

SEPTEMBER 20-21 DATE SET FOR COUNTY FAIR

Golden Tornadoes Open Football Season Friday, September 20

Locals To Play First Game With Snyder

The Lamesa High School Tornado has been undergoing some strenuous practice in order to get ready for the opening of the 1935 season. Friday week will see the golden horde invading the Tiger Stadium at Snyder for the annual tussle with Red Hill's Tigers. This game is always a thriller and anything but a set-up for an early season game.

The local team will present an experienced backfield, but the biggest part of the line will be green and untried. However, there is not so much gloom over the team as one might spread, as the material at hand is making every effort to develop into a formidable machine. In the backfield, Jordan, Boswell, McKinnon, Gilbert, Eastenwood, Alexander, Allison and Sandel, will carry most of the burden. In the line Dude Gaines and "Whimpy" Cozzins will be the only carry-overs from last year's championship team. They will be assisted by such men as Walker, Manning, Lambeth, Boyd, Adams, Roberts Steele, Key, D. Adams, Hughes, Hahn, Fenley, and E. Roberts from last year's squad. Several new boys are making headway with the game, although they have never played before. McReynolds, Bristow, Jones, Scott and Bridgeman bid for consideration in the near future.

G. H. NELSON

G. H. Nelson Announces for Senator

G. H. Nelson, District Attorney of the 106th Judicial District, announced Monday his candidacy for State Senator 30th Senatorial District to succeed the late Honorable Arthur P. Duggan. He stated he would make an active personal campaign of the district and make known his platform at an early date. Governor Allred has called a special election for September 28 to fill the vacancy left by the prominent West Texas Senator.

"I will base my campaign," Nelson stated, "on the proper methods of liquor control, and on the old age pension problem, in accordance with the recently voted constitutional amendments. I will favor old age pensions such as will be in keeping with the ability of the State to pay, and seek to put such pensions in operation as quickly as possible.

"I favor education for West Texas children in equality with those of other sections of the State, and will seek adequate support of West Texas institutions of higher learning.

"If elected, I will fight for proper representation of West Texas in the legislature through redistricting of representative and senatorial districts as required by law."

He also stated he would lay special emphasis on agriculture, labor, highways, revenue and taxation.

Born thirty-three years ago on a farm in Cass County, Texas, Nelson early in life acquired an ambition to serve the people in public office. He worked his way through Hughes Springs High School, East Texas State Teachers College and the University of Texas Law School, following which he served as principal of Roscoe and Hermleigh High Schools, superintendent of Tahoka High School and Secretary-Manager of Tahoka and Ralls Chambers of Commerce.

Since 1928 Nelson has served two terms as county attorney of Lynn county and is now serving his second term, unopposed, as District Attorney under Judge Gordon B. McGuire, Lamesa.

"I believe," Nelson said, "that my twelve years in West Texas, with 3 of them devoted entirely to the study of West Texas problems and needs, my records before the bar, as a school man, as a civic and church worker, will show I am qualified for the office I now seek."

To Arrest All Traffic Law Violators

Last week due notice was given concerning traffic regulations as to speed and stopping at stop signs and special stress was made near our schools. It is noticed that several parents as well as school children have paid no attention to this warning.

Beginning next Monday morning, September 16th, the chief of police, Jack Phinizy, says he will tag all cars, trucks, etc., that violates any traffic regulations which includes stopping at stop signs and exceeding the speed limit of 20 miles per hour. This tag means "SEE THE MAYOR" and the Mayor says "Tell 'em, that if they are sent to my office for not stopping at stop signs or exceeding the speed limits they will have to pay off."

Folks this is an important matter and we can all help the city officials and in doing so may save the life of a child or a person in our town. Let us do our part in seeing that our cars stop at stop signs and do not exceed the speed limit. No matter how high the station in life or who it is the city hall force says they mean to enforce these regulations.

Parents are also urgently requested to see that their children refrain from walking in the streets. Please cooperate with the city officials in this matter as it is for the good of all.

Have You Contributed To The County Fair?

Mr. Business Man—have you made your contribution to the FAIR?

Going to have a good one. It will be held at the Agricultural Department at the CCC camp.

If you have not made a contribution look up the committee and do so at once. Of course you will want to do your part—and have a part in the fair. Remember it takes money to have a fair. If the other fellow pays and we have a fair you will get some of the benefits—that's true—but you are not that sort of a fellow—you will want to help finance it and do your part—because like the rest of the fellows you get what business you have by reason of being here and from Dawson county farmers, who want this fair.

The Dawson County Courier will publish a special Fair Edition on next Wednesday, September 18, giving complete coverage of the trade territory.

The management asks the cooperation of the merchants in getting this paper to our readers on time. Already many of the local merchants have expressed themselves as wanting to have special advertisements at this time to help advertise the Fair and to tell the people of this territory of the many special bargains they are arranging for those days, and in order not to be late it will be necessary for the merchants to prepare their copy earlier than we may make arrangements to care for it.

The Courier has a big assortment of advertising illustrations for fairs, fall merchandise, attention compellers, and in fact, anything you need. Call on us, we will be glad to assist you in any way for we too want to make these the biggest days in the fall calendar for Lamesa.

1102 ENROLLED IN LAMESA SCHOOLS

The Lamesa Public Schools were opened last Monday, September 9. There was a heavy rain the night before but it was not heavy enough to stop appreciable numbers of pupils from appearing at the respective buildings in time for the opening exercises.

Six-hundred ninety pupils were at the elementary school and 412 were at the high school, for a total of 1102. The comparison with last year's opening day attendance is as follows: Elementary School first day attendance, September 11, 1934, 703. High school 337, total 1040, and reached 1077 by the end of the first week. This year's gain is all in the high school grades since the elementary school shows an opening day loss while the higher grades had a gain of 62.

Authorities report that there are some 200 white children who have not yet presented themselves for enrollment. The tenth and eleventh grades are the largest in membership in the system and are more than 100 each.

The high school opening talk was made by Rev. E. H. Surface who spoke about the characteristics of a student and expressed his best wishes to the student body and his keen interest in their achievements. He also stated that he will be absent from many school activities locally because he is taking upon himself teaching duties in Trinity University, Waxahachie, Texas, for the ensuing term.

The exercises were attended by several visitors who with pupils filled the large auditorium.

The first bus to serve Lamesa and others schools was delayed a bit by the mud on the first trip. This bus, driven by Mr. Thurman serves Patricia, Klondike, Wilson and Ballard districts.

The preliminaries of enrollment were completed during Monday and schools were underway at full speed on Tuesday. The increased attendance in high school grades had been anticipated to the extent that the pupils were placed, books issued and classroom assignments were completed by early afternoon. The work was quickly accomplished by a competent staff in the elementary grades. All teachers and employees were on hand for duty.

The first of the regular high school assembly programs was given on Tuesday by the High School band directed by Mr. Conway King. They played the school melodies used in athletic contests to form an attractive program.

Part time classes for adults given in commercial subjects by Miss Barnes are under way beginning at 3:15 p. m. and the persons desiring to improve their status of employability are urged to enroll at once for the benefits of the courses.

Cecil Key has returned from Tech summer school.

Welding

... the best way to make a perfect union of two pieces of metal is by welding them together.

... and the best way to get a more pleasing flavor and a better taste in a cigarette is by welding together the different types of tobacco ...

That is just what we do in making CHESTERFIELD Cigarettes—the three types of mild ripe home-grown tobaccos, that is tobaccos grown in this country, are welded together. Then they are welded with aromatic Turkish.

When these tobaccos are welded together you get a combined flavor which is entirely different from any one type of tobacco.

It is this welding of the right amounts of the right kind of tobaccos that makes CHESTERFIELD a milder and better-tasting cigarette.

How often do we hear this expression? It simply means that in the structure of the foot there are certain misaligned bones.

How often during the day do you say "My feet are killing me"?

How many of your friends walk with that playing out, wooden footed motion?

By correcting that misaligned bone or bones, we stop those cramps, bunions, tired and aching feet and limbs.

GOV. ALLRED

Gov. Allred's Speech To Confederate Vets

The tribute paid by Governor James V. Allred to the Confederate Veterans last week before their 45th Annual Reunion at Amarillo is full of stirring praise for the brave deeds of the South in defense of their ideals of states rights. Because we cherish the memory of the Confederacy and because possibly the last reunion of the thinning grey ranks was held in our state, the following excerpts from Governor Allred's speech should be of interest to our readers.

"As we catch the torch of Jeffersonian Democracy from your failing hands," the Governor said to the Veterans, "we renew our pledge to you to pass on to our posterity the creed of our forefathers—to fight and die, if need be, for the principles of state sovereignty as guaranteed by the Constitution!"

"I think it was Joseph Weldon Bailey, the great states rights defender of Texas history, who once said, 'No triumph or defeat can change the immutable principles of free government.' That truth was never more evident than today—70 years after the surrender of General Lee at Appomattox.

"The greatest discussion in the history of the nation has waged through out the land in recent months over proposed or threatened changes in this government which has been handed down to us from the time that our early forefathers gathered in groups to discuss the ratification of the Constitution. Suggestions have emanated that in America's hour of distress we should give up all that the framers of the Constitution insisted should go into it, that we should amend it so as to give the federal government the power to regulate the intricate and minute details of personal life and business. Small wonder indeed that turbulent thoughts should be aroused and seethingly churned in the minds of those who believe in the principles of states rights!"

"The eternal principles of right and of good government are eternal and everlasting. You may change the application of a rule to changing conditions, but time brings no necessity for altering time-tried and time-proven rules of good government. It is inevitable and natural that slow and gradual change shall take place in this living constitution by construction and the change of the people themselves, but up until now we have preserved that essential characteristic, an American Republic, from fatal experience of all other forms of government. We have guarded against strong national government, we have adhered to the theory of states rights."

"To you immortal heroes of the Confederacy, I say that we in Texas pledge our allegiance to the cause of states rights—that true Democracy for which you so nobly fought. Texans, with the memory of the blood so illustriously shed by our fathers in the immortal defense of the Alamo probably more than the citizens of any other state believe in states rights and local self-government. "As descendants of a proud and fearless, free and independent republic which recognized tribute to no nation, we would be unworthy of the proud heritage we claim should we not stand firm for the sovereign principles of state government so expressly granted by the United States Constitution."

The Approved I. E. S. Better Sight Lamp

- Wide opening at the top of the shade throws light to ceiling and eliminates shadows.
- Glass reflector softens light, prevents glare.

- Wide shade gives ample light over your work.
- Shade lining is white to reflect more light.
- Lamp is high enough to light a large working area.

IMPORTANT
Be sure to look for the authorized certification tag on the lamp you buy. It isn't an I. E. S. Better Sight Lamp if it doesn't have this tag.

Drive Away the Frown with Better Light

A frown is the danger signal that your child may be reading in a poor light and perhaps is straining a pair of precious eyes. Fortunately, new lamps have been designed to provide just the right amount of glareless light for reading or studying. Protect the eyesight of your family with these lamps.

Luncheon Club Pays Tribute To Duggan

The Lamesa Luncheon Club boxed its head in memoriam to Senator Arthur P. Duggan who recently was buried in Austin. A program of praise for Senator Duggan as a man, as a citizen, and as a senator was given at this meeting.

Mrs. Carl Rountree had arranged several good numbers of appropriate music for the occasion. Miss Kirk entertained beautifully with her violin while the luncheon was being served. The High School Trio sang to the delight of all at the close of the Luncheon.

Eulogies were paid Mr. Duggan by M. Q. Martin, Wm. A. Wilson, Carl Rountree, V. Z. Rogers and C. O. Stone.

George Norman was in charge of the arrangement of this program and presented it in appropriate order.

The county agent's department will be called on next Tuesday to present a program about the coming County Fair.

Harley Sadler's Shows Coming to Lamesa

Harley Sadler's many friends in this territory have been wondering what his recently acquired circus looks like. Well, they are soon to have opportunity to see, and they won't be disappointed either. Harley has just written Allen-Houston Post officials that he will be with them this fall in Lamesa, both with his circus and his regular Big Tent Theatre. The exact dates have not been set, but the regular theatre will probably be here the last week or the latter part of October. Everybody knows what the Sadler shows are, and that when Harley says he has a good show you are going to find it just that way. Here is what Harley says about his circus: "I will personally guarantee our performance as being the best three ring circus ever showing at popular prices." General admission will be only 25 cents and 15 cents for reserved seats. The big free parade, yes he really gives you the big parades of the good old circus days, will be more than worth the price of admission. Watch for full announcements at an early date. The local American Legion boys join with Harley in absolutely guaranteeing you will get your money's worth when you see his shows.

E. Holler, vice president and general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company. August sales were 33,623 greater than in the same month last year, an increase of over 51 per cent, and exceeded every other August in the history of the company including August 1928. This August's sales exceeded the 1928 record by 4,100 units, Mr. Holler said.

THE MAN FROM YONDER

by HAROLD TITUS

Copyright 1928-1934, Harold Titus. WNU Service.

laney's in the country you've got to keep low. Get back to camp; stay there; let us pick some man I can trust to follow Bart and Brandt night and day so you'll not be caught!"

"No," Ben shook his head resolutely. "I'll go on about my business as I should. I've never run yet and don't like to start any fast foot work now."

"But it's your life that's at stake, Ben! Don't be silly. That's what recklessness is: downright silly! That's not like you. Why, not taking precautions in this thing is like monkeying with a high tension wire."

"No good, Able. I couldn't hold up my head if I hid out after the way I've made."

So Able was forced to give up after a time and shuffled up the street, drawing off his mitten again and rubbing his face briskly with his palm.

He had only reached his office and was unlocking the door when Aunt Em, walking grimly as if with a definite purpose, approached.

"Good morning—" he began.

"Forget the palaver, Able Armitage!" the woman said sharply. "You're in trouble. So are we all, maybe. That's why I came to see you. Is it true what they say that this Red Bart Delaney has showed up here in Tincup?"

"As true as disease or death or anything else unpleasant."

"That's what I'd heard! Do I have to guess why he's come?"

Able untied his scarf and shook his head sadly.

"No, Em. Your first guess will be right. And he took a shot at Benny yesterday!"

"And missed, I'd judge from the look of him just now. But if he's still here there'll be a next time; and he won't miss then. Did you do your duty and send the boy to some safe place?"

Able sighed and told her of his talk with Ben.

"So you couldn't make him listen to reason!" she muttered. "Well, if you can't, I can't. And, us falling, there's only one other who would have a ghost of a show."

"Dawn?"

She nodded. "Dawn cot J. But she won't... She won't go to him now. She wouldn't even listen to me talk about him, she's in such a state. She's up to the ears in love with Ben Elliott or I've got three legs! And then to have that scandalous woman do what she did and upset it all!"

She sat down heavily in a chair and drew a great breath.

"I don't have to ask you or any other man about Ben Elliott, Able! I know the clean and decent folks when I see 'em. I'd bet my reputation as a Christian woman on that boy! That piece of play acting at the dance was some of Nick Brandon's work, you can bet your last red cent! I had to give him a piece of my mind just for relief the other day and, goodness me, what a look he give me! Why, Able, that man's worse than ever I thought! My, oh, my! He gave me a look that like to freeze the blood right in my veins, after all the years of palaver and soft talkin' I've listened to from him!"

"Well, what I'm gettin' at is this: The boy's in danger of bein' murdered every minute of day and night unless he takes your advice. There's no one left to try to talk him into being careful but Dawn. And how am I going to get her to see her duty when she goes into a cryin' fit every time his name's mentioned? Yes, sir. Every time she hears his name."

"She doesn't yet see that the affair was a put-up job, then?"

"See? She can't see anything, Able Armitage! Put yourself in her place. Suppose you were a young girl who's had the things to bear that she has all her life; and suppose you fell in love for the first time; and suppose that young man was accused of such nastiness right in public with everybody listening and gawping? Would you stop to figure that the reason he seemed guilty was natural? That the thing was so far fetched from the truth and such a shock that he was all kerfummoxed? I should say you wouldn't! You'd do just what she's doin'; make yourself all sick with chills and fever by cryin'!"

She twitched at the skirts of her cloak irritably and glared at the old justice as though he were a sworn enemy instead of a friend.

"What ails her is shock. She ain't got over the shock yet and every time his name or anything else about him is mentioned it sets her off again. She'll get over it, give her time. But then she'll be so humiliated to think she didn't use her reason that she won't be herself for another spell. And she should be herself now! There ain't any time to lose. She should patch up her misunderstanding with him right today—right this hour—and use her influence to persuade him to keep low. But how it's to be done I'd like to know. For Lord's sake, Able, ain't you got a single suggestion?"

The justice had been stuffing light wood into his stove during this. Now he touched a match to the tinder, opened the drafts and stood with hands behind him, rusty overcoat unbuttoned and drooping, deep in thought.

"It's difficult to get anyone in her state to use reason. Maybe the shock of knowing that Ben's life is in danger would be a counter irritant to this other shock. Maybe not. If the affair of last week could be cleared up, if Dawn could be shown that this Lydia woman was only carrying out a plan... But I wonder..."

Aunt Em stiffened in her chair. She looked hard at Able and her eyes narrowed a trifle.

"You see," he resumed, "if the girl—"

"Hold on, Able Armitage!" she cut in, holding up a hand in warning. "Hold on, now! I've got to think... Got to think, I tell you! And I can't think while you carry on your gabble! You leave me alone, now... Keep your tongue still... They say a woman's tongue is hung in the middle and loose at both ends... But... Yum... As she pressed one hand over her eyes her words dwindled to unintelligible mumblings.

"I've got it!" she cried excitedly after a moment. "I've got it, now! You stay right here, Able! You stay until I come back. If it works, it

The State Public School Music Program

In view of the great Texas Centennial Program to be held in 1936, the State Department of Education is culminating a public school music program that will attract attention. To that end it is requesting the cooperation of every city and county superintendent, principal, and teacher in the state of Texas.

The State Department of Education has prepared Bulletin 318 entitled "The Teaching of Music in Texas Public Schools," by Miss Nell Parmley, State Deputy Superintendent and N. J. Whitehurst. This bulletin outlines in detail the proposed music program. A sufficient number of copies for all the schools in the county have been ordered, and may be had at the county superintendents office. Teachers are urged to study it carefully.

The program in the Bulletin suggests three years for the completion of the chorus plan. In order to have State program culminate for the Texas Centennial in 1936, the third year for each chorus outlined has been added to the first and second year of each chorus respectively. This allows additional songs to be learned by each chorus the first and second years.

The equipment necessary to carry on this program is a good portable phonograph, needles and records on which are recorded the songs to be learned, and one copy of "The Music Hour One Book Course" for each pupil. Rural Aid schools are permitted to include the cost of this equipment on their expenditures for rural aid. Schools other than Rural aid schools are urged to provide themselves with this music equipment.

A majority of the schools in this county are already provided with phonographs and records. If your school did not participate in the music program last year all the songs for this year's program will be found on these same records with the exception of one new record. If you participated in the program last year you will have to purchase only one new record, unless you desire to include some Texas songs which are recorded on three records, making only four records in all.

What's to hinder our having a county-wide chorus which includes all the school children of Dawson county next spring? It wouldn't be a bad way to celebrate Texas Independence Day.

The best chorus groups will be selected next year to make up the state-wide chorus. You will, indeed, want your school and your county represented. Let's begin now to organize our music program, and let's sing some while we work. A singing nation is a happy nation.

Watch for further announcements concerning this music program.

50 Law Suits Filed In District Court

Loving County, represented by Lockhart and Brown, attorneys of Lubbock, have filed fifty civil suits in the District Court of Dawson county. The nature of the suits is trespass to try title.

It is claimed by Loving county that school land awarded them by the State of Texas was illegally disposed of and are suing to regain title to four leagues of land situated in the southwest part of Dawson county. Suits are to be tried at the next regular term of District court in Dawson County.

Miss Hazel Shipp was a business visitor in Lubbock Saturday.

Many Events To Be Featured On Next First Monday

Lamesa is looking forward toward next First Monday, October 7th. Ed Noret, who successfully conducted the last First Monday will again be in charge and this means that there will be plenty of fun and entertainment and the whole affair will be conducted in an orderly manner.

The big feature will be the AMATEUR contest. This will be broadcast over loudspeakers from a specially erected platform and substantial money prizes will be given to the different classes who enter the contest. People, get ready with all sorts of talent that we have in the county and trade territory and be on hand to compete in these contests next First Monday. Detailed announcement will be made in next week's paper. Look for it ad begin now with your number.

Noret says we will again have the races. Stress will be placed on the tail and model T races. There will also be a horse pulling contest, to determine the strongest horses that are here First Monday, different classes and prize money. Plans are going forward to make the race program outstanding and far better than last First Monday.

Noret requests that all who will make a small contribution to this program should see him. This is a non-profit program and any person in the county should feel free to contribute.

State Senator Duggan Dies Suddenly Friday

Arthur P. Duggan of Littlefield, state senator of the 30 senatorial district, died unexpectedly of a heart attack at the home of his sister-in-law, Miss Mary Herral, in Gonzales shortly after noon Friday.

Honors reserved for the state's distinguished citizens were accorded on Sunday afternoon at the funeral service in the Senate chamber, and burial was made in the state cemetery. His body lay in state in the chamber where he served the people of the State of Texas for more than three years, from 12 o'clock until 2:30. Rev. Lawrence Wharton, pastor of the University Presbyterian church, conducted the rites at the capitol and Littlefield Masonic Lodge No. 1611, of which he was past master, directed the interment rites. Members of the senate and Lieutenant-Governor Walter Woodul were honorary pallbearers.

Well-Known in South Plains
Senator Duggan has been called the founder of Littlefield, and was prominent in all civic affairs in West Texas. He was sixth president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, but his election to the 43rd Senate in 1932 was his first venture into state politics. He was considered an expert on taxation, and as chairman of an interim committee, he had recommended extensive tax reforms.

To Elect Successor
Under the statutes, the governor may set a special election date any time after the first 30 days following a senate vacancy, but if such a vacancy occurs within 10 days of a meeting of the legislature, he may set the election date any time after the expiration of the first 20 days. Since Senator Duggan's death occurred just 10 days before the forthcoming legislative session set for September 16th, the governor has set September 23rd as date to elect someone to finish out his term, which would have expired in 1937.

Educational Exhibits Planned For Fair

Four Home Demonstration clubs are working on educational exhibits for the county fair.

These exhibits will present contrasts in the methods of doing the various things which pertain to home management or home making. The Central club is planning an exhibit which shows the small repairs that any farm family may make. The tiled garden is being prepared by the Midway club. The pantry of yesterday and the pantry of today will be arranged by the Sparenberg club and the wardrobe before and after taking (the demonstration) is the exhibit being arranged by the Wilson club.

A small cash prize is being offered for the best exhibit.

Mrs. T. B. Boyd and family have returned from a trip to Decatur and Bridgeport.

FARM NOTES

By Joe C. Williams, County Agent

1935 Cotton Loan Plan

The new loan provides for a loan of 10 cents per pound on seven-eighths low middling basis or better. The total received by growers of cotton which does not command premiums cannot exceed 12 cents per pound. Instead of making the adjustment payment on the basis of the four months average of 10 spot markets, this adjustment will be made on the daily average of the 10 markets. In other words the adjustment will be made on the 10 spot markets average on the day the cotton is sold by the producer. These adjustment payments will be made through the cotton year up to August 1, 1936. As before stated they will be made to producers who have cooperated in the adjustment program and who agree to participate in the 1936 crop program. Adjustment payments to cotton farmers will be limited to 2 cents per pound. If it should develop that prices fall below 10 cents per pound, producers would be expected to put their cotton in the loan and wait for prices to recover. Loans and payments will be restricted to actual production not in excess of the Bankhead allotment. This program of loans and adjustment payments on the 1935 crop will go into effect as soon as it is physically possible to set up the necessary machinery.

Growers Should Keep Sales Records

Growers who will soon have cotton for sale should by all means obtain and keep sales receipts from buyers, so as to have adequate sales records on which the government will be able to make adjustment payments under the new loan plan. Producers are urged to keep a careful record, which will include a description of the cotton sold, the buyer to whom sold, the date of the sales and names of the parties including tenants, who have an interest in the cotton sold. It is very important that the producer get from the buyer a memorandum of sale and the gross weight of the bale or bales sold. The farm record books that are available free in the agent's office should come in handy for this purpose.

Arsenic Poisoning

Two farmers who have been poisoning worms with White Arsenic have reported cases of poisoning of cattle.

Symptoms of poisoning: Sudden appearance of violet colic pains, together with excessive thirst, straining and Diarrhea should make the owner suspicious.

Treatment: Hydrated Oxide of Iron, should be made up fresh by dissolving 4 ounces of iron sulphate in one half pint of water, to this add one half pint of water to which has been mixed one ounce of powdered magnesia. The entire mixture should be given as one dose.
