Truce Session Bolsters Hope For Proposal

SEOUL, Korea, Thursday, June 4.—UP—United Nations and Communist delegates meet at Panmunjom Wednesday in a truce session which well informed sources believe may be decisive.

There was guarded optimism that the Communists may show disposition to accept UN proposals for the future of Chinese and North Korean prisoners who refuse to go back to their Red-ruled homelands.

The South Korean government still bitterly opposes the UN plan, calling it a surrender to the Communists.

But it is believed the South Koreans will go along, however reluctantly, with any plan which the UN may agree to.

May Have Moscow Word
The truce delegates meet at 11 a.m. (8 p.m. est) after a 10-day recess during which the Chinese Communist and North Korean governments have had ample time to study the UN plan — and perhaps to consult Moscow.

There is hope among Allied observers that the Communists may accept the UN plan, with modifications or alternative proposals which would be acceptable.

South Koreans were adamant in their objections.

Dr. Hong Kee-Karl issued a statement approved by South Korean President Syngman Rhee which said the government's stand against the UN plan "has undergone no change at all."

His statement was made public only a few hours before Communist liaison officers handed a secret note to UN officials at Panmunjom on the eve of the resumption of truce talks.

Lasted Two Minutes
The liaison meeting at Panmunjom lasted only two minutes. A brief communiqué said only that the Communists delivered a communication relating to the current executive session.

Crushed rumors that Rhee's exchange of messages with President Eisenhower had relaxed his determined opposition to the plan which the Communists are expected to accept or reject Thursday.

Technicians Slate Meet

At least five — and possibly eight — Pampa members of the Panhandle Texas Medical Technological Society are expected to be on hand for the group's June meeting.

Formed in Pampa last December, the organization is scheduled to meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Amarillo's V.F.W. Hall, according to Emmett H. Mays, Highland General Hospital X-ray technician. Featured at this get-together Mays said, will be a tour through the Potter County Memorial Blood Bank and a talk by Dr. T. P. Churchill, Amarillo.

Besides Mays, local T.M.T.S. members slated to attend are Elton Haley, Rick Cutting, Larry Gaddard and M. A. Gann. Others who may be present are Ann Chapman, Naomi Bridges and Linda Cutting.

Generally, the group meets the first Thursday of each month in a different Panhandle city.

Prizes Arrive For Pampa's Annual Soap Box Derby

Prizes are arriving daily for the 75 entrants in Pampa's Soap Box Derby race to be run July 12. It was announced today by Dick Stowers of Culberson Chevrolet, one of three derby sponsors.

Stowers also asked that all entrants who have not obtained wheels for their racers contact him at the Chevrolet house.

Each participant in the races this year will receive a prize and the winner will be given a trip to Akron, Ohio, where he will compete for more than $15,000 worth of prizes.

As work continues throughout Pampa on the soap box racers, Jack Lake, general race chairman, has appointed each member of Jaycees to assist two boys in completing machines.

Any of the entrants, boys aged 11 to 15, may call on his helpers in getting his racer ready for the event; Lake pointed out.

This service may be obtained by contacting Lake at the Panhandle Insurance office, 300 W. King's mill, or Stowers at Culberson Chevrolet.

Sponsoring the races with Culberson Chevrolet and the Jaycees is The Pampa Daily News.

Gray-Albert Crossing Due New Stop Sign
A new four-way stop sign is scheduled to be set up at the Gray-Albert intersection sometime this week. City Manager B. H. Cruce reported this morning.

The signs, Cruce added, are being erected in response to requests from residents of the flats to the city to curb speeding and reckless driving over those paved streets in the area.

Cruce said he hoped to get the signs up this week.

JULIUS AND ETHEL ROSENBERG ... condemned to die

Atomic Spies May Have 'Big' News

OSSINING, N. Y., June 3.—UP—Defense counsel Emanuel Bloch goes behind the walls of Sing Sing prison Wednesday for a conference with condemned atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg that may produce "some big news."

Bloch, summoned to the prison death house by a telegram from the Rosenbergs, said he would hold a press conference after his visit (at around 11 a.m. est) and he "may have some big news."

Bloch charged Tuesday night that the Rosenbergs had been subjected to "coercive pressure" from federal authorities attempting to induce them to confess and implicate others in the espionage ring of which they were a part.

He said the Rosenbergs, scheduled to die June 18 for giving atomic secrets to Russia, said they had a 45-minute interview with James V. Bennett, federal director of prisons. They told Bloch in the telegram that Bennett came to see them on orders from Attorney General Herbert Brownell.

Bennett, Bloch said, told the Rosenbergs to cooperate with the government, "we can do so through him and he will put us in touch with the proper officials."

"We both reassured our innocence," the Rosenbergs wired, and said since we are not guilty we cannot tell them anything about espionage.

Canadian Dam Group Slates Lubbock Meet
The meeting to discuss legislation and election of directors of the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority is scheduled for June 8 in Lubbock. A. A. Meredith, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian River Water Users Association reported this morning.

Meredith said the meeting will be held Monday at noon in the ballroom of the Caprock Hotel. Mayors, city commissioners, city officials from all of the 12 cities and towns affected by the proposed Canadian River Dam, will attend the meeting.

Meredith said a general discussion on legislation surrounding the dam and steps necessary in the future to complete the maze of legal work will be the principal topic.

Directors to run the district, once it is set up, will be selected by the city commissions of each of the 12 cities — two from cities of over 10,000 population, making a total of 17 directors.

Government Offers High-Priced Wheat
WASHINGTON, June 3.—UP—The government put up 25 million bushels of wheat for sale Wednesday at prices guaranteed to drive domestic customers away.

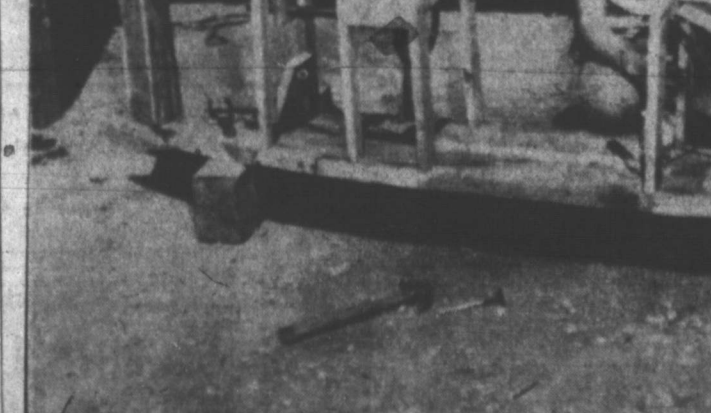

The government offered, in an official announcement dated June 1, to sell the grain from its stock of about 500 million bushels at 70 cents a bushel above current market prices for some grades.

The Commodity Credit Corp. will sell No. 2 hard winter wheat stored at Kansas City for $2.83 a bushel. The price was announced with the same grade selling on open cash markets for $2.14.

COC will give exporters a better deal but an official said: "Any sales we make will probably be direct deals with foreign governments."

The higher domestic prices is required by law.

Eisenhower Will Star On Television Tonight

Cabinet Officers In Support Roles

WASHINGTON, June 3.—UP—President Eisenhower makes his history Wednesday night when he puts on his own television show to report to the nation on his administration's first 22 weeks in office.

Presidents have gone before video cameras before but usually their appearances have been solos during speeches. Mr. Eisenhower's performance, on all four TV networks at 7:30 p.m. est, will be different.

For the first time, Mr. Eisenhower will have a supporting cast of cabinet officers. He will preside at a week walk around a TV stage set created within the White House, examine charts and chat informally with his guest stars. It will be a polished, rehearsed production under the direction of TV experts.

The President will appear with Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr., Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey, Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, and for added glamour and the GOP viewpoint on social security—photogenic Mrs. Overcup Hobbs, secretary of health, education and welfare.

The television and radio broadcast — simultaneous in some areas but delayed in others — will come from the old cabinet room in the executive offices. This room, known in the days of FDR as the "Fish Room," is now used for large conferences between visitors and White House staff members.

The room was transformed into a small scale TV studio Tuesday, the floor crowded with electric cables and a forest of cameras, tripods, spotlights and floodlights.

The President will open the 30-minute show with a talk of about eight minutes, speaking from notes and cue cards. Then he will present the four cabinet members for a modified question and answer session about some of the major problems before the country and how the Republicans have met or intend to meet them.

Consistent with the drive for spontaneity and maximum informality, there will be no advanced text or script of the telecast released ahead of time. The White House, however, will transcribe the report to the nation and make it available for publication later in the evening.

Fast Bombers Launch Flight
TAMPA, Fla., June 3.—UP—Fifteen B-47 Stratofortresses—the world's fastest atomic bombers—straked away from MacDill Air Force Base Wednesday on the first leg of a history-making mass flight to England.

The squadron of six-jet planes, one of them piloted by the officer who was skipper on the first non-stop round-the-world flight in 1949, was to be followed by 15 more B-47s on each of the next two days. Actual time in the air on the 4,880 statute-mile trip, to be broken at Limestone, Me., was scheduled as eight hours 59 minutes for an average of about 500 miles an hour. Top speed of the B-47 is more than 600 mph.

Together the 45 planes made up the 308th Medium Bombardment Wing, the Air Force's first entirely jet-propelled strategic bomber outfit.

The first plane aloft Wednesday was piloted by Col. Michael N. W. McCoy, 47-year-old wing commander and veteran of the air war against Japan.

The great sweeping bombers, each as big as a B-29 Superfort, but carrying only a three-man crew, took off at 15-minute intervals on the three-hour 17-minute flight to Limestone.

They will jump off the 2,992-mile Atlantic flight after midnight Wednesday, again at 15-minute intervals with a "scheduled" flying time of five hours 42 minutes at an altitude of 35,000 feet.

Clovis Man Dies Of Wreck Injury
A Clovis, N.M., man died at 1:30 a.m. today in Worley Hospital, following injuries received at "Devil's Elbow" when his automobile went off the pavement, skidded 489 feet and overturned three times.

Claude T. Silcott, 48, was headed east on the Amarillo highway at 11:30 p.m. Tuesday, according to highway patrol, when his vehicle failed to make Carson County's death-dealing curve—6.5 miles west of White Deer and shipped over the side, through a fence and into the lake-bed.

That long curve, marked with a striped "Slow" highway sign, has figured in more than one other traffic fatality, local officials were recalling today.

Brought to Pampa by a Poston Funeral Home (Panhandle) ambulance, Silcott died about 1½ hours after his admission to the hospital. He had been found flung from the car at the scene of the wreck.

The car is a total loss. On hand at the scene, too, were officials from the Panhandle's sheriff's office, patrolmen reported.

Silcott's body was scheduled to be taken to Plainview for funeral services and burial sometime today, according to local funeral parlor officials.

Survivors include a daughter, Mary Victoria Silcott, Laguna Beach, Calif.; three brothers, Lester E. Silcott and Eliza S. Silcott, Monrovia, Calif.; and three sisters, Mrs. Marie Dickson and Mrs. Fern Randle, both of Monrovia, and Mrs. Mona French, Sacramento, Calif.

Wealthy Texas Rancher Said To Have Helped Ex-Convicts
PASO sent $5,000 to the prison for Frank's dismissal. Mr. Shouppe said the other $13,000 was given him later at Henderson's request.

Frank said he became acquainted with Henderson while both were in the same "tank" at the prison and said the only reason he knew the rancher gave him the money was "He just wanted to help me go straight after I got out."

Shooting Victim On Critical List
Mrs. Lillie Simpson, 31, of 1029 Huff was still on the "critical" list this morning at Worley Hospital from the gunshot wound she received in an accident Friday morning.

Mrs. Simpson was shot with a .22 short revolver held by her two and a half-year old son.

Hospital attendants commented: "Her condition seems unchanged."

TWO DEAD, ONE INJURED — Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Lane (right and middle), Pampa, were killed near noon Tuesday in an automobile collision, some 30 miles northeast of Las Vegas, Nev. Mrs. Lane's son, William Angle, 9, injured in the wreck, was reported "recovering nicely" late this morning in a Las Vegas hospital. Dr. Lane's brother, Emmett Lane, Pampa, was on his way to Las Vegas by noon today to help with funeral arrangements.

Cabot Carbon May Reopen Guymon Plant

GUYMON, Okla., June 3.—UP—Guymon residents were told Wednesday that the Cabot Carbon Co. of Pampa, Tex., may reopen the plant it abandoned here in early 1952.

Reno Stinson, director of industrial relations for the firm, said a tentative decision has been made to put the plant back in service. It was closed down because of the high cost of natural gas fuel, according to the company. If it reopens, the plant is to use oil rather than gas.

Stinson said $200,000 worth of equipment has been ordered to rehabilitate the plant. The plan calls for operating one of the two furnaces. Oil shipped in by rail would be used as fuel.

The output would be 60,000 pounds of carbon per day. The plant would employ about 40 workmen at the start.

The announcement was the second dealing with the carbon black industry in Oklahoma in 24 hours time.

Continental Blacks, Inc., announced it will build a $2,750,000 plant at Ponca City. Construction will begin this summer with completion due about the middle of 1954.

The Ponca City plant is planning to produce 40 million pounds of high abrasion carbon black per year. It will use raw materials from Continental Oil Co.'s Ponca City refinery.

SON RECOVERING Wreck Kills 2 Pampans

Nine-year-old Billy Angle of Pampa was given a good chance in his leg for recovery in a Las Vegas, Nev., hospital late this morning following an automobile crash Tuesday near Las Vegas where the boy's mother, Mrs. A. L. Lane, and her husband, both of Pampa, were killed instantly.

Dr. Joel Holmes at the Las Vegas hospital told The Pampa Daily News today the youngster recovered rapidly from the coma he was in when taken to the hospital suffering from a concussion and a fracture of the right thigh. He was being prepared for an operation to have a steel pin put in his leg.

He was given a blood transfusion last night for loss of blood from a number of head wounds which required a lot of stitching. Dr. Holmes added, A bone specialist arrived in Nevada today to put the pin in Billy's thigh. He can be moved after the pin has been put in place, the Las Vegas doctor said.

Dr. and Mrs. Lane were killed near noon when their automobile was involved in a collision with another vehicle, some 30 miles northeast of Las Vegas.

Details of the accident were unavailable late this morning.

Emmett Lane, Dr. Lane's brother, left Pampa about 10 a.m. today for Las Vegas to help with funeral arrangements and check on the condition of Mrs. Lane's son.

A chiropractor, Dr. Lane, 36, had practiced in Pampa for the past four years. Mrs. Lane, 37, was a first-grade teacher in Horace Mann School.

The couple and Mrs. Lane's son, Billy, left Pampa Friday to visit Dr. Lane's mother in Canon City, Colo. They were accompanied by Mrs. Theima Attaway, Dr. Lane's sister.

From Canon City, the Lanes had resumed their vacation trip to Las Vegas.

Born in Branson, Colo., Dr. Lane moved to Pampa at the age of 16 and was graduated from Pampa High School. A veteran of Naval service in World War II in the South Pacific, he was graduated from Texas Christian University, San Antonio, in 1948.

Mrs. Lane had taught in the Pampa school system for the past five years.

Local relatives of Dr. Lane include his father, Earl Lane; the brother, Emmett Lane; the sister, Mrs. Attaway; two uncles, R. W. Lane and Wilbur Lane; and his grandmother, Mrs. Martha Lane.

Mrs. Lane's relatives live in the vicinity of Southland.

The bodies of Dr. and Mrs. Lane are in Bunker Funeral Home, Las Vegas, pending completion of funeral arrangements.

Services were expected to be held through Pampa's Duemke-Carmichael Funeral Home.

Magnate's Wife Gains Divorce
LOS ANGELES, June 3.—UP—Charges that soft drink magnate Stanley N. Barbee kept four New York apartments "for other women" won a divorce and $121,000 in alimony for his French-born wife.

London Celebration Waning
LONDON, June 3.—UP—A hysterically cheering crowd, still celebrating the coronation, burst through police lines Wednesday and stopped Queen Elizabeth's open automobile as she started out to tour the cockney district of northeast London.

Taking the thin cordon of police by surprise, the crowd surrounded the car, in which the queen's husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, sat beside her, and forced it to halt.

The queen sat smiling serenely until mounted police edged in and cleared the roadway, and she waved as her car drove slowly off.

The radiant young woman who was crowned in Westminster Abbey Tuesday was starting a whirl of post-coronation festivities that will last most of this summer.

London awoke — with many a "second coronation" in Scotland — "day after" following its gayest night since the World War II victory celebration.

The decorations along the route of Tuesday's magnificent procession were dim, the streets were littered with debris and 233 persons were in hospitals from coronation day accidents.

But for Elizabeth it was just the beginning.

She holds a great state banquet Wednesday night in Buckingham Palace. In the next two weeks she will go to the derby, a gala opera at the Covent Garden, a "trooping of the colors" at the apothecary review and the Royal Ascot race meeting.

A Second Coronation
She will then go to Edinburgh for a "second coronation" in Scotland. The newly-crowned Queen stayed up late Tuesday night. She was called out to the palace balcony six times by a cheering crowd that blotted out the wide expanses around Victoria Memorial and overflowed into the mall.

Hundreds of thousands of celebrators packed the Thames embankment to watch a fireworks display that cost an estimated $45,000.

Celebrities danced until 4:30 a.m. at a gala "Elizabethan Fantasy" ball.

Texas Oil Crew To Drill In Israel

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., June 2 (UP)—A Texas rig and crew will attempt to drill in Israel. Drilling was halted by the Arab-Jewish war.

While six other Canadian, American and European companies also have been granted concessions to drill in Israel, Pontiac of Texas said it would be the first to field a full-sized rig there.

The $225,000 rig, now drilling a 7,000-foot well at a rate of 100 feet a day, will be shipped to Israel by sea. Total transportation costs will exceed $100,000, Pontiac officials said.

The Montague county rig will be altered at a cost of $25,000 to permit it to drill as deep as 15,000 feet, a Pontiac spokesman said.

The new well will be drilled by Pontiac Petroleum for the New Continental Oil Co., Ltd., also a Canadian company, which has a concession to drill on 700,000 acres in the Jordan Valley bordering on the Dead Sea and the Sea of Galilee.

Geologists believe Israel has good oil prospects. One geologist, Dr. Julius Fuchs, said "about 1,000 square miles of the country may be regarded as favorable for petroleum and gas and, of this, about 100 square miles is absolutely certain."

Housing Problems Discussed By Real Estate Members

City officials and Pampa real estate board members discussed municipal and housing problems at this month's meeting of the board.

Get-together was held at noon Tuesday in the Pine Room of the Hotel Schneider.

Aubrey Jones, city tax assessor-collector, with the aid of large black-and-white diagrams, showed the 15 board members present how city officials evaluated real estate and where a citizen's taxes went.

B. H. Cruce, city manager, discussed at some length the city's water problems and the relative costs of providing for its use by residents.

E. L. Campbell and John Bradley, board members, dealt with the federal government's mortgage association (F. M. M. A.), its policy and how it has become more difficult for veterans to procure loans.

One of Jones' sketches showed a break-down of where the taxes on a Pampa house go, which city department is allotted what proportion of the total tax. A second deal with the tax advisory board and the board of equalization. Another concerned the make-up of the city government, who was responsible for what.

Announced at the get-together was a regional meeting (Texas Oklahoma) for home builders, slated for Sunday, Monday and Tuesday in Amarillo's Herring Hotel.

A decision to meet throughout the summer was approved by those board members present. Normal meeting day is the first Tuesday in the month.

In addition to Cruce, there was one other guest—Bob Gordon, city attorney.

Presiding in the absence of President Troy Curlee was Campbell.

CORONATION SIDELIGHTS

By ROBERT L. FREY
LONDON, June 2 —UP—Coronation sidelights:
The eyes of Texas are on the coronation. A match cover found on the sidewalk outside Buckingham Palace: "E. A. Hendri, cotton broker and licensed classifier, 2118 1/2 Strand, Galveston, Texas."

American visitors are frequently disconcerted by the closing of the London pubs from 3:00 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.
But Tuesday they were open straight through from 11 a.m. to midnight. As one West End barmaid said cheerfully, "we are operating non-stop."

On the contrary, at least one of the ladies of Piccadilly is taking the day off to watch the festivities. "After all," said she, "one doesn't see a coronation every day of one's life, does one?"

Fleet Street is arched with decorations from Ludgate Circus to Temple Bar but in the middle of the gay display there is a bare building facade. It houses the Dublin Evening Mail. That's the way Eire feels about British royalty.

The queen's taste in music is sometimes unexpected. But the Irish Guards were able to oblige during a ball at Hampton Court the other evening when she asked them to play "The Twelfth Street Rag." Perhaps she knows, the composition was named for Twelfth Street, in Kansas City, Mo.

The world's biggest family album is on show here. The Royal Academy of Arts has assembled portraits of the British royal families back to Richard II, and covers the monarchs before that on coins and seals, back to King Peada who died in 656.

There were 22 seats in the abbey Tuesday, which provide no view but from which the service can be heard perfectly. They were assigned to the blind, who followed the ceremony on brailled programs.

Norman Hartnell, the queen's dressmaker, had the whole front of his four-floor shop on Bruton Street covered with white satin, dotted thickly with ermine tails.

"When your husband has an off day, have him come in and I'll explain to him why I can't give you a raise now!"

"Flying Moon" Maybe
DARLINGTON, Wis., June 2—UP—Air Force jet pilots called out to investigate an "enormous blue-white" light in the sky reported only that there was an extra bright moon. The object, a kind of "second moon," appeared in the skies for about eight hours Sunday morning.

Summer Program Short On Funds

Pampa's summer recreation program is headed for the rocks unless $1,500 can be located somewhere.

The City Commission yesterday turned thumbs down on any general solicitation of funds and also voted against spending more than $1,500 on the $3,000 project carried on at three school playgrounds in the city.

City Manager B. H. Cruce yesterday told the commission he was unable to secure additional financial aid from the civic clubs, adding new sources of revenue to make up the $1,500 would have to be found.

The commissioners agreed to invest $1,500 in the program and when it is used up that would be the end.

"The city will accept donations," Cruce said, "but an intensive drive to make up the other $1,500 will not be made."

Summer recreation programs have been run jointly in past by the city and civic clubs at Horace Mann, B. M. Baker and Carver School playgrounds.

"Each of the civic clubs had their own ideas on how the program should be handled, or what

A Potent Weapon

Just who is catching up with whom may be a moot question but now we learn that a group of top-notch scientists at the Harvard Research Center in Creative Altruism "are finding love is a more potent weapon against disease than medicine and as easy to stockpile as steel."

This is the report in Pageant Magazine which concludes with the statement that:

"In fact, the Golden Rule, taken out of moth-balls and put into everyday practice, is man's great — and perhaps only — hope of survival."

The Harvard Center is the only research center of its kind in the world. Opened in February, 1949, it is headed by Professor Pitirim A. Sorokin, who escaped from the Communists 30 years ago, after being condemned to death. Reprieved because of a good deed he had once done for a man who had become Commissar of Justice, Professor Sorokin vowed to prove the truth of his theory that friendliness and kindness on his part always seemed to evoke love from others. At Harvard Center, reports Pageant, he has not only proved the theory, but discovered the following therapeutic advantages of love:

1. Makes you live longer.
2. Induces peace of mind.
3. Helps you raise better children.
4. Helps prevent crime, juvenile delinquency, suicide, neuroses and insanity.
5. Helps get useful, creative things done in the world.
6. Promotes social progress.
7. Combats intolerance.

The Harvard Center has studied everything from sinners to saints. It is interested in any drive or impulse that unites people and causes them to feel friendly and helpful toward each other instead of hostile or at odds. In four out of five cases both friendship and enmity tend to develop gradually rather than suddenly. One of the Center's recent experiments indicates it's not really difficult to turn enemies into friends by having them do small favors for each other.

"But you can't convert people with words," says Professor Sorokin. "Nag at an offender all day long and you're only wasting your breath. But praise him for what you'd like to see him become and chances are good that he'll work hard to deserve your approval."

The Harvard Center is now concentrating on trying to discover what must be changed in our existing culture, social institutions, and kinds of personality if future wars and catastrophes are to be prevented and a more creative and harmonious social order built. In the past, we have tended to look on love, like the weather, as something we could do little about. Now, according to the Harvard study, we are finding out that love can be deliberately produced by human beings. "If enough ordinary mortals would simply cut their hateful daily actions in half and double their good deeds," asserts Professor Sorokin, "love and altruism would increase appreciably — and might prove sufficient to prevent the outbreak of another war."

Solomon And Olives

Wise King Solomon was presented with some mighty tough problems in his day, but it is doubtful that any of his decisions called for more mental agility and careful drawing of fine distinctions than the problem brilliantly solved by the California State Legislature recently.

The Assembly was asked to approve three new sizes of olives for labelling purposes — family, king, and royal. It was easy enough to pass a law establishing these grades, but the problem worthy of Solomon was: how to work the new grades into the schedule of nine olive grades already in existence?

The legislators were more than equal to the occasion. "Family," it was decreed, comes between "Large" and "Extra Large"; "King" comes between "Giant" and "Jumbo"; while "Royal," it was declared, is bigger than "Jumbo" but not quite as large as "Colossal!"

Owners Get Least

One of our biggest businesses recently described what happened to the money it took in last year — and the capsule story will come as an eye-opener to those who still believe that profits are a dominant item in industry's ledgers.

Products and services bought from other concerns accounted for 41.7 per cent of all the company's revenues. The replacement of new plants and other physical facilities took 5.7 per cent. Taxes totaled 5.9 per cent. Human energy — wages, salaries, pensions, etc. — came to 42.1 per cent. The smallest item of all was profit — 4.6 per cent (the cost of using the tools). And only 3.3 per cent actually went to the 280,000 stockholders for the use of the tools their savings provided. The remainder was kept in the business to buy more tools in the future.

No Need For A Government Committee To Study Depressions

The American Federation of Labor recently, according to a news release, suggested that the President appoint a commission to study the cause of depressions. It suggested that a business man, a farmer and a union labor leader be on the commission. The C.I.O. also suggested that such a commission be appointed.

Such a commission of course would not arrive at the true reason for depressions.

Labor leaders and farmers who want subsidies, and businessmen who want tariffs and credit extension by the government, certainly would not make an intelligent study of the subject.

Cause Already Known

Every real Jew and every real Christian already knows the cause of depressions. That does not mean that every man who claims to be a Jew or every man who claims to be a Christian knows the cause of depressions and unemployment other than seasonal unemployment.

The cause of depressions is the worship of idols. It is attempting to serve two masters. Jesus explained how to satisfy man's physical wants. Remember He said: "Seek ye first the kingdom of heaven and its righteousness and all these things will be added unto you."

David said: "I have been young, and now am old; yet have I not seen the righteous forsaken, nor his seed begging bread."

It is because men do not seek first the kingdom of heaven and its righteousness — that is, they do not follow the Golden Rule and the Commandments — that we have long periods of unemployment.

One of the idols of the labor unions and the farmers who want subsidies and the businessmen who want extension of credit and tariffs is the initiating of force by the government. It is attempting to have the government do things that they know would be a violation of the Coveting Commandment and the Golden Rule if done by an individual. This attempting to worship the state rather than God leads to unemployment, dishonest money, drafting soldiers and one war after another.

One of the primary causes of unemployment is the government's attempt to regulate the value of money and control credit. Every depression is the aftermath of undue credit expansion. And undue credit expansion is bound to follow government's attempt to control credit. The reason is that when credit is contracted there is bound to be adjustments, as there should be, so the politicians will not contract credit because they would be voted out of office. The present administration is now having all kinds of pressure put on them to reverse their present tightening of government credit.

If the government didn't interfere with credit and let people who made mistakes in selecting banks that over-expanded credit suffer for their errors, then we would be constantly checking the credit organizations that over-expanded credit. Then the men with judgment would survive and those with bad judgment would be eliminated, as they should be, in their attempt to control credit — one of the most essential things in human relations.

Labor Unions Promote Depressions

The labor unions, of course, are one of the primary causes of depressions. They cause depressions because they boost up certain wages out of proportion to what other workers can get for the same skill. They will not allow wages to be adjusted so that all people can have full employment and thus greatly increase production. Business is nothing but an exchange of labor, and when one group of laborers demand that they receive for one hour of their labor two or three hours of another man's labor who is just as capable as they are, then we have too many men in the competitive line and not enough men in the protected line to keep goods and services constantly being exchanged.

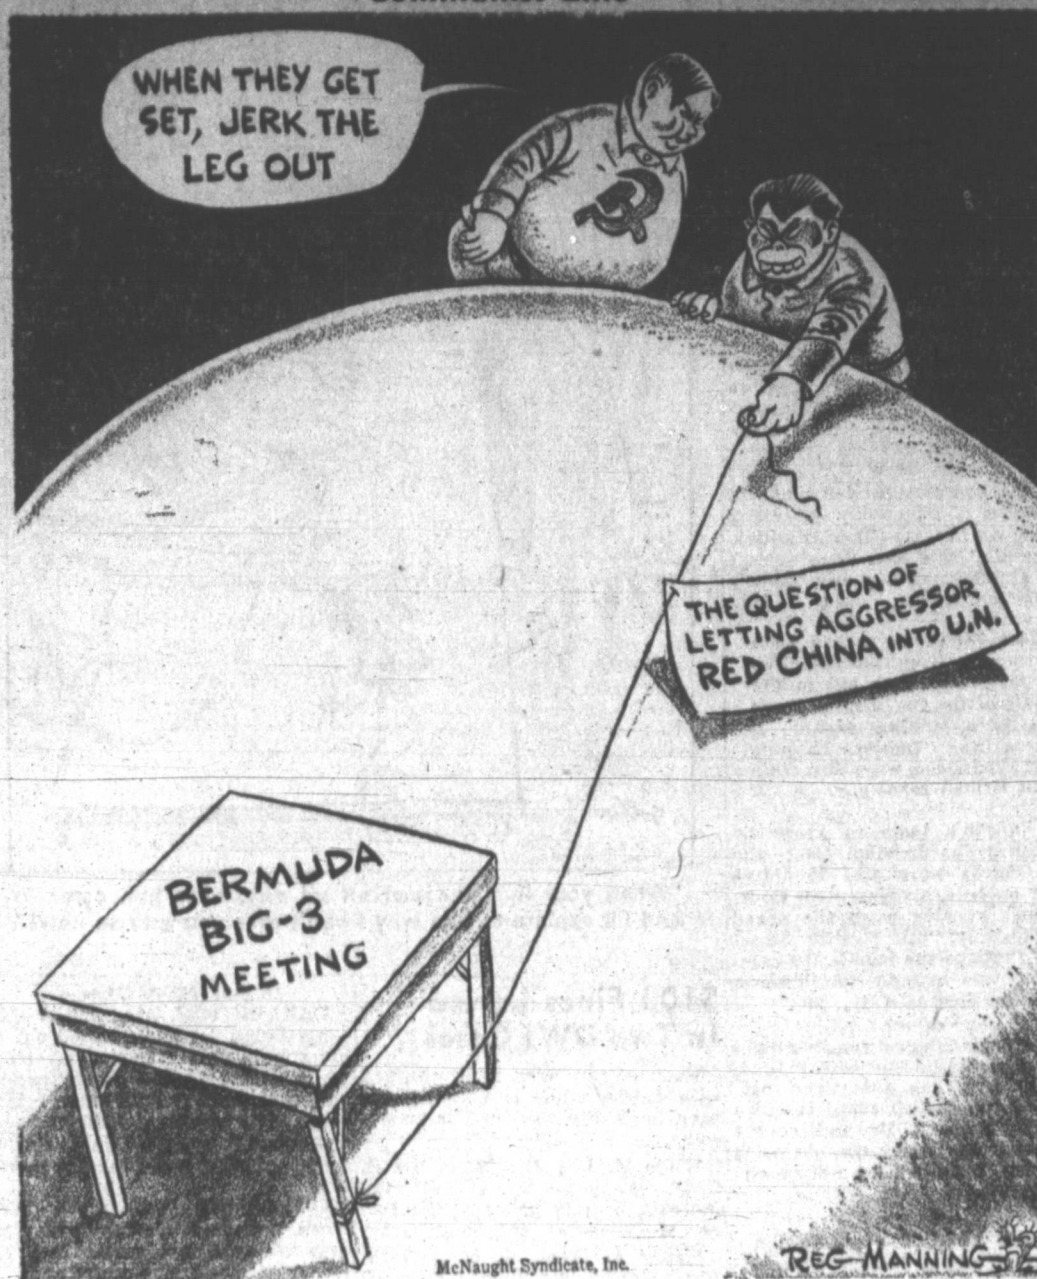

It is of course a mockery and a delusion to have labor unions, that are one of the primary causes of depressions, asking to be included in a commission to ascertain the cause of depressions. Let them return to the advice of Jesus and not demand more for what they are doing than other men are willing and capable of doing the same job for and then we will remove one of the primary causes of depressions. Let them cease demanding laws that give them special privileges.

When we can get the farmers and the businessmen and the doctors and the lawyers and all men who want the state to protect them from competition by asking for licenses to believe in the competitive system and practice it, then depressions will be a thing of the past. Then the only unemployment will be seasonal. Then everybody will be producing and production will go up and our standard of living will increase from 3 to 5 per cent per year.

Yes, every true Jew and every true Christian who follows the admonitions of the prophets will know the cause of depressions. Let us return to the spiritual laws that govern human relations and we will have no depressions. There is no need of a government commission to study the cause of depressions. The cause is already known.

National Whirligig... Ike And Cabinet Aim To Make Truman A Political Scarecrow

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The anti-Truman tom-toms which President Eisenhower and his cabinet members are beating per se both friends and foes of the man in the White House, are a political scarecrow that the Democrats made of Herbert Hoover for a political campaign.

Rarely has a new administration thrown so much mud on its predecessors as Ike and his aides have hurled against the defeated Democrats. Although they have not indulged in violent and back-alley language, they have depicted the Truman regime as totally ineffectual, wastefully extravagant, over-friendly to radical infiltration and extremely corrupt.

The vendetta has its bizarre aspects because of the pre-election friendliness between Ike and Harry. The President, for instance, served under his predecessor when the latter was commander-in-chief.

Truman once told Ike that he would back the general, if in the military man would run for President as a Democrat. Their relations were more cordial than those which normally exist between incoming and outgoing chief executives.

TRUMAN MYOPIC — Although he has not used the word "mess" as a description of the situation he discovered when he entered the White House, President Eisenhower has resorted to polite phrases of that vulgar characterization. He has blamed his inability to balance the budget or reduce taxes on the miscalculations and spendthrift habits of the Truman-Snyder combination.

Although it was generally overlooked, in his recent radio address, Ike emphasized the shortsightedness of the Truman administration with respect to such major problems as national security and federal finance.

He pointed out that, although Truman and a Democratic Congress imposed stiff taxes to provide money for the Korean conflict and the cold war in 1950-1951, they arranged it so that the additional taxes would expire within only two and three years. In other words, during the time of a Republican successor, who happens to be named Eisenhower.

MILITARY FINANCES JUGGLING — In Eisenhower's opinion — and this may be partially responsible for the prevailing bitterness Truman and Secretary Dean Acheson did not realize the serious and global implications of the Moscow-inspired invasion of South Korea, figuring that it could be thwarted overnight. Or they judged that military financing so that (1) it would not hurt the Democrats in the 1952 election; (2) it would become a burden to the Republicans.

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JOHAN, M.D.

Bunions are among the most painful ailments of modern life. They are located most commonly at the base of the big toes, and this region becomes enlarged, often red and extremely tender.

There are two lines of treatment. One involves an operation and the other is nonsurgical in nature. The first thing to try, of course, is the nonsurgical treatment.

This requires the wearing of shoes which are large and round in the toes, thus preventing pressure on the bunion. Complete absence of pressure for a long time is helpful. A hole cut in the shoe may be necessary.

Going barefoot is a possibility for those who live in country areas and are not too seriously exposed to the dangers of lock-jaw or tetanus. This is suggested by the fact that primitive people who never wear shoes also do not get bunions.

These measures may be enough in the early and acute stages of bunions. If the toe straightens out and the inflammation disappears, nothing more needs to be done, except that care should be taken in the future choice of shoes.

Surgery may be necessary because the bunion does not yield to other methods. The bunion is frequently associated with the accumulation of fluid in the joint lying at the base of the big toe. This fluid can be removed by a needle in some cases. A cut can be made which will allow the fluid to drain off and the swelling to decrease.

Finally, the operation which is necessary in bad cases is called a bursectomy. This involves the removal of some of the excessive bone and soft tissue which go to make up the bunion. The operation is usually followed by placing the foot and toes in a plaster of Paris cast which will hold

Fair Enough... Pullman Porter Gives Pegler Uptown Lowdown On VIP Tips

By WESTBROOK PEGLER (Copyright, 1953, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

A fellow I know used to work on the pullmans and got some assignments that a fan or celebrity would deem very select — such as Franklin D. Roosevelt quite a few times and Bubblehead Wallace and Harold Ickes.

But my friend, a colored man, is a stand-pat Republican, the more so since that time back around 1935 when, at the end of a political inspection trip of about 10 days, Bubblehead handed him 50 cents and Ickes topped that by one two-bits.

He is, in fact, a reactionary. They wandered all over the Dust-Bowl this trip, stretching the borders of the bowl to embrace county seats where Moose — Jaw thought the natives needed a dose of that "you know, and I know" routine and Bubbles and Ickes each had a drawing room, both in the same car, at government expense, of course.

Bubbles and Ickes were acclimating over the Bureau of Forestry, one trying to take it away from the other but I don't rightly remember who from whom. And neither does cost of their shroud, and it isn't worth the bother of looking up.

They were watching each other with morbid suspicion all the way because all those noble friends of the common man had a coveitous, I am inclined to believe, to add, even a larcenous instinct in such matters and would pull a chair out from under a brother in the sacred bond of democracy with the rapscallion glee of a blue-jaw comic in the classic of that robust art-form known as burlesque or louse-opera on the old Western wheel. They had copped one another's stolen minutes with the boss in his private car, which in these days was just a family volture, giving way, however, to a Hitlerized job.

This rolling fortress is now the official White House car, and a commentary on the attitude of the Roosevelt-Truman administrations toward the people who were supposed to love the leaders. So much of the propaganda discharged by both of these montebanks dealt with fear, as in the fear of fear and the meaningless cliché, freedom from fear, that they talked themselves into a perpetual quaking funk and all surrounded themselves with ranks of gun toters in multi and uniform and, in Roosevelt's case, with a special regiment of foot, all six feet tall or higher.

Wallace dropped off somewhere in Iowa and Ickes, having outlasted him, slipped his keister over in Illinois but whether the little miser got in the last and decisive word with Roosevelt I am afraid you will have to ask someone who makes a specialty of those "not many people know it but insiders are laughing—" paragraphs.

At any rate, Ickes was laughing on that last stretch of his taunting my friend about his morose and brooding frame of mind over that four-h piece for fetching and doing over so many miles of hot and gritty going in the dead of summer. Mr. Ickes' character, though it had jelled at birth into the nearest approximation to that of a scorpion, was not yet as well known and widely abhorred as it came to be when the news broke that he had charged off as deductible expenses of his rich wife's estate, to which he was sole legatee, the cost of her shroud and the modest posies which he sent in token of his grief.

My friend let his Republican money-lust delude him into expectations which, a few hours later, crashed with a thud — a thud that shook the bones-alms of the first New Deal topped Bubblehead by only 25 cents and with a final, mocking leer at my friend's distress at Henry's benevolence, was off and away.

My friend drew the leader's car on a couple of trips to Hyde Park and his tip was uniformly $2.50 each way from the Fuehrer and usually, nothing from the others in the circle who would be either family or bleeding-hearts and thus, as we know, unwilling to degrade the colored people by largesse when opportunity was what they craved. On some of those excursions the car would lie up for three or four days and my friend finally had to signify in terms incapable of any misinterpretation that he could not afford to waste his time on that nickel-bender back at the rear end.

Newspaper men, photographers, even radio pundits, who run heavily to wisdom and thus, inevitably, to thrift, he would gladly serve in the hyena car where they made hideous sounds far into the night and, once, threw a package of firecrackers into the shoe-box of a drawing room which had been pre-empted by Norman Davis, the old Roosevelt retainer and housepet who was dead-heading it up to Berchtesgarden-on-Hudson to promote himself a $25,000 job as president of the Red Cross.

They were in a correct position until the wound made by the operation had had a chance to heal.

SUCCESSFUL SURGERY — The most important cause of a bunion is the wearing of shoes which are too short or too pointed, although there is also a family tendency. It is important to prevent bunions by careful fitting of shoes.

could scratch a living, although lay-overs thinned him out, even so.

My friend agrees with me that the term "liberal" has become a mockery and it is his further divination that the Republicans were driven to an unwonted lavishness by the painful reiteration of the word "greed" as a synonym for their lofty principles.

I am more than half persuaded to this view because Anna Roosevelt bitterly complained of a similar phenomenon in her life after that rat, or, as her father preferred to call him, that sly snake, Pegler, had nicknamed her husband, John Bostigger, Fumble John, and founded in the public mind the low canard that, in Chicago, where John had been a reporter, a nickname was called a Bostigger.

As one who holds in a certain awe men who are able to control their generosity, I have studied many of them from the late Charles Ebbets, owner of the Dodgers, on through Roosevelt, his wife, the boys, Wallace, Ickes and Bostigger. And on the basis of personal acquaintance I can affirm that Fumble John was most conservative.

All I did in Fumble John's case was give the man credit, b.s. Anna said these comments pricked something in his psyche and moved him to extravagance.

"That rat," she is reported to have said, "has cost us $1,000 in extra tips!"

LOOKING SIDWAYS

By WHITNEY BELTON

As a man who has been around a long time and has never received an award of any kind, there must be some statement I can make as a result of getting a medal from a publication called Theater Arts. Through the years I have taken notable chances all the way from claw machines to the chuck-a-luck cages at Las Vegas and have at all times drawn flawless mistakes. The Irish Sweepstakes have never deposited as much as a fifty-cent piece on my doorstep and as a child entering all kinds of insane contests I was always the one who never received the pony or the Mercedes set offered as prizes for finding 15 Indian hidden in elaborately drawn shrubbery on the contest blanks.

Once or twice I thought I had done magazine pieces good enough to be picked up by The Reader's Digest and the closest I ever came to that ghost of quasi-immortality was to have written a request story for a man who had been invited to do a piece for this giant miniature and who, on deadline day, had a fever of 104 degrees and asked me on the telephone to sub for him. He had his name signed to it but he was gone enough to give me the ensuing check — in toto.

Therefore, you can imagine that when I glanced at a lady columnist's work for the day and saw that I had been awarded a medal by Theater Arts I forthwith became a victim of high blood pressure, hypertension, and another, unactive ailment called unwell. I had a distinguished reaction to this honor and, in mortal fear that it was all a hoax, I telephoned one of the editors at Theater Arts and asked him to level with me: had I indeed been awarded a medal?

"You certainly have," he replied. "It's on its way to you by messenger — the medal and a copy of the magazine describing the nature of the award."

That was about 2:10 p.m. and between that time and 5:30 p.m., when the messenger arrived with the honors, I wore a trough between my desk and the receiving department of the newspaper for which I work. The girl at the switchboard was bored. How many times in three hours and 10 minutes can a man pull up alongside with a agonized look and ask: "Is it here?"

It came then at the afternoon was waning and my spirits were flagging. It was in a large, brown mailing envelope. I ripped it open with a flourish and there was a letter from Theater Arts. Congratulations on having received this award. A rich, warm letter. Then I looked for the medal and found that it was a cardboard and butcher's twine. It was black and white and amusing. And then I read:

"To Whitney Belton, for having a red-haired wife." Well, I can't quarrel. I have been congratulating myself for almost 10 years on exactly that. I believe that I am an extremely lucky man and all the barren years of never winning anything were paid off when this girl agreed to change her name to mine. In private life, it is Publicly she is still Miss So-and-So, actress. She doesn't believe in being an actress branded with a married name like Mrs. Leslie Carter (another red-head, by the way) or Mrs. Whitney. I don't believe in it, either.

So I have a medal for having had the sagacity to marry a girl with red hair. That's fine. I was tempted when it came to emulate old Pappy Hemingway and start a column reading: "He was an old rascal who made his living as a writer and for fifty years he had not taken an award." But, then, I felt that too many already were copying Pappy.

To colleague John Chapman, who also received an award for having a red-haired wife, I offer cheers.

Someone, finally, has realized that it's a noteworthy fate.

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Grace Friend
Several days ago you printed a letter in which the lady asked the reason for her baby's perspiring about the head while sleeping.

I am not disagreeing with you in your answer but am suggesting another reason.

My baby perspired and got the sheet very wet until I put a washable-not waterproof pad under him.

I think that the waterproof mattress cover and a rubber sheet was the cause.

With just a sheet or thin blanket between the baby and the waterproof bedding, he always perspired.

This seems logical since I have thought more about it as he didn't perspire where his body was covered with clothing but about the head where there was no clothing.

I have found other mothers having the same problem and hope this letter will prove helpful to someone.

Mrs. L. H.

Dear Mrs. H.
Thank you for your interesting letter. I am sure many mothers will find your advice interesting.

I must disclaim the advice in the letter to which you referred however as if I have never answered a question such as you describe. You must have read it elsewhere.

STAIN
Dear Mrs. Friend
What is the best way to remove ink stains?

G. H. K.

Dear G. H. K.
Ink stains should be left alone because water sets ball point inks and other kinds of ink are too various and occur on too many different kinds of fabric for you to take a chance.

Above all don't believe the old tale about milk being good for ink stains.

Don't fool with them but send them to the cleaner as soon as possible.

No Starching Nor Ironing Needed On Cool Nylon Curtains For Summer

By KAY SHERWOOD

NEA Staff Writer

As reviving to the eye as an icy lemonade is to the tongue on a hot summer day is the fresh, clean look of crisp, ruffled curtains fluttering gently in the breeze.

I especially like to see them in other people's houses where I don't have to cope with the process of washing, starching and ironing those ruffles to keep them crisp and fluttery.

Because of this wide streak of laziness, I was particularly interested in the introduction recently of new types of organdy and marquisette made from 40-denier, monofilament nylon. These newcomers promise ruffles that will keep their freshness without the assistance of starch or a hot iron.

Using the one-filament form of nylon means, makers claim, greater soil resistance, less frequent washings and quicker drying. Curtains are washed and spread dripping wet over the clothesline or shower rod to avoid wrinkles and crushing. Fabrics are permanently set, according to manufacturers, so they won't sag or shrink.

Almost any size window can be framed in the new white nylon organdy curtains which are luxuriously frilled with seven-inch pleated ruffles.

Nylon marquisette curtains add pastel colors of champagne, maize, pink and green to the customary white. In this fabric there are a variety of ruffled styles, including the straight panels edged with narrow ruffles.

All of this handsome, work-saving window dressing, however, is not inexpensive. Prices are higher, I find, than for comparable curtains that demand more upkeep. But in many ways the added convenience makes them worth the extra money.

Oilers Take 2-Game Series With Hubs

Doug Lewis Drives In Eight Markers

The Oilers headed south last night after sweeping the two-game series from the league leading Lubbock-Hubbers before an Oilier Park crowd of an estimated 1,500 fans, 18-14.

Doug Lewis, classy first baseman for the Oilers, was the Pampa hero for the night. He slammed out five hits — one a grand slam home run — and drove in a total of eight runs for the night. Lewis hit safely the first five times up and he drove in at least one run on each hit.

Lewis, meanwhile, was awarded a gold wrist watch by Leders Jewelry upon winning the first monthly "Most Popular Player" contest.

Manager Ted (Porky) Pawelek, pitcher Mac Moberg, a 1st came in for their share of glory for the victorious Oilers. Pawelek snapped a 13-13 tie in the bottom of the seventh with a lowering 250-foot homer over the center-field wall that scored two teammates ahead of him. The blow gave the Oilers the lead they never lost.

Moberg, making his first mound appearance for the Oilers in three weeks due to a sore arm, gained credit for the win in relief. Moberg took over in the fifth and finished up. It was Moberg's sixth win of the year against a lone loss.

The lead changed hands seven times in the hectic battle that saw 38 base hits ring out, 19 by each team.

Lewis had preceded Pawelek's game-winning homer with a 2-run single that tied the score.

Moberg, after a shaky start, protected the Oilers lead the final two innings by allowing only one Hubber to score.

The homerun bats of Bob Featherstone and Bob Fernandez of the Oilers put the visitors in front on three occasions but the Oilers kept battling back and finally pushed across the necessary runs for the win in the seventh inning.

Both Featherstone and Fernandez hit a pair of roundtrippers. Featherstone hit a grand slam homer in the first that was matched by Lewis in the bottom of the first.

Fernandez's circuit smash was a found one mate ahead each time.

After the two teams swapped four-run innings in the first, Lubbock took the lead in the top of the second when Fernandez got his first homer with Ray Newsome, who had singled, aboard.

The Oilers retaliated with three runs in the second when the Oilers lead to 9-7 but the Oilers runs in the latter half of the second take a 7-6 lead. Lewis, Pawelek, and Manny Tames rapped out successive singles with each blow driving in a run in the Oilers second.

Lubbock regained the lead in the third on walk to Manager Bill Metz, a double by Musmeci that scored Metz and an Oilier error that allowed Musmeci to score, the two runs giving the Oilers a 9-7 edge.

A walk to Bob Galey with the bases loaded in the fourth hiked the Hub lead to 9-7 but the Oilers surged back with three in their portion of the fourth to take the lead once again. A two-run homer by the Oilers gave the Oilers a 12-9 lead in the fourth inning spree which ended with the Oilers holding tenacity to a 10-9 lead.

Once again the Hubs roared back to go ahead 12-10 on back to back homers by Fernandez and Featherstone in the seventh. Fernandez, who was on via an error, scoring ahead of Fernandez.

The Oilers narrowed it to 12-11 in the sixth on successive doubles by John Sanderson and Lewis. Two Oilers errors to give a Hubber run in the seventh. The Oilers took a 2-run lead, 13-11, and set the stage for the winning Oilier rally in the seventh that saw five big runs pour across the plate and giving the Oilers a 16-13 lead and the Pampa game over.

In the winning Pampa rally, Moberg started with a looping single to short left. Deck Woldt kept it going with a single and after Sanderson forced Woldt at second, Sanderson singled to load the bases. Lewis then drove a timely single to right to score Moberg and Feller to tie the score. Then Pawelek blasted his homer far over the centerfield wall and that was all the Oilers needed as Moberg grew stronger as the game progressed.

The Oilers and Hubs will continue their warfare tonight at Lubbock. Ray Machado will face his former teammates for the Oilers.

It was learned yesterday that Roy Matthews, who had agreed to report to the Oilers, is passing up job. Matthews was to have headed plug a weakness in the Oilier mound staff.

Houston's Jack Cardey pitched two-hit ball in five innings of relief to give the Oilers a 7-4 win over San Antonio.

Port Worth's Danny Ozark homered in the ninth inning to force the Oilers game over time, but the Oilers scored once in the bottom of the 10th to give pitcher Red Murf the win. Billy Darden, relieving starter Glenn Mickens for Port Worth in the eighth, was the loser.

Wednesday's schedule is Port Worth at Houston, Dallas at San Antonio, Oklahoma City at Beaumont and Tulsa at Shreveport.

Exporters Have 5-Game Win Streak Going

The Beaumont Exporters, suddenly coming alive after a long stay in the Texas-New Mexico League, had a five-game winning streak going Wednesday and their second straight win over leading Shreveport.

Newly-acquired Beaumont pitcher Bill Hockenbury, starting his first game, tamed Shreveport on five hits Tuesday night as Beaumont took a 2-1 win. The only Shreveport run was booted in while catcher Earle Brucker homered for the first Beaumont run in the fourth inning and a cluster of three Exporter hits in the seventh produced the deciding run. Dave Cyrus, who was relieved by Joe Piercey in the seventh for Shreveport, took the loss.

Tulsa moved into second place by three games, Dallas and Port Worth with an 11-7 win over Oklahoma City. Tulsa slammed 15 hits off three ineffectual Oklahoma City pitchers while the Oilers Tommy Reis won his first game of the year.

Reis, however, was kayed in the seventh when Oklahoma City's Joe Frazier slammed his second home run in two nights, this one with two men on base. Bob Prentice homered for Tulsa in the fourth inning with none on.

In other games, Dallas and Port Worth played their second straight extra inning game with Dallas winning in 10 innings 3 to 2, and QUESTION: A batter goes up to the plate and unknowingly is batting out of turn. The count runs to two balls and two strikes. Suddenly the man who should be batting points out the error. Can he go in and replace the improper batter right then and there?

William King.

ANSWER: A proper batter may replace a wrong one at any time before he becomes a base runner. The batter who was supposed to be hitting in the first place assumes the ball and strike count of the wrong batter.

Q. A batter is struck by a pitcher ball, but he makes no attempt to avoid being hit by it. Does he get to take first base?

Pete Bagley.

A. If the batter makes no attempt to avoid being hit by the ball, the umpire shall call the pitch "ball" or "strike" as the case may be.

Q. How many 20-game winners did the Yankee pitching staff produce in 1952?

Dick Klein.

A. Only one, Allie Reynolds, 20-6. Vic Raschi was next in line with a 16-6 record.

4 WT-NM Clubs Hot After Lead

By UNITED PRESS
West Texas-New Mexico League teams were so close together Wednesday that any one of four could grab the leadership and a fifth tie for it on the basis of one night's results.

Lubbock clung to the lead, but only one-half game behind Pampa, in fifth place, was only one game behind Lubbock and has won as many games as the Hubbers although Pampa has lost two more than Lubbock.

Lubbock has lost most of a three-game league lead the past three days and Tuesday night's 18-14 loss to Pampa was the Hubbers fourth straight defeat.

Albuquerque's Joe Hinchman gave Clovis only four hits as Albuquerque won 4 to 1. In other games, Amarillo climbed into a tie for seventh place with a 15 to 3 win over Borger and Plainview edged Abilene 4 to 3.

The schedule Wednesday is Albuquerque at Clovis, Amarillo at Borger, Pampa at Lubbock and Plainview at Abilene.

Davy Wins Decision
PORT WYNE, Ind., June 3-UP—Dancing Chuck Davy dodged and ducked explosive Sammy Mactrean's wicked right Tuesday night to win a unanimous 10-round decision in Allen county Memorial stadium. It was Davy's second straight win in his comeback campaign for another shot at the welterweight title.

Snap Brooklyn Streak . . . Milwaukee May Go All The Way

NEW YORK, June 3-UP—Charley Grimm won't come right out and say so but Charley Dressen did it for him—those madcap Milwaukee Braves "could go all the way."

Grimm, who realizes it is a long way until the end of September, is more optimistic than on his first trip to Brooklyn when he said "we will be lucky to make the first division in this league."

Now he has revised his opinion cautiously. He thinks that "we've got the pitching and hitting to be tough all the way and we have a good chance for the first division."

But Dressen, who was grim while Grimm was dancing a jig in the Milwaukee dressing room, said that Tuesday night's 4 to 3 victory for the Braves winning streak 10-game Brooklyn winning streak "is just a good example of how these guys can hurt you." The victory put Milwaukee back in first place.

"We all better quit kidding and realize this is a club that has to be taken seriously," Dressen said. "Some people say they'll fade when it gets hot."

Pafko Gives Victory
The victory was supplied personally by ex-Dodger Pafko who blasted a two-run homer off Russ Meyer in the ninth to give relief pitcher Lew Burdette his third relief triumph in a row.

The Phils moved in to third place as Robin Roberts pitched a seventh-inning shutout to defeat the Cardinals. It was Roberts' eighth victory against three defeats and homers by Del Ennis and Grady Hamner in the first inning gave him all the help he needed. Ennis hit his first two on base.

The Reds moved in to third place as Robin Roberts pitched a seventh-inning shutout to defeat the Cardinals. It was Roberts' eighth victory against three defeats and homers by Del Ennis and Grady Hamner in the first inning gave him all the help he needed. Ennis hit his first two on base.

The barnstorming Negro aggregation displays a talent-plus-comedy routine equivalent to the famed Harlem Globetrotters in basketball.

They unroll various tricks with the softball that spectators will long remember.

The game is being sponsored by Frank Phillips Club a 11 proceeds will go toward financing the club's softball activities.

Oilier Regulars Own Consistent Hitting Marks; No One Has Serious Slump

THE ENTIRE STARTING nine for the Oilers have been hitting pretty consistently this season, according to our facts and figures. None of the Oilers has gone into serious batting slumps.

Of course the averages of some fall off a little now and then but none to a great extent.

On our research of how many games the individual Oilers have scored hits, we discovered the figures almost amazing.

Take Many Times for instance. Times has hit safely in 30 of the 34 games he has been in the lineup. That's the most consistent figure for the season among the Oilers.

But Doug Lewis has been the hottest stickler in the past three weeks. The Dugger has hit in 21 of the last 23 Oilier games. Lewis also holds the longest consecutive game hitting streak at 13 games.

For the season, Lewis has hit in 26 of 36 games. He got off to a slow start but has been wearing the ball out once he found his batting eye.

Here are the other figures of the Oilier regulars in getting at least one base hit in a game:

Ben Felder — 24 out of 33.
John Sanderson — 24 out of 33.
Quincy Barber — 18 out of 25.
Rick Cacao — 16 out of 24.
Deck Woldt — 22 out of 32.
Eddie Krewall — 6 out of 9.

The above figures do not include Tuesday's game.

It is generally agreed by all that the Oilers would be in fine shape with a little more pitching depth. Sad Sam Williams is the only sure starter that is apt to go the route of the present corps.

Eddie Hughes and Ray Machado are capable of turning in route going performances when taking regular turns. But misfortunes the past couple of weeks has made it necessary for practically all of the Oilier chumpers to work overtime.

That of course ruins their effectiveness when they are called on for a starting assignment.

There is still hope that Max Moberg's arm will come around and if it does, that will relieve the situation more than somewhat. Moberg will go with the team to Lubbock today to receive some Pin treatment from a doctor that helped his arm once before. He will likely remain at Lubbock while the team goes on.

Golfers Enter Tournament
TOLEDO, Ohio, June 3-UP—Thirteen of golf's top names have entered the $18,000 Inverness Invitational links tournament here June 15-21. They include E. J. Earned Run Leaders
NEW YORK, June 3-UP—Gene Bearden, 32-year-old castoff of the Chicago White Sox, is the American League's earned run leader. He has yielded only six earned runs in 32 innings for a glittering 1.69 average. Rookie Don Liddle of the Milwaukee Braves leads the National League with 2.00.

Arnold Blum Leads Dallas Amateur Play

DALLAS, June 3-UP—A chunky 31-year-old businessman golfer who plays in but three or four tournaments a year moved up to the favorite's role Wednesday as a fast field completed qualifying play in the 47th annual Southern Amateur Golf championship.

Arnold Blum, a former champion from Macon, Ga., stroked his way to the top of the heap in Tuesday's opening 18-hole round of medal play with a three-under-par 35-33-68 that gave him a one-stroke edge over the field at the halfway point of the qualifying rounds.

Defending Champion Gay Brewer, of Lexington, Ky., also playing at the top of his game, did not have to qualify, but played the scheduled Lakewood Country Club course in 10 strokes as he warmed up for the 64-player championship flight match play starting Thursday.

ELIZABETH the Queen

By Marion Crawford
Former Queen to Her Majesty

XXV

IN Canada, on the most strenuous Royal tour ever undertaken, there were often tears in her eyes when the conversation turned to her father's illness, or even at banquets when the ritualistic toast was given to "The King!" She sought to reassure herself constantly by transatlantic telephone calls asking about his recovery.

The tension she clearly suffered did nothing to impair her graciousness, but the essential warmth of her personality tended to be overshadowed by the strain of the hectic routine of inspecting Guards of Honor, visits to City Halls, the presentation of City Councils, receiving bouquets, and addresses of welcome. The Duke of Edinburgh spread the cloak of his smiling protection around her, in an effort to help her.

One day she seemed particularly tense as she sat stiff and erect in a limousine, ready to depart for yet another official function. The Duke entered the car and began a lively conversation with her. She received from him a gift which every wife realizes is priceless, a compliment on how attractive she looked in the dress she was wearing. She relaxed, with a smile that the crowds shared with her husband.

Queen Elizabeth's sense of duty drives her to the limits of her strength and endurance today. She governed her onerous tours by two broad principles, while the actual day-to-day details of the tour, were worked out by the country whose guest she was.

She insists that she be seen by as many people as humanly possible, and she asks to see as much of the country as she can, whether by car, train, airplane, or ship.

She stipulates, too, something that comes straight from her heart—that special consideration be given to the children and the elderly.

As the days passed on her Canadian tour, when on her 21st birthday she said—in words that still move me as I think of them—"I declare before you all that my whole life, whether it be short or long, shall be devoted to your service and the service of our great Imperial family to which we all belong."

"But I shall not have the strength to carry out that resolution alone unless you join in it with me, as I now invite you to do."

WITH the ladies-in-waiting, a valet, footman, and a casket full of jewels, Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh visited the capital of the United States for what one newspaper account accurately described as "the best party Washington ever had." As any one of us would, she had saved a new velvet hat for her journey south of the Canadian border.

I have always found the people of North America generous and demonstrative to a point where such retiring souls as I am almost overwhelmed. I think Princess Elizabeth may have experienced a similar feeling during the nearly 20,000 miles of her journeying in that awe-inspiring continent.

Washington had seldom seen such numbers on its broad avenues as when the Royal party arrived. President Truman himself declared: "Never before have we had such a wonderful young couple that so completely captured the hearts of all of us."

His beaming smile showed that, so far as he was concerned, he regarded the British Princess almost as "one of the family"—which, on the feminine side, wore new dresses for this celebration. That feminine side of his family, Mrs. Truman and his daughter Margaret, shared his opinions.

From the President's first "I thank you, dear," spoken in answer to the formal arrival speech, to his farewell urging that the Royal couple should visit him in a girl again, freed of public service for a romp over the snow, while the Duke of Edinburgh built a snowman and threw snowballs at her.

But such moments would be few. She knew that then. She knew it monarchoy.

she said—in words that still move me as I think of them—"I declare before you all that my whole life, whether it be short or long, shall be devoted to your service and the service of our great Imperial family to which we all belong."

With the ladies-in-waiting, a valet, footman, and a casket full of jewels, Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh visited the capital of the United States for what one newspaper account accurately described as "the best party Washington ever had."

As I have said, Queen Elizabeth, like all of us, lives and learns, but she learns faster than most—as she is showing us already in her young reign.

Canada were already in love with her, that love deepened as the crowds noticed the little, husky man, details of her appearance, her high-heeled pumps, her hatless, hair-blown ride beside her husband in a racing open car; her hairdressing appointment soon afterward where the sympathetic woman hairdresser reported later that "she was homesick for her children."

She telephoned Clarence House to talk to Prince Charles from the Eaglecrest, the ski lodge retreat in the Laurentian Mountains, set in a landscape straight from an old-fashioned Christmas card.

Before a roaring log fire she painstakingly wrote the thank-you notes, which she never forgets, and outside the lodge she was almost a girl again, freed of public service for a romp over the snow, while the Duke of Edinburgh built a snowman and threw snowballs at her.

But such moments would be few. She knew that then. She knew it monarchoy.

Petition Denied On Relocation Of Chicken Battery

A petition to remove a chicken battery owned by L. C. Morgan in the 800 Block E. Craven had to be turned down Tuesday morning by City Commission due to lack of legal jurisdiction on the matter.

The petition seeking removal of the chicken battery on grounds it is a health hazard was handed to City Manager B. M. Cruse last week by a group of residents of that block.

Mayor Tom Rose and City Atty. Bob Gordon told the group it was legally impossible for the City Commission to "do something" about the battery except to keep a constant health department check on the place.

Rogers Introduces Stored Corn Bill

A bill amending the Agriculture Act of 1949, permitting the Commodity Credit Corp., to sell stored corn at a price determined by the Secretary of Agriculture with approval by CCC Board of Directors is being introduced into Congress by Rep. Walter Rogers, Pampa.

Rogers, in his weekly newsletter to the 18th Congressional District said the bill would provide a source of feed for cattlemen at a price in keeping with the going price of livestock. Cattlemen could also purchase the stored corn before it deteriorates too much, Rogers said.

Under the present law, Rogers continued, the sale of stored commodities is limited to a price of not less than 5 per cent above the current support price of the particular commodity being sold.

An exception in the law provides for the sale of commodities which have deteriorated in quality. When the congressman declared, deteriorates rapidly.

Rogers' amendment places price-fixing entirely in the hands of the agriculture secretary with the approval of the CCC board. He said the intent of the bill is that when the price of cattle drops below the feedstuff support price there will be a means by which the secretary can stabilize and protect the cattleman.

He added the amendment would forestall possible bankruptcy of many a small cattleman and will assist in keeping up the livestock population.

Local Jaycees Told About Courtesy Book

Twenty-seven members of Pampa's junior chamber of commerce were on hand at this week's meeting to learn about "Serving and Selling Tourists."

Jack Vaughn, member of the Texas Service Station Operators' Pampa branch, explained the new chamber of commerce booklet of that title and gave a few statistics to prove that the tourist trade is worthwhile.

Other business at the Tuesday noon get-together included announcements on beauty contest participants, a Dumas "fish-fry" and a Jaycees golf tournament Thursday.
