

Kennedy, Schroeder In Accord On Berlin Issue Talk Pleases West German

WASHINGTON (AP) — West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder discussed the question of Berlin with President Kennedy today and reported they reached "very good and complete agreement."

Leaving a 90-minute conference with Kennedy, he told newsmen that as a result of three days of talks with U.S. officials, "We find ourselves in agreement on the assessment of the Berlin situation and on the methods to be applied to meet the situation."

His talk with Kennedy, he said, "completes my conversations in Washington."

Kennedy accompanied his guest to the White House lobby, then, seeing the unusually large crowd of reporters, withdrew with a smile.

Schroeder, who appeared relaxed, said his visit served "to prepare the visit the chancellor (Konrad Adenauer) will make here upon the invitation of your President." Adenauer is due Nov. 7. Schroeder will be with him.

Then, Schroeder added, "We will have another opportunity to review our plans."

Schroeder was asked whether he foresees any new initiative the West might take as a result of his visit.

"Everything that has been done up to now will go on," Schroeder replied, indicating he sees no need for new initiative.

There were some smiles when a reporter asked him whether he thought Kennedy has the "proper degree of firmness and flexibility" to deal with the Berlin situation.

"I don't want in any way to utter an opinion but you may rest assured that all who are interested take a firm stand on Berlin," Schroeder replied.

Schroeder declined to say specifically what subjects were discussed with Kennedy. He did say, in response to a question, that the time was too short to go into the problem of the Common Market.

Schroeder is understood to have warned administration officials that the East German regime, with Russian backing, may try to impose new control over civilian traffic moving into Berlin from West Germany.

Schroeder, here since Sunday, is seeking allied support for rejection of such a move.

It is not yet clear what retaliatory action West Germany and its allies could take. Officials indicate there has been some talk of an economic boycott if the East Germans demand regular diplomatic visas for travel to Berlin across their territory.

The meeting is the first in a series of talks the President plans on the Berlin situation. He will receive Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko Thursday. Then on Nov. 7, the day after the congressional elections, West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer will open consultations here with Kennedy.

Meanwhile, Foy D. Kohler, the new U.S. ambassador to Moscow, conferred Tuesday with Khrushchev in the Russian capital. It was believed certain Berlin was high on the agenda.

HST Says Previous Regime 'Stood By'

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. (AP) — "Now we are paying for eight years with a do-nothing, good-for-nothing president," former President Harry S. Truman said Tuesday night in attacking the administration of his successor, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Truman told a Democratic rally the Eisenhower administration "stood by while there was a breakdown of our economic structure and a decline in our leadership abroad."

Second Sabin Sunday Set

Citizens of all ages within the Snyder County area are reminded that this Sunday marks the second of Snyder's "Sabin Oral Sundays."

Distribution of the Type II vaccine—the standard two drops in a lump of sugar—will be made at each of the four points utilized in the Type I administered of last month. They are: Travis and Lamar Junior High, Northeast Elementary and Lincoln School.

Fayce project co-chairman Doug McGowan said that all persons taking the vaccine please return to the same site at which they received the initial dose if at all possible. This is not mandatory, but will help to facilitate and speed up the operation considerably.

Persons taking the anti-polio vaccine may do so anytime Sunday between the hours of 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. There is no charge for the service, but a 25-cent donation per dose is requested in order to cover the cost of the vaccine.

UPSETS TAKE TOLL IN WEEKLY GRID CONTEST

Upsets — a potful of 'em — took their toll during the past week's Daily News Football Contest, but there did emerge from the rubble a clear-cut winner — Ronald Z. Bratton of 802 Twenty-seventh Street.

Bratton missed the boat on six of the 28 games and was no respecter of teams, either, in being snookered on three high school games and a like number of college battles. Among his schoolboy mis-picks were Hereford's 27-14 surprise over undefeated Lamesa, Pecos' 21-8 lowering of Kermit, and Abilene's 28-6 triumph over Odessa Permian.

Those college tilts which he failed to call the shot on included Oregon's 31-12 smothering of Rice, Army's 9-6 submerging of nationally ranked Penn State, and Miami of Ohio's totally unexpected 10-7 upset of Purdue.

With $2.50 farled over from last week due to a multiple tie for second, Bratton will pocket $12.50 for his efforts.

For the second week running there was a multiple tie for second and consequently a carry-over of the $2.50 prize money to this week's contest, which may be found listed in today's edition.

With seven incorrect choices each, that list includes Mrs. C. E. Gould, Route 2; Colleen Bishop, Route 2; Deana M. Cooper, Route 3; Robert Foree, 108 Milburn; Omer Pinkerton, 2306 Twenty-sixth Street; Joe Overton, Route 1; Jerry Owen, Post Road; and G. E. Kirk, Box 16.

More Experts Asked To Help Devise Test

DALLAS (AP) — Unless a federal agency decides otherwise, the psychiatrist directed to examine former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker will ask two fellow experts to help devise the sanity test.

Lawyers for the onetime Army field commander raised doubt over the next step in a new court move late Tuesday. They petitioned at Oxford, Miss., for Cancellation of U. S. Dist. Judge Claude Clayton's order for the checkup.

Dr. R. L. Stubbfield, chief of psychiatry at Southwestern Medical School here, told newsmen about the same time he had requested two colleagues to confer privately with him tomorrow on what constituted a "reasonable psychiatric" examination. He did not disclose where they would meet.

Federal authorities charged Walker after his Oct. 1 arrest at Oxford, with-insurrection and conspiracy. The charges stemmed from integration riots at the University of Mississippi. Walker, freed under $50,000 bond Oct. 6 from the U. S. Medical Center at Springfield, Mo., has said he is innocent.

Defense counsel contended in the latest move that the court order for a sanity test violates Walker's constitutional rights to post bail and be released, and that a defendant may be presently insane or so mentally incompetent that he cannot understand the proceedings against him and "to be present in person at the hearing wherein defendant's mental sanity and mental competency is questioned."

There was no indication when the federal court at Oxford might act on the petition.

Walker's lawyers contended the U. S. Attorney could call for a mental test only when he "can show reasonable ground for belief that a defendant may be presently insane or so mentally incompetent that he cannot understand the proceedings against him and "to be present in person at the hearing wherein defendant's mental sanity and mental competency is questioned."

INTERESTING ITEMS TURNED UP IN SEARCH

The search for old Snyder newspapers, now underway here in connection with the Snyder Daily News 75th anniversary observance, is turning up interesting items daily.

Roscoe Williams, 403 Thirty-third Street, came across a Dec. 19, 1927 issue of the Tigers' Tale, the Snyder High School paper. Tattered, but still mostly legible, it bears the information, among other things, that Snyder High School had just been added to the list of Southern Accredited Schools.

Meanwhile, the search goes on for a copy of a Snyder newspaper with a date back to the 1890s. Take a look through your old scrapbooks and mementos. A $25 prize awaits the person who turns in the oldest issue. We want to reproduce some of it in the "Snyder on the GO" edition which is coming out soon, with a big variety of historical stories on the Snyder area.

You can order extra copies of the "GO" edition now at 50 cents per copy, and we will mail them wherever you desire.

Estes Penalty Due To Stick

WASHINGTON (AP)—Agriculture Department officials are growing increasingly confident that a $54,153 cotton marketing quota penalty assessed against the Billie Sol Estes enterprises last May will be upheld.

The penalty was levied on the ground that cotton acreage allotments the West Texas financier obtained from other farmers under a controversial plan were not valid. The penalty covered cotton grown on 3,123 acres of land in Pecos and Reeves counties.

Attorneys for Estes served notice in May that they intend to appeal the penalty to a Texas regional review board of farmers authorized by farm law. A date for hearing on this appeal has not yet been set.

Official confidence on the outcome of this appeal was strengthened by action of a review board late last month upholding a similar penalty levied against another Pecos County farmer, Fred Chandler Sr. Chandler had obtained cotton allotments under a plan like that used by Estes, officials said.

However, Chandler has indicated he will appeal to the federal courts.

Under the plans used by Estes and Chandler, farmers displaced by the government contracted to buy land from them. The farmers would transfer his cotton allotments to the new land.

Estes contended he leased the land back from the farmers along with their cotton allotments. The department contends, on the other hand, that the Estes operation was no bona fide sales of land, but illegal schemes to buy cotton allotments. Farm law does not permit sale of allotments.

Officials have said that the Estes cotton operations had widespread support among West Texas farmers before he was charged in Texas courts with alleged fraud in connection with sales of liquid fertilizer tanks to farmers.

The department owes the Estes enterprises more than $1 million for storage of surplus grains in his elevators. It hopes to deduct the cotton marketing quota penalty from this storage fee. But other creditors of Estes are making claims against this fee—claims that the courts may have to settle.

Meanwhile, the department soon may be called upon to decide whether it will enter an agreement with the purchaser of Estes grain storage facilities in Texas to store surplus grains in those facilities in the future.

These facilities recently were sold under court orders to the great American Grain Corp., of which Morris Jaffee, Texas financier, is the head.

Roland Ballou, an assistant deputy administrator of the department's stabilization and conservation service, said he expected Jaffee and attorneys to come here next week in an effort to get such an agreement.

Altrurian Study Club Meet Held

Nineteen members of the Altrurian Study Club met for their regular session at Martha Ann Woman's Club Friday afternoon.

"Spotlight On An Artist" was the program title. Roll call was miscellaneous, but several bits of information on art of the southwest added to the program material. Others gave pattern to the roll call with humor, poetry and religion.

Mrs. W. P. King presented the program on John Marcellus (Tex) Moore, Masque District's candidate to the National Hall of Fame. The colorful life of Tex Moore included his having been a cowhand, gold miner, stage coach driver, Indian scout, Rander, author and artist.

"He was friendly with two well known western artists, Remington and Russell, and was influenced by their contacts. Mr. Moore lived for awhile in Hamblin and it was the Hamblin clubs that have started the move to present his name for the National Hall of Fame. He was made official artist of Texas by the state legislators."

Mrs. King showed a film on the plans for constructing and operating the National Hall of Fame on Persimmon Hill near Oklahoma City, Okla. When this honor was conceded to Oklahoma City, it had been hotly contested by Dodge City, Kansas, as the proper site for a Cowboy Hall of Fame.

Demonstrating new '63 Chevrolet truck features the hard way!

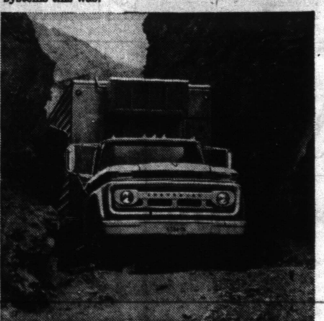

When we came to a river we got wet. This river bed was paved with rocks the size of melons. What a test for new light- and heavy-duty suspension systems this was!

Conventional light-duty units have collapsing independent front suspension — easier on truck, load and driver.

Now engines, suspensions, frames and narrower front ends show their stuff on Mexico's tough Baja Run!

With months of proving-ground tests under their belts, why did new Chevrolet trucks take on the rugged Baja (bah'bah) Peninsula? This is the toughest line of trucks Chevrolet has ever built. Sending them over the most punishing terrain in North America (a road totally unlike the fine highways on the Mexican mainland) was double proof of this fact. Frames, engines, suspension systems were subjected to stresses far greater than trucks normally encounter. You can be sure that trucks that can handle this kind of beating can handle any kind of work.

Users of new conventional medium- and heavy-duty units who have to operate in close quarters are going to like the narrower front ends (up to 7 inches).

WILD WEST SHOW HEADLINERS—Col. William F. (Buffalo Bill) Carson, left, and the Wichita Kid will be featured at the Carson and Barnes Circus here Friday. Carson plays the role of Buffalo Bill in movies and the Wichita Kid (Boots Madden) is well-known for many roles as a shoot 'em up villain in TV westerns.

Western Stars To Appear In Circus

Col. Wm. F. "Buffalo Bill" Carson has returned to the Carson and Barnes Circus after an absence of seven years to head the Wild West Show. Col. Carson is well known to motion picture and TV fans as the man who plays "Buffalo Bill" in movies. Children will remember him for his appearance on the "Circus Boy" TV series.

Col. Carson now personally produces and takes part in each performance of the Wild West Show with the Carson and Barnes Circus. He has just completed work on the motion picture "Jumbo" for MGM and has brought along with him from Hollywood a congress of cowboys and cowgirls to take part in the show.

Among the featured performers is none other than the Wichita Kid of TV fame, "Boots" Madden. Well known for his many roles as a shoot 'em up villain in countless TV Westerns, "Boots" is a real performer with the six gun, rifle and bull whips. A veteran of the Rodeo Circuit, he was a top ranked bronc buster and bull rider for many years. In the Circus he presents his two Palomino Stallions, "King" and "Apache" in a display of Western Dressage Riding.

In the Wild West Show his famous shooting act is a feature. One of the best all-around cowboys who has turned to the entertainment world, the Wichita Kid is but one of the featured performers of Col. Carson's Big Show.

In addition to the western portion of the Circus, Carson and Barnes has assembled top rated acrobats and aerialists from all over the world. Of course no circus would be complete without the clowns and Carson and Barnes fills the rings and track with the best in circus comedy. Among the novel animal presentations this season is Baby Wanda, the two year old elephant and "Little Oscar," the 4,500 pound hippopotamus. The circus will give two performances Friday in Snyder. Showgrounds are located at the Rodeo grounds.

Language Of Mass Under Discussion

By BENNET M. BOLTON
VATICAN CITY (AP)—The use of modern languages instead of Latin in the Mass is one of the major topics the 2,700 Roman Catholic prelates of the Vatican Ecumenical Council will discuss in daily sessions that start next week.

The question of the language of the Mass is one that has repercussions throughout the world particularly in the church's missionary efforts. Many missionary bishops attending the council fear Mass in the vernacular of the people. Such missionaries argue, for example, that while a Mass in Latin might be incomprehensible to a former headhunter in New Guinea he could find it full of meaning if it were said in his native Papuan dialect.

Traditionalists consider Latin a factor for unity that stands above differences of nationality and local language, a cement that has helped hold the church together for 20 centuries. Neither view is expected to prevail at the council. Church specialists in liturgy express the view that the best advantages of each—Latin and local languages—may eventually be combined.

Arcadio Cardinal Larraona, whom Pope John XXIII has picked to head the council's commission on liturgy, predicted last June that local languages eventually would replace Latin in the first third of the Mass.

No council session was scheduled today as tabulation continued of votes cast by the 2,700 prelates for members of the council's 10 drafting commissions. The council fathers voted Tuesday for 16 members of each of the 10 commissions, and all of the prelates attending the council were eligible for election. Results of the voting were not expected until Saturday.

The Pope will name eight additional members to each commission.

Were the archbishop to stand on legal technicalities, he quipped, "I might claim some jurisdiction."

Mrs. Robert L. Finkbine, who had a legal abortion in Sweden last summer after losing a court fight in Arizona to have the operation legally in that state, will return to work at station KTAH-TV in Phoenix next week.

She will not resume her career as hostess of the "Romper Room" program for children, but instead will devote much of her time to writing and later to production and programming.

Mrs. Finkbine had the abortion because she had taken thalidomide, a sleep-inducing drug blamed for deforming many babies before birth.

Jail Break Is Thwarted

FORT WORTH (AP)—Guards thwarted an attempt to break out of the Tarrant County jail in downtown Fort Worth today. Sheriff's deputies and city police, armed with tear gas and wearing gas masks, moved up to corral 26 prisoners believed loose on the sixth floor. They found all the inmates back in their single big cell and feigning sleep.

Sgt. Terry Hopkins, in charge of the jail overnight, said guards Duke Tramel and Harvey Thrall discovered several prisoners waiting to attack them about 2:30 a.m. The guards were still on the opposite side of a heavy locked door.

A quick alarm brought reinforcements. About a dozen officers then mounted to the sixth floor, which is on the top story of the old Criminal Courts Building in Fort Worth.

Officers found a radiator ripped off the wall, several pieces of pipe torn out for crude weapons, the wire mesh off a window rolled up and bedsheet knotted into a makeshift rope.

Kathy Carlson, 12, of Swanville, Minn., who loves to play baseball with the boys, has a broken leg again. Kathy broke her right leg as she slid into second base and collided with a boy. She did the same thing a year ago and broke a leg—after colliding with the same boy.

Shipwrecked Tongans Defy Sea, Death For 11 Weeks

SUVA, Fiji Islands (AP)—Shipwrecked for 11 weeks on a South Sea reef, 12 Tonga islanders defied death and the sea by living on water distilled from the ocean and by catching fish and crabs. And when a New Zealand Air Force flying boat came out of the night Monday and dropped flares, it was as if everything in their weak, dehydrated bodies came alive again, a survivor said today.

The story of survival came from Veteu Pabulu and Fine Feauki, two of the Tongans who lived through the ordeal that took the lives of five of the 12 men. The Tongans set out in a yacht last summer from Tongatapu to Ata Island in the Tonga Islands east of the Fijis.

Storm winds blew them far off course. On July 7 the wind bore them down on Minerva Reef, 300 miles west of Ata and well off the shipping lanes.

"The yacht broke up quickly," said Feauki, "and we were on the open reef all night. It was like a dream when light came and we saw not far away the Japanese wreck."

The wreckage was that of a Japanese fishing vessel. There was but a single match among the Tongans. With it they started a fire from wreckage to serve as beacon and cookstove. Through the 11 weeks someone always was on watch to see that the fire did not go out.

"We took our food from our wrecked boat and lived on that for 17 days," said Feauki. "Then we had to catch fish and crabs." They also had aluminum pots.

Sea water was put in one aluminum pot with a lid and the pot placed over the fire. Steam from the pot passed through a rubber tube and condensed in the other kettle. This produced two pints of precious water a day—a small cup for each man.

"After 24 days Fatai Efesi died and was buried in the sand on the reef. Then later that day Sione Sikemeli and Sione Loe died," Feauki said.

The men decided to build a raft from the wrecked fishing boat. Capt. Tevita said he would try to reach the Fijis for help.

"We had only a hammer and no saw," Feauki related, "and had to cut timber with a nail."

By this time, a fourth man had died. The captain and two volunteers boarded the raft and set out for Kandavu, most southerly of the Fiji islands, 350 miles away.

The three had no food and only four cups of water. One volunteer died on the way.

Weak and exhausted, the captain and the other islander arrived Monday at Kandavu, and gasped out their story.

The flying boat went to Minerva Reef, took the 10 boarded men aboard, and brought them to Suva.

Happy Seaman On Ship For Naples
NEW YORK (AP)—The Italian liner Leonardo da Vinci left for Naples Tuesday with 1,000 passengers and one of the happiest seamen who ever sailed the seas.

The seaman, 40-year-old Viviano Sequino, had just been informed by transatlantic telephone that his wife won $150,000 in an Italian government soccer pool.

More Negroes Get Federal Employment

WASHINGTON (AP)—The federal government reported Tuesday it has sharply increased its employment of Negroes, particularly in middle- and upper-bracket jobs.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson released figures comparing employment in 33 agencies in June 1962 with a year earlier.

They showed employment increased 29,240 to 2,228,007—an over-all increase of 1.3 per cent—while Negro employment alone increased 10,270 or 3.6 per cent.

Johnson said Negroes have not been given special job privileges. Rather, he said, their job gain represents insistence by the present administration that employees be hired, promoted and upgraded on the basis of merit.
