

BUFFALO AGENTS NEEDED INDUCING

So New York Life Paid 'Em More Than Usual

PERKINS LOSES TEMPER

Lawyer Hughes' Persistence Angers Banker, But Former Wins His Point

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Several sensational incidents developed at the session of the legislative committee on the life insurance investigation yesterday. The first witness, George W. Perkins, vice president of the New York Life Insurance Company, and a member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., objected to producing the books of his firm, showing a certain transaction of that firm with the New York Life. Mr. Perkins offered to present a copy of the entry in question from the books, but Mr. Hughes demanded the books after several refusals on the part of Mr. Perkins.

The books will be produced later. In the course of his testimony, Mr. Perkins, when asked concerning the difference in the statement of the "profits from securities" in the Massachusetts report of the company, and of "net profits from securities" in the New York report, said:

"When we get national supervision, we won't have these conflicts between the different states."

Mr. Perkins testified to a number of transactions in which he represented Morgan & Co. as seller and the New York Life Insurance Company as purchaser.

Another sensation was sprung later in the day when Vice President Thomas A. Buckner of the New York Life Insurance Company detailed the advances made to agents, and which were carried in the report to the state insurance commissioner as "commuting renewal premiums."

Advances to Agents It was brought out as a matter of fact that these advances were loans, but were not carried as such. Mr. Buckner testified that advances were made to agents sometimes as inducements to leave other companies and enter the employ of the New York Life.

A situation of conflict in Buffalo in 1901 between the Equitable and New York Life was brought out, and in order to get agents of the Equitable away from that company liberal advances and liberal contracts were made by the New York Life. Mr. Buckner testified that these advances to agents in the Buffalo branch of the New York Life in 1902 alone exceeded by $48,000 the amount really earned by these agents.

Later, Mr. Buckner acknowledged this was most extravagant, and said in 1903 the amount was cut down by half, and by half the remaining amount in 1904.

A copy of a contract and a confidential letter to David H. Desbecker of Buffalo, one of the agents in question, showing the inducements held out to him to enter the employ of the New York Life, was read.

While Mr. Perkins was on the stand during the afternoon there was somewhat of a clash between the witness and Mr. Hughes, the first of anything of this nature that has occurred, and actual words were heard. It was when Mr. Perkins was testifying as to the monies in the "Nylle" fund, of which he is trustee.

Mr. Perkins did not want it to appear on the records that the agents had part of their salaries into the fund under contract unless the words "and bonuses" appeared. He said to Mr. Hughes that (Mr. Hughes) was trying to get away from something, and the course he took (Mr. Perkins) would answer his question much better progress would be made with the investigation.

Earlier in the day Henry R. Winthrop of the Equitable, while on the stand, presented a statement of the transfers of the stock of the Equitable at the time of its change of management and the directors. Most of the transfers Mr. Winthrop was able to explain, but some he was not. At the time of these transfers Mr. Winthrop was the holder of twenty-five shares. He thought the actual owners were James H. Hyde as he turned the checks for dividends over to Mr. Hyde.

The subject of salaries of the officers was taken up. In the minutes of the finance committee of the Equitable, mention is made of a "special minute" relating to compensation of officers, but it does not appear on the books of the society. Mr. Winthrop had seen it when he was given a copy to question during the session. This finance committee fixed the salary of Henry B. Hyde at $50,000 annually, and in lieu of commissions an additional sum of $25,000, and also fixed an annuity to Mr. Hyde of $25,000, payable commencing upon the death of Mr. Hyde. J. W. Alexander, then vice president, according to those minutes, was to receive such salary as he was then receiving, or such as the president might hereafter name, and in addition an annuity of $18,000 to be paid Mrs. Alexander, commencing upon the death of Mr. Alexander. This resolution was retroactive, and the salaries were to take effect Jan. 1, 1888.

SILVER PLATE IN RAG PICKERS' HOME

New York Detectives Arrest Aged Couple Suspected of Long Series of Thefts

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Central office detectives late yesterday afternoon found large quantities of silver plate and jewelry in the rooms of a Roosevelt street tenement occupied by Antonio Desto and his wife, Angela, an aged couple, who make their living by picking rags. Bank books also found by the detectives show total deposits of nearly $8,000 in local savings banks. The loot is believed by the police to be worth about $3,000, and to cover a period of fifteen years.

The discovery of these valuables, the detectives say, throws light on many mysterious robberies in the district around Malden Lane.

The Destos protesting that they found all their treasures, were locked up at police headquarters, charged with grand larceny.

Their arrest followed a complaint made by J. W. Kokasari of the Derby Silver Company, Malden Lane. The store was robbed between closing time on Sept. 29 and opening time on Sept. 21 of valuable silverware.

Detectives searched the place and found on the floor a scrap from an Italian newspaper and a package of pins. With these as clues they decided to watch the Italian rag pickers who swarm about the district daybreak. Some of these are admitted to stores by porters to assist in clearing up, taking the refuse as wages.

Antonio and Angela Desto were most energetic of these rag pickers. They had been known and trusted in the district for years. The detectives watched the old couple for several days, and finally followed them to the Roosevelt street abode. Representing themselves as officers from the board of health on an inspection tour, they made search of the home and found plunder, much of which has been identified by several jewelry merchants of the down town district as their property.

WEATHERFORD JAIL LOSES 3 PRISONERS

One Under Twenty-Year Sentence on Charge of Murder.

Window Bars Cut

Special to The Telegram. WEATHERFORD, Texas, Sept. 29.—George Freeman, under sentence of twenty years following conviction for the killing of his son-in-law in Jack county, and two other prisoners left for minor offenses effected a mysterious escape from jail here this morning.

Cells in which the prisoners were confined were found intact, having been unlocked in some way. Escape was effected from the jail corridor by cutting the window bars of a window. Shortly after midnight a woman was placed in the jail supposed to be out of her mind. Her uproar aroused the officers shortly after 2 o'clock and it was found the prisoners were gone. The escape was effected after the woman had been placed in the jail, all being safely in their cells at that time. A rigid investigation is being made by officers, but it is yet undetermined how the cell doors were opened. None of the prisoners had been recaptured at a late hour this morning.

FORGOT OWN HURT TO SAVE COMPANION

Brakeman Dangerously Injured in Wreck at Morgan Tried in Vain to Save Engineer

Special to The Telegram. WACO, Texas, Sept. 29.—A pathetic story and one which shows the heroism of railway men comes from the wreck of Tuesday evening on the Texas Central railway near Morgan, when the engine of a gravel train jumped the track, pulling some of the cars and killing Engineer John Mayfield, breaking the leg of Brakeman B. J. Wright and badly scalding Fireman Jack Arnold. It is related that Brakeman Wright was pinioned down by heavy timbers and that though in mortal pain from his broken leg, finally managed to dig the earth from under the imprisoned limb and get it free. Then, with the broken limb dangling from his body and suffering terrible agony he dragged himself the length of several feet to the engine, which was hissing and roaring, and lay the faithful engineer, finding that the engine was buried in the wreckage, Wright dug down to him, though it was too late to aid him in any way, as the spark of life had fled.

GOOD ROADS HELP WACO'S BUSINESS

Practical Demonstration of Benefits in Better Highways Made in McLennan County

WACO, Texas, Sept. 29.—The improvement of dirt roads in this county during the past three years has had a great effect in bringing country people to Waco, and the tide which has been turned this way is the largest ever known. The good roads are doing more for the city than any other factor. It is thought that the rural delivery has likewise had a good deal to do with this changed condition, as there are always special bargain sales advertised in the daily press, and as the country people can now get the daily papers, they keep right up with bargains offered and come in after them. Whatever the cause the conditions have changed greatly.

FORMER WACO GIRL VICTIM OF FEVER

Returned to Natchez from St. Louis, Only to Contract Disease—To Have Been Married Next Month

Special to The Telegram. WACO, Texas, Sept. 29.—News of a particularly sad death comes from Natchez, Miss., where Miss Bertie Landman, an accomplished young woman, formerly of Waco, succumbed to yellow fever. She had been to St. Louis to purchase her wedding trousseau, as she was to wed in November. While there she heard that fever had broken out in Natchez, and hurried home to her parents, only to take fever and die in three days. I. S. Levy of Houston carried a sister of Miss Landman.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE TO OUTLINE REFORMS

Railway and Insurance Regulation by Government Likely to be Suggested

Special Correspondence to The Telegram. WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 29.—President Roosevelt is planning a series of conferences for the first two weeks in October for the purpose of working out the details of his message to congress. The trip which he is planning to the southern states will begin about Oct. 18, and will last until about Nov. 10, so he feels that it is necessary to get along in his message task before he starts.

Railway legislation and federal control of insurance are the two topics which will lead the message. These are now absorbing his attention. The authors of the Esch-Townsend bill are to be taken into consultation Oct. 1, and early in November Senator Stephen B. Elkins will communicate unofficially his ideas of the senate committee's report. It is already known that Mr. Elkins wants a bill making the courts the arbiters of railway rates.

The President has assured many of his summer visitors that he has not changed his views on the remedy for the railway situation. Last December, in his annual message, he said:

"Above all else, we must strike to keep the highways of commerce open to all on equal terms. To do this it is necessary to put a full stop to all rebates. Whether the shipper or the railroad is to blame makes no difference; the rebate must be stopped, the abuses of the private car and private terminal track and sidetrack systems must be stopped."

While I am of the opinion that at present it would be undesirable, if it has not impracticable finally to clothe the interstate commerce commission with authority to fix rates. I do believe that, as a fair security to the shippers, the commission should be vested with the power, when a given rate has been challenged, and after a full hearing found to be unreasonable, to decide, subject to judicial review, what shall be a reasonable rate to take its place; the ruling of the commission to take effect immediately, and to obtain unless and until it is reversed by the court of review. The government must in increasing degree supervise and regulate the workings of the railroads engaged in interstate commerce; and such increased supervision is the only alternative to an increase of the present evils on the one hand, or a still more radical policy on the other.

What Has Happened Since the above was written there has been a very thorough public discussion of this topic. The house of representatives passed the so-called Esch-Townsend bill; the senate killed it. The attorney general has given an opinion that rate making is not a judicial function, and cannot be exercised by the courts; the senate committee on interstate commerce has held a six-week session and gathered six volumes of testimony; on the basis of this senate committee. The provisions of this report will be a matter of unofficial knowledge when the President writes his next message. Therefore, his former recommendations are pretty certain to be discussed, if not reiterated, by the President, in the light of the subsequent developments.

WEATHERFORD RAILROAD CONTRACT IS SIGNED

Lufkin, Texas, Company Will Build Proposed Line to Bridgeport

Special to The Telegram. WEATHERFORD, Texas, Sept. 29.—Contract was signed here this morning for the construction of the Chicago, Weatherford and Brazos Valley railroad, to run from Weatherford to Bridgeport. Work will be done by the McCarthy-Muller Construction Company of Lufkin, Texas. President McCarthy of the company started out over the proposed line today to decide upon the most feasible line. The road will run through Springtown to Pooleville. It is understood the line will be extended further south to Granbury or Glen Rose. So far as known the road is an independent one, but will connect with the Rock Island or Frisco. Weatherford has contributed $65,000 toward the construction of the line.

LAWTON KNIGHTS TO BUILD NEW HALL

Pythian Home Probably Will Cost $10,000 to $20,000 When Completed

LAWTON, Okla., Sept. 29.—A committee of members of the Lawton lodge, Knights of Pythias, met at the office of Grand Chancellor Young at 3 o'clock this morning to discuss the matter of the construction of a castle hall for the Lawton lodge. Preliminary plans were laid and the indications are that there will be no delay in contracting for the construction of a building on a centrally located lot of the city.

A stock company will possibly be organized to carry out this project and a two-story or three-story brick constructed, costing from $10,000 to $20,000. The first floor is to be rented for merchandise stock, the second occupied by the lodge and the third, if a third is built, to be used for some other order of the city. The members of the lodge are in dead earnest in this project and it is predicted that work will begin on the building within thirty days.

OWNERS OF GAMBLING BOAT ARE INDICTED

Chicago Grand Jury Makes Another Attempt to Stop Pool Selling on Lake Michigan

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—True bills were returned by the grand jury yesterday against the promoters and owners of the City of Traverses gambling boat, for the keeping of a common gambling house and a conspiracy to do an illegal act. Some of the defendants must face two indictments for keeping a common gambling house and two indictments for conspiracy. Fourteen defendants were named in the bills. The evidence on which the indictments were voted related to a single occasion when the boat was said to have been in Illinois waters, when pools on horse races were sold.

MEN BATTLE IN MIDAIR

One Has Fractured Skull and May Die From Injury

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—When he heard a report that his son had deserted the carpenters' union during its trouble a year ago, and that a friend, Joseph Kran, had made the accusation, William Keuppel sought Kran last night, and when he found him, he struck him with an axe, fracturing his skull. Kran, it is said, will die. Both the father and son, August Keuppel, were arrested, charged with attempting to commit murder.

WORK WILL START SOON

Final Surveys for Gainesville-Sherman Interurban Complete

GAINESVILLE, Texas, Sept. 29.—President John King and Chief Engineer J. L. T. Stevens of the Gainesville and Sherman interurban have gone to Houston and New Orleans to secure material and make final preparation for the building of the line between here and Sherman. Surveys and profiles have already been prepared and work on the road bed will begin in a few weeks.

COLLEGE MAY BE MOVED

Illinois Man Offers $1,000,000 to Smith Trustees

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Sept. 29.—The action of the trustees of the Forbes library in imposing upon Smith College girls a charge of $5 per year for library privileges has been followed by intimations that the independent institution may seek a new home.

President L. Clark Seelye of the college said yesterday that the offer of a million dollars from a Joliet, Ill., capitalist to move the college to Illinois was bona fide. The Joliet bidder gave as his motive the desire to have his daughters receive higher education without the necessity of leaving home.

DIGGERS FIND SKELETON

Had Been Placed in Hole Only Eighteen Inches Deep

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—The skeleton of a woman with a bullet hole through the skull was found yesterday by laborers who were digging a cellar in St. George, on Staten Island. Coroner Schaeffer reported the matter to the police and ordered a thorough investigation. The body had not been buried more than a foot and a half deep which fact, the police argue, tends to show that it was a hurried burial. No clothing was found.

ENDED LIFE WITH ACID

ALBENE, Texas, Sept. 29.—Mrs. J. M. Pearce ended her life at her home near Coates, this county, by taking carbolic acid. The evidence before the coroner showed she had threatened to take poison and a post mortem examination held by Dr. Grizzard of this city confirmed the theory of suicide by carbolic acid.

FALLING STONE TORE COAT FROM BACK

New York Man Had Narrow Escape From Death as Result of Excavation Explosion

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—One man is said to have been blown to pieces and another to have his arm torn off in a tremendous explosion last night in the excavation for the door of a little shop and buried itself in the beams under the floor.

The stone ripped the coat from the back of Lewis J. Magas, who was standing in front of the counter. He had a miraculous escape from death.

Several persons also sustained minor injuries.

SENATOR MORGAN NOT ON JUNKETING TRIP

Alabamian Declines Invitation to Accompany the Shonts Party to Panama

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 29.—Senator John T. Morgan of Alabama has written a letter to Chairman T. P. Shonts of the Panama canal commission, declining the invitation to accompany the commission, which left New York yesterday for Panama. The senator thinks nothing will be accomplished by the trip. His letter says in part:

"In your telegram of the 23d instant you speak of a large party who are to sail with the commission and the advisory board to Colon and to have comfortable facilities for making tours of inspection and examination of the canal. In the matter of sightseeing, such facilities will afford much pleasure, which I regret I am not prepared to enjoy; but I do not suppose that such a surface inspection of the appearance of conditions in Panama would give me any idea from which I could form any judgment as to the practicability of a lock canal, or a sea level canal, or the preference due to either plan, or as to the cost, or the time required for the completion of the canal on either plan."

"I could not wisely, intelligently or justly give an opinion to any commissioner, or to any member of the advisory board as to the possibility of a dam at Bohio, 168 feet below the level of the sea, that would supply a canal at ninety or a hundred feet above sea level; or as to a dam at Gatun that would supply a canal at thirty feet above sea level; or as to a dam at Gamboa that would supply a canal at the level of the Chagres river; or as to a possible tunnel to either ocean to carry off those flood waters."

"I could not inform the able, courageous and distinguished chief of the hygienic service in the canal zone whether, if we should flood all the breeding places of the stegomyia fasciata with great lakes, we would but increase them a thousand fold along the margins of the canal, bodies of fresh water in the tropical undergrowth that would spring up around them in a few hours. Indeed, there is no question, among the many vital ones, which concern the canal, in which any rational mind could give any reliable information or form any correct judgment, from what one could see or hear of gentlemen whose non-professional and untrained opinions would have the opportunity to make."

Distrustful of Results "I must say that I distrust the expected advantages to congress or to the country of such an excursion or the value of any opinions that may be formed on great engineering problems, by a body of gentlemen whose non-professional and untrained opinions would have the opportunity to make."

"In the effort to answer your friendly invitation with perfect frankness if I have said anything that jars upon your sensibilities, I have not so intended it and would regret it. I beg to assure you of my sincere respect and say that I will rejoice with you in the successful completion of the great work in your charge."

"Sincerely yours," "JOHN T. MORGAN."

JACKSON COUNTY ROUSED BY BRUTAL MURDER

Father Absent When Crime Is Committed—Two Negroes Held on Suspicion

Special to The Telegram. HOUSTON, Texas, Sept. 29.—Not only Jackson county, but all South Texas is roused today by the brutal murder of Mrs. A. J. Condit, wife of a farmer living near Edna, Texas, her 14-year-old daughter and her three sons, aged respectively 10, 8 and 6 years, news of which has just reached here.

Out of a happy family of six which separated Thursday morning when the father left home on a business errand, but two are left alive, the father and a 2-year-old babe, which the murderer or murderers spared.

Five Bodies Found The crime was discovered late Thursday afternoon by a negro boy, who had been working in a cotton field near the Condit farm. Finding the bodies of the three young boys lying in the yard, he gave the alarm in Edna, only a mile south of the Condit home.

Officers at once hurried to the scene of the murder with bloodhounds. They found Mrs. Condit's body lying in one room of the house and the body of her daughter in another. The bodies of the boys were still in the yard, two close together and one some distance away.

FORT WORTH BUYS ITS FIRST COTTON

Expert Buyer Put in Field by Merchants' Committee Because of His Work

Fort Worth began buying cotton Thursday afternoon.

The organization of a company by business men in Fort Worth to buy cotton has begun in this market. Only one day has elapsed since the work of buying cotton began under the new arrangement, still the results are perfectly satisfactory to all concerned.

The committee to which was entrusted the work of soliciting a $2,000 fund with which to handle cotton as it came to Fort Worth, has met with good results. While the entire amount has not been secured, enough is in sight to justify the committee in employing and putting to work a buyer. He is J. P. Ingram of Paris, an expert cotton man. He began his work for the committee Thursday and made several purchases paying 10.25c. Early Thursday morning cotton sold on the streets of this city for 10.10c. Mr. Ingram today made several purchases, paying 10.25c.

The main object of the work of the cotton committee will be to see that farmers get the highest market price for their cotton, and from the way the work starts off the plans of the committee promise to be successfully carried out.

Active buying by Mr. Ingram will commence next Monday, when he will be in the field to bid on all cotton that shows up on the streets of Fort Worth.

NEGRO SUFFRAGE BURDEN OF PLATFORM Maryland Democrats Declare Purpose to Maintain Supremacy of Whites and Make It Issue BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 29.—At the democratic state convention of Maryland, which was held yesterday, Controller of the State Gordon T. Atkinson was re-nominated and a platform adopted, which, excepting a paragraph indorsing the excellent business administration of the present governor, is wholly devoted to the proposed constitutional amendment to restrict negro suffrage, which will be voted upon at the November election. The platform declares as follows: "By common sentiment, the only issue in this campaign is whether negro suffrage put upon us against our will, by force, shall be restricted, and its power for evil destroyed. This democratic con-vention, representing two-thirds of the white people of the state, reaffirms the declaration of our party in our platforms of 1839 and 1903 upon this subject, and now proclaims anew our resolute purpose to maintain the supremacy of our race and its control by all lawful and constitutional means of the administration of the political affairs of the state. "Believing that the constitutional amendment will operate as an effective remedy of the evils of our situation, without prejudice or an injury to any race or class, regarding it moreover as a complete response to the clearly expressed mandate of the people, we unreservedly commend and approve it. "We make it the single issue of this campaign. "We declare it to be our battle-cry. "The negro vote as it stands today is a perpetual menace to the prosperity and peace of Maryland—a menace to our very civilization—for it is ignorant, corrupt, the blind instrument of unscrupulous and selfish leaders."

CANAL ENGINEERS SAIL FOR ISTHMUS Will Inspect Work Already Done and Make Report to Commission NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—The board of consulting engineers and several members of the Panama canal commission sailed yesterday for Colon on the steamship Havana. Their purpose is to inspect the work already done on the canal, and also its proposed route, in order to report to the commission the best kind of a canal to build. In the party were T. P. Shonts, chairman of the commission; Rear Admiral Endicott, Colonel O. H. Ernest and B. H. Herrod, all of the canal commission. Speaking of the work to be accomplished by the present trip, Mr. Shonts said: "Just how long the board of engineers will remain on the isthmus is a question I cannot answer. In theory the board

YELLOW CRUST ON BABY

'Would Crack Open and Scab Causing Terrible Itching.

CURED BY CUTICURA

"Our baby had a yellow crust on his head which I could not keep away. When I thought I had succeeded in getting his head clear, it would start again by the crown of his head, crack and scale, and cause terrible itching. I then got Cuticura Soap and Ointment, washing the scalp with the soap and then applying the Ointment. A few treatments made a complete cure. I have advised a number of mothers to use Cuticura, when I have been asked about the same ailment of their babies. Mrs. John Boyce, Pine Bash, N. Y."

HUNGARIAN EXCITEMENT SHOWS NO ABATEMENT

Feeling Grows, However, That Conservative Element Will Prevent Rupture

BUDAPEST, Sept. 29.—There is no abatement of the popular unrest, although yesterday passed off without serious outbreaks in any quarter.

The socialists gathered again last night, this time in front of the Imperial Club, but the police were more energetic and dispersed the groups as soon as they formed, thus preventing disorder.

A meeting of students passed off without incident. At a meeting of democratic club it was decided to hold a grand torchlight procession in the near future. This decision gives rise to some uneasiness, and it is possible that the procession will be postponed until after the session of the supporters of the coalition party, Oct. 3.

Reports from the provinces show increasing support for the coalition party, but notwithstanding there is a considerable element in Hungary outside the socialist ranks that continues to remain in opposition to the coalition. This element is encouraged by well authenticated reports from Austria of an almost unanimous sentiment in favor of the crown and that even the Austrian socialists are opposing the Hungarian movement because the coalition is opposed to universal suffrage in Hungary.

The coalition leaders, realizing the presence of a decided anti-Magyar sentiment among many influential persons are losing no opportunity to strengthen their position. Francis Kossuth demands the union of all Hungarian parties "for the defense of the Hungarian constitution," and it is believed that a private meeting of deputies which has been called for Oct. 2, may formulate plans to secure such a union.

The court at Vienna is reported to be distracted by conflicting advice. Many Hungarian politicians of influence have advised the king-emperor to yield on certain points.

The effort of Baron Ferjevary to bring about a solution of the difficulty is hailed by members of the coalition as favorable to their cause. It is understood that the emperor has expressed a desire to see Count Albin Czaky, president of the upper house of the Hungarian diet, and that the court will be given an audience next Saturday. It is known that Count Czaky advocates peace with the coalition. It is

ARMSTRONG MAY RUN IN SEVENTH

Petitions Calling for His Candidacy for Alderman Being Circulated

Petitions are being circulated in the Seventh ward calling for the candidacy of R. L. Armstrong to succeed J. F. Henderson, present representative in the council.

Alderman Henderson, as announced exclusively in The Telegram, has declined to again become a candidate and will withdraw from active politics with the completion of his present term.

The above petition has been cast upon by signers of the petition, is at present a member of the school board, his term upon that body expiring in 1906.

It is reported that the petition is meeting with a ready response upon the part of voters in the ward.

So far as is known no other candidates have yet been mentioned in the ward.

AUTO WORSTED IN RUNAWAY MIX-UP

Machine Belonging to W. W. Sican Jr. Damaged by Frightened Horse in Eighth Street

"That's one time an automobile didn't play the havoc, but got the worst of it," said W. W. Sican Jr., as he examined his machine in front of the Fort Worth and Rosen Heights Street Railway's Company office in Eighth street, shortly after 11 o'clock this morning.

Mr. Sican referred to sprung wheel, cracked boxing and other slight damages sustained by the machine, which was struck by a buggy by which was fastened a frightened horse belonging to Morgan Evans.

The horse was standing in front of the office and, becoming scared at an approaching car, endeavored to avoid it by coming into close contact with the car by running down Eighth to Rusk streets and on a few blocks. Immediately upon starting, the automobile was the first object encountered and considerable trouble was experienced by the animal in dragging the machine half way around from its place near the sidewalk. He succeeded at last, and being free from anything except the buggy behind and the vain attempts of waving hats and shouts by pedestrians, he had a good run.

Although the streets were crowded with people at the time, no one was injured. Mr. Evans had a narrow escape from becoming entangled in the runaway in trying to stop the horse.

CHURCH SOCIETIES URGED TO UNITE

Pastor Declares There Are Too Many Organizations Affiliated With Congregations

Foreign missions were discussed at the afternoon session of the district missionary meeting held in Glenwood Thursday.

Mrs. M. L. Woods, district secretary, presiding, Mr. W. E. Nowlin of Cleburne being made secretary of the meeting.

Dr. Alonzo Monk of the First Methodist church of this city addressed the meeting, urging the consolidation of the bodies of the foreign missionary societies, declaring there are today too many societies in the church.

Other addresses were made by Mrs. J. P. Mussett of North Fort Worth, Miss Alice Connor, Mrs. W. F. Barnum and Miss May Spiecy.

Mrs. M. C. Green of Mansfield was elected an honorary life member of the organization. Next annual meeting will be held at North Cleburne next two days.

Delegates Thursday night attended the tent meeting of the Central Methodist church.

FEVER NOW WORST AT HAMBURG, MISSISSIPPI

Nurses Being Sent There From New Orleans, Where They Are Not Now Needed

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 29.—The weather continued unsettled here today, with spasmodic showers, but the low record of new cases and deaths during the preceding twenty-four hours had the most encouraging effect on the public mind, the belief being that if the rate of improvement kept up, October will witness a general relaxation of quarantine lines and give a great impulse to business. There are now under treatment here only 261 cases, less than at any time since the fever got underway, and with the decrease of new cases during the past four days the number will show further depreciation next week.

Much improvement is shown in the frame of mind of the Italians at Pointe Celeste, in Plaquemine parish, and the fever there is responding to treatment. For a time the Italians kept their arms handy and threatened death to doctors and inspectors, but former Congressman Wilkinson, who owns a plantation, has been exceedingly kind and they yielded to his advice and the sick are accepting treatment.

The emergency hospitals at Tallulah have been closed and more nurses are leaving there. When Dr. Tichenor first went to Tallulah he was unable to make any headway because there was almost universal skepticism as to the mosquito theory. Few nurses have been engaged here to go to Hamburg, Miss., where the fever is severe and the people die in great distress. They are employed by the Missouri health commission and salary improvements both in the city and state many nurses are now available for duty, whereas a month ago they were difficult to get.

Investigation at Bates Rouge, expressed the opinion there will be little spread of infection there.

Baton Rouge in Little Danger

Baton Rouge has a modern water service and an comparatively few clerks and Dr. Corput says he found exceedingly few mosquitoes in town. Though infected her self, Baton Rouge maintains her quarantine against New Orleans and other infected points. The health officer is open to all the surrounding territory. The Board of Trade here has appointed a committee and will ask all commercial bodies to do likewise to take up in joint conference the question of formulating plans for the early removal of all cisterns from the city.

Delegates from the local Carmen's Association will have in October and brass band to attend the convention of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees at Chicago. They will make an effort to profit, organized within the railway mail service, whether called by the name of "railway mail" investment companies or by other names, can be offered or controlled by any one in the postal service under the jurisdiction of his bureau.

Very respectfully,
JAMES E. WHITE,
General Superintendent.

BOMB EXPLODED IN TENEMENT DISTRICT

New York Police Believe Black Hand Society Responsible for Another Outrage

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—A bomb filled with dynamite and a quantity of inflammable oil was thrown at the rear of a crowded tenement house at Ninth avenue and One Hundred and Forty-third street early today. More than a score of persons were injured, and many were hurled from their beds by the explosion and two of them were carried from the house unconscious. Within a minute after the explosion the fire nearly engulfed the rear walls of the tenement house. The police believe "Black Hand" assassins threw the bomb. The object of the attack was the rear door of an Italian barber shop on the ground floor.

IN IRON COUNTY

Sherwood Report

Chris P. In has sold to William Glasscock a Senora 500 head of stock cattle.

A goat lives to a much greater age than sheep. Some authorities say twice as long.

J. K. Kinnebrew of Eagle, who has been in this vicinity buying horses, has shipped a car load to his home.

Joe Graham of Ozona has recently bought and put on his ranch 3,000 head of sheep, which he bought on the Lower Rio Grande.

Not a great deal doing among the stockmen out here just now. A good soaking would revive things greatly in cattle and other lines.

Oscar Cain last week shipped out of San Angelo to Fort Worth two cars of fat cows to Felix Mann two cars of fat cows to St. Louis at the same time.

Two thousand sheep belonging to M. Noelke were driven through town Tuesday here, but were over on Spring Creek, where they were sheared.

Many of the enterprising sheepmen have been scouring the country to get rams to grade up their flocks, and some of the best have been shipped in here and taken to the various ranches.

Sid Martin and Phil Lee of Christoval were in a disastrous train wreck last week while accompanying their cattle to the St. Louis market. Sid had three cars wrecked and Phil one. The wreck occurred at Booneville, Mo. Fortunately neither of the stockmen were injured.

MAIL CLERKS MUST LIVE ON SALARIES

Department Objects to Employs Engaging in Any Outside Business

Railway mail clerks must live by salary alone, according to the ruling of the post-office department. Participation even as directors in a company formed within the service being discontinued.

The rule has been brought up in this city by the following order received by S. M. Gaisner, superintendent and chief of the fifth division, railway mail service, with headquarters in this city:

Dear Sir—The attention of this office was lately called to an investment company, called the Railway Mail Service Investment Company, organized in Washington, D. C., for the purpose of lending money at stated rates to railway postal clerks in Missouri. The president and secretary-treasurer were not connected with the service, the finance committee and the board of directors of the company were railway postal clerks, and this office felt that the connection with the company in question as officers was in violation of section 1472, postal laws and regulations, which prohibits, in effect, clerks from engaging in outside business. However, the matter was submitted to the second assistant postmaster general, who has confirmed the opinion of this office, and ruled that no business for profit, organized within the railway mail service, whether called by the name of "railway mail" investment companies or by other names, can be offered or controlled by any one in the postal service under the jurisdiction of his bureau.

Very respectfully,
JAMES E. WHITE,
General Superintendent.

AUDITORIUM NOTES

At a meeting of the committees of the combined musical clubs of the city, held this morning, report of the committee in favor of having a light opera during December for the benefit of the auditorium fund was adopted. Exact date has not been fixed.

Selection of the opera to be sung was made by a committee, with Mrs. Jaccard as chairman. Reports were made by various other committees.

A further meeting will be held next Tuesday morning in the Board of Trade rooms.

HOMESEEKERS COMING

LAWTON, O. T., Sept. 29.—Cement is rising rapidly from the ashes of its recent destructive fire. Seven buildings are now under construction, among them two large brick business blocks.

Masons Building Temple

ARDMORE, I. T., Sept. 29.—The Masonic lodge at Marysville is constructing a new Masonic temple. The building is of brick, two stories high. A. Edgeman of Ardmore conducted the ceremonies of the cornerstone laying yesterday. A large number of Masons from different towns were in attendance.

Frescoing T. and P. Station

The frescoing of the full interior of the Texas and Pacific depot lacks yet about three weeks of completion. The work is being done by the J. J. Langerver Company and eight men have already worked about five weeks at it. The Langerver Company is doing all the designing and coloring. All rooms have predominating color effects, but entirely different figures.

GREAT LOSS OF LIFE CAUSED BY TYPHOON

Eleven Americans Drowned During Recent Storm in the Philippines

MANILA, Sept. 29.—Reports now coming in from places along the path of the recent typhoon in the Island of Luzon and the southern islands indicate a great loss of life and property. In the waters surrounding Samar and other islands, many coasting vessels and island transports have been wrecked. The coast guard cutter Leyte is a complete wreck and eleven Americans and twenty-four natives were drowned. At the town of Sorsozon fifteen natives were drowned. The loss to hemp plantations is estimated at $1,000,000. The army transport Juan Rodriguez is ashore at Legaspi.

In the interior of the Island of Samar thousands are homeless and the same report comes from many other small islands. Army posts in the southern islands have been destroyed. Civil and military authorities are rushing food to the suffering people in the form of supplies of food they had killed some of the destruction of the telegraph system reports received from other points are very meagre.

CANNIBAL FEAST IN SOUTH SEAS

Two Men Slaughtered and Bodies Roasted—Natives Admit Crime

VICTORIA, B. C., Sept. 29.—News of a cannibal feast by blacks at Mallicolo was received yesterday. Two natives of Moskeley Island were trading when they were waylaid near Mallicolo by Kanakas. The men were slaughtered and their bodies carried to a coast village where they were prepared for a feast. The bodies were placed in a native canoe and as the murderers were leaving they incurred the suspicion of a "figoure", a French trader. Natives told him they had killed some pigs and the Frenchman believing this story allowed them to go. It subsequently transpired several tribes assembled and a feast of flesh was held. A white settler learned this and under pressure of natives admitted they roasted the bodies and devoured the arms and legs of the unfortunate men.

FIREBUGS FOILED

Prompt Response Prevents Burning of Frame Building

Desperate attempt to burn a building in East Eleventh street was made early this morning, according to the report of the fire department. By prompt response the fire was overcome before it gained headway.

The fire, discovered in the rear of 208 East Eleventh street, having been built directly against the frame building, evidently with incendiary motive. Total loss to the property owned by James Moore is placed at $50.

THE OPEN RANGE The open range is rapidly becoming a thing of the past all over the country, from the fact that the demand for land by the homeseeker is so great that the cattlemen who have been dependent upon the open range have been practically put out of business.

were expected as a part of the legitimate experience of the man engaged in the cattle business. Under the pasture regime, however, the situation is vastly different. The cattleman of today studies the best method of obviating these annual losses, and usually succeeds by giving his cattle the necessary and proper attention.

It is gratifying to note that the northwestern range country is getting rid of its accumulation of aged steers this fall. The Texas range men have had to go up against this accumulation of aged steers for several years, and when our northwestern friends come down next spring to figure on the few steers they wish to purchase, they can no longer solemnly assure us that the range country in their section is still overstocked with the excess of steers they have been carrying for a number of years.

The northwestern range country is being continually circumscribed. It is growing less with each succeeding year, so far as the open range is concerned, but there yet remains a whole lot of big pastures up in that section that will need steers in the spring. There will not be any plethora of steers offered in Texas next spring, and prices ought to be fairly good. It may be true that the range as an open proposition is rapidly playing out, but that does not imply that the cattlemen are all going out of business.

Tyler people are making an effort to abolish their city incorporation while other Tyler people are strenuously opposing the movement. And when Tylerite is arrayed against Tylerite the fur never falls to fly.

Some of the papers still refer to the insurance slush fund distributor as John D. McCall. And John D. McCall is an honored citizen of Austin, whose only fault is his confirmed calibany.

The Texas cotton crop is short this year, but there is not much of a shortage about the price it is bringing. Farmers generally are selling freely.

The Telegram's fight for better legislative material is bearing good fruit. Papers all over the state are getting in line.

Cars to Mineral Wells over the interurban are promised within six months, and that will be in ample time for the next summer season.

Fort Worth will be a cotton market in spite of the diffidence of some people. Work in that direction is steadily progressing.

The Sunday Telegram never disappoints its readers, from the fact that The Sunday Telegram is always a newspaper.

MILLIONS OF MISCHIEF

By HEADON HILL

Copyright 1905 by The Newspaper Enterprise Association

"If it hadn't been for you bashing some of the last ones on the head as they jumped, there'd have been things alongside to tell tales," sniggered the mate. From what I could make of their jargon, they had been engaged together formerly in the illicit coolie traffic in the Pacific, and had murdered their cargo to prevent detection by an English man-of-war. Such were the men who, at the instance of Sir Gideon Marske, were charged with the task of silencing a weak girl. Truly my prospect of saving Arthur and, incidentally, of exposing the plot against Lord Alphington, was of the slightest. And my own case? I tried to put all thought of it from me, praying that my own end might be no worse than that of the poor coolies whom Belcher had killed in cold blood far away in the southern hemisphere. The mate next sang a couple of atrocious ditties that sent my fingers to my tingling ears, and then the tinkle of glass, the blasphemous orders to the steward, and finally the swish snores of the pair told me the orgie was complete.

"For some time I heard the pipdad of Antonio's feet as he hurried about, collecting bottles and glasses and tidying up the scene of the debauch. Then the sound of his footsteps mounting the ladder reached me, and I knew that there was a clear field for my attempt to learn my fate if I could summon up courage to venture forth. I waited only long enough to be sure that the steward was not going to return, then I softly opened my cabin door. The swinging lamp in the cuddy shone on just such a scene as I had anticipated. Belcher lay upon the floor breathing heavily, his purple face upturned to the ceiling, while the mate's head had fallen forward onto the table and rested on his grimy hands. Both men were sleeping the sound slumber of intoxication, and I stole forward.

Mastering the loathing I felt at having to touch the beast, I stooped over Belcher and quickly extracted the envelope from his breast pocket. On the half sheet of note paper which it contained, written in a crabbed hand, and almost undecipherable by the murky light of the cuddy lamp, were the following words:

"Rendezvous, Chichester harbor, off old Custom house. Thursday night watch clump of trees left of creek from 10 o'clock. A lantern waved three times will mean that you are to send a boat to that spot to fetch someone, who will come aboard and make terms with the girl. You are to be guided by his instructions, whether he elects to remain on board and sail with you or not. But if the lantern is waved six times, or in the event of its not being waved at all before midnight, you will at once steam away and act as you please with the girl, provided she is not heard of again."

That was Wednesday night, I reflected, as I stole back to my cabin after restoring the envelope to the drunken man's pocket. I had a little over twenty-four hours before I should be called on to face the alternative foreshadowed in Sir Gideon Marske's "sealed orders."

CHAPTER XXIX. The Waving of the Lantern

I pass over the slow agony of that night, and of the following day. Presumably with the prospect of serious work in the evening, Captain Belcher kept himself fairly sober. Pleading indisposition, I received a surly assent from the captain to take my meals on deck. Belcher seldom addressed me, and then only in curt monosyllables such as "Fine day," or "Fresh breeze." But the glances cast by him in my direction made me tremble for what would come if "the girl" would not make terms, and I was handed over to him to act "as he pleased, provided I was never heard of again."

And now, as the dusk of evening fell on the silent, land-locked creek, I leaned over the bulwarks and gazed at the clump of trees indicated in the "sealed orders." Whether the latter were actually penned by Sir Gideon Marske or by his son, I showed an intimacy of acquaintance with the locality which suggested that Roger Marske was their real author. I knew that he had spent much of his life in yachting on the south coast, and I had once heard him describing the peculiarities of this series of tidal lagoons to Lady Muriel. Captain Belcher came up from the cuddy after his evening meal. Though his sobriety was ominous of trouble ahead, I was thankful for the moment that he had not repeated the indulgence of the previous night. There was still, however, that disquieting stare in his evil eyes—a stare to make a defenseless woman's stare run cold. "Nice fine night, ain't it, missy? Hope you've been enjoying it," he said, comprehending the peaceful ripple of the creek and the darkening landscape beyond with a sweep of the hand that had "bashed the niggers" as they were driven overboard to drown. "I have been enjoying the quiet," I replied shortly.

AMONG EXCHANGES

It is now hinted that the self-convinced packers were let off with fines in order that they might be used as witnesses against the remaining criminals, to whom it is said no mercy will be shown. It is to be hoped that Attorney General Moody has some card to play with the public.—Times Herald.

There are hints of parties turning state's evidence in the impending trial of the big packers, but this has been strenuously denied. It is probable the government will have but little assistance from that source.

The test of motor car No. 2 by the Union Pacific at Omaha was successful, the car reaching a maximum speed of over sixty-three miles an hour. The announcement is made that the branch lines of the Harriman roads are to be equipped with these motor cars just as rapidly as they can be built. This would seem to give credence to the statement that these cars will be put into use on the Houston and Texas Central. The Herald can see no reason why the steam railroads cannot protect themselves from inroads on their passenger earnings by the use of these motor cars.—Denison Herald.

That announcement was made several months ago, but as yet no motor cars have shown up in Texas. In the meantime, the interurban lines to be built in different portions of the state will afford the railroads some genuine competition.

The statement of Judge George Clark of Waco that he would serve in the next legislature if the people of his county should elect him ought to be riveted upon the attention of the people of Texas. Whatever else may be said of it, it can not be doubted that his willingness springs from the purest strain of patriotism—the sort of patriotism now most in demand in Texas. We have no doubt that Waller Baker would be willing to serve as Judge Clark's colleague, and wouldn't that be a team?—Houston Post.

That certainly would be a pair for every other district in the state to draw to. And it can be easily done if the people will only take hold of the idea.

The Times-Herald believes the Texas railroad commission is right in that Galveston emergency rate. Still, it is well occasionally for the courts to pass on the work of the commission. In that way we make sure that no injustice is being done.—Waco Times-Herald.

It is all right for the courts to pass upon the legality of the work done by the railroad commission, and the only objection to the pending injunction is the fact that the appeal is made to the federal court. The people of Texas want Texas matters settled in Texas state courts, and there is a growing sentiment against the steady encroachment of the federal judiciary.

The Sherman woman who has applied for an injunction restraining a certain great many more cattle than it contains at the present time. The country is undergoing a change from the range to the farming plan. With this change is the introduction of farming and raising of crops. Just as soon as the land owners begin to raise kaffir corn and other feed for their stock, they will produce better cattle. They will then bring them out in the spring looking better, and they will bring better prices. All over that country at the present time this rough feed is being raised, and it is telling on the stock.

"Something of an idea of the amount of cattle manure that is produced in the territory tributary to San Antonio has been had when it is remembered that over 3,000,000 pounds of wool is handled there each year. Besides this, there are shorn from there very close to 500,000 head of cattle each year. When you think that whole country around there becomes settled up, and the stock raising business becomes more condensed, that immense amount of manure, these manure facts with which the public is not familiar. But we have the country, and the resources, and this increase in the production is bound to come in time."

Dick Wynne would make a better legislator than governor, anyway.—Sherman Register.

The commission and the state railroads have locked horns over rates and other conclusions of the commission that the contending parties cannot agree upon. The railroads claiming unjust rulings and unreasonable measures and the commission attempting to justify their course charging the railroads with violations of law and discriminations in shipments. This ground has all to be threshed over and the chaff winnowed in the end, and the wheat left as a relic of a labor barbarism that has been outgrown in the wider developments of industrial progress.—San Antonio Light.

The railways occasionally get their backs up and take a whack at the commission, but it will be noticed that the tribunal created for the protection of the people is still doing business at the old stand.

The Fort Worth Stock Exchange has agreed to fix a charge to be paid for handling all kinds of stock and among other things has agreed not to give any stockman or driver anything to eat or drink while in North Fort Worth. After this every stockman or driver who goes hungry and thirsty while about the stock yards or pay for his own food and drink. Penalties varying from $100 to $500 are named for violating any of the rules. Now if the stock yard crowd will give a little further to the commission for setting up the drinks to each other, North Fort Worth will be made a prohibition town. However, the agreement is for prohibition purposes, but to keep down expenses of members of the exchange.—Brownwood Bulletin.

The new rules proposed by the Fort Worth Live Stock Exchange are creating much comment, and there is a lingering suspicion that even yet they may be changed to a more liberal basis.

Governor Folk says that the dollar is not as potent in politics as it used to be. The political dollar is suffering from the same trouble as the one that goes to the market house.—Corsicana Sun.

Perhaps Governor Folk had not read the latest returns from the New York insurance investigation when he made that remark. The potency of the dollar is now an established republican political principle.

The Telegram mentions the fact that a little boy of Texas girls, winners of a contest, are making a big hit in Colorado. That's nothing; Texas girls make hits wherever they go—home runs occasionally. The Texas girl is all right and you can bank on her.—Mineral Wells Index.

Texas girls are all right anywhere you place them, and The Telegram girls never fail to score.

The throwing on the market of 6,000,000 acres of Texas land by the state is causing hundreds of thrifty farmers of the north to settle here. Well, let them come. Texas is a big state—big every way you take it; big enough to include people of every clime; of every belief, of every nationality—just so long as they will make good citizens.—Terrell Transcript.

It is stated that Texas has received $5,000 new population during the past year, and that is a fine showing. It will not require many years at that rate of progress to knock out all the waste places.

One model legislative committee composed of the best lawmaking material to be found in the state, would be worth more than its cost if the per diem were multiplied to many times the present allowance. It would reform some of the present laws, perhaps enact few new ones and do it all in less time than some legislatures have devoted to hot-air performances.—San Antonio Express.

And that is just exactly what is involved in the demand that comes up from the people that the best legislative material in every district in the state shall be conscripted for service.

Some of our esteemed contemporaries want all the old-time politicians in Texas to run for legislative offices. There are 123 jobs open in the lower house and fifteen in the upper. These worthy contemporaries suggest only about ten names that they would like to have elected, perhaps except a few new ones and do it all under the heading "and others."—Austin Statesman.

The Austin paper believes there is a bug under the chip in this movement, and for once it is right—the people are determined there shall be age, wisdom and competency in the next legislature, and will insure that fact by utilizing the proper material.

The Insurance News says "yellow newspapers" are responsible for the troubles of big life insurance officials, bond sellers and buyers and their high-salaried executives. If so, it is a powerful argument in defense of the methods employed by the publishers of so-called yellow journals.—Dallas Times-Herald.

Yes; if the facts that have come to light are the result of yellow journalism, then the public is prepared to forgive yellow journalism all of its former sins. The newspapers of the entire country are doing a splendid work in exposing the rascality that seems so prevalent in high places.

"Open range is now a thing of the past in Texas," says G. H. Garland of San Angelo. "Year by year the open pastures have been disappearing, and now they are hard to find. I can well remember the time when wild horses roamed around over that country, and when a person could go out and travel for a week without running into a fence. While there is a small decrease in the number of cattle in some parts of Texas, that will not last long. That country is capable of raising and maintaining a great many more cattle than it contains at the present time. The country is undergoing a change from the range to the farming plan. With this change is the introduction of farming and raising of crops. Just as soon as the land owners begin to raise kaffir corn and other feed for their stock, they will produce better cattle. They will then bring them out in the spring looking better, and they will bring better prices. THE ABILENE COUNTRY

W. B. Stickney of Kansas City, a well-known live stock merchant, is here, having been in the Abilene country for several days. "The cattle in that section," he said, "were never in better condition for the time of the year, so far as my experience goes. There is plenty of good grass and everything looks to be in tip-top condition. The market is bad, it is true, but it strikes me that there are not as many cattle in these sections as in former years and the future offers better things, I think."

CATTLEMEN INVOKES BANKRUPTCY

SHERMAN, Texas, Sept. 29.—Phillip S. Witherspoon, a caddishead residing at Gainesville, has gone into bankruptcy, filing a petition in the Federal court here today, with a schedule showing liabilities amounting to $208,194.07 and assets of $4,000, all claimed exempt.

PAYING CHICAGO PRICES

E. Rothchild, head cattle buyer for Armour & Co., at Chicago, is here during a vacation of the company's regular buyer, Mr. McCarthy. "What do I think of the stock yards and the packing houses here?" he said today in answer to a question. "Well, they are very creditable indeed. Of course they are not as large as those in Chicago, but there is a lot of live stock being carried on a large business. The yards are well arranged and constructed, and I find the live stock commission men here are not at all inferior to the firms at the older markets. It is also a fact that some good stuff comes to the yards here and it sells right. I am paying Chicago prices for cattle in Fort Worth, and I think it is a better proposition for the Texas live stock men here than to reship north. Shrinkage is a great factor in cattle shipping. I have bought some excellent fat stuff since I have been here for the past two weeks, and it is good stuff as any city could ask for. The future of the market and the packing house business in Fort Worth looks very bright to me."

While Mr. Rothchild refused to discuss the matter, it is understood that he will make some recommendations to his company when he returns to Chicago, which will be of a very important nature and will mean much to Fort Worth.

ANNUAL QUARANTINE PROCLAMATION

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 29.—The state live stock sanitary commission, through Governor Lanham, today issued the usual cattle quarantine proclamation, effective Oct. 1. The quarantine line is made to conform to the national line, which has been changed so as to place about one-half of Pecos county north or above the line. The disease of "scabies" is also placed under the ban. The open season is from Nov. 1 to Nov. 31. This here for the first time since the quarantine law was passed can be crossed at any time after dipping. Judge M. M. Hankins of Quanah, chairman of the board, was here today and submitted the draft of the proclamation to Governor Lanham for his signature.

Verses That Ring

AN OLD SWEETHEART OF MINE As one who sings at evening o'er an album all alone. And muses on the faces of the friends that he has known. So I turn the leaves of Fancy, till in shadowy design, I find the smiling features of an old sweetheart of mine.

The lamplight seems to glimmer with a flicker of surprise, As I turn it low to rest me of the daisies in my eyes. And light my pipe in silence, save a sigh that seems to yoke Its fate with my tobacco and to vanish with the smoke.

'Tis a fragrant retrospect—for the love in every thought that start Into being like perfumes from the blossom of the heart; And the dream of old wanders over is a luxury divine— When my truant fancy wanders with that old sweetheart of mine.

Though I hear, beneath my study, like a fluttering of wings, The voices of my children, and the mother as she sings, I feel no twinge of conscience to deny me any theme When I have cast her anchor in the harbor of a dream.

In fact, to speak in earnest, I believe it adds a charm To spite the good a trifle with a little dust of harm— For I find an extra flavor in Memory's mellow wine That makes me drink the deeper to that old sweetheart of mine.

A face of lily-beauty, with a form of airy grace, Floats out of my tobacco as the gentian from And I thrill beneath the glances of a pair of azure eyes As glowing as the summer and as tender as the skies.

I can see the pink sunbonnet and the little checked dress She wore when first I kissed her and she answered the caress With the written declaration, that "as surely as the vine Grew round the stump," she loved me—that old sweetheart of mine.

And again I feel the pressure of her slender little hand, As we used to talk together of the future we had planned; When I should be a poet, and with nothing else to do But write the tender verses that she set the music to.

When we should live together in a cosy little cot Hid in a nest of roses, with a fairy garland we should be so happy that when Where the vines were ever fruited, and the weather ever fine, And the birds were ever singing for that old sweetheart of mine;

And I should be her lover forever and a day, And she my faithful sweetheart till the golden hair was gray; And we should be so happy that when either's lips were dumb They would not smile in Heaven till the other's kiss had come.

But ah! my dream is broken by a step upon the stair, And the door is softly opened, and—my wife is standing there. Yet with eagerness and rapture all my visions I resign To greet the living presence of that old sweetheart of mine. —JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS

Some jokers are as artless as their jokes are pointless. Lots of people suddenly become deaf when duty calls. Wise is the man who declines to take his troubles seriously.

It takes a lot of will power to enable a man to save himself from himself. When there is a right way and a wrong way the average man goes wrong.

No, Corcilia, a photographer isn't necessarily a robber because he takes things. It's the wise boy who is considerate of today and doesn't worry about tomorrow. A woman never fails to boast of her intuition every time she makes a good guess.

While a man's will may be law, in the case of a married man the law is seldom enforced. He who believes that seeing is believing is the one good brick promoter likely to do business with. It's a good thing a child doesn't know that he is father to the man, or doubtless things would take a turn.—Chicago News.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR

It is very exciting to kiss a girl and then find you didn't do it because she dodged. A man no sooner gets past the family picnic season than he has to face the opera season. A woman would almost rather never have her daughter get married than do it her own way.

It is queer how a girl can keep a man making love to her when he thinks she is doing it to him. One of the hardest things to understand when you go home late at night is why it takes so long to get up stairs when the stairs seem to be coming down.—New York Press.

perity down the way," said he to the Express Wednesday. "Liberal rains have visited this section. The Dunc ranch of Naylor & Jones had some good rains and cattle will be in fine shape to go into the winter and if the price should get sufficiently high shortly, some fat stock could go to market. The cattlemen are not building any great hopes on anything this fall, however. I was on Coleman C. Irvin's ranch and he is busy with his corn crop. He has about 3,000 bushels of corn gathered and cribbed and will get about 2,000 bushels more. Besides looking after this he is getting his hogs into pens preparatory to making his usual killing of hams, bacon and sausage. There are three cars of corn I took from one of his wagons as it came from the field. The reporter counted eighteen rows of corn on one car and guessed the rest were a foot long. It was good corn, too."—San Antonio Express.

INCREDIBLE BRUTALITY

It would have been incredible brutality if Charles F. Lemberger of Syracuse, N. Y., had not done the best he could for his suffering son. ## A Remarkable Performance

What is perhaps the most remarkable step climbing achievement for an automobile was lately brought off at Odessa, Russia.

The boulevard steps of this town are one of the longest flights in the world. Indeed, it is stated that when viewed from below the effect is quite awe-inspiring, and that for an automobile to make the ascent would appear quite impossible. John L. Poole of Detroit, Mich., recently laid a wager of 1,000 roubles, however, that a seven horsepower Oldsmobile would get to the top, and explained that the only thing that would stop the car would be the interference of the Russian police. The wager being accepted, a car was borrowed from a private owner, and the little runabout was brought to the foot of the steps and the attempt begun. Contrary to expectation, there was no interference on the part of the police, who seemed to take a lively interest in the proceedings. The car successfully reached the top, and was received with cheers by the crowds which had assembled at the summit. The owner of the car immediately took possession of the title, and his wife went for a long drive. Notwithstanding the continuous succession of shocks to which the car was subjected, it sustained no damage whatever, not even a slackened bolt. The steps number 193 in all, and have each a height of 5 1/2 inches, with a width of 16 1/2 inches; the total height, therefore, is 84 1/2 feet, and the gradient thus formed is one of 20 per cent. The most interesting feature of the performance is that, owing to the length of the wheel-base, both front and rear wheels were obliged to jump simultaneously.

PORCELAIN AND THE POET

The Poet Really Didn't Break the Cup, But the Widow Thought He Did (From the French—Translated by Mrs. A. F. Law.) (Copyright 1905, by the Newspaper Enterprise Association.) There never was a more lively waiting maid than Mile. Julie. She was always smiling, sparkling, good humored. Very different from this was her mistress, Madame Blainval, who was quite melancholy and as gloomy as all must be during the first period of widowhood. Standing in the middle of the drawing room Julie held a feather duster in one hand and in the other an open note. The note contained a very tender declaration which mademoiselle read for the tenth time, all the while twirling the brush regardless of what it touched. This was a double imprudence. A porcelain cup fell and broke in pieces upon the floor. "What will madame say?" was the first thought. The precious Sevres had been given to madame by her husband and Julie knew how dearly prized everything which recalled the dear departed was to her mistress. "Suppose I put this accident upon some other person?" Julie thought. The ingenious maid procured a stone, wrapped it in the note, whose contents she knew by heart, and everything was arranged before madame entered the room a half hour later. With the first glance she discovered the havoc and the regret caused by the broken cup was soon effaced by the anger in which she resented the contents of the note. "Is it possible anyone could write such things to me?" she said to herself. "It must certainly be a neighbor." The window through which the note had been thrown opened upon the garden. In front of it rose a large handsome house whose occupants had never before excited madame's curiosity. For the first time the widow contemplated the house from behind a curtain and reviewed the inmates. Suddenly at one of the windows of the upper story appeared a young man. After leaning from the casement a moment or two he passed his hand through his long hair and fixed his eyes upon the sky. Madame would have deemed his conduct quite natural if she had known that her neighbor was a poet and at that moment engaged in arranging a rebellious rhyme. "He is trying to dissemble," thought she, "but he will soon betray himself." However, the poet still regarded the sky and continued his contemplation for a quarter of an hour. The widow had time to familiarize herself with his face, which was full of grace and expression, before he retired from the window without even casting a glance in her direction. "Nevertheless," said the widow, "it must be he. I have no other neighbor capable of such an action." Adalbert, the poet, however, was not so engaged in poetry as to remain insensible to earthly matters. He sometimes breathed celestial atmosphere and occupied himself with events passing before his vision. "There," said he one day, looking at the window, "in the muse I would love to invoke! But would she listen to me, an unknown poet? There is too great a distance between us."

HE PASSED HIS HAND THROUGH HIS HAIR.

Adalbert knew nothing of what was passing in his loved one's brain. One evening he was invited to a ball in honor of a relative of the widow. The invitation had come through a friend of his, who was not a stranger to his fair neighbor. This meeting served to fan the love of the young man and added a zest to the widow's one-sided worship. The romance thus began went on for a couple of months. At the end of this period the young man called one morning to learn, if possible, how he stood in her affections. He approached a small table upon which lay some porcelain cups and saucers, one of which the sleeve of his coat touched. "Take care," said the charming widow with a smile, "or you will again break one of my cups." "Again?" echoed Adalbert, astonished. "Oh, yes. You will admit now, of course, that you have already broken one."

MAN ABOUT TOWN

H. B. Burton, manager of Lake Erie theater, was talking to a Telegram reporter today and related the following little story: "I went over to Dallas last week to see how they were getting along with the New Majestic theater over there, and while standing on the corner watching the busy carpenters at work I was tapped on the shoulder by some one. I turned to see who it might be and was surprised to see a street mislabeled. "He says to me: "You're Mr. Burton?" "I said, 'yes, sir.' "You're from Fort Worth?" "Yes, sir." "You are manager at Lake Erie?" "I said, 'yes, sir.' "He asked me: "Mr. Burton, how old are you?" "I said, 'Thirty years of age.' "I see you smoke; do you drink and chew tobacco also?" "I said, 'I drink a little once in a while, and smoked some. He said: "Do you know, Mr. Burton, for twenty years you have been on the road to ruin?" "Well," says I, "I knew it was bad to smoke and drink, but I did not think it was bad as all that." "So I started to ask him some questions. "See here, Captain, how old are you? He said: "I am forty-five years old, and don't chew, smoke or drink and I am on the road to glory." "Well," says I, "Captain, if you have been on the road to glory for the past forty-five years and have got no further than Dallas, I will take my chances in Fort Worth, that's good enough for me." "He walked away and I continued to smoke my cigar in peace."

THIRD WARD LINE PLANS PROGRESSING

Surveys Begun by Santa Fe Preparatory to Moving Yards North

Alderman W. R. Parker of the Third ward is continuing his efforts in the interest of securing for the Third ward street car facilities, and believes that his work will be successful. He said today that he had not the change in management of the Northern Texas Traction Company occurred just when it did the matter would have been closed ere this. This change necessitated a reopening of the negotiations with the new president, Mr. Tripp of Boston, which has been done, and he hopes to be able to conclude all arrangements in the near future for the building of an extension of the street cars line of this company into the Third ward.

Thursday a surveying party of the Santa Fe company was at work running lines north of Seventeenth street, having in view the removal of the yards of this company from south of Seventeenth street. This action is being taken in order to lessen the danger of the Seventeenth street crossing at the intersection of the street car company. The Santa Fe is anxious to have the street car extended to the Union depot, and is willing to do its part in the premises. With this end in view it is likely that the street car company will run to the Union depot. If the Santa Fe finds that the space north of Seventeenth street is sufficient for the yards the change will be made. Alderman Parker said today that President Tripp is expected to be in Fort Worth in two weeks, at which time the matter of extending the street car line into the Third ward will be definitely disposed of, and he feels confident that the road will be ordered built.

ELEVATOR UNSAFE

Federal Building Lift to Be Replaced at Once Douglas A. Campbell is in the city representing the Crane Elevator Company of Chicago, and will begin work in installing the new elevator at the federal building Monday morning. The old elevator has done service under duress, being considered hardly safe for some time. At times it drops several feet without warning and one day recently it dropped from the third story to the basement, but without injuring the operator, who was the only occupant of the car at the time. Work will be rapidly pushed to completion and a few weeks more will see the new elevator in running order.

THIRD WARDERS TALK MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP

A. H. McCarthy Tells Democratic Club Question Is Paramount Issue Today

A. H. McCarthy and wife entertained the Third Ward Democratic Club at their residence, 215 chambers avenue, Thursday night, the feature of the meeting being an address on municipal affairs by Mr. McCarthy.

After a short session, at which the business routine of the club occupied the attention of the members, it was moved and carried unanimously that the meeting be an open one and that all present be invited to become members of the club. Several new names were added to the roll. President Joseph F. Keboert then announced an address by Mr. McCarthy, who said in part: "The paramount issue, if not the one question of absorbing interest, in the United States today is that of municipal ownership of public utilities; it is fast becoming the subject for investigation, not only by the best men, but also by the masses of the voters, and the time is not far distant when every man going to the polls will better understand these matters as to be able to cast his ballot intelligently on all matters pertaining to city government.

"Already the question of municipal ownership is being agitated in the larger cities of our country. In New York it is a widely discussed question. Many clubs are being organized all over that great city, whose purpose is for the study of this great question. In Chicago it is today the vital question in city politics. The city of Chicago is at present engaged in extensive and expensive litigation for the possession of its own streets, which are occupied by a traction company whose franchise has expired, but which refuses to yield possession of the streets.

Philadelphia's Example

"An example of municipal manipulation through aldermanic graft is given in Philadelphia. Four or five years ago the city gave a street car franchise. When it was known that city council proposed to give the street car company a franchise, the city council of Philadelphia proposed to that city that the franchise being valuable and worth $20,000,000, though he was not in the street car business, he would give the city $2,000,000 for that franchise for a period of five years. The council ignored the offer of Wanamaker and it was seen that the franchise would probably be given back to the city. Wanamaker then came out in an open letter to the city council, stating that he saw he had made a mistake, that he should have offered the $2,000,000 to the council instead of to the city. The franchise was given to the old company free."

The speaker discussed many other instances of efforts on the part of citizens to defeat grasping efforts on the part of corporations to get valuable vested rights under, over and on city streets. Springfield, Ill.; Minneapolis, Minn.; Boston, Mass., and many others were argued to show that the city is the best place for the solution of municipal troubles with corporations.

Democratic Measure

Continuing, the speaker said: "In the foundation of the American government there were two parties. One stood for government and by the people, headed by Thomas Jefferson, whose words, 'I am not afraid to trust the common people,' are the watchwords of democracy today. The other stood for a government of the people, headed by Alexander Hamilton, and differing only slightly from a monarchy. The result of the conflict between these two parties was the form of government we now have—based on the constitution of the United States.

Continuing, the speaker said: "In that day and time, sufficient to meet the demands of our forefathers. Graft was not then known. Sad to say, it is a widely diffused science today and its results are being felt by the people as the sands of the sea. Following the history of this country from its inception down to the present time, the natural drift is toward the referendum, which is real government of and by the people, instead of as now in the majority of places, government by the representative of the people, whose interest in the people ceases when election day is past. It is too true that a voter's influence dies as he casts his vote—too often true that the legislator elected by the people pays no more attention to their desires and stated needs than if they were in darkest Africa. The referendum will be a check on such action. When matters proposed by legislators are referred back to the people for decision, the times of candidates will change. They will be forced to make good in the eyes of the people.

Opposes Present System

"I go on record as against any system of government taxation which will permit any one to amass as much as is today controlled by John D. Rockefeller."

OLD SORES ROOTED IN THE BLOOD

Old Sores are the result of a deeply polluted and foul blood supply. The blood is filled with poisons, and as it finds an outlet through the ulcer, the surrounding parts become diseased and the sore eats deeper into the tissues and flesh and becomes a permanent trouble.

Some years ago while at work, I fell over a truck and severely injured both of my shins. My blood became poisoned as the street car company. The Santa Fe is anxious to have the street car extended to the Union depot, and is willing to do its part in the premises. With this end in view it is likely that the street car company will run to the Union depot. If the Santa Fe finds that the space north of Seventeenth street is sufficient for the yards the change will be made. Alderman Parker said today that President Tripp is expected to be in Fort Worth in two weeks, at which time the matter of extending the street car line into the Third ward will be definitely disposed of, and he feels confident that the road will be ordered built.

Salves, powders, plasters, etc., do no good, and the sufferer gets disgusted and often despairs of curing an old sore.

The trouble is in the blood and until the poisonous matter that is keeping up the ulcer is removed from the system, the sore will not be cured. Under this discouraging report I left off their treatment and resorted to the use of S. S. S. Its effects were prompt and gratifying. It took only a short while for the medicine to entirely cure up the sores, and I am not dead as the doctors intimated. I would be, neither have the sores ever broken out again, and some twelve years have elapsed since what I have described occurred. Having been so highly recommended by its use I can heartily recommend it to all who are afflicted with S. S. S. Wheeling, W. Va. J. W. FUNDIS, Care Schnulback Brewing Co.

CREAM BAKING POWDER

PURE—WHOLESAME—RELIABLE

MADE FROM CREAM OF TARTAR DERIVED SOLELY FROM GRAPES, THE MOST DELICIOUS AND WHOLE-SOME OF ALL FRUIT ACIDS

Its superiority is unquestioned. Its fame world-wide. Its use a protection and a guarantee against alum food.

Alum baking powders, their true character disguised, are urged with great effrontery upon the public. Their promoters are aware of their unwholesomeness, but the enormous profit in their manufacture, as they cost but two cents a pound and are sold at twenty-five cents a pound, or twenty-five cents for twenty-five ounces, overcomes all consideration upon the part of their makers for the health of the consumer.

Alum baking powders retard the digestion of food in the stomach, while cream of tartar baking powder promotes it. These are facts, and they are of serious import to the public.

It is impossible for any man through labor to get control of even one million dollars; much less fifty or several hundred or a thousand millions of money. It is a fact that Rockefeller's fortune is so great that there is not enough of money in the United States to pay for his holdings, if every penny was scraped from every corner of every pocket in America today. If a man can't create such a fortune, he must then take it from others. The system is wrong which will permit any man to do this.

The speaker then took up the single tax proposition as argued by Henry George. Illustration was given of a vacant lot in Fort Worth containing probably nothing but tin cans and weeds. It was explained that every new corner to the city added to the property value of that lot, but, instead of profiting thereby, if he wanted to rent it the citizen would have to pay more in proportion to the number of population and greater business extensions to be realized therefrom.

"The increase of value does not extend to improvements; it attaches to land only. The landlord gets the increase—he may live in New York city or Hong Kong, China. An instance of this was related to me not long since. A man moved to a growing place and engaged in business. He rented a store. Time went on, and occasionally a committee would call upon him, in connection with other merchants in the town, asking for subscriptions for public improvements. He subscribed from $5 to $50, owing to his relative prosperity. Soon his landlord came around and informed him that the rent would be so much and so much more. He was shown that the improvements had increased the value of the property, the very improvements for which he had helped to pay."

The speaker explained that a landed proprietor might think he was entitled to special privileges because he owned property and paid taxes thereon, but the fact remained that the men to whom the land and houses are rented pay all the taxes. The landlord pays none, inasmuch as he actually pockets a profit after all expenses and taxes are paid.

"Henry George divides humanity into three classes—the workers, the beggars and the thieves. It is left to every man to classify himself. The people as a whole are generally right and know what they want. It is time to begin to watch our rights and privileges. I understand that the next legislature will see a move to repeal parts of the present charter of Fort Worth referring to the referendum. It is my hearty desire to see such a move defeated and the best time to defeat it is before it comes up."

TAYLOR HORSES WIN
TAYLOR, Texas, Sept. 29.—Taylor horsemen are congratulating themselves over the success of Taylor's stable of horses, in charge of Trainer L. Nelson, now at Greenville.

In the races there Happy Hooligan won first money in the 2:30 trot; Lady Prospect won third money in the 1:15 trot; Al Noble won second money in the 2:40 trot, trotting one heat in time approximately in 2:22 1/2; Homer W. won second money in the developing a strong heavy line, with fast ends. However, Grover Jones, one of last year's ends, will return, and he will fill a hole which was worrying the coaches.

VARSITY FOOTBALL
AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 29.—A few more heavy men have appeared for football practice, there being a plethora of lightweight. Thirty men were out yesterday under Coach Hutchinson and just twice that number will report by the middle of next week. The team promises to be strong and fast behind the line, but plenty of work is ahead in developing a strong heavy line, with fast ends. However, Grover Jones, one of last year's ends, will return, and he will fill a hole which was worrying the coaches.

BEST SCORES AT PARIS
PARIS, Texas, Sept. 29.—On account of rain the last day of the handicap was poorly attended and the shooting closed at noon. Nearly all of the shooters left for home on the afternoon train. The prize winners in the high average score for two days were as follows, among the experts: T. E. Huff 379, Day 355, Miller 355, Wade 352. The amateur winners in the high average were: Atchison of Giddings, 338, Meeks of Willis Point 334.

G. A. R. COMMANDER FRIENDLY TO SOUTH

Col. E. W. Taylor, Commander of Lee Camp, Praises "Corporal" Tanner

Colonel E. W. Taylor, commander of R. E. Lee Camp, United Confederate Veterans, declares "Corporal" Tanner, recently chosen to head the G. A. R. as commander in chief at the Denver convention, one of the men who can best bind over old wounds and aid in the thorough loss of all feelings between the North and the South.

His election, Colonel Taylor feels, will do much to bring about a better understanding between the veterans of the two armies, the numbers of which are both rapidly diminishing.

Colonel Taylor and wife had left Chicago for this city and upon going into the smoking compartment of the Pullman after dinner, Colonel Taylor and several men, highly engaged in discussion of the silver question, the discussion waxed warmer each minute and finally a gray moustached, pleasant man who was defending the gold bank against the attack of the others, said: "If you people stir up such a feeling over this monetary question we will have another war between the states."

"I broke in then," said Colonel Taylor, "and declared to them that no man who had been through the struggle could believe such a war was again possible."

"The gold man answered slowly," says Colonel Taylor, "and said: 'It is true I did not see much of the war and never rose very high in rank. I had both legs shot off in the battle of Bull Run and was left on the field and captured.'"

"I declared at once that no man but Corporal Tanner had had that experience and he at once admitted that he was the man."

"We then began to tell of war experiences, politics being forgotten in an instant, and Corporal Tanner I found to be full of kindly feeling for his late opponents whose treatment of him he praised in the highest terms, declaring but for the prompt surgical attention given him by the Confederate physicians, his life would not have been saved. His injury was not apparent while conversing with him and he was able to move about with ease upon artificial limbs."

"We exchanged many courtesies during the trip and finally we reached Wichita, Kan., where he was to speak. He was on the platform preparing to leave when two men boarded the car. 'Is Corporal Tanner here?' they asked. I told them he was and asked what they wished with him."

"We are a committee sent here to meet him and escort him to the hall where he speaks tonight," was the reply.

"I could contain myself no longer," says Colonel Taylor, "and I told them right there if they ever came to meet a man like Corporal Tanner, they were right and come with a brass band and everyone they could find."

Corporal Tanner was also much impressed with the trip and the declaration of Colonel Taylor that another war was impossible was used by him frequently in speeches made during the trip.

SEVENTY-FIVE YARD DASH FOR $50
TAYLOR, Texas, Sept. 29.—An exciting foot race of seventy-five yards, for a purse of $50, between Will C. A large crowd was present and considerable money changed hands on the result.

STOCK LAW MAY DEFEAT ORDINANCE

Contended County Provision Annuls Regulation Regarding Loose Animals

The case of E. L. Thielman against Bob Miller et al. in which the city of Fort Worth is defendant, as Thielman is suing the poundkeeper and the city jointly for the possession of a horse impounded, is on trial today before Judge Charles T. Rowland. It is contended that the stock law recently voted inARRANT county abrogates and annuls the city ordinance relative to the impounding of stock by the poundkeeper. The city was represented by James S. Davis. A number of authorities were submitted this morning and additional ones will be presented this afternoon.

BOY OF EIGHTEEN HELD AS SUSPECT

Negro Youth Who Gave Alarm of Murder Near Edna Has Been Arrested

Special to The Telegram. HOUSTON, Texas, Sept. 29, 3 p. m.—Hank Gibson, a negro boy about 18 years old, is being held at Edna, charged with the murder of Mrs. A. J. Condit and four children, found dead last night. Gibson is the negro who gave the alarm immediately after the murder. The searchers found a bloody butcher knife and a table cloth rolled between two mattresses at the boy's home today. A bloody adz also has been found on the Condit place. It is feared Gibson will be lynched tonight. The posse is still searching to ascertain if others are implicated. At 3 o'clock this afternoon the bodies of Mrs. Condit and four children were all buried in one grave at Edna.

JUDGE OVERRULES PLEA OF CHICAGO PACKERS

Demurrer Filed by District Attorney Morrison Sustained in Federal Court

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Federal Judge Otis J. Humphrey today sustained the demurrer filed by District Attorney Morrison to a plea of abatement made by the packers to have the indictments in alleged restraint of trade declared void. Judge Humphrey said he made the decision on broad grounds without taking into consideration the technicalities which the government advised against in the plea of abatement. It is likely the jury for trial will be drawn about the middle of October. After the decision had been given the defending attorneys tried to amend the fourth plea by the insertion of the word "for." This met with resistance from the district attorney, but the court promised that if the law was clear on the point he would allow it. The government attorney said he was afraid of a trick in the insertion of one word. The district attorney moved that the defendants plead to the indictment. It was announced that a demurrer is to be filed by the packers, attacking the face of the entire indictment, as far as defects and insufficient allegations are concerned. The defendants were ordered by the court to plead next Thursday morning, the pleadings to be taken up in argument before Judge Humphrey by the following Monday.

Railroads File Reports

Special to The Telegram. AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 29.—The Texas and Pacific and International and Great Northern today filed their reports of gross receipts under the Love act with the comptroller. The reports were filed under the usual protests. Both roads, however, flatly refused to pay the tax under the bill. Had the Texas and Pacific paid the tax it would have amounted to $125,423 and International and Great Northern $63,158. Supleigh—Why do you dislike cigarettes? Miss Knox—Because they are dangerous. THREE VESSELS REPORTED LOST

One Burned and Two Dashed to Pieces

VICTORIA, B. C., Sept. 29.—Details of shipping disasters in the south seas were received here yesterday. The largest schooner built in America, the Roanoke, commanded by Captain Amesbury, was destroyed by fire at Nehou, New Caledonia. Thirty-two men assisted by the crews of the American ship Susquehanna and the Norwegian bark Arabia, fought the fire.

The vessel is a total loss. A schooner belonging to Jones Brothers was dashed to pieces near New Castle on the night of Sept. 1, and seven men drowned. The Helen Nicoll, towing a schooner to Sidney with coal when the tow line parted and the vessel was driven ashore. Not a vestige of her other than some debris smashed to matchwood was found.

Indian Girl Gives Lease

LAWTON, O. T., Sept. 29.—The secretary of the interior recently made a new ruling that all leases made by minor Indians in transferring allotments or other property must be accompanied by a certificate of guardianship as a protection to the minor. The first blanket Indian of the west to receive letters of guardianship for such a purpose is Naatina, a Comanche, whose fourteen-year-old daughter leases her allotment to a farmer. The letters were granted in the probate court today upon recommendation of United States Commissioner Charles Selby of Sterling, O. T.

MRS. W. J. BAILEY DIES AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

Was Prominent in Local Society and Women's Club Work—Funeral Sunday

Mrs. W. J. Bailey died this afternoon at 1 o'clock at the home of Captain J. M. Adams, 310 Taylor street, where she and Senator Bailey had been staying for some time. Mrs. Bailey had been ill about one week with pneumonia fever. She leaves a husband and two children, Helen and Thomas.

Mrs. Bailey was the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Wooten of Austin, and was 42 years of age. She was very popular in society, especially in club work, and also took a deep interest in church matters, being a member of the First Baptist church of this city. Mrs. Robert Johnson of the South Side is a sister, as is Mrs. H. W. Lightfoot of Paris, Texas, who will arrive Saturday. The funeral will take place Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the First Baptist church.

CLUB MEETING CALLED A meeting of the Wednesday Club and the Music Club will take place at the residence at 2:45 p. m. Sunday, the members being requested to be present and attend the funeral in a body.

DEATH BY FIRE IS BEING INVESTIGATED

Arrest Made Following Cremation of Farmer Near Haslet This Month

An arrest has been made by local police officers in an important case, the prisoner being held in connection with the death of Ed Nerstheimer, who was burned to death at Haslet Sept. 13. The arrest was made by city officers, and the prisoner turned over to the sheriff's office. The man is being held to await action of the grand jury. So far as can be learned from the sheriff's office no charges have been preferred against the man. Nerstheimer was burned to death while alone in a house at Haslet. A fire inquest, the first ever held in this county, was conducted by Justice Terrell.

RAILROADS' PETITION WILL BE FILED SOON

Suits Enjoining Enforcement of Love Tax Now Ready for Action

Special to The Telegram. AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 29.—Petitions of the suits by the railroads against the state enjoining the enforcement of the tax under the Love gross receipt tax bill, are now in the hands of Judge Brooks, of the Twenty-sixth district court, and will be filed this afternoon. Among the roads which are suing the state are the International and Great Northern, Texas and Pacific, Frisco, San Antonio and Aransas Pass, Houston and Texas Central. The attorneys of these roads held a conference. A temporary injunction will be granted in all these cases.

WORKING WOMEN

Their Hard Struggle Made Easier—Interesting Statements by a Young Lady in Boston and One in Nashville, Tenn.

All women work; some in their homes, some in church, and some in the whirl of society. In stores, mills and shops tens of thousands are on the never-ceasing treadmill, earning their daily bread.
All are subject to the same physical laws; all suffer alike from the same physical disturbance, and the nature of their duties, in many cases, quickly drifts them into the horrors of all kinds of female complaints, ovarian troubles, ulceration, falling and disorientation of the womb, leucorrhoea, placements of the monthly periods, or suppression of "monthly periods," causing backache, nervousness, irritability and lassitude.

SUSPECTED NEGRO AGITATORS ARRESTED

Two Men Held at Hillsboro on Charges of Stirring Up Racial Feeling There

HILLSBORO, Texas, Sept. 29.—Two negroes have been arrested here within the past few days and jailed on charges of vagrancy, the attention of the officers having been directed to them on account of incendiary utterances attributed to them relative to the so-called race issue and the alleged discriminations practiced by the officials, public carriers and hotel managers against the negroes. Wednesday night the officers were informed of one who recently came here in charge of some stock being shipped from Hillsboro by a gentleman who has recently engaged in business here, the negro having given frequent public expression to his displeasure with the distinction made against his race in the maintenance of separate waiting rooms for the negroes in the railroad depots, separate railroad coaches and the drawing of the color line in hotel. He at one time remarked that where he lived "colored ladies and gentlemen" were permitted to sit in the same waiting rooms and the same coaches and to occupy the same tables at hotels as white people. Many other and even more inflammatory remarks were attributed to him. He was arrested and placed in jail, but after spending all night there succeeded in making bond. Several days ago the constable of this precinct received a viciously impudent anonymous letter denouncing the officers for their days when he has conducted this inquisition. There is no mistaking the look on their faces. They all look at Hughes. He is the center, and wherever he moves their eyes follow.

A man of average height and build as New York well-groomed lawyers go, he would not be picked out on the street. But this aldermanic chamber, with its somber light and the tremendous play going on, is the ideal setting for Hughes. He seems five feet eight inches, straight, thin, bony. Wearing a beard and mustache which conceal his lips but not his strong, white teeth. Many think of the Roosevelt teeth. When he speaks the crowd looks at his teeth. They look away to his deep set blue eyes, to his long, sharp, inquisitorial nose—a Greek nose, without the wide, delicate, sensitive nostrils; to his high forehead—a splendid forehead, though not broad, like Daniel Webster's; and then they go back and stare at his teeth.

All the while they hear his pleasing, wonderfully distinctive voice. It is a tenor robusto voice, and no mouth was ever better adapted to enunciate English; the syllables come gratingly from between the teeth; he does not drop his 'r's nor does he fall into any of the 'untidy' habits of speech that Henry James deplores.

Every movement of lips or hand or hands or body speaks the power, the utter confidence of the man in himself. They stare at him all day. He fascinates them. They admit, after the first moment, that Hughes is the master of this immense situation, that he knows exactly what he wants, and he will get it out of McCall and McCurdy and Perkins and the rest of them if he has to drag it out with his teeth.

He moves around continuously, yet never does one think him nervous. He is the physical type of nervous man, but his manner is the antithesis of the nervous man. They have never seen such a cool lawyer in New York.

There are great bundles of big balance sheets covered with figures that look like an inextricable mass to the committee and probably to many experts in the crowd. Hughes shoots a glance at the pile, picks one sheet and the magician Herrmann used to pick a card from a deck of playing cards. He seems never to be looking for anything. He goes at it intuitively. He knows.

He never hesitates. He never says the wrong word. He persists always. He always comes out on top. He has filled Wall street with the strangest panic in all its history. It may not be seen in the daily stock quotations, but it is every day in the faces of the big financiers every day. They have never met an enemy like Hughes.

His father was David C. Hughes, a clergyman, and young Hughes—for he is young—was born in Glens Falls, N. Y., in 1862. He graduated from Brown University in 1881, taught law students in Cornell and Columbia, and has quietly practiced law in New York for the past thirteen years.

Indian witnesses to the number of sixty came hundreds of miles to testify.

One of the peculiar incidents in connection with the crime was told in dispatches from England which stated that on the morning of Sept. 19, the morning after the murder, Henry Hayward told his sister that during the night he had had a fearful dream. In his vision he saw his brother Edward shot and the body thrown into a huge fire.

In the corner of the Fort Saskatchewan police barracks the body of Murderer King will be interred, and over the little mound will be placed a wooden slab bearing the simple inscription: "Chas. King, Sept. 30, 1905."

Away on the shore of Lees Slave lake, 1,500 miles to the north, an international boundary, amid a grove of willows, there is a spot which is shunned by the Indians as unhallowed ground.

Reward for Non-Participation in Chicago Agreement

Statement of Chairman Storey of the Texas railroad commission that he will not hold roads responsible who were not parties to what is known as the "Chicago agreement." The line is to run via Jasper to Alexandria, La. It is being constructed by the Houston, Beaumont and Red River Construction Company, who are the promoters of the road. The company is controlled principally of local capitalists of Houston, with Edward Kennedy as president.

Large bonuses are being raised for the road at different points and its construction will soon commence.

Houston Capitalists Building East From That City

The new road that is to be built east from Houston has been named and will be known as the Houston, Sabine and Red River railway. The line is to run via Jasper to Alexandria, La. It is being constructed by the Houston, Beaumont and Red River Construction Company, who are the promoters of the road. The company is controlled principally of local capitalists of Houston, with Edward Kennedy as president.

DOUBLE LINE PLANNED

Orient Will Reach Mexico City and Pacific Coast

A report comes from Mexico that the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient may eventually build two lines in the republic, in order to establish a system that will extend not only to the Pacific coast, but also to the Gulf of Mexico. It is said that the latter city will never be reached over Orient tracks, but through a truckage arrangement with the Orient traffic would be routed south over the National.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Really Cure Indigestion Instead of Merely Believing Symptoms.

There are plenty of remedies by which you can relieve for the time heartburn, pain and gas on the stomach and can another nervous sensations and induce artificial sleep. You can humor your stomach by giving it predigested food. But when you take your next meal all your trouble begins afresh.

There is only one sensible thing to do. Strengthen the stomach and do away with the necessity for drugs and artificial foods. The stomach, once in proper condition, will do its own work better than any process devised by man can ever do it. The best remedy ever found for this purpose is the one that was used by E. E. Strong, of Capeville, Shelby county, Tenn.

"For years," he states, "I suffered greatly from indigestion. I tried many different remedies and some of them would relieve me for a time, but the trouble always came back. About six months ago I had an unusually severe attack, and while I tried everything I had ever heard of, I found that none of the ordinary remedies would reach the difficulty this time.

"One day I read in a Memphis paper an account of the very remarkable cure of a Michigan woman, a sufferer from chronic dyspepsia of a most stubborn type. Twelve doctors had at different times treated her without success, but at last she was entirely cured, and in a short time, too, by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Her statement led me to make trial of the same remedy and it proved just as successful in my case. I took only three boxes, and I am convinced that I am permanently cured. I have not had the slightest symptoms of indigestion for the last two months.

The tonic treatment has a sound principle as its basis, and abundant success in actual use. Multitudes of cases that had defied all other remedies have been cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The pills actually make new blood and strike at the root of all diseases caused by bad blood. They contain no harmful stimulants or drug habit. far the short route from the United States to Mexico City.

Mr. Parot is conservative in his estimate of the time it will take to complete the entire Orient line. There is yet an immense amount of heavy work to be done in connecting the various portions of road already completed, and for this reason he does not believe that the line will be ready for operation through from Kansas City to the gulf before four years. The statement has frequently been made that the road will be ready for operation in two years, but Mr. Parot's idea is that it will be nearer four than two or even three years.

President Arthur E. Stillwell of the Orient road is soon to take another large party of capitalists from the east into Mexico in an effort to interest them in taking stock in his road.

Corsicana Raises Principal Part of Brazos Valley Sum

Thirty thousand of the $10,000 required as a bonus to secure the Dallas-Mexia branch of the Trinity and Brazos Valley road have been raised by the people of Corsicana. The entire amount will be secured within the next few days.

The citizens of Corsicana have been assured by President Frank Trumbull, who was there this week, that due consideration would be given the Corsicana proposition.

While here this week Mr. Trumbull expressed himself that the exact point from which the Dallas branch would diverge from the main line had not been decided. It is thought that the Corsicana proposition will have something to do with the starting point of the Dallas branch. It may not begin at Mexia, but further to the north.

LAW DEMANDS LIFE FOR MURDER IN WILDERNESS

American to Hang in Northwest Canada for Killing English Companion

FORT SASKATCHEWAN, Canada, Sept. 29.—On Sept. 30 Charles King of Salt Lake City, Utah, will die on the scaffold for the murder of Edward Hayward. The hanging of King will conclude one of the most interesting and, at the same time, bloodthirsty cases ever recorded in the annals of the Canadian northwest.

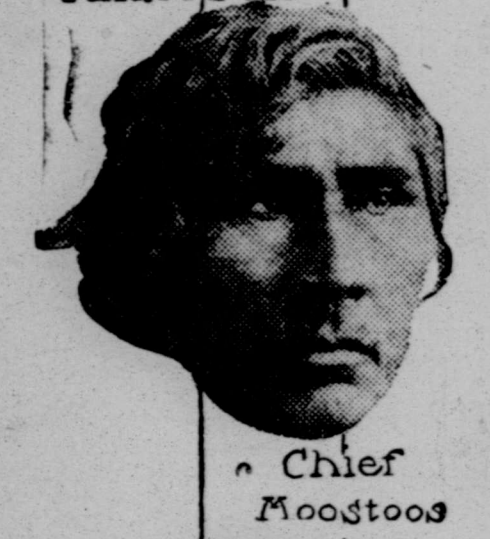

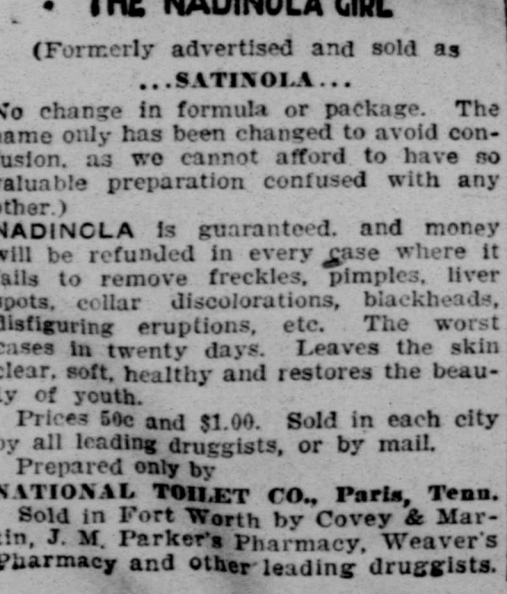

In August, 1904, King arrived in Edmonton. He wanted a companion to go with him to the far north and there to prospect for some of the wealth of which the Indians had brought down such fabulous tales.

Edward Hayward, a young Englishman, who had come out to this country to make a fortune for himself and a faithful girl in far off England who was awaiting his success, heard that King was looking for a partner and at once the preliminaries for the journey were arranged. They covered the 300 miles to the southern shores of Lesser Slave lake by the middle of September.

They camped in a bunch of willows on the edge of Sucker Creek Indian reserve, Sikachese, a Sucker Creek Indian, who had been trapping, noticed the tracks of two white men and wondered what they could be doing so far from civilization. Sikachese told Sergeant Anderson of the Royal Northwest mounted police, who was patrolling that district. Kisani, another Indian, watched King cooking Hayward's last supper. On the night of Sept. 18 he heard the crack of a rifle shortly before midnight, and, believing that the men must have been attacked by some wild animal went early in the morning to investigate. He found the camp deserted, but noticed the tracks of only one man leaving it. The camp fire had been enlarged since he last saw it, the pile of still glowing embers being fully twelve feet long and half as wide. This struck Kisani as being peculiar, for the weather was still warm and he could not see the necessity for so large a fire. These observations he also told to Sergeant Anderson and then traced the footprints of the lone man to a trapper's shanty, several miles off, on the way toward Edmonton, to which town King had already started to return. When asked as to the whereabouts of the missing man, his answers were far from satisfactory, so Sergeant Anderson arrested him.

Jack Moostoos, son of Chief Moostoos, searched the camp fire. The ashes were still glowing and on the surface appeared to be the remains of some garment. He found a charred button which fell to the ground. Telling his father and other Indians, the investigation started in earnest. In the camp fire the Indians found pieces of bone and flesh, a gold-filled tooth, some shot and a piece of a broken tent needle. In a slough, which was drained, were found two pairs of boots and the sole of another.

On King's person were found many articles which had once belonged to Hayward.

This was the foundation on which the police had to work. They sent to North Mundham, England, for Henry Hayward, a brother of the murdered man, and he identified many of the articles found on King and in the fire, proving beyond a doubt that it was his brother who had been killed. The pieces of flesh and bone found in the fire were sent down to Toronto for analysis, and the report came back that they were portions of a human being.

King was tried twice and each time convicted and sentenced to be hanged.

LEGAL NOTICES

ELECTION PROCLAMATION By virtue of section 55B of the amended charter of the city of Fort Worth, and by direction of the city council at a regular meeting held in council chamber of city hall, Sept. 1, 1905, I hereby call an election of the qualified voters of said city, to be held on the 4th day of November, 1905, during the legal hours for holding general elections, for the purpose of submitting to said electors for their approval or disapproval the following ordinance:

ORDINANCE NO. 10000 An ordinance granting to G. E. Montgomery and his assigns the right and franchise to construct, maintain and operate a street railway over and upon certain streets in the city of Fort Worth, and to erect and maintain poles and overhead trolley wires thereon.

Be it ordained that the city council of the city of Fort Worth, and by the duly qualified voters of said city at an election upon a referendum in accordance with the law in such cases made and provided:

Section 1. That in consideration of the stipulations and agreements hereinafter contained, to be kept and performed by G. E. Montgomery and his assigns, and subject to the limitations hereinafter set forth, the city of Fort Worth, a municipal corporation in the county of Tarrant and state of Texas, has granted and does hereby grant to the said G. E. Montgomery of Tarrant county, Texas, and to his assigns, the right of way for a single track street car line, together with all necessary switches, side and turn-outs, over, along and upon the following streets and portions of streets, within the corporate limits of the city of Fort Worth, to-wit:

Commencing on Arlington Boulevard at the point where same is intersected by the corporate limits of the city of Fort Worth; thence eastward on said boulevard to the bridge over Clear Fork of Trinity river; thence eastward over and upon said bridge and across said river; thence east on West Seventh street to Penn street; thence south on Penn street to Texas street; thence east on Texas street to Monroe street; thence north on Monroe street to Jackson street; thence east on Jackson street to Throckmorton street; thence south 30 degrees east on Throckmorton street to Fifteenth street; thence east 30 degrees north on Fifteenth street to Jones street; thence north 30 degrees west on Jones street to Ninth street; thence west 30 degrees south on Ninth street to and across Houston street; thence in a direction a little west of south by street lying southeastward from convenient corner of Houston street and adjacent to the Carnegie library building to and upon Throckmorton street to a convenient point of junction near the city hall with the line as hereinbefore set forth; and also from the above mentioned line on Fifteenth street where it crosses Houston street, and forming a junction with connection with said line, thence south 30 degrees east on Houston street to Front street; thence eastward on Front street as near as practicable to the track of the Texas and Pacific Railway Company to and upon Main street to a point as near as practicable to the corner where Texas Tractor Company's tracks; and the right is hereby granted to cross any and all street car tracks that may be intersected by said line of railway.

Sec. 2. That upon the conditions, limitations and considerations aforesaid and hereafter mentioned, the said city of Fort Worth has granted and does hereby grant unto the said G. E. Montgomery and his assigns the right to construct, equip and maintain along and upon each of the streets and portions of streets as herein set forth in section 1, hereinafter called street car track with all necessary switches, side tracks and turn-outs, and all necessary poles and wires and overhead equipment for the propulsion of street cars by an overhead trolley system, and the right to operate street cars along and over its said tracks, to carry goods and passengers for hire upon and over said tracks, and to do all other things necessarily incident to the rights and privileges in this ordinance expressly granted.

All the lands here laid under the provisions of this ordinance, except switches, side tracks and turn-outs, and except at places where turns are made, and where the street is partially occupied by some other street car track, shall be kept as near as practicable in the middle of the street as is practicable, and the top of each track and the space between tracks shall be kept level with the surface of the street alongside, and the tracks, rails, poles, wires and all other equipment shall be of heavy iron and steel, and so constructed and maintained that travel upon said streets shall not be unnecessarily obstructed or endangered at any place, and all matters of construction and maintenance shall be under the supervision of and subject to the approval of the city engineer and city electrician and the city council. All rails on portions of streets that are now, or shall hereafter be paved will be first to be laid in such manner as to make the least possible obstruction to vehicles, and shall be maintained in that condition.

Sec. 3. The said G. E. Montgomery or his assigns shall at his or their own and sole cost and expense, pave and repave, or otherwise surface and resurface and keep constantly in good order and condition with the surface of the material with which the street outside is paved or surfaced, all that part of each street occupied by him or them which lies between the rails of said tracks, and for eighteen inches on each side thereof, and the said Montgomery, or his assigns, shall conform his or their tracks and every part thereof to the grade and level of each street, and change the level of said tracks as often as and whenever the grade of any such street is changed, so that every part of each track shall always be kept at the duly established grade line or as near thereto as the surface of the grade of the street outside of the said track will permit.

Sec. 4. The city engineer shall direct and point out the places at which poles shall be erected under this ordinance shall be set, provided, however, that no poles shall be set in violation of any city ordinance.

Sec. 5. The rights, privileges and franchises granted by this ordinance shall exist and continue in favor of said G. E. Montgomery and his assigns for a period of twenty years from and after the date of the passage of this ordinance.

Sec. 6. Said G. E. Montgomery or his assigns shall have thirty days in which to accept this ordinance, and the provisions thereof, and shall do so by filing with the city secretary of Fort Worth his or their written acceptance, and shall have six months from the date of such acceptance in which to begin the construction of said track, and twelve months in which to finish and equip said road.

Sec. 7. This ordinance shall take effect as to be in force from and after its passage. Filed Aug. 31, 1905.

(Seal.) JNO. T. MONTGOMERY, City Secretary.

The aforesaid election will be held as follows: First ward—Mansion hotel, with Joe Joseph Poythress as presiding judge.

Young Officers Assigned as Social Aides at the White House Are Descendants of Famous Civil War Heroes

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 28.—The two young men who have been selected by the President to take charge of the social functions at the White House the coming winter are Lieutenant U. S. Grant III, grandson of General U. S. Grant, and Lieutenant Fitzhugh Lee, grandnephew of General Robert E. Lee.

CROP REPORT SHOWS NEED OF RAINFALL

Ringgold and Bowie Both Complain of Long Period of Dry Weather. Ginning at McLean

The Rock Island has received reports from only a few of its station agents giving the present status of crops and prevailing weather conditions. The report already received are from the following points, and include conditions up to this date:

McLean—Cotton is opening rapidly and ginning has begun in earnest. There has been no rain for several weeks. The weather is generally clear and cool.

Shamrock—Crops nearly all matured and are in fine shape. The cotton season has just begun. Cotton will average about half a bale to the acre, and is of a good quality. Corn is the best ever raised in this section.

Ringgold—Cotton is very short here. There has been no rain in thirty days.

Bowie—No rain in two weeks. Cotton is about matured. Rain would now be too late to be of any special benefit to the crop. Most of the cotton has opened. The pastures are very lardy in need of rain.

EARLY FORT WORTH MEMENTOES HERE

Tales and Drawings Show the Progress of Present Great Railroad Center

Fort Worth has long since reached that stage in her existence where she has recollections.

Every little while the busy people of the hustling city are reminded of the frontier days when an early settler driven further on by the rapid march of activity returns to his former haunt.

C. B. Daggett, who spent many years here and has since gone to the Pacific coast, has returned to Fort Worth on a visit and recalls interesting bits of history.

Among his stories is that of the dubbing Fort Worth "The Panther City."

"Captain B. R. Paddock was then printing a journal," says Colonel Daggett. "There were some panther tracks on the edge of town and Captain Paddock printed the fact, and Bill Sterrett of the Dallas News proceeded to clinch the title to Fort Worth by coming back at the captain with the statement that Fort Worth must be a howling wilderness to have panther tracks running through its streets."

"I have been gone from Fort Worth seventeen years, with the exception of one visit back here, and the strides that Fort Worth has made in that time are simply phenomenal. I am satisfied that in the course of five or six years this city will have a population of 100,000."

Other things serving to recall early times are relics. Among these a number have come to the Board of Trade—one being a map of Fort Worth printed in 1856. This map, presented by J. W. Spencer, has been hung in the Board of Trade rooms, and is indeed an object lesson to the investor seeking a progressive city. A glance at it and a trip over the city of today will convince the most skeptical.

Many queer things are shown by this map. Stretches of prairie started at Leuda street, the present site of St. Joseph's infirmary being then full ten squares beyond habitation. Similar conditions prevailed in all directions and the site of the greatest industries of the southwest on the north side of the Trinity were mere blank places on the map.

Blank places and few buildings appear upon the drawing which represents what was even then termed the Queen City of the prairies. Where thriving suburbs are today, nothing was to be seen. With these changes in nineteen years past, prophecy of Fort Worth nineteen years to come is easy.

NORTH FT. WORTH ROSEN HEIGHTS

Drafting of the Jim Crow ordinance to be passed by the city councils of Fort Worth and North Fort Worth has been completed, the plan of filling the cars from each end, as suggested through The Telegram by the late F. M. Haines, vice president and general manager of the Northern Texas Traction Company, being followed.

This plan offered as a solution by Mr. Haines over a year ago provides for the blacks occupying seats from the rear toward the center and whites seats from the front toward the center.

Revival Announced Rev. J. P. Mussett of North Fort Worth Methodist church, announces that a revival will be commenced at that church next Wednesday night to continue for two weeks or more. Rev. Thomas Bond of Weatherford will assist in the service.

Contracts Let

Contracts for the plumbing and electric lighting of North Fort Worth's new school building were let at a special meeting of the board held Thursday night. Wiring will cost $148,50 and plumbing $1,900.

Notes and Personal

Decision has been made by members of the water works commission to sink the dead well no further, as it is believed no greater water supply would be reached. Arrangements have been completed by which dead animals in North Fort Worth will be disposed of by the Southwestern Mechanical Company.

FALL FROM TRAIN KILLS COTTON PICKER

W. L. Robinson of Cleburne Found Along Railroad Track at Bird Siding. Companion Hurt

Justice of the Peace Terrell held an inquest Thursday afternoon over the remains of W. L. Robinson, who was picked up along the Santa Fe track at Bird Siding, having evidently lost his life in jumping from the train while moving. He was near Cleburne and in company with another boy named Henry Bond, was en route to the Territory to pick cotton. Robinson's head was badly bruised, but otherwise the body showed slight injuries.

The body was brought to Fort Worth and is being held by Undertaker Robertson.

Henry Bond was also injured, it is presumed in a similar manner, although he is unable to give any definite statement as a result of his dazed condition. However, he said at police headquarters that he was with Robinson and that they jumped from the train. This was all he could remember. He is suffering with a broken nose.

Chief of Police McLean of Cleburne reached the city Thursday night and gave a report of the two boys. According to his statement young Robinson lived with his step-father near Cleburne. Bond, he said, lives two miles from Cleburne, and when he left Cleburne it was understood that he was going to pick cotton. This was the last heard of him until the accident, which occurred about 1:30 Thursday afternoon.

The body of Robinson probably will be taken to Cleburne today.

AMUSEMENTS

BILLY KERSANDS' FAMOUS MINSTREL

The St. Louis World has the following to say about Billy Kersands' Famous Minstrels, which will be the attraction at Greenwall's opera house Saturday matinee and night, Sept. 30:

Billy Kersands' Famous Minstrel, headed by the original and only Billy, the best colored show seen in St. Louis this season, is at the Crawford theater, where it opened for a week's engagement yesterday afternoon. Kersands' show has not visited St. Louis for a number of years, and his revival at the Crawford theater yesterday brought forth two of the largest crowds of the season at that playhouse. The music of the show is one of the kind that the darkies are noted for. That is the best part of an exceptionally good show. The Rastus Georgia and Alabama quartets are very fine singers. Some of the clever entertainers that Kersands has with him on this tour are the Alabama quartet, Marshall Craig, Alonzo Moore, Arthur Maxwell, Norb T. Washington, Campbell Bros., Kid Landford, T. O. Mills and Professor Laey.

Other things serving to recall early times are relics. Among these a number have come to the Board of Trade—one being a map of Fort Worth printed in 1856. This map, presented by J. W. Spencer, has been hung in the Board of Trade rooms, and is indeed an object lesson to the investor seeking a progressive city. A glance at it and a trip over the city of today will convince the most skeptical.

Many queer things are shown by this map. Stretches of prairie started at Leuda street, the present site of St. Joseph's infirmary being then full ten squares beyond habitation. BANKER'S WATCH DIDN'T BUY DRINKS

Prompt Action of Police Saves Timepiece of Judge and Financier from Three-Ball Rest

Prompt action on the part of Assistant Chief Day of the Fort Worth police department, following a rapid investigation of what proved to have been the theft of a watch belonging to Judge H. M. Cate, a prominent banker of Minola, Texas, ended in the recovery of the watch and the arrest of an elderly negro man giving his name as Bill Wilson.

The negro had stepped into a saloon here to buy drinks for some of his friends, and, according to the statements of police officers, suddenly remembering that he had forgotten his purse, laughingly remarked that he "guessed the watch was good for enough ready cash to have some fun on during the night," at the same time requesting the colored porter of the place to "run out and get it on this"—doing the boy a finely engraved gold watch as he spoke. The porter took the watch and left the place, but instead of going to a pawn shop for the money, as directed, the boy made a bet on the police station, turned the watch over to the authorities and plotted a detective to the spot where the negro was waiting and drinking.

"While the officer went with the porter to make the arrest of Wilson," said the assistant chief, "I learned over the long-distance telephone that Judge Cate had lost a watch from a room which he had occupied last Thursday night at Terrell Texas, the description answering exactly to the one we had of the negro Wilson through the porter. The judge's name was engraved in the inside of the back of a program was discovered on a shield engraved on the front. The officer answering the telephone message at Minola gave me the number of the works and the case. The story told by the negro, Wilson, was that he had come from Southern Texas and he became so mixed in his dates that we felt not the least hesitancy in holding him until the arrival of Officer Goodall, who took charge of the prisoner."

Increasing interest attends the revival services now in progress at the Peach Street Methodist church, where the pastor, Rev. W. T. Gray, is being assisted by Rev. E. R. Edwards of Collinsville, Texas. A number of conversions have been reported to date, and many have been added to the church. Services take place at 8 o'clock in the afternoon and at 7:45 o'clock at night. Jacob Tudor has charge of the music.
