, Klondike; Joe Kropp, Gail; and Oren Lancaster, Sands.

Herm was named to represent the conference in the Six and Eight-Man Coaches School all-star game this summer.

Alternates on the club, in the appointed order, are Haines, Eddie Hollingsworth, Chapman and Hagin.

Solons Plan Investigation Of Pro Raids

WASHINGTON (AP) — The signing of college football players by professional clubs while the athletes still have college eligibility will be examined next in a Senate investigation of Big-time sport.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., chairman of the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee, expects to take testimony over one or two days. He announced no date for the start of these hearings.

The subcommittee is conducting an inquiry in connection with a bill by Hart and other senators to limit antitrust law exemptions for strictly sports aspects of professional baseball, football, basketball and hockey.

The subcommittee tentatively wound up its investigation of professional baseball Wednesday. Hart told a reporter professional basketball and hockey went on record last year as endorsing the bill and there may be no need to call their officials again unless they want to be heard.

But he said Sen. A. S. (Mike) Monroney, D-Okla., has requested investigation of the secret signing of college football stars by professional teams and that the request will be granted. Hart said officials of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the National and American Football Leagues would be among the witnesses.

He said the subcommittee would examine in depth what steps the two professional leagues are taking to forbid and punish the premature signing of college stars.

The baseball phase of the inquiry reached a tentative end with testimony by Arthur C. Allyn Jr., Chicago White Sox owner, that the American League has "blown the whistle" on domination of its affairs by the New York Yankees.

He said the Yanks have had a powerful voice, but that from now on they will be just "one of us."

Allyn said the change came about after the controversial sale of the Yankees to the Columbia Broadcasting System, which the subcommittee has been investigating.

New Patch

1st Lt. George Podrasky of Webb AFB models an oversized drawing of the shoulder patch which will be worn by members of the Big Spring Ski Club. The art work was done by Janelle Podrasky, the officer's wife. The club ordered 35 of the patches, each of which will sell for about $1.

Sands, Fort Davis Open VI-B Tourney

The stage is set for the 1965 Region VI-B boys' basketball tournament, which starts in the HCJC Gym here Friday night and continues through Saturday evening.

The winner goes to the State tournament at Austin next week. Dr. Melvin Crawford is the director of the five-team show, which will be followed in a week by the VI-B girls' tournament.

Only one game is on tap tomorrow evening. That pits Sands (87-B) against Fort Davis (89-B) at 7:30 p.m.

Winner of that game will be pitted against McCauley (85-B) at 9:45 a.m. Saturday.

Talpa-Centennial (82-B) takes on Miles (84-B) at 11:15 a.m. Saturday.

The game for third place takes place at 7 o'clock Saturday evening while the championship goes on the line at 8:30 p.m.

Officials of the contending schools gather at the college at 6 o'clock Friday evening to go over rules.

Dub Pearson, Harmon King and Bill Boston, all of Lubbock, will serve as game officials while D. A. Miller will run the clock and Eddie Aciri will be the game scorer. The latter two are Big Springers.

Admission prices per session will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

Sands, coached by Arlen White, brings the best won-lost record here and should have a large following at the tournament since it is only 23 miles removed from Big Spring. The Mustangs have won 20 and lost only five.

Fort Davis brings a 19-8 record to town and looked very good in bombing Anthony in bi-district play earlier this week, 74-54.

Fort Davis builds its attack around Lou Walker Jr., and Fred Vejil while such boys as Oren Lancaster, Larry Chapman, Tommy Fryar, Eddie Herm and Lynn Maxwell make the Sands team click.

Balmorhea was favored to represent the Fort Davis area here but the Indians mauled the Bears in the deciding game to win the right to oppose Anthony. Fort Davis is coached by George Grubb.

Talpa-Centennial is tried and tested in tournament play such as this and will bring an 18-4 record here. Talpa had a lot of trouble with Eden before winning in bi-district action, 48-47.

Paul Beavers and Eddie Monroe are the stars for the Rams, who are coached by Barney Popcoe.

Miles, masterminded by James Pennington, had to go all out to edge by Robert Lee in bi-district competition, 45-43.

Wayne Book, Sid McCown, Larry Luedtke, Dave Krueger and Larry Rumsey play regularly for the Bulldogs.

Incidentally, Miles' superintendent is Fred Salling, who coached at Coahoma a few years ago.

That finished off a three-meet, three-victory performance in as many days for the 24-year-old Canadian. It also finished off Crothers, at least temporarily.

He hasn't won since. He collapsed from exhaustion and a virus in Philadelphia, ran second to Farrell's record half mile in New York, and lost to New Zealand's incomparable Peter Snell in Los Angeles.

Hawks, Badgers Vie In Critical Battle

By HARDY PRICE

HCJC Jayhawks will be going for all the, or at least part of, their 40th basketball victory when they meet the Badgers tonight in the Western Junior College Conference basketball crown race.

The Jayhawks will meet the Amarillo College Badgers at 8 o'clock in Jayhawk Gym in a game that means a lot to both clubs. HCJC will be shooting for its 40th basketball victory and five sophomores will be playing their last game in Jayhawk Gym—Eddy Nelson, Tom Carter, Keith Bond, Jim Flowers and Keith McKeever.

One of the largest crowds of the season is due to be on hand for the outing tonight.

The Badgers will be out to avenge a one-point defeat handed them by the Hawks in the first meeting of the two clubs in January. HCJC was down 12 points at halftime in the first game, 41-29, before putting on the pressure to win, 68-67.

Amarillo has been concentrating on this adventure at the expense of other games in the past several weeks. The Badgers have always had trouble with the Jayhawks at home.

A large crowd is expected from Amarillo and efforts have been made to transport practically the entire student body of the school here for the game. During the last home game in Amarillo an announcement was made over the loudspeaker asking all persons to attend the game in Big Spring.

The Badgers will probably play a deliberate defensive game in order to slow down the run-and-shoot Jayhawks. Amarillo will probably try to make the Hawks come out and meet them.

HCJC likes to use the fast break and has compiled a 20-10 record in doing so. It stands 18-4 in conference play.

Amarillo will likely go with a starting lineup of Rodney Teague, Eddie Tucker, Ronald Welty, Pittman and Simpson. Coach Buddy Travis will likely start Nelson, Carter, Bond, Kirt Papp and Larry Morris.

HCJC is currently tied with San Angelo, South Plains and Amarillo for the conference lead. If the Jayhawks should lose tonight they would be out of the running for any part of the crown.

San Angelo will meet South Plains in Levelland Friday night in its last game. One team will be out in that game. South Plains will take on NMMI Saturday night and the Cadets will meet Lubbock Christian beat Amarillo Monday. HCJC would be all alone in first place. The odds are, though, that the Jayhawks and South Plains will tie for the conference championship.

Emcee of the program will be Don Meredith, quarterback for the Dallas Cowboys of the NFL.

The dinner begins at 6:30 p.m., and is open to the public.

L. L. (Red) Lewis, Howard County Junior College track and field coach, is in Dallas where tonight he will be honored as Texas Junior College Coach of the Year.

The award will be made at the annual Sports Achievement Dinner at the Downtown YMCA.

The plaque will be passed on to Lewis by Shelby Metcalf, Texas A&M basketball mentor, who himself will receive an award as Senior College Coach of the Year.

Lewis' 1964 Jayhawks finished second to Phoenix, Arizona, in the National Juco Track and Field meet, losing out by two points, and his mile relay team set a world JC record.

Others to be honored at the dinner include pole vaulter Fred Hansen of Rice University, who will be honored both as Southwesterner of the Year and Amateur Athlete of the Year; and Johnny Keane, 1964 manager of the St. Louis (baseball) Cardinals, selected as Professional of the Year.

Keane will be honored in absentia, since he is now with his new employers, the New York Yankees, in spring training in Florida.

Outstanding high school coaches and athletes of Dallas County in 1964 will also be presented awards by the Saturday Morning Quarterback Club.

Lou Sara Clark, Dallas, a member of last year's U.S. Olympic volleyball team, will receive a special award as the Southwestern nominee for the AAU's Sullivan Award.

Track Stars Eye Records

NEW YORK (AP) — Tommy Farrell and Bill Crothers, fresh from a little R and R, may be ready for records.

During the Korean conflict, when troops had had a little too much of the frontlines, they were sent back to Japan for Rest and Recuperation—R and R.

Farrell and Crothers, the most exciting runners of the season, recently had enough of the indoor track wars and had to take some R and R—even at the expense of missing the prestigious National AAU indoor championships last weekend.

Both, however, are back in trim and ready to go in the Knights of Columbus Games in Madison Square Garden tonight, a meet that opens another three-day, multiple-city weekend on the indoor circuit.

And, while records have been relatively scarce this year, the loom as the most likely to succeed. Farrell, from St. John's, owns the only major mark set this season, a 1:49.8 half mile. Crothers missed the 600-yard record by one-tenth of a second, finishing in 1:09.3 in Boston last month.

That finished off a three-meet, three-victory performance in as many days for the 24-year-old Canadian. It also finished off Crothers, at least temporarily.

He hasn't won since. He collapsed from exhaustion and a virus in Philadelphia, ran second to Farrell's record half mile in New York, and lost to New Zealand's incomparable Peter Snell in Los Angeles.

Jury Panel Dismissed

Lee Porter, county judge, Thursday excused the jury panel which has been reporting daily for duty and finding nothing to do, from further service this week. He informed the jurors that no jury cases remained to be heard Friday.

Two cases were called Wednesday afternoon. S. T. Johnson Jr., charged with DWI, pleaded to a reduced charge of being drunk in a public place. He was fined $200 and given three days in jail. A case against E. F. Coates, charged with DWI, had to be continued when the defense attorney could not be in court.

Two cases set for today, C. R. Walraven, accused of DWI, and Milford N. Nunn, DWI, were continued due to the inability of attorneys to be on hand. Friday, Dee Jon Davis, county attorney, said that Annie Bell LaBrew and Henry Douglas, charged with liquor law violations, are scheduled to enter guilty pleas.

Prince Rainier, Onassis Feud Seen Thawing Out

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (AP) — The running feud between Prince Rainier III and Aristotle Onassis over future development plans for Monaco thawed enough Wednesday for the two overlords of the principality to sit down together for a two-hour meeting.

Prince Rainier is the hereditary ruler of Monaco. Onassis, as principal shareholder in the Societe des Bains de Mer — Sea Bathing Corp. — which owns the casino, golf course and principal hotels, has a tight rein on the purse strings.

About 10 days ago, Prince Rainier made a broadcast over Radio Monte Carlo openly criticizing the Societe des Bains de Mer for not doing enough to attract tourists to Monaco. He made a veiled reference to Onassis when he spoke of "certain persons who are active only sporadically in Monaco."

After the broadcast, Onassis told reporters that perhaps everything could be arranged if he could have a meeting with the prince. That led to the talk.

Prince Rainier would like to see the corporation be more active in sponsoring artistic and sporting events which would act as magnets for publicity and tourists. Onassis wants to build a modern casino on the location of the old railway station, eliminate the golf course, tear down one hotel and build a combination apartment-hotel. Onassis would also like to have Prince Rainier's veto on the firm's actions removed.

There was no indication after the meeting whether any of the problems had been settled.

Police Net Cast For Bank Robber

MOUNT ENTERPRISE, Tex. (AP) — Roadblocks remained up over a broad area of deep East Texas today as lawmen sought a methodical gunman who robbed a Mount Enterprise bank of $17,000 Wednesday.

The stocky bandit, wearing a black rain coat and a stocking cap pulled down over his face, entered the Merchants & Planters State Bank during the noon hour.

He forced officials to stuff two paper bags with cash and vanished into a snowstorm. The Rusk County sheriff's office at Henderson said leads in the case were "few and far between."

Three persons were in the bank — Morris Langford, the president; his wife Elsie, the vice president; and Mrs. Mae Boatman, bank secretary. Langford said the man, about 30, pulled a pistol and announced no one would be hurt if his orders were carried out. Mr.

and Mrs. Langford filled the sacks with money.

The man fled after ordering the three to lie on the floor.

Mount Enterprise, a cattle and timber town of about 500 people, is 50 miles southeast of Tyler. The bank was established in 1908.

Mrs. Evelyn Worley, national president of the NABW, will be the speaker at a banquet Saturday evening and will be guest of honor at a luncheon Saturday at noon. Two men charged with forgery and passing entered guilty pleas in 118th District Court Wednesday afternoon. Each was sentenced to serve seven years in the penitentiary. They were Morris D. Minter and Charles Ray Key.

Key had been tentatively slated to go to trial before a jury in the court Monday of next week. Judge Ralph Caton, presiding at the session, heard the pleas and sentenced the two men to prison.

Prince Rainier would like to see the corporation be more active in sponsoring artistic and sporting events which would act as magnets for publicity and tourists. County Library To Close Friday

Howard County Free Library will be closed Friday to permit its staff to attend a State Library Workshop to be held in Abilene.

Mrs. McDaniel will remain over for a second session of the workshop—a discussion on purchasing books for a library. This session will be Saturday.

Mrs. Kathleen Hale, Big Spring High School library, and Mrs. Cieta Fryar, a teacher who is planning to become a librarian, will also attend the workshop.

U.S. On Viet: 'Not Negotiating'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House says it is not engaged in any negotiations for a Viet Nam settlement and that no one has been authorized to negotiate in behalf of the United States.

George E. Reedy, presidential press secretary, made these points Wednesday after U.N. Secretary-General U Thant said in New York that he had made concrete proposals aimed at a negotiated settlement of the Vietnamese war. France and the Soviet Union are also seeking such an agreement.

But Reedy said: "I know of no specific proposal for negotiation that has been made to this government."

President Johnson is known to feel that, at this stage, there is no evidence that the Chinese and North Vietnamese Communists are interested in serious talks on Viet Nam. Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai said Wednesday that complete, immediate and unconditional U.S. withdrawal is Peking's price for negotiations.

TWO CONDITIONS
U.S. officials give two conditions for any talks on Viet Nam: An end to attacks by the Communist Viet Cong and a cessation of subversion, infiltration and supply of the guerrillas from outside South Viet Nam.

And Reedy noted: "This matter could be terminated very quickly if aggressors would cease their aggressions."

The U.S. position appeared to be that, in the absence of real hopes for negotiations now, the anti-Communist position should be strengthened as much as possible with an eye toward talks sometime in the future.

This was underscored by the news from South Viet Nam that American-manned jet bombers had taken part in several raids on Viet Cong positions in the key central region of South Viet Nam.

This broadening of the U.S. role, in a land where some 24,000 American personnel are functioning officially as "advisers" to South Vietnamese forces, was described by the State Department as "in accordance with the government's stated policy of continuous action that is appropriate, fitting and measured."

TAKE OFFENSIVE
As for economic aid, Washington authorities said the Saigon government must take the offensive if American economic support is to serve a useful purpose.

One aid official said some South Vietnamese village leaders — under threat of death from Communist guerrilla leaders — have been forced to share their U.S. aid with the Viet Cong. He cited an example of the Viet Cong leaving a receipt for goods seized from a village chieftain so he could account to aid authorities and not be accused of corruption.

In Congress, where there have been sharp differences over the past two weeks on the feasibility of negotiations, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield admitted that "Congress is deeply divided about the proper course for us to pursue in Viet Nam." For himself, the Montana Democrat said he favored giving Johnson "as much flexibility as possible."

Mansfield said his letters from home are running 25 to 1 against carrying the war to North Viet Nam and in favor of negotiations.

BACKS HIM
But an aide to House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford said that 80 per cent of Ford's mail backs his position in support of administration policy and opposing any talks now.

Some Congress members reported receiving heavy mail on Viet Nam, while others said they were getting hardly any.

In discussing his role in behind-the-scenes talk about Viet Nam, U Thant said he had been involved for some time in private conversations with the United States and other principals. He said his efforts were aimed at achieving peace in Viet Nam accompanied by a U.S. withdrawal "in dignity."

Said Thant: "I am sure that the great American people if only they know the true facts will agree with me that further bloodshed is unnecessary, and that political and diplomatic negotiations alone can create conditions that will enable the United States to withdraw gracefully from that part of the world."

"STABILITY FIRST"
He stressed that he did not advocate an immediate U.S. withdrawal but that it should follow the achievement of stability in South Viet Nam.

The French-Soviet effort to bring about talks on Viet Nam came at the initiative of the Soviets. Diplomatic informants in Moscow said that any formula should include neutralization of South Viet Nam.

At his briefing, Reedy said, "the White House is not engaged in any negotiations for a Viet Nam settlement." He said that obviously there were continuing diplomatic contacts at various levels but said "as far as any meaningful negotiations, no."

Solon' Mail Favors Truce

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has been getting mail from home on Viet Nam. The Montana says it is running 25 to 1 against carrying the war to the North and for negotiating a peaceful solution.

In an effort to determine how mail to Capitol Hill is running on Viet Nam — particularly on the advisability of negotiations — The Associated Press asked a random sampling of members of Congress three questions:

1. Have you been receiving mail on the war in Viet Nam?
2. How has it been running?
3. Has it had any effect on your own position?

From McGovern's 700 letters to McCormack's none, the volume varies widely. But all those questioned are in general agreement that there has been negligible effect on their own views.

"I'd form my own opinion," McCormack said. It is unflagging support of Johnson administration policy.

OWN VIEWS
"I haven't based my position in any way on the mail or on public opinion," said Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho.

"My own views were made up long ago," said Sen. Hiram L. Fong, R-Hawaii. "We can't pull out."

"My view hasn't changed," said Rep. William Fitts Ryan, D-N.Y. "We must seek a diplomatic and political resolution, not a military one. It is time to negotiate."

Mansfield said he does not believe the mail is exerting major influence on positions taken by senators and representatives "because I think members recognize they have a special responsibility in this matter."

New Election In Steel Union Contest Seen

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Informed labor sources predicted today there was a good chance that the government will order a new election in the fight for the presidency of the United Steel Workers Union.

The Labor Department is watching the tabulation of votes in the contest between President David J. McDonald and the union's secretary-treasurer, I. W. Abel.

Highly placed labor sources, here for the AFL-CIO Executive Council meeting, said if the final outcome is within a few thousand votes, the Landrum-Griffin Act is likely to be invoked to order a new election.

A "FIRST"
The Labor Department has ordered numerous new votes in contested local union elections but such an order in the million-member steelworkers union would be the first involving a major international union.

The sources based their prediction on past Labor Department policy in contested union elections.

Government officials are anxious to get the steelworkers election settled before a possible strike crisis builds up in the industry, which could send economic shock waves through the entire economy.

AFL-CIO President George

Meany has urged the steelworkers to extend the contracts, due to expire May 1, to make up for time lost in the election battle.

BEEN SUSPENDED
Steel contract negotiations have been suspended for several months pending the outcome of the election.

Now, with the threat of court action and the possibility of government intervention, many sources feel a steel crisis looms even larger.

Sources close to the steelworkers said if the government finds enough evidence to support vote challenges, McDonald and Abel would probably agree to a new election supervised by the Labor Department.

The vote tabulation has been under way in Pittsburgh since Monday.

Plans To Pay Off Depositors Of Bank Made

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Banking Commissioner J. M. Falkner said he hoped for word today on a plan to pay back all depositors of the Malone State Bank, which recently requested liquidation.

"Representatives of our department and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. are working on a solution right now," Falkner said Wednesday.

He said the financial difficulties of the North Central Texas bank began about three months ago when a Fort Worth group took it over.

"They started out to wreck it, and they did a damn good job," he said, but made no specific charges.

Assets of the bank total about $700,000 to $800,000, Falkner said.

The Malone bank deposits probably will be placed in the First State Bank at Hubbard, 8 miles southeast of here, he said. The FDIC would then give the Malone bank a check to pay off depositors.

Malfunction Causes A-Smasher Damage

LONDON (AP) — Malfunction has caused serious damage to Nimrod, Britain's $30-million atom smasher at the Rutherford High Energy Laboratory in Chilton, Berkshire.

Slide Menace Routs Crew

STEWART, B.C. (AP) — A rescue crew of 54 men left the wreckage of the Granduc mining camp 30 miles north of Stewart late Wednesday.

Evacuation of the camp site was ordered after danger of more avalanches arose because of heavy snowfall on surrounding mountains and glaciers.

Helicopter crews lifted the last of the rescuers out as more snow fell.

The camp was wiped out a week ago by a giant slide. Nine men died, and seven are missing.

Miss Rachael Phelan Honored With Coffee

Miss Rachael Lee Phelan, daughter of Mrs. C. M. Phelan, 1404 Eleventh Place, was complimented Wednesday at a coffee held in the home of Mrs. Horace Garrett, 715 Edwards.

Miss Phelan is engaged to be married March 21 to Lt. James Frederick Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Wilson Jr., Wethersfield, Conn.

Cohostesses for the pre-nuptial affair were Mrs. R. W. Thompson, Mrs. Maurice Koger and Mrs. Toots Mansfield. The honoree was attired in a two-piece knit suit of powder blue. She and her mother were presented corsages of pale yellow carnations, and members of the house party wore smaller corsages of the same flower. The polished refreshment table was graced with a centered arrangement of acacia and daffodils in a copper compote matching the coffee service and other table appointments. Presiding at the service were Mrs. Lee Hanson, the honoree's grandmother; and Mrs. Tom Ashley.

Spring flowers were placed throughout the entertaining area. A moon vase held a massive arrangement of spider chrysanthemums, and the register table was accented with a bouquet of yellow carnations, daffodils and Dutch brises. Over 100 guests called between the hours of 10 a.m. and 12 o'clock noon and were registered by Mrs. Robert Phelan, sister-in-law of the prospective bride. The hostesses gift to Miss Phelan was an electric skillet.

DEAR ABBY

Forget That Big Mouth

DEAR ABBY: I went steady with Joe for six months and then we broke up. He has been talking about me something terrible and I don't know what to do. He never got anything more from me than a goodnight kiss at the door, but he has been going around telling everybody that he quit going with me because he got all he wanted.

TALKED ABOUT
DEAR TALKED ABOUT: Maybe that's all he wanted. Forget it.

DEAR ABBY: Don't you think that when a husband and wife eat out he should give her some suggestion as to what to order, or at least some clue as to how much he intends to spend? Example: We had breakfast in a restaurant recently. I asked him what he was going to order, and he said he didn't know. Trying to be thoughtful and considerate, I ordered coffee and toast. Then HE ordered juice, bacon and eggs, blueberry muffins and jam and coffee. I would have enjoyed that kind of breakfast, too, but I hesitated to order it because I wasn't sure he was going in for a meal like that. Later he could see I was hurt so he asked me what was wrong, and I told him as nicely as I could that if I had known he was going to order a meal like that, I would have, too. Don't you think it's a man's responsibility to put his wife at ease and give her some kind of a clue as to what kind of meal he had in mind to pay for? He can't understand it.

ONLY HIS WIFE
DEAR ONLY: There is no reason why you, after hearing your husband's order, couldn't have changed your mind and had the same. To have sat there and sulked in silence was childish. This man is not a "date," lady—he's your husband. I suggest you get on more familiar terms with him. You might enjoy it.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is trying to keep busy at work. I work for a small company in a one-girl office. I have a wonderful boss and a nice place to work, and the pay is good, but about three (and sometimes four) days out of the week I have nothing to do. The mail comes in at noon and I spend the rest of the day just sitting around. The phone hardly ever rings. I've read books and magazines, and listened to the radio, but I can't do that all day. I've straightened the desk drawers, files and cupboards and even cleaned and scrubbed the office although we have janitorial service. My boss is out of town most of the time. He knows I don't have enough to keep me busy, but he doesn't mind. I love my job, but I wish you could tell me how to occupy my empty hours.

LENORA
DEAR LENORA: If I knew how to keep you and you like to work, get a job where there is work to do. The job you have now, and say you "love," is unlike most jobs worthy of the name.

Marriage
Held One
Of Mercy

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "This is a marriage of mercy. I know it means a great deal to him to feel he has someone who wishes to be with him always." With this explanation, silent screen star Mary MacLaren was led this week to blind, crippled World War I veteran Robert S. Coleman.

tamer, "is an interesting man and companionable. He tells me he loves me dearly," said the onetime film star, now 65 and silver-haired.

"I appreciate his gratitude for my care — and he appreciates my companionship to the extent that he thought it would be better if we were married."

Miss MacLaren said she met Coleman three years ago after a friend told her of a blind veteran who had been beaten and robbed in his hotel room, was hospitalized and had no place to go.

"I brought him home and he has been at my house ever since," she said.

Joblessness Problem Big

NEW YORK (AP) — The fight to lower the number of the jobless gets more complicated with each partial victory. It's a battle that involves human problems and fiscal ones, mathematical expansions and economic danger points.

Mechanical marvels threaten more jobs even as training programs remove some persons from the ranks of the unemployed. And while prosperity is swelling the ranks of the employed, even larger hordes of youngsters enter the labor force and keep the number of unemployed too high.

JOBS LACKING
The chance of bringing the percentage of the labor force that can't find work down close to 4 per cent seems a long way off just now, despite all the assists from prosperity — that big job creator — and government, the potentially big job trainer. In January the rate was 4.8 per cent, while last year it averaged 5.2 per cent.

And while the unskilled seem to find it harder each year to find work, employers with more jobs requiring high skills or entirely new ones have more trouble filling them.

Unemployment is playing two economic roles. It is sustaining poverty, holding down consumer purchasing power, boosting the costs of relief.

At the same time the big pool of unemployed labor — along with excess production capacity in many industries — has helped ward off inflation. Even four years of rising prosperity hasn't built up the conditions under which inflation thrives.

LABOR POOL
Except for the most skilled positions, employers haven't competed in hiring workers and therefore haven't raised labor costs materially faster than productivity. The big labor pool also has moderated union demands. At the same time, in most industries a surplus of production facilities has meant keen competition, which has discouraged price increases.

In recent months industrial activity has expanded enough to take up much of the slack in facilities. But business expansion plans promise to produce more capacity in the months ahead.

On the labor front, there are still plenty of available unskilled workers to be hired — although some occupations are spurned. But if the jobless rate should fall below 4 per cent — the government's long-time goal — inflationary pressure could build up. This would come from employers offering ever higher wages to get workers, and raising prices to meet the greater costs.

Greek Homemaker Shares Rich European Recipes

By ELAINE CLARK

An atmosphere of warmth and graciousness greets the visitor in the home of Alrman I.C. and Mrs. Bobbie Tinsley, 205 E. 10th. L.A., a tiny, almond-eyed Greek girl, who speaks English with a gentle melodic accent, says she loves everything about her life in America. Tinsley, who is in the radar section at Webb Air Force Base, calls Pomona, Calif., home.

The Tinsleys met when she was visiting a relative at WAFB. In a few months they were married, and established a home, where "Raco," a black French poodle, is a most important member.

"The pace of living is so much faster here than in Greece," Mrs. Tinsley said. There the stores stay open from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m., then close until 5 p.m. and are open until 8 p.m. This provides time for a leisurely luncheon and nap or a swim at the beach before going back to work.

Mrs. Tinsley sews well, and is still amazed at the availability of materials and ready-made clothing here. When clothing is needed in Greece, an appointment is made to have a tailor come to your home to take measurements and for fittings. Almost all clothing is tailored.

TRADITIONS

In discussing family life and Greek customs, she said that the school system in Greece differs from ours in that they have six years of elementary school and eight years of high school. The average student does not finish high school until he is 20 years old. Also, the dating customs are quite different. "Going steady" is unheard of. Young people who are engaged are required to date for at least two years, during this time they are never alone, as some member of the family goes with them to movies, church or parties.

Mrs. Tinsley loves music, and is taking organ and piano lessons. She also does oil paintings, her favorite subject being seascapes. "This is probably because I have always lived on the sea coast and love the ocean," she said.

Both Tinsleys are outdoor sport enthusiasts and enjoy camping and fishing. They water ski, swim, hunt and play tennis.

"My first attempt to cook was when I was 12 years old, and I burned that," she laughed, "but I've always wanted to cook." Her husband says that he likes all the Greek dishes, and his favorite is bean soup.

VEGETABLES

"We use more vegetables in our menus than you do here, and all of them are selected while fresh, in the open air vegetable markets," said Mrs. Tinsley. "We have no frozen foods."

She said that eggplant is used in many ways. "Mousaka" is made with alternating layers of eggplant and meat patties, covered with a sauce made of milk, egg and Kasri cheese.

MRS. BOBBIE TINSLEY

Spinach is even used to make pies. Lamb and seafoods are chiefly used in main dishes. Very little beef is used, and steak or chicken is not fried. These are cooked with vegetables or cream and served over rice.

"We use garlic, oregano, onions, hot peppers and pickled onions, olives, tomatoes and small eggplant in much of our seasoning," Mrs. Tinsley said. "The best food in America is steak — that is my favorite!"

She enthused. When summer cook-out time comes, Tinsley is in charge of the cooking, but she makes her own special barbecue sauce.

"Of course, kabobs are a Greek specialty and this bean soup, also."

SOUPA FASOLIA (Bean Soup)

1 cup dried beans
5 cups water
1 large onion, chopped
2 stalks celery, chopped
2 medium carrots, chopped
1/4 cup olive oil
1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
1/4 cup chopped parsley
Salt and pepper
Soak beans overnight in the water. In the morning, put beans on to boil. Meanwhile, saute onion, celery and carrots in olive oil but not dry. Serve with hot cooked rice.

SALATA

(Typical Greek Salad)
A typical Greek Salad is similar to American green salad with the addition of Greek cheese called Feta, black Greek olives, beets and anchovies, with a sprinkling of oregano, and the addition of a little bit of olive oil and vinegar.

Tomato wedges
Cucumber, thinly sliced
Green pepper rings
Onion slices
Radishes, sliced or diced

The dressing is simple. Use two parts olive oil to one part white wine vinegar or lemon juice, seasoned with salt and pepper. Just before serving, pour over the salad.

PATATOSALATA (Potato Salad)

4 potatoes (medium)
1/4 cup olive oil
2 tbsps. white wine vinegar
2 tbsps. lemon juice
1/4 cup finely chopped green onion
1 tbsps. minced parsley
1/2 tsp. oregano
Salt and pepper

Boil potatoes in skins until tender. Drain, peel and quarter, then cut in slices. While still warm, pour olive oil, vinegar and lemon juice over them and toss to coat each slice.

Add remaining ingredients and toss again. Chill. Makes four servings.

HALVA (Farina Dessert)

1/4 cup butter
2-3 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 cup farina
1/4 tsp. cinnamon
1/4 cup ground almonds
Syrup

Cream butter, add sugar gradually, creaming well. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Gradually fold in farina, cinnamon and almonds. Bake in greased eight-inch square pan in moderate oven (350 degrees) for 35 minutes. Cool 15 minutes, pour syrup over. Cool and cut into squares or diamonds. Makes eight servings.

SYRUP

Simmer one cup honey and one-half cup water for 10 minutes.

Pie Dough Ball

When you are forming pie dough into a ball before rolling out, gather up the dough with both palms; press firmly together. Don't pat the dough together. Turn the dough as you press so that you have a ball-shaped mass.

Cut leg of lamb in one-inch cubes, dip in lemon juice and push onto skewers. Season with salt and pepper and dash of oregano. Cook over charcoal or under broiler, turning occasionally until browned on all sides.

Old World Casserole Uses Olives

This olive corn casserole for 4 to 6 servings is from Utrera, Spain, in the heart of the olive-growing district is an excellent example of Andalusian cookery.

1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/4 cup olive or salad oil
1/2 cup finely chopped onions
1 1/2 cups finely chopped green peppers

1 medium sized tomato, chopped
1 No. 303 can whole kernel corn, drained and chopped
1/2 tsp. pepper
1 tbsps. sugar
2 egg yolks

1/2 cup chopped pimiento
1/2 cup seedless raisins
2 hard cooked eggs, chopped
1/4 tsp. thyme

Melt 2 tbsps. butter or margarine; add 2 tbsps. olive or salad oil; 1/4 cup onion and 1 cup green pepper. Cook until onion is tender.

Add tomato and cook 10 minutes. Add corn, pepper, sugar and egg yolks and cook, stirring occasionally, 10 minutes.

Meanwhile melt remaining butter or margarine; add remaining cooking oil; onion and green pepper. Cook until onion is tender. Add olives, raisins, eggs and thyme; mix well.

Spread half of corn mixture in bottom of greased 1 1/2-quart baking dish. Top with olive mixture and remaining corn mixture. Garnish with additional olives, as desired.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 20 minutes.

Norwegians Cater To Dutch Apple Beans

This good dish belongs to both Dutch and Norwegian cuisines.

DUTCH APPLE BEANS

1 lb. snap beans
1 cup boiling water
1/4 tsp. salt
3 tbsps. butter
3 medium green apples (about 1 lb.), pared and cut into 1/4-inch squares

2 tbsps. flour
2 tbsps. sugar
1 tbsps. (or more) lemon juice
Tip and wash beans; but into 1-inch slanted lengths. In a medium covered saucepan, gently boil the beans with the boiling water and 1 teaspoon salt just until tender—about 8 minutes.

Drain and add enough cold water to bean liquid to make 1 1/4 cups; reserve; return beans to saucepan. Meanwhile in a 10-inch skillet, melt 2 tablespoons butter; stir in the apples; cover and cook over low heat, shaking pan often, until tender—about 5 minutes. Turn apples over beans.

In the skillet, melt the remaining 1 tablespoon butter; stir in flour; add the reserved bean liquid and water mixture; cook and stir over moderately low heat until boiling; cover and simmer 5 minutes; stir in sugar and lemon juice; sauce will be thin.

Add apples and beans and the remaining 1/4 teaspoon salt; mix gently but don't worry if apples break up. Makes 6 servings.

Dried Fruit Fillings Add Tangy Sweetness

American cooks like to adapt foreign recipes for yeast breads to suit their own fancies. Now comes a version of Kolache, popular in Czechoslovakia and some of the other European countries.

What's Kolache? Sweet filled buns. Dried fruits are popular for the fillings because they add tang as well as sweetness.

The original rule for Kolache calls for all white flour, but this strictly U.S.A. version substitutes part cornmeal.

Two fillings for the buns are given in this recipe, one using prunes and the other apricots. When we tested the rule, we halved each filling recipe and had two kinds of Kolache at one baking.

AMERICAN KOLACHE

3/4 cup milk
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1-3 cup sugar
1 1/4 tps. salt
3/4 tsp. grated lemon rind
2 pkgs. active dry yeast
1/2 cup warm (105 to 115 degrees) water

3 to 3 1/2 cups sifted flour
2 egg yolks, lightly beaten
1 cup enriched white cornmeal

Prune or Apricot Filling
Scald milk; pour over butter, sugar, salt and lemon rind; stir until butter is melted; cool

KOLACHE FROM SWEDEN
Sweet bun filled with fruit to lukewarm. Sprinkle yeast over warm water and stir to dissolve. Stir 1 cup flour and the egg yolks into the milk mixture; add dissolved yeast and cornmeal. Stir in enough additional flour to make a soft dough.

Turn out on lightly floured board or canvas; knead until satiny—about 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl; brush lightly with melted butter.

Cover and let rise in a warm place until double in bulk, about 1 hour. Punch down; let rise again until nearly double, about 30 minutes. Punch down; shape into 24 two-inch balls; place on cookie sheets. Cover; let rise until light, about 20 minutes.

PRUNE FILLING

Mix together 2 cups finely-chopped, drained cooked prunes, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon and 1/4 tsp. salt. Enough for 24 Kolache.

APRICOT FILLING

Mix together 2 cups finely-chopped drained cooked dried apricots, one-third cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Enough for 24 Kolache.

Sauerbraten Sparked By Potato Dumplings

Cooks who like to have their main course ready well in advance of serving should take note of sauerbraten.

This savory combination of beef and s-s-e-e-t-s-c-r-r gravy may be cooked ahead and the meat and sauce refrigerated separately. Just before serving, the meat is sliced and heated in the gravy.

Potato dumplings are perfect with sauerbraten. For do-ahead serving style, boil the dumplings and refrigerate them. While the meat and gravy are heating, the dumplings are sliced and fried in butter — an orthodox treatment that is worthwhile.

SAUERBRATEN

1 cup red wine vinegar
1/2 cup cider vinegar
1 cup beef bouillon
2 tbsps. sugar
2 tbsps. pickling spice
1 cup sliced onion
1/4 cup sliced celery
1/4 cup sliced carrot
3 tps. salt

4-pound roast of bone-in rump, round or chuck beef rump, round or chuck beef
6 tbsps. flour
6 small gingersnaps, crushed

2 cups water
Choose a non-metallic bowl into which the roast just fits and in it mix together the vinegars, bouillon, sugar, pickling spice, onion, celery, carrot and 2 teaspoons of the salt. Add the meat.

Cover tightly and refrigerate for 3 days; turn meat each day. Remove meat and reserve marinade. Wipe meat dry; coat with the remaining 1 teaspoon salt mixed with 2 tablespoons of the flour.

Brown meat in a large heavy kettle. Strain marinade, discarding spices and vegetables, and add it to meat. Cover and simmer until meat is tender — about 2 1/2 hours; remove meat and keep warm.

Mix together the remaining 4 tablespoons flour and crushed gingersnaps; stir into pan liquid — there should be about 6 cups. Add water; cook and stir constantly until boiling and slightly thickened. Serve hot with warm sliced meat. Or chill meat and gravy separately; slice meat and reheat in gravy.

Makes 6 servings. Good with potato dumplings.

Barge Authority Plan Advances

AUSTIN (AP)—Plans for a barge canal authority on the Sabine River above Toledo Bend Dam were approved for floor debate Wednesday by the Senate Water Committee.

The committee gave Sen. Jack Strong's bill to create a Middle Sabine River Navigation District an okay, moving it to the calendar.

Longview Rep. John Allen's companion House measure was heard by the House Conservation and Reclamation Committee and referred routinely to a subcommittee.

ISSUE BONDS

The proposed district would have authority to issue bonds for canal building on the Sabine, backed by anticipated barge traffic revenues. An initial bond issue of $15 million is anticipated, Allen said.

Grogg, Harrison, Rusk and Panola counties would be included in the district.

Walter Koch, Longview Chamber of Commerce manager and secretary of the Sabine River Navigation Association, said the area has the biggest concentration of heavy industry in Texas outside the Dallas and Houston areas.

"We have the type of industry that can make good use of the proposed transportation on the Sabine," he told the House committee.

DRILLER LICENSE

The committee also heard water well drillers plead for a stronger licensing law for their industry. Several testified against a measure by Rep. Bill Hollowell of Sabine that would repeal the present licensing statute.

"Most drillers want a better law—or the present law if they can get nothing better. We will have federal regulation if we don't do something now," said W. H. Fox of Odessa, executive secretary of the Texas Water Well Drilling Contractors Association.

The bill was sent to a subcommittee which is considering other legislation that would broaden the water well drilling statutes.

Young Boy's Body Found

ODESSA, Tex. (AP)—Searchers found the body of Walter Butler, 9, on an oil lease 15 miles northwest of here Wednesday.

He disappeared Monday from the Otto Boys Ranch near Goldsmith. Authorities said he apparently died from exposure to 11-degree cold Tuesday night.

Two small children died as fire swept their small frame home Wednesday. They were Donald, 3, and Brigitt, 6 months, children of Gloria Agnew.

Champs Shown At Stock Show

HOUSTON (AP)—An 18-year-old Bandera boy who lost a leg as a result of a bone disease as a child exhibited one of the champions at the Houston Livestock Show.

Lewis Reininger had the champion female of the junior division of Charolais breeding cattle competition Wednesday.

The Bandera youth was showing his first beef animal. Previously he fed lambs for shows but decided a year ago to switch to the registered cattle business.

The champion Charolais also belonged to a youngster exhibiting his first cattle project, George Kimbriel, 10, a member of a Mason County ranching family.

Freezing temperatures and snow flurries forced postponement of the show's traditional opening day parade until Tuesday but thousands of school children, free from classes for the day, took over Sam Houston Coliseum.

Brangus, Charbray and Charolais cattle classes and proceeds from an auction of 48 registered Charolais breeding cattle totaled $66,420.50. Thirty-six females averaged $1,478 and 12 bulls $1,100.

Among senior exhibitors, top honors went to the Litton Charolais Ranch at Chillicothe, Mo., the K. C. Miller Ranches of Tyler and the Willow Springs and Moody Ranches of Burton.

Litton had the grand champion and reserve champion female and the grand champion Charolais bull. The reserve champion bull was owned by A. M. Askew of Houston.

The Miller ranches had the grand champion and reserve champion bulls and grand champion female in Charbray competition. Don Howell of Florence, had the reserve champion female.

The Burton ranches exhibited the grand champion Brangus bull and Willow Springs the grand champion female.

Firms Hold Merger Talks

DALLAS (AP)—Officials of Frito-Lay, Inc., and Pepsi-Cola Co. confirmed Wednesday that discussions are being held to merge the two firms.

Herman Lay, chief executive officer of Frito-Lay, and Donald Kendall, president of Pepsi-Cola, said:

Under the plan being considered, Frito-Lay stockholders would receive two-thirds of a share of Pepsi-Cola stock for each share of Frito-Lay. No agreement has been reached and any further comment would be premature.

Other sources said that Pepsi-

Cola, which has headquarters in New York, would be the surviving firm and Frito-Lay, based in Dallas, would become a division of the parent company.

Frito-Lay is a large convenience and snack foods company. Pepsi-Cola is one of the nation's biggest soft drink firms.

DONALD A. JOHNSON

Johnson Gets PCG Position

Donald A. Johnson has been named executive vice president of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., by the PCG board of directors.

He succeeds George W. Pfeifferberger who served as executive officer of the 23-county, 25,000 member cotton producer organization from 1956 until his death in December of last year.

Johnson had served as executive assistant to Pfeifferberger since 1962.

He joined the PCG staff in 1960 as field service representative working with farmers, ginners and agricultural leaders over the High Plains area.

Johnson, born in 1933, is a native of Hamlin, and has been associated with cotton farming virtually all of his life. After high school, he entered Texas Tech in 1951 and four years later was graduated with a BS in Agricultural Education. He averaged 25 hours per week part time work while in college, paying two-thirds of his expenses for the four years and at the same time maintaining better than a "B" average for all college work. He later returned to Texas Tech to complete nine hours graduate work in advanced chemistry. Johnson also served two years with the U.S. Corps of Engineers overseas. He also taught school and represented two chemical companies.

Sweetwater Sets Banquet

SWEETWATER—This city is holding its first Chamber of Commerce banquet at the site of the city's newest industry—Sweetwater Manufacturing Co., Inc., a subsidiary of Spartan Industries. Date of the banquet is March 4.

Beeman Fisher, president of Texas Electric Service Co., will be the speaker for the banquet which will serve as an awards dinner for both the Senior and Junior Chambers of Commerce.

Formerly, civic work in Sweetwater was coordinated under a Board of City Development.

The building, which houses the garment factory and which formerly was the International Harvester distribution point, is almost ready for occupancy by the new plant. Sweetwater citizens invested approximately a quarter of a million dollars in acquiring and remodeling the building.

Erhard Firm On Aid Snip

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Ludwig Erhard today stood by his decision to cut off economic aid to the United Arab Republic because of the visit there of Communist East German President Walter Ulbricht.

Erhard's spokesman, press chief Karl Guenther von Hase, told a news conference that the chancellor and his cabinet still are considering political reprisals.

The spokesman said that the Cabinet took cognizance of Ulbricht's arrival in Cairo. The spokesman declined to answer when asked if the government is finding the honors accorded the East German president mean that he is receiving full chief of state treatment.

Bonn General Elections Set

BONN, Germany (AP)—The government has set Sept. 19 as the date for West Germany's general elections.

At stake will be 499 seats in the Bundestag (Parliament) as well as the office of chancellor. Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's Christian Democrats, in a coalition with the small Free Democratic party, now hold a slim majority. Their chief rivals are the Social Democrats, headed by Willy Brandt, mayor of West Berlin.

Rift Amid Tentative Accord Holds Off Dock Settlement

GALVESTON (AP)—Negotiations for a settlement of the 46-day-old West Gulf Coast longshoremen's dock strike today. They were tentatively agreed on major issues but apparently divided on contract language.

Asst. Secretary of Labor James Reynolds said after nine hours of talks Wednesday "an unjustified, serious failure of collective bargaining" had developed.

"President Johnson is a little bit upset about it," Reynolds told newsmen. "He expected a settlement today (Wednesday)." Reynolds, who has been the main administration troubleshooter in the International Longshoremen's Association's current dispute with the maritime industry, kept in close touch with Washington.

TALKS WITH WIRTZ
He talked with Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz at least four times during the day. The Galveston talks apparently hold the key to a complete settlement of the massive strike that began Jan. 11 as a Maine-to-Texas walkout by 80,000 dockers.

Only about 18,000 longshoremen remain off work. These are in the area from Morehead, N.C., to Tampa, Fla., and from Lake Charles, La., to Brownsville, Tex., all part of the big South Atlantic and Gulf Coast I.L.A. district.

Negotiations also are being held in Miami Beach, Fla. The strike is the longest and most costly in the area since 1945.

Negotiations took an optimistic turn Tuesday when both sides announced they were tentatively agreed on the major issues but had not put the agreements in writing.

PACT LANGUAGE
Progress slowed, however, over contract language. One big issue has been a union demand that the new contract fix a guaranteed minimum size of work gangs, the men who load and unload ships.

Reynolds said the gang size question had been resolved but he would not discuss details with newsmen. A union source said the agreement called for a guaranteed 18-man gang for bagged cargo and 16 men for general cargo.

Although the contract has not specified in past years, 14 men have normally constituted a gang.

Union and management have agreed to an 80-cent hourly raise in benefits and wages over a four-year period, the same package New York longshoremen received.

Barbara Hutton To Remain In Hospital
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Woolworth heiress Barbara Hutton, suffering from an intestinal ailment, is expected to remain at Presbyterian Medical Center for another two or three weeks.

Commander Robert Lynskey, leader of the task force, said a 45-man police detail will be assigned to Elijah Muhammad, the Muslims' "messenger of Allah." There'll be plenty of reinforcements close at hand, Lynskey added.

GUARD HOME
Policemen and Muslim bodyguards guarded the 19-room home of Muhammad today on the eve of the Black Muslims' annual convention opening Friday in the Coliseum.

The police intelligence unit checked out reports that followers of Malcolm X might be in Chicago. All cars with New

Police Pledge Top Security For Muhammad

York license plates are stopped for questioning.

Malcolm, once Muhammad's chief lieutenant, defected and formed a rival organization. He was shot to death Sunday as he prepared to address 400 followers at a Manhattan ballroom.

A telephone call to police Wednesday night said a bomb had been planted in the Coliseum and was set to explode Friday or Saturday. Muhammad is scheduled to address the convention one or both days.

DISCOUNTS REPORT
Lt. Ronald Rae, head of the bomb and arson unit, discounted the report.

"It would take a genius to produce a bomb that would go off several days in the future," he said.

Commander Lynskey said the Coliseum will be searched for explosives before and after each day's session.

The man who told police about the bomb plot identified himself as John Henderson, a Harlem Negro calling from Chicago. He said 100 men from Harlem would be in Chicago to kill Muhammad.

In a rare news conference Monday, Muhammad expressed shock at Malcolm's murder and denied the Black Muslims were responsible.

'Hospital In Box' Shown By Army

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—The mushroom cloud erupted over Herr Hill, and the casualty count was devastating. It was only a mock attack—but it set the scene for the U.S. Army's new hospital in a box.

The hospital—flown by helicopter or toed by truck—can be set up and ready for surgery in less than half an hour. In the primitive, hurt world that must follow atomic attack, it is an impressive bit of civilization.

The units would replace the old canvas field tents in which Army doctors say some men died in war because the stresses of cold and heat added to the shock of their wounds.

"In some of those tents, you'd be operating on a man over here, and in the corner plasma bottles would be freezing and cracking open," one doctor remembered.

Today the Army plays host to the House Armed Services Committee and representatives of industry and medicine to show off this new hospital concept that the Army wants for its strike units, and thinks is a prime development for civil defense.

"It's the first integrated advance in field hospitals since the Civil War," said Col. John Trenchard, the Army surgeon general's office.

The hospital comes in three boxed units—a gas turbine that supplies heat, air conditioning, electricity, hot and cold water; an inflatable ward that looks like a rubber Quonset hut; and a box that unfolds into a fully equipped surgical room.

Any number and any variety of the units can be joined together into a single building with the use of fabric air locks that provide hallways where needed.

The Army would like to have at least 15 or 20 400-bed hospitals of this type, and probably more. It may test one of the prototypes within the next six months in South Viet Nam.

The cost, fully equipped with modern medical devices from new operating tables to anesthesia units, might run up to $2 million for a 400-bed hospital.

Army doctors say the cost, while twice that of current field hospitals, would be worth its weight in human lives.

The inflatable ward—though it seems vulnerable to a pin prick—is sturdy even under fire from an automatic weapon. Army doctors say the structures provide excellent insulation.

The hospital units are manufactured by Garrett Corp. of Los Angeles, a firm which produces gas turbines and pressurized aircraft cabins.

The Army's demonstration takes place in South Texas on the hills of Camp Bullis outside San Antonio. GIs are made up to demonstrate the wounds that can occur when enemy aircraft deliver a small nuclear warhead to a sensitive target behind the lines.

College Board Bill Passage Held Probable
AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. John Connally stood a good chance today of getting his No. 1 wish from the 59th Legislature—a new state agency to guide upgrading of Texas colleges and universities.

Appropriately the measure is labelled House Bill No. 1.

Sen. Bill Moore of Bryan served notice Wednesday that he would bring up the governor's favorite bill for final debate today.

It would set up a new 18-man "coordinating board, Texas College and University System," to replace the present 15-member Texas Commission on Higher Education.

SENATE PANEL
The House passed it 141-1 last week. It was approved unanimously Monday, without amendment, by the Senate State Affairs Committee.

If finally passed by the Senate without change, the bill could go directly to the governor for signature.

Connally has said he would rather have the strong central coordinating board than any of his other education requests. He particularly wants the board to watchdog the spending of $47.2 million the governor has asked to raise the quality of higher education.

Quick House passage Wednesday of a $3.57 billion general appropriations bill gave the governor most of his other higher education demands. The House-approved spending bill goes to the Senate Finance Committee, which will produce a version for Senate debate in coming weeks.

ONLY CHANGE
The only change during House debate on the 1966-67 spending bill was a $32,040 cut in funds for Texarkana Junior College, made at the request of Texarkana's state representative, Rep. Bob Bass of DeKalb.

Bass explained that for several reasons, including abandonment of football, Texarkana Junior College's enrollment is expected to drop the next two years.

The House measure earmarks $222 million from general revenue for college appropriations, just two per cent under the governor's recommendations.

The $3.57 billion spending from all funds compares with current spending of $3.1 billion. The bill calls for $404.7 million, with a surplus of about $26 million, compared to current spending of $466 million from general revenue.

The House also passed on voice vote and sent to the governor a forced oil and gas leasing bill which oilmen have called the most important legislation to the industry in 16 years.

The Judge Understands
EUREKA, Calif. (AP)—Municipal Judge Robert Conners was mystified Wednesday when Delton Pardue asked for some other judge to try Mrs. Pardue's assault charges against him.

"You married us," Pardue reminded the judge, adding: "You got me into this and I want somebody else to get me out."

The judge granted the request.

'Disaster' For Plane Makers Fails To Come

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — The Boeing Co. on Jan. 8 found itself without any orders for military airplanes for the first time since 1924, when it was 8 years old.

A few months earlier, the same thing happened to another veteran among military plane builders, Republic Aviation Corp., which began life in 1931 as Seversky Aircraft on the flats of Long Island, N.Y.

Boeing had just delivered a KC135 tanker-transport to the U.S. Air Force. It was the 820th sold over a decade for $1.9 billion to the Air Force, long Boeing's best customer and practically the only customer of Boeing and other plane makers during some lean periods.

Republic finished off a long series of contracts for fighter planes, a family that evolved from the P47 Thunderbolt of World War II through the F84, F103 and several versions of the supersonic F105.

MILD DIP

For Boeing, it was another dip — this one comparatively mild — in the aircraft-aerospace industry that some analysts believe is headed for trouble because of a downturn in defense spending.

For Republic, it was plain disaster — just about what gloomy forecasters were foreseeing for more than a few aircraft companies.

But at Boeing, only five days after its military orders ran out, the firm won a government order for its 500th commercial jet transport, an intercontinental 707-320B.

Jetliner sales, soaring again after a lull in the early 1960s, have brought in about $3 billion, and 1965 easily could add another billion. About two-thirds of the free world's jetliners are Boeing-built. Important new additions to the Boeing line, augmented in 1963 by a solid business-winner in the 727-trijet, are expected soon.

MISSILE LEADER

Moreover, Boeing is established as a leader in the missile field, has a firm foothold in the U.S. space program and is battling hard and resourcefully for major new business in all principal fields.

Even so, over-all employment at 90,000 was down from 104,000 in 1962, and in the Seattle area stood at around 50,000 as against peak of 76,000.

Although declining, joblessness in the Seattle metropolitan area, reflecting the Boeing situation, averaged uncomfortably close to 7 per cent in 1964. It was under 5 per cent in 1962.

At Republic, however, phasing out of the F105D fighter plane left little to sustain big-scale employment.

The blow that fell at Republic was sighted a long way off. Two years ago worry about the economic effects was spreading in New York City's densely populated suburbs to the east.

Nearly 1,000 subcontractors and suppliers located around the Republic complex were apprehensive. So were storekeepers, car dealers, cafe owners and political leaders.

It was feared that loss of 13,000 jobs paying $90 million a year would snowball, hitting 65,000 to 70,000 persons in all, knocking down property values and multiplying distress.

JOBS FALL

Jobs fell from a peak of about 18,000 to about 5,000 before leveling off.

But the predicted economic disaster failed to materialize. By Jan. 1, slack largely had been taken up by an otherwise expanding economy and receipt of a big fighter plane contract at Grumman Aircraft Corp., Republic's neighbor at Bethpage, N.Y.

Plea On Pay Plan Rejected

AUSTIN (AP) — The 3rd Court of Civil Appeals rejected today an appeal by former employees of one of President Johnson's television stations who sought payment from a profit-sharing plan.

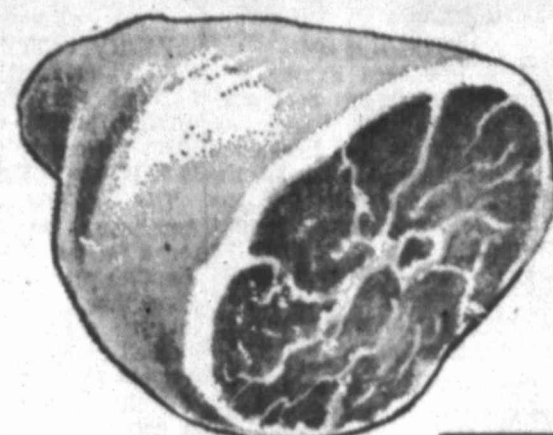

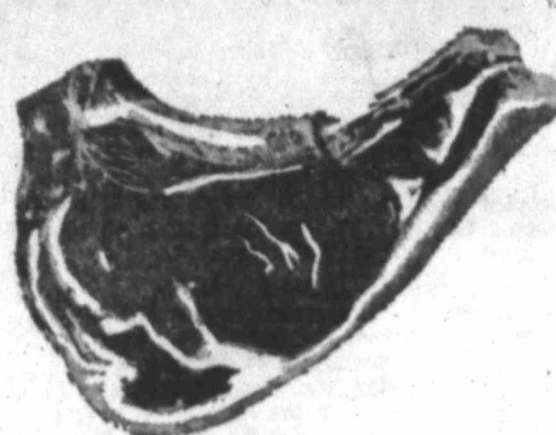

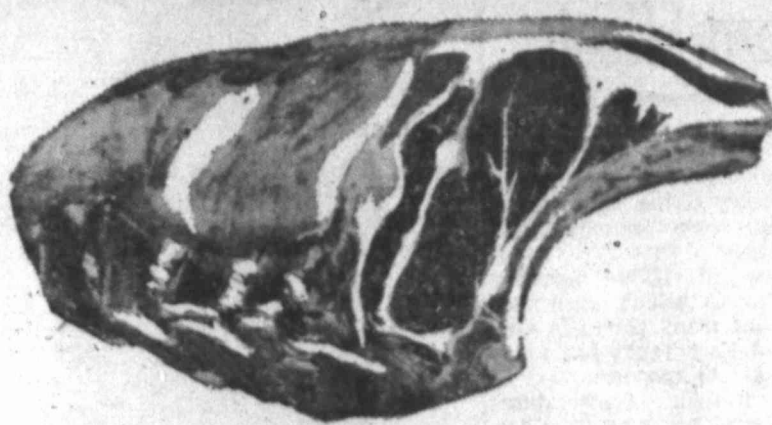

The court split 2-1 in upholding an April 16 ruling by an Austin district judge granting a summary judgment to trustees of the Johnson company's profit-sharing and incentive trust.

In a dissent, Associate Justice Robert Hughes said the trustees acted against public policy.

Associate Justice John Phillips wrote the majority opinion, saying the trustees "had authority to interpret the plan as they have done" and that "any other construction of this plan would be strained and artificial."

The 39 former employees of KRGV-TV in Weslaco, Tex., which the Johnson company sold in 1961, contend the trust owes them a total of $38,000 accumulated in the company-financed plan. Johnson interests bought the Rio Grande Valley station in 1958.

His Ousters Pay Khanh Full Tribute

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The officers who overthrew Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh sent him off to the United States today with full honors. Several embraced him with tears in their eyes.

At the moment, U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor, with whom Khanh had often crossed swords, went to the airport with Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. Forces in Viet Nam.

Several hours earlier, Khanh formally turned over command of the Vietnamese armed forces to Maj. Gen. Tran Van (Little) Minh in a brief ceremony at the general staff headquarters near Saigon Airport.

Minh has been named only "temporary acting commander," and the real struggle for Khanh's job is just beginning.

Brig. Gen. Nguyen Cao Jy, the Air Force commander and one of those who voted against Khanh last Saturday, said the Armed Forces Council would meet later today to select a new chairman "and see what we will do from here on."

The Armed Forces Council put down a coup Friday against Khanh, then turned against the strongman and ended his 12½ months in power.

"Now each Vietnamese commander must work to maintain the loyalty of his unit and then must work with the other commanders," Ky said.

He said he felt things would go better now but conceded that the general staff needed a strong over-all leader.

Before leaving, Khanh reviewed a detachment of soldiers and received the nation's highest military award from Premier Phan Huy Quat.

"HEART IN RANKS" — "For 19 years," said Khanh, "I have served in the army in every position, always shoulder to shoulder with my troops. Last year I was leader of the nation but my heart was always with the lowest ranks."

"I hope in the stormy period ahead the nation will knit its forces together."

Khanh flew to Hong Kong where he, his wife, four children and his mother-in-law planned to spend a week. Khanh planned another stop in Paris en route to New York.

Khanh has been named an ambassador-at-large with his first mission to present to the United Nations evidence of Communist North Viet Nam's assistance to the Viet Cong.

South Viet Nam, like North Viet Nam, has no seat in the U.N. but it maintains an observer there.

Pope Invests New Cardinals

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI invested 26 new cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church today, conferring on them the red hats and rings of their princely office.

The cardinals included one American, Archbishop Lawrence Shehan of Baltimore, Md.

The 27th prelate elevated by the Pope this week, Bishop Angel Herrera y Oria of Malaga, remained in Spain to receive his insignia from the Spanish chief of state, Generalissimo Franco.

The ceremony was traditionally revised, reflecting the current modernization of the Church.

The glittering public consistory in St. Peter's Basilica was attended by thousands, including presidents of African states, Prime Minister Sean Lemass of Ireland and 36 other cardinals.

But the ceremony was drastically revised, reflecting the current modernization of the Church.

Today's ceremony took the place of three separate consistories previously held for new cardinals. For the first time, it opened with a Mass celebrated jointly by the Pope and the 26 new cardinals. This was to emphasize the spiritual aspects of the ritual, in line with decrees of the Vatican Ecumenical Council.

After the first part of the Mass, the new cardinals stood in a semicircle around Pope Paul's throne as he told them: "Dearest brothers, a great and lofty dignity is conferred on you. You will be, in fact, our co-operators and counselors in the ruling and the governing of the Church."

Cardinal Shehan followed the African prelate to the Pope's throne, accompanied by more applause. More than 500 Americans, most of them from Baltimore, were in the basilica.

the holy Catholic Church. "Know that you are obliged in a most particular way to commit yourselves with all your energy for the exaltation of the Catholic faith, for the peace of the Christian people and of all peoples, for the defense of ecclesiastical liberty."

NEW FORMULA — This formula, a new one, also stemmed from the Vatican council and its decrees emphasizing the brotherhood of all men and the sharing of power over the Church by the Pope and bishops collectively.

Josef Cardinal Beran of Prague, who came to Rome a week ago after 16 years in confinement in Communist Czechoslovakia, received great applause as he came forward.

There also was loud applause for Archbishop Paul Zoungana of Upper Volta, the church's second Negro cardinal.

Texas Shakes Off Crippling Storm Effects

By The Associated Press

Waning winter relented today and Texas shook off the crippling effects of a storm which left sections of the state with up to 5 inches of snow.

Ice melted off the highways and schools which suspended classes at many points in Central and East Texas for a day were able to reopen.

Sub-freezing temperatures nipped most areas again in early morning but readings generally were 10 to 15 degrees higher than 24 hours earlier.

VALLEY ESCAPES — It appeared the lush Lower Rio Grande Valley probably escaped an expected freeze which threatened crop and citrus tree damage. Readings near dawn sank no lower than 35 degrees at McAllen and 40 at Brownsville, but there was still a possibility of frost in exposed areas.

In the chilled Texas Panhandle thermometers registered 17 degrees at Dalhart and 22 at Amarillo before sunrise. It was below freezing also at points along the coast for a second day.

SNOW REMAINS — Some snow remained on the ground, particularly in East Texas where Carthage measured 5 inches and Tyler 4 inches. There was a 2-inch cover at a number of places in the same general area.

Another aftereffect of the storm was flooding of lowlands near Corpus Christi on the lower Nueces River watershed. Winds screeching at near hurricane force early Wednesday smashed 14 flood gauges at the Wesley Seale Dam, turning loose about 100,000 acre-feet of water.

Skies cleared and winds calmed throughout the state today, but the Weather Bureau reported dust still sifting down from high overhead in the Childress area.

Electric News Flashes Due

NEW YORK (AP) — The Times Tower's electric news report, blacked out for nearly two years, will come to life again March 8.

Life magazine announced today it will reactivate the news bulletins. Mayor Robert F. Wagner will throw the switch that turns on the news again high over Times Square.

Life said the sign will operate seven days a week, 16 hours a day.

The landmark, at 42nd Street where Broadway meets Seventh Avenue, had been abandoned by the New York Times for larger quarters when Allied Chemical Corp. bought it in 1963.

A massive face-lifting job stripped the triangular-shaped tower to its skeleton and rebuilt it in modern dress.

Gold Hunters To Dynamite

SALADO, Tex. (AP) — Spanish gold hunters scheduled a dynamite blast in the Salado cliffs today in hope of clearing the way to what they describe as a fabulous treasure.

Members of the expedition feel they are within feet of a major subterranean breakthrough but mechanical failures and adverse weather repeatedly have delayed their efforts.

They summoned an explosives expert from nearby Georgetown to detonate the blast.

H. D. McCord of Dallas, a partner in the treasure hunt, said: "Conceivably this could clear the way from our tunnel into the room."

He and his associates believe this room is one of several caverns deep within the plateaus of this Central Texas area where legend says Spanish conquistadores hid gold, silver, diamonds, coin and artifacts.

While the explosion possibly could penetrate the rock, it appeared doubtful a single shot would open a direct path to the fabled riches.

The treasure seekers fear water and cave-ins may further hamper their probe through a maze of tunnels.

Space Glider Hunt Fruitless

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — After a 30-hour search, the Air Force abandoned its missing Polka Dot space glider to the sea.

The hunt was called off late Wednesday. Officials presumed the craft sank in the Atlantic, although intermittent signals from its radio beacon indicated it had been at least partially afloat for 20 hours.

Planes and ships were unable to obtain an accurate fix on the position of the signals.

The six-foot, 1,175-pound glider rocketed over a blistering suburban course Tuesday to test materials and techniques for future manned spaceships which will land like airplanes.

The Air Force said most of the data sought was radioed to ground stations before the craft parachuted into the Atlantic about 2,750 miles southeast of Cape Kennedy, after a 30-minute flight.

Vicious Red Tactic Told

WASHINGTON (AP) — A foreign aid official says some South Vietnamese village leaders have been forced under threat of death to share their American economic aid with Communist guerrillas.

He said that in one case the guerrillas left a receipt for goods they seized from a village chieftain so he could account to aid authorities and not be accused of corruption.

The official, who declined to be identified, said the apparent purpose was to make sure that American goods would continue to flow to the village so long as the aid in turn was shared with the Viet Cong.

The Communist tactic was related as high U.S. aid authorities said the Saigon government must take the offensive in the war if U.S. economic support is to serve a useful purpose.

Firing Fatal Shot Admitted

FORT WORTH (AP) — Ex-convict Claude Daniels, 55, told police and newsmen he fired the shot which killed one man and wounded three other persons, including himself, at a second story hotel Wednesday night.

Robert Bronson, 50, died of a bullet wound in the head.

Hospital attendants reported Bronson's wife Doris, 38, Otis Bogan, 59, and Daniels all were in grave condition. Each was shot several times.

Police said the shootings apparently stemmed from an old family feud.

Mrs. Gladys Rouse of San Antonio told detectives she was sitting in the room of Mrs. Bronson, who is her daughter. Bronson and his 3-year-old daughter also were present.

A shot dropped Bronson as he answered a knock at the door. Mrs. Rouse said, and the gunman then fired several bullets into Mrs. Bronson. She said there were still more shots after the man stepped down the hall to Bogan's room.
