Minus 13 percent operating budget finalized at WTC

College board members essentially closed the books on the college expense budget Monday night, giving tentative approval to a plan which reflects a 13 percent decrease in operations at the college.

The board's budget work is not complete, however, as decisions must still be made regarding a college tax rate for 1986-87.

As part of the budget motion Monday, trustees did stipulate that the bonded indebtness payment due next year — equaling some $175,000 — be paid from surplus college monies rather than be included as part of the tax rate computation.

This was seen as a way of "moderating the burden on local taxes," a comment made by trustee Roy Baze, who made the motion to approve the budget expense figures.

Bill Wilson seconded Baze's motion by saying, "I think it is a pattern the rest of the taxing entities need to follow."

The college expense budget as approved Monday contains no pay increases for college staffers for the year. It also has no major capital improvement projects.

Some $668,000 in annual spending has been trimmed in such areas as staff salaries, student travel, part-time student workers and ad-

Ask Us

Q. — Are these "sno cone" stands required to pass a health and sanitation inspection and must they have sanitation facilities?

A. — Louie Vaughan, county health sanitarian, notes he does inspect the stands to insure sanitary practices are being used. Such facilities as restrooms are not required, however. He recommends anyone planning to open such a facility to check with the county health unit first.

Bell rates

AUSTIN (AP) — Southwestern Bell is entitled to a $7.3 million rate hike, the Public Utility Commission announced today. The phone company says it needs $277 million.

The tentative rate increase figure was released today by the PUC's accounting division, which calculated the effects of decisions made last Friday by the commission.

Local

Tiger 'cheer'

The Snyder Booster Club is urging the community to cheer on the Snyder High School baseball team as it leaves for the Class AAAA State Baseball Tournament in Austin Wednesday morning.

The team bus will leave the high school at approximately 9 a.m. under a police escort and will go up 37th St. to College Avenue. The procession will continue downtown, around the square, and up College again to 37th St. before leaving town.

The booster club urges businesses and community members to make posters, decorate windowfronts and greet the Tigers as they make their way out of the city.

Snyder is scheduled to play Brenham at Austin's Disch-Falk Field at 3 p.m. Thursday.

Trailer fire

A mobile home in the 2700 Block of Ave. Q sustained fire damage Sunday evening after a fire erupted in its water heater closet.

Units of the Snyder Fire Department were dispatched to the Brenda Redman residence at 2707 Ave. Q at 7:25 p.m.

Fire officials say damage was heaviest to the floor of the heater closet.

Owner of the mobile home was listed as Mrs. Wade Davis of Snyder.

Shuttle escape not 'practical'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The vice chairman of the Rogers Commission told Congress today that an "all-situation" escape system is "neither practical nor desirable" for space shuttle astronauts. The panel has endorsed a system for crew escape if the shuttle encounters difficulties in landing.

Neil Armstrong said he could foresee the possibility of providing future shuttle crews with "limited escape possibilities." The commission concluded that no escape system would have allowed the Challenger astronauts to survive the January disaster.

Armstrong made his comments as he and commission chairman William Rogers began discussing their report on the Jan. 28 loss of the Challenger at the first of several days of congressional hearings.

Rogers, a former secretary of state, told the House Science and Techbnology Committee that the 256-page report "may be the most complete and thorough investigation of its kind that's been conducted...

"There's no doubt about it, serious mistakes were made," he said. "There were failures. We set them all out." The report blames the accident on a faulty joint in the shuttle's right booster rocket, although it faults NASA for an insufficient safety program and calls for sweeping management changes at the agency.

Appraisal district cuts twin budgets

The twin budgets for the Scurry County Appraisal District were approved Monday — both reflecting lower spending estimates for the coming budget year.

A $357,085 appraisal budget was approved and some $30,272 for the district's collection department.

The action came during a special session Monday to discuss budget proposals submitted June 3 to district directors.

The proposed 1987 budget in the appraisal department represents some $11,295 less than the amended 1986 budget of about $368,380.

In the collection department, the 1986 budget was trimmed from $64,222 to realize a savings of about $4,710 for 1987.

By holding salaries for district personnel to 1986 levels, members cut the original proposal from $360,001 in the appraisal department. No salary increase in the collection department also saved the district an additional $1,217.

Chief Appraiser Ray Peveler noted a major decrease in the district's cost for computer maintainance — down from $9,000 for 1986 to $900 in 1987 — contributed to the overall decline.

In 1985 and 1986, district officials were under contract to the City of Snyder to purchase space

WTC board backs FM 1611 extension

The proposal to extend FM 1611 — creating a western truck route around Snyder — was endorsed Monday night by the board of trustees for Western Texas College.

The college is affected since the proposal would include connecting FM 1611 to the farm-to-market road which borders the WTC campus' south side, FM 2763.

The motion to endorse the plan was made by Edwin Parks Jr. and passed by a unanimous vote.

"I think it would be an asset to the college and the whole community, and I'd like to see us draft a letter saying we'd like to see that road built," Parks commented.

By a 3-2 vote May 22, the county commissioners court approved a minute order from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation authorizing the state to begin engineering plans to complete the project.

Five youth to travel abroad thanks to exchange program

Five Snyder students will be visiting foreign countries this summer through the local International Youth Exchange program, affiliated with Rotary International.

Planning foreign visits are Dee Butler, Ginger Bryan, Monique Miller, Charlie McCormick and Michelle Osborn.

Dee Butler, daughter of Leslie and Bekky Butler, will be departing Snyder June 19 and arriving in Linz, Austria. She will be living with three separate families in three different locales and will return to Snyder from Vienna, Austria Aug. 1.

Ginger Bryan, daughter of Truett and Mona Bryan, will leave Snyder July 1 and return July 29. She will be traveling with a group of Rotary students from the Amarillo area to Frankfort, West Germany.

She will be living with Karl and Luise Schuetz and her exchange student "sister" Cornelia, who will accompany her back to Snyder for a visit during the month of August.

Monique Miller, daughter of Harold and Deanne Miller, will spend the month of July in France. She will live with the Bernard Tatoud family, whose daughter Laurence will be returning to Snyder on July 27 with Monique, staying here in August. Monique will leave Snyder on June 26 and travel direct to Paris along with Charlie McCormick.

McCormick, son of Junior and Barbara McCormick, will leave Dallas/Fort Worth Airport June 26 and fly direct to Paris to meet his host family, Louis and Monique Hussenot and their son, Remi.

He will be staying in Bordeaux,

June session tonight for Snyder ISD board

The June agenda for the Snyder school board will range from career ladder announcements, to policy revisions for student dress codes, to the district's annual report regarding the statewide TEAMS testing of students.

The meeting will begin at 7 p.m. at the administration building.

Regarding the career ladder placements, some 98 classroom teachers are expected to be named this year. Each will receive a bonus supplement of $1,500.

A list prepared by a committee of administrators and teachers is to be officially approved by the board Tuesday.

The board will also consider additions and deletions to the dress code for students at the elementary, junior high and high school levels.

Many of these have been updated to better conform with modern styles of clothing.

The meeting is slated to conclude with the annual report on TEAMS test results. TEAMS is an acronym for Texas Educational Assessment of Minimum Skills Test Scores.

Each year, students at specific grade levels are tested and these test results compared statewide. The results are designed to show individual districts where greater educational emphasis needs to be placed.

Under bids items, trustees are also expected to consider cost estimates to replace the boiler at Central Elementary.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Education makes life easier. If you hadn't learned to write your name, you'd have to pay cash for everything."

Like many churches in Snyder, the congregation we attend provides transportation for its senior members. At 37th Street Church of Christ, the men of the congregation (those without too many traffic tickets) take turns driving the van.

About every three months, it is our time to drive the church van. It's exciting--like having seven mothers-in-law in the back seat.

Opal Eicke, who lives out on the Roby Highway, and Lerlene Cogdell, who lives on the Colorado City Highway, are two who help keep the van riders organized by knowing who needs a ride each Sunday and Wednesday.

Both are long-time Scurry County residents, and they know most of the folks in the county and have watched most of them grow up.

If you happen to have grown up in a particular town, you always remain "Little so and so" or "so and so's boy."

We got a kick out of Eicke and Cogdell Sunday as they were giving us vivid descriptions of all the van drivers. According to the ladies--some drive too slow, some drive too fast, some are late and some forget.

"We're glad that Cotton boy isn't driving. That boy never slows down."

That Cotton boy they referred to was Snyder attorney Dan Cotton, the son of Houston and Bertha Cotton of the Dunn community.

We couldn't wait to tell Dan what the ladies said about him. He was philosophical: "As long as they call me a boy, they can say whatever they want."

There are a lot of "huggers" at our congregation. The women were talking about a member who observed there was too much hugging going on--even the preachers were getting in on the huggin'.

To which Mrs. Cogdell replied, "I'm glad. If they didn't I'd find me some place else to attend."

800 still evacuated; fire rages

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — While cleanup crews battle the persistent blaze from a tank-car derailment, as many as 800 people were still evacuated early today because of the danger of a second explosion, officials say.

The likelihood of another explosion is increasing because of heat generated by a fire still raging at the derailment site — a trestle over Salado Creek — John Bromley, Union Pacific Railroad spokesman, said Monday.

Seven tank cars filled with hazardous chemicals were among 32 railroad cars that derailed from the 80-car train at about 12:50 p.m. on Sunday.

The resulting fire and explosion forced the evacuation of as many as 2,000 people, although only between 700 and 800 people were still staying away, deputy police chief Robert Heuck said.

As long as the possibility of another explosion exists, people living closest to the train derailment site will not be allowed to go home, Mayor Henry Cisneros said.

The mayor also said that inspectors from the Environmental Protection Agency concluded Monday that smoke from the accident is not toxic. But he added that "the possibility of an explosion is still real."

The mayor asked people displaced by the explosion "to put up with this for a little while longer" and to keep receipts for hotel rooms and other expenses so that reimbursement claims can be filed with the Union Pacific Railroad.

He said an initial bill of $78,700 for city emergency services had been prepared for Union Pacific, although that figure could rise dramatically depending on the fire's outcome.

Five of the seven tank cars that derailed carried butadiene, used to manufacture synthetic rubber and plastics, another tanker contained formaldehyde, and the seventh tank car had ethylene glycol, or anti-freeze.

One of the tank cars filled with butadiene exploded and a second one caught fire and continued to burn late Monday. Two freight box cars carrying cotton seed and wooden pallets also continued to burn.

Authorities earlier had decided to let the fire burn out, but firefighters began spraying water on the twisted heap of metal Monday night.

Western Emergency Service of Fort Worth was also trying to enhance the fire in another of the cars, however, to help vaporize the remaining butadiene.

Bromley, meanwhile, said that the cause of the derailment was still not known and that investigators would not be able to find the cause until the fire was extinguished.

He said, however, that he doubted early reports that said supports on the trestle collapsed because of weakening by recent flooding. Construction of the 300-foot concrete trestle was completed in March, he said.

"It's pretty obvious from the eyewitness that the train was derailed as it approached the span," Bromley said.

The witness, Jesse Morris, 61, is a retired Union Pacific employee.

Federal role is limited

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rebuffed by the Supreme Court, the Reagan administration and handicapped rights groups say they will continue efforts to regulate the medical establishment's role in life-and-death decisions involving severely handicapped infants.

The court ruled 5-3 Monday that parents — not the federal government — have the authority over such troubling decisions. The court struck down the administration's "Baby Doe" regulations that gave federal officials important responsibility in such cases.

Justice Department spokesman Terry Eastland said, "We wished the decision had gone otherwise." But he said the administration, with "a note of optimism," believes new "regulations in this area have not been foreclosed."

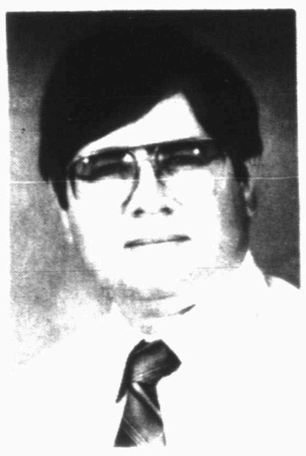

Thomas J. Marzen of the National Legal Center for the Medically Dependent and Disabled said, "I think you can anticipate there will be some attempt to amend the federal law."

The high court said the administration improperly attempted to override parental wishes and pressure hospitals and doctors to provide medical care that might extend the lives of deformed or gravely ill babies.

But the ruling, sparked by highly publicized cases in Indiana and New York, leaves intact state laws that allow officials there to override parental wishes in regulating treatment for handicapped newborns.

Monday's decision was hailed by the medical establishment.

Minor's Affair With Older Girl Creates a Major Mess

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1986 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I read with great interest the letter about "New Mexico Mess," whose 15-year-old grandson was sexually involved with an 18-year-old girl.

Two years ago our son, who was 15 at the time, became involved with "Lilly" — an 18-year-old girl. Lilly came to our home in the afternoons while we were gone and went to bed with him. Her parents were aware of this, but did nothing about it. We contacted two lawyers and an assistant district attorney. They all gave us the same advice. In Texas, an 18-year-old boy can be charged with contributing to the delinquency of a 15-year-old girl, but there is no law to protect a minor boy from an 18-year-old girl!

When Lilly became pregnant, her parents demanded that our son marry her! Of course, we refused to allow our 15-year-old son to marry her. We begged Lilly to give up the baby for adoption. She refused. Our son is now a 17-year-old high school dropout. He lives with Lilly and the baby, working two jobs to pay the rent. We provide for the baby, pay a sitter during the week and care for the child on weekends. Lilly sleeps late and works part time. Her parents contribute nothing.

Our friends tell us to wash our hands of the whole mess, but we feel that an innocent baby would suffer if we did. Do you have an answer to this horrible situation?

NO NAMES IN TEXAS

DEAR NO NAMES: You could help your son far more by encouraging him to complete his education so he will better be able to support himself and his family. To "wash your hands of the whole mess" would be tantamount to throwing the baby out with the bath water!

DEAR ABBY: Lately, I have been getting so much junk mail and begging letters from various organizations asking for money, I am going to need a bigger mailbox!

I have my favorite charities and I give as much as I can, but it seems that I am on at least two dozen "lists," and this mail keeps coming and coming — some with stamped envelopes which I find difficult to throw away, so I send a few dollars not knowing how much of my money will ever reach the cause.

Abby, this has got to stop. Please tell me how to get off those lists and reduce my junk mail. Thank you.

TOO MUCH MAIL

DEAR TOO MUCH: Write to: Mail Preference Service, Direct Marketing Association, 6 E. 43rd St., New York, N.Y. 10017. But be aware that many organizations are now computerized, and once your name is in the computer, you are automatically solicited, in which case your only defense is to ignore the solicitation.

DEAR ABBY: My best friend's 25th wedding anniversary is approaching soon. They were married in July of 1961. In January of 1965 they were divorced. Shortly after, they realized they had made a mistake, so they were remarried the following January and they've been happily married ever since.

There are several of us friends who want to give them a big party in celebration of their 25th wedding anniversary — on their original wedding date — but we wonder whether it would be proper to overlook the time they were not married.

THEIR LONGTIME FRIENDS

DEAR FRIENDS: Friends who count don't count. Overlook the lapse and celebrate on their original wedding date.

Your Birthday

June 11, 1986

There is a strong possibility in the year ahead that you will make a major job or career change. You'll enter a different field that gives you greater chances for success.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Even though you'll have good reasons for criticizing a co-worker today, it's best to keep your comments to yourself. Focus on his good points. Major changes are ahead for Gemini in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Subdue tendencies today to cater to your whims despite what your common sense tells you. Ignoring better judgment could prove expensive.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Recent rules that you have laid down for your household may be violated today. Don't be too harsh when dealing with the culprit.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Don't waste valuable time today concentrating on the "ifs" while ignoring the "yes, I cans." You can only make progress when you're determined to do so.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You're not apt to come out too well in material dealings you have with friends today, but you will show a profit in situations with strangers.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Put your trust in methods that have proven productive for you in the past and not on concepts that have yet to prove their merit.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You may have to work out a delicate matter today with a person you're not fond of. Don't let old feelings influence your judgment.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) A friend's information from a dubious source cannot be relied upon today. To be on the safe side, start digging out the facts for yourself.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You'll lose points with a friend if you make a decision today that serves your interests but not his or hers. Avoid selfish plans.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Divorce yourself from a co-worker today who does not take the tasks at hand as seriously as you do. This person's poor attitude will dilute your productiveness.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Try not to involve yourself in a situation today where what you gamble is greater than what you hope to gain. Use your common sense.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) The uncertainty that you'll feel prior to making an agreement today will vanish once negotiations get started. Concentrate on desired terms.

Twister causes $1 million in damages

MEMPHIS, Texas (AP) — A twister that skirted the northwest portion of this Panhandle community hit homes and businesses and disrupted telephones and electrical power, causing an estimated $1 million in damage, authorities say.

The tornado first touched down 3 miles west of Memphis at 8:36 p.m. Monday, damaging outbuildings, said Jerry Hatley, a Texas Department of Public Safety dispatcher in Amarillo.

The funnel cloud then went aloft and skirted the city in a one-half mile long path, heavily damaging a General Telephone Co. district office and two restaurants along U.S. Highway 287, said Charles Waller, police dispatcher.

DEALING WITH TOMATO PROBLEMS

Tomatoes are the number one garden vegetable in Texas, but they also cause a lot of headaches for gardeners.

Listed below are some of the common tomato problems, along with their causes and cures:

—Young plants dying soon after planting. This is often the result of fertilizer burn or damping off disease. Thoroughly mix fertilizer into the soil and treat seed for diseases. Avoid overwatering.

—Stunted, yellowing plants. Low soil fertility, poor soil drainage, shallow or compacted soil, insects or diseases, and nematodes are among the causes. Fertilize and work the soil well and control insects and diseases.

—Stunted, purple colored plants. Low temperatures and a lack of phosphorous cause this problem. Plant at recommended times to avoid temperature damage and add phosphorous fertilizer.

—Wilting plants. Common causes are dry soil, overly wet soil, nematodes and diseases. Cures include watering, providing good drainage, and controlling diseases and nematodes.

—Weak, spindly plants. Check for too much shade, too much water, plants too thick or too much nitrogen.

—Failure to set fruit. Temperature extremes, too much nitrogen, insects and cloudy weather are some of the culprits. Plant at the recommended time, control pests and avoid excess fertilization.

—Tomato leaf curl. Heavy pruning in hot weather as well as insects or diseases cause this problem.

—Blossom-end rot. Low soil calcium and too much as well as not enough moisture are causes. Add calcium-containing material, water regularly and improve drainage.

—Misshapen tomatoes or catfacing. Cool weather during blooming is the usual cause, so avoid planting too early.

—Abnormal leaves and growth. 2,4-D weed killer and virus diseases could be at fault. Remove affected plants to prevent spreading diseases and use care with weed killers to avoid spray drift.

BEAUTY BRIEFS

Color mousse

All disco-goers know how to get a temporary "punk" hairdo by using styling mousse or gel. However, putting in those wild hair colors has been a little more difficult, usually involving painting them on. Now the whole thing has been made easy with a new set of mousses and gels that have color crystals in them. Called Pazazz, they come in gold, bronze, copper and rose to lend a sheer mist of color to your hairdo, or to create streaks and other spot effects. Both color and gel or mousse come out with simple shampooing.

Fashion makeup

Fashion this season is heading in two color directions: soft pastels and aggressive brights. You may like to wear some of each, and with a moment's thought, why not? Muted pinks and peach tones will give you the right subtle look with pastels, but will fade to nothing if worn with bright colors. Bold colors need the extra touch of eye makeup, in pure medium green, blue or aqua, with lip and cheek colors in clear red. Using makeup correctly can make it possible for you to wear a color you formerly thought unflattering.

THIRSTY TREES

PROSPERITY, S.C. (AP) — Trees are very thirsty, some absorbing as much as 90 gallons of water on a hot summer day, says Georgia-Pacific Corp., a forest products firm.

Acting as giant pumps, large trees can elevate water through their trunks at a rate of 150 feet an hour, carrying nutrients to the leaves or needles.

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My husband drinks eight to 10 beers every day. With all those calories, he's still skinny as a rail (6 feet, 128 pounds). He says the beer's good for him; I think that, after 20 years, he's become an alcoholic. What do you think?

DEAR READER — I can't say. Only your husband can decide for himself. Having made that statement, let me point out the obvious: Beer is not good for him — or anybody. He clearly is drinking excessively. His drinking is alarming the family and I'll wager that it's affecting his work and other interpersonal relations as well.

Alcoholism is a disease of denial; patients deny they have it. I'm not labeling your husband an alcoholic, but I think you could learn a great deal about the disease by joining an Al-Anon chapter. Al-Anon can help families of alcoholics to cope more effectively. Alcoholism is a family disease, and you need to learn more about your role in your husband's drinking pattern. You might not be able to alter your husband's alcohol intake, but you can certainly learn to alter your reaction to it.

For more information, check your local white pages for Alcoholics Anonymous or Al-Anon.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Three months ago I developed allergy-like symptoms in my right eye (watering, burning, itching). Then I took a plane trip and my ears plugged up. My right ear has never cleared up. Now the whole right side of my head aches, beginning at the back of my neck and going up through my jaw, teeth, ear and eye. My doctor prescribed antihistamines, which didn't help. What can I do to treat this problem?

DEAR READER — See an ear, nose and throat specialist. You may have developed a chronic ear congestion from the allergy and the plane flight. The doctor may have to use mechanical methods to equalize the pressure. Sometimes the ear can be "blown out" by gentle air pressure; at other times, the specialist may have to perform a myringtomy — lancing the eardrum to clean out the middle-ear chamber.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am 56 and had a hysterectomy in 1962. Now I have terrible hot flashes, but am unable to take Premarin because of a blood clot and high blood pressure. What other drugs can I take?

DEAR READER — Female hormones are probably the only satisfactory way to treat your symptoms of menopause. Hypertension and a tendency to develop blood clots do not prohibit hormone replacement, provided you take the medication under medical supervision. For example, your blood pressure can be controlled with anti-hypertensive medication and your clotting tendency can be reduced by other medicines while you are taking hormones. Check with your gynecologist.

DEAR DR. GOTT — About four months ago I was in a car accident and suffered a "blowout fracture" under one eye, which was repaired. I still have occasional vague headaches and bouts of slight nausea or imbalance. Sometimes, when I go outside, things don't look quite right. A brain scan and eye exam showed that everything was normal. Our family doctor moved elsewhere and I don't know whom to consult for this problem.

DEAR READER — The type of injury you describe is serious, and it can have long-lasting consequences if the fracture involved the skull bones around the ear, as well as the cheek. You may need to be examined by both an otolaryngologist (ear doctor) and a specialist in maxillofacial injuries. At this point, I think your best option is to find a qualified family doctor who, if necessary, can refer you to the appropriate specialist.

White dedicates prison site

TENNESSEE COLONY, Texas (AP) — Gov. Mark White is promising a quick resolution to the dilemma facing state officials who are preparing to build a new maximum security state prison but legally don't have the money to pay for it.

"We are exploring other ways to finance the construction of this prison," White said Monday at ceremonies dedicating the site of the new Mark Michael Unit about 15 miles west of Palestine.

Asked when a satisfactory financial proposal would be reached, he replied: "Hopefully, in a matter of days."

Attorney General Jim Mattox threw the finances into turmoil last week when he ruled a proposed bond issue to raise money for construction was illegal.

That sent prison officials scrambling because the Monday event at the Michael Unit site originally was planned as a groundbreaking. Instead, several hundred people gathered in a cleared field near the existing Coffield Unit for what was billed as a "site dedication."

The proposal Mattox ruled invalid would have allowed the Texas Board of Corrections to use $78 million in private money to build the prison, which would then be leased to the state. The bonds would have been issued under the state Health Facilities Development Act.

Mattox said the bonds could not be used because although the prison would have some medical capabilities, "using that method of financing would violate the intent of the Legislature," which passed the act.

"We are exploring other ways to finance the construction of this prison — and I am hopeful that a breakthrough will be forthcoming in the very near future," White said. "We will not have early release of inmates. That is not an acceptable means of relieving the pressures on our prisons."

Prison Board Chairman Al Hughes said Mattox's ruling last week meant the state would miss a federal court deadline to reduce prison crowding by Sept. 1, 1987. He also warned that unless construction began within 60 days, state officials would have to begin preparations to release 2,941 convicted felons from their sentences early because of prison crowding.

"These few days here shouldn't make a great deal of difference," White insisted.

"I assure you we can build prisons fast enough to avoid early release."

Reagan called more of a first friend

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ronald Reagan Jr. says his dad isn't naturally equipped to be a perfect father, but makes up for it by being kind, understanding and a good friend.

President Reagan's father suffered from alcoholism and was often absent, providing no role model for fathering, the younger Reagan writes in "Fathers," a new Washington-based magazine beginning publication this month.

"So he's (President Reagan) not the most naturally equipped to be everybody's idea of a perfect father.

"He makes up for it by being a genuinely kind and nice person. He's almost more of a good friend than a father, in a lot of ways," Reagan Jr. says in an interview in the magazine.

But in addition to being warm and kind, the senior Reagan is difficult to get to know well, Reagan Jr. says.

"I know him as well as anybody, outside my mother. But still, you know, there is something that he holds back. You get just so far, and then the curtain drops, and you don't go any farther."

Reagan Jr., youngest of the president's four children, reports that his father can be a "soft touch" at times and rarely loses his temper.

"He's got a real long, long fuse. I've rarely seen him very mad," young Reagan says.

Nonetheless, the younger Reagan, an actor and dancer who writes for Playboy magazine, says he left home following one of those family discussions that conclude with a phrase like "while you're in our house, you'll live by our rules."

"And I said, you're right. It is your house and you have every right to lay down these rules, and I think it's fairer for both of us if I bug out and get an apartment," says Reagan Jr.

That seemed to surprise his parents, he recalls, but once they got used to it "they got supportive rather quickly."

Reagan Jr. characterizes his adolescence as much like others of his generation, including an occasional marijuana cigarette.

"I never had a drug problem," he says, adding that he and the president never had big discussions of issues such as drugs, sex or alcohol.

"He just used to stress to me the importance of being kind to people," says the younger Reagan.

Being the son of a famous politician can be frustrating, Reagan Jr. adds, sometimes even hazardous to one's health.

For example, he recalls grammar school football when his father was governor of California.

"I remember on several occasions I'd go out on the field and become aware that there were members of the other team that wanted to take me out of the game. 'Which one is Reagan? We're going to get him.'"

Reagan Jr. also says he sometimes is frustrated by the extra attention directed at him because of his relationship, such as the snickers about homosexuality that were heard when he became a ballet dancer.

"I sort of knew when I started dancing that there was this sort of feeling that ballet dancers are gay. But I thought that was restricted to people in Podunk or the Deep South or something," the younger Reagan says.

Asked if this had affected his father's relationship with conservative groups who support him, the younger Reagan says his dad is not anti-homosexual.

"He and mom have friends who are gay. I mean, they're show people. They were in show business, they've always liked dance," Reagan Jr. says.

He adds that his father's political alliances, such as support from fundamentalist religious groups who strongly oppose homosexuality, make the younger Reagan "uncomfortable."

"It's a political alliance, clearly, and it's pandering to an extent to the far right. It won't do me much good to tell him I don't want him to do it. He fortunately doesn't seem to spend a lot of energy, political or otherwise, on actually campaigning for their platform once he's in office."

Cathy E. Smith to plead guilty in Belushi death

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The singer who shared comedian John Belushi's last hours likely will spend about 1½ years in jail under a plea agreeemnt reached this week in Belushi's drug overdose death, a prosecutor said.

Cathy Evelyn Smith will plead guilty Wednesday to involuntary manslaughter and three drug charges, attorneys said.

She had been charged with one count of second-degree murder and 13 of furnishing and injecting Belushi with drugs including the cocaine-heroin "speedball" which killed him four years ago.

LARRY WAYNE ALFRED

Fugitive sought for questioning

CORPUS CHRISTI--Larry Wayne Alfred, 25, is wanted for the unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. However, law enforcement officials also want to talk to him about the Dec. 8, 1985 murder of Leo Cantu during an armed robbery. He is also wanted for questioning about the March 30 armed robbery at a local convenience store where the clerk was shot in the leg.

This week Alfred has been added to the Texas Most Wanted List. A reward of up to $1,000 is being offered by the governor's office for information leading to Alfred's arrest.

He is described as a black male, 5-8, 160 pounds, with black hair and brown eyes.

Call 1-800-252-8477 if you have any information. In all cases callers do not have to reveal their identities.

GSU faces serious financial woes

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — Two recent rulings by regulatory agencies have not helped the economic woes of the Gulf States Utilities Co., a company spokeswoman said.

In fact, the utility has hired an attorney specializing in bankruptcy matters because of serious cash flow problems, company spokeswoman Sharon Englade said Monday.

"We're not saying we're going to file bankruptcy," she said. "This is a contingency plan."

The Louisiana Public Service Commission threw out on May 27 the bulk of a $360 million two-year rate increase Gulf States had proposed, she said.

The Louisiana commission ruled that most of the proposed rate increase was premature as its River Bend nuclear plant was not officially on line.

Rains leave behind benefits

DALLAS (AP) — Heavy rainfalls that have flooded wide sections of Texas over the past few weeks have replenished some drought-stricken reservoirs and left behind a mixed blessing for farmers who feared another dry summer.

During the weekend, most of the state took a breather from severe weather that has steadily soaked the state since May 25, claiming at least 11 lives.

Ironically, the same storms are giving life to Texas crops that appeared headed into a dry summer, said Bill Braden, a spokesman for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at Texas A&M University.

The National Weather Service recorded 6.52 inches of rainfall at the Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport during May and 2.41 so far in June. The May total was 2.25 inches above normal, said Fort Worth meterologist Tommy Trimble, but far from the 1982 record of 13.66.

The total is not unusual, he said.

"What is unusual is we have not had a clear break in the pattern. What we've had is continuous high humidity, rain and a lot of clouds," Trimble said.

The National Weather Service in San Antonio also recorded an above-normal rainfall of 12.34 inches at San Antonio International Airport since May 25, said metorologist Bill Crouch.

"We had a fairly serious deficit prior to then," Crouch said.

But in Lubbock, the May rainfall total of 1.82 inches was slightly below average, said meterologist Ken Winger.

With the drought of 1984 still fresh in the minds of many Texans, the rains are considered a precious commodity.

"As far as the month of May is concerned, by and large (rains) have been beneficial (for crops) except in a few areas, particularly in the winter garden area west of San Antonio," said Braden. "I wouldn't go so far as to say the moisture is enough to get us through the summer, but it's enough to get us into the summer."

The rains also have increased the Edwards and Ogallala aquifer levels and filled numerous reservoirs, lakes, basins, creeks and rivers, officials said.

Last week, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers announced it would be releasing water from 18 of 23 operating lakes, which cover about two-thirds of the state.

The lakes have reached flood pool stage and waters must be released downstream to prevent them from spilling over, said Sally Werst, a corps spokeswoman.

On the border with Mexico in far South Texas, Falcon Lake rose about four or five feet, said Max Woodfin, a Texas Water Commission spokesman.

But officials are wondering if the rains may be a factor in a major fish kill that started at Falcon Dam and continued about three miles downstream, Woodfin said.

For the first time in four years, the Lower Colorado River Authority opened the flood gates at Lake Buchanan, which has reached its maximum elevation level, said John Williams, an agency spokesman.

Williams said the rains have given the authority and its customers the benefit of additional capacity from hydroelectric power plants.

Braden said West Texas benefitted most from the rain. Farmers waiting for a little more moisture before planting can now go ahead, he said. The rain also has helped Texas grasses and pastures for cattle grazing.

SBC factions are urged to cease firing

ATLANTA (AP) — Two warring Southern Baptist Convention factions are being told to cease firing as they gather to decide which camp's favorite will become president of the nation's largest Protestant denomination.

Whoever wins the election, there must be a prompt end to destructive name-calling, politicking and other fighting between the groups, a special Baptist peace committee said Monday.

Amid the talk of peace, though, the chairman of the committee said there probably will be "casualties" and people "dealt with" before the dust settles on a feud over how much theological diversity the traditionally conservative denomination can stand.

The committee's report and recommendations came a day before more than 40,000 church members were to elect a new president of the 14.5-million-member denomination.

The rivals in that election were:

—The Rev. Adrian Rogers, 54-year-old pastor of Bellevue Baptist Church in Memphis, Tenn., the candidate of the strict fundamentalist wing that says every word of the Bible is true and that doubters are hurting the denomination. He's a former president who started the faction's string of victories in 1979.

—The Rev. W. Winfred Moore, 66-year-old pastor of First Baptist Church of Amarillo, Texas, a conservative but embraced by moderates for his willingness to let individual Baptists and churches interpret the Bible.

The peace committee, which includes Moore and Rogers, was formed after disputes at last year's convention in Dallas got so heated that some feared a schism.

The battle is still going on, and both sides are keeping things stirred up, the committee said in its report, which will be formally presented to the convention tonight.

Besides asking for another year to complete its work, the committee called for a one-year moratorium on "theological-political position meetings and a deceleration, if not a dismantling, of the political power structures" of the factions.

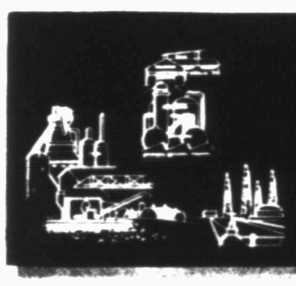

"A major effort is necessary if Southern Baptists are to honor legitimate diversities without compromising established convictions," the report said.

"There is no question that a certain amount of legitimate diversity is good, healthy and wholesome," said the group's chairman, the Rev. Charles Fuller of Roanoke, Va. "But it is also obvious there is a limit to how far our diversity can stretch without deteriorating our fellowship.

"During the coming year we will work on what constitutes legitimate diversity.

"There is no way in which we can finally come to peace without having some casualties."

Shelburne & Son projects dot the area

THIS COMPLETELY remodeled kitchen is only an example of the fine workmanship that goes into any remodeling that is done by T.E. Shelburne & Son. (SDN Staff Photo)

T.E. Shelburne & Son has made quite an impact on Snyder over the past 31 years. A trip through residential areas will pass numerous homes that are either built or remodeled by T.E. Shelburne & Son. Throughout the business district, T.E. Shelburne & Son has built or remodeled commercial buildings for virtually every conceivable use. Shelburne's skilled and qualified employees are capable of and willing to accept and accomplish any remodeling job.

Every additional space when remodeling does not have to include added on space. Let T.E. Shelburne & Son put some of its talent to work to show how rearranging available space can give added usable space at a substantial savings over major add-on. However, if add-on is the only way to accomplish the desired effect, allow T.E. Shelburne & Son to show you how to get the most for your money.

Remember, along with quality and reliability, T.E. Shelburne & Son includes a one year guarantee on all workmanship and materials in most cases. This removes the added burden of "will it work?" from most remodelings. With T.E. Shelburne & Son, it will work.

So drive around Snyder and see the handiwork of T.E. Shelburne & Son. The visual impact is great, but greater still is customer satisfaction of a job well done, be it large or small.

Every prospect is treated with equal importance.

Ban on tobacco ads are opposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The tobacco, advertising, magazine and newspaper industries have closed ranks under the banner of the First Amendment in denouncing a congressional overture to ban all promotion and advertising of tobacco products.

Spokesmen for all four industries said the bill introduced Monday was unconstitutional. The chief sponsor of the measure said he disagreed, but conceded that the stiff opposition and the short time remaining in this year's congressional session likely will kill any chance of passing the bill in 1986.

"We don't look at this as an easy battle," Rep. Mike Synar, D-Okla., conceded at a news conference unveiling the legislation.

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My husband drinks eight to 10 beers every day. With all those calories, he's still skinny as a rail (6 feet, 128 pounds). He says the beer's good for him; I think that, after 20 years, he's become an alcoholic. What do you think?

DEAR READER — I can't say. Only your husband can decide for himself. Having made that statement, let me point out the obvious: Beer is not good for him — or anybody. He clearly is drinking excessively. His drinking is alarming the family and I'll wager that it's affecting his work and other interpersonal relations as well.

Alcoholism is a disease of denial; patients deny they have it. I'm not labeling your husband an alcoholic, but I think you could learn a great deal about the disease by joining an Al-Anon chapter. Al-Anon can help families of alcoholics to cope more effectively. Alcoholism is a family disease, and you need to learn more about your role in your husband's drinking pattern. You might not be able to alter your husband's alcohol intake, but you can certainly learn to alter your reaction to it.

For more information, check your local white pages for Alcoholics Anonymous or Al-Anon.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Three months ago I developed allergy-like symptoms in my right eye (watering, burning, itching). Then I took a plane trip and my ears plugged up. My right ear has never cleared up. Now the whole right side of my head aches, beginning at the back of my neck and going up through my jaw, teeth, ear and eye. My doctor prescribed antihistamines, which didn't help. What can I do to treat this problem?

DEAR READER — See an ear, nose and throat specialist. You may have developed a chronic ear congestion from the allergy and the plane flight. The doctor may have to use mechanical methods to equalize the pressure. Sometimes the ear can be "blown out" by gentle air pressure; at other times, the specialist may have to perform a myringtomy — lancing the eardrum to clean out the middle-ear chamber.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am 56 and had a hysterectomy in 1962. Now I have terrible hot flashes, but am unable to take Premarin because of a blood clot and high blood pressure. What other drugs can I take?

DEAR READER — Female hormones are probably the only satisfactory way to treat your symptoms of menopause. Hypertension and a tendency to develop blood clots do not prohibit hormone replacement, provided you take the medication under medical supervision. For example, your blood pressure can be controlled with anti-hypertensive medication and your clotting tendency can be reduced by other medicines while you are taking hormones. Check with your gynecologist.

DEAR DR. GOTT — About four months ago I was in a car accident and suffered a "blowout fracture" under one eye, which was repaired. I still have occasional vague headaches and bouts of slight nausea or imbalance. Sometimes, when I go outside, things don't look quite right. A brain scan and eye exam showed that everything was normal. Our family doctor moved elsewhere and I don't know whom to consult for this problem.

DEAR READER — The type of injury you describe is serious, and it can have long-lasting consequences if the fracture involved the skull bones around the ear, as well as the cheek. You may need to be examined by both an otolaryngologist (ear doctor) and a specialist in maxillofacial injuries. At this point, I think your best option is to find a qualified family doctor who, if necessary, can refer you to the appropriate specialist.

White dedicates prison site

TENNESSEE COLONY, Texas (AP) — Gov. Mark White is promising a quick resolution to the dilemma facing state officials who are preparing to build a new maximum security state prison but legally don't have the money to pay for it.

"We are exploring other ways to finance the construction of this prison," White said Monday at ceremonies dedicating the site of the new Mark Michael Unit about 15 miles west of Palestine.

Asked when a satisfactory financial proposal would be reached, he replied: "Hopefully, in a matter of days."

Attorney General Jim Mattox threw the finances into turmoil last week when he ruled a proposed bond issue to raise money for construction was illegal.

That sent prison officials scrambling because the Monday event at the Michael Unit site originally was planned as a groundbreaking. Instead, several hundred people gathered in a cleared field near the existing Coffield Unit for what was billed as a "site dedication."

The proposal Mattox ruled invalid would have allowed the Texas Board of Corrections to use $78 million in private money to build the prison, which would then be leased to the state. The bonds would have been issued under the state Health Facilities Development Act.

Mattox said the bonds could not be used because although the prison would have some medical capabilities, "using that method of financing would violate the intent of the Legislature," which passed the act.

"We are exploring other ways to finance the construction of this prison — and I am hopeful that a breakthrough will be forthcoming in the very near future," White said. "We will not have early release of inmates. That is not an acceptable means of relieving the pressures on our prisons."

Prison Board Chairman Al Hughes said Mattox's ruling last week meant the state would miss a federal court deadline to reduce prison crowding by Sept. 1, 1987. He also warned that unless construction began within 60 days, state officials would have to begin preparations to release 2,941 convicted felons from their sentences early because of prison crowding.

"These few days here shouldn't make a great deal of difference," White insisted.

"I assure you we can build prisons fast enough to avoid early release."

Reagan called more of a first friend

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ronald Reagan Jr. says his dad isn't naturally equipped to be a perfect father, but makes up for it by being kind, understanding and a good friend.

President Reagan's father suffered from alcoholism and was often absent, providing no role model for fathering, the younger Reagan writes in "Fathers," a new Washington-based magazine beginning publication this month.

"So he's (President Reagan) not the most naturally equipped to be everybody's idea of a perfect father.

"He makes up for it by being a genuinely kind and nice person. He's almost more of a good friend than a father, in a lot of ways," Reagan Jr. says in an interview in the magazine.

But in addition to being warm and kind, the senior Reagan is difficult to get to know well, Reagan Jr. says.

"I know him as well as anybody, outside my mother. But still, you know, there is something that he holds back. You get just so far, and then the curtain drops, and you don't go any farther."

Reagan Jr., youngest of the president's four children, reports that his father can be a "soft touch" at times and rarely loses his temper.

"He's got a real long, long fuse. I've rarely seen him very mad," young Reagan says.

Nonetheless, the younger Reagan, an actor and dancer who writes for Playboy magazine, says he left home following one of those family discussions that conclude with a phrase like "while you're in our house, you'll live by our rules."

"And I said, you're right. It is your house and you have every right to lay down these rules, and I think it's fairer for both of us if I bug out and get an apartment," says Reagan Jr.

That seemed to surprise his parents, he recalls, but once they got used to it "they got supportive rather quickly."

Reagan Jr. characterizes his adolescence as much like others of his generation, including an occasional marijuana cigarette.

"I never had a drug problem," he says, adding that he and the president never had big discussions of issues such as drugs, sex or alcohol.

"He just used to stress to me the importance of being kind to people," says the younger Reagan.

Being the son of a famous politician can be frustrating, Reagan Jr. adds, sometimes even hazardous to one's health.

For example, he recalls grammar school football when his father was governor of California.

"I remember on several occasions I'd go out on the field and become aware that there were members of the other team that wanted to take me out of the game. 'Which one is Reagan? We're going to get him.'"

Reagan Jr. also says he sometimes is frustrated by the extra attention directed at him because of his relationship, such as the snickers about homosexuality that were heard when he became a ballet dancer.

"I sort of knew when I started dancing that there was this sort of feeling that ballet dancers are gay. But I thought that was restricted to people in Podunk or the Deep South or something," the younger Reagan says.

Asked if this had affected his father's relationship with conservative groups who support him, the younger Reagan says his dad is not anti-homosexual.

"He and mom have friends who are gay. I mean, they're show people. They were in show business, they've always liked dance," Reagan Jr. says.

He adds that his father's political alliances, such as support from fundamentalist religious groups who strongly oppose homosexuality, make the younger Reagan "uncomfortable."

"It's a political alliance, clearly, and it's pandering to an extent to the far right. It won't do me much good to tell him I don't want him to do it. He fortunately doesn't seem to spend a lot of energy, political or otherwise, on actually campaigning for their platform once he's in office."

BUSINESS AND INDUSTRIAL NEWS

Bennett's stocks presents for dad

It's that time again - graduation and Father's Day - and at Bennett Office Supply, located on the north side of the square, you will find just the gift you need.

You will find a large selection of Hazel leather goods which includes note pads, address books, business card holders, legal pad holders, notebooks, photo albums and scrapbooks. These make excellent gifts for the graduate or father and they can be personalized at Bennett's.

Bennett's carries a variety of Pentel, Parker and Cross pen sets and you will find a large selection of desk sets and accessories that would delight anyone on your list.

The Road Atlas, an unusual yet useful gift that will last for years, is available at Bennett's and any graduate or special father would welcome a gift that they always wanted, but never bought for themselves.

A new and very popular item this year is the Harper House organizer for personal planning. They come in two sizes and a variety of colors.

Bennett's carries the electric and the electronic Smith-Corona typewriters. The amazing, but affordable Smith-Corona Spell-Right I and II typewriters would be a gift that would last your special graduate or father a lifetime.

Parking is never a problem at Bennett Office Supply. Castillo invites you to park behind the store and use the handy back door.

Whatever your gift needs are, Fred and Mary Castillo and the friendly staff at Bennett's will be glad to help you. Go by 1819-25th Street or give them a call at 573-7202.

Cathy E. Smith to plead guilty in Belushi death

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The singer who shared comedian John Belushi's last hours likely will spend about 1½ years in jail under a plea agreeemnt reached this week in Belushi's drug overdose death, a prosecutor said.

Cathy Evelyn Smith will plead guilty Wednesday to involuntary manslaughter and three drug charges, attorneys said.

She had been charged with one count of second-degree murder and 13 of furnishing and injecting Belushi with drugs including the cocaine-heroin "speedball" which killed him four years ago.

LARRY WAYNE ALFRED

Fugitive sought for questioning

CORPUS CHRISTI--Larry Wayne Alfred, 25, is wanted for the unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. However, law enforcement officials also want to talk to him about the Dec. 8, 1985 murder of Leo Cantu during an armed robbery. He is also wanted for questioning about the March 30 armed robbery at a local convenience store where the clerk was shot in the leg.

This week Alfred has been added to the Texas Most Wanted List. A reward of up to $1,000 is being offered by the governor's office for information leading to Alfred's arrest.

He is described as a black male, 5-8, 160 pounds, with black hair and brown eyes.

Call 1-800-252-8477 if you have any information. In all cases callers do not have to reveal their identities.

GSU faces serious financial woes

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — Two recent rulings by regulatory agencies have not helped the economic woes of the Gulf States Utilities Co., a company spokeswoman said.

In fact, the utility has hired an attorney specializing in bankruptcy matters because of serious cash flow problems, company spokeswoman Sharon Englade said Monday.

"We're not saying we're going to file bankruptcy," she said. "This is a contingency plan."

The Louisiana Public Service Commission threw out on May 27 the bulk of a $360 million two-year rate increase Gulf States had proposed, she said.

The Louisiana commission ruled that most of the proposed rate increase was premature as its River Bend nuclear plant was not officially on line.

Rains leave behind benefits

DALLAS (AP) — Heavy rainfalls that have flooded wide sections of Texas over the past few weeks have replenished some drought-stricken reservoirs and left behind a mixed blessing for farmers who feared another dry summer.

During the weekend, most of the state took a breather from severe weather that has steadily soaked the state since May 25, claiming at least 11 lives.

Ironically, the same storms are giving life to Texas crops that appeared headed into a dry summer, said Bill Braden, a spokesman for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at Texas A&M University.

The National Weather Service recorded 6.52 inches of rainfall at the Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport during May and 2.41 so far in June. The May total was 2.25 inches above normal, said Fort Worth meterologist Tommy Trimble, but far from the 1982 record of 13.66.

The total is not unusual, he said.

"What is unusual is we have not had a clear break in the pattern. What we've had is continuous high humidity, rain and a lot of clouds," Trimble said.

The National Weather Service in San Antonio also recorded an above-normal rainfall of 12.34 inches at San Antonio International Airport since May 25, said meterologist Bill Crouch.

"We had a fairly serious deficit prior to then," Crouch said.

But in Lubbock, the May rainfall total of 1.82 inches was slightly below average, said meterologist Ken Winger.

With the drought of 1984 still fresh in the minds of many Texans, the rains are considered a precious commodity.

"As far as the month of May is concerned, by and large (rains) have been beneficial (for crops) except in a few areas, particularly in the winter garden area west of San Antonio," said Braden. "I wouldn't go so far as to say the moisture is enough to get us through the summer, but it's enough to get us into the summer."

The rains also have increased the Edwards and Ogallala aquifer levels and filled numerous reservoirs, lakes, basins, creeks and rivers, officials said.

Last week, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers announced it would be releasing water from 18 of 23 operating lakes, which cover about two-thirds of the state.

The lakes have reached flood pool stage and waters must be released downstream to prevent them from spilling over, said Sally Werst, a corps spokeswoman.

On the border with Mexico in far South Texas, Falcon Lake rose about four or five feet, said Max Woodfin, a Texas Water Commission spokesman.

But officials are wondering if the rains may be a factor in a major fish kill that started at Falcon Dam and continued about three miles downstream, Woodfin said.

For the first time in four years, the Lower Colorado River Authority opened the flood gates at Lake Buchanan, which has reached its maximum elevation level, said John Williams, an agency spokesman.

Williams said the rains have given the authority and its customers the benefit of additional capacity from hydroelectric power plants.

Braden said West Texas benefitted most from the rain. Farmers waiting for a little more moisture before planting can now go ahead, he said. The rain also has helped Texas grasses and pastures for cattle grazing.

SBC factions are urged to cease firing

ATLANTA (AP) — Two warring Southern Baptist Convention factions are being told to cease firing as they gather to decide which camp's favorite will become president of the nation's largest Protestant denomination.

Whoever wins the election, there must be a prompt end to destructive name-calling, politicking and other fighting between the groups, a special Baptist peace committee said Monday.

Amid the talk of peace, though, the chairman of the committee said there probably will be "casualties" and people "dealt with" before the dust settles on a feud over how much theological diversity the traditionally conservative denomination can stand.

The committee's report and recommendations came a day before more than 40,000 church members were to elect a new president of the 14.5-million-member denomination.

The rivals in that election were:

—The Rev. Adrian Rogers, 54-year-old pastor of Bellevue Baptist Church in Memphis, Tenn., the candidate of the strict fundamentalist wing that says every word of the Bible is true and that doubters are hurting the denomination. He's a former president who started the faction's string of victories in 1979.

—The Rev. W. Winfred Moore, 66-year-old pastor of First Baptist Church of Amarillo, Texas, a conservative but embraced by moderates for his willingness to let individual Baptists and churches interpret the Bible.

The peace committee, which includes Moore and Rogers, was formed after disputes at last year's convention in Dallas got so heated that some feared a schism.

The battle is still going on, and both sides are keeping things stirred up, the committee said in its report, which will be formally presented to the convention tonight.

Besides asking for another year to complete its work, the committee called for a one-year moratorium on "theological-political position meetings and a deceleration, if not a dismantling, of the political power structures" of the factions.

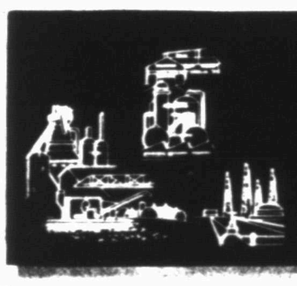

"A major effort is necessary if Southern Baptists are to honor legitimate diversities without compromising established convictions," the report said.

"There is no question that a certain amount of legitimate diversity is good, healthy and wholesome," said the group's chairman, the Rev. Charles Fuller of Roanoke, Va. "But it is also obvious there is a limit to how far our diversity can stretch without deteriorating our fellowship.

"During the coming year we will work on what constitutes legitimate diversity."

"There is no way in which we can finally come to peace without having some casualties."

Shelburne & Son projects dot the area

THIS COMPLETELY remodeled kitchen is only an example of the fine workmanship that goes into any remodeling that is done by T.E. Shelburne & Son. (SDN Staff Photo)

T.E. Shelburne & Son has made quite an impact on Snyder over the past 31 years. A trip through residential areas will pass numerous homes that are either built or remodeled by T.E. Shelburne & Son. Throughout the business district, T.E. Shelburne & Son has built or remodeled commercial buildings for virtually every conceivable use. Shelburne's skilled and qualified employees are capable of and willing to accept and accomplish any remodeling job.

Every additional space when remodeling does not have to include added on space. Let T.E. Shelburne & Son put some of its talent to work to show how rearranging available space can give added usable space at a substantial savings over major add-on. However, if add-on is the only way to accomplish the desired effect, allow T.E. Shelburne & Son to show you how to get the most for your money.

Remember, along with quality and reliability, T.E. Shelburne & Son includes a one year guarantee on all workmanship and materials in most cases. This removes the added burden of "will it work?" from most remodelings. With T.E. Shelburne & Son, it will work.

So drive around Snyder and see the handiwork of T.E. Shelburne & Son. The visual impact is great, but greater still is customer satisfaction of a job well done, be it large or small.

Every prospect is treated with equal importance.

Ban on tobacco ads are opposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The tobacco, advertising, magazine and newspaper industries have closed ranks under the banner of the First Amendment in denouncing a congressional overture to ban all promotion and advertising of tobacco products.

Spokesmen for all four industries said the bill introduced Monday was unconstitutional. The chief sponsor of the measure said he disagreed, but conceded that the stiff opposition and the short time remaining in this year's congressional session likely will kill any chance of passing the bill in 1986.

"We don't look at this as an easy battle," Rep. Mike Synar, D-Okla., conceded at a news conference unveiling the legislation.

JUNIOR TEENAGE LEAGUE

Braves 23, Bullets 12

Ralph Torres slapped a double and Tracy Odom, Charles Guynes and Jimmy Taylor added one single each as the Braves defeated the Bullets in Junior Teenage League play Monday evening.

Chris Welsh was the winning pitcher.

Tracy Braziel got the only Bullets' hits, a double and a single. Bert Merritt took the loss.

Rebels 6, Bullets 1

The Rebels got only two hits, a single each from Bill Freeman and Israel Hinojos, but managed this win over the Bullets Saturday. Lee Fletcher picked up the win.

The Bullets got a double from losing pitcher Tracy Braziel and a single each from Jayson Presley and David Stewart.

Oilers 10, Bullets 2

John Wright slugged two singles as the Oilers clipped the Bullets in this game, played Friday. Also hitting a single each for the Oilers were Kevin Dollins, Bart Morton, Dwayne Cato and winning pitcher Bert Otto.

The Bullets got one hit, a single from Chris Casias. Shelby Bufkin took the loss.

Braves 8, Dodgers 7

Short stop Lewis Wesley launched a triple and his teammates added eight singles as the Braves edged the Dodgers in Friday night Junior Teenage League action.

Charles Martin and Coy Berryman cracked two singles each for the Dodgers while Ron Pruitt, Shane McCarter, Daniel Espinosa and Simon Gutierrez popped one apiece.

Tommy Lane was the winning pitcher.

The Braves were led by Ralph Torres' double and single. Darin Sparlin also added a single. Shane McCarter was the LP.

GIRL'S SOFTBALL

Mercenaries 15, Outfield 4

Trina Brown and Ginger Smith slammed a triple apiece to help the Mercenaries defeat the Outfield Monday night.

Also hitting for the Mercenaries were Monica Rios, three singles; Connie Velasquez, a double and two singles; winning pitcher Sandra Morin, a double; and Annette Ramos, Toni Evans and Smith, a single apiece.

The Outfield got four hits, including two singles each from Angie Burleson and Kellye Myers. Jerra Jackson added one single.

Blue Bombers 15, Shamrocks 13

The Blue Bombers blasted the Shamrocks for four bottom of the fifth runs to walk away with this victory Monday.

Haley Ingram and Shawndalyn Calloway led the 12-hit attack with three singles each. Janice Guynes and Mendy Winter added two apiece while winning pitcher Paula Laster punched a double and Meagan Mena clipped one single.

Holli Burns smashed four singles for the Shamrocks while Shayna Crow slapped a double and two singles and Ammie Harrison added three singles. Also hitting were Amanda Davis, two singles; and Jana Smith, one single.

Snyder 31, Colorado City 24

Katina Brandon cranked out an over-the-fence home run, a double and three singles to lead Snyder's Rebels to a high-scoring victory over Colorado City.

There were only 12 hits in the game, but Snyder pitchers walked 17 batters and Colorado City pitchers handed out 19.

Also slugging for Snyder were Melissa Elam, a home run; Jennifer Spence, two singles; and Sylvia Alaniz and Theresa Martin, one single apiece. Kim White was the winning pitcher.

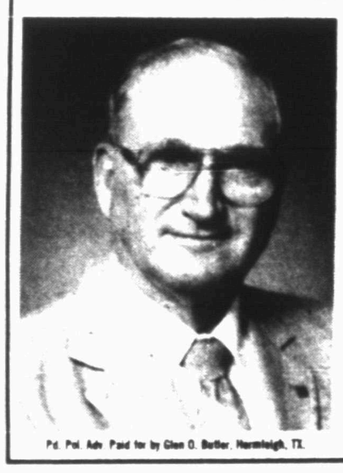

Warriors 10, Lasers 8

The Lasers scored three runs in the sixth and one in the seventh but couldn't overcome a slow start and fell to the Warriors in Division II play Monday.

Tiffany Bly belted a home run and two singles for the Warriors while winning pitcher Angela Good cracked a home run and one

AL roundup...

Seattle sinks Kansas City

by The Associated Press

The Kansas City Royals aren't the only team that enjoys playing in Royals Stadium. For the Seattle Mariners, it's been as good as home, too.

"I don't know what it is," Kansas City Manager Dick Howser said after the Mariners defeated the defending American League champions 5-3 Monday night for their seventh straight victory at Royals Stadium. "We sure don't ever seem to score many runs against them here."

For the record, the Royals have not beaten the Mariners in Kansas City since Sept. 9, 1984.

"I guess you could say they're professionals, too," Howser said. "Maybe it has something to do with this being such a different park than the small indoor arena they play in (the Kingdome). I guess people are going to surmise whatever they want."

In other AL action, it was New York 9, Detroit 7 in 11 innings; Cleveland 6, Oakland 5; Toronto 5, Boston 1; California 3, Chicago 0; Minnesota 3, Texas 2 in 10 innings and Milwaukee 3, Baltimore 2.

Bob Kearney drove in two runs with his first homer of the year to help the Mariners snap a five-game losing streak. Kearney, hitting .195, homored off starter Dennis Leonard, 6-5, to put Seattle ahead 5-1 in the sixth.

Winner Mark Langston, 5-5, gave up only three hits before leaving in the ninth with tightness in his left elbow.

Twins 3, Rangers 2

Tigers face tough opponent

So what else is new?

Charlie Hartenstein pitched a no-hitter against Snyder in 1960 state baseball tournament. In the 1965, the Tigers came up against Nolan Ryan. In 1980, Kevin Schiraldi got the call.

To make a long story short, life at Austin has been something of a stacked deck against the Gold and Black-clad Tiger squad.

Well, 1986 won't be any different.

The Tigers are scheduled to play highly-touted Brenham, 28-3, in their semifinal game at 3 p.m. Thursday in Austin's Disch-Falk Field. Brenham, which has won 18 straight games, features three players who were drafted by the pros - pitcher David Crowson and outfielders Carl Sullivan and Chris Graves.

In contrast, Snyder is 24-9.

"They've just won four more games than we did. That's the way we look at it," said Snyder Coach Albert Lewis. "But when you don't have the real good record you expect to play people like that. In 1983 (when Snyder won state) we had a good record but other times when we've gone down there we haven't and they pair you with the team with the best record. It's just something you have to live with."

Crowson, 12-0 with 81 strikeouts in 78 and one-third innings, was a 12th-round pick by the New York Mets. He has given up only 14 earned runs all season, and just 46 hits. He also bats .454 and has five home runs.

Sullivan, a second-round pick by the White Sox, is hitting .345 with 41 runs batted in. Graves, picked in the third round by the Angels, is hitting .352. Both Sullivan and Graves have slugged seven home runs.

In addition to being drafted, all three players have signed college scholarships; Sullivan with Texas A&M and Crowson with the University of New Orleans. Graves has inked a football scholarship with the University of Texas.

However, the Cubs' best player may be freshman pitcher Joh Peters, who also has a 12-0 record with 84 strikeouts in 78 and one-third innings. Peters has walked only 20 batters all season.

"It sounds like we're going to get the same quality pitchers we've always had to face. But hey, you remember all the publicity (Crowley pitcher) Johnny Duncan got and on that day we wasn't so sharp," said Lewis, speaking of Snyder's 5-2 win over the highly-regarded pitcher. "Anything can happen."

Brenham has hit a school record 42 home runs in 1986, and, not so amazingly, has scored a record 309 runs - averaging almost 10 runs a ballgame.

Ironically, two of Brenham's losses came in a doubleheader against Austin Westlake, another semifinalist here, which plays Mercedes at 1 p.m. Thursday. Brenham did not use Crowson or Peters in the twinbill, however.

"I look for it to be a real good game. I don't look for us to fold, and I don't look for them to either," said Lewis.

JUST A LITTLE DISCUSSION – Snyder Coach Albert Lewis voices his disapproval of a third base umpire's call during the playoffs. The Tigers overcame the call, good or not, and will be playing Brenham at 3 p.m. Thursday in the Class 4A State Tournament at Austin. (SDN Staff Photo)

THIMET®...Crop Safety

UNIVERSITY AND PRIVATE TESTS have proven Thimet 20G applied at 2.5 LBS/A to produce stand counts equal or superior to all other systemic insecticide treatments. Texas A&M extension service and private tests in Texas cotton producing areas have shown Thimet 20G to be as safe to young seedlings as any other systemic insecticide treatments. Thrips control has been consistently acceptable in all cotton producing areas since the 1960's. You can't buy a more economical 4 to 6 week thrips control insecticide than Thimet 20G.

EARLY SEASON CONTROL OF THRIPS & APHIDS!

Why pay more than you need to for insect control? THIMET® 20-G Soil and systemic insecticide protects your cotton and saves you about $3 per acre over the cost of Temik.®

If you're one of the many growers that used THIMET last year, you know it does the job for thrips and aphids when applied at planting. So stick with THIMET for proven protection.

So for the best combination of performance and price, THIMET can't be beat. Ask your farm chemical dealer for THIMET today.

Arizona wins college title

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) - Arizona's Gary Alexander didn't achieve his goal in the championship game of the College World Series, but he wasn't disappointed.

Alexander pitched a three-hit shutout for eight innings and finished with a seven-hitter as the Wildcats thumped top-ranked Florida State 10-2 on Monday to win their third NCAA baseball championship.

"I don't even consider myself a pitcher," Alexander said. "I like to hit. It was the other way around today - I couldn't hit."

Alexander was named to the all-tournament team as both a pitcher and designated hitter. He hit .263 in the Series but was 0 for 4 Monday.

"My goal was I wanted to get as many hits as they did," the junior right-hander said with a smile. "It didn't work out. I can't be disappointed - we won the national championship."

Sixteen NBA titles...

Celtics keep tradition alive

BOSTON (AP) - The Boston Celtics had a lot to be proud about - 15 NBA titles and a tradition of excellence even before the season started. Now they have a 16th title which they were celebrating today on "Celtics Pride Day."

"Pride Day" featured a downtown parade ending at an outdoor rally at City Hall Plaza to honor the team for its 114-97 victory in Game 6 Sunday over the Houston Rockets. The Celtics captured their second championship in three years.

"We cherish our traditions," said Boston Mayor Ray Flynn. "Athletic excellence is but one of them."

That excellence was on display Sunday when the Celtics dominated Houston from the opening tap to the final buzzer. Even before the game, the Rockets got an eerie glimpse of what they were up against.

Three fans cloaked in white bedsheets, symbolizing the ghosts of the Celtics' rich tradition, drifted ominously behind their bench.

"It's a case of the standards being set high here for so long," Boston guard Jerry Sichting said. "Everyone who wears the uniform wants to play his best to live up to these standards."

They were set by three NBA greats - Bob Cousy, Bill Russell and John Havlicek - and the teams they played on. Those same standards are being met and enhanced by Larry Bird and his teammates.

From Cousy, who was on the first Celtic championship club in 1957, through Bird, the leader of the team that won Boston's 16t title Sunday, the standards of excellence rarely wavered.

Sichting, who was obtained before the season from Indiana, found out that "the Celtics have such a winning history that if you finish as runner-up, you've had a lousy year.

"The Celtics measure their success by winning the championship," Sichting said. "Other teams measure their success by getting into the playoffs."

The club's tradition has been marked by a sense of purpose and determination. Both assets helped the Celtics respond to an embarrassing 111-96 loss in Thursday night's fifth game at Houston that made them angry at themselves.

"Everyone knows what we had to do," Bird said after Boston won the series, four games to two. "We knew the fans would carry us through. They did. The players deserve a lot of credit too."

His teammates gave most of the credit to Bird, who won his second playoff most valuable player award in three years just 11 days after winning his third consecutive regular-season MVP award.

Center Bill Walton, who won a championship with Portland in 1977, said the effect the Celtics' successful tradition would have on his family was one of the reasons he pushed for the trade that brought him to Boston last September after years of frustration with the Clippers in San Diego and Los Angeles.

"I wanted my kids to see the positive side of sports," he said. "The last five or six years all they've seen is the negative side and I didn't want them growing up thinking that's what sports are like."

Rockets promise to return in '87 with 'with fire in our eyes'

HOUSTON (AP) - The Houston Rockets didn't come home with the NBA championship, but returned a team with a bright future that was accorded a hero's welcome.

A small boy clutched a well-worn basketball tightly under his arm as he walked swiftly through the airport terminal on a mission of great importance.

"I'm going to get Akeem Olajuwon's autograph on it," the child said with determination in his voice.

Bo Farrill, 22, had waited four hours for the Rockets to arrive. "Boston's getting old and we're getting better," he said. "We've been here since 10:30 this morning and it was well worth the wait."

They were among a crowd of more than 500 fans who jammed Intercontinental Airport Monday when the Rockets deplaned after losing to Boston 114-97 in Game 6 of the best-of-seven series on Sunday. The victory gave the Celtics their 16th NBA championship.

Young Rocket fans, smitten with Rocket Fever, sent the sound of bouncing basketballs rippling through the terminal, hoping for an autograph or just a glance at the players.

The players, despite the humbling defeat, responded warmly to the adulation.

"You've been the best fans in the NBA, and next year, we will come back with fire in our eyes and the NBA championship on our minds," reserve center Jim Petersen told the crowd.

Olajuwon, who had predicted victory in Houston, left the fans with one more forecast.

"We proved this year that we belong, and next year we're going to do it," Olajuwon said. "And we are still unbeatable."

Mayor Kathy Whitmire and some city council members also were on hand to welcome the team home.

"Here are some people who have made Houston proud," Whitmire said.

Sunday's rout followed an emotional Houston victory in the fifth game when the Rockets erupted following a fight between Ralph Sampson and Boston's Jerry Sichting.

But the Rockets were punchless in the finale, with Sampson scoring only eight points.

"When you ain't got it, you ain't got it," Sampson said.

Sampson said the brawl in the fifth game at Houston had nothing to do with the Rockets' sluggish showing Sunday.

"You (media) built up the fight, we didn't," Sampson said. "It didn't have anything to do with what happened."

Sampson was the object of boos at Boston Garden virtually everytime he touched the ball.

"We just didn't play our game the way we had to," Sampson said. "I would have preferred to get into the low post early and get into the game as much as I could offensively. But that didn't happen."

Point guard Robert Reid, a part of Houston's 1981 NBA finalist team that lost to Boston, said he'll once again use the final game as his inspiration for next year. The Rockets were eliminated in the first round last year by the Utah Jazz.

"I always use our last game game as the memory to take into training camp," Reid said. "I used Utah last year and I'll use this game now, the crowd, the way they were jumping up and down and cutting down the nets. I think Houston deserves that, too."

UTmentors picked to coach olympics

AUSTIN (AP) - Two Texas Longhorn track coaches who will coach the 1988 U.S. Olympic squads had great success at the college level this season.

Coach Terry Crawford's women's team won its first NCAA outdoor track and field championship at Indianapolis, Ind., over the weekend, and Stan Huntsman's men's team finished third, their highest finish since 1948.

The only higher finish for the men was second in 1927.

"This is a great victory for me personally, as well as for the team," Crawford said. "I've walked away from this meet with second a lot of times, and I wondered if lady luck would ever be with us."

Crawford, who is in her second year at Texas after moving from Tennessee, had coached teams to second-place finishes at eight national meets before Saturday, when the Lady Longhorns beat Alabama 65-55.

Crawford, named 1986 coach of the year by her peers, and Huntsman have been named head coaches of the U.S. women's and men's track teams for the 1988 Olympics.

Huntsman, another former Tennessee coach in his first year at Texas, broke Arkansas' four-year hold on the Southwest Conference by upsetting the defending national champions 115-110, and Texas was third at nationals with 47 points.

Southern Methodist won the NCAA 53-52 over Washington State.

"Stan had a great first year," said UT Athletic Director DeLoss Dodds. "I expected him to close the gap some on Arkansas this year, but I honestly didn't expect him to win. And they made a real run at the NCAAs."

"Crawford's the best track coach in the country. I don't see how anyone can doubt it," said Crawford's boss, women's athletic director Donna Lopiano. "Just look at what she's done here."

Juliet Cuthbert won the 200- and 100-meter dashes and teammate Terri Turner won the triple jump for the UT women at nationals.

For the UT men, freshman Eric Metcalf won the long jump at 27 feet ½ inch; sophomore Dag Wennlund captured the javelin with a throw of 258-9; and junior James Lott won the high jump in 7-3.

Next season, the UT men return athletes who accounted for 41 of the 47 points the Longhorns scored at the meet.

Softball tourney slated June 13-15

A men's Summer Classic Softball Tournament will be held June 13-15 at Winston Park, it has been announced.

Entry fee is $90 per team with an 8 p.m., June 12 deadline.

Trophies will be presented to first, second and third place teams. Individual trophies will go to first and second place teams and the tournament MVP.

Sources say NFL may try to settle case out of court

NEW YORK (AP) - The presiding judge told National Football League lawyers they are losing the $1.5 billion antitrust suit brought by the United States Football League, according to a published report out of Florida.

The Orlando Sentinel, citing two unidentified USFL sources, reported today that Judge Peter Leisure, presiding over the case in U.S. District Court, urged the NFL last week to seek an out-of-court settlement.

One source told the newspaper that the NFL has offered to pay each of 15 current or past USFL teams $20 million and take in six of the league's current franchises in the next few years for an entry fee of $50 million each.

The trial had been postponed Monday, allegedly because USFL lawyer Harvey Myerson suffered from a virus.

streak.

Yankees 9, Tigers 7

Butch Wynegar's two-out, bases-loaded pinch single in the 11th inning drove in two runs and lifted the Yankees over the Tigers.

The Yankees had the help of two home runs and four RBI by Don Mattingly.

Ed Whitson, 5-2, pitched one inning in relief for the victory.

Indians 6, A's 5

Brett Butler singled home Andy Allanson from second base with two out in the bottom of the ninth inning to lift the Indians over Oakland and extend the A's losing streak to six games.

Jose Rijo, 2-3, yielded a one-out single to Allanson and the Indians' rookie catcher stole second as Fran Mullins struck out. Butler then grounded his game-winning hit into center field.

Blue Jays 5, Red Sox 1

Dave Stieb and Tom Henke combined on a six-hitter and the Blue Jays got solo home runs from Lloyd Moseby and Jesse Barfield to beat the Red Sox.

Stieb, 2-7, gave up six hits before needing relief help in the ninth from Henke, who gave up Boston's only run on a sacrifice fly by Dwight Evans.

Moseby's homer opened the scoring in Toronto's two-run fourth, while Barfield made it 5-0 with a solo shot in the sixth.

The loss was the third straight and fourth in five games for the slumping Red Sox.

Angels 3, White Sox 0

California's Don Sutton, backed by Doug DeCinces' three-run homer, pitched a two-hitter for his 299th career victory.

Sutton, 4-5, turned in his first shutout and first complete game since last June 26 when he blanked the White Sox 10-0 while pitching for Oakland. Sutton walked two and struck out eight as he snapped Chicago's four-game winning streak.

Tom Seaver, 2-4, was the loser although he allowed only three hits in the seven innings he worked. Seaver, with 306 career victories, and Sutton went into the game with a combined total of 604 triumphs, one less than the record of 605.

That was on August 26, 1926 when Washington's Walter Johnson, with 408 victories, and Chicago's Red Faber, with 197, faced each other. Johnson defeated Faber 9-8.

Fanny Blankers-Koen of the Netherlands won four gold medals in women's track at the 1948 Olympics and then was quoted as saying: "I don't understand why people are making such a fuss about it."

Statlers win numerous awards

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The Statlers hit it big with five fan-voted honors and "coal miner's daughter" Loretta Lynn was honored as a Living Legend at the 20th annual Music City News Country Awards.

The Statlers, a quartet known for their tight harmony, won entertainer of the year, top vocal group, country music video of the year for "My Only Love," single record of the year for "My Only Love" and album of the year for "Pardners in Rhyme."

College budget approved Tuesday

ministrative "maintenance" items.

The approximate 13 percent reduction in the budget follows anticipated losses in state revenue when two-year funding for institutions like WTC is decided during the coming spring session of the state legislature.

The budget overall is now estimated at some $4.7 million, down from the current budget of some $5.4 million.

By holding the line on current salaries and by not replacing some staff positions lost through attrition, the salary portion of the budget will be some $36,000 less.

Savings were noted also by a freeze on any new building projects. The budget year now ending included a new campus building for the golf course-landscape technology program plus expenses related to implementing energy saving systems on campus.

College President Dr. Harry Krenek said the board will likely finalize the tax rate portion of the budget at its August meeting.

Figures released by the Scurry County Appraisal District recently indicated WTC has lost some 49 percent of its tax base this year due to losses in its oil and gas mineral values.

If the college's expected expenses would have stayed the same, this value loss would have generated an approximate 3 cent increase on the tax rate just to maintain the same level of local taxes needed.

Last year's college district tax rate was just more than 8½ cents per $100 valuation.

While no cutbacks are expected in current state dollars pledged to WTC, the losses in state funding are expected with the next two-year funding cycle.

Agenda noted for Snyder ISD

Bids to purchase a 1986 station wagon for the district will be considered also.

Under policy revisions, trustees are slated to adopt local policy outlining the appeals process for teachers questioning career ladder selections.

Other items listed for action Tuesday include:

—A public hearing for Chapter I and Chapter II applications.

—A proposal to change carriers for the student accident health insurance policies.

—A proposal to allow recently retired school personnel to stay with the district group health insurance plan for at least another year.

—A proposal to form a community advisory committee.

—Accepting the resignations of two school staffers and approving contract renewals for two others.

Youth to travel in exchange plan a city of 600,000 inhabitants located in the wine country. The two boys will arrive back in Texas Aug. 2.

Michelle Osborn, daughter of Don and Diane Osborn, has already been joined in Snyder by her exchange student, Paola Rocca, who arrived here May 30.

On July 14, the girls will fly to New York and then to Milan, Italy. She will stay in Malgrate located in northern Italy near the Alps.

Michelle will return home to Snyder the 28th of August to begin her senior year of high school, as will the rest of the exchange participants.

WTC board backs FM 1611 plan

If completed, FM 1611 would connect the Lubbock Highway (U.S. Hwy. 84) north of the city to the Big Spring Highway (State. Hwy. 350) at the southern end.

The connection of 1611 at the Big Spring Highway would be across from its intersection with FM 2763. This farm-to-market road links the Big Spring Highway to the Colorado City Highway (State Hwy. 208).

In this way, project planners say, the western truck route would have connections to every major highway running into Snyder.

The action came during the regular June meeting of college trustees. The board conducted an executive session at the beginning of the meeting, but took no action following approximately one hour in closed session.

Board members attending were R. C. Patton, who presided, Howard Sterling, Roy Baze, Edwin Parks, Jr., and Bill Wilson. Absent were Bob Hargroves and Bill Wilson.

In other action Monday, trustees voted to:

—Approve cost of materials for repairs to the WTC dorm.

—Approve a bid of $1,984 from McKinley Plumbing of Snyder to repair a gas line on campus. A second bid was submitted by C.A. Gray Plumbing of Midland for $1,715. The staff recommended the board go with the local bid.

—Accepted the small class report for the current session of summer school. Dean of Instruction Bettie McQueen noted enrollment for the summer was up overall compared to last year. The final count this year is 751 compared to 659 last year.

District cuts twin budgets on the city's computer. After purchasing 200,000 megabytes, the district is now only required to pay its share of the maintenance agreement with IBM. Currently the city, the county and the district use the system.

The jurisdictions served by the appraisal district fund the district's two budgets each year based on a pro-rata share determined by tax rolls.

All six taxing entities in Scurry County share in the appraisal budget. Because taxpayers for Snyder ISD make up more than 56 percent of the roll, the school district carries the largest share of this budget expense. Snyder ISD's pro-rata share for 1987 is estimated at some $202,408.

Scurry County as a taxing entity, will absorb about 21 percent or about $76,236 of the appraisal budget.

The remaining four jurisdictions and their share include: Western Texas College, almost 10.8 percent or $38,446; Ira ISD, almost 6 percent or $19,930; the City of Snyder, just under 4 percent or $13,819; and Hermleigh ISD, slightly more than 1.7 percent or $6,246.

Since district officials collect for only three entities, those jurisdictions fund the budget for the collection department.

Again Snyder ISD will bear the major portion of the budget bill — some 88.5 percent or $52,697. Ira ISD will pay approximately 8.7 percent or $5,189 with Hermleigh ISD responsible for slightly more than 2.7 percent or $1,626.

Appraisal officials note that the pro-rata figures will change slightly when the final 1986 tax roll is completed.

If district officials use less money than budgeted, as they did in 1985, the excess is refunded to the jurisdictions. The entities received about $51,780 from the appraisal department and an additional $17,051 from collections remaining in the 1985 budget.

The 1987 budget will become effective pending the approval of the taxing jurisdictions.

At the conclusion of the meeting, the directors expressed the opinion that reductions in budget operations should be followed by the county's taxing entities. "The city, school (Snyder ISD) and county ought to be able to cut back their budgets as well," it was noted.

Board members attending Monday's session included Pete Hester, Ross Blanchard, Mairl McFaul, John Reed and Duaine Williams.

TESCO pole hit to avoid crash

A Snyder woman reportedly sustained minor injuries in an automobile accident in the 2100 Block of Ave. N at 12:18 p.m. Monday.

According to reports, Betty Lou Callaway of 1408 19th St. sustained minor injuries that did not require medical treatment when her 1981 Ford struck a utility pole owned by the Texas Electric Service Co.

A 1971 Ford driven by Anna Womack English of 2104 26th St. was listed as a non-contact vehicle in the mishap.

According to the accident report, Callaway struck the pole when she swerved to avoid a collision with the English vehicle.

Four discovered in swimming pool

Four juveniles were taken into custody for swimming in the Towle Park Pool around 1:30 a.m. Tuesday.

The youth were later released to the custody of their parents.

Teachers telling panel they need much less paperwork

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — The Texas education reforms of two years ago would be improved if teachers had less paperwork and a better system for rewarding superior performance, witnesses told an education panel.

First Lady Linda Gale White is head of the four-person committee, which is to present recommendations to the governor at the end of July.

"This is the first time all aspects of House Bill 72 are in operation," said Mrs. White. "Now is the time to sit back and see what fine-tuning needs to be done."

Teachers are overwhelmed by the amount of paperwork involved in monitoring the quality of instruction, said Anne Bradshaw, principal of the junior high school in Presidio.

"Our teachers are working late at night and coming to school tired" trying to keep up with paperwork, said Ms. Bradshaw. "I don't feel the reduction of paperwork will reduce our quality."

Holly Braden, a Socorro first-grade teacher, agreed.

"I spend more time doing paperwork than preparing for my classes," she said.

The committee is scheduled to hold its second public hearing today in Fort Worth. The panel kicked off a series of 16 statewide meetings Monday in El Paso, when 16 witnesses offered suggestions on how to improve HB 72, the education reform legislation passed in June 1984.

Commissioner of Education Bill Kirby; Maria Elena Flood, a member of the state board of education, and Larry Yawn, an aide to Gov. Mark White, are committee members.

Kirby agreed with some witnesses, who criticized the way teachers are evaluated to determine whether they are eligible for money rewards from the Career Ladder program within HB72.

"The state implemented it backwards," Kirby said. "We should have had the training first, then implement it."

He said evaluation will improve after staff are trained this summer.

Other witnesses suggested permanent funding for the Career Ladder program. Yawn later said it's up to the Legislature to extend the appropriation for the reward system within the bill.

HB 72 is a three-year package that appropriated $2.8 billion for all education reforms in Texas above the $10 billion currently earmarked for education in general, said Yawn. Career Ladder funding was $60 million for the first fiscal year after the bill was passed; $90 million for the second year and is set at more than $100 million for the fiscal year that starts Sept. 1, he said.

Julia Samaniego, an elementary school teacher for 37 years, was among several witnesses who said the Career Ladder program has created animosity and suspicion among teachers.

"There is not the sharing, cooperation and team-teaching that we used to have," said Ms. Samaniego.

Instead of making teachers compete for the reward money, better salaries would be a more appropriate way to recognize superior performance, said Ms. Samaniego.

Mrs. White, a former school teacher, disagreed.

"If I were teaching today ... if I would get the token raise every year, that would not be enough for me," Mrs. White said. "I think competitiveness out there may be a plus."

Obituaries

Marcus A. Lara

Graveside services for Marcus Anthony Lara, one month old, were held at 2 p.m. Tuesday at Snyder Cemetery with Fr. Sean Sweeney, pastor of St. Elizabeth's Catholic Church, officiating. Bell-Cypert-Seale was in charge of arrangements.

He died at approximately 9:30 a.m. Sunday at Lubbock General Hospital. He was born May 8, 1986 in Lubbock. He was preceded in death by his twin brother, Michael Anthony, who died at birth.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lara, Jr.; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lupe E. Hernandez and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lara, Sr., all of Snyder; two sisters, Leticia and Cecilia and one brother, Merce.

C. W. Presswood

ABILENE–Services for C. W. Presswood, 78, who died Monday, will be at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday at North Funeral Home Chapel. Burial will be at Elmwood Memorial Gardens.

Born in Texas and reared near Elm Creek, he was retired after more than 27 years in the sheet metal business. He was a member of the University Baptist Church.

Survivors include his wife, Doris; another son, Clarence Presswood Jr. of Abilene; a daughter, Gail Killough of Abilene; five grandchildren; four great-grandchildren; and a brother, Lloyd Presswood of Abilene.

Luggage theft noted to police

Police are investigating a theft of luggage reported Monday morning.

Bill Schiebel of 3011 Ave. T reported at 9:14 a.m. four pieces of luggage had apparently been stolen from the camper of his pickup.

The theft is thought to have taken place sometime between June 2 and Monday.

The value of the missing items — including one suit bag, two shoulder bags and a suitcase — was estimated at $250.

Bicycle found

Police report clearing a recent bicycle theft incident Monday afternoon.

Andrew Garza of 905 27th St. had reported a 20-inch BMX type bike stolen on June 5. He reported finding the bike Sunday afternoon.

Investigators say they are not like TV counterparts

ODESSA, Texas (AP) — Nancy Drew never trailed unfaithful wives and snapped photographs of them in secret embraces with lovers.

Joe and Frank Hardy never wound up with knives to their backs while questioning customers in a gay bar.

Real-life Odessa sleuths say the job requires close brushes with such aspects of life's underside. More often, it involves the tedium of knocking on door after door while chasing down a lead.

"I get a call a week from some dork who wants to become a PI because he's heard it's glamorous," said 27-year-old Cathy Griffin, one of Odessa's seven or so private investigators.

"When you sit up all night in a car and freeze with your binoculars — that's not glamorous," she said. "The one high-speed chase I ever had, I got pulled over."

"A lot of it is just beating the pavement," said Ms. Griffin, who started her one-woman operation in 1983 after seven years as a TV news reporter.

She works chiefly through Odessa attorneys who want her to investigate unfaithful wives or husbands or unsavory mothers or fathers for evidence to be used in divorce proceedings or custody battles.

Other jobs call for probing murder cases, locating missing people and, sometimes, helping businesses collect overdue bills, she said.

Ms. Griffin recalled that her father warned her about her line of work. "When you go around snooping in people's business, you're liable to get killed," he told her.

"There's always that fear of getting yanked out of your car at night," she admitted.

Ms. Griffin's one close call ended safely after she talked her way free from a woman with a gun who didn't like being tailed, she said.

"When you're dealing in people's private lives, it puts you in a position for anything," she said.

Mike Perkins, chief investigator for the Odessa firm of Harper Inc., agrees that risk sometimes is present on the job, but it's usually overblown by television, magazines and movies.

"What we do is not necessarily dangerous," said Perkins, 41, who started the agency in 1982. "I don't even own a handgun."

He admits to two close calls, one in a gay bar in Albuquerque, N.M., when a man put a knife to his back as Perkins questioned the man's lover.

Perkins' partner flashed a gun, and the two detectives fled the bar unharmed, he said.

"High-speed chases — we've gotten into a few of those," he said.

In one, "we had three Hell's Angels trap us north of town," he said.

But Perkins' Corvette proved faster than motorcycles that night, he said.

Such incidents are few and far between, the detective said, and for the most part, "I pride myself on being able to talk myself out of anything."

With 60 to 70 percent of the agency's work done on criminal cases, Perkins and his five detectives work arm-in-arm with defense attorneys in preparing cases for trial.

Such investigations can involve visiting the crime scene, tracking down witnesses, evaluating autopsies in murder cases and helping select jurors and taking notes on courtroom testimony, he said.

Each staffer has an investigative specialty to offer, he said. Perkins is a self-taught expert on selecting sympathetic jurors, while other investigators know how to deal with product liability, child custody or business cases, he said.

But the key to each detective's knowledge is in locating the right people and getting them to talk about a case, he said.

Other skills include following cars, which Perkins calls "the hardest thing in the world" to do.

Watching houses and taking photographs also are part of the tasks, said Perkins. He said he has found himself climbing telephone poles and Dumpsters to get the right shot through an open window.

"We don't take dirty pictures as a normal thing," he said. These days, Perkins said, "I turn down more of that stuff than I take."

Child custody case investigations are among the trickiest, Perkins said. It's often the private detective's job to find out if a mother or father is involved in something unsavory, like prostitution or drugs, he said.

"They don't want you investigating them."

"There are times that I have thought this a scummy business," said Ms. Griffin.

But for the most part, she said, "I'm paid to do a job. I'm not personally involved in the situation.

"There have been some cases that I'm glad to be a part of," Ms. Griffin said. A recent South Texas investigation by Ms. Griffin ended with a 2-year-old being removed from a family that had a three-generation history of child molestation, she said.

"My most rewarding cases are the ones that may pay the least, but where justice has been served," she said.

Private detectives are depicted in movies and on television as free-wheeling.

But real-life private investigators are bound by legal and ethical considerations, Ms. Griffin said.

Detectives who operate agencies must be licensed with the state, cannot carry guns while working and aren't permitted to pass themselves off as lawmen or government agency representatives, said Rudy Pedregon, who investigates private investigators.

As operator of the El Paso office of the Texas Board of Private Investigators and Private Security Agencies, Pedregon monitors complaints about detectives in the Odessa-Midland area.

Private eyes must abide by the same laws governing harassment, privacy, trespassing and other infringements that are imposed on average citizens, he said.
