

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN, Avalanche Woman's Editor

HERE it is Saturday. I hope everyone goes out to the County Federation meeting at the Country Club this afternoon. Regardless of whether or not one is a delegate, she may attend, the president has said.

AN EVENT FOR THIS GROUP The concert by Torreblanca's orchestra at the Tech gymnasium the other evening is going to be a memorable event in Little Juárez, or I miss my guess.

I had a grand stand seat for the performance. I didn't know it was going to be so good when I got up there but its possibilities developed during the evening. I was up among the Mexicans who came over from Lubbock's north side and we looked down on the players, so with a show in front and another behind me, I fared well.

There was, for instance, their reaction to the various numbers. One of the encores by the quartet I thought must be a ballad, although the words meant nothing to me as I have slight acquaintance with Spanish. The end of each stanza brought an appreciative response from the Mexicans on our side who were listening carefully to words.

I think this trip of the Mexicans over to the concert must have been in it more of the element of good will than some of us would at first expect. I was glad when everyone followed the lead of these Mexicans in rising when notes of Mexico's national anthem were sounded and I appreciated their readiness to laugh when the orchestra swung in to "The Star Spangled Banner."

This was an event for these Mexicans. There was the young man sitting back of me stiff in his high-top shoes and his collar and his inevitable brown calf shoes; the little family of mother, father and four children who were constant smiles of appreciation during the evening and beamed when anyone looked at the chubby youngsters; and the man sitting near me who reminded me of the dago in picture shows.

SMARLY BLUE FROCK SEVERELY smart is a blue flat scrape afternoon dress described in fashion note. It has a very high waistline and is made light to the hips where it flares into a wide skirt. The tight sleeves are finished at the wrists with small buttons covered to match those on the wrists.

THE NEW HOSTESS The hostess of the 1931 pattern will put her guests at ease, make them feel at home and so tactfully but firmly imprint her own personality on any function in her home that her guests will take what she serves and like it, according to Mrs. James M. Doran, wife of the commissioner of industrial alcohol, who claims success for her non-alcoholic cocktail.

Mrs. Doran's description of a hostess deals particularly with her attitude in regard to serving drinks, but she has hit an essential element in hospitality. The one who has enough personality and tact to have guests do almost anything and like it, and that is one of the tests of perfect hostessing.

There is a type of woman—the "bossy" type—who is so obnoxious as a hostess, but who is so tactful and the tactful one, who dominates in such a way that one never feels it, and that is the type who has my admiration.

ANOTHER RECIPE STUFFED pork tenderloins sounds appetizing. Here is a tested recipe. Two pork tenderloins, 2 cups bread crumbs, 1-2 cup melted butter, 4 leaves of sage, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 1-2 teaspoon onion juice, split 1 tenderloin lengthwise and flatten out, add a dressing of crumbs, butter and seasonings, adding a small amount of hot water if the crumbs are very dry. Use this as a stuffing for the tenderloins, roll and tie with a string. Bake one hour in a moderate oven, baste frequently with hot fat. This is enough for eight or ten servings.

THESE AUTUMN COLORS LUBBOCK isn't in a country that has the autumn colors that are so famous in many other sections, but have you looked around at the colors we do have? On a ride down Broadway this afternoon I couldn't miss a row of yellow chrysanthemums which were flashing in the sun, and a little further down the street were some trees clad in a softer shade of yellow, but brilliant nevertheless.

Red, white and pink cosmos peep over many fences. There is a row of red and white geraniums on Avenue M that I pass every day and admire and tree leaves offer every hue of yellow along the streets. They are tinged here and there with the brown and reds which come after frost. Some of our prettiest roses of the year have followed the calm rainy days of the last few weeks and other fall blossoms are adding their color to the array.

New Profession of Styling Gives Woman a Voice

BY HELEN WELSHIMER NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—America's beauty scale is going up, so they say. Women are ever so much better looking than they were ten years ago. And if they are, there's a reason. Women today are having a voice in deciding what they shall wear. A little more than ten years ago they didn't have any more to say about the style of their pumps than they did about the kind of laws they obeyed.

Then equal suffrage and stylists came on the scene. Brains and beauty staged a joint debut. Today there are almost one thousand paid stylists, sometimes known as fashion workers, trying to help American women choose their styles, colors and fabrics which will give them chic and charm and beauty.

Mrs. Mary Brooks Picken, famous New York stylist, who teaches economics of fashion at Columbia University, was one of the first women to enter the styling profession.

Representing All Women "A stylist is a woman's representative," she explains. "She has the woman's viewpoint. For many years women had to accept men's views. But when she started to increase her earning and her spending power she wanted to choose her own clothes. Stylists, officially recognized as such, developed."

Mrs. Picken also has a fabric and fashion studio in New York City where she is busy training stylists and would-be stylists continually. Her golden hair, large brown eyes and a rose petal complexion add personal claim to the stylist she suggests.

"I have to make my students clothes conscious," she said. "I have to break down their prejudices against certain colors and fabrics, and also make them interested in clothes as a general subject for everyone instead of in their own individual wardrobes."

Mrs. Picken has found that daily papers and magazines are making women develop a style sense. They are learning to assemble their wardrobe from pictures before they buy anything. And when they do buy, it is a woman's touch that is back of the picture. The touch of a woman trained to know just what lines and fabrics and styles are best suited to women.

The various types of stylist positions are varied, ranging all the way from designing garments to choosing the color of a strand of thread.

"One girl became a stylist for a thread company," Mrs. Picken told to prove the need of woman's influence. "She found a dull shade was being manufactured by the company, although the bright new colors for clothing were the vogue everywhere. She made a tour of 150 stores, noticed how the spoils of thread were arranged, what fabrics and what colors were selling in the clothing departments, and encouraged her industry to make the shades which corresponded to the clothing."

"She got busy with the stores," she said. "A girl must complete a certain amount of work by noon. But in France, for centuries, whole families work for the same establishment. They aren't hurried. And new ideas come. Little children are given needles and allowed to think up designs as part of their childhood games."

Fashions are becoming more and more what women want them to be as women have more voice in choosing them. And feminism, appeal is the latest development. The new fashions are making women more feminine. Mrs. Picken believes. "They are slowing up dancing rhythm. They are encouraging women to entertain at home instead of at clubs and hotels. They are making hostesses more attentive to details of charm. Carelessness is going away. And the change in the method of dress is back of it all."

What would make it appear that in spite of the carefree manner that the abbreviated skirts of yesterday developed, maybe a woman would rather be a lady. And the thousand stylists, who are paid to help decide what gowns and shoes and hats their sisters prefer to wear, have had a pretty big part in bringing back the intriguing lines that women favored when they designed their own things, long ago ago.

"We used to have a symphony of colors in the wardrobe ensemble," she explained. "It was a monotone. But now we have color contrasts. It is more complicated."

And incidentally, the women who are fashion makers, studying the styles, have more complicated.

WHY TECH SELECTED

It is interesting to note why freshmen choose Texas Tech for their alma mater. During a recent class in freshman orientation a questionnaire was submitted to each of 50 students asking why he chose Texas Tech. Some of the students gave more than one reason why they entered this college. Following is the reasons listed: Parents selected school for them, 5; friends recommended, 10; economical reasons, 23; thought best college, 17; near home, 20; could get what wanted here, 22; felt need of the call of education, 1; because it was democratic school, 5; came here on advice of superintendent, 1; good school of agriculture here, 1.

UNIFORMS RECEIVED

Band uniforms for the Matador band were received this week. A campaign for obtaining these uniforms has been going on since the first of this school year and most of the money toward paying for the suits has been raised. Tags marked "I am for Tech's New Uniformed Band," sold for fifty cents each, and the band gave one or more benefits programs. Each member of the band also deposited a certain amount of money toward his uniform. The suits carry out the Spanish design of the college and are red and black. Harry LeMaire is the band director.

DIRECTORS MEET TODAY

Board of directors of Texas Technological college will meet today in Fort Worth. The Matadors are

WHICH WOULD YOU RATHER DO?

TAKE PILLS and drugs—or add roughage to your diet. When constipated, you either have to do one or the other.

Isn't it the best—the most healthful and pleasant way—to eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN? This ready-to-eat cereal is welcome as a good food and it is guaranteed to relieve and to prevent both temporary and recurring constipation.

Try it today. Millions have proved that eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN prevents constipation. And it also adds needed iron to the diet. Try Kellogg's ALL-BRAN with fruits or honey added. Use it for making delightful, fluffy bran muffins, omelets, etc. At your grocer's, in the red-and-green packages. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

DIRECTORIES AVAILABLE

Student directories containing student's name, school classification, home address, local address and telephone number and church affiliation, were being distributed at the college yesterday. The booklets were printed by a local concern.

Information for these directories was compiled by the Women's Forum, organization of women students in the college. Price of the booklets for students is thirty-five cents.

SURVEY PARK

Students in the junior civil engineering class in the college are making a topographical survey and map of the park and lake east of the city. The class, under the direction of Professor F. L. McRee, visits the park twice each week in preparing the survey. About fifteen students are in the class.

This problem of surveying the park and preparing a map is worked out each year by the junior class in civil engineering.

HOLDEN TO SPEAK

Speaking before the annual meeting of the Texas Archaeological and Paleontological society being held at Abilene at Hotel Wooten, Dr. W. C. Holden, member of the Tech history department will tell of his excavations in Northwest Texas where he found many adobe and rock houses that were occupied by Indian tribes long before Pueblo Indians built

Historic Old County of Gaines Being Cut Up Into Small Ranches and Farms

(By Staff Correspondent.)
SEMINOLE, Oct. 24.—This historic old county of Gaines, one of the "last frontiers" of the old west, where the roundup is still practiced by cowboys of the younger generation, is pretty well cut up into small cattle ranches.

Gone are most of the wide open ranges of this large county, 30 miles wide and 32 miles from east to west. There are several ranches of from 10,000 to 50,000 acres, but the others are mostly 10,000 to 25,000 acres in extent.

Cox Estate Large
One of the large ranches is the Cox estate, owned by several Austin men of that name and managed by W. A. Cox of Seminole, a cousin. This ranch has over 30,000 acres, divided into several pastures. Probably the largest ranch is that owned by E. H. Jones, of New York City. There are in this ranch 38,000 acres. It was formerly known their pueblos in New Mexico.

Dr. Holden will also discuss some of his excavation work done along the Canadian river.

PLAN CONVENTION TRIP

Several members of the Tech faculty plan to attend the state teacher's convention in Houston during the Thanksgiving holidays, according to President Paul W. Horn. School will be dismissed on Thursday, Friday and Saturday during Thanksgiving and the teachers will attend the gathering during this time.

as the Armstrong ranch and the Jones properties are in two separate parcels. B. B. Curry is the general manager.

W. S. Doas has 13,000 acres in one ranch and nine sections in one pasture.

Much Land Leased
Many ranches find it easier and cheaper to lease land than to own it. A good deal of the out of the county owned land is leased by ranchers from the owners.

The north part of the county is the section that is cultivated to the greatest degree. Here is said to be some of the finest corn and cotton land on the South Plains.

In the central part of the county also is found splendid corn growing areas. The acreages is not as extensive, however. On the west side of the county, west of Seminole, there are only a few cultivated fields.

Gaines county contains over 1,500 section of land. Of this, not to exceed ten or twelve per cent is in cultivation, it is said. But more than 95 per cent of the area is either suitable for cultivation for range purposes. Cattle raising is the chief industry.

Macao is probably the oldest European colony in China. It was first settled by the Portugese in 1577.

GIVEN CLEMENCY

AUSTIN, Oct. 24. (AP)—Monty Jackson, negro, sentenced to death in the electric chair, was the recipient of executive clemency from Governor Dan Moody last night a few hours before the condemned man was to die. His sentence was commuted to life imprisonment. Jackson had been convicted of the slaying of E. C. Cornelius, night watchman in Simonton, Fort Bend county, in 1929.

Drug-taking is very widespread in Egypt, where it is estimated that 900,000 out of a population of 14,000,000 are victims of the vice. Egyptians are said to spend nearly $5 per head of the total population on drugs annually.

To Young Brides Going Housekeeping

A charming little grey-haired mother told us this story. We think it interesting enough to our friends to tell it in this advertisement. Perhaps you'll find something of value in it, besides our little talk about Snowdrift:

"When my daughter was married and started housekeeping, I reminded her that she would be with her husband for two meals a day through many, many years. I've been married thirty years, myself, but it hasn't seemed that long.

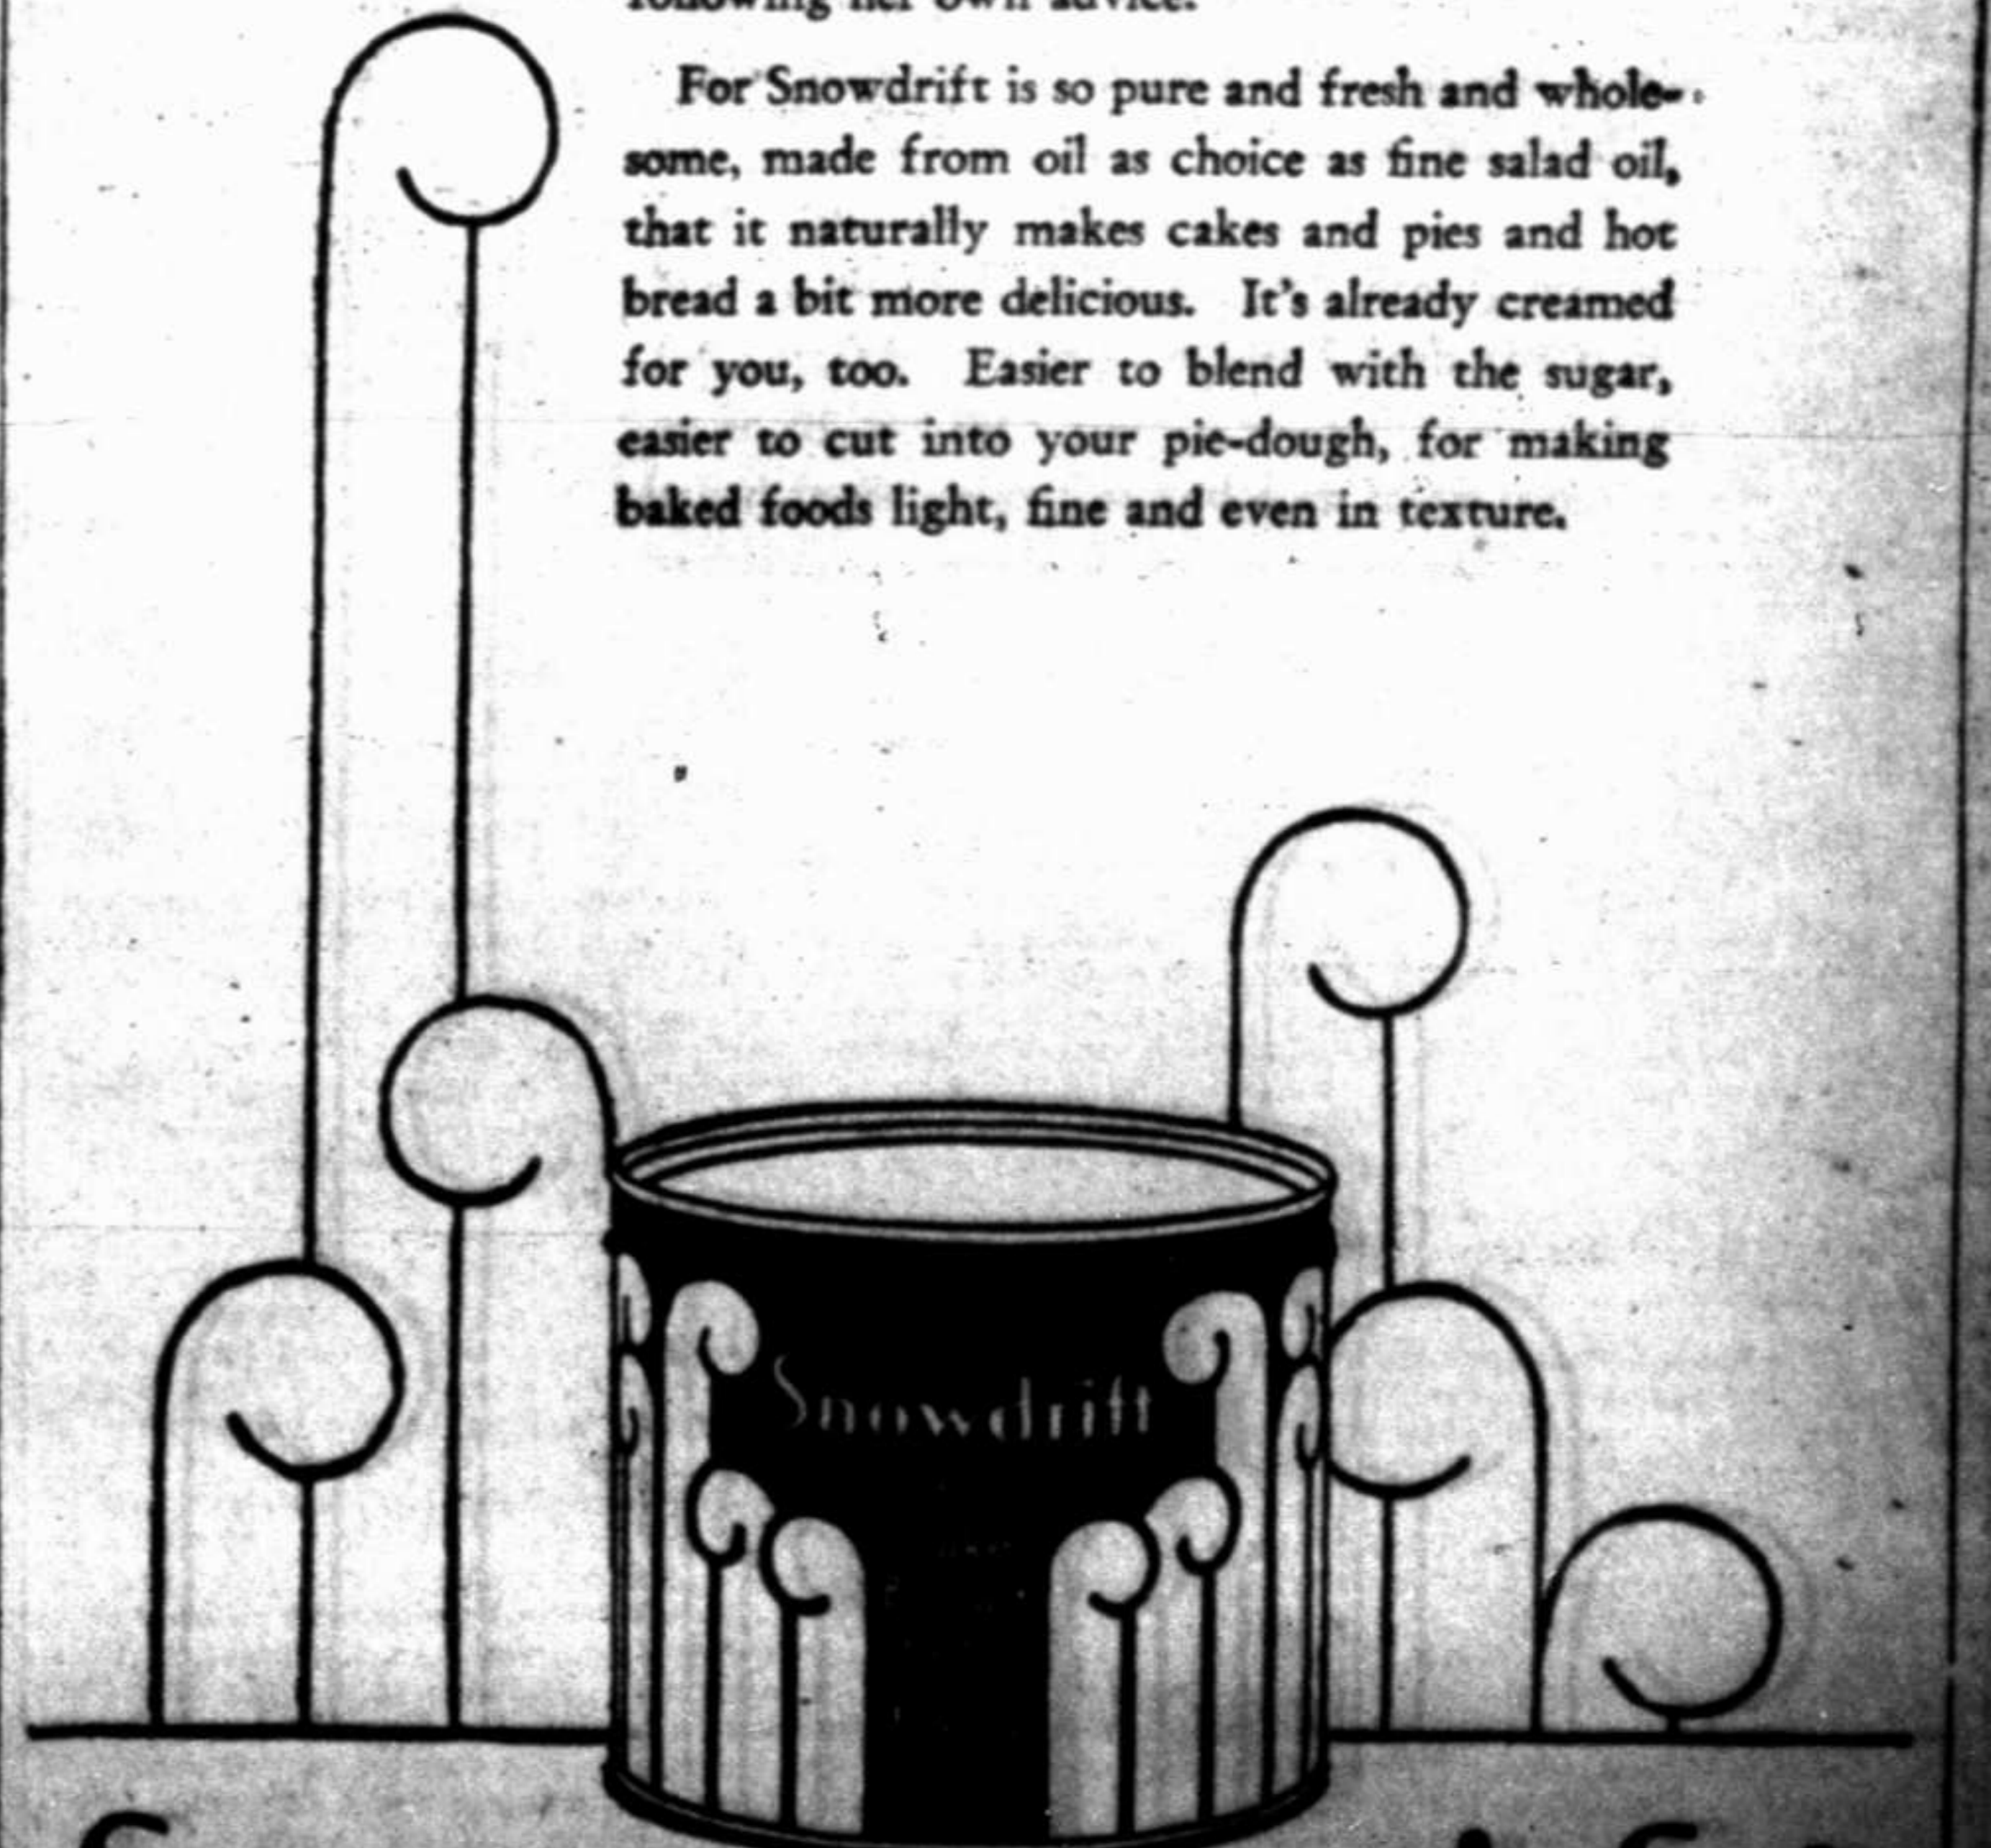

"I gave my daughter this little hint.

"Dear, remember, treat your husband as a guest at dinner. He is just as critical and appreciative of the nice little dishes you serve as any guest you'll ever have. Don't make the mistake of having two kinds of meals . . . 'company dinners' and 'family suppers.' You will see your husband more at the dining table than anywhere else.

"Make him proud of you twice a day."

Need we tell you that the wise little mother also advised her daughter to be particular about getting Snowdrift when she went to the store? She did. For ten years, she has used Snowdrift, following her own advice.

For Snowdrift is so pure and fresh and wholesome, made from oil as choice as fine salad oil, that it naturally makes cakes and pies and hot bread a bit more delicious. It's already creamed for you, too. Easier to blend with the sugar, easier to cut into your pie-dough, for making baked foods light, fine and even in texture.

NOTICE—It is not the intention of the Avalanche to cast reflection upon the character of anyone, living or dead, through error or accident, the management will appreciate having our attention called to same, and will gladly correct any erroneous statement made.

The Avalanche is an independent Democratic newspaper, supporting in the editorial columns the principles which it believes to be right, regardless of party politics published in the news fairly and impartially at all times.

ONE MINUTE PULPIT Draw nigh unto God, and he will draw nigh unto you.

CRIME NEWS EVERY once-in-while some earnest individual will approach the editor of the Morning Avalanche with the honest question: "Why do newspapers print so much crime news?"

The question cannot be answered simply. Newspapers print news of every description because it is their business to print news—to fulfill by printing the news, the contract made with every subscriber, who orders a newspaper to keep abreast of the happenings of the day.

Newspapers print so much crime news because, frankly, there is so much crime. That is the only answer there is to the query.

Some of the things printed in a newspaper are as undesirable to the newspaper itself as to the sincere reader who would prefer less or none of the so-called crime news. But in the performance of what it conceives to be its duty to print the news, the publications at times, like the judge on the bench, are confronted with unpleasant obligations.

There can be no justification for a newspaper that in cold-blooded panders to the lower instincts of its readers or peddles filth and obscenity. Not many newspapers do this and none that do would admit it. It is a question whether the worst victim of such publicity is not the medium through which it reaches the public.

Much by way of earnest criticism has been said of newspaper publicity of crime. It has never been satisfactorily proved that crime begets crime. As a matter of fact the evidence is rather that there is no connection between them.

No apology is made for newspaper indiscretions in the selection of printable news and still less for deliberate exploitation of unsavory events, but for those who deduce from publication of unpleasant things that the world is going to pot, there is the comforting thought that the world is going to pot because the world is the exception and not the rule that has new value.

There are many people who are sincere in their spoken belief that it would be better were crime news kept out of the public prints. There are others who voice the sentiment, yet who would promptly drop their subscription to any paper which did not report all the news available in the news columns.

Incidentally, it is interesting to note that in competitive fields the newspaper which prints all the news, regardless of its category, is the most popular newspaper and boasts the larger circulation.

After all, newspapers are published and their policies are cast for the people. And when we say "the people" we mean "all the people," not any group or classification.

NO UNIVERSAL RULE The educator who expresses the opinion that the man of 45 who has not earned enough money to retire is a failure in life takes an extremely mercenary view for an educator. Persons who devote themselves to education might be supposed to consider rewards other than money as also of value.

Certainly one would not be likely to enter any branch of teaching from the grade schools to the university with the exception of amassing in that line of effort sufficient wealth by the time the age of 45 is reached to warrant retirement into luxury. If the acquisition of wealth were the sole measure of success it might be well to hurry up the process lest it be not accomplished at all. However, there are other standards certainly not less important, though we would not deny the thrift and business acumen which enable many to accumulate material resources. Even were the size of one's bank account the only yardstick it happens that many men do not reach business eminence until after 45. Judged by this standard every president of the United States but one, would have been a failure.

One who attempts to fix a limit at which usefulness ends engages in a fruitless occupation. Some men are doing so long as they live while others never do anything at any age. Result depends on the individual and no rule amounts to a pleasure which attempts to fix boundaries beyond which man shall not go. Some men are as well prepared to retire at 30 as ever afterward and might as well do it, if later efforts are considered. Yet, retirement should not be the goal.

It is the mission of mankind to work and that one best fills the purpose of life who gives some form of useful service so long as one lives. One may divert energies, but if one becomes so apart from the world that no good would be caused by departure then does one cease to live though still in the flesh. Were the educator's dictum to be true a great proportion of the men of the past whom the world holds in reverence for their deeds were failures.

Quotations of Real Merit The plain truth is that the world is passing through a perfectly natural and normal reaction. Slowly but surely the forces that will bring about revival are at work.—Francis H. Sloan, New York bank executive.

In the two inspection tours I have made I didn't see one single drunken man.—Prohibition Administrator Amos W. Woodcock.

The fur-bearing animals are disappearing with alarming rapidity as a result of trapping for the fur trade.—David Quinn, secretary of the emergency conservation committee.

In the great intangibles of human emotion, respect is inseparable from good will.—President Hoover.

One of the most interesting problems that science has yet to solve is concerned with the nature of vitamins.—Dr. E. V. McCollum, nutrition authority of Johns Hopkins University.

I am too long, I know I am too long.—King Christian of Denmark, who is six feet five inches tall.

On the Firing Line at the Nation's Capital

RITCHIE STILL LOOMS AS POSSIBLE SELECTION ON DEMOCRATIC SLATE

(The last of a series of articles on the 1932 presidential election.)

By Charles P. Stewart, Central Press Staff Writer. ASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Gov. Albert E. Ritchie of Maryland was a Democratic presidential possibility in 1924, again in 1928 and he still is a possibility, looking ahead to 1932.

He must be reelected governor of his state in November in order to remain a 1932 possibility. However, Maryland gives Democratic results on election day so much oftener than it gives Republican results that to predict his continuation in office can hardly be interpreted as a partisan forecast; the Maryland law of chances favors it if nothing else does.

Another 1932 Democratic presidential possibility is ex-Senator James A. Reed of Missouri.

If ex-Senator Reed should be nominated and elected, he would be more than a year short of 72 at the time of his inauguration, which is a presidential age, according to all calculations until a suggestion to that effect was made to the Missourian himself not so long ago, when he answered curtly that all his ancestors had lived past 100.

To say that Ritchie and Reed both are wets probably is superfluous. The term "wet" is used simply as a short cut in Ritchie's case, because, strictly speaking, he dislikes it, explaining that what the dries call his "wetness" he calls "temperance."

As to Reed it can be used without qualification: the Missouriian stands on no formalities.

Of course all dries consider Ritchie's definition of temperance and Reed's bold admission of wetness a sufficient reason for opposing either or both of them. Otherwise the only count I know of against Reed is his age. If that amounts to one, the only one against Ritchie, his geography.

Ex-Congressman Robert J. Bulkley, as we know, is Democracy's wet senatorial candidate in Ohio. One hears it hinted that victory may make him moistly available at the 1932 Democratic national convention. It's a suggestion with some mighty big "ifs" in it.

Owen D. Young is Democratically mentioned, as he has been before—rather as a man who would make a wonderful president, according to certain circles, than as a real political possibility.

Young claims among other things, as a wet, but in this respect he resembles Dwight W. Morrow—thus far the only Republican possibility advertised, as an alternative to President Hoover. That is to say, Morrow and Young both are such imposing personalities along the line of weightier issues that they are capable of subordinating their wetness, to some extent, to their other qualifications.

Young, be it recalled, was author of the plan under which the Germans have been liquidating war claims. Let that plan blow up (as is threatened) and it will not help him any; for the "Young plan" has had more than any other single thing to do with making its creator a presidential possibility.

Another weakness in discussion, incidentally, is the public's long association of his name with huge corporate interests.

Perhaps the same thing might be said of Morrow. Morrow's many years, connection with Morgan & Company does not appear to be handicapping him appreciably in his New Jersey senate campaign, but running for the senate is a different thing from running for president.

One thinks of Calvin Coolidge as an ex-president, not a presidential possibility.

If he can properly be viewed as a "possibility," it was incorrect to state that Dwight Morrow is the only one mentioned as an alternative to Mr. Hoover—for the Northamptoner, decidedly is mentioned. Indeed, he never is omitted from any advance size-up of 1932 G. O. P. convention contingencies.

As for the Democratic list, the scroll is not technically complete without the names of Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas and Governor Huey P. Long of Louisiana.

Your Health EXPERT ADVICE NEEDED IN PICKING SANATORIUM

By Dr. Morris Fishbein, Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.

The person with tuberculosis may sooner or later be compelled to resort to a sanatorium in order that he may achieve proper scientific treatment for his condition.

Since the home itself with all of its personal relationships and with its relief from maintaining any kind of attitude is fundamental to healthful mental states, as pointed out in the London Lancet, the worst sanatorium in the belief of a patient, is usually the one in which he happens to be.

Sanatoriums vary greatly in their ability to provide the environment of home and in their ability to maintain in the mind of the patient a proper attitude toward his disease. Many persons do best in reasonable solitude; others demand an environment that provides for plenty of company and conversation.

Obviously the physician who is choosing the sanatorium has to take into account the cost, so that the patient will not constantly be worried by this question, and he must take into account also the psychological factors that have been mentioned.

It has been argued that one of the principal values of a sanatorium, as also of health resorts, lies in the fact that the patient is taken away from his usual environment, and secures relaxation of the mind and freedom from care.

The person with tuberculosis requires, besides rest, a reasonable amount of fresh air and sunlight, a proper diet and good medical care. The patient in the exceedingly active stage of this disease requires rest much more than fresh air. Obviously, therefore, the provision of a suitable bedroom with good medical care is his chief requirement.

The person who has passed the active stage and who needs fresh air and sunlight will do much better where such climatologic advantages are available than in a sanatorium situated in the northern part of our country and in a smoky atmosphere. Thus Englishmen regularly go to Switzerland for their tuberculosis when they have reached this stage in their disease, whereas they are well cared for at home in the active stage.

Modern scientific medicine provides methods of treatment for tuberculosis, including surgical removal of the ribs and collapse of the lung, and including also the injection of air into the thorax so as to collapse the lung and rest it in this manner. These methods are obviously available only where there are competent men to perform the operations and to take care of the injections. The care of the patient with tuberculosis therefore requires not a routine treatment, but the best possible judgment of some one experienced in the study and treatment of this disease.

The smart young man usually succeeds after he outgrows the habit of being too darned smart.

There was a time when a man considered it to his credit to pay cash and live within his income.

Heart Hungry by Laura Lou Brookman

THIS is Ted Jordan. One of my shipmates on the boat this last trip. He's violently prejudiced about brown eyes, so I brought him to you.

"How do you do?" Celia said. She looked up to encounter Ted Jordan's cool, quizzical smile. Jordan was just under six feet in height. He was slender, but well built, with a touch of militarism in the way he carried his shoulders. His face was bronzed, not ruddily sunburned, as were the other men. He had dark hair and eyes which seemed faintly challenging.

Perhaps Jordan was 25. Perhaps he was 30. There was a hard, polished surface to his manner which impressed Celia. She labeled it "militarism."

The man bowed formally. "I am delighted," he said, taking her hand. "May I sit here?" "Of course."

There was plenty of room on the divan, but Celia moved a little to one side. Last Duncan, who sat at Celia's left, evidently felt slighted and turned her back. Mrs. Parsons had joined another group.

"Our hostess is very brave," Jordan remarked casually. "Oh, I think Mrs. Parsons is wonderful," Celia told him. "Beautiful," the young man corrected her, "and very brave."

"I don't believe I understand." "No? But it's so obvious. A woman of Evelyn's age dares to invite into her home such competition."

A meaningful wave of the hand completed the sentence. Celia blushed. She was embarrassed and yet pleased. While Jordan was speaking there was not a trace of emotion in his face, but his voice had an exciting quality. She knew too that the pink net party dress was becoming.

Last Duncan turned, evidently to make a demand on Jordan's attention. She wanted to know if he had seen a certain night club entertainer. Last was an amusing girl, not at all like her sister, Kate, who was beautiful and dignified. Last was boyish, awkward, and wore her hair cropped short. Her little freckled face (sunburned too) would have looked more at home on a tennis court than at a dinner party, but she appeared to go everywhere and know everyone. She had a way of drawing original slang which was highly humorous.

Now she launched into extravagant praise of the new saxophone.

SIDE GLANCES By George Clark

IT was characteristic of Evelyn Parsons that she should seek to win her way by pleasant means first. These failing she was quick to change her tactics.

Evelyn was engaged in such "pleasant" plotting when she invited Ted Jordan to join her weekend house party. Jordan was exactly the type to fascinate an unsophisticated girl like Celia.

They stood near the doorway. Evelyn stammering in a gown of sea green stuff which contrasted brilliantly with her hair, and the young man bending toward her attentively.

"Must you always be more interested in other women?" she chided archly.

Jordan's quick answer deepened Mrs. Parsons' smile. She had always been sensitive to flattery.

"Come! I'll introduce you." Celia Mitchell, who had been watching this tableau from the divan across the room, turned her head and began talking to Last Duncan. She was curious about the newcomer. Who was he? Evelyn had mentioned the names of all her other guests. One eyebrow rose the merest trifle. Otherwise he offered no comment.

"Who else is there you don't know?" Evelyn asked. "There's only one I have met—Eve Brooks."

"Gee! I'll introduce you." Celia Mitchell, who had been watching this tableau from the divan across the room, turned her head and began talking to Last Duncan. She was curious about the newcomer. Who was he? Evelyn had mentioned the names of all her other guests. One eyebrow rose the merest trifle. Otherwise he offered no comment.

New Hotel at Hobbs Opened

Scores of Oil Men on Hand for Opening of New Harden Hostelry Wednesday Night; Contains 120 Rooms

NEW HOBBS, Oct. 24. (Special)—Scores of oil men were on hand here Wednesday night to join with local business men and traveling men in the opening of the new Harden Hotel in New Hobbs, named for John J. Harden of Oklahoma City, president of the Lea-Mex Development company.

The structure, three stories high and fireproof through, is one of the most modern in New Mexico. It is the only fireproof hotel building in Southwest New Mexico.

Has 120 Rooms There are 120 rooms, each with running hot and cold water. The best of furniture and fixtures has been purchased for the rooms and everything that can be done for the ease and comfort of guests has been arranged.

B. Gaylord Nofziger, Oklahoma City architect, drew the plans for the hostelry and his father, U. D. Nofziger, a well known architect and builder, supervised the work. Both men have been connected with the John J. Harden, Inc., interests for many years.

Mr. Nofziger, A. M. Spencer, general manager of the Lea Mex Development company, owner of the structure, announces, has begun plans to add two more stories to the building. This, it is expected, will make the number of rooms in excess of 200.

The hotel was planned months ago and preliminary work was under way when John J. Harden bought the interests of A. C. Chesser and associates in the New Hobbs Townsite company. He at once revamped the plans for the hotel to enlarge them and make the building larger.

Statistics say that the average American eats 25 pints of ice cream and 25 pickles a year.

Possibilities Of Agriculture Painted Bright

Annual Fall Meeting of East Texas Chamber of Commerce Held at Houston; Speakers Sound Optimistic Note

HOUSTON, Oct. 24. (AP)—A vivid picture of the potential possibilities for intensified development of agriculture and industry in Texas was painted by speakers at the annual fall meeting of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce here today.

The addresses were based on data compiled by the bureau of business research of the University of Texas. The principal talk was made by Dr. A. B. Cox, head of the bureau.

"It is the purpose of the bureau of business research to perform the same services for the development of business in Texas that the agricultural experiment station performs for the development of agriculture," Dr. Cox explained.

The bureau had then predicted business will begin to mend by spring and will be normal again by autumn. The prediction, he said, was based on an intensive study of economic conditions.

Dr. Elmer H. Johnson, industrial geographer for the bureau, asserted the industrial growth of all Texas had not been the result of an accident, but of the concerted efforts of far-sighted business men. The natural resources of the state, a large part of which were said to be still undeveloped, were described by Dr. Johnson.

Man paid $1 fine and $12.15 costs for the bureau.

The visitors attending the meeting were welcomed to Houston by Mayor Walter E. Monteth and former County Judge H. Bryan. Hubert M. Harrison, general manager of the East Texas chamber, presided.

Survey Made

An economic survey made of the territory served by the East Texas Chamber of Commerce to determine the extent to which raw materials are manufactured in that section was described by R. Grossman, industrial engineer of the bureau.

A market analysis of the livestock industry of southeast Texas was presented by Dr. F. A. Bucher, and the retailing business was discussed by Arthur H. Hertz of the University of Texas. Hurchel C. Walling explained to the 100 or more East Texas business men who attended the session the operation of the accounting department of the bureau.

Mississippi Also Suffered From Dull Headache. Tells How He Relieved.

Jackson, Miss.—"I have been taking Theodor's Black-Draught for twenty or more years," writes Mr. J. E. Jackson, 100 Beatty Street, this city.

"I used to suffer with constipation. This caused me to have a dull headache all the time. I would feel tired whether I worked or not. I noticed people buying Black-Draught, and so I decided that if it helped them it should help me. That is how I first began using it. I found that it helped me. It acted mildly and seemed to carry off the poison that had caused this tired feeling. It stopped my headache.

"From that time on, Black-Draught has been my medicine. I do not get much exercise, so I have to take something to assist nature, and Black-Draught is fine for that. "I am now 70 years old. I take only small doses of Black-Draught, five. I can recommend it to any one and gladly do so." Theodor's Black-Draught is easy to take and has no disagreeable after-effects. Costs only 1 cent a dose.

Rice Owls and Texas Steers; Porkers Of Arkansas and Texas Aggies Clash In Only Southwest Conference Games

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR. Associated Press Sports Writer DALLAS, Oct. 24.—University of Texas alone of the Southwest conference's "big four" is scheduled to help or hurt its championship standing this week.

The three other members of the favored quartet will be busy tomorrow, but their efforts will not show in the conference standing. Southern Methodist has an engagement with Indiana University in the new 60,000 seat stadium here an inter-sectional battle of promise.

Two member school with defeats already showing opposite their names in the conference standing.

Texas A. & M. College and the University of Arkansas, tangled in the week's second thirly bout, at Little Rock, both practically have been eliminated from the championship chase through losses to the powerful Horned Frogs. The loser in tomorrow's tilt may consider itself absolutely eliminated.

No Explanation

Although the jury appended no explanation to its recommendation for removal of the officers, the statement had the effect of reviving the whole matter of internal discord in the police department which was brought out following the shooting of Inspector Henry J. Garvin last winter.

Sunday-School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON FOR OCT. 26, 1930

WORLD'S TEMPERANCE SUNDAY

General Topic:— Making prohibition effective and permanent.

Scripture Lesson:— Galatians 5:13-26.

13. For, brethren, ye have been called unto liberty; only use not liberty for an occasion to the flesh, but by love serve one another.

14. For all the law is fulfilled in one word, even in this: Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.

15. But if ye bite and devour one another, take heed that ye be not consumed one of another.

16. This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh.

17. For the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh: and these are contrary the one to the other, so that ye cannot do the things that ye would.

18. But if ye be led of the Spirit, ye are not under the law.

19. Now the works of the flesh are manifest, which are these: Adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness.

20. Idolatry, witchcraft, hatred, variance, emulations, wrath, strife, seditions, battles.

21. Envyings, murders, drunkenness, revellings and such like: of the which I tell you before, as I have also told you in time past, that they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God.

22. But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith.

23. Meekness, temperance: against such there is no law.

24. And they that are Christ's have crucified the flesh with the affections and lusts.

25. If we live in the Spirit, let us also walk in the Spirit.

26. Let us not be desirous of vain glory, provoking one another, envying one another.

Golden Text:— Every man that striveth in the games exercise self-control in all things.—I Corinthians 9:25.

INTRODUCTION

The duty of citizens to support the laws of the land is connected with the duty of their government to enforce the laws which exist. No greater national service can be given by men and women of good will—who, I know, are not unmindful of the responsibilities of citizenship—than that they should, by their example, assist in stamping out crime and outlawry by refusing participation in and condemning all transactions with illegal liquor.

Our whole system of self-government will crumble if officials elect what laws they will enforce or citizens elect what laws they will support. For our citizens to patronize the violator of a particular law on the ground that they are opposed to it is destruction of the very principle of all that protection of life and property which they rightly claim under other laws.—President Hoover.

PERSONAL LIBERTY

One of the most popular words of modern times is the word liberty. Yet when one thinks of the word, what laws they will enforce or citizens elect what laws they will support. For our citizens to patronize the violator of a particular law on the ground that they are opposed to it is destruction of the very principle of all that protection of life and property which they rightly claim under other laws.—President Hoover.

THE SUPREME COURT AND PERSONAL LIBERTY

The supreme court has knocked the bottom from under the "personal liberty" argument that what a man eats and drinks is not properly a matter of legislation, and furthermore that any injury following the use of intoxicating liquors is voluntarily inflicted and confined to the party offending. The court says: "There is in this position an assumption of fact which does not exist, that when the liquors are taken in excess the injuries are confined to the party offending. The injury, it is true, falls first upon him, in his health, which the habit undermines; in his morals, which it weakens; and in his self-abasement, which it creates. But as it leads to neglect of business and waste of property and general demoralization, it affects those who are immediately connected with and dependent upon him." The advocates of a false type of personal liberty should remember that the individual cannot be developed at the expense of society without danger to both. The limitations of all that rights are justified either on the ground of his own good, or the self-preservation of society, or both.—J. M. Barker.

THE LAW OF LOVE

Over against the Jewish idea of bondage to a ceremonial law, and over against the anarchist idea of obligation to no law, Paul sets the Christian idea of a life governed by the law of love. "Use not your freedom for an occasion to the flesh, but through love one to another." In the Christian relation to his fellow man the only limitation upon his liberty is that which is imposed by love. Love will not permit him to pursue any course that will bring injury to those whom he loves. Love, therefore, is the law of the Christian life.

WHAT CAUSED NATIONAL PROHIBITION

Individuals got a vision of temperance and began to work for it. Dr. Lyman Beecher in 1826 advocated the abolition of liquor from articles sold, saying this was "the only thing that would assure temperance. Others caught the vision and soon a national society was organized to carry on the work of reform.

The churches took up the fight. They could do no less when they realized the significance of the struggle. It was not a movement toward union of church and state. It was carrying out teachings of Jesus and Paul which deal with the care a Christian should exercise for his brother's welfare. Space would not permit the telling of the many lines of temperance work done by the Protestant churches from 1830 to 1920 as they waged the war for temperance.

Corporations saw the advantage of temperance, and joined the ranks of those working against liquor. Their chief concern, of course, was efficiency, which involved profits. The individuals and the churches joined the fight for moral and spiritual reasons. The large industries were actuated by other considerations—and they put into force among their workmen total prohibition while others were working for high license and local option. They showed the rest of the nation the way. Thus high license, local option and dispensary systems were soon rejected by all temperance workers. The railroads were among the first to adopt prohibition for their trainmen.

TEN YEARS OF PROHIBITION

National prohibition is 10 years old. It came into being after 33 states had adopted state-wide prohibition. Many states that were not

"dry" had large areas that had banished the saloon by local option. The sections that were still "wet" bitterly resented the passage of the prohibition laws and have done much to prevent enforcement. Further, many have worked in many ways to discredit the laws and restore the liquor traffic. Any one would be unfair to say that the laws had been 100 per cent effective, and would be equally unjust if he did not admit improvement. Those in favor of prohibition speak in high terms of the achievements of the last 10 years: the opponents see no good in it at all. Would it not be of value to all old enough to recall the actual conditions of anti-prohibition days and compare them with the present? There is good and there is bad. The good can be extended and the bad eliminated.

THE DISPENSARY SYSTEM

This is the type of liquor store advocated by those dissatisfied with prohibition. It was tried by South Carolina and many towns in other states, and found wanting. The dispensary system is now used in Ontario, and has made no contribution to temperance. It falls there as it did in South Carolina. It would not eliminate the bootlegger, but would give him an easy source of supply. The profits from liquor would probably reduce the tax rate, but who wants to build roads and conduct schools with money spent for liquor by men who do not provide food and clothes for their families? No community could retain its self-respect and commit such an outrage.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN ON OBSERVANCE OF LAW

Abraham Lincoln considered such observance as basic in the life of the nation. He said, "Let every American, every lover of liberty, every well-wisher to his posterity swear by the blood of the Revolution never to violate in the least particular the laws of the country; and never to tolerate their violation by others. As the patriots of '76 rallied to the support of the Constitution and laws let every American pledge his life, his property, and his sacred honor — let every man remember that to violate the law is to trample on the blood of his father, and to tear up the charter of his own and children's liberty. Let reverence for the laws be breathed by every American mother to the lisping babe that prattles in her lap; let it be taught in schools, in seminaries, and in colleges; let it be written in primers, spelling-books, and in almanacs; let it be preached from the pulpit, proclaimed in legislative halls, and enforced in courts of justice. In short, let it become the political religion of the nation; let the old and young, the rich and poor, the grave and gay, of all sexes and tongues and colors and conditions, sacrifice unceasingly upon its altars."

Although the water in the Arctic and Antarctic oceans is salty, the ice that forms is free from salinity.

Dan Cupid Isn't Bothered at Law

GALVESTON, Oct. 24. (P)—Dan Cupid cannot be bothered by unfavorable advice from a state attorney general.

Mrs. Laura Cook of Galveston and Fred E. Dixon, confined to a sick bed in an Oklahoma City hospital, will be married over long distance telephone by Justice of the Peace Randolph Pierson at noon tomorrow. The county clerk of Galveston county recently asked the attorney general if a long distance telephone marriage ceremony would be legal. The attorney general's department expressed doubt of its genuineness in the eyes of the law, especially where one of the parties to the contract was in another state.

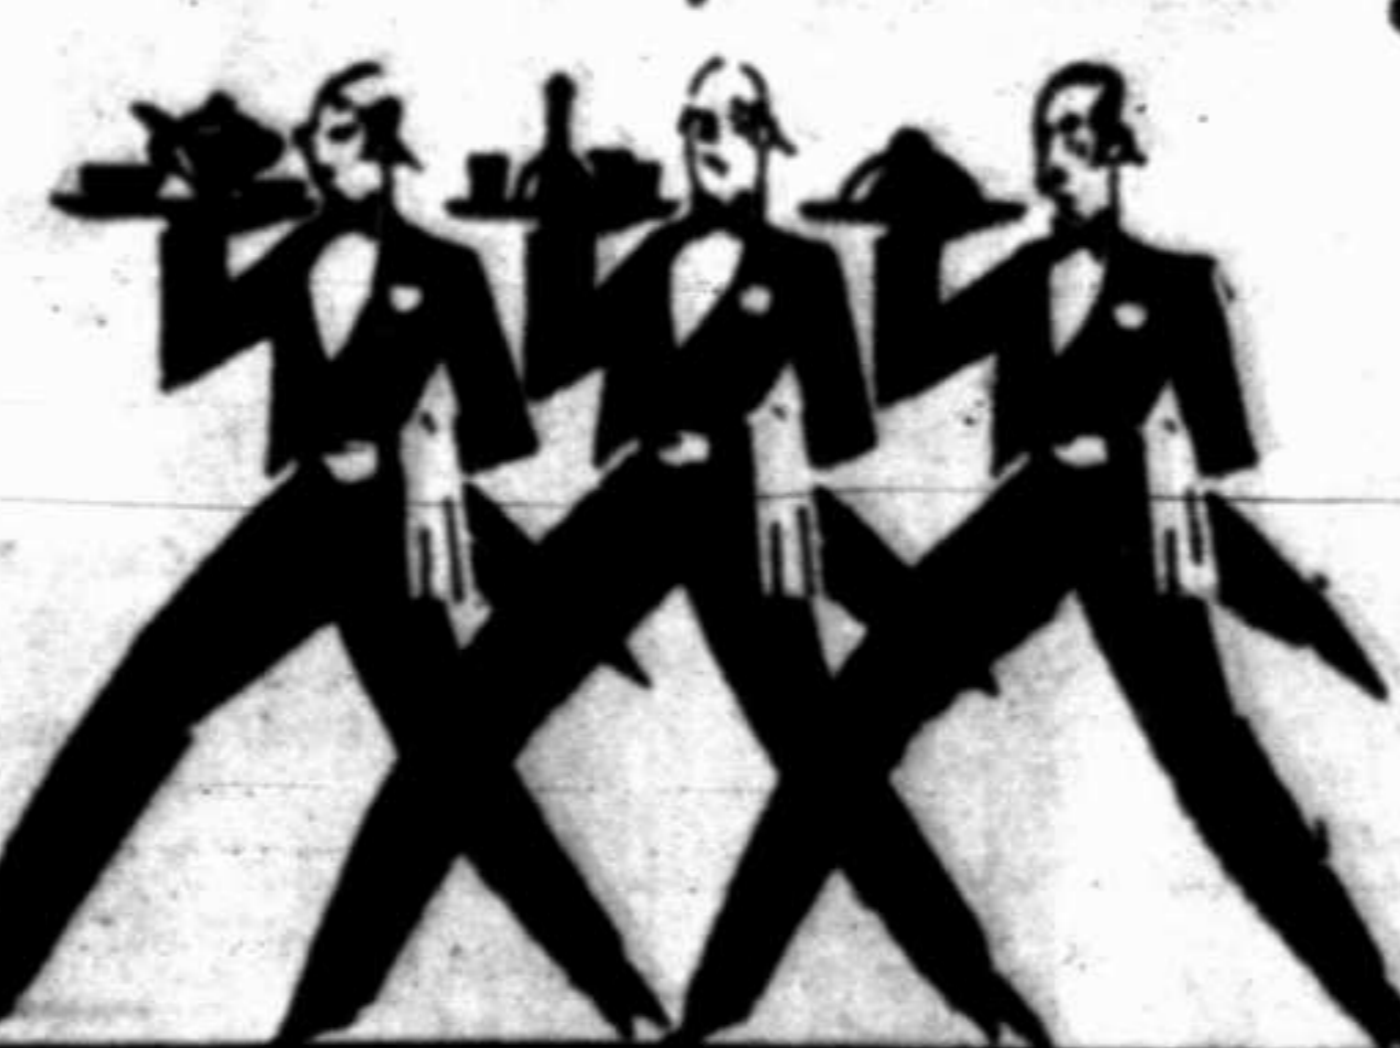

A bill vetoed by the President of the United States can be made a law by passing it by a two-thirds majority in both houses of Congress.

Right-of-Way Being Sought For Highways

Cooperation of Lubbock County Property Owners Asked by Judge H. Bean and Commissioners Court

Cooperation of Lubbock county property owners in obtaining right-of-way for state highways through the county was asked in a statement issued Friday morning by Robert H. Bean, county judge, and members of the county commissioners court.

County commissioners have been engaged the last two weeks in attempting to obtain right-of-way particularly for state highway No. 7, but the results have been discouraging, Judge Bean said.

Unless we can obtain cooperation from property owners, we will be unable to let another contract for dirt and drainage structure this year," the county judge said.

In many instances, property owners have the idea that because the county is paying for this right-

Sudan Will Vote On Sewer Bonds

SUDAN, Oct. 24 (Special)—Sudan voters tomorrow will decide on the proposed issuance of bonds amounting to $35,000 for the construction of a sewer system here. The election was called recently by the city council.

Many residents here have waged a strenuous campaign in favor of the proposed system. It is expected that the bond issue will be approved.

Sudan recently has completed several new business and public buildings, including an $80,000 high school now almost ready and two churches. There are a number of new residences being completed as well as several business houses. Sudan has had a steady growth the past summer.

of-way, they should charge us exorbitant prices.

"If we cannot get cooperation, then there will be but one alternative and that will be to condemn the property through suits. This course will not be resorted to unless forced upon us.

Property owners will receive greater benefit from the paving program than any others concerned, Judge Bean pointed out.

No contract work can be let until a right-of-way 100 feet wide is obtained by the commissioners court.

Honors Lost Love of Gold Rush

Back in 1897 and 1898, when the Alaska gold rush was at its height, a girl named Mollie Walsh ran a tent-restaurant at the headwaters of the Yukon and became famous as the "flap-jack queen." A miner named John "Packer Jack" Newman loved her, but she spurned him for one Mike Bartlett, whom she married. Three years later Bartlett cut her throat; now Newman, a retired Seattle business man, is donating a statue of her to the city of Skagway. He is shown here with the statue.

Theodore Roosevelt was the youngest president of the United States.

The height of the Brooklyn bridge over the river at its center is about 133 feet.

Wider Driveways To Be Completed

Widened driveways on the east and west sides of the Lubbock county court house probably will be opened completely within three weeks, contractors said Friday.

Pouring of concrete and laying of curbing on the driveways was under way Friday. Contractors said the work was expected to be completed soon, after which a period would be required for setting and seasoning of the newly laid cement.

The drives will be 42 feet wide, or twice their present width, to facilitate traffic through the square.

CHARGED WITH MURDER

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 24 (AP)—Chief Red Wing, charged with the murder at New Braunfels of two-year-old Evangelina Cavazos, was placed in the Bexar county jail at noon today. He was brought here by Chief of Police Ben E. Merr, and other New Braunfels officers. Chief Merr said, though no mob violence had been threatened, the Bexar county jail is superior to that of Comal county.

CIRCUS STAR DIES

READING, Mass., Oct. 24 (AP)—Leon W. Washburn, one of the outstanding circus proprietors of the country a generation ago, died today at the age of 81.

TO BROADCAST BULL FIGHT

McAllen, Oct. 24 (AP)—First known broadcast in English of a bull fight in Mexico will be heard on the air Sunday, November 8, over radio station XED at Reynosa, Mexico, across the border from McAllen. XED, 10,000 watts power on a Canadian cleared wave length of 960 kilocycles, is undergoing tests preparatory to a 100 hour program beginning November 8.

CASE CONTINUED

LONGVIEW, Oct. 24 (AP)—The case of W. H. McNair, charged with embezzlement of county funds while tax collector of Upshur county, was continued until the February term of court on motion of the defendant in district court today. The case was transferred here from Gilmer.

AUDITING DISCUSSED

HOUSTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—Various phases of bank auditing were discussed at the first annual meeting here today of the audit section of the Texas Bankers' association. J. K. Fleming of Houston gave the purpose of the conference. W. M. Yater, San Antonio led the discussion of controlling collection departments.

CHARRED BODIES FOUND

BEAUFORT, S. C., Oct. 24 (AP)—The charred bodies of Ed Barnes and his sister, Annie Barnes, of Augusta, Georgia, were found in the ruins of a cottage here which burned early today.

Cotton Heavy Realizing In Active Market Livestock Steady Prices for Cattle and Calves Grain Demand Slow on Cash Grain Mart

Cotton Markets At A Glance

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 24 (AP)—Cotton was again active today and although there was much speculation, realizations and considerable hedge selling prices showed a moderate advance. The market opened at 14 1/2 points up and later advanced to 15 1/2 to 16 points above the previous close. Late in the morning the market became active and prices reacted on realizations and hedge selling, making new high 15 1/2 to 16 points under the high, but recovered to 15 1/2 to 16 points under the previous close. The market was steady at a net gain for the day of 3 to 10 points, active morning. Livestock

FORT WORTH, Oct. 24 (AP)—Steady prices were paid for cattle and calves today for wheat, barley and sorghum, but fair for corn and oats. There was no export business.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24 (AP)—Despite promising rallies at times, cereal markets today failed to hold gains and finished at lower levels. Official announcement was received that Argentine wheat acreage was 1,170,000 acres larger than estimated heretofore called for, and that Australia also has a bigger acreage than last year, with crop prospects in both countries excellent.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24 (AP)—The Texas pink bollworm commission at a special hearing here today announced that the discovery of one pink bollworm in gin trash at a Midland gin October 14 prevented the release from federal and state quarantine of eleven counties comprising the western extension of infestation by the cotton pest in West Texas.

Discovery of Worm in Gin at Midland Prevents Release of Eleven Counties from Federal, State Quarantine

DALLAS, Oct. 24 (AP)—The Texas pink bollworm commission at a special hearing here today announced that the discovery of one pink bollworm in gin trash at a Midland gin October 14 prevented the release from federal and state quarantine of eleven counties comprising the western extension of infestation by the cotton pest in West Texas.

Gang Killings

Continued From Page One. The commission suggested that the Texas law governing the pink bollworm be amended, since it specifies that whatever quarantine measures are proclaimed must be enforced by the finding of a live pink bollworm in a cotton field. The new gin trash machines isolates the worms at the gins, but without any clue as to which field the insects may have come from.

Officers Are Selected for Charity Group

Constitution and By-Laws of United Charities Adopted and Application Made for Membership in Chest

Officers were elected, a constitution and by-laws adopted, and application for membership in the Community Chest formally drawn at a meeting of the board of directors of the newly organized United Charities of Lubbock in chamber of commerce offices Friday afternoon. Eight of the nine Lubbock churches having representatives in the directorate were represented at the meeting. A budget committee was appointed by President J. T. Tregg following adjournment of the directors.

Other officers elected were: First vice-president, Mrs. A. T. Biggers; second vice-president, Smylie C. Wilson; secretary-treasurer, Glenn Hess; and executive committee members, in addition to officers, Mrs. I. C. Enoch and Mrs. W. B. Price.

Budget committee was composed of John Dalrymple, chairman, and Roscoe Wilson, E. L. Pitts, A. M. Scott and Mrs. George A. Meiser. The committee will fix the amount to be asked of the Community Chest as an agency of the Chest.

Proposed employment of a trained executive to be in charge of a United Charities office will be deferred until after the annual Chest drive for funds in November, it was decided by vote.

Control of United Charities, according to the constitution, shall be vested in a board of directors composed of two representatives, one a man and one a woman, from each of the various cooperating church congregations in the City of Lubbock to be chosen in such manner as each congregation may select, and five members at large to be appointed by the board of directors of the Lubbock Community Chest in such manner as they may select.

Churches and respective representatives on the United Charities board of directors follow:

Asbury Methodist Episcopal—D. C. Ross, Mrs. Paul B. Williams. First Baptist—Mrs. Tom Campbell, J. D. Carroll. First Christian—Mrs. Biggers, Mr. Scott.

First Methodist Episcopal—Mrs. Tom Foster, Mr. Trigg. Lutheran—Rev. H. C. Zeibe, Mrs. Meiser. First Presbyterian—Mrs. Price, Smylie C. Wilson.

Nazarene—H. R. Fluke, Rev. R. M. Hocker. St. Paul's Episcopal—Mrs. F. R. Friend, Roscoe Wilson. West End Baptist—Mrs. Jim Fulton, J. M. Black.

Members at large are: Mrs. Enoch, Mr. Dalrymple, Mr. Pitts, Mr. Hess and J. O. Jones.

Constitution of United Charities states object of the organization as "to be associated with the Community Chest of Lubbock in administering cooperatively the community benevolences of the Christian churches and other charitably disposed groups and individuals."

"The United Charities will undertake to secure support from municipal and county government for the whole project, but especially for that part of it which looks to the furnishing of free hospital facilities, and shall support charity wards in the hospitals as their resources may permit and as the needs of the poor may demand." Regular meetings of the organization will be held once a month.

BANKER KILLED

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 24 (AP)—Creed Taylor, 43, deputy governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta, and a former banker of Mobile, Ala.; died today of injuries received yesterday in a fire that destroyed his home.

EX-PRESIDENT DIES

ASUNCIÓN, PARAGUAY, Oct. 24 (AP)—Former President Eligio Ayala who is now minister of finance, was wounded seriously last night in a shooting affray in which he killed an employe of the agricultural bank named Bareiro.

Che Mah, the smallest man in the world, was brought to America by P. T. Barnum and died in Chicago at the age of 88 in 1926. He was 28 inches tall.

The American Federation of Labor was organized in 1886 and only three men, Samuel Gompers, John McBride and William Green have held the office of president.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Ray Dickey and son, Richard, are visiting in Dallas during the week-end.

city officials explained.

Lives Within Income

Lubbock's municipal organization is living well within its income and present cash on hand indicates a slight increase, city officials said, in expressing satisfaction at figures of the six months' period.

Resignation of J. C. Levens, city tax attorney and assistant city attorney, to devote all of his time to private law practice, was announced at city hall Friday. A successor has not been named, city officials indicated.

Persons living outside the city limits may obtain water service by paying the cost of extension, a tapping fee, and rates double that paid within the city, it was decided at Thursday's meeting of the commission.

Bodies weigh more at either Pole than anywhere else on earth. This is due to increased force of gravity and lessened centrifugal force. A body weighing 190 pounds at either of the Poles would weigh 189 pounds at the equator.

City Capital Outlay Lower Than Expected

Operation Expense Is Less Than Amount Provided for in Budget; Levens Resigns as City Tax Attorney

Total operation expense and capital outlay of the City of Lubbock from April to September 30 was about $10,300 less than had been provided for in the budget, city officials announced Friday morning following a meeting of the city commission Thursday.

Although actual operating cost was approximately the same as the amount budgeted for the purpose, capital outlay was sufficient to account for the under expenditure,
