

Three Rangers Probe

Red River Murder Investigations Reopened

The "One Riot, One Ranger" legend based on fact gave perspective to the size of the task ahead when not one, but three Texas Rangers spent most of Tuesday, Jan. 18 in Red River County to begin the investigation of the murder and possible murder of eight Red River County residents in 1973, 1974 and 1975.

Red River County Sheriff Avret Vaughan called the Rangers in to assist in the investigation of the deaths, and asked for the assistance of the people of Red River County who might know something about the people who died. The cases remained unsolved when Vaughan took office Jan. 1, 1977.

"Any information would be helpful," Vaughan said. "We won't close a case until it is solved, and we are just going to keep digging at this. It will take time and I hope people will be patient, because the normal duties of the sheriff's office will continue."

Rangers in Clarksville last Tuesday and visiting the murder scenes were G. W. Burks, Ranger Captain, Dallas; Lester Robertson, Ranger Sgt., Dallas; and Max V. Womack, Ranger, Atlanta.

Vaughan said he was almost certain that the deaths of an elderly black couple, Ada Cleveland Smith and Will Smith in November, 1973, were homicide, and there is still the possibility that their bodies may be exhumed and examined if evidence and conditions warrant.

Red River County Justice of the Peace Bill McDonough ruled the deaths of the couple an accident, and eight months later, with three other homicides in the general area, agonized over his decision.

"I would probably have ordered an autopsy to determine whether there were any bullets in those two old people," McDonough said.

Officers now theorize that the couple was shot and then their house burned to cover up the evidence. There was nothing left of their bodies but the trunks. Their home was located on FM 1159, approximately 1½ miles north of the FM 1700 junction.

On Dec. 22, 1973, Lena Smith, 75, was apparently robbed then shot to death. She was killed in the Vandalia Community, about a mile north of the location where the elderly couple was killed.

"After the Smith woman was shot, someone took her and literally threw her or stuffed her in a window like you would a rag," McDonough said. "There was also a footprint on the window screen that was kicked in that indicated the person that killed her wore a size 11 or 12 shoe. I know that because there was mud on the screen left by the foot when the screen on the window was kicked in." She had two .22 caliber slugs in the head, and her purse and money were never recovered.

Harvey Lee Goodwin, 19, ran frantically for his life in the Concord Church yard on FM 1700, while his killers chased him in a vehicle. Goodwin was shot five times, also with a .22 caliber weapon, once in the abdomen, twice in the back and twice in the head at close range.

A short time later, a 16-year old boy, Eddie Dean Runels, was found in Pecan Bayou about a mile from the church where Goodwin was slain.

Justice McDonough ruled that Runels died as a result of foul play even though there were no signs on the badly decomposed body to indicate he had been shot, stabbed or beaten. The body had been in See MURDER Page 6

Deport Rates Same, Bogata Rates Lower

Utility Commission Challenges Continental

Continental Telephone Company has until Friday, Feb. 4 to respond to the final order rate approved by the Public Utility Commission on Jan. 14, 1977.

According to Ann Logan, rate representative in Whitewright, Continental can either accept the rates set by the Commission or make another appeal to the commission. New rates could go into effect with the February billing. Continental Telephone Company serves both Deport and Bogata, and the ruling of the Commission would serve to lower the residential rates generally in Bogata and hold at present levels residential rates in Deport.

The present charge for one party residential rates in Deport is $8.50. Continental proposed a rate of $16, and the Utility Commission's final order rate was set at $8.50. In Bogata, the one party residential phone would be reduced from $8.50 to $7.00. Continental had asked for $11.75 for each one party residential phone.

For business customers, Deport businesses are presently charged $17 for one party lines, and the Public Utility Commission has approved a final rate of $22. Continental asked for $35.20 in Deport. In Bogata, a one party business phone is presently $17, and the Commission approved a new rate of $17.50. Continental asked for $25.85.

Rates are higher in Deport because Deport residents have access by local call to all the phones in Paris.

Two party residence phones in Deport would remain the same, whereas two party residence phones in the Bogata exchange would be $6.50 under the ruling of the Commission.

The proposal by the Utility Commission recognizes a revenue deficiency of $1,359,537, compared to the company's request for $5,181,908 in additional revenues. Test year figures, as adjusted by the Commission, indicate that Continental has an annual revenue requirement of $33,150,249, with revenues of $31,790,712. The difference in these two figures represent the additional required revenue. The proposed Final Order recommends a 7.98 percent fair rate of return, with a 12.7 percent return on invested See UTILITY Page 6

Detroit Resident Pays $65 In Traffic Fines

A Detroit resident was arrested on Jan. 17, 1977 by Red River County Sheriff Deputy Carl Wolfe and placed in the Red River County Jail for driving without a license and failure to yield right of way.

The subject paid fines amounting to $65 in Judge Bill McDonough's justice of the peace court.

Deputies Doug Jackson and George Dollins transported a subject from the Bowie County Jail to the Red River County jail on a commitment for child support out of Judge Henry Braswell's district court.

Deputy George Dollins investigated the report of a stray .30 cal. rifle bullet that entered the home of Paul Peacock, four miles south of Annona around 6:00 p.m. on Wednesday, Jan. 19. The bullet entered through a north window, went through a bedroom wall and lodged in a kitchen cabinet.

A mental patient was transported from Detroit to Terrell State Hospital on Friday, Jan. 21 by officers George Dollins and Carl Wolfe.

Officers Jackson and Dollins investigated an accidental shooting in the Detroit area on Saturday, Jan. 22. The subject was taken to McCuiston Hospital where his condition was reported as satisfactory.

I. B. Mitchell reported Saturday that a chain saw was stolen from his residence. The chain saw was later recovered by Mitchell.

Officer Carl Wolfe and investigator Billy Mitchell arrested a juvenile for making harassing phone calls in the Deport area.

Monday Deputy Carl Wolfe arrested and placed in jail one white male for DWI in Detroit.

BIG LOAD—A Shurfine truck loaded with merchandise broke apart south of Bogata on Highway 37 Thursday, January 20. Canned goods, sugar, peanut butter and other merchandise was scattered for 500 feet down the highway just north of the Lewisville on 37 South.

Public Hearing On Revenue Sharing Set

A public hearing will be held Feb. 8, 1977 in the Bogata City Council room, to discuss the proposed uses of General Revenue Sharing Funds that the city may receive for the funding period ending Sept. 30, 1977. It is anticipated that some 9,000.00 dollars will be received by the city for this period.

General Revenue Sharing regulations require the proposed uses of the funds be discussed in an open meeting before the use of the funds is incorporated in the city budget. The hearing will begin at 7:00 p.m. on Feb. 8, 1977, and will be followed by the regular city council meeting.

North Lamar Takes Rivercrest

The Rivercrest Rebels again found it hard to win on the road in the tough district 15AA as they lost to North Lamar 66-43. The Rebels are now tied with Commerce and North Lamar for second place. All three teams support district records of 6-2 prior to Tuesday night games. This will change Tuesday night as North Lamar travels to Commerce. Commerce had not lost but once at home this year prior to Tuesday night. Friday night Commerce must travel to Rivercrest for a very important game. A win by the Rebels would put them right back in the middle of the district race.

The Rebels will have to give their maximum effort to beat Commerce again. Commerce will be paced by 6'6" Chris Potter, 6'4" Wade Wilson and 6'2" Ray Ghloston. All three of these players are possible all district performers. Let's all come out and support our Rebels Friday night in their biggest game of the season.

North Lamar 66-43

The Rebels had their poorest shooting night of the season as they hit only 19 of 70 attempts for a low 27 per cent from the field. Meanwhile North Lamar got only 41 shots against the tight Rebel defense, but made 20 of these for their best shooting per cent of the season. The game was a nightmare for the Rebels from start to finish as the Rebels tallest player Marlon Savage received his second foul with only two minutes gone in the first quarter. Also Rebel Ronnie Rape was in foul trouble throughout the game. The 66 points scored by North Lamar against Rivercrest is the most points given up the Rebels in district.

The game can be summarized simply: the North Lamar Panthers played their best game of the season and the Rebels played below par. The Rebels will have to give it their best to beat Commerce Friday night.

Winnsboro Banker Found Dead

Malvin Cain, 63, owner of the Cain Banking Co. in Winnsboro, one of five privately owned banks in Texas, was found dead in his home in Winnsboro this weekend.

The Cain Banking Co. was closed Monday and Tuesday for audit. Henry and Peters, Bank Auditors from Tyler, began an audit of the bank's books on Tuesday morning. J. R. Beard, a long-time employee of the bank, is executor.

Most area banks were not processing checks written on Cain Banking Co. One area banker advised his customers to return all checks on the bank to senders advising them that they could not accept the checks for payments.

Cain apparently died of a self-inflicted gunshot wound, but a definite cause of death won't be determined until a coroner's report and a ballistic report are filed with Winnsboro Police Chief C. S. McCarver.

"The case is still under active investigation," McCarver said Monday. "There were some notes left at the scene and some other information, but until this investigation is completed I'm not at liberty to discuss the case," he noted.

According to Dewitt Carlock, a Winnsboro attorney, the Cain Banking Co. is closed until further notice.

"The bank is closed, and will stay closed until an audit can be completed," Carlock said Monday. "We are trying to unravel this thing right now and really don't have a great deal of information. We know that depositors of the bank are anxious to find out what's going on and we will let them know as soon as possible."

"We're really not trying to cover up anything," Carlock said. "We really don't know the full story yet. When the audit is finished we will know more about the situation and will let the depositors know the situation as soon as possible." Cain Banking Co. was unincorporated and was not a member of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

Cain Banking Co. was a family bank which was established many years ago and was operated by Malvin Cain's father previous to the time that he took over operations.

Many dairy and cattle operations, as well as numerous business firms in a three county area depended on the bank for their financing and kept their accounts there.

A close friend of Cain's who asked not to be named said, "Malvin Cain liked and trusted people and people liked and trusted him."

A lifelong resident of Winnsboro, Cain was active in many civic, church and social organizations. He served as mayor of Winnsboro from April 1949 until April 1953. He was a charter member of the Winns-boro Rotary Club which he served as president and was a Paul Harris Fellow in Rotary. Cain served as a naval officer in the Pacific campaign for three and one-half years during World War II. He was a member of the First Baptist Church of Winnsboro where he taught the Men's Bible Class for the past 31 years.

He was born Aug. 19, 1913, the son of Milo and Susie Cox Cain. Cain was never married. He is survived by his mother, a large number of cousins and five aunts.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday at 2 p.m. in the First Baptist Church in Winnsboro with the Rev. Dan Hubbel, the pastor and Alton Patton, former pastor of the church officiating.

Deacons of the church and members of the Men's Bible Class he taught served as honorary pallbearers.

Interment was in the Lee cemetery.

Cut Glass Lady To Teach At PJC

Mrs. Trudy Wheeler of Sherman, called the "Cut Glass Lady," will teach a short course on cut glass beginning Wednesday, Feb. 9, at Paris Junior College, said Mrs. Bill Jones, director of continuing education at PJC. The continuing education course will be taught from 2 to 3 p.m. for three consecutive Wednesdays in Room 124 of the Administration Building. Fee is $15, to be paid one week prior to the course starting date in the PJC Continuing Education Office.

Checks may be mailed. The instructor, who has given lectures and taught courses on cut glass throughout the United States, will discuss the evolution of cutting and decorating glass from the time of the 13 colonies. Her tips on judging the quality, age, origin and care of fine cut glass will be of value to those who have treasured pieces of their own. As an audience participation feature, she examines and discusses pieces brought by students.

Mrs. Wheeler's interest in cut glass comes naturally, as her father and two uncles established the family firm of Taylor Bros. and Williams Inc. in Philadelphia, which manufactured exquisite cut glass between 1902 and 1914. In Mrs. Wheeler's own extensive collection, she has many pieces designed and cut by her father. She has taught the course for Austin College in Sherman and has given programs in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Virginia and for the Women's Association of the World Trade Club of Houston. Mrs. Wheeler is a member of the Grayson County Historical Commission and president of the Old Settlers' Village of Grayson County, Inc.

More information on the course may be obtained by calling the PJC Continuing Education office, 785-7661, extension 145.

Defensive Driving Course Begins Feb. 7

The first defensive driving course of the new year will be offered Monday, Feb. 7, by the Continuing Education Division of Paris Junior College. Paul Daniels, who has taught the course at PJC for several years, will be the instructor for the eight-hour course from 7 to 9 p.m. four Mondays in the Natural Sciences Center 102. Fee is $10, to be paid a week in advance in the PJC Continuing Education Office. Texas Insurance Board rules allow graduates of the course, prepared by the National Safety Council, a 10 per cent discount on their automobile insurance for a three-year period.

Theatre Center Residency Being Offered

A week-long residency of the Dallas Theatre Center and public performance of Paul Baker's 'HAMLET E.S.P.' is being offered to Texas schools and communities through the National Endowment of the Arts' Artist-in-Schools Program, implemented by the Texas Commission on the Arts and Humanities (TCAH). The total residency is available during March at a cost equal the expected income from the public performance stated Mary Lee Johns, Education Division Coordinator at TCAH. "Hamlet E.S.P." is a thought provoking interpretation of Shakespeare's 'Hamlet' and the residency will provide students and the community members with an opportunity to be closely involved with a professionally produced play," explained Johns. The grant will include student participation in the show's production, workshops, and lecture demonstrations. The cash obligation will be adjusted to the seating capacity of the school district's largest auditorium. "Generally, if $2 ticket sales reach two-thirds of the auditorium's capacity, this will cover the sponsors cash costs," stated Johns. For more information on the Dallas Theatre Center residency contact Mary Lee Johns in the Education Division of TCAH, (512) 475-6637.

"As improved as many of our streets and highways are, driving is becoming more complicated daily. We are experiencing an increase in the numbers of vehicles, more and more vehicle mileage, and faster and faster traffic—making it imperative that we do all we can to sharpen our skills and develop new ones," Daniels explained. "The driving techniques that have helped professional drivers toward their enviable safety records can give all of us invaluable help in our everyday driving tasks," he added. The defensive driving course, which is classroom instruction only, uses films and other visual teaching materials to train the average driver in the same crash avoidance techniques professional drivers use. The course is designed to teach drivers to recognize tip-offs to developing traffic accident situations and to take evasive action to prevent collisions. A research project covering 8,000 graduates of the course indicated that the group had 32.8 per cent fewer accidents the year following the course than they had the year before.

In addition to saving lives and preventing human suffering, the course prevents economic waste by creating better drivers and preventing traffic accidents. Cost to the state's economy resulting from deaths, injuries and property damage due to traffic accidents runs almost $1 1/2 billion each year. Driver error accounts for approximately 89 per cent of all traffic accidents, and the defensive driving course is designed to reduce driver error.

Crop Reports Can Help Your Decisions
In this era of agriculture, profit or loss is often locked in prior to the planting of a particular crop. For this reason, crop reports are of major importance to producers today. Many would say that crop reports are valuable only to the bureaucrats and commodity trades, however they can be very valuable to the individual producer. Producers should look at how crop reports relate to other factors that may affect crop prices. This would include obtaining information on export demands, production prospects in other parts of the world, government programs, etc.

This information is available through USDA publications and several other organizations. Let's take USDA's crop reports and relate them to the individual producer. The January Prospective Plantings estimates the number of acres producers plan to seed to major crops in each significant producing state. By comparing the prospective plantings with acres actually planted and harvested in previous years, a producer could get an indication of prospective production and would have time to alter his cropping plans by shifting some or all of his land to an alternate crop. In mid April, the Spring Prospective Planting report is issued. This updates the January report and reflects producer reactions to the January report, as well as other factors such as economic conditions and the weather. Usually by this time, Southern producing states are well into planting, however growers in the Corn Belt and other Northern states still have time to switch to alternate crops. In June, the planted acreage estimates are released. This can be used to determine which way prices may go after harvest. Thus, if a producer is holding part of the previous year's crop, projections from the June report may influence his decision on whether to hold or sell. Grain stock estimates are issued in January, April, June and October. This indicates the amount of grain stored on farms and off farms in each state. They also provide the producer with the current national supply and additional information which may be helpful in making marketing decisions. Producers can stay on top of the conditions in his area through local sources, however, USDA crop reports provide information on a regional as well as national basis. These reports are free upon request to the Statistical Reporting Service, Room 0005, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250. 1977 ACP Sign-Up Underway
We will be taking requests for cost-sharing under the 1977 ACP through Friday, January 21, 1977 on all practices except those which are normally performed in the fall.

What About Me?

A vendor standing on the street offered cigars at a nickel apiece. A man bought one, lit the cigar, took a puff and began to cough violently. "What kind of rot are you selling me?" he yelled. "This cigar is awful." The vendor looked sympathetically, then pointed to three cases of the cigars and said: "You're lucky you only bought one, look at all I bought!"

STATE GOVERNMENT NEWS

By Brady Fisher

The nomination of a presidential candidate by a major political party is clearly one of the most important elements of our democratic system.

Prior to 1976, the selection of Texas' delegates to the National conventions of the Democratic and Republican parties was accomplished through a convention system.

During the 1975 Legislative session, however, a presidential preference primary was passed, at least partially in hopes of benefiting the Presidential Candidacy of Texas United States Senator Lloyd Bentsen.

Most legislators felt that Senator Bentsen would win a plurality in most parts of the State, and so devised the system so that the delegates who won a plurality would win all the delegates in a given district.

In the end, the plan backfired, of course, and Jimmy Carter—by winning a plurality of the popular vote—swept the delegates.

The only concession which opponents of the original primary bill received was that it was made a one-time bill, which would self-destruct at the end of the 1976 elections.

Thus, the legislature is again faced with the issue. If action is not taken, we will revert back to the use of the convention system.

Representative Sarah Weddington of Austin, generally considered to be one of the legislature's hardest working and most effective members, is sponsoring a new primary bill.

Representative Weddington's proposed bill makes several major changes from the original primary bill.

The most important change is that instead of awarding delegates on the basis of "winner-take-all" within each Senatorial district, delegates will be divided in proportion to the number of votes each candidate received. This would make it nearly impossible for a winning candidate to capture all the delegates—as Ronald Reagan did this past year—or nearly all—as Jimmy Carter did. A minimum of 10 percent would be required in order to get any delegates.

Another change is that, instead of having a long list of delegates on the ballot, voters would choose directly between the candidates. Later, the Democratic and Republican State conventions would divide the national delegates among the candidates, on the basis of the popular vote.

Yet another difference between the bills is that all nationally recognized presidential candidates would be placed on the ballot, rather than requiring candidates to follow the previous petition process. Partially due to the difficulty of meeting this requirement, only Jimmy Carter, George Wallace, and Lloyd Bentsen were listed on ballots throughout the State last year.

I had the opportunity to interview Representative Weddington this past week. I've included some excerpts of the interview.

Fisher: Do you believe that the majority of legislators will continue to support a presidential preference primary now that the incentive of Bentsen's presidential bid is gone?

Weddington: I think so. Of course, many members of the legislature were supporting Bentsen and this was a factor in the consideration of this bill. But I think most members feel that the voters enjoyed the opportunity to participate more directly in choosing a presidential nominee. The bill has good support within the Democratic Party.

Fisher: Why does your bill provide that, after the primary is held, the delegates themselves are to be chosen by the state convention?

Weddington: I believe that it is a much clearer situation to vote directly on the candidates, rather than having a long list of delegates to choose from. Many voters became confused and voted for delegates pledged to more than one presidential candidate. Also, I believe that having the delegates chosen by the state convention—in compliance with the popular vote—helps to keep people involved in party politics.

Fisher: When the previous primary bill was passed, you were one of its major opponents; now, you are sponsoring a bill which provides for a primary. What made you change your position?

Weddington: The nature of the two bills. I believe that this bill is much fairer and more equitable, in that it allows for National Convention delegates to be apportioned among the candidates, according to how many popular votes he received.

Fisher: Your bill has made it much easier for Presidential Candidates to be listed on the Texas ballot. Do you believe that this could make Texas more of a "battle ground" between candidates for their party's nomination?

Weddington: Yes, and I think that's good. I think that it will cause more Presidential candidates to pay attention to Texas and to do more campaigning here. I think Texas voters will benefit from this.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Three-quarters of a million residential fires will occur throughout the nation this year, with 300,000 Americans to be injured, and 8,000 of those dying. Property damage will range in the billions of dollars for all fires.

But you can minimize the chances for injury or property loss by fire, say our Consumer Protection Division lawyers.

Experts recommend the following steps. One is to be sure all members of your family know exactly what to do in case a fire breaks out. You should have regular drills with escape routes planned in advance, preferably ways that don't involve opening bedroom doors. Fire experts recommend sleeping with closed bedroom doors, because a closed door can hold back heat and poisonous gases, giving more escape time. If you suspect fire, never open a door to check. Instead, touch the door frame with your hand. If it's hot, leave it closed, and use another way to get out of the room.

Always get out of the house as quickly as possible, never stopping to look for papers or other valuables. Arrange for family members to meet at a certain location in the yard. Call the fire department from a neighbor's, and never go back into a burning home for anything—not even family pets, fire safety officials urge.

It goes without saying that you should guard against three classic examples of carelessness that can multiply your chances of fire losses: smoking in bed, cleaning with gasoline or other flammable liquids, and leaving children alone at home.

You can also reduce risks of home fires by installing detection devices that can warn you of fire dangers. There are two types of home detection devices marketed—heat detectors and smoke detectors. Heat detectors alone have been found to be essentially useless for homes.

That's because most home fires may smoke and smolder for quite a while before building up enough heat to trigger the alarm, sending out smoke and gases that can overcome you and your sleeping family. Ideally, a home would have a smoke detector between sleeping areas of the house, providing protection against both rapidly developing high heat fires and slow smoldering ones.

However, if cost precludes such a combination detection system, the best protection for most home fires, according to safety experts, is a smoke detector. There are two basic kinds of smoke detectors: ionization models and photoelectric models. In photoelectric models, a small electric light bulb shines on a photosensitive cell. If smoke from a fire interrupts the light beam, the alarm goes off.

Ionization models contain a very small radioactive source that gives light inside the unit enough electrical charge to complete a circuit. If smoke particles break the circuit, the alarm is set off.

There are advantages to each type, and it's a good idea to check with your local fire department to find out the pro's and con's of the devices. Then shop for smoke detectors as for any other consumer product: get brochures on different brands, then comparison shop for quality, features, price, warranty, installation, and maintenance.

Be sure the unit you select can be tested monthly by blowing smoke at it, or by lighting a match nearby. Also, make sure the device won't give false alarms every time you start a fire in the fireplace or broil steaks in the kitchen. And don't buy from a door-to-door salesperson until you have comparison-shopped at local stores. Remember, too, that you can cancel a door-to-door sale for $25 or more within three business days.

HELPFUL IDEAS FOR SUCCESSFUL RETIREMENT

Among the most serious adjustments for a new retiree often is the matter of having less money and more time.

Less income means that the individual is not able to do some of the things that have become second nature through the years. A grandparent, for example, may be fond of doing things for children and grandchildren—things that cost money—like expensive gifts on birthdays and anniversaries. Grandfather or grandmother believe they must continue to do these things, one way or another. They find, of course, they can not do so without cutting expenses somewhere else—and there are not to many ways to go about cutting down on the necessities such as food and regular living expenses. What is sad about this situation, in many instances—everyone but grandpa or grandma realizes that he or she really cannot afford to continue doing for others as they have done in the past.

More time is often a retiree problem because grandpa or grandma may become an unknowing bother to everyone else—monopolizing the time of their children, showing too much interest in everything that goes on, etc.

For a successful retirement, plan spending and use of your time carefully. You'll be happier, so will those who love you.

Congratulations, Russ!

The Question Box—What is a "Sani Cycle"? (See answer further down.)

If you've ever had difficulty separating bacon slices when you are ready to cook them, you'll appreciate this tip from Mrs. Norah Marvin of Lake Odessa, Michigan:

Remove the meat from the package before you plan to use it, and place the slices side by side on sheets of wax paper. Next, stack the pieces of wax paper on top of each other and wrap them for storage in your freezer.

When ready to cook the bacon, remove the package and separate layers carefully with a knife. (Layers should separate easily.) Use only what you need and replace the remainder for future use. (One further note from the National Live Stock and Meat Board: to retain its quality, bacon should not be stored in the freezer longer than 30 days.)

Then there's this from the USDA: Iodized salt and seafoods are reliable sources of iodine. Regular use of iodized salt is the most practical way to assure that there is enough iodine in your diet.

The Answer Box—No, a "Sani Cycle" is not a new toy. Rather, say KitchenAid appliance researchers, it's a special health protective washing and drying cycle found on the company's automatic dishwashers. For extra sanitation—and to kill more germs—the final rinse water is preheated to approximately 180°F. (No wonder people say these units are the best.)

Toss cabbage slaw with fruit cocktail for a colorful and flavorful contrast.

And, to make something new and elegant—add roasted almonds to your favorite sour cream and onion soup mix party dip.

Just as Mrs. Marvin did, send your kitchen tip to: Harry G. Clark, 2 N. Riverside Plaza, Chicago, IL 60606.

CANCER ANSWER LINE American Cancer Society
M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute

A young woman writes: "My mother died when I was a little girl, and I don't know just what drugs she may have taken during the difficult pregnancy that resulted in my birth. I am afraid that I may be a DES daughter, and may develop cancer because of a drug that she took. What should I do?"

ANSWERline: If you are not already under the care of a gynecologist, a specialist in women's health conditions, please have a checkup and explain your history. Your mother may or may not have taken DES which is an abbreviation for the name of a chemical compound (diethylstilbestrol) that was given to some pregnant women likely to suffer miscarriage. A very small percentage of these women's daughters have developed a form of cancer of the vagina. An annual gynecological examination will uncover any possible suspicious cellular changes in the vaginal area. It is therefore a wise idea to give yourself the protection of professional care.

A biology student asks: "Could you explain what happens when a researcher makes a discovery under an American Cancer Society grant?" Does the ACS own the drug, or make a profit from it?"

ANSWERline: The ACS does not profit from discoveries made under its grants. The Society does, however, require certain legal arrangements which insure that any discovery useful in the diagnosis, treatment or prevention of cancer will be made available to the public at the least possible cost. Your local ACS Unit has full information about the society's research program and governing policies.

A business executive explains: "I am a cigar smoker but it seems to me that the habit is far less noticeable now than when I was a boy. Is this a trend? Also, aren't cigars safer than cigarettes?"

ANSWERline: In June of this year, the National Clearinghouse on Smoking and Health presented a thorough evaluation of the uses of tobacco by American adults, and findings agree with your observations: Americans are smoking fewer cigars. While 18 percent of American men are cigar smokers today, the study found that another 25 percent have stopped smoking cigars, most probably within the past 10 years. Also, less than one-half of one percent of American women smoke cigars. In terms of "safety" while cigar smokers are at a lower risk of developing lung cancer than cigarette smokers, the cigar smoker is still at a higher risk than the nonsmoker. The cigar smoker is also at a higher risk than the nonsmoker of developing tobacco-related cancers, such as cancer of the larynx. Hence, while the cigar smoker is in a better position than the cigarette smoker, the nonsmoker is in the best health position of all!

Texas Taxes

By BOB BULLOCK, State Comptroller

AUSTIN—In recent weeks, we have been discussing taxpayer rights and the new emphasis on them by this office. Here are some of the most frequently asked questions we receive on that subject:

Q: If I wish to contest a tax assessed against me by the Comptroller, do I have to go to Austin in person for a hearing?

A: No. Any written evidence you might want to have considered can be mailed to Austin, along with your statement of fact and the authorities on which you rely.

An examiner will review your appeal and make a recommendation to me that the tax either be adjusted or upheld. I will make a final decision and notify you in writing.

You can appeal my final decision in court.

Q: If I come to Austin for a hearing, do I have to have a lawyer?

A: No. If you have a question on how to prepare for your hearing, ask the examiner assigned to your case for assistance. He or she will be happy to help.

After you have requested the hearing, you will be notified by letter of the hearing date. Your examiner's name and address will be on the letter. I suggest you contact him or her as far in advance of the hearing date as possible if you need assistance.

Q: Can my business be seized by your office for non-payment of sales taxes without a court hearing?

A: Under the Sales and Use Tax Act, we may, without going through the courts, seize the non-exempt real or personal property of a delinquent taxpayer. The taxpayer must be given no less than 20 days written notice of the time and place of the sale of the seized property, and may redeem the property any time before that by paying the taxes.

The Comptroller also has statutory seizure powers under the motor and special fuels tax acts.

IF YOU HAVE ANY QUESTIONS ABOUT YOUR RIGHTS AS A TAXPAYER, CONTACT OUR FIELD OFFICE NEAREST YOU OR CALL OUR TOLL-FREE TAX INFORMATION NUMBER, 1-800-252-5555.

I urge you to exercise those rights.

THE GOOD WORD from the Bible

When Jesus came to preach "in his own country", he did not expect a royal welcome. We would believe, however, in view of the fame that he had acquired elsewhere, and the news of his many good works that preceded him, that he should receive a more-than-cordial welcome.

Instead, he seemed to be met with suspicion. The people looked at one another curiously, with questions: Where does this man get such wisdom? How can he perform mighty works? We know him. We know his mother, his family, his friends. How can this be a special person?

We would expect Jesus to be unhappy with this temporary setback. He had received a great following wherever he preached. Here, among his own people, he met doubt and cynicism. But, his response was typical of his life upon earth. He did not criticize those who, as St. Matthew says, "were offended in him". He simply continued his preaching, his father's work.

LEGAL NOTICE

Announcement fixing and determining the general service rate to be charged for sales of natural gas to residential and commercial consumers within the city limits of Deport, Lamar and Red River County, Texas, and providing for the manner in which such rate may be changed, adjusted and amended. Be it ordained by the city council of the City of Deport, Texas:

Section 1. Effective with the first gas bill rendered from and after thirty (30) days from the date of final passage of this ordinance, the maximum general service rate for sales of natural gas rendered to residential and commercial consumers within the city limits of Deport by Lone Star Gas Company, its successors and assigns, is hereby fixed and determined as follows:

Over 1000 Cu. Ft. or Fraction Thereof $3.00
First 1000 Cu. Ft. or Fraction Thereof $2.25
Over 1000 Cu. Ft. at $2.25 Per Mcf.
No gas bill will be rendered to any residential or commercial consumer served under the above rate not consuming any gas during any monthly billing period. The amount of the consumer's only use for gas service is in an outdoor grill and/or a fireplace starter, the amount shown for the first consumption block shall constitute a minimum monthly bill.

Adjustments
The amount of each monthly bill computed at the above-stated rates shall be subject to the following adjustments: Plus or minus the amount of any increase or decrease respectively, above or below the $1.3488 per Mcf level in the intracompany city gate charge as authorized by the Railroad Commission of the State of Texas or other regulatory body having jurisdiction for gas delivered to Lone Star Gas Company's distribution system for sale to residential and commercial consumers where such changes are caused by increases or decreases in the cost of gas purchased by the Company; plus an amount equivalent to the proportionate part of any new tax, or increased tax, or any other governmental imposition, rental, fee or charge (except state, county, city and special district ad valorem taxes and taxes on net income) levied, assessed or imposed subsequent to July 1, 1976, upon or allocable to the Company's distribution operations, by any new or amended law, ordinance or contract. Company, at its option, may forego the application of any adjustment if such adjustment would result in an increase in the monthly bill; however, failure of Company to apply any adjustment shall not constitute a waiver of Company's right from time to time, or at any time, to make any adjustment, in whole or part, in any subsequent current monthly bill that may be applicable to such bill.

All bills shall be due and payable when rendered.
The above rate is applicable to each residential and commercial consumer per meter per month or for any part of a month for which gas is used at the same location.
In addition to the aforesaid rates, Company shall have the right to collect such reasonable charges as are necessary to conduct its business and to carry out its reasonable rules and regulations in effect.

Section 2. The rate set forth in Section 1 may be changed and amended by either the City or Company furnishing gas in the manner provided by law. Service hereunder is subject to the orders of regulatory bodies having jurisdiction, and to the Company's Rules and Regulations currently on file in the Company's office.

Section 3. It is hereby found and determined that the meeting at which this ordinance was passed was open to the public, as required by Texas law, and that advance public notice of the time, place and purpose of said meeting was given. Passed and approved this 10th day of January, A.D. 1977.

Student Teacher For Rivercrest

The Vocational Agriculture Department at Rivercrest High School has been selected as a student teaching center by East Texas State University according to Talmadge Morgan, superintendent of schools. During this semester Bill Durand an Agricultural Education Major at East Texas, will spend the week of January 24 through January 28, 1977 in the Vo. Ag. Department. He will again be in the department from March 14, 1977 through May 12, 1977. This student teaching is part of the experience provided students preparing to become teachers of vocational agriculture and professional agricultural workers. According to Dr. A. C. Hughes, Head of the Department of Agriculture at East Texas, only high school vocational agriculture departments are selected that are considered to be outstanding. "We consider the Rivercrest Vo-Ag Department, under the direction of L. P. Taylor to be among the top departments in Texas", said Dr. Hughes. Doing student teaching will be Bill Durand whose home is at Harahan, Louisiana. "I feel fortunate to have the opportunity of working in the Rivercrest Ag. Department," says Durand. "Such experience, he continued, "will greatly enhance my university work and will make me a better trained

the water for about three weeks when it was found. He had been on a shopping trip to Clarksville with his mother when he disappeared.
Two Red River County residents were asleep on cots at a camping area on the Canton City Lake in June, 1974, when they were surprised and bludgeoned to death by an assailant with a blunt instrument. John Paul "Bully" Brown never got off his cot, and Pete Hastings was hit from behind, possibly while trying to run away from his attacker. The killer used an axe handle, tire tool or crowbar, and also had a sharp knife, which he used to slice through and search the upholstery of the pickup Hastings and Brown were driving. Hastings had been confined to the Red River County Jail the night before for being drunk, and when he got out he and Brown left for Canton.
Van Zandt County officers who investigated the murder of Brown and Hastings said they felt certain that the murderer was in Red River County.
Alejandro DeLeon's badly decomposed body was found September 3 on the Riverwood Farms property north of Detroit. He was 31, and employed as a ranch hand on the Good Hope Ranch north of Detroit.

capital. Construction work in progress during the test year is included in the rate base, in the amount of $7,282,787.
The proposed Final Order adopts the same size rate bands approved in the SWB rate case, based on the value of service concept. Value of service guidelines were used in the absence of accurate cost data.
Although the rate structure is the same as previously ordered in the SWB case, the relationships between grades of service differ, because Continental has an unusually high proportion (21 percent) of four-party customers, who should share the burden of the increase with other classes of customers.
Local service revenues were reduced by $187,898. No more than 20 percent of residential and business customers would pay higher rates, and 80 percent would pay either the same or lower rates for telephone service.
The Final Order also states the company will include in the call guide section of the directory information concerning company policies toward credit, installation charges, deferred payment plans, discontinuance of service, types of rates available and methods by which complaints can be made to the company or to the Commission. Examples of long distance charges will also be included in the directory.
Continental's poor quality of service is recognized in the Final Order, which states, "...unless service is substantially improved so as to meet Commission minimum standards, it may be necessary for the Commission to investigate the use of funds by Continental Telephone Corp. and to consider the withdrawal of Continental's Certificate of Convenience and Necessity." The company must additionally correct all service problems which can be eliminated through proper maintenance efforts, and test the call completion percentages for local, extended area and direct distance dialing services, and report testing results to the Commission. All current violations of the National Electrical Safety Code must be eliminated.

The name "SHELTON'S" has been synonymous for over twenty-two years in the propane furniture and appliance business in Franklin, Hopkins, Titus, Wood, Hunt Counties and most of northeast Texas. J. W. "Dub" Shelton started his business in 1954 as Shelton Butane Co. with a one-truck operation. He did his own deliveries and service work regardless of the weather - rain, sleet, snow or mud. Nothing stopped him day or night. "Dub" Shelton started his business in 1955 in the Rutherford building on east side of the square in Sulphur Springs. His son, James, is the manager of the operation in Sulphur Springs. He began selling appliances along with a new Piggly Wiggly food market in 1963 and opened a branch store in Sulphur Springs. Shelton Propane and Appliances, along with a three-room model home "Dub" expanded his business to include furniture along with his other businesses. In 1974 plans were begun to remodel using the Piggly Wiggly portion for his expansion. Evans, Forney Furniture Associates of San Francisco, nationally known architect and designer of fine furniture stores were employed to design and layout the entire remodeling operation. Shelton's features propane and a complete service department in Sulphur Springs. Shelton's also provides propane and appliances. J. W. "Dub" Shelton served as a Director for the Texas L.P. Gas Association, also serves as a Trustee for The Texas L.P. Gas Association. He is past president of the Mt. Vernon Chamber of Commerce. J. W. Shelton, his wife, Jean and Daughter, Michell, live in Mt. Vernon and are members of the First Baptist Church.

ROUND COCKTAIL TABLE
The modern-day cocktail table evolved from the tavern tables of fun-loving, early New Englanders. The tables were small and could be easily set before a visitor at an inn. Wash Stand & Cheval Mirror

Despite the nearness of coastal residents of early New England to the frothy Atlantic ocean, the availability of water inside a colonial home was due primarily to someone filling a bucket or basin outside. In more prominent homes, the Wash Stand complete with mirror, glass doors and storage for the basin was considered an exquisite piece of Georgian furniture.

What you see here is precious wood. A lot of so-called carving and paneling you see nowadays is really only plastic. Not this. Everything you see — carvings, paneling, spindles — is the real thing. This is solid oak and oak veneer in a wonderfully mellow fruitwood finish. One of the most elegantly graceful designs we've seen.

MR MEAT SMOKER ESQUIRE

Mr Meat Smoker is a simple, clean, effortless outdoor cooker. The concept was duplicated from a cooking method which originated in the Orient centuries ago. By placing a water pan between the meat and the coals the meat is cooked in a steam/smoke vapor which also flavors the meat and bastes it in its own juices. As a result, there's no tending, turning or basting required. Mr Meat Smoker will provide you with the most delicious meats, fish, fowl or wild game you've ever eaten.

Mr Meat Smoker is made of the finest materials available. The body and dome are made of rolled steel with baked on industrial enamel paint. Water and charcoal pans are porcelain enamel on steel with heavy duty grills.
