Congress Leaders Briefed

The SDN Column

Compliments on the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet have been coming in steadily. The banquet, held Friday night in the Scurry County Coliseum, must surely go down as one of the organization's most successful, and for the most part, homefolks and visitors alike left the building in fine spirits.

The usual number of dignitaries were introduced during the banquet proceedings, but one group which, although not overlooked by any means, probably deserves some extra plaudits because of the volunteer hours they put in and because they were involved indirectly in a major portion of the main speech of the evening.

We refer to Jo Ann Nunley, Becky Butler, Ann Gilliland, Linda McFarland and Nancy LaRoux. They did the banquet hall decorations and they are the ones who fixed up the little souvenir swatches of material from the Aileen plant, which Lt. Gov. George Nigh marveled over during his speech when he learned that persons outside the Aileen organization had done the sewing on them.

They not only put in a number of gratis hours, but they took the humorous ribbing good naturedly and the community is richer for it.

It is not any substitute for winning, but the Snyder High School Basketball team of 1972 can take pride in the fact that only four Class AAA teams in the state advanced farther up the championship ladder than they did this season.

One of the four will become champion this weekend when the state tournament is unreeled at Austin. And it very well could be, if Odessa Ector should win the state title, that SHS has the runnerup team in actual strength because they might have been able to defeat the other three regional champions.

The lowly coyote, long a symbol of the west, is moving east, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Dept.

"It's not that the coyote is changing," said Biologist Dennis N. Russell. "The movement instead appears to result from several ecological factors, including a gradual change in land use patterns in the eastern half of the state."

It was noted that as cotton and other cow crops became less profitable in East Texas in the past two decades, many farmers moved into cities or converted their land to grazing or other use. This opened the door for the spread of brushy cover utilized by rodents and other wildlife. These life-forms are ready-made chow for coyotes, which prefer natural foods over domestic livestock.

They say coyotes are now common in parts of East Texas where they were rare or non-existent 10 to 20 years ago.

Another factor in the coyote migration eastward is believed to be the extermination of the Texas red wolf over most of its East Texas range. The coyote apparently stepped with vogor into the void created by the decline of the red wolf.

Senate Downs Busing Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate reversed itself today and voted to defeat an amendment of Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., seeking to eliminate power of the federal courts to issue busing orders in school desegregation cases.

The vote was 50 to 47. Last Friday the same proposal was adopted by the Senate 43-40.

The outcome was a victory for Senate Leaders Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and Hugh Scott, R-Pa., who had worked hard to get as many senators as possible back to Washington to get the Griffin proposal rejected.

There were only three absentees on the crucial vote—Karl E. Mundt, R-S. D., who has been away more than two years because of a stroke, and two Democratic presidential contenders who declined to return, Henry M. Jackson, Wash., and Vance Hartke, Ind.

The vote to defeat the Griffin amendment did not mean that it was finally rejected as a part of the pending higher education-school desegregation bill.

Another version of it or other stringent anti-busing amendments still could be offered and voted on later today or Wednesday up to 2 p.m. The Senate has agreed to finish work on the legislation at that hour.

The Senate Monday considered other aspects of the bill authorizing $23 billion for higher education and $1.5 billion for school desegregation. Senators adopted a proposal aimed at ending discrimination against women from grade school through graduate school.

The Senate has agreed to wind up all work on the bill Wednesday.

Civil rights forces were cautiously hopeful they had the votes to reverse a 43-40 tally last Friday in favor of a far-reaching antibusing rider. They hope to knock it out of the bill. This rider sponsored by Republican Whip Robert Griffin, would strip federal courts of the power to issue busing orders in desegregation cases.

If they can't defeat it, they plan to substitute a compromise sponsored by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican Leader Hugh Scott.

The compromise would preserve the present powers of the courts to use busing as a remedy if necessary to end state-imposed school segregation.

Storms Hit South Texas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fierce thunderstorms hit parts of South Texas and the plains opposite the Lower Texas Coast today, and police reported a tornado spun through the air close to Corpus Christi.

Unofficial gauges caught as much as four inches of rain in parts of Corpus Christi. Street flooding occurred in some sections.

Witnesses told police the funnel cloud whirled over Corpus Christi Bay near the naval air station on the south side of the city. They said it apparently did not touch down.

At Portland, four miles north of Corpus Christi, lightning split the police radio transmitter antenna atop a city water tank.

Thunderstorms or thundershowers moved toward the northeast over the coastal plains toward the Upper Texas Coast and generally appeared heavier over the Gulf of Mexico than inland.

Official rainfall amounts included 2.56 inches at the Corpus Christi naval air station and 1.97 inches at Alice, both within six hours.

Measurements elsewhere included McAllen .28 inch, Palacios .25, Houston .21, Victoria .02 and Brownsville .01.

Skies were mostly cloudy over the eastern half of Texas and clear to partly cloudy elsewhere.

Early morning temperatures were unseasonably warm in most sections although the mercury dipped to 29 degrees at Wink in far West Texas and 33 at Amarillo. Readings at other points ranged from the higher 30s into the 60s, staying as high as 70 at Brownsville.

ILA Agree On Pact

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — The International Longshoremen's Association and the management association representing shippers from Lake Charles, La., to Brownsville, Tex., reached tentative agreement early today on a new three-year contract.

The agreement came after a year of negotiations and a two-week strike which was interrupted by a Taft-Hartley injunction.

Bargainers for the ILA will conduct a formal vote on the new pact Wednesday after proof-reading the final offer from the West Gulf Maritime Association, which represents shippers, agents and stevedores.

The tentative agreement applies only to deepsea locals of the ILA. Clerks and Checkers and other ILA bargaining units still must work out contract terms to avoid a mid-march strike of West Gulf ports.

The agreement reached early today, if approved Wednesday, will then be submitted to a vote by ILA members on March 8.

OPEN HOUSE SUNDAY

College To Accept 2 New Buildings

Acceptance of the fine arts building and the academic science building at Western Texas College will be observed Sunday from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. with an open house tour and a series of fine arts presentations by WTC students.

Tours for open house visitors will be conducted through all of the buildings on campus.

Special emphasis on the tours will be directed at the newly accepted fine arts building where the music department will present music recitals, the drama department will have several dramatic presentations, and the art department will have showings of numerous techniques in art work.

The Schulmerich Carillon, presented to WTC by Mrs. Forrest G. Sears and her daughter, Carolyn Ann, will be chiming for the visitors. The control console is housed in the fine arts building. Four weather-proof speakers are installed on the roof of the two-story learning resource center-library. The carillon is used in lieu of the traditional electronic bell system. The carillon bells sound the traditional Westminster chimes and strike the hours on-the-hour during the day.

Plans are being made to have the members of Phi Theta Kappa, national junior college honorary society, conduct the tours of the campus.

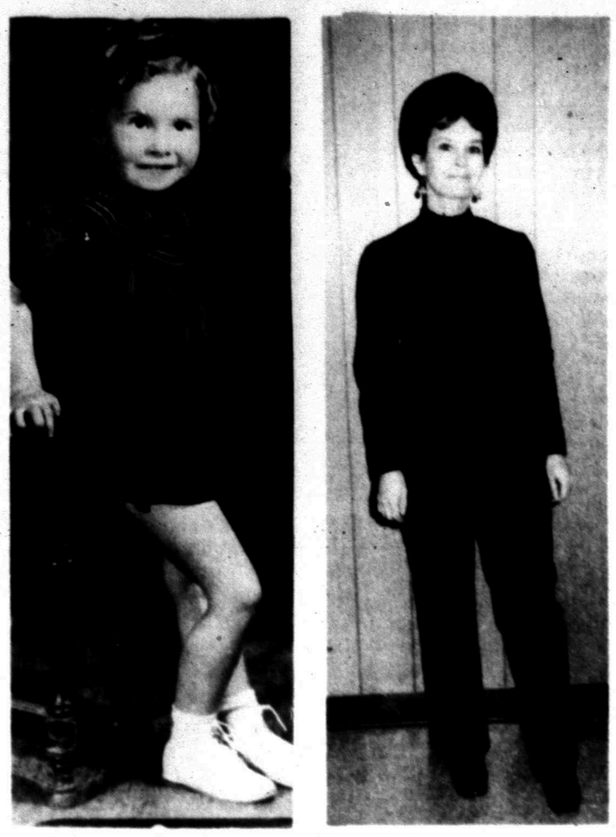

Archie Is In School Race

Otis J. Archie has filed as a candidate in the trustee election of the Snyder Independent School District.

Archie, 41, who lives at 1507 Thirty-ninth Street, is an installer for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

Two board posts will be filled in the school election set for Saturday, April 1.

The two incumbents, Dillard Teal and Ted Crenwelge, already had announced that they would be candidates for re-election to the board.

BIRTHDAY EVERY FOUR YEARS — Leap year babies are celebrating their birthday today, an event that comes only every fourth year, and among them in Snyder is Mrs. Birdwell Burney, 311 Thirty-sixth Street, who recalled her first birthday, left picture, as she observed No. 10, right picture. And how does it feel to be 10? "Great," said Mrs. Burney. She was Patsy Ross when the picture at left was taken.

Leap Year Lark Set In Miami

MIAMI (AP) — Fate will be tempted tonight when 35 wealthy bachelors entertain an exotic covey of international beauties aboard a sumptuous yacht featuring a Roman bath full of champagne.

It's a Leap Year lark.

"No local talent allowed," says advertising executive Lee Rosen. "We want to entertain women who come from foreign countries and would normally be at loose ends when they're in Miami. We find it's culturally satisfying for us."

"Us" includes Rosen and fellow members of Bachelors International. Membership demands a minimum annual salary of $29,000 and single marital status. Fringe benefits are unlimited.

The setting for the extravaganza will be Dr. Sydney Sacks' plush houseboat.

Sacks personalized the Greek definition of a man of pleasure—a Sybarite—and christened his floating palace "Sydbarite." Its ornaments, beside a sunken marble tub, include a Swiss shower with 18 heads and a whirlpool bath.

There are no plans to activate either during the festivities, Rosen said.

How did he arrive at his guest list?

"We let the foreign consuls and the foreign airlines know we're around and. . .well, you know," Rosen said modestly. "Latin stewardesses and other visitors are anxious to get acquainted."

A band will play softly as the guests sip French champagne.

Smith To Tell All On TV

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith, who has been subpoenaed as a defense witness in the Speaker Gus Mutscher trial in Abilene, will appear on statewide television Wednesday night, sources in his office said today.

The source stressed that Smith would not only tell his side of the stock scandal investigation but also would discuss the status of several of his programs and the possibility of a special session in the near future.

There were indications that the statewide telecast was not scheduled to call a special session.

A formal announcement of the telecast over about 20 Texas TV stations will be made later today.

Smith said this morning he had received his subpoena as a witness in the Abilene trial. "I will appear whenever requested to do so and will abide by the subpoena in every respect. Had either the prosecution or defense asked me to appear at any time, I would, of course, have done so without the subpoena."

The governor's office said Mutscher's defense counsel had been contacted in Abilene and they were advised the governor's appearance would not be needed until about two weeks from now.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes also was subpoenaed as a witness. His office said there would be no comment on the subpoena.

On Trip To China

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon gave congressional leaders a report on his historic journey to China today after telling the nation his talks with Communist leaders sowed the seeds for "a more-enduring structure for peace" without secret deals undercutting any ally.

The chief executive followed the 90-minute meeting with 21 Republican and Democratic House and Senate leaders with a separate session for his Cabinet.

He gave each congressman a set of nesting boxes he had brought from China, and presented his Cabinet members with a small jewel box and a tea cup.

White House spokesmen did not immediately give details of the congressional and Cabinet meetings, but Nixon appeared to be making an effort to soothe conservatives fretting about his pledge to ultimately withdraw all U.S. troops from Taiwan.

House Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., said after the session that if he understands the President correctly, "we have made no change in our position on Taiwan."

Albert told reporters at the Capitol that his understanding is that "our commitments will be kept, we don't have many troops there ... and as tensions decrease they will be reduced."

There were no disclosures made at the White House meeting, Albert said, to expand on what Nixon said in a joint U.S.-Chinese communique or on what the President told a welcome-home crowd Monday night.

"We did not bring back any written or unwritten agreement that will guarantee peace in our time," Nixon said in nationally televised remarks minutes after he concluded his 12-day, 20,395-mile trip to the long-hostile and isolated Asian nation.

But, he said to the cheers of several thousand persons jammed into a hangar at Andrews Air Force Base for star-spangled welcome-home ceremonies, "We made some necessary and important beginnings."

Nixon delivers a more-detailed private report today at a mid-morning meeting with congressional leaders, then meets with his Cabinet.

Even as he flew home from China and what he called a "week of intensive talks at the highest level," several congressional leaders praised his journey. Among the warm endorsements was one from a longtime administration critic, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

But some conservatives in Nixon's own Republican party fretted about his pledge to ultimately withdraw U.S. troops from Taiwan.

Nixon sought in his airport speech to reassure them that the communique pledge would not undermine the Nationalist Chinese regime of Chiang Kai-shek.

The communique restated "established policy" toward Taiwan, he said, adding: "We will not negotiate the fate of other nations behind their backs, and we did not do so in Peking. There were no secret deals of any kind."

The President cited his agreements with Premier Chou En-lai to broaden trade, to develop cultural, educational and journalistic exchanges and to expand contact between the two governments.

Beaming and waving to the crowd after his blue-and-white jet, the "Spirit of '76," poked its nose into the crowded hangar, Nixon went before the television cameras "to sum up the results of the trip and ... put it in perspective."

Welch, 4 More Are Subpoenaed

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — The defense supoenaed Houston Mayor Louie Welch and four others today in the bribery conspiracy trial where Texas House Speaker Gus Mutscher, more than ever, stands alone as the big target.

Also subpoenaed were four other Houston residents: Golfer Doug Sanders, Houston Baptist College President W. H. Hinton, the Rev. Charles L. Allen and George Weston Conrad.

Two more prospective jurors were qualified, bringing the total number of qualified jurors to 18. Forty-eight must be qualified before each side uses its 18 peremptory challenges.

The first 12 remaining on the panel after those strikes will be the jury.

Mutscher has two co-defendents, but their attorneys stressed to jurors Monday that they must look at each defendant separately.

"Make your judgment three separate ways," said A. L. 'Dusty' Rhodes, who represents Mutscher's aide, Rush McGinty.

"You must decide each man's guilt separately," said Joe Shannon, representing Rep. Tommy Shannon (no relation) of Fort Worth.

They hammered at the point.

"You feel you can reach a verdict on each individual, not all as a group, but each individual?" Rhodes asked one prospective juror.

Mutscher's lawyers, on the other hand, spoke of the defendants only as a group.

All three defendants are accused of conspiring to accept a bribe from Houston promoter Frank Sharp to influence legislation Sharp wanted in 1969.

Mutscher made the biggest initial profit on stock bought with a loan from Sharp's bank and, being Speaker, had the power to influence legislation the most.

Shannon sponsored the legislation and had one vote.

McGinty's influence on legislation was relatively tiny, and his attorney obviously wants to move him away from the spotlight on the speaker.

The defense considerably broadened the political nature of the trial Monday when it subpoenaed Gov. Preston Smith and Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes.

Smith made a $62,500 profit on the same stock, which was also bought with a loan from Sharp's bank. Smith vetoed the Sharp legislation, however, after selling the stock.

Panel OK's Women's Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee approved 14-1 today a proposed constitutional amendment to guarantee women equal rights with men under federal and state law.

A substitute proposal by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., unacceptable to women's rights organizations, and other modifications were rejected by one-sided votes.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., chief Senate sponsor of the approved amendment, said a hard battle still lies ahead in the Senate itself.

Leaders of women's organizations pushing for Senate adoption of the amendment maintained that Ervin's substitute would nullify its purpose and be worse than nothing.

Ervin contends the amendment would wipe out laws needed to protect the health and safety of women.

It provides that equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or any state on account of sex.

The AFL-CIO has been one of the chief opponents, contending the amendment could have a destructive effect on such laws as those that bar women from hazardous occupations and limit night work for them.

The proposed equal-rights amendment won overwhelming approval in the House in the last Congress only to die in the Senate, where opponents led by Ervin succeeded in keeping it from a vote.

'CANNOT FORGIVE'

Yen, Assembly Accuse Nixon

TAIPEI (AP) — Nationalist China's premier and its National Assembly accused President Nixon today of selling out old friends and said Chiang Kai-shek's government cannot forgive him for negotiating with Communist China.

"The Chinese Communist regime is a rebel group which has no right to represent the people of mainland China," said a resolution adopted by the assembly. "The people and government of the Republic of China cannot forgive the negotiations which President Nixon has conducted with them."

The assembly was elected in 1948, before Chiang was expelled from the mainland, and meets every six years to re-elect him president.

The resolution joined the Foreign Ministry in warning that Chiang's government will consider "null and void" any agreement reached between Nixon and the Communists concerning the Nationalists.

Premier C. K. Yen—without mentioning Nixon by name—accused the President of betraying his own principles and his Nationalist friends by bargaining with the regime in Peking.

"Some non-Communist countries, lacking in foresight and oblivious of the difference between right and wrong or advantage and disadvantage, have given up their principles and come to consider foes as friends," Yen told the assembly.

"As a result, they have played into the hands of the enemy."

Neither Yen nor the assembly resolution made any mention of Nixon's pledge in his joint statement with the Communists that the United States would withdraw its forces from Taiwan as tensions in Asia taper off. This also was ignored in the earlier Foreign Ministry criticism.

But the Foreign Ministry gave the impression the Nationalists suspect Nixon agreed to more than was disclosed in the communique with Chou En-lai.

It said President Chiang and his government will disregard "any agreement which has been, and which may not have been, published involving the rights and interests of the government of the Republic of China."

"Our question can be solved only when the government of the Republic of China ... has succeeded in its tasks of the recovery of the mainland, the unification of China and the deliverance of our compatriots," it added.

Experts Criticize Tax Ruling

ODESSA, Tex. (AP) — The federal government came under fire Monday for the recent court decision ruling that ad valorem tax inequalities in Texas school districts are unconstitutional.

Amarillo Tax Assessor-Collector Jim Nugent, chairman of the Legislative Property Tax Committee, told a two-day meeting that the property tax is "the keystone of local government financing." The only alternative to it, he said, would be more taxes.

Nugent urged the committee to get to work to make the property tax constitutional or the federal government would take charge.

Subcommittees reported to the full group Monday.

Searcy German, Mount Houston School District assessor-collector and chairman of the data processing subcommittee, recommended a central data gathering point be set up and all taxing agencies in Texas be required to report information to it.

Jack L. Hart of Austin, a member of the full committee, said such an agency existed from 1931 to 1951 but proved ineffective because reporting was not mandatory.

Ken Quevreaux, tax representative for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. and head of the exemptions subcommittee, called for a complete review of all state tax laws. He said much property is not taxed because it has not been put on the tax rolls.

The committee on assessing, headed by Norman Register, Dallas tax consultant, forecast that the ad valorem tax will be removed from automobiles and the license tax cost increased by a third. He predicted that the additional money will go to current taxing agencies.

MAN, W. Va. (AP) — With 16 Appalachian coal camps in flood-devastated ruin, relief agencies began in earnest today the job of finding living quarters for the thousands of homeless from Buffalo Creek hollow.

Many persons still were reported missing in the wake of Saturday's flash flood and the death toll stood today at 67.

More than 4,000 persons were left homeless following the flood, caused when tons of water broke through a mining company dam and spilled through the hollow.

Officials of federal and relief agencies Monday night cleared the books out of the public library and began setting up offices to provide emergency aid.

Monday afternoon the Federal Housing Administration began taking applications for emergency housing. By midnight they had received 150 with more still coming in.

National Guardsmen manning bulldozers and other heavy equipment, continued to sift debris in search of bodies and survivors.

Surveying the splintered buildings and twisted metal frames of cars in the community of Lundale, perhaps hit hardest by the raging floodwaters, State Police Cpl. Walter Garrett said: "We estimate that 1,000 people or more lived here. Now there's nothing left but the company store."

Officials reported Monday night they had accounted for 158 survivors from the community of Lorado who had escaped the flood by scaling a hill to another town.

Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va., toured the area Monday and pledged prompt federal aid to help rebuild the 17-mile-long hollow if existing programs prove insufficient.

Public health teams began administering typhoid inoculations at Red Cross centers throughout the county.

Resolutions calling for an investigation into the dam break were proposed Monday in the legislature.

DPO Branch Is Organized At College

A chapter of Delta Psi Omega, the largest honor society in college dramatics in the United States, has been organized at Western Texas College.

The local branch of Delta Psi Omega has the designation of Cast No. 299.

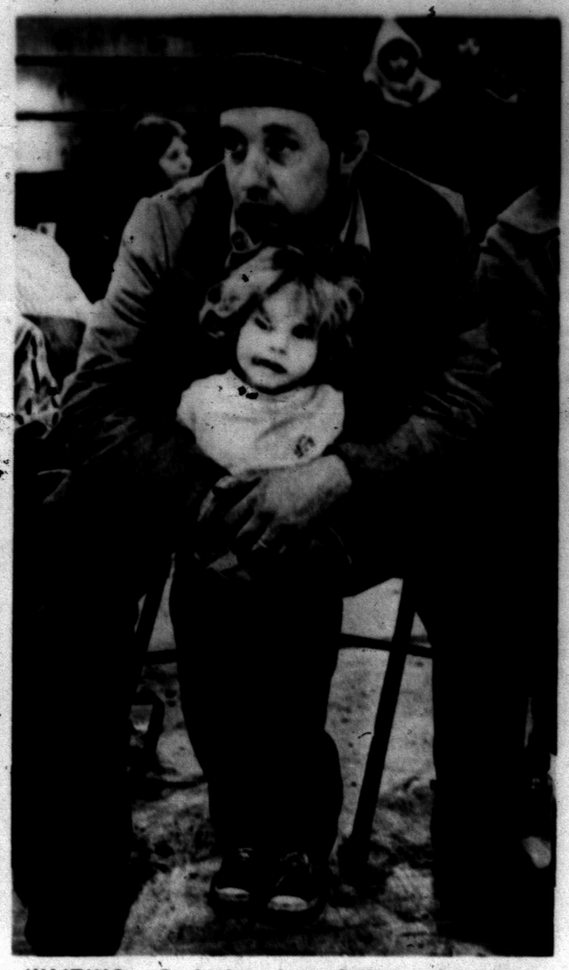

Officers are Doyle Sanders, president; Keith Dolloff, vice president; Sharon Autry, secretary-treasurer; Paul Morales, pledge trainer.

First task of the club will be to draw up a local constitution and to establish rigid and professional standards for future members.

Cast 299 is now working on "20 Century America," a drama department production to be presented Sunday at the open house in the fine arts department.

There are over 200 chapters of Delta Psi Omega and it is unusual for a club to be chartered in the first semester of operation of a drama department. However, according to Dr. Yetta Mitchell, grand director of Delta Psi Omega, the charter was granted because of the qualifications of Charles Holland, WTC dramatics director, and the extremely high interest shown by the drama department toward Delta Psi Omega.

Check Finds IRS Wrong

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A spot check shows Internal Revenue Service officials sometimes give the public wrong information about wage-price controls.

Posing as businessmen, Associated Press newsmen in five cities asked a standard set of questions by telephone, one concerning prices and one about wages. In six of the 10 cases the IRS answers were either wrong, when compared with government regulations, or too vague to be of use.

In one instance an IRS man suggested that the caller get around pay regulations by using a tactic of questionable legality.

These findings raise questions about how well wage-price guidelines can work if they confuse even the government officials enforcing them.

However, the spot check is based on only 10 questions, a tiny fraction of the tens of thousands of public inquiries about pay and price matters that the IRS handles each month. Also of note is that the check comes as the IRS is neck-deep in its primary task of collecting 1971 income taxes.

Since the spot check was made the IRS independently has begun its own program of monitoring its answers to questions from the public, a spokesman said in Washington.

Highlights of the AP spot check:

—A Los Angeles IRS official advised a newsman posing as a garage owner that he could give his mechanics a raise above the Pay Board's 5.5-percent guideline if he would "promote them to a new job title." Such a bogus promotion would almost certainly violate federal regulations.

In fact, the IRS man himself cautioned the caller that he might be questioned if a government spot check disclosed the questionable move. "It's a risk you have to take if you want to give them a raise," he said. He did not mention the penalty, up to a $5,000 fine, for violating wage-price guidelines.

—A New York IRS official wrongly told a caller posing as the owner of a dry-cleaning store that he would have to post lists of his base prices and that his profits could not exceed 2.5 per cent a year. Only large retail stores must post prices, not service firms such as dry-cleaning stores.

Heart Disease Is Costly To Businesses

"Heart and blood vessel diseases cost the nation $17.3-billion annually, including lost income and payment of medical care," Joe Sentell, chairman of the Scurry County Heart Fund Business Solicitation said today.

"In addition, these diseases cost business and industry about 52,000,000 lost man-days of production.

"These are the economic facts of cardiovascular disease that no businessman can afford to overlook," said Sentell.

"However, dollars alone do not tell the story," he added, "since it is impossible to compute the human suffering and disruption of family life that results from more than one-million deaths annually caused by heart and blood vessel diseases."

Among these deaths, heart attack will strike more than 670,000 men and women in 1972. More than half of these victims will die outside the hospital, many of them because they fail to act quickly and receive medical attention when heart attack symptoms first appear.

During the Scurry County Heart Association Campaign Sentell said area firms are asked to cooperate in the fight against this major health problem and distribute "Heartsaver" literature to their executives and employes.

Letters To Editor

To The Daily News:

In the middle eighteen eighties near Winnsboro, Tex., I saw the first light of day. At the age of 19 I got married and started farming. It was up one year and down one year.

After about 19 years I saw I was down more than I was up. So I sojourned to Scurry County. I arrived here about September of 1924. I never saw such cotton, and the feed was the best I ever saw. Scurry County had its Sunday clothes on. I thought what great promises and opportunity existed here.

After about one dozen years on the farm, I saw that the promise was bigger than the yields. I moved into town and the last 35 years I have worked for wages. A lot of people have asked about my longevity. After meditating on my religious views, my political views and my life in general, I will leave my 87 years of experience in this message: What is to be will be.

Square Dancers Ask Buildings Use

Representatives of two square dance clubs—the Sparkle City Square Dance Club of Snyder and the Village Stompers of Hermleigh—asked County Commissioners yesterday for permission to hold their square dances in community centers or other buildings owned by the county.

They presented a survey containing over 1,600 signatures. Main spokesmen for the group were Bill Vestal and Harold Wilson.

Commissioners said they would rule on the request within two weeks.

The Israeli government loaned $476,000 to East Jerusalem Arabs for residential construction in 1971.

HUD Reveals Housing Project

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Housing and Urban Development formally announced Monday a mammoth housing project will be built northwest of San Antonio but conservationists there have been arguing against the planned "New Town" for months as a threat to the ecology.

HUD officials, however, took a step to ease the tension by stating that construction will banned over a vital underground water sources on the site until anti-pollution measures receive further study.

"If uncontrolled residential development were to take place in this critical area, the city of San Antonio would face the risk of eventual pollution of its major water source," said HUD Secretary George Romney.

Population of the planned New Town is expected to be about 88,000.

Romney said safeguards will be taken by federal, state and local officials to insure no pollution of San Antonio's water supply occurs.

One of the steps being considered is construction of a seven-mile-long intercepter sewer to join with San Antonio's sewage treatment system, HUD said.

Others include diversion for treatment of storm water from the New Town into manmade lakes, protection of natural slopes and vegetation from erosion and retention of more than 2,200 acres as parks, nature trails, tree nurseries, golf courses and other open space uses.

The full-sclae environmental study of the potential impact of San Antonio Ranch on the six-county underground water source is underway, headed by Dr. L. J. Turk, geologist-hydrologist at the University of Texas, HUD said.

Development of the project will provide more than 28,000 sale or rental dwellings designed to attract residents in a broad range of incomes, family sizes, age groups and life styles with a special emphasis on needs of the Spanish-speaking community, HUD said. Twenty-five per cent of the housing units will be for families with incomes of $7,500 or less.

If there is one frequently asked question which defies a specific answer, it is this:

Which is the best kind of floor?

There just isn't any such animal. Each type of floor has its own characteristics. If you know what they are, you can make a good choice, depending on whether you are looking for anything in particular or whether you aren't intergsted in practicality but merely want what suits your fancy.

Although resilient floors—sheets and tiles—are enjoying a great wave of popularity in recent years, there are those who insist on nothing but wood, maintaining that it has a feeling of warmth unmatched by any other material.

Hardwood floors are the ultimate, among them oak, birch, maple, beech, poplar and even walnut, hickory, cherry and teak. Pine is the most popular of the softwoods. Flooring comes in thin or wide strips, squares or parquet pieces. The wider the boards, the more the tendency to expansion and shrinkage under certain weather conditions. Wood has a fine appearance whether given one of the surface finishes, such as varnish, shellac, lacquer or a synthetic, or one of the penetrating sealers.

In the resilient flooring field, there is a wide choice, the most popular being vinyl asbestos, which can be used anywhere in the house or on a concrete basement surface. The most inexpensive kind, asphalt tile, can be used below grade or above grade where it is not likely to be subjected to spilled liquids, especially grease and oil. Care must be taken not to use paste waxes which contain solvents.

Vinyl tiles and sheets are resilient, comfortable, stain red sistant and easy to maintain. If you see wide differences in the prices of vinyl flooring, it's because some kinds are solid and some merely have vinyl veneers; also, some have high quality backings, some have cheap backings.

Cork tiles are quiet, very resilient and luxurious, but are susceptible to stains unless given some kind of clear finish, preferably at the factory. Rubber tiles are excellent to walk on, but show marks from furniture legs more than most other types. Cork, rubber and the old favorite, linoleum, which is easy to keep clean, should not be installed over concrete below ground level.

Add to this list such floors as seamless, stone, brick, ceramic tile, terrazo and several other specialty types and you can see that the choice is almost endless.

(Sweating windows, marred finishes, balky doors and squeaky floors are among the 35 problems discussed in Andy Lang's handbook, "Practical Home Repairs," available by sending $1 to this newspaper in care of Box 5, Teaneck, N.J. 07666.)

Pillsbury Bake-Off Contest Winners Are Named Today

HOUSTON (AP) — A part-time fashion stylist from Elk River, Minn., and a Pittsburgh, Pa., housewife won $25,000 each as the top prizes in Bake Off 23.

Each of the winning recipes had ingredients costing less than $1.50.

Isabelle Collins of Elk River won with "Quick 'n Chewy Crescent Bars", a recipe containing only fresh crescent roll dough, condensed milk, coconut-almond frosting mix, and butter.

Rose DeDominicis, wife of a Pittsburgh newspaper circulation employe, created a "Streusel Spice Cake" with yellow cake mix, melted chocolate, and a struesel mixture.

Taking $5,000 prizes were Lynne Goldklang, a Los Angeles school teacher who baked "Cheesy Biscuit Rings" with refrigeated biscuits, and Mary Wilson, wife of a Leesburg, Ga., bookkeeper, who won with flour-based "Rocky Road Fudge Bars."

Runnerup $1,000 awards went to Violet M. Hester of Long Beach, Calif., Debra Hilburn, a 15-year-old Piedmont, Ala., resident, Laura Hynek of Lincoln, Neb., and Laura Quigley, New York City.

Dennis Batich, 15, Garwood, N.J., won the $1,000 best consumer value award with a "Frank 'n Beans Biscuit Casserole" chosen from among the 100 final recipes through a computer analysis of nutritional content and ingredients costs.

Both Mrs. Collins and Mrs. DeDominicis were entering the 23-year-old Bake Off contest for the first time. The 100 finalists had seven hours Monday in which to bake their recipes. Each was required to bake one entry for the judges and one for display but each had the option of baking four times and selecting the two for entry and display.

The judges completed their work about 1 a.m. and the announcement of the winners was made at a 6 a.m. news conference. The contestants meanwhile were kept out of touch with telephone, radio and television overnight while having an early breakfast at a restaurant and then taking a bus tour of Houston, returning to the hotel just in time for the awards ceremony.

Mrs. DeDominicis said she learned to cook by watching and helping her mother who came to the United States from Sicily.

"She memorized all her recipies and never measured things," she recalled.

Like her mother, Mrs. DeMoninicis said she very seldom bakes anything the same way twice and uses her imagination in selecting ingredients. She and her husband, Carl, have two grown daughters, one in college. They reside in Verona, Pa.

Mrs. Collins, who said she planned to use any prize money she might have won to help finish and decorate a home she and her husband, Gerald, are building on Route 2, Great River Acres, near Elk River. The Collins have a young daughter.

Mrs. Collins' $25,000 recipe:

Quick 'n Chewy Crescent Bars 1 can (8 oz.) Pillsbury refrigerated quick crescent dinner rolls.

14 ounce can (1 1-3 cups) sweetened condensed milk.

1 package (9.9 oz) Pillsbury coconut almond frosting mix.

1-4 cup butter or margarine, melted.

Over 400 degrees. Makes 3 to 4 dozen bars.

Preheat over to 400 degrees. Unroll crescent dough; place rectangles in ungreased 15x10 inch jelly roll pan. Gently press dough to cover botton of pan; seal perforations. Pour condensed milk evenly over dough. Sprinkle with frosting mix. Drizzle with butter. Bake at 400 degrees 12 to 15 minutes until golden brown. Cool. Cut into bars. High altitude: no change.

Mrs. DeDomincis' $25,000 recipe:

Streusel Spice Cake

1 package Pillsbury yellow create a cake mix.

¾ cup mile or water

½ cup butter or margarine, melted

4 eggs

½ cup chopped nuts

1 envelope premelted chocolate or 1 ounce square unsweetened chocolate, melted

½ cup flaked coconut

Filling:

½ cup flaked coconut

½ cup chopped nuts

½ cup firmly packed brown sugar

2 tablespoons flour

2 teaspoons cinnamon

Glaze:

1 cup powdered sugar

1 tablespoon butter or margarine, softened

2 to 3 tablespoons milk.

Oven 350 degrees. 10-inch tube or Bundt pan (325 degrees for pan with colored outer surfaces).

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease and flour 10-inch tube or Bundt pan. Blend in large bowl first four (4) ingredients until moistened; beat as directed on package. Stir in coconut and nuts. Marble chocolate throughout batter. Pour half of batter (about 2 cups) into pan. Combine in small bowl all filling ingredients. Sprinkly ¾ over batter in pan. Cover with remaining batter; sprinkle with remaining filling. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes to 55 minutes until top springs back when touched lightly in center. Cool upright in pan 30 minutes; remove from pan. Cool. Blend in small bowl glaze ingredients until smooth. Glaze cake. High altitude: .5,200 feet, add 2 tablespoons flour to cake mix. Bake at 375 degrees for 45 to 55 minutes.

Let the Bachelor Be Wary The 29th of February

By JOY STILLEY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

It's open season all Leap Year
For female hunters to bag a "dear."
If your goal is wedding banding
(The Women's Lib thing notwithstanding),
Your opportunity's more than equal
If you don't wish to be a free gal.
Is it trapping tips you need?
Here's advice that you should heed:
If you want a man beside you
Do not let your conscience guide you.
All is fair in love's pursuit —
Help Cupid aim that bow and shoot.
Should you hesitate or falter,
You'll never get him to the altar.
If your friends aren't good at matching
You, yourself, must do the catching.
Every single man's a candidate
For this year's election as your mate.
That guy you thought was just a crony
May be a bet for matrimony;
Office boys, bank clerks or salesmen —
Fair quarry for the girl who trails men.
Doctor, lawyer, merchant, cook —
Better leap before you look.
If you don't act you're in a fix;
It's your last chance till '76.

AN EXTRA DAY--DO SOMETHING WORTHWHILE!

United States Facing Decision On Trade

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States last year ran up a trade deficit with the rest of the world of $2.9 billion. In some degree it meant that we were out-produced and out-traded, and the shock is having reverberations.

Should the country react to stiffer competition by fighting harder? Or should it protect itself by barricading its markets? Should it work with other nations to build trade, hoping thereby to reverse the trade deficit?

The alternatives sound like something you once read in your history book, but they are very current considerations.

If passed, for example, the Burke-Hartke bill would build barriers to foreign competition in American markets. And at a meeting between U. S. and European businessmen in Versailles, France, this week those alternatives will underlay every discussion.

One of the main reasons why this decision is before the American people especially is that the United States obviously has lost some of its unique advantages in world trade.

At one time American technology and marketing know-how was so superior to that of other nations that it was common to hear Europeans and others talk of American economic domination.

The United States no longer has any corner on technology. In production and marketing it has much to learn from the amazing performance of Japan. And in government-industry cooperation it can learn from a dozen nations.

And while the country faces a new economic world, it must also adjust domestically to factors that seem to be exerting a strong drag on its ability to produce efficiently.

Strikes, the lack of enthusiasm in spending for research and development, the lack of access to training in labor skills, the oligarchic nature of pricing in some areas of the economy have all weakened productivity.

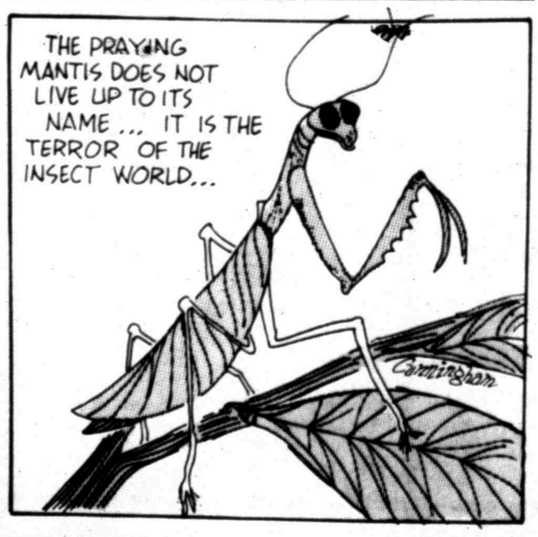

There is the likelihood also that Americans are slightly more inclined to settle for security rather than compete for the dazzling prospect of a higher economic level, which was one of the great lures to productivity.

Inflation, of course, makes American goods less competitive abroad. And since it puts money into the hands of buyers, it tends to make the market for foreign goods more attractive.

Whatever the reasons, the United States must decide again, as it has in the past, which way it is to go: more trade through open markets or less trade because of restricted markets.

The United States still can dangle before any other nation the largest market in the world, one that it shared openly with nations that once were weak but which now are able to care for themselves.

Junior Editors Quiz on PRAYING MANTIS

QUESTION: Where did the praying mantis come from?

* * *

ANSWER: The praying mantis belongs to a family of insects known as Mantids. It usually lives in a warm climate. However, it has been found in Europe and in China. This insect was brought to the United States from Europe about 50 years ago. The mantis family has about 800 species. It was called the "soothsayer" by the Greeks who thought it had unusual powers.

The mantis is a long, slender insect whose front legs are held in such a fashion that it appears to be in prayer. In reality, it is ready to pounce on its prey, another insect. The mantis is colored green or brown, protective colors which are hard to see on foliage.

The mantis walks on its four hind legs. It can also fly and has transparent wings. It is an odd looking creature and is supposed to be the only insect that can turn its head around and look over its shoulder.

The mantis is a vicious killer of other insects and prefers to eat its prey alive. It is greedy and cannibalistic and will eat other mantids.

Boyle Recalls Yesterdays

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Memories are the links that bind our lives together. They make us what we are.

Add up a man's memories and you know him.

They are the silent record of his defeats and glories, his schemes, his dreams. They define him.

You have a fine roster of memories yourself if you can look back and remember when:

Sideburns and flaring pants were as popular with the youths of the late 1920s as they are with the youths of today.

Every hard-working man took a nap Sunday afternoon. The children playing quietly downstairs could hear him snoring in an upstairs bedroom as his body repaired the ravages of the week.

One of the fears grandma had for grandpa was that if he didn't stop twirling a toothpick around in his mouth after eating that he'd swallow it accidentally and die of peritonitis.

For perhaps a majority of Americans, hell was as real and terrible as death.

Any kid who didn't have to trudge at least a mile to school led a pampered life.

Every home had three forums where family problems were publicly threshed out—the kitchen, the dining room table, and the front porch swing.

The approved cure for childish tantrums was a dash of cold water in the face.

Every child had a personal diary he expected would make him immortal. It usually trailed off after he had made a few comments on the weather and hinted at dark and awful secrets in his life he didn't dare trust himself to put down.

A pretty girl was often described as "a real humdinger."

Flowers played a bigger role in the ordinary lives of people. If someone in the family was ill, the neighbors trooped in with armfuls of home-grown flowers as well as gifts of home-cooked food.

If you got something in your eye and couldn't get it out yourself, you went to the druggist instead of to a doctor or hospital clinic.

A juvenile delinquent was a kid who won all the marbles from the other members of his school class and wouldn't give any of them back.

Everybody thought the neighborhood hired man was getting too big for his britches when he announced he would no longer cut the grass for less than 75 cents.

A woman teacher who went to the school picnic wearing slacks could figure she'd better start looking for another job in another town next year—unless she was the niece of the president of the school board.

It was all right to lock your front door if you left your home, but the neighbors thought you unfriendly if you didn't leave the back door unlocked—just in case someone wanted to drop in and borrow something.

Texas Has Most Deer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas has more deer than any other state, but Texas hunters have to kill two or three times as many deer to get as much meat as hunters elsewhere.

This is just one of the conclusions which could be drawn from a survey made by Sidney W. Wilcox of Arizona State University in Tempe. The survey is titled "Deer Production in the United States."

Subtitled, "A Survey By States Showing the Dollar Value of Deer As Table Meat in the Years 1969 and 1970," the survey is based on data received from game departments in all 50 states.

Wilcox found that Texas leads the nation in deer production.

The average field-dressed white-tailed deer came to around 50 pounds in Texas and produced approximately 25 pounds of boneless meat.

Minnesota, at the other extreme, whitetails average 138 pounds field dressed and produce 70 pounds cof boneless meat.

Extensive studies in other states show that approximately 50 per cent of the weight of a field-dressed deer is edible meat.

Using as a guideline the price of chuck beef, Wilcox estimated the value of the boneless deer meat in Texas, both mule and whitetail, to be $5,034 in 1969 and $6,088,297 in 1970.

A&M Receives Physics Grant

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — The National Science Foundation has awarded Texas A&M University a $250,000 grant for physics research at its Cyclotron Institute.

College of Science Dean J. M. Prescott noted the one-year grant replaces the support the Cyclotron Institute had received from the Atomic Energy Commission. AEC discontinued much of the institutional funding in physics throughout the nation, he said.

McDaniels To Appear In Court

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Jim McDaniels, the rookie center who jumped from Carolina of the American Basketball Association to Seattle of the National Basketball Association, has been directed to appear in Guilford County Superior Court to answer contempt of court charges.

Judge James G. Exum Jr. ordered McDaniels on Monday to appear in court Thursday. Exum had previously issued a 10-day restraining order forbidding McDaniels to play for anyone but the Cougars on February 18. Then, on February 22, he issued another order that McDaniels, who played his first game for Seattle on February 20, show cause why he should not be held in contempt of court for playing.

Hearings on both the restraining order and the contempt citation were scheduled for Monday. McDaniels did not appear.

Meanwhile, a Superior Court judge in Seattle Monday extended a temporary restraining order preventing the Cougars from interfering with McDaniels and the Sonics.

Judge William J. Wilkins' ruling allowed McDaniels to play for the Sonics, a club spokesman said, and the seven-foot center left immediately to join the team for a Tuesday night game in Baltimore.

The Seattle judge's ruling allows McDaniels to play for the Sonics pending court determination of the validity of his contract with the Cougars.

Judge Exum, after conferring with attorneys for the Cougars and McDaniels, said McDaniels' request that the Cougars' breach of contract suit against him be transferred to a federal court would be honored.

Exum said, however, that he was retaining jurisdiction over the contempt proceedings.

St. Mary's Squad Thin

MORAGA, Calif. (AP) — Only six players came out for basketball practice at St. Mary's college Monday as Coach Bruce Hale prepared for the team's two last games of the season.

The abbreviated squad resulted after four black players quit at halftime in a game against Santa Clara at San Jose Saturday night in protest against alleged racism at St. Mary's. All four were suspended Monday.

Two black players who did finish out the game failed to show up for the practice session, along with Ray Montoya, a Mexican-American.

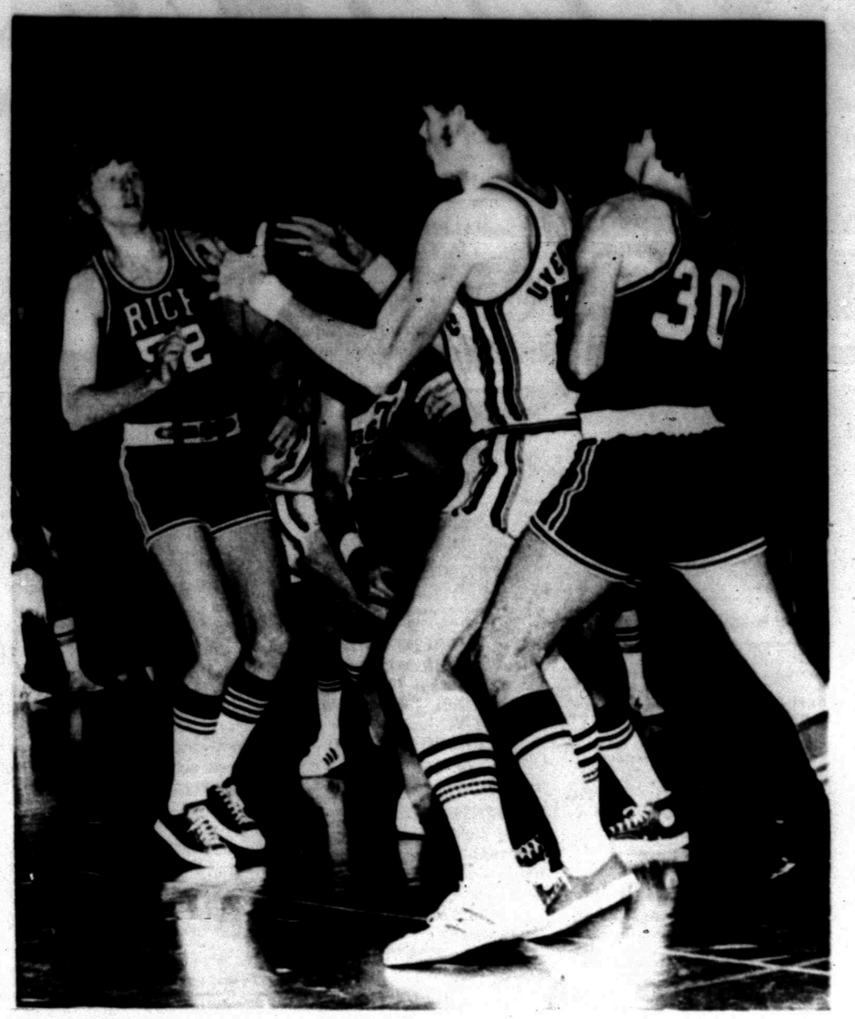

The six who were on hand are white, and two of them are recruits from the intramural program.

Rice Rips Pan Am

HOUSTON (AP) — The Rice Owls swept past defending NCAA Dist. 6 champion Pan American 5-4 in 10 innings and took the second game 5-2 in a college baseball doubleheader Monday.

The second game went only 5½ innings because of darkness.

Rice scored the winning run in the opener with two out in the sixth when shortstop Sheldon Kaufman lined a triple to center, third baseman Mark Rooker walked and first baseman Bobby Potter singled past third to drive in Kaufman.

UPSET IN THE MAKING — Texas A & M's Jeff Overhouse makes a grab for the ball while getting a gentle nudge from Rice's Randy Reynolds (30) in the first action of play at College Station Saturday afternoon. Other Rice Player looking on is John Kabbes (52). Rice upset the Aggies 73-69 for their firsf conference win of the season. (AP Wirephoto).

Marquette Slips To Fifth Ranking

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

And then there was one.

Marquette's stunning 70-49 defeat at the hands of Detroit Saturday left the UCLA Bruins as the only unbeaten major college basketball team—and the unanimous choice for the top spot in The Associated Press' nationwide poll of sports writers and broadcasters released today.

UCLA, 23-0 after defeating Pacific-8 rivals Washington State, Oregon and Oregon State last week, garnered all 41 first place votes to lead this week's poll with 820 points.

Marquette, which won its first 22 games of the season, had received one first place vote a week ago. But after bowing to Detroit in their second game since star center Jim Chones signed a contract with the New York Nets of the American Basketball Association, the Warriors dropped from the second spot in the poll to No. 5.

Louisville, 20-2, edged North Carolina, 20-3, for the runner-up spot, but both were well behind UCLA. The Cardinals, who whipped Cincinnati 93-73 in their only outing last week, received 637 votes while the Tar Heels, victors over Georgia Tech and Virginia last week, had 620.

Retaining the fourth spot in this week's rating was Pennsylvania with 573 points. The Quakers upped their record to 20-2 by beating Ivy League rivals Cornell and Columbia over the weekend. Marquette, 22-1 overall but 1-1 since losing Chones, was No. 5 with 442 points.

The next two spots were unchanged, No. 6 going to Long Beach State, 23-3, with 409 points, and No. 7 to Brigham Young, 20-3, with 354. South Carolina and Marshall exchanged the next two places, the 19-4 Gamecocks moving up to eighth with 321 points and Marshall 22-4, dipping to ninth with 271.

Florida State, 11th last week, climbed into the Top Ten with 235 points, beating out Southwestern Louisiana for the No. 10 spot.

Southwestern Louisiana, 22-3, headed the second 10 with 149 points. Virginia moved from 13th to 12th, Houston from 16th to 13th, Ohio State from 15th to 14th and Hawaii from 17th to 15th.

Michigan, a newcomer to the Top Twenty, grabbed the No. 16 spot, followed by Oral Roberts, Maryland, Missouri and Memphis State.

The Top Twenty, with first place votes in parentheses, won-lost records through games of Saturday, Feb. 26 and total points on the basis of 20 for first, 18 for second, 16, 14, 12, 10, 9, 8, etc.:

1. UCLA (41)	23-0	820
2. Louisville	20-2	637

Dizzy Trout Dies Of Cancer

CHICAGO (AP) — Paul "Dizzy" Trout, 56, colorful pitching star for the Detroit Tigers in the World War II era, died Monday of stomach cancer.

Trout, who worked as a pitching instructor, public relations man and after-dinner speaker for the Chicago White Sox since 1959, was a 27-game winner in 1944 and led the Tigers to the 1945 American League pennant.

In a major league career from 1939 through 1952, Trout posted a won-lost record of 170-161 with an earned-run average of 3.23. He won 20 or more games in 1943 and 1944.

His most remarkable feat, however, was his stretch run in 1945 which gave the Tigers the pennant and an eventual World Series triumph over the Chicago Cubs in seven games. He pitched six games in 10 days and won four.

Trout was traded to the Boston Red Sox in 1952 and retired after that season. He had a brief comeback try with the Baltimore Orioles in 1957, but spent most of his time after his playing career broadcasting for the Tigers.

Michigan State varsity fencers Chris Held, Paul Herring and Jim Scieszka competed as undergraduates at Culver, Ind., Military Academy.

Pitchers Park Name Changed

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — When the new home of the Texas Rangers was called Turnpike Stadium and was a minor league diamond, they called the place a "pitchers' park."

Now it's Arlington Stadium, and the American Leaguers will be coming to town, so the park's reputation might be tarnished a bit, believes Ted Williams.

"Someone said that only 26 home runs were hit out of there all last season," said the manager of the Rangers, "but I'll bet on at least 50 going out this season, maybe more."

The dimensions of the park aren't that lengthy—330-feet down both lines, 380 feet in the power alleys and 400-feet to center. And a prevailing west to east wind that used to sweep in over the righfield fence toward home plate will not be blocked to some extend by the new bleachers being built in the stadium expansion.

But when the major leaguers do start to flex their muscles at Arlington Stadium this summer, there's a question whether or not the host club will be able to keep pace in the home run derby.

Outside the Frank Howard, the 6-7, 300-pounder who had an off season last year with just 26 homers, there is no other definite power threat, although there are a couple of good possibilities for development along those lines.

Roy Foster, a 6-foot, 185-pounder, came to the Rangers in an off season trade with Cleveland, and power was his No. 1 attraction as an Indian. He had 23 homers in 1970 and 18 last year despite some injury problems that he hopes to escape this season.

Then there's Jeff Burroughs, only 21 years old and a disappointment last year in the power department. But he's a solid 6-1, 200-pounder on whom Williams is extremely high.

"Jeff looks so good that at times there's tendency to forget that he's only had two years of experience," noted Williams. "He had a lot to learn, but when he does learn things like not trying to pull the ball every time up there, then they'll start to go out for him."

Burroughs has also put on glasses this spring for the first time in his career "and once I get used to them," he said, "they could really help."

Veteran Don Mincher, expected to alternate at first base with Howard, is also a power threat although he hit just 12 last season.

Then a couple of up and coming youngsters, Tom Grieve and Larry Biittner, are both built for power.

Annual Canyon Reef Relays Set Saturday

One of the highlights of the sports year—the annual Canyon Reef Relays—will be held on the Tiger Track Saturday.

Bill Hartsfield, coach of the host Tigers, said there should be plenty of competition in both divisions. Midland Lee is defending champion in the Class AAAA division while Sweetwater is defending champion in the Class AAA division. Both teams will be back to defend their crowns.

Challenging Lee for the AAAA title will be Odessa Permian, Abilene Cooper, San Angelo, Midland, Lubbock, Lubbock Monterey, and Big Spring. Entries in the AAA division in addition to Sweetwater are Andrews, Brownfield, Brownwood, Lamesa, Dumas, Lubbock Estacado, Lakeview, Seminole, Levelland, Colorado City and Snyder.

Most prognosticators feel the AAAA class will be a battle between Lee, Odessa Permian and San Angelo. Lubbock Estacado is the favorite in Class AAA. Snyder's Tigers haven't won their own Meet since 1967, but they could pull a few surprises. Several of the top athletes in West Texas will be competing.

Prelims will begin at 9:45 a.m. Saturday with the finals to get underway at 1 p.m. The schedule:

MORNING SCHEDULE

9:45 a.m.—440 yard relay.
10 a.m.—100 yard dash. Finals in Class AAAA in the long jump, pole vault and shot put. Finals in the AAA Division in the discus and high jump.

11 a.m.—440 yard dash.
11:30 a.m.—220 yard dash.

(In all races, AAAA will run first, then AAA. The seven top teams or individuals in the 440 relay, 100 yard dash, 120 yard hurdles, 440 yard dash and 220 yard dash will qualify for the finals.)

AFTERNOON SCHEDULE

Owls Recruit In Brooklyn

HOUSTON (AP) — Rice head football coach Al Conover says there are other good football prospects at Brooklyn's Jefferson High like Bernardo Paez, but he's not worried about other coaches raiding his recruiting territory.

"The only way to get in there is to know somebody," Conover said of his experiences in recruiting the highly talented 180-pound quarterback, who turned down 200 scholarship offers to choose the Owls.

"It's some experience seeing those kids and how they live," Conover said. "They either have to pay protection or just fight their way to and back from school."

Conover said Paez' head coach had to rely on teachers at the school for his assistants.

"The linebacking coach is the head custodian," he said. "The trainer is the bus driver."

Conover pointed out that NFL rookie of the year John Brockington is an alumnus of Thomas Jefferson. "About a year ago a fire destroyed all of the football uniforms," he said. "Brockington bought them all new uniforms.

"One day I went over there, they were doing drills on cement ... "No kidding. They had shoveled the snow off the cement and were doing agility drills and forward rolls, and everything."

Conover said Paez was the only athlete who could meet Rice's stiff academic standards. He ranked 68th in a class of 622.

Conover said Rice has recruited about 40 athletes and about 20 are from out of state.

Beatle, Wife Hurt In Accident

LONDON (AP) — Beatle George Harrison and his wife Patti have been injured in an auto accident.

Their car struck a barrier dividing a superhighway near London Monday night during a power blackout that doused the highway lighting system.

Harrison, 29, had blood streaming down his face and his wounds were stitched at Maidenhead hospital. Patti, 27, was treated for a concussion.

"They have had a lucky escape," a hospital spokesman said. "The injuries do not appear to be serious."

Astros Have Strong Pitching

COCOA, Fla. (AP) — The Houston Astros pitching staff is potentially the best in the league, Astros pitching coach Jim Owens believes.

"This has a chance to be the best pitching staff I've ever been associated with," Owens said. "It had better be, or I'm in trouble!"

Owens believes Houston's top three pitchers, Don Wilson, Larry Dierker and Dave Roberts are potential 20-game winners.

"I don't think there is any other staff in the league that throws as hard over-all as our's," Owens said. "They may have some harder throwers, but not over-all."

Astros troubleshooter Grady Hatton said; "I'll tell you what I think could be the key to this season. If we start off and have a couple of guys hitting good so that we score some runs, I think that will be the big thing. With a few runs, these pitchers can win."

"Last year the whole team was in a slump at the start and that puts the pressure on the pitchers. It eventually will tell, and can break down your pitching staff."

Wrestler Dies In Obscurity

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The obituary will take up only a couple of lines of agate type. It will say Ivan Vakturoff, 72, passed away over the weekend. People will glance at the name and shrug.

But Ivan Vakturoff wasn't just another old codger. Thirty years ago, he was "Ivan The Terrible, The Mad Russian," and a big name on the professional wrestling circuit.

Ivan fought them all—Gene Stanley, Mr. America, World champ Jim Londos, Jack Taylor, the Canadian champ, Two-Ton Tony Galento, who turned to wrestling after his boxing career was over, and Gorgeous George, among others.

"He didn't brag, but he kept all the clippings and pictures," said Marty Alma, a city employee who met Vakturoff when Ivan's career was just about ending around 1947. Alma was a chief life guard at Coney Island where many wrestlers used to spend their summer days before climbing through the ropes at night.

"He was a nice old guy and we remained friendly," said Alma. "He never had any family and he wasn't really close with anyone."

As the years began creeping up on Ivan, Alma started taking care of the old wrestler. "He didn't talk much about his wrestling but we'd visit each other. After awhile, he couldn't get around very well and I'd go to his house and take care of him."

Three months ago, Ivan, destitute and ailing, entered a nursing home. The only name on his papers was Alma's. "They'd contact me when he was moved from one ward to another. My name followed him. I signed thee papers when he was admitted."

Alma made it a point to visit Vakturoff at least once every week. "He was a lonely old guy. He just wanted someone to talk to."

Last week, the old wrestler's condition deteriorated and Alma was notified. "I got to the hospital at 9 a.m. Friday and stayed until about 2. He was in an oxygen tent. When I got home, they called and said he had passed on."

Social Security and welfare benefits will take care of Vakturoff's funeral. The only mourner will be Alma.

"I'll be there," said Alma. "I was his friend."

Columnist Tells Press Nixon, Kissinger Lied

HOUSTON (AP) — President Richard Nixon, former President Lyndon Johnson and presidential adviser Henry Kissinger all have lied to the American people, syndicated columnist Jack Anderson says.

Anderson, who wrote a series of articles in which he accused the U. S. government of taking opposite stands in private and in public concerning the India-Pakistan War, made his remarks at the Inland Daily Press Association convention Monday.

Anderson, who likes to be called a muckraker, said Nixon called congressional leaders to his office last Dec. 6 and told them the U.S. was neutral in the India-Pakistan war.

"Now you don't like to say the president lied, but there's no other word for it," Anderson said. "The president of the United States lied to the leaders of Congress ....

"It was an outrageous lie, it was a deliberate lie and it was in violation of the Constitution, because that Constitution says that the President is not responsible alone for foreign policy, that the President is supposed to get the advice and consent of Congress.

"Now how can Congress give its advice and consent on a pro-Pakistani policy that they weren't told about? How can Congress give its advice and consent on a policy when the president told them, according to three people who were there, that we were neutral?"

Anderson said Kissinger told newsmen one day that rumors the United States was anti-India were inaccurate and the next day called a secret meeting in the White House and asked, "What is the next turn of the screw against India?"

"What Kissinger said to the press was a lie," Anderson said. "It was a deliberate lie. It was an untruth."

Anderson said Johnson withheld the truth from the American people by saying North Vietnam's attack on American vessels in the Gulf of Tonkin was unprovoked. He said it was clear the attack was provoked.

"Are these evil men?" Anderson asked. "In my opinion, they are patriotic men trying to do what they think is right. LBJ thought he was doing what was best. He wasn't malicious but he was wrong.

"We can't tolerate well-meaning presidents misrepresenting the facts you are entitled to know."

The press association, which represents a circulation of about nine million readers, end today after treasurer, board of directors and membership reports and an awards ceremony.

Delegates spent Monday attending five seminar sessions and took a tour of the Manned Spacecraft Center.

New production processes and equipment were discussed at one seminar. Robert Moyer, assistant general manager of the Trenton, N.J. and Times-Advertiser, presided.

Robert L. Brown, publisher of the Columbia, Ind., Republic and Franklin, Ind., Journal, told of a survey of photocomposition and plate-making material costs.

Joseph F. Hladsky Jr., president and publisher of the Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Gazette, was chairman for a session dealing partly with incentive plans for advertising sales staffs.

Bernard E. Wright, vice president of staff operations for Lindsay Schaub Newspapers, led a panel discussion on Phase II controls on wages.

Eugene R. Lambert, associate publisher of the Duluth, Minn., Herald and News-Tribune, was chairman of a seminar dealing with employe relations.

John B. Torinas, editor and general manager of the Appleton, Wis., Post-Crescent, presided for a session dealing with adapting to consumerism.

Pioneer 10 Posponed

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The liftoff of Pioneer 10 toward Jupiter has been postponed again this time until Wednesday night.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration came within five minutes of launching the explorer rocket Monday night, but a late weather report showed winds of 115 miles per hour 43,000 feet above the launch site.

High altitude winds and a power failure also forced postponment of a planned Sunday night liftoff for Pioneer 10 and its Atlas-Centaur booster rocket.

NASA had hoped to try again tonight, but facilities were tied up at the Cape because the Air Force hoped to launch a spy satellite into orbit early Wednesday.

Corona Files Suit On Sheriff

MARTINEZ, Calif. (AP) — Juan Corona, charged with murder in the hacking deaths of 25 men last year, has sued Sutter County Sheriff Roy E. Whiteaker and 15 others for $350 million damages.

Richard E. Hawk, Corona's lawyer, filed the suit in Contra Costa County Superior Court Monday.

The lawsuit, which seeks $100 million for Corona and $50 million each for his wife and four children, contends the 38-year-old farm labor contractor was arrested "maliciously and without warrant or legal authority of any kind" and that his arrest caused heart injury.

Corona was arrested May 26, 1971, in Yuba City after the hacked and stabbed bodies of the 25 men were found in mass graves. Corona pleaded innocent to the murders and is being held in the Sutter County jail without bail. No trial date has been set pending pretrial motions.

Sixteen Sutter County officials, including Whiteaker and Dist. Atty. G. Dave Teja, were among those named in the suit.

Last August, Sutter County turned down Corona's claim for $100 million damages.

Leap Year To Cost Uncle Sam

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — For their own glorification, Julius Caesar and the emperor Augustus each swiped a day from February. Now if someone had heisted Feb. 29, Uncle Sam would save $115 million today.

That's how much the government pays its employes for working one extra day every four years.

Aha, you say. Most civil servants have an annual salary.

You're wrong. The salary is based on a 52-week year. In an ordinary year they're paid 52 weeks and one day. This year, it's 52 weeks and two days. Another day, another $115 million.

But next fiscal year the government recoups. July 1, the first day, is a Saturday. June 30 next year, the last day, is a Saturday. Fifty-two weeks even. No overrun.

That windfall will be the first two-day drop in what the government calls "compensable days" since the present system was adopted 25 years ago. It won't happen again until the fiscal year 2001—because July 1, 1999, to June 30, 2000, will have the two extra days and the following year none.

Now Caesar and Augustus didn't have savings in mind when they robbed February.

When Romulus made the first Roman calendar he didn't even have February among his 10 months. His successor, Numa Pompilius, added two months but he tacked February onto the end of the year. The name Februarius came from a Latin word meaning "to purify" because it was then the Romans cleansed themselves to prepare for New Year festivals.

Along came Julius Caesar. He plucked out February and put it between January and March. But for such exaltation he exacted a price—one of its 30 days—which he added to July, named for guess who.

Not to be outdone, Augustus also clipped off a day and added it to his month.

Nobody knows how the enchanting legend started that leap year was the time for women to woo men. It predated Women's Lib by at least 700 years.

New Signs For Airport

DALLAS (AP) — The airport which developers say will be the largest in the world also will be the first to use taxiway intersection signs developed with an advanced fibre optics technique.

Vought Aircraft Services Co., a division of LTV Aerospace Corp., has received a $200,000 order for 300 such signs. Final delivery will be in the spring of 1973, months before the airports' July 1973 opening.

"The signs use the fibre optics technique of bending light," explain officials at LTV, where the signs were developed.

"In each sign, a bundle of clear plastics fibres originates from a single light source. The fibres end in an exterior outline of letters, numbers or on the face of the sign," the officials say.

Built to especially withstand strong wind pressures from jumbo jet exhausts, the signs are six feet long and 3½ feet high. Pilots report the new signs have "much greater clarity and readibility, both night and day."

BUTTE BUSINESSES DESTROYED — An explosion in the J. C. Penney Co. building about midnight Sunday touched off flames that destroyed almost a block in uptown Butte destroying 10 businesses. Early loss estimates surpass the $5 million dollar mark. All local volunteer fire departments as well as the city fire department fought the blaze throughout the night. (AP Wirephoto).

NFU Charting New Program

HOUSTON (AP) — The National Farmers Union that was founded by 10 men in Texas 70 years ago is charting a new farm program designed to halt the disappearance of family farms.

Tony Dechant of Denver, Colo., president of the National Union that now represents 250,000 farm families, says the new program would be a turnaround in the nation's farm policies.

Various committeess are studying the proposal during the Union's 70th annual four-day convention that concludes Thursday afternoon with the adoption of a policy statement.

Dechant discussed the new program at a Monday news conference and again at a Monday night awards session.

In addition to continuing committee meetings, today's program included an afternoon panel discussion on the influence of corporations on politics and the economy. Scheduled to participate in the discussions were Govs. William L. Guy, D-N.D., and David Hall, D-Okla.

Dechant said the halting of the disappearance of the family farms would be done by setting a foundation of parity for all farms.

"Under past policies we have sought to stabilize farm prices for all production," he said. "The effect of this has been, unavoidably, to help the largest corporate farms more than the family farms."

He said the program being studied would provide direct payments above market prices for every farm to produce a fully adequate income for family farms.

"It would not continue to subsidize the largest farms at the expense of family-sized farms," he said.

"It would establish supply management as needed for each of the basic commodities, wheat, feed grains, and cotton. The farmer would be guaranteed decent prices for prices for basic production. The plan would not guarantee parity prices for unlimited production."

Under the new plan, he said, all farms would be assisted up to the same level on basic production.

"The determination of this parity foundation would be made in the months ahead by a detailed study of each of the basic commodities," he said. "The important thing is this plan would determine a new direction for American farm policy."

Force Returning

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A mounted police force will return to Philadelphia streets next week for the first time in 20 years, Mayor Frank J. Rizzo said Monday.

16 Injured In Pileup

HOUSTON (AP) — A 26-car pileup on Interstate 10 west of here in dense fog Monday morning injured 16 persons, officers reported.

The fog, which spread throughout Southeast Texas, reduced visibility to near zero on the bridge over the Old and Los Rivers branches of the Trinity River.

One person was injured seriously. He is Bill Cleveland, 55, of Beaumont, driver of the first car in the series of collisions.

Others hurt in the crash were treated and dismissed at nearby hospitals.

Chambers County Deputy Sheriff Willie Kilgore said the accident began when Cleveland's car stopped crosswise on the bridge and a second car ran into it. Cleveland's vehicle then caught fired and exploded.

There were two large pileups, officers said. The first of 11 cars was in the middle of the bridge and the second of about 15 cars was just off the bridge.

The second pileup occurred as drivers tried to avoid the first one, officers said.

The westbound lane of the bridge, where the pileups occurred, was blocked for about three hours before wreckers could pull the two piles of wrecked automobiles onto a grassy hillside on the west end of the bridge, officers said.

Economic Stabilization Questions and Answers

Internal Revenue Service

This column of questions and answers on the President's Economic Stabilization Program is provided by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service. The column answers questions most frequently asked about wages and prices.

★ ★ ★

Q. I'm a new car dealer. Can I comply with Price Commission posting requirements by posting the "sticker price" of cars sold during the base period?

A. No. You must post your actual sales price during the base period. The actual price for a new automobile may be considerably less than the "sticker price" and may vary from dealer to dealer.

Q. What factors are considered when an exemption from wage-price controls is made?

A. Among the factors considered in making an exemption are:

1) The objectives and requirements of the stabilization program;

2) Whether the economic sector is characterized by a large number of sellers and frequent price fluctuations, with a minimum of inflationary pressure;

3) Whether international transactions are involved or whether, in some special situations such as insurance, domestic firms would be at a disadvantage with respect to international competition because of economic controls on price increases;

4) Whether there is a clear basis for establishing a fair and equitable price because of the nature of the product and the selling process;

5) Whether prices are self-assessed or characterized by a strong element of mutuality;

6) Whether other controls have been established by law or by other regulatory agencies;

7) Whether other nonexempt sectors will serve as an effective restraint on an exempt sector; and

8) Considerations of administration and enforcement, including the ability to effectively enforce the controls in sectors with significant inflationary impact.

Q. I know that raw agricultural products are exempt from price controls, but how do you know what is considered to be a "raw agricultural product"?

A. Agricultural products which retain their original physical form and have not been processed are exempt from price controls. Processed agricultural products, namely, those which have been canned, frozen, slaughtered, milled, or otherwise changed in their physical form, are not exempt. Packaging is not considered a processing activity. Thus, while fresh potatoes, packaged or not, are exempt from controls, frozen french fries are not; while live cattle are exempt, steak cuts are not.

Q. Do firms who are required to prenotify or report their price increases have any protection for trade secrets that might be revealed to the Price Commission?

A. Yes. Under recent amendments to the Economic Stabilization Act of 1970, such information is considered confidential. It may be disclosed only to other Stabilization personnel for the purpose of carrying out the Economic Stabilization Program or when relevant in any proceeding under the Act.

Q. If a firm has a range of salaries for the same job what wage or salary can be paid to a new employee?

A. The employee may be paid any salary within the range which the qualifications of the applicant justify as long as the annual aggregate increase paid by the firm in this job classification does not exceed the 5.5 percent standard set by the Pay Board.

Q. Are firms with annual sales or revenues of $50 million or more that have to prenotify or report to the Price Commission subject to spot checking by the IRS as the smaller firms are?

A. Yes. Both large and small firms may be subject to spot checking by the IRS to determine if they are complying with Price Commission regulations.

WTC Enrollment Hits Peak Of 737

Spring semester enrollment at Western Texas College in Snyder reached 737, it was announced this week by Dr. Ben Brock, dean of the college.

Fall enrollment at WTC, a new two-year community college, was 732. Students enrolled for college credit in the spring number 612, compared with 649 in the fall semester. Increases in other programs were noted, with 41 enrolled in the high school area vocational school, compared with 36 in the fall; 45 in the community service program and 11 in the fall; 39 in the adult basic education program and 36 in the fall.

In the college credit courses, 460 are classified as freshmen; 70 as sophomores; and 40 unclassified.

Scurry County, with 383, has the largest number of students. Other counties and the number of students enrolled are Mitchell, 44; Nolan, 25; Fisher, 15; Kent, 11; Garza, 10; Jones, 10; Lubbock, 7; Dawson, 5; Borden, 5. Other counties have from 1 to 5 students enrolled. Four students are from out of state, and one is from a foreign country.

Oldest student is 65, with the youngest 16. Average age is 26.1. Of the students enrolled for college credit, the majority are in the 18-21 age group, with 190 male students and 108 female students enrolled. In the age breakdown, the next largest group is found in the 26-40 group, with 69 male students and 60 female students enrolled.

Ten buildings are completed on the campus, with the Learning Resource Center-Library scheduled for completion within the next two weeks. A 192-bed dormitory will be completed in August. Bids for the Student Center and Health and Physical Education complex will be opened April 4, according to Rex Hopkins, business manager.

An open house for the fine arts center and the academic-science center will be held Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m.

Price Of Beef Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supermarket beef prices rose three cents a pound in January, including a sharp gain in what farmers get for cattle, according to the Agriculture Department.

A USDA report Monday said choice beef cost consumers a record $1.11 per pound last month, compared with $1.08 in December. Of that, farmers got 82.5 cents compared with 80.3 in December. Compared with a year earlier they received nearly 23 per cent more for their share of what consumers paid.

Department economists have predicted net farm income will rise this year to a record level, largely because of higher livestock prices.

The breakdown of what farmers receive from the supermarket was included in a "market basket" report on food prices. The market basket is a list of commodities used to show how much it costs to feed a typical family for one year.

At January's rate, the market basket cost $1,275 compared with $1,268 in December. The farmers' share in January was $512 compared with $491 in December. The middleman share in January was $763 compared with $775 in December.

Pork prices also went up last month to a retail average of 76.3 cents per pound, with the farmer getting 44.1 cents.

In December, the retail price averaged 72.9 cents, with farmers getting 37.1 cents.

The farmers' share of each dollar consumers spent on food last month was 40.2 cents compared with 38.7 cents in January and 37.5 cents a year earlier, the department said.

Valentine Misses Birthday

By F. RICHARD CICCONE
Associated Press Writer

HARRISTOWN, Ill. (AP) — As a Leap Year baby, Valentine Nix should be celebrating his 20th birthday today at the age of 80—right?

Wrong!

Nix was born in 1892 and his second birthday—by Leap Year standards a birthday every four years—would have been Feb. 29, 1900. Only there wasn't any Feb. 29 that year.

The reason we have Leap Year, anyway, is that a true year—one revolution of the earth around the sun—is 365¼ days long. Adding an extra day in February every fourth year takes care of the extra one-fourth day.

Only the World Almanac notes that a true solar year isn't precisely 365¼ days. It's actually 11 minutes and 14 seconds less than 365¼ days. By the time a few centuries roll by, that's quite a few extra minutes. No one worried about it too much because no one knew about it until 730 A.D. when the Venerable Bede, an Anglo-Saxon monk, told the world.

But no one did anything until 1582 when Pope Gregory XIII was told that all those minutes had produced a 10-day surplus.

The Pope solved the problem by declaring the day following Oct. 4, 1582 would be called Oct. 15, 1582.

To avoid similar problems in the future, calendar makers decided that three of every four centesimal years—those marking the turn of a century, would be common rather than leap years and therefore have no Feb. 29.

Thus, Nix missed a Leap Year birthday in 1900.

Taxpayers Get Two Extra Days This Year

(Editors: Following is the second in a series of five articles entitled "Coping With Your Income Tax." They were written to help taxpayers prepare their 1971 tax returns.)

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — When you're ready to stare Form 1040 in the face this year, take a hint from veteran tax filers: Be prepared.

This will mean spending several hours of boning up on federal tax regulations before plunging into the actual job of calculating your 1971 federal income tax.

Source material for your research is plentiful. If you don't want to buy one of the tax handbooks, try your local Internal Revenue Service office. There are free booklets covering most tax questions.

If your tax problems are minor and your deductions not too extensive, the informational booklet mailed with your Form 1040 should be adequate.

In addition, the IRS sells for 75 cents its popular "Your Federal Income Tax," available at most post offices and IRS offices throughout the country.

Here are some of the simpler things that must be remembered:

The filing deadline is April 17. That's two days later than usual, and it's because the customary April 15 deadline falls on a Saturday this year. Returns must be either in the hands of IRS or postmarked by midnight on that date.

Don't forget to sign the return and list your Social Security number. If it's a joint return, your spouse's signature and Social Security number are required.

Clip your W-2 forms to the back of Form 1040, another simple but necessary task.

Most taxpayers who filed returns a year ago have been mailed a booklet containing all the necessary forms. The IRS has retained the gummed label this year. Peel it from the instruction book cover and place it in the address area of Form 1040. If there are changes, such as a new address, make them right on the label.

Form 1040 is a basic two-page return, but if you itemize deductions or sold stock, you will have to add pages to the basic form using IRS, "building block" method.

The most important change in the tax law for 1971 is an increase in the personal exemption from $650 to $675. For 1972, the exemption is scheduled to go to $750.

Although the filing requirements will be changed effective in 1972, for 1971, and that's what counts now, they are the same as they were a year ago.

If you're single and under 65, you must file a return if you earned $1,700 in 1971. For married couples living together and entitled to file jointly, the filing requirement is $2,300.

If you're 65 and over, you can add another $600 in each case. So, if a husband and a wife filing a joint return are both over 65, the filing requirement is $3,500.

For married people filing separately, the filing requirement is $600.

Those who have criticized the income tax surcharge in past years will be glad to know that it has finally disappeared. In 1970, it was figured at 2.5 per cent.

What you are aiming for first in the mass of calculations is adjusted gross income.

For many taxpayers all this amounts to is total pay—not take-home pay—minus such things as sick pay, moving expenses, travel expenses and payments to self-employment retirement programs. If these adjustments are claimed, you must file a special form for each.

If there's a lesson to be learned in filing returns, it's that itemizing your deductions usually pays off, especially if you own a home, carry substantial debt, give a lot to charity, pay heavy state and local taxes and have high child care or medical expenses.

Such outlays are deductible if you itemize, meaning they can be subtracted in whole or in part from your income, thus decreasing the amount of it on which you will have to pay taxes.

If this is too much trouble for you or if itemizing is not profitable, you can take the standard deduction.

In general, it is the higher of 13 per cent of your adjusted gross income or the low-income allowance of $1,050. It cannot exceed $1,500 however. The standard deduction will be increased effective with the 1972 tax year.

GRAND OLD PACHYDERMS — Some of 19 elephants purchased from Billy Smart's Circus in England, come ashore from the Atlantic Champagne at Port Elizabeth, N. J., Sunday. Pickle Discusses Energy Shortages

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The brownouts that have occurred in the United States due to energy shortages may turn into blackouts unless plans are made for the future, says Rep. J. J. Pickle D-Tex.

The Austin congressman issued the statement in conjunction with an announcement that he will be among the speakers at an Energy Conservation Forum here March 14-16.

"We saw how Great Britain was nearly paralyzed by the energy shortage," Pickle said. "One and a half million people were unemployed by the coal strike."

In the larger and more industrial U. S. society, "we operate on a thin margin of energy which is subject to disputes and natural disasters," he said.

"Imagine the consequences if our energy wanes away through neglect and unwillingness to recognize a problem before it becomes acute or even terminal," Pickle continued. "It will be our fault. We must plan for the conservation of energy now."

Pickle is sponsoring a bill that would stabilize contracts on well head gas rates to encourage further exploration and development.

The conservation meeting, which will cover oil, gas, coal, electricity, nuclear power and energy conservation, is sponsored by an organization known as the Group to Advance Total Energy and by Southwest Research Institute of San Antonio.

The long list of speakers includes Dr. Frederick Wall, executive director of the American Chemical Society; Stephen Wakefield, assistant secretary for energy programs in the Interior Department; and Gerald Leighton, chief of utilities systems research in the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Most Candidates Pay Fee

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The $400 filing fees imposed by Secretary of State Bob Bullock for statewide political races have not scared off many candidates who filed for office.

As of Monday's deadline for paying the fees, only six of the 51 Democrats and one Republican still had not paid.

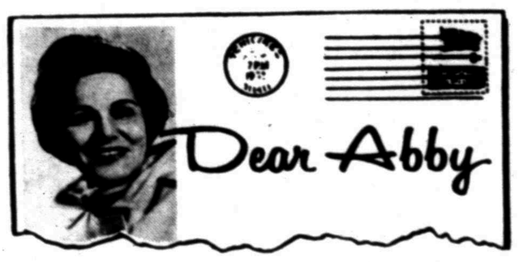

At least two Democrats said they were seeking other means of getting on the May 6 primary ballots.

Raymond Donley Jr., an Austin real estate man who announced for governor, said he planned to present State Democratic headquarters a nominating petition by the March 6 deadline in lieu of his filing fee.

George Clark of Natalia has requested a court order putting him on the ballot as a gubernatorial candidate without a filing fee.

She can't break the Christmas gift cycle

By Abigail Van Buren

(c 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I sure do agree with "Sick of Christmas." And your advice on how to break the endless cycle of giving gifts to relatives and friends you never see was the only sensible solution.

We tried to do it in our family three years ago. We all said, "Okay, no more Christmas presents!" Then at Christmastime here comes my husband's sister with gifts for everybody! Then we all had to rush out and buy her and her family something. I could have kicked her in the teeth!

Right now I have four waffle irons, five electric blankets, and three steam irons that have never been out of their original boxes. I won't even tell you how many bottles of perfume and toilet water I have stuck away on my shelf. What's wrong with people, Abby?

Why can't they be more sensible?

ALSO SICK OF CHRISTMAS

DEAR ALSO: They? You should give to the needy—not the greedy. Why don't you give some of those duplicate gifts to some poor soul who could use them?

DEAR ABBY: We work in a large, busy office where 14 girls are employed. During the year, many salesmen call on our boss. When the boss is tied up we girls will make small talk with these salesmen to make their waiting more pleasant.

Around Christmastime many salesmen send us presents, we assume, to show their appreciation for making them feel at home in our office. Last year there were 14 boxes of chocolates, and as many bottles of good perfume, but these gifts were sent to "the company" and not addressed to us girls individually, so the boss took everything home to his wife!

Our question: What do we say to these salesmen who come in and ask us how we liked their presents?

THE OFFICE GIRLS

DEAR GIRLS: Ask, "What presents?"

DEAR ABBY: I think you owe us beauty operators an apology! One grabby hairdresser wrote to say she would much rather get a few dollars from each of her patrons for Christmas than some of those costly, but useless doo-dads she receives. And you agreed it would be nicer.

Well, we are six hairdressers who are insulted. We welcome any gift from a patron. After all, it's the thought that counts at Christmas.

ANGRY WITH ABBY

DEAR ANGRY: Sorry. Please read on:

DEAR ABBY: I heartily agree with that hairdresser who said she'd prefer a gift of cash at Christmas.

I am a secretary-bookkeeper for two gentlemen who have a thriving business. Each year one of their wives selects a Christmas gift for me, and I have yet to receive one that I can use.

One year it was a tablecloth, purchased on one of their trips to Europe. It was expensive, I am sure, but I neither needed nor wanted it. Nor did it fit my table. Of course, I couldn't return it.

Another year I received a piece of modern sculpture, also purchased abroad. I didn't care for it, but couldn't return that, either.

A gift of cash, even a more modest amount than the price of either gift, would have been so much more appreciated.

PREFERS CASH IN N. Y. C.

DEAR ANGRY AND PREFERS: My mail ran two to one in favor of cash!

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Glasses Said To Be Girl's

HOUSTON (AP) — A pair of gold-rimmed glasses found amid human remains in a Pearland field Friday was identified positively Monday as belonging to a 13-year-old girl who disappeared Nov. 9.

Dr. M. H. Rockoff, an optometrist, said he fitted Allison Craven with the glasses in February of 1971. "The specifications, facial measurements and prescription are identical," he said. "There is no doubt that these glasses were those I prescribed for her."

Chief Deputy Loyd Frazier of the Harris County Sheriff's Department said positive identification of the remains could not be made until the county medical examiner's office can compare teeth found at the Pearland site with Miss Craven's dental record.

The grim discovery Friday was the ninth such in the Houston-Galveston area since last summer. Eight of the nine bodies have been of teen-aged girls and the partial skeleton of a teen-aged boy also has been found.

No suspects have been arrested.

Friday's discovery added to the mystery of the girl's disappearance from her family's apartment near the Gulf Freeway in southern Houston.

On Jan. 29 some human bones were found in a 22-acre field adjacent to her apartment. Additional bones were discovered Feb. 5 and Feb. 20.

Deputies have always feared that the bones were of Miss Cravens but lacked enough to make identification possible.

The remains found Friday in Pearland were in a field about five miles from the 22-acre field.

Frazier said the speculation among officers is that remains at both locations are from the same person.

Trudeau Outburst Brings Protest

OTTAWA (AP) — Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau has become embroiled in a dispute again over his vocabulary.

"That was your goddamned question," Trudeau fired back Monday during a discussion in Parliament over employment with Conservative leader Robert Stanfield.

Trudeau's outburst immediately caused a howl from members of Parliament, who demanded that the prime minister's remark be recorded.

Last year the opposition accused Trudeau of using a four-letter word in a heated Parliament debate. Trudeau contended, however, that all he had said was "fuddle-duddle."
