House Okay On Plan Seen By Friday Night

Knox Lauds Move; 1,200 Ships To Get "Protection"

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15. Secretary Knox said today that the navy was ready to put guns and gun crews on merchant ships "as fast as the ships come to us" once Congress authorizes such action.

Knox spoke as the House rules committee granted parliamentary right of way to legislation lifting the neutrality act's ban against arming the ships. Earlier the foreign affairs committee approved the proposal.

Affords Double Protection

"We're satisfied now we can get enough guns to arm the ships," Knox told a press conference.

The navy secretary explained that while there were not enough guns immediately on hand to arm all ships at once, guns would be available as rapidly as ships could be brought into port to receive them.

He asserted that the arming of merchantmen was a highly effective method of protecting them against both aerial and submarine raiders.

Under the special rule granted for consideration of the measure, the debate will run throughout tomorrow's session and for one hour on Friday. Leaders said they expected the House would pass the repealer well before nightfall of that day.

Chairman Bloom (D-NY) of the House foreign affairs committee estimated on the basis of naval testimony that there were about 1,200 ships altogether that would need arms and that it would take about three months to do the job.

Opposition Hopes Dwindle

Guns on American merchantmen, Knox explained, probably would be in charge of chief petty officers, the smaller guns having crews of about 10 men each, and the larger guns about 16 men each.

Rep. Mundt of South Dakota, a Republican member of the committee who is opposed to lifting the neutrality act's ban on arming cargo vessels, conceded there would be little or no opportunity to amend the measure on the floor. The only hope of the opposition, he said, lay in a motion to recommit to obtain longer committee hearings.

South Plains Crops Battered By Heavy Rains And Hail; Damage Is Increased

Further damage to crops, but of an extent impossible to estimate at this time, was done by rain which fell in Lubbock and over a wide area during a considerable portion of last night and this morning.

Heaviest rains in this portion of the state were in the vicinity of Snyder and near Lamesa. Hail fell heavily in both areas and at Fluvanna, levelling much feed and damaging open cotton. Some of the hailstones were as big as eggs, reports said.

Dirt Roads Blocked

Precipitation in Snyder measured 3.75 inches, in Fluvanna 3.52; above 3 inches in the southern part of Scurry county and 2.35 in Lamesa. Additional rain either was falling or threatening to fall in each of those places. Dirt roads there and in many other areas were virtually impassable and Deep creek, near Snyder, was running bank full at noon, according to a telegram from Leo Guinn of Snyder.

Skies still were heavily clouded in Lubbock and area as noon approached and more rain seemed to threaten momentarily. A temperature which hovered just above the 45-degree mark gave the air a definite chill, although it still was higher than the 44-degree minimum that has been registered here during the early fall.

The precipitation total in Lubbock from 6 o'clock Tuesday afternoon until 1 o'clock this afternoon, as measured at the state agricultural experiment sub-station east of the city, was .63 of an inch.

It increased the total for 1941 thus far to 34.97 inches, adding further to the all-time record for precipitation established several weeks ago. The figure is 3.09 inches more than the 31.88 inches measured during the whole of 1915, which was an all-time record during the 31 years that such official records have been kept here.

The damage from the rain has been increased, agricultural au-

Drenching Rain From North Texas To Gulf

More Moisture Is Forecast For Most Of State; Rise On Trinity Expected

(By The Associated Press)

Crop damaging rains, ranging from showers to more than 6 inches, extended today from North Texas to the gulf.

Opening cotton was hard hit in the northwest. Grain sorghums also suffered.

Rise Due On Trinity

Residents of the Trinity river lowlands were warned to prepare for a rise within the next 48 hours.

Further moisture was forecast for most of the state.

Abilene reported heavy damage to cotton in that area where the crop was 90 per cent open and less than 50 per cent picked. Rainfall at Abilene totaled 3.2 inches in 24 hours with the fall at Lake Abilene, 20 miles to the southwest, 6 to 7 inches. Stamford received 5.74 inches.

Wichita Area Soaked

Wichita Falls got 1.52 inches and more was falling.

The San Angelo area reported moisture ranging as high as 4 inches at Maryneal with most cities in central West Texas receiving from .75 to 2 inches.

Other reports: Plainview, .36; Tyler, .59; Sherman, 1.57; Gainesville, .90; McKinney, 1.26; Amarillo, .53; Dallas, .84.

Bombers Join Plane Search

(By The United Press)

EL PASO, Oct. 15.—More than a thousand United States and Mexican troops on horseback and in mechanized units toiled today over desolate mountain and desert as bombing planes joined the search for a missing army plane and three men.

The big, long-range bombers came from the air field at Albuquerque and were assigned to cover hundreds of square miles of rugged desert of northern Mexico. Into the rough Juarez mountains went mounted troopers from Juarez.

Mountains Searched

Planes from the 120th observation squadron, to which the missing ship was attached, scanned the timbered mountains of New Mexico as far north as 100 miles from El Paso.

Fort Bliss army men in scout cars and on horseback were assigned to New Mexico desert land over which the missing plane was last seen.

Spreads To Mexico

The search spread to Mexico after Major William Cahill, commander of the Biggs field army airport from which the plane took off Monday to tow a sleeve target over an anti-aircraft range 50 miles north of here, said the pilot might have become lost and crashed somewhere across the Rio Grande.

Slaton Man Is Hurt In Auto Collision

R. T. Williams of Slaton, an automobile salesman, was taken to Lubbock sanitarium early this afternoon for treatment of injuries received in a three-way automobile collision at Fifteenth street and Avenue G.

Hospital attendants said he sustained a fractured jaw and collar bone.

Police Traffic Sgt. Lewis Kittrell, who investigated, said that cars driven by Williams, B. L. Anderson of Ralls and Rodney Jay, 1924 Twenty-third street, figured in the crash. Williams' car turned over.

Scurry Show Will Be Held

(Special To The Journal)

SNYDER, Oct. 15.—C. T. McLaughlin, prominent county exhibitor of fine gaited horses and chairman of the Scurry County Products show, declared today that "everything is in readiness for the curtain to rise Thursday evening on the greatest exposition of its kind in county history."

An elaborate formal opening will be staged Thursday night at 8 o'clock, at the products show grounds on a three-day exposition that is expected to be witnessed by 10,000 attendants before the bell is rung Saturday night.

Many Events Planned

This year's products show boasts a total of 346 separate events, largest number of events yet announced for a county show. Since no admission charges are made for seeing the Thursday through Saturday exposition, Texas Extension Service officials describe it as a "model for other counties to follow through on."

Products show attendants will find plenty of amusement and entertainment. In addition to a

Mother Of Lubbock Woman Dies Today

Mrs. C. P. Smith, 82, resident of Grapeland, Texas, more than 50 years, died in her home there at 10:45 o'clock this morning, according to a message to her daughter, Mrs. W. R. Campbell, 1814 Avenue M.

Mrs. Smith had been in failing health many months.

Funeral services are to be conducted in Grapeland Thursday afternoon. She will be buried in the family cemetery beside her husband, who died 19 years ago.

Surviving are two other daughters, Mrs. Wade L. Spruill of Kermit and Mrs. Ida Walling of Dallas, and three sons, W. L. Smith, of Grapeland, Tumon Smith of near Lamesa and Hiram Smith of Slocum.

Mrs. Smith was a native of Alabama but spent most of her life in Texas. She resided in Lubbock a short time after her husband died, but soon moved back to Grapeland.

Auto Output Will Be Cut

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Leon Henderson, OPM civilian supply director, today ordered a reduction of "at least" 51 per cent in passenger automobile production in January, 1942, compared with the January, 1941, output.

The slash, together with others previously ordered to conserve defense materials, means an overall reduction of at least 36.3 per cent in passenger car production for the first six months of the model year which began Aug. 1.

No Guarantee Given

Henderson emphasized that the January quota, which permits a maximum output of 204,848 cars compared with 418,350 produced in January, 1941, could not be guaranteed to the industry since sufficient materials might not be available.

Difficulties in obtaining steel, especially strip steel, indicated that production actually would fall below the maximum set, he said.

Regulation Of Travel Bureaus Held Invalid

AUSTIN, Oct. 15 (UP) — An act of the legislature to require licensing and regulation of travel bureaus was held invalid today by the Texas court of criminal appeals.

The act is the third attempt of a Texas legislature to regulate travel bureaus. Previous acts of 1933 and 1935 also were held invalid by the same court.

Court Rules Man Will Have To Make The Best Of His Bargain

(By The United Press)

DALLAS, Oct. 15 — S. B. Friedman must take down those signs on his car calling it a lemon. If he violates the temporary injunction it will cost him his $500 bond.

Friedman bought a new car in 1938. He told Federal Judge William H. Atwell yesterday it had proved no bargain. He claimed "everything" was wrong with the car. The dealer said there was "nothing seriously wrong" with it.

A determined man, Friedman printed signs and put them on the car. One showed a large lemon with the figure $1,275 over it. Another said: "In my opinion this is the biggest pile of junk on the streets today." Still another proclaimed: "Don't be misled by a pretty paint job; this one had five colors."

General Strike In Huge Steel Plant Feared

Union Threatening Walkouts To Gain New Wage Scales

(By The Associated Press)

CIO steel workers today began an organizing drive which threatened to shut down the world's largest steel mill, at Gary, Ind., while other units of the same union threatened to call strikes at all 27 plants of the American Can company unless a labor dispute at two Chicago plants is settled speedily.

The Steel Workers Organizing committee ordered pickets out at the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation's works at Gary, where 22,000 persons are employed.

Negotiations Broken

A union spokesman said the aim was to make the Gary works "100 per cent CIO" in a step toward the union shop. The plant has been busy with defense orders.

The threat of a strike throughout the American Can system followed a breakdown in negotiations for new CIO contracts at two Chicago plants. The union has asked for elimination of a differential between wages paid in west coast plants and Chicago, also for a modified vacation plan and a union shop. Minimum wages in the Chicago plants were reported by the union to be 60 cents an hour for men and 51 cents for women, with the corresponding

Huge Spending Plan Outlined

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15. — William S. Knudsen, director of the OPM, outlined to a Senate appropriations subcommittee today a defense production program calling for the expenditure of $56,000,000,000 before the end of 1943.

Chairman Adams (D-Colo) said that Knudsen, testifying on the pending $5,985,000,000 lend-lease appropriation, had told committee members that tremendous strides were being made in stepping up defense production, expected to reach a peak and level off late next year.

Charts Are Shown

Knudsen displayed charts covering production schedules for the $50,000,000,000 he said had been made available thus far for all defense purposes, adding that the proposed new lend-lease funds would be superimposed on those schedules.

Adams said another witness, Secretary of Agriculture Wickard, told the committee there was no inconsistency in the proposed purchase of $1,000,000,000 of food for Great Britain and statements credited to the British food minister that England's supplies were greater at the start of the third year of the war than they had been

Merchants To Talk Yule Decorations

A meeting of interested merchants probably will be called within the next few days to discuss more elaborate Christmas decorations in downtown Lubbock, according to information given at the chamber of commerce this morning.

An investigation of types of decorations and costs now is being made by the chamber, officials said. As soon as the desired information is available, the meeting will be called.

Officials said, however, that it already is apparent that the decorations may be difficult — perhaps impossible — to secure because of the defense emergency. If so, the present decorations, consisting of strands of colored lights, may be the only ornamentation available for the approaching holiday season.

Mae West Planning To Ask A Divorce

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., Oct. 15 (AP) — Mae West is going to ask a divorce from Frank Wallace, the actor whom she married in Milwaukee in 1911.

Wallace's suit demanding $1,000 monthly separate maintenance from the actress has been transferred to Los Angeles county. Miss West's attorney, Kenneth Chantry, said she would file a cross-complaint to Wallace's action, asking for a divorce.

Captured Ship Crew Held Without Bail

BOSTON, Oct. 15 (AP) — The United States held without bail today the 20-man crew and a woman of the seized Norwegian fishing vessel Busko, described by naval authorities as a supply ship for a now "disposed of" Nazi German radio station in Greenland.

Authorities maintained a close-lipped silence concerning the crew members, who listed themselves as Norwegians, and gave no hint of what the next move would be.

Young Mother's Second Love Affair Is Ended In Tragedy

(By The United Press)

FORT WORTH, Oct. 15 — The husband of Mrs. Lalita Castello, 19, deserted her soon after the birth of her first baby.

But she fell in love again. This time it was 24-year-old Antonio Hernandez. Two weeks ago, Mrs. Castello said, Antonio proposed marriage and she readily accepted.

Then, last night, he drove up to her house and called her to the car.

"It's all off," he told her according to Mrs. Castello.

"Do you mean you don't love me any more?"

"Yes," said Antonio.

As her small baby cried in the house, Mrs. Castello took a pistol from her purse and shot Antonio to death.

Justice of the Peace Frank Hurley handed down an inquest verdict of murder. Mrs. Castello was free on $2,500 bond.

WASHINGTON — Lubbock's assistant chief of police, Bill Mabray, is now a full-fledged graduate of the National Police Academy.

Along with 36 other police officers from almost half the states of the Union, Officer Mabray Saturday completed an 11-weeks course, held under the direction of John Edgar Hoover and the famed Federal Bureau of Investigation — known less formally as the FBI. Thus, on the South Plains, he joins only Lubbock's police chief, Don Reeder, as a scientifically trained officer, schooled as only the FBI can school.

And, rightly, Mr. Mabray is very proud of the fact.

The Plainsman and the Little Woman arrived here just a few hours prior to the annual banquet of the National Police Academy, held in the highly ornate, gold and cream colored main ballroom of the Mayflower hotel. And it was our good fortune to be included among the more than 1,200 persons who attended the event heralding the completion of another successful police school.

In addition to the 36 officers completing the course, there were nearly 400 other officers —including representatives of all the states, Puerto Rico, Cuba and Canada — who had undergone "refresher" courses having in earlier years completed the main, 11-week curriculum.

The South Plains was represented also by Congressman and Mrs. George H. Mahon, Mrs. Mabray and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Hearne, of Seagraves, who had flown up to see assistant Chief Mabray get his sheepskin. And it was a very fine party, indeed.

Not even John Edgar Hoover was permitted to make a speech — although he was kept busy all evening signing autographs. The floor show following the banquet was the finest The Plainsman had ever seen and the casual onlooker, had he not been advised of the nature of the event, would never have dreamed that the 800 or so young men present had dedicated their lives to the serious business of keeping the peace.

The nation's top cops, and their fellow celebrants — the headquarters agents of the FBI — unrestrainedly gave over their evening to fun and frolic. It was their big night —and they made the most of it.

German Hordes Surge Nearer Reds' Capital

Soviets Admit New Menace; Invaders Make New Gains

(By The Associated Press)

A fiercely-driven new menace to Moscow was acknowledged today by the Red army, which declared the Germans were swarming forward over their own heaped dead in a mighty attempt to turn the capital's Volga river defense flank near Kalinin, 95 miles northwest of Moscow.

Admitting that the Nazi masses of men and steel still surged forward, Red Star, organ of the Soviet army, said nevertheless that German parachutists seeking a foothold behind the Russian lines had been wiped out and that Moscow's grim defenders had pinched off wedges thrust deep into their lines.

Munitions Base Taken

Some of the parachutists were said to have been trapped behind the Kalinin line where armored units had smashed to the approaches of the city.

Directly west of Moscow, other German forces were reported in London to have rolled half way from Vyazma toward the capital, and to the south the German press said the munitions-making town of Tula, 100 miles from Moscow, had fallen to the tightening Nazi semi-circle.

Situation Critical

Red Star declared the Red army's position the most critical of the war, and a high-ranking neutral observer in London commented: "Hitler for the first time in two years of war has thrown every available gun and tank into one attack. If he fails to take Moscow or destroy the Russian armies in the present drive—and he well may fail—Germany is finished until spring and might well have

Civil Actions On In Courts

Two actions well-known in the Lubbock courts were being aired again today.

In the 72nd district court of Judge Daniel A. Blair was being developed a contest of the court's jurisdiction to appoint a receiver, something done in that court recently, and continue that receivership in the case of J. Lee Johnson, jr., and others against Miss Christine DeVitt and others. All principals are stockholders of the large holdings of Mallet Land and Cattle Co., a corporation.

Action Is Attacked

Miss DeVitt attacks the receivership on the grounds none legally could have been created without a pleading that insolvency of the Mallet company was imminent.

In the 99th district court of Judge E. L. Pitts was the action of Mrs. Mabel Brophy against W. Brophy and Mrs. Florence Brophy, mother of W. Brophy.

Mrs. Mabel Brophy sued originally for divorce from W. Brophy and judgment to set aside several conveyances from W. Brophy to Mrs. Florence Brophy in interest of Mrs. Mabel Brophy's community property claims.

Early in August, Vaughn E. Wilson, Lubbock attorney, was appointed receiver of the property,

Broad Trade Pact Between United States And Argentina Signed

Two Nations Reach Accord

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15—Argentina and the United States entered a new phase of commercial collaboration today by virtue of a broad trade pact climaxing the "on again—off again" negotiations of 72 years.

The treaty was signed in Buenos Aires last night by United States Ambassador Norman Armour and Argentine Foreign Minister Ruiz Guinazu. It gave Argentina freer entry into this country of such staple products as canned corned beef, hides and wool. It assured the United States of continued "most favored nation" treatment in the shipment of automobiles, refrigerating machinery, and gadgets without number to the rich agrarian republic to the south.

Psychological Affect Noted

However, these advantages were considered by close observers of Latin American affairs to be minor in comparison to the psychological impact of the agreement.

The very fact that Argentina and the United States had at last reached a mutually satisfactory trade accord was seen as significant, since for generations the two republics have stood at the opposite diplomatic poles when not actually at loggerheads. Argentina is a prideful, well organized republic, traditionally jealous of her influence in South America, and often critical of United States big business methods in the rest of Latin America. The United States frequently has sought Argentine collaboration, but until the present "good neighbor" era has sought to impose her own terms.

Criticism Heard

President Roosevelt called the treaty "a monument to the ways of peace," and Secretary of State Hull expressed profound satisfaction at its successful conclusion.

But there was some criticism by those who contended the treaty would injure the farmers of the agricultural midwest and stock-raising west. Senator Butler (R-Neb) declared that producers of beef cattle, dairy products, wool and flaxseed were again to be "sacrificed under the time-worn excuse of a national emergency."

Shipyard Expansion May Be Curtailed

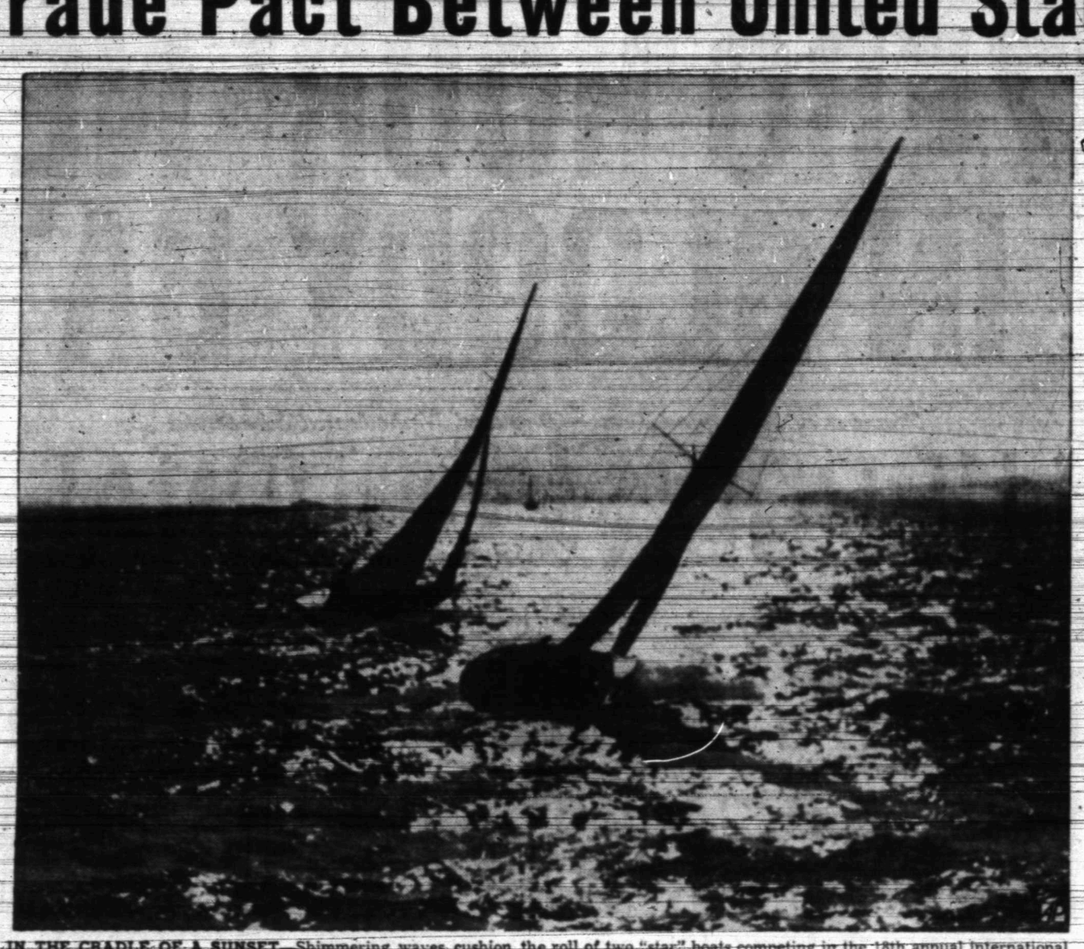

HOUSTON, Oct. 15. (AP)—Expansion of the shipyard on the Houston ship channel may be curtailed if current labor disputes are not soon settled, Capt. W. A. Westervelt, president of the Houston Shipbuilding corporation, said today on his return from Washington.

Capt. Westervelt conferred with the United States Maritime commission and the OPM in Washington yesterday, he said. He added he did not know what action the government agencies might take.

A third picket line was established at the shipyard here today by Truck Drivers local No. 367, the same union which last week held a four-day strike at the $8,000,000 San Jacinto ordnance depot project.

Blue Army Leading In Finance Drive

Despite the weather, 19 teams resumed the annual Lubbock Boy Scout financial drive this morning, according to Dr. W. B. Irvin, general chairman.

First reports from the three-day campaign at a coffee in Lubbock hotel Tuesday afternoon showed the "blue army" headed by C. H. (Brownie) Hamilton slightly ahead of the "red army" headed by Roy Furr.

Another Report Today

Another "report coffee" in the Lubbock at 5 o'clock this afternoon is to be followed by a victory dinner there at 7 o'clock Thursday night.

Hamilton's army reported a total of 804½ points, or $574, as compared with a total of 666 points, or $529, reported by the "red army" of Roy Furr.

High team for the "blue army" for the first day was Watson Wilson's team and for the "red army" L. G. Harmon.

The $1,103 collected the first day is almost half of the $2,500 goal. The drive closes with a victory dinner Thursday night in Lubbock hotel.

New Directories At Tech Almost Ready

Distribution is planned Friday or Saturday of new student directories at Texas Technological college, according to Cecil Horne, head professor of journalism.

Approximately 50 business men have telephoned to inquire concerning the directories, Horne said. Anyone wishing to secure a directory, available for 25 cents, may telephone Horne's office and request that one be delivered.

The books contain lists of students, their Lubbock addresses and telephone numbers, their home towns, classification in college and church preferences. They also contain a list of faculty members, their addresses and telephone numbers and office hours, and also other employes. It also lists campus organizations and their presidents.

Progress For Wells Shown

The L. C. Harrison-Tobe Foster No. 1 E. L. Steck, wildcat oil test two miles northeast of Lubbock, is drilling below 3,000 feet in lime and anhydrite, according to reports Tuesday.

The well is being drilled "tight." No information as to formation markers is being released. However, it is understood to have encountered the Yates sand and the lime higher structurally than the discovery well of the county. Harrison and associates' No. 1 W. G. Nairn estate, three and one-quarter miles east by southeast. No. 1 Steck was 134 feet higher on the anhydrite than No. 1 Nairn.

In Crosby county, Callihan and Waggoner No. 1 Ed M. Wahlenmaier is temporarily shut down for orders at 2,335 feet in lime.

String of 5½ inch casing has been cemented with 150 sacks at 4,789 feet in Ray A. Albaugh and Richmond Drilling company No. 1 J. J. Handley, wildcat in northwestern Dawson county. Total depth is 4,977 feet in lime which carried streaks of pay from 4,875 to bottom.

Likins & Hall, Midland, No. 1 Dr. E. H. Jones, northwestern Gaines county test scheduled to drill to 7,200 feet, has passed 3,850 feet in anhydrite.

In western Terry county, American Drilling corporation No. 1 W. T. Hufnail is drilling below 2,200 feet in red rock. Top of the anhydrite is expected shortly.

Derrick is up for Broderick & Calvert, Inc., Amon G. Carter and others No. 1 Hayward, central Bailey county wildcat nine miles southwest of Muleshoe. George P. Livermore, Inc., Lubbock, is contractor for the proposed 5,500-foot test.

In the Cochran county sector of the Slaughter field, Livermore No. 8 H. T. Boyd made 229.08 barrels of oil per day at 5,085 feet; Anderson-Prichard Oil corporation No. 1 flowed 437.40 barrels per day at 5,040 feet, and Magnolia Petroleum company No. 4 Mallet Land and Cattle company rated a daily flow of 1,415.48 barrels at 4,990 feet. All three wells were acidized.

In the Hockley county part of the Slaughter, Texaco completed its No. 37 Slaughter for 1,545.60 barrels a day at 5,000 feet and its No. 3 Cattle Raisers-Neal unit for 1,007.40 a day at 5,012. Stanolind Oil and Gas company No. 34-B Slaughter was good for 872.16 barrels at 5,000 feet. The Hockley wells also were treated with acid.

In the Seminole pool of central Gaines, Harry W. Bass No. 6 Emma J. Austin flowed 626.48 barrels per day when completed at 5,210 feet after a 228-quart shot. Humble No. 4-B Laura E Blakemore, neither shot nor acidized, flowed 432.08 a day at 5,330 feet.

SOMETHING NEW UNDER THE SUN—These planes represent two recent and revolutionary advances in American aviation. Above: the first stainless steel military plane ever built, an Army trainer, soars over Bristol, Pa. Use of stainless steel eliminates riveting, resulting in speedier construction. Below: flying over New York, is a molded plastic plywood plane. Besides being cheap, plywood is stronger proportionately to its weight than aluminum.

Acts 2 ways to help WOMEN!

"Just what I needed!" Every year many women say that after they've started using CARDUI! For they find it helps them in two important ways when they suffer from headaches, cramp-like pain, or some other form of periodic distress due only to functional causes.

To help relieve functional periodic discomforts, start three days before "your time" and follow directions. Or take it as a tonic by directions to stimulate appetite, improve digestion by increasing the flow of gastric juices, and help build strength. Probably the greatest benefit comes from using CARDUI both ways. Used for 61 years. Adv.

RESINOL OINTMENT AND SOAP

POISED here as if for take-off is the gorgeous new creation which is the Buick SUPER for 1942.

It is, as you see, entirely new and fresh in line and aspect—low and sweeping, clean of contour, solid as a combat car but graceful as a plane.

It is more than that, for here in durable metal is living proof that an old American tenet still holds true—you can do it if you try!

We had access to no materials in the building of this car that are not available to every other car builder.

But just put foot to treadle and let this big Buick valve-in-head straight-eight wing you up to a realization of what skill and ingenuity can contrive.

Drive it long and hard through a busy day—see not only how its tireless all-coil springs keep you rested, but how its frugal Compound Carburetion holds your gas mileage up where it belongs.

Push it, force it through the toughest going. It will take all you can give it and be ready for more, quicker than you can believe.

Why? Because the things that make some people say there could be no new 1942 models made Buick engineers resolve that if there were to be any new cars, they would be better ones.

So they bring you now the Buick SUPER, style leader of a line of no less than twenty-three sparkling new models.

These distinguished and serviceable cars are all ready for you to see at your Buick dealer's.

Drop in, look them over, and discover how wrong the fellow was who told you there wouldn't be anything new in the 1942 automobiles!

No other car has ALL THIS FOR YOU IN 'FORTY-TWO

Violent Nazi Attack On Kalinin Increases Danger For Moscow

New Gateway Being Sought

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Journal War Analyst

Moscow's very real danger has been increased still further by the launching of a violent Nazi attack against the big industrial city of Kalinin, which lies only 95 miles northwest of the capital on the main Leningrad-Moscow railway where that line cuts the river Volga.

This means that the Germans are attempting to hammer open this gateway through the important bulwark which the great river affords the capital. The fall of Kalinin would create a grave position for the defenses.

Trap Draws Tighter

At the same time the Germans claim to have captured Tula, 100 miles south of Moscow. Thus the attacking Nazi crescent before the beleaguered metropolis continues to draw tighter.

The Reds are defending their ground stubbornly. Meanwhile the much publicized weather finally is giving them some relief. Berlin itself today admits that bad weather and the mud developed from the snow and sleet are impeding operations and from now on will be the greatest enemy of the Nazi soldiers.

The fighting is furious, and reports indicate that the loss of life is terrible. I can't get out of my mind the Berlin story that in one sector the Nazi troops drove over the bodies of Red soldiers who fell as they advanced in lines 15 feet deep against the invaders.

Bravery Deeply Moving

The stark bravery of that Muscovite sacrifice is deeply moving. The Germans themselves must get a thrill from such devotion and discipline, for it is the sort of thing their own soldiers do so well.

And then inevitably comes the thought of what a pity it is that arguments between nations have to be settled by the slaugher of such men who, because of their young strength and courage and devotion could do so much toward making the world a better place for grand folk of their sort to live in. However, I'm forgetting that I'm a war analyst and not a preacher.

Japan Is Worrying

To get back to earth, the Far East remains a likely spot to watch. The Japanese appear to be continuing to worry for fear they are missing a grand opportunity to attack Russia while Hitler's pressure against the Reds is so great. However, anxiety over what Uncle Sam might do keeps showing itself and may be the chief deterrent to a move by Japan against Siberia.

The Tokyo newspaper Chugai Shogyo pleads for new efforts to prevent a clash between the United States and Japan. The paper then naively discloses what really is in its heart by saying that the United States needn't be greatly affected if the European war is extended to the Far East, but that "Japan will face great pain." That would seem to be a plea for us to keep hands off in event Nippon should decide that this is the appointed hour for an attack on Russia.

NEW 1942 HUDSON MAKES BOW—This new 1942 Hudson Super-Six commemorates the 25th anniversary of the introduction of the first Hudson Super-Six, one of the most famous cars of its day. The new cars are on display at the Southwest Sales Co., Fourteenth and Avenue J. Spotlighted in the new Hudson models is a wholly new development in driving ease known as the Hudson Drive-Master, longer, lower body-lines, new safety advances, mechanical refinements in operating economy and long life and new upholstery fabrics of greater beauty and durability. The car is known as the 25th anniversary model and represents a quarter-century of engineering development.

Quartermasters And Signalmen Also Vital To Navy's Success

(By NEA Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15. — A rowboat that arrives at the right place at the right time is of more use to the U. S. navy in battle than the biggest battleship that gets to the wrong place or to the right spot at the wrong time.

In the final analysis the whole navy is designed to be used as a single fighting machine. Each of its complex units—ships, planes, officers and men—is merely a cog that must mesh perfectly with other cogs.

If, therefore, your next letter from Joe, who has just joined the navy, informs you that he's working to get a rating as a quartermaster or a signalman, don't fret because he isn't a gunner. His job will be helping his ship get to the right place at the right time.

Duties Are Multiple

The quartermaster in the navy is a very different thing from quartermaster in the army. The latter deals with food, clothing and transportation of soldiers. In the navy, the quartermasters work under the commissioned navigating officer of the ship, caring for navigating instruments and assembling data to aid navigation.

The men who wear the quartermaster's wheel on their sleeve and the gold anchor insignia of a chief petty officer pinned to the front of their visored cap have shown in practice and in theory (through written examinations) their knowledge of and ability to use all the highly complicated navigating instruments aboard ship. He has cared for logs, clocks, barometers, compasses and steering gear. He can take sounding, control signal apparatus from the bridge, knows maritime flags and the rules of the road on the sea.

All Are Skilled

The chief petty officer whose sleeve flies the crossed flags of signalmen stand watch on the signal bridge, sending and receiving visual messages. Because radio messages often give a ship's position away to an enemy, visual signals are indispensible.

Here's a bit of the knowledge your Joe will have if he gets to the top as a signalman. He'll know how to send and receive messages by semaphore (wig-wagging arms), by signal flags, by morse code with blinker lights and search lights. He'll know the navy flag code and international code. But that's just the beginning. In the end he'll have to know, to name just a few of his skills, how to identify all ships, take sun and star sights to determine position, how to use tide and current tables.

Employes Of Store Guests At Dinner

Approximately 60 employes of Sears, Roebuck & Co., were guests at a dinner in Lubbock hotel Tuesday night.

The blue team, with R. L. McClure as captain, was winner over the reds, captained by Gerald Thrush.

Top prize went to Herbert Hodges. Second money went to Mrs. Kay Murray and third to Nat Mullins. There were 25 other winners and 15 employes remain in competition for a share of $6,000 in national prizes.

W. C. O'Mara, manager, was master of ceremonies at the dinner. The anniversary observance ended Sept. 28.

Employes also discussed plans for the annual Southern Industrialization program, which opens Thursday and features Southern-made merchandise. Purpose is to promote the use of Southern-made goods.

Higher Crude Prices Urged

(By The Associated Press)

TULSA, Oct. 15—The clamo for higher crude petroleum prices which subsided in August as the government sought to freeze prices at the current level, is growing in volume again.

A major purchaser, the Phillips Petroleum company of Bartlesville, Okla., added its voice to the hue and cry this week with a proposal to Price Administrator Leon Henderson that prices be boosted 25 cents a barrel immediately.

Seek Fair Solution

The reply from Henderson was a disclosure that the OPACS has begun an investigation of the price situation and plans to consult with producers "in an endeavor to reach a fair solution."

At the price administrator's request, the Bartlesville firm, which buys 25,000,000 barrels of crude oil annually in Oklahoma, Kansas and Texas, agreed to defer action on its proposal.

Frank Phillips, chairman of the board, reiterated in a memorandum to Henderson the contention often advanced in the oil industry that rising labor and material costs and higher taxes had made it unprofitable to search for new petroleum reserves.

Might Return Tankers

The industry was interested, meanwhile, by a report that Great Britain's improved position on the Atlantic might enable her to turn back part of the oil tankers borrowed from the United States. Transfer of the vessels which had been hauling oil from gulf ports to the Atlantic seaboard, resulted in the purported gasoline shortage in the east.

Prices, priorities and other pressing problems of the industry will be discussed during the coming week at meetings of the Independent Petroleum association of America in Tulsa and the Interstate Oil Compact commission in Fort Worth.

In the field, the Oil and Gas Journal reported that completions clines in Louisiana, Ohio and Illinois dropped off sharply during the week, with the most noticeable decline with 715 in the previous week. The total was 627, compared

BRYCE CANYON VISITORS

Bryce Canyon National Park, in Utah, had 103,362 visitors in 1940, compared to 101,500 in 1939. The 1940 visitors used 21,949 private automobiles on their journey through the park.

The average speed at America's first automobile race Nov. 28, 1895, was 7½ miles an hour.

Club Women Are Looking Forward To District Institutes Thursday, Friday

Club Leaders Are To Speak

Two institutes for the seventh district, Texas Federation of Women's clubs, Thursday at Pampa and Friday at Levelland, are expected to attract several hundred women of this area. Chief speakers will be Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins of Eastland, past president of the T. F. W. C. and general federation director, and Mrs. J. W. Walker of Plainview, T. F. W. C. president. The program will be on the theme of club women and national defense.

To Conduct Symposium

In addition to the lectures, Mrs. Meade F. Griffin of Plainview will conduct a symposium; Mrs. H. F. Godeke, president of the seventh district, will discuss parliamentary procedure, assisted by Mrs. A. T. Biggers of Monroe, district parliamentarian, and Mrs. Lewis Goodrich of Shamrock, chairman of rule and procedure and a program of musical numbers will be presented.

The Levelland City Federation is to be luncheon host and those who plan to attend are asked to send in reservations by Thursday. These may be made with Mrs. Randell Alexander.

Mrs. Pete Smith of Plainview is institute chairman.

At Levelland, which is expected to draw the largest delegation from this section, invocation will be asked by Rev. J. B. McReynolds of the Levelland First Methodist church and Mrs. McReynolds will play pipe organ music. Group singing will be led by Mrs. Paul Morrison. Bessie Mae Kitchen is to play "Ave Maria" (Gounod). Mrs. T. R Harrison is to sing and Mesdames Rex Hudson and Carl Ratliff will be presented in a duet.

Mrs. J. G. Brown, president of the host group, will extend a welcome, to which Mrs. George Berry, president of the City Federation of Lubbock, will respond.

Mrs. Godeke, Mrs. Perkins and Mrs. Emmett Kerr, district secretary, will be honor guests at a twilight tea to be given by Memphis study clubs this afternoon. They will remain in Memphis tonight.

Mrs. Perkins will discuss "The General Federation and National Defense" and Mrs. Walker will talk on the approaching state convention in Dallas.

MRS. PETE SMITH

We The Women

BY RUTH MILLETT

"Small Town Nellie" has never been able to pack up her things and set out for the big city without being warned of the pitfalls awaiting her.

In the past the worry has been about Nellie's morals.

Now, she is told, it is her personality that is likely to suffer from contact with the big city.

The new warning comes from Dr. Ernest W. Burgess of the University of Chicago. Dr. Burgess has noticed that when open-faced, smiling Nellie of Centerville goes to Chicago, San Francisco, New York, or any other large city to work, she soon makes herself over to fit in with her new background. And he thinks the result—dead pan face, cynical attitude, elbow-pushing aggressiveness—is a poor swap for a girl that Nellie was.

In fact, he says that, by losing her spirit of friendliness and thoughtfulness and by assuming an artificial mental barrier which she likes to think of as sophistication, Nellie makes herself less attractive to men and so is likely to miss out on the chance of getting herself a good husband and settling down to a normal home life.

There's something in what Dr. Burgess says, as anyone who has ever noticed the unseeing eyes, the drooping mouths and the bored attitudes of the working girls who ride a city's buses or subways is bound to admit.

FRIENDLINESS VS. "SOPHISTICATION"

But the truth of his warning shouldn't make a girl hesitate to leave her home town in search of bigger opportunities in a city.

If a girl is smart, she can avoid becoming a city type. She can hold on to her individuality, her friendliness, and her open smile no matter how blase are the women around her.

If she does remain herself instead of developing a hard shell of sophistication, she'll find out that she will make friends almost as easily as she did at home. She'll make friends not only in her office and with the people she meets socially—but just as she did at home with the butcher, the baker, and the boy behind the drugstore counter.

Behind their masks, city people are just as susceptible to friendliness and naturalness as small town folk. Even more susceptible, perhaps, for they don't have as many chances to meet up with it.

PLASTIC CURTAINS — This new transparent plastic shower curtain and matching window curtains add color to and blend refreshingly with quiet bathroom walls, and they are especially good for small bathrooms. The plain pastel hues foster the feeling of space and freedom, whereas dark tones tend to cut off space, and figured curtains tend to clutter your decorative scheme. The room shown here has peach-colored walls and towels; the curtains are pearly white. Plastic curtains like those above resist dirt so effectively that soap marks wipe off with a whisk.

Study Club Lecture, Study Hours Conducted Tuesday

Reports were given of lectures and social hours Tuesday afternoon at meetings of study clubs.

Sunshine Study Club

Speaking on the subject, "Religion—A Necessity," Rev. H. G. Gantz, pastor of the First Christian church, appeared before the Sunshine Study club as guest speaker. Mrs. W. M. Ryan was hostess in the home of Mrs. F. R. Friend, 2005 Broadway.

Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Peters of Longview, former Lubbock residents, are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Polly Marie Peters, to Lieut. Clay V. Ferguson of San Antonio, son of Mrs. C. W. Ferguson of Longview. The wedding will take place Nov. 15 at the home of the bride-elect's parents.

Miss Peters is a former student at Kilgore Junior college, Texas State College for Women, Denton, and the University of Texas, where she was a member of Chi Sigma Delta sorority.

Lieutenant Ferguson is an honor graduate of the American School of Navigation of the University of Florida, Miami. He was sent to Barksdale Field in Louisiana for further training before being transferred to Kelly Field in San Antonio.

AAUW Dramatic Unit Changes Meeting Place

The A. A. U. W. Dramatic unit is to meet with Mrs. Rem Thomson, 2513 Twenty-fourth street, Thursday night at 6:50 o'clock, instead of at Seaman hall as formerly planned. Character impersonations will be studied. Anyone interested in joining the unit is asked to telephone Mrs. Thomson at 4958.

Clements-Hulen Wedding Is Read In El Paso

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Mrs. Creed Clements, formerly of Tahoka, and W. L. Hulen of El Paso which took place in the border city Oct. 15 at the home of J. A. McCall of the Church of Christ. After a brief wedding trip, the couple will be at home in El Paso where Mr. Hulen is employed by the railroad.

HOME-MADE—Want a lovely soft dress for immediate wear? You can make this one at home. The precise shirring which frames the diamond-shaped mid-section is done in double-quick time by the innovations of the sewing machine. A little edge stitcher keeps the seams fine for fragile-appearing fabric such as this fine jersey. A visit to your local sewing center will help you turn the trick, and inexpensively.

BUSINESS AS USUAL: Younger business men still cling to ever-popular three-button double-breasted for business and semi-formal wear. Suit above is in dark blue worsted, and coat in new longer length.

Garden Group Is Organized

The Bud to Blossom Garden club was organized Tuesday afternoon when a group of women gathered at the home of Mrs. Kary Mathis, 2319 Twenty-eighth street. Mrs. Mathis presided for the following election:

President, Mrs. John H. Cox; vice president, Mrs. Harold Munn; recording secretary, Mrs. Osa Wilbanks; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Charley Curry; treasurer, Mrs. George Kinyon; reporter, Mrs. Fletcher Nesbett.

To Meet Monthly

The club will meet first Thursday afternoons in each month at 3:30 o'clock and will invite garden experts to lecture.

After the business hour Tuesday the women made a pilgrimage to the yards at the homes of Mesdames Floyd Beall, H. S. Weiss and B. E. Needles.

Others present were Mesdames H. B. Holdridge, H. H. Humphries, C. B. Boydston, W. F. Blackerly, Ray West, L. A. Kerr, Bernie Howell, Estel Hendrix and Acie Cope and Miss Lela Mae Barrett.

The club will meet with Miss Barrett, 1513 Twenty-sixth street, Nov. 1 at 3:30 o'clock.

BAD LIGHTS

In the 18 states having complete or partial inspection of motor vehicles in one year, the percentage of cars with defective lighting ranged from 40 to more than 75 per cent.

The Bureau of the Census reports that the nation's construction industry employed 1,073,655 persons in 1939 and did work valued at $4,519,794,000.

Review Given Before 100

Mrs. Emmett Galloway gave a scholarly review of Morton's book, "Women of the Bible," Monday night at the First Presbyterian Fellowship hall. Slightly over 100 persons attended. The lecture was sponsored by the woman's auxiliary and was the first in the current series.

Mrs. C. C. Galbraith introduced the speaker.

IN WAGES HOME

The Arnett-Benson Home Demonstration club will meet with Mrs. J. B. Wages Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

CLUB TO MEET

The Mothers club of K. Carter Room 107 is to meet Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. Jim Johnson is president.

• Uncle Sam's Army Receiving Real War Test In Carolina Maneuvers

Soldiers Given Fairer Chance

BY THOMAS M. JOHNSON
NEA Service Military Writer

The first honest-to-goodness test of how the United States army would stand up in a real battle is under way. The great field maneuvers from October 6 to November 30 in the Carolinas will answer the country's question: "How're they doin'?"

This is so not alone because the "Battle of the Carolinas" will cap the climax of the whole summer's mimic war. It is also true because, although the just-completed "Battle of Louisiana" showed more men in action than will the Carolina phase, the conditions on the southern battlefield were abnormal in the extreme.

Weather Hampers Plans

Rains and hurricanes so augmented the already extensive mud-component in western Louisiana that wheels, trucks and human feet were largely rutted in roads which became in reality causeways flanked by swamps. Daily news dispatches have not made clear how, from a military viewpoint, that complicated yet over-simplified the whole business. Every second lieutenant knows that defense of a causeway is the easiest of all operations.

Nor did mud and hurricanes give tanks and the air force normal opportunities to learn to work together, which was a major goal of the whole affair. Ditto anti-air and anti-tank defense. Thus, such episodes as the wiping out of famous Lieut. Gen. Ben Lear's considerable force by horsed cavalry who raided its gasoline supply, and navy dive-bombers who blasted it, while interesting, were hardly true to life. This clash of the Second and Third armies was not a fair test of the army's preparedness.

Yet the maneuvers brought together 340,000 officers and men, who learned a lot and, as General George C. Marshall said, "helped the army on its way to becoming a powerful machine with all its parts in close co-operation." That was the main object — to teach teamwork among infantry, artillery, aviation, tanks.

The Army's "Report Card"

As indicated here by official reports and opinions, here is how the report card reads today:

Good--

Equipment is increasing but we are short of ammunition, tanks, anti-tank guns, radio sets. Equipment was well kept up, despite the mud. One armored division traveled seven million "tank miles," lost only two tanks.

The Air Force is headed for "world's best," given more planes and training. Quality of the present planes and airmen is fine, though youngsters especially need to learn cooperation with ground troops, which is much below the German standard.

Noncoms and men in general are the world's cleverest, not only in handling equipment but in handling themselves. Physically robust, they eat up long marches.

The activity of the maneuvers is improving morale, which is probably "over the hump," officers say. But by 1918 standards, the discipline still is sometimes sloppy.

Bad--

Bad, compared with the men, are the officers. Perhaps 20 per cent should be fired—some generals, but especially younger men commanding smaller units. Many don't know the ABC of battle—how to feel out an enemy, protect their own troops, communicate. Many think the way to show initiative is to go it alone instead of working with their neighbors, especially in gathering and forwarding information about the enemy. The officer situation will improve with experience gained—plus an expected "purge" and the infusion of new blood now working up from the ranks.

Traffic was not always too well regulated, but that condition, too, is improving. The armored force probably needs more flexible organization. As for the anti-tank defense: much more experience is needed to teach this new section to shoot. More anti-aircraft defense is needed, particularly for airfields.

Boasts Advantage

That's where we are, sixteen months after France's fall shocked the country into building an army unparalleled in peacetime.

Today that army shows almost identically the same strengths and weaknesses it showed 23 years ago in October, 1918. Then it was able to turn the tide of the greatest battle Americans ever fought, the Meuse-Argonne, ending World war I. The First army, A. E. F., did it, with, as chief of staff, the same Lieut. Gen. Hugh A. Drum who today commands the First army, U. S. A., that enters the climax of our greatest "sham battle."

Its chosen battlefield in the Carolinas affords advantages Louisiana lacked: On its rolling, dry terrain troops and tanks can get off roads and fight in open country. Through its calmer air planes can fly more freely. With these aides, plus experience this far, the army can learn how near it has come to perfecting an American style of blitzkrieg—and so can the country.

The First army has troops from all New England and the middle states plus District of Columbia, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana—including eight combat divisions of our thirty-three.

The Germans have 300 divisions—their allies half as many more. Almost all are war-experienced, which means they are tougher and cleverer than any maneuver-experienced troops.

Tech Students Anxiously Watch For Mailman

Checks, Food Or Just Plain News From The Old Home Town--They Want 'Em In A Hurry

By KARA HUNSUCKER

"Well, why wasn't that letter sent to the dorm?"

This question has been asked dozens of times daily by students eager for a check or by homesick freshmen anxious for news from home. Mrs. Willie D. Watson, postmistress at the Texas Tech station, has been almost distracted straightening out a stream of mail addressed merely to the college, with no dormitory designation.

Things Brighter Now

"But things are looking brighter now," Mrs. Watson declared. "Only a few letters are received incorrectly addressed, and since dorm lists are now available, we can quickly look up students' addresses."

The Tech station caters to some 4,000 students, most of whom purchase all stamps and send packages from the postoffice. This is incidental to the large volume of faculty correspondence that streams through the office.

Big Problem Saturdays

"Our biggest problem at present," stated Mrs. Watson, "is packages arriving on the 11:30 mail Saturday morning and containing perishable food. The office closes at noon, and we cannot possibly send notice slips to the dormitories in time to enable students to call for their packages. This occurs only when packages are insured, as others are sent directly to the dorms.

"However, those girls will usually eat anything from home even if it is a little stale, according to Mrs. Elizabeth Young, social director of Women's Dormitory No. 2," she continued.

200 Daily Is Average

An average of 200 letters is handled daily by the Tech station, with that number doubled on Monday mornings when the largest volume of mail occurs.

"From $50 to $75 in stamps are sold weekly," said Mrs. Watson, "and we keep a $300 cash allowance rolling. Money orders for more than $10 must be cashed at the city postoffice."

Over 700 insured packages and 124 registered letters have been received by students since the opening of school.

Sunday Specials Arrive

Dormitory co-eds are usually awakened on Sunday morning by "emergency buzzes," denoting special delivery letters. These letters are sent directly to the dorms and are not handled by the Tech station.

"During the first several weeks of school, freshmen girls received by far the most mail," declared Mrs. Young. "But the upperclassmen have just about caught up with them by now."

IT'S STILL MISSISSIPPI

Name of the Mississippi river has been spelled four different ways since its discovery. Its Indian spelling was Meche-sebe. Laval changed it to Michispe; Labatte changed it to Misisipi; and Marquette gave it its present spelling.

Army chemists work on a 24-hour basis at quartermaster headquarters throughout the country examining the quality and purity of all food shipments for soldiers.

Panama's Ousted President Locked In Jail After Surrendering

Ex-Chief May Go Into Exile

(By The Associated Press)

PANAMA, Oct. 15—Dr. Arnulfo Arias, ousted president of Panama, reached Panama early today and was locked up in the city jail after surrendering to Panama police in the Canal Zone.

Five vans filled with police met the special motor railway car in which Dr. Arias journeyed to the capital from Cristobal where he had surrendered from aboard the steamer Cefalu.

As the motorcade left the railway station, the ousted president stuck his head out of a window and shouted: "Viva Panama!" (Long live Panama!).

Salute Returned

There was just a lone answer: "Viva Arnulfo" but who shouted it was not identified.

Dr. Arias flew to Cuba on Tuesday, Oct. 7. He claimed he had only gone to Havana to consult an eye specialist, but a new government, with Ricardo Adolfo de la Guardia as president, took the helm in a peaceful coup d'etat and immediately pledged cooperation with the United States in defense matters.

Arias' flight had followed by a day his issuance of an order against arming of merchantmen under the Panama flag.

Exile Is Approved

The deposed president, returning voluntarily, reached the Canal Zone yesterday.

Earlier the de la Guardia government had announced it would permit him to take up exile in neighboring Costa Rica.

Whether a plan to allow him to leave for Costa Rica later this morning would be adhered to was not immediately clear as the former president was whisked away to jail.

Crop Damage

thorities said, by the fact that it follows upon several days of clear and relatively warm weather. Much cotton opened during that time, and the grade probably has been deteriorated by the moisture. Likewise, authorities said, the rain will delay the maturity of the unopened cotton. Grain sorghums also have been damaged. Fields were too wet for workers.

The cool weather caused a good deal of speculation as to whether 1941 might be marked by the earliest killing frost on record. The present record was set on Oct. 19, 1917. The normal date for such a frost is between Nov. 3 and 10.

Hail At Lamesa

The weather in Lubbock was typical of that prevailing generally over the South Plains. Precipitation was much less than in many parts of West Texas.

Reports to the dispatcher's office of the Fort Worth and Denver were: Lockney, .75 of one inch; Petersburg, quarter inch; Plainview, Hart, Turkey, Quitaque, light rains. Skies were cloudy in each of those places.

Heavy At Lake Abilene

The heaviest rain reported by the Associated Press was at Lake Abilene, 20 miles southwest of Abilene, where 7 inches fell. Stamford reported 5.74 inches, and damage to the cotton crop was extremely heavy in that area.

Rain at San Angelo totaled 1.71 inches, and still was falling. In that area, the precipitation ranged from four inches at Maryneal to three-fourths of an inch at various points.

Santa Fe railroad dispatchers reported at mid-morning the following totals of rainfall:

Slaton and Lamesa, 2 inches; Ralls, Wilson and Tahoka, 1; Texico, Muleshoe, Sudan, Amherst, Littlefield, Hale Center, Crosbyton, Lorenzo, Ropesville, Bovina, Meadow and Brownfield, .5; Levelland and Whiteface, .33; Anton, Shallowater, Canyon to Plainview, Abernathy, Floydada, Lockney, .25; Idalou, 12.

Spending Plan

at the beginning of hostilities.

Many Products Needed

Wickard, the chairman said, testified that while Great Britain had large supplies of wheat and sugar, there was great need for the pork products, eggs, dairy products and other foodstuffs proposed for purchase under the new bill.

General George C. Marshall was reported to have told the subcommittee that the German armies were paying a tremendous price in material for the ground gained in the drive on Moscow.

This information was said to have figured in the testimony which the army chief of staff gave when he appeared yesterday before the appropriations subcommittee which is considering the new $5,985,000,000 lease-lend bill.

Avoids Any Predictions

The committee members had questioned about the military outlook on the eastern front, but Marshall avoided any predictions on Russia's chances for success in stemming the Nazi offensive now in progress.

On much the same topic, however, President Roosevelt remarked yesterday that he saw nothing in the present Russo-German military situation to cause him to doubt the success on the United States' lease-lend program.

The president told his press conference that he had no idea yet whether Russia would require assistance under the program, and would not know until he received the report of W. Averell Harriman, head of the United States delegation to the recent tri-partite conference in Moscow, who is now on his way home.

Encouragement Found

While General Marshall refrained from forecasts on the outcome of the current Nazi bid for victory in Russia, he was reported to have told the Senate committee that those who were evaluating the long-range effects of the current campaign found encouragement in the fact that the bitter fighting was using up German war equipment rapidly.

In this connection, the chief of staff was said to have urged the committee to speed its consideration of the proposed new appropriation, asserting that the acceleration of American armament production for nations fighting Hitlerism was bound to have its effect in shortening the war.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Oct. 15 (AP) — Wheat prices fell more than two cents and soybeans four to almost six cents a bushel in late trading today to lead a general decline of grain values.

The downturn carried wheat and beans prices to the lowest levels since late in August.

Unfavorable war news was blamed for much of the selling wheat. Furthermore, the entire grain market was unsettled by the new break in soybeans which traders attributed to the slowly expanding harvest movement of new crop beans.

Wheat closed 1⅝-2¼ lower than yesterday, December 1.15⅝-½, May 1.20⅝-¾; corn ⅛-⅞ down, December 74⅛-¾, May 80⅝-⅞; oats 1¼-1½ lower; rye 1-1¼ off; and soybeans 3¾-4¾ lower. Lard was 42 to 60 cents per hundredweight lower.

FORT WORTH REPORT

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (AP) — Cotton futures today were subjected to heavy liquidation through commission house accounts, caused by the unsettling commodity markets. Values broke more than $1 a bale on selling by New Orleans and local interests.

Futures closed 24-32 lower.

Stock Market

MARKET SLUMPS AGAIN

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (AP) — Share leaders fell back today under pressure of a barrage of bad news from the Russian front and commodity prices slumped in sympathy.

The market was irregular at the opening, slipped by small degrees throughout the session and closed with prices at their worst.

The movement was far from a landslide, however, as only about 800,000 shares changed hands.

Some of the better known issues, such as Consolidated Edison, Union Pacific and Westinghouse, reached new lows for the year.

Traders were keeping close to cover, awaiting developments which might signalize a turn in the tide of battle on the eastern front. Almost equally as important in their minds was the defense labor situation in the United States. Neither prospect was adjudged pleasing.

Bonds declined in company with stocks. The whole commodity market fell sharply with fats and oils leading the downturn. Cotton, which had advanced around noon, neared the close 1.05 to 1.35 behind yesterday last quotations.

At Chicago, wheat and corn, which made gains in the morning, ended the day with wheat 1⅛ to 2¼ cents a bushel down and corn ⅛ to ⅞ cent off; hogs closed 10 to 20 cents a hundredweight lower.

DESTROYER IS SUNK

BERLIN, Oct. 15. (AP)—A German submarine operating in the strait of Gibraltar sank a British destroyer yesterday, the high command reported today. The destroyer was not identified.

Italian Areas Are Attacked

(By The United Press)

ROME, Oct. 15. — British airplanes, raiding the Italian base of Benghazi, on the Libya coast, in two waves killed 23 persons and others were wounded, the high command said today in a communique.

It was said that buildings were damaged, "especially in the Arab quarter."

Raid Especially Heavy

(Presumably the British raid was an especially heavy one, as usually the effect of such raids is minimized.)

British planes also raided the Italian garrison in the Gondar area of northwestern Ethiopia, the communique said, and Italian planes raided La Valletta, Malta.

The communique said British attacks on the Italians at Gondar, on the Libya coast, were repulsed and in addition to destroying "some" British mechanized units the Italians took prisoners.

CIO Makes Threat

scales on the west coast 77 1-2 and 68 1-2 cents.

R. J. Thomas, president of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) said today the union had called off a strike at the Hillsdale Steel Products Co.'s plant at the request of the defense mediation board. The action ends a dispute which tied up an estimated 70 per cent of army tank production.

Union Feud Flares

Meanwhile the defense mediation board at Washington prepared to consider another important labor dispute, a strike at the Bendix, N. J., factory of Air Associates, Inc., producers of airplane equipment.

The dispute involving the tank transmissions was certified to the board by the labor department yesterday. CIO workers at the Spicer Manufacturing corporation, Toledo, O., where the transmissions are assembled, refused to handle parts made by AFL workers at a Spicer subsidiary, the Hillsdale (Mich.) Steel Products company. The labor department informed the mediation board that the AFL union, which holds a contract at Hillsdale, had threatened to strike if the company rehired 11 CIO men who were discharged last August.

Other Walkouts Feared

The possibility that a general strike of 75,000 eastern members of the CIO United Automobile workers might grow out of the Air Associates dispute was foreseen yesterday by Charles H. Kerrigan, co-regional director of the union. He said such a general walkout was likely to occur if F. Leroy Hill, president of Air Associates, refused to negotiate a strike of 350 production men. Presidents of eastern locals of CIO-UAW had voted to take "immediate and proper action."

Kerrigan declared that the Brewster Aeronautical Corporation, was contemplating shutting down its plants at Newark, N. J., Long Island City, N. J., and Hatboro, Pa., because it could not obtain delivery of vital parts from Air Associates. He added that the union might ask the government to take over the plant.

Another union spokesman said the CIO-UAW had asked Air Associates for union recognition, a union shop, a minimum wage of 75 cents an hour and a general increase of 15 cents an hour for workers paid 75 cents or more. He said the current minimum was 40 cents.

Civil Actions

and an appeal from that action now is in the court of civil appeals at Amarillo, court officials said.

A jury was selected this morning, consisting of R. C. Harvey, Frank Clark, D. F. McWilliams, Frank Skinner, L. K. Nelson, J. S. Simpson, J. L. McCallister, J. A. Young, D. J. Hubbard, W. B. Hester, H. D. Waller and J. D. Medlock.

Evidence will be taken this afternoon, it was announced at 2 o'clock.

Attorneys are Crenshaw, Dupree and Milam firm for Mrs. Florence Brophy, Levens and Benson firm for W. Brophy, Randal and Kilpatrick and Vickers and Campbell firms for Mrs. Mabel Brophy.

In the Mallet case, attorneys are E. L. Klett for plaintiffs, J. E. Vickers for Christine DeVitt (and he filed an answer for Mrs. Florence DeVitt as well), Jack M. Randal and Franklin D. Brown for Sam C. Arnett, receiver, Crenshaw, Dupree and Milam firm for W. D. Johnson, Bradley and Wilson firm for intervenor J. C. Hawkins and Bean, Evans and Bean firm for intervenor T. F. Morrow.

The intervenors seek to get court recognition of a lease they wish to execute with the receiver for oil and gas properties on Mallet holdings, plaintiffs to the court action earlier having pleaded that oil wells offsetting the Mallet property were draining Mallet land and that wells should be drilled on Mallet property for protection of Mallet stockholders.

Miss DeVitt was on the stand over the noon hour.

lost the war."

Britain, under pressure to create a diversion front in the west, battered steadily at western Germany from the air and London sources asserted the RAF offensive was compelling Germany to keep more than 50 per cent of her fighting planes in the west, easing the strain on the Red air fleet.

Authoritative informants in London said it was possible that the German drive on Moscow from the northwest already had engulfed Rzhev, 125 miles from the capital, and that the push past Vyazma apparently had carried as far as Mozhaisk, 60 miles west of Moscow.

The Russians acknowledged that the northwestern fighting had moved in to the approaches of Kalinin, on the upper Volga defense line 93 miles northwest of the capital.

"This," said Red Star, organ of the Soviet army, "complicates the situation at the front which is now more serious than at any time."

"Moscow is in danger."

Red Counter Attack

The newspaper declared the Germans were determined to take the city at any cost, but pledged anew that it would be saved, however fierce the onset.

German military spokesmen said their forces were squeezing Moscow tighter but reported strong Red army counter attacks at the northern and southern flanks of the front—attacks perhaps designed to relieve the German pressure on the capital.

The Russians were said to have hurled their heaviest tanks into a powerful counter thrust on the southern flank. In the north, German spokesmen said, the Russians were beaten back after a strong attempt to fight their way across a lake in a no-man's-land between the battle lines.

Weather Slowing Nazi Thrust

Battlefields and roads were covered by slush as a result of autumnal snow flurries and German commentators said that bad weather and poor roads were handicaps in the drive to the east.

The official German news agency, DNB, said Tula, a munitions and railway center with a population of 150,000, was now in German hands.

The Leningrad defense again drew official recognition.

Soviet troops based near that beleaguered city were declared to have "made a very successful attack against the German troops and destroyed seven batteries, 26 machine-guns, 28 machine-gun firing points (emplacements), 50 motor lorries with infantry and killed 1,500 German soldiers."

British bombers attacked several cities in southern Germany last night to maintain an aid-Russian offensive. Berlin acknowledged only immaterial damage and said six raiders were downed.

Bliss intelligence officer, said that searching planes yesterday had flown nearly 7,000 air miles in combing the wastelands for a trace of the observation ship.

Aboard it were Lieut. Willis Hunt, 23, Blytheville, Ark.; Lieut. Raymond B. Kaiser and Staff Sgt. Richard Lauck, Denver, Colo. They were attached to the 120th observation squadron, Colorado national guard.

Lieut. Hunt had been married only six weeks. His bride, Yvonne Hunt, 21, was certain her husband had made an emergency landing and would be found alive.

"He's too good a flier for anything to go wrong," she said.

Clarksville Crash Fatal For Soldier

CLARKSVILLE, Oct. 15 (AP) — An automobile containing six persons overturned at a curve west of here last night, fatally injuring Private Claude Mitchell, 23, of Company I, 144th infantry at Camp Bowie.

Verda Smith, another occupant, was critically injured.

Police said the car, driven by Corporal Johnny C. Rodgers, also of Company I, left the highway, hit a parked car and smashed into a filling station and overturned.

Mitchell, whose home was at English near here, was on furlough.

Four Army Airmen Are Dead In Crash

MANILA, Oct. 15 (AP) — Four army airmen were killed when their medium bomber crashed at Clark field in Pampanga province during anti-aircraft practice last night.

Second Lieutenant Rexford R. Kinsley, from Evanston, Ill., the pilot, apparently was blinded by searchlights and lost control of his plane, army officials said.

SNEEZERS CROWNED

GALVESTON, Oct. 15. (AP) — The king and queen of sneeze were "crowned" here yesterday at Galveston's fourth annual hay fever contest. The royal family of "allergy" was Mrs. Charles W. Stone of Indianapolis, Ind., and Thomas Ray of Oklahoma City.

Soil Meeting Held In City

Planning problems for the various soil conservation districts in Area Tx-A-9 of the federal soil conservation service, were discussed this morning by area officials at a second day's conference for the recently named district conservationists, in Lubbock hotel.

O. T. Williams, area conservationist, presided. The afternoon session was to be held at Texas Technological college. Dr. A. W. Young, head of the plant industry department of the division of agriculture was to present grain sorghum varieties. Following his talk, weather permitting, a field trip over the college farm, was to be held, Williams said.

Reports Presented

Conservationist Williams presented a report of activities in the area. Each district head also reported on what was being done along conservation lines.

Short talks were then given by the following: P. R. Sime, biologist, on wildlife and forestry planning; R. E. L. Pattillo, agronomist, on agronomic practices for the High Plains area; Don D. King, range management, on range program planning for districts; R. C. Nelson, engineer, on specifications for practices and physical structures and also on national defense programs and E. E. Reynolds, conservationist, on farm plannings for districts.

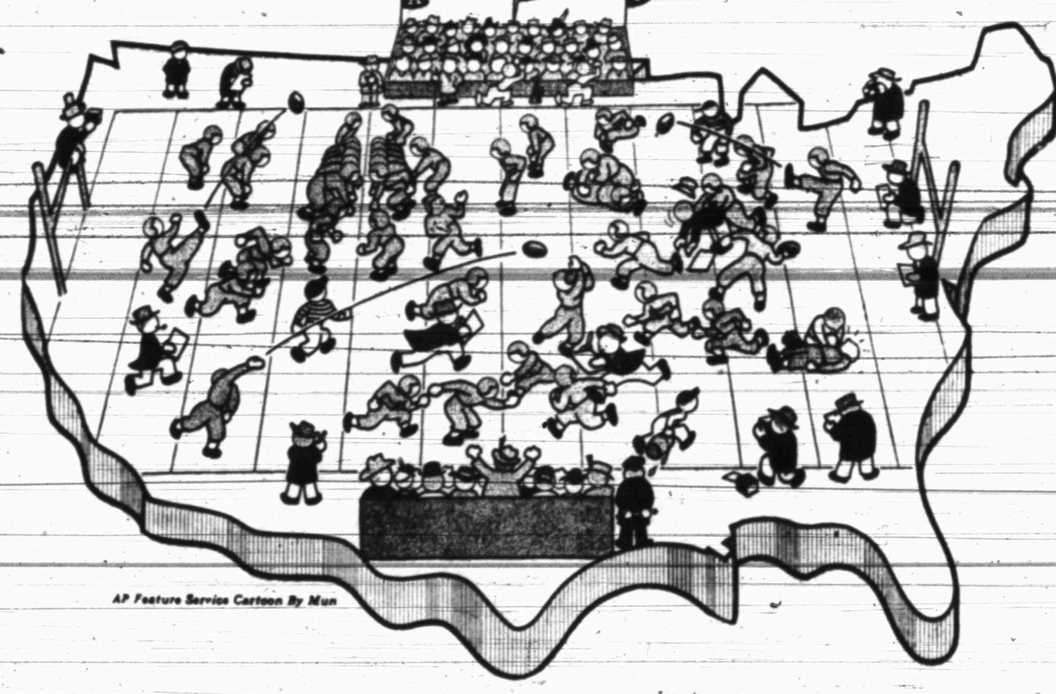

Class Attends Session

H. G. Lewis of Amarillo, chief of the oils division of the state office, attended. During the morning a class of students from the college spent an hour with the group.

B. R. Parsons of Childress, gave a summary of the plan for the Childress-Hall-Cottle district, of which he is head and read a report of the land use planning committee of Childress county and of the district board of supervisors on the plains during the two sessions Tuesday.

Similar programs are to be used in other districts, including Hale, Swisher, Crosby, Floyd, Castro, Deaf Smith, Cochran, Yoakum, Terry, Oldham and the Bailey or Blackwater valley.

Banks Reflect "Boom" Note

BY BOYD LEWIS
United Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO, Oct. 15 — Here in the mercantile capital of the midwest payrolls are up, unemployment is down, department store sales are soaring and money in circulation has ballooned.

Out over the industrial suburbs the sky is black with the smoke of booming industries. A 30-mile strip along the base of Lake Michigan which produces much of the nation's steel is aglow by night and an impressive scene of human toil by day.

Furs Selling Fast

In Chicago's loop district masses of shoppers are choking State street again.

"Everybody must be going to wear an imitation fox this winter," says Mildred Snow, clerk in fur store. "I've sold so many I don't think there's a woman left without one."

Alma Nathan, who sells suits and dresses in a department store says, "In 22 years I've never had a better month in commissions. Every woman who comes in here buys. She doesn't just take up all your time looking things over."

"Mass" Purchases Made

"I've never sold so many dresses in 15 years," Esther Rose reports, in another department store. "I go home every night all tired out and my feet hurt something awful."

Martha Scott is selling gloves for $6 a pair. They are American made from French skins. Last month they were $5 a pair. "Some of these women are buying several pairs," Miss Scott says. "They used to buy them one pair at a time, wear them out and buy another pair. Now they're scared about prices going higher."

Figures Are Announced

The State street council is keeping track of this trend with figures and charts. Here's what the picture looks like statistically:

Eight department stores show a 30 per cent increase in dollar volume for September 1941 against September last year.

The same eight stores show a 14 per cent increase in unit sales. (There's a good measurement of the increase in prices).

Increases are noted principally in so-called "high class" merchandise, home furnishings, clothing.

These eight stores increased their help 12 per cent.

Five women's wear stores showed a 37 per cent increase in dollar sales on a 20 per cent up in unit sales. They increased their working staffs 15 per cent.

Taxes Have Affect

Four men's wear stores sold 28 per cent more units at a 31 per cent dollar increase. Their labor was increased 10 per cent.

The widest spread between dollar and unit increases was shown in jewelry. State street jewelers got 66 per cent more money for 21 per cent more units.

Mercantile authorities said some, but far from all of the increase during September was attributable to buying to escape the luxury taxes effective Oct. 1. The impetus has carried right on into October.

Banks Reflect Prosperity

The federal reserve bank has two good measures of prosperity. They show that in the Seventh Federal Reserve district money in checking and savings banks is up more than $600,000,000 and money in circulation has soared to an all-time high. The 7th district includes Illinois, Indiana and parts of Michigan and Wisconsin.

The Association of Commerce notes a 30 per cent increase in Chicago employment and a 40 per cent increase in payrolls. Building contracts in Cook county are almost double last year this time but government priorities may put a crimp in that program. Telephones, electricity consumption and use of surface transportation are sharply up. Livestock slaughtered follows the soaring trend.

Looking To Future

The United Charities reports a 50 per cent decrease in unemployment and the Illinois emergency relief commission says its load is far lighter despite a law reducing from three years to six months the period of residence of persons eligible for public assistance.

A spokesman for the State street council said thousands of buyers evidently were pouring increased earnings into staple goods for use later when prices have followed their expected upward trend. There is one notable exception —

A Leader among Laxatives

BLACK-DRAUGHT is a name you will want to remember next time you are logy, uncomfortable—all for the need of a laxative. Not only because it is a best-seller among laxatives in the Southwest, but because of the reasons back of that!

For one thing, because BLACK-DRAUGHT is spicy, aromatic, easy-to-take, usually gentle and thorough acting when the simple directions are followed. Then, too, it is made from purely vegetable ingredients. One of these is a tonic-laxative which helps to tone lazy intestinal muscles. You get 25 to 40 doses for 25c. So, get genuine BLACK-DRAUGHT. Britain's Royal Family In Peaceful Respite From War Duties

Queen Elizabeth, left, watches with interest as Princess Elizabeth carefully counts stitches in her knitting.

"See what nice work your sister does," the King might be saying as he shows Princess Elizabeth's knitting to Margaret Rose.

Although King George and Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain frequently are photographed inspecting troops, munitions factories and performing other wartime duties, photographs of their home life are rare. The intimate glimpses of the royal family presented here were taken recently when the semi-official British Council filmed "Royal Road," a motion picture short in whose making King George personally assisted.

War seems far away as Princesses Elizabeth, right, and Margaret Rose help their pet dogs across a stream.

Architects And Engineers For Housing Project Are Approved

Contracts for architects and engineers for the $515,000 Lubbock improved housing project have been approved by the U. S. Housing authority, according to report Tuesday by H. C. Pender, chairman of the local authority.

Work Is Allotted

The architectural work will be directed by an association of three Lubbock firms: Haynes and Strange, Walker and Atcheson and John B. Roberts.

The civil engineering will be performed by Harry N. Roberts, Lubbock civil and consulting engineer.

Pender said percentages alloted to each firm could not be disclosed at present, minor details and re-appointment of certain structural designing remaining to be decided.

The announcement indicated progress has been continuing rapidly, though quietly, on the federally-financed project designed to create improved housing facilities for lower income groups and thus result in removal of slum districts.

Three Sites Considered

Architects are working, in the face of rising prices, on three possible sites for the project, all in the northern part of the city. They are directing their efforts toward economy and utility in land purchase. Pender expressed hope that the size of the plot can be reduced from an original estimate without loss of desirability of the dwellings.

When the site and plot plans have been approved, Pender said, the following steps must be taken:

1. The architects will start to work on tentative plans which will include general plans, listings of materials and dimensions. These will be sent to the United States Housing authority for approval.

2. Estimates of costs will be made and approved.

To Provide 130 Units

3. Detailed plans will be drafted, specifications written and charts prepared. These will provide for 130 dwelling units of masonry construction and will of course specify the number of units to the building, a detail that is still under construction.

4. The Lubbock Housing authority will advertise for bids. Contracts will be awarded and construction started.

The authority has made no request for advancement of funds other than the $20,000 received some time ago. That sum is providing for costs of surveys, taking options to land and administrative expenses. The next allotment will be to purchase the land.

To Last 60 Years

"We have received no indication," Pender said, "that the national defense program will delay the project. In fact, we have received instructions which change standards of materials that would interfere with defense priorities and suggestions regarding avoidance of materials such as steel in which there is a shortage."

The 130-unit project will be designed to last 60 years. It will include an administration building, lawns and possibly recreation area.

"We are anxious to provide the number of units originally planned, at the least possible maintenance cost without sacrificing quality of construction," Pender said.

The Lubbock Housing authority is composed of Pender, J. Ray Dickey, Sam Rosenthal, Dr. D. D. Cross and Chas. Whitacre. W. L. Bradshaw is executive director.

Offices of the authority have been established in the Palace theater building.

Bond Issue Favored In Littlefield Vote

LITTLEFIELD, Oct. 15. (Special)—A $275,000 bond issue for the construction of a municipal light plant was approved by a vote of 260 to 222 in an election here Tuesday.

Voters also favored by a vote of 258 to 220 a provision allowing transfer of any municipal plant funds to a general municipal fund. W. G. Street, city secretary, said tonight after votes had been tabulated.

Next step will be selection of an engineer and start of plans for the plant, it was said.

Corpus Air Station Ahead Of Schedule

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15. (AP) — The navy announced today that the first class of aviation cadets to complete its work at the Corpus Christi, Tex., air station would be graduated Nov. 1, nine months ahead of the graduation date predicted when construction of the station was started June 28, 1940.

Forty-eight members of the class which began training seven months ago will receive diplomas, gold navy wings and commissions as ensigns in the U. S. naval reserve. Capt. Alva D. Bernhard, station commander, will make the presentation.

Soybeans Shipped From Plains Area

A carload of soybeans, described as the first in that quantity to leave the South Plains, has been shipped from Lubbock to the Glidden company in Chicago, according to J. B. McCauley, the producer.

The car contained 90,000 pounds of a yellow edible bean, known as the Marcoupen, of a high quality, McCauley said. The crop came from approximately 200 acres, of which McCauley and his sons planted 120 acres and others brought the total to 200 acres. Production averaged 500 pounds per acre.

"Oil test for the beans was 19 per cent," said McCauley. "Soy beans are used for oil and for meal. Also, they are used by the big automobile manufactures and others in plastics to replace metals used in the national defense program. We have about 12,000 pounds left."

The deal was handled through Lubbock Cotton Oil mill, who arranged with a Dallas firm for the securing of a market. It was explained that the oil mill is interested in securing development of the crop as an additional source of revenue for farmers of the area and that in the event production was sufficient, the mill would change over some of its machinery to press out the oil for the market, and also process the meal.

The producer, who with his sons operate irrigation farms north of Texas Technological college, said the beans were produced under dry land farming conditions and that they were not irrigated. He added that rainfall this year was more than sufficient and that irrigation was not needed.

McCauley and his sons diversify crops extensively, producing other crops than cotton and grain sorghums.

Labor Statistician Opposes Wage Limit

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15, (AP) — Isador Lubin, commissioner of labor statistics, said today that "price increases made since August 1939 were enough to cover very substantial wage increases in the future as well as those already made."

Testifying before the House banking committee in its study of a price control bill, Lubin opposed any wage controls and contended that "fixing prices will automatically fix part of the wage structure. It will put a ceiling on certain wages."

The net labor cost has risen 1.2 per cent since 1936, Lubin testified, while net price increases in wholesale products average 20 per cent for all commodities, 30 per cent for raw materials and 11.2 per cent for durable goods.

Lubin said that any legislation fixing price ceilings should "make it possible for labor to get some of the increased prices that have gone to the manufacturer and never gone to labor."

Assessors Told Much Property Not Taxed

AUSTIN, Oct. 15. (AP)—Assessment for tax purposes of all tangible property now escaping taxation would wipe out the state general fund's $30,000,000 deficit, Kenneth Smith of Dallas told the first Texas Assessors institute here today.

The Dallas appraiser asserted one-third of all personal tangible property now goes unassessed in Texas.

A general discussion of assessing practices in Texas and elsewhere brought from Dan S. Moore of Baton Rouge, secretary of the Louisiana Tax commission, criticism of over-zealous assessors.

Moore asserted common sense and good judgement were the prime factors in good assessing.

Southwest Has A New Leader

Steers Favored To Smother Arkansas

By TOM W. MILLER
United Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Oct. 15.—With Texas it's speed and precision personified by Jack Crain and Pete Layden, a pair of backs who have moved across the cattle country's football consciousness like a cyclone out of the Panhandle.

The Southwest conference seems strong throughout but the first three weeks of campaigning have indicated that unless something happens quickly Dana Bible's Longhorns will dominate the section and land a choice bowl plum as well.

Bible Plan Perfected

This Texas team represents the third phase of football in the Southwest since it came into its own with the emergence of SMU and TCU as national grid powers. Those teams reached the heights with razzle-dazzle and when they faded Texas A. & M. moved in with rawbone power featuring John Kimbrough.

When TCU fell and Texas A. & M. took over the Southwest mantle, Bible was quietly fulfilling the mission for which he had been brought from Nebraska. He spent several years perfecting his system, then Crain and Layden came along to carry it out.

Speed Plus Precision

The basis of the Bible formula is speed, burning speed executed with the precision that only an all-senior team can master.

Crain is one of the nation's most dangerous broken field runners. Against the Oklahoma Sooners he has scored five touchdowns in three years. In last week's 40 to 7 rout of the Sooners he gained 144 yards in 10 tries.

Layden, modest-sized for a fullback at 185 pounds, picks up most of his yardage from a catapult start. Give him the ball and he's off like a bullet, which is why they call him "pistol Pete." In the mud against LSU he averaged 16.2 yards.

More Hot Tests

Of the six other Southwest teams, four are undefeated and untied while a fifth, Southern Methodist, showed promise even in losing to Fordham.

Texas plays its first conference game this week against Arkansas, the weakest member of the circuit on the basis of early games. The Longhorns seem destined to stay around their average of 36 points for each of their first three games. Another conference game is Texas A. & M. vs. Texas Christian, which will bite into the unbeaten ranks.

Rice, surprise winner over Tulane, plays another Southeastern conference member, Louisiana State, while Baylor moves north to battle Villanova. SMU plays Auburn in Birmingham.

Berg In Feature Of Texas Women's Open

FORT WORTH, Oct. 15 (AP) — Patty Berg of Minneapolis faced Bettye Jane Mims of Dallas and Helen Dettweiler of Washington went up against Mrs. Lee Christopher of San Antonio in today's top matches in the Texas Women's Open golf tournament.

In the opening round yesterday, Miss Mims defeated Mrs. C. J. Davidson of Fort Worth and Mrs. Christopher put out Fort Worth's H. V. Cardona.

The favored five—Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich., Miss Berg, Babe Didrikson Zaharias of Los Angeles, Miss Dettweiler, and Fort Worth's Aniela Goldthwaite—won without being pressed.

Norton Warns Frogs To Be Severe Test

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 15. (UP) — Coach Homer Norton was speaking:

"TCU has a fine line. It has allowed only 114 yards net from rushing in three games, and—it has opened the way for Frog backs to go 450 yards.

"We've got to get better blocking and come up with a stronger defense."

He emphasized ground play in the Texas Aggies' practice again today and hoped some of his ailing regulars would be in shape for the Texas Christian game Saturday at Fort Worth.

Neither team has been beaten nor tied.

Undefeated And Unscored-On Record—

St. Mary's Eleven Must Draw $25,000 Or Forget Football

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 15—Analogous to the heroine striving to keep the mortgage from sweeping away her old pappy's all, the footballers of St. Mary's are figuratively ready to die for their college.

They must earn $25,000 this season or intercollegiate athletics will become only a fond memory at the school.

They haven't done so well thus far but a team that scores 116 points on four opponents—Southeastern Oklahoma, Southeastern Louisiana, Jefferson Barracks and Eastern New Mexico—and doesn't allow its goal line to be crossed is due to start clicking at the gate as well as on the gridiron.

Last year, after seven lean seasons, the colorful Mose Simms, who did everything on a grandiose scale, resigned and Lloyd Russell, former Baylor star, was hired as coach.

Local businessmen underwrote a $25,000 athletic program. Now all the team has to do is earn that in gate

Lazy Man's Sport Column

By Collier Parris

Saved up for a rainy day are some letters you might like to read over our shoulder. We present some in full, excerpts from others:

G. V. SLAUGHTER, Long Beach, Calif.: "Please send me some information about the Red Raiders. I am planning to see Tech beat Loyola, and would like to know more about the team this year. Also would like to know how the Hubbers finished this year.

"We go occasionally to see Danny McShain; Jack Terry, Sheik Mar Allah and several more of the grunt and groan boys perform, but the shows are never equal to the ones Sled Allen used to give. Here's hoping to see Texas vs. Stanford in the Rose Bowl."

W. A. SUTTER, Clovis: ". . . Now I have a slight bit of resentment I'd appreciate being mentioned in your column. As we have read the last few days about the uproar caused by the pennant winning Dodgers of Brooklyn, I feel that it is only right that Lubbock baseball fans, being good sports, should be informed of the treatment given a carload of our fans and Pioneer players returning through Lubbock after winning the pennant at Big Spring.

"Stopping at the Tech cafe, the boys riding with Mr. and Mrs. Porter Roberts were, of course, in the highest spirits that any winning ball club could be. A pop bottle dropped out of the car when the door opened and Charlie Bond, one of our pitchers, picked it up and threw it at the curb, hollering 'We won the pennant.' Two officers stepped out and fined him $10, and rather than have him stay in jail Mr. Roberts paid the boy's fine. This was, of course, an unusual disturbance, but being the baseball fan that you are you know the joy that was in those boys' hearts.

". . . It rather stuck in my craw, and I feel that it should be mentioned in your paper as I feel sure the Clovis officers would not have treated your boys in such manner if the thing were turned around. Now that it is off my chest, I will end hoping the Texas Tech Red Raiders lots of luck."

COACH ECK CURTIS, Breckenridge High school, Breckenridge: "I want to take this opportunity to thank you, sincerely, for the way in which you wrote up the Lubbock-Breckenridge game. Your account was entirely 'too fair' toward us, and I do appreciate it a lot. My team looked terrible. That was the poorest offense any team of mine during all my coaching years has ever shown. I know Goober has a fine team, but I do feel that we should have done much better.

"We shall look forward to our '42 game with Goober and try to redeem ourselves. Nabors is a fine center, but he has a lot of help; that line really did charge! After looking as well as we did against Abilene, seems terrible to be completely 'shut out.' I mean no first downs against the first team.

"You really could have poured it on us and we deserve it, but I am glad you did not. Maybe I can repay the tribute sometime. Again, thanks."

FATHER JAMES E. DEVINE, St. Joseph Catholic Church, Slater, Mo.: I should like very much to procure a picture of the 1939 Lubbock Hubbers, champions of the West Texas-New Mexico league, also an original photograph of Mel Kramer, pitcher, and a picture of the official flag raising of that year."

PETE CAWTHON, Y.M.C.A. Hotel, Chicago: "Was disappointed not to see you in Okla. City. I was there scouting for Gus Dorais (Detroit) when the Raiders played the Aggies.

"Made my blood run thick, seeing my boys hustle as they did; they are still mine, and the finest to ever step on a grid. I know each of their home lives, their folks, their problems, so am just as interested as if I were on their bench, and will suffer with them when they lose.

"The NBC job didn't come through. The sponsor they had lined up didn't sign, so that left me out. However, I am headquartering here and will, besides scout for Dorais, make a survey and study of pro and midwestern football, the methods used, defenses and all, so I will be busy. And for the first time in years be able to sleep without knockout drops. Give my regards to the friends out there. They hold a big spot in my heart. No finer bunch in the nation."

SEVERAL PERSONS HAVE WRITTEN and phoned: "Please straighten us out on the new game laws, as they apply to duck, quail and deer hunting this year."

The duck shooting season opens November 2, extends through December 31. The limit is 10 per day.

The quail season opens December 1, runs to January 16. The limit is 12 a day, 36 a week.

The deer season opens Nov. 16, runs through December 31. Whitetail, 2 per season; blacktail, west of the Pecos, Nov. 16 to Nov. 30, 1 per season. The turkey season coincides with the whitetail deer season; limit, 3 gobblers per season.

A warning to all hunters, however: Be certain you are familiar with all the red tape, green tape, county laws, local option laws and common law before you pop a cap.

It's getting so that a hunter, to be safe in Texas, should take along a caddy to pack the rule books.

Texans Making Pro Headlines

Former Tech Stars Also In Limelight

BY HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Oct. 15—Put all Texans playing professional football together and you'd have not only a whale of a team but almost one-tenth of the combined roster of the National league.

There are 34 products of Texas colleges in the major loop and if you include the Southwest conference, which would take in the University of Arkansas, the total would be brought to 40 for this section.

Has Bowl Elevens

This is a far cry from a decade ago when Texas got its first player on the All-America team and felt flattered. Before that the East, Midwest and Far West looked patronizingly toward the Lone Star state when football was mentioned.

But that's all changed. Texas has produced the nation's No. 1 team twice in three years, and when the post-season games come around you'll find this state's crack college elevens either in the Cotton, Sugar or Sun bowl—or all three—while in 1935 Texas sent Southern Methodist to the Rose bowl.

Set New Records

With the rise of football in Texas colleges came this state's ascendency in pro ranks where such stars as Sammy Baugh, Davey O'Brien and Don Looney left a trail of broken records in their wake.

The reason for all these Texas greats?

Well, down here they have the Texas Interscholastic league, an organization of more than 850 high schools in which over 20,000 boys play football.

There isn't a team in the National professional league that doesn't list a Texas collegian and practically every one of them is a product of Texas high school football.

Up From Schoolboy Fame

Baugh, who holds the pro league passing record with 111 completions for 1,367 yards and the punting mark with 51 yards average on 35 kicks, played with Temple and Sweetwater High schools.

O'Brien, holder of the single game records for pass completions with 33 for 316 yards and the largest number of completions per season with 124, was a star at Woodrow Wilson High of Dallas.

Looney, who set three records for pass receiving last season—he caught 14 for 180 yards in one game, both new marks, and snared 58 during the season for 707 yards—got his start at Sulphur Springs High school.

List Is Reviewed

Here is the list of Texas college stars signed with National professional league teams at present:

Cleveland Rams—Owen Goodnight, Hardin-Simmons back; Riley Matheson, Texas Mines guard; Gordon Wilson, Texas Mines guard.

Green Bay Packers—Ernest Pannell, Texas A. and M. tackle.

Detroit Lions—Rafe Nabors, Texas Tech center, signed but not on the Lions active roster; Robert Nelson, Baylor center; Charles Price, Texas A. and M. back.

Brooklyn Dodgers—Bill Brown, Texas Tech back; Russ Cotton, Texas Mines back; Thurman (Tugboat) Jones, Abilene Christian college back; Dave Parker, Hardin-Simmons end.

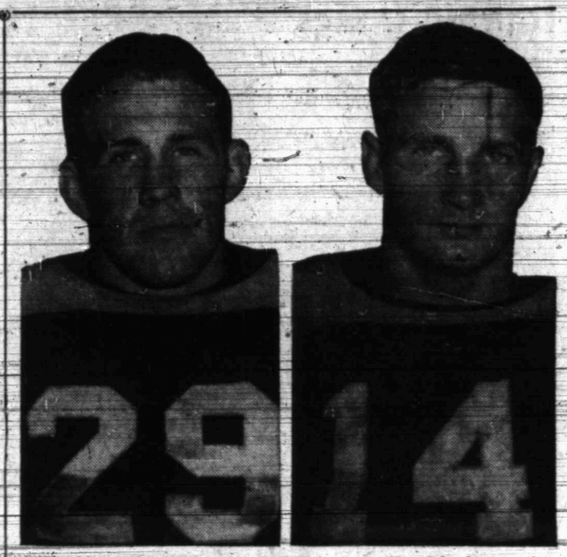

SWC Stars Plentiful

Washington Redskins—Ki Aldrich, Texas Christian center; Sam Baugh, Texas Christian back; Dick Todd, Texas A. and M. back.

Chicago Bears—William Hughes, Texas center; Clyde (Bulldog) Turner, Hardin-Simmons center.

Pittsburgh Steelers—Jay Arnold, Texas back; Joseph Coomer, Austin college tackle; Maurice Harper, Austin college center; Don Looney, Texas Christian end; John Sanders, Southern Methodist guard;

INTRODUCING THE WESTERNERS—A couple of backs, a veteran and a newcomer, are presented herewith. The veteran is Max Walthall, left, who has already won two letters and was a regular last season. He's the quarterback, weighs 155 pounds, excels in blocking and pass throwing, backs the line on defense. Douglas McCurry, right, is the newcomer, but his name is not unfamiliar to local fans. Big brother Lonnie played for Lubbock High and Texas Tech, captained the Red Raiders in 1940. Both Lonnie and Douglas are known as Primo.

New Day Looms For Boxing As "Retreat" Banned; Cochrane Steps Out, Zivic In For Bout

BY HARRY FERGUSON
United Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The worst social crisis since Gene Tunney first broadened the letter "A" has developed overnight in cauliflower canyon. People are cutting each other dead. At high tea time, the automat is buzz-buzz-buzz with gossip. Eyebrows are up near the hair-line. It's definitely a job for the protocol division of the state department.

It started yesterday when Mr. Red Cochrane, welterweight champion of the world, sent an R. S. V. P. to Promoter Mike Jacobs, regretting his inability to be a party to the beef-busting soiree scheduled for Madison Square Garden on Oct. 31. Mr. Cochrane is miffed because his manager, Monsieur Gilzenberg of the Newark Gilzenbergs, is persona non grata with the New York State Boxing commission. That means that M. Gilzenberg would not be able to be in Mr. Cochrane's corner to stanch the blood and give counsel when the gladiator does battle with a dark-skinned bundle of dynamite named Ray Robinson.

Zivic Is Delighted

Promoter Jacobs, upon receiving the R. S. V. P., summoned his social secretary and instructed that an invitation be dispatched to Mr. Fritzie Zivic of the Pittsburgh Zivics. Mr. Zivic, according to his first footman, will be delighted to trade blows with the dynamite.

All this is preliminary to the reason for the feud between M. Gilzenberg and the boxing commission. The monsieur is not without his adherents. Two other prominent bon vivants of cauliflower alley also are persona non grata with the commission, and for the same reason. They are Ray Arcel, who trained Lou Nova for his fight (if I may use the word) with Joe Louis, and Ray Carlen, the aforesaid Nova's manager.

It seems the two Rays counseled Nova to stay away from Louis during the early rounds, to box, feint and otherwise indulge in pugilistic subterfuge. M. Gilzenberg gave the same advice to Mr. Cochrane just before a recent engagement with Lew Jenkins. The commission, upon hearing the tidings, suspended Arcel, Carlen and the monsieur.

The boxing commission is made up of a general (John Phelan), a colonel (Walker Wear) and a private (William Brown), but none of these former soldiers believes in the tactical maneuver of retreat. It was pointed out to them that all famous generals, from General Hannibal to general delivery, moved backward on occasion and thereby lived to fight and win another day.

The boxing commissioners, like the late Marshal Foch, cling to the theory that an offense is the best defense. When in doubt, they say charge. They claim Nova gave a dismal performance while trying to elude Louis, wear him down and then come on to win. There is no suggestion that Nova did what is known in cauliflower canyon as a "tank job"; the commissioners merely take exception to his strategy. The same applies to Mr. Cochrane and M. Gilzenberg.

At any rate, it's a new day in boxing. From now on a fighter will be afraid to take a backward step. And it will abolish a classic phrase that managers have been yelling at fighters for years—"go on in there. He can't hurt us."

Managers can get hurt plenty these days. Ask Carlen and M. Gilzenberg.

Match Play In Tourney Opens

Match play in the Lubbock Country club women's championship golf tournament begins this morning, with 15 players competing in two regular flights.

Mrs. Charles Akey won the medal yesterday with a score of 88.

Only fifteen players qualified for the eighteen-hole flights, lacking one of filling out two flights of eight, and only two qualified for the nine-hole bracket.

Officials announced that "beginners" or others wishing to compete in the nine-hole division would be allowed to qualify today, and start matches tomorrow. Matches in the regular flights were scheduled to begin today, but may be postponed on account of last night's heavy rain.

Mrs. Cliff Widener had a chance to beat Mrs. Akey's medal score, shooting a 42 on the front nine to lead Mrs. Akey's score by two strokes. But she faltered on the back nine, coming in with a 52 for a total of 94.

Mrs. Akey, who put together two 44's, is to play Mrs. W. F. Helwig in the first round; Mrs. Guy L. McAfee meets Mrs. Olan Key; Mrs. Widener plays Mrs. M. M. Brown and Mrs. J. H. Stiles meets Mrs. C. E. Dean to round out the championship flight.

In the second flight, Mrs. J. E. George meets Mrs. T. E. Patterson; Mrs. Gene Fowler plays Mrs W. L. Morrison; Mrs. Bill Freeman meets Mrs. Tom Duggan, and Mrs. W. F. Eisenberg draws a first round bye.

Mrs. C. I. Wall and Mrs. C. C. Caldwell qualified in the nine-hole division.

Regular ladies day is to be observed today, with Mrs. C. E. Dean acting as hostess at luncheon, at the clubhouse.

Mrs. Cliff Dean, the defending champion, is not entered in the tournament on account of illness.

A flock of stars who had not made the scholastic grade at their colleges came to St. Mary's and Russell also obtained a dozen or so ex-schoolboy players from San Antonio. Then a few lads wandered in on the tide of publicity the Rattlers received last year.

Morton High Seeking Coach; Gray Resigns

MORTON, Oct. 15 (Special)—Morton High school is seeking a football coach to succeed George Gray, resigned.

Gray will leave next week for Chanute Field, Illinois, where he will be a civilian instructor in mathematics in the army flying school there.

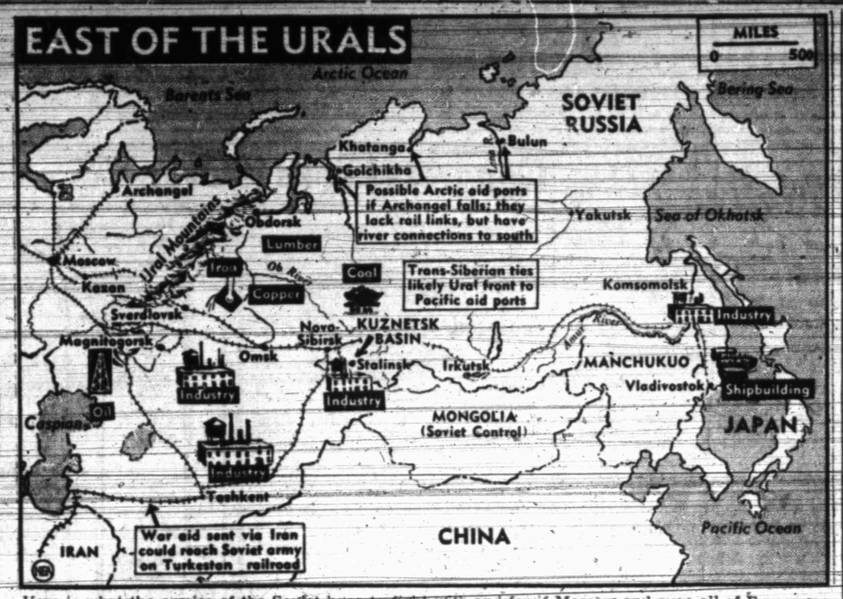

His successor at Morton has not yet been named.

Gray turned out an outstanding basketball team last year, when the Indians went to the finals of the district tournament before losing to Lubbock. The cage team lost only four games the entire year, and won more than 25.

This year's football team, although it has won only a single game, has done much better than expected. Handicapped by a shortage of capable material, the Indians have nevertheless played fairly close games with four opponents of the strong District 5-A.

APOSTOLI WINS TKO

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 (U.P.) — Fred Apostoli, whose smashing fists won him recognition as world middleweight champion a few years back, climbed another rung on the comeback ladder last night with an impressive six-round technical knockout over El Brookman of Washington in a scheduled 10-round bout.

Here is what the armies of the Soviet have to fight with and for if Moscow and even all of European Russia falls to Germany. In the vast Siberian expanses east of the Ural Mountains—a natural defense barrier—are the minerals, resources, and industries necessary for carrying on a long war.

Brief Bits Of News . . . .

Has Minor Injury — Charles Jordan, 24, was considered satisfactory in condition this morning in West Texas hospital, where he is receiving treatment for a minor back injury suffered in a freak accident early Tuesday afternoon at Sundown. Jordan, who lives at 1509-A Fourteenth street and is employed by Coca-Cola Bottling company, was unloading cases of beverages when he slipped from the truck and fell onto two empty cases lying near the truck. After he fell he was caught by the bumper of a passing pickup truck and dragged several feet. A Rix ambulance brought him to the hospital. He had no fractures.

Oil Mill To Open—Lubbock Cotton Oil mill may run one day the last of the week, to process the seed that has been received from the current crop. It is not expected that full operations will be started until later in the month, or by Nov. 1, because of delays to cotton harvesting.

Publishes Article—L. C. Riethmayer, instructor in government at Texas Technological college, is author of "Amendments to the Texas Constitution," published in the September issue of the Southwestern Social Science Quarterly by the Southwestern Social Science association.

Engineering Article Written—Carl L. Svensen of Lubbock is author of an article defining engineering and engineering education, carried in a recent issue of "The American Engineer," official organ of the National Society of Professional Engineers. Svensen is a member of the Texas state engineering board.

Rain Interrupts Harvest—Fifty thousand pounds of blackeyed peas has been harvested by W. O. Fortenberry of Monroe, but recent rains have discouraged possibilities of further harvesting of the crop and of his pinto beans, he said."

Juvenile Sentenced—A 16-year-old Lubbock youth who was arrested Tuesday on a forgery complaint was committed to a Gatesville reform institution until he reaches his 21st birthday, Judge G. V. Pardue of county court said late Tuesday.

Damages Denied — Damages asked by Lewis G. Alford of Claude Keeton were denied Tuesday in a judgment signed by Judge E. L. Pitts of 99th district court. Alford had alleged injuries suffered when employed by Keeton.

Engineering Society Meets — Four hundred students attended the first meeting of the semester of Texas Technological college Engineering society Tuesday night. H. F. Godeke, head professor of the mechanical engineering department, led singing; members of the board of directors were introduced, and Dean O. V. Adams spoke. A slide rule, emblematic of outstanding work, was presented to Hugh A. Braley, petroleum engineering student from Delwin, Texas. Mack Atcheson of Lubbock is society president.

Degree Work Given — Knights of Pythias lodge Tuesday night conferred the rank of esquire upon Bill Curry, W. W. Wadsworth, Charles McLeod, James Nix and Cecil Turner. The lodge entertainment committee announced a treasure hunt for Thursday night, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

Named To Committee—George S. Berry, Lubbock attorney, has been named to the legislative committee of the American Legion, department of Texas, the Associated Press announced Tuesday night from Austin.

Condition Satisfactory — Condition of Troy Davidson, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Davidson of west of Lubbock, was considered satisfactory this morning in Lubbock sanitarium following surgery Tuesday. He is a freshman student at Texas Technological college and was student manager of the Lubbock Westerners football team last season.

Troops Resume Journey—Journey to their station in Fort Sill, Okla., was resumed this morning by 45 members of Company I of the 23rd quartermaster's regiment who spent Tuesday night in the vacant CCC buildings at the fairgrounds following their arrival from Fort Bliss. They are traveling aboard 18 army transport trucks. Lieut. J. W. Miller is their commanding officer.

To Take Examination — Examination for a commission as an ensign in the naval reserve is to be taken in Dallas today by Roy Bass, Lubbock attorney, who left here Tuesday night. From Dallas he is to go to New Orleans to report for duty in the intelligence division Saturday. He is a member of the law firm, Humphrey, Collard and Bass, and plans to resume practice here when released from naval service.

Daughter Is Born — Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Lawson, 2413 Thirteenth street, are parents of a daughter weighing 9 pounds, 9 ounces, born at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in West Texas hospital.

Housing Meet Tonight — Reminder that directors of Lubbock Homes, Inc., are to meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the chamber of commerce to open bids on the construction of 40 rent houses for officers to be stationed at the army air school under construction near here was given this morning by Harry B. Lewis, assistant secretary of the corporation.

Market Directories Ready—Directories for the semi-annual wholesale market sponsored by Western Wholesale Market association of the chamber of commerce, to be held in Lubbock hotel Saturday through Monday, were delivered this morning.

Get Your Copies — Ed D. Allen, county clerk, said he had received his copies of a digest of game, fish and oyster laws of the Game, Fish and Oyster commission and that hunters and fishermen may call for them.

Set Up Shoot Trophy — Don Reeder, chief of police, Capt. W. W. Legge of the state highway patrol and Capt. Maney Gault of the rangers, all of Lubbock, were appointed a committee Tuesday in Spur to draw up rules and regulations for a competitive pistol shoot among authorities belonging to West Texas Law Enforcement association. The officials will meet every two months. B. L. Parker of Tahoka is president. Reports were made to indicate that the more than 60 officials present were having less trouble with tow thieves and that police short wave radio was aiding them in their problems. Reeder invited officials to telephone their descriptions of wanted persons to KGZW, the shortwave station of Lubbock police, for broadcasting. Numerous South Plains officials have shortwave receivers.

Birth Reported — Friends here have learned of birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Burkhalter of Austin Sunday. The infant was named Sara Virginia. Burkhalter formerly lived here.

Supplies Not Received—Application forms for renewal of Texas drivers' licenses numbered up to 450,000 have not been received at the district headquarters of the Texas Highway patrol here. According to information from Austin, they are being mailed to different points as fast as they can be received from the printer. Announcement of plans for renewal of licenses will be made upon receipt of supplies here, it was announced this morning.

Police Investigate Minor Complaints

Pete Bynum of 1611 Twenty-first street told police early today a tire, wheel and bumper jack, aggregating in value $29.50, had been stolen from his car at Seventh street and Avenue K.

Loss of a man's 21-jewel wrist watch in Mackenzie state park was reported by A. D. Weier of 1712 Avenue J.

Mrs. T. C. Ingram of 2621 Twenty-fifth street said her son Tommie had lost a suede jacket at the First Presbyterian church.

Police recovered two stolen bicycles.

A 17-year-old man and a 15-year-old girl eloped from Morton and were believed coming to Lubbock, Sheriff Tom Standefer of Cochran county informed police, who were asked to watch for the couple.

A Lubbock man said his 15-year-old boy had left home. He is 5 feet 5 inches tall and was wearing blue pants, gray shirt, black shoes and blue coat when last reported seen.

NEW PELICAN MANAGER

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 15 (AP)—Business Manager Charles Hurth of the New Orleans Southern association club announced today that Fred M. "Pat" Ankenman, Jr., Pelican second baseman for the past two years, had been appointed team manager for the 1942 season. Pessimism Is Felt By Japs

(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Oct. 15—Authoritative expressions of pessimism concerning Japan's relations with the United States were published today as empire leaders continued a series of conferences believed to be concerned with matters of high importance.

The privy council, highest advisory body on foreign commitments, met in the presence of Emperor Hirohito. Later Marquis Koichi Kido, lord privy seal, held consultations at the palace with Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye and Lieut.-Gen. Teiich Suzuki, head of the cabinet planning board. Secrecy was maintained on the subject matter of these discussions.

Both Domei, news agency with close government connections, and the influential newspaper Asahi, put forth gloomy views of the Japanese-American situation.

Domei quoted authoritative quarters as saying that the United States was guilty of "double dealing" and had assumed a hostile attitude toward Japan while conducting negotiations looking toward an accord.

NEW COMMISSIONER

AUSTIN, Oct. 15. (U.P.)—R. M. Cummins of Weslaco, former football player and coach, has been appointed deputy state labor commissioner in charge of boxing and wrestling supervision.

Tech Judgers After Honors

Dairy products and livestock judging teams have left Texas Technological college to compete in judging contests.

The dairy judging teams, accompanied by Mart G. Pederson, coach, left Tuesday. The four students making the trip, one of whom will be alternate, are Millard Gilliham of Hughes Springs, Joe McGregor of Lubbock, Roy Moffett of Camp Springs and Peyton Tucker of Tahoka.

To Be In Canada

The contest, in which approximately 20 teams of the United States and Canada will take part, will be held Monday in Toronto, Can., in connection with the International Dairy Industries exposition. In the 25th annual competition last year, Texas Tech's team ranked ninth.

The team will visit the National Dairy show at Memphis, Tenn., en route to Canada.

The livestock judging team planned to leave at noon today, accompanied by Ray C. Mowery, team coach, to compete in the American Royal Livestock show judging contests at Kansas City Saturday.

Members Of Team

Members of the team are Haynes Baumgardner of Wellington, William Griffin of Eola, Ollie and Warren Liner of Wolfforth, J. T. Rodgers of Lubbock, J. P. Sharp, jr., of Tulia and Johnie Starkey of Muleshoe. Five of the group will judge, two being alternates.

The party will stop at Stillwater, Okla., to do practice judging at Oklahoma A. & M. college. Arrival in Kansas is scheduled for Friday.

Mowery and the students will return to the campus a week from today. The trip will be made by automobile.

Eire has restricted the amount of personal clothing a traveler leaving the country may take with him.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—
Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go
The liver should pour 2 pints of bile juice into your bowels every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Then gas blocks up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.
It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Take as directed. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. 10c and 25c. adv.

The PLAINSMAN Says:

fore we knew it we had been whisked to the Washington zoo to view — of all things — the "unveiling" of a Texas Longhorn steer.

It all happened this way.

Some time ago, the curator of the Washington zoo decided that in keeping with his desire to present a true animal picture of the world to his thousands of daily visitors he should have a Longhorn steer. New York's Central Park zoo had one. Why not Washington, he reasoned. So he turned, in his dilemma, to Texas Congressman Wright Patman, of Texarkana.

Mr. Patman turned to Amon Carter, potent Fort Worth publisher, who, in turn, turned to Joe Montague, of the Texas and Southwestern Cattlemen's association. Mr. Montague came through and today a Texas Longhorn steer — with a horn spread of eight feet and one inch — is more or less contentedly munching his cake in the big zoo on the outskirts of the nation's capital.

Texans here wouldn't think of missing an opportunity to get together, so the presentation and acceptance of the big steer — named "Gateado," which is Spanish for "Cat-like," — was arranged as a gala affair. Wearers of most of the capital's big Texas names — plus a lot of us visiting firemen from Texas — were on hand for the event, whooping hollering and singing such ditties as "The Eyes of Texas," "Home on the Range," "The Last Roundup," and "Git Along, Little Dogie, Git Along." The latter song, especially, would have been much more impressive had not the song leader, a locally celebrated vocalist, insisted upon pronouncing it "doggie."

But, anyhow, it was a lot of fun.

ABOUT the only big name Texan in Washington who was missing from the "steer unveiling" was Senator Tom Connally, who was closeted at the time in the White House with President Roosevelt in a conference on proposed changes in the Neutrality act.

Moose-tall Jesse Holman Jones, of Houston, who doubles in brass as Secretary of Commerce and RFC boss and who is one of the three most powerful men in the nation, was there having fun. So was Texas' new junior senator, the Hon. Wilbert Lee O'Daniel, who not long ago in a public speech had Sam Houston fighting and dying in the Alamo.

Publisher Carter made a speech; Congressman Patman was master of ceremonies and practically all the members of Congress from Texas — including the 19th district's Mr. Mahon — were gathered about, chatting with Amarillo's Grover Hill, now assistant Secretary of Agriculture and a whole raft of local newspapermen who hail from the Best State in the Land.

Dr. J. Frank Dobie, the famed historian and professor of English at the University of Texas — who says he's up here to "fight for liberty" was present, sided by Tom Lea, crack El Paso artist who did the murals for Odessa's new postoffice and who is en route to Iceland to paint pictures of naval maneuvers in the North Atlantic for Life magazine. Coach Homer Norton and his Texas Aggie football team, lying over here en route to their game with New York U., also had a part in the celebration. And looking on as pleased as punch was His Honor, Judge Marvin Jones, member of the U. S. Court of Claims who for two decades prior to 1935 represented the Lubbock congressional district in the House.

The event, widely publicized, attracted many non-Texans, who, while they perhaps didn't catch the full significance of a Texas rally on foreign soil, joined in with great applause.

"Gateado," the steer, stood placidly by, doubtless feeling proud of his importance.

But what he didn't know was that he was only being used as an excuse for homesick Texans to stage one of their inimitable get-togethers!

Incidentally, the Texas Aggie football team has been the subject of much attention here in Washington.

On the night before the huskies from College Station entrained for New York and their big Eastern game, Washington's leading theater, the Capitol, had them as its guests and between shows the boys were introduced from the stage, flanked by Secretary Jones and numerous other Texas greats in the capital city.

But as usual with papers in the East, the Washington publications bent over backward to present Texas as a "Wild West" State.

Chief story about the Aggies being in town was given the headline: "Five Texas A&M Players Take First Train Ride."

However, we Texans have only ourselves to blame for being so presented in the heavily populated metropoli in the East.

The Aggies, wearing 10-gallon hats, loud, plaid shirts and cowboy boots, were following an old Texas custom in invading the country north of the Mason-Dixon line.

Ilona Massey, the moom pitcher star, lunched at the Senate restaurant in the capitol today and was enthusiastically welcomed by various and sundry august senators who almost ran over each other to shake her dainty hand . . . More than 100,000 federal employes are in a dither over the possibility of their work week being extended from the present 39 hours to 48. They are insistent upon enjoying "the more abundant life," regardless of emergencies—either real or imaginary!

Secret Voyage

BY JOSEPH L. CHADWICK
(Copyright, 1941, For The Journal)

YESTERDAY: Mary Larsen tells Jim she is no longer interested in the Sonora, but he refuses to believe her. The next morning Curly Bates and Jim try to get in the first mate's cabin of the Sonora but fail. The Cuban schooner is sighted just before dusk, and Jim, sensing trouble, decides to go down in a rubber suit at night and then leave, before morning. Before he descends Blacksheep tries to talk to Jim, but Curly pushes him away. When Jim gets into the cabin, he finds several wooden cases filled with gold bars. He calls to Curly on the phone to lower a line, but the phone is dead. No air is being pumped down to him.

A MILLION IN GOLD
CHAPTER XII

Jim's head reeled. A curious numbness stole through the whole of his strong body. He could feel the water, though, seeping in through his rubber suit because of the falling air pressure. He wondered in a vague way, if he'd suffocate or drown first.

He tried to call Curly on the phone, but his voice was only a thick weak sound and the buzzing in the earphones told him nobody was listening. His tongue was a thick wad in his mouth, his eyes had weights on them, and his nose began to bleed. His lungs felt caving in.

This, then, was what the end was like, 240 feet down. It was all pain and horror, then blackness like this. . . . . .

There was something solid under him when he came to. He opened aching eyes and found himself in his cabin, lying on his bunk, with someone sitting silently beside him. He turned his head toward the man.

It was the man of the careful voice and careless money.

He grinned, a friendly sort of grin, without malice. "Have a drink, Mallory baby, and you'll be all right."

A bottle was held to Jim's lips. The liquor burned his throat. He lay awhile, then said hoarsely, "So we meet again, Halloran?"

"Right. And under different circumstances. This time, old man, I do the talking. My crew has yours covered with guns that will shoot. We had to knock out that black boy and the bald guy and lock them in the fo'castle. The others didn't want trouble. You're a screwy guy, Mallory, going after a million in gold unarmed. Did you underestimate me?"

"Not that," Jim said. He sat up, even though his head spun. "I knew you were tough and smart. You see, I didn't know about the gold."

"You didn't? Then Forbes was right. He said you only wanted to salvage the Sonora's non-existent cargo, but I didn't believe it. I thought you had wind of the gold from the girl."

"From what girl?"

"Hammond's secretary. She had been doing a lot of running after you back at Miami Beach."

"Did she know about the gold?"

"Maybe, and maybe not. I think she suspected something. You see, after the Sonora was lost she asked a lot of questions of the Coast Guard. They couldn't tell her anything, so she wrote to the couple of white men among the crew. But they had been paid a bonus to keep quiet, and they stuck to their story that the Sonora went down in a storm."

Jim said, "She wasn't working with you?"

Halloran looked surprised. "No. She was trying to find out what happened to the Sonora because of me. You see, she and I were engaged."

Jim swung his legs off the bunk and sat facing the man. Halloran had an automatic pistol balanced on his right knee. There wasn't a chance of jumping him.

"Now that you're taking over the gold I suppose you'll be going back to her."

"No," came the slow reply. Halloran was frowning now. "I'm a mug, Mallory. Mary Larsen is a swell kid, straight as they come. I—well, I'm a sucker for women. I fell for that little Cuban nurse who worried over me in the hospital, and I married her."

He paused, still frowning, then said, "Look, Mallory, do me a favor. When you see her again tell her about the Cuban nurse, will you? She knows I'm alive, and I don't want her to go on waiting . . ."

"I'll tell her, Halloran. I've got a lot to tell her."

Jim said, "Yes. But I treated her pretty shabbily. I'll make it up to her. Don't worry about her."

"Well, thanks," Halloran said. "And thanks for leading me to the Sonora. I'm going to lock you in here now, and go down after the gold."

"Tell me one thing," Halloran. Where did the gold come from?"

"The Sonora had a rendezvous at sea with a Nazi blockade runner. I was entrusted with the gold consigned for a secret agent in Central America. It was to be used for fifth column activity, and it probably had been stolen in France or Belgium. Forbes and I"—Halloran paused to grin—"decided it was our patriotic duty to keep the gold from reaching its destination, since it would be used against America interests, and make better use of it ourselves. I don't think there'll ever be any claim made on it."

Halloran picked up his gun and stood up. "Well, thanks for everything, Mallory baby."

"Thank you for not letting me die down below."

"Think nothing of it, old man."

Halloran stood there for just a moment, grinning at Jim Mallory, and Jim wondered if he should risk jumping the man. It was then that the door to the adjoining cabin opened. Mary stood there, smiling and lovely and incredibly calm. She had Jim's gun in her hand.

She said, "Hello, Bert." And laughed at the way he started. "Put down that gun, darling. I wouldn't like to shoot you."

Halloran's guard was all the way down. Jim took advantage of his brief alarm and jumped. He struck hard, and struck again, and Halloran simply folded. Jim reached down and took the gun the man dropped. He went to a port and looked out onto deck. The armed men he saw lounging there on guard were Cubans. That was luck; they would be easily handled.

Jim swung back to Mary. "How did you get here?" he asked, seeing how her eyes were laughing. Her voice was pleasant in his ears.

"Blacksheep rowed over to the Hammond yacht just before she sailed, to borrow something from the yacht's cook. I talked him into bringing me to the Aurora and hiding me. After I was here, and you and Curly come up from the Sonora, I stayed hiding because I was afraid—"

"What did you come?" Jim demanded.

"Because," she said, her eyes meeting his levelly, "I'm interested in what you said to me before you sailed from Miami Beach."

"There's a fortune in gold down below. I don't know whether the courts will give it to me or not. I may be poor as they come after this."

"I'm still interested, Jim."

They turned to Halloran as he groaned. Jim lifted the unconscious man and carried him to the bunk.

He said, to Mary, "We'll wait until he comes to, then use him as a hostage to get his men off the Aurora. He's a sensible man, and he'll know when he's licked. We'll set him ashore when we take the gold in."

"Of course, Jim," Mary was looking at Halloran with narrow eyes.

Jim felt a swift pang of fear. He said, "You were in love with him once. You may not forget him."

"I was infatuated with him," Mary said, evenly. "I fell in love with a man named Spike whom I met on a tug off Miami Beach. Does that interest you, Mr. Mallory?"

He gave Halloran a hasty look, saw that he would keep. He thrust Halloran's gun into his pocket, then took Mary into his arms.

He said, "Does this interest you?" And he kissed her on the mouth.

INVESTIGATION OF THE REA?

Someone of identity not clearly disclosed is reported to be attempting to stir up a Congressional investigation of the Rural Electric administration.

Perhaps those behind the movement have been wise in not permitting themselves to be revealed too clearly. They might discover they have stirred up a hornet's nest costly to them.

It is not to be supposed that the REA has been perfect in its operations. Possibly there have been abuses and faults—even more of them, perhaps, than allowance should be made for when considered that the REA is something new. Possibly rural electric cooperatives in the nation as a whole may not have operated as effectively and successfully as claimed for those on the South Plains.

But, so far as the South Plains are concerned, it is a fact which cannot possibly be questioned that there are thousands of farm homes with the pleasures and benefits and comforts of electric power today which would not have them without the REA. To the REA—and the REA alone—belongs the credit for the electric power those homes enjoy. Perhaps the same situation exists throughout the nation.

If so, the men and women and children who enjoy those benefits are not going to relish any attempt to cast reflections upon the agency which they credit with making electricity available to them.

Congress Looks It Over

Size Of Government's Staff Scares Some People

OGR--Ogre Of The Information Services

BY PETER EDSON
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—All discussions of whether or not the United States government and the Roosevelt administration in particular is engaged in propaganda, press agentry and kindred unethical evils usually begin by someone pointing at the Office of Government Reports and saying, "See!"

EDSON

Lowell Mellett, director of OGR, recently committed to writing his own opinion on that topic, which he has been telling everyone who would listen, ever since the matter was mentioned: "I am weary of being charged with engaging in propaganda on the one hand," wrote Mellett, "and weary of being urged to engage in propaganda, on the other." It's a neat summary of the case.

The people who think the United States should imitate the Hitler propaganda methods have wanted the Mellett OGR or the Donovan OCI (Office of the Coordinator of Information) or somebody, to start out-gobbling Goebbels. The people who have been scared of propaganda and censorship in any form have viewed with alarm the existence of these organizations, and have therefore accused them of doing things they haven't been guilty of.

It is the mere size of the Office of Government Reports which scares a good many people. Its Washington staff numbers 328 people with a payroll of $627,486. Its field staff, now being built up to have an office in every state, has 199 people with an authorized payroll of $523,420. Its total budget for this year is $1.5 million—and the contention of OGR's critics is that a powerful lot of damage can still be done with a million and a half, in spite of inflation.

OGR has grown from nothing to this size in seven years and whether OGR is propaganda or not, its growth is characteristic of the way the whole public relations program of the government has mushroomed beyond anything imagined in boom times before the depression. The first allocation for its job came to OGR's predecessors in the form of $127,000 out of the National Industrial Recovery Act funds. In 1936 the money began coming from Emergency Relief Act funds, which made the OGR practically a WPA project.

In 1940, OGR got a direct appropriation of $850,000, plus $300,000 from the President's emergency funds. An act of Congress this year makes OGR a part of the Executive Office of the President and gives it an annual appropriation of not over $1.5 million, without further asking. It is a perfect example of the way temporary and emergency measures become fixtures in government.

Up until this year, it was the boast of Director Mellett that OGR never issued a handout, never put out a press release. Advent of the defense program has changed that. One of the jobs OGR has given itself is to take all the press releases of all the other government agencies and boil them down into a daily information digest.

This is available only to other government offices, congressmen and officials who request it specifically, but it is a news service of the government for the government.

News Digest For Busy Officials

ON top of that, OGR issues a daily bulletin which is a digest of the important news as carried in 350 leading daily papers. This digest now has a circulation of more than 30,000 copies, again strictly confined to government agencies.

Every item in the digest is indexed. Officials supposed to be too busy to read the newspapers can glance at this condensation, see what interests them, and then ask OGR to send over the clippings, or copies of them. It takes a staff of 100 to do all this clipping and indexing and filing. Last year, 1,770,000 duplicate clippings were furnished.

On top of these daily news services, OGR has several weekly summaries. The most popular is its Weekly Abstract, which does a Reader's Digest on articles about the government appearing in 50 weekly and monthly magazines, boiling them down for easy and quick reading. Though it is strictly limited to government officials who request it, the circulation is 83,000 and the departments which get 5000 copies or more per week include Agriculture, Congress (9000 copies, though Congress has only 500 members), Executive Office of the President, Federal Security Agency, Federal Works Agency, Department of Labor National Defense, and War Department.

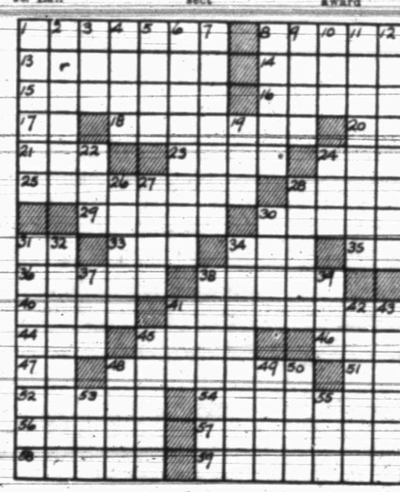

Then, there is another weekly boil-down of government news for the weekly newspapers. There are 20,000 of these newspapers and most of them haven't much money to spend on news. At the request of the National Editorial Association of weekly newspapers therefore, a summary of government news is made for these papers and it's sent gratis to the country weeklies that ask for it.

Every two weeks, OGR issues the official tabulation of national defense contracts and expenditures. The over-all edition, covering every contract let, is prepared in an edition of 2400 copies, and the state edition, which breaks down the contracts awarded within each of the states, has a run of 27,000.

Then there is a "This Week in Defense" issue of 6700 copies, and miscellaneous pamphlets on Defense Employment, Training for

Motie, Radio Go-Between

FROM the above half-dozen paragraphs it can be seen that OGR is now definitely in the hand-out business, though not on the wholesale proportions of some of the independent departments and bureaus. But OGR's work is not limited to the press.

It has radio and moving picture departments, and is the offical contact office for the radio chains, the independent stations, the newsreels and Hollywood producers.

"It may be that we propagate the doctrine of democracy by the simple process of making available to the people all possible information concerning the workings of their government," writes Director Mellett in the Atlantic Monthly. "If that is what is meant by propaganda, let's hope we are guilty."

Band Day Set For Saturday

Invitations have been accepted by 13 bands made up of about 650 individuals to participate in the annual high school band day program at Texas Technological college Saturday, according to D. O. Wiley, director of Tech bands.

Others are expected to attend. Those who have accepted are Lovington, N. M., Andrews, Post, Lamesa, Crane, Seminole, Crosbyton, Slaton, Lubbock Senior High, Lubbock Junior High, Knox City, Hale Center, and Sudan bands.

Parade Is Scheduled

Plans are being made for a downtown parade at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Wiley announced. The parade probably will form at Avenue Q and Broadway, go down Broadway to Texas avenue or Avenue G, across to Main and back to Avenue Q.

Between 800 and 900 musicians are expected to take part in the program, said Director Wiley. The bands have been invited to report to the field at 7 o'clock and time will be available for marching or stunts of several bands between about 7:10 o'clock and time for the field to be cleared for football players in the Texas Tech-Centenary game scheduled Saturday night.

Between halves of the game the bands will present a mass demonstration on the field.

HE KNEW

Just 10 minutes before he died, the first president of the United States calmly felt his own pulse to indicate he knew the end was near, according to the writings of Tobias Lear, secretary to George Washington.

William Upcott has been called the King of the Autograph collectors because in the 18th century he had 32,000 letters illustrated by 3,000 portraits valued at 10,000 pounds.

Newspaper Rights Are Studied By Court

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15. (AP) — For the second time within 12 months the supreme court took under advisement today the controversy between the Los Angeles Times and the California courts over a newspaper's right to comment on a court action after a jury had reached a verdict.

The case was argued first in October 1940 without a decision, and the justices announced on the last day of the spring term that they would hear re-argument this fall.

At issue are editorials praising a jury verdict against 22 sit-down strikers, another asserting that a trial judge would make a "serious mistake" if he granted probation applications of two men convicted of assaults on non-union workers, and a third discussing political "bossism" after a conviction of a woman politician in an attempted bribery case.

Marine Enlistments Being Accepted Here

Prospective recruits for the United States marine corps will be interviewed here today and tomorrow by Sgts. Robert R. Sedgwick and Manuel Harless from the Oklahoma City recruiting station. They will receive applications in the basement of the postoffice building.

From here the "leathernecks" will go to Littlefield Friday and Saturday, where they may be contacted at the postoffice building.

Two enlistments are offered in the marines, one for a regular four-year cruise and the other a reserve enlistment for the "duration of the national emergency." Men from 17 to 30 years of age, moral and physically fit and with a grammar school education are eligible.

Men selected for service will be sent to Oklahoma City, expenses paid, to complete their enlistment papers and from there will be sent to San Diego, Calif., where they will undergo seven weeks of intensive training following which they will be eligible for duty. They will have their choice of several different assignments, if qualified.

Marines go from San Diego for ship duty, shore duty and foreign service. Several hundred are now in London guarding U. S. property while others are in China and on all island bases of U. S. control.

The marine corps offers its men a chance to complete their educations at full pay and maintains 17 vocational schools for specialized work.

GAME ASSIGNED INVENTION

Basketball was invented by assignment. In 1891, a Y. M. C. A. instructor assigned his pupils the task of making up a new indoor game. James Naismith worked out the idea of basketball.

Claiming that arsenic substances used by a mine at Guadalupe Victoria, Mexico, had killed their livestock and ruined their crops, peasants have appealed to the government to compel the mine owners to make good their losses.
