Bullington To Speak In Ranger

PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE with BILL MAYES

Spent all our time we should have been seeking a knothole through which we could peep looking up pictures of the players on the Ranger Junior College Texas Rangers, who are to play the Cisco Loboes at Lillard field on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

We found pictures of most of the probable starters, but could not find one or two, so we are going to run the ones we found and let the fans go out and get a personal view of the others. Which we hope is more or less satisfactory and we also hope that those whose pictures do not appear in today's paper will not feel in the least slighted.

We notice by reports from Sweetwater that Red Sheridan is eligible to play football today, if he can manage to get into a game today.

Sheridan was declared ineligible Saturday and Wednesday the case was reversed and remanded, or something, and he is again eligible. Glenn Wyatt, who played on the same team with Sheridan back in 1928, has also been declared eligible to play with the Abilene Eagles.

As far as we could make out in the donkey polo game, played in Ranger last night just as dusk was falling, the score was something like this:

Donkeys 4, Riders 2.

Sam Gamble announced the score as being two to one in favor of the Rotarians, whom he said won over the Lions. We based our estimate of the score on the fact that Edwin George Jr. "Andy" Anderson, Si Golden, Rip Galloway and Charlie Moore were bucked off by the donkeys and Roy Gilbreath, Dr. Kuykendall, Hall Walker and Lew Waid managed to stay on their mounts.

We missed part of the game, however, and there might have been more who bit the dust and more who remained on their mounts. We hope the game gets started on time Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock so we can see all of it, eat our supper, dinner to you, and get back to work on time.

We have heard some criticism on the fact that the Eastland Mavericks got more space in the Ranger Times than did the Ranger Bulldogs in the reports of the games played this past week-end. That is easily explained. Eastland played at Fort Worth on Friday and Jo Carroll of Eastland, who attended the game, had an opportunity to write it up and send it over to us, Ranger played at Amarillo, something like 400 miles away, on Saturday. The game was not over until nearly 6 o'clock and we had to get the story by telegraph from Amarillo. The wire toll on the Amarillo game was more than a trip to Fort Worth would have cost and it was too expensive for the paper to pay more for the story and get more in.

Fans can readily see that we went to considerable expense to get the story for them and that it was necessarily shorter than one we could have written if we could have gone to the game personally and brought the story back with us.

Those who think Ranger was slighted might be more lenient in the face of these facts. At least we hope so.

To Speak Tonight

Orville Bullington, Republican candidate for Governor of Texas, who will speak in Eastland at 5 o'clock and Ranger at 7:30 in the interest of his candidacy.

CANDIDATE TO GIVE VIEWS ON OIL QUESTION

Large Crowd Anticipated With Many Oil Men To Be Present.

Hon. Orville Bullington, republican candidate for governor of Texas, will speak tonight in Ranger, after making a short address before the voters of Eastland at 5 o'clock.

Arrangements have been made to provide a speaking stand for the candidate and a large crowd is anticipated.

Dr. Harry A. Logsdon has been appointed by the city commission to introduce the speaker because of the illness of Mayor John Thurman.

A short band concert and a pep rally by the Ranger high school pep squad will precede the speaking, which is scheduled to start at 7:30.

The candidate was forced to cancel part of his speaking itinerary the early part of the week because of the serious illness of his mother, but announcement was made Wednesday that he would leave Weatherford early this morning, speaking at Anson, Stamford, Albany, Baird, Putnam, Cisco and Eastland before arriving in Ranger for the principal address of the day.

Henry Zweifel, campaign manager for Bullington, has announced that the speaker will bring up the oil question for the first time in Ranger tonight, giving his views on the situation and the way in which he thinks it should be handled for them to the best ability of everyone concerned. A number of prominent oil men from Fort Worth and other parts of the state have announced that they will be present at the speaking at Ranger tonight in order to get a clear insight on Bullington's proposed oil policy. They will be headed by Henry Zweifel, according to the announcement.

The speaker has advocated some important economies in the operation of the state government, which should prove of interest to all who have heard him in his present campaign. He expressed himself, Wednesday, as being well pleased with the reception he has received in his tour through the northwestern portion of the state, where he has been received by large crowds which have showed interest in his campaign talks.

Two-Year Search For Woman May Be Near An End

By United Press.

DALLAS, Oct. 6.—A two-year nation-wide search for a young and pretty Memphis, Tenn., society matron, today turned toward Dallas as county authorities worked on the theory that a young amnesia victim, found here last month, may be Mrs. Blythe Thompson Long.

The Memphis woman disappeared mysteriously from the Tennessee city in January, 1931, only two months after a son was born to her.

Now confined in a mental institution at Terrell, Texas, the woman found here has repeatedly cried to have her baby brought to her. When questioned in September by local authorities, she said she had come here from Memphis.

Coupe Hits Train; No One Is Injured

A coupe driven by Dick Barkley ran into a Texas & Pacific passenger train at the Main street crossing, according to a report made this morning by the Ranger police department.

Barkley, with two other men in the car, had halted at the crossing for an east-bound passenger train to pass the crossing. Evidently his foot slipped from the clutch, for the car moved forward, the front bumper catching on the journal of the third coach.

The car was dragged for a distance of approximately 40 yards before the train could be halted. No injuries were received in the accident and only slight damage was done to the car.

Fire Destroys a Home In Ranger

Fire which broke out about 7:30 Wednesday night completely destroyed the home of Tom Bridges on the outskirts of Ranger, according to a report from the Ranger fire department.

The fire had gained such headway before the alarm was turned in that it was impossible for the firemen to save the building. The house was located at the edge of the city limits, southwest of town.

RANGER FREE CARNIVAL OFF TO GOOD START

Ranger's Trades Carnival got off to a good start Wednesday afternoon with the Ranger Times' cooking school, at which there were 300 ladies present.

About the time the cooking school started for the ladies a big rodeo was being staged in the Sig Faircloth arena on the Strawn highway, at which another good crowd was present.

In the evening the celebration started off with a donkey polo match between the Ranger Rotary and Lions clubs in which there were many spills and much fun for both the contestants and the spectators. Another match is to be played Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock between the winning Rotary club team and a team from Eastland. The score in the game Wednesday was announced as Rotary 2, Lions 1.

All the concessions had a good business Wednesday night, considering it was the opening night and all were pleased with the results. The Elks took in some money at their two concessions, all of which, over the percentage going to the carnival expense, will go into the charity fund of the club, as will the proceeds from many of the other concessions.

The Lions ducking stool came in for considerable amusement and fun for the spectators. Those ducked were Al Larson, Clyde Davis, Lee Killingsworth, Hal Hunter, Roy Gilbreath, Bill Claridy and Charlie Moore.

The Rotary booth did a good business, but is preparing for an even bigger play tonight, as are the other concessions.

The evenings entertainment was filled out by a concert by the Lone Star band, wtih A. J. Campbell directing. This band furnished the music for the night and will play again on Friday night.

The boxing bouts kept the crowd on hand until after 10 o'clock, when the concessions were again given a run before the crowd left the grounds.

The program for tonight and tomorrow will be found on another portion of the front page of todays issue of the paper.

"The Kingfish" Is a Crooner!

Senator Huey "Kingfish" Long has turned crooner. Here he is lifting his voice as he leads the Louisiana State University band. The senator took time out from his Democratic campaigning to wave his baton at Baton Rouge. The bandsmen wanted to play "Lazy Day," but Long insisted they weren't, so the senator crooned his favorite, "Shine On, Harvest Moon."

Co-Workers Club Has Exhibit At Killingsworth, Cox

The Co-Workers Home Demonstration club of Ranger, assisted by Miss Ruth Ramey, home demonstration agent of Eastland county, has installed an interesting display in the Killingsworth, Cox hardware store.

The display shows the main demonstrations of the year carried out by the club, including pantry, garden, bedroom, and yard improvement sponsored by the club during the past year. In addition a display of gift suggestions as to what could be made at home without cost, has been arranged.

Miss Ramey stated Wednesday afternoon, after the display had been put in, that the Ranger club was one of the most active in the county, having 26 members. More than 17,000 cans of food have been put up by the club members this year, and the club recently won a prize at the county demonstration meeting for the best report of rural club work.

There are 16 home demonstration clubs with a total membership of 325 ladies in the county and eight girls' clubs with a membership of 110, all of which are under the supervision and direction of Miss Ramey.

In addition to the other activities of the Co-Workers club, more representatives were sent to the A. & M. short course this summer by this club than by any other club in the county. This was made possible through the co-operation of the civic clubs of Ranger and the merchants of the town, Miss Ramey said.

Bulldogs To Play Central Friday At Fort Worth

Ranger's Bulldogs will leave Friday morning for their second game of the season, when they take on the strong Central High School Panthers of Fort Worth.

Injuries and illness will force Coach Eck Curtis to place a more or less makeshift team on the field, while reports from Fort Worth indicate that the Central team is more powerful than the one which defeated Ranger 24 to 12 in Ranger last year.

The Ranger high school band will make the trip to Fort Worth with the team.

SAYS SHE DOES NOT FEEL SHE IS CALLED TO

Will Await Action By The Civil Court Before Writing Ballot.

By United Press.

AUSTIN, Oct. 6.—Mrs. Jane Y. McCallum, secretary of state, issued a statement today saying that she does not feel called upon to certify the nomination of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson for governor while an appeal is pending from the district court decision denying Governor R. S. Sterling's election contest.

Attorneys for Gov. Sterling, shortly before noon today, filed an appeal bond for $1500 in district court to assure costs and perfect appeal of the contest to the court of civil appeals.

Mrs. McCallum declared "I fail to see wherein the secretary of state has any duty to perform in connection with certifying a gubernatorial democratic candidate for the Nov. election while an appeal to the court of civil appeals is pending."

"In answer to the motion now before the supreme court to file a petition to mandamus me to certify Mrs. Ferguson as the nominee, I asked to be advised by that honorable body and I now await their decision in the matter."

By United Press.

LAREDO, Oct. 6.—Declaring, "no man will be allowed to defame the honor of Webb county with impunit" District Attorney John A. Valls announced today former Governor James E. Ferguson will be summoned before a grand jury and asked to substantiate his allegations that votes were illegally cast here in the democratic run-off contest.

By United Press.

SAN ANGELO, Oct. 6.—Ballots cast in Tom Green county in the Aug. 27 runoff primary were illegal, it was believed here today, because the pledge to support the nominee was omitted.

The discovery apparently supports the contention of Mrs. Ferguson that illegal votes were cast in this county.

A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

THE LORD SUSTAINS: They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength: they shall mount up with wings as eagles: they shall run and not be weary: and they shall walk, and not faint.—40: 31.

"A GENTLEMAN OF THE OLD SOUTH"

John Sharp Williams passed out of the picture at his famous plantation home in old Mississippi. He was born in 1856. He was the last of the really great democrats of Mississippi. He was known as a scholar and a gentleman and the scion of a long line of Southern planters. He was educated in the historic universities of the ne wand the old world. He entered upon a political career in the closing days of reconstruction in the Old South. He was for many years a congressional representative; he was sent by his people from the house to the senate of the United States. He was one of the last of the "old school democrats of the Southland." He was not only a distinguished lawyer and planter, but he was one of the famous orators or debaters and scholars of the American congress.

He lived and died an undaunted champion of the federal constitution as it was drafted and adopted by the fathers o rmakers of the republic. He retired from public life in 1923. He had been the close personal and political friend of Woodrow Wilson. As a statesman and thinker and senator he was an eloquent champion of the league of nations and fought for tis ratification. After a long and brilliant career he declared that he would rather be a dog baying at the moon away down on the plantation than to continue a member of the senate with the passing of the old and the coming of the new political social order and system and methods of government. He kept his word. He retired of his own volition. He spent the remainder of his days away down on the plantatoin where an aristocratic grandmother had watched over him from early childhood and then started him on his career as a scholar and orator and statesman of the ancient southern type before the coming of the downfall of the planters' erpublic and the extinction of chattel slavery under American skies.

A warrior bold who never turned his back on a foeman, avoided debate with a rival, or hedged on an issue of importance to the peopl, he was as gentle as a woman and one of the most generous of men. Joseph Weldon Bailey was not "The Last Democrat" to pass out of the picture. His friend and admirer of a lifetime, John Sharp Williams, was the last of the old type democratic leaders of the South to close his eyes in sleep in order that his knightly soul should take flight across the "Great Divide."

GREAT MEN AND THEIR POLITICAL MOVEMENTS

America has three distinguished as well as outstanding citizens who are men of many political moods. Senator Borah of Idaho has a clear alibi for his latest. Mrs. Borah has parrot fever. Latest advice from Idaho is that her recovery is due in the very near future. Alfred E. Smith has not made preparations or arrangements for a political speech in the near future. He does not know when he is going to make a speech. He is the editor of The Outlook. Away back in the dead years Henry Ward Beecher was editor of The Outlook. Years after the passing of the famous pulpit orator and writer, Theodore Roosevelt was the editor of The Outlook. Again after a lapse of years the Happy Warrior became the editor of The Outlook. A very busy man is Alfred E. Smith. He is said to be one of the chief promoters of a huge project to dismantle the slums of the East Side and substtiute for the unsightly tenements modern homes or apartments for the toilers, white collar men and others of his native city. Last but not least, Washington correspondents declared that President Hoover would journey to Des Moines not far from the town where he first saw the light for a heart to heart talk with the people of his native state.

A REMINDER FOR THE LADIES

A famous English scientists has reminded the feminine world that women have one less way of concealing their age. Eyebrows and eyelashes will give away the secret. Most women have one kind of eyebrows and most men another. About 70 per cent of the women have even eyebrows while among men about 71 per cent have the double type. Hence woman, not man, "was made to mourn." Isn't science great?

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

F. G. CRAMER, president of the Cramer-Krasselt Company, of Milwaukee, says:

THAT under this changed order of things, a manufacturer has more than the task of creating his products physically. He must make them live in the public mind. This mental property of public acceptance is crucial to success today. Without it no industry, company or product can endure the eliminating processes going on.

The manufacturer of a product capable of answering a need n such a manner as to prdouce greater comfort, convenience, freedom from labor or disease, or one that adds to the joys of living, has a distinct obligation to make that product known to the public. So long as he does not advertise, he is cheating the public and thereby cheating himself.

Newspaper advertising is a preferred instrument to use in building public recognition. From every standpoint—whether in offsetitng competition; increasing the flow of demand; creating awareness to new uses or appliances; making it easeir for deaelrs and salesmen to sell; winning employee allegiance; correcting seasonal lulls—newspaper advertising has become an indispensable, tangible, profitable investment providing control over trends that might otherwise be ruinous to an industry or any of its component parts.

Eastland To Play D. B. C. Fish on Saturday, 3 p. m.

Coach Joe Gibson of the Eastland Mavericks announced today that the Eastland high school would play the Daniel Baker college freshmen from Brownwood at Maverick field, Eastland, on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The game was set for Saturday instead of Friday in order that it might not conflict with the Ranger Junior College-Cisco Lobo game to be played in Ranger Friday, Coach Gibson said in making the announcement.

The game Saturday will be the second game of the season for the Mavericks this year and the second time in recent years in which the Mavericks and the Daniel Baker freshmen have played.

In 1931 the Mavericks played the freshmen from the Brownwood college at Eastland in the third game of the season for the Mavericks and won by a score of 7 to 0. Both are rated to be somewhat better than the teams that played last year and an equally good game is anticipated Saturday when the two clash.

Eastland is the only team in the Oil Belt to play a class A high school team this year without suffering a defeat. Abilene was defeated by Sweetwater by a score of 20 to 0; Ranger went down in defeat before the Amarillo Sandies 13 to 0, while Eastland drew a draw, a 12 to 12 tie, with Polytechnic High of Fort Worth, in their first game, losing on account of a foul on the part of one of the Eastland players in the last quarter.

New Classroom Style At Exeter

By United Press.

EXETER, N. H.—The new type of classroom at Phillips Exeter academy, one of the country's most famous preparatory schools for boys, looks more like the directors' room of a big business corporation.

The students, averaging about a dozen to each classroom, sit in big, comfortable chairs, around a table. The instructor sits nearby at a small desk—on a level with the students, not on the traditional elevated platform.

Dr. Lewis Perry, principal of Exeter, decided upon the new teaching plan as the best method of utilizing the substantial gift which Edward S. Harkness made the academy two years ago.

By increasing the teaching staff without increasing the size of the student body, the class divisions have been made so small that teacher and students engage in a study conference, or discussion, rather than stiff, formal lectures and recitations. The plan also permits the grouping of students according to their abilities.

One of the advantages of the new study plan is the ease and propriety with which illustrative material can be introduced into recitations.

The Exeter plan will be effective within three years a total of 25 new teachers have been added.

RAW FURY

"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by Meissonier's famous painting (1855)... inspired by the savage passion held in check by Henry IV's stern edict against duels among the nobles of his court.

Copr., 1932, The American Tobacco Co.

—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes

They are not present in Luckies
. . . the mildest cigarette
you ever smoked

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

"It's toasted"
That package of mild Luckies

"If a man write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mouse-trap than his neighbor, tho he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door."—RALPH WALDO EMERSON.
Does not this explain the world-wide acceptance and approval of Lucky Strike?

From the Office of the County Agent and Home Demonstration Agent

Winners of the free trips to the State Fair Educational encampment for members of Boys' 4-H clubs from Eastland county are Roy Bennett, Flatwoods; Alvis Woods, Grandview; Paul Davis, Alamo'a and Herman Dunlap of Cheaney for the county club. Trips were awarded for the best reports and achievement on club work. The winners will leave Eastland next Monday and will be the guests of the State Fair for three days. Transportation is provided by the Texas & Pacific Railway through Mr. Ollie B. Webb, assistant to the president. In making this offer of free tickets to four boys and four girls Mr. Webb states: "The T. & P. is trying in every way it can, even in these stressful times, to aid in developing the territory it serves. The agricultural education of these winning youngsters, the enlargement of their vision, the challenging of their own initiative and creative abilty, which seeing and handling of fine things other youngsters have done over the state encourages, is of vital importance to the future of Texas. In this development we of the Texas & Pacific are happy to have a part."

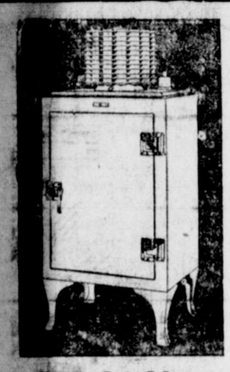

Inspection of sweet potato patches by F. D. Lown of Texas Department of Agriculture, is being made in the county this week. Fields found free from disease and insect pests will be certified so that growers may sell seed and plants within the law. Growers who have not applied for inspection may get this service at no cost by applying to the county agent or vocational teachers. Mr. Lown will make a return visit to the county in about two weeks to take care of late requests for inspection service. Since there is no cost for this service every potato grower should have his crop examined for his own benefit so that his own seed selections may be free of pests.

E. M. Howard of Rising Star County Agent Patterson attended a committee meeting in Austin Monday called for the purpose of making plans for a pecan exhibit in the Texas building at the World's Fair in Chicago next year. This committee is working in conjunction with the Governors World Fair Commission.

It was decided to issue a call to Texas pecan growers for one pound samples of improved varieties of pecans and two pound samples of the best seedling varieties for use in this display. Two pounds of native varieties were requested in order that one pound might be delivered to the A. & M. college for analysis to determine which were worthy of propogation for the recognition of new varieties. Samples are to be delivered to county agents in the respective pecan counties or sent direct to J. F. Rosborough Extension Service, College Station, Texas. The object of the World's Fair Pecan Exhibit is to bring to the attention of the millions, who will view the display, the superior eating qualities of Texas pecans in an effort to increase consumption of this King of Nuts.

The National Pecan Show is to be held in Rising Star Nov. 18 and 19 and pecan samples from this section are to be accumulated in this fair and later sent in to be consolidated with the state exhibit. Eastland county growers are urged by the county agent to begin selecting their exhibits now. There are many trees producing fine quality of seedling pecans which should be tested to determine their real worth for commercial propagation, two-quart samples of these should be selected for exhibition and testing. A small promium list is being prepared for the Rising Star Show. Each improved variety will show separately and natives are to be judges according to size, cracking quality, shelling percentage, etc. The Rising Star show is open to the nation. A two days program will be held in connection.

Teachers of vocational agriculture throughout the pecan belt have been asked to cooperate in the collection of the exhibit samples.

THE FERGUSONS—MA AND JIM

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN.—The idea that a state might have a woman governor was born on a baggage truck at the little railroad station at Lometa, Lampasas county.

"Governor Jim" had spoken at a country fair at San Saba. Will Cowan, San Saba editor and Ed House, chamber of commerce secretary, had driven him and T. H. McGregor, another speaker to Lometa to catch the train.

Ferguson was sitting on the baggage truck apparently in deep thought. He had received a wonderful reception at the Fair. In it he apparently saw a ray of light. Suddenly turning to McGregor he asked:

"What do you think about my wife running for governor?"

"I've heard of a man running a grocery store in his wife's name. I guess this could be done, too," answered McGregor. "Do you think you can get her to do it?"

"I believe so," said Ferguson.

Shortly after, Texas and the whole country was startled with the announcement of Mrs. Ferguson for governor and her "vindication" campaign.

Much water had passed over the political wheel, meantime.

The Senate verdict sustaining impeachment had been given Sept. 25, 1917. Ferguson and his family returned to Temple. On Nov. 8, there, was issued Vol. 1 No. 1 of the Ferguson Forum, with James E. Ferguson as editor.

Its leading article was a copy of his university appropriation veto.

Its purpose, the salutatory announced, was to fight the newspapers which he accused of failure to deal fairly with him in his impeachment.

The war-heat had given wide spread to a report that the $156,000 whose source Ferguson refused to reveal came from the Kaiser.

Ferguson issued a denial, but still refused to disclose the source. Then came federal court litigation in which the contributors themselves gave the information.

The Forum appeared with the heading "Two Hundred Thousand Liars Running Loose in Texas" and reproduced the information of that hearing.

Defying the Senate verdict that he never again hold office, Ferguson announced as a candidate for the Democratic nomination on April 6, 1918. Talk of barring his candiddacy was rife but on June 10 the State Democratic executive committee voted 26 to 3 to put his name on the ballot.

Governor Hobby, who had stepped into executive office, from lieutenant governor when Ferguson, was impeached also announced his candidacy. Statutory woman suffrage was enacted. There was no time for women to comply with the provision requiring payment of a state poll tax in January to qualify as a voter, so the poll tax payment was waived for them and the polls opened to all women of voting age. Governor Hobby won the election 461,479 to 217,012. Ferguson assented 320,000 women voted and that only 20,000 of them supported him.

June 12, 1919 the Forum came out for "Joe Bailey for President."

Aug. 14, 1919, the "American Party" was born at a meeting at the "Byers Opera House" then Fort Worth's leading playhouse. Senator Bailey, John Mathis of Houston and W. P. Sebastian of Breckenridge were among the speakers. Ferguson was vigorous in its support and defended the right to form a new party.

"Jesus Christ founded a new party. Martin Luther founded a new party. George Washington founded a new party. Thomas Jefferson founded a new party," said the Forum editor.

By December the late Senator Bailey's enthusiasm for the American party had cooled. He decided to remain in the Democratic party and later ran for the Democratic nomination against Gov. Pat M. Neff—his last political race.

Farming still held Ferguson's interest and his Bosque ranch divided time with the editorial sanctum. Jim tried tractors. Apparently he had trouble for the Forum in an issue forewent the usual political broadside as its main front page display and in its usual place offered the tractors for sale.

"Back to the mule for me," said the announcement. "A $40 hand can take a whip and get a spark every time he turns her over. No sweat. No cussing. No bad temper."

On Feb. 12, 1920, the Forum discussed, "If I should run for President."

On April 12, he announced.

On April 29 the Forum described "Running for President." "Well sir, it is a real sensation and don't you forget it," was the opening.

"Smile Dam You Smile," was the headline after it was over and the American Party in Texas had polled 47,963 votes.

While Ferguson called attention to this and also claimed credit for the American party in replacing democratic Congressman Carlos Bee of San Antonio with a Republican, Bee, as a state Senator has voted to remove Ferguson at the impeachment trial.

In 1922, Ferguson was back in the Democratic party. Why he came back was detailed in a long Forum article in March of that year. In addition to other reasons Ferguson vited that a Democratic state senate had voted to hang his picture as Governor in the state capitol.

Precedent for leaving the party was set out, Sam Houston, he pointed out, has been a candidate for president in 1860 had defeated the Democratic nominee for governor.

Back in the party, Ferguson announced as a candidate for United States senator. It was held a federal not state office and so not affected by the impeachment verdict bar. In the first primary Ferguson ran second with Earle B. Mayfield, but ahead of Senator C. A. Culberson, and Cullen F. Thomas, a relative by marriage of Senator Morris Sheppard. In the run-off Mayfield defeated Ferguson 273,308 to 228,701.

One of the instances of queer bedfellowship produced by politics was then witnessed. George E. B. Peddy, Houston lawyer and the same "man in U. S. Soldier uniform" who led the parading Universtiy of Texas students to Governor Ferguson's office, was put out by the Republicans as a coalition candidate against Mayfield. Ferguson supported Peddy. Later he declared this was not a bolt, that legality of Mayfield's nomination had not been shown. Mayfield beat Peddy 264,260 to 130,744. In June, 1924, the supreme court upheld an injunction against Ferguson's proposed state candidacy.

Miss Allen Gives Many New and Delightful Recipes At Cooking School

Don't you think the recipes Miss Allen has given thus far are very delicious and different? With the looming of the winter holidays—Thanksgiving and many other events, these recipes no doubt will prove a personal delight to the housewife who really makes cooking an art, and gives thorough consideration to the balance of meals and the variety.

The school was enjoyed to the nth degree Wednesday afternoon for the well-given demonstration and its surroundings made more cheerful and colorful by the gorgeous flowers furnished by the Ranger Floral company, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Surbrook, 705 Blundell street.

These baskets of beautiful blossoms were cut from the exceptionally well-equipped gardens which are impossible to describe. A basket of pink dalias entwined with feathery fern was viewed with admiration as was a basket of mixed flowers, displaying perfect blossoms of velvety petals. You are cordially invited to visit the floral company, and before leaving ask Mr. and Mrs. Surbrook, to take you through the garden, which could well be called Sunken Garden of Paradise, the only garden which Ranger can truly boast of. A city twice the size of our own could justly be more proud of this perfectly and modernly arranged floral home.

The auditorium is made attractive through displays furnished by the cooperating merchants. Paints and varnishes are demonstrated by Burton-Lingo and Pickering Lumber companies who together are adding interest to the school through a contest, "Why You Should Remodel Your Home Now."

The kitchen is equipped with all well-tested appliances by Montgomery Ward & Co., Killingsworth, Cox & Co., Texas-Louisiana Power company and William N. McDonald, and Texas Electric company.

Killingsworth, Cox & Co. also adds another attractive feature by displaying Voss washing machine and the Eureka De Luxe vacuum cleaner.

J. C. Penney company shows how the housewife may always be neat and give a good appearance at all times by wearing their two-for-$1.00 house dresses. A set of pretty silverware to be given away Friday afternoon at the close of the demonstration is included in the effective arranged displays.

Gold Chain flour certainly has proven its worth during some period of each day not only at the school but in Ranger homes.

The capable work done by the Ranger Steam Laundry, managed by A. J. Thrower, at reasonabily low prices was emphasized this afternoon by Miss Allen, who brought out the fine features of this laundry.

The length of time and pleasure one gets out of clothes depends very largely on who and where they are cared for and with what methods. This was demonstrated at the session this afternoon by a garment cleaned at either the Ranger Dry Cleaners, Bill's Dry Cleaning Plant or Rogers Modern Dry Cleaners. All three plants have been operating in Ranger for several years and have the support of those who know when garments are cared for in the proper manner.

K. C. baking powders and Mc Inhanneys tobasco sauce have played no small part in the baking and serving of these delicious foods.

Meats, the meal's foundation, are bought each day from "M" System Grocery and Market, recognized for their choice cuts of all kinds of meats.

Milk furnished daily from clean and modern Oakwood Jersey Dairy gains in popularity and true appreciation. Visit this place, you will enjoying visting such a sanitary dairy.

Shoes one or perhaps the most highly observed part of any woman's wardrobe and no doubt the first to be observed in the home, on the street or at any occasion, are being impressively demonstrated by Miss Allen. These shoes are furnished and sold at Joseph Dry Goods company. Oh, yes, last but least, they are Enna Jettick.

Hose, the sheer, full-fashioned, popular colors for fall are to be found in all sizes and pleasing prices at Hassen company.

Yesterday, the expert demonstrator cooked the following menu to the delight of a large group of ladies, many from out-of-town:

Rolled plate roast.
Noodle rings.
Apple pie.
Pumpkin pie for Thanksgiving, so closely approaching.

Rolled Plate Roast

One cup chopped bacon, with 3 medium sized pickles, and add 1 teaspoon of mustard, together with 1 cup of chopped onions. Spread bacon, mustard, onions on roast and roll, finish by tieing with string to hold firm. Brown well and bake two hours. Just as roast is placed in oven add fourth cup of water to prevent dryness.

The noodle rings, a beautiful dish and one you would love to serve to company may be deliciously prepared by using one box of large bread noodles, and boil in water with a little salt, added according to your own personal taste. Boil rapidly for 15 minutes and stir one cup of milk with four egg yolks beaten well, two tablespoon butter and one teaspoon of salt. Finish by folding in four egg whites beaten until stiff. Grease ring-mold well to prevent sticking and cook 30 minutes.

Apple Pie

One cup sugar with half cup water and boil four minutes. Peel four apples in even-sized slices and place over pie crust, allowed to extend one inch over pan. Dust cinnamon over apples and add well-boiled syrup. Place thin crust over top of apples and spice and finish with folding the one inch crust back over pie top to present pretty and different edge of crust.

Pumpkin Pie

Pumpkin pie, the favored pie for winter, will be more tasty and delicious than if you will try at an early date this recipe:

One cup of pumpkin, half cup of sugar, 2 egg yolks added with half cup of sweet milk, half teaspoon of salt and two tablespoons of sliced butter added with cinnamon, all-spice or cloves; 12 marshmellows, fourth cup chopped pecans and two egg whites. Beat egg yolks and add sugar and milk. After crust is baked place marshmellows and nuts and allow to brown well.

Before the hour is brought to a close prizes are given each afternoon furnished by the merchants who have made this school possible for you.

While here Miss Allen is more than pleased with the completely equipped Graziola Beauty Shoppe, where all of her work is being done.

Eight o'Clock coffee, sold at the A. & P. Tea company, is served and was made more of a favorite yesterday through the serving of cakes made at the McGehee Bakery, where bread, pies, cakes, and just anything in the line of pastery is better than anywhere else.

Friday afternoon the general selection of prizes will be given together with the feature prizes, a set of silverware offered by J. C. Penney company, and a lamb by Killingsworth, Cox & Co.

Each afternoon theatre tickets have been furnished by B. E. (Bran) Garner, owner of the Columbia Theatre, and Lew Waid, manager of the Arcadia Theatre. Several husband friends or sweethearts have been complimented this week and have enjoyed favorite pictures at these two theatres.

Miss Ramey To Give Tomato And Candied Orange Peel Demonstration.

Miss Ruth Ramey has arranged to meet with the Co-Workers Home Demonstration Club on the afternoon of Oct. 25th, at the home of Mrs. Fred Drienhofer, Breckenridge highway.

The purpose for the presence of this wonderful demonstrator will be to give a demonstration of tomato cake and orange peel.

Through the successful efforts of the club together with the highly prized suggestions made by Miss Ramey, the Ranger rural club was winner of first place at the County Federation of Home Demonstration clubs which held a meeting of unusual interest at Bass Lake, last Saturday.

Mrs. Drienhofer, Miss Reager, Mrs. Jack Blackwell, Mrs. Lewis Pitcock, and son, Mrs. Lillian Neal Eastland, composed the delegates from the Ranger club.

District Council of P.-T. A. And Study Clubs To Be Invited To Ranger.

The County-Council of Parent-Teachers and Child Study Club associations, held the opening programs for the new study season Wednesday afternoon in room No. 21 of the Ranger high school.

Season's greetings were offered to the enthusiastic and eager attendance of members by the ever-capable and charming Mrs. R. F. Holloway, one of Ranger's most highly respected and beloved citizens.

After so touching and beautifully expressed welcome, the remainder of the program could not have been other than successful from every standpoint.

A complete and very carefully outlined program for the year's work was given by Mrs. Homer Smith, whose efforts have been polished into remarkable successful projects.

Mrs. J. S. Reynolds, president of Hodges Oak Park P.-T. A., whose widea-wake leadership and well balanced plans are suggesting one of the most interesting years since the opening of the school, gave a paper, "Ethics of Money Raising."

Mrs. C. E. Maddocks, president of the association, presided over the business session. Mrs. Reynolds was elected delegate to the convention which will be held at Galveston in November.

It was voted and agreeably decided to invite the district council to be special guests of the local club in April. When all details are completed by the well-informed committees for such occasions, this will come as one of the biggest events listed in spring happenings for 1933.

The meeting was a pleasing success and the future outlook for a successful work is indeed inspiring.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY
NEA Service Writer

QUINCES are usually the last call for fall canning and are an inexpensive fruit to work up because a little goes a long way. So if you find your preserve shelf a little bare, try some of the quince goodies and fill up the empty spaces.

Plain canned quinces make delicious salads for winter menus. Quince chips, quince honey and quince marmalade are all good and deserving a place in the preserve cupboard.

Canned Quinces for Salads

Wash fruit. Dip in boiling water and let stand five minutes. Plunge at once into cold water and drain. Pare, cut in halves or quarters and remove cores. Pack in sterilized jars, adjust rubbers, pour over medium strup and half seal. Process for 40 minutes in hot water bath or 10 minutes at 15 pounds pressure in steam preserve cooker.

Quince Chips

Six pounds quinces, 10 cups granulated sugar, ½ pound crystalized ginger, 3 lemons.

Pare and cut quinces in thin slices, removing cores. Wash lemons and cut in thin slices, removing seeds and as much of the connecting tissue as possible. Mince ginger. Cover quinces with water and cook until water is evaporated. Add lemon, sugar and ginger and cook until mixture is thick. Pour into jelly glasses and cover with paraffin.

Quince Marmalade

Three pounds quinces, 1½ pounds apples, 2 cups sweet cider, sugar.

Pare, quarter and core apples and quinces. Put into a baking dish with cider, cover and bake in a slow oven until fruit is tender. Add water as necessary. The cider will thicken and be absorbed and the mixture must be kept moist enough to prevent burning until tender. When tender measure and add one cup of sugar to each cup of fruit. Cook, stirring constantly, until thick and jelly-like. Pour into sterilized jelly glasses and cover with paraffin.

Quince Honey

Quince honey is delicious with hot buttered toast for tea or with baking powder biscuits on a cold winter day.

Pare and core quinces. Grate or put through fine knife of food chopper. To three cups of chopped quince add one cup of water and cook until tender. Slowly stir in four cups of granulated sugar and cook 15 or 20 minutes. Pour into sterilized jars and seal [illegible]

RANGERS-LOBO TILT FRIDAY

SWEENEY TO REFEREE FIRST GAME OF YEAR

Both Teams Ready For the Clash At 3:00 Friday Afternoon.

Coach Tricky Ward's Texas Rangers and Coach "Bull" Elkins' Cisco Loboes are all primed and ready for the first football classic of the local season, according to word received from the two football camps.

The two teams will play on Lillard field Friday afternoon, beginning promptly at 3 o'clock.

Arrangements have been made to have Monroe Sweeney, most popular referee ever to call a football game in the Oil Belt, will be on hand to referee the game between the two teams. Coach Brothers of Eastland will act as umpire and Curley of Strawn will be head linesman.

Word was received in Ranger by long distance this morning that the jerseys for the Rangers' uniforms had been shipped from Dallas this morning and that they would be on hand in time for the game Friday. Coach Ward said today that numbers for his men had already been allotted and the jerseys would be issued as soon as they arrived tomorrow.

Although a tentative line-up has been made out by Coach Ward, some changes might be made before game time, though none was expected, he said. The line-up has already been printed.

This being the first game of the season and the first game for the Junior college team, a large crowd is expected to be present when the whistle blows Friday afternoon. Fans of the city have been urged to buy tickets not only because a good game is expected, but because the proceeds will go toward paying for the new uniforms and if enough money is taken in the piedes made by the fans will probably not be collected.

The Loboes are rated, this year, as one of the outstanding teams in the district and one likely to be near the top of the percentage column if allowed to participate in Oil Belt high school football.

The Rangers, though untried as yet, are rated as a good, fast, junior college team that will be equal to the task assigned them tomorrow. Predictions have been that the teams will be evenly matched. Though the Rangers will outweigh Cisco at some positions, the fact that many of the players are lettermen who played on the team last year partly eliminates the weight handicap.

Heir To Estate of Unknown Son

By United Press.

BOONVILLE, Ind.—An 80-year-old Warrick county resident living near here has received $676.10 from the estate of a son of whose existence he was unaware.

The father, William Thomas Early received the money as the result of a decision of the Warick circuit court against the state of Indiana. The money had been claimed by the secretary of state after the administrators failed to find heirs in a two-year search.

Early filed the suit against the state last spring after he had received $9,846.4 from the federal government in payment of an army insurance policy carried by his son, Melvin Osborne Early, who died at Fort Bayard, N. M.

Early was married to Liddie Contry in 1886, but separated from her a few months later. She went to the county infirmary, where the son was born. Mrs. Contry died a few years later. The son joined the army in 1906. No more was heard of him until his death.

The father, who did not know a son had been born to his former wife, learned of his existence through a coincidence after Charles E. Powell, local banker, was named administrator, but had failed to find heirs to the estate. Powell chanced to learn of Earlys' relation to the soldier and assisted in collection of the money.

SPEAKING of SPORTS

By STUART CAMERON,
United Press Sports Editor.

Third Sharkey-Schmeling Contest Due Next June.

The resounding victory scored by Max Schmeling over chubby Mickey Walker virtually assured a third meeting of Schmeling and the present champion, Jack Sharkey.

Of course it's possible that Sharkey and his chief handler, Johnny Buckley, will find a way to give Schmeling the good, old run-round, but it will be to their everlasting fistic disgrace if they do.

After all, there have been two unsatisfactory Sharkey-Schmeling fights. The first ended in a foul victory for Schmeling after having been punched all over the ring until the low blow came.

Then, last June, almost exactly two years after the first fight, they met again. Schmeling, according to this writer and most all others, was badly jobbed when the decision was given to Sharkey.

The writer knows that Max wants another opportunity and it's probable that the champion will agree.

Sharkey, incidentally, believes that Schmeling has improved since they met in June.

"Schmeling is faster and he uses his left more effectively," Jack told the United Press during the Schmeling-Walker bout. "Besides, he has a nice right cross now."

The Walker-Schmeling fight was one of the thrillers of modern day boxing. The picture of a badly beaten Walker staying in there and trving, while a sportsmanlike Schmeling tried to induce the referee to stop the fight, made one of the most stirring boxing sights in recent years.

Jewel Robbery Is Fifth Co-Starring Of Powell-Francis

"Jewel Robbery," which co-stars William Powell and Kay Francis under the Warner Bros.' banner, is the first picture in which both of these stellar names have been linked since Powell and Francis were added to the Warner-First National constellation.

It is the fifth picture, however, in which Powell and Miss Francis have appeared together. The other four were "Behind the Make-Up," "Street of Chance," "For the Defense" and "Ladies' Man."

Warm personal friends in private life, each star is an admirer of the other's ability. Both Powell and Miss Francis have looked forward for months to the opportunity to play in the same picture, such as "Jewell Robbery" playing today and Friday at the Arcadia affords them.

Both are equally sure that their respective roles in this sparkling story of Vienna are the finest their careers have offered them hiterto. And this is not mere stereotyped enthusiasm for publicity purposes.

Powell was overjoved with the role of the debonair, aristrocratic rogue, who commits his crimes with the most exquisite gentility and the last word in drawing-room manners ever since he read the script.

"Ten-dollar gold-pieces .....for sale cheap"

Not so long ago, an interesting experiment was made, to test the "sales-resistance" of the public. Several men paced the down-town streets of a large city, hawking their wares. And the wares, believes it or not, were ten-dollar gold-pieces . . . offered for sale at a dollar! No one bought; the price was reduced to fifty cents; finally to a quarter . . . still no sales!

Only after this experiment appeared as news in the papers did those who turned down the bargain gold become convinced of their mistake. They doubted the evidence of their own senses when they were offered something for nothing, but they BELIEVED in the opportunity they'd lost when the newspapers told them the story.

Daily, in the papers that you read, you are offered a parallel opportunity—equally genuine, and sponsored by the people of proven responsibility. What! You've never seen it? Stop for a minute and think. This newspaper cost you a trifle—which you gladly paid to learn what's happening in the world, to read about PEOPLE and EVENTS. But there's other news here of vital importance to you—about THINGS and SERVICES, about automobiles, clothing, food, household wares, vacation tours—about all those things which you pay money for, to live.

The advertisements! Your newspaper-pennies buy this news too. If you read the advertisements, let them show you how, where, what and when to buy, they will save you dollars . . . and put money in your pocket just as surely as if you purchased a bargain gold-piece!

Saturday morning, Oct. 15th, on their errands of mercy.

We are told that love is the spirit which animates every worthwhile thing.

Listen to this from first Corinthians: "Charity never fails. And now abideth, Faith, Hope, Charity, these three, but the greatest of these is Charity.

Though I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, and have not charity, I am become sounding brass, or a tinkling cymbal. And tho I have the gift of prophecy, and understand all mysteries and all knowledge; and tho I have all faith, so that I could remove mountains, and have not charity, I am nothing."

STAN BALL accuses ASPER DELO, timber king, of crooked practice and of having men shot who try to check up on his activities. Ball says he is making a check for cattle interests. Delo says he will prevent it in person. Upon leaving Delo's office Ball saves DONA, Asper's daughter, from kidnapers. Learning her name he tells her he is STANLEY BLACK and slips away.

DUDLEY WINTERS loves Dona. He agrees to make Asper give up the wild idea of going to Three Rivers and running Ball off the company property. Dona goes with him. They find a manhunt in progress with Ball as the objective. Asper is badly wounded from ambush but cannot be kept in bed. Dudley produces a marriage certificate that they had been prevented from using by Dona's being unsure of herself. They tell Asper they are married. Ball overhears this announcement, while in for food. He is caught by SWERGIN, Asper's timber boss, who has been a leading figure in the hunt.

Ball is taken to a cabin while Swergin goes out to gather a mob for a lynching. He surprises his captor and escapes. A wild hunt takes place. Dona goes down to the horse corrals to wait the return of the bandit. The men bring in one of their party wounded. That night Dudley insists on Dona marrying him in reality. She agrees to do it the next day.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XX

DONA sat with her father for an hour. He was plainly agitated by Swergin's report but making an effort to conceal his feelings. She tried to keep from thinking of the ride she had promised to take that afternoon. She thought of Ball and wondered if Swergin and his men would ever be successful.

Finally Asper dropped off to sleep, snoring softly. His age was against him and he had to give in and rest though he had tried to keep awake. Dona stole softly from the room. She met the doctor at the door and he returned to the porch with her.

"Will it be all right for me to be away this afternoon?" she asked anxiously.

The doctor nodded. "Yes, but we have to keep that timber boss away from your father until I say the word."

"I'll see Swergin," Dona promised. "I'll be back tonight," she added.

"No hurry. Your father'll be fit as a river driver in a few days." The doctor went inside and closed the door.

Dona wandered down to the corrals and watched Malloy rope and ride a wild horse. She waved her hat when he finally forced the snorting, pitching brute to give in to his will. Malloy grinned at her and turned the saddle horse over to one of the other men.

"Take him out and ride him. He's tame now," the corral boss ordered.

"I suppose you'd saddle the roan for me this morning?" Dona asked the question with a sparkle in her eyes.

Malloy nodded.

Dona looked at her wrist watch. It was 11 o'clock. She would have time for a gallop down the canyon before Dudley returned. "All right—saddle him," she smiled.

Malloy slipped a saddle on the roan and brought him to the gate. "Better watch him, Ma'am. He's pretty fresh," the cowboy warned.

• • •

DONA smiled disdainfully and leaped into the saddle. The roan shook his head and went off as though he had not had several days in which to get back his temper. They headed down the canyon at a brisk gallop.

She had gone perhaps a half mile when she discovered a rider trailing her and halted to wait for the man. He came up with her and pulled his horse to a walk.

"What do you want?" she demanded.

"Swergin's orders, Miss. I'm to ride along with you whenever you leave camp." The man seemed to enjoy Dona's evident flash of temper at his words.

"You might as well ride back and unsaddle. I go where I please."

"Sorry, Miss, but you are not to ride up on the mountain. Down here is all right." The fellow was of a dull type and seemed to be enjoying his present errand. Dona noted that he was not much at home in the saddle. He would be easy to lose if she chose.

Taking a different tack, she smiled. "Orders are orders. I suppose we'll both have to mind the big boss."

"How long have you worked for him?" Done asked by way of making talk.

"I was with Swergin before he came on this job," the man explained. "Him and me's been pals."

Dona smiled, more to herself than to the rider. "How far is it to Blind River?" she asked suddenly. It would be great sport to give Swergin the slip and ride over the range.

"A good two hour ride," the man answered.

The answer set Dona thinking. She wished she could ride over the range just to show the big boss. She wanted to ask about Stanley Black, too. For several days she had been toying with the idea that he would be the man to settle with Ball. She knew he was in the country and suspected that the boys at the Blind River ranch would know where to find him.

A glance at her watch told her that she was half an hour late for her meeting with Dudley. She turned the roan and cantered back toward camp. Her escort followed at a jolting lope. He looked uncomfortable astride his horse, as though he would rather have kept the animal at a walk.

Dudley had not returned when Dona arrived so she did not have the roan unsaddled.

• • •

SHE ate dinner and sat for half an hour with her father but still Dudley did not return. Finally she arose and walked down to the corral. She was highly displeased with Dudley and determined to teach him a lesson. Malloy was sitting in the shade, smoking a cigaret.

"If Mr. Winters asks for me when he comes tell him I'll be back some time this afternoon."

Malloy nodded and went on smoking.

Dona mounted the roan and rode down the hill. Out of the corner of her eye she could see her escort of the morning riding after her. She kept a slow pace and he soon overtook her. It was apparent that he intended to ride along as a companion.

"It will be great fun to ride down through the canyon," Dona greeted him with a smile.

"Yeah. There ain't no use of riding up on that mountain," the man agreed.

Dona pulled up her horse sharply and a vexed pout came to her lips. "Oh, I forgot my camera! I wonder if you'd ride back and ask Malloy for it? I'll wait here."

The escort grinned widely. "Sure, Miss." He turned his horse around, by jerking on one rein, and trotted back up the slope.

Dona watched until he was almost at the corrals. Then she touched the roan with her spurs and galloped around the hill. As soon as she was out of sight she doubled back and headed for the timbered slopes of Folly Mountain. A smile parted her soft lips as she thought of her bodyguard searching miles down the canyon for her. Several minutes later she saw him galloping down the slope in mad haste. He disappeared into the canyon and Dona headed the roan for the place where the Blind River trail cut across the ridge.

Dudley was completely forgotten. At first she had been angry with him for not returning and eager to teach him a lesson. Now as she moved up the steep trail she forgot everything except the beauty of the scene.

• • •

HER plans were vague, but as she pushed on they began to take shape. She had to admit that the scheme was a wild one and not likely to bear fruit. Still it might work out. At any rate, it would teach Dudley a lesson.

An hour's climb brought her to the saddle in the ridge. True to cow country trails, the Blind River trail wound across the mountain at the lowest point on the watershed. At her back lay the cuttings of the Delo Timber Company, while below her and ahead lay a great forest of virgin timber. Dona halted and gazed down over the dark green of the spruce and pine.

Those giant trees were responsible for the trouble in which she found herself. For them the timber cutters had invaded the ancient range of the cow men. Slopes had been denuded and left to erode. Dona realized as she sat there just what cutting meant to these men who had lived in the open and had known the forests all their lives. Then she remembered the ruthless manner in which the chosen scout of those cow men was acting and her lips tightened.

"They think they can run us out," she whispered to the roan. "But it takes more than one lone gunman to do that. I'll see that Dad cuts over this slope if I have to order it done myself!"

With a touch of her spurs she headed down into the timber. She would ride to the Blind River headquarters and ask for Stanley Black. If she found him she would try to enlist his aid. She did not allow any other reason for wanting to see him to enter her thoughts. Stanley Black had helped her once and he would likely do it again, she told herself.

A hasty glance at her watch told her that Dudley would be amply punished for being late. He would have to put off going to Sam Dean's till the next day.

Something seemed to tell her that she would find her cowboy, but she did not dream for a moment under what circumstances it would be, or how soon.

Gentry Brothers Famous Show To Play At Eastland October 11

Gentry Brothers Famous Shows, the pioneer trained animal exhibition founded by Henry B. Gentry in 188, are going to exhibit in Eastland Tuesday, Oct. 11. Mr. Gentry in person is owner and manager of the show. He returns to the road after an absence of a decade and a half.

The younger parents of today well remember the Gentry Brothers dog and pony shows. Fifteen years ago their founder retired to regain his health. For that reason the children of today have heard of his shows only as bedtime stories.

Gentry Brothers Shows always catered to refined audiences, especially ladies and children. To the little ones of yesteryear their coming was likened to that of Santa Claus. Their name was a household word.

Gentry Brothers present a performance different from all others. They are pioneer shows that created a niche all their own in the show-world.

Really they are an old established educational institution. In the retinue of acting animals are the ponies, dogs, monkeys, pigs and goats. Each plays an important part in the performance.

Distinctive acts are the military ponies; collies in a chariot act with the monkey driver; dogs that walk on a high wire and another that swings on a rope while standing on his hind feet.

Two performances each day are given at 3:45 and 8 p. m., in Eastland on Tuesday, Oct. 11.

Gentry Brothers this year are carrying as an added feature attraction that famous kid of Our Gang comedies, Freckles "Hoo" Ray, who appears at each performance to greet his fans and entertain them.

'Freckles' of 'Our Gang' Featured in Gentry Bros. Show

The Gentry Brothers Famous Shows which come to Eastland, Tuesday, Oct. 11, for two performances daily, bring as an added feature attraction this year none other than that famous kid of the movies, "Freckles" of Our Gang comedies.

"Freckles" who in private life is known as Jackie "Hoo" Ray, became famous in "Our Gang" comedies, and this year is traveling with the Gentry Brothers Famous Dog and Pony shows, making a film that will be entitled "Toby of the Circus."

Surely a no more fitting feature could be added to the Gentry Brothers Famous Dog and Pony show than "Freckles." Gentry Brothers, who for a generation have catered to ladies and children, are giving the many fans of this famous movie kid a chance to meet him in person. "Freckles" is still in his early teens and a real boy through and through, and takes great pleasure in meeting as many of the other kids in each town he visits as is possible. "Freckles" has a pet pony and is only too glad to let all those that wish to do so take a ride on his pony after each performance, and if the "kids" 'are real small there is an attendant to see that they do not fall off.

School Opens Psychology Lab For Its Students

NEW YORK.—A laboratory of psychology, designed to adapt the student to his chosen profession through a "five-year plan of personality improvement," has been opened here by New York university.

Seven psychologists have the task of assigning to each student in the "laboratory" a plan of personality improvement which at the end of five years will fit him in all ways to carry out his tasks.

An elaborate preliminary test of the student is contained in an 89-page examination prepared by Newman L. Hoopingarner, associate professor of business psychology, who is in charge of the experimental school, the first of its kind in the world.

Twelve Qualities

Twelve qualities considered fundamental to analysis, are contained in the test. They deal with impressiveness, initiative, thoroughness, observation, concentration, constructive imagination, leadership decision, organizing ability, expression, knowledge and adaptability.

Existing methods of selecting men for jobs are described by Professor Hoopingarner as "too simple and therefore overlooking salient facts."

Novel Devices

Among the novel devices in the personality improvement curriculum is a psychgalvanograph, emotion recording machine, with which the subject may see dancing before him on an electrically-controlled dial, his various emotional reactions.

In a test of 16 men hired by a New York concern, Prof. Hoopingarner reports that he found only five of them suited to their employment. Subsequent experience of the concern confirmed his judgment as "98 per cent correct," he said.

He claims "a more comprehensive analysis and judgment of ability and proper use of personalities in 75 per cent more cases than the usual haphazard methods of picking out men for important jobs."

Gold Rail Spike Declared a Myth

By United Press.

MILES CITY, Mont.—Those famed gold spike driving celebrations of the old west, signalizing completion of important railroad links, may have been quite impressive but the gold spike in many cases apparently was just a colorful rumor.

This conclusion has been reached by various writers who have studied newspaper accounts of the celebrations, and have attempted to find what became of the spikes, recent reviews declare.

One such instance was believed to have occurred at the driving of a "gold spike" near Gold Creek, Mont., Sept. 8, 1883, on the Northern Pacific line.

Famed as one of the most colorful of such ceremonies, the event was attended by thousands of persons, ranging from railroad and government officials to staring squaws and immigrant laborers.

Careful and prolonged search, however, has failed to uncover the golden spike supposedly used at the time, it was said. A silver spike, driven Nov. 16, 1880, at a point in the Northern Pacific line supposedly on the North Dakota-Montana state line—but actually 10 miles east of the true boundary
