Coolidge Would Outlaw War

Thousands Brave Norther To See Society Horse Show

EQUINE ELITE PERFORM FOR CROWD OF 4,000

Interest of Large Throng Gripped By Unusual Event

POLO TRIALS SHOWY

Fast Animals Thrill Crowds With Brisk Movement

A biting norther whistled through the stands; 4,000 persons shivered but a score or more horses of blue-blooded stock pranced and champed—putting the warmth of enthusiasm into themselves, then riders and spectators, to comprise the Society Horse show of Tuesday's Texas-Oklahoma fair.

Last night's event was more than attractive. It was unique for most of the crowd that filled the grand stand with what was perhaps the largest night throng of the show. Horses bred and trained for exhibit purposes alone have come to be something of a rarity in this section where utility means so much. Hence the various gaits in which the sleek and well groomed animals walked, paced, cantered, racked and gripped interest of the throng intensley.

To these steps were added the novelty for many at least, of Tuxedo-attired riders; or riders clad in the up-to-the minute riding toggery.

Polo Trials Popular.

The polo pony trials, especially, drew attention because of their action. In these, the various contestants were put through all the motions of dashing after a speeding polo pellet; stopping short; wheeling, dashing in the opposite direction, dodging, spurting, dipping, rearing.

Between events vaudeville diversions were offered on the stage in front of the grand stand, and the Theart-Duffield pyrotechnic display was as large and gorgeous as ever.

DAVY'S LOCKER STILL HOLDS SUB VICTIMS

Lonely Buoy Marks Spot Where 33 Men Lost Lives

U. S. SUBMARINE BASE, NEW LONDON, Conn., Oct. 6.—(AP)—Leaving behind them only a single light buoy rolling in the swell to mark the place where the ill-fated submarine, S-51, went to the bottom of the sea off Block Island, the steamship Camden, flagship of the rescue fleet and the salvage ship Chittenden with its crew of divers withdrew from the scene tonight.

Work of recovering the bodies which may be in the wreck and of salvaging the submarine, was suspended pending orders from Washington. The Camden returned to the base here and the Chittenden proceeded to New York.

FEUD THEORY INJECTED IN MARTIN CASE

Plot To Murder Defendant Is Hinted By Attorney

DALLAS, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Seven jurors had been selected when Judge Charles A. Pippen's court recessed this afternoon, in the trial of W. A. Martin, alleged slayer of Deputy Sheriff R. B. Parsons at Denton on August 6.

Hatred alleged to underlie the killing came to the surface in the trial preliminaries today. The feud theory was injected into the case in open court when Maury Hughes, attorney for the defense, referred to testimony he intends to offer, which he said would show some one had been paid money to have the defendant, Martin, killed. Instantly District Attorney Cox objected to questions the defense put the prospective jurors in the feud connection. Judge Pippen sustained the objection and the flash of sensational allusions was smothered for the time being.

Sharp objection was registered by District Attorney Cox at several attempts of defense council to bring up again, as on Monday, the "bitter political strife of Denton county politics" while prospective jurors were under examination. Judge Pippen ruled with Mr. Cox in each instance and during the session no further reference was made to this phase of the defendant's prospective line of testimony.

Martin, the defendant, and his brother seated beside him, were visibly excited by the heated colloquy and the crowd in the court room strained forward to catch every word of the argument.

Prospective jurors were questioned by defense attorneys as to their attitude on the Texas suspended sentence law in cases where the defendant's life has been threatened.

The seven jurors selected are:
O. H. Hale, street car inspector.
C. D. Carr, cement plant employe.
W. E. Nelson, business man.
J. A. Knight, carpenter.
Dale Nelson, farmer.
W. L. Hall, broom manufacturer.
Sixty-two veniremen were examined.

JERSEYS SELL AT LOW PRICE AT T-O AUCTION

Picked Herd Is Put On Block By Cleburne Men

KEMP IS HIGH BIDDER

Buys Fine Milk Producer In Spirited Auction Contest

Prices which, on the whole, averaged low in consideration of the quality of stock put on the block, prevailed Tuesday at the registered Jersey cattle sale at the Texas-Oklahoma fair. Twenty-nine animals were knocked down and every one went to a Wichita Falls or a Wichita county bidder. A number of mail bids were received, some from as far away as Indiana, but in view of the heavy buying locally all the animals were allowed to stay here.

The stock was sold by Brown and McDonald and Brown Bros. Jersey cattle breeders of Cleburne. Emmet Brown and Otto McDonald of the former firm were here in charge of the cattle supplied by them, while Ira S. and Ben W. Brown represented the latter firm. About half the animals were supplied by Brown and McDonald and the other half by Brown Brothers.

Was Picked Herd.

Those put on the block were picked out earlier in the year by Carl Williamson of this city and Prof. J. W. Ridgeway of A. & M. college who went as a committee representing the Texas-Oklahoma fair to the Cleburne farms of the breeders.

J. A. Kemp paid the highest price for any animal. His bid of $177.50 won Raliegh Maid Sultane, a heavy milk producer. She is about five and a half years old. Mr. Kemp won after a spirited bidding which ran the price up from a $75 start. J. T. Harrell and several others stuck in to the last but finally dropped out. Mr.

America Losing Its Culture, Its Homes and Its Religion, He Says

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 6.—(AP)—Modern materialism has gripped Americans and dwarfed, stunted and, narrowed their spiritual lives. This assertion was made in the address of the Rev. Jacob H. Goldner of Cleveland, Ohio, president of the diamon jubilee convention of the Disciples of Christ, here today. The address was the feature of the first session of the international convention opening here.

"The fault of modern civilization is not that the physical progress of the race and modern science have moved so rapidly, but that religion has moved so slowly. Our material progress has outdistanced our spiritual development. The scientist debates more industriously than the seer. The inventors, engineers, bankers, builders and industrialists have out run the prophets, priests, evangelists and teachers. Skyscrapers and factories have multiplied more rapidly than tabernacles and cathedrals.

"Lost Our Poise."

"We have not been living upon a well-balanced diet. Our development has been unsymmetrical. We have lost our poise. When material good is made an end instead of a means it becomes a menace. Now we see that the fruits of science are not sufficient for all our needs. After our adventures and debauch in materialism we are experiencing disillusionment and disappointment.

"Our materialistic emphasis and success have produced an economic condition whose blight is seen in every department of life. In our educational program the utilarian ideal is gaining ground while the cultural and spiritual values are retreating. Our institutions of learning are forced to produce money-getters instead of young men and women of culture and grace, versed in the humanities. It need not surprise us if colleges and universities, responding to the spirit of the times, send forth educated pagans.

Real Homes Scarce.

"This materialism has invaded our homes. A genuine home is hard to find. Such is the economic pressure that the number of families pigeon-holed in apartments is growing at a rate that is significant and serious. Husbands and wives, living at the high tension that the speed standards and modern competition demand come home at night with 'nerves.'

"Young couples marry and in order they may keep up the present pace, the bride continues at her job. They stay in furnished rooms, eat at restaurants and out of tin cans.

Evade Rearing Family.

"They delay or evade the rearing of a family. They fail to found a home. The home used to be the basic institution of our American life.

"Our churches are reflecting the materialistic spirit of our times to an alarming degree. The minister they want must be 'a good organizer,' 'a live wire,' 'a hustler,' 'a boomer,' 'a booster,' 'a good mixer,' 'a money getter,' 'a good advertiser,' whether he knows God and the Bible or not."

The address by Dr. Goldner and memorial service led by the Rev. J. B. Bryney of Kansas City occupied virtually all of the initial session.

Actual business of the convention is to start tomorrow.

Mr. Bryney is a veteran minister of 80 years. For 15 minutes he held the convention in utter silence, speaking in a sharp, clear voice unaffected by the years.

At the conclusion of his address, Mr. Bryney introduced Mrs. Elizabeth W. Ross, "mother of the brotherhood," who presided throughout the remainder of the session.

Mrs. Ross is vice president of the convention. She is 73 years old.

A definite movement was launched immediately after the convention opened to support Dr. Ernest C. Mobley of Oklahoma City for the presidency of the next international convention. Dr. Mobley was given most of the credit for bringing the convention to Oklahoma City this year.

JUDGE DENIES HE TOOK SLAM AT BANK BOARD

Hamilton and Hatcher In Quibble Over Austin Grand Jury Charge

AUSTIN, Oct. 6.—(AP)—A letter of State Treasurer W. Gregory Hatcher Tuesday to District Judge James R. Hamilton, asserting Judge Hamilton's charge to the Travis county grand jury had been "a great injustice to all members of the banking board, the treasurer in particular," was answered by Judge Hamilton in a statement that his charge "had not the remotest reference to the treasury department or banking board, but dealt with previous cases of tax collectors delinquent in remitting state money."

AUSTIN, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Exception is taken in a letter by W. Gregory Hatcher, state treasurer, today to the address of Judge James R. Hamilton of the criminal district court of Travis county, to the grand jury Monday. The treasurer charges that the judge's address printed in part in state papers, did the banking board and the treasurer, particularly, a grave injustice.

Mr. Hatcher denies that $3,000,000 has been placed in the treasury since he assumed office by a preceding grand jury, as the judge is reported to have said. The judge told the grand jury to investigate state offices and financial affairs of the state.

THE WEATHER

"I bet even policemen would be scared of Papa when his face gets red like when he's tellin' Mamma we'll have to economize."

LYRICS OF LIFE.
By Douglas Malloch.
To Handle Husbands.

Husbands are hard to manage, I admit,
But more than will it needs a woman's wit,
And having had success (no, not with men
But other brutes I handled now and then),
I'll take a chance, advise you wives a bit,
A chance I'll likely never take again.

Husbands resemble horses lots of ways,
And I drove horses in my younger days:
And I saw those who always used the whip,
Who always held the reins in such a grip
No horse would dare to right or left to gaze—
And that I call the poorest horsemanship.

For, driving horses, let me say it, wives,
He drives the best who very little drives.
A horse is rather proud to pull a load
If not too much reminded of the goal.
What does it matter if the load arrives,
If he or you selected all the road!

Some horses stumble, husbands stumble, too,
Yet find their feet, or nearly always do.
Tighten the reins a little, if you may,
But give them courage with the words you say
For there have been some drivers that I knew
Who plied the whip, and had a runaway.

"CONTRACT" ON ROAD WORK IS ONLY A LETTER

Was Called "Supplement" To Original Agreement

HOUSTON, Oct. 6.—Counsel for plaintiffs in the highway litigation now being heard in sixty-first district court were evidently driving Tuesday for a preponderance of evidence to establish the allegation of excessive cost of road work under the Sherman and Loumans' contract.

All day long Tuesday witnesses compared and recompared the square yard price, 32 cents, in the Sherman and Loumans' contract with the prices the county could have let jobs upon under the cheaper specifications prevailing in state highway work.

H. F. Menger, a rock dealer, Robert Breed of an asphalt firm, Charles A. Wood, supervisor for Haden and Austin, road contractors and H. L. Washburn, county auditor and purchasing agent, all gave expert testimony on road work costs aimed to show the excessive price of the contract at issue.

Along late in the afternoon after the missing and so-called mysterious "supplemental contract" had been "found" and passed around the counsel table, reporters were allowed access to it. As had been reported, it proved to be a letter from the Sherman and Youmans company to Frank Lanham, chairman of the state highway commission, specifying certain agreements considered ambiguous in the original contract.

Found in Papers.

It was "discovered" in a voluminous file of papers pertinent to the case at bar. Search of the file failed to disclose, however, any letter from Lanham or any other member of the highway to Sherman and Youmans requesting the "supplemental contract." Nor was any acknowledgement or confirmation of it found in the files and neither was there any consideration shown or specified in the supplemental correspondence.

County Auditor Washburn, the last witness of the day, was called to testify concerning analysis of bids accepted by the county for asphalt topping of highways upon a calculation of the state specifications governing the Sherman and Youmans' contract.

Work Worth 16.5 Cents.

Mr. Washburn had made but one such analysis, that on the Goose Creek-Baytown road contract let by the county. He said that applying the state's highway specifications to that job it would have been possible for the county to have let the work at a cost of 16.5 cents a square yard.

Mr. Washburn's testimony on this point corroborated other testimony given by County Engineer Wise, Charles A. Wood and others and was held by counsel for plaintiff to substantiate its allegations in the petition for injunction stopping operation of Sherman and Youmans under its 32-cent contract.

Miss Bailey had been prominent at the college on account of her literary work, particularly in poetry.

RACE HATRED SCORED BEFORE LEGION MEET

Deplores Wave of Religious Intolerance In Country

VETS CHEER SPEECH

President Pleads For International Good Will

OMAHA, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Appealing to America to take the lead in prevention of war, President Coolidge declared here today that there can be no assurance of lasting peace until racial hatreds are supplanted by international good will and tolerance. His plea was made before the American Legion convention where he was cheered repeatedly as he read a carefully prepared speech.

An ovation was accorded the president during a crowded ten hour stay here which was climaxed by a review of thousands of world veterans. For two hours he watched the parade, protected somewhat in a covered stand from a chilly wind and the marchers were still filing by when he made a hurried departure to board a train for Washington.

During his convention address which was heard by more than 7,000 men and women crowded into the municipal auditorium, the president sought to emphasize his remarks, particularly so when he deplored the wave of religious intolerance which he said had swept the country and when he declared that in preparing the nation for emergencies, military power must be subordinated to civil authority.

Signs of Intolerance.

"Divine providence has not bestowed upon any race a monopoly of patriotism and character," asserted Mr. Coolidge, recalling that during the war "no man's patriotism was impunged or service questioned because of his racial origin, his political opinion, or his religious convictions."

"Thanks to our comparative isolation," continued the president, "we have known less of internal friction and rivalries than some other countries less fortunately situated. But among some of the varying racial, religious, and social groups of our people there have been manifestations of an intolerance of opinion, a narrowness of outlook, a fixity of judgment, against which we may well be warned."

Nearing the end of his address, the president, with his audience listening attentively declared that America can be made first in the true sense only by cultivating a spirit of friendship and good will by the exercise of the virtues of patience and forbearance, by being "plenteneous in mercy" and through progress at home and helpfulness abroad standing as an example of real service to humanity.

War Is Fruitless.

"It is for these reasons," he continued, "that it seems clear that the results of the war will be lost and we shall only be entering a period of preparation for another conflict unless we can demobilize the racial antagonisms, fears, hatreds and suspicions and create an attitude of toleration in the public mind of the peoples of the earth."

A cold drizzling rain was falling when the presidential party left its train here after a 40-hour ride covering 1,300 miles from Washington. Thousands of spectators in the open stands, across the street from the president, had difficulty keeping warm.

Before going to the reviewing stand, Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge attended a luncheon given in their honor by Omaha citizens and legion officials at the Omaha club. Finding they were unable to remain for the entire parade, the president and Mrs. Coolidge entered an automobile and moved slowly toward the end of the line to wave a greeting to delegations yet to pass the reviewing stand.

The presidential train is due in Washington Thursday morning.

Minister Given Poison, Is Claim

LOCARNO, Switzerland, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Rumors filled Locarno today to the effect that Dr. Stresemann, the German foreign minister, was not ill from a fever caused by the change in climate as announced, but rather as the result of administration of poison by political enemies.

Spokesmen for the German delegation continued indignantly to deny the stories, declaring that poisoning was impossible as Dr. Stresemann had brought his own cook from Berlin and all the food served him had been carefully scrutinized.

RUM RUNNER IS FORMER NAVY ACADEMY MAN

Newspaper Says Capt. H. W. Lyon Is Son of a Retired Admiral

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—(AP).—The San Francisco Examiner today identifies Captain Henry W. Lyon, who was taken from the yacht Lady Lou by prohibition officials after a chase, as a former student of the naval academy at Annapolis and the son of a retired admiral of the United States navy.

Captain Lyon claimed that he was running a load of liquor from Monterey to San Francisco "for a party" when shots from a coast guard vessel halted him 20 miles south of the San Francisco harbor, federal officials said.

The Examiner says Captain Lyon is the son of grandson of admirals of the United States and sacrificed his own naval career through an escapade at Annapolis a week before his graduation day. After that he was graduated from Columbia university, New York city.

Since then the Examiner story continues, his life has been one of seafaring adventures.

Tulsa Congress Discusses Deeper Than 6,000-ft Drilling Tuesday

BEND ARCH IS ELIMINATED IN HEALD'S TALK

Characterizes Gulf Coast As "Bottomless Area"

"MOTHER POOL" MYTH

Temperature of 250 Degrees Likely At 10,000 Feet

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 6.—The turnout Tuesday to the second day' sessions of the international petroleum congress, held here in connection with the third annual international petroleum exposition, nearly filled the auditorium to hear a number of more or less technical talks, as well as an address by former Governor Henry J. Allen of Kansas, of "Henry and Me" and industrial court fame.

Probably most interesting, because it attempted to vision the future, was the address of K. C. Heald, chairman studies in petroleum geology, national research council, on "Deep Drilling."

Deep Drilling Area.

Deep drilling, below 6,000 feet, will probably be confined to southern states, parts of the Rocky mountain states, California, western Oklahoma and western Kansas, Mr. Heald said, with the Gulf Coast region particularly favored. Southwest Texas, North Central Texas in the Central Bend Arch, Northeast Texas and the "big lime high" along the Red river in North Texas were eliminated after a careful study of requirements. He termed the Gulf Coast as a "bottomless area."

Heat and pressure, and the affect of these on the underground sands which are oil bearing in shallower formations, and the movement of the earth's crust and its affect on subsurface formations, were among these requirements. At 10,000 feet, Mr. Heald said the temperature would likely be about 260 degrees Fahrenheit, with possibility that in anticlinal structures favorable for oil accumulation, the heat may be doubled.

Deep Sand Oil.

He also asserted deep sands will contain far less oil than those at shallower depths, but the oil is likely to contain much more gasoline. He branded as a myth the idea that a "mother pool" may be found below showings.

The fourth great use of petroleum, as a fuel, was discussed by Edward P. Bailey, treasurer, National Airoil Burner company, who said the oil burner industry had furnished an outlet for the low grade residium of refined crude, formerly "thrown into rivers on dark nights." He appealed to the oil industry for uniform specifications for certain oils which may be used by burners, because of variable need for many burners due to varying grades of oils.

Venezuelan Oil.

Venezuelan oil can now be shipped to the Atlantic seaboard of the United States at a cost of about 60 cents a barrel, in competition with those states supplying those refineries, asserted Senor Manuel Gonzales, official representative, one of the morning's speakers.

Present production of Venezuela is about 60,000 barrels daily and the above transportation cost is being constantly lowered with farther exploitation. Sr. Gonzales outlined the government's requirements, which he characterized as quite liberal, and said fourteen companies own and are operating there, while thirteen or more hold blocks of acreage.

One of the biggest achievements of the petroleum chemist has been the standardization of methods of testing petroleum products, R. R. Mathews, who spoke before the congress, said. He talked on the subject, "The Service of Chemistry in the Development of the Petroleum Industry." He outlined the progress of the chemist in the petroleum industry to his present firm status.

D. M. Strickland, research engineer, the American Rolling Mill Co., Middletown, Ohio, discussed "Rust and Corrosion" and the economy of pure iron in the oil industry.

News of the Fields

Burns, Longley

L. T. Burns No. 1, Longley, in east Archer county, has started deeper, after testing oil sand below 1,000 feet and showing dry.

Throckmorton County

Schimmel et al. No. 1, Stacey, about 10 miles south of the town of Throckmorton, Throckmorton county, on the north line of section 1614, T. E. & L. Co. survey, has encountered an oil bearing lime below a depth of 4,100 feet. The well is reported showing considerable oil and gas from the stratum and to have made several good flows.

Waite Phillips, Turbeville

Waite Phillips No. 1, Turbeville, wildcat located in block 124, Harrison subdivision of the Club ranch northwest of the Pease district and south of the Sunshine pool, is down 1,175 feet and drilling.

The R. Q. Jones location north of the old Oil Investment company dry hole, Sellars survey, is a still a location, nothing having started yet.

Waite Phillips, Wilson

Waite Phillips has set and cemented casing at a depth of 1,717 feet in his No. 4-B, Wilson, Benjamin Howard survey, south of the 2-B, good well of a few weeks ago, south of Mankins, northwest Archer county.

No. 3-B, has been completed and swabbed about 325 barrels from sand below 1,700 feet. It is beiig placed on the pump.

No. 2-A, offsetting the 2-B to the west developed about fifty barrels on the pump.

Trio District

Trio Oil company has put ts well on the east line, about the center of the northeast quarter of block 158, Brom farm, on the pump, for production.

The east offset, Texas company's lease, is rigged up and spudding. The rig off the Trio well will go north for No. 4, while the No. 3, south of the No. 2, big well, is spudded and drilling.

Cullum et al. No. 1, Brazina, two locations west of the Muse dry hole, is a rig and spudded.

To the west, Jones et al.' have set and cemented and will drill in with a Star on their No. 2, Darilek, sand at 1,414 feet. A west offset to the No. 1 by Magnolia, is down below 1,300 feet and should have the sand at this time. A south offset by Magnolia is drilling also, while a southwest offset by American Refining company is reported to be a rig. Magnolia, it is understood, plans intensive development of their property here if the first wells show it to be of any value.

Upton County

Republic Production company of Dallas and Houston has paid $750,000 cash for the George McCamey and J. P. Johnson No. 1, Baker, which opened up a new west Texas oil pool last week, the purchase including 1,000 acres of leases around the well. Marland Oil company of Texas, which recently moved headquarters to Fort Worth, owns a quarter interest, the Republic buying the remaining three-quarters of seven-eighths.

The well, eight miles west of Hurdle, and 35 miles west of the Big Lake field of Reagan county, opened the third west Texas oil field this year. It is located in the southeast of the northeast of section 8, block 35, GC&SFRY survey.

Marland Interests Big.

A majority of the major operating units in Texas own nearby leases with Marland predominating. These include Gulf, Humble, Texas, Sun, Independent Oil and Gas, Roxana and others.

On September 30 the well pumped 72 barrels in 12 hours in sandy lime at 2,140 to 2,156 feet and in lime from 2,175 to 2,195 feet. October 1 it pumped 31 barrels in 10 hours and shut down. October 2 it did 27 barrels in one and one-half hours and shut down for storage and water, its present status.

It is believed the pay in this well is much the same as that found at 2,400 feet in the Big Lake field, 35 miles west, and that the level which produces larger wells at 2,000 feet in Big Lake will be found in the No. 1 Baker at around 2,500 feet, considerably higher than the Reagan county field.

Crockett County.

This recalls the sale of another discovery well in west Texas, that of the World company producer in northern Crockett county, about 23 miles south of the Big Lake field. Humble Oil and Refining company and Marland Oil company paid $400,000 in cash and $1,000,000 in oil for about 2,500 acres and the well. This well is now flowing about 22 barrels daily at 2,845 feet and three nearby wells are nearing the expected pay sand which should reveal whether or not there is an oil pool there.

SCHOOL TEACHER HURT.

ELECTRA, Oct. 6.—Miss Ida Lee Falls, principal of the First Ward school received painful injuries this morning when she fell down the stairway on the second floor of the building. Her injuries, although not serious, are painful and her left ankle and arm are badly bruised.

Theatres

The Majestic theatre bill will contain a surprise this week. The headline act entitled, "The Test," is somewhat of a mystery. Nobody, not even the management, knows exactly what it is, but that it promises to be something out of the ordinary in vaudeville entertainment is assured, for it made a great hit in New York, Cincinnati and Omaha. From Omaha it comes direct to Wichita Falls to commence a tour of the south.

Manager Rahl of the Majestic theatre says, just tell the public that we are offering what is recommended to us as a surprise act and one that will not only surprise but delight the audience.

"Trouble With Wives" At The Olympic

Florence Vidor, Tom Moore, Esther Ralston and Ford Sterling of comedy fame are featured in the principal roles of the Paramount comedy, "The Trouble With Wives," which will be the feature at the Olympic theatre today. Malcolm St. Clair, who made "Are Parents People?" directed the production, an original screen story by Sada Cowan and Howard Higgin.

Miss Vidor who had trouble with her husband (Menjou) in "Are Parents People?" and "Marry Me" is at it again in this one. But she wins him back. She'll win you over, too. Miss Vidor is specializing in gorgeous gowns these days. She wears some real novel creations in "The Trouble With Wives."

Tom Moore, as the henpecked husband, is exceptionally well cast.

Miss Ralston, the golden-haired beauty who took a mighty leap up the ladder of fame as the mother in "Peter Pan," has been going up ever since—in "Beggar on Horseback," "The Little Devil" and now "The Trouble With Wives" finds her more charming than ever.

They kept Ford Sterling on the receiving end of custard pies for years when all the while they were hiding one of the best light comedians on the screen. That's the way you'll find him in this production.

Other prominent names in the supporting cast include Edward Kennedy, Lucy Beaumont, Etta Lee and William Courtright.

Sada Cowan and Howard Higgin evolved the story and wrote a whale of a screen play for it. That's why in "The Trouble With Wives" you have something that is really new in marriage comedies.

NOV. 14 WILL BE RED LETTER DAY IN SOUTHWEST

On That Date Record News Will Give Away $1,000 Cash

What would you do for $500? What would you give to share in 25 prizes totaling $1,000? Here's the easiest way of getting $1,000 in cold, hard cash you have ever heard of. The Record News elephant contest, now running each day in the paper offers you a proposition which can't be beat for returns, genuine entertainment and mental exercise.

Just turn to the ad, take a good slant at the elephant, whose hide is adorned with hundreds of figures runing from number 2 to 9. Take an hour or maybe two and add up these figures. What do you get? Your total will be the weight of the elephant and if you add a little salesmanship to this or even send in your own subscription with the cash payments set forth in the rules, you will then be in the contest.

November 14 will be a red letter day for 25 residents in Texas or Oklahoma. On that day they will share in the $1,000 and the winner of the first prize will be handed $500 in cash. If you don't think that's a pip, we'll eat our editorial hat and go back to China.

Just add up the elephant's figures and you'll have his weight. Then take a little more time off and figure out what $500 would do for you. It will make the first substantial payment on that lot or house. Maybe it will buy a piano for sister, an automobile for brother, furniture for mother's Christmas present. There are a thousand places where it can be spent and if the winner does not know 900 of them, we'll throw that information in free with the prize.

Be sure to follow the rules of the contest. There is positively no catch to them. They are written in plain English for your benefit and tell you just how to go about winning these prizes. Everyone is invited to get acquainted with the Record News elephant.

WEALTH OF AMERICA.

An exchange says that more than half of the wealth of the United States is contained in the single item of real property, the land of the 48 states and the buildings which make up its cities, villages and farm communities. The total wealth of the United States exclusive of the property owned by the government itself, is $310,274,476,476, according to the census list.

Of this real estate makes up a total of $174,231,456. This includes property of states and of smaller governmental divisions. Tax exempt real estate property, including schools, churches, state and local public buildings, amounts to a total of $20,000,000,000.

New York City is the wonder city of the world. The 1925 tax rolls placed a valuation of $12,301,000,000 on the real estate within the confines of New York City, or about 4 per cent of the total national wealth of the United States.

More than $20,000,000,000 represents the investment in tax exempt bonds. Foreign governments owe the United States government $11,000,000,000, and foreign governments or individuals owe the banks of America more than $11,000,000,000.

New York bankers placed a total of $2,000,000,000 as loans abroad in the last 12 months and the demand for American money is growing by leaps and bounds. Real estate wealth, however, is the one great item which exceeds all others.

SPEAKING OF CHICKENS.

Speaking of chickens, the feathered variety, the chicken population of the United States has been placed at 400,000,000 by the department of agriculture. This number would make a procession of chickens a hundred thousand miles long, and they would lay enough eggs this year to reach from the earth to the moon and back again. And the busy hen is said to be the greatest wealth maker in America.

Why should the eagle be the emblem of liberty, justice and prosperity? He isn't fit for food. He does not add a dollar to the national wealth. He is the champion thief of the feathered tribe. He is a more exasperating singer then the blue jay. He should be demoted or dismounted and the hen should be given his place.

Why the eagle isn't valuable for ornamental purposes. He isn't a thing of beauty. His feet are as scaly as those of a peacock, and his plumage isn't much to speak of.

There was a time when the chickens of Texas were of the native variety. They weren't much for food, and as egg producers they did not excel.

Now there are a hundred thousand chicken farms in Texas, and train loads of chickens and eggs are shipped every week to the great centers of population. There is a new Texas and the chickens helped to make it.

WHERE PETROLEUM FLOWS.

Rumania, according to foreign advices, seems likely to experience the greatest oil boom in her history. A well brought in by the Rumanian subsidiary of the American Standard Oil company is now gushing 12,000 barrels a day. Also, this well was the latest extension in the Moren oil field and its bringing in has revealed an enormous strata in that region.

It is considered likely by Rumanian correspondence of American newspapers that deep drilling will lead to the discovery of further oil in large quantities. It is lucky for the American world or the American people who are consumers of petroleum products that the Standard Oil company has its scouts and its geologists under the flags of all nations, ever in quest of the golden sands and ever backed by the most powerful organization, financially speaking, that time has known.

JOHN D. NO VERSEMAKER.

At 86, John D. Rockefeller begins writing rhymes, the following having been composed by him on his birthday:

"I was early taught to work as well as play,
My life has been one long, happy holiday;
Full of work and full of play—
I dropped the worry on the way—
And God was good to me every day."

While the moral and philosophical qualities of the sample are beyond criticism, one may, with all respect to Mr. Rockefeller, feel a sense of pleasure that he devoted his active life to building a great industry rather than to verse.

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE.

Prejudice Is Ignorance.

Wise men are free from prejudice.

It is impossible to conceive of Confucious taking a dislike to any one because of his religion or race.

The greatest man in all history, Jesus Christ, had none of it.

He cared not at all for race or creed.

He gathered together all who would listen, and taught them the truth, the truth that made many of them free, but which unfortunately has been distorted by many of their descendents into bigotry and prejudice.

Any one at all familiar with the history of the world has no excuse for prejudice.

We known that in every age and in every time there have been great Jews, who have done marvelous things for thought and for freedom.

The most savage anti-Catholic has many great Catholics on his list of saints whom he venerates—among them St. Peter, the founder of the Catholic faith.

It is what is in men's minds that makes them great—not their blood nor the religion in which they were reared.

Jews and Gentiles, Catholics and Protestants, working together have made this world what it is.

They have not yet finished the job, but they have done much to obliterate the old hatreds that caused cruel wars and dyed the soil of Europe with blood.

That there still can be any prejudice in the world is surprising, in view of all that people should know of history.

Yet there still is, and it is found wherever ignorance is the most prevalent.

The country boy, who has never been to the city, dislikes the city boy because the city boy speaks differently and dresses differently.

He has not yet found out that the city boy is just a boy, as he is.

The city man is prejudiced against the country boy—also because of his ignorance.

I have seen on an army transport an outbreak of ignorant prejudice between two branches of the same service—the army and the navy—prejudice entirely due to the refusal of either to recognize that the other was its equal in value to the common country.

Obliterate ignorance—which is a task that will require some thousands of years—and prejudice will be obliterated automatically.

We have made a start in Europe and America.

We no longer fight over religion as nations, though religious quarrels are still unfortunately too common.

Still the Mohammedon talks of his "holy wars" but he is mixing with other races and he will learn better by and by, if he does not meet with too much intolerance.

We are all children of one God, and inhabitants of this world.

To hate each other because on some subjects we have been taught to think differently, or because we have different exteriors, shows that we still have much to learn, and a long way to travel before we shall earn and deserve the blessing of happiness which could be ours tomorrow if we had the intelligence to know how to enjoy it.

Yet still in small communities sect wars against sect, and preacher against preacher.

We would be a strange spectacle to a visitor from an older planet. He might weep or laugh over us, but he would pity us from the bottom of his heart for our ignorance.

CURTIS OF KANSAS.

Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas is the floor leader of the republicans and very close to the Coolidge car and the Coolidge presence. Senator Curtis of Kansas has prepared a bill for introduction early in the session which will abolish the federal trade commission, the federal tarrif commission and all other commissions which interfere with the business interest of America.

These boards or commissions were created in the days of the Roosevelt and Wilson administrations by democratic senators who had the co-operation of the progressive senators of other years. Big business insists that these commissions should be discarded. There is going to be a real row in Washington in mid-winter or early spring time, and the clashing that will take place may disturb the serenity of the White House temper.

Young LaFollette will be there as the champion of the policies of his father and the elder LaFollette was largely responsible for the creation of the commissions which Senator Curtis and those who think like him are willing to put out of existence.

Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska is another republican progressive who followed the lead of LaFollette in the creation of the federal trade commission. President Coolidge will be given his real test of leadership the coming winter. There are breakers ahead for him.

COLLIDGE ON RAIL MERGERS.

Senator James E. Watson of Indiana says that President Coolidge intends to press railroad mergers to bring about the zoning system early in the coming year. President Coolidge will find himself in direct opposition or conflict with many of the rail magnates of America when he tackles the zoning system.

There are many problems confronting the president. He may attempt their solution, doubtless he will attempt their solution and then the lineup of the sheep and the goats will take place in the American congress. It always has. It always ill.

Human nature always runs true to form.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

Libra.

Today's planetary aspects are rather adverse during the early hours of the morning, but become more settled shortly after noon, and from then on, display a steady improvement. If you have in contemplation any step that may seriously affect your life or your career, it would be well to devote the morning to a careful survey of the "pros and cons." If, as a result of such cogitation, your fixed resolve is still to go ahead, you can do so with impunity in the afternoon. All the signs point then to undoubted success. In all probability, the emotions will be strongly stirred during the evening hours, and it is a good occasion for love's revelation, as any engagement made today promises happiness for the engaged couple.

A child born today will, according to the signs, enjoy excellent health during infancy, and, if watchful care be exercised, attain its majority in a strong and vigorous manner. There are, however, indications that an accident may cause trouble of a serious nature. Temperamentally, it will be winsome, bold and courageous. Fortunately, its courage will not only be physical, but spiritual. This child will cause very little anxiety, as it will be amenable to good influence and wholesome environment, and will have an inherent sense of right and wrong, which will keep it in the "straight and narrow."

If today is your birthday, you are studious, possess exceptional intellectuality, are very well informed, a good reasoner and a lucid talker. You are not addicted much to sports or recreations, as you derive more pleasure from a good book—that by others would be considered heavy—than you could from any form of pastime.

You are scrupulously honest, very faithful in duty, and never say anything you do not mean. Your sense of humor is not very strongly developed.

If not already married, you should not marry while young, as with increasing years, you will judge people by different standards, and this, in itself, might cause unhappiness.

Successful people born on this date are:

Horace White, ex-governor of New York.
Eleanor Kirk Ames, writer.
Bronson Howard, dramatist.
Kate J Bateman, actress.
Henry Rutgers, patriot and philanthropist.
William S. Johnson, ex-president of Columbia.

HOW IT STARTED IRRIGATION

"The Stool of Repentence"

We are familiar with this expression in reference to people who are supposed to realize that they have done wrong and who wish to be forgiven or excused for their sin or whatever mistake or misdemeanor they may have committed. "Let him take his place on the stool of repentance," has often been said, "before he expects consideration from us."

The saying comes to us from the records of an old custom, current in the middle ages in Scotland. The "stool of repentance" was a low stool on which persons had to sit who had committed an offense which brought upon them the censure of the church. Remaining on the stool throughout the service, at its conclusion the penitent had to stand up and receive the censure of the minister for his transgression.

We are familiar also in common speech, when the reference is to a person who is a strict disciplinarian or one who does not forgive easily, that he or she "will make you sit on the stool of repentance for that."

POEMS THAT LIVE

Could I but ride indefinite,
As doth the meadow-bee,
And visit only where I liked,
And no man visit me,

And flirt all day with buttercup
And marry who I may,
And dwell a little everywhere,
Or better, run away.

With no police to follow,
Or chase me if I do,
Till I should jump peninsulas
To get away from you,—

I said, but just to be a bee
Upon a raft of air,
And row in nowhere all day long,
And anchor off the bar,—
What liberty! So captives deem
Who tight in dungeons are.

The Voting Power of The City In District No. 1.

If it is found possible for the land owners under the Holliday lateral to become a part of District No. 1 they must take in to account the question of control. The directors of an irrigation district are elected by the people and while they hold office are the governing power.

In any irrigation district of which this city may be a part it will always be found that on account of the greater concentration of people the city will always govern if it so desires.

If the people of the city decide at any time that they want any one or all of the directors to be their representative it will be no trouble to elect him or them.

As the city will always represent the greater portion of the total assessed valuations of the district of which they may be a part it is likely that they will see to it that at least a majority of the board are city men.

This of course would as a general thing mean that ablec men would be on the board and as a result the district business would be better handled.

On the other hand there is the danger that the farmers might feel that through the domination of the city there was a discrimination in the matter of determining values and setting tax rates.

Again the farmer often feels that a city man does not fully appreciate the problems of the agriculturist and is therefore not a competent man to handle such a vital thing as an irrigation system distributing water to a highly dexeloped agricultural area.

The Storm CenteR

By BURTON L. STEVENSON

Leading Characters in the story.

O'NEILL—An American ex-diplomat traveling to Africa is given a reservasion ticket at the Paris station by a stranger. After he embarks he receives a note, addressed to M. Delage, which requests him to leave the train at the next station or suffer death. Alarmed he notices the occupants of his compartment, among whom are a mysterious, swarthy vis a vis and

A BEAUTIFUL WOMAN, to whom O'Neill shows the note and later takes to the dining car for supper. After finishing their meal they return to the compartment where O'Neill finds in his seat the body of a recently murdered stranger. The beautiful Lady later informs O'Neill that the fact the stranger was murdered, with a sharp instrument that penetrated the brain, linked the murder with the Hamadsha, a sect of Africa that kill or maim their victims in the same manner. O'Neill suspects she knows more about the murder than she discloses to him. At Marseilles he takes the boat for Africa. While on the boat, O'Neill is drugged and his baggage searched. He accepts the offer of a new friend

LANDON, an American archaeologist, to assist him in an exploration into Northern Africa. He is accompanied by his daughter

PATRICIA LANDON. A beautiful self reliant girl. At Algiers Landon is approached by the swarthy vis a vis, who offers him 200,000 francs for the map. Delage, himself appears and discloses the subterfuge of his identity to the stranger. A terrific hand to hand encounter then ensues the Arab losing his life in the fight. Later in the desert O'Neill meets Delage accompanied by the beautiful woman. Delage and Landon both admit that their purpose is to secure the treasure of Ahmed Ammar, the leader of the Moslem faith. This fortune which is centuries old is to be used by the Bolshevistic forces to overthrow Christianity and this part of Africa will be the storm center from which the war will be conducted. Delage has a map showing the location of the treasure and by a clever ruse has become a favored guest of Ahmed Ammar. At first sight there seems to be a mutual bond of attraction between Delage and Patricia.

"Yes," said Delage, smiling as he saw the confidential attitude of the two women. "You will pardon me, mademoiselle, I was told that you were here and I was sent to look for you. Ahmed Ammar plans a special entertainment for this evening. It seems that this is the feast day of the Hamadsha, and it is proposed that we go to Teniet to witness the ceremonies. Ahmed wishes to know if you desire to go with us."

Pat looked up into his eager, vivid face with a quickening of the pulse. He was undeniably handsome; but he was also much more than that. She had never before known any one who seemed so vital, so full of the very essence of life. His sister was also looking at him with half-closed, appraising eyes. Then she glanced at Pat.

"By all means go, my dear," she said.

Pat got slowly to her feet.

"When shall I see you again?" she asked.

"When you will. I am always here and you are always welcome."

She held out her hand and gave Pat's a warm clasp.

"You understand, Nada," her brother said to her in a peculiar tone, "that this gives you a clear field for tonight?"

"Of course, stupid!" she nodded, and watched them with a queer little smile until the door closed behind them.

That meal with Ahmed Ammar has been an interesting one. He had seated Landon and O'Neill on his left and Delage on his right with his disciples ranged in what seemed to be a rigid order of precedence down the length of the long room.

Moslem etiquette forbids a host to talk to his guests while they are eating lest their enjoyment of the food be interferred with, but there was plenty of time for conversation between the courses, which stretched to an interminable length, and in these intervals the marabout continued to ply Landon with questions about America, the condition of labour, the progress of socialism, the evidences of unrest, the results of prohibition; and, believing to him, O'Neill began to think there might be some basis for Landon's theory, after all, for, otherwise, why should this recluse be interested in such things?

Tomorrow—Strange Happenings.

CHAPTER XV

Pat Makes Two Conquests.

Next day they dine with Ahmed Ammar and he displays a great deal of interest in Pat. They find Delage's disguise complete, going under the assumed name of Sidi Abdullah, with the beautiful girl, Nada, in reality his sister, posing as his wife.

A servant approached Ahmed Ammar with a message. A visitor had arrived, it seemed—a courier from Basha Bashir. That old potentate sent word that he had promised the strangers who had been his guests that he would arrange for them to witness the fete of the Hamadsha. He had just learned that it was to take place this very night, and he prayed Ahmed Ammar to ascertain if they still wished to see it, and if so, to make the necessary arrangements, in order that his word to a guest might be honourably kept. All of which Ahmed duly communicated.

"By all means you must see this fete," he added; 'I will send word to Sidi Yada to expect us," and a messenger was forthwith dispatched across the valley.

"Who is Sidi Yada?" Landon inquired.

"Sidi Yada is Imaum of the mosque at Teniet," Ahmed explained. "I suppose in your language he would be called a High Priest—though he is not a priest in the Christian sense. Priests are forbidden by the Prophet; all authority rests in his written word, which is the Koran, we have only in our places of worship readers and interpreters of that word. Sidi Yada interprets it to the Hamadsha, of whom he is the head. He is a very learned man."

"I have heard much about the Hamadsha," said Landon; "fright ful stories, some of them. I wonder how much of them is true?"

"You will see," said Ahmed, with a little smile. "I am sure you will wonder at Sidi Yada's powers."

Coffee had been served; the meal had lasted almost two hours, and O'Neill, who had been growing more and more nervous, could restrain himself no longer.

"I wonder what has happened to Pat?" he said to Landon, but in a voice intended for Ahmed's ear.

"I suppose she is all right," Landon answered and looked inquiringly at their host.

"Oh, undoubtedly. She has probably been offered food by my women and overwhelmed with questions," Ahmed explained. "I will summon her if you wish."

"Just as you think best."

"At least we will find out whether she wishes to go to Teniet,' suggested Ahmed.

"Very well," Landon agreed; and then he stared in surprise, for Ahmed, instead of summoning a servant rose to his feet and strode away toward the women's quarters with a look on his face which seemed to O'Neill distinctly lidinous.

He remarked as much in a low tone to Landon, but the latter only shrugged.

"Your imagination is running away with you," he said.

But in a moment Ahmed Ammar reappeared there alone.

"Mademoiselle is with the wife of Sidi Abdullah," he said, as he resumed his seat, and he spoke a few word in Arabic to Delage, who bowed and hastened away.

O'Neill breathed a sigh of relief when Delage finally appeared with the girl beside him. He scrutinized her anxiously but she seemed quite composed and unruffled.

Ahmed had risen the instant she appeared, gone forward to meet her, take her hand in his and led her back to the place at his side which Delage had occupied. It was an affront, but Delage appeared not to notice it as he quietly took the seat which one of the students, at a glance from Ahmed, hastily made for him.

"I trust you have amused yourself, mademoiselle," said the marabout, his ardent eyes devouring her face and disrobing her as they ran down her slender body.

"It was most interesting," Pat assured him.

"Interesting perhaps," said Ammod, "but sorid and ugly. Oh, I know it very well—it is not at all the harem of romance."

"Does it exist?" asked Pat, "the harem of romance?"

"Yes, it exists," answered Ahmed earnestly, leaning toward her. "It exists even here in this house—a place of beauty. Beyond the quarters where you were, there is a court which few eyes have seen. In its center a fountain plays, and about it runs a colonade of coloured marble, ages ago, one of my ancestors fell in love with a beautiful Circassian—white as milk, sweet as honey, slender as a gazelle, but with a heart of flame, so he described her in the verses he wrote in her honour and he built this retreat as a fit setting for this jewel."

"I should love to see it," said Pat, her face flushing with excitement. "Yes, you must take me. Who lives there now?"

"At present," Ahmed answered with a smile, his eyes on hers, it is unoccupied. But some day— who knows . . . ."

He did not finish the sentence; there was no need that he should.

O'Neill glanced at Landon, and was astonished to see that, far from being scandalized, he was watching the scene with smiling approval.

How much farther would the marabout go, O'Neill wondered. But Ahmed, with a last look into the girl's eyes, changed his one abruptly.

"I much regret that I cannot go with you tonight, Monsieur Landon," Ahmed said, turning to Pat's father, "but certain duties have arisen which will keep me here. One of my men will accompany you and I assure you that you will be well received. I urge you to stay to the end of the ceremonies. The first part you will think childish and silly; but at the end you will be shown some very interesting and curious things."

So presently in the dusk of the evening they bade Ahmed Ammar goodbye and set off down the hill and across the valley. Delage, who had been provided with a beautiful horse belonging to his host, managed to get close to Pat's side as soon as they reached the road. What he said to her O'Neill could only guess, but he seemed to have much to say, leaning toward her, speaking low and rapidly in that persuasive voice of his, with his ardent eyes on her face; nor was Pat disinclined to listen.

Presently there came a call from the darkness ahead and the man who Ahmed had sent along as a guide answered it. A native rode up on horseback from the direction of Teniet, and ten minutes later they were picking their way up the steep hill on which the village stands—a rude stone village like all the rest, built around the top of a hill and crowned by a mosque.

Sidi Yada was waiting at the door to receive them. He spoke French with fluency, and assured them that he was most happy to have them witness the ceremonies of the evening.

"We feared that you might consider it an intrusion," sain Landon; "But not at all," Sidi Yada protested.

He led them to a row of cushions ranged in one corner along the wall.

"If you will sit here," he said and turned away to his duties.

The mosque was already jammed with people and vibrant with noise.

Sidi Yada and his assistants had grouped themselves upon the dikka, or reading platform. The central division between the pillars was reserved for the musicians. It was the most violent orchestra O'Neill had ever seen. Crouched upon their haunches, they were beating lustily upon a variety of tomtoms, keepin gtime to a weird chant, sung with wide open mouths.

At the end of the double row of chanters stood a tall, thin priest with a face like a hawk. He was keeping rhythm with slow motions of his arms and watching the people in front of him closely. From time to time he would approach one of them, stand for a moment with his hands upon his head or raise his eyelids and look into his eyes. And O'Neill, with a little shiver, saw that only the whites of the eyes were visible.

WICHITA WOMEN VERSATILE

Style Show and Pageant Directed Locally

Sarah Bernhardt once said: "The minute that you tell a woman that she is pretty, she begins to live sideways." And the famous Frank Crane says, that folks who live sideways—ignoring everything but one praised quality—fail.

However, none of the above quotations apply here. Wichita Falls' women are nothing if not versatile. They turn their shoulder to whatever duty that is before them and they carry it through. Be it business, social, civic, club work, church work or any other kind of work. If they are called upon they respond. And not only do they do the work, it is done efficiently, with forethought and with accuracy. One such women and only one in a hundred, is Margaret Fisher, who directed the "Peacock Style Show" Tuesday night for the merchants of Wichita Falls.

Miss Fisher, though she is one of the younger girls, has proven herself a leader, a director of big affairs. The clever plot which proved such an excellent vehicle for the display of the exquisite creations shown in the revue, was original, conceived by her clever brain and worked out by her against many handicaps. Her talent is proving a real asset to Wichita Falls and she is always generous with it, responding to many calls from an exacting public. "She is so dear to work with, always in a good humor and explaining what she wants done in a direct way so that those taking part can readily understand," was a remark made by one of the young women who took a leading role in the show.

Another young woman in Wichita Falls, who is not only a favorite in social circles, a leader in the Little Theater, and assists in many civic undertakings by training children for lovely dances and readings, is Ella Merle Mathis, who assisted Mrs. E. L. Fulton, in supervising the colorful pageant, Texas Under Six Flags, which proved such a gorgeous attraction before the grandstand on the opening night of the Texas-Oklahoma fair.

And Mrs. Fulton, who, like several other talented women, are loosening themselves somewhat from the barness of work in training and supervising who nevertheless gave freely of her strength, time and talent to that of the pageant production which could not have been more of a success. Conceived by trained mind, the entire program was a work of art. Human art, cultural entertaining picture presented by men, women and children, that passed before the vast audience like a huge kaleidoscope, holding the attention of a vast audience from the beginning of the history of Texas when it was under the rule of the Spanish until the concluding number when it was portrayed under the Flag of the United States.

And Mrs. Jouette Bonner, one of the younger matrons. What a busy woman she must be. Popular in socal affairs, she is an artistic violinist and gives freely of her musical talent in local concert programs, in church recitals and yet finds time to work out the coronation ceremonies each year for the Texas-Oklahoma fair which was characterized by all who saw it Saturday night, as perfect in every detail.

Wichita Falls' women are surely not living sideways.

TRIPLE ORGANIZATION MEET AT CHURCH

The Woman's Auxiliary, the Young Women's Missionary society, and the Lucy Hansel chapter held separate sessions after which the groups joined together for the social hour.

A lovely tea table was arranged centered with pink roses, and tea was poured by the officers of the Woman's auxiliary. Devotionals were led by Dr. N. F. Grafton, and a large number of women were present.

Aviators Have a Conceit Complex, Witness Declares

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Aviators were charged today by one of their own number with over estimating their ability and with being possessed of the "aviators' complex," consstng of a "snobbishness and conceit."

The assertion was made by Lieut. Donald M. Carpenter of the Pensacola, Fla., naval station in testimony before the president's aircraft board. He added that many naval aviators indorsed the plan for a separate air corps because of the "allurement of increased rank and pay."

"Aviators desire," said Lieutenant Carpenter, "to impress the laymen with their unusual skill."

GIRL'S SLAYER KEEPS LOVE TRYST: DIES

Killed San Antonio Miss Because He Could Not Lose Her, He Says

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 6.—Arthur W. Meyers has kept his rendezvous with death.

The man who kept a 17-hour love tryst, his dead sweetheart in his arms, and a bullet through his brain, died at a local hospital at 11 o'clock Monday night.

"I'm going to die; you won't be bothered with me much longer," he told the jail attendants when he was transferred there from the hospital last Friday. Through the night while jailers watched him, he came so near filling his promise that he was transferred back to the hospital.

He thought the sweetheart, Betty Barnes Candler, whom he slew because, he said, he would rather be dead than indifferent to his love, was beckoning to him from beyond the grave.

Violin 310 Years Old on Show Here

A violin made in Italy 310 years ago is one of the exhibits in the antique department in the women's building of the Texas-Oklahoma fair. The ancient piece is exhibited by Mrs. J. S. Davis, 2114 Filmore.

The violin is well preserved, though the wood is stained and darkened from the effects of age. The tail piece is of ivory, yellowed from the years. The bow of the violin is also in the case which is of the old fashioned wooden type. Its strands are broken, and the back of the bow is mended with a piece of string.

Ad Men Discuss Bill Board Work

The Ad Men's club at the regular weekly meeting at the Kemp hotel Tuesday heard a discussion of advertising methods, with particular attention to billboard. W. E. Haworth of the United Advertising corporation was in charge of the discussion.

Mr. Haworth exhibited two billboard posters which were discussed by the advertising men. He called attention to several advertisements in magazines and newspapers.

The work of the organization of a "model cotton mill" which the club is taking up as a part of its program was taken up. Tom Corrison was appointed chairman of the organization committee by W. S. Curlee, who presided at the meeting.

J. H. Allison, program chairman, appointed R. S. Tydings to lead the discussion at the next meeting when impressions of exhibits at the Texas-Oklahoma fair will be discussed. Miss Josephine Fisk is to take charge of the next meeting and G. T. Buchanan the one following.

DR. GEO. TRUETT, NOTED BAPTIST, TO SPEAK HERE

University Club Opens Meeting To Public Saturday

Dr. George W. Truett is coming to Wichita Falls. The assurance of his presence was had in a telegram received by J. S. Dickey, president of the University club yesterday. Dr. Truett has accepted an invitation of the club of this city to address its weekly luncheon at the Kemp hotel Saturday at noon.

Perhaps no man in America is better known than Dr. Truett. He is regarded as one of the foremost preachers of the world. His reputation is international.

Dr. Truett will arrive in the city Saturday morning and will be the guest of the University club for the day.

On account of the prominence of Dr. Truett and the desire of hundreds of Wichitans to hear him, the directors of the University club have decided to open the meeting Saturday to the general public on condition that those who desire to attend make reservations with the Kemp hotel by 5 o'clock Friday afternoon.

"The club invites all Wichitans to attend. The luncheon will be only 75 cents a place," Dr. Dickey says.

Old Folks Must Not Use "Physics"

While Dr. W. B. Caldwell of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, knew that constipation was the curse of advancing age, he did not believe that a "purge" or "physic" every little while was necessary.

To him, it seemed cruel that so many constipated old people had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils every day or two.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which regulates the bowels of old folks. A single dose will establish natural, healthy bowel movement for weeks at a time, even for those chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it is often months before another dose is necessary. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take.

If past fifty, buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just see for yourself.

How to stop BOILS!

There's only one way to stop boils. Stop the cause of boils! That's common sense—isn't it? All right. Boils thrive because the blood gets so weak in healthy, red cells that it can't throw off the impurities that get into the body. There's not enough rich, red blood to purify the system.

Now—S. S. S. builds back the blood to fighting strength. S. S. S. builds red-blood-cells—builds them by the millions! Boils dry up!

S. S. S. is the thing. Impurities that cause boils and other skin eruptions can't stand up against the rich, healthy, red blood that S. S. S. builds. That's all there is to it.

Stop boils with S. S. S. It's the way. Get it at any druggist. The larger bottle is more economical.

Such were the big winners in the poultry show staged this year in connection with the Texas-Oklahoma Fair. Judging was completed early Monday afternoon by Walter Burton of Arlington, Texas, recognized as one of the most expert poultry critics in the southwest.

2,500 Chickens Entered.

Approximately 2,500 chickens alone were entered in this year's show, according to Ira D. Brown of the North Texas Poultry Association and on whose shoulders much of the work of the show devolved. The entry list included pens from all over the state, it was said, with a liberal sprinkling coming in from other sections also.

The show has been one of the popular features of the entire exhibition from the first. It is centrally located and has attracted thousands of visitors in the first three days of the fair. Comment, too, has been to the effect that never before had such a chicken exhibit been displayed with such apparent quality represented by all the birds.

In connection with this year's show, two state poultry conventions have been held and both attracted numerous visitors from all parts of Texas. On Saturday, the opening day of the fair, the state convention of Single Comb White Leghorn Breeders met here and elected two Wichita Falls men as officials. Dr. Graham, an active poultry raiser, was named president and Cress Millikin secretary-treasurer.

Convention Held.

On Sunday the Brown Leghorn Breeders of the state met in convention and after attending to business matters named Arthur Bridges of Arlington, Texas, as president and F. A. Foster of Wichita Falls secretary-treasurer.

Poultry association officials as well as those of the fair and the public generally declared themselves as well pleased yesterday with the results attained. They said the show this year was, in their opinion, the best poultry exhibit ever staged in Wichita Falls.

In addition to the chickens, several pens of geese, ducks, pigeons and rabbits were included.

COLLEGE GIRL OF TODAY FAR AHEAD, CLAIM

Thinks Faster Than Her Sister of 20 Years Ago, Says Dean

AUSTIN, Oct. 6.—(AP).—The college girl of today who thinks for herself, has more independence and has a broader knowledge and wider interest than the girl of 20 years ago, according to Miss Ruby Terrell, new University of Texas dean of women.

"The modern college has developed the modern spirit of independence and to take care of herself in all situations," Miss Terrell, who was a student on the Texas campus in 1905, explained.

In some cases this independence goes from freedom to license, but this does not occur often. The faults of the minority are given much publicity these days.

"The girls today think for themselves and do not accept cut and dried precepts and demand very readily. They are more likely to be appealed to through principle rather than through an order.

"I do not think girls put in as much time on their books as they did when I was a student there, but they have much more wider interests than formerly. The majority are more all-round than were their mothers.

"University girls have not changed any faster than girls outside the university."

THE PROBLEM: The problem is to find the sum total of the figures shown on the Elephant in the picture. There are no marks, lines or characters on the body of the Elephant except figures. These figures range from 2 to 9, each one standing alone. There are no "ones" or "ciphers" in the animal. There are no groups of figures—that is, the figure "9" is the highest figure shown; there are no "23's," "42's," "89's" or like groups. If you find a "2" and "3" are written so closely together that they look like "23," it means that the "2" and "3" are to be added just as you would if they were an inch apart. The tops of the SIXES are distinctly curved, and the bottoms of the NINES are straight, or nearly so. There is no trick or illusion in the chart.

WHAT IS THE WEIGHT OF THE ELEPHANT

The Sum Total of Figures Is Not Known to Anyone

The drawer and maker of the cut knew the total as he drew it, and no one else. When the cut was received by The Record News several figures were clipped out. No Record News employe knows the drawer's solution and the drawer does not know what numbers were cut out by The Record News, and will not know until after the closing date. November 14th, 1925. No one knows any more about what the correct answer is than the contestants themselves.

General Rules of the Contest

This competition is open to all residents of the states of Texas and Oklahoma, except employes of The Record News and members of their families.

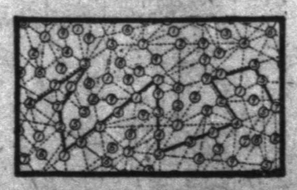

Contestants may submit as many different solutions as they desire provided a payment of one of the amounts designated in the prize list shall accompany each solution. NO SOLUTION UNACCOMPANIED BY A SUBSCRIPTION PAYMENT WILL BE REGISTERED.

The Record News offers these prizes for individual effort. While it is proper for members of one household to work together or several friends, it is not permissible for more than one of those working in unison to send a solution of the puzzle. When in the judgment of the contest manager more than one member of the same family, or more than one of any number of persons he believes have worked together send in a solution of the puzzle, he reserves the right to refund subscriptions and return the solutions he believes have been submitted contrary to the foregoing rule. The Record News reserves the right to reject any solutions it believes have not been submitted under proper conditions. The Record News also reserves the right to finally decide any other questions or points which may arise and those entering the contest agree to abide by such decisions.

In the event of ties on this puzzle, as many prizes will be reserved as there are contestants tied, before any prizes are awarded for a less correct solution. For instance, if five people were tied on the best solution, the first five prizes will be reserved for them, and they would be awarded the prizes in accordance with the standing of their solutions of the second puzzle. That is, the one submitting the best solution of the second puzzle would receive the first prize; the one submitting the next best, the second, and so on.

Subscriptions may be NEW or RENEWALS. Both count the same.

DECIDING TIES.

In case of ties those tied for any prize will be presented with a second puzzle, which will consist of drawing a line across the face of a chart of figures, like the accompanying chart, only larger, so that the figures thus connected when added together will total the greatest sum. If necessary this chart will be used four times, after which, should any ties remain, each contestant will receive full value of any prize tied for.

In case there are no ties on counting the Elephant no other puzzle, of course, will be presented.

WINNING ANSWERS WILL RECEIVE PRIZES AS FOLLOWS

More Truth Than Poetry

AHEAD OF HIS TIME

The London curio concerns
  Were satisfied that they had blundered,
By stocking up on Grecian urns
  About the year of eighteen hundred.
Though daily they displayed the wares
  In which so much they had invested,
It got but casual, passing stares—
  The public wasn't interested.

Then Keats inscribed his well known ode,
  In which, in rare poetic phrases
Which people quoted, he bestowed
  On Grecian urns unstinted praises.
And straightway they became a fad,
  And throughout merry England's borders,
The dealers sold out all they had—
  Yet couldn't fill one-half their orders.

Then Keats took up the nightingale,
  As well you know, who scan his pages,
And instantly sent up the sale
  Of these enchanting birds, in cages.
Men netted them in sylvan shade
  And murmurous glens and hilsides sunny,
And by this thrifty practice made
  A very tidy bit of money.

Yet not a cent did Keats obtain.
  He labored without realizing
How much a gifted bard may gain
  If but he turns to advertising.
Too bad he is not here today,
  For though perhaps our age is sordid,
He might have made his genius pay—
  And have been decently rewarded!

CONFERENCE CONTESTS

Washington versus S. M. U. at Dallas Friday.

Saturday:

Texas versus Vanderbilt at Nashville.

Sewanee versus Texas A. & M. at Dallas.

Rice versus Trinity at Houston.

Arkansas versus Oklahoma Baptists at Fayetteville.

T. C. U. and Baylor are idle.

* * *

Southwest conference elevens continue intersectional drives this week-end, and on the whole pregame matter we have at hand would indicate the conference will do more than hold its own.

* * *

There're quite a few conservatives who have their fears for Texas university in contest with Vanderbilt's Commodores up in Nashville, and a small number hazard a guess Bible's Texas Aggies may find the going exceedingly devoid of smooth stretches in tilt with Sewanee.

PIKERS NOT SO HARD

Few, however, expect Washington university's Pikers squad to give Southern Methodist university's Mustang eleven much trouble. Arkansas, although apparently not as powerful as the Razorback machine of 1924, should come away victor in the tiff with the Oklahoma Baptists.

* * *

Though Vandy press agents would have you believe the Commodores are just as strong as the 1924 club even though a sextet of letter men has been lost to the Tennessee institution, and equally as powerful as the 1923 machine, Texas is due an advantage of the doubt when you start doping the contest.

* * *

It is opinion from this angle (there are many who will contradict)—that this season's Steer eleven is every bit as strong as the great 1923 machine which carried the orange and white to the heights of southern football without a defeat, but one tie to mar its record.

* * *

The writer followed the varsity of 1923 through every game of its wonderful season; was on hand at every contest and haunted the old Clark field at daily practice sessions. We are in a position to judge the strength of that club, and Stewart's Longhorns of 1925 are further along right now, contrary to some of the propaganda emanating from Steer stadium, than the 1923 eleven was at the same stage of the season.

* * *

Texas may fall before the Commodores, but it is a certainty the Longhorns at this writing have an edge on paper. There is no Oscar Eckhardt of 1923 to run through, over, around the Commodores, but now they have a Max Saxon, who seems destined to equal Big Os' performances, and they have what begins to appear a more balanced backfield than the secondary defense of 1923. The line has surprised the most optimistic.

* * *

It would be as safe a prediction as any to emit the prophecy Texas university will go through another undefeated season. However, the Steers are not as yet at top stride and Vandy stacks up as the most formidable opponent on the schedule, a slate heavy with tough games.

* * *

Dana's Aggies look to us to be a two-touchdown better club than Sewanee. Fact is, the Farmers are stronger than over the past two years whereas the so-called University of the South doesn't appear improved over the clubs who fell before the Texan's two season's running.

* * *

But back to that Longhorn-Vandy embroglio: comparative playing strength, regardless of the plaints from Austin, do not favor the Commodores as a team—individually, maybe, if you know what we mean. And it is a surety that the psychological background of the contest does not favor McGugin's athletes. However, the odds, and they're odds which may beat the varsity, in way of climatic conditions are behind the Commodores. Playing on Tennessee soil and in a climate far different from that of Texas, the Longhorns certainly are due to be handicapped.

* * *

Comparison of a sort between A & M. and Rice will be registered when the Owls tackle Trinity. The Farmers were pushed to overcome the Tigers in the opening tilt of the season. However, little stock can be put into such a calculation of comparative strength.

BUCCANERS DEFEND SHIP THIS AFTERNOON IN FIRST WORLD'S SERIES ATTACK BY CHAMPIONS

Veteran Walter Johnson Faces "Specs" Meadows on Mound—Both Clubs Hampered by Injuries

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 6.—(AP)—A battle that promises to add a spectacular chapter to the history of baseball's championship conflict starts tomorrow with the Washington Senators, heroic champions of 1924, defending their laurels against the onslaught of Pittsburg's new National league title holders, a fighting array which hopes to regain the glory that was this city's 16 years ago.

Unless all signs fail, it will be as closely a waged struggle as the sensational championship series last fall with Washington's great defensive club led by Bucky Harris and Walter Johnson, pitting its attack of Bill McKechnie's Pirate crew.

Johnson, dramatic pitching figure of the world's champions will pick up for the Senators where he left off victoriously in the final game of last season's battle with the Giants. His opponent in all probability will be Lee Meadows, veteran bespectacled right hander and main stay of the Pittsburgh staff. Both have been through many a big league struggle, though Meadows has had no world's series experience, and both are ready to put forth their best efforts.

They will be the central figures in the opening spectacle tomorrow at Forbes Field, where a capacity crowd of 45,000, taxing every available bit of seating space, is expected to provide an enthusiastic setting for the first world's series game here since 1909.

It will be a colorful and brilliant scene, with notables on hand from every walk of life—if the weather survives the pessimistic predictions distributed tonight. The official forecast is for a rainy, cold day but since some of this was gotten out of the weather system today, hope was held out that it would clear sufficiently for Gov. Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania to toss out the first ball promptly at 2 o'clock.

Odds Placed On Nats To Win First

The eve of the big championship tonight found Pittsburgh like a convention city, jammed and packed at every angle with enthusiasm rampant but wagering comparatively light and chiefly on even money basis. Only a few of the more rabid home town rooters, letting loose a spirit of the type that marked Washington's first pennant victory a year ago were apparently willing to back their opinions in substantial fashion.

As a matter of fact, Johnson's selection as Washington's first pitcher and the reliable report that the "big train" is "right" have influenced Washington's legion of followers to offer odds in some instances of seven to five that the American league title holders will capture the opening game.

A consensus of expert opinion, of which the representation is far, wide and numerous favors Washington to retain its championship. There is no lack of faith on the other hand in the ability of the Pirate offensive to break down the offensive bulwarks of its rivals.

In pre-series speculation tonight the physical condition of both teams was a subject of keen discussion. Both will have their full strength upon the opening field of battle but both also will face some handicaps, with Washington seemingly up against the more severe difficulties.

Pittsburgh has lost her star utility outfielder, Johnny Rawlings, who will watch the series on crutches from the grand stand as a result of an ankle sprained several weeks ago. Eddie Moore, who replaced Rawlings at second base, also will start under the handicap of an injured thumb on his throwing hand, but Washington has three semi casualties among her stars, including Manager Harris, Shortstop Roger Peckinpaugh and Stanley Coveleskie veteran right handed twirler counted upon to share the main burden with Johnson.

Of the three, Harris, with a badly swollen middle finger on his right hand, seems the most handicapped and may not, in fact, be able to last through the entire series. He admits this himself.

Coveleskie has recuperated from a strained back but there remains some doubt whether he will be at his best. The Senators' chances will suffer a sharp reaction if he isn't.

Harris Goes To Right Field For Sens

Peckinpaugh's ankle has again shown signs of weakness and there is the possibility that in a quick fielding play he may sustain the same sort of injury that forced him to the bench last fall.

Washington's prospects depend a great deal upon these men—all major cogs in the team's defense and attack—and should one or more of them fail to be at his best the world's champions' stock will tumble, in spite of the fact that Harris has much better reserve material for emergencies than he had a year ago.

Washington supporters, on the other hand, feel if their club was able to survive triumphantly last year's series after having a badly patched up infield, the same winning streak can be kept up now with capable reserves on hand.

Stanley Harris will have his heaviest hitting array in action tomorrow to combat the Pirate attack. He decided today to put Joe Harris, a strong sticker, in right field in place of Sam Rice, who will move over to center to relieve Earl McNeely whose $50,000 hit won the last world's series but whose stick work has fallen off considerably this season.

With the exception of Rawlings, Pittsburgh will have the identical lineup which carried the club to the pennant. While it has not been through the tests which the Senators have met, the Pirate club excels in youth, speed and batting punch, three vital factors upon which home town hopes are chiefly based.

In Cuyler, Carrey, Traynor, Wright and Barnhart, the Pirates have an array which has batted down all opposition thus far, backed up by a pitching corps, which ranks among the best in either league, boasting no star with the outstanding achievements of Johnson or Coveleskie.

Meadows, tomorrow's choice, is the most experienced and steadiest of the staff. Vic Aldridge, another seasoned right hander, is generally picked to twirl the second game against Coveleskie, while the third contest, in Washington Friday, barring postponements here, will be a southpaw battle with Dutch Ruether of the Senators opposed by Emil Yde, young Pirate portsider.

TRIBE STILL NO GAME BILLED THIS WEEK; BUT BUBS DRIVES HIS MACHINE AT SPEEDY GAIT

Wichita Falls Junior collegians are still looking for an opponent to be played this week-end, according to Coach Mosley. All efforts to match a practice contest have failed so far. However, the Indians were kept very busy Tuesday afternoon on the college grid in what proved a rather heavy workout.

The squad grew one more Tuesday with the addition of Robert "Pat" Norris who hopes to make someone hustle to gain a position at guard.

The Tribe spent the greater part of the afternoon running signals followed by a scrimmage with the Coyotes. Mosley pushed the boys hard through the first run and then shoved them into the scrimmage.

They battled the Pack hard butseemed to lack the punch to hold them in check. Charles Wrath looked good in the line with several nice tackles of stray ball carriers over his position.

Curtis Beatty also made a nice showing on the defense and stopped short what may have proved long runs. His tackle of Rowdy Curtin after that worthy had broken down the field for a good gain was about the best tackle of the session.

YOU KNOW ME AL —By Ring Lardner

The PASSING HOUR
by Wm. B. Ruggles

NO QUESTION

You can take a hunk of sinew and of poundage
And by concentrating somewhat on the same,
After days of preparation, you can have some expectation
It will play by rule of habit in the game:
You can use the same at guards and ends and tackles
With some measure of results for all your pains—
But there's really no use trying all of nature's laws defying—
A quarterback has got to have some brains!

You can praise successful tactics used by Stewart—
You may think Mr. Bridges is a whiz—
Mr. Morrison gets praise for some teams that played like daisies—
But the simple thought behind their striving is:
That the toil they spend in tutoring and coaching
Is scattered like the dust along the lanes,
No matter what the showing of the other ten or knowing,
If the quarterback's short-circuited on brains.

RICKARD relies for court action against Jack Dempsey on Jack Kearns' signature. Even Tex does not realize that Dempsey's boss is named Estelle.

MOVED to reminiscences of one sort and another, Mr. Damon Runyon recalls an incident in the life of Stanley Ketchell, the "Michigan Assassin." Mr. Runyon's recollections also stir up thought. For instance, why should the gentry of the ring rejoice in nomenclature that would bring justifiable suit for libel if hung on folks in other walks of life?

Ringmen, like Ketchell, swell with pride when referred to as the "Michigan Assassin," the "Massachusetts Murderer," and similar titles redolent of the grand jury indictment and the high justice, the middle and the low.

This may be one of the things that have brought Fistiana into dispute. Quiet, church going persons are pat to stand aghast when they read in the daily prints that the "Maryland Mauler" put some party to sleep with a deft uppercut. It reads worse than it really is. There are exceptions of course. There was Arthur Pelkey, who hung a fatal kayo on the luckless Jay of Luther McCarty—the label given Ketchell tagged on Pelkey would have brought him into court with a suit on which he could recover.

But fight folks are careful, and the men who are termed "assassins" and "murderers" have filled no graveyards.

FERDINAND SCHUPP is the only pitcher on record who held the opposition to less than one earned run per game. The reason is, you not only have to hold the opposing batsmen down, but the official scorers.

THAT, too, is one answer to the frenzied hitting argument. Hold the scoring of base blows to the simon pure variety, of which there is no doubt at all, and there will be more .320 hitters and less .400.

Handicapped.

WILLIAM J. TILDEN II, writing his syndicate articles, discusses the probable final ranking this year of the leading tennis stars. The article was written evidently prior to the singles championship and with becoming modesty. Tilden stated that No. 1 would go to the champion, No. 2 to the runner-up and No. 3 to one of the semi-finalists. He admits, however that the distribution probably would include himself, Johnston and Richards. Results of the singles have shown that is what the order will be.

Herewith is shown the handicap of the journalist-writer. In advance, Tilden could have written logically enough that he expected to rank No. 1, Johnston No. 2 and Richards No. 3. The guess is ethical, for any other outcome on the courts might upset. But in deference to the polite character of his game, Tilden the writer, must deal in glittering generalities.

A New One.

THE conference championship seems to be a mystery to everybody around the state except Mr. Stow of the Fort Worth Record, who says that S. M. U. will win it, but is probably not figuring even-Steven on a 1-7 chance. But, whoever wins it, there is an excellent chance for a new coach to appear as champion producer.

Four of the seven conference coaches have produced champions—Bible, Stewart, Bridges and Morrison. Heisman, Schmidt and Bell are the three who have not qualified yet, giving the virgin trio a 3-4 chance to come through this year.

Conditions are slightly complicated, however, by the fact that Matty Bell does not think he is ready yet; Schmidt has a remodeled team, and Heisman is as yet uncertain of what his new machine can do.

But the chance is there.

TEXAS TECH has not really opened yet. They haven't played a football game.

ARMY DEFEATS KENMORE, 6-3

Fort Sill polobts took the second game of the Fairpark series with the Kenmores four Tuesday afternoon, 6 to 3. The Oklahomans got away to an early lead, but progressive play of the home crew with Featherstone and White featuring made the going heated in the final two chukkers. The match was held to five chukkers.

The snappiest play of the game was enacted in the final chukker when Feathers one raced practically the length of the field evading the better mounted Army polobts, and carried the ball to within a few yards of the goal where White picked it up and whipped her through the goal posts.

The chukkers were played between events staged in the second day of fair horse racing.

Line-up:

Fort Sill	Kenmare
McClure (No. 1)	Fletcher
Mallonnee (No. 2)	Featherstone
Jay (No. 3)	Robbins
Kluss (Back)	White

By chukkers:

Fort Sill	2	2	0	1	1	—6
Kenmare	1	0	0	1	2	—3

Goals: McClure 2, Mallonnee 2, Jay 1, Featherstone 1, White 2.

DEL MONTE.—Francis Brown of the Hawaiian Islands, recently tied the remarkable 66 record made by Captain A. Bullcok-Webster on the old Del Monte course. Brown was out in 35 and home in 31. He played with J. A. Mackenzie and Byington Ford of Pebble Beach and Peter Hay, Del Monte professional.

BRACKETT AND FARRIS FLASH WITH JUNIORS

George Comes To Life As Pups Train For Bowie

The Coyote Pups scampered through a short scrimmage and signal session Tuesday afternoon, Roy Brackett began to show a lot of stuff at halfback.

Haskell Giles was out again after a long absence.

Captain "Hunky" Farris is improving steadily and is now hitting the line harder than any other member of the squad.

Ray George, husky young quarterback, is making a great effort to shove all comers out for that position.

Coaches Montgomery, Kay Golden, and Falls are pushing the Pups through hard to whip them in shape for the Bowie game Friday on the Bowie gridiron. From here on it will be from 3:30 to dark with the Pups.

COYOTES DOWN TO HARD WORK IN PREPARATION FOR STRUGGLE WITH POLLYWOGS HERE FRIDAY

Mitchell Flashing Into Form—Curtin Gains At Will on Tribe—Flippin and Dobson Show

McCallum's Coyotes settled down to hard practice Tuesday in preparation for the game at Spudder park Friday with Meyer's T. C. U. freshman eleven. Holding scrimmage with the Junior college team, the Pack produced the best results of the season to date. The Indians were unable to halt the high schoolers.

Mitchell, a young backfield recruit, is beginning to flash into form since the Altus game last Saturday, and seems sure to develop into a real find for the Coyotes. Mitchell is looking good at carrying the ball and backing up the line on the defense.

Bob McClough, a new husky, was out for practice Tuesday. Once in shape this lad is expected to give some one af ight for a berth on the regular eleven.

During the scrimmage Rowdy Curtin and Mitchell tore up the Indian line and gained almost at will. "Flip" Flippin and Wilks Dobson smashed htge gaps through the tribe forward wall for the backfield to plunge through.

The Coyotes were given several new plays before the scrimmage, and used these to the best of advantages. They seemed to be nice ground gainers.

REESE MAKES CHANGES ON TIGER SQUAD

The Electra Tigers started their fifth week of practice Monday with about 30 men reporting to coaches Reese and Coke for their daily workout. After the usual punting and passing session, Reese took charge of the backfield men and sent them through a few minutes of receiving the ball from the center while Coke, was sending the line men through scrimmage with a few of the backfield men.

A number of changes were made during the signal passing in the first and second string. Lendon Smith and Sylvan Clonnger replaced Mike Brown and Boney Melton on the ends when the latter two failed to report for practice. Louis Kent replaced John Lebus in the first string backfield while Lebus went to quarter for the second team with John Louie Wright, who has been running signals for the second team, placed at half. The backfield showed its same weakness in fumbling during the signal practice, but Reese probably will bring them out of this during the next few days.

Captain Pug Sanderlin, who is suffering a lame shoulder, took a light workout with the squad this afternoon in a track suit as he was unable to don the football uniform.

Bud Tanner Signs With Building Ass'n

A. D. (Buddy) Tanner, retired Spudder manager, has located with the Guaranty Building and Loan association. Tanner has signed a long time contract as special representative of the organization, and is in the game daily. There are no postponements regardless of weather conditions, no double headers, and the season runs 12 months to the year, said the ex-baseball athlete.

MIDGETS OF QUANAH CLUB SCRAP HARD

Following the tie game with the Childress Bobcats, the Quanah Indians are hard at work training for their game with Vernon. The Quanah boys played a slow game Saturday, but several times they showed they were not as sluggish as thought.

The stars of the Indian team for this game are Orin (Red) Edwards, Jack Cox, and Jack Magee. If the rest of the team had played like these fellows, it would have been an easy victory. Jack Magee, who weighs only 118 pounds, went in and played left guard for three quarters, and successfully held his position against men almost twice his weight and size.

Friday afternoon, Quanah plays Paducah at Quanah, and a good turnout is expected from the local fans. Paducah is reported to have a fairly strong team this year, and this promises to be a good game.

Buster Martin Slips Knockout to Lee

Anderson (Buster) Martin, Wichita Falls heavyweight now living in Tulsa, knocked out George Lee of Holdenville, Okla., Monday night at Tulsa in the fifth round of a scheduled ten-rounder. This is the third straight kayo registered by Martin in his Oklahoma bouts.

Lee is fairly well known to the Wichita Falls sports public. Martin fought here several times last year.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 6.—(AP)—The cotton market was comparatively quiet affair today as was to be expected so near to another government crop report to be issued Thursday morning. The trend of prices was steadier, however, owing to proepects for colder weather in the belt. Not only did the weather map show much lower temperatures in the distant northwest but the officials forecast promised colder weather for the western portion of the cotton belt in the next 24 hours. From a somewhat irregular opening prices advanced 14 to 19 points and the market ruled but little below the highs all through the session, easing off slightly at the end on realizing, the close showing net gains for the day of six to nine points.

At the start although Liverpool cables were a shade better than due, the market here opened irregular, three points down to two up. The opening prices at 22.26 for December, 22.27 for January and 22.26 for March proved to be the lows of the day. The market started to improve right after the opening call and by the end of the first half hour of trading December traded at 22.43 and January at 22.42 and March at 22.43, or 14 to 19 points above yesterday's close. These figures proved to be the highs of the day.

While the market reacted and rallied several times later it was always within the earlier ranges. At one time during the afternoon prices almost reached the early highs but they receded again moderately in the final trading on realizing.

Two more private reports were issued during the day, one making the crop 14,156,000 bales and the other 14,000,000 bales. The average of 19 private reports issued to date makes the crop 14,180,000 bales. Exports for the day totalled 27,019 bales.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—(AP)—The cotton market was much quieter today and prices fluctuated within a range of 10 or 15 points. After selling at 22.94 at the start, December advanced to 23.04 and closed at 22.95, the general market closing steady at net advances of 4, to 11 points.

The opening was steady as an advance of six to nine points on the fairly steady showing of Liverpool cables and apprehensions of unfavorable weather developments in the southwest. Some hedge selling and realizing appeared to be readily absorbed and prices worked 12 to 17 points net higher before noon on covering and trade buying. The volume of business tapered off at the avance but no selling pressure of consequence developed and while the early improvement was not fully maintained the market showed a fairly steady undertone in the late trading.

After advancing to 23.02, October closed at 22.94 while January sold off from 22.31 to 22.24.

Two more private crop reports were issued, one estimating the indicated crop at 14,150,000 bales, with an allowance of 7.7 per cent for abandoned acreage and the percentage picked at 55.4. The other estimated the abandonment of acreage at 3.5 per cent and the indicated crop at 14,000,000 bales. The Texas traveler of a large local spot house thinks the bureau report of Thursday will place the crip inthe neighborhood of 14,000,000 bales, allowing 4,000,000 for Texas and 1,500,000 for Oklahoma. Some buying, buying probably developed here during the middle of the day on apprehension of a cold wave following showers or rains in the southwest, but the bulk of the day's trading was attributed to further evening-up of commitments in preparation for the approaching government report.

Exports today 27,019 making 1,847,994 so far this season.

Port receipts 86,206. U. S. port stocks 913,190.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Despite aggressive pool operations in a number of specialties and favorable business news today's stock market was under heavy selling pressure, closing quotations showing a long list of declines ranging from one to nearly six points. Trading was on an enormous scale, today's sales totalling 2,136,400 shares.

Heavy selling for both accounts was inspired by the growing belief that the technical position of many stocks had been weakened by the recent brisk advance, and by the maintenance of call money at 5½ per cent which led to the calling of additional loans and the forced liquidation of weakened marginal accounts.

Outside the stock market, chief interest centered in the announcement of large shipments of gold from England to the United States and the raising of the American Smelting dividend from $6 to $7 annually which, curiously, was followed by a decline in the stock of 11⅞ points off 5% on the day, after having touched 116 the highest since 1917, in the early trading.

Most of the standard industrials lost ground. U. S. Steel common closed a point lower at 121 after having reached 122¾. Baldwin showed a net loss of 1¾ at 117½ and American Can was off 4⅜ to 232¼ after having sold above 237. Mack Trucks broke six points to 206, closing slightly above that figure.

Standard rails also were liquidated freely, the popular explanation for the selling being the announcement that the examiners of the interstate commerce commission had rejected the Lorex merger plan, and the commission's failure to approve the proposed acquisition of the St. Louis-Southwestern by the Rock Island.

New weak prices were attained by a number of mail order and merchandise issues including Woolworth which touched 199½ and then broke to 191¾ for a net loss of 2%; May Department stores which reached 128⅝ and then sagged to 127 where it was up .6; National Cloak and Suit, which closed three points higher at 76 after having sold as high as 79, and Gimble Brothers, which hit 65¾ and then settled back to 64 for a small fractional gain.

Revival of speculative activity in Willys-Overland common, which carried that stock up nearly four points to a new high record at 30½ on total transactions in excess of 500,000 shares and the establishment of new lows by General Motors at 113¼, and Studebaker at 69⅜, were the outstanding developments in the trading in themotor shares.

Foundation company continued its sensational advance by touching another new high at 152¾, an extreme gain of nearly six points, and then yielded to 149¾; ned highs also were recorded by Coca Cola, at 254, U. S. Realty at 155, Harnet Leather at 63, New York Shipbuilding at 81½, and Wark Baking A at 192. Fleischmann, General Electric, Sears Roznock, International Harvester and United Fruit were conspicuously weak, falling 3 to 7½ points.

Call money ruled unchanged at 5½ per cent. Time money and commercial paper rates held steady. Foreign exchanges continued to move within rather narrow and irregular limits. Demand sterling ruled slightly higher, but French francs broke below 4.60 cents for a net loss of nearly four points. Norwegian kroner ruled about ten points lower at 19.58 cents. Brazilian milreis crossed 15 cent mark a new high record for the year in anticipation of new financing.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Wheat took a big upward swing in prices today, largely as a result of storms that stopped threshing and that aroused fresh anxiety relative to possible shortage of United States wheat supplies east of the Rockies. Final quotations on wheat were strong, at the top most instrea of he day, 2 to 5½ cents a bushel net advance. December $1.41½ o $1.41⅝, and May $1.41⅝ to $1.41¾ new style contracts for both months. Corn finished 1 to 3⅛c up, oats at ¼ to ⅝ gain, and provisions varying from 32c decline to a rise of 7c.

Lack of sunshine to dry out new corn did a good deal to send corn and oats up with wheat.

Provisions tended lower in line with hog values.

There was a moderate potato movement and a brisk apple movement in the 24 hour period which listed total rollings of leading commodities for the nation as follows: Peaches 22; onions 104; cantaloupes 8; cabbage 187; cucumbers 3; cauliflowers 16; grapefruit 4; celery 36; lettuce 39; grapes 513; apples 1,206; peppers 9; pears 150; potatoes 831; watermelons unreported, spinach 1; string beans 8. The day's shipments brought the total season movement of apples to date 30,951 cars against 25,233 a year ago, and the total watermelon movement to 41,403 cars, with 45,681 a year ago.

Watch That Saved Deputy's Life On Display at Fair

Old timers are brought to think over the days when Wichita Falls was a village when they see an exhibit in the antique department of the Texas-Oklahoma fair. On display there is the silver watch worn by Deputy Sheriff Frank Hardesty during a daring bank robbery here in 1896. A bullet was lying in the dented case of the old timepiece, and it was this bullet that was stopped by the silver watch when it was fired from the bandit's gun.

At the left of the watch is a picture of the bandits who were mobbed after they had robbed the bank, killed the cashier and shot at Mr. Hardesty. The picture shows the two men lying side by side, boots on, and their arms folded, following the vngeance heaped on them.

Market Gossip

R. E. Flowerree and Co., brokers, Basement Staley Bldg., today received the following market comment from Fenner and Beane, of New York, New Orleans and Chicago:

COTTON.

Cotton was steady and prices a shade higher today, owing to further covering brought on by prospects of bad weather over night. Reports of a blizzard in the northwest and storm formation over Oklahoma pointed strongly to general rains followed by a cold wave which may possibly bring wit hit a threat of frost in the northwestern section of the belt at a time when it would be most detrimental.

Spots continue in good demand and drygoods news continues encouraging. The thought ofthe trade, however, is centered on what government report will show Thursday and trading is largely of an evening up character.

Trading is likely to continue ofan evening up character unless weather developments are unfavorable enough to upset existing crop ideas.

Rain, snow and sleet were predicted for as far down as Kansas for tonight, and this may bring bad weather to the cotton belt.

GRAINS.

Wheat: Firmness in Liverpool was primarily responsible, for the strength in wheat today.

Disappointing movement from Russia, together with reports of cancellation by Russia, also claim of need of rain in India and Australia, account for the better Liverpool.

Prices have advanced so sharply since Saturday that there ought to be some reaction, but there is evidence that European continent and the United Kingdom are becoming less confident of their position because of small shipments from Russia, India, and Australia.

If they should become convinced that their position is wrong, they will unquestionably accept the Manitoba offers freely.

It is our belief that underlying condition are becoming favorable for higher prices.

Coarst Grains: Markets have been unduly neglected. Everybody is impressed by the expected size of the next crop and by the rather slow shipping demand. It is believed that the surplus of old corn has been well cleaned up, which necessitates a crop fro feeding.

We think there is an opportunity in the market on buying side for those who are patient,

STOCKS.

The stock market today opened somewhat mixed and about evenly divided between gains and losses.

Some specialities were strong, notably Woolworth, which advanced to a new high record.

On the other hand, Fleischmann and Ward Baking showed further losses. Allied Chemical and U. S. Rubber moved forward briskly and large trading came in North America.

Foundation made another high record while Coca Cola achieved the best price in its history, based on expectation that further capital readjustment which is believed will take place at the meeting scheduled for latter part this month.

In Motors, the high priced issues did not do much, but impressive buying came into General Motors, Studebaker and Willys-Overland.

Bullish enthusiasm was checked to considerable extent by pressure which developed around noon against the rails.

In the last hour trading continued show an irregular tone.

JAPS WILLING TO HELP WITH DISARMAMENT

Both British and Yellow Men Favor Reduction Plan

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—(AP)—While the inter-parliamentary union resolved today to sponsor movements for world disarmament and protection of troublesome national border lands, spokesmen from the Japanese and British groups declared their governments were ready to join with others in a concentrated action fur further reduction of armaments.

The resolution on armaments reduction reported by Dr P. Munch of Denmark, expressed regret that expenditures for armaments by "most countries showed a serious increase," stated the necessity of giving nations a feeling of security and called for a thorough examination by a special sub-committee scheme to bring this about. It was adopted without dissent.

OUST PALMER AS SHIPPING BOARD CHIEF

Committee Carries Out Announced Policy For Full Rule

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—(AP)—The breach between the shipping board and the White House was greatly widened today when the board removed President Leigh C. Palmer of the fleet corporation, who was elected to the office in January, 1924, at the instance of President Coolidge and had been given his consistent support.

At the same time, the board elected Elmer E. Crowley of Boston, operating manager for the American Export Line in New York to succeed Mr. Palmer.

The board elected Mr. Palmer a vice president in charge of European affairs of the corporation, a position for which he had been selected when Mr. Coolidge caused him to be made president.

This offer, one commissioner later explained, was only a mark of "courtesy" to Mr. Palmer and the latter declined it. When he put on his hat late today he walked out of his offices for the last time as president.

The step taken by the board today was one further advancement along the line of exercising full and complete control of fleet corporation affairs.

BANKS FLAYED BY BUILDERS ON FINANCES

Say They Charge Excessive Rates On Construction Loans

DALLAS, Oct. 6.—(AP).—Reform in financing building construction and elimination of day labor methods were demanded by the executive board of the Associated General Contractors of America, meeting here today. These were advanced as the first steps in reduction of building costs throughout America. Members of the board accused banks, brokers and other financial agents of taking too large a share of the money put into buildings and homes. From 20 to 30 per cent of the cost of building is absorbed by financial operations, it was said.

It was declared that rents were unjustly raised by these operations because frequently, the contractors charged, the financial cost is added to the construction cost and made to appear as part of it.

"This method of financing, which results in greatly inflated rentals, must be stopped or building will stop," said President George B. Walbridge of Detroit. "To that extent the contractors have a selfish interest, because we know this thing cannot continue. People will stop building and our business will be ruined.

"Take, for instance, a million dollar building. The investment company which lends the money, will charge 12 to 15 per cent interest. They will then slap on attorney's fees and other charges, bringing it up perhaps to 20 per cent. Brokers and other agents will get an additional percentage. All of these charges are added to the cost of construction, so a building which costs actually about $700,000 to construct, is held out as a building which cost $1,000,000."

Russians Revel In Rum as Days Of Prohibition Go

MOSCOW, Oct. 6.—(AP)—For three days the Russian people have been celebrating with unabated rejoicing and conviviality the country's return to alcohol. After 11 years of partial prohibition, Russia let down the restrictions on storage liquors on Sunday last.

In Moscow today nearly 100,000 quarts of the new 40 per cent Vodka was sold and a correspondingly heavy sale was reported throughout Russia. From early in the morning lines of eager Russians four deep, extending for a whole city block waited patiently outside the wine shops for their share of the popular beverage. Some of them carried gallon tins, basins, water pails and even tea kettles.

GET OUT THE COATS

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 6.—(AP)—A hint o fthe appoach of winter will be given this section tomorrow with falling temperatures and possibly snow the United States weather bureau predicted tonight.

Northern Missouri, South Iowa and parts of Kansas may be visited by snow tomorrow and rain accompanied by lowering temperature will be general over Missouri, Kansas, Iowa and Nebraska.

The forecaster said the mercury would go below 40 degrees here tomorrow morning.

Albert Wilding, Man Who Played Ape Role in Famed Tarzan Film, Comes to Wortham Carnival Here

Creates Much Excitement In Midway Monkey Speedway As He Pays Friendly visit To Little "Kinsmen."

There was much excitement around Wolfee's monkey speedway at the fair yesterday. It was in the monkey colony. Albert Wilding, one of the trio that plays the ape in "Tarzan and His Son," the famous moving picture, came along. He was clad like an immense ape, the costume having been designed to make him look like the real thing.

Feared at First.

At first he was looked upon with some fear. After he stood around for several minutes making no sign of doing dire things the monkeys subsided and became curious. They enjoyed the visit and were left with the idea that a huge member of the family had paid an unusual call.

Mr. Wilding joined Clarence A. Wortham's shows on the midway yesterday. He has just come from the coast. While out there he took many parts in the silent plays produced by the company engaging him. To film the Tarzan pictures many doubles were needed. He with two other capable actors played the part.

Knows Monkey Lingo.

When one would tire out the other steppe dinto the picture and the reel rolled off without delay. Having become the athletic mimic of a huge animal he started to mimic monkey tones. Observation showed monkeys have certain vocal expressions to convey different emotions. He imitated these so often he has become quite a linguist in the monkey tongue.

Mr. Wilding joined the shows here to see how the public would take to an explanation and revelation of how the Tarzan pictures were made. Thus far he has scored nicely. He is in the Beckmann and Gentry big circus side show. Pat Murphy, the manager, introduces him to the audience and he then imitates monkey sounds and actions.
