It's All Up To George, Eagleton Tells Demos

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the new party leadership urging him to pull out, Democratic vice-presidential nominee Thomas F. Eagleton says he'll take his fight for staying on the ticket to George McGovern tonight.

Whether he stays on will be a joint decision, the Missouri senator said Sunday, and if presidential candidate McGovern should ask him to get off "I can't prejudice what I would do."

Eagleton said he will present his case to McGovern at a meeting tonight—without being pig-headed, he said—but was not at all sure a decision would result from the meeting.

The Missouri senator's future on the ticket has been in question since last Tuesday when he disclosed that he had undergone psychiatric treatment in 1960, 1964 and 1966 for mental depression.

McGovern told newsmen early Sunday "I really don't know at this point whether he's a plus or a minus" in the campaign against President Nixon but said "we might very well decide that the thing to do is for him to stay on."

Democratic National Chairman Jean Westwood and Vice Chairman Basil A. Paterson, interviewed on NBC's "Meet the Press" Sunday, urged Eagleton to drop out.

"It would be the noble thing for Tom Eagleton to step down," Mrs. Westwood said.

She said discussion of Eagleton's medical background is eclipsing an airing of real campaign issues.

Mrs. Westwood and Paterson were selected for their jobs by McGovern but both said on the television interview that they were urging Eagleton to withdraw on their own and had not consulted McGovern.

McGovern met at his home for 5½ hours late Sunday with Mrs. Westwood and several key members of his staff, including political director Frank Manikiewicz, campaign manager Gary Hart, and fund-raiser Henry Kimelman.

Hart confirmed the group had discussed Eagleton's future but would not elaborate.

Eagleton, appearing on "Face the Nation" on CBS, said he considers himself not an encumbrance but an asset to the ticket.

He said he demonstrated his ability last week by winning such "disenchanted" party leaders as California fund-raiser Gene Wyman and San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto over to supporting the McGovern-Eagleton ticket.

One of Eagleton's questioners on "Face the Nation" was columnist Jack Anderson who publicly apologized on the program for reporting without documentary proof that Eagleton had been arrested several times for drunken driving.

Rodeo Champs Are Crowned

All around champions at the Howard County Junior Rodeo held Thursday through Saturday are Marty Petska, Carlsbad, N.M., and Joanne Whitehead, Morton.

Petska was challenged early champion saddle for his winning 84 point ride, which earned him more than 272 championship points.

Miss Whitehead won her saddle for her first place win in pole bending and her second place tie in barrel racing.

Petska was challenged early today as winner of the all around championship on the grounds that he won the points in only one event.

A local rule awards the all around title to the boy winning "the most points in two or more events." Petska was entered in other events, but did not place in the top six.

The Howard County Junior Rodeo Committee today decided in favor of Petska, ruling that although he did not place in two events, he did win his points in competition in two or more events.

The boys saddle was provided by Dewey Ray Chrysler-Plymouth, Tommy Gay Oil Company, an anonymous donor, Home Real Estate and the Big Spring New Car Dealers Association.

The girls saddle was provided by Wards Boot and Saddle Shop. First place belt buckle winners are:

Bareback bronc riding, James Ward, Odessa, 87 (First National Bank); calf roping, age 13-15, Jim Standley, Hunt, 15.7 (E. P. Driver Insurance Agency); age 16-19, Tony Churchill, San Angelo, 11.6 (Hayle and Ben Nix); breakaway roping, age 13-15, Dianne Asher, Rankin, 3.5 (Joy's Farm & Ranch Service Center); age 16-19, Ann Miller, Lamesa, 3.7 (Coleman Grain Co. and West Texas Compress); and steer riding, age 12 and under, Tony Hooper, Odessa, 61 (Houston Electric Co. and Joe Pond Insurance).

Bull riding, age 13-15, Marty Taylor, Canadian, 46 (Coahoma State Bank); age 16-19, Marty Petska, Carlsbad, N.M., 84 (H. W. Smith Transport and an anonymous donor); ribbon roping, age 12 and under, Ross Gray, Livingston, N.M., 9.5 (Malcolm Patterson Insurance Agency); age 13-15, Mack Altizer, Del Rio, 3.7 (Morris Robertson Body Shop and Reward Body Shop); and age 16-19, Jack Ewert, Waco, 6.2 (Big Spring Cowboy Reunion).

Pole bending, age 12 and under, Johnny Mann, Hobbs, N.M., 21.5 (Howard County Sheriff's Office and Howard County Youth Horseman); age 13-15, boys, Mack Altizer, Del Rio, 22.1 (Security State Bank); age 16 and under, Donna Proctor, Odessa, 22.3 (Farmers' Coop. Society No. 2—Ackerly); age 13-15, Joanne Whitehead, Morton, 21.2 (Paymaster Gins—Ackerly and Farview); and age 16-19, Lisa Jo Mann, Hobbs, N.M., 21.3 (State National Bank).

Barrel racing, age 12 and under, Becky Harrell, Hermleigh, and Kathy Harrell, Hermleigh, tied for first with 19.2 (Huggins-Bartlett Co.); age 13-15, Lisa Voss, Snyder, 18.8 (General Welding Supply and an anonymous donor); and age 16-19, Carolyn Reese, Big Spring, and Gail Cannon, Gail, tied for first with 18.5 (Loy Acuff).

A TREE THIS SIZE — Mrs. Virginia Piper shows newsmen Sunday the diameter of the tree she was chained to in Northern Minnesota. She met with reporters Sunday after being released by kidnapers who made off with a million dollar ransom.

Abductors Abandoned Her In The Wilderness

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Virginia Piper, the attractive socialite whose husband paid $1 million ransom to free her from kidnapers, dug at the ground with her bare hands while trying to free herself from a tree to which she had been chained in a forest.

"I wasn't actually in fear of my life until they left me on Friday," Mrs. Piper said. "Then I thought, 'I'm chained to a tree here and they'll find me in November.'"

ONLY WAY Mrs. Piper, who discussed the kidnapping at a news conference Sunday, said she then began digging in hopes of uprooting the six-inch-thick tree.

"I thought that the only way I could ever get out was to uproot the tree and tell it to lug the tree out to the highway. At least it kept me busy. I figured that by the end of the week, I would be able to dump that tree," she added.

The 49-year-old victim had some degree of mobility since the chain, which was strung around the tree from hand to hand, had a three-foot leeway.

Mrs. Piper recalled a bit of humor after she was found by FBI agents, who went to the scene after receiving an anonymous tip. The agents unlocked her handcuffs, but could not free her from the chain. So four agents bent the small tree to the ground and she was able to slip the chain over it.

FUNNY, REALLY "This is terribly funny, really—four of them jumped on the tree and swung it back and forth and got it down," Mrs. Piper said.

The kidnapers have not been caught.

Mrs. Piper's husband is Harry C. Piper, 54, board chairman of the investment and brokerage firm of Piper, Jaffray and Hopwood, Inc.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A Delta DC8 en route from Detroit to Miami, Fla., was hijacked today a few miles south of Orlando, just as the big four-jet aircraft prepared to make its approach to Miami International Airport, the Federal Aviation Administration reported here.

A spokesman for FAA said one hijacker is involved and that possibly others may be.

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — World champion Boris Spassky took a rest from the international chess title game Sunday, pleading a cold. The ninth game with American Bobby Fischer now is scheduled to be played Tuesday.

The Russians asked for a postponement half an hour before the noon deadline and delivered a medical certificate to referee Lothar Schmid. Three such postponements are allowed each player in the 24-game series.

"It was not unexpected," said Fred Cramer, Fischer's representative. "That's what the Russians normally do when their man is below par and is losing rapidly."

The Russian titleholder has been playing poorly and not showing his usual self-confidence. He is down 3-5 in the match and has won only one game in play while Fischer has taken four.

The Russians said they did not know whether a further two-day postponement would be asked for Tuesday.

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) — Three men were executed at the Sports Ground, 30 miles east of here, after being convicted in a $3,675 robbery from a hospital, the newspaper Taifa Empya reported today.

The paper said the three, all employees of the hospital, were shot in front of a crowd of several thousand people this weekend by Uganda's public safety unit — a special police squad charged with hunting down armed robbers.

TRIO EXECUTED

SLIGHT CHANCE Clear to partly cloudy with slight chance of light afternoon and nighttime thunderstorms. High today and Tuesday upper 90's. Low tonight near 70.

Road Claim Effort To Discredit, Says Crooker

By LINDA CROSS

"This was a deliberate attempt on the part of County Judge A. G. Mitchell to discredit me as a member of this court," County Commissioner Bill Crooker charged today.

Commissioner Crooker referred to the commissioners' court's action in discussing during his absence the paving of a road on privately-owned land in Precinct 3, which Crooker represents.

After exchanges between Commissioner Crooker, Judge Mitchell and Commissioner Bill Bennett at today's commissioners' meeting, Crooker said that "it might be a good idea to spend the county's money on a survey to find out if the road is on private land or not."

No action was taken by the other members of the court on the suggestion.

The road in question is 330 feet of new paving that runs behind the Crestwood Mobile Home Park on South U.S. 87. Last week the court questioned if the road was on private property belonging to John W. Davidson.

"This paving project was entered into 18 months ago and was supposed to have been paved last year. The road was in the process of paving. Why couldn't discussion of this have waited a week when I would be here? It had waited for over a year," said Commissioner Crooker.

"I could care less if Crooker was a Catholic, Methodist, Protestant or Republican or whatever he was. I got a call over the weekend, and the person told me that a private road in Crooker's precinct had been paved, and Marvin Hanson (acting road and bridge administrator) had gotten a call, too, about the road. We went out there, and the road was paved, over the bar ditches and right up to the sidewalk. I don't have anything to apologize to Crooker about on this. It's unfortunate that this occurred while he was out of town," said Judge Mitchell.

CROOKER ASKED JUDGE Mitchell why he had not referred the person making the complaint about the road to him so that Crooker might have handled the matter.

"Why should I call you? Why didn't you get in touch with me?" returned Mitchell.

"Why should I call you? I happen to know that you went out with Hanson the Thursday before (last Monday's court session) and looked at all the paving that was being done. That's not any of your business as county judge. We are the road commissioners," Crooker retorted.

Crooker brought up the matter of caliche from a county pit being loaded into a private citizen's truck by county employees.

BRALESS BIRDS OF BRITAIN BRAG

Cooper's Droop Udder Nonsense

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Special Correspondent

LONDON (AP) — Cooper's droop holds no peril for the bountiful braless birds of Britain.

"Cooper's what?" demanded dancer Fiona Pennaman when informed a recent journal of the American Medical Association had warned that girls going without a bra risk "development of pendulous breasts caused by stretching of the fibrous tissue attaching the breast to the chest."

Once lengthened by gravity, the consultants submitted, "these fibrous connections, Cooper's suspensory ligaments, do not resume youthful dimensions and no amount of exercise will restore pristine mammary profile."

TRUSSED UP

"This Cooper must be a nit or a twit," scoffed Miss Pennaman, projecting a pectoral profile to delight the eye of a Rubens. "Going without a bra is far more comfortable than being trussed up like a Yorkshire ham."

Dispatched in the interests of pectoral pathology to Wimbledon, Chelsea, Knightsbridge and other areas of impending pendulosity, this reporter, lately returned from Vietnam, approached the whole subject of Cooper's droop with the caution one reserves for a minefield.

Choosing the interview subjects from a crowded field calls for keen powers of observation, fore and aft. And a wary regard for belligerent boyfriends. In addition to an impeccable pectoral profile, there must also be clear evidence of what the doctors call "lack of mammary support," usually detectable by the absence of a bra strap.

There was the singular case of Londoner Pat Adams who, proud as a bartender who didn't drink, sold bras at Escalade, the fashionable Knightsbridge shop, without wearing one.

"But I always wear one when sking," she confided. Most of the unbuttoned interviewees were relieved at the medical journal's conclusions that "the whole affair is one of appearance rather than health." At worse, the perils of pendulosity, if realized, would leave one looking like members of certain Africa tribes where bras were burned before the dawn of history.

Few of the girls approached had dispensed with their bras in the spirit of liberation or rebellion.

"The flat look is in, isn't it, dearie?" suggested fashion model Maureen Madden of Brisbane, Australia, whose contour presented a well-rounded argument to the contrary.

Oddly enough, the only real hostility to the survey developed in the Kings Road of Chelsea, the no-bra capital of the Western world. In tow behind an enormous Great Dane came a prodigiously pendulous specimen.

JUST LOOKING

My approach was discreet, scholarly.

"Madame... the Journal of the American Medical Association has warned that your not wearing a bra can lead to ahem, pendulosity..."

"Bloody cheek," she bellowed. "I am wearing a bra."

The dog was still growling and the woman howling for a constable, when the researcher abruptly concluded his inquiries by disappearing into a crowded boutique.

"May I be of some assistance?" asked a nodular nymphet in a see-through halter dress.

"No, no, no. Just looking."

COOPER'S WHAT?

DEATHS

John W. Seale Rites Tuesday

John W. Seale, 60, of Big Spring, a retired boiler fireman for the Cosden Oil and Chemical Company, died at 4:15 p.m. Saturday in Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. Funeral will be at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday in the Nalley-Pickles Rosewood Chapel in Big Spring.

The Rev. Randy Cotton, associate pastor of Trinity Baptist Church in Big Spring, will be officiating. Burial will be in Elmwood Memorial Park in Abilene.

Mr. Seale was born Nov. 24, 1903, in Fort Worth. He married Doris Avery on Dec. 18, 1956, in Lovington, N.M. He had been a resident of Big Spring for 15 years, coming to Big Spring from Abilene. He was employed at Onyx Refinery in Abilene until the Cosden Oil and Chemical Company purchased the refinery. He then moved to Big Spring. He retired from the Cosden Oil and Chemical Company in 1968.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Doris Seale of Big Spring; one daughter, Miss Tammy Seale of Big Spring; four stepsons, Aubrey Seale and Mike Seale, both of Big Spring, Ron Seale of Houston, Tom Dale Seale of Waco; four stepdaughters, Mrs. Carolyn Jones of Abilene, Mrs. Barbara Purvis of Lubbock, Mrs. Linda Reed of Wichita Falls, Miss Brenda Seale of Lubbock; two sisters, Mrs. Ruby Martin and Mrs. Pearl Moreland, both of Fort Worth; one brother, Lee Seale of Chicago, Ill.

Pallbearers are George Havrell, George C. Clinton, Jim Barkley, Ollie Denning, Bill Gibson, R. D. Lane.

Retired Dawson Farmer Expires

LAMESA (SC) — Johnnie Melvin Dawson, 80, died Sunday at 3:30 p.m. in Medical Arts Hospital.

The funeral will be Wednesday 2 p.m. in Bryan Street Baptist Church with the Rev. Bob Whitten officiating, assisted by the Rev. J. P. Jones. Burial will be in the Lamesa Memorial Park under the direction of Branon Funeral Home.

Breeding was born July 24, 1891 in Callahan County and had resided here for 35 years. He was a retired farmer and a veteran World War I, a member of DAV of World War I, and a member of the Baptist Church for the past 28 years.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs.

'Hoot' Morris, Services Held

Funeral services were held Saturday in McCamey, Tex., for E. D. (Hoot) Morris, 47, former resident of Big Spring.

Services were held in McCamey Church of Christ and burial was in Sheffield, Tex. Mr. Morris was killed Thursday morning in an oil field accident at McCamey.

Mr. Morris was born Oct. 9, 1924 in Melvin, Tex. He resided in Big Spring for 15 years before moving to McCamey two years ago. While living here, Mr. Morris was employed at the Veterans Administration Hospital. He was a veteran of World War II.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Susan Hensley, McCamey, and Mrs. Carol Hodnett, San Angelo; one son, Gordon Morris, Fort Worth; and three grandchildren.

Bentsen Names Texas Assistant

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Lloyd Bentsen has announced the appointment of George R. Phenix, a former Texas newspaperman and municipal affairs expert, as his executive assistant in Texas. Phenix will reside in Austin and office in that city's Federal Office Building, beginning Sept. 1. Phenix is a native of Lubbock.

A veteran congressional employee, Phenix was on the staff of U.S. Jake Pickle for some three and a half years and was his administrative assistant.

Showers

Spotted showers, accompanied by a crackle of thunder, surprised Big Spring Monday morning. The Herald gauge showed only .03 of an inch from the display that produced more noise than moisture.

McGovern Wants To Slice Defense Budget $4 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic presidential candidate Sen. George McGovern says he will introduce an amendment Tuesday to cut the Defense Department budget by $4 billion.

McGovern said the proposed cut would be offered by an amendment to the $20.5-billion weapons-procurement bill now under consideration. The bill authorizes spending for new military weapons.

In a statement Monday announcing the proposal, McGovern said:

"I do not believe it would be right for the Congress to increase military spending barely three months before this presidential election. That would be a blatant attempt to make more difficult the turn-around in military outlays which the voters have the right to make a judgment on."

McGovern's amendment would cut the defense budget to $77 billion.

The Senate has defeated by large margins other attempts to impose an over-all cut on Pentagon spending.

Meanwhile, the Senate debated whether the Army's $5.2 billion SAM-D antiaircraft missile project should be killed.

The tight three-day schedule on the bill will bring another fight on end-of-the-war amendments Wednesday, with other amendments contemplated to end the bombing, the draft and to increase military retirement pay.

The SAM-D project provides $171 million for engineering in the bill and some $400 million has been spent on it already. With procurement, cost of the project is estimated at $5.2 billion.

The SAM-D is projected by the Army as a successor to the Nike Hercules and Hawk antiaircraft missiles. However, its opponents favor a defense system using the portable Red Eye.

and Chaparral missiles and the new F15 Air Force fighter.

The SAM-D program has lagged, costs have jumped — a $1.2 billion overrun — and the money could be better spent on the other air defense weapons, said Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., who offered the amendment to cut the SAM-D program.

Cranston and Sen. Edward Brooke, R-Mass., will lead the fight over the end-of-the-war amendment, probably on Wednesday.

The amendment would provide for a cutoff of funds for U.S. forces in Indochina four months after North Vietnam returns U.S. prisoners of war. The same amendment was successfully attached last week to the foreign military aid bill, resulting in defeat of the bill.

The procurement bill passed by the House has no end-of-the-war provision, so even if the Senate approves the amendment, it would still have to be settled in a conference, where prospects are considered poor.

OIL
N'West Howard Wildcat Finals

A Pennsylvania reef wildcat, SRG Oil No. 1 Brunson, a twin to a failure being plugged back for additional testing.

Depleted Modesta field, topped the reef at 6,273 feet above sea level.

This touched off another wildcat, Desana No. 1 Simpson, 2 1/2 miles to the northeast, but it was aimed at the dean rather than the reef.

Glascocounty gained two locations, one a 3,900 foot

Collision With Car Hurts Rider

A Big Spring motorcyclist is resting comfortably after suffering injuries encountered in a collision with an automobile Sunday.

Gregg at Edwards Blvd. was the scene of a 3:11 p.m. accident between motorcyclist Preston V. Crawford, P.O. Box 1575, and Troy Ellis Ogden, 2513 Cindy.

Crawford was taken to Hall-Bennett Hospital by Alert Ambulance. He is reported in satisfactory condition.

ROAD CLAIMS

ployes and equipment working a pit in Precinct 2, Commissioner Bill Bennett's precinct.

"Did you tell Bennett about this?" Crooker asked.

"Yes, I told him," replied Mitchell.

"Why didn't you bring it up before the whole court?" asked Crooker.

"HELPED OUT" — The news media asked me about that, and if they didn't print it, I can't help it," said Mitchell. (He was questioned at the time of the incident and he said the court simply helped a man whose equipment was broken down.)

"We loaded a truck or two with caliche for him. I don't see anything bad about that. We were paying him back for lending us a water truck to fight fires," said Mitchell.

Crooker read the four conditions under which the county can create public roads, and he contended that the road in his precinct had been created under the condition of "prescription" under which a road becomes a public road if the county or public authority had maintained the road for several years during which it was used by the public.

"This road is similar to road Commissioner Simon Terrazas plans to pave in his precinct. He plans to pave three miles of road there, and I seriously doubt if he has right-of-way. He doesn't need it. The road has been used as a public road for some time," said Crooker.

PRESENTS DEEDS — Crooker also presented two warrants deeded in which land in that area in which Crooker contends the newly paved road was created was dedicated for public use. The deeds are dated Dec. 1 and 2, 1942 and are from John L. Burns to C. L. (Kate) Williamson. The deeds concern a 10-acre tract in section 13, block 33, township 1-south.

Crooker said Commissioner Bill Bennett is planning to pave a section of private road on section 43 in his precinct.

"I don't want you accusing me of paying private road just because of your mistake," replied Bennett.

Crooker said that the plans for the road in Precinct should be studied to make sure it wasn't private road horsehoe-shaped road before any work is done.

Pharmacies Burglarized

Burglaries of two local pharmacies were discovered Sunday morning, and heavy losses were reported.

Robert Knight, Knight's Pharmacy, 900 Main St., reported that his store had been broken into Saturday night or Sunday morning of assorted goods, drugs and cash.

Police said that a .270 caliber rifle, a .357 caliber pistol and two 12-gauge shotguns had been taken in the caper. Also taken was approximately $1100 worth of amphetamines (sometimes known as "uppers") in tablet, injectable and powder forms. Cash taken was approximately $350.

Detective Sam Cooley discovered the break-in at Wright's Prescription Center, 419 Main St., early Sunday morning. Officers reported that an undetermined amount of drugs of assorted categories had been taken. Bruce Wright, owner, is out of town and details of the missing inventory is unknown.

"Foey Loey" The Magician

In every day life "Foey Loey" is known as Bob Stipe, a Christian businessman who owns and operates a gasoline agency in Baytown, Texas. Feeling led of God, 5 years ago, to go all out to reach children for Christ, Bob went all out to learn Gospel Magic. He uses and applies it to Bible truths, lessons and illustrations. "Foey Loey" will be performing for the children only at 7 p.m. nightly during the Old Fashioned Tent Revival.

SPAARK DIES — Paul Henri Spaak, Belgian Socialist leader and one of the architects of European unity and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, died early today. He was 73.

'Blacks Feel Sen. Eagleton Has Got To Go'

CHICAGO (AP) — Nine black leaders who held a secret caucus here have agreed that Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton should step down as the Democratic candidate for vice president.

The Rev. Jesse Jackson said after the Sunday night meeting that the group had concluded that "blacks feel that Sen. Eagleton has got to go."

Jackson, president of Operation PUSH (People United to Save Humanity), last week called on Eagleton to get off the ticket after the Missouri senator disclosed that he had been hospitalized three times for psychological therapy.

Dr. Carlton Goodlet, president of the National Negro Publishers' Association, said Eagleton's failure to tell Sen. George McGovern, the Democratic presidential nominee, of his previous psychiatric history weakens the ticket's image on the "credibility issue."

Rep. Louis Stokes, D-Ohio, said the meeting was called to show support for Jackson, who is feuding with Mayor Richard J. Daley over influence in the Illinois campaign.

Jackson was a leader of the challenge delegation which ousted Daley and 58 other uncommitted Illinois delegates from their seats at the Democratic National Convention.

Stokes said Jackson's victory at the Miami convention was "symptomatic of nationwide black political assertiveness. Those of us who are part of that movement insist that his achievements not be violated."

Reshuffle Cabinet

ATHENS (AP) — Premier George Papadopoulos reshuffled his army-backed regime today to include two former right-wing members of Parliament.

It was the first time that deputies from Parliament dissolved by an army take-over five years ago agreed to join the regime.

The two former deputies, Cleanthis Damianos and Spyridon Katsotas, were sworn in as undersecretary of national economy and assistant to the premier, respectively.

The new additions to the cabinet were considered a first attempt by the government to bridge the gap between the old political order and the regime in a move toward eventual elections and restoration of democracy.

It was the second major reshuffle since January.

Need Security Blanket In Tulsa

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — The need for more secure security has been demonstrated by two Tulsa men.

Nathaniel Howard said he kept a .22-caliber pistol under his pillow, but when he awoke one morning recently it was gone.

Leonard Nesbit said he had two aggressive German Shepherd husky dogs in the backyard who always barked when strangers approached. The dogs were quiet all night, Nesbit told police, but they too had disappeared.

Police said they had no clues.

Busing Foes Plan Action In Two House Committees

WASHINGTON (AP) — Busing foes will be active in two House committees this week, trying to pry loose antibusing legislation while there is still time for Congress to pass it this year.

The Rules Committee has scheduled hearings aimed at getting a quick House vote on either a constitutional amendment outlawing busing, or on President Nixon's proposal for a temporary stay in new court-ordered busing.

Another bill, which would establish for the courts permanent desegregation guidelines that would sharply limit busing, is up for consideration in the Education and Labor Committee.

BOTTLED UP Both the constitutional amendment and the moratorium on new busing orders are bottled up in the Judiciary Committee, opposed by a majority of the committee members. But the Rules Committee has the power to take them away and send them to the House floor.

Rep. William M. Colmer, D-Miss., chairman of the Rules Committee, hopes to convince a majority of his 15-member committee to vote with him this week to do just that. He would prefer to act on the constitutional amendment but will settle for what he can get.

If the Rules Committee does act, civil-rights supporters also hope it is on the constitutional amendment. A two-thirds majority in both the House and Senate would be required to pass it and they are confident no such majority could be mustered in the Senate.

The Nixon moratorium would prevent the federal courts from issuing any new busing orders until next June 30 in order to give Congress time to enact permanent legislation along the lines of that before the Education and Labor Committee.

SAME EFFECT Congress already has passed a bill having the same effect as the proposed moratorium. It prevents any court-ordered busing plans from going into operation until all appeals to higher courts have been exhausted.

The law, which was just enacted last month, is now being tested in the courts. In the Education and Labor Committee, an effort to add a $1.5-billion compensatory education provision to the antibusing guidelines threatens to complicate matters.

Nixon, who originally proposed the guidelines, included in his bill a provision that would target funds on ghetto schools as an alternative to desegregating them. But he didn't request any new money to carry out the program.

Hunger Strike In Embassy

MOSCOW (AP) — Two natives of Canada and their Soviet spouses went to the Canadian Embassy today to hold a hunger strike there until the Soviet government allows them to go to Canada.

The four are Guene "Jim" Lenko and Nadia Demidenko, who were taken to the Ukraine by their parents 16 years ago. Lenko's wife, Svetlana, and Mrs. Demidenko's husband, Anatoly. Both Canada and the Soviet Union claim Lenko and Mrs. Demidenko as citizens. The spouses and the couples' children, born here, have only Soviet citizenship. But Canada has assured them of entry papers if Soviet authorities allow them to leave here.

In the past two years the couples have submitted a number of applications and appeals for exit visas. All have been refused.

Demidenko said they chose the embassy for their strike because they didn't think they'd get arrested there, and they didn't think the Canadians would kick them out.

British Dock Leaders Seek New Settlement

LONDON (AP) — Striking longshoremen streamed from Britain's idle ports into London today to campaign for their job security demands in a labor crisis threatening to cause food shortages within this week.

Prime Minister Edward Heath scheduled talks on the crisis Tuesday with leaders of the Trades Union Congress, Britain's labor federation.

Their main topic will be the new labor relations act to which the unions are opposed. Last week longshoremen, miners, transport workers and other employees stopped work in protest against the law. When the other unions went back to work, the dock workers stayed out and rejected a new wage-and-security work contract.

Crowds of dockers assembled in London to lobby at the talks already started between their leaders and port officials. If these talks failed to bring an early settlement, the government was expected to take emergency measures to move essential supplies.

Talks with the port officials

Sheik's Surgery

LONDON (AP) — Sheik Mujibur Rahman, prime minister of Bangladesh, has undergone surgery at the London Clinic for removal of his appendix and a gallstone.

"His general condition is quite satisfactory," a spokesman for the Bangladesh mission in London reported after the surgery Sunday.

Sir Edward Muir, personal surgeon of Queen Elizabeth II, carried out the operation on the 51-year-old leader.

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Every time I read a letter in your column from parents complaining because of a problem with a child I could scream! I would give my right arm to have their problem.

I am 23, married, and have been to several doctors dealing with fertility problems, and I have been told I am sterile. We want to adopt a child, but there is a long waiting list of at least three years.

People who have "problems" with their children should thank God every day of their lives that they are able to have children — no matter what kind of problems they have with them. They are blessed and don't even appreciate it. I envy them their problems with their children, and I couldn't mean it more sincerely.

DEAR HEARTBROKEN: Apparently you want to adopt a newborn, American, Caucasian baby, which is not easy to come by. Babies of mixed parentage are available. Also Korean babies. Also children in orphanages, some of them handicapped. If you are sincere, and consider "problems" a blessing, you need not remain childless.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think about a man whose house is cluttered with pictures of himself? He has them in every room, framed and on the walls, and sitting around in expensive frames on every end table, and even on the window sills.

This man is now fat and bald, and most of those pictures were taken long ago when he was young and handsome and had lots of hair and a trim physique. Nobody would recognize him as the same person.

What is wrong with him? DEAR WONDERING: Nothing need be "wrong" with him. Maybe he just enjoys seeing himself as others SAW him.

DEAR ABBY: Is it improper to put a return address on a card of sympathy?

A friend of mine said this should never be done. DEAR HURON: Your friend is mistaken. All mail should have a return address. And my sympathy goes to those frustrated postmasters and mail handlers who find millions of pieces of mail undeliverable because of insufficient, incorrect or illegible addresses, and NO return address.

DEAR ABBY: Please print this for "Going Crazy," the wife of a man who always starts projects, but never finishes anything.

I have a solution for your problem. When your husband starts a project — painting, papering, building a patio, putting in a garden, or whatever, and then loses interest and abandons it, that's your cue to go right to work and start to "finish" it for him.

He will come running to show you how incompetent you are, quickly pointing out that you are doing it all wrong. Then he will proceed to take over the job and "show" you how an expert does it.

Just keep telling him how smart he is, and continue to marvel at his expertise. And before you know it, the job will be finished. BEEN THERE Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069, and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

REMEMBERING 'BLOODY SUNDAY' — Catholic activist Bernadette Devlin, center, speaks at rally in the Bogside section of Londonderry, Sunday, commemorating the "Bloody Sunday" encounter of six months ago when 13 Catholics were killed in clashes with British paratroopers.

Catholic Areas Invaded, IRA Kills Six With Bombs

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland (AP) — British troops and armor occupied barricaded strongholds of the Irish Republican Army early today and encountered almost no resistance. But the IRA struck back later with bombs that killed at least six civilians.

Striking at 4 a.m., 13,000 British soldiers smashed down IRA barricades with tanks converted to bulldozers and took possession of Catholic areas of Londonderry, Belfast, Lurgan, Armagh, Portadown, Coalisland and Dungannon.

By noon, reports were coming in of bombings in Londonderry and other towns. In Claudy, 12 miles southeast of Londonderry, six persons were killed when bombs planted in three cars exploded in the main street.

Army officers believed most of the IRA gunmen had gone underground in the countryside or fled across the border to the Irish Republic.

Three hours after the troops breached the first barricades,

William Whitelaw, the British administrator for Northern Ireland, announced: "The British army are now in occupation and control throughout Northern Ireland."

An army spokesman said the troops suffered no casualties but shot four gunmen during the night. The bodies of two men were brought to a Londonderry hospital.

'LEAVE US ALONE'

It was the biggest military offensive in the three years of religious warfare in Northern Ireland.

The Catholics stayed inside their homes as the troops entered the "Free Derry" enclaves in Londonderry for the first time in more than a year. But after dawn they began to come out.

Children taunted the soldiers with cries of "Pigs!" "English bastards," and "Leave us alone."

Outside a church, a crowd of women who had attended Mass shouted at a convoy roaring past. "We'll rise again and you'll know about it."

Bridge Test

(© 1972 By The Chicago Tribune)
BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS
Q. 1—As South vulnerable, you hold:

♠1065 ♠J8543 ♣KJ4 ♣A10
The bidding has proceeded: West North East South 1 ♠ Dble. Pass ?

What do you bid? A.—Three hearts. This is really a very fine hand facing a takeout double and, in this spot, shows the strength of a one no trump opener. In fact, any action at this point would be most indecisive and could lead to serious difficulties, if West has the balance of the remaining high cards, as by no means remote prospect.

Q. 2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold: ♠AQ83 ♠K93 ♣KJ9 ♣A82
The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 1 ♠ Pass Pass Dble. 2 ♣ Dble. ?

What do you bid now? A.—Two hearts. Your partner does not figure to have much of a fit for your suit when he bids spades and diamonds, even a small doubleton or a singleton honor could make this the best contract since his hand should prove to be a good dummy for you. Furthermore, if he does not like hearts, you are prepared to hear him rebid spades.

Q. 3 — Both sides vulnerable, as South you hold: ♠AQ83 ♠K93 ♣KJ9 ♣A82
Your right hand opponent opens the bidding with one no trump. What do you bid? A.—Pass. You are not quite strong enough to make a takeout double which, in this spot, shows the strength of a one no trump opener. In fact, any action at this point would be most indecisive and could lead to serious difficulties, if West has the balance of the remaining high cards, as by no means remote prospect.

Q. 4 — As South, vulnerable, you hold: ♠AJ8654 ♠AQ8 ♠AQ82
The bidding has proceeded: South West North East 1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ 3 ♣ ?

What do you bid now? A.—Four diamonds. Even with partner's modest response a slam is possible and East's overall serves both to encourage us [there is less likelihood of a duplication of values in diamonds now] and simplifies our rebid problem. If partner's side values are in clubs and hearts, he will now be in a position to place the proper value on them and act accordingly.

Q. 5 — East-West vulnerable, your side has an 80 part score and as South you hold: ♠KQ73 ♠Q104 ♠A9 ♠AK83

Your partner opens the bidding with one diamond. What is your response? A.—Three no trump. This hand is somewhat awkward to bid because of the part score situation. Partner is too apt to pass a mere change of suit response. The three no trump bid shows a balanced hand with 16-18 points in high cards and, when made under the circumstances of the advanced part score, would tend to indicate the maximum.

Q. 6—Both vulnerable, as South you hold: ♠108 ♠10864 ♣KJ7 ♠K543
The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 1 ♠ 1 NT Pass Pass Dble. Pass ?

What do you bid now? A.—Pass. By this reopening double, partner has indicated to bid because of the part score situation. Added to the seven points you have, this should spell a substantial set for the opponents.

Q. 7—As South you hold: ♠AJ855 ♠AK ♠J109 ♠K963
The bidding has proceeded: South West North East 1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now? A.—Pass. Game prospects appear too dim to justify any further probing.

Q. 8—As South, vulnerable, you hold: ♠A643 ♠AQJ ♠9764 ♠108
The bidding has proceeded: West North East South 1 ♠ Pass 3 ♠ ?

What do you bid? A.—Double. The double is just about the only way to show a fairly good hand when the bidding is about to die out at a low level and should be employed here despite the weakness in clubs.

Show It Like It Is, Says Stack

MADISON, Maine (AP) — Actor Robert Stack, who portrayed Elliott Ness on the "Untouchables" television series, says television censorship of violence is "insane" and dangerous. "The only way to show (evil) was to show what they (the criminals) did," Stack said of the "Untouchables."

Close To Three Dozen Persons Die Violently

By The Associated Press

Late reports sent the number of violent deaths in Texas during the weekend to 32 today, including 18 killed in traffic accidents.

Drownings took six lives and the other fatalities resulted from assorted causes.

The toll was tabulated by The Associated Press between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday.

Lawrence Tealer, 39, of Corpus Christi saw his son Lawrence Jr., 6, spilled into the Intracoastal Canal after the youngster's raft drifted from Corpus Christi Bay into the canal's swift current and both drowned as the father, swimming from shore, tried vainly to save his little boy.

Bill Gafford, 51, a Sherman construction man, and Mike Reinig, 52, manager of a Sherman pharmaceutical plant, died of carbon monoxide poisoning Sunday while sleeping on a boat in Lake Texoma. Their wives and another couple were taken to hospitals in critical condition.

Rufino Rodriguez Velez, 35, of Houston drowned Sunday while fishing with a friend at the Texas City Dike.

HIT BRIDGE
Cindy Martin, 16, of Wichita Falls was killed and three other persons injured Sunday in a two-car crash on a Wichita Falls street. Officers said they probably would charge the driver of a third car not involved in the actual collision.

A collision of two cars south of Alvarado, in Johnson County, killed John Butts, 82, of Fort Worth and sent his wife to a hospital in serious condition with murder and released un-

Sunday. Both were hurled from their vehicle.

Evelyn Smith, 23, of Dallas drowned Sunday when she was thrown from a boat into Lake Ray Hubbard after it hit a bridge support. Witnesses said it appeared she was entangled in the boat's anchor rope.

John W. Garrison, 22, of Houston was killed Sunday when the car he was driving hit a guard rail on the Eastex Freeway.

Walt W. Cansler, age undetermined, was killed Sunday in a one-car accident on Interstate 45 north of Houston. He was a Conroe resident.

Crescencio Amaro, 38, of Houston was shot and killed early Sunday in a bar. Police charged Amador Rios, 38, with murder.

RUN OVER

Johnny N. Graham, 21, of Houston was run over by a Southern Pacific freight train and killed early Sunday. The train's conductor said he saw a man lying across the tracks ahead but the engineer was unable to stop soon enough to avoid hitting Graham.

Bradley G. DeNoble, 6, of San Antonio drowned Sunday while on an outing near New Braunfels at the Ft. Sam Houston retreat. He was the son of Sgt. and Mrs. Gerald DeNoble.

EX-OFFICIAL SHOT

Ben Alexander, 52, former city commissioner at Las Cruces, N.M., was shot to death Saturday night when he tried to help a restaurant owner evict two men. John Bennett Thompson, 22, was charged with murder and released under $10,000 bond. His father, Joe Bennet Thompson, 48, was charged with destruction of property, fined $50 and released.

Three persons died late Saturday night in a two-car collision at Jollyville, near Austin. Police identified them as William Starkey, 62; Celestine Siner, 19, and Deborah Zock, 18. Starkey and Siner were Austin residents. Miss Zock lived at Round Rock.

Erico Romero of Vidor drowned Saturday while swimming in the Neches River with his sister. Orange County sheriff's deputies recovered the body Sunday.

TWO-CAR SMASHUP

A two-car smashup Saturday at the west edge of Tyler killed Ellen Worsham, 55, of Dallas, a passenger in one car, and Willie B. Alexander, 53, of Tyler, driver of the other auto.

TEEN FORUM

SEX-AT 15: (Q.) Last winter my mother had a nervous breakdown. She told my sister and me a lot of bad things that had happened to her. One was that when she was 17 she had a baby and put it up for adoption.

This affected me quite a bit, because my boy friend and I are very serious, and during the past year we have gone all the way several times.

I am wondering if what we are doing will affect me in the future. Please don't tell me to give up my boy friend. I just can't. Please don't ask me to talk to my mother. I can't do that either. Please answer quickly, because every night I dream about what might happen. — 15 in Virginia

(A.) What your mother did affected her in the future. What you are doing will affect you in the future. You may not have a baby, but there will be effects just the same. You are already having them — fears and dreams and guils.

If you cannot give up your boy friend, at least consider giving up intercourse. Talk to him about your fears. Ask him and yourself if sex at 15 is worth the price you are already paying for it.

SNUBBED: (Q.) — There is this bunch of kids that hang out on the corner near my house.

One is an 18-year-old boy. He and I were friends until Sunday. All of a sudden he won't speak to me. When I try to talk to him he puts his fingers in his ears so he can't hear.

His sister says he says it is because I have changed. — Embarrassed Girl in Connecticut

(A.) The boy's sister apparently talks to you. Tell her to tell him that the first amendment to the Constitution guarantees him freedom of speech, but if he refuses to exercise that freedom and speak to you

Jail Case Dismissed

DALLAS (AP) — A federal suit complaining of Dallas city jail condition has been dismissed by U.S. District Court Judge Joe E. Estes on motion of Dallas Legal Services lawyers.

The case is separate from that involving the Dallas County Jail where U.S. District Court Judge Sarah T. Hughes has ordered sweeping changes.

Said Robert Byrd, a lawyer for the controversial legal services group, "The city has notified us it would order new bedding and has instituted new procedures including medical procedures. They have agreed to provide more prompt medical attention and decrease the jail population."

Other reported agreements were for the use of more guards for security rather than ODESSA — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, former first lady and a member of the University of Texas System Board of Regents, will visit Odessa Tuesday to participate in official acceptance ceremonies for the first student admitted to the new University of Texas of the Permian Basin.

The University of Texas of the Permian Basin, scheduled to open in September, 1973, will be the state's first upper-level university, accepting only junior, senior, and graduate students. Construction is now underway on the first buildings which will be built about 20 feet above ground in a modern mesa design.

While in Odessa Tuesday, Mrs. Johnson will see a performance of "Romeo and Juliet" presented in her honor at Odessa's Shakespeare Globe Theatre. Mrs. Johnson will also tour Odessa's Presidential Museum to view the 25,000-item election year exhibit, "Presidential Conventions and Campaigns" which includes hundreds of LB items.

Case For Annual Budgets

When the present Texas Legislature gathered for its regular session in the spring of 1971, it faced — as do all legislatures — the task of funding the state's operations for the next two years.

And by the time the job was finished in mid-summer 1971, it had approved a bill calling for new taxes to finance increased spending.

But Gov. Preston Smith vetoed the bill, asking the legislature to pass a one-year budget bill instead. This it did, necessitating the recently concluded special session. And it was generally supposed the special session would have to pass a new tax bill to finance the second year of appropriations left pending.

But that didn't come to pass. A one-shot federal windfall, in the person of increased welfare benefits, accruing to the state because of the rules change, made any new taxes unnecessary.

Now a new legislature is faced with the same recurring problem of rising expenditures. Jim McGrew, director of the Texas Research League, told the House Tax Committee the legislature convening in January will have to raise $200 million in new taxes to finance a two-year budget bill.

The experience of 1971-72 argues strongly for following the same approach dictated by Gov. Smith — adoption of a one-year budget bill in 1973, followed by a special session in the summer of 1974 to complete fiscal work for the biennium.

Fiscal matters can change a lot over the two-year life of a legislature. What appears fiscally impossible in January 1973 might be possible in July 1974. An upturn in the economy producing increased revenue, for example, might enrich the state treasury enough to avoid new taxes to finance that second year of spending.

Doing business two years in advance, the recent experience shows, is risky. Had the legislature's original two-year budget bill stood as approved, Texans would be paying more unneeded taxes today — taxes that were avoided simply by splitting up the two-year budget and calling a special session which could act with the knowledge of changed conditions and opportunities.

The cost of the special session is considerable, but nothing like the tax money saved by Texans as a result of putting off action this past biennium.

Dikes In Perspective

Now the United Nations Secretary General Kurt Waldheim has apologized for saying the American government lied about bombing dikes in North Vietnam, we have admitted that dikes have been bombed.

Waldheim spoke originally on the basis of a private, unofficial source and unnecessarily made the situation sound critical.

The White House position, however, was that of excessive reaction, giving the impression that no dikes had been hit in the bombing. Of course they had been hit, and if the bombing continues, there will be more hit inadvertently, particularly if military installations are in proximity. This is a fact of war, and we there's no sense in denying it in the first place.

Mis-Cast Role

Around The Rim

Tommy Hart

One thing and another: There is something unsettling about a white man playing an Indian on TV or in the movies. In my life, I've seen only two men who could bring the voice and the mannerisms of a typical Texan (if there is such a thing) into the right focus. One is Ben Johnson, the other Slim Pickens.

THE ACTING profession botches the challenge of projecting a Southerner onto the screen. It is about as successful at that as recreating the suspense of an athletic contest.

An experience from which I am still recovering was the sight of Elvis Presley made up as a Navajo. It was enough to have caused Sitting Bull to sue for peace at Little Big Horn.

I'm not giving out any names but there was a woman here who was supposed to have gone to her doctor about a case of frostbite. She got it while preparing dinner.

I LIKED the story about the doctor who gave an Irish friend a slug of whiskey but warned: "That's another nail in your coffin, Make."

Mike downed the shot, then held out the glass again and said: "Put in another nail, Doc, as long as you've got the hammer in your hand."

A FRIEND down on his luck stoutly insists he called Dial-A-Prayer once, but it did no good. "When they found out who I was," he lamented, "they hung up."

When you cross peanut butter with an elephant, what do you get? I forget, but it's either peanut butter that never forgets or an elephant that sticks to the roof of your mouth.

I DON'T know which bumper sticker appealed to me more, the one which read "Vote for Sen. Muskie or He'll Cry" or another which said "Ralph Nader is Alive and Kicking."

IT'S A SAD fact but true that most successful lawyers got that way because of their craftiness rather than their devotion to justice, that most barristers devoted to the principle that justice must prevail are young and, more often than not, still in law school.

Threatens Veto

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has spoken out plainly to both houses of Congress — which are controlled by the Democrats — in issuing a warning that any legislation authorizing increases in federal spending which could be a threat to the budget would bring a veto.

The message mentions that during an election year a President, of course, is not expected to veto appropriations measures, as they usually are considered helpful in gaining votes in areas of the country that are benefitted. Mr. Nixon points out, however, that spending for the fiscal year which just began on July 1 is already running about $7 billion above what he called for in his budget, and says:

"I will simply not let reckless spending of this kind destroy the tax deductions we have secured and the hard-won successes we have earned in the battle against inflation."

The president wants congress to keep a ceiling of $250 billion on federal spending for this fiscal year.

Just when we have succeeded in cutting the rate of inflation in half, and just when we have succeeded in making it possible for America's workers to score their largest real spendable income gains in eight years, this tangible, pocketbook progress may be wiped out by proposed excessive spending.

The administration's position is that, if further spending beyond the budget is imposed, it will mean either higher taxes or more inflation, or both.

Some measures are being recommended by committee leaders which would curtail funds for military services overseas and affect the continuance of the American presence in Vietnam. Other proposals have been made to impose limitations on the extension of foreign aid of various kinds. These are subjects which in view of their close relationship to the actual workings of our foreign policy could well be agreed upon in conferences between presidential advisers and representatives of certain committees in Congress.

What Others Say

"We know that countries around the world think the United States is a rich and powerful nation and say, 'Why don't you give us more?' Well, rich and powerful are relative terms. We have a great deal of poverty in the United States and it's pretty difficult to tell millions of our own people why we give anybody any money." — John B. Connally, on world tour.

"I came 4,000 miles and found only 600 kids at what's supposed to be the biggest thing in the world this week. Imagine that! Hitchhike 4,000 miles and find the leader of the protest sleeping in air-conditioned rooms... They just don't seem to care anymore." — Chris Kahn of Seattle, disappointed in Miami Beach.

Double 'Don'

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York City Opera, in its fall season, will present "Don Giovanni" five times in English and five times in Italian. The company has not previously done this for the same opera in the same season.

There will be a new production, staged by Frank Corsaro. Bruno Maderna, who has been a leading conductor throughout Europe, will make his debut with the company, conducting.

My Answer

Billy Graham

I am plagued by my husband's interest in pornography. He reads magazines filled with pictures of naked women, and attends stag shows designed to stimulate perverted sex. He is a good man, but why does he need this sort of thing? I get the idea that I am being dehumanized as a wife, mother and woman, and that to him I am just a sex plaything. This is seriously affecting our marital life. Please help me, J.S.

The Bible teaches, and I have preached, that there are two kinds of sex. Everything God created for man's good, Satan perverts it for man's harm. There is animal sex without love, and many men who have not experienced love, and perhaps are incapable of experiencing it, pursue this kind of sex. This is the kind of sex which says that women were created for men's lustful pleasure. This kind of sex is aided and abetted by sex magazines, films, pornographic literature, and by the telling of "dirty" stories. It drags sex down to the level of the beast, and makes its appeal to the lower nature.

Then there are men whose sex powers have begun to wane, and they turn to stag parties, to lewd magazines, and to pornographic films for stimulation. Evidently your husband has fallen into this trap.

The Bible teaches that sex is a beautiful, purposeful, normal experience to be engaged in within the context of marriage, and within the spirit of real love. When we change it into anything else, it becomes a tool to wreck homes, to weaken our spiritual life, and to wreck personality.

A Devotion For Today..

He has showed you, O man, what is good; and what does the Lord require of you but to do justice, and to love kindness, and to walk humbly with your God? (Micah 6:8, RSV)

PRAYER: Thank You, God, for continuing to bless us with dedicated leaders for Your church. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Wages Of Spending

Omar Bursleson

WASHINGTON D.C. — The House of Representatives had a fierce attack of reality last week and defeated by a narrow margin an ill-conceived public works measure which would have duplicated several programs already on the books and two others now pending in the U.S. Senate.

ONE DAY OF HEARING was held in the Banking and Currency Committee to produce a $5 billion bill to be spent within 18 months on public projects. Ordinarily, this type of legislation is handled by the Public Works Committee, but since the Banking and Currency Committee has jurisdiction over Housing and Urban Development, it decided to outdo and pile on yet another big spending program to those already in existence.

In a year when politics is so absorbing, the idea of worrying about budget responsibility has about as much appeal as smallpox, but the action last week offers some encouragement.

IN THE FISCAL YEAR just ended the federal government spent more than $27 billion more than it took in from taxes. The estimated deficit for the coming 1973 fiscal year is about the same but the guesses are usually on the low side of both how much will be spent and how much revenue will come in. A guess of a $40 billion deficit for the fiscal year just beginning is probably more near to truth.

For Health, Education and Welfare recently passed by the Congress, the Administration's request of $27 billion is a full $7 billion above last year. Not content with that, the House added another billion. The Senate then called and raised to $2 billion over the budget. It is a dizzying whirl but amid warnings the situation continues to worsen.

ON THE ONE HAND federal spending is supposed to get votes. On the other, inflation brings criticism and loses votes.

RIGHT NOW a number of governors and mayors are in Washington lobbying for the $30 billion revenue sharing bill. The money the federal government can't get from taxes, it borrows. Many states and cities are broke but cannot issue more money like the federal government. But credit spending by the government has no offset and can have no other effect than to increase the cost of everything.

Dancing—At Whose Risk?

Whenever business was good at a suburban night club, the management would "stretch" their space by putting extra tables and chairs on the dance floor. One night, a dancing couple stumbled over a stray chair.

THE WOMAN suffered painful injuries, and later sued the club for damages. She pointed out that the chair had been shoved several feet into the dancing area.

"If it was," countered the management, "some other customer must have done the shoving. We are not legally liable for what our customers do."

BUT THE COURT granted the woman's claim. The courts said that by placing chairs directly onto the dance floor, the management had set the stage for trouble.

When you go dancing in a public place, you are entitled to conditions of reasonable safety. The dance floor, the lighting, and the furnishings should all be maintained in such a way as to minimize the chance of accidents.

NEVERTHELESS, merely by

Being Better Not Enough

"Build a better mousetrap," said Ralph Waldo Emerson, "and the world will beat a path to your door."

BUT THE United States Patent Office is not so easily impressed. If your mousetrap is better merely because it is made of better materials, you probably could not get a patent. It must also work in a new and better way.

For example: A man came up with the idea of making towel holders out of plastic rather than metal. The plastic holders did have certain advantages. They were cheaper, for one thing. They were also more colorful.

BUT THESE advantages of plastic were already well known. Simply applying them to another product was held not original enough to qualify for a patent.

Even if the change of material means added convenience, that usually won't do. Another would-be inventor put together a map case of lightweight metal, making it easier to carry. But again, a court found no basis for a patent.

(THE LIGHTNESS) may prove beneficial," said the court, "But it choosing this form of recreation, you are accepting those dangers that are "natural" to it. For example:

Another woman, injured while dancing, claimed she lost her footing because the floor was slick. But the court found no reason to blame the management for this. As one judge put it:

"Dance floors are intended to be slippery."

FURTHERMORE, your own behavior might amount to negligence. That was the court's ruling in a case in which the claimant had ventured onto a ballroom floor in a state of advanced intoxication.

And in another case, the court declared it was negligence for a woman to try a particularly tricky step while wearing heels three-and-a-half inches high.

"THE SITUATION," said the judge, "parallels that of the risk taken by a participant in a sport."

(A public service feature of the American Bar Association and the Texas State Bar Association. Written by Will Bernard.)

is not invention. There must be original thought or inventive skill, not mere mechanical change of what was old."

On the other hand, a change of material might actually change the way the product functions. Take the matter of garter buttons. Originally made out of metal, garter buttons had two major drawbacks. If the clasp was tight the stocking had a tendency to tear. If the clasp was loose, the stocking had a tendency to slip.

Someone finally hit upon the idea of making the button out of rubber. This solved both problems at once. Stockings neither tore nor slipped, because the rubber button gripped the fabric in a new and better way.

DID THIS change of material entitle the man to a patent? A court said yes.

"It is this capacity for accomplishing results," said the court, "which has always distinguished success from failure and the inventor from the mechanic."

GUESS WE'LL JUST HAVE TO WAIT AND SEE!

Wholesale Prices Rise

John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — For nearly five years wholesale and retail prices rose in tandem, with former rather accurately forecasting the latter by a month or more.

Now they're heading off on different courses. The rate of increase for wholesale prices has been rising while that for consumer prices is falling. Not the prices themselves, but the percentage of increase.

The latest figures for wholesale prices show about a 4 per cent rise. Consumer prices, meanwhile, are rising at only a very small rate—two-tenths of one per cent in June and less than 3 per cent higher than a year ago.

As a result, there is considerable curiosity and some dismay among those who review economic statistics. It hardly makes sense, they say, for retailers to stabilize prices while their costs—wholesale prices—are rising.

Is the middleman absorbing increased costs rather than passing them on? It's unlikely; you don't do things like that and remain in business. Maybe the retailer is responsible? The price freeze?

The most plausible explanation now circulating is this: The Consumer Price Index

She Modifies Spiro Watch

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mrs. Thomas Eagleton, wife of the Democratic vice-presidential candidate, is sporting a modified Spiro Agnew wristwatch.

measures actual prices at which goods and services are sold in retail markets. Government shoppers, just like housewives, go up and down the store aisles checking the prices.

The Wholesale Price Index, however, measures list prices, which actually are the maximum prices at which goods are sold. List prices are not necessarily the prices at which goods change ownership.

Some companies, it is said, foresaw the likelihood of price controls being imposed and so jacked up their published or catalogue prices—just in case they needed to sell at higher prices.

Those listed prices, though, are merely the uppermost point from which negotiated prices are scaled down.

If this is indeed the case, the WPI is rarely an accurate indicator of inflation—at least for the duration of the price freeze.

Let Him Have His Own Way

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

You use salt not only because your body needs it physically, scientists say, but because it also helps make you feel good emotionally. But don't try to salt your way to happiness. You're more likely to wind up with high blood pressure.

Penguin parents have their troubles as well as human parents. One of them is that at three weeks a baby penguin can eat half its body weight at a single meal. Leaving baby behind in a day nursery, papa and mama have to fly long distances to catch enough shrimp to feed it. When they return, they often have trouble identifying which chick is theirs. This doesn't mean they're dumb. Can you tell one penguin from another?

The more complicated the business world becomes, the easier it is to embezzle. Security experts estimate that embezzlers now loot U.S. firms of $5 million a day.

You think the sun feels hot? Well, a lightning bolt can generate a flash of temperature five times hotter than the surface of the sun.

Another American first: Tornadoes occur more frequently in the United States than anywhere else in the world, according to the National Geographic Society.

Poverty stage: Acting, like selling dodo eggs, is a hard way to make a living. A study found that two-thirds of all stage actors earned less than $2,500 a year at their craft. Only one out of 20 earned more than $10,000.

Sign in a Manhattan Seventh Avenue bar: "We trust you after you pay for your drink. But only until you order another one."

To sleep or not to sleep: How long you sleep may be a tipoff to your personality. Psychiatrist Ernest Hartmann of Tufts University says that short sleepers—six hours a night—are generally well adjusted, conformist, outgoing, energetic and sexually active. Long sleepers—eight or more hours—are believed to be more creative, but also shy, overly anxious, mildly depressed, more given to unresolved psychological conflicts and, alas, sexually inhibited.

It was Josh Billings who observed, "The best way to convince a fool that he is wrong is to let him have his own way."

Has Bowlegs

Your Good Health

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would like to know if there is anything that can be done to correct a child from being bowlegged. Does this come from standing a child too soon?

Can it be hereditary? My daughter is two months old. She looks like her legs are going to be bowed. Most of my family have this same problem. Please answer this letter so my child won't have to go through the embarrassment we had to. — Mrs. E.M.

Two months is too early to tell if your child is going to be bowlegged. I know of few children that age with straight-appearing legs. It probably wouldn't be until the child is about five years old that you would be able to tell for sure.

Yes, it could be a hereditary trait in your family, but this doesn't mean that your child will inherit that trait.

Bowleggedness is a common result of vitamin D deficiency in early diet. It's called rickets. I would certainly be sure the child has a diet with adequate vitamin D content and that she gets adequate exposure to the sun whose rays are helpful in the body's metabolism of calcium and phosphorus.

Defense against rickets is about the best precaution to take against possible bowleggedness, whether it is a family trait or not.

There are sufficient numbers of known symptoms of rickets for your doctor to make a pretty good judgment as to whether your baby has it.

Dear Doctor: I have hyperlipemia. What in the world is that?

How serious is it? Is it curable? I have a terrible diet, no medication. Will you please tell me something so I won't be worried? — Mrs. R.D.

You have too much blood fat and your doctor has put you on a low fat diet to bring it down.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it unhealthy for a little girl almost eight years old to have two gerbils in a cage in her room when she sleeps? — Her grandparents.

Gerbils are in the rodent family, but this is no cause to knock them.

The problem is the same as it is with all pets — cleanliness. And gerbils are no exception. This means clean cages. Dung allowed to dry on the floors of cages can become powdered and he mixed with the air circulating about a room. Breathing this can be dangerous.

Not too many of us are willing to maintain such pets in the near laboratory conditions essential for complete health safety and here is where the problem arises.

Faced with an option in this matter, I'd either determine to keep the animals and their cages mighty clean or find other sleeping quarters — for the gerbils, of course.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My doctor says I have a nasal allergy and terms it rhinitis. Please explain. — R.D.J.

Could be old-fashioned hay fever, which in spring is usually caused by tree pollens and in summer by grass pollens.

Actually, though, it could be caused by any number of allergens, dust, or inhalation of domestic kitchen chemicals. Animals can also bring it on and this possibility is often overlooked.

Its symptoms are irritated nasal membranes resulting in watery eyes and nasal discharge.

The only effective method of diagnosing the exact cause is through detective work or having skin tests for possible offending items. Don't overlook feathers in your pillows. Then, of course, the treatment is to avoid the causes.

You can lose weight if you really want to! Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Lost Secrets of Reducing," tells you how — naturally and without gimmicks — to the level that best suits your individual needs. For a copy, write to him, in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed (use zip code) stamped envelope.

B52 Bomber Crashes During Thunderstorm

SAIGON (AP) — A U.S. B52 bomber crashed Sunday night during a thunderstorm in north-east Thailand, and two Air Force F4 Phantoms went down off the coast of North Vietnam after running out of fuel, the U.S. Command announced today.

The U.S. Embassy in Bangkok said five of the six B52 crewmen were killed. It said the sixth man was picked up by a rescue helicopter today. The command in Saigon said the four Phantom crewmen also were rescued.

FIREBALL
The cause of the B52 crash was not known. The plane was on its way to a bombing attack in Vietnam, and the 30 tons of bombs aboard exploded in the crash, creating a huge fireball, sources in Bangkok said. But an embassy spokesman said there were no known civilian casualties or damage to property.

It was the second B52 crash in Thailand since the big bombers were first stationed there in 1967.

North Vietnam claimed that two Air Force Phantoms were shot down over Hanoi on Sunday, and two of the crewmen were captured. It did not identify the Americans but said one of them was wounded in his left leg and his temple.

The U.S. Command reported no losses in the Hanoi region. It said one of the Phantoms that crashed in the Tonkin Gulf ran between Hanoi and China on Saturday shot down two MIG21 interceptors in a dogfight 35 miles northeast of the North Vietnamese capital, the U.S. Command said.

Texan Pursues Opera Career In Germany

Miss Elaine Cormany always wanted to be a pianist. She studied piano for 15 years. Throughout high school and college at North Texas State University she accompanied choirs and played for many other events. Today she is an operatic lyric soprano for the Stadttheater Opera in Saarbrücken, Germany.

"Everybody kept telling me I sang better than I played," said Miss Cormany who is visiting here with long-time friends of her family, Dr. and Mrs. Halvard Hansen, 621 Tulane. Here with her is Juergen Feddern, a West German who plays percussion and timpani drums for the Saarbrücken Orchestra. The couple must be back in Germany by Aug. 18.

Miss Cormany is a native of Clifton, but her parents now live in Wichita Falls. She has been a professional singer approximately eight years. She graduated from NTSU with a bachelor's degree in music in 1967.

The high-spirited and active Texas girl has already crossed many milestones toward becoming an international figure in the field of opera. She was a featured soloist during a three-month European tour taken by the NTSU choir in 1964. She placed as a finalist in auditions for Metropolitan Opera in New York City, and she sang the starring role in "Abduction of Serallo" by Mozart, which was nationally televised by National Education Television in 1970.

Miss Cormany has been in Europe for three years. The first year was spent in Zurich, Switzerland where she studied voice under a scholarship from the Corbett Foundation of Cincinnati, Ohio. From there she went to Saarbrücken and her present job. She speaks fluent German.

"I didn't even know what opera was when I was first encouraged to study it," said Miss Cormany. "There's not a whole lot of opera in Clifton. Over here every small town has a church, bar, garage station and grocery store, but in Germany they all have those things plus an opera house." The opera runs all except five weeks of the year when the entire staff takes vacation.

Professional credits include leading roles in "La Bohème" by Puccini and "La Traviata" by Verdi, among many others. She has sung in Dallas, Shreveport, Fort Worth, Santa Fe and several other cities throughout the United States.

MISS ELAINE CORMANY, JUERGEN FEDDERN

Feddern is on his third visit to this country. As a lieutenant in the German Air Force, he was assigned under a foreign exchange program to Tucson, Ariz. in 1962, and he visited with Miss Cormany's parents in Wichita Falls last summer.

His first real look at Texas ranch life came Friday afternoon when he and Miss Cormany visited the Rich Anderson Ranch near Gail. They also attended the Howard County 4-H Junior Rodeo Thursday evening. "I'm dying to get him onto a western saddle," said Miss Cormany. "I rode in Germany once and the stirrups are so

Miss Davis Is Honored At Gift Tea

Miss Jan Davis, bride-elect of Gary Pickle, former Big Spring resident, was honored with a gift shower and tea Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Cecil D. McDonald.

Hostesses for the affair with Mrs. McDonald were Mrs. Ross Boykin, Mrs. Matt Harrington, Mrs. O. L. Bradford, Mrs. Gail W. Bonner, Mrs. Escol Compton and Mrs. Larson Lloyd.

Guests were received by Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. Joe Pickle, mother of the bridegroom; Miss Davis and her mother, Mrs. John Benton Davis of Houston.

Corsages were fashioned of yellow daisies tied with yellow ribbon.

The tea table was covered with an ecru cutwork cloth over yellow and the centerpiece was a vertical arrangement of various types of white and yellow daisies.

The Pickle-Davis wedding will be at 4 o'clock in the afternoon of Aug. 26 at the Memorial Drive Methodist Church in Houston.

Both Miss Davis and Mr. Pickle are residents of Austin.

Pre-Nuptial Events Held

A bridesmaids' luncheon was held Thursday at Big Spring County Club for attendants in the Saturday wedding of Miss Martha Lewis and Brent Womack. Mrs. T. R. Barnhill of Hobbs, N.M. was hostess.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. Stewart Womack, Fort Worth, the bridegroom's grandmother; Mrs. B. F. Womack, Abilene; Mrs. Herman Lewis, Archer City; Mrs. George Hays, Anson; Mrs. Barney M. Barnhill, Dallas; Mrs. Ronnie Wilson, San Antonio; and Tracey Lewis and Kristy Lewis, both of Midland.

The table featured a white cloth with blue runner, blue crystal and three French bouquets.

The bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Odell Womack, hosted a rehearsal dinner at the club Wednesday evening. Fifty were in attendance including the Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Patrick, Mr. and Mrs. David Grifford, Miss Polly Wade and Steve Lancaster.

The eight tables were accented with green runners, green crystal and French bouquets with green candles.

Thomas Greggs Announce Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gregg, 2806 63rd St., Lubbock, formerly of Ackerly, announce the birth of a son, Thomas Christopher, at 11:58 a.m., July 30, weighing 7 pounds, 8 ounces. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gregg, Ackerly, and maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Boone Jackson, LaFollette, Tenn. Great grandmothers of the infant are Mrs. Bertha Gregg, Big Spring, and Mrs. Hattie Ausmus, LaFollette, Tenn.

MR. AND MRS. M. A. RAINEY

Couple Marks Anniversary

The 72nd wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Rainey was observed Friday at Big Spring Nursing Inn where the couple resides.

Mrs. Rainey is the former Emma Minchew, daughter of the late Rev. and Mrs. J. J. Minchew, and she was born and reared in Henderson County. Mr. Rainey, who was born in Bell County, is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Rainey who farmed in that area.

On July 29, 1900, the couple was married in Merguson where they made their first home and farmed until moving to Louisiana in 1913. In 1923, the Rainey family moved to Coahoma where he farmed until moving to Big Spring in 1935. At that time he took a job with the school system and served as maintenance man at various schools for 17 years.

The Rainey family has six children, including Mrs. Stella Hull and Ernest Rainey, both of Big Spring; Elmer Rainey, Coahoma; and Emrie Rainey, Vincent. Two daughters, Mrs. Alice Davis and Mrs. Dorothy Wise, are deceased. There are 13 grandchildren, 35 great-grandchildren and five great-great-grandchildren.

The D. L. Matlocks were in Phoenix, Ariz. to attend funeral services for her nephew, Jerry A. Brown, who was a drowning victim.

Mrs. A. C. Putman and daughter, Caroline, along with Mrs. Putman's mother, Mrs. Dole Self, have moved to Colorado City.

Brad Bell of Odessa was a weekend guest of his grandparents, the W. A. Bells.

The C. E. Rames spent a weekend in Midland with his parents.

L. M. Dawson, school superintendent, has returned from workshop in Austin. He was accompanied by his wife and children.

BSSH Vocational Rehab Classes Described At B&PW Meeting

Vocational rehabilitation services offered at Big Spring State Hospital by the Texas Rehabilitation Commission staff were explained by Mrs. Dean Forrest, guest speaker at last week's meeting of Business and Professional Women's Club. Mrs. Forrest, evaluation center coordinator, showed slides while describing the role of the commission in relation to the hospital.

The pictures traced various activities available through vocational rehabilitation on campus; the 14 different classes serving over 200 clients daily. Many of these classes are conducted in (or coordinated through) the evaluation center which is located on campus. Nine of the 37 TRC staff members are based at the center.

The classes include training in sewing, cooking and domestic skills as well as personal and social adjustment. There is an extensive program for testing and evaluating vocational aptitudes and potential. Mrs. Forrest stressed that the work is done with complete cooperation of Dr. Preston Harrison hospital director, and the entire hospital staff.

One of the new programs makes it possible for TRC field counselors from as far away as El Paso to refer clients for vocational testing and evaluation. These clients reside at Big Spring's Halfway House and participate in daily activities at the center during their month-long evaluation period.

Dr. Tay Tatum is the local TRC supervisor. The nine staff members based at the center are Mrs. L. K. Miller, Mrs.

Faye Nixon, Mrs. Duane Murphree, Mrs. Robert von Rosenberg, Mrs. Jack Cathey, Mrs. J. B. Apple conducted a memorial service for two B&PW members, Mrs. Nell Frazier and Miss Lorene Williams. Correspondence was read from Miss Movelda Rhine, past district director, who is on a B&PW-sponsored tour to Nova Scotia.

Mrs. Charles Summers, B&PW president, welcomed the ice cream supper Aug. 8.

Le'Ann Merrick Has Birthday

A birthday party was held for Miss Le'Ann Merrick, 2, Conanche Trail Park. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Merrick of Ackerly. Guests included the youngest's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Merrick, Ackerly, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Askins, 605 Linda Lane, as well as her great-grandfather, Clyde Jones of Snyder. A circus theme was used for decorations.

LOSE 20 POUNDS IN TWO WEEKS!

Famous U.S. Women Ski Team Diet

During the non-snow off season the U.S. Women's Alpine Ski Team members go on the "Ski Team" diet to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. That's right—20 pounds in 14 days! The basis of the diet is chemical food action and was devised by a famous Colorado physician especially for the U.S. Ski Team. Normal energy is maintained (very important!) while reducing. You keep "full"—no starvation—because the diet is designed that way. It's a diet that is easy to follow whether you work, travel or stay at home.

This is honestly a fantastically successful diet. If it weren't, the U.S. Women's Ski Team wouldn't be permitted to use it! Right? So, give yourself the same break the U.S. Ski Team gets. Lose weight the scientific, proven way. Even if you've tried all the other diets, you owe it to yourself to try the U.S. Women's Ski Team Diet. That is, if you really do want to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. Order today. Tear this out as a reminder.

Send only $2.00 ($2.25 for Rush Service)—Cash is O.K. to: Ski Team Diet, P.O. Box 15493, San Diego, California 92115. Don't order unless you expect to lose 20 pounds in two weeks! Because that's what the Ski Team Diet will do!
