TARIFF CLUB ORGANIZED IN KIMBLE COUNTY

Initial Meeting Held Here to Co-operate with Other Counties and Southern States In Retaining Tariff on Wool & Mohair.

At a meeting of forty leading ranchmen, bankers and merchants of Kimble County, held in the Hankins-Riley Hall Saturday afternoon, a Kimble County Tariff Club was organized and W. P. Riley was elected chairman, H. G. Perry was chosen secretary and E. H. Kothman, Alva Fisher, H. W. Bierschwale, J. H. Northcutt, Ollie Fleming, H. W. Reick, Jim Moore and C. R. Stevenson were elected vice presidents.

The purpose of the Tariff Club will be to co-operate with other local tariff organizations thruout the State and south in resisting any attempt at downward revision of the present tariff duties on mohair, wool, sheep, goats, cattle, pecan and other products of the farms and ranches of this section.

Judge Coke R. Stevenson presided at the meeting and introduced Mr. Vance Muse, organization director of the Southern Tariff Association, who addressed the meeting on the Southern Tariff Association, and outlined a plan of procedure for the Kimble County organization.

The next meeting of the Tariff Club will be held January 16, in connection with the Chamber of Commerce banquet, and Hon. John H. Kirby, president of the Southern Tariff Association, will be extended an invitation to make the principal speech of the occasion.

An effort will be made to secure a large membership in Kimble County and the following membership pledge will be submitted to all voters of the county:

"I pledge my vote and my influence to the support of candidates for Congress and Senate of the United States, whom if elected, will vote for a National Tariff Policy that will equalize the cost of production between this country and foreign countries, to the end that American standards of living may be maintained."

The formation of the Kimble County Tariff Club is a continuation of the program of the Southern Tariff Assocation to organize local tariff clubs in every county in the eighteen southern states. During the past thirty days similar organizations have been formed in Tom Green, Menard, McCullough, Irion, Pecos, Sanderson, Schleicher, Reagan, Sutton, Crockett, Kerr, Val Verde, Kinney, Uvalde Real and Edwards counties.

Under the present Tariff law the president of the United States has the power to decrease or increase existing schedules fifty per cent and three applications asking for a decrease in the tariff schedules on wool have been filed with the United States Tariff Commission in Washington.

The Southern Tariff Association, through its local clubs all over the south will strenuously oppose any attempt at downward revision of the import duties on farm and ranch products of Texas and the South.

The board of directors of the local Tariff Club includes the following:

J. N. Hodges, J. M. Hankins, J. A. Heyman, A. J. Hamer, A. O. Lawler, E. A. Loeffler, P. Joseph, W. M. Allen, Frank Baker, Junction; G. T. May, London; S. H. McCaleb, Yates; S. H. Parker, Noxville; Walton Whitworth, Noxville; M. C. Reese, Junction; T. Beasley, Junction; I. O. Weldon, Segovia; John B. Wilson, Junction; J. W. Boone, Junction; Ben Simon, Roosevelt; E. O. Bode, Roosevelt; A. N. Wood, Junction; James Prentice Junction; E. Holekamp, Junction; R. H. Spiller, Menard; W. H. Baker, C. V. Cochran, John R. Martin, J. L. Ragland, R. R. King, Junction.

Among the visitors last week at the N. A. R. Association meeting were, H. P. Hornby of the Hornby Press of Uvalde, E. Scarborough, Editor of the Journal of the Association, and Mrs. H. G. Martin, secretary of the Journal Messrs. Scarborough and Hornby were pleasant callers at the Eagle office and spoke highly of the town and expressed their appreciation of the way in which they had been entertained while here.

P. Joseph, wife and daughter left last Sunday for a two weeks visit with relatives and friends in San Antonio, Waco, Lockhart and other places. They are making the trip in their new Buick Six.

SHE IS YOUR OFFICIAL "TASTER."

The kings of olden days had their official tasters for for they were always worrying about being poisoned. Every person in the United States has an official "taster" even in this day. Miss Dorothy B. YOU DON'T HAVE TO TELL IT—THEY KNOW IT.

You don't have to tell how you live each day,
You don't have to say if you work or you play;
A tried, true barometer serves in the place—
However you live, it will show in your face.

§§

The false, the deceit, that you bear in your heart
Will not stay inside where it first got the start;
For sinew and blood are a thin veil of lace—
What you wear in your heart you wear in your face..

§§

If you've gambled and won in the great game of life,
If you feel you have conquered the sorrow and strife;
If you've played the game fair and stand on first base—
You don't have to say so, it shows on your face.

§§

If you dissipate nights till the day is most nigh
There is only one tattler, and one that won't lie;
Since your facial barometer is right in its place—
You don't have to tell folks, it shows in your face.

§§

If your life is unselfish, if for others you live,
For not what you get, but how much you can give;
If you live close to God in his infinite grace—
You don't have to tell it, it shows in your face.

County Demonstration Agent Here Ready to Begin Work.

F. M. McMillan and wife of Calvert, arrived this week. Mr. McMillan has recently been secured by the Commissioners' Court, as County Agent, and will take up his work at once.

W. H. Darrow, District Agent is here also for a few days. Mr. Darrow states that the following neighboring counties now have agents: Gillespie, Kerr, Hays, two in Bexar, Frio, Uvalde, Medina, Mason, McCullough, Llano, Runnels, Coleman, San Saba, Tom Green, Brown, Comanche, Burnett, Lampasas and Kendall.

Mr. McMillan graduated from A. & M. in 1912, and has had much practical experience in farming and stockraising since that time. While in the College he specialized in Animal Husbandry, and was a member of the Stock Judging team in 1911.

The work in this county will necessarily be divided between farming operations and attending to work connected with the livestock industry.

It is a long step forward to secure a man to co-ordinate the different productive industries of the county and the Commissioners' Court are to be commended in this progressive step.

Vast resources of the county are just in the infancy of their development. Thousands of acres of land suitable for cultivation are stil in pastures, and the next few years will see great changes take place.

Wilson-Yett.

Another wedding of interest took place last Saturday night, when Mr. Arthur Wilson and Miss May Yett were united in the bonds of matrimony at the Methodist parsonage by Rev. R. E. Parker. Marvin Skaggs and Miss Katie Wilson, a sister of the groom, were the only ones to accompany the happy couple.

Miss Yett is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Yett of Hunt, in Kerr County, and has been in Junction some three months visiting her aunt, Mrs. R. J. Felps. For several weeks she has been a valued assistant in the local postoffice.

Mr. Wilson is the son of Mrs. Laura Wilson, and was reared in this county, and has a host of friends here who will join the Eagle in wishing for Mr. and Mrs. Wilson a long and happy life and will be glad to know that they will continue to make this their home. Mr. Wilson will continue his connection with the Schreiner-Hodges Co. store with whom he has been working for several years.

Carl Dinkla, a brother of Mrs. J. M. Stafford, died in San Antonio this week at the Santa Rosa Hospital. Mr. Dinkla was a painter by trade, and while working last August he fell from a scaffold, sustaining serious injuries, and although he has undergone several operations, he has never been able to overcome the affects of the fall.

Sheep and Goat Raisers' Committee Meets at Sonora.

The executive committee of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association had a called meeting at the Court House in Sonora on the 6th. Most of the members of the committeewere present. N. H. Skaggs and Jim Moore were there from this county. Mrs. Moore accompanied them.

President Claude Broom of San Angelo, presided. Capt. Elliott, editor of the Sheep and Goat Raisers' Magazine, at San Angelo, is secretary.

Among other things, the committee endorsed a bounty bill and will ask that the present Legislature appropriate $25,000 to assist in exterminating predatory animals; endorsed the passage of a law to prevent cockle burs being allowed to grow along the highways, by requiring the different counties to take care of their own roadways; and proposed changes in the present law regulating flocks infected with scab, so as to make the law stricter and more enforceable.

A cablegram had been recently received from the breeders of South Africa stating that with co-operation on the part of the Texas breeders, 350 pure blooded goats would be shipped from there to this section. The committee endorsed the plan and will assist in landing the goats for the purpose of putting new blood into native goats.

The next meeting of the committee will be at Sanderson, on the second Monday in February. It is hoped that the committee will meet at Junction in May of this year.

GOATMEN GATHER FOR ANNUAL MEEEING

Members of National Angora Record Association Met In Junction Friday. An Interesting and Enthusiastic Meeting Held.

The annual meeting of the members of the N. A. R. Association was opened by president Jack Turner at 1:30 p. m., last Friday, at the Court House in Junction.

An address of welcome was delivered by Hon. Coke R. Stevenson, followed by a response by H. P. Hornby, publisher of the National Angora Record Journal. After some preliminary action, and the reading and approval of the secretary's report, the president appointed a committe composed of Hal Peterson, A. O. Lawler and M. D. Taylor to draft amendments to some parts of the constitution and by-laws.

The changes were made. Section 14 will hereafter read as follows:

"All goats registered in the Association must be inspected by the inspectors, except as otherwise provided The period of inspection of foundation flocks shall close December 31, 1923. Rule 15, Section 3, was amended and requires that the secretary make a quarterly financial report to the directors. Rule 1, was amended so that the registration fees for both foundation stock and those registered by designation of sire and dam, shall be fixed by the board of directors. Rule 1, was changed further by making the annual dues $5, of which $4 shall go to the Association and $1 for subscription to the Record Journal.

The president was given authority to appoint inspectors and to have control of them, and authorized the payment for inspection fees where as many as 100 goats are inspected and accepted, provided the amount does not exceed the amount collected. Where less than 100 are accepted, the owner must pay for the inspection. Fees for inspection fixed at 50 cents.

Jack Turner and Judge J. B. Randolph were re-elected president and secretary, respectively, and the following board of directors were elected:

W. W. Russell, E. Scarborough, Fred Edwards, M. D. Taylor, George Hay, Hal Peterson, DeWitt Cowsert, Jack Turner, J. B. Randolph, J. L. Wright, C. M. Wolf, W. H. Rawlins, G. W. Stevenson, A. O. Lawler and B. M. Halbert.

Menard County Judge Dies Suddenly of Appoplexy.

At 3:15 Tuesday morning, January 9, Judge J. D. Scruggs died of appoplexy at his home in Menard, and was buried at 4:00 p. m. the afternoon of the same day, at the Menard Cemetery.

Judge Scruggs was born January 28,1850, at Mt. Pleasant, Miss., and came to Hays County, Texas in 1878, and in the next year moved to Menard County, where he has resided continuously since.

He has been identified with every move for the betterment and developmen of this western section for nearly half a century He has served Menard County as Judge for more than 32 years having recently taken the oath as County Judge for the 17th time. It is doubtful if such a record of continuous service is equalled in the State, and certainly not in this section; the most of the counties of which have been organized since J. D. Scruggs came to cast his lot with the few hardy settlers of the San Saba River Valley.

Menard County was organized in 1871 and for nearly two thirds of the life of the county this man has guided its fortunes and grown in the confidences of its people.

The funeral services were in charge of the Masonic Order, but he was also a member of the Odd Fellows and the Woodmen of the World. A very large crowd from Menard and from all neighboring towns, gathered to pay the last tribute to the remains of this venerable man.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Rosa Scruggs, a daughter, Mrs. W. K. Murchison of Menard, and two sons, T. A. Scruggs of Menard and Jas. W. Scruggs of Fort Worth.

THE ROVER

By George Randolph Chester

A FLYER IN AUGERS

"He can't have it!" declared Greenwood sharply. "I met his reductions down to our present figure, and then I quit. Diggins cheapened his product a trifle, and went still lower; but I wouldn't do it."

"Good boy," approved Ames. "He's probably taken a lot of business from you."

"We've about held our own," asserted Greenwood, with little knots of muscles working in his jaw. "My father made the first square-hole auger, and I'll keep that business going with the same standard of quality the governor maintained, if we only turn out one auger a year, and I'll discount every bill as the governor always did."

Ames broke bread.

"You'll win," he prophesied. "Diggins is spending a barrel of money in advertising, and his agents are known as liberal entertainers. Rick, how much will you give me for ridding you of the Diggins Mortising Auger company?"

"Where do you keep it?" laughed Greenwood. "Frankly, John, even if your offer were in earnest, I'd be embarrassed. I haven't drawn but one-fourth of my salary during the past year."

"If you had control of the Diggins company, I guess you could raise a few thousand, couldn't you?" smiled Ames, much as if he were still joking.

"Come out to dinner tonight and talk it over," invited Greenwood, laughing. "I have a mighty pretty sister I want you to meet."

"I accept with pleasure," replied John Ames, who for three weeks had awaited this invitation.

Chapter VI.

Yes, she was pretty, John Ames admitted, as the stately Margaret swept across to him. She was more than pretty; she was stunningly beautiful.

"How Did You Come to Buy That Thing, Rick?" He Asked.

"You are most welcome," she said in a low, well modulated voice of peculiar richness, and she extended a long, tapering hand.

"I know you well through one of your most devoted admirers," he told her.

"Rick," she guessed, laughing, and her laugh had even more of that fascinating timbre which had been apparent in her greeting. "He bores everybody that way. He needs a girl of his own."

"You've spoiled me, sis," Rick returned, patting her on the shoulder.

Mrs. Greenwood entered, a merry looking woman, who seemed as if her life had been cast in pleasant places. She elevated her brows, just a trace, as she saw John Ames, and when she had greeted him, and had finished with the usual cheerful conventionalities, and the guest had gone over to the piano with Margaret, she turned to her son with sparkling enthusiasm.

"Where did you get him?" she demanded.

"Don't know him from Adam. Mummy," Rick shamelessly confessed. "He's never mentioned his private affairs to me, but I've been around him long enough to know that he's all right."

"Indeed he is," promptly agreed Mrs. Greenwood. "He's the handsomest thing I ever saw outside of the family. Aren't they a stunning couple, Rick?"

"Well, she's so beautiful herself that she should have a handsome man," worried Mrs. Greenwood, "and she's always going around with some homely fellow."

"That isn't fair, mother," protested Rick. "Margaret's bunch do run small to the dozen, come to think of it, but they're a corking nice lot of fellows."

"She wouldn't have them if they weren't," instantly defended Mrs. Greenwood. "Don't you know anything about him?" she eagerly whispered.

Rick laughed so heartily that the pair at the piano glanced over.

They were discussing music most volubly over there, and Margaret had lightly run over two or three passages from memory, to show the similarity between a composition of Chopin's and one of Paderewski's.

"The similarity is there," granted Ames, "but it can't be called plagiarism, for both had their source in Bach. If you have Bach here, I think I can find the original."

She moved lightly to the well-stacked shelves, and, with eager interest brought him the volume of Bach. He found the passage, and played it for her.

"That's glorious!" she exclaimed, with a sparkle of admiration in her big eyes and in her voice.

He glanced at her quickly. That peculiar vibration in her voice had thrilled him. She caught his look, but there was no change in her.

"Of course you couldn't play it again that way," she regretted.

"I'm afraid not," he smiled, yielding the seat to her. "I know you sing."

"Simple little melodies," she admitted.

"Sing him that Pretten Lassen thing, sis," called Rick from across the room.

"'Mit Deinen Blauen Augen'?" she laughed, as she searched for it. "Will you never tire of it, Rick?"

"Not so long as I'm fond of blondes," he grinned.

She found the music and sang, simply, expressively, but with that wonderful timbre which had so held him since her first word.

Was there a certain coldness about her? There was fire in the depths of her eyes, there was warmth in her lips, there was throbbing life in her voice, and yet, when dinner was called and he took her hand to assist her from the piano, he was puzzled again.

She was an entertaining companion, a clever talker and a flattering listener, and they liked each other.

"Well, Rick, let's get down to business," suggested Ames, as the two young men walked into the library after dinner. "How about that $25,000?"

Young Greenwood's brow lost its boyish smoothness.

"What particular $25,000 do you mean?" he inquired in the tone of one who has learned to regard that amount of money respectfully.

"The $25,000 for ridding you of the competition of the Diggins Mortising company."

"You do that and I'll hand you the money so quick it'll scare you," promised Rick, laughing.

"Suppose you put that offer in writing," proposed Ames quietly.

"I believe you are in earnest!" declared Greenwood, surprised.

"Of course I am," answered Ames. "That's what you need, and we'll have it for you."

"Thanks," mocked Greenwood, returning to his opinion that the whole thing was a joke. "Just how will you bring this miracle about?"

"That would be telling," smiled Ames. "Will you write me that offer?"

"I think I'll have to humor you," laughed Rick, and, going to his desk wrote the letter.

When they returned to the music room, Ned Cross was there, a little light-complexioned fellow with a great fund of laughing good humor; and Margaret was chatting most gaily with him. Ames watched her with pleasure not unmixed with envy. No, she was not cold.

"You'll come again," she cordially invited him.

"As often as I may," he laughed, thrilled as he looked into her eyes, and heard her voice; and yet, when they shook hands in parting—well, he was puzzled.

Chapter VII.

"From that report, I conclude that we are to again pass our dividends!" snapped J. E. Cuspard, his iron-gray eyebrows bristling.

"It is still necessary," acknowledged President Diggins, looking resentfully at his board of directors.

(Concluded next week.)

The Relation of County Agent to The People

The County agricultural agent is a public official whose business it is to make available in practical form, the knowledge of agricultural science as developed by the State Experiment Stations, the United States Department of Agriculture, and the results of the best farm practice. He is expected to show by field demonstrations, publications, and otherwise the application of such knowledge to local farm conditions.

The advantage of improved farm practices as demonstrated on the most successful farms in the county where the agent is employed is called to the attention of farmers in his territory. With these demonstrations before them, individual farmers are able to determine intelligently the extent to which they will apply the lessons of the demonstrations conducted by the agent

The county agent is an officer of the State College of agriculture and the United States Department of Agriculture. He may also be employed in co-operation with the county government or the county farmers' organization contributing to his support and aiding in his work. He is not, however, expected to act as the business agent of the individual farmer or of groups of farmers in carrying on commercial transactions. He is not in any sense a hired man, operating the farmers' own farm enterprises.

The subjects on which the county agent may give demonstrations or advice are varied as the needs of the farm population in his county. It is his duty to demonstrate the application of agricultural science to soil management and building, to the control of plant diseases and insect pests, to the introduction of better varieties of farm crops, and to improvement in methods of feeding, breeding, and care of farm animals. The economic management of the farm as a whole, to yield the largest net returns, the study of systems of marketing local farm products, advice on the purchase of farm supplies, co-operatively and otherwise, are the broader phases of his diversified work.

As a co-operative employee of the United States Department of Agriculture, the State Agricultural College, and the county, the county agent's first duty is to inform himself as to how he can intelligently serve all the people of his county. He must get a general idea of conditions, of the local system of farming, the kind of people he is to work with, and a knowledge of soil conditions. He must meet with representative farmers of the county and with them formulate a definite plan of work in regard to their more urgent problems.

As he must endeavor to reach as many of the people possible, and help them raise the average standard of farm practices, there must be a number of concrete demonstrations well scattered over the county from which definite reports of results can be secured. The county agent's strength of leadership is demonstrated by his ability to perform his duties without drifting into superficial work; to maintain a well-balanced program; to distinguish between essentials and non-essentials under existing conditions; to get people to help themselves, and to co-operate with them in such a way as to secure their assistance and to assist them in making and carrying out the general program.

While the county agent's position and duties make him the leader in agricultural matters, he cannot fairly be expected to be an expert on all agricultural subjects. He should have a sufficient knowledge to advise on the leading questions, and he should know on what specialist to call for help on technical or difficult problems that may arise.

Those in charge of co-operative extension work, both in the United States Department of Agriculture and the Agricultural Colleges, believe that the agents should assist the farmers of the county with every problem connected with their business, from the preparation of the soil to the marketing of his products. It is natural for the farmers to look to the agent as their agricultural advisor and leader in marketing as well as production and to expect them to give information on questions of harvesting, grading, and packing. For the past two years the marketing problem has been the most vital one to all branches of agriculture. It is believed that it is legitimate and proper for the agent to encourage co-operative marketing, to obtain information as to what products should be worth, where the best markets may be found, and how these markets may be reached at the least expense to the producer.

It would not be proper for the county agent personally to engage in the buying and selling of the farmers' products, to handle funds in the transaction, or to hold any office in marketing or other farmers' organizations; but there should be no question of his right to furnish the very best information and to encourage in every way possible the farmers who do these things for themselves through some business manager or co-operative association.

Orient Railway Near Collapse Says Receiver.

San Angelo, Jan. 3.—Funds in the treasury of the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient Railroad amounting to but $17,872.29 with $65,000 reserve for taxes available as a result of the remission of taxes in Texas, will enable the line to operate until March 1, "barring ill luck,," W. T. Kemper, of Kansas City, receiver for the road, told a mass meeting of representatives from more than thirty town along the line this morning.

Two hundred delegates were present to hear the plan of Lieutenant Governor Davidson of the permanent rehabilitation of the system. With local citizens they filled the Tom Green County district court room.

George E. Webb, local banker, presided as chairman and Walter E. Yaggy was secretary.

Mr. Yaggy read Mr. Davidson s plan, providing briefly that the State of Texas assume operation of the line and that "hampering State and Federal regulations be lifted."

Mr. Davidson then explained its various phases.

Porter Whaley of Stamford, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, gave statistics compiled by that organization, showing that the property loss in Texas would total $100,919,000 if the Orient was abandoned.

Mr. Kemper said the Orient was "at the rope's end." Two hundred thousand ties are needed, the motive power is run down and a quarter of a million dollars is needed to place the physical properties in good condition.

The Orient is unique in the history of American railroads. Mr. Kemper said, in that it is a line 735 miles long with an income of more than $3,000,000 annually, yet cannot earn expenses.

He and his associates welcomed any plan for the line's salvation, as the only reason for existence of the road now was to serve the communities developed by and dependent upon it, he said.

Strong railroads had been approached by Mr. Kemper and Clifford Histed of Kansas City, solicitor general for the Orient, with propositions to take over the line. Kemper told the conference, and he said that the two officials had talked with men of wealth, "from Henry Ford on down," to no avail. In the days of Arthur Stillwell, original promoter of the Orient, Mr. Kemper said, Ford invested a million dollars in the line, but "but it was hard to interest him the second time as none of the investments had ever paid a dividend."

The receiver, responding to queries, said the Orient's 1922 receipts were $560,000 less than the expenditures, while the deficit in the previous year was $805,000.

Council Names Committee Boost Laboratory Building.

The city council has appointed a committee consisting of L. E. Dublin and George Kidd to act in conjunction with the committee appointed by the Lions Club to boost the building of the laboratory on the land which the city of Brownwood has proffered the Department of Agriculture for the purpose of establishing a pecan insect investigating station, on a large scale. The station will be retained at Brownwood, as has been stated, and in order to make the work of the station as broad and comprehensive as possible, the city council proffered the government about 20 acres of pecan bearing trees along Pecan Bayou in the vicinity of the pumping station. It is estimated that the proposed laboratory will cost something like $2,000 and the funds will have to be raised by private subscription. It is understood that the work will be pushed with vigor, as it is quite probable the government will accept the offer of the pecan orchard. Mr. Brooke S. Ramsey, one of the active citizens in this work, stated recently that he thought there would be little, if any trouble, in raising the desired, or required amount with which to build the laboratory.—Brownwood Banner-Buletin.

Officers of the company are: W. D. Crothers, President; Dr. J. B. Granville, vice-president; F. R. Wulff, secretary and W. H. Ballou, treasurer.—Brady Sentinel.

The K. K. K. is Going.

It requires no prophet to discover that the Ku Klux Klan is riding for a hard fall, and that it is coming at an early date. The brutal murder of Watt Daniels and Carl Richards, near Mer Rogue, La., and the discovery of their bodies in Lake La Fourche has served to direct the attention of the entire country to the hidden methods and motive of the Klan. Here is an illustration of what the mask means which requires no explanation. Whatever may be the inspiration which starts him upon his career, the midnight marauder descends by rapid stages to the midnight murderer.

That element in the Klan which still clings to the theory that it is not unfriendly to the law would do well to take careful note of the trend of things and get away from that unfortunate association while the going is good. The time is nearer than they think when it will not be easy to reconcile membership in the Klan with the character of a law abiding citizen.—Industrial Dixie.

Cherry Creek Boys Judge Stock.

Last Friday afternoon the boys of Cherry Creek community met at Mr. Fred Vaughn's farm for lessons in stock Judging.

Sheep and dairy cattle were used for the judging lessons. As the boys finished a class they were required to give the reason for their placings. When they had finished giving their reasons County Agent J. A. Oswalt gave the correct placings on each class, and very carefully showed the reasons for such placings.—Comfort News.

Chicago Churches Endorse Newspaper Advertising.

Chicago, Jan. 2.—Newspaper publicity, through news stories and paid advertising, was endorsed in a public statement today by a committee representing the Chicago Church Federation.

"The most effective way to reach the crowd and interest them in the church is through the newspapers," the report said. Other excerpts from the committee's announcement said: "One metropolitan church increased its loose collections to $22,000 in two years, certain other smaller churches showing a proportionate increase.

"Advertising lifts the standard of preaching and service in order to make good and come up to the advertising.

"Magazines spend large sums in taking page advertisements in the daily papers. It pays or they would not do it."

John S. Fleming and wife went to Mexia a couple of weeks ago. Mr. Fleming returned during the Holidays, but Mrs. Fleming will remain for several weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Milton Carson.

Mr. John Hickerson of Tohoka Miss Mary Lee Lowe of Canyon and Miss Maredo Hickerson, a student of University of Texas, spent the Holidays with Mrs. Lizzie Sutton and Miss Bernice.

BIBLE THOUGHT —FOR TODAY—

Bible Thoughts memorized, will prove a priceless heritage in after years.

Safe Steps:—The steps of a man are ordered by the Lord; and he delighteth in his way.—Psalms 37:23.

Our objection to work is there are so many other things to do.

* * *

* * *

The undertakers report that it now costs less to die, but who wants to save money that way?

* * *

Germany's floating debt of 289,000,000,000 marks is about as bouyant as a string of grindstones.

* * *

This county is considering the securing of a county agent. In this issue will be found an interesting and instructive article about the work that county agents can and will do. We need an agent here and we hope that one can be secured within the next few months.

* * *

The financial statements of the local banks show a very encouraging improvement in financial conditions since the last call. Deposits have greatly increased and loans have been materially decreased. A normal and healthy financal conditon is becomng evident thruout the county.

* * *

The building activity thruout the State is evidence of a return of normal prosperity. In nearly every town and city in the State, more construction is in progress than at any time since the depression two years ago. The unemployed are becoming less numerous and capital that has been idle for two years, is now being used for development.

* * *

Had you stopped to think that if you don't boost your own business, that no one is going to do it for you? And had you stopped to think that if you don't boost your own town, the people of other towns are not going to do it for you? If the citizens of a town do not work for its upbuilding, no one else will. Boosting and working for the best interests of a town doesn't mean misrepresenting it to the outside world. Junction is a good town and is rapidly becoming a better one. It needs no exaggerated statements about resources, its good citizenship, or the opportunities it offers, to make a favorable impression of the visitor or prospective visitor. The truth told about it is sufficient. It may not be the best place in the world. It may not have the only good citizens to be found in the country, and it has its share of the worthless type, but it does have as good a citizenship as can be found anywhere, and its natural resources in the infancy of development, are almost unlimited, its climate is most desirable and its river and mountain scenery will compare favorably with any to be found.

If Junction and Kimble County are good enough to live in, they are good enough to work for and talk about. If this town and county support you and your family, you owe them something in return. The more you do for the community, the more the community will do for you. Tell the other fellow about our advantages and possibilities. Fall in line with the progressive organizations and work for the common good. It will pay you.

"There should be a law passed by the next legislature that would prohibit the placing of advertising signs on the public highways. These unsightly signs mar the beauty of the highways, and sad to relate, are seldom read. The merchants who hope to get business in this way are throwing away money. Those who ride in automobiles seldom have time to read any signs along the roads. It is really a foolish expenditure of money.—Hornish's Semi-Monthly."

It's doubtless a difference of opinion only, that causes one man to look upon this kind of advertising as detrimental and worthless. Personally, we always observe the sign boards that usually deck the highway leading into a town, and whenever we see a fine showing of substantial sign boards along the roads leading into a town, we conclude that the business interests of the town are alive and that the town is progressive When we approach a town that has no attractive sign boards as evidence of its existence, we conclude that the town is sleeping. Observations over many other states and all sections of Texas have convinced us that this is almost an infallible rule. To legislate against the placing of sign boards along the highways would be to legislate against the progressive attempts of a live town.

ARE YOU GUILTY?

A FARMER carrying an express package from a big mail-order house was accosted by a local dealer.

"Why didn't you buy that bill of goods from me? I could have saved you the express, and besides you would have been patronizing a home store, which helps pay the taxes and builds up this locality."

The former looked at the merchant a moment and then said:

"Why don't you patronize your home paper and advertise? I read it and didn't know that you had the stuff I have here."

OIL and GASOLINE

POOR grade of fuel is false economy. The money you seem to save on cheap grade oils and gasoline is later spent on motor repairs and shortened life of your motor.

Poor food means poor health—and poor fuel means poor service.

Best Quality at Low Prices

Considering the high quality of our gasoline and oils, our prices are the lowest that you can find.

Scores of auto owners have found that they can get more mileage and better motor performance by always using the same grade oils and gasoline—and that grade ours.

Saturday Night, January 13th.

A Good Show Don't Miss It.

We have made an effort to give the ladies of this community a good society page, and have gone to no small expense to take care of the social happennigs While we have a society editor, whose earnest efforts are greatly appreciated by the public and the management of the Eagle, it is impossible for her to report on parties, dances, etc., without co-operation on the part of the different organizations. In handing in matter to Mrs. Loeffler for publication, some one's name is often omitted, causing more or less trouble to us and embarrassment to them.

Hereafter, all clubs expecting to use the columns of the Eagle for reporting their affairs, must adhere to certain reasonable rules. All parties, club meetings, dances, etc., must be handed to Mrs. Loeffler by Tuesday of the week following the event reported, and must be written up by a reporter in a form suitable for publication. So far as possible, long lists of names should be omitted, especially when regular meetings of an organized club are reported. Whenever names of persons attending are given, they will be printed as given Mrs. Loeffler, and we are not responsible for failure to report all names of those present.

After the lapse of a week, social items cease to be news, and will not be printed, unless they were reported promptly but crowded out.

Your co-operation is desired to make the social page interesting to our readers and observance of the above will aid us and insure increased interest and benefit to all.

H. G. Perry, Editor.

Football and Basketball Teams Were Entertained

Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. John Hankins entertained the High School football and basket ball teams, and the town teams. Bright lights illuminated the house and yard, where many games were played.

Later in the evening dancing was enjoyed. The delicious refreshments were hot chocolate and cake.

Restaurant Change.

Up to Saturday before Christmas, Rocksprings had two restaurants, but on that Saturday J. R. Pettitt bought out his competitor, Joe Baker, in the restaurant business, and now we have one restaurant; Pettitt's restaurant. Mr. Pettitt says he will turn the restaurant he bought from Baker into a bakery.—Edwards Co. Leader.

Rudolph Probst has recently moved from Roosevelt to the J. Fred Burt place on South Llano.

Joe H. Ramsey is doing the work on the new filling station that Durst and Corkill are erecting on the Jobes corner.

Mrs. French Murphy returned to her home in Nacogdoches last Wednesday, after a visit with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. R. H. P. Wright.

Mrs. Chris Schraub and children have been at Crystal City for the past two weeks at the bedside of J. S. Gravell, a brother of Mrs. Schraub. Several weeks ago, Mr. Gravell sustained an accidental injury and later underwent an operation, and has been critically ill since then.

Many Dead and Injured in Alabama Mine Explosion.

The mouth of the shaft at the coal mine at Dolomite, Alabama, there on November 22nd, loaded coal cars broke loose and flying down the coal shaft struck an electric motor cable which sent off sparks and ignited coal dust, killing at the the latest repors, 100 men and half a hundred being injured. There were 475 men in the mines at the time and it was a miracle that all were not killed. The mine was a sheet of flames which belched out of the mine and burned outside the tipple.

STATE CAPITAL NEWS
From The Austin Statesma:

Over 6,000 Workers in Texas Textile Plants.

Wages paid to 6,033 persons employed in the 56 textile mills and garment factories in Texas during the fiscal year ending August 31, 1922, amounted to $3,309,112.26, according to figures compiled by Joseph S. Myers, state labor commissioner; of these 6,033 persons, 3,209 were females and 2,824 were male employes.

Of the 6,033 persons employed in these industries, 2,683 males and females received more than $15 a week, 1,269 males received less than $15 a week, 639 less than $12 a week and 124 less than $9 weekly.

Two thousand and eighty-one female workers in these industries received less than $15 a week, 1,369 less than $12 weekly and 614 less than $9 weekly.

Employes of 5c-10c Stores Average Small Weekly Pay.

There were 3,273 persons employed in the 73 5 and 10-cent stores reporting in Texas during the fiscal year ending August 31, 1922, and of whom 2,886 were females, and the wages paid these 3,273 employes amounted to $730,754.07, according to figures compiled by Jos. S. Myers, State Labor Commissioner.

Of the employes in these stores 2,623 are female clerks receiving less than $12 a week, 1,626 less than $9 a week, 1,147 less than $8 a week, and 357 received less than $7 weekly. Two hundred and forty-five male clerks of the 387 employed received less than $15 weekly according to Commissioner Myer's figures.

That he feels certain of being seated as the junior senator from Texas and that he will be able to repulse any effort contemplated to unseat him from the office to which he has been elected by the voters of Texas, was the statement Saturday morning of Railroad Commissioner Earle B. Mayfield, United States Senator-elect, just prior to his departure for Washington D. C. His trip to the National Capital, he said, is for the purpose of becoming acquainted with his future colleagues and to familiarize himself with details attendant upon his assumption of the senatorship in March as successor to Charles A. Culberson, senior Senator from Texas. The Senator-elect will remain in Washington ten days or two weeks, he said, and will then return to Austin to resume his work as a member of the railroad commission.

When he will resign his position as railroad commissioner, Mr. Mayfield did not say. This is taken to mean, in certain circles at the State Capitol, that the Senator-elect will not withdraw from the railroad commissionership until he is safely seated in the senate.

In discussing the possible fight upon him when he presents his credentials as United States Senator, Mr. Mayfield said:

"I am not worried or frightened over the outcome. This will put me over (designating his certificate of election) regardless of the bitter, nasty and expensive fight they are making upon me. But they are not fighting me now, they are fighting the sovereign will of the people of Texas and their struggle will come to the contemplate end which it deserves."

Legislators Meet to Discuss Constitution Question.

Austin, Jan. 6.—An informal meeting of the legislature to discuss the advisability of a constitution convention will be held at the Driskill Hotel at 8:30 p. m., Friday. Representative Lee J. Rountree will preside at the meeting.

According to the program, plan or agreement between members of the legislature, participation in these informal meetings does not bind, commit, or in any wise pledge anyone to support a movement for the calling of a constitutional convention, it was announced at the meeting held Thursday at the Driskill.

Free and untrammelled expression of opinion from all quarters, from those opposed to the idea of a convention, from those in favor of a convention, and from those who have not thus far formed a definite opinion as to the feasibility of such gathering, are invited and Representative Rountree expects a much larger attendance at the Friday night meeting than was the case at the Thursday meeting, as more members of the legislature have arrived and there has been considerable more discussion of the proposal since the Thursday meeting.

The question of whether or not the time is ripe for a constitutional convention will very probably be the leading theme of the discussions at tonight's meeting.

Varsity Instructor Tramps To Austin to Resume Work.

From year to year, a number of ambitious, but poor in purse students, walk from the old home town to Austin, the seat of culture and learning. But, H. F. White, a tutor in economics at Varsity, is the first faculty member to employ his legs in getting him to the University. Mr. White hiked from Waco to Austin during the Christmas holidays, and arrived "fresh and rearing to go to wor," as he says

The Varsity faculty members covered the 118 miles in forty hours of actual walking time, and declared that he enjoyed the outing immensely. He followed the King's Trail and Meridian Highway on the trip.

Group Heads Discuss Prohibition Problems Here.

Problems affecting enforcement of the prohibition law in Texas were discussed Saturday afternoon in a conference of group heads held in the office of Acting Director Frank Cole. The meeting was opened at one o'clock following the close of business Saturday and continued through the afternoon.

Director Cole stated the conference was merely a gathering of the heads of the prohibition enforcement family to exchange ideas in the matter of securing better enforcement of the Volstead law in all sections of Texas Nothing of importance for publication transpired during the session and only routine matters pertaining to prohibition work in Texas were considered.

Group heads attending the conference were Bassett R.Miles of Austin, Harry W. Hamilton of San Antonio, Louis B. Manss of Houston, H. O. Wilson of Marshall and E. A. Turner of Fort Worth.

Journal and Reading Clerks Seek Re-Election.

J. L. Robinson, veteran journal clerk of the house of representatives, is a candidate for re-election, and so far he has no opposition and from present indications he will be unopposed. Mr. Robinson has successfully held this position for over twenty years, and prior to that time he was assistant journal clerk. He is not only thoroughly familiar with the duties of this important office, but is well versed in parliamentary procedure.

O. P. Basford of Austin is also seeking his old office of reading clerk of the house. Mr. Basford has held this office for the past several sessions. There are two reading clerks, and for the other position N. A. Gordon of Fort Worth, and Walter J. Gerron of Ellis County are candidates. Mr. Stewart held the position at the last session of the legislature.

H. V. Howerton of Austin is a candidate for re-election as secretary of the senate, and so far no opposiiton has developed.

Weak Back

Mrs. Mildred Pipkin, of R. F. D. 8, Columbia, Tenn., says: "My experience with Cardui has covered a number of years. Nineteen years ago . . . I got down with weak back. I was run-down and so weak and nervous I had to stay in bed. I read of

CARDUI

and sent for it. I took only one bottle at that time, and it helped me; seemed to strengthen and build me right up. So that is how I first knew of Cardui. After that, . . . when I began to get weak and 'no account', I sent right for Cardui, and it never failed to help me."

If you are weak and suffering from womanly ailments, Cardui may be just what you need. Take Cardui. It has helped thousands, and ought to help you.

WATSON DIVIDE NEWS.

The Christmas season is past, and the New Year is with us. The Lord has given each of us a new clean leaf on which to write our lives. We have been given another chance, and there is no other opportunity given to man so great as this. Money, power, position, sink into insignificance compared to it. May we fight a good fight!

Christmas dinings were universally popular among the us; the entries as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Cowsert spent the Holidays with Mr. Cowsert's mother at D'Hanis.

The Bundys visited Mrs. Bundy's mother and other friends in San Antonio the entire Holiday season.

Our community thinks as one man on the dehorning question. The following have already or will soon, dehorn their entire herds: O. B. and Homer Fleming, Felix Watson, Ol Fleming, Henry Bierschwale, with cattle at the Cardwell ranch, the Paterson ranch, S. S. Bundy, and O. W. Cardwell, have no horned cattle, always dehorning at calves or yearlings. Horns are too expensive at the water and salt troughs, in the warm weather on the range, and cause a dock of from $4.50 to $10.50 per head on the market, according to a prominent cattle salesman on the Kansas City Market.

The community is also pretty much of a unit on the new hobby among us—polo. The club was organized by the men in self-defense. An air-tight, man-proof sewing circle had made its insidious advent among us, and home, with its sky turned feminine noses was fast becoming unendurable. The "Meadow-Brook Polo Club" (so named by Felix Watson) was the result. By the time of the second game, the militant instigators of sewing circles had been subdued, and, their attitude having become sufficiently penitent and humble by the time for the third game, they were allowed to be present. At this last and best game, Saturday before New Year, Captain Felix Watson and his team mates, Nat Cowsert, Bill Corder and Marvin Cowsert, made a score of 3 to 2 against the opposing team composed of Terry Cowsert, Joe Watson, Tommie Cowsert and O. W. Cardwell. Polo is typically a West Texas game, it being the home of good horses, good saddles and good riders, and is inexpensive game. The "Meadow Brook Polo Club" hereby issues a standing challenge to any aggregation of men any where, who think they can ride and hit.

CEDAR HILL THRILLS.

As the New Year has dawned and shone forth its splendor on this old world, surely it has cast its rays of reflection on a no more lovlier place, or a no more contented people, than dwells on the head of North Llano, and we take this method of sending a few thrills, reverberating down through the corridors of time, that will echo into the realms of the Great Beyond. So that we may let the outside world know that there dwells in this country peace and contentment, of which all places are not averse, and where the light of hospitality stands out as a light on yonder hill, and beckons to other communities to take heed where the people are stiring to a higher trend of education and also stiring with the same zeal to work for everything that is for the upbuilding of their school and community, and not hamper their fellow man.

As the coin that is dominant, the coin that seems to be the most current among mankind, is flattery, and the people or the community that has gone farthest in the conquest of nature, is the one who has stirred to keep farthest from this plan.

Arithmetic is the first tool of thought that man invents in the work of freeing himself from the thraldom of external forces. Number makes possible all the other sciences of nature that depend on exact measurements. So with these, science, patriotism, contentment and fair relying, with these four basic fundamentals that are apparent here, we are taking steps towards a more ideal community.

Mrs. Jeff Chapman and Mrs. J. T. Eubanks are on the sick list this week.

Mr. D. J. Adams and Mr. Will Kelly attended Commissioners' Court the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Spaulding are going to spend a few months at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Thiers.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Bode are going to move to Copperas next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bishop are the proud parents of a seven pound boy, born December 27, 1922.

Oscar and Shella Boltinghause returned home to Cherokee, Saturday, after a month's visit with relatives.

Miss Lena Shroyer is improving slowly.

Estes Smith and Meridith Joy went to Roosevelt Tuesday evening after school on business.

INTERESTING FACTS

106,327 Ford Cars and Trucks Retailed In November.

‡‡‡‡

Approximately the same number scheduled for delivery this month.

What Does this Mean?

THIS Volume of deliveries to actual owners is entirely unprecedented for this time of the year—

IT HAS Taxed the manufacturing ability of the Ford plants working at full capacity—

IT INDICATES a volume of business during the rapidly approaching months of "heavy demand" which will be far beyond the maximum of production schedule which the Ford Motor Company has set—

AND That means a Ford shortage even more acute than the one which existed last Spring and Summer. DEALERS' Stocks all over the country are low—there are no reserves to draw upon to meet the demand for delivery—

THERE Is no way in which dealer reserves can be built up, as deliveries have been made to customers as fast as Cars could be manufactured since last April.

THE Only way you can protect your desire to obtain prompt delivery of a Ford even at this time is to place your order immediately.

THIS Emphasizes more strongly than anything we could possibly say the necessity of your making prompt arrangements with a Ford Dealer for the listing of your order, particularly if you are contemplating the purchase of a Ford Car or Truck for use this Spring or Summer.

We believe you are entitled to know these facts as they actually exist..

CLUB AND SOCIETY NOTES.

(Edited by Mrs. A. W. Loeffler)

Sullivan-Wright.

Tuesday, January 9, 1923, at 1 p. m., Miss Willie B. Wright and Mr. J. F. Sullivan were united in the holy bonds of matrimony, at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. R. H. P. Wright. The ceremony took place before an improvised altar of greens and ferns in the living room. Prior to the entrance of the bridal party, Mrs. French Murphy of Nacodoches, sang, "I Love You Truly," then to the strains of Mendelsohnn's Wedding March, played by Mrs. Murphy, the attendants, Miss Dorris Wright, sister of the bride, and Mr. Eugene Sullivan, brother of the groom, entered and took their places on each side of the altar, followed by the bride and groom, who met the minister, Rev. R. E. Parker, before the altar, where the responses were made to the beautiful and impressive wedding ceremony which made them man and wife.

The bride wore a handsome suit of poiret twill, a smart brown suit hat and brown accessories; she carried a beautiful boquet of white carnations and ferns tied with white moline The groom wore conventional black. The maid of honor, Miss Dorris Wright, wore a beautiful navy canton crepe afternoon gown, trimmed with cascades of self material, which were held in place by metal cabochons; she also carried an arm boquet of white carnations and ferns with streamers of white maline.

After the ceremony the party repaired to the dining room, where a huge white wedding cake reposed on the table. In the center of the pretty cake was a dainty cut glass bud vase filled with white carnations and ferns. MissesMarguerite Wright Elsie Buck and Cecil Martin presided over the cake and the coffee table. The bride was the first to cut the cake, while the rest of the party followed suit. Junior Stevenson cut the dime, Miss Elsie Buck the button, How ell Wright the ring, Mrs. Fay Johnson the thimble and Carlton Wright the needle.

The bride is a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. R. H. P. Wright. She is a very accomplished young woman who grew to womanhood here and whose friends are numbered by the score. Mr. Sullivan is a widely known prosperous business man of Flatonia, Texas.

Only the immediate families of Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan and a few friends were present.

Mrs. French Murphy wore a black canton crepe, with pleated panels on skirt and sleeves, and an Alice blue feather corsage.

Mrs. Coke R. Stevenson wore an afternoon dress of brown canton made with a bertha of self material, a surplice skirt, while the whole was trimmed in small hand-made roses and accessories to match.

Mrs. R. H. P. Wright wore a tan canton crepe trimmed in black beads.

Mrs. Sam Sullivan's costume was a beaded navy canton gown a black picture hat and accessories to match.

Mrs. Fay Johnson wore brown trimmed canton crepe and a silver hat.

Mrs. Howell Wright wore a blue Poiret twill dress with brown accessories.

Immediately after the wedding ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Johnson, Misses Eula and Mary Ellen Sullivan and R. A. Sullivan left for San Antonio, where they will spend a few days before going to Flatonia to make their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Coke R. Stevenson entertained the out of town guests of the Sullivan-Wright wedding at dinner Monday evening. On the menu were fried chicken, mashed potatoes, peas, olives, pineapple salad, rice, ambrosia, angel food cake and coffee.

Miscellaneous Shower.

Monday evening, January 8, the Laf-a-lot Club and the Merry Wives Club complimented Miss Willie Wright with a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Coke R. Stevenson.

The guests in mirth-provoking costumes entered the living room in mock bridal pocession, in time to a wedding march played by Mrs. Weaver Baker. Mrs. L. L. Skaggs, as the blushing bride, wore a long white robe with a huge girdle and a flowing veil made the costume complete. Miss Lois Hankins created much laughter by her impersonation of a bashful groom. Then a big clothes basket was placed in front of the bride-to-be, Miss Willie Wright, who opened the many pretty and useful articles and read the verses which accompanied them. Delicious tea and cake were served to Misses Elsie Buck, Cecil Martin, Clara Fritz, Tyler Wilkinson, Ruth Baker, Lois and Blix Hankins, Totie Martin, Gladys Van Clief, Doris Holekamp, Elsie Mathis, Dorothy Mudge and Mesdames Lewis F. Boyle, W. H. Baker, L. L. Skaggs, O. H. Patterson, Douglas Motley, H. O. Denman, Carl Wolf, Frank Baker, and Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Stevenson, and the following out of town guests Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Sulivan, of San Antonio; Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Johnson, of Flatonia; Misses Mary Ellen and Eula Sullivan, R. A. Sullivan, of Yoakum, and J. F. Sullivan of Flatonia.

Forty-Two Party.

Miss Irene Knox of Leander, Texas, was the honoree of a progressive forty-two party last Friday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ragsdill.

Miss Achsah Baker made the high score and was presented with a pretty box of stationery. Astor Wallace won the booby, a bottle of "ketch-up."

The refreshments consisted of hot tamales, apples and delicious home-made candies. Those enjoying the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Ragsdill were, Misses Joan Wilson, Emma Pickett, Katherine Braley, Achsah Baker and Aston and Dennis Wallace, J. D. Baker, Max Riley, Sidney and Ernest Randle.

Dunk-Ethridge.

Quite a surprise came to the family of A. S. Ethridge on Monday morning, December 11, when their daughter, Mrs. M. C. Nenner of San Antonio called up and invited them down to the marriage of Miss Ada Ethridge, which was to take place that evening in that city. The wedding took place at the residence of Rev. I. E. Gates, pastor of the First Baptist Church of San Antonio, Texas.

The bride finished high school here several years ago, being a graduate of the 1917 class, and after her graduation, went to San Antonio with her two sisters, where she had been saleslady with Sugarman Bros., for the past three years.

They are followed by the well wishes of many friends of the bride and family here; may theirs be a happy and prosperous union thru life, is the wish of the Courier.—Blanco Courier.

Mr. Dunk is a well known young Kimble County ranchman from the Segovia community, who formerly lived on North Llano. They will make their home on the Dunk ranch where Mr. Dunk has recently erected a nice new residence. The good wishes of the Eagle, along with those of many friends of the contracting parties, are extended for a long and happy life together
