Fire scene

Hereford firefighters work just inside the entrance to a storage building at 1304 E. Park as they work to extinguish a blaze that gutted the building and destroyed a motor home stored inside. Firefighters were called to the scene at 8:22 p.m. where they discovered a fire had started inside the 36-foot motor home, which spread to the building, owned by Bill Patton. Fire Marshal Jay Spain said damages would run into several thousand dollars.

City gives tentative OK to '94-'95 budget

BY SPEEDY NIEMAN

Hereford City Commission tentatively approved a 1994-95 budget of $5,356,060 during a special meeting and work session Monday night at city hall.

Mayor Bob Josseland praised the work of City Manager Chester Nolen and his staff for making a $52,000 swing in the proposed budget. A deficit of $26,000 was reflected in the preliminary study of the budget three weeks ago, and the new draft showed a $26,000 year-end balance.

"Tell your staff and employees we appreciate their efforts," said Josseland. "The citizens of Hereford should feel very fortunate that the budget is achieved without a property tax increase and with only a limited hike in water and sewer rates."

The mayor also pointed out that citizens are doing their part. He noted the city saved has saved about $45,000 in waste hauling because citizens cooperated in not placing leaves, limbs and other yard in dumpsters.

In other business Monday night, the commission heard a report on the Parks and Recreation Department (PARC), discussed parks development and made plans for a public Dameron Park meeting Tuesday, heard a report on water development and the solid waste situation, and discussed public comments.

Prior to the special meeting, the commission held a brief executive session to consider a real estate acquisition, but no action was taken. The meeting started at 5 p.m. and adjourned at 7:40 p.m. All commission members were present except Nancy Griego.

Approval of the new budget is expected at the next regular meeting. The budget is based on an increase of five cents per 1,000 gallons for water customers, and a raise of about 75 cents per month for garbage collection. It includes a 3 percent cost-of-living salary increase for city employees, which would become effective May 1 of next year. The new budget starts Oct. 1.

The new budget calls for general fund revenues of $3,436,960 and water and sewer fund income of $1,945,500. The estimated revenue total is $5,382,460. General fund expenses total $4,010,928 and water and sewer expenses total $1,345,132 for total expenditures of $5,356,060.

Commissioner Dennis Hicks and Nolen reported on a plan to consolidate all parks and recreation activities under the city's PARC department. The city is drafting an agreement to bring Hereford YMCA into PARC, which would entail the city taking over the "Y" facilities and continuing the operation under the membership program. The county and school district have also been asked to

Donations center of furor over appointment of Starr

WASHINGTON (AP) - A couple of days in May offer a glimpse at why many Democrats are howling over Kenneth Starr's appointment as the Whitewater independent counsel.

On May 21, the former Reagan and Bush administration official wrote a $1,000 check to GOP House candidate Tom Davis, bringing to $5,475 his total contributions to Republican candidates over the past 18 months.

And on May 24, Starr debated White House counsel Lloyd Cutler on PBS' "MacNeil-Lehrer NewsHour," criticizing President Clinton's first line of defense in a sexual harassment suit filed by a former Arkansas state worker, that sitting presidents cannot be sued.

"It is a very serious step to take to say that the president of the United States is simply too busy to respond to lawsuits the way others have to," Starr argued.

"The question that comes to mind is whether Kenneth Starr, based on past actions, is too partisan a Republican to do a fair job," said House Deputy Whip Bill Richardson, D-N.M. "Is he the only individual we can find to fill this position?"

Robert Bennett, Clinton's personal lawyer in the Whitewater matter, said today that "I have a high regard for Mr. Starr's intellect and personal integrity, but I'm just concerned about the fairness of the situation."

Bennett, appearing on NBC, asked "why is (former counsel Robert) Fiske being replaced? There was no conflict there ... is it because he made some findings that are favorable to the president?"

Republicans were quick to defend Starr, and said his track record on the federal bench proved he was able to put his personal and political views aside in deciding cases.

"I don't blame them if they make comments like that," Utah GOP Sen. Orrin Hatch said of the criticism of Starr. "But everybody knows that Ken Starr is a straight shooter."

Hatch said Starr has "worked to keep his Republican credentials alive" since he left government "but is certainly no ideologue."

Starr, a former appeals court judge and solicitor general originally from Vernon, Texas, was named by a three-judge panel Friday to replace Fiske as head of the Whitewater investigation. The decision caught the White House and its Whitewater critics off guard.

But the week opened Monday with a Democratic chorus protesting Starr's appointment.

Hutchison promises battle against Clinton health plan

By TERRI LANGFORD
Associated Press Writer

CHANNELVIEW, Texas (AP) - Republican Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison vows to work for the defeat of the Clinton-endorsed health care proposal.

On Monday, Mrs. Hutchison echoed her party brethren, charging that the White House-backed measure would raise taxes too high and grant government too large a role.

"I will not support a plan that has employer mandates, that has huge new tax increases and will take away the quality of care that we have in our system," Mrs. Hutchison told about 25 workers at Houston Ship Repair, Inc. in Channelview, Texas.

The Clinton administration contends that health coverage for all Americans would give protection to 3.2 million Texas working families now without coverage.

The Senate bill drafted by Majority Leader George Mitchell, D-Maine, calls for covering 95 percent of Americans by the year 2002. President Clinton has endorsed this plan.

But Mrs. Hutchison charged that the Clinton-Mitchell plan calls for 17 new taxes, a premium most Americans cannot afford to pay.

"I am supporting the (Sen. Bob) Dole plan. The Dole plan has no mandates, no taxes," she said. "It will keep the quality of the system and most important, it will improve the system as we know it."

Dole, a GOP leader from Kansas, has united most Republicans behind a less sweeping no-new-taxes reform plan.

Congress is rolling up its sleeves for serious consideration of health reform in the next few weeks. The White House on Monday stepped up its media blitz for universal coverage by issuing state-by-state data on universal coverage.

Meanwhile, Texas' other senator, Republican Phil Gramm, turned up the volume Monday against Mitchell's bill, promising to do everything possible to derail the legislation.

"Anything I can do within the rules of the Senate to prevent the government from taking over or controlling the health care market I'm going to do, and I'm going to do it proudly," Gramm said at a joint news conference with Sen. Richard Shelby, D-Ala.

The two senators said they would try to strip all taxes from the bill, but Shelby also said ultimately they want to prevent passage of the measure.

Bankers knock off two-time fajita king

Two-time fajita king Larry Malamen and his M&W Carrot team were upset on Saturday as they bid to capture a third consecutive Jubilee Beef Fajita Cookoff title.

Malamen was ambushed by the team from First National Bank, led by bankers Rodney Ruthart, Wade Easley and Steve Wright.

The FNB team captured the first-ever travelling trophy, which will be in custody of the bank until they defend their title at the 1995 cookoff.

The plaque features spaces for 12 honorees. It will be personalized honoring the bank and its champion-ship.

This was the fifth year the Hereford Cattlewomen have sponsored the cookoff.

This year there were seven teams participating, fixing fajitas for the judges -- Mayor Bob Josseland, Bob Sims and chamber Women's Division president Peggie Fox -- and for the public that turned out for a sample.

Malamen's team tied for second in the competition, finishing with the same number of points as Sheriff Joe C. Brown and Juvenile Probation Officer Lou Serrano and their team.

Third place went to The Page Family, led by Mike Page.

In the showmanship competition, Wayne Walker and Donnie Fangman walked away with top honors with their setup that included an authentic-looking chuck wagon.

Second place in Showmanship went to The Page Family.

Champions cooking

Fajita cookers, from left, Rodney Ruthart, Wade Easley and Steve Wright -- all representing First National Bank -- work industriously to prepare their entry in this year's Jubilee Beef Fajita Cookoff, sponsored by the Hereford Cattlewomen. The First National Bank team won this year's contest, upsetting two-time champion Larry Malamen and his M&W Carrot team, which tied for second. The other second place team was headed by Sheriff Joe C. Brown and Juvenile Probation Officer Lou Serrano, while The Page Family came in third. Seven teams entered the fifth annual cookoff.

participate in the program.

The mayor asked Nolen and Hicks to bring an outline of the proposal to the next commission meeting so that "the commission will be fully aware of the details and plans of the proposal." A target date of October has been set for starting the PARD plan.

Josserand reported an "excellent turnout" at Buena Vista Park for the first in a series of public park meetings to gather input from residents on park development. The commission is scheduled to meet with residents at Dameron Park at 7 p.m. today.

"There's no way we can fund everything park users would like, but the input is good and I think citizens, as a whole, are excited about the city's efforts on park development," said Josserand.

Nolen reported the new water storage tank behind Hereford Community Center is in operation but announced that work has not started on a recent approval of new water wells. Nolen said it was possible the city may have to re-bid the project. He was scheduled to meet with the contractor today to discuss the situation.

The city manager also reported that restroom facilities at the 14th Street and Ave. H Park are near completion. He also noted the city should have enough data after the first of the year to decide a course of action on garbage hauling. The city has utilized existing vehicles for hauling during the short term, said Nolen, "but we need to look at the costs and decide where we're going."

He added the city was fortunate to have two options—Canyon and Amarillo—on hauling the waste. The city is currently paying a tipping fee of $14 a ton in Amarillo. He noted cities around Plainview are paying about three times that much to haul to Plainview.

During public comment time, several commissioners said they had received "nothing but positive feedback" about the city adopting a curfew for juveniles. The commission will look at proposed curfew ordinances at their next meeting, said the mayor.

During a break at the meeting, Commissioner Carey Black was surprised with a birthday cake in observance of his 39th birthday.

Josserand announced that the regular meeting date of Sept. 5 has been canceled. The next workshop session was tentatively set for Sept. 10, and the next regular meeting for Sept. 19.

Mayor's breakfast set

Hereford Mayor Bob Josserand will host a "Breakfast with the Mayor" Wednesday, beginning at 7 a.m., at the Ranch House Restaurant.

The dutch-treat breakfast will provide a forum for citizens to talk about their concerns for the city. Josserand also will field questions about the proposed half-cent sales tax, an issue to be decided in a citywide election Aug. 13.

The mayor encourages all interested citizens to attend. Josserand started the breakfast meetings last year to offer residents an opportunity to discuss city policies and services.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 32. After exhausting all avenues to prevent my stepsister from allowing our father to baby-sit for her two children, I was left with no alternative but to reveal the truth.

I was never able to talk about my past, so I decided to write everything down. I wrote about how the sexual abuse started with my stepfather when I was 11. He began by wearing down my self-esteem, constantly finding fault and being emotionally abusive. By the time I was 11, he had undermined my self-worth to the point that I felt I had no right to say no to him.

I left home when I was 14 and went to live with my natural father. I'd had very little contact with him, but I felt sure he would take good care of me. His second wife had just divorced him, so when I moved in, it was just the two of us.

My father didn't see me as his daughter. He saw me as his wife. The incest continued until my 18th birthday, when I finally decided to leave his house.

When I wrote down my history, I made copies and sent them to several members of my family. Soon after the mailing, they told me they had no idea such abuse was going on. I believe in my heart that all the signs were there--and they had to be obvious to anyone who was willing to acknowledge them.

Children who are abused often display unusual behavior. Why is it that the very people who are supposed to love and protect us are so quick to label us "problem children?" Are people so blind they cannot see what is happening? Don't they understand that the welfare of the child is more important than their desire not to deal with what's going on?

After all those years of abuse, I am now fighting a more difficult battle with my family to reclaim my childhood. I realize how much I have been cheated out of, and I want to get the word out to families everywhere. LOOK, LISTEN and BE AWARE.

Thanks, Ann, on behalf of all the children.--Montgomery, Ala.

DEAR MONTGOMERY: Here's your message. I hope it gets through to the people who need to hear it. I also hope you are getting counseling to help deal with your nightmarish past. Your ability to write to me is a step toward healing.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: "AI" is a nice guy but a little rough around the edges, which I knew when I married him. I know he will never change and have decided to love him the way he is. But I do need your opinion about something.

Last Sunday, AI as sitting around in his undershorts when some neighbors dropped by. He greeted them cordially but made no apologies. Nor did he leave to put on some trousers. After they left, I told AI I was deeply embarrassed.

He said, "This is my home, and they weren't invited. Besides, nothing showed. I don't feel I owned them any apologies." Who's right?--Visalia, Calif.

DEAR VISALIA: More is involved than how much "showed." If AI were wrapped in a towel, nothing would show, but that's no way to entertain guests. I'd say you were right.

DEAR ANN: I attend church with a woman who thinks it is perfectly all right to take her shoes off during the service. What do you have to say about this?--Dumont, N.J.

DEAR DU: I say the poor woman's feet probably hurt. Be thankful that yours don't.

Gem of the Day: Happiness is what happens when you get too busy to be miserable.

Is that Ann Landers column you clipped years ago with yellow with age? For a copy of her most frequently requested poems and essays, send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $4.85 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Fashion show planned

Kyla Marie Cloud, 9-month-old daughter of Brad and Paula Cloud, is shown wearing a fall dress and matching headband from Kid's Alley and Lexi Sciumbato wears a new ensemble provided by Etcetera. Hereford merchants will be furnishing new fall and winter fashions for the Women's Division's "Fantastic Fall Preview" beginning at 11:30 a.m. Thursday at the Hereford Country Club. Tickets for the meal and show, priced at $8 per person, are available at the Chamber of Commerce office or from participating businesses.

The mask of ancient Egypt's King Tutankhamen, on display in the Cairo Museum, is made of solid gold, and weighs 244 pounds. It is inlaid with lapis lazuli, quartz, obsidian, turquoise and colored glass.

The platypus is found only in Australia. It has a duck's bill, webbed feet and a beaver's tail. It lays eggs like a turtle, yet has hair like a bear and nurtures its young on mother's milk.

Charles Minchew served as Toastmaster; Wayne Winget, timer; Mr. Adams, "ah" counter; Dan Hall, grammarian; Weaver, wordmaster; and "succinct" was the chosen word.

Chris Leonard was topicmaster and topic speakers included Dan Hall, Jigger Rowland, Joe Weaver and Ed Gilbert.

Charles Minchew told the joke and Mike Harris served as general evaluator.

Also attending was Pat Varner.

Thank You

Even though our call to 9-1-1 wasn't as serious an emergency as we thought, it was nice to know how quickly it was answered. We want to thank all the emergency personnel who came to help. They were courteous, concerned and very helpful.

Thanks also, to Mary, Mickie, Chris, Lucy and Richard Tijerina.

NEW YORK (AP) - What makes actor Jim Carrey laugh?

"A very weird guy who thinks he's totally cool," Carrey tells Entertainment Weekly in the Aug. 5 issue. "That sort of demented, completely unjustified confidence is very likeable, but it also makes you laugh."

He should know. "Ace Ventura: Pet Detective," in which he played a goofy guy searching for a lost dolphin, was an unexpected hit. It also is the sort of character he plays in the new movie "The Mask."

In "The Mask," Carrey plays a wimpy bank clerk who accidentally discovers a mask that turns him into a green-faced hipster with supernatural powers.

Baseball strike seems inevitable

By RONALD BLUM
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - With three days left before baseball players are scheduled to strike, both sides see little chance of avoiding the sport's eighth work stoppage in 22 years.

"This has the air of a dispute the owners are intent on forcing," union head Donald Fehr said after Monday's non-productive bargaining session. "The players are resigned to it and ready to go."

"The nature of the questions we're getting is things like, 'Is it OK if I leave after the game Thursday to go home or should I wait for a flight Friday morning?' ... The players assume the strike will take place. If it doesn't, that's great, but that's the operating assumption."

Management negotiator Richard Ravitch said he was "much less optimistic" about reaching a settlement without a stoppage.

"I don't want to spark any unrealistic optimism, but when you're in a situation like this, I wouldn't dare predict what's going to happen between now and Friday," Ravitch said. "That doesn't mean I think the fairy godmother will descend with a solution."

Monday's session covered non-economic issues and today's talks will be at the committee level. The sides didn't schedule any negotiations beyond that but said they expected to meet Wednesday.

"I assume there will be a meeting if someone thinks there's something to talk about," Fehr said. "There's nothing scheduled. There's an air of inevitability about all of this."

Fans sensed the inevitability, too. During the New York Yankees' 6-5, 11-inning victory over the Baltimore Orioles on Monday night, some chanted "No strike! No strike!"

"Sadly, players will not address the issues that are of concern to us," Ravitch said earlier in the day. "They want to talk about the basic agreement in the context of how the players can get more money. We want to talk in terms of dealing with problems of the game and how to make sure baseball is economically viable in the 28 cities in which it's being played."

Fehr said he can't envision the union ever accepting a salary cap but he hasn't convinced Ravitch to make a proposal along the lines of the collective bargaining agreements that have been in place since 1976.

"I've done everything but hit him on the head with the kitchen sink on that issue," Fehr said.

Ravitch gave a hint that management may believe it can outlast players in a work stoppage.

"I certainly take Don at face value," he said. "Do I think 800 baseball players are rigid ideologically about this? I'm not sure."

While owners asked for a salary cap in 1985 and 1990 but then withdrew their demand in the face of union opposition, Ravitch said management won't waver this time.

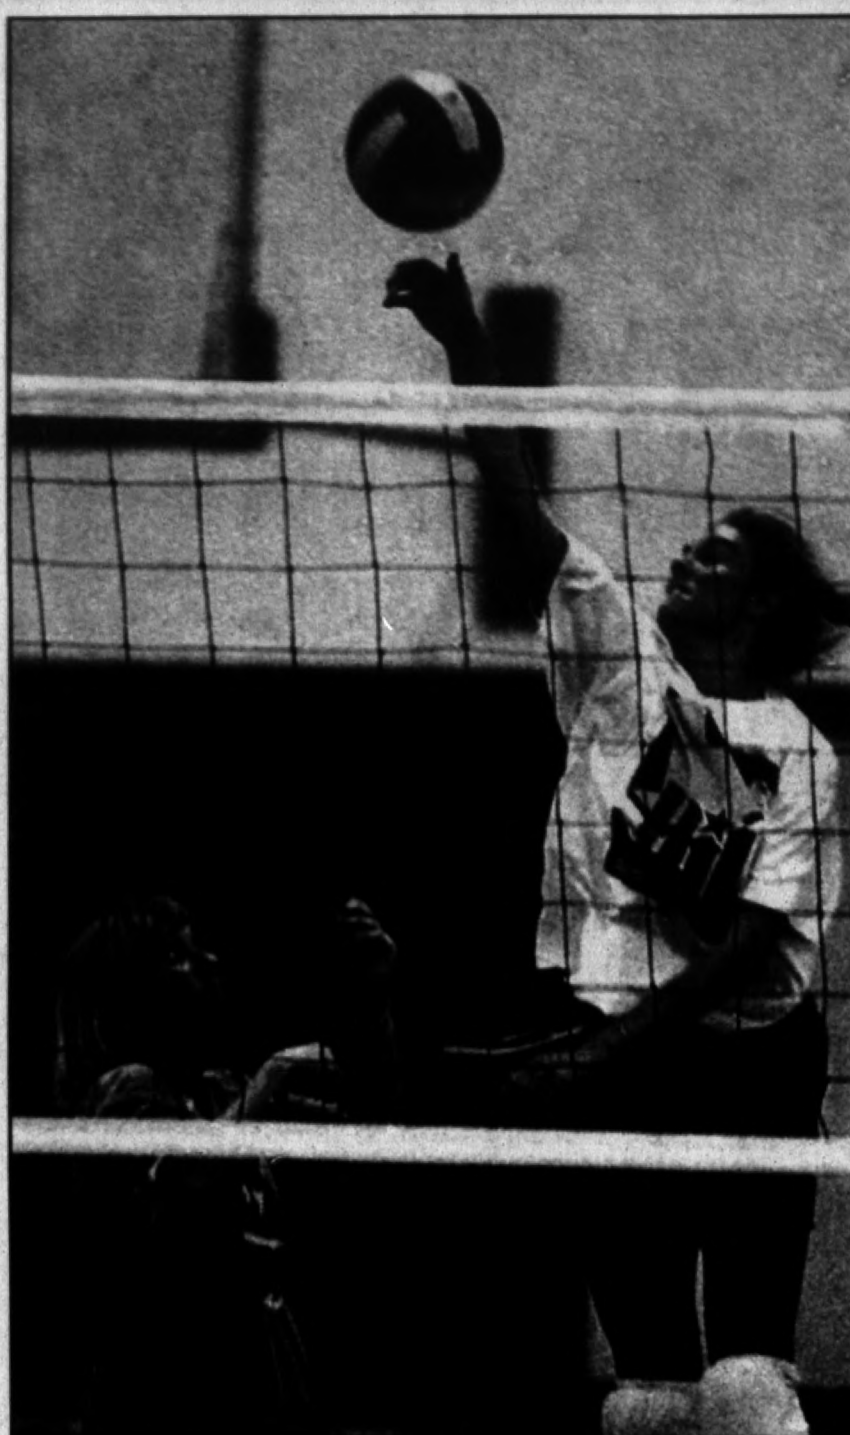

"As long as Don says 'no,' the owners don't intend to put different kinds of proposals on the table," he said.

Both sides said they didn't think Labor Secretary Robert Reich would be useful as a mediator but thanked him for his offer to help.

"At this moment, I see no useful function that can be performed by the Secretary of Labor," Ravitch said.

Fehr, with a sarcastic tone, said the only sign of hope was that executive council chairman Bud Selig backed off the claim that 19 teams would lose money this year, saying the minimum number was 12-to-14.

"If we can keep up that kind of progress, maybe we'll be all right," Fehr said.

The Lady Whitefaces will scrimmage Brownfield and Lubbock High Saturday in Brownfield, then open the season for real against Palo Duro at 6 p.m. Monday in Hereford.

Hubbard, Nieman capture VFW/Hospice tournament

Paul Hubbard rolled in a 25-foot birdie putt from the fringe of the 18th green Sunday, lifting himself and teammate Craig Nieman to a one-stroke win in the VFW-Hereford Hospice Benefit Golf Tournament.

Hubbard and Nieman shot a 64 in a scramble format Saturday, then recorded a 66 in a low-ball Sunday, finishing with a two-day total of 130 at Pitman Municipal Golf Course.

The top three finishers were packed tightly, with Jayson Mines and Anthony Gale second at 64-67-131 and Cory Newton and Mikel Walser third at 63-69-132.

John Elliott and Bill Wilfong won the first flight, shooting 68 Saturday and 69 Sunday for a total of 137. Mark Vega and Carlos Mendez were second at 68-71-139, and Doc Weaver and Tommy Weaver were third at 68-73-141.

In the second flight, Don Martin and Al Brorman won with 74-76-150. Kenny Wilcox and D. Cryer were second at 74-77-151. Pat McGinty and Cal Mitts were third at 74-79-153.

In the third flight, Wendell Burdine and Cliff Arnold won at 77-72-149. Chris Leonard and Mitch Reeve were second at 78-79-157. Bobby Vaughn and Bill Acton Sr. were third at 77-82-159.

Shuler makes successful debut

By JIMMY GOLEN
AP Sports Writer

ORCHARD PARK, N.Y. (AP) - Heath Shuler's professional debut was neither spectacular nor disastrous. And that, as far as Redskins coach Norv Turner was concerned, made it a success.

Shuler completed 4 of 10 passes for 47 yards and one interception on Monday night in Washington's 13-11 loss to the Buffalo Bills. The No. 3 pick in this year's draft, Shuler didn't practice until Wednesday because of a contract holdout.

"I'm surprised we were able to get the ball snapped with him," Turner said. "Heath has had four practices. What he did today - assimilate the play calls, the formations, who is going where, look at the coverages, make the throws - is phenomenal."

Shuler did have trouble getting the ball snapped once, when the Redskins were called for a false start on his second play. But his biggest problem was what he did with the ball when he got it.

In his first two series, he took over in bad field position. In his third, the Redskins managed only 5 yards and a field goal after starting on the Buffalo 20 yard line.

His fourth possession, from the Redskins' 43, lasted only one play.

Facing pressure from James Patton, Shuler was intercepted by Jeff Burris.

"I thought as far as knowing the progressions, knowing the routes, I thought I did a very good job," Shuler said. "All the plays we ran, I felt totally comfortable. That was the game plan going in. I knew all the plays. I was fine with them."

"Norv talked to me. He said 'You don't have to go out and do anything spectacular. Just stay within the system.' And that's what I tried to do."

Shuler needs more time to get comfortable with the NFL. Jim Kelly's problem is just the opposite.

His 34-year-old throwing arm has developed tendinitis, but it didn't show against Washington. Kelly completed his first seven passes and was 9-of-12 overall for 141 yards and one touchdown during his two series.

"The shoulder felt excellent," Kelly said. "So far, so good."

Steelers

Pittsburgh hopes pulling a contract offer off the table will get kicker Gary Anderson into training camp.

Anderson, who is refusing to honor the final year of his contract, was told Monday the Steelers have withdrawn their $812,000-a-year offer.

"The offer's off the table," Tom Donahoe, the Steelers' director of football operations, said. "Once he gets into camp, we'll be happy to talk to him."

Anderson set an NFL single-season accuracy record last season by making 28 of 30 field goal attempts.

Cardinals

Quarterback Steve Bueherlein says he'll play it safe with his strained back and may sit out the Cardinals' exhibition game Saturday against Chicago, especially since coach Buddy Ryan wants to see No. 3 quarterback Will Furrer and No. 4 quarterback Chris Swartz in action.

Brewers end scoring drought with huge inning

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

After struggling through a scoring famine at home, it was time for the Milwaukee Brewers to feast on the road.

In their seven-game homestand that ended Sunday, the Brewers totaled only 13 runs. Against the Tigers on Monday night in Detroit, Milwaukee scored 10 runs in the seventh inning in a 12-4 victory over Detroit.

"How can you possibly explain that?" manager Phil Garner asked. "After seven games at home where we were begging for runs, we start a road trip like this."

"I don't get it," Garner said, "but I am going to enjoy it."

In other games, it was Cleveland 6, Toronto 1; Minnesota 5, Boston 2; New York 6, Baltimore 5 in 11 innings; Seattle 14, Texas 4; California 6, Kansas City 1; and Chicago 2, Oakland 1.

The Brewers beat Tim Lincecum (7-15), who lost his sixth consecutive start by allowing eight runs on eight hits and four walks in 6-2-3 innings.

"Right now, all of the wheels are really coming off," Belcher said. "I have never been through anything like this. I just keep telling myself that I can't ever get back to winning if I don't go out there."

The Brewers had already scored three runs by the time John Jaha chased Belcher with a three-run homer. Reliever Joe Boever gave up singles to the first two batters he faced, a three-run homer to Jeff Cirillo and a solo shot to Jose Valentin.

Detroit, which had led 3-0, got a home run from Danny Bautista, his fourth of the season.

Angel Miranda (2-5) snapped a five-game losing streak, winning for the first time since July 3. He pitched six innings, allowing three runs on eight hits.

Mariners 14, Rangers 4

At Arlington, Texas, Tino Martinez went 3-for-5 and drove in a career-high six runs for Seattle. Jay Buhner added a two-run homer and run-scoring single.

Reliever Bob Wells (1-0), making his American League debut when he came on in the third with the bases loaded, went four innings for the victory.

Texas starter John Dettmer (0-6) took the loss.

Yankees 6, Orioles 5 (11 innings)

At New York, Luis Polonia came home on Randy Velarde's two-out single in the bottom of the 11th.

Mark Eichhorn (6-5) retired the first two batters in the 11th before walking Polonia. Danny Tartabull was hit by a pitch before Velarde looped his winning single to right-center.

Steve Howe (3-0), the fifth Yankees pitcher, was the winner.

Angels 6, Royals 1

Tim Salmon homered for the third straight game and Mark Langston (7-8) pitched a four-hitter as California handed visiting Kansas City its third straight loss after 14 consecutive victories.

The left-hander struck out six and walked one.

Salmon's homer in the eighth came after Chad Curtis had singled and Chili Davis walked.

Indians 6, Blue Jays 1

At Toronto, Kenny Lofton tripled, doubled and singled, increasing his AL-leading hit total to 159, and scored once in Cleveland's victory.

Charles Nagy (10-8) allowed six hits over seven innings for the victory. Al Leiter (6-7) took the loss.

Twins 5, Red Sox 2

In Minneapolis, Matt Walbeck capped a three-run Minnesota rally in the sixth with a two-run single. Kevin Tapani (11-7) got the win, allowing two runs on seven hits, striking out three and walking one in seven innings. Rick Aguilera got the final three outs for his 23rd save.

Rick Tricek (1-1), making his first major league start after posting a 9.72 ERA in 11 relief appearances, took the loss.

White Sox 2, Athletics 1

Jack McDowell (10-9) struck out 10, walked none and scattered seven hits to lead visiting Chicago to victory. Tim Lincecum drove in the winning run with a one-out single in the ninth inning.

Ozzie Guillen led off the ninth with a single off reliever Ed Vosberg (0-2), was sacrificed to second and moved up to third on Vosberg's wild pitch. He scored the winning run when Raines bounced a single over the head of third baseman Scott Brosius.

McGriff leads Braves past Reds

By DICK BRINSTER
AP Sports Writer

It had the ring of a concession speech, and considering the play of the Montreal Expos it may have been appropriate.

"The Expos are having an awesome year, so now we're fighting to get the wild card," Fred McGriff said after hitting two home runs and driving in four runs to lead the Atlanta Braves to a 6-4 victory Monday night over the Cincinnati Reds.

But the victory did nothing to enhance Atlanta's position in the NL East because the Expos won for the 18th time in 20 games. They beat Pittsburgh 3-2 to maintain a six-game lead over the Braves.

Steve Avery was looking ahead as far as possible with a strike looming Friday.

"I hope we can win the next three in Colorado and take our chances coming back after the strike," he said after striking out a career-high 11 batters in eight shutout innings.

Avery (8-3) allowed just three hits but threw 118 pitches. So, sitting on a 6-0 lead, he took a seat to start the ninth inning and watched the thrill-a-minute Atlanta bullpen do what it's done all season - make a game out of it. Braves relievers have 13 losses and 13 blown saves this season.

Mark Wohlers started the ninth by giving up a walk and a pair of hits, including Kevin Mitchell's RBI single. Mike Stanton came on and hit Hal Morris with an 0-2 pitch to load the bases.

Greg McMichael relieved and got Reggie Sanders to fly out. Lenny Harris hit an RBI grounder before Thomas Howard doubled sharply to the gap in left-center for two runs. Deion Sanders then grounded out, and McMichael had his 21st save.

McGriff hit his 31st and 32nd homers off John Roper (6-2).

Expos 3, Pirates 2

Moises Alou's three-run homer left visiting Montreal (at 72-39 baseball's best team) 33 games over .500 for only the second time in franchise history.

Gil Heredia (6-3) made his second consecutive strong start in place of the injured Jeff Fassero, allowing Pittsburgh six hits in seven innings.

John Wetteland pitched the ninth for his 23rd save, striking out Don Slaught to end the game with two men on to wrap up the Expos' fourth straight victory.

Steve Cooke (4-11) checked the Expos on two hits until Marquis Grissom singled to start the sixth. Wil Cordero doubled ahead of Alou's 22nd homer.

Cardinals 11, Marlins 1

Todd Zeile got a tip from manager Joe Torre - a former batting champion - then hit two homers and drove in a career-high six runs to help Rheal Cormier (3-2) to his first victory since May 14.

"He told me to stay back a little longer," Zeile said of Torre. "And it paid off. Six RBIs doesn't happen very often."

Loser Rich Scheid (1-3) was a last-minute replacement for scheduled starter Chris Hammond, who has a fracture of the fibula in his left leg.

Mets 3, Phillies 2

Bobby Jones won his fifth straight decision and Jim Lindeman homered, doubled and scored twice.

Jones (12-7) allowed 10 hits and two runs in 7 1-3 innings while striking out four. He is 8-1 on the road this season.

Reliever John Franco got Mickey Morandini to ground into a double play to end the eighth, then pitched out a jam of his own making in the ninth for his league-leading 29th save.

Danny Jackson (14-6) allowed three runs and seven hits in seven innings.

Giants 5, Cubs 4

Todd Benzinger had a pinch-hit homer with one out in the eighth inning at Wrigley Field.

Benzinger, batting for Dave Martinez, hit a 1-0 pitch off Dan Plesac (2-3) for the game-winner into an 18-mph wind.

Rich Monteleone (4-3) picked up the win, working two-thirds of an inning.

Rockies 7, Dodgers 6

Charlie Hayes' RBI single capped a four-run ninth-inning rally that enabled Colorado to end a five-game losing streak. The win averted a sweep of the three-game series by visiting Los Angeles, which got a two-run double from Mike Piazza in five-run eighth for a 6-3 lead.

Howard Johnson had an RBI single, and pinch-hitter Danny Sheaffer hit a two-run double off Todd Worrell (6-5), whose blown save was the 21st in 40 opportunities for the Los Angeles bullpen.

After a sacrifice and an intentional walk, Hayes singled off Jim Gott to make a winner of reliever Bruce Ruffin (4-5).

Cowboys' LB Jones improving

AUSTIN (AP) - The grades are in on two of the preseason's more scrutinized Dallas Cowboys.

Middle linebacker Robert Jones "has to be better" and backup running back Lincoln Coleman was "sporadic" in the Cowboys' 27-19 exhibition loss to the Los Angeles Raiders Sunday night.

Both players are struggling to secure positions that are theirs to lose.

Jones is trying to regain the job he lost last year to now-departed Ken Norton. Coleman came into camp overweight, yet still has a chance to back up Emmitt Smith because of an injury to Derrick Lassie.

Cowboys defensive coordinator Butch Davis said Jones was in on seven stops out of 30 plays. Involvement in one of every seven or fewer plays is considered positive, Davis said.

"I thought it was a drastic improvement over the first ballgame. It was definitely a much better performance," Davis said. "He definitely has to be a better linebacker than he was last night, but he was better last night than he was the last two years."

Coleman, who has trimmed down to the 240 pounds that coaches expected of him, gained just 36 yards on 17 carries for an unimpressive 2.1 average.

Dallas offensive coordinator Ernie Zampese was critical of Coleman, who appeared indecisive at times and was sometimes slow getting to the hole.

"Lincoln's play was sporadic," Zampese said. "He did a nice job on a couple of runs. He caught the ball fairly well."

Yet he's still the front-runner in camp, well ahead of rookie free agents Mark Mason and Tony Richardson and first-year back Judd Garrett.

Both coordinators are looking forward to the expected return of nearly all the players who have been recovering from injuries. All will be back only on a limited basis.

Expected to return to the offense for this morning's practice are starting wide receivers Michael Irvin and Alvin Harper (shoulders), along with starting center Mark Stepnoski (knee).

The defense, stripped of three-fourths of the first-team line, will certainly welcome back defensive tackles Russell Maryland (ankle) and Leon Lett (foot), along with defensive end Charles Haley (calf).

The only new injury after the Raiders game was fullback Robert Wilson's sprained ankle.

Dallas plays the Houston Oilers in Mexico City Monday night.

Shaq outmatches other centers

TORONTO (AP) - Shaquille O'Neal has some trouble defensively with big men who can shoot from the outside. Other centers have even more trouble defending the 7-foot-1, 300-pound O'Neal.

"The big men that we've faced can all shoot outside, as a general rule, and against Australia it will be the same problem," coach Don Nelson said before Dream Team II's game with Australia tonight at the World Championship of Basketball. "Their big men can shoot and they can also drive, so that makes it difficult for Shaquille. The other side of the coin is that they had a difficult time matching up with Shaquille, so we usually come out on top in that one."

The U.S.-Australia game is their opener in the Group I quarterfinals. Russia, Puerto Rico, the United States and Australia play each other once, with the top two teams advancing to Saturday's semifinals, along with the top two teams from Group II - China, Croatia, Canada and Greece.

Dream Team II's inside players were a combined 32-for-43 from the field against Brazil, while the 3-point shooters were 3-for-16.

"Right now, teams seem to be trying to stop our outside, and our inside is wide open, so that's where we're going," Nelson said. "Eventually, teams will try to stop our inside and that will open up our shooters. It doesn't matter what teams do. We're going to make them pay the price."

Asked about Australia, several U.S. players showed they aren't worried about their opponent.

"Is that who we're playing?" O'Neal asked. "I didn't even know."

Australia, 2-1 after losing to Croatia on Saturday night, is led by former Seton Hall star Andrew Gaze, an outside shooter, and center Mark Bradtke.

The other quarterfinal pool opened play Monday night, with Croatia crushing China 105-73 and Greece beating Canada 74-71.

Dino Radja of the Boston Celtics scored all of his 23 points in the first half for Croatia, which led 61-41 at halftime, and Toni Kukoc of the Chicago Bulls added 13 points and 15 assists.

Try ground chicken in burger recipes

Ground chicken has recently joined ground turkey as another option to ground beef. The fat content of ground chicken can vary, but don't let it fool you. If made with breast meat, it can be lower in fat. However, if ground chicken contains dark meat and skin, it can have more fat than lean ground beef. It's a good idea to compare the nutritional information on the packages.

Because ground chicken is milder in flavor than beef, it may be more versatile in cooking. For example, in the recipe below, crushed tortilla chips and a pinch of chili powder turn mild-mannered ground chicken into one bold Tex-Mex burger. Monterey Jack cheese studded with jalapeno peppers adds even more kick.

For a real taste of cactus country, serve the burgers with blanched cactus pads. You can find them in the produce section of some supermarkets, often alongside specialty produce. To blanch, cook the cactus pads in boiling salted water for 30 to 60 seconds.

Southwestern-Style Burgers
1 beaten egg
1/4 cup crushed nacho-flavored or plain tortilla chips (1 ounce)
3 tablespoons finely chopped green pepper
3/4 teaspoon chili powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 pound ground raw chicken or turkey

1 avocado, halved, seeded, peeled and sliced
4 ounces sliced Monterey Jack cheese with jalapeno peppers
4 kaiser rolls or hamburger buns, split
Lettuce leaves
Salsa

In a medium mixing bowl combine egg, tortilla chips, green pepper, chili powder, salt and pepper. Add chicken; mix well. Shape into four 1/2-inch-thick patties.

To grill, on an uncovered grill place patties directly over medium-hot coals; cook for 15 to 18 minutes or until no longer pink, turning once. Top each patty with avocado slices and cheese. Grill for 1 to 2 minutes more or until cheese is melted. Toast rolls on grill, if desired.

(Or, to broil patties, preheat broiler. Place patties on the unheated rack of a broiler pan. Broil 3 to 4 inches from heat for 6 minutes. Turn patties and broil for 6 to 8 minutes more or until patties are no longer pink. Toast rolls under broiler, if desired. Top burgers with avocado and cheese. Broil for 1 to 2 minutes or until cheese is melted.)

To serve, place one lettuce leaf on bottom half of bun. Top with cooked burger and salsa. Makes 4 servings.

Public invited to view fashions

The Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Women's Division is sponsoring the "Fantastic Fall Preview" beginning with a meal at 11:30 a.m. Thursday at the Hereford Country Club. The style show, which will be narrated by Mary Thomas, will be held from noon until 1 p.m. with fashions furnished by Hereford merchants. Tickets are priced at $8 per person and are available at the Chamber of Commerce office or from participating merchants. Modeling this year's newest fall fashions are Bric Wall from Boots & Saddle Western Wear and Patsy Gallagher from The Pants Cage.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: Can you please tell me how to make french fries that aren't soft or soggy? I've tried soaking them beforehand in ice cubes, but nothing works. — Betty Danyluk, Dallas, Texas

Try this for delicious homemade fries. Soak the potatoes in ice water first, drain and pat slightly dry. It's best to fry them in a deep fryer, making sure the oil is hot enough before putting the potatoes in, or they will turn out soggy.

If you don't have a deep fryer, some people fry them in a frying pan with a small amount of oil, then cover. Fry to a golden brown. — Heloise

EGG HANDLING

Dear Heloise: The following is a helpful hint my husband passed on to me. He discovered he had stumbled upon an easy way to transfer eggs from the container to the counter when he was getting out the things I needed to prepare breakfast.

When transferring eggs from one container to another, slightly wet your fingertips with water. It is amazing the traction you get and you will never again drop eggs using this process. — Rusty Lapolla, Reno, Nev.

Pet Show is Saturday

The Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Women's Division is sponsoring its annual Pet Show at 2 p.m. Saturday in Damron Park. Pets of all kinds, sizes and shapes will be judged. Entry forms for the show are available at the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce office, 701 N. Main St. Entry fee is $2 per pet. For additional information, call 364-3333.

The Miami Dolphins quarterback said Thursday he's part of a group interested in buying baseball's Pittsburgh Pirates.

"I've been a ... fan since I was a little kid," said Marino, a Pittsburgh native. "To keep it in the city and turn the franchise around and be a part of that would be a lot of fun for me. And maybe I'll play third base and shag some flies."

The group is led by Larry Lucchino, who served as chief executive officer of the Baltimore Orioles from 1988 to 1993. Like Marino, Lucchino is a Pittsburgh native.

"He contacted me a couple of months ago and wanted to know if I'd be interested," Marino said. "I said yeah, I would be."

Pillory was the practice of constraining the head and arms of a person in wooden stocks and subjecting them to public ridicule. It was used for the last time in England in 1830.

Consider important medical issues

As a Medicare beneficiary, you have many important issues to consider when it comes to your health care, especially in the current atmosphere of possible health care reform: long-term care, coverage, out-of-pocket prescription costs and deductibles, to name just a few.

But consider something else just as important: What about the quality of care you are receiving? Are there (and will there be) safeguards assuring quality medical care?

Most Medicare recipients are unaware that an organization has been working for ten years to assure the quality of their health care. It is called a peer review organization, or PRO, and for every state, there is a PRO under contract with the federal government to ensure that medicare beneficiaries are receiving quality care in the appropriate setting.

By reviewing medical records of Medicare patients, PROs identify individual quality of care problems and work with hospitals and doctors to correct those problems. Recently, however, the Medicare program implemented a plan to improve the overall quality of care provided to all Medicare patients: the Health Care Quality Improvement Program. In this program, PROs do studies about how health care facilities treat their patients, asking questions such as "What works best? What doesn't work? What can one facility learn from another about the most effective way to treat a specific condition?" Answers to these questions will be provided to hospitals and doctors, who are expected to use the information to improve the quality of care provided to their Medicare patients.

So why is this program important to you? Because the goal of the Health Care Quality Improvement Program is to build a community of health professionals committed to quality health care. This "community" includes doctors, health care facilities, AND patients. In the near future, PROs will be providing information to you that they have obtained from the Health Care Quality Improvement Program in a way that you can understand it and use it. And that means that you will have more information on which to base your health-care decisions, sharing the responsibility with your health care providers.

Jordan proposes plan to shut illegal aliens out of job market

By Lyndell Williams & Ed Sterling
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Texas should be one of five states to test a program aimed at shutting illegal aliens out of the job market, Barbara Jordan, chairwoman of the U.S. Commission on Immigration Reform, told a Senate committee last week.

The former Texas congresswoman's testimony was criticized by civil rights groups, who said it was a disguised attempt at forcing Americans to carry a national identification card.

"Jordan is bowing to politics and to public pressure," said Jeanne Butterfield of the American Immigration Lawyers Association.

Jordan, who denied the allegations, said there currently is no way to check the immigration status of new workers as required by law. Under the current system, 29 different documents can be presented as proof of citizenship, or legal residence.

Jordan wants Texas, California, Florida, Illinois and New York to give employers access to Social Security databases. Job seekers would be asked for their Social Security numbers, and employers would check to see if the number was valid.

AG Files Immigration Suit

State Attorney General Dan Morales sued the federal government last week in an attempt to recoup $5 billion for services that officials say Texas provided to undocumented immigrants over the past six years.

Morales denied charges of "immigrant bashing," saying the lawsuit did not seek elimination of any services to immigrants. He said the suit simply asks for restitution for Texas.

Joining Texas in the lawsuit filed in U.S. District Court in Brownsville, were Dallas, Harris, and Hidalgo counties; the El Paso and La Joya school districts; and the city of Odessa.

State Jail Chief Named

Thomas A. Baker, retired commander of Bergstrom Air Force Base in Austin, was named last week as director of the new state jail division. Baker started his new job immediately.

The state jail program, which by next year will include space and rehabilitation programs for about 25,000 nonviolent inmates, is scheduled to begin Sept. 1.

Spring rains have delayed the construction of the first jail in Beaumont until at least October. But state leaders worked out a stopgap measure to house the first inmates in existing community facilities or in a partitioned area of prison.

The delay has drawn the ire of Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock, who earlier criticized the Texas Board of Criminal Justice for what he termed a lack of planning.

TDCJ executive director James "Andy" Collins said programming has been planned and construction is continuing on schedule.

By late 1995, 18 state jails are expected to be in operation.

Baker, who holds a master's degree in business administration, retired as an Air Force lieutenant general in August 1993. He has served as deputy director of operations in the Pentagon.

Super Collider Settlement

Faced with the alternative of expensive, lengthy litigation, members of the commission that oversees Texas' investment in the super collider last week approved a settlement with the U.S. Department of Energy.

Texas contributed $539 million of the more than $2 billion spent on the atom smasher and wants to recoup its losses.

The proposed settlement was approved by the National Research Laboratory and now goes to Congress for approval. It would give Texas title to the buildings and land on the collider's campus and $145 million in cash.

Texas could receive another $65 million if its plan for a cancer treatment center is approved.

But GOP gubernatorial candidate, George W. Bush, wasn't impressed with the proposed settlement.

"The state of Texas is entitled to compensation for its investment in the super collider, but it's unfortunate the state is being forced to settle for a consolation prize," Bush said.

"The only agreement to brag about would have been if Gov. Richards and President Clinton had been able to convince their fellow Democrats to keep the super collider and its Texas jobs and scientific potential alive."

Inmates P.O.'ed About Pants

Most male state prisoners don't like to pull down their pants to relieve themselves, but the new flyless version of the standard-issue white cotton pants being phased in by the Texas Department of Criminal Justice leaves them no choice.

Inmate Alan Wade Johnson, serving a life sentence for rape and robbery at the Mark Stiles Unit in Beaumont, sent a letter to Lt. Gov. Bullock, a few legislators and the media, according to a report in the Austin American-Statesman.

"You (may) crack a smile and laugh about it, but give it time to sink in and think about the consequences of over 100,000 male prisoners wearing female attire and I believe you'll understand (it's) not so funny," wrote Johnson, who urged Bullock to "consider the emotional impact of those of us who will be forced to dress like a woman."

Larry Kyle, assistant director of industry for the prison system, said the new pants, though cheaper and easier for inmates to manufacture, have resulted in an outcry, because the design is less "user-friendly."

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Don't be cruel. Are newlyweds Michael Jackson and Lisa Marie Presley-Jackson really tuning up for a duet to honor the bride's late great dad?

Pollstar says they are. The concert industry trade publication says the pair will perform together and sing at least one of Elvis Presley's songs at a musical tribute to the King planned for Oct. 8 in Memphis.

There was no word on what they might sing.

Larry Solters, a spokesman for Jackson, wouldn't comment Thursday on the report. Neither would Graceland spokesman Todd Morgan.

The newlyweds reportedly have been holed up in New York City's Trump Tower since their wedding several weeks ago.

Hidden $310 million CIA building revealed

By JIM DRINKARD
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — For four years, residents of suburban Washington have been driving past a mammoth office construction project without knowing its true purpose: headquarters for the supersecret agency that manages America's spy satellites.

But the real trick was hiding the precise nature of the $310 million project even from the congressional committees that oversee the secret budget for U.S. intelligence.

"They faced the question, How do you hide an elephant on a football field?" said Sen. Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz., chairman of the Senate Intelligence Committee. "That's what they did, and with great pride."

The existence of the four-tower, million-square-foot National Reconnaissance Office complex in the Virginia suburbs of Washington was disclosed Monday after President Clinton declassified the project.

"This is an unprecedented disclosure," said Sen. Bob Kerrey, D-Neb., a member of the Senate Intelligence Committee. "The administration is saying mistakes were made."

Central Intelligence Director

James Woolsey and Deputy Secretary of Defense John Deutch said in a joint statement they will form a team to review the project and its cost effectiveness, and find out why its existence wasn't disclosed to Congress.

They are to be among witnesses at a closed-door hearing of the Senate intelligence panel Wednesday.

DeConcini said that the new building's price tag was nearly double what his panel had been led to believe and that the CIA's intentions weren't properly disclosed when the project was being planned in the late 1980s.

The structure, five miles south of Dulles International Airport, has been under construction for nearly four years. The CIA concealed the project by disguising it as a new office building for defense contractor Rockwell International.

Congressional officials in charge of monitoring the Central Intelligence Agency and its projects knew a building was being constructed to consolidate offices of the reconnaissance agency, but were blind to its location, size and cost, DeConcini said.

The National Reconnaissance Office designs and contracts for multibillion-dollar spy satellite systems that take high-resolution pictures of intelligence targets from the sky and eavesdrop on electronic communications. Until 1992 when its existence was declassified, it was illegal for officials even to say the agency's name in public.

The new structure — roughly the size of the CIA's headquarters complex in Langley, Va. — appears far too large for the number of people who work at the reconnaissance agency, committee aides said.

Plans call for some 1,900 employees and 1,000 outside contractors who work for the agency to be housed there, but the building is designed for 3,500 people.

The project was uncovered by a committee audit, and DeConcini told Clinton about it last week during a meeting on health care, he said. The president apparently had been unaware of the project, he said.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT IS

...one of the wisest investments a community can make for itself because it attracts new industry. New industry means JOBS and GROWTH for our community.

JOBS bring more people, more businesses, more retail sales, more personal income and a much broader tax base. By supporting this vote for economic development we let others (non-residents) who shop in Hereford help pay our taxes. In addition, every new tax dollar raised as a result of job creation is a dollar of tax

YOU DON'T HAVE TO PAY!

WE NEED ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

To get it, WE NEED THE 1/2¢ SALES TAX. Based on current projections, the 1/2¢ sales tax would yield some $330,000 per year which could be used only for specific economic development projects as mandated by state law.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

How Will Economic Development Funds Be Managed?

A five member Economic Development Board will be appointed by the Hereford City Council. They will serve WITHOUT PAY. Funds can be used for:

- Business development - recruitment and retention
- Workforce development - education and training
- Infrastructure development - water & waste water, electrical and street improvements for job-related projects
- Facility development - new and existing buildings
- Loans

What Will A 1/2¢ Sales Tax Cost The Average Family?

According to the State Controller, a family with a gross income of $35,000 would pay about 98¢ more per week. The extra pennies are more than offset by savings on your property taxes.

Is This 1/2¢ Sales Tax Permanent?

Only if you, the voters, want it to be. Under state law, what voters vote in, they can vote out.

What's At Stake?

Our very future is at stake. This election is about JOBS, GROWTH, EXPANDING OUR TAX BASE, AND GETTING HEREFORD ON THE MOVE. A VOTE FOR THE 1/2¢ SALES TAX ON AUG. 13th WILL ALLOW HEREFORD TO COMPETE, AND HELP SECURE A BRIGHTER FUTURE THAT WILL BENEFIT US ALL.

Will All Purchases Be Affected By The 1/2¢ Sales Tax?
NO! A city sales tax does not affect most essentials. You pay no sales tax on medical services, prescription drugs, most food products, rents, mortgages, gasoline, automobiles, or agriculture items which are exempt.
