Wall Street's Shares Down $1 To $5

Heaviest Selling Volume In Weeks Experienced; Foreign Paper Slides

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Mar. 16—European and New York security markets broke sharply today in the midst of pessimistic reactions to the war fears abroad.

Prices of leading issues on the New York Stock exchange were down $1 to around $5 at midday in the heaviest selling volume in some weeks.

British Issues Down

The London stock exchange, Amsterdam bourse and Paris bourse closed weaker. British government issues were down 13-8 to 21-8 points.

Leading foreign currencies again broke sharply in the flight of capital from European countries to find a refuge in the American dollar.

Wall Street houses with foreign connection said there was considerable selling of stocks in the New York market by European holders and the decline here was also attributed partly to a sympathetic reaction to the general weakness of security markets in Europe.

Rail shares, finding little inspiration in the White House conference on carrier problems, suffered, many dropping to new lows for the year.

Commodities Hold Better

Major commodities, including grains and cotton, held better than securities.

Nervousness over the European situation again seemed to account in large measure for the unsettlement. Traders here noted European markets mostly were weak, with further liquidation in central European loans. Spanish developments were considered approaching a crisis and rumors of French aid for the loyalists stirred speculative circles.

Quickly relinquishing the preceding rally gains, metal, steel, farm implement, chemical and other industrial groups led the decline, some falling to the lowest quotations since early February.

Leaders In Retreat

In the forefront of the retreat were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, International Nickel, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Anaconda, Kennecott, American Smelting, Santa Fe, New York Central, du Pont, Standard Oil of New Jersey, American Can and Westinghouse.

Traders hastened to take profits when the market around the opening showed little inclination to extend the Tuesday recovery. U.

Showing an increase of more than 50 per cent over last year, federal income tax returns in Lubbock this year numbered 900 to 1,000, it was estimated at the bureau of internal revenue offices in the federal building this morning.

Next quarterly installment will be due not later than June 15, L. B. Barkley, deputy internal revenue collector here, said.

Eighteen Dead After Tornadic Winds Sweep Through Eight States Tuesday

(By The Associated Press)

With 18 bodies recovered, authorities in eight Mississippi valley states directed searches today for possible additional victims of a windstorm of tornadic proportions.

The gale hit portions of Louisiana, Alabama, Georgia, Tennessee, Arkansas, Missouri, Illinois and Iowa yesterday, leaving an estimated 1,000 persons homeless.

From time to time, as the storm swept northward up the Mississippi, it developed "twisters" which mowed paths for miles along the country below.

The most damaging twister struck directly on Belleville, Ill., killing at least eight persons, injuring scores, and wreaking $1,000,000 property damage. Several persons were reported missing.

Six persons were killed over a long stretch of territory in Missouri. Three were known to have been killed in Alabama and one in Georgia.

Homes Splintered Like Matchwood In Missouri

KENNETT, Mo., March 16 (AP)—Six persons were known dead and hundreds of homes, splintered like matchwood, littered a 20-mile path through Missouri's "bootheel" today, the toll of a roaring tornado.

Leaping from northeastern Arkansas late yesterday, the twister demolished everything before it in a straight sweep through a thickly populated rural area in cotton-growing Dunklin county.

Many Injured Seriously

Scores were injured, many seriously. Survivors said "it was a miracle" the loss of life had not been much greater and that more were not grievously hurt.

Lee Walker, 71, tenant farmer, and his son, Bert, 25, were plunged to death in a slough from their nearby cottage. Mrs. Walker, 74, was hurled across the swamp, her body badly mangled.

Grady Sanderson, 23-year-old farmer was killed by a flying plank in the Bakerville community.

The storm also dipped into Pemiscot county and zig-zagged northward into Butler, Washington and Jefferson counties causing wide-spread damage.

Other Sections Visited

Other sections of Missouri, particularly the southwestern and eastern, were visited by high winds.

Apparently the twister struck

Yoakum Boys Enter Calves

Bearing out predictions that the rush of entries for the eighth annual South Plains Junior Fat Stock show here April 4, 5 and 6 is about to begin, nine Yoakum county 4-H club boys this morning submitted lists of livestock which will compete for prizes.

All the animals are entered in various classes of the baby beef division, including five official entries in the "group of three" class. Other divisions will be for lights, weighing up to 850 pounds, and heavies weighing more than 850.

To Appear On Broadcast

The entries were submitted by H. B. Horn, Yoakum county farm agent with headquarters at Plains. He advised that several of the boys will appear at 1:30 o'clock Friday afternoon on the radio program over station KFYO sponsored by the Yoakum 4-H boys.

The boys who filed the new fat stock show entries are: Jack Cleveland, John Sam and Roby Cox, Manard and Marvin Fitzgerald and Hershel Stanford, all of Plains, and J. W. and Charles Williams, and Clarence Hinkle, all of Tokio.

Meeting Is Scheduled

Announcement also was made that the first meeting of the committee to arrange entertainment for boys participating in the show will be held at the chamber of commerce at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. Members of the committee are Homer Thompson, assistant Lubbock county farm agent; L. M. Hardgrave, vocational agriculture teacher at Frenship; Ralph W. Howe, Crosby county farm agent; Roy Monk, vocational agriculture teacher at Roosevelt; and L. L. Johnson, state boys club agent at College Station.

Johnson, however, will be unable to attend. Word was received that he is ill at College Station and it is uncertain whether he will be able to attend the show at any time.

Check For $2,122.90 To Be Mailed Parking Meter Firm

Check for $2,122.90 will be mailed to Dual Parking Meter company at Oklahoma City probably Thursday, increasing to $11,243.51 the amount Lubbock has paid on its parking meters, according to information given this morning by D. D. Martin, city auditor.

The payment will mean that the city has reduced the total parking meter debt of approximately $34,800 by nearly one-third. In addition, the city now has on hand nearly $1,000 in March collections which will be paid to the company after April 1.

The meters continue to produce a daily revenue between $85 and $90, of which 75 per cent is applied on the cost of the parking devices. Purchase price of the meters was $58 each.

Voluntary Movements Made By Girl After Operation

KANSAS CITY, March 16 (AP)—The thrill of a 20-year lifetime came to brave Sylva Davis of Kansas City today.

For the first time Sylva made voluntary movements of her right leg and left hand. Her speech, too, was clearer than ever before.

In addition, she was able to breathe a short time outside the respirator in which she has lived since a delicate spinal operation was performed eight days ago.

In the operation, surgeons crushed small bundles of nerves in an effort to free the spinal passages for nerve messages. Inability of these nerve messages to reach Sylva's limbs had made her a cripple since birth.

Doctors believe that in another week they will know definitely whether Sylva will regain normal use of her limbs.

Robert Taylor He-Manized In Typical Movie Style; Black Eye Painted On Him Later

BY DAN DE LUCE
Associated Press Staff Writer

CULVER CITY, Calif., March 16—They he-manized Robert Taylor in a laboratory of flying fists.

Robert Taylor

Four heavyweights hired by M-G-M to look like masters of mayhem, knocked the flower of Nebraska manhood from pillar to post in the rip-roaringest brawl of recent cinema history. And it looked as though Taylor liked it. He asked for more.

The slugfest was part of the drama of "Three Comrades," in which Taylor, Franchot Tone and Robert Young, as ex-soldiers, come home to Germany from the war—dead broke, blue, but tough.

M-G-M hopes the role will accent Taylor's sock-appeal.

Out on the back lot, in a street lined with plaster houses, workmen with sledge hammers battered an old Minerva limousine to make it seem it had been in an accident.

Camera ready, Taylor walked into view to claim the wreckage.

Henchmen Encircle Him

A plug-ugly (actually he's a nice chap, but he acts mighty mean for $25 a day) shoved Taylor back. Three henchmen, grossing 600 pounds, encircled the Nebraska middleweight.

"Let's throw him down the sewer," said the plug-ugly.

Taylor stuck out his chin. "Where you live?" he said.

The fight was on.

It lasted three minutes — a full

Knox Warns People Facing Decision

CHARLOTTE, N. C., March 16 (AP)—Col. Frank Knox, Chicago publisher, told North Carolina Republicans today that the American people should decide whether they want democracy and free competition or planned economy and a government vested in a supreme executive authority.

The 1936 Republican vice presidential candidate, keynoting the republican state convention, said in a prepared address that "the 'controls' which Mr. Roosevelt would establish are impossible under our present form of government and under our present economic policy."

Comparing conditions in 1933 with those of today, he commented that although the government had spent more than $40,000,000,000 since 1933, "we are back substantially where we started five years ago, and we are back there principally because those responsible for national policy fail to recognize, understand and give heed to this simple truth—that democracy and free competition are inseparable."

Georgian Has Good Reason For Being Red About The Ears

ATLANTA, Mar. 16. (AP)—If J. T. Hunt, jr., is slightly red about the ears today there is a good reason.

Last night, while at the movies with his wife, he noticed a small purse on the floor. Gallantly he picked it up and offered it to a woman standing nearby.

"Thank you so much!" said the woman, as she disappeared into the darkness of the theater.

A few minutes later Mrs. Hunt missed her small purse, which contained $33 and some valuable papers.

"And I just gave it to a stranger," gasped Hunt.

Level Of Farm Prices Drop But Food Prices Hold Up

WASHINGTON, March 16 (AP)—Agriculture department economists said today the level of prices of farm products declined about 24 per cent in the last year, but retail food prices did not fall correspondingly.

Consumers received the advantage of only 7.3 per cent of the drop in farm prices. Prices of products farmers buy, the economists said, declined only 4.5 per cent.

Mobilization Bill Passes In Japan

TOKYO, March 16 (AP)—The house of representatives today passed without dissent and without amendment the army-sponsored national mobilization bill, against which house members had fought bitterly until a few days ago.

Opponents of the bill had declared it would place dictatorial wartime powers in the hands of the government and that it was copied after the laws of Fascist Italy and Nazi Germany.

Army circles were jubilant over passage of the bill through the house and the collapse, which became apparent two days ago, of civilian opposition.

The bill still has to have approval of the house of peers, but the government believed it would meet no serious obstacles there.

Rail Holding Units May Go

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 16—Strict regulation—if not outright abolition—of railroad stockholding companies may be proposed at this session of congress, administration advisers said today.

Although Chairman Wheeler (D-Mont) of the senate railroad investigating committee said no legislation had been drafted yet, he indicated the problem was undergoing thorough study.

Result Of Search

The action would be one result of President Roosevelt's search for ways to relieve the financial distress of the nation's rail lines.

At his press conference late yesterday, Mr. Roosevelt said the need for continuing holding companies had been discussed by the representatives of railway labor and management, government officials and congressmen who met with him earlier in the day.

To End "Abuses"

There was general agreement, he said, that such companies were not much in the public interest. Their abolition or control, other informed persons said, would be designed both to end "abuses" of ownership attributed to them and to ease the financial burdens imposed on some roads by their holding company obligations.

The only other general agreement reached by the conferees, it was reported, was that in event of consolidations or pooling of services, provision would have to be made to avoid throwing men out of work.

The Redheads Get A Break At Last; Television Likes 'Em!

(By The Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16 — A new profession looms for redheaded girls. They're expected to be the television stars of tomorrow.

Tests by the Farnsworth Television company show that they're the only ones whose hair transmits effectively. Blonde hair shows up poorly in a television transmitter, while brunette hair tends to appear as a black mass and contrast too strongly with the subject's face.

Best subject yet to be tested in the local laboratory of the company is Doris Brownlee, a young artist. George Everson, who backed young Philo T. Farnsworth in his original experiments, says her intricate coiffure of auburn tresses came through wonderfully.

Further tests in the so-called "birthplace of electronic television" here have shown the weirdly colored make-up originally used in television to be unnecessary, although a little blue pigment is needed in the lipstick. Otherwise a good street make-up works all right.

From the technical standpoint, Everson believes, television is "ready to go."

Bartholomew Molinario applies a touch of blue lipstick for red-haired Doris Brownlee, in preparation for a television test.

Europe's War Fears Center On Spain

French Government Faces Grave Decisions; More Aid Given Franco!

BY RADER WINGET
Associated Press Foreign Writer

LONDON, Mar. 16 — Europe's war fears centered on Spain today as Germany's Hitler returned to Berlin, having conquered Austria without a shot and received the welcome of a hero.

Latest dispatches from Spanish war fronts indicated stiffening of government resistance, but the French government nevertheless was confronted with grave decisions to

FRANCE SEEKS ARMISTICE

PARIS, March 16 (AP)—Premier Leon Blum today dispatched an urgent appeal to British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain to join him in immediate attempts to bring about a Spanish armistice.

At the same time Blum requested that Britain take concerted action with France to ward off the danger which he declared the great number of Italian and German troops in Spanish insurgent ranks constituted for French and British communications in the Mediterranean.

be made concerning Spanish government Premier Juan Negrin's appeal for help and reports of fresh German and Italian legions in Spain.

Reports Declared False

The German embassy in London denied as "false and untrue in every detail" the report published last night by the Spanish government news agency that 30,000 German storm troopers were en route from a German port to Spain to help end the civil war in an insurgent victory.

Despite indications of more stubborn government resistance on fronts only about 40 miles from the Mediterranean, the insurgent sweep through Aragon still threatened to split Barcelona and Catalonia from Valencia and the rest of government Spain.

Continues Smashing Drive

The Spanish insurgent army continued its smashing drive through the heart of government Spain, along the Mediterranean sea, and the French cabinet gave attention to what military or diplomatic measures could be taken as the result of Spanish Premier Negrin's appeal for help.

Negrin, in a flying dash to Paris, was reported to have told France

Victim Of Accident To Be Buried Today

(Special To The Journal)

MATADOR, March 16 — Funeral services were to be held at Turkey this afternoon for Winburn Q. Montgomery, 15, resident of Montgomery community in north Motley county, who was killed instantly by an accidental gunshot wound while hunting late Monday.

The body was found about 2 o'clock Tuesday morning after a posse of several hundred men had assisted in a search which began about dusk. About 75 volunteers from Turkey, where the boy attended high school assisted.

Reports to Sheriff L. A. Carlisle here said the position of the body indicated the boy first had crawled through the fence and then, grasping the barrel, had attempted to draw the shotgun to him. Death apparently was instantaneous.

The father, who is a candidate for county commissioner, said the boy left home to go hunting immediately after returning from school. The father and son lived alone.

Both Nations To Fight To Defend Czechoslovakia

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, March 16—France and Russia agreed today that both would fight to defend Czechoslovakia if she were attacked.

Jacob Suritz, Soviet ambassador to France, called on Foreign Minister Joseph Paul-Boncour at the Quai d'Orsay and delivered assurances similar to those delivered by the Soviet ambassador to Praha—that Russia would fight for the defense of her Czech ally.

Paul-Boncour replied to the assurances with a promise that France too would fight in the same cause.

Adolf Hitler, Fuehrer of a realm expanded bloodlessly last week by his Austrian coup, had proclaimed himself the "protector" of all Germanic peoples on Germany's borders in his Feb. 20 reichstag speech.

Believed Next Objective

Incorporation of Czechoslovakia's 3,500,000 Sudeten Germans is believed to be the next objective of Hitler's Pan-Germanism.

Both France and the Soviet Union planned to rush fighting and bombing planes to Czechoslovakia if Hitler resorted to force to achieve this objective, informed sources said.

Hitler Returns To Berlin Due To Polish Ultimatum

BERLIN, March 16 (AP)—A German army source said today that Reichsfuehrer Hitler was returning hurriedly to Berlin because he received word that Poland had sented an ultimatum to Lithu expiring late today.

Details of the ultimatum were known, but it was believed based on a frontier clash on March 11 for which Poland was demanding satisfaction.

Leaves For Berlin

Hitler, returning from his triumphal annexation of Austria, left Munich for Berlin at 2:45 p. m., (8:45 a. m., E. S. T.) today.

The army source said originally he had intended to remain several days longer in Vienna, where he concluded his historic four-day Austrian visit yesterday, but that the Polish-Lithuanian crisis called him back to Berlin.

STATEMENT CAUSES TURMOIL

PRAHA, March 16 (AP)—The Czechoslovak house of deputies was thrown into turmoil by the virtual ultimatum of Karl Hermann Franck, vice-president of the Sudeten German party, that the nation accede to German demands or face the consequences.

"At this hour," Franck read from a statement on behalf of his party, "all we wish to say is that it would be politically wiser to create voluntarily a situation that gives no cause for complaint.

"The advisability to adopt such a new course now is patent to all."

The Polish press has been attacking Lithuania angrily over the border fight between frontier guards in which a Pole was shot and killed. The newspapers said the man was deliberately ambushed.

Poland Wants Annexation

There have been reports Poland wants to annex Lithuania, but official circles in Warsaw emphasized that Lithuania rejected any such idea.

Nevertheless the view was expressed the Lithuanian clash had

Borders Safe, Duce Declares

(By The Associated Press)

ROME, Mar. 16.—Benito Mussolini today promised his people that the Pan-German expansion never would penetrate Italian frontiers out at the same time pronounced a benediction on Adolf Hitler's absorption of Austria.

Il Duce said that the plebiscite the ousted Austrian chancellor, Kurt Schuschnigg, had called for March 10—hoping to get a mandate to fight for Austrian freedom—was "unforeseen."

Said Action A Mistake

"An emissary of Schuschnigg asked my opinion," he said. "It was the first time in many months. I told him in the most preemptory manner that it was a mistake.

"'This bomb will explode in your hands' I told him."

To those who have asked why Italy did not intervene in Austria, Mussolini said he replied:

Never Assumed Obligation

"We never assumed any obligation. Austria never asked us for armed intervention to defend its own independence with force.

"A nation which needs military aid against its own people is no longer worthy to call itself a nation.

"When the Austrian drama had reached its fifth act, there were the usual opponents of Fascism who were alert to see whether the moment for a clash between the two totalitarian states had arrived.

Seen As Prelude To War

"That clash would have been a prelude to a new World war.

"This calculation of the democracies, of the Masonic lodges, was wrong. . . Why not declare it?

"The moment had arrived instead

There Are No Hard And Fast Rules About Planning Lenten Meals; Suggestions

Fluffy boiled rice and tasty smoked sardines make a pleasing and palatable dish for Lent. The combination is a Scandinavian dish called Norwegian Nosegay.

Lenten meals offer a wider choice than you might at first think.

There is fish—to top with a variety of piquant sauces. There are mushrooms — to serve in unusual guises. And there are eggs—to be presented in dozens of different ways.

There are also protein-rich peas, navy beans, cheeses and nuts—to fill the meat gap.

Fish, however, is the perennial Lenten favorite.

Small fish are usually broiled or browned. Large fish may be baked or stuffed. Fish steaks may be broiled, boiled, browned or baked.

A bit of tartness improves the flavor. So sprinkle lemon juice, diced tomatoes, chopped pickles, minced olives, tomatoes, catsup or chili sauce over the fish while it's cooking. Then serve lemon, hot or cold sauces and lots of chopped pickle, diced cucumber and chopped pimiento relishes when you bring the hot dish to the table.

Here are some Lenten "Blue Plates":

Creamed eggs on toast rounds; buttered beets; apricots stuffed with cottage cheese, placed on lettuce and topped with mayonnaise; diced carrots.

Spinach molds filled with creamed mushrooms; glazed parsnips; mashed turnips; buttered new potatoes; spiced pears.

Egg souffle with cheese sauce; buttered green beans; broiled peaches; savory broccoli.

Macaroni and cheese; broiled tomatoes; mashed squash; spiced plums; buttered kale.

Corn-stuffed tomatoes sprinkled with cheese; creamed beans; glazed pineapple; buttered cauliflower.

Rice cakes with tomato creole; celery-stuffed hard-cooked eggs; spiced peaches; butter turnips.

Rice and egg ring; buttered spinach; creamed onions; spiced pears; broiled tomato slices

Fruit salad and cottage cheese balls; shoestring carrots; glazed celery and buttered peas.

Toasted tomato and cheese sandwiches; creamed potatoes; buttered onions and mushrooms.

Mushroom omelet with cheese sauce; broiled apricots; buttered spinach; boiled rice.

Scrambled eggs and cheese; buttered peas; mashed turnips; creamed green beans; spiced cherries.

Norwegian Nosegay

Boil one cup of white rice rapidly for five minutes. Then pour it into a buttered casserole. Mix together one teaspoon of salt, one teaspoon of curry powder and one cup of hot milk. Arrange smoked sardines on top and bake the dish for three-quarters of an hour in a moderate oven. Leave the lid on the baking dish for at least the last ten minutes.

Eastern Visitor Is Honored With Tea

Honoring Dr. Harvey N. Davis of Hoboken, N. J., the Tech Science club was host with a tea in the women's dormitory lounge Tuesday afternoon for approximately 100 college faculty members.

Growing Girl's Charm Is More Than Skin Deep Says Beauty Columnist

If a girl is taught early to care for her fingernails, she will develop a valuable beauty habit.

BY BETTY CLARKE
AP Feature Service

A 12-year-old girl has so much natural charm that she needs few artificial aids to make herself attractive.

If she is vibrant, natural, fresh-complexioned and well-groomed she will avoid much of that adolescent awkwardness instilled by lack of confidence and will be able to go about her business with the poise of a young princess.

One of the major problems she may face, however, when she forsakes her playthings to stand before the mirror is an oily skin.

For real heartbreak can be caused by a shiny nose.

And it's no comfort to be told, "You'll outgrow it."

There's one good way to reduce oiliness in the skin—do a thorough and frequent cleansing job with soap and water. This also helps to prevent blackheads.

Make a periodic check-up of the diet, substituting fruits and vegetables for too many starches and sweets. Then, of course, see that the young lady has her full quota of exercise, sleep and fresh air.

The sooner such matters are settled the better are Miss Twelve-Year-Old's chances of growing up into the charming, clear-skinned, bright-eyed, lustrous-haired woman she will want to be.

Testimony On Firm Is Given

(By The Associated Press)

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., March 16—Testimony that expenditures of the New Mexico Potash and Chemical company had been listed on its books as "surpluses" was introduced Tuesday in the trial of ten men charged with using the mails to defraud in company stock sales.

L. P. Emerson, former bookkeeper for the company, testified the late Raymond A. Chase, original secretary-treasurer of the concern, instructed him in 1933 to carry as "surplus" money expended for promotion.

The practice, Emerson testified, continued later under the administration of the defendants.

"Bookkeeping Figures" Listed

In 1935, the company listed surpluses of $2,023,807, the bulk of which represented "bookkeeping figures," he said.

Also listed in assets as late as 1934, Emerson testified, was an oil and gas lease which, in reality, had been surrendered by quit claim deed a year before. It was carried on the books at $1,000,000, he said.

Hole Costs $200,000

A 300-foot hole in the ground costing $200,000 has been the principal activity of the New Mexico Potash and Chemical company, a witness testified earlier.

Arthur X. Erickson, secretary-treasurer of the Texas Potash company, an affiliated contract company, testified the company's activity on the shaft was halted last October for lack of funds with the hole still several hundred feet short of the level at which potash customarily is found.

Does Not Own Permits

Under questioning by W. J. Barker, special government prosecutor, defense attorneys conceded the New Mexico company does not own prospecting permits or leases.

An intricate development arrangement operates through several companies, it was brought out, with prospecting permits in the form of contracts with the affiliated companies.

Among these, Erickson testified, are the General Potash Co., organized to finance the operations; the General Potash Co., the Texas Potash Co., (which absorbed the General); and the Union Potash Co., the latter doing the actual digging operations.

Erickson said funds had been offered to resume operations on the mining shaft, but at undesirable terms.

MULE BALKS

BAKERSFIELD, Calif., (AP) — Joe Rodriguez's mule refused to budge from the railroad tracks even when the southbound passenger train bore down on it. The crash cost the mule its life and the owner was still standing by expostulating when the mule's carcass landed on him—sending him to a hospital.

Tear Gas And Bombs Rout Killer Of Two From House

This picture shows the height of the battle in Los Angeles between police and George Farley, negro, who barricaded himself in his house after killing two deputy city marshals who went to serve an eviction notice on him. Tear gas is shown pouring from Farley's house while police crouched behind automobiles as shields from bullets fired by Farley. In the street in front of the house lies the body of Dwight Crittenden (indicated by black arrow), and on the lawn (indicated by white arrow) is the body of W. L. Romer, both killed by Farley, who was wounded seriously before being captured.

A planet discovered by Dr. Delporte of Belgium is so tiny that it does not have the globe shape of the larger bodies, and is only 1,376,000 miles from the earth.

Planning Is Talked Here

County planning for rural homes was discussed by C. B. Ray and A. C. Magee, both of College Station, Tuesday in the office of C. C. Jobson, county agent. They expect to publish a report for Lubbock county within two months.

Ray explained Lubbock county will be divided into two areas, and within these areas are different types of soil. The plan is to work out balanced farming systems for various soils, and then to recommend appropriate crops.

Among those present at the meeting were Lida Cooper, district home demonstration agent; Clara Pratt, Lubbock county home demonstration agent; Elizabeth Brocks, assistant Lubbock county home demonstration agent; and Marvin Wilson, supervisor for farm security administration. The county committee is composed of C. E. Lilly, chairman, G. C. Gillett, and R. A. Powell.

Much Work Accomplished

During January and February Ray of the headquarters staff has been working in 10 Panhandle counties on a special planning project in which Soil Conservation service and the Bureau of Agriculture Economics have been cooperating. Reports will be published on Dallam, Hartley, Ochiltree, Lipscomb, Hansford, Sherman, Moore, Deaf Smith, Oldham, and Hutchinson. Fifteen counties are scheduled for field work in the next four months; Collingsworth, Swisher, Lubbock, Dickens, Rockwall, Hopkins, El Paso, Gaines, Fisher, Eastland, Polk, Liberty, Jackson, San Patricio, and Hidalgo.

Employers Urged To Aid Veterans

Cooperation with jobless war veterans in finding employment for which they are qualified was urged of Lubbock employers Tuesday by Mel R. Summers of Amarillo, district field supervisor of the Texas State Employment service.

The nation-wide veterans' campaign is being sponsored by the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the three major veterans' organizations chartered by congress.

Complete registration of all unemployed veterans in this area will be undertaken by employment offices, he said. They also will communicate with as many employers as possible in behalf of veterans qualified to efficiently perform specific jobs.

Records in the district office revealed 576 veterans are now actively seeking work through state employment service offices in this district, Summers said.

State employment service offices in this district are at Amarillo, Borger, Pampa, Dumas, Childress, Plainview and Lubbock, serving a combined area of 38 counties.

Condition Of Man Critical

Condition of E. C. Wood, 43-year-old carpenter of 1907 Avenue S who fell more than 30 feet Tuesday afternoon, remained critical late this morning at Lubbock sanitarium and X-ray pictures were being made so that extent of his injuries might be determined.

The carpenter fell from a chemical building under construction nine and one-half miles west of O'Donnell about 3:45 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Numerous Fractures

Although details of the accident were not clear, even to his fellow-workmen, it was believed Wood lost his balance, possibly because of wind, then jumped to avoid striking any of the equipment used in construction. Associates of Wood said he struck the ground on his feet about 10 feet from the building. The impact, because of the height, however, crashed his body against the ground, thus causing the arm, chest, back, arm, and pelvis injuries.

He was rushed to Tahoka by Ben Yates, also a worker at the building, and from there he was transferred here in a Harris Funeral home ambulance from Tahoka. He arrived at the sanitarium here about 5 o'clock.

Out-of-town relatives of Wood were notified of the accident.

Wood had been working in construction o' the plant near O'Donnell and another near Tahoka seven weeks, relatives said. He recently was transferred to the structure near O'Donnell from the Tahoka plant.

The chemical engineering building, an all-steel structure, is being built for the Arizona Chemical company by the Panhandle Construction company of Lubbock. Wood was employed by the construction company here.

The chemical buildings are part of an industrial enterprise for the mining and production of sodium sulphate and potash. The building on which Wood was working is situated near a lake west of O'Donnell.

Suits For Damages Are Filed Tuesday

Judgments aggregating $31,268 were sought in unrelated suits filed in district courts here Tuesday. One was the outgrowth of a truck-motorcycle collision, another involved an oil lease and the third related to title to land.

Everett Fertsch, a minor, through his mother, Mrs. Edna Fertsch, brought suit for damages totalling $24,032.50 against Cecil White. The case is the outgrowth of an asserted truck-motorcycle accident June 25, 1936, at the end of Sixth street at Highway 7, according to the original petition.

It was set out that Fertsch and Morris Stephens were on the motorcycle and that the truck was being driven by an employe of White who then was operating Cecil White Truck Lines.

Asks $24,032.50

Fertsch listed his damages as: $175 to his motorcycle; $22,500 to himself because of the alleged injuries suffered; $357.50 to his mother because of her expense; and $300 for the plaintiff's inability to work.

Damages of $6,235.50 were asked by Fred Childers, Lubbock oil man, in a suit against W. D. Bradley and others of Wichita county.

Childers set out he had made an agreement by telephone and telegraph with the defendants to obtain a lease on a tract of Hockley county land and that Bradley agreed to return the lease after it had been sent to him for signing. He further alleged that he agreed to resell the lease to another person, but was unable to fulfill the second agreement because Bradley refused to return the lease.

Cites Profit Not Made

His asserted damages were: $350 spent in obtaining the leasing deal; $885.50 profits he could have made if he had been able to get the lease; and $5,000 damages to his reputation as an oil and gas lease broker because of his inability to fulfill terms of his agreement to re-sell the lease.

F. R. Schenck of Midland county filed a trespass to try title and damage suit against W. B. Carr of Lubbock county. He alleged the defendant made entry onto the property described as lot 7, block 222, original town of Lubbock, to the damages of $1,000 to the plaintiff.

Hankins Funeral Services Conducted This Afternoon

Last rites for Lloyd R. Hankins, 29, of 2408 Sixteenth street were to be conducted at 2 o'clock this afternoon by Rev. R. C. Tennison, Baptist pastor at Idalou, at the First Baptist church here. Burial was to be in Memorial Park cemetery.

Hankins was accidentally killed Monday in an automobile accident near Ysleta.

Hankins' body is scheduled to arrive here about noon today, according to relatives.

Hankins' head was crushed when the automobile in which he was riding crashed into a tree. He died in an El Paso hospital.

Borger Man Enters Plea Of Innocence In Death Case

LAWTON, Okla., March 16 (AP)—Jess Penland, 34, of Borger, Texas pleaded innocent in justice court yesterday to a murder charge in the highway death Sunday night of John M. Clark, 63, Geronimo.

Clark was struck down by a car and apparently killed outright seven miles south of here. B. H. Bigbee, Lawton, who witnessed the accident, said the driver of the car backed up after striking Clark and drove away.

Penland was arrested by Sheriff Dunk Cook soon after the accident at the home of a brother, Guy Penland, 10 miles south of here.

Experiences In California Flood Areas Are Related By Tech Debaters, Coach

Missing seeing the railway bridge cavein in Los Angeles by a few minutes, the Texas Technological college debate teams and coach, Miss Annah Jo Pendleton, added first-hand information about flood conditions to their debating experience on the tour from which they returned Tuesday afternoon.

On their way across a bridge over Los Angeles river, while on their way to fill an engagement at Occidental college, they saw a crowd but hurried to fill their engagement.

Classes Were Dismissed

When they arrived at the college, classes had been dismissed because of the flood and no debaters appeared to fill the engagement. In a newspaper they read of the railway bridge cave-in at approximately the same time they had gone over the nearby bridge.

The Tech party had passed through Redlands, Calif., a few hours before the storm struck there and was unable to go back to Redlands from Los Angeles to fill an engagement with University of Redlands teams.

When en route to San Francisco to fill an engagement they saw boulders which had been torn from cliffs and flung into the road by water. "Everywhere we turned, someone would say 'the bridge is out'", said Miss Pendleton. In San Francisco, persons referred to the "dew" in Los Angeles.

Although the Tech group avoided areas covered by water, it saw devastation caused by floods everywhere.

Only the Redlands and Occidental debates were not held as scheduled. The University of Southern California debate was postponed but later fulfilled. Only two decision debates were held, both with the University of Arizona, and each of which was won by Tech debaters.

Debaters who made the tour were Betty Dale West, Johnnie Birdwell, Waggoner Carr, Warlick Carr and Junius Carter.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, March 16 (AP)—Wheat prices averaged lower here early today, responsive to a steep fall in Liverpool quotations for nearby delivery. Liverpool cables said spreading against deferred positions caused the irregularity.

Opening ½c-¾c off, May 85 ⅝-⅞, July 82 ¾-83. Chicago wheat futures then rallied. Corn started ¼ lower to ⅛ higher, May 57 ⅛-58, July 59 ⅛.

Taylor He-Manized

round of wild wallops, smothering clinches, quick grunts, flailing elbows and twisted legs.

There was no oil on the dark, wavy Taylor locks. They flew in the fast action. Sweat dripped down the Taylor jaws, covered with a faint orange smudge of greasepaint. The Taylor chest panted.

When Director Frank Borzage yelled "cut," dust was kicking up where Taylor, shirt ripped open and tie askew, had fallen atop one of his foes.

Face Is Unscathed

Everybody grinned. There was a brief check-up of the million-dollar Taylor face. It was unscathed.

In the picture, Taylor will be shown to have received a big purplish shiner on his left eye. A make-up man painted on the black eye when an after-the-fight scene was made last week.

The four heavyweights, through a long series of takes and retakes, anxiously avoided doing anything like that today.

Securities Drop

S. Rubber preferred, stellar performer in yesterday's upturn, tumbled for a loss of more than 5 points at one time and the common more than 3. Aviations, after an early show of strength, succumbed with the rest of the market to a fresh selling wave toward noon.

Speculation In Gold Shares

Further weakness in foreign exchanges and a crack in railroad bonds contributed to selling in stocks. Liquidation in securities from abroad was reported to have increased somewhat.

The scramble abroad to convert funds into gold and dollars aroused a little speculative interest in gold shares. Homestake at one time was up about a point. But the break in other sections eventually led to moderate selling in gold shares, too.

Aviation shares drew the spotlight on the quickening of armament spending in Europe and possibility the Nazi march in central Europe might lend still more impetus to the race to prepare for war.

his army no longer could stand against an insurgent offensive that had more Italian and German help than France believed necessary.

Mussolini's Turn Today

It was Italian Premier Mussolini's turn today, and his speech on "Neighbor Hitler" and his Nazi program was awaited with keen expectancy in Europe.

Italy in the past had backed Austrian independence, but Hitler's coup won the Facist Il Duce's commendation.

This led to speculation in London that Italy and Germany had a secret military alliance involving a bargain over Austria and Spain.

Would Explain Endorsement

French and Czech diplomats here felt such an alliance would explain Il Duce's seeming endorsement of Hitler's taking over Austria.

They thought Mussolini's price might have been increased German support in Spain where Il Duce's support of the Insurgent General Franco thus far has been without final victory.

The British cabinet, meeting today, reviewed the homeland defense speed-up program and sought to devise a statement on foreign policy which Premier Chamberlain is expected to make to parliament next week.

Chamberlain's Policy Fails

Chamberlain's policy of dickering peacefully with dictators to keep Europe's peace seemingly had failed with Hitler's coup, and the premier now is directing his efforts toward staggering rearmament,—so that Britain will be ready when and if war comes to all Europe.

Austria formally had become a part of the German nation and today her people quieted down to the new Nazi mode of life, with some proprietors handing out raises and bonuses in anticipation of a promised new prosperity—a prosperity in which Jews would not share.

Stores, closed since Saturday, reopened in Vienna, and there was a flurry of new industrial activity—particularly in textile factories which manufacture Nazi uniforms.

Hitler, who yesterday ended his triumphant Austrian tour, today accepted cheers of his Berlin capital which declared a holiday for its own celebration of the Austrian conquest.

Sweden Decides To Strengthen Defenses

STOCKHOLM, Mar. 16. (AP)—Sweden decided today to immediately strengthen her national defenses. Premier Per Albin Hanson told parliament considerable additional defense credits would be asked.

Il Duce's Speech

to strengthen the axis. . . which the two totalitarian states follow in a parallel way (the Rome-Berlin axis)."

Premier Mussolini declared that it would have been "an historical and political absurdity" for Austria, a German state, to have remained independent and anti-German.

Il Duce referred to his dispatch of Italian troops to the Brenner Pass when Austria's Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss was assassinated July 25, 1934—a gesture to prevent Nazification of Austria.

"No Austrian ever thanked me for that," he said.

He declared that the Versailles treaty provision that Austria must remain forever independent was "absurd and precarious."

He denied that Italy ever had undertaken to guarantee permanently Austrian independence.

"What has happened in the last few days shows that the Austrian people were overwhelmingly for Anschluss," Il Duce declared.

He demanded to know whether the world could be "so ignorant as to believe that Italy could be impressed by figures of the number of Germans" now upon the borders of Italy.

While the deputies cheered, Mussolini recalled that "during the Ethiopian war we were not even intimidated by 52 nations" which applied sanctions against Italy.

He told the Italian people, who had shown uneasiness by the expansion of Germany to the Italian frontier, to have no alarm over the maintenance of Italy's present borders.

"Our frontiers are sacred," he declared. "We won't discuss them. We will defend them."

His promise was broadcast to all Italy. It was the premier's reply to doubts of his own people alarmed over the extension of a mighty German state to the Brenner Pass, gateway between Austria and Italy.

In public squares throughout Italy Mussolini's followers gathered around loud speakers to hear Il Duce, hoping for reassurance concerning the German surge southward.

Neither, the declaration of Saturday's Fascist grand council nor repeated assertions in the press that the Anschluss bore no menace for Italy had entirely appeased popular anxiety and chagrin.

with full force in the "bootheel" area. Livestock and chickens by the hundreds were killed. Mules were stripped of their hair and chickens plucked as cleanly as if by hand. A cemetery in the middle of the quarter-mile wide swath was left a tangle of uprooted trees and broken tombstones.

Paul Jones, Kennett newspaper publisher, said "at least 300 or 400 homes in Dunklin county alone" had been swept away. At some places "there wasn't a thing left," he said.

Additional Bodies Are Sought In Ruins Today

BELLEVILLE, Ill., Mar. 16. (AP)—Weary searchers dug for additional dead today in ruins left in the wake of a spring tornado which took at least eight lives and injured scores, many seriously.

The twister, striking with explosive fury, ripped through the city's residential sections last night and wrought damage estimated by Mayor George Remnsnider at more than $1,000,000.

Several persons reported missing were feared to be dead. More than 40 injured were undr hospital treatment.

This city's known dead were identified as: Joseph Roesch; Frank Mtysik; Charles Johnson, 18 months old; George Hassall; Mrs. Robert Malacarne, 30; Oscar Krug, and Mrs. Jane Smith, 76. Albert Weaver, 67, was killed at nearby Glenview.

Whipping up from the southwest, the tornado dealt disaster in nearly a dozen surrounding communities. A township grade school was among the 60 local buildings demolished or badly damaged, but the twister, striking at 4:57 p. m., found the institution deserted.

The $1,000,000 Belleville high school escaped unscathed as the whirling storm passed over the campus and smashed structures within its shadow.

The storm-hit zone was thrown into darkness as lamp posts were shaved off. Gas fumes filled the district, pouring from broken mains. A few minor fires were quickly checked. Hundreds of trees were laid across housetops and tossed into the streets. The greatest damage occurred in a four square block area. A near cloudburst preceded the wind.

More Than 30 Persons Injured In Arkansas

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark., Mar. 16. (AP)—A tornado sweeping eastward from the Gulf coast left more than 30 persons injured and widespread destruction over two northeast Arkansas counties today. No loss of life was reported.

A score were hurt and some 50 houses and business structures wrecked when the storm swept a mile-long path through the western edge of this city late yesterday. Damage was estimated at quarter of a million dollars.

WARNING TO CZECHS

BERLIN, March 16 (AP) — News commentators today posed Germany's absorption of Austria before Czechoslovakia as a warning of the need of "an early and satisfactory solution" of her minority issue.

The German press, apparently on instruction, told the neighboring, war-created republic with 3,500,000 Germans to be reasonable about meeting German demands.

Cautious utterances by Nazi spokesmen, however, indicated they considered this problem for the moment overshadowed by prospects of enlargement especially economically, opened up by Germany's expansion to include Austria.

area, and not only wants satisfaction for the border clash but also a drastic revision of Lithuania's attitude toward Poland.

Relations between Poland and Lithuania have been strained since the Polish General Zeligowski 18 years ago seized Wilno (Vilna), which the Lithuanians still claim should be their capital.

Plebiscite Scheduled

Lithuania has scheduled a plebiscite for March 20 in which the Wilno affair was to be an issue. Some circles in Warsaw suggested that the border clash had been exaggerated in Poland for the purpose of intimidating Lithuanian voters.

Poland's foreign minister, Colonel Joseph Beck, returning to Warsaw from a visit to Rome, where he conferred with Premier Mussolini and Foreign Minister Ciano, delved at once into the Lithuanian situation.

Engineer Talks At Convocation

Three fields open to the future engineer were discussed by Dr. Harvey N. Davis, president of the Stevens Institute of Technology at Hoboken, N. J., and president of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, at a convocation of students of Texas Technological college this morning in the gymnasium.

Engineers may become master technicians, industrial managers, and administrators, he said.

Dr. Davis is to leave today. He was honor guest at a Science club tea Tuesday afternoon and was principal speaker at a banquet conducted by the Tech chapter of the ASME Tuesday night.

He is on a series of tours taking him to the various colleges in the country which have branches of the ASME.

He was awarded bachelor of arts and master's degrees from Brown university and master's and doctor of philosophy degrees from Harvard university. He is a member of Sigma Chi, Phi Beta Kappa, and Tau Beta Pi.

Dr. Davis is a former professor of physics of Brown university and professor of mathematics and professor of mechanical engineering at Harvard university, said V. L. Doughtie, honorary chairman of the Tech ASME branch.

Dr. Davis was principal speaker at an ASME banquet in Lubbock hotel at 7 o'clock Tuesday night. His subject was "A Study of Human Beings."

Martin True, president of Tech chapter of the ASME, acted as toastmaster at the banquet, which was well attended by members and visitors.

Judge Dillard returned a verdict of not guilty in the charge of establishing a lottery against Mrs. Cora Ryan. Evidence in the case had been heard last week.

TATTOO REPLACES BRAND

SACRAMENTO, Calif., (AP)—Tattooing is replacing branding to some extent for identification of animals, says E. Clyde Harris of the state livestock service. The marks are made inside the ear.

For general range cattle the old fashioned brand, made either with an iron or acid, is to be preferred, and partly because the ear of a stolen animal might be mutilated.

Next Move For Continuing American Sovereignty Up To Filipinos

U. S. Stand Is Already Clear

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 16.—Government and island officials here said today the next move for continuing American sovereignty in the Philippines must come from the Filipinos themselves.

They said High Commissioner Paul V. McNutt had made it clear his country did not want to enforce a "dominion status" on any people against that people's wishes.

Assembly Is Competent

The Philippine national assembly, they said, was now in session and competent to express the will of the Filipinos. President Quezon already had voiced unofficially his approval of McNutt's proposal to continue indefinitely political ties between the United States and the Philippines.

Indication the American government would take no further action until an official request from the commonwealth government had been received was given by President Roosevelt during his press conference.

There Is Plenty Of Time

The president said many persons felt there should be a re-examination of the independence question but there was plenty of time for that between now and 1946.

McNutt indicated following his conference with President Roosevelt today his stand on postponing independence had full administration support and endorsement of high Filipino officials.

The high commissioner answered a suggestion by reporters that the plan he advocated was comparable to a dominion status suggested by President Quezon. In a democracy, McNutt said, the words "dominion status" meant very little, but he could think of no other terms for his proposal.

Not To Alter Course

Members of the joint preparatory committee said McNutt's speech would not alter the course of their work because their studies had been directed from the first toward political independence in 1946.

They said their work would not be in vain because it had been apparently for considerable time that the 1944 independence goal prevented "extreme difficulties."

Guard Against Spy Plot

Investigators of a spy plot said that it was part of a plan to obtain U. S. military secrets to lure Col. H. W. T. Harry Wells Wishes He Wasn't "The Kind Of A Guy I Am"; Thinks Of Young Bride

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, March 16—Blond and handsome, with his hectic flight a failure, Harry Wells lay back in his bunk in his Bexar county jail and wished he wasn't "the kind of a guy I am."

These thoughts, he explained, were for his bride of just two weeks, who he married in Laredo March 2, and who is, as he put it, "one swell kid."

Just Say I'm Sorry

"If you put anything in the papers," he pleaded, "just say that I'm sorry. She'll read it down there, and I want her to know that I'm sorry that I wasn't what she thought I was."

Wells explained that his wife had not known much about his background or his "work" and had not known that he was an ex-convict. The family, he said, was well known and respected.

"I figured on moving out of Texas, and then settling down, once I had picked up a few nickels," he said. The Luling bank robbery, in which Wells garnered $3,000, came three days after the marriage ceremony in which his bride took a name he had used as an alias.

Thought I Was Pretty Keen

"She thought I was pretty keen, but I guess she thinks different now. I heard that she is thinking of quitting school because of this, and that is what makes me sorry."

The youth said he heard that the "humiliation" of what had occurred was forcing his wife to do this.

"She didn't know what I was and I'm sorry she got mixed up with me," was Wells' laconic comment. "She kept refusing to believe that I was in this thing until she finally heard from San Antonio today."

Eager to obtain a glimpse of a world other than her own, Dorothy Essigman, 18-year-old Bronx girl who would like to be an actress or a playwright, addressed a letter to "Young Thespian, General Post Office, London, England" in the hope that it would reach some actor of twenty or thereabouts, and serve as the beginning of a correspondence-romance. The staid British postoffice was puzzled and presently Dorothy's picture reached the front pages of London papers.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25c. Stubbornly refuse anything else. —Adv

Filing Of Suit On Cement Companies Is 'Deplored'

WACO, March 16 (AP)—The Texas State Council of Cement Mill Workers and Allied industries, meeting here Tuesday, voted a resolution "deploring" filing of a suit last week by Attorney General William McCraw against six Texas cement companies.

The group voted to issue questionnaires to cement officials and McCraw to determine "status of the suit", and went on record as protesting importation of foreign cement into the United States. The suit sought cancellation of charters and penalties aggregating a possible $30,000,000.

M. L. Barnes of Waco was named chairman; R. R. White of Fort Worth, secretary; W. A. Forrestor of Houston, C. C. Maxwell of Waco, and C. A. Killingsworth of Dallas, executives, as organization of a permanent union was effected.

Joe DiMaggio Still Has Lead In Holdout Show

About Dozen Others Want More Pay

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, March 16—In the absence of any such vociferous upholders of the baseball player's right to argue about his salary as the retired Babe Ruth, Dizzy Dean or

SAYS DEMANDS NOT JUSTIFIED

PHILADELPHIA, March 16 (AP) — A World series pitching hero with the Philadelphia Athletics 25 years ago, Chief Bender today decried Bob Feller's pay with the Cleveland Indians and Joe DiMaggio's demands from the New York Yankees.

"There's no justice in Feller getting $17,500," said Bender, now a clothing salesman. "Nor is DiMaggio justified in holding out for $40,000."

"What has Feller done?" asked the man who Manager Connie Mack recently called the "greatest money pitcher" on the Athletics of 1910-'11-'13. "All he did last year was get a sore arm that prevented him from pitching.

"DiMaggio is a great ball player, but he should be tickled to death to get $25,000 in his third year as an outfielder."

recently-signed Lou Gehrig, it appears the holdout situation in the last month before the major league season opens will revolve about Joe DiMaggio and about a dozen other guys.

At the rate the recalcitrants have been falling into line lately, the chances are most of the dozen others will be quietly signed soon. There aren't more than five or six "regulars" on the list and most of them are devoting their time to being stubborn rather than noisy.

Moses Leaves A's Camp

Outside of DiMaggio, the known holdouts are Wally Moses, who recently left the Philadelphia Athletics camp in one of the higher dudgeons; Zeke Bonura of Chicago's White Sox; Eric McNair of the Boston Red Sox; Julius (Moose) Solters of Cleveland; Harlond Clift and Red Kress of the St. Louis Browns; the perennially dissatisfied Joe Stripp of the Cards; Delph Camilli, the Dodgers' expensive purchase, and Heinie Manush, also of Brooklyn, and the New York Giants' peculiar pair of Les Horn and Clydell (Slick) Castleman.

The signing of Paul Derringer yesterday after a noisy siege cleaned up Cincinnati's list except for Chick Hafey, who is not expected in camp and isn't considered a real holdout although he was offered a chance to come back.

Four Of World's Greatest Hurdlers To Be In Relays

AUSTIN, March 16 (AP)—The Texas Relays, April 2, might see the assemblage of four of the world's greatest hurdlers, Director Clyde Littlefield of the University of Texas said today.

Littlefield said the co-holders of the relays' 120-yard high hurdles record—Sam Allen, formerly of Oklahoma Baptist university, who set the mark at 14.3 in 1935 and Al Tolmich of Wayne university in Detroit, who tied it last year—in all probability would make a run-off affair of the event this year. Both have indicated they would return.

Forrest (Spec) Townes, world record holder, is booked for a special feature and Littlefield said Bob Osgood, former University of Michigan performer who has bested Townes' time, probably would step the sticks with the retired amateur champion.

Prairie Chickens Topic For Wildlife Week Programs

AUSTIN, March 16 (AP) — Prairie chickens, which face the fate of the extinct heath hen, will be featured in Wildlife Week program, March 20-26 in Southeast Texas.

President T. O. Walton of Texas A. and M. college, state wildlife week chairman, said today a recent census by the Texas Cooperative Wildlife service revealed less than 10,000 of the Attwater prairie chickens left on the continent and those in Southeast Texas.

The big thicket in that section has been called by experts the finest natural game area in the Southwest and protection of depleted stocks of the chickens, wild turkey and deer is of grave concern to sportsmen.

Colorado And Temple Clash In Cage Finals At Garden

NEW YORK, March 16 (AP)—Colorado university and Temple, a pair of basketball teams with both color and ability, will meet tonight in the final of the first National Investigation basketball tourney at Madison Square Garden.

Colorado, co-champion of the Rocky Mountain Big Seven conference won its place last night by edging out New York university, 48 to 47, after the tall Temple Owls had whipped Oklahoma A. and M., Missouri Valley conference titleholders, 56-44.

The losers will clash in a consolation game prior to the main tilt tonight.

MALAKOFF DOG WINS

TYLER, March 16 (AP) — Wayside Sport, dog owned by Jett Crawford of Malakoff, won first prize in the open derby stakes in the third trials of the East Texas field trials Tuesday.

Chuck Hyatt Thinks He's Had About Enough Of Basketball; He's Been At It 20 Years

CHUCK HYATT

(By The Associated Press)

DENVER, March 16 — Charley Hyatt is a 20-year man in basketball this year and he thinks he has had about enough.

It's got to the point where they are calling "Chipper Charley" one of the "grand old men" of basketball. Once a University of Pittsburgh great, he is the only member of the Associated Press all-time All-America squad competing in the national A. A. U. tournament here.

Hyatt said today "I'm through this year — definitely."

He's competed in nine national tournaments. He has been a star on championship teams and an All-America several times. But this, he says, is his last campaign.

Title Threat Still Sought

(By The Associated Press)

DENVER, Mar. 16—Railbirds hanging around the edges at the National A. A. U. basketball tournament still are hunting a dark horse threat that looks like the real thing.

They hope to uncover one today when the 16 teams left to fight for the 31st national championship, which will be handed out Saturday night, go out to cut one another down in third round games today.

Oldtimers Fade Out

They thought for awhile they had one yesterday in the Oakland Golden States outfit, but the oldtimers faded after a valiant effort and lost to the strong-looking Harmon's Demons of Chicago, 33 to 32.

As it is, all eight seeded teams are still in the tournament and not more than one or two of the other eight look to have the power to keep them out of tomorrow night's quarter-finals.

Midwest In Majority

A 16-hour program of almost uninterrupted basketball came to a close an hour after midnight this morning. Of the 16 remaining, six represent the Midwest, four the Pacific coast, three the Rocky Mountain section, two the Southwest and one the South.

The Bartlesville, Okla., Phillips, with practically the same team which finished runnerup to the Safeways in 1937, faced the Portland, Ore., Packards at 4 o'clock.

Other seeded teams in the running are: Oklahoma City Parks, meeting the Oakland Stroms at 1; Hollywood Athletic club, playing the South Bend, Ind., Studebakers at 2; Wichita Gridleys, facing the Bogalusa, La., Gaylords at 3, and the Kansas City, Kas., Healeys, who close the fourth day's hostilities against the Chicago Harmons at 10.

Twenty-Four Teams Start In Best Ball Match Play

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Mar. 16, (AP)—Twenty-four teams played over 36 holes today for berths in the fourth annual amateur-professional best ball match play golf tournament.

Touring pros seeking the $1,000 first prize picked the best amateur partners they could find. Ralph Guldahl, the National open champion, paired up with Robert Sweeny, jr., the British amateur titleholder.

The final round will be played Sunday.

STREET NAMES HURLERS

SAN ANTONIO, March 16 (AP) — Manager Gabby Street of the St. Louis Browns named Pitchers Harry Kimberlin, Bob Muncrief and Bill Miller for duty in tomorrow's first exhibition game against the Victoria semi-pros at Cuero. Roy (Beau) Bell, slugging outfielder, who signed last night, will be among the 18 players making the trip.

Preludes To Boxing Show Held In Area

Final preludes to the Lubbock District A. A. U. boxing tournament, a one-night affair scheduled for Friday night at the Auditorium, were reeled off at Slaton and Lockney last night, where sectional champions were designated and other delegates selected.

Both programs were well attended, and fans are expected to follow their favorites here to compete against Lubbock and Texas Tech boxers, as well as others from the South Plains district.

Tickets On Sale

Tickets for the show are on sale now at three downtown places, or may be reserved by telephoning or wiring the Avalanche-Journal Sports Department or Sled Allen at the Auditorium.

A full schedule of 24 fights to determine district winners in each of the eight weight divisions is practically assured, Director Milton Coffey said last night.

Boxers desiring to enter, provided places are left, are advised to contact Coffey or the Avalanche-Journal at once.

Results Of Slaton Events

Results of the Slaton bouts, promoted by Coach Curtis Hamilton and staged at the city hall auditorium:

George Gentry, 127, knocked out O. C. Clifton, 127, in 30 seconds of the first round.

Walter Moser, 110, drew with Weldon Gebert, 109.

Bobby Stotts, 108, lost on technical knockout in second round to George Harlan, 104.

Joe Wicker, 126, won by technical kayo over Willie Shaffer, 135, in second round.

J. W. Martindale, 135, decisioned Raubin McCormick, 134.

James Sideman, 104, drew with Horace Aldman, 106.

Lloyd Reynolds, 133, won by technical kayo from Elby Collier, 136, in first round.

Tommy Coats, Texas Tech, 118, won by technical kayo over Billy Lucado, Slaton, 125, in second.

Lloyd Henry, 148, decisioned Roy Nieman, 145.

Henry Kendrick, 138, won by technical kayo over Buck Olive, 147.

Results Of Lockney Matches

Horace Gearhart, manager of Lockney's Isis Theatre, sponsored the bouts there, in which fighters from Lockney, South Plains, Floydada and Matador competed. The results:

Heavyweights: Fats Mitchell, Lockney, decisioned Calvin Williams, Lockney, for first place.

Light heavyweights: Tut Harcrow, Matador, won technical kayo from Archie Bybee, South Plains, in second round.

Middleweight: Fats Spence, Lockney, unchallenged.

Bantamweight: Spec Alford, Lockney, defeated Billy Brown, Floydada, for title; in preliminaries, Alford decisioned J. B. Johnson of South Plains, Brown decisioned Norman Hilburn of Lockney, Leon Turner of Lockney decisioned Gene Beard of Floydada; Alford beat S. C. Richardson of Lockney, and Brown won from Leland Turner of Lockney.

Flyweight: James Johnson, Floydada, unchallenged.

'Newcomers' Back Tonight

The wrestling lineup for tonight's show at the Auditorium includes two of last week's "newcomers" who made good, plus a brand new stranger who hopes to make an impression in the curtain raiser.

Dick Sampson of Denton, conqueror of Jack Mandell last week, comes back to fight George Hartay of Hungary in the main spasm. Mandell meets the plugging Gorilla Pogi in the semi-final, and Bill Hall, the rubber man from Hollywood, tackles Soldier Thomas, of the U. S. Army, in the curtain raiser.

The fans liked the way the short, chunky George Hartay picked up his heels and went to work against the be-turbaned Hindu prince, Basanta Singh, last Wednesday night in the semi-final.

"There's a guy who might do to keep around," the fans whispered to each other, after Hartay, a very likeable fellow, plastered the Hindu in short order to win his debut match here.

The supporting card has not been neglected. Jack Mandell, the Bostonian with the drop kick, takes on wiry little Gorilla Pogi in the semi-final, and there's no telling what might happen. Mandell looked good, although losing, with Sampson last week. He is an industrious worker.

Comedy element, as well as some strictly hot grappling, is booked for the preliminary, in which Bill Hall, the young beanpole from Hollywood, meets a newcomer, Soldier Thomas. Little is known of the Thomas fellow, except that he rates more than a preliminary slot in many big time middleweight circuits.

Hall gave the fans something new to laugh and cheer about last week when he bamboozled Gorilla Pogi for half an hour. His rubber legs and arms, backed up by muscles of the long, lean type, give him something more than a lot of grapplers possess.

Tyler Junior College Wins State Junior College Title

TYLER, March 16 (AP) — Tyler Junior college today held the state junior college basketball championship by virtue of a 43-39 victory last night over Schreiner institute of Kerrville.

Tyler annexed the title in an extra period after the score stood at 34-34.

Lon Morris college of Jacksonville, Schreiner and Texas Lutheran college of Seguin tied for second place. Each won two and lost two in the round-robin tournament. Tyler won all four of their games.

Coaches of participating clubs and tourney officials named an all-state team consisting of Marshall Brown and Bauman Roper of Lon Morris, forwards; Van Samford, Tyler, center, and G. T. Stagner, Tyler, and Garfield Kiel, Texas Lutheran, guards.

New York Fighter Hangs Up 26th Consecutive Victory

HOUSTON, March 16 (AP) — Al Bernard, 154, New York, hung up his 26th consecutive victory here last night as he scored a technical knockout over Jimmy Lamarr, 154, Cleveland, in the fifth round of their scheduled ten-round main event.

Bill Raggio, 160, New Orleans, scored an upset eight-round decision over Cowboy Owens, 158, Wichita Falls, in the six-round semi-final.

ALI BABA PINS INDIAN

MINNEAPOLIS, March 16 (AP) — Ali Baba, 205, slammed Jules Strongbow, 287-pound Indian from Broken Arrow, Neb., to the mat four times before pinning him for keeps after 11 minutes and 33 seconds of a scheduled one-hour wrestling match here last night.

Harry Kent of Corvalis, Wash., threw Johnny Marrs, Cheyenne, Wyo., in 21:3. Kent weighed 228, Marrs 210.

Cliff Thiede, 206, Los Angeles, won over Alford Johnson, 217, Minneapolis, when the latter was disqualified for fouling, and Joe Hubka, 210, Dodge, Neb., downed Frank Brown, 205, Houston, Texas, in 22:47.

Baby Arizmendi Proves He's Still Man Enough To Stand Up And Face Hustlin' Hank

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 16.—Found! A ring scarred little warrior who can stand up and take a beating from Henry Armstrong for ten rounds—but stand up.

Baby Arizmendi, idol of Los Angeles' Mexican colony, did it last night to the uproarious approval of some 10,500 fans, 100 more than the Olympic auditorium's "capacity."

Armstrong Joins Praise

And no less a personage than Armstrong himself joined in praise for the gameness of the Baby, one-time claimant for the featherweight throne Armstrong now occupies.

Hustlin' Hank dealt Armizmendi every blow in the book. He rocked him with the same barrage that felled 34 of his last 35 opponents. He swept through virtually every round, pounding out a merciless beating.

Never Gave Ground

But Arizmendi never gave ground to avoid a punch, and kept throwing his own fists as best he could. Whereas the only man who ever stayed the limit with Armstrong since he began his sensational rise to fame spent the evening backtracking—that was Aldo Spaldi of Italy—the Baby didn't.

Referee George Blake had to separate the two but once, and that was after the bell sounded ending the second round and they had refused to stop swinging.

Was Fourth Meeting

The bout was their fourth meeting. For 42 rounds, Arizmendi has stood up under Armstrong's fists. In two of the fights, staged before the negro had hit his stride, Arizmendi won decisions. Armstrong won the third.

The referee gave Arizmendi only one round last night. The crowd gave him an ovation that rattled the rooftop.

Darkhorses In Miami Play

(By The Associated Press)

MIAMI, Fla., Mar. 16.—A pair of darkhorse teams battled for top money in the $4,000 International Four-Ball Golf tournament today, with Henry Picard and Johnny Revolta on the sidelines for the first time in four years.

Willie Goggin and 25-year-old Ben Hogan of Fort Worth, heroes of the par-cracking derby, engaged Dick Metz and Ky Laffoon at 36 holes, with a $1,000 check awaiting each of the winners.

Topple Revolta-Picard Dynasty

Goggin and Hogan toppled the Revolta-Picard dynasty, 4 and 3, in the semi-finals yesterday while Metz and Laffoon disposed of Byron Nelson and Harold (Jug) McSpaden, 3 and 2.

Revolta and Picard, who had won 14 consecutive matches in four years, finally bumped into a team hotter than they were. Goggin and the little-known Hogan blazed over three nine-hole stretches in 32 each and coasted home. Six down after 18 holes, Revolta and Picard pulled their game together for a 31—and earned back just one point.

Hogan, a tanned Texan who only recently landed a new job as pro in White Plains, N. Y., played in four California tournaments in 1931 but dropped out of competition because he couldn't afford it. This winter he has finished in the money in 12 of 15 tournaments.

Courses in domestic duties and mothercraft, organized in Germany by the Motherhood Service Department of the national Socialist Women's association, have been attended by 1,200,000 women.

Session Votes To Hold Olympics In Tokyo In 1940

CAIRO, Egypt, Mar. 16. (AP)—The International Olympics congress definitely announced today the 1940 Olympics would be held in Tokyo, September 9 to October 26.

The proposal by the Chinese delegate, Dr. C. T. Wang, that the games not be held in any country at war was rejected.

The congress accepted Japan's suggestion, supported by Italy and Germany, that the games be held later in the year due to the heat and humidity prevalent at the end of August, the original date.

The United States, France and Great Britain voted against this alteration.

Fred Perry Bests Vines At Houston In Straight Sets

HOUSTON, March 16 (AP)—Stylish Fred Perry, England's former top-ranking amateur, handed Ellsworth Vines, professional champion form Pasadena, Calif., a straight set beating in a renewal of their nation-wide tennis series here last night.

Perry won by scores of 6-3, 11-9, to cut Vines' tour margin to three matches.

Berkeley Bell, New York, and Walter Senior, San Francisco, divided two 6-4 sets in the opening match, while Senior and Vines teamed to beat Perry and Bell, 6-4, 6-2, at doubles.

PUTS MITT AWAY

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 16 (AP)—Now that Lou Gehrig is in the New York Yankee camp, Utility Infielder Babe Dahlgren can put away his first baseman's mitt. Lou worked out yesterday and will probably be in every exhibition game except today's tussle with the Boston Bees. Dahlgren will go to short. Frankie Crosetti is lame and Billy Knickerbocker has a bad right arm.

In California, it is not unusual to see as many as four kinds of fruit growing on the same tree as a result of budding.

TO TURN ON POWER

LAFAYETTE, La., March 16 (AP)—The New York Giants expect to turn on full batting power against their International league farm club, Jersey City, today. A shipment of new bats reached the Giants' camp yesterday and the Terrymen spent most of the day banging at the fences.

A Bargain In Boxing

By Collier Parris

THE BOYS WHO are trying to "make the team" out at the Texas Tech gridiron will tell you that you do not have to pay out your hard earned lettuce to see man-to-man and hand-to-hand fighting right here in Lubbock. "Just stand around out here on the sidelines and watch us," they would say, at the same time admitting that the seating arrangements and the view could be better, and probably will, at the Auditorium Friday night.

It would seem that every boy out there is engaged in a man-to-man fight for a place on the team, and when you consider the number of boys out there, it is quite a skirmish. The man-to-man business is literally true, because they are getting down to rock bed football principles now—the old rock 'em and sock 'em blocking and tackling exercises.

But for your individual contests this week, we heartily recommend a couple of evenings spent at the Auditorium. You can take your cherce between boxing and wrestling, or you can have both. The wrestling comes off tonight, and the boxing Friday night.

We believe the programs, either or both, will be worth your time and money.

Promoter Sled Allen has a promising grapple card arranged for tonight, what with Dick Sampson meeting the flashy newcomer, George Hartay the Hungarian, and with Bandylegs Bill Hall back on the supporting card.

We are especially interested, just now, however, in the success of the boxing show Friday night.

For a "show," it is hard to beat a good middleweight professional wrestling card, where the boys give out as though they meant it.

For honest-to-goodness boxing, there is nothing better than the young amateurs, who are in there to see who can win, the fastest way possible.

We would not give you very much for college or amateur wrestling. We would give you even less for professional boxing. The one is too slow and inactive; the other is too much of a lousy racket. Professional wrestling is a racket, too, in many cases, especially where the heavyweights are concerned and where big money is handled. Such is not the case, thank goodness, in Lubbock.

The performers are men on their own, not connected with managers, companies or combines, as are the heavyweights, and the "take" is not of sufficient size to warrant any "framing up."

Amateur boxing, we are inclined to believe, comes in the upper bracket of things sporting. The boys box for the love of boxing, just as golfers golf for the love of golfing. The average non-professional golfer, that is. Amateur boxing runs along with amateur golfing, trap shooting, hunting, fishing, sandlot baseball and bowling. The boys are in it for the fun they get.

But it's a strenuous sport, and there should be some compensation for the boys, So that's why we have the Golden Gloves, and the A. A. U. tournaments. The boys get prizes for winning, and they get free trips, as long as they can keep on winning, with expenses paid everywhere they go. To make these possible, it is important that a hall be hired, advertising done, letters written, prizes purchased and admission charged.

We have no qualms, therefore when it comes to making public appeal for the local amateur boxing tournaments. We think the boys'll do right by the fans in making the show worth the money, and that's all you should worry about, if you're a fight fan.

During the course of the Golden Gloves, scribes were pointing out the non conformity in boxing. They recalled that 19,490 fans paid six times that many simoleons to see Joe Louis thump Nathan Mann to sleep in less than 8 minutes, while a bare fraction of those paid a lesser fraction of that to see two hours of honest-to-goodness scrapping between kids who put on a much better show without reckoning with the auditor's headaches.

The "bargain" you're getting Friday night is so obvious you shouldn't have to be reminded.

It's all settled that the Southwestern A. A. U. tournament will be held in Dallas, starting a week from today. The eight winners in Friday night's tourney here will be eligible to compete at Dallas. Winners there go direct to Boston for the National A. A. U. meet.

BACK TO WRESTLING for a minute, and reminding again that tonight's wrestling night, we meet a bunch of old friends in Paxton Dent's The Southwestern Sports Eye, El Paso's weekly sports sheet.

That very capable Chinaman, Walter "Sneeze" Achiu, is back in this part of the country, and meets Sailor Popeye Watkins next week in El Paso's main event. Achiu has been around there for some time, we read, and wins consistently. But no more so than Watkins, the Post sailorman, who has been knocking 'em dizzy.

Yaqui Joe, the old Sonora Indian, is coming back, and Scribe Dent points out that the Indian "legs" wrestler is returning from the Pacific coast were he was undefeated in 37 matches, winning 29 of them in a row and drawing eight.

Tetsura Higami, the bounding Jap, is also working in El Paso, and Bob Cummings headed that way next week. He's to appear on next week's card there against Otto Ludwig, the German. Sailor Moran is due in the Border city before long. The boys do move around.

Back to Amarillo comes Danny McShain, the walloping Irisher who is hard to hold, now that he has been in the movies. Maybe he'll drift down this way for a go or two before passing on. They say he travels in style, with a manager, a couple of secretaries, possibly a chauffeur and a footman. Wonder if he has somebody along who'll tell him when to come in out of the rain.

The record annual precipitation at East Bengal, India, is 429 inches.

Far, Far Away

SAN FRANCISCO is gathering superlatives. Here's its latest claim—"The most comprehensive signpost in the world." It tells how far you'd have to walk—or swim—to get to New York or Shanghai and points north and south. What good is it? Of course, it's a nice excuse to show Gaila McEntee and her cowboy shorts. But there seems to be an ulterior motive. The signpost has been erected on Treasure Island. That's the site of the San Francisco world's fair of 1939. It symbolizes world participation in the fair.

Malcolm Has Baby Brother Or Sister; Believed First Penguins Hatched In U. S.

WASHINGTON, March 16 (AP)—Malcolm, the zoo's brand new baby penguin, had a brother (or sister) today.

Malcolm pecked his way out of his shell Saturday to the noise of grinding cameras, flash bulbs and a radio broadcast and had 21,000 visitors Sunday.

The new arrival just pecked through his shell this morning and stepped out, without any dramatics.

The two fuzzy little Antarctic birds are believed by their keepers to be the first penguins hatched in the United States.

GARDINER, Me., March 16 (AP)—Alderman George E. Colby protested at a town meeting there were too many beer signs on market street and that they should be removed.

ONLY YOUR MILEAGE MERCHANT OIL-PLATES YOUR ENGINE

Does Spring begin on March 20th? . . . or on the 21st?

"Begin it today!" pleads your engine. "Bleed out my Winter-poisoned oil. But this Spring help me with more than an oil-change. Change to Your Mileage Merchant! And that's changing to Conoco Germ Processed oil—patented—the only way to change me into an OIL-PLATED engine."

You want this modern exclusive OIL-PLATING because especially in Summer your steady driving demands more than the plain old type of oil-film that slithers OFF the working parts like drops of quicksilver. Exactly the opposite is achieved by the Germ Process—patented. It makes droplets of oil act like a billion tiny suction cups, powerfully attracted and OIL-PLATED to every working surface.

Thus your OIL-PLATING never drains down, never invites friction, no matter how many thousands of starts and thousands of miles you make all Spring and Summer. And you'll notice Germ Processed oil sticking so close to "Full"—even in older cars—that you'll stick to Your Mileage Merchant. Continental Oil Company

WHETHER or not Governor James V. Allred will run for a third term is in the laps of the gods.

Even the governor's best friends don't know what his promised announcement will be late this week and it is interesting to note that the nine capitol reporters, whose business it is to trail the governor, cast a "Supreme court" tally on the question—five said he wouldn't run, but four believed he would!

However, regardless of Mr. Allred's decision, he has played a heads-up game. He has stayed in the political saddle, kept his hand on the reins and is in a position to either run, if he so desires, or have a lot of weight for and against other candidates if he doesn't run.

Had he made his announcement earlier, he would not be the still potent factor he remains in state politics today.

All of which proves that in some respects the governor is as politically wise as anybody under the light of the Lone Star.

"(1) Have her face north. (2) Stand several paces south of her with a candid camera. (3) Take a picture. (4) Have the film developed. (5) Show her the picture!"

To which The Plainsman would add:

No woman looks any worse in slacks than she does in any other type of man's nether attire.

TO Mrs. A. D. "Mother" Burleson, of Matador, The Plainsman says "Many happy returns of the day!"

This is Mrs. Burleson's 85th birthday and were she not kinfolks, by marriage, we'd say a lot more.

It is considered in the newspaper trade bad manners to use space to whoop it up for relatives, so The Plainsman will use only enough in this case to give some highlights concerning this remarkable woman.

Were she no kin, there'd be a lot more.

An institution in that capital of the "best cow country in the world," Mrs. Burleson is the honor guest of a Matador-wide birthday celebration. She is an ardent Baptist—in fact, the sole remaining charter member of that congregation in Matador—yet the Methodists are joining with the Baptists in celebrating her birthday.

And everybody in that part of the country is making her a "birthday gift" in the form of money, which she in turn is giving to the Baptist building fund to which she already is the No. 1 donor.

The new church, for which ground was broken the other day, is her pride and joy.

FOR several generations "Mother" Burleson has been a foundation stone of the Matador section.

She was in the old days, doctor and nurse, confidant and spiritual adviser to most of the population. Also she has been a sparkplug of progress in more ways than one.

Age, perhaps in deference to her service, has been kind to "Mother" Burleson. Her eyes are as bright as they were a half century ago. Her mind is as active as it was in her prime. Her whole physical being is as top-notch as that of her youngest grandchild.

And as her neighbors—in regiment strength—pay her honor today, The Plainsman chimes in with "me too!"

He is sorry that newspaper manners make it impossible to tell more about this unusual pioneer woman and of a few of the wonders she has wrought over a long life's span in the West.

Nat Campbell writes:

"Lives of all great men remind us
Things that we had best avoid.
One is: Not to leave behind us
Letters that should be destroyed!"

ALL of us know how obnoxious Californians can be when they get to jabbering about their climate. But The Plainsman has often wondered if the people of our neighboring El Paso aren't fully as obnoxious whenever given a chance.

Our good friend Hubert Hunter, who runs a column in the El Paso Times and through that medium gives away "lucky buckeyes"—whatever they are—gave a good example of El Paso smugness the other day when Mrs. Roosevelt arrived to make the same speech she had made here several days before.

Wrote Hubert, in his "Around Here" stint:

"Mrs. Roosevelt, to be with us today (and most welcome, too) evidently is not used to our gentle little Southwestern zephyrs.

Writing from Amarillo yesterday about the Mother-In-Law Day parade, she remarked:

"We drove in an open car along the line of the parade and the wind was sufficiently high to cause me to wonder how disheveled we would be at the end of our drive. However, people along the sidewalk did not seem to notice it at all."

"Of course," Mr. Hunter resumes, "they didn't notice it, not a gentle little caressing breeze that merely refreshed and stimulated.

"There are times, to be sure, when Amarillo does have a breeze worthy of comment. Since Mrs. Roosevelt is interested, we should like to inform her a bit about it.

"There is a wind gauge near Amarillo. It consists of a fence post to which a boulder is anchored by a chain. When a breeze comes along with sufficient vigor to lift the boulder straight out in the air at the end of the chain, the natives say:

"Well, the wind is blowing today!"

DURING a fairly brisk sandstorm one day between Lubbock and Amarillo, right close to the very same road Mrs. Roosevelt traveled over, a prairie dog was seen digging a hole 40 feet in the air. This sight can no longer be witnessed, however, because prairie dogs are practically extinct in the Panhandle!

"On the other hand, in El Paso and adjacent counties, and also in the Big Bend, taking in Marfa, Alpine and Presidio, the breeze is so gentle that sometimes there isn't enough to turn all the windmills at one time. So they run half of them awhile, and then the other half!"

Now, The Plainsman doesn't give a hoot about the mean things Bro. Hunter has inserted about Amarillo and its climate.

Probably all of them are fully justified and we were never one to defend Amarillo—except, possibly, when it was attacked by East Texans.

But Hubert hooks into his remarks the fair name of Lubbock and leaves the uninitiated to believe that our climate and Amarillo's are one and the same!

There ain't no justice—but we don't suppose to stand idly by and let him get away with it!

For Love Of Polly

CAST OF CHARACTERS

POLLY CHELSEY, heroine; stranded in London when war breaks out.

JERRY WHITFIELD, hero; the Yankee who sees her through.

CABELL BANKS, privateer captain.

Yesterday: Disguised as an old woman, Polly starts from Dover to cross the Channel and meanwhile the woman with the blue bonnet has written her, revealing the truth about Jerry's abduction.

CHAPTER XV

Passengers in the Deal coach were surprised to observe the tall old dame in rusty black burst into musical laughter and at the same time wipe tears from her eyes. She appeared to be slightly daffy, for her face, now streaked by tears and lamp-black, was the very picture of triumphant elation.

Such, actually, was Polly's state of mind. Elation and joy. She felt that she hadn't a care on earth. She was several thousand miles from home in an enemy country with a dangerous journey before her, and Jerry was impressed by the British navy on a ship called the Sunrise, undoubtedly in a helpless and desperate state. Yet she hadn't a care in the world. Jerry had not deserted her. Jerry loved her.

She read the letter again. It struck her as being a delightful piece of literature. Even Mazie Miller's erratic spelling and her peculiar sprinkling of capital letters held a charm.

Polly thought, I ought to hate her for what she's done to us. . . . I do hate her. But it's not the same kind of hate I've been feeling toward her. . . . She was nothing at all to Jerry! He didn't lie about it! He'd never laid eyes on her before she waved to him! . . . Oh, this is beautiful and wonderful . . .

She suddenly noticed that all the passengers were looking at her. The coach driver had turned in his seat to say to her reprovingly, "I ask you again, M'am, where is it you want to be set down?"

"Oh," said Polly. Then, "Let me off at Corly, please, south of Deal!" Her voice was ringing with vitality. The passengers' faces all betrayed the fact that they had never before encountered such an amazing old woman.

His Majesty's brig Sunrise, carrying 30 guns, had moved out of the North Sea. She sailed like a fearless bird that can go where she wills, proud of her plumage and her standing. So sailed all of His Majesty's ships, the great and the small. And because they were so proud and so beautiful to look at, the English people loved them and spoke of them vauntingly, as is natural.

But a sailing ship that looks like a proud swan from shore can look like a hornet's nest when viewed by one on board. It is a small floating kingdom, inhabited by too many lusty men, and those in command must rule with an iron hand. So it has ever been on the sea. But so it especially is in this year of our Lord 1812 when England's greatness is clouded for the moment by a grasping king and a stupid prince regent and by admirals and commissioners who have scrawled two foul words on the Union Jack — Greed and Cruelty.

Now where the fair island of England is at its broadest there is a town called Lowestoft. As the Sunrise sailed north she passed within call of this port. The two marines who stood guard at the hatch above the prison hold spoke of this matter. One of them had a sweetheart in that port, and when he saw some female figures waving from shore, as women will at sight of a ship, he was moved to speculate as to whether his girl might be among them.

The conversation of the two marines could be heard in the hold. Jerry Whitfield said to Cabell Banks, "We're close to shore!"

Just those few words, but he spoke them so tensely that Cabell, who was lying in his hammock with closed eyes, came alert. He turned and opened his eyes to see Jerry Whitfield disappear up the ladder with the softness and swiftness of a cat.

As for Jerry, he was impelled by instinct entirely. Reasoning did not enter into it. He gained the deck, balanced his slender but powerful body for a moment for its greatest projection of strength, hurled himself toward the two hateful backs and struck both men simultaneously.

He had reached the edge of the deck and had a leg over the bulwark before two other marines seized him and brought him back.

After that things happened rapidly. There was a report to the Captain who listened attentively and smiled oddly.

"It was the large man?" he asked. "Whitfield?" This was as it should be. It would have been awkward, had it been the other one who had bolted. The Captain gave an order.

A call was piped shrilly, calling all hands. Cabell, listening on the ladder of the hod, knew what this meant. He too must go above. He went, with sick heart and dragging feet.

To Jerry Whitfield, reason had returned. Instinct still surged within him—the old primitive instinct that writhes at the feel of a whip on naked flesh—but reason dominated. With a proud and scornful dignity he went where he was commanded to go, permitted without useless struggle the shirt to be stripped from his back and his feet to be fastened to the gratings. He heard the command "Twenty lashes!" without moving his eyes from a distant cloud. He was conscious then of nothing except his own super-human determination to make no outcry.

As he turned to go, afterward, he looked into a ring of faces that had been summoned to witness his punishment. Some were brutally pleased, some stoical and hardened, some pitying. He saw a very young midshipman look at his bleeding back and fall in a faint. He saw Cabell Banks standing with folded arms and frozen expression.

Banks fell into step with him. The two prisoners went below. Banks said, "Here's some salve I bought from the surgeon's helper. I'll put it on for you." His aristocratic, ugly face was as white as death.

"Thank you," Jerry Whitfield said.

Presently they pulled hemp strands from the damp rope and resumed their game of yesterday, and after that they spoke of how the foliage would soon be turning in Massachusetts, and of the scarcity of wild turkeys near the settled places.

It was not until night, from the depths of a pain-filled sleep that Jerry shouted, "I'll get even with them for this!" It was the threat that cruelty automatically produces.

In Boston the hour was not so late. Mr. Cabel Banks, senior, was pacing his beautiful square Georgian house on Beacon Street while his wife sat erectly before the fire sipping coffee from a small fragile cup and urging him to be calm.

Besides Mrs. Banks on the high-armed regency sofa sat a small, almost-pretty, very intelligent young woman, perhaps 22-years old. She too sipped coffee. Her slippered feet with the neat ribbon lacings around her ankles were placed properly together on the Persian rug. Her dress was slim and high waisted, squarely cut at the neck—identical in style, indeed, with the frocks of Mazie Miller and the Empress Josephine, for while three countries were warring with all their might, their women stood resolutely together as regarding short waists and tight skirts.

Prudence Winthrop was this girl's name, and her father was in business with the wirey old man who paced the floor. She was very much attached to that old man's son. She confessed as much now to his parents. "If Cabell comes home and asks me, I shall accept him. He's homely and highly-strung but I find him stimulating. I am very fond of you."

"Thank you, my dear," said Cabell's plump and proper mother. She leaned to kiss the cool young cheek affectionately. . . . Mr. Banks too was pleased. "This is highly appropriate!" he exclaimed. "Your father and I have wished for some such thing to happen.

. . . But where IS my son," he demanded, returning to his anxiety. "What assurance have we that he will ever get home to us?"

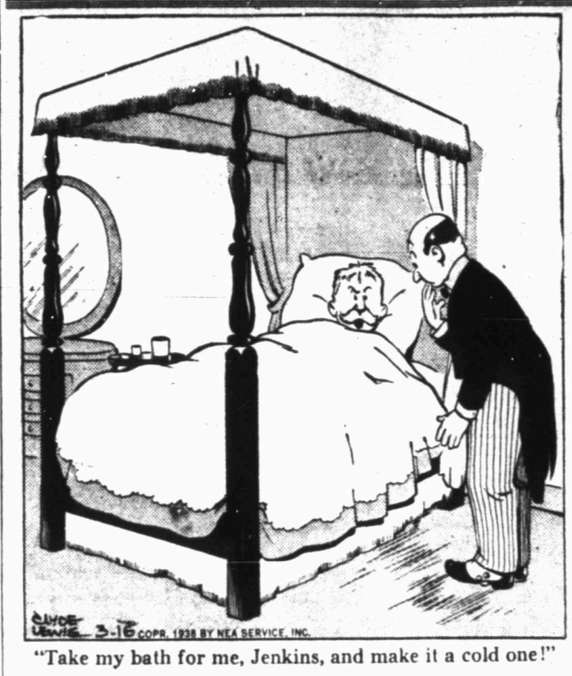

"No assurance," replied Mrs. Banks. "We can only hope and pray." . . . As it was time for family worship, they called in the servants and set about it in the proper Boston way. Mr. Banks read from the Scriptures and offered up a stout prayer. He mentioned almost everyone in public life except the King of England and the President of the United States, both of whom had offended him by causing this war.

They all thought of young Cabell as standing at the prow of the barkentine Hardy, avoiding the British and sailing home to them, as good a Federalist as when he had left them. They little dreamed of his new life, his new ideas and his new friend, Jeremiah Whitfield.

THE PROPOSED NATIONAL REFERENDUM

Proposal by Progressive Representative Sauthoff of Wisconsin that a national referendum be held in November on the nation's proposed billion dollar naval expansion program is, as Representative Brewster of Maine said, "interesting."

Interesting enough to cause a bit of talk, and that is about all. The probability that the plan might actually be adopted is, to speak mildly, extremely remote.

While no one could object to any test which will accurately reflect national sentiment toward national policy, the objections to the proposed poll, for the present at least, are overwhelmingly against it. For one thing, it would mean nothing. It merely would be advisory and not binding on members of congress, even though they might be guided by a decisive result.

Further, it might tend to establish a precedent at a very critical time in world affairs. No one of common sense would want our leaders to be bound in red tape if the crisis should arise demanding instant, decisive action. We must realize that if an enemy power is to attack us, he will not wait for citizens of the United States to vote on whether they like it or not.

Finally, there is no need for such a poll. We have opportunity every two years to elect every member of our national house of representatives. If we don't like what they do about naval appropriations, we don't have to wait long to kick them out and they know it. That fact alone keeps the overwhelming majority of our congressmen on their toes; causes them to strive constantly to represent the sentiment of their district because almost without exception they either aspire to re-election or to higher office.

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, March 16.—Mr. Charles Boyer very likely is snickering up his well-tailored sleeve these days, because the studio that dismissed him in 1932 as having "no future" is the same one that nominated him for the current Academy Award, for his work as Napoleon in "Conquest." He was one of the leading contenders in the voting, too.

When all the companies were rushing into programs of foreign pictures, during the early days of talkies, Boyer was brought here from France by M-G-M. He arrived a little late in the cycle, however, and it was over before a suitable role could be found for him. Meanwhile he was working on his English and expected to go ahead as an ordinary actor. Best he got, though, was a two-line part as Jean Harlow's chauffeur in "Red Headed Woman," and after that his release.

He returned to France and three years later was persuaded by Walter Wanger to give Hollywood another whirl. Of course Boyer was doing all right in the employ of other studios by the time Metro began casting "Conquest"—but it was one of his early Metro tests which won him the role of Napoleon.

Triumphant Return

Broderick Crawford and Wallace Ford are two other Hollywoodsmen who will be welcomed here with back-slappings and fat contracts and loud cries of "We knew you had the stuff, fellas!"

What they've got are the leading roles and much critical acclaim in "Of Mice and Men" on the Broadway stage. Out here, though, Crawford (son of Helen Broderick) seldom was able to get any work. RKO tested him and turned him down because it was decided he had no sex appeal. Just for that, his mother hopes he won't sign with that studio.

Wallace Ford kept pretty busy in pictures, but in order to work regularly he was obliged to accept many parts in cheapie, independent productions and in English films which seldom were good enough for showing in this country. He'll do better hereafter.

"Discovery"

Best example of the prophet-without-honor adage is the case of an extra and occasional bit-player here. I promised not to mention his name although he has been a familiar figure around all the casting offices for years. He did very badly, and sometimes even had to take a job as a stand-in.

Tiring of that, the fellow packed up and went to New York, where he knocked at the doors of agents' offices without any luck, and finally stumbled onto a job of modeling for advertisements. An eastern talent scout spotted him, and he was tested, given a contract for $300 a week, and shipped to California as an important "discovery."

When he walked into the studio flashing his contract, executives' jaws dropped to their belt buckles. Some very nasty communications were sent to the eastern office, but there was nothing to do but pay the unwanted actor his $300 a week for six months. It's all over now and he's back among the extras where he is resigned to remain, comforted by his $7000 savings.

Nepotism Notes

An inexpensive picture being made at an independent studio now has five assistant producers, all related to the big boss and two of them drawing more money than the studio production manager. The other three receive the same salary as the director.

Hugh Herbert, showing his new house to friends, said, "Here's the dining room—big enough to seat 50 relatives."

Most stars wryly complain about the support they're providing for relatives, but the hard-luck prize has been awarded permanently to Freddie Bartholomew. Twenty per cent of his earnings have been going to his mother and father. These payments were suspended by court order—but only while he is paying the $15,000 attorney's fee which his parents incurred in fighting Freddie's adoption by his Aunt Mylicent. And the parents lost the case!

Reporting Freddie's move to have the payments to his estranged father and mother reduceed, a local trade paper headlined the story "Mutiny on the Bounty!"

'Schuschnigg Doesn't Seem To Get The Idea'

Although Badly Scared In Europe, Britain Still Tries To Grab Additional Territory

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 16—The jolly old British, although badly scared by the situation in Europe, still keep grabbing off any territory that isn't nailed down, if only from sheer force of habit.

That, at least, was the feeling of American officials who decided that they ought to colonize the tiny Pacific islands of Canton and Enderbury, even though the British had beat them to it.

Although this "international incident" is far from serious it does represent the first American attempt in a long time to acquire a few square miles of new territory. They are about 20 speckish and valueless islands in the area, visited at one time or another by British or American vessels.

Need Water For Seaplanes

Two years ago the division of Territories and Island Possessions colonized Howland, Jarvis and Baker islands with four Hawaiians each and is building lighthouses on them.

Rodney Dutcher

But Department of Commerce officials, who chose those islands with aviation purposes in mind, seemed to overlook the fact that they would be useful only for land planes and not for seaplanes, the only type used for ocean flying.

Canton Island, on the other hand, has a long lagoon, only a safe hop 1800 miles southwest of Honolulu. Enderbury seems to be an island of no importance.

The British occupy so many islands in this section of the Pacific that their occupation of Canton was somewhat annoying to the State department, which understood negotiations were to precede any colonization.

"Move Over"

Last June an American naval supply vessel carrying an American scientific party to view the eclipse anchored at Canton. Soon came a British cruiser from New Zealand carrying a British eclipse expedition and signaled her to move aside, claiming there was but one anchorage. The American commander refused, but offered to help find another anchorage.

Soon thereafter the British sent men to establish possession, allegedly in violation of agreement. Director Ernst H. Gruening of the territories and islands division recently was sent to look things over and made a report to Washington. Roosevelt decided to put Americans on the island and bring negotiations to a head.

Official insistence that the islands have no military significance, peculiarly enough, seems to be true. They aren't large enough for important naval use, although they may prove to be convenient for commercial aviation.

Sonny Jim For Governor

The "draft Jimmy" movement in Massachusetts is being taken seriously in Washington, where James Roosevelt works as one of his father's secretaries. The President's son once said definitely that he wouldn't run for governor in the Bay State, but recently has failed to discourage efforts to get him into the race.

Some astute politicians are sure "Sonny Jim" could be elected if he got the Democratic nomination, which is now hotly sought by anti-New Deal Governor Charles F. Hurley and Lieut.-Governor Francis E. Kelley.

There is much doubt, however, whether young Roosevelt can get that nomination without a knock-down fight and he doesn't want to take chances of defeat at this stage of his career.

Thus, although there's still an outside chance that Jimmy will be in the gubernatorial picture, it is perhaps more likely that he easily can get and might accept nomination for lieutenant-governor—which in Massachusetts is almost traditionally a next step to the governorship.

THE HUNTER AND THE HUNTED By HAMLIN

Tech Team Is First Winner

Most of the honors in the first dairy products judging contest at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock show at Fort Worth Tuesday were swept by Texas Technological college, according to Associated Press dispatches to The Journal.

The team, coached by Mart Pederson, won the trophy and took first places in butter, cheese, milk and ice cream divisions and placed team members at the top of all individual events except in the cheese judging contest which was won by E. J. Gunn of Texas A. and M. college.

New Mexico A. & M. Second

New Mexico A. and M. college team finished second and Louisiana State university third in the events.

R. H. Russell, LSU, was fifth in individual scoring.

LSU took second prize in milk events and New Mexico A. and M. was third.

In the ice cream contest New Mexico A. and M. was second and LSU third. Charles Gillam of Texas Tech scored high with Maxwell Autrey of LSU second and W. W. Hodges of Texas A. and M. third.

J. H. Baumgardner of Tech tied for fifth place in individual contests for meat judgers.

Steers Win Places

Further honors for Tech accrued from the fact that 11 of the school's 12 steers in the show placed Tuesday, winning an aggregate of 13 prizes.

Six Herefords won one second place, two fifths, one sixth, one seventh, and an eighth. Six Aberdeen Angus steers shown accounted for a first, three seconds, three thirds, and a fourth.

Contests for hogs will be held today.

Florida plans to celebrate in 1938 the centennial of its first constitutional convention.

School Parley Planned Here

Subjects dealing with the proposed creation of 12th grades in high schools in Texas will occupy prominent place on the program of the articulation conference sponsored by the education department of Texas Technological college here March 31 through April 2, according to letter mailed from the chamber of commerce Tuesday.

The invitations are being sent to county and city superintendents, other officials and teachers.

Definite Aims Proposed

Coming near the close of the four-year curriculum revision movement in Texas, the conference will seek to assist in articulation and coordination of the different units of the public school system. It particularly will deal with addition of a 12th grade to the public school system of Texas.

Dr. A. W. Evans, head of the college education department, is in charge of plans for the conference.

Speakers will include ackowledged leaders of education, among whom will be Dr. Sidney B. Hall, state superintendent of public instruction of Virginia; Dr. Joseph Roemer of George Peabody College for Teachers; Dr. Harl R. Douglas of the University of Minnesota.

Problems Are Sweeping

The seven plans of articulation will be discussed by authorities. School officials considering changing systems to 12 years are faced with problem of planning their curriculums to make way for the 12th grade. One of the plans to be discussed will be the 3-3-3-3 plan, which is being considered for Lubbock public schools.

Although the majority of the invitations went to West Texans, some were sent to officials over the state. Representatives also are expected at the conference from other states.

First Aid Is Being Taught

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 16 — The 6,000 employes of the state highway department, from laborers to department heads, soon will have a knowledge of first aid.

Part of a new safety consciousness which has pervaded the department since workmen's compensation became effective January 1, the workers are studying standard courses of the American Red Cross.

E. M. Belcher, director of the department's insurance division, said the courses were planned so that employes might give first aid to themselves and to fellow workers — and also to persons injured in highway accidents.

He believes the corps of laborers, engineers and other personnel — most of whom are on the road daily —might be of great service in treating accident victims.

Aside from that, and from the department's view, he said statistics show a knowledge of first aid reduces accident incidence among group workers from 25 to 30 per cent.

McRee Cites Cause Of Many Mishaps

The driver was held responsible for 15 per cent of traffic accidents by F. L. McRee, associate professor of civil engineering at Texas Technological college, at a meeting Tuesday night of the Lubbock Safety council traffic school in the National Guard armory.

The percentage of accidents are caused by defects in the automobile and those can be traced to the driver, he said.

Demonstration Conducted

J. Ray Dickey, of Scoggin-Dickey motor company, demonstrated the mechanics of an automobile especially as related to safe driving, using a cut-away chassis furnished by his company. Dickey went over the car in detail, pointing out various parts and their functions, including the instrument board, starting devices, control devices, the power plant, the cooling system, lights and brakes. Too many people just get in an automobile and drive off, never inspecting it until trouble develops, Dickey said.

Dupree Next Speaker

Approximately 150 persons attended the meeting, according to McRee. This was the second in a series of eight meetings.

McRee announced a change in scheduled meeting places, stating that all future classes will be held in the Junior High school auditorium on Monday nights, regardless of previous announcements. The next class will be Monday night when George W. Dupree will discuss Lubbock traffic ordinances. Any questions on this subject by the audience will be answered.

General Pershing Leaves His Sickbed On Tuesday

TUCSON, Ariz., Mar. 16. (AP)—General John J. Pershing left his sickbed Tuesday for the first time since he was stricken with a heart attack a month ago.

The 77-year-old World war commander, who two weeks ago started a campaign of recovery after members of his family had abandoned hope for his life, was allowed to sit up in a chair for 10 minutes.

Dr. Roland Davison, his private physician, said after an examination that the aged soldier would leave his bed at the desert sanatorium for a short period again today.

Fighting Next War's "Creeping Terror"

As war clouds roll over Europe, Westminster, London, opens for inspection the first air-raid and gas-proof shelter built for a local city authority. The photo shows the entrance to the underground, steel-lined gallery. The space between the two doorways is an air-lock to keep gas from seeping in when anyone goes out. The walls of the chamber are covered with a luminous material which furnishes light. The fantastic figure at the right is a member of an English battalion famous around the world for its colorful military dress in peacetime. But there is little glamor left in the grisly modernized costume he will wear in the next war. The bit of paper on the end of his bayonet is a gas-detector which turns red when gas is about.

Shallowater Man Is Burns Victim

Burns received Jan. 18 when he fell across a pot of boiling grease at his home near Shallowater resulted in the death of L. T. Turpen, 48, farmer, in a hospital here Tuesday afternoon.

Funeral services were to be held at Rix chapel at 3 o'clock this afternoon with the pastor of the Missionary Baptist church at Shallowater officiating. Burial will be in Lubbock cemetery.

Turpen's fall into the boiling grease caused a portion of it to splash onto flames around the pot. He and Mrs. Turpen were rendering lard. Mrs. Turpen pulled him from the fire and in doing so suffered minor burns on her hands and arms.

Found Lying Across Pot

She said she discovered him lying across the pot and did not know how long he had been there. He suffered severe burns on half his body, most of them being on his back and legs.

He was rushed to a hospital here immediately after the accident.

He had been a farmer of about three miles west of Shallowater more than 15 years.

He is survived by his wife; four small sons; two brothers, W. C. Turpen of Marysville, Calif. and E. R. Turpen, whose address was not known; and two sisters, Mrs. Ida Hildebrand of Hamlin and Mrs. E. B. Abercrambie of Cushing, Okla.

Pallbearers will be Joe Miller, F. L. Luck, Joseph Watts, G. H. Warren, Eddie Edwards, and J. D. Reed.

Many Shallowater friends of Turpen have been by his bedside nightly since the accident.

CLARK TO OPPOSE BILL

AUSTIN, Mar. 16. (AP)—Secretary of State Edward Clark left last night for Washington to oppose a bill now before a house committee which would provide for federal regulation of corporation doing business in two or more states.

He said he would contend the proposal is an infringement on state's rights. Any state now can exclude a corporation which does not comply with its laws, he said.
