Three Dead As Cyclones Strike In Lynn County; Homes Ripped Apart

LaGuardia Says Nation Faces Grave Threat

Colorful Mayor Declares That Under-Purchasing Power Is The Root Of Big Problem

(By The Associated Press)

WICHITA FALLS, April 26. — Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia of New York said here today the country was facing a situation worse than in 1917 and appealed for cooperation among business, labor and government to work a permanent solution.

"This is no time for partisan advantage," he shouted. "The situation is more serious than in 1917. It is a war against poverty and misery."

Under-Purchasing Is Problem

Addressing a warmly-demonstrative session of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, important regional organization, the dynamic LaGuardia decried the fact millions were unemployed, declared the problem was under-purchasing instead of over-production, and said the government relief program, while it could not go on forever, also could not be cut off suddenly.

He concluded the best thing for the country would be a cessation of politics.

Having come to Texas from Oklahoma where he attended pioneer celebrations, the mayor left immediately after his address for Whitesboro, 95 miles away, planning to catch a train there for St. Louis.

Reference To Candidacy

Twice there was reference to his possibly becoming a candidate for president of the United States, about which there has been recurring gossip.

After lauding LaGuardia's administration of New York City's affairs, Dr. O. B. Kiel of Wichita Falls, World war buddy on the Italian front and the mayor's host, asserted, amid applause, that LaGuardia had a bigger job awaiting him in Washington and could do for all the country what he had done for New York.

Later in his address, LaGuardia smilingly remarked "don't you worry about my going to Washington."

Lauded By Allred

Governor James V. Allred, in a preliminary talk, described LaGuardia as a man "whom we have come to know and love from afar."

At the outset, LaGuardia said he was interested in agriculture primar-

Compromise Is Being Favored

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 26. — A compromise tax revision bill labelled "aid to business" received final approval of a joint senate-house committee today.

The committee, which adjusted fundamental differences between senate and house revenue measures, comprised numerous secondary issues and rejected a proposal by Senator Borah (R-Idaho) to make future issues of federal securities taxable.

Would Remove Exemptions

President Roosevelt has recommended tax exemptions be removed from future securities and salaries of both the federal and state governments. House members of the conference group argued the Borah proposal should be eliminated and the president's broader recommendations embodied in a new bill.

The revenue measure, which carries out some administration tax ideas and some proposals advanced by business spokesmen, is expected to raise the $5,330,000,000 asked by the treasury.

Members said estimated revenue was increased to this figure when the conference group voted to re-

Hoover Sounds Appeal To Women To Back Fight Against Moral Recession In U. S.

(By The Associated Press)

FRESNO, Calif., April 26.—Former President Herbert Hoover tonight appealed to politically-minded women for a fight against what he termed "a moral recession" in American government.

Loss of morals in self-government paved the way for rise of European dictatorships, said Mr. Hoover before outlining through questions "immoralities" he charged were endangering self-government.

Must Be Expurgated

"They must be expurgated from American life," he told the Federation of Republican Women's clubs.

An audience of some 2,800 persons gave Hoover on ovation.

"Somebody has to do a cleanup job in this republic," Mr. Hoover declared in saying he was turning to women "as a complaining citizen" because "the men haven't done much of late" and because "it is . . . a commonplace fact that moral instincts of women are upon average higher than men."

Facing Grave Hours

"These are grave hours," said Mr. Hoover. "We are in a moral recession in government.

"Beyond this we have for five years listened to a continuous defamation of everything that has gone before. Honest achievement of men has been belittled and attributed to improper motives. Ideals embedded in our patriotism are smeared with contempt. . . . We are told that we are in ruins and we must begin anew. We are told that government must do it for us.

"People speak less today of the greatness of America. . . . There is doubt of her destiny."

The former president pointed out, however, that America, with but six per cent of the world's popula-

Secret Food Purchases Being Made To Feed British People In First Months Of War

LONDON, April 26. (AP)—Great Britain hiked her income tax to a staggering 27 1-2 per cent today to help balance a gun-swollen budget that is the biggest in peacetime history.

Vast secret food purchases to feed Britain's people for the "early months" of a war were disclosed by Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, who announced to the house of commons that the government needs $4,721,990,000 for the year ending March 31, 1939.

The gap between arms expenses and expected income is to be filled by the 2 1-2 per cent income tax increase, which won't hit the little fellow, and by tea and oil duty boosts which will. The income tax becomes the highest since the 1921-1922 peak.

System Of Consultations For Business And Government Is Advocated By Leaders

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Sixteen big businessmen offered President Roosevelt their help today in establishing a system of continuing consultation between government and business for prevention of over-production and periodic depressions.

In a joint statement they said that all should "resolve to encourage the president in every effort he shall make to restore confidence and normal business conditions." Significantly, they added, however, that "legislation based upon untried social and economic theories should be avoided."

Encouragement Asked

Noting Mr. Roosevelt himself had indicated belief that "America's continued prosperity requires closer cooperation between business and the government," the statement said the "overproduction to which he referred would be substantially alleviated if the government engages in continuous consultation with business leaders and encourages them to take the initiative to develop and stabilize their respective industries."

Prepared through the initiative of John W. Hanes, "Wall Street man" on the securities and exchange commission; Owen D. Young, chairman of the board of General Electric and Winthrop W. Aldrich, chairman of the Chase National bank, the statement also was signed by such men as Charles A. Cannon of Cannon mills, Clarence M. Woolley of American Radiator, Robert H. Cabell of Armour and company and Frederick H. Ecker of Metropolitan Life Insurance company.

Is Presented In Person

Hanes took it in person to Mr. Roosevelt just before the latter's semi-weekly press conference. Asked about it, the president told reporters he had only had time to read it hurriedly, but that it seemed to be excellent.

In fact, it was promptly recalled that Mr. Roosevelt himself urged a system of government-business consultations last winter, in the course of a series of conferences with

Southern Texas Rivers Rising

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, April 26.—Six South Texas rivers tonight rose as heavy rain fell in scattered sections of the area.

Four of the streams were out of their banks at some points and thousands of acres of rich farm land were inundated.

The Colorado river at Wharton rose 19 feet during the day and the San Bernard, Lavaca and West Lavaca rivers joined the Guadalupe in leaving their banks.

No City Threatened

No particular city in the area was threatened by the high waters although the Guadalupe, fed by the raging San Marcos river and Peach creek in and near Gonzales, rose rapidly in its upper reaches during the morning.

Observers said there apparently was no danger of a serious overflow of the Guadalupe despite the Gonzales rise at Cuero and Victoria the major cities lying in the path of the ordinarily sleepy stream.

The Brazos river at Richmond swelled a little as the torrential rains continued in that area but the river was far from brimful and lit-

Evidence Of Storm's Fury Is Found In Scenes Of Tragedy As Death Dipped From Sky

(Special To The Avalanche)

TAHOKA, April 27 (Wednesday)—Information that at least three persons had been killed, numerous others seriously injured and that automobiles and houses had been blown away seeped into Tahoka over crippled communications lines late Tuesday night and early today after tornadic winds struck the little Draw community 18 miles southeast of Tahoka, and other sections.

Victims died in the ruins of residences or in apparent flight from them after a twister that hopped, skipped and jumped from Grandview to the Draw community early Tuesday night.

Frank Hill, Tahoka publisher, was informed by survivors and by Bill Forgy, O'Donnell newspaperman, victims were being treated at Lamesa and at Lubbock, in which places approximately 17 persons had been given attention.

Body of Mrs. V. O. Caswell, whose home was blown away, was reported found 100 yards from the ruins of her residence.

Irene McKay, year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis McKay, was not expected to survive. Suffering of a badly fractured skull and of a severe concussion, she was rushed to Lubbock sanitarium. The child and a sister Maurine were torn from the mother's arms by the terrific wind and hurled away.

Confusion contributed to by near-impassable roads and hysteria of survivors made difficult attempts of newspapermen converging on Tahoka from Lubbock, Big Spring and Fort Worth to compile death, injury and property damage lists.

From O'Donnell and Lamesa came reports the storm, brewing in dust-laden clouds about 6:40 o'clock Tuesday night struck near Grandview, 12 miles southwest of O'Donnell, drove east and northeast, circling O'Donnell, struck the O. K. community six miles south and west of O'Donnell, circled east and southeast and struck northward against the outskirts of the Draw community of approximately 50 persons.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE

One of the miraculous escapes from death was that of Mary Belle Walters, 7, who was with her brother, John, and cousin, George, crossing a field toward their home when the tornado struck.

Her brother and cousin were killed and she was picked up bodily by the twister. Apparently, according to witnesses, she was hurled to the center of the whirlwind funnel, and dropped to the ground after having been carried 200 yards, when it "bounced" momentarily.

Although she was taken to West Texas hospital in Lubbock and remained there for observations, she apparently suffered only minor lacerations and bruises.

Fourteen Are Injured

Approximately 14 persons were injured in the OK community, about six of them so seriously they remained in Lamesa hospitals this morning, Dr. S. Z. Frazier of J. C. Loveless hospital said.

In the OK section, houses were left with not a splinter, Dr. Frazier said he had been informed.

"Wreckage was blown fully a mile, and it included windmills, automobiles and buildings. Many cattle were killed."

Rumors Of Others Dead

Reports in the entire stricken zone persisted that at least six persons had been killed in the Draw community, but telephone lines were down and cars and ambulances of physicians and nurses frequently stalled in heavy rain that lashed parts of the stretch between here and Draw.

Harris Funeral home of Tahoka said through E. C. Rogers three bodies were there, supposedly Johnnie Walters, 15, son of Mack Walters; a hired man on the Walters farm, about 21, and Mrs. Caswell about 25. All had been mangled, it was explained.

Feet Are Crushed

Mrs. Howard Eason, about 24, of the OK community suffered crushed feet when she attempted to rush into a brick building and it collapsed.

Mrs. J. P. Minters of the same community was dangerously injured and in the same Lamesa hospital three or four of her children were considered seriously hurt.

It was reported the Walters boy and the hired hand were in an automobile with a young girl when the storm crushed their machine as though it were an eggshell. The girl miraculously escaped.

Mrs. Minters was said to have

Babies Torn From Arms Of Mother

By H. I. KIEFER
Avalanche Staff Writer

THE dramatic story of twin baby girls being snatched from the arms of their mother by the twisting wind was told by five residents of Draw community who assisted in bringing some of the injured from the tornado area to Lubbock sanitarium last night.

It was their expressed opinion, also, that the casualty list was large because any noise of the approach of the tornado was drowned by a howling sandstorm. Those in the path of the storm did not know of their danger until destruction was upon them. Some of those within a stone's throw of the path of the twister did not know there had been a tornado until after it had passed.

Were Among First To Reach The Scene

They were among the first to reach the scenes of destruction, and among the first to render aid to the injured. They told of destruction so complete that the spots where homes had stood only moments before were a patch of earth "as clean as though the ground had been swept with a broom."

Those who assisted in piecing together some of the facts of the storm were Mrs. John Berry, Mrs. C. C. Jackson, D. A. Cook, R. L. Pirtle and E. P. Proctor, all residing in Draw, which escaped the fury of the storm.

The twin babies to whom they referred were Irene and Maurine McKay, the 13-month old daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Louis McKay, residing a half mile north of Draw. Mrs. Berry, Mrs. Jackson and Cook were in the car which brought Irene to Lubbock sanitarium. Proctor and Pirtle arrived at the same place later with Mrs. McKay, whose chief concern was for her babies.

Mrs. Berry, Mrs. Jackson and Cook sat in the x-ray room at the sanitarium as they told of their experiences. Lying unconscious on the table beneath the x-ray camera a few feet away was little Irene. Her skull had been fractured and her condition was "extremely critical."

Seven Persons In House

The McKay home, they related, apparently was near the end of the path of the tornado, which they judged to have zig-zagged a total distance of approximately two miles. Seven members of the family were in the McKay house at the time. Mrs. Berry was informed. They included the parents, the twins, a son, Dan, 6; Mrs. Oleta Standefer, a sister of Mrs. McKay, and Mrs. Standefer's six-year old daughter.

The McKay family, Mrs. Berry said, apparently had no warning of danger until the tornado actually was upon them. Mrs. McKay ran from the house toward a storm cellar, an infant clasped in each arm. The twister arrived at almost the instant she left the door, Mrs. Berry learned. The babies were torn from her clasp and she was knocked to the ground. Mrs. Berry did not learn how far the babies were carried, though apparently only a short distance. Mrs. McKay's face was described as being a mask of blood when assistance reached the scene.

No Warning Was Given

"If there was any warning noise in advance of the cyclone, I did not hear it," Mrs. Berry related. "However, a terrific sandstorm had been blowing most of the afternoon and that would have kept us from hearing the storm's approach.

"For myself, I had been watching the southwestern sky, and when I saw it blacken, I lost no time in getting to my storm cellar. I've lived in that country 35 years, and I know the danger signs when I see them.

Remained In Cellar

"I remained in the cellar until the noise on the outside quietened, and not until I left it, did I realize that a cyclone had swept past. I, as did the other townspeople, hastened to the scene of the storm to do what we could for those in need of help.

"As best I could judge, the tornado dropped out of the southwestern sky from somewhere in the direction of O'Donnell. It followed an irregular path eastward for about a mile, then swung toward the northeast for about another mile and then swerved in a southeasterly direction. I don't know where it went from there.

"So far as we could learn, four

Slaton Party In Odom Home Honors Mrs. C. W. McDavid

A tea and shower complimenting Mrs. Charles W. McDavid, who was Miss Katrina Brewer before her marriage, was given in Slaton recently at the home of Mrs. L. C. Odom. Misses Doris Minor, Minnie Will Wootton, Doris Peavy and Mrs. Greeley Sanders, all of Slaton, Mrs. Baxter Bardwell of Levelland, Miss Crystelle Scudder of Spur and Miss Florence Baldwin were hostesses.

Mrs. Sanders greeted the 50 guests. In the receiving line were the honoree; her mother, Mrs. J. H. Brewer of Slaton; Mrs. C. W. McDavid of Amarillo, mother of the bridegroom, and Miss Jane McDavid of Amarillo, the bridegroom's sister. Miss Minor presided at the bride's book where the guests registered.

A program of piano music was played throughout the afternoon by Miss Marian Bechtel and Miss June Scott of Slaton and Mrs. Nolan Whitlow.

The tea table was covered with a lace cloth and decorated with yellow snapdragons and baby breath and yellow tapers. Yellow and green was the color scheme featured in the refreshment plate and most of the decorations. Assisting in the dining room were Mrs. Bardwell and Misses Wootton and Baldwin.

Misses Scudder and Peavy presided in the bedroom where the gifts were displayed.

SPAIN'S LITTLE WORLD WAR

AFTER SPAIN'S WAR—what? Will Italy, with Germans at Brenner Pass, bring her soldiers back from insurgent ranks and forswear hope for strategic bases on Spanish-owned Balearics in return for England's recognition of Ethiopian conquest?

DEATH of Americans, Germans, Italians, Moors as well as Spaniards (above) gave war a world aspect.

MADRID defender Ben Rubin hails from Bronx, N. Y. Americans fought on both sides, gave money, medicine.

RUSSIA SENT SUPPLIES, tanks like this captured by Moors near Toledo. Most threatening, though, to Fascists and Nazis were Russian political ideas permeating Spain's government of Republicans, Communists, Socialists.

GERMAN GUN taken by government troops from insurgent tanks added to alarm of France, which has strengthened garrisons near Pau, Tarbes, Perpignan. With Germans fighting in Spain estimated at 14,000, France anxiously eyes German-Italian air bases at Burgos and Salamanca. England worries vaguely over possibility of German submarine bases in Bay of Biscay.

Wall Street . .

NEW YORK, April 26. (AP)—Attempts to rally rails and utilities met with only mild success in today's stock market and late selling of steels and motors tipped the price scales definitely downward.

General losses ranged from fractions to a point or so at the close.

The turnover of 444,730 shares compared with 395,680 yesterday. Most analysts attached no great importance to the drifting trend. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off .6 of a point at 39.2 duplicating Monday's decline.

The market had little to go on in the way of real stimulating news.

Utilities were buoyed by action of Consolidated Edison which further reflected a cheering profits statement for the first three months with a gain of about a point at one time. It ended unchanged at 22¼.

Rails were bolstered by the conference held late in the afternoon between the R. F. C., congressional chieftains, government officials, management and labor representatives to discuss emergency relief measures for the roads.

Sentiment was given a lift after the close when U. S. Steel directors voted the regular payment of $1.75 on the preferred.

Steels lacked a following throughout the session as possibility of a cut or deferment of "big steel's" dividend was seen. The preferred was off 1⅞ at 98.

Foreign markets were without much vigor either way.

On the losing side were shares of U. S. Steel at 44, Bethlehem 47, Chrysler 42⅜, General Motors 30⅝, Douglas Aircraft 41¼, Sears Roebuck 57⅝, Anaconda 27⅝, Eastman Kodak 148, Standard Oil of N. J. 46, Westinghouse 74½, International Harvester 58 and Allis Chalmers 46½.

Union Carbide was down 1⅝ at 65¼. For the March quarter the corporation reported 47 cents a share against $1.19 a year ago.

Over a period of 24 hours, a navigator uses seven different kinds of time to determine the exact location of his ship at sea.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, April 26. (AP) Declining stocks and favorable crop weather in the belt adversely affected the cotton markets here today and last prices were barely steady at net declines of 7 to 10 points.

The market was generally steady on pre-midsession dealings on covering and trade buying which absorbed liquidation in near months and sympathetic selling in later deliveries.

Later, however, the list weakened in sympathy with securities and last prices were at the bottom. May closed at 8.84 bid, July at 8.93, Oct. at 9.00, Dec. at 9.03, Jan at 9.05 and March at 9.10.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, April 26. (AP) The average price of middling cotton today at ten southern spot markets was 8.79 cents a pound, average for the past thirty market days 8.73 cents a pound.

Mother Of Five Children Is Held For Slaying Husband

(AP)—A 28-year-old mother of five children today was charged with the shotgun slaying of her husband, Robert Walker Lambright, 32, sawmill worker who lived 25 miles north of here on the Anderson-Henderson county line. Sheriff W. G. Rogers filed the murder charge in Justice Ira G. Cook's court, accusing her of firing the fatal shot at their home Sunday morning.

Stories Of Joseph Related In Review

The favorite son of Jacob who was as beautiful as his mother Rachel—that was Joseph.

The years of Joseph's servitude in the house of the King's favorite, where he was promoted from gardener to a place in the dining room, are told dramatically. An atmosphere of splendor and magnificence dominated this period of Joseph's life as he sees the marvels of old Egypt, with all the ceremony and pomp of the life of the times.

Experiences Related

These experiences of Joseph's stay in Egypt were related in a review given Tuesday night in the Lubbock high school auditorium by Mrs. John C. Granberry of Thomas Mann's "Joseph in Egypt."

It is here that he learns the date, solemnity, and dignity of the Egyptian race. Two dwarfs, one a keeper of the King's jewelry and the other a court entertainer, figure throughout his servancy. With the face of his good father always before him and his remembrance of his Christian God, Joseph is kept from all evil even though he is thrown in the pit for the second time for a wrong he did not do.

Outstanding Mind

Mrs. Granberry concluded her talk with an excerpt from the New York Times Book Review section which has said that Thomas Mann has "the most outstanding mind of the century" and that his book, which is called a novel for want of a better name, is "the greatest book of the last 30 years."

Mrs. S. B. Haynes, president of the City Parent-Teacher council which sponsored the review, introduced Mrs. Granberry who is visiting here from Georgetown.

A number of towns over the South Plains have been invited to send delegations. Every community in Floyd county has been invited also.

Miss Ruth Grimes, the new home demonstration agent, will attend if she can make the trip. She is to report for work May 2.

Dr. Karl Ashburn Leaves To Attend Session In Dallas

Dr. Karl E. Ashburn, professor of economics and business administration at Texas Technological college, will leave this afternoon to attend two of the five days' sessions of the Institute of Public Affairs at S.M.U., Dallas, April 25-29.

Dr. Ashburn will participate in discussions Thursday and Friday at the institute, which is underwritten by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. "The United States and Mexico" will be theme of the program because of dramatic turn of events in the diplomatic relations between the United States and Mexico.

Prominent speakers to appear on the program include: Dr. George W. Stocking, professor of economics at the University of Texas; Dr. J. Silva Herzog of Mexico City, technical adviser to the treasury department of Mexico and financial manager of the Mexican Petroleum corporation; Dr. Jose Antonio Encinas, rector of the University of Lima; Mrs. Concha Romero James, chief of the division of intellectual cooperation of the Pan-American union in Washington; Dr. Samuel Guy Inman of New York, executive secretary of the Committee on Cooperation in Latin America; Dr. Hans Simon, of the new school for social research in New York; and Dr. Charles A. Nation's Dairy Farmers Leading Agricultural Brothers In Income

WASHINGTON, April 26. (AP) — The nation's dairy farmers are leading their agricultural brothers in the income parade this spring.

The bureau of agricultural economics reported today that the income from dairy products has been nearer the pre-depression level than that of any other farm product.

In March, for example, the bureau estimated the income from dairy products was but 7.5 per cent below the 1924-29 level. The income of the next highest class, meat animals, was 22.5 per cent below the pre-depression average.

Lowest in the income ladder were all crops — including grains, cotton and cottonseed, fruits and vegetables. They were down 45 per cent.

Hens cackle after the laying of an egg because their wild ancestors, the jungle fowls, did it before them and the jungle fowls did it because, after taking time out for laying eggs, it was necessary for the hens to signal their whereabouts to the rest of the wandering flocks.

Ardent Supporter Of FDR's Policies Says He Will Oppose Increase In Navy

Senator Norris Gives Reasons

WASHINGTON, April 26. (AP) — Senator Norris (Ind.-Neb.), usually an ardent administration supporter, said today he would vote against President Roosevelt's naval expansion bill.

Norris' statement that "we have already voted enough money for an adequate navy" came during congressional discussion of several phases of foreign relations.

May Be Violators

In the house, members of the foreign affairs committee expected to learn during the morning whether the state department officially has branded Japan and Italy as treaty violators.

Chairman McReynolds (D-Tenn.) had received the department's response to a request by Representative Scott (D-Calif) that treaty violators be specifically identified.

Norris based part of his opposition to the navy bill on the possibility that "if we start to build a whole lot of battleships, we may find by the time they are built that the battleship is out of date as a weapon of naval warfare."

Sun Said Too Big

The veteran Nebraskan said he would not oppose some expansion in the navy's air force, but declared the proposed $1,156,000,000 bill for ships and planes together is "too big."

Norris said he thought the $550,000,000 annual naval appropriation bill passed earlier in the session had provided for an adequate navy and that further heavy expenditures might be wasteful.

Some time ago, Norris had said he favored a strong navy because "Japan is running amuck."

Other Criticism Heard

The senate heard other criticism of the naval expansion measure, and Senator Nye (R-ND), an opponent, predicted a vote would not be reached before Friday. Sponsors of the bill are considering seeking a limitation of debate to hasten action.

Chairman Pittman (D-Nev.) predicted meanwhile that the senate foreign relations committee would give early approval to a measure requiring federal registration of all foreign propagandists.

The bill, previously passed by the house, has been dormant for several months.

Forced To Register

Under its terms, all agents of foreign governments, political parties or business concerns seeking to influence the policies of this country would be forced to register with the state department and furnish information about their propaganda activities, their employers, and the terms of their contracts.

Domestic relief needs were considered further today by a house appropriations subcommittee.

The house reversed two earlier decisions and agreed, by a 159-152 vote, to appropriate $2,613,000 to begin work on the Tennessee valley authority's proposed dam near Gilbertsville, Ky. The senate already had approved the item.

Neither flood nor storm can silence your telephone for long...

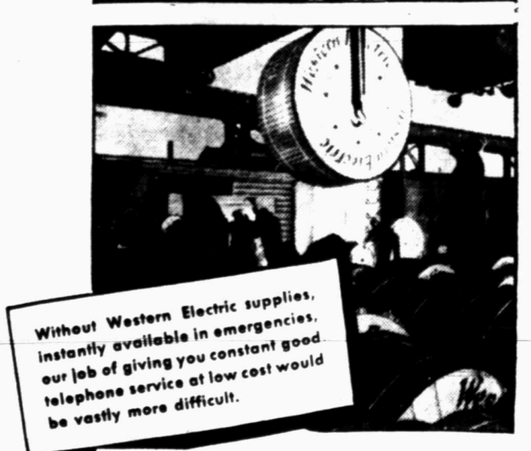

The telephone company depends upon Western Electric—Bell System supply unit—to pour material into wrecked areas AT ONCE!

Floods and storms in Arkansas and Oklahoma took heavy toll of telephone lines in February. Yet almost all the silenced telephones were back in service within a few days.

One reason: Western Electric warehouses are spotted so no Southwestern Bell town is farther than an overnight jump. From these, material poured into the wrecked areas as rapidly as repair crews arrived.

Without Western Electric supplies, instantly available in emergencies, our job of giving you constant good telephone service at low cost would be vastly more difficult.

One reason for this low cost: Western Electric prices are moderate. Over the last 20 years its earnings have averaged less than 7%... in recent years only about half the rate of a representative group of comparable manufacturers.

Lid Comes Off WT-NM League Season Today; Lubbock Hubbers Play At Clovis

Lubbock, Clovis Return Here To Open Friday

It's Opening Day!

With a hopeful gaze to the weather skies, ball players of the six clubs making up the West Texas-New Mexico Professional Baseball League are all set for the opening of the championship season in two New Mexico and one Texas city today.

One night game is tentatively on the card, Hobbs having planned to open tonight unless blessed with fair and quiet weather this afternoon. The Wink club, winner of the pennant last season, is opening at Hobbs.

The Lubbock Hubbers, competing as a farm club of the Chicago White Sox through the Dallas Steers, invade Clovis to play Josh Billings' new outfit. The game is to start at 3 o'clock, Clovis time, according to announcement here.

Big Spring At Midland

At Midland, where Pincher Withers is in charge and where the St. Louis Cardinals have a farm arrangement, the race gets under way with Big Spring's Barons the aggressors.

Friday will be another "opening day" in the league as the teams switch ball parks.

The Clovis club comes to Lubbock for a three-day stand, and Lubbock is hopeful of the biggest "opening day" show and attendance in the league. Largest crowd, however, is expected to turn out Saturday at the local park when Harry Faulkner's club is host to Texas Tech's Fiesta crowd. All high school athletes, seniors, faculty persons and bands attending the Fiesta will be free guests at the ball park for the second professional game played here in nearly ten years.

Hobbs and Wink go to the Wink park Friday, Big Spring and Midland to Big Spring's park.

League President Here

Milton Price, Dallas, president of the West Texas-New Mexico League, and three of his umpires arrived in Lubbock last night. Price, who is secretary of the Texas League, will attend opening day observance in Hobbs today, and return here for Lubbock's opener Friday.

With Price last night were half of the umpiring staff of six which will call 'em in the league this season. John Rowland, Earl Cartwright and Donald Fritz were here. Ned Pettigrew, veteran Western Leaguer from Oklahoma City who worked in this league last season, will team with Rowland to umpire the Lubbock-Clovis series at Clovis and Lubbock his week. Cartwright and Fritz have been assigned to the Hobbs-Wink series and C. A. Andrews and Buster Capps to the Midland-Big Spring battles.

Umpires will be switched around during the season, two of them working each game, but no one umpire staying with the same club. Fans in each league city will see every umpire in the league at work.

Of the six teams now comprising the league, only two finished the season last year—Hobbs and Wink. Other "starters" in the league were Roswell, Odessa, Midland and Monahans, Roswell and Monahans completing the season after withdrawals by Midland and Odessa.

Price Is Optimistic

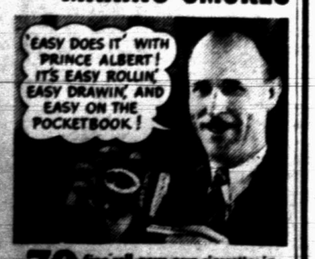

At the start of plans for this season, the Monahans franchise was transfered to Big Spring, and the Roswell franchise was moved to Hobbs. Withers, who finished the season as manager at Hobbs, moved his franchise to Midland and secured Cardinal assistance.

Clovis, Big Spring and Lubbock are entirely new to the league.

Said President Price last night: "Things are shaping up mighty promisingly for the league this year. There is a better spirit and attitude every where. Regardless of the so-called 'business repression,' everybody seems to be in higher spirits. I think it is due to a desire on the part of everybody to see baseball flourish once again. The greatest spectator sport ever invented is spreading like a fire on a prairie, and I honestly believe we shall enjoy a profitable and entertaining season in this league. I have lots of faith in West Texas fans, and believe they'll stick by the teams to the last ditch as long as the teams hustle and put out their best."

Champ Fisherman To Show Skill Here Monday Night

When Isaac Walton authored "The Compleat Angler," a discourse on fish and fishing, in 1653, and when the fifth edition of his famous work published in 1676 contained a chapter on fly fishing, little did the famous English writer think that some day there would be a recognized world's professional bait and fly casting champion.

But there is one. He is Tony Accetta of Cleveland, Ohio, and he is coming to Lubbock.

Tony will be here Monday night. He will not only demonstrate his own skill at casting while here, but will pass on to local fishermen valuable hints on the art of landing the finny fellows.

At 7:30 on the night of May 2 Accetta will give a casting exhibition at Tech stadium. One of his favorite stunts is to stand at one end of a football field and throw a five-eighths ounce casting lure over the crossbar at the opposite end of the field.

Ask A Halfback

Of course, that isn't very far when you are sitting in the grandstand, but any football toter will tell you that it's about a mile and a half, even if the tape measure does say it's 120 yards from goal post to goal post.

Tony is more than a champion who can "hit the mark" consistently—he's a teacher, in the true sense of the word, as many sportsmen can testify.

John Mallory has arranged with the Shakespeare Fishing Tackle company of Kalamazoo, Michigan, to bring the champion to Lubbock, and while in the city Tony wants all fishermen to come in and talk with him.

Tony likes to fish with local sportsmen. In that way he demonstrates that he can catch fish as well as hit targets. Of course, the fact that he may make three casts to the ordinary fisherman's one aids in producing a good catch.

A suggestion from Accetta has made fly casting a pleasure for many who despaired of ever learning how to master the art. Through his efforts many anglers are now realizing the joy of landing a game fish with light tackle.

It was the late Will Rogers who said that "A champion, regardless of what championship he held, was always worth going to see, because he represented the best in the world in his business." So, no doubt, many South Plains sportsmen will flock to Mallory's sporting goods store to see the champion.

Betty Jameson Throws Scare Into Tourney

HOUSTON, April 26. (AP)—Winsome Betty Jameson clinched a wildflower between her teeth and strode along even with men's par in a first round bout today that caused railbirds to predict her third straight triumph in the Texas Women's Golf association championship.

The 18-year-old University of Texas freshman strapped an 8 and 7 defeat on Mrs. J. W. Ross of Galveston that approached perfection in match play.

Around the first nine in 36 strokes, even men's figures and two under women's par, Miss Jameson held a six-hole lead and then closed out her foe with two more pars.

Mrs. Goldthwaite Wins

Miss Jameson, trying to convince U. S. G. A. officials she would be a worthy addition to the United States Curtis Cup team, advanced along with her two foremost rivals, Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite of Fort Worth, medalist, and Mrs. E. R. Hury of San Antonio. Tomorrow Miss Jameson pairs off against one of the state's veteran tournament players in Miss Hilda Urbantke of Austin, who disposed of Mrs. Jamie Odom, Austin, 3 and 2.

Mrs. Goldthwaite defeated Mrs. E. L. D. Rolfs of Houston, 5 and 3. Tomorrow she gets the sternest competition any of the favorites will face in Mrs. Otto Armstrong, El Paso star who has plenty of backers.

Mrs. Armstrong, 1936 semi-finalist and several times Southwestern champion, wielded an amazing putter in her 7 and 5 triumph over Mrs. Bryan Winter of Dallas.

WOLFFORTH, April 26.—Lloyd Huckabee, pitcher for the Cooper High school team of the Lubbock County High school Baseball League, turned in his second no-hit hurling performance of the season here today, as Cooper won from Frenship, 3 to 0. Walks and errors accounted for the Frenship runs.

Huckabee and Richardson formed Cooper's battery, Brackeen pitched for Frenship and Jones caught.

All high school teams of the South Plains district are to be guests of the Lubbock Hubbers in Lubbock Saturday, after which a meeting will be held to discuss plans for the district tournament. The tourney is to be held on the Cooper diamond. Winning team is to represent the district in the state tourney at Dallas. Dates for the district tournament are May 5, 6 and 7.

Dick Sampson And Pogi Continue Grapple Feud In Main Event At Arena Tonight; Mantell Here

TONIGHT'S CARD

Curtain raiser—George Hartay, Hungary, vs. Billy Davis, Houston. One fall or 20 minutes.

Semi-final—Soldier Thomas, Washington, vs. Bob Cummings, San Francisco. One fall or 30 minutes.

Main event—Gorilla Pogi, South America, vs. Dick Sampson, Denton. Two out of three falls or 2-hour time limit.

Place and time—The Auditorium, 8 o'clock.

Dick Sampson, fighting back on the top spot, and Gorilla Pogi, a wrestler who improves with age and use, pick up tonight where they left off a week ago and promise to afford the fans a heap of grappling in tonight's main spasm at the Auditorium.

And the veteran Dutch Mantell, who has forgotten more about wrestling than most wrestlers ever learn but who remembers enough to get a swell job done, will be the third man in the ring to see that the fighters behave and do not commit murder upon each other. Mantell's refereeing last week and his method of handling the roughsters was more of a show than the wrestling, although Mantell does not "hog" the spotlight purposely, having had his share of it as a grappler.

A Draw Last Week

Sampson and Pogi wrestled colorfully for 30 minutes last week and wanted more. Pogi, a bit weak in the legs but plenty crafty, gave the Sampson lad quite a scrap. It waxed rough at times, but Mantell kept it fairly legal.

Soldier Thomas, the husky little fellow, comes back tonight for a second try in the local ring, meeting Bob Cummings in the semi-final. Thomas has displayed ability, and may be a fair match for the strong "I can take it" Cummings.

The new face on tonight's card belongs to one Billy Davis of Houston, and he's due to get a real breaking in. George Hartay, dethroned from his lofty perch b

Louis, Schmeling To Clash At Yankee Stadium June 22

NEW YORK, April 26. (AP)—Promoter Mike Jacobs today confirmed his selection of Yankee Stadium as the site for the world heavyweight championship return match between Joe Louis and Max Schmeling, German challenger. It will be held Wednesday night, June 22.

Jacobs minimized prospects of an anti-nazi boycott and predicted the fight will draw at least 80,000 cash customers, with net gate receipts exceeding $1,000,000. The promoter expects an additional $100,000 from radio and motion picture rights.

Select Camp Sites

The first Louis-Schmeling bout, held the year before the negro won the heavyweight crown, and when Schmeling knocked Louis out, drew 40,000 customers and $452,689 in net gate receipts.

The principals will start training early next month. Louis, due May 7, probably will do preliminary work at Lafayetteville, N. Y., before pitching permanent camp at Pompton Lakes, N. J. Schmeling is expected to arrive from Germany May 9 and train at Speculator, N. Y., Tunney's former camp.

Paul Sanderson Heads East Texas C Of C; Beaumont Gets Next Convention

Resolutions Of Body Approved

LONGVIEW, April 26. (AP)—A colorful "parade of progress" with floats depicting East Texas products passed before thousands here today as the twelfth annual convention of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce drew to a close.

Before the pageant officers were elected and Beaumont was selected as the next convention city. The coast city won the award unanimously after Galveston withdrew its bid.

Work Recommended

The convention also heard Frank G. Arnold, president of the Nebraska Federation of County Taxpayers' leagues, recommend work by militant, non-partisan groups as the most effective in securing taxation relief and governmental reforms.

Paul T. Sanderson, Trinity lumberman, was elected president, succeeding E. L. Smith, Mexia lumberman. Hubert M. Harrison of Longview was re-elected vice president and general manager, and C. A. Loftis of Longview was named treasuer.

F. D. Perkins, McKinney, Henry Humphrey, Texarkana, Noble Davis, Henderson, A. M. Goldstein, Waco, J. E. Wheat, Woodville, and John D. Rogers, Navasota were named vice presidents in numerical order.

Delegates Are Chosen

Delegates-at-large named were Ward Delaney of Shreveport, Frank P. Holland, Dallas, Col. Ike Ashburn, College Station, George Sealey, Galveston, and Tom P. Walker, Beaumont.

The parade, climax of activities for the day, got under way at 2:30 p. m., and was witnessed by visitors here from the seventy counties covered by the organization.

Arnold, who described the work of his organization, said militant citizens groups, non-partisan in their work, were the only organizations which could effect reforms in government and bring relief from oppressive taxation.

"No help can be obtained from those on the public payroll, or from the usual political angles, because when politicians are elected they tend to follow in the time honored ways of voting new taxes," he said.

Promote Bad Government

"There are practically no organizations devoted entirely to good government, while there are thousands of groups, which through their selfish or dishonest interests, promote bad government.

"Election of good men to office is not the whole solution, because many citizens are involved in business deals with city, county or state governments which may savor of graft.

"These men must be made to realize that they are standing in their own light. Good government will save many times the amount of profit made on a political deal."

He explained that his organization begins its work i na county by drawing up an audit, in a effort to find out how wisely public funds have been spent. The value of such an audit, he said, is that specific items are shown and may be examined individually.

Commission Favored

The convention adopted a resolution asking the governor and state legislature to create a commission as early as possible to make a study of local government in Texas.

The commission would make suggestions for reforms and recommendations for changes in the state constitution and state statutes to give effect to the proposed reforms.

Another resolution adopted was that the chamber would make a vigorous effort during the next year to see that each city, county, and school district within the region of the organization, comply with provisions of the Texas budget law. This would include the preparation of an annual budget and the holding of public hearings.

The convention endorsed the reciprocal trade agreements program now being carried out by the federal government as the best method of restoring foreign cotton markets.

Resolutions Adopted

Other resolutions adopted included one asking the College Station experiment station to secure a suitable site in the Brazos valley and determine seed varieties and methods of culture best adapted to profitable cotton production in that and similar types of river soil; another urging continued emphasis on the one-variety cotton community contest as part of the chamber's agricultural program, and another favoring a southwide plan for control of insects preying on cotton.

Still another resolution protested to the Texas delegation in congress use of social security funds for general operating expenses of the national government and asked amendments to safeguard these funds.

The wage-hour law or any other industry-regulatory measure was protested as a clog to recovery.

Storm Victims

tornado was what remained of an automobile we passed as we approached the storm's path. It could not have been twisted more had it been made of paper. The engine had been torn out of it and when I left for Lubbock it had not been found.

Were In Storm Cellar

"Allen Moore's home was the first to be struck and it was demolished. Mr and Mrs. Moore and their two children were in their storm cellar and escaped injury. But all they had left was the clothing they wore.

"Next in the path was the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Caswell, a young couple. Mrs. Caswell died of her injuries. Mr. Caswell was hurt, but I did not learn how seriously.

"The third house to be destroyed was a vacant residence belonging to Bill Williams. Mr. and Mrs. Williams and their family had made their home recently with his father, T. J. Williams. The two houses are located on the same section of land. The one destroyed is on the southeast corner and that of the father on the northwest corner.

Injured Taken To Draw

"The McKay home was the last in the immediate path of the storm.

"By time I reached the scene, the injured had been loaded in automobiles to be taken to Draw. Difficulties of the rescuers and the suffering of the injured were increased by the fact that rain and hail began falling violently almost immediately after the storm."

Members of the McKay family were taken to the home of Mr Cobb, who operates a general store in Draw. He was in the store throughout the storm, he related, and did not know that the tornado had struck until after it had passed.

From there, they were brought to Lubbock.

Texas Rivers

tle or no danger to livestock and farms in that area was anticipated.

Acreage Inundated

Acreage, some of it damaged by the heavy frost at Easter, was inundated in the Victoria-Cuero-Gonzales-Seguin regions tonight but farmers said newly replanted crops may not be seriously damaged by the overflows.

Some livestock loss in the remote reaches of the rivers was expected but ranchers said they expected only a few head of cattle to suffer from the high water.

At Victoria laborers raised levees that may not be needed. Observers said the Gonzales high water would not reach that section before lowlands had been drained of the overflow.

Parent-Son Banquet Held At New Deal

Approximately 125 members and guests attended the parent-son banquet of the New Deal chapter of the Future Farmers of America at 8 o'clock Tuesday night in the New Deal Rural High school gymnasium.

Principal speaker on the program Ray C. Mowery, professor of animal husbandry at Texas Technological college, addressed the group on the future of agriculture on the Texas plains. J. R. Bertrand, president of the Gold Key club, spoke on alumni FFA. Several musical numbers were played by students with the group joining in singing.

The FFA chapter there has been organized only three years and has 15 teams taking part in community and state contests, having won high ranks in several. L. D. Shipman is vocational agriculture teacher there.

Among the 25 special guests those from Lubbock were: County Superintendent and Mrs. Joseph R. Griggs; Miss Ethel Bain, secretary to Griggs; Mowery; Fleda Harrell, ex-sweetheart of New Deal FFA and Tech student; Dean Harman and Claude Tucker, Tech students.

chamber of commerce secretaries, urged strong public opinion for vigorous enforcement of the law, which he termed one of the country's most pressing problems.

In Good Condition

C. M. Francis of Stamford, treasurer, reported to directors the chamber generally was in good condition and had $23,014 cash balance.

Additional resolutions adopted by directors pledged the chamber to:

Seek release of public works funds earmarked for projects.

Oppose tariff policies harmful to livestock, agriculture and industry in West Texas.

Seek regulations protecting virgin wool and mohair producers.

Establish and operate a premanent museum at Abilene.

Cooperate with affiliates on highway and airway projects.

Seek lower freight rates for West Texas industries and consumers.

It was estimated 50,000 jammed streets to view what old-timers said was the longest parade in the history of any West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention.

Including 38 bands, 18 floats, 50 cowboys and cowgirls in colorful regalia and other beautiful girls from all over West Texas, the parade was three miles long and required an hour and 20 minutes to pass a given point.

Smiling Mayor LaGuardia and Governor James V. Allred had seats on the prize-winning float. College bands represented Texas Christian university, Hardin-Simmons university, Abilene Christian college and McMurry college.

Abilene took first place in the band contest and Altus, Okla., second. Miss Nita Lee Gillian of Coleman shared first honors in the drum majors' competition.

Riofing Breaks Out Last Night At Muncie Chevrolet Plant

MUNCIE, Ind., April 26. (AP)—Rioting broke out tonight between United Automobile Workers of America and independent unionists at General Motors corporation's Chevrolet plant here. Police rushed tear gas to the scene.

Charles Cook, a member of the independent union, was struck by a flying object. His condition was reported not serious.

been blown from her home and 150 yards into a cotton patch.

Victims were taken to private doctors here and at O'Donnell, as well as to sanitariums at Lubbock and at Lamesa. Attempts to get complete figures on those treated proved impossible early today, said Forgy and Hill.

Forgy went to Draw but was compelled by bad roads to get most of his information from survivors without visiting extensively over the storm's path.

All doctors of the immediate area had been asked to rush to the stricken zone, but most of them here were too busy attending victims brought in for attention to leave their town.

In the meantime, reports filtered in from O'Donnell saying a twister near there had destroyed several homes. The residence of Roy D. Smith was demolished. Mrs. Smith was taken to Lamesa for treatment. Roy, jr., about 12, was rendered unconscious but was deemed recovering normally.

The R. H. Gary, jr., residence four miles east of O'Donnell was blown away but the family was saved.

Bob Alexander told a graphic story of having been caught by powerful winds one mile east of the Caswell residence near Draw. His automobile was catapulted over and over and badly wrecked, parts being found 250 yards from the road.

Alexander, severely bruised and shocked, could not be reached for a more detailed story because of necessity for treatment.

Reporter Finds Little Left To Photograph After Storm

BY TOM MILLER
Avalanche Staff Writer

O'DONNELL, April 27 (Wednesday)—There wasn't much to photograph when I reached the Draw community early today with a photographer.

Houses had been so splintered there wasn't any use trying to get pictures.

Two Killed In Auto

We got a picture of the automobile in which two men had been killed and a graphic story of what happened.

The car had been turned over 17 times before it stopped. John Walters, 15, was found 100 yards from it. George Walters, about 40, a cousin, also was dead.

The car was on the north side of the road when it was blown over, and it was rolled in a circle into a field across the road and back almost to the starting place.

Falls Through Air

J. Spruill, living 200 yards away, looked out a window just in time to see a sister of John Walters falling through the air.

"She was about ten or fifteen feet in the air when I saw her. I don't know how high she had been."

Spruill said he looked out a window and saw the cloud just before the wind struck.

He grabbed his children and his wife, wrapped them in a blanket, threw them on the floor and lay across them. He looked out the window just as the girl's body came falling from the murky, swirling sand torrents.

He ran out and the girl, hitting the ground running, came to him.

"Where's John?" she asked.

John was dead. He could not be found immediately.

Mrs. Vernon O. Caswell, killed when blown 100 yards from the remnants of her home, had asked her husband to go to the storm cellar. He were told. He did not think he could make it, he was quoted as saying. When he reached for the knob of the door—it wasn't there. There was practically little else there.

Tiny Capital Is Crowded For Wedding Today Of King Zog

TIRANA, Albania, April 26. (AP)—Tribesmen, soldiers and diplomats crowded this tiny capital tonight for the wedding tomorrow of King Ahmed Zog and a fair Hungarian countess with a dash of old Virginia in her blood.

Fierce Ghegs from the north and barefoot Tosks from the south dropped their ancient animosity and drank from each other's wine skins to the health of Countess Geraldine Apponyi, who is to become Albania's first queen.

Judge Richard Critz Files As Candidate For Bench

AUSTIN, April 26. (AP)—Judge Richard Critz of Taylor, associate justice of the Texas supreme court, today formally filed his candidacy for a full term on that bench.

Judge Critz, now aged 60, was appointed by Governor James V. Allred to fill the unexpired term of Judge William Pierson, who was slain by his son in 1935. He was elected to serve out the term in 1936.

Devastating Winds Strike In Section East Of Rockies

DENVER, April 26. (AP)—Devastating winds sweeping east of the great spine of the Rocky mountain range today caused at least five deaths, damaged property and blackened widespread areas with dust.

A tornado shattered a rural school near Oshkosh, Neb., killing two pupils and injuring five other children.

A high wind caused the death of at least three persons at Draw, Lynn county, Texas. Numerous houses were reported destroyed.

The western Nebraska village of Lisco was isolated for many hours by rain, hail and winds which snapped all communication lines.

A twister damaged many structures at Stratton, in eastern Colorado. A pall of dust preceded the wind storm.

For a time today dust shrouded the section from Lamar, in southeastern Colorado, to Sterling, in northeastern Colorado. Later Sterling was drenched by rain and light hail.

High wind and heavy rain swept through southeastern Kansas, causing some damage but benefitting crops.

Driving Rains Are Reported In Some Areas Last Night

ABILENE, April 26. (AP)—An electrical storm playing a tattoo across West Texas tonight was the forerunner of a moderate to driving rain that rode down from the storm-wracked Lynn county region in a semi-circle.

At midnight the rain had not reached south and east of Abilene, but had drenched the area to the northwest.

Hail At Big Spring

Big Spring received rain and hail. Streets at Sweetwater were standing in water after an hour's downfall reported to have amounted to more than an inch. It was lighter at Blackwell, but heavier clouds indicated more was coming.

An inch was reported at Hamlin and was believed to be general over that section, especially north to Aspermont. There was lots of wind and lightning. Rain started falling at Stamford at 11:30 p. m.

Anson and Roby both received a driving rain and severe winds. However no damage was reported.

The first rain in Abilene was at 11:40, when a torrential downpour had streets running water in short order. An hour earlier, the wind had reached the velocity of 40 miles per hour at the airport.

School System Given Change

Change in the system of handling first to fifth grades in Lubbock independent school district was approved at a monthly meeting of the board of trustees in the office of Dr. J. T. Hutchinson, president, at Lubbock sanitarium, Tuesday night.

While details of the plan are yet to be worked out, members of the board announced, it will involve the establishment of first to fifth grade classes in each of the elementary schools of the district.

To Be Nearer Home

The plan, it was explained, will place pupils in those classes in the school building nearest to their home, resulting in a convenience to them, a lessening of their exposure to traffic dangers and a saving to district in transportation expenses.

Preliminary to putting the change into effect with the beginning of the 1938-39 session next September, officials said, it will be necessary to redistrict the entire city.

The new system will apply to all elementary schools except Sanders, to which also may be assigned sixth and seventh grades additional to the first to fifth.

To Be Transferred

Pupils completing the fifth grade will be tranferred to Junior High school, and from there, to Senior High.

The board also elected three new members to the city faculty and approved plans for a summer school from May 30 through July 14.

New teachers elected were Miss Bella Altman, now of Levelland, to the commercial department in Senior High school; Floyd Ledbetter, now in Morton schools, to the science department at Senior high; and Mrs. H. D. Woods, who formerly taught in the system, to the faculty of Guadalupe school.

Place where the summer school will be held is yet to be selected. Last summer, Senior High school building was used, but a change may be necessary this year.

businessmen on the present depression.

The statement of the businessmen reached the president at a time when he was engrossed with the problem of the business recession; planning a conference with Henry Ford for tomorrow, a message to congress on monopoly for Friday and making preparations for putting his new lending-spending effort into operation as quickly as the appropriations are made.

To Discuss Conditions

He told reporters he expected to discuss general economic questions with the automobile manufacturer.

Elsewhere, informed persons said that Mr. Roosevelt's proposal for a guaranteed minimum annual wage for automobile workers would be among the subjects discussed.

The president's $4,500,000,000 lending-spending program was under consideration by the house appropriations committee, meanwhile. Secretary Ickes urged the committee to approve the $1,000,000,000 item for public works. Some $400,000,000 of that amount, he said, would take care of 2,174 projects on WPA's present approved list.

Hopkins Is Charged

Rep. Taber (R-NY), senior Republican member of the committee asserted, at the same time, that a "chain letter" propaganda campaign for the appropriations had been inspired by Harry Hopkins, director of work relief. His charge followed a statement by Rep. Rayburn (D-Tex) the majority leader, that big corporations were "plotting" to defeat the bill with "a great flood of propaganda."

Hanes, after taking the businessmen's statement to the White House, called in reporters and told them that he hoped a conference of those who subscribed to the declaration could be arranged soon. All of them, he said, were in agreement that Mr. Roosevelt's last "fireside chat" was "good." Their statement, he added, was a "composite" of their views.

Lubbock Chosen As Host City

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., April 26. (AP)—The southwestern United States was pictured to scientists today as a land rich in latent resources and endowed with bright prospects for an industrial future.

This was the belief of Dr. W. M. Craig of Texas Technological college, who addressed the physical sciences section of the southwest division of the American Association for Advancement of Science in convention here.

Development Possible

"While the future will always probably find us largely interested in farming and cattle raising, we must not shut our eyes to the great development possible in the realm of manufacturing our own raw materials," Dr. Craig said.

"The southwest invites new capital for the development of its vast supply of natural resources, but it should be stated that the propositions are not bonanzas.

"They will require a wise program of investigation, both in scouting out the areas and in the engineering necessary in the manufacturing operations which will follow."

Alpine, Texas, Tucson, Ariz., and Lubbock, Tex., were chosen for the 1939, 1940 and 1941 conventions, respectively of the southwest division of the science organization.

ily because if farmers were not prosperous and able to purchase from industrial sections then the latter, which included his own home, could not be prosperous.

He said conditions were not good throughout the country generally and there was need for "intelligent thinking."

"If the farmer gets a good return for his products, he can buy things we manufacture in the east," he said, "and we in turn can buy the food you produce. When we cannot buy from each other, you have unemployment.

Appeals For Understanding

"My purpose in coming here is to appeal for a better understanding of economic questions in this country."

Asserting he often heard it said too much money was being spent for relief, he continued, it had "become a fixed American policy not to permit a man, woman or child to die of starvation in this country."

"We cannot continue indefinitely a relief program which is costing more than a billion dollars, nor can we cut it off suddenly," he said, "were in it we can't shut it off. Some of those who are protesting most vigorously would be the first to object if it was cut off.

Need Intelligent Thinking

"We've been conferenced to death. What we need is some intelligent thinking and we can't afford to make a mistake."

LaGuardia said he was "sick and tired of hearing about overproduction."

"It isn't overproduction," he said. "It is under-purchasing power that is our problem. You can't call it overproduction until every man, woman and child have enough food to eat and clothes to wear."

Denouncing long hours and low wages, he declared the country had not been built on that principle, and permanent prosperity could be obtained only when business had stability and labor security.

Covered Wagon Tours Will Be Held To Advertise Circus

Leaders were announced Tuesday for "covered wagon" tours Thursday and Friday to publicize the Boy Scout circus the night of May 6 at Texas Technological college stadium.

They are to be Capt. James G. McKinnon of Lubbock of the southern tour; Rev. Gordon Voight of the northeastern, and Charles M. Day of Lubbock of the northwestern tour.

Scouts are to present programs in more than 30 towns and communities of the area during the two days.

Announcement also was made that Girl Scouts will serve as ushers at the circus. Arrangements were made by Ray Farmer, in charge of ushering, with Mrs. Sam C. Newman, Girl Scout commissioner here.

The Fink Case In Chihuahua

THE name of William N. Fink probably means nothing to most people even though it has appeared frequently in the public prints the last few days.

Fink is a mining engineer, an American citizen, arrested recently in Chihuahua City, Mexico, on suspicion of having plotted the bombing which resulted in the death of the mayor of Juarez. After having been held in prison several days, he was released when the Mexican government investigated and concluded that he was, as news reports had it, "arrested on insufficient evidence."

If there was justifiable grounds for Fink's arrest and imprisonment, no American citizen can complain. He, a resident of Mexico, is amenable to the laws of that country, and no true American citizen would have thought of interference. But, if he was arrested merely because he is an American citizen—and that appears to have been the case—then that is a different matter.

Evidence which led to his imprisonment, according to best available accounts, was of the flimsiest. His accuser was the Mexican who admitted having planted the bomb—a self-confessed murderer and liar. The same Mexican previously had accused another man, a Mexican official, and then admitted his accusation to be false. The murderer's motive for accusing others was that it might lessen his own punishment.

No one can believe that the Mexican government, or responsible officials anywhere in that nation, would endorse the arrest and detention of any person of any nationality unless there should be reasonable grounds for that action. Probabilities are that Fink was the victim of some minor official nursing either a personal grudge or one against the American people as a whole.

If that be the case, the Mexican government will profit more than anyone else by making him an example for others like him.

Mrs. Ferguson's Candidacy

THE possibility of the candidacy of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson for the governorship of Texas presents an interesting speculation which the Morning Avalanche sincerely hopes will not materialize into reality.

Mrs. Ferguson, through her husband, has stated once that she will not be a candidate. However, a small group continues to urge that she make the race.

Our expressed hope that she remain on the sidelines is not based on any supposition that she might win. We doubt that she would get into the run-off in spite of the Ferguson "vest pocket" vote. But, should she go into the second primary, it would be merely to insure the election of her opponent, regardless whom that might be.

Objection to the Ferguson candidacy is based primarily on the fact that Texas once more would be a scene of an election in which many thousands of citizens would be voting AGAINST instead of FOR someone. They would be less interested in the victory of their candidate than they would be in defeating Mrs. Ferguson.

As the race now stands, there is no widespread feeling of distrust toward any candidate. There is every indication that in the run-off, it will simmer down to a Thompson-McCraw contest. In such event, the vast majority of citizens will vote for one of the other with the feeling that if he is on the losing side, he will have lost to a good man. Let us hope that the race retains that complexion.

With Our Contemporaries

"In a recent essay, one of America's political observers states that political leaders do not make public opinion, nor guide public opinion," J. M. Rankin notes in the Ralls Banner. "These so-called leaders simply discover what the people are thinking and wanting and set themselves to defining the wishes of the people."

The One-Minute Sermon

It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle, than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God.

President Roosevelt's Story Of The New Deal

Article No. 26: The Explanation Of The Good Neighbor Policy (Part 2)

Editor's Note

(Yesterday the President's notes told of the beginning of the Good Neighbor policy, and of the events in Cuba leading up to the flight of President Machado in August, 1933.

(The following account from the President's books continues the story of his administration's acts in Latin-American affairs.)

AFTER the flight of General Machado, provisional government in Cuba was established, headed by Dr. Carlos Manuel de Cespedes. This provisional government was in turn overthrown on September 5, 1933.

Thereupon the military forces in Cuba assisted in the installation of a provisional regime composed of a committee of five civilians, responsive to the authorities of the army, to the students of the University of Havana and to a small group of agitators who had entered governmental activity.

The new regime was not successful in obtaining support from other bodies of public opinion in Cuba. The governmental system was thereupon modified, and the presidential system was again adopted. Dr. Ramon Grau San Martin, one of the committee of five, was selected as provisional president.

Public Support Missing

This regime also endeavored to obtain the support of general public opinion. During this period our government was unwilling to accord recognition to the Grau San Martin administration because of the lack of general support of public opinion in Cuba and also because it seemed unable to maintain order or to carry out many other normal and necessary functions of government.

A statement was issued by me on November 23, 1933, primarily to inform the general public, both in the United States and in the rest of the American continent as well as in Cuba, of the reasons for our failure to recognize the Grau San Martin regime.

(Editor's Note — It was felt the statement said, "that no official action of the United States should at any time operate as an obstacle to the free and untrammeled determination by the Cuban people of their own destinies."

On January 18, 1934, Colonel Carlos Mendieta was installed as provisional president of Cuba and promptly designated the cabinet of the provision government.

The government of Colonel Mendieta was supported by all of the recognized political parties in Cuba, and there were immediate evidences of overwhelming popular support. Because of these facts and because of the apparent ability of his government to maintain public order, the United States extended recognition to the Government of Cuba on January 23, 1934.

End Of Platt Amendment

(Editor's Note — A new treaty with Cuba was ratified by the U. S. Senate on June 9, 1934.)

THIS treaty abrogated the old treaty of 1903, which contained the so-called Platt amendment. Under the latter, Cuba had agreed to consent to United States intervention in certain specified circumstances, and had likewise agreed not to make treaties with foreign powers which tended to impair its independence, and not to contract any public debt beyond its ability to service from ordinary revenues.

The treaty of 1903, in the light of the situation existing a generation later, was an anachronism, and I early determined upon its replacement by a modern instrument responsive to changed conditions. The treaty of 1934, which constitutes the present basis for our relations with Cuba, abrogated all of the above mentioned provisions of the Treaty of Relations of 1903.

This action on our part in relinquishing the special rights and the potential control which we had in the internal and external affairs of Cuba, not only strengthened the friendship between Cuba and the United States, but very materially increased the good will and confidence with which we are regarded by all the other American Republics. Here was additional definite proof that the United States was opposed to any further armed intervention in the American countries.

(Editor's Note — Since disturbances continued on June 29 a proclamation prohibited export of munitions to Cuba. An old law of 1922 gave the President this authority when domestic violence existed in "any American country.")

Case Of Panama

MISUNDERSTANDINGS arising from certain provisions of the treaty of 1903, between the United States and Panama, had become intensified by the continued economic depression, which was being felt with considerable severity in Panama. There were several points of friction between the two governments.

Panama, for example, considered the right which had been conferred upon the United States to maintain public order in the cities of Panama and Colon, derogatory to its sovereignty and inconsistent with the policy of the United States of non-intervention in the affairs of American republics.

Panama's President Visits

President Arias of Panama sent word that he wished to come to Washington to discuss with me the whole question of Panamanian and American relations in the Canal zone. I suggested that he come. He arrived on October 9, 1933, and stayed at the White House until October 11th, during which time we had a very satisfactory opportunity to discuss pending questions between our two countries. It was a very practical way to deal with problems arising between nations.

On October 19, 1933, we issued a joint statement, reviewing the broad principles upon which we believed, after a completely frank discussion, a treaty between the two nations should be based.

As a result of these conversations, delegates of the Republic of Panama came to Washington to discuss formal agreements. These negotiations culminated in the signing of a series of agreements on March 2, 1936, defining the relations between the two countries.

Montevideo Parley

(Editor's Note — A White House statement on November 9, 1933, announced completion of plans for a conference in Montevideo on December 3. The President, it said, considered the meeting "of such importance" that he had directed Secretary of State Cordell Hull to attend in person.)

THIS conference was the seventh International Conference of American States. This was the first time, however, that the Secretary of State of the United States was personally present as a delegate. Not only did Secretary Hull attend this conference, but on his trip to and from Montevideo, he took occasion to visit Brazil, Uruguay, Argentine, Chile, Peru, Ecuador, Colombia, and Panama.

This conference provided an excellent vehicle, not only for the proper application of the new good-neighbor policy of the United States, but also to induce the other nations of Central and South America to adopt and follow a similar policy.

I have already spoken of the attitude of mistrust and suspicion existing among the 21 Republics in America before March 4, 1933. The first objective of our delegates at this conference was to tear down what was left by this time of the wall of misunderstanding and prejudice between ourselves and the other republics and to eliminate entirely any traces of enmity and resentment by their people toward us.

I believe that the attitude and acts of our delegates at Montevideo were successful in convincing the other nations of our sincerity and determination to remain a good neighbor.

Conventions Adopted

SEVERAL instruments of international agreement were adopted at this Conference to which the United States became a party; for example: (1) Convention on Nationality of Women; (2) Convention on Extradition; (3) Convention on Rights and Duties of States; (4) Additional Protocol to the General Convention of Inter-American Conciliation of 1929.

The cause of peace on this hemisphere was strengthened, not only by the signing of the additional protocol above mentioned, but also by insistence at the conference that hostilities cease in the Chaco, and by the inauguration at the conference of steps leading to the termination of the war between Bolivia and Paraguay.

A broad constructive economic program was presented by Secretary Hull, and adopted at the conference. It attacked the destructive commercial policies of artificial trade barriers and high protective tariffs. The governments subscribed to the principles of reducing these tariffs and artificial barriers to trade, of the abolition of export and import prohibitions and restrictions, and of equality of treatment and the adoption of the most-favored-nation clause.

U. S. Sincerity Stressed

The convention on the Rights and Duties of States contained an article to the effect that no state has the right to intervene in the affairs of another. I believe that the signing of this convention, after the positive refusal by the United States to intervene in Cuba in August, 1933, served to convince the other countries of this hemisphere of the absolute sincerity of this new non-intervention policy on the part of the United States.

The outstanding achievements at Montevideo can be summarized as (1) creation of a new spirit of friendship and confidence among the republics of America; (2) the beginning of a strong liberal trade policy; (3) steps toward the establishment of peace machinery; (4) steps in the improvement of inter-American communication and transportation; (5) collective adoption of the principle of non-intervention.

On the whole it was responsible for improving and promoting a new era of permanent friendliness, understanding, and economic and neigh-

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

SAMPLE fingerprinting of authors of anti-Roosevelt telegrams to Capitol Hill furnishes a cross-section of the public attitude toward the man in the White House. The checks were conducted by both sides, and their findings can be taken as fairly authentic.

Thousands of "lick Roosevelt" wires were bought-and-paid-for affairs—like the propaganda during the Holding act controversy. They represented names torn from city directories and phone books, and the supposed writers never saw or signed them. But most bona fide messages against New Deal measures were discovered to have come from people with incomes above $2000 a year. Though fairly well off, financially, they rank well down in the tax and political brackets. They represent factory workers as well as white-collar element.

The discovery has cheered conservatives and depressed liberals. If the revolt against the New Deal has penetrated the masses as against the classes which never liked Mr. Rooevelt, it's a new and dangerous threat to him and his crowd. These are the tests which count in politics.

TIMECLOCK: The backstage dispute over the identity of the new P.W.A. spender has split the White House coterie far apart. Though the job seems to be headed towards Secretary Ickes,' several powerful groups are pulling for the more active and energetic Harry Hopkins.

The chief complaint against Ickes is that he moves too ponderously, and that it will be a year before the money flows out if he is given charge. That was the squawk against earlier P.W.A. setups. The Roosevelt ians who want the money dished out in a hurry, so as to check the economic slump, point to Hopkins' achievements in placing 900,000 men at work between last August and March of this year. They insist that he has the temperament and the organization. His backers head up in the United States Conference of Mayors, his own cronies in the White House family and friendly members of Congress.

F.D.R. will probably solve the dispute by giving the job to Mr. Ickes. It would be too pointed a snub for him to shift over to Hopkins without a public explanation that would embarrass everybody. But the President is expected to hold a timeclock on the Cabinet member, and if he doesn't shove the cash out fast enough, the checkwriting assignment will be given to a swifter penman.

RAMPAGE: President Roosevelt's recent anti-depression moves have heartened disillusioned Progressives on Capitol Hill. But he hasn't yet acted aggressively enough to satisfy the LaFollette and Maverick groups. They are still meeting at out-of-the-way restaurants every night and grousing.

They want F.D.R. to lead another charge against Congress, despite his series of reverses since reelection. They have urged him to insist upon legislation setting up seven T.V.A.'s, smashing monopolies, regulating wages and hours far more thoroughly than the pending bill proposes, revising the taxation system even more radically than the measure now in conference. When he argues that he can't afford another legislative setback on the eve of a Congressional election, they counter with the demand that he assail Capitol Hill Democrats for not carrying out their 1932 and 1936 platform promises.

Politically, they would have him rampage against several key members who contributed most to sabotaging his program; these would become political guinea pigs. If he licked them, they maintain, it would insure his domination of the party when it names a presidential candidate in 1940, regardless of what happens in the meantime. Mr. Roosevelt seemed to think well of the idea, but he has given no promises so far.

OSFSET: New Deal politicos apparently realize that the presidential letter demanding that House and Senate tax conferees support White House revenue reforms was a blunder.

The latest explanation is that Mr. Roosevelt denounced the Senate's help-business rates so as to kill off a prospective stock market boom based on disclosure of his inflationary program—gold sterilization, P.W.A. spending, boosting of bank reserves, etc.

Lehman of New York looms up as champion of states against federal taxation of state employes.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

IF Henry Morgenthau, jr., were made of baser metal, he would probably be out of the cabinet by now. Last November, with warm White House approval, he announced a program of retrenchment. He was sincere about it, and hasn't changed his mind since. He takes no stock in the spend-and-lend spree as a curative measure and has fought it as hard as he could.

His chief's complete reversal of policy has made him look more than a trifle naive. But the Treasury chief is a very loyal person and, no matter what his personal feelings, is not at all likely to play into the hands of the opposition by walking out on the President in a fit of pique.

Mr. Morgenthau is by no means the only member of the administration who doubts the efficacy of the new spending splurge as a recovery weapon. There is much unadvertised skepticism behind the New Deal scenes. But the skeptics have to go along—or quit, and the latter alternative doesn't seem to appeal to them.

PROJECTS: Despite the fireworks on Capitol Hill, keen New York analysts harbor no illusions that Congress will block the spending program. That would be asking too much of human nature in an election year, with constituents clamoring for their share of the gravy.

The only real battle will be on the question of allocating projects. Congress will insist on having plenty to say about the distribution of funds for public works. Legislators from the big cities will agitate for slum clearance. Flood control and highway construction will be eagerly demanded by rural representatives.

But no matter how much is appropriated for public works, it will take some time to get projects under way. It is unlikely that stimulative effects from this sort of spending will be felt before fall at the earliest. The W.P.A. will be more useful politically although its total monthly outlay will not increase much above present levels.

PROTEST: C.I.O. Maritime unions on the east and west coasts are planning a 24-hour stoppage of work on May 2 as a protest against the shipment of war materials to Japan, Germany and Italy. They are especially peeved about the huge increase of scrap steel exports to these countries.

It will not be an official strike and there will be no picketing. Vessels sailing for destinations in other countries than the three above will be allowed to leave, but C.I.O. members in port are expected to join the demonstration.

Open your mail, even if it looks like a bill, is the advice of the Oregon doctor who found that a letter, unopened for 14 years, contained a tax refund of $9.18.

Side Glances---By George Clark

"I hope he recovers soon, Doctor. I'm up half the night—I found three gray hairs in my head, and look at the circles under my eyes."

The Plainsman Says:

That Girl on Broadway says it may be true that prehistoric humans were neither roundshouldered nor bowlegged, but she'd rather be either than prehistoric.

The dear old WPA, having glanced around and noticed that there are some actors and actresses out of jobs, will soon make some movies—with our money—so the out-of-work Thespians can keep body and soul together.

Not having noticed any lack of work for good actors and actresses we make bold to suggest that maybe those who are out of acting jobs ought to try getting some other kind of work for which they might be better fitted.

The Plainsman, personally, would rather be a good dishwasher with a regular job than a punk actor without one.

SPEAKING of actresses, young Miss Jean Colwell, beauteous and blonde, may be mighty good on the stage, or in front of a camera. But when it comes to straight-away thinking she's not so hot.

The other day Miss Colwell offered what to us is the silliest suggestion for maintaining peace that we've seen in many a day.

Noting that Hitler's troops had kidnaped all of Austria and the newspaper headlines warned of a war to come, Miss Colwell inserted the following ad in a New York publication:

"Are you blonde, beautiful and ready to join men in the trenches in the next war? It's the last chance to save this idiotic man's world. Jean Colwell, 124 W. 55th."

Briefly, Miss Colwell's brain storm is this:

Recruit a brigade of beautiful blondes and when and if the next war starts, put them in No Man's land, between the opposing lines of troops.

Soldiers on both sides, she says, will go for the blondes instead of for each other's throats and—presto!—peace.

IF The Plainsman were in the trenches he believes he would be just as apt to go for a redhead or a brunet as for a blonde, but that's neither here nor there.

The main thing is, Miss Colwell's idea hasn't any sense to it and at best can be excused as a press agent's pipe dream.

She'd better stick to her acting, and let world peace struggle along as best it can in the hands of stodgier, perhaps, yet more intelligent people.

There are said to be 46,000 hairs on a square inch of rabbit fur. That's almost as numerous as promises to the square inch of a political platform.

That Man on Avenue Q says a parking space is an unoccupied section of the downtown thoroughfare, about seven feet wide—and on the other side of the street.

* * *

"Goodness," called the wife to her husband in the next room. "What in the world are you opening that can with?"

"With a can opener, of course," he growled.

"Humph," she returned. "The way it sounded to me you were opening it with prayer!"

* * *

MORE and more often it begins to look that in the passage of the Wagner act and in the power given the National Labor board, the national administration has constructed a Frankenstein which neither it nor any other legal power can easily control.

Take, for instance, recent occurences in Michigan.

"CIO pickets stopped production in two automobile plants," said a recent dispatch from Flint, "and threw nearly 5,000 men and women out of work here in a desperate effort to force members to pay dues."

The dispatch went on to explain that "the extreme method of dues collection was motivated by a reported deficit of about $12,000 in the treasury of the United Automobile Workers local, which conducted the drive." Members of the union gathered at the entrance of the Fisher Body plant and "turned away all non-union employes and all union members who could not show receipts for current dues." As a result of this interference with the lawful right of men and women to work if they so choose—and of other persons to operate legal business enterprises if they so desire—the plant, employing about 3,500 persons on the day shift, was soon shut down. Two hours later the assembly lines of the Buick Motor company plant were stopped for lack of automobile bodies and 1,200 workers were sent home because there was nothing for them to do.

It must be remembered here that there was no difference between the workers—either union or non-union—and the managements of the two plants affected.

It must be remembered that there was no strike involved.

And it must further be remembered that a group of UAW officials simply took matters into their own hands, ran roughshod over their own fellow workers as well as those who refused to bend the knee to the CIO, and kept 5,000 people from working when they wanted to work.

OF course the fact that the occurrence took place in Michigan must be considered.

A similar happening couldn't be found in many other states—and we like to believe Texas is one of them.

Michigan has a weak-kneed governor who is scared stiff every time the CIO boys holler "boo" at him and he sits trembling by when laws are tossed out the window and free men robbed of a part of their natural liberty.

Yet the fact remains that Michigan is a part of the United States and as such its citizens have a right to the protection of the laws of the republic.

And the fact further remains that when laws are ruthlessly violated in one state, it is natural that the action spread to other states.

No chain, as everyone knows, is stronger than its weakest link.

WITH freedom being interfered with in Michigan; with nazis beating and knifing Americans in New York, it is time, The Plainsman thinks, for an about-face and quick return to the free, democratic form of government—supported by upheld laws—in all of our states.

The more we fool around in the matter, the more trouble we're going to have.

Here's a tip for some boy or girl out at Texas Tech.

One Harry Roberts is working his way through Texas Christian university, at Fort Worth.

Harry has a 1933 model automobile and most of his schoolmates have no car at all.

There's where Harry got an idea.

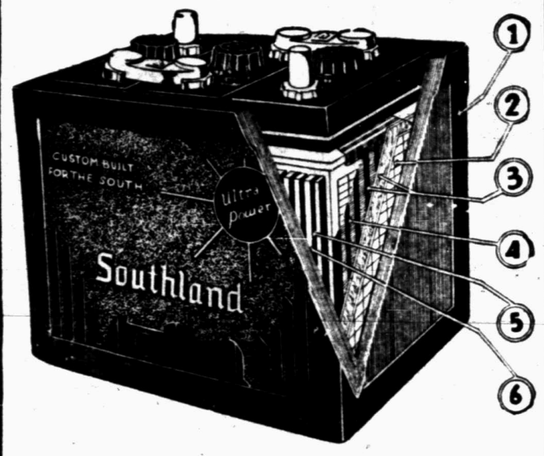

For one buck he will let any upstanding young Romeo of TCU use his car from 8 until 11 p. m.

For every additional hour, the Romeo must cough up an additional four-bits.

But on nights when there's a full moon, Harry gets just twice what he receives on ordinary nights!

There's a young man who will get along.

TARZAN THE MAGNIFICENT No. 87 By Edgar Rice Burroughs

In her crude shelter, Gonfala lay restlessly awake, reluctant to waste a moment of happiness in slumber. After a while she arose and walked out into the moonlight, relishing her new freedom, basking in the warm flame of love that burned within her heart.

As she walked silently beneath the ancient trees, she became suddenly aware of voices. "That guy Tarzan is crazy—giving the big diamond back to those savages, and giving the emerald to Wood to keep for the devilish Queen. I tell you it's crazy, Troll."

"Yes, and the girl won't get the emerald anyway, Spike," the other answered; "that fellow Wood pretends he's going to marry her, but any fool would have too much sense to tie up to the fiend. Wood'll grab the emerald for himself, then he'll give her the air!"

The full import of those words drove deep into Gonfala's heart. She did not wait to hear more, but turned and fled silently through the shadowy forest, her dream shattered, her happiness blasted. She knew only that she would never see Stanley Wood again.

Three Fronts To Be Attacked In Drive

Three distinct fronts will be attacked in Lubbock's cleanup-paint-up campaign May 4-18, and organizations were announced as having been completed Tuesday by W. B. Irvin, general chairman. They will be in the white, the Mexican and negro sections of the city.

Organization for the Mexican and negro participation was completed, Irvin said, at meetings Tuesday at which committees to direct campaign activities were named.

Inspections Scheduled

The three campaigns will be waged simultaneously, it was announced. Each will include inspections of every piece of property within the assigned sections. Effort will be made to bring into active participation every individual, creating the whole the most elaborate drive of its kind in the history of Lubbock, Irvin said.

Plans for the cleanup in the Mexican section of the city were perfected at a meeting at the Mexican school, of which Mrs. George Duval is principal. Named members of the campaign committee were Santos Chavez, Isadore Bustillos, Manuel Reyes, Nick Aguilar, Jesus Puente, Martiniano Lucero, Fred Gallegos, A. Z. Olguin, Joe Aguilar, P. A. Hernandez and Adrez Urguidez.

Meeting of the negro committee was held at the chamber of commerce with E. C. Scruggs, principal of the negro school here, presiding. Named members of the campaign committee were C. H. Lyons, J. A. Lyons, M. C. Young, E. L. Springs, R. E. Jones, John Fair, D. C. Fair and Rufus Cravens.

Another meeting of the negro committee was called by Scruggs for 2:30 p. m. Thursday at the school.

Clemency For Man Sought

AUSTIN, April 26. (AP)—Rep. Lonnie Smith of Fort Worth today prepared a plea for commutation of the death sentence given John W. Vaughn for slaying a San Antonio policeman.

Vaughn with Johnnie Banks, Brazoria county negro, must face the chair for a second time this week unless Governor James V. Allred, who is in Wichita Falls, or the board intervenes.

Fails To Function

Vaughn and Banks were prepared for the death chamber last Friday morning but the electric chair twice failed to function properly, unprecedented in Texas history.

The governor granted a one week stay of execution.

With Smith was Rev. Joe Scheumack of Fort Worth who said he and Smith believed the conditions warranted at least a further postponement of execution so that Vaughn's case might be investigated more.

Under Texas law the governor could grant an additional three weeks stay but no more without a recommendation of the board.

Smith is a member of a house investigating committee studying conditions in the state school for the deaf and the Austin state hospital.

Little Interest Being Shown In Tech Student Politics

Perhaps the period intervening between this morning's nomination of Texas Technological college student officials and election a week later will show more student political interest.

In any event, the approaching nominations have not been the subject for extensive discussion.

Student officials will be nominated and a revised constitution submitted to vote at a convocation at 10 o'clock this morning in the gymnasium. Classes will be dismissed from 10 to 11 o'clock. Maxine Pry from Floydada, this year's president, will preside.

Officials to be nominated are president, vice president, secretary-treasurer, head cheer leader, and representative to the athletic council.

The constitution, revised by the student council, would go into effect next year. It provides for several changes and clarifies certain clauses, going into further detail to avoid possible misinterpretation.

Straying Sea Lion Has Keepers Puzzled; He Takes Right Out Just Any Old Time

NEW YORK, April 26. (AP)—Amos, Brooklyn's perambulating sea lion, had his keepers in a frenzy today, trying to figure out how he had played hookey from his pool in Prospect park zoo three nights in a row.

The sea lion—just hundreds of pounds of good clean fun—waddled over to the bear pits Friday night. He frightened a taxi-cab driver Saturday night by trying to hitch a ride to Manhattan, where gather most of those in the night life swim.

Ambles Down Street

Last night Amos ambled down a Flatbush street, bristling his mustache and leering amiably at the ladies.

A man bumped into Amos' smooth bulk in the dark.

"Pardon me," he said.

"Hur-r-r-r-umph, snorted Amos. "These forcigners," signed the man.

Later a crowd began to gather and passing automobiles stopped, too. But police and Moe Maded, a zoo keeper, unceremoniously rolled Amos in a tarpaulin, carried him back to his pool and dunked him.

Tonight a watch will be set over Amos to see how he conquers his six-foot fence.

Reward Of $5,000 Is Being Posted For Brutal Slayers

BERKELEY, Calif., April 26. (AP) R. H. Rennie, general manager of the giant division of the Atlas Powder company, said today his firm was offering a $5,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the murderer or murderers of Mrs. Hazel Frome and her daughter, Nancy, of Berkeley.

The Fromes were found slain near Van Horn, Tex., last month. Weston G. Frome, the husband and father, is an official of the powder company.

Rennie said he was sending notice of the reward to Governor James V. Allred of Texas, who already has offered $1,000 in behalf of his state.

Guarantee Is Being Sought

DETROIT, April 26. (AP)—The first known attempt of workers in the automobile industry to obtain a guarantee of an annual minimum wage was revealed today by the Ford Brotherhood of America, an independent labor organization.

The brotherhood's goal is at least $1,500 a year for every hourly-rate worker in the mammoth rouge plant of the Ford Motor company in suburban Dearborn, where it claims a membership of 21,400. During peak production periods the factory has nearly 90,000 employes.

Proposals Submitted

The F.B.A. disclosed that it has negotiating with the company the past month and, after numerous conferences, submitted written contract proposals to the management Saturday.

Louis J. Colombo, sr., Ford counsel, represented the company in the negotiations and turned over to Edsel Ford, president of the concern, the brotherhood's proposals.

As far as could be learned, this was the first time that organized workers in the industry have sought contractual assurance of an annual minimum wage. It is known, however, that at least one other group has had that in mind as one of its ultimate objectives.

The company previously has denied charges the F.B.A. was a company union.

Plan Is Advocated

President Roosevelt and Gov. Frank Murphy, of Michigan, have advocated the establishment of such a plan. The president, in an address in Detroit while campaigning for re-election in 1936, urged the motorcar industry to set up an annual "minimum living wage" for its workers.

William S. McDowell, sr., brotherhood attorney, said that in return for the proposed wage guarantee F.B.A. members would sign an agreement that each would purchase a new car from the company every two years at the same price at which they are sold to dealers.

Under the plan, they would buy their cars within six months from the signing of the contract. They could either pay cash or have not more than one-third of their pay deducted as payments on an installment basis.

Annual Texas Air Tour Will Be Started On May 12

DALLAS, April 26. (AP) — Texas aviation enthusiasts bent on stimulating private flying will start the annual Texas air tour on May 12, Chas. A. Rowe, tour chairman, announced here today.

At least 35 planes with a personnel of more than four score, Rowe said, will make stops at Temple, San Antonio, Laredo, Galveston, Eagle Pass, Corpus Christi, Beaumont and Houston, the last four being ports for night stops.

The tour, sponsored by the Dallas chapter of the National Aeronautical association, will start at Dallas.

Kansas farmer-ranchers claim that, according to an old Indian legend, invasions of "war horse" jackrabbits always mean a war is coming. The rabbits, big as dogs, drive out ordinary rabbits, attack coyotes, gnaw freshly painted woodwork, and wreck tires on the farmers' trucks.

Lubbock Architects Chosen To Draw Plans For Church

Haynes and Strange, Lubbock architects, were awarded contract to draw plans for completion of the First Methodist church building at Levelland at a meeting of the church board Monday night, S. B. Haynes said Tuesday.

The basement of the building was finished several years ago when Rev. J. B. McReynolds was pastor. It has been used for a number of years and the congregation has outgrown the space, Rev. John W. Hendrix, pastor, said.

Within a few days the building committee of the church will confer with the architect on plans.
